One should never see as ultimate reality those material things which obviously will perish. With consciousness free from material attachment, one should retire from all activities meant for material progress in this life and the next.

PURPORT

One may doubt how a gentleman can retire from family life and live as a beggar, eating meager foodstuffs. The Lord here responds by stating that sumptuous or palatable foods—along with all other material objects, such as the body itself—should never be seen as ultimate reality, since they are obviously perishable items. One should retire from material programs destined to enhance the quality of one's illusion both in this life and the next.

TEXT 27

yade"tad"Atmaina jagAna, manaAevaAf'aANAs$aMh"tama,
s$ava< maAyaeita takeR(NA svasTastyaftvaA na tatsmare"ta,

*yad etad ātmani jagan mano-vāk-prāëa-saàhatam
sarvaà mäyeti tarkeëa
sva-sthas tyaktvä na tat smaret*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—which; etat—this; ātmani—in the Supreme Lord; jagat—universe; manaù—of the mind; vāk—speech; prāëa—and life air; saàhatam—formed; sarvam—all; mäyā—material illusion; iti—thus; tarkeëa—by logic; sva-sthaù—fixed in the self; tyaktvä—giving up; na—never; tat—that; smaret—one should remember.

TRANSLATION

One should logically consider the universe, which is situated within the Lord, and one's own material body, which is composed of mind, speech and life air, to be ultimately products of the Lord's illusory energy. Thus situated in the self, one should give up one's faith in these things and should never again make them the object of one's meditation.

PURPORT

Every conditioned soul considers the material world to be the object of his personal sense gratification and therefore considers the material body to be his actual identity. The word tyaktvā indicates that one must give up one's false identification with the material world and the material body, since both are merely products of the illusory potency of the Lord. One should never again meditate on the material world and body as objects of sense gratification but rather should become situated in Kāñhā consciousness. Looking at things from the eternal point of view, this world is simply illusory. The material energy of the Lord is devoid of consciousness and thus cannot be the basis of actual happiness. The Supreme Lord Himself is the only absolutely conscious entity. He is absolutely self-sufficient, standing alone as Viñëu, the Personality of Godhead. Only Viñëu, and not the insignificant workings of material nature, can give us the actual perfection of life.

TEXT 28

ÁaAnainaĩ"Ae ivar".(Ae vaA maà".(Ae vaAnapae^oak(:
s$ailaËÿAnaA™amaAMstyaftvaA
care"d"ivaiDagAAecar":

*jī āna-niñōho virakto vā
mad-bhakto vānapekñakaù
sa-liì gān āçramāàs tyaktvā cared avidhi-gocaraù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jī āna—to philosophical

knowledge;

niñōhaù—dedicated;

viraktaù—detached from external manifestations; va—either; mat-bhaktaù—My devotee; vä—or; anapekñakaù—not desiring even liberation; sa-liñ gän—with their rituals and external regulations; äçramän—the duties pertaining to particular statuses of life; tyaktvä—giving up; caret—one should conduct oneself; avidhi-gocaraù—beyond the range of rules and regulations.

TRANSLATION

A learned transcendentalist dedicated to the cultivation of knowledge and thus detached from external objects, or My devotee who is detached even from desire for liberation—both neglect those duties based on external rituals or paraphernalia. Thus their conduct is beyond the range of rules and regulations.

PURPORT

This verse describes the paramahañsa stage of life, in which there is no further need for rituals, external paraphernalia or rules and regulations. A completely realized jñäna-yogë pursuing liberation, or beyond that, a perfect devotee of the Lord who does not desire even liberation, has no further desire for material engagement. When one completely purifies the mind, there is no possibility of sinful behavior. Rules and regulations are meant for guiding those who have a tendency to act in ignorance or for personal gratification, but one who is perfect in spiritual consciousness can move freely, as described here by the Lord. One who tends to drive a car recklessly or who is unfamiliar with the local road conditions certainly needs the discipline of elaborate road signs and police enforcement of traffic laws. A perfectly safe driver, however, is thoroughly familiar with the local road conditions. He has no real need for the enforcement officials or the speed limits and caution signs meant for those unfamiliar with the road. A pure devotee of the Lord desires nothing except service to the Lord; he automatically fulfills the purport of all negative and positive injunctions, which is to always remember Kñëä and never forget Him. One should not, however, artificially imitate the exalted position of a paramahañsa devotee, for such imitation will quickly ruin one's spiritual career.

In the previous verses the Lord has elaborately described various rituals, paraphernalia and disciplines for the various spiritual orders of life. The sannyāsé, for example, carries a tri-daëða and a waterpot and eats and lives in a particular way. A paramahaàsa devotee, having completely given up all attachment and interest in the material world, is no longer attracted by such external features of renunciation.

TEXT 29

bauDaAe baAlak(vat,(Lxe"ta, ku(zAlaAe jax"va»are"ta,
vade"äu"nmaÔavaiã"ã"Ana,
gAAecayaA< naEgAmaêre"ta,

budho bālaka-vat kréòet
kuçalo jaòà-vac caret
vaded unmatta-vad vidvān
go-caryäà naigamaç caret

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

budhaù—although intelligent; bālaka-vat—like a child (oblivious to honor and dishonor); kréòet—he should enjoy life; kuçalaù—although expert; jaòà-vat—like a stunted person; caret—he should act; vadet—he should speak; unmatta-vat—like an insane person; vidvān—although most learned; go-caryām—unrestricted behavior; naigamaù—although expert in Vedic injunctions; caret—he should perform.

TRANSLATION

Although most wise, the paramahaàsa should enjoy life like a child, oblivious to honor and dishonor; although most expert, he should behave like a stunted, incompetent person; although most learned, he should speak like an insane person; and although a scholar learned in Vedic regulations, he should behave in an unrestricted manner.

PURPORT

A paramahaṇsa-sannyāśī, fearing that his mind may be deviated by the tremendous prestige that people sometimes offer to a perfectly self-realized person, conceals his position as described in this verse. A self-realized person does not try to please the mass of people, nor does he desire social prestige, since the mission of his life is to remain detached from the material world and to always please the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Although neglecting ordinary rules and regulations, a paramahaṇsa does not ever become sinful or immoral, but rather neglects ritualistic aspects of religious custom, such as dressing in a particular way, performing certain ceremonies or executing specific penances and austerities.

The pure devotees of the Lord who have dedicated their lives to propagating the Lord's holy name must very expertly present Kāñḍa consciousness in a way pleasing to the mass of people so that they will accept it. Those who are preaching should try to make Lord Ṣré Kāñḍa popular without trying to advance their personal prestige in the name of missionary progress. A paramahaṇsa not engaged in distributing Kāñḍa consciousness, however, should have no attachment whatsoever to public opinion.

TEXT 30

vaed"vaAd"r"taAe na syaAna, na paASaNx"I na hE"tauk(: zAuSk(vaAd"ivavaAde" na
k(iÂatpa°aM s$amaA™ayaeta,

*veda-vāda-rato na syān
na pāñāēḍē na haitukaṇ
ṣuñka-vāda-vivāde na
kai cit pakñāṇ samāṣrayet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

veda-vāda—in the karma-kāṇḍa section of the Vedas; rataḥ—engaged; na—never; syāt—should be; na—nor; pāśāṇḍa—atheistic, acting against Vedic injunctions; na—nor; haitukaḥ—a mere logician or skeptic; ṣuñka-vāda—of useless topics; vivāde—in arguments; na—never; kai cit—any; pakṣam—side; samācraṇet—should take.

TRANSLATION

A devotee should never engage in the fruitive rituals mentioned in the karma-kāṇḍa section of the Vedas, nor should he become atheistic, acting or speaking in opposition to Vedic injunctions. Similarly, he should never speak like a mere logician or skeptic or take any side whatsoever in useless arguments.

PURPORT

Although a paramahansa devotee conceals his exalted position, certain activities are forbidden even for one trying to conceal himself. Ṣṛēla Viṣvanātha Cakravartē Ōhākura explains that in the name of concealment one should not become a ghost. The word pāśāṇḍa refers to atheistic philosophies opposing the Vedas, such as Buddhism, and haituka refers to those who accept only that which can be demonstrated by mundane logic or experimentation. Since the whole purpose of the Vedas is to understand that which is beyond material experience, a skeptic's so-called logic is irrelevant to spiritual progress. Ṣṛēla Jēva Gosvāmē warns us in this regard that a devotee should not read atheistic literature, even with the purpose of refining arguments against atheism. Such literature should be entirely avoided. The above-mentioned prohibited activities are so detrimental to the advancement of Kāñḇa consciousness that they should not be adopted even as a superficial show.

TEXT 31

naAeiã"jaeta janaAÜ"lr"Ae janaM caAeãe"jayae^a tau @itavaAd"AMistaita^oaeta
naAvamanyaeta k(Âana
de"h"mauiÚ"zya pazAuvaä," vaErM" ku(yaAR^a ke(naicata,

*nodvijeta janād dhéro
janaà codvejayen na tu
ati-vādāàs titikñeta nāvamanyeta kai cana
deham uddiçya paçu-vad
vairaà kuryän na kenacit*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—never; udvijeta—should be disturbed or frightened; janāt—because of other people; dhérau—a saintly person; janam—other people; ca—also; udvejayet—should-frighten or disturb; na—never; tu—indeed; ati-vādān—insulting or harsh words; titikñeta—he should tolerate; na—never; avamanyeta—should belittle; kai cana—anyone; deham—the body; uddiçya—for the sake of; paçu-vat—like an animal; vairam—hostility; kuryāt—he should create; na—never; kenacit—with anyone.

TRANSLATION

A saintly person should never let others frighten or disturb him and, similarly, should never frighten or disturb other people. He should tolerate the insults of others and should never himself belittle anyone. He should never create hostility with anyone for the sake of the material body, for he would thus be no better than an animal.

PURPORT

Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu has stated,

*tāēād api su-nēcena
taror iva sahiñēunā
amāninā māna-dena
kértanēyaù sadā hariù
[Cc. Ādi 17.31]*

"One should chant the holy name of the Lord in a humble state of mind, thinking oneself lower than the straw in the street; one should be more tolerant than a tree, devoid of all sense of false prestige and ready to offer all respect to others. In such a state of mind one can chant the holy name of the Lord constantly."

A Vaiñēava should never disturb any other living entity with his body, mind or words. He should always be tolerant and never belittle others. Although a Vaiñēava may act powerfully against the demons for Lord Kāñēa's sake—as did Arjuna, Hanumān and many other great devotees—a Vaiñēava becomes very meek and humble in regard to his own reputation.

TEXT 32

*Wk(Wva par"Ae ÷AtmaA BaUtaeSvaAtmanyavaisTata:
yaTaenäu"ç&d"paAḥaeSau BaUtaAnyaeK(Atmak(Aina ca*

*eka eva paro hy ātmā
bhūteṇv ātmany avasthitaù
yathendur uda-pātreṇu
bhūtāny ekātmakāni ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ekaù—one; eva—indeed; paraù—Supreme; hi—certainly; ātmā—the Personality of Godhead; bhūteṇu—within all bodies; ātmani—within the living entity; avasthitaù—situated; yathā—just as; induù—the moon;

uda—of water; pātreṇu—in different reservoirs; bhūtāni—all material bodies; eka—of the one Supreme Lord; ātmakāni—composed of the energy; ca—also.

TRANSLATION

The one Supreme Lord is situated within all material bodies and within everyone's soul. Just as the moon is reflected in innumerable reservoirs of water, the Supreme Lord, although one, is present within everyone. Thus every material body is ultimately composed of the energy of the one Supreme Lord.

PURPORT

All material bodies are composed of the same material nature, which is ultimately the potency of the one Supreme Lord. Therefore, one cannot justify feelings of hostility toward any living entity. In carrying out the Lord's mission on earth, the bona fide representatives of God never become envious or hostile toward anyone, even when chastised by those who flagrantly violate the laws of God. Every living being is ultimately the son of God, and God is present within everyone's body. Therefore, saintly persons should be very careful even when dealing with the most insignificant person or creature.

TEXT 33

@labDvaA na ivaSalde"ta
k(Alae k(Alae'zAnaM ,(icata, labDvaA na ô$Syaeä," Da{itamaAna, oBayaM dE"vatainṭatama,

alabdhvā na viṇēdeta
kāle kāle 'ṇanaà kvacit
labdhvā na hāṇyed dhātimān
ubhayaà daiva-tantritam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

alabdhvā—not obtaining; na—not; viñēdeta—he should be depressed; kāle kāle—at different times; açanam—food; kvacit—whatever; labdhvā—obtaining; na—not; hāñyet—should rejoice; dhâti-mān—fixed in determination; ubhayam—both (obtaining and not obtaining good food);
daiva—of the supreme power of God; tantritam—under the control.

TRANSLATION

If at times one does not obtain proper food one should not be depressed, and when one obtains sumptuous food one should not rejoice. Being fixed in determination, one should understand both situations to be under the control of God.

PURPORT

Because we desire to enjoy the material body, the varieties of material experience bring us flickering happiness and inevitable suffering. We foolishly consider ourselves to be controllers and doers, and thus through false egotism we are subjected to the volatile feelings of the material body and mind.

TEXT 34

@Ah"Ar"ATa< s$amalhe"ta yau·M(tat'aANADaAr"NAma, taÔvaM ivama{zyatae taena
taiā"ÁaAya ivamaucyatae

āhārārtha à samēheta
yukta à tat-prāëa-dhāraëam tattva à vimācyate tena
tad vijī äya vimucyate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

āhāra—to eat; artham—in order; saṁéheta—one should endeavor; yuktam—proper; tat—of the person; prāëa—life force; dhāraëam—sustaining; tattvam—spiritual truth; vimāçyate—is contemplated; tena—by that strength of the mind, senses and life air; tat—that truth; vijī äya—understanding; vimucyate—one is liberated.

TRANSLATION

If required, one should endeavor to get sufficient foodstuffs, because it is always necessary and proper to maintain one's health. When the senses, mind and life air are fit, one can contemplate spiritual truth, and by understanding the truth one is liberated.

PURPORT

If foodstuffs do not come automatically or by token begging, then one should endeavor to keep body and soul together so that one's spiritual program will not be disturbed. Normally, those who are endeavoring in spiritual life cannot maintain steady concentration on the truth if their mind and body are weakened by undereating. On the other hand, extravagant consumption of food is a great impediment for spiritual advancement and should be given up. The word āhārārtham in this verse indicates eating only to keep oneself fit for spiritual advancement and does not justify unnecessary collecting or warehousing of so-called alms. If one collects more than necessary for one's spiritual program, the surplus becomes a heavy weight that drags one down to the material platform.

TEXT 35

yaä{"cC$yaAepapa^aA^aama, @âAcC)e$ï"mautaApar"ma,
taTaA vaAs$astaTaA zAyyaAM

‘aAæaM ‘aAæaM Bajaenmauina:

*yadâcchayopapannânnam
adyâc chreññham utâparam
tathâ vâsas tathâ çayyâà
prâptaà prâptaà bhajen muniù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadâcchayâ—of its own accord; upapanna—acquired; annam—food; adyât—he should eat; çreññham—first class; uta—or; aparam—low class; tathâ—similarly; vâsaù—clothing; tathâ—similarly; çayyâm—bedding; prâptam prâptam—whatever is automatically obtained; bhajet—should accept; muniù—the sage.

TRANSLATION

A sage should accept the food, clothing and bedding—be they of excellent or inferior quality—that come of their own accord.

PURPORT

Sometimes excellent, sumptuous food will come without endeavor, and at other times tasteless food appears. A sage should not become happily excited when a sumptuous plate is brought to him, nor should he angrily refuse ordinary food that comes of its own accord. If no food comes at all, as mentioned in the previous verse, one must endeavor to avoid starvation. From these verses it appears that even a saintly sage must have a good dose of common sense.

TEXT 36

zAAEcamaAcamanaM µaAnaM
na tau caAed"nayaA care"ta, @nyaAMê inayamaAHÁaAnal

yaTaAhM" lallayaeir":

*çaucam äcamanaà snänaà
na tu codanayä caret
anyäàç ca niyamäi' jì äné
yathähaà lélayeçvaraù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çaucam—general cleanliness; äcamanam—purifying the hands with water; snänam—taking bath; na—not; tu—indeed; codanayä—by force; caret—one should perform; anyän—other; ca—also; niyamän—regular duties; jì äné—one who has realized knowledge of Me; yathä—just as; aham—I; lélayä—by My own desire; éçvaraù—the Supreme Lord.

TRANSLATION

Just as I, the Supreme Lord, execute regulative duties by My own free will, similarly, one who has realized knowledge of Me should maintain general cleanliness, purify his hands with water, take bath and execute other regulative duties not by force but by his own free will.

PURPORT

When the Supreme Personality of Godhead descends to the material world, He generally observes the Vedic regulative duties to set a proper example for mankind. The Lord acts by His own free will, since no one can oblige, force or impel the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Similarly, the jì äné, or self-realized soul, is fixed on the spiritual platform, beyond the material body, and should therefore execute the regulative duties in relation to the material body by his own free will and not as a servant of the rules and regulations. A self-realized soul is a servant of Lord Kåñëa and not of rules and regulations. Nevertheless, a transcendentalist strictly complies with regular duties for the pleasure of the Supreme Lord. In other words, one who is advanced in loving devotional service to Lord Kåñëa spontaneously moves according to the will of the Supreme. One who is perfectly situated in spiritual realization cannot become a servant of the material body or of rules and regulations concerning the material body. However, this verse and other similar statements in Vedic scriptures should not be ignorantly misinterpreted to justify immoral, whimsical behavior. Lord Kāñëa is discussing the paramahaàsa stage of life, and those who are attached to the material body have nothing to do with this paramahaàsa stage, nor should they exploit its unique privileges and status.

TEXT 37

na ih" tasya ivak(lpaAKyaA
yaA ca maã"l°ayaA h"taA @Ade"h"AntaAt,(icatKyaAitas$a, tata: s$ampaâtae mayaA

*na hi tasya vikalpākhyā yā ca mad-vēkñayā hatā
ā-dehāntāt kvacit khyātis
tataù sampadyate mayā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; hi—certainly; tasya—for the realized person; vikalpa—of something separate from Kāñëa; ākhyā—perception; yā—which perception; ca—also; mat—of Me; vēkñayā—by realized knowledge; hatā—is destroyed; ā—until; deha—of the body; antāt—the death; kvacit—sometimes; khyātiù—such perception; tataù—then; sampadyate—achieves equal opulences; mayā—with Me.

TRANSLATION

A realized soul no longer sees anything as separate from Me, for his realized knowledge of Me has destroyed such illusory perception. Since the material body and mind were previously accustomed to this kind of perception, it may sometimes appear to recur; but at the time of death the self-realized soul achieves opulences equal to Mine.

PURPORT

Lord Kāñëa explained in verse 32 of this chapter that all material and spiritual objects are expansions of His potency. By realized knowledge of the Lord one gives up the illusion that anything, anywhere, at any time, can be separate from Lord Kāñëa. Lord Kāñëa has also explained, however, that one must keep the material body and mind fit for executing devotional service; therefore even a self-realized soul may sometimes appear to accept or reject certain conditions or objects within this world. Such brief apparent duality of concentration upon something other than Kāñëa does not change the liberated status of a self-realized soul, who achieves at the time of death the same opulences as Lord Kāñëa in the spiritual world. The function of illusion is to separate one from Lord Kāñëa, but the brief and occasional appearance of duality in the behavior or mentality of a pure devotee never separates him from the Lord. It does not constitute actual illusion, for it lacks the essential function of illusion, namely, the separation of one from Lord Kāñëa.

Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Ōhākura describes the self-realized devotees as follows. The devotee of the Lord does not see anything as separate from Lord Kāñëa and thus does not consider himself to be a permanent resident of the material world. At every moment the devotee is moved by his desire to serve Lord Kāñëa. Just as those who are inclined to sense gratification pass their time making arrangements for their enjoyment, similarly the devotees are busy throughout the day arranging their devotional service to Lord Kāñëa. Therefore they have no time to act like materialistic sense enjoyers. To ordinary persons it may seem that a pure devotee is seeing something as separate from Kāñëa, but a pure devotee is actually fixed in his status as a liberated soul and is guaranteed to achieve a spiritual body in the kingdom of God. Ordinary, materialistic persons cannot always understand the activities of a pure devotee of the Lord, and thus they may try to minimize his position, considering him to be the same as themselves. At the end of life, however, the results achieved by the devotees of the Lord and ordinary materialists are vastly different.

TEXT 38

äu":KaAed"keR(Sau k(AmaeSau jaAtainavaeRd" @AtmavaAna, @jÁaAis$atamaÜ"maAeR
mauinaM gAuç&maupa~ajaeta,

*duùkhodarkeñu kämeñu
jāta-nirveda ātmavān
ajijī āsita-mad-dharmo
munià gurum upavrajat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

duùkha—unhappiness; udarkeñu—in that which brings as its future result; kāmeñu—in sense gratification; jāta—arisen; nirveda—detachment; ātma-vān—desiring spiritual perfection in life; ajijī āsita—one who has not seriously considered; mat—Me; dharmā—the process of obtaining; muni—a wise person; gurum—a spiritual master; upavrajat—he should approach.

TRANSLATION

One who is detached from sense gratification, knowing its result to be miserable, and who desires spiritual perfection, but who has not seriously analyzed the process for obtaining Me, should approach a bona fide and learned spiritual master.

PURPORT

In the previous verses Lord Kāñëa described the duty of one who has developed perfect knowledge. Now Lord Kāñëa discusses the situation of one who, desiring self-realization, has become detached from material life but lacks perfect knowledge of Kāñëa consciousness. Such a detached person desiring self-realization must approach the lotus feet of a bona fide spiritual master in Kāñëa consciousness, and then he will quickly come to the standard of perfect understanding. One who is seriously inclined toward spiritual perfection should not hesitate to adopt the regular discipline necessary for achieving the highest perfection in life.

TEXT 39

taAvatpair"care"à".(: ™aÜ"AvaAnanas$aUyak(:
yaAvaä," "aö ivajaAnalyaAna, maAmaeva gAuç&maAä{"ta:

*tävat paricared bhaktaù
çraddhävân anasüyakaù
yävad brahma vijäneyän
mäm eva gurum ädâtaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tävat—that long; paricaret—should serve; bhaktaù—the devotee; çraddhä-vân—with great faith; anasüyakaù—being without envy; yävat—until; brahma—spiritual knowledge; vijäneyät—he clearly realizes; mäm—Me; eva—indeed; gurum—the spiritual master; ädâtaù—with great respect.

TRANSLATION

Until a devotee has clearly realized spiritual knowledge, he should continue with great faith and respect and without envy to render personal service to the guru, who is nondifferent from Me.

PURPORT

As stated by Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura in his Gurv-aññaka prayers, yasya prasädäd bhagavat-prasädaù: one receives the mercy of the Supreme Lord through the mercy of the bona fide spiritual master. A devotee who has been blessed by his guru with spiritual knowledge becomes qualified to directly engage in the mission of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Çréla Prabhupäda always emphasized that service to the spiritual master in separation, pushing on the mission of the guru, is the highest form of devotional service. The word paricaret in this verse indicates waiting upon one's master by rendering personal service. In other words, one who has not clearly realized the teachings of his spiritual master should remain very close to the guru to avoid falling down into illusion, but one who has acquired realized knowledge by the mercy of his spiritual master may expand the spiritual master's mission by traveling around the world to preach Kãñëa consciousness.

TEXTS 40-41

yastvas$aMyataSaÖ"gaR:
 'acaNxe"in%"yas$aAr"iT: ÁaAnavaEr"Agyar"ih"tas$a,
 iṭad"Nx"maupajalvaita

$aur"AnaAtmaAnamaAtmasTaM ina¶ú"tae maAM ca DamaRh"A @ivapa,(k(SaAyaAe'smaAä," @mauSmaA»a ivah"lyatae

yas tv asaà yata-ññaò-vargaù pracaëòendriya-särathiù
jì äna-vairägya-rahitas
tri-daëòam upajévatì

surän ätmänam ätma-sthaà
nihnute mäà ca dharma-hä avipakva-kañäyo 'smäd

amuñmāc ca vihéyate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—one who; tu—but; asaàyata—having not controlled; ñai—the six; vargaù—items of contamination; pracaëòā—fierce; indriya—of the senses; sārathiù—the driver, intelligence; jī āna—of knowledge; vairāgya—and detachment; rahitaù—bereft; tri-daëòam—the sannyāsa order of life; upajēvati—utilizing for one's bodily maintenance; surān—the worshipable demigods; ātmānam—his own self; ātma-stham—situated within himself; nihnute—denies; mām—Me; ca—also; dharmahā—ruining religious principles; avipakva—not yet dissolved; kañāyaù—contamination; asmāt—from this world; amuñmāt—from the next life; ca—also; vihéyate—he is lost, deviated.

TRANSLATION

One who has not controlled the six forms of illusion [lust, anger, greed, excitement, false pride and intoxication], whose intelligence, the leader of the senses, is extremely attached to material things, who is bereft of knowledge and detachment, who adopts the sannyāsa order of life to make a living, who denies the worshipable demigods, his own self and the Supreme Lord within himself, thus ruining all religious principles, and who is still infected by material contamination, is deviated and lost both in this life and the next.

PURPORT

Lord Kāñëā here condemns bogus personalities who adopt the sannyāsa order of life for sense gratification while still maintaining all of the symptoms of gross illusion. A false show of sannyāsa is never accepted by intelligent followers of Vedic principles. So-called sannyāsēs who ruin all Vedic religious principles sometimes become famous among foolish persons, but they are simply cheating themselves and their followers. These charlatan sannyāsēs are never actually engaged in the loving devotional service of Lord Kāñëā.

TEXT 42

iBa⁰aAeDaRmaR: zAmaAe'ihM"s$A tapa wR⁰aA vanaAEk(s$a:
gA{ih"NAAe BaUtar"⁰aejyaA
iã"jasyaAcaAyaRs$aevanama,

*bhikñor dharmaù çamo 'hiàsä
tapa ékñä vanaukasaù
gãhiëo bhüta-rakñejyã
dvijasyäcärya-sevanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhikñou—of a sannyäse; dharmaù—the main religious principle;
çamaù—equanimity; ahiàsä—nonviolence; tapaù—austerity;
ékñä—discrimination (between the body and the soul); vana—in the forest;
okasaù—of one dwelling, a vānaprastha; gãhiëaù—of a householder;
bhüta-rakñä—offering shelter to all living entities; ijyã—performance of sacrifice; dvi-jasya—of a brahmacäre; äcärya—the spiritual master;
sevanam—serving.

TRANSLATION

The main religious duties of a sannyäse are equanimity and nonviolence, whereas for the vānaprastha austerity and philosophical understanding of the difference between the body and soul are prominent. The main duties of a householder are to give shelter to all living entities and perform sacrifices, and the brahmacäre is mainly engaged in serving the spiritual master.

PURPORT

The brahmacäre lives in the äçrama of the spiritual master and personally assists the äcärya. Householders generally are entrusted with the performance of sacrifice and Deity worship and should provide maintenance for all living entities. The vānaprastha must clearly understand the difference between body and soul in order to maintain his status of renunciation, and he should also perform austerities. The sannyāṣi should fully absorb his body, mind and words in self-realization. Having thus achieved equanimity of mind, he is the best well-wisher of all living entities.

TEXT 43

“aöcaya< tapa: zAAEcaM
s$antaAeSaAe BaUtas$aAEô$d"ma, gA{h"sTasyaApya{taAE gAntau:
s$avaeRSaAM maäu"paAs$anama,

*brahmacaryaà tapaù çaucaà
santoño bhüta-sauhâdam
gâhasthasyâpy âtau gantuù
sarveñäà mad-upâsanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brahma-caryam—celibacy; tapaù—austerity; çaucam—purity of mind without attachment or repulsion; santoñaù—full satisfaction; bhüta—toward all living entities; sauhâdam—friendship; gâhasthasya—of the householder; api—also; âtau—at the proper time; gantuù—approaching his wife; sarveñäm—of all human beings; mat—of Me; upâsanam—worship.

TRANSLATION

A householder may approach his wife for sex only at the time prescribed for begetting children. Otherwise, the householder should practice celibacy, austerity, cleanliness of mind and body, satisfaction in his natural position, and friendship toward all living entities. Worship of Me is to be practiced by all human beings, regardless of social or occupational divisions.

PURPORT

Sarveṇā mad-upāsanam indicates that all followers of the varēāçrama system must worship Lord Kāṇēa or risk falling down from their position. As stated in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (11.5.3), na bhajanty avajānanti sthānād bhrañō patanty adhaù: even though one may be advanced in the performance of Vedic rituals and customs, without worshiping the Supreme Lord one will certainly fall down.

Those in the householder āçrama are not authorized to enjoy life like pigs and dogs, freely exercising their sexual potency. A religious householder should approach his wife at the prescribed time and place and beget a saintly child for the pleasure of the Supreme Lord. Otherwise, it is specifically mentioned here that a householder must practice celibacy along with all of the other members of advanced human civilization. The word çaucam indicates cleanliness of mind and body, or else freedom from attachment and repulsion. One who faithfully worships God as the supreme controller experiences santoṇa, full satisfaction in whatever situation the Lord arranges. By seeing Lord Kāṇēa within everyone, one becomes bhūta-suhāt, the well-wishing friend of all.

TEXT 44

wita maAM ya: svaDamaeRNA Bajaei³atyamananyaBaAk,( s$avaRBaUtaeSau maà"AvaAe maà"i-M(ivand"tae ä{"X#Ama,

*iti māà yaù sva-dharmeëa
bhajen nityam ananya-bhāk sarva-bhūteṇu mad-bhāvo
mad-bhaktià vindate dāòhām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; mām—Me; yaù—one who; sva-dhar-meëa—by his prescribed duty; bhajet—worships; nityam—always; ananya-bhāk—with no other object of worship; sarva-bhūteṇu—in all living entities; mat—of Me; bhāvaù—being conscious; mat-bhaktim—devotional service unto Me; vindate—achieves; dāohām—unflinching.

TRANSLATION

One who worships Me by his prescribed duty, having no other object of worship, and who remains conscious of Me as present in all living entities, achieves unflinching devotional service unto Me.

PURPORT

It is clearly explained in this verse that loving devotional service unto Lord Kāñëa is the ultimate goal of the entire varëäçrama system, which the Lord has been elaborately explaining. In any social or occupational division of human society one must be a devotee of the Supreme Personality of Godhead and worship Him alone. The bona fide spiritual master is the representative of Lord Kāñëa, and worship of the äcārya goes directly to the lotus feet of the Lord. Although ordinary householders are sometimes ordered by Vedic injunctions to worship particular demigods or forefathers, one should remember that Lord Kāñëa is within all living entities. As stated here, sarva-bhūteṇu mad-bhāvaù. The pure devotees of the Lord worship the Lord alone, and those who cannot come to the standard of pure devotional service should at least meditate upon the Personality of Godhead within the demigods and all other living entities, understanding that all religious processes are ultimately meant for the pleasure of the Lord. In the course of missionary work even pure devotees must deal with government leaders and other prominent members of society, sometimes praising such persons and complying with their orders. Yet because the devotees are always meditating on Lord Kāñëa situated as the Supersoul within everyone, they are therefore acting for the Lord's pleasure and not for the pleasure of any ordinary human being. Those persons dealing with different demigods in the course of their varëäçrama duties should similarly see the Lord as the basis of everything. They should concentrate on pleasing the Supreme Lord by all activities. This stage of life is called love of God, and it brings one to the point of actual liberation.

TEXT 45

BaftyAeÜ"vaAnapaAiyanyaA
s$avaRlaAek(mahe"ir"ma, s$avaAeRtpaÔyapyayaM "aö
k(Ar"NAM maAepayaAita s$a:

*bhaktyoddhavānapāyinyā
sarva-loka-maheçvaram
sarvotpatty-apyayaà brahma
kāraëaà mopayāti saù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhaktyā—by loving service; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; anapāyinyā—unfailing; sarva—of all; loka—worlds; mahā-ēçvaram—the Supreme Lord; sarva—of everything; utpatti—the cause of the creation; apyayam—and annihilation; brahma—the Absolute Truth; kāraëam—the cause of the universe; mā—to Me; upayāti—comes; saù—he.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, I am the Supreme Lord of all worlds, and I create and destroy this universe, being its ultimate cause. I am thus the Absolute Truth, and one who worships Me with unfailing devotional service comes to Me.

PURPORT

As described in the First Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (1.2.11), Lord Kāñëa is understood in three features—as impersonal Brahman, localized Paramātmā and ultimately the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Çré Kāñëa, the source of everything. Lord Kāñëa absorbs the impersonal philosophers into the rays of His body, appears before the perfect yogés as the Lord of the heart, and ultimately brings His pure devotees back to His own abode for an eternal life of bliss and knowledge.

TEXT 46

wita svaDamaRinaiNAR·(- s$aÔvaAe inaÁaARtamaÔ"ita:
ÁaAnaivaÁaAnas$ampa^aaAe na icar"Ats$amaupaEita maAma,

*iti sva-dharma-nirëiktasattvo nirjī āta-mad-gatiū
jī āna-vijī āna-sampanno
na cirāt samupaiti mām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; sva-dharma—by performing his prescribed duty; nirëikta—having purified; sattvaū—his existence; nirjī āta—completely understanding; mat-gatiū—My supreme position; jī āna—with knowledge of the scriptures; vijī āna—and realized knowledge of the soul; sampannaū—endowed; na cirāt—in the near future; samupaiti—completely achieves; mām—Me.

TRANSLATION

Thus, one who has purified his existence by execution of his prescribed duties, who fully understands My supreme position and who is endowed with scriptural and realized knowledge, very soon achieves Me.

TEXT 47

vaNAAR™amavataAM DamaR WSa @AcaAr"la^oaNA:

s$a Wva maà"i·(yautaAe ina:™aeyas$ak(r": par":

*varëäçramavatäà dharma
eña äcära-lakñaëaù
sa eva mad-bhakti-yuto
niùçreyasa-karaù paraù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

varëäçrama-vatäm—of the followers of the varëäçrama system;
dharmaù—religious principle; eñaù—this; äcära—by proper behavior according to the authorized tradition; lakñaëaù—characterized; saù—this;
eva—indeed; mat-bhakti—with devotional service to Me; yutaù—conjoined;
niùçreyasa—the highest perfection of life; karaù—giving; paraù—supreme.

TRANSLATION

Those who are followers of this varëäçrama system accept religious principles according to authorized traditions of proper conduct. When such varëäçrama duties are dedicated to Me in loving service, they award the supreme perfection of life.

PURPORT

According to the varëäçrama system, the members of different orders and statuses of life have many traditional duties, such as worshiping the forefathers to save them from possible sinful reactions. All such Vedic rituals, sacrifices, austerities and so forth should be offered to the lotus feet of Lord Çré Kåñëa. They then become the transcendental means for going back home, back to Godhead. In other words, Kåñëa consciousness, or loving service to Lord Çré Kåñëa, is the sum and substance of progressive human life.

TEXT 48

WtaÔae'iBaih"taM s$aADaAe BavaAna, pa{cC$ita ya»a maAma, yaTaA svaDamaRs$aMyau·(Ae Ba·(Ae maAM s$aimayaAtpar"ma,

*etat te 'bhihitaà sādho
bhavān pācchati yac ca mām yathā sva-dharma-saàyukto
bhakto mām samiyāt param*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; te—unto you; abhihitam—described; sādho—O saintly Uddhava; bhavān—you; pācchati—have asked; yac—which; ca—and; mām—from Me; yathā—the means by which; sva-dharma—in one's prescribed duty; saàyuktaù—perfectly engaged; bhaktaù—being a devotee; mām—to Me; samiyāt—one may come; param—the Supreme.

TRANSLATION

My dear saintly Uddhava, I have now described to you, just as you inquired, the means by which My devotee, perfectly engaged in his prescribed duty, can come back to Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Eighteenth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Description of Varëäçrama-dharma."

19. The Perfection of Spiritual Knowledge

This chapter describes how those who practice speculative knowledge eventually give up their method, whereas the pure devotees remain engaged in devotional service eternally. Also described are the different practices of the yogés, beginning with yama.

The Supreme Lord, Çré Kâñëa, stated to Uddhava, "One who is actually wise, who knows the truth of the self and possesses transcendental insight, rejects this world of dualities and the so-called knowledge meant for facilitating enjoyment of it. He instead engages himself in trying to satisfy the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the master of all. This is pure bhakti-yoga. Transcendental knowledge is greater than such ordinary pious activities as chanting of mantras, but pure devotional service is greater than even knowledge."

After this, Lord Kâñëa, requested by Çré Uddhava to describe in full detail pure transcendental knowledge and devotional service, related the same instructions that the greatest of Vaiñëavas, Bhéñmadeva, gave on these topics to Çré Yudhiñöhira on the occasion of the battle at Kurukñetra. Following this, after being asked about yama and the other practices of yoga, the Lord enumerated the twelve kinds of yama beginning with nonviolence, and the twelve kinds of niyama, beginning with bodily cleanliness.

TEXT 1

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
yaAe ivaâA™autas$ampaªa: @AtmavaAªaAnaumaAinak(:
mayaAmaA‡aimadM" ÁaAtvaA ÁaAnaM ca maiya s$ªayas$æta,

çré-bhagavän uväca
yo vidyâ-çruta-sampannaù
ätmavän nänumanikaù
mayä-mätram idaà ji' ätvä
ji' änaà ca mayi sannnyaset

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; yaù—one who; vidyā—with realized knowledge; çruta—and preliminary scriptural knowledge; sampannaù—endowed; ātma-vān—self-realized; na—not; ānumānikaù—engaged in impersonal speculation; māyā—illusion; mātram—only; idam—this universe; jī ātvā—knowing; jī ānam—such knowledge and the means of achieving it; ca—also; mayi—to Me; sannyaset—one should surrender.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: A self-realized person who has cultivated scriptural knowledge up to the point of enlightenment and who is free from impersonal speculation, understanding the material universe to be simply illusion, should surrender unto Me both that knowledge and the means by which he achieved it.

PURPORT

Māyā-mātram idaà jī ātvā indicates knowledge that the eternal spirit soul and the eternal Personality of Godhead are completely separate from the temporary qualities of the material world. The word vidyā-çruta-sampanna means that one should cultivate Vedic knowledge for the purpose of enlightenment and not to make a show of mysticism, intellectuality or impersonal speculation. Having neutralized the illusory effects of māyā, one should then transfer one's attention to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, surrendering the process of philosophical negation to the Lord Himself. Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé gives the example that when there is danger the king may issue weapons to private citizens, but after military victory the individual citizens return the weapons to the king.

Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura explains this point of this verse as follows. Somehow or other the living entity has to free himself from material illusion, which has covered him since time immemorial. Cultivating desirelessness and renunciation by practice of the mystic yoga system, the living entity develops knowledge of illusion and may thus lift himself above the reach of material ignorance. However, once one is situated on the transcendental platform, both knowledge of illusion and the process of acquiring such knowledge have no further practical application. Çrëla Viçvanätha Cakravartë Öhäkura gives the example that a man may be haunted by the ghost of a snake or a tiger. As long as the man is possessed and thinks, "I am a snake" or "I am a tiger," attempts will be made to counteract the ghostly influence by application of jewels, mantras and herbs. But when the man is freed from possession by ghosts, he again thinks, "I am Mr. So-and-so, the son of Mr. So-and-so," and returns to his original nature. At that time the jewels, mantras and herbs have no further immediate application. The word vidyā in this verse thus indicates knowledge acquired through philosophical analysis, mystic yoga, austerities and renunciation. Such knowledge of the temporary, illusory nature of this world counteracts ignorance, and there are many Vedic scriptures that train the living entity in such knowledge. Gradually one gives up his false identification with the material body and mind and with those material objects that interact with the body and mind. Having realized such counteractive knowledge, one must engage in the loving service of the Personality of Godhead and become a pure devotee. When one is completely perfect in Kāñëa consciousness, there is naturally little interest in the innumerable details of illusion, and gradually one is transferred to the spiritual world.

TEXT 2

ÁaAinanastvah"maevaeí":
 svaATaAeR he"tauê s$ammata:
 svagARêEvaApavagARê
 naAnyAe'TaAeR maä{"tae i'aya:

*jī āninas tv aham evēñāu
 svārtho hetuḥ ca sammatau*

*svargaç caivāpavargaç ca
nānyo 'rtho mad-āte priyaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jī āninaù—of a learned self-realized philosopher; tu—indeed; aham—I; eva—alone; īñāù—the object of worship; sva-arthaù—the desired goal of life; hetuù—the means for achieving the goal of life; ca—also; sammataù—the settled conclusion; svargaù—the cause of all happiness in elevation to heaven; ca—also; eva—indeed; apavargaù—freedom from all unhappiness; ca—also; na—not; anyaù—any other; arthaù—purpose; mat—Me; rte—without; priyaù—dear object.

TRANSLATION

For learned, self-realized philosophers I am the only object of worship, the desired goal of life, the means for achieving that goal, and the settled conclusion of all knowledge. Indeed, because I am the cause of their happiness and their freedom from unhappiness, such learned souls have no effective purpose or dear object in life except Me.

PURPORT

In the previous verse Lord Kāñēa stated that one should ultimately surrender unto Him that knowledge by which the material world is seen as illusion. Material attachments are certainly problems for the living entities, since they are diseases of the spirit soul. One who has contracted a skin disease that causes terrible itching gains only flickering relief by scratching the unbearable sores. If he does not scratch he suffers greatly, but by scratching, even though there is an instantaneous sensation of pleasure, unbearable misery follows as the itching increases. Real happiness is not found in scratching one's skin infections but rather in becoming free from such disease. Conditioned souls are harassed by many illusory desires, and in desperation they try to gratify their senses through the hopeless scratching processes of illicit sex, meat-eating, gambling and intoxication. They further try to gain relief through material society, friendship and love, but the result is unbearable suffering. Real happiness is to eliminate completely the itching disease of material desire. Since material desire is a disease of the soul, one must acquire knowledge to treat this disease and eliminate it. Such therapeutic knowledge is essential as long as one is diseased, but when one is fully healthy, such technical medical knowledge is no longer interesting to the healthy person, and he may leave such knowledge to the doctors. Similarly, in the advanced stage of Kāñëa consciousness one need not think continually of one's personal problems but may rather think of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Kāñëa, with love and devotion. Lord Kāñëa advises in the previous verse that one should eliminate one's personal problems through technical knowledge of illusion. After giving up constant meditation on such problems, one can then become a lover of God. Lord Kāñëa certainly guides each and every sincere devotee internally within the heart and externally through the bona fide spiritual master. In this way, Lord Kāñëa gradually trains His sincere devotees to give up their irrational attachment to dead matter. Once freedom has been achieved, a devotee begins to seriously cultivate his relationship with Lord Kāñëa in the spiritual sky.

One may falsely think that just as at a certain stage of advancement one ceases to concentrate on technical, analytic knowledge of illusion, so, at another stage one may give up loving devotional service to Lord Kāñëa. To nullify such speculation Lord Çré Kāñëa here states in various ways that He is the supreme eternal goal of all truly learned human beings. Indeed, the most prominent scholars within the universe are the sages, such as the four Kumāras, who accept Lord Kāñëa as their only worshipable object. Because they have discovered that they are eternal fragmental portions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Çré Kāñëa, they are not interested in fruitive activities and mental speculation. Lord Kāñëa awards celestial bliss and freedom from anxiety to His sincere followers, who have no purpose or beloved object in life other than the Lord.

TEXT 3

ÁaAnaivaÁaAnas$aMis$aÜ"A:
padM"™aeĩM"ivaäu"maRma ÁaAnal i'ayatamaAe'taAe mae ÁaAnaenaAs$aAE ibaBaitaR maAma,

jī āna-vijī āna-saāsiddhāu padaā çreññaā vidur mama
jī ānē priyatamo 'to me
jī ānēnaśau bibharti mām

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jī āna—in scriptural knowledge; vijī āna—and realized spiritual understanding; saāsiddhāu—completely perfected; padam—the lotus feet; çreññham—the supreme object; viduū—they know; mama—My; jī ānē—a learned transcendentalist; priya-tamaū—most dear; ataū—thus; me—to Me; jī ānēna—by spiritual knowledge; śau—that learned person; bibharti—maintains (in happiness); mām—Me.

TRANSLATION

Those who have achieved complete perfection through philosophical and realized knowledge recognize My lotus feet to be the supreme transcendental object. Thus the learned transcendentalist is most dear to Me, and by his perfect knowledge he maintains Me in happiness.

PURPORT

The words padaā çreññaā vidur mama ("they recognize My lotus feet to be supreme") certainly eliminate the impersonalist philosophers from the category of saāsiddhāu, or completely perfected philosophers. Lord Kāñēa here refers to such great transcendental scholars as the four Kumāras, Çukadeva Gosvāmē, Çré Vyāsadeva, Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatē Ōhākura and Çréla A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swami Prabhupāda. The Lord similarly states in Bhagavad-gētā (7.17-18),

*teñām jī āṇe nitya-yukta eka-bhaktir viçīṇyate
priyo hi jī āṇino 'ty-artham
ahaà sa ca mama priyaù*

"Of these, the wise one who is in full knowledge in union with Me through pure devotional service is the best. For I am very dear to him, and he is dear to Me."

*udārāù sarva evaite
jī āṇe tv ātmaiva me matam āsthitaù sa hi yuktātmā
mām evānuttamāà gatim
[Bg. 7.18]*

"All these devotees are undoubtedly magnanimous souls, but he who is situated in knowledge of Me I consider verily to dwell in Me. Being engaged in My transcendental service, he attains Me."

Jī āna refers to an authorized philosophical and analytic perception of reality, and when such knowledge is clearly realized through the sanctification of consciousness the resultant comprehensive experience is called vijī āna. Speculative, impersonal knowledge does not actually purify the heart of the living entity but rather merges him ever deeper into forgetfulness of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Just as a father is always proud of his son's education, similarly, Lord Kāñēa becomes very happy to see the living entities acquiring a sound spiritual education and thus making progress on the way back home, back to Godhead.

TEXT 4

tapastaIta< japaAe d"AnaM paivaḥaANAItar"AiNA ca naAlaM ku(vaRinta taAM is$aiÜM"

yaA ÁaAnak(layaA k{(taA

*tapas térthaà japo dānaà paviträëëtaräëi ca
nälaà kurvanti täà siddhià
yā jī āna-kalayā kâtā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tapaù—austerity; tértham—visiting holy places; japaù—offering silent prayers; dānam—charity; paviträëi—pious activities; itaräëi—other; ca—also; na—not; alam—up to the same standard; kurvanti—they award; tām—this; siddhim—perfection; yā—which; jī āna—of spiritual knowledge; kalayā—by a fraction; kâtā—is awarded.

TRANSLATION

That perfection which is produced by a small fraction of spiritual knowledge cannot be duplicated by performing austerities, visiting holy places, chanting silent prayers, giving in charity or engaging in other pious activities.

PURPORT

Jī āna here refers to a clear understanding of the Lord's supreme dominion over all that be, and this realized knowledge is nondifferent from the Supreme Personality of Godhead. That the Lord is supreme is confirmed in the previous verse by the words padam çreññaà vidur mama. One may perform penances or visit holy places with a proud mentality or material motivation; similarly, one may chant prayers to God, give charity or perform other externally pious activities with many bizarre, hypocritical or even demoniac motivations. Realized knowledge of the supremacy of Lord Kāñëa, however, is a solid connection with the spiritual world, and if one pursues this holy understanding one is gradually promoted to the highest level of conscious existence, called Vaikuëöha, or the kingdom of God.

TEXT 5

tasmaAjÁaAnaena s$aih"taM ÁaAtvaA svaAtmaAnamauÜ"va
ÁaAnaivaÁaAnas$ampaªaAe Baja maAM Bai·(BaAvata:

*tasmäj jī ānena sahitaà
jī ātvā svātmānam uddhava
jī āna-vijī āna-sampanno
bhaja mää bhakti-bhāvataù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmāt—therefore; jī ānena—knowledge; sahitam—with; jī ātvā—knowing; sva-ātmānam—your own self; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; jī āna—in Vedic knowledge; vijī āna—and clear realization; sampannaù—accomplished; bhaja—worship; mām—Me; bhakti—of loving devotion; bhāvataù—in the mood.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, My dear Uddhava, through knowledge you should understand your actual self. Then, advancing by clear realization of Vedic knowledge, you should worship Me in the mood of loving devotion.

PURPORT

The word vijī āna indicates realized knowledge of one's original, spiritual form. Every living entity has an eternal spiritual form, which lies dormant until one arouses one's original Kāñëa consciousness. Without knowledge of one's own spiritual personality it is not possible to cultivate love of the Supreme Personality, Lord Kāñëa. Therefore, the words jī ātvā svātmānam are significant here, indicating that every living entity can realize his full potential as an individual person only in the kingdom of God.

TEXT 6

ÁaAnaivaÁaAnayaÁaena
maAimaî" AtmaAnamaAtmaina
s$avaRyaÁapaitaM maAM vaE
s$amisa$aiÜM" maunayaAe'gAmana,

*jī āna-vijī āna-yajī ena
mām iñōvātmānam ātmani
sarva-yajī a-patī ā mā vai
saśiddhi ā munayo 'gaman*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jī āna—of Vedic knowledge; vijī āna—and spiritual enlightenment; yajī ena—by the sacrifice; mām—Me; iñōvā—having worshiped; ātmānam—the Supreme Lord within everyone's heart; ātmani—within themselves; sarva—of all; yajī a—sacrifices; patim—the Lord; mām—Me; vai—certainly; saśiddhim—the supreme perfection; munayaū—the sages; agaman—achieved.

TRANSLATION

Formerly, great sages, through the sacrifice of Vedic knowledge and spiritual enlightenment, worshiped Me within themselves, knowing Me to be the Supreme Lord of all sacrifice and the Supersoul in everyone's heart. Thus coming to Me, these sages achieved the supreme perfection.

TEXT 7

tvayyauÜ"vaA™ayaita yaiñivaDaAe ivak(Ar"Ae maAyaAntar"Apataita naAâpavagARyaAeyaRta, janmaAd"yaAe'sya yad"mal tava tasya ikM(syaur,"

@AântayaAeyaRd"s$ataAe'ista tade"va maDyae

*tvayy uddhavâçrayati yas tri-vidho vikâro mâyântarâpatati nâdy-apavargayor yat janmâdayo 'sya yad amé tava tasya kià syur
âdy-antayor yad asato 'sti tad eva madhye*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tvayi—in you; uddhava—O Uddhava; âçrayati—enters and remains; yaù—which; tri-vidhaù—in three divisions, according to the modes of nature; vikâraù—(the material body and mind, which are subject to) constant transformation; mâyâ—illusion; antarâ—during the present; âpatati—suddenly appears; na—not; âdi—in the beginning; apavargayoù—nor at the end; yat—since; janma—birth; âdayaù—and so on (growth, procreation, maintenance, dwindling and death); asya—of the body; yat—when; amé—these; tava—in relation to you; tasya—in relation to your spiritual nature; kim—what relationship; syuù—could they have; âdi—in the beginning; antayoù—and in the end; yat—since; asataù—of that which does not exist; asti—exists; tat—that; eva—indeed; madhye—only in the middle, at present.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, the material body and mind, composed of the three modes of material nature, attach themselves to you, but they are actually illusion, since they appear only at the present, having no original or ultimate existence. How is it possible, therefore, that the various stages of the body, namely birth, growth, reproduction, maintenance, dwindling and death, can have any relation to your eternal self? These phases relate only to the material body, which previously did not exist and ultimately will not exist. The body exists merely at the present moment.

PURPORT

The example is given that a man walking in the forest may see a rope but consider it to be a snake. Such perception is māyā, or illusion, although the rope actually exists and a snake also exists in another place. Illusion thus refers to the false identification of one object with another. The material body exists briefly and then disappears. In the past the body did not exist, and in the future it will not exist; it enjoys a flickering, momentary existence in so-called present time. If we falsely identify ourselves as the material body or mind, we are creating an illusion. One who identifies himself as American, Russian, Chinese, Mexican, black or white, man or woman, communist or capitalist, and so on, accepting such designations as his permanent identity, is certainly in deep illusion. He can be compared to a sleeping man who sees himself acting in a different body while dreaming. In the previous verse Lord Kāñēa told Uddhava that spiritual knowledge is the means of achieving the highest perfection, and now the Lord is explicitly describing such knowledge.

TEXT 8

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
 ÁaAnaM ivazAuÜM" ivapaulaM yaTaEtaä," vaEr"AgyaivaÁaAnayautaM paur"ANama, @AKyaAih" ivaieir" ivaïmaUtaeR tvaà"i·(yaAegAM ca mah"iã"ma{gyama,

çré-uddhava uvāca
jī ānaà viçuddhaà vipulaà yathaitad vairāgya-vijī āna-yutaà purāëam ākhyāhi viçveçvara viçva-mūrte
tvad-bhakti-yogaà ca mahad-vimāgyam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uvāca—Çré Uddhava said; jī ānam—knowledge; viçuddham—transcendental; vipulam—extensive; yathā—just as; etat—this; vairāgya—detachment; vijī āna—and direct perception of the truth;

yutam—including; purāëam—traditional among great philosophers; ākhyāhi—please explain; viçva-êçvara—O Lord of the universe; viçva-mūrte—O form of the universe; tvat—unto You; bhakti-yogam—loving devotional service; ca—also; mahat—by great souls; vimāgyam—sought after.

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava said: O Lord of the universe! O form of the universe! Please explain to me that process of knowledge which automatically brings detachment and direct perception of the truth, which is transcendental, and which is traditional among great spiritual philosophers. This knowledge, sought by elevated personalities, describes loving devotional service unto Your Lordship.

PURPORT

Those who are able to cross over the darkness of material existence are called mahat, or great personalities. Secondary items like cosmic consciousness or universal control do not deviate the attention of such great souls from loving service to the Lord. Çré Uddhava desires to hear knowledge of the eternal religious principles that are the traditional aim and objective of all superior personalities.

TEXT 9

taApaṭayaaeNAAiBah"tasya GaAere"
s$antapyamaAnasya BavaADvanalZA pazyAima naAnyacC$r"NAM tavaAx.~i,,aã"nã"AtapaṭaAd"ma{taAiBavaSaARta,

tāpa-trayeëābhihatasya ghore
santapyamānasya bhavādhvanēça paçyāmi nānyac charaëaà tavāi ghridvandvātapatrād amātābhivarñāt

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tāpa—by the miseries; trayeëa—threefold; abhihatasya—of one overwhelmed; ghore—which is terrible; santapyamānasya—being tormented; bhava—of material existence; adhvani—in the path; éça—O Lord; paçyāmi—I see; na—none; anyat—other; çaraëam—shelter; tava—Your; aì ghri—lotus feet; dvandva—of the two; ātapatrāt—than the umbrella; amāta—of nectar; abhivarnāt—the shower.

TRANSLATION

My dear Lord, for one who is being tormented on the terrible path of birth and death and is constantly overwhelmed by the threefold miseries, I do not see any possible shelter other than Your two lotus feet, which are just like a refreshing umbrella that pours down showers of delicious nectar.

PURPORT

Lord Kāñëa, recognizing Uddhava's highly intellectual nature, has repeatedly recommended to him that one should achieve perfection by cultivation of transcendental knowledge. But the Lord has also clearly demonstrated that such knowledge must bring one to the point of loving devotional service to Him, for otherwise it is useless. In this verse Çré Uddhava corroborates Lord Kāñëa's statements that actual happiness is obtained by surrendering to His lotus feet. When the incarnation of Godhead Pāthu Mahārāja was crowned, the demigod Vāyu presented him with an umbrella that constantly sprayed fine particles of water. The Lord's two lotus feet are similarly compared here to a wonderful umbrella that produces a constant shower of delicious nectar, the bliss of Kāñëa consciousness. Normally, speculative analytic knowledge terminates in an impersonal conception of the Absolute Truth, but the so-called bliss of merging into impersonal spiritual existence can never be compared to the bliss of Kāñëa consciousness, as stated here by Çré Uddhava. Kāñëa consciousness thus automatically constitutes perfect knowledge, since Lord

Kāñëa is the ultimate shelter of all living entities. The words abhihatasya and abhivariñāt are significant in this verse. Abhihatasya indicates one who is being defeated on all sides by the onslaught of material nature, whereas abhivariñāt indicates a downpour of nectar that eliminates all of the problems of material existence. By our intelligence we should look beyond the dull material body and nonsensical material mind to observe the unlimited shower of blissful nectar coming from the two lotus feet of Lord Kāñëa. Then our real good fortune will begin.

TEXT 10

d"íM" janaM s$ampaitataM ibalae'ismana,
k(AlaAih"naA °au"%o"s$auKaAeç&taSaRma,
s$amauÜ"rE"naM k{(payaApavagyaE=r," vacaAeiBar"Ais$AÂa mah"AnauBaAva

daññaà janaà sampatitaà bile 'smin kälāhinā kñudra-sukhoru-tarñam samuddharainaà kâpayâpavargyair vacobhir äsîi ca mahānubhāva

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dañña—bitten; janam—the person; sampatitam—hopelessly fallen; bile—in the dark hole; asmin—this; kāla—of time; ahinā—by the serpent; kñudra—insignificant; sukha—having happiness; uru—and tremendous; tarñam—hankering; samuddhara—please uplift; enam—this person; kâpayā—by Your causeless mercy; âpavargyaiu—that awaken one to liberation; vacobhiu—by Your words; äsîi ca—please pour; mahā-anubhāva—O mighty Lord.

TRANSLATION

O almighty Lord, please be merciful and uplift this hopeless living entity who has fallen into the dark hole of material existence, where the snake of time has bitten him. In spite of such abominable conditions, this poor living entity has tremendous desire to relish the most insignificant material happiness. Please save me, my Lord, by pouring down the nectar of Your instructions, which awaken one to spiritual freedom.

PURPORT

Material life, so much cherished by the nondevotees, is here compared to a dark hole filled with poisonous snakes. In material life there is certainly no clear understanding of one's ultimate identity, of God or of the universe. Everything is vague and dark. In material life the poisonous snake of time is always threatening, and at any moment our near and dear ones will be killed by the mortal fangs of the serpent. Ultimately, we ourselves will also be bitten and killed by the poisonous effects of time. The word sampatitam indicates that the falldown of the living entity is complete. In other words, he cannot get up again. Çré Uddhava therefore appeals to the Lord to be kind to these poor fallen souls, humbly represented by his own self. If one receives the Lord's mercy, then even without any further qualification one can go back home, back to Godhead; and without the mercy of Lord Kânëa, the most learned, austere, powerful, wealthy or beautiful man will be pathetically crushed by the material world's machinery of illusion. The Supreme Personality of Godhead, as described here, is mahānubhāva, or the greatest, most powerful and most merciful personality, whose influence extends everywhere. The Lord's mercy is manifest in the form of His nectarean instructions such as Bhagavad-gētā and the Uddhava-gētā, being spoken here. The word kñudra-sukhoru-tarñam reveals the irony of material existence. Although material happiness is kñudra, or ridiculous and insignificant, our desire to enjoy it is uru, tremendous. Our disproportionate hankering to enjoy dead matter is certainly an illusory state of mind, and it gives us constant distress, keeping us bound up in the dark hole of material existence. Every living entity should put aside his false prestige based on ephemeral bodily qualifications and appeal sincerely to the Supreme Lord, Kânëa, for His mercy. The Lord hears every sincere appeal, from even the most fallen soul, and the effects of the Lord's mercy are wonderful. Although jī ānēs, yogēs and fruitive workers are laboriously endeavoring to achieve their respective goals, their position is precarious and uncertain. Simply by achieving the mercy of Lord Kāñëa, however, one can very easily attain the highest perfection of life. If even one who is not a great or pure devotee of Lord Kāñëa sincerely appeals to the Lord for His mercy, the Lord is sure to give it generously.

TEXT 11

™aIBagAvaAnauvaAca
wtTamaetatpaur"A r"AjaA BaISmaM DamaRBa{taAM var"ma, @jaAtazAḥau: pa'acC$
s$avaeRSaAM naAe'nauZa{NvataAma,

çré-bhagavān uvāca
ittham etat purā rājā
bhéñmaà dharma-bhâtāà varam
ajāta-çatruù papraccha
sarveñāà no 'nuçāëvatām

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; ittham—thus; etat—this; purā—formerly; rājā—the King; bhéñmam—unto Bhéñma; dharma—of religious principles; bhâtām—of the upholders; varam—unto the best; ajāta-çatruù—King Yudhiñöhira, who considered no one his enemy; papraccha—asked; sarveñām—while all; naù—of us; anuçāëvatām—were carefully listening.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, just as you are now inquiring from Me, similarly, in the past King Yudhiñöhira, who considered no one his enemy, inquired from the greatest of the upholders of religious principles, Bhéñma, while all of us were carefully listening.

TEXT 12

inava{Ôae BaAr"tae yauÜe"
s$auô$iªaDanaivaù"la: ™autvaA DamaARna, baó"na, paêAna, maAeºaDamaARnapa{cC$ta

*nivátte bhārate yuddhe
suhân-nidhana-vihvalaù
çrutvā dharmān bahūn paçcān
mokīa-dharmān apācchata*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nivátte—when it ended; bhārate—of the descendants of Bhārata (the Kurus and Pāṇḍavas); yuddhe—the war; suhāt—of his beloved well-wishers; nidhana—by the destruction; vihvalaù—overwhelmed; çrutvā—having heard; dharmān—religious principles; bahūn—many; paçcāt—at last; mokīa—concerning liberation; dharmān—religious principles; apācchata—asked about.

TRANSLATION

When the great Battle of Kurukṣetra had ended, King Yudhiṣṭhira was overwhelmed by the death of many beloved well-wishers, and thus, after listening to instructions about many religious principles, he finally inquired about the path of liberation.

TEXT 13

taAnahM" tae'iBaDaAsyaAima
de"va~atamaKaAcC_$taAna, ÁaAnavaEr"AgyaivaÁaAna™aÜ"ABaftyaupaba{Mih"taAna,

*tān ahaà te 'bhidhäsyāmi
deva-vrata-makhāc chrutān
jī āna-vairāgya-vijī ānaçraddhā-bhakty-upabāhitān*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tān—those; aham—I; te—unto you; abhidhäsyāmi—will describe; deva-vrata—of Bhēṁmadeva; mukhāt—from the mouth; çrutān—heard; jī āna—Vedic knowledge; vairāgya—detachment; vijī āna—self-realization; çraddhā—faith; bhakti—and devotional service; upa-bāhitān—consisting of.

TRANSLATION

I will now speak unto you those religious principles of Vedic knowledge, detachment, self-realization, faith and devotional service that were heard directly from the mouth of Bhēṁmadeva.

TEXT 14

*navaEk(Ad"zA paÂa ÷alna, BaAvaAna, BaUtaeSau yaena vaE wR°aetaATaAwk(mapyaeSau
tajÁaAnaM mama inaiêtama,*

*navaikādaça pai ca trēn
bhāvān bhūteṇu yena vai ekīetāthāikam apy eṇu
taj jī ānaà mama niçcitam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nava—nine; ekādaça—eleven; pai ca—five; trēn—and three; bhāvān—elements; bhūteṇu—in all living beings (from Lord Brahmā down to the immovable living entities); yena—by which knowledge;

vai—certainly; ékñeta—one may see; atha—thus; ekam—one element; api—indeed; eñu—within these twenty-eight elements; tat—that; jī ānam—knowledge; mama—by Me; niçcitam—is authorized.

TRANSLATION

I personally approve of that knowledge by which one sees the combination of nine, eleven, five and three elements in all living entities, and ultimately one element within those twenty-eight.

PURPORT

The nine elements are material nature, the living entity, the mahat-tattva, false ego, and the five objects of sense perception, namely sound, touch, form, taste and aroma. The eleven elements are the five working senses (the voice, hands, legs, anus and genital) plus the five knowledge-acquiring senses (the ears, touch, eyes, tongue and nostrils), along with the coordinative sense, the mind. The five elements are the five physical elements, namely earth, water, fire, air and sky, and the three elements are the three modes of material nature—goodness, passion and ignorance. All living entities, from mighty Lord Brahmā down to an insignificant weed, manifest material bodies composed of these twenty-eight elements. The one element within all twenty-eight is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the Supersoul, who is all-pervading within the material and spiritual worlds.

One can easily understand that the material universe is composed of innumerable causes and effects. Since Lord Kāñëa is the cause of all causes, all secondary causes and their effects are ultimately nondifferent from the Personality of Godhead. This understanding constitutes real knowledge, or jī āna, which is essential for perfecting one's life.

TEXT 15

Wtade"va ih" ivaÁaAnaM

na taTaEke(na yaena yata, isTatyautpaÔyapyayaAna, pazyaeä," BaAvaAnaAM iṭagAuNAAtmanaAma,

*etat eva hi vijī ānaḥ
na tathākena yena yat sthiti-utpatti-apyayān paçyed
bhāvānāḥ tri-guḥātmanām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; eva—indeed; hi—actually; vijī ānam—realized knowledge; na—not; tathā—in that way; ekena—by the one (Personality of Godhead); yena—by whom; yat—which (universe); sthiti—maintenance; utpatti—creation; apyayān—and annihilation; paçyet—one should see; bhāvānām—of all material elements; tri-guḥa—of the three modes of nature; ātmanām—composed.

TRANSLATION

When one no longer sees the twenty-eight separated material elements, which arise from a single cause, but rather sees the cause itself, the Personality of Godhead—at that time one's direct experience is called vijī āna, or self-realization.

PURPORT

The difference between jī āna (ordinary Vedic knowledge) and vijī āna (self-realization) can be understood as follows. A conditioned soul, although cultivating Vedic knowledge, continues to identify himself to some extent with the material body and mind and consequently with the material universe. In trying to understand the world he lives in, the conditioned soul learns through Vedic knowledge that the Supreme Personality of Godhead is the one supreme cause of all material manifestations. He comes to understand the world around him, which he accepts more or less as his world. As he progresses in spiritual realization, breaking through the barrier of bodily identification, and realizes the existence of the eternal soul, he gradually identifies himself as part and parcel of the spiritual world, Vaikuṇṭha. At that time he is no longer interested in the Personality of Godhead merely as the supreme explanation of the material world; rather, he begins to reorient his entire mode of consciousness so that the central object of his attention is the Personality of Godhead. Such a reorientation is required, since the Supreme Lord is the factual center and cause of everything. A self-realized soul in the stage of vijī āna thus experiences the Personality of Godhead not merely as the creator of the material world but as the supreme living entity existing blissfully in His own eternal context. As one progresses in one's realization of the Supreme Lord in His own abode in the spiritual sky, one gradually becomes disinterested in the material universe and ceases to define the Supreme Lord in terms of His temporary manifestations. A self-realized soul in the stage of vijī āna is not at all attracted by objects that are created, maintained and ultimately destroyed. The stage of jī āna is the preliminary stage of knowledge for those still identifying themselves in terms of the material universe, whereas vijī āna is the mature stage of knowledge for those who see themselves as part and parcel of the Supreme Lord.

TEXT 16

@Ad"Avantae ca maDyae ca
 s$a{jyaAts$a{jyaM yad"invayaAta, paunastat'aitas$ax.~, (Amae yaicC$Syaeta tade"va s$ata,

*ädāv ante ca madhye ca
 sājyāt sājyaà yad anviyāt punas tat-pratisaì krāme
 yac chiñyeta tad eva sat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ädau—in the causal stage; ante—in the termination of the causal function; ca—also; madhye—in the phase of maintenance; ca—also; sājyāt—from one production; sājyam—to another production; yāt—which; anviyāt—accompanies; punaù—again; tāt—of all material phases; pratisaì krāme—in the annihilation; yāt—which; çīñyeta—remains; tāt—that; eva—indeed; sat—the one eternal.

TRANSLATION

Commencement, termination and maintenance are the stages of material causation. That which consistently accompanies all these material phases from one creation to another and remains alone when all material phases are annihilated is the one eternal.

PURPORT

The Lord here reiterates that the one Supreme Personality of Godhead is the basis of unlimited material variety. Material activity is a chain of cause-and-effect relationships by which innumerable objects are produced. A particular material effect is converted into a subsequent cause, and when the causal phase is terminated, the effect disappears. Fire causes firewood to burn to ashes, and when the causal function of fire is finished, fire itself, which was the effect of a previous cause, is also terminated. The simple fact is that all material objects are created, maintained and ultimately annihilated by the supreme potency of the Lord. And when the entire field of material cause and effect is withdrawn, so that all cause-effect relationships vanish, the Personality of Godhead remains in His own abode. Therefore, although innumerable objects may function as causes, they are not the ultimate or supreme cause. Only the Personality of Godhead is the absolute cause. Similarly, although material things may exist, they do not always exist. The Personality of Godhead alone has absolute existence. By the process of jñāna, or knowledge, one should understand the supreme position of the Lord.

TEXT 17

™auita: 'atya°amaEita÷ma, @naumaAnaM cataui"yama,
'amaANAEsVanasTaAnaAä," ivak(lpaAts$a ivar"jyatae

*çrutiù pratyakñam aitihiyam anumānaà catuññāyam
pramāññiv anavasthānād
vikalpāt sa virajyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çrutiù—Vedic knowledge; pratyakñam—direct experience;
aitihiyam—traditional wisdom; anumānam—logical induction;
catuññāyam—fourfold; pramāññiv—among all types of evidence;
anavasthānāt—due to the flickering nature; vikalpāt—from material diversity; saù—a person; virajyate—becomes detached.

TRANSLATION

From the four types of evidence—Vedic knowledge, direct experience, traditional wisdom and logical induction—one can understand the temporary, insubstantial situation of the material world, by which one becomes detached from the duality of this world.

PURPORT

In the çruti, or Vedic literature, it is clearly stated that everything emanates from the Absolute Truth, is maintained by the Absolute Truth and at the end is conserved within the Absolute Truth. Similarly, by direct experience we can observe the creation and destruction of great empires, cities, buildings, bodies and so on. Furthermore, we find all around the world traditional wisdom warning people that things in this world cannot last. Finally, by logical induction we can easily conclude that nothing in this world is permanent. Material sense gratification—up to the highest possible living standard found in the heavenly planets or down to the lowest conditions in the most repugnant precincts of hell—is always unsteady and prone to collapse at any moment. One should therefore develop vairāgya, detachment, as stated here.

Another meaning of this verse is that the four types of evidence cited here are often mutually contradictory in their description of the highest truth. One should therefore be detached from the duality of mundane evidence, including the portions of the Vedas that deal with the material world. Instead, one should accept the Supreme Personality of Godhead as the actual authority. Both in Bhagavad-gītā and here in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam Lord Kāñëa is personally speaking, and thus there is no need to enter into the bewildering network of competing systems of mundane logic. One can directly hear from the Absolute Truth Himself and immediately acquire perfect knowledge. One thereby becomes detached from inferior systems of knowledge, which cause one to hover on the material mental platform.

TEXT 18

k(maRNAAM pair"NAAimatvaAä," @Aivair"HcyAd"maËÿlama, ivapaiê^aairM" pazyaeä," @ä{"í"maipa ä{"í"vata,

karmaëääà pariëämitväd
ä-virii'cyäd amaì galam
vipaçcin naçvaraà paçyed
adâññam api dâñña-vat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

karmaëäm—of material activities; pariëämitvät—because of being subject to transformation; ä—up to; virii'cyät—the planet of Lord Brahmä; amaì galam—inauspicious unhappiness; vipaçcit—an intelligent person; naçvaram—as temporary; paçyet—should see; adâññam—that which he has not yet experienced; api—indeed; dāñña-vat—just like that already experienced.

TRANSLATION

An intelligent person should see that any material activity is subject to constant transformation and that even on the planet of Lord Brahmā there is thus simply unhappiness. Indeed, a wise man can understand that just as all that he has seen is temporary, similarly, all things within the universe have a beginning and an end.

PURPORT

The word adāñña indicates the heavenly standard of life available in the higher planets within this universe. Such celestial neighborhoods are not actually experienced on the earth planet, although they are described in the Vedic literatures. One may argue that promotion to material heaven is recommended in the karma-kāṇḍa portion of the Vedas and that although the happiness available there is not eternal, at least for some time one may enjoy life. Lord Kāṇḍa here states, however, that even on the planet of Lord Brahmā, which is superior to the heavenly planets, there is no happiness whatsoever. Even in the upper planetary systems there is rivalry, envy, irritation, lamentation and ultimately death itself.

TEXT 19

Bai-(yaAegA: paurE"vaAe-(:
'alyamaANAAya tae'naGa paunaê k(TaiyaSyaAima maà"-e(: k(Ar"NAM parM"

*bhakti-yogaù puraivoktaù préyamäëäya te 'nagha
punaç ca kathayîñyâmi
mad-bhakteù kâraëaà paraà*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhakti-yogaù—devotional service to the Lord; purā—previously; eva—indeed; uktaù—explained; préyamäëäya—who has developed love; te—unto you; anagha—O sinless Uddhava; punaù—again; ca—also; kathayiiyāmi—I will explain; mat—unto Me; bhakteù—of devotional service; kāraëam—the actual means; param—supreme.

TRANSLATION

O sinless Uddhava, because you love Me, I previously explained to you the process of devotional service. Now I will again explain the supreme process for achieving loving service unto Me.

PURPORT

Although Lord Kāñëa previously described bhakti-yoga to Çré Uddhava, Uddhava is not yet satisfied, because he loves Lord Kāñëa. Anyone who loves the Lord cannot be fully satiated by discussions of devotional service mixed with descriptions of mere Vedic duties and analytic philosophy. The supreme stage of conscious existence is pure love of Kāñëa, and one who is addicted to Lord Kāñëa desires to constantly drink the nectar of such topics. Lord Kāñëa has given an extensive survey of many aspects of human civilization, including the varëäçrama-dharma system and the processes of distinguishing between matter and spirit, renouncing sense gratification, and so forth. Now Uddhava is hankering to hear specifically about pure devotional service to Lord Kāñëa, and the Lord thus turns to that topic.

TEXTS 20-24

™aÜ"Ama{tak(TaAyaAM mae zAinmad"nauk(LtaRnama, pair"inaï"A ca paUjaAyaAM

stautaiBa: stavanaM mama

@Ad"r": pair"cayaARyaAM s$avaAR$ËËyr"iBavand"nama, maà"·(paUjaAByaiDak(A s$avaRBaUtaeSau manmaita:

mad"TaeRSvaËÿcaeí"A ca
vacas$aA maÖ"NAer"NAma, mayyapaRNAM ca manas$a:
s$avaRk(AmaivavajaRnama,

mad"TaeR'TaRpair"tyaAgAAe BaAegAsya ca s$auKasya ca
wíM" d"ÔaM ò"taM jaæaM
mad"Ta< yaä," ~ataM tapa:

WvaM DamaE=maRnauSyaANAAma, oÜ"vaAtmainavaeid"naAma, maiya s$aÃaAyatae Bai·(:
k(Ae'nyaAe'TaAeR'syaAvaizASyatae

*çraddhāmāta-kathāyāà me çaçvan mad-anukértanam pariniñhā ca pūjāyāà
stutibhiù stavanaà mama*

*ādaraù paricaryāyāà sarvāi gair abhivandanam mad-bhakta-pūjābhyadhikā
sarva-bhūteñu man-matiù*

*mad-artheñv aì ga-ceñöä ca vacasā mad-guëeraëam
mayy arpaëaà ca manasaù
sarva-kāma-vivarjanam*

mad-arthe 'rtha-parityāgo

*bhogasya ca sukhasya ca
iññaà dattaà hutaà japtaà mad-arthaà yad vrataà tapaù*

*evaà dharmair manuñyääm uddhavätma-nivedinäm
mayi sai jäyate bhaktiù
ko 'nyo 'rtho 'syävaçinñyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çraddhä—faith; amäta—in the nectar; kathäyäm—of narrations; me—about Me; çaçvat—always; mat—of Me; anukértanam—chanting the glories; pariniñöhä—fixed in attachment; ca—also; püjäyäm—in worshiping Me; stutibhiù—with beautiful hymns; stavanam—formal prayers; mama—in relation to Me; ädaraù—great respect; paricaryäyäm—for My devotional service; sarva-aì gaiù—with all the limbs of the body; abhivandanam—offering obeisances; mat—My; bhakta—of the devotees; püjä—worship; abhyadhikä—preeminent; sarva-bhüteñu—in all living entities; mat—of Me; matiù—consciousness; mat-artheñu—for the sake of serving Me; aì ga-ceññä—ordinary, bodily activities; ca—also; vacasä—with words; mat-guëa—My transcendental qualities; ëraëam—declaring; mayi—in Me; arpaëam—placing; ca—also; manasaù—of the mind; sarva-käma—of all material desires; vivarjanam—rejection; mat-arthe—for My sake; artha—of wealth; parityägaù—the giving up; bhogasya—of sense gratification; ca—also; sukhasya—of material happiness; ca—also; iññam—desirable activities; dattam—charity; hutam—offering of sacrifice; japtam—chanting the holy names of the Lord; mat-artham—for the sake of achieving Me; yat—which; vrata—vows, such as fasting on Ekädaçë; tapaù—austerities; evam—thus; dharmaiù—by such religious principles; manuñyänäm—of human beings; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; ätma-nivedinäm—who are surrendered souls; mayi—to Me; sai jäyate—arises; bhaktiù—loving devotion; kaù—what; anyaù—other; arthaù—purpose; asya—of My devotee; avaçinñyate—remains.

TRANSLATION

Firm faith in the blissful narration of My pastimes, constant chanting of My glories, unwavering attachment to ceremonial worship of Me, praising Me through beautiful hymns, great respect for My devotional service, offering obeisances with the entire body, performing first-class worship of My devotees, consciousness of Me in all living entities, offering of ordinary, bodily activities in My devotional service, use of words to describe My qualities, offering the mind to Me, rejection of all material desires, giving up wealth for My devotional service, renouncing material sense gratification and happiness, and performing all desirable activities such as charity, sacrifice, chanting, vows and austerities with the purpose of achieving Me—these constitute actual religious principles, by which those human beings who have actually surrendered themselves to Me automatically develop love for Me. What other purpose or goal could remain for My devotee?

PURPORT

The words mad-bhakta-pūjābhyadhikā are significant in this verse. Abhyadhikā indicates "superior quality." The Lord is extremely satisfied with those who offer worship to His pure devotees, and He rewards them accordingly. Because of the Lord's generous appraisal of His pure devotees, worship of the pure devotees is described as superior to worship of the Lord Himself. The words mad-artheṇiv aī ga-ceññā state that ordinary, bodily activities such as brushing the teeth, taking bath, eating, etc., should all be offered to the Supreme Lord as devotional service. The words vacasā mad-guëeraëam indicate that whether one speaks in ordinary, crude language or with learned poetic eloquence, one should describe the glories of the Personality of Godhead. The words mad-arthe 'rtha-parityāgaù indicate that one should spend one's money for festivals glorifying the Personality of Godhead, such as Ratha-yātrā, Janmāññamé and Gaura-pürëimä. Also, one is herein instructed to spend money to assist the mission of one's spiritual master and other Vaiñëavas. Wealth that cannot be used properly in the Lord's service and is thus an impediment to one's clear consciousness should be given up entirely. The word bhogasya refers to sense gratification, headed by sex enjoyment, and sukhasya refers to sentimental material happiness, such as excessive family attachment. The words dattaà hutam indicate that one should offer to brähmaëas and Vaiñëavas first-class foods cooked in ghee. One should offer the vibration svähä to Lord Viñëu in an authorized sacrificial fire along with grains and ghee. The word japtam indicates that one should constantly chant the holy names of the Lord.

TEXT 25

yad"ÄtmanyaiPaRtaM icaÔaM zAAntaM s$aÔvaAepaba{Mih"tama, Dama< ÁaAnaM s$a vaEr"Agyama, Weÿya< caAiBapaâtae

*yadätmany arpitaà cittaà
çäntaà sattvopabâàhitam dharmaà ji'änaà sa vairägyam
aiçvaryaà cäbhipadyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; ätmani—in the Supreme Lord; arpitam—fixed; cittam—consciousness; çäntam—peaceful; sattva—by the mode of goodness; upabâàhitam—strengthened; dharmam—religiosity; ji'änam—knowledge; saù—he; vairägyam—detachment; aiçvaryam—opulence; ca—also; abhipadyate—achieves.

TRANSLATION

When one's peaceful consciousness, strengthened by the mode of goodness, is fixed on the Personality of Godhead, one achieves religiosity, knowledge, detachment and opulence.

PURPORT

A pure devotee becomes peaceful, çänta, by desiring everything for the service of the Lord and nothing for himself. He is strengthened by the transcendental, or purified, mode of goodness and thus achieves the supreme religious principle of directly serving the Lord. He also achieves jñāna, or knowledge of the Lord's form and his own spiritual body, detachment from material piety and sin, and the opulences of the spiritual world. One who is not a pure devotee of the Lord, however, but whose devotion is mixed with a fascination for mystic knowledge, is strengthened by the material mode of goodness. Through his meditation on the Lord he achieves the lesser results of dharma (piety in the mode of goodness), jñāna (knowledge of spirit and matter) and vairāgya (detachment from the lower modes of nature). Ultimately, one should be a pure devotee of the Lord, since even the best the material world has to offer is most insignificant compared to the kingdom of God.

TEXT 26

yad"ipaRtaM taiā"k(lpae win%"yaE: pair"DaAvaita
r"jasvalaM caAs$ai^aāiM" icaÔaM ivaiÜ" ivapayaRyama,

*yad arpitaà tad vikalpe
indriyaiù paridhāvati
rajas-valaà cāsan-niñhaà
cittaà viddhi viparyayam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—when; arpitam—fixed; tat—this (consciousness); vikalpe—in material variety (the body, home, family, etc.); indriyaiù—with the senses; paridhāvati—chasing all around; rajaù-valam—strengthened by the mode of passion; ca—also; asat—to that which has no permanent reality;

niñõham—dedicated; cittam—consciousness; viddhi—you should understand; viparyayam—the opposite (of what was previously mentioned).

TRANSLATION

When consciousness is fixed on the material body, home and other, similar objects of sense gratification, one spends one's life chasing after material objects with the help of the senses. Consciousness, thus powerfully affected by the mode of passion, becomes dedicated to impermanent things, and in this way irreligion, ignorance, attachment and wretchedness arise.

PURPORT

In the previous verse Lord Kāñëa explained the auspicious results of fixing the mind in Him, and now the opposite is explained. Rajas-valam indicates that one's passion grows so strong that one commits sinful activities and reaps all types of misfortune. Although materialistic people are blind to their impending wretchedness, one can confirm by all types of evidence—namely Vedic injunctions, direct observation, traditional wisdom and inductive logic—that the result of violating the laws of God is disastrous.

TEXT 27

DamaAeR maà"i·(k{(t'aAe·(Ae ÁaAnaM caEk(Atmyad"zARnama, gAuNAesvas$aËÿAe vaEr"Agyama, Weìya< caAiNAMAAd"ya:

*dharmo mad-bhakti-kât prokto
j'i änaà caikätmya-darçanam guëesv asaì go vairägyam
aiçvaryaà cäëimädayau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dharmāu—religion; mat—My; bhakti—devotional service; kāt—producing; proktau—it is declared; jī ānam—knowledge; ca—also; aikātmya—the presence of the Supreme Soul; darśanam—seeing; guṇēṇu—in the objects of sense gratification; asaṁ gaṇu—having no interest; vairāgyam—detachment; aīṣvāryam—opulence; ca—also; aīmā—the mystic perfection called aīmā; ādayau—and so forth.

TRANSLATION

Actual religious principles are stated to be those that lead one to My devotional service. Real knowledge is the awareness that reveals My all-pervading presence. Detachment is complete disinterest in the objects of material sense gratification, and opulence is the eight mystic perfection, such as aīmā-siddhi.

PURPORT

The Supreme Lord is perfect knowledge; thus one who has been delivered from ignorance automatically engages in the devotional service of the Lord and is called religious. One who becomes detached from the three modes of material nature and the gratificatory objects they produce is considered to be situated in detachment. The eight mystic yoga perfections, described previously by the Lord to Uddhava, constitute material power, or opulence, in the highest degree.

TEXTS 28-32

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
yama: k(itaivaDa: 'aAe·(Ae inayamaAe vaAir"k(SaRNA
k(: zAma: k(Ae d"ma: k{(SNA

k(A itaita^oaA Da{ita: ‘aBaAe ikM(d"AnaM ikM(tapa: zAAEya< ik(ms$atyama{tamaucyatae k(styaAgA: ikM(DanaM caeíM"

k(Ae yaÁa: k(A ca d"i^oaNAA pauMs$a: ikM(isvaß"laM TMalmana, BagAAe laABaê ke(zAva

k(A ivaâA œ"I: par"A k(A TMal: ikM(s$auKaM äü":Kamaeva ca

k(: paiNx"ta: k(ê maUKaR:
k(: panTaA otpaTaê k(:
k(: svagAAeR nar"k(: k(: isvata,
k(Ae banDauç&ta ikM(gA{h"ma,

k(@AX#Ya: k(Ae d"ir"%o"Ae vaA k{(paNA: k(: k(wRìr":
WtaAna, ‘a´aAnmama “aUih"
ivapar"ItaAMê s$atpatae

çré-uddhava uvāca
yamaù kati-vidhaù prokto
niyamo vāri-karṇāēa
kaù çamaù ko damaù kâñēa
kā titikñā dhâtìù prabho

kià dānaà kià tapaù çauryaà kim satyam ātam ucyate kas tyāgaù kià dhanaà ceñōaà
ko yajī aù kā ca dakñīēā

puàsaù kià svid balaà çréman bhago lābhaç ca keçava
kā vidyā hrēù parā kā çrēù kià sukhaà duùkham eva ca

*kaù paëòitaù kaç ca mürkhaù kaù panthä utpathaç ca kaù kaù svargo narakaù kaù svit
ko bandhur uta kià gâham*

*ka äòhyaù ko daridro vä kâpaëaù kaù ka êçvaraù
etän praçñän mama brühi
viparëtäâç ca sat-pate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uväca—Çré Uddhava said; yamaù—disciplinary regulations; kati-vidhaù—how many different types; proktaù—are declared to exist; niyamaù—regular daily duties; vä—or; ari-karñäëa—O Kânëa, subduer of the enemy; kaù—what is; çamaù—mental equilibrium; kaù—what is; damaù—self-control; kânëa—my dear Kânëa; kä—what is; titikñä—tolerance; dhätìù—steadfastness; prabho—my Lord; kim—what is; dänam—charity; kim—what is; tapau—austerity; çauryam—heroism; kim—what is; satyam—reality; âtam—truth; ucyate—is said; kaù—what is; tyägaù—renunciation; kim—what is; dhanam—wealth; ca—also; inöam—desirable; kaù—what is; yajì aù—sacrifice; kä—what is; ca—also; dakñiëä—religious remuneration; puàsaù—of a person; kim—what is; svit—indeed; balam—strength; çré-man—O most fortunate Kânëa; bhagaù—opulence; lâbhaù—profit; ca—also; keçava—my dear Keçava; kä—what is; vidyâ—education; hrëù—humility; parä—supreme; kä—what is; çréù—beauty; kim—what is; sukham—happiness; duùkham—unhappiness; eva—indeed; ca—also; kaù—who is; paëòitaù—learned; kaù—who is; ca—also; mürkhaù—a fool; kaù—what is; panthäù—the real path; utpathaù—the false path; ca—also; kaù—what is; kaù—what is; svargaù—heaven; narakaù—hell; kaù—what is; svit—indeed; kaù—who is; bandhuù—a friend; uta—and; kim—what is; gâham—home; kaù—who is; äòhyaù—wealthy; kaù—who is; daridraù—poor; vä—or; kâpaëaù—a miser; kaù—who is; kaù—who is; êçvaraù—a controller; etän—these; praçñän—subject matters of inquiry; mama—to me;

brühi—please speak; viparētān—the opposite qualities; ca—also; sat-pate—O Lord of the devotees.

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Kāñëa, O chastiser of the enemies, please tell me how many types of disciplinary regulations and regular daily duties there are. Also, my Lord, tell me what is mental equilibrium, what is self-control, and what is the actual meaning of tolerance and steadfastness. What are charity, austerity and heroism, and how are reality and truth to be described? What is renunciation, and what is wealth? What is desirable, what is sacrifice, and what is religious remuneration? My dear Keçava, O most fortunate one, how am I to understand the strength, opulence and profit of a particular person? What is the best education, what is actual humility, and what is real beauty? What are happiness and unhappiness? Who is learned, and who is a fool? What are the true and the false paths in life, and what are heaven and hell? Who is indeed a true friend, and what is one's real home? Who is a rich man, and who is a poor man? Who is wretched, and who is an actual controller? O Lord of the devotees, kindly explain these matters to me, along with their opposites.

PURPORT

All of the items mentioned in these five verses are defined in different ways by different cultures and societies throughout the world. Therefore, Çré Uddhava is directly approaching the supreme authority, Lord Kāñëa, to obtain the standard definition for these universal aspects of civilized life.

TEXTS 33-35

™aI BagAvaAnauvaAca
@ihM"s$aA s$atyamastaeyama,
@s$aËÿAe œ"lr"s$aÂaya:
@AistafyaM "aöcaya< ca

maAEnaM sTaEya< °amaABayama, zAAEcaM japastapaAe h"Aema: ™aÜ"AitaTyaM mad"caRnama, taITaARq%naM par"ATaeRh"A tauif"r"AcaAyaRs$aevanama,

Wtae yamaA: s$ainayamaA
oBayaAeã"ARd"zA sma{taA:
pauMs$aAmaupaAis$ataAstaAta yaTaAk(AmaM äu"h"inta ih"

çré-bhagavān uvāca
ahiāsā satyam asteyam
asaī go hrér asaī cayaù āstikyaà brahmacaryaà ca
maunaà sthairyāà kñamābhayam

çaucaà japas tapo homaù çraddhātithyāà mad-arcanam térthāōanaà parārthehā tuñōir ācārya-sevanam

ete yamāù sa-niyamā
ubhayor dvādaça smātāù
puāsām upāsītās tāta
yathā-kāmaà duhanti hi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said;
ahiāsā—nonviolence; satyam—truthfulness; asteyam—never coveting or stealing the property of others; asaī gaù—detachment; hréù—humility;
asaī cayaù—being nonpossessive; āstikyam—trust in the principles of religion; brahmacaryam—celibacy; ca—also; maunam—silence;
sthairyam—steadiness; kñamā—forgiving; abhayam—fearlessness;
çaucam—internal and external cleanliness; japaù—chanting the holy names of the Lord; tapau—austerity; homa—sacrifice; çraddhä—faith; ätithyam—hospitality; mat-arcanam—worship of Me; tértha-aānam—visiting holy places; para-artha-ēha—acting and desiring for the Supreme; tuñōiū—satisfaction; ācārya-sevanam—serving the spiritual master; ete—these; yamāu—disciplinary principles; sa-niyamāu—along with secondary regular duties; ubhayōu—of each; dvādaça—twelve; smātāu—are understood; puàsām—by human beings; upāsītāu—being cultivated with devotion; tāta—My dear Uddhava; yathā-kāmam—according to one's desire; duhanti—they supply; hi—indeed.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Nonviolence, truthfulness, not coveting or stealing the property of others, detachment, humility, freedom from possessiveness, trust in the principles of religion, celibacy, silence, steadiness, forgiveness and fearlessness are the twelve primary disciplinary principles. Internal cleanliness, external cleanliness, chanting the holy names of the Lord, austerity, sacrifice, faith, hospitality, worship of Me, visiting holy places, acting and desiring only for the supreme interest, satisfaction, and service to the spiritual master are the twelve elements of regular prescribed duties. These twenty-four elements bestow all desired benedictions upon those persons who devotedly cultivate them.

TEXTS 36-39

zAmaAe mai^aai"taA bauÜe"r," d"ma win%"yas$aMyama:
itaita^oaA äu":Kas$ammaSaAeR
ijaù"AepasTajayaAe Da{ita:

d"Nx"nyaAs$a: parM" d"AnaM
k(AmatyaAgAstapa: sma{tama, svaBaAvaivajaya: zAAEya<
s$atyaM ca s$amad"zARnama,

@nya»a s$auna{taA vaANAI
k(ivaiba: pair"k(LitaRtaA k(maRsvas$aËÿma: zAAEcaM
tyaAgA: s$a^ayaAs$a ocyatae

DamaR wíM" DanaM na|NAAM yaÁaAe'hM" BagAvaÔama:
d"i°aNAA ÁaAnas$ande"zA:
'aANAAyaAma: parM" balama,

*çamo man-niñohatā buddher
dama indriya-saàyamaù
titikñā duùkha-sammarño
jihvopastha-jayo dhātiù*

*daëòa-nyäsaù paraà dānaà kāma-tyāgas tapaù smātam svabhāva-vijayaù çauryaà
satyaà ca sama-darçanam*

*anyac ca sunātā väë kavibhiù parikértitā
karmasv asaì gamaù çaucaà
tyāgaù sannyāsa ucyate*

*dharma iññaà dhanaà nèëää yajì o 'haà bhagavattamaù dakñiëä jì āna-sandeçaù
präëäyāmaù paraà balam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çamaù—mental equilibrium; mat—in Me; niñohatā—steady absorption;
buddheù—of the intelligence; damaù—self-control; indriya—of the senses;
saàyamaù—perfect discipline; titikñā—tolerance; duùkha—unhappiness;
sammarñaù—tolerating; jihvä—the tongue; upastha—and genitals;
jayaù—conquering; dhātiù—steadiness; daëòa—aggression; nyäsaù—giving up; param—the supreme; dānam—charity; kāma—lust; tyāgaù—giving up; tapau—austerity; smātam—is considered; svabhāva—one's natural tendency to enjoy; vijayaù—conquering; çauryam—heroism; satyam—reality; ca—also; sama-darçanam—seeing the Supreme Lord everywhere; anyat—the next element (truthfulness); ca—and; su-nātā—pleasing; vāēē—speech; kavibhiù—by the sages; parikērtitā—is declared to be; karmasu—in fruitive activities; asaì gamaù—detachment; çaucam—cleanliness; tyāgaù—renunciation; sannyāsaù—the sannyāsa order of life; ucyate—is said to be; dharmaù—religiousness; iñōam—desirable; dhanam—wealth; nēēām—for human beings; yajī'aù—sacrifice; aham—I am; bhagavat-tamaù—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; dakñīēā—religious remuneration; jī'āna-sandeçaù—the instruction of perfect knowledge; prāēāyāmaù—the yogic system of controlling the breath; param—the supreme; balam—strength.

TRANSLATION

Absorbing the intelligence in Me constitutes mental equilibrium, and complete discipline of the senses is self-control. Tolerance means patiently enduring unhappiness, and steadfastness occurs when one conquers the tongue and genitals. The greatest charity is to give up all aggression toward others, and renunciation of lust is understood to be real austerity. Real heroism is to conquer one's natural tendency to enjoy material life, and reality is seeing the Supreme Personality of Godhead everywhere. Truthfulness means to speak the truth in a pleasing way, as declared by great sages. Cleanliness is detachment in fruitive activities, whereas renunciation is the sannyāsa order of life. The true desirable wealth for human beings is religiousness, and I, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, am sacrifice. Religious remuneration is devotion to the ācārya with the purpose of acquiring spiritual instruction, and the greatest strength is the prāēāyāma system of breath control.

PURPORT

Lord Kāñēa here describes those qualities that are desirable for persons

advancing in human life. Çama, or "mental equilibrium," means to fix the intelligence in Lord Kāñëa. Mere peacefulness without Kāñëa consciousness is a dull and useless state of mind. Dama, or "discipline," means first to control one's own senses. If one wants to discipline one's children, disciples or followers without controlling one's own senses, one becomes a mere laughingstock. Tolerance means to patiently endure unhappiness, such as that provoked by the insults or negligence of others. One must also sometimes accept material inconvenience to carry out the injunctions of scriptures, and that unhappiness must also be patiently endured. If one is not tolerant of the insults and abuse of others, nor tolerant of the inconveniences that may arise from following authorized religious scriptures, it is simply foolishness for him to make a whimsical show of tolerating extreme heat, cold and pain and so on, just to impress others. Concerning steadfastness, if one does not control the tongue and genitals, then any other steadfastness is useless. Real charity means to renounce all aggression toward others. If one gives money to charitable causes but at the same time engages in exploitative business enterprises or abusive political tactics, one's charity is worth nothing at all. Austerity means to give up lust and sense gratification and to observe prescribed vows such as Ekādaçë; it does not mean inventing whimsical methods of torturing the material body. Real heroism is to conquer one's lower nature. Certainly everyone likes to propagate his own fame as a brilliant person, but everyone is also subject to lust, anger, greed and so forth. Therefore, if one can conquer these lower characteristics generated from the modes of passion and ignorance, one is a greater hero than those who merely destroy their political opponents through intrigue and violence.

One can develop equal vision by giving up jealousy and envy and by recognizing the existence of the soul within every material body. This attitude pleases the Supreme Lord, who then reveals Himself, solidifying forever one's equal vision. Merely describing things that exist does not constitute the last word in the perception of reality. One must also see the true spiritual equality of all living entities and all situations. Truthfulness means that one should speak in a pleasing way so that there will be a beneficial effect. If one becomes attached to pointing out the faults of others in the name of truth, then such faultfinding will not be appreciated by saintly persons. The bona fide spiritual master speaks the truth in such a way that people can elevate themselves to the spiritual platform, and one should learn this art of truthfulness. If one is attached to material things, his body and mind are understood to be always polluted. Cleanliness therefore means to give up material attachment, not merely to frequently rinse one's skin with water. Real renunciation is giving up one's false sense of proprietorship over one's relatives and wife, and not just giving away material objects, while real wealth is to be religious. Sacrifice is the Personality of Godhead Himself, because the performer of sacrifice, to be successful, must absorb his consciousness in the Personality of Godhead and not in temporary, material rewards that may accrue from sacrifice. Real religious remuneration means that one should serve saintly persons who can enlighten one with spiritual knowledge. One may offer remuneration to his spiritual master, who has enlightened him, by distributing the same knowledge to others, thereby pleasing the ācārya. Preaching work thus constitutes the highest form of remuneration. By performing the prāëyāma system of respiratory control, one can easily subdue the mind, and one who can in this way perfectly control the restless mind is the most powerful person.

TEXTS 40-45

BagAAe ma Weir"Ae BaAvaAe laABaAe maà"i-(ç&Ôama:
 ivaâAtmaina iBad"AbaADaAe jaugAups$aA œ"lr"k(maRs$au

™algAuRNAA naEr"pae°yaAâA:
 s$auKaM äü":Kas$auKaAtyaya:
 äü":KaM k(Amas$auKaApae°aA
 paiNx"taAe banDamaAe°aivata, maUKaAeR de"h"AâhM"bauïÜ":

 panTaA maiªagAma: sma{ta:

otpaTaiêÔaiva⁰aepa:
svagAR: s$aÔvagAuNAAed"ya:

nar"k(stamao^aaAh"Ae
banDaugAuRç&r"hM" s$aKae
gA{hM" zAr"lrM" maAnauSyaM gAuNAAX#YaAe ÷AX#Ya ocyatae

d"ir"% "Ae yastvas$antauí":
k{(paNAAe yaAe'ijataein%"ya:
gAuNAeSvas$a·(Dalr"lzAAe
gAuNAs$aËÿAe ivapayaRya:

Wta oÜ"va tae 'a´aA:
s$avaeR s$aADau inaè&ipataA:
ikM(vaiNARtaena baò"naA
la⁰aNAM gAuNAd"AeSayaAe:
gAuNAd"AeSaä{"izAd"AeRSaAe gAuNAstaUBayavaijaRta:

*bhago ma aiçvaro bhävo
läbho mad-bhaktir uttamaù vidyätmani bhidä-bädho
jugupsä hrér akarmasu*

çrér guëä nairapekñyädyaù sukhaà duùkha-sukhätyayaù duùkhaà käma-sukhäpekñä paëòito bandha-mokña-vit

*mürkho dehädy-ahaà-buddhiù panthä man-nigamaù smâtaù utpathaç citta-vikñepaù
svargaù sattva-guëodayaù*

*narakas tama-unnäho
bandhur gurur ahaà sakhe*

gâhaà çaréraà mānuṇyaà guëäòhyo hy äòhya ucyate

*daridro yas tv asantuṇṇaù kâpaëo yo 'jitendriyaù guëëñv asakta-dhër éço
guëa-saì go viparyayaù*

*eta uddhava te praçṇaù
sarve sādhu nirüpitäù
kià varëitena bahunä
lakṇaëaà guëa-doṇayou
guëa-doṇa-dâçir doṇo
guëas tûbhaya-varjitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhagaù—opulence; me—My; aiçvaraù—divine; bhàvaù—nature;
lābhaù—gain; mat-bhaktiù—devotional service unto Me;
uttamaù—supreme; vidyā—education; ātmani—in the soul; bhidā—duality;
bādhaù—nullifying; jugupsā—disgust; hrëù—modesty; akarmasu—in sinful activities; çrëù—beauty; guëäù—good qualities; nairapekṇya—detachment from material things; ädyäù—and so on; sukham—happiness;
duùkha—material unhappiness; sukha—and material happiness;
atyayaù—transcending; duùkham—unhappiness; kāma—of lust; sukha—on the happiness; apekṇā—meditating; paëòitaù—a wise man; bandha—from bondage; mokṇā—liberation; vit—one who knows; mürkhaù—a fool;
deha—with the body; ädi—and so forth (the mind); aham-buddhiù—one who identifies himself; panthäù—the true path; mat—to Me;
nigamaù—leading; smātaù—is to be understood; utpathaù—the wrong path;
citta—of consciousness; vikṇepaù—bewilderment; svargaù—heaven;
sattva-guëa—of the mode of goodness; udayaù—the predominance;
narakaù—hell; tamaù—of the mode of ignorance; unnāhaù—the predominance; bandhuù—the real friend; guruù—the spiritual master;
aham—I am; sakhe—My dear friend, Uddhava; gāham—one's home;
çaréram—the body; mānuṇyam—human; guëa—with good qualities;

äðhyaù—enriched; hi—indeed; äðhyaù—a rich person; ucyate—is stated to be; daridraù—a poor person; yaù—one who; tu—indeed; asantuññaù—unsatisfied; kāpaëaù—a wretched person; yaù—one who; ajita—has not conquered; indriyaù—the senses; guëëñu—in material sense gratification; asakta—not attached; dhéu—whose intelligence; éçaù—a controller; guëa—to sense gratification; saì gaù—attached; viparyayaù—the opposite, a slave; ete—these; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; te—your; praçnäù—subjects of inquiry; sarve—all; sādhu—properly; nirüpitäù—elucidated; kim—what is the value; varëitena—of describing; bahunä—elaborately; lakñäëam—the characteristics; guëa—of good qualities; doñayoù—and of bad qualities; guëa-doña—good and bad qualities; dâçiù—seeing; doñaù—a fault; guëaù—the real good quality; tu—indeed; ubhaya—from both of them; varjitaù—distinct.

TRANSLATION

Actual opulence is My own nature as the Personality of Godhead, through which I exhibit the six unlimited opulences. The supreme gain in life is devotional service to Me, and actual education is nullifying the false perception of duality within the soul. Real modesty is to be disgusted with improper activities, and beauty is to possess good qualities such as detachment. Real happiness is to transcend material happiness and unhappiness, and real misery is to be implicated in searching for sex pleasure. A wise man is one who knows the process of freedom from bondage, and a fool is one who identifies with his material body and mind. The real path in life is that which leads to Me, and the wrong path is sense gratification, by which consciousness is bewildered. Actual heaven is the predominance of the mode of goodness, whereas hell is the predominance of ignorance. I am everyone's true friend, acting as the spiritual master of the entire universe, and one's home is the human body. My dear friend Uddhava, one who is enriched with good qualities is actually said to be rich, and one who is unsatisfied in life is actually poor. A wretched person is one who cannot control his senses, whereas one who is not attached to sense gratification is a real controller. One who attaches himself to sense gratification is the opposite, a slave. Thus, Uddhava, I have elucidated all of the matters about which you inquired. There is no need for a more elaborate description of these good and bad qualities, since to constantly see good and bad is itself a bad quality. The best quality is to transcend material good and evil.

PURPORT

The Supreme Personality of Godhead is naturally full of six opulences, namely unlimited beauty, wealth, fame, knowledge, strength and renunciation. Therefore the greatest profit in life is to achieve personal loving service to the Lord, who is naturally the reservoir of all pleasure. Real education means to give up the false idea that anything is separate from the Lord, the source of all potencies. Similarly, one should not falsely consider the individual soul to be different or separate from the Supreme Soul. Mere bashfulness does not constitute modesty. One should spontaneously withdraw in disgust from sinful activities; then one is actually modest or humble. One who is satisfied in Kāññā consciousness and thus does not seek material pleasure or suffer material unhappiness is considered to be actually situated in happiness. The most wretched person is one addicted to sex pleasure, and a wise man is one who knows the process of freedom from such material bondage. A fool is one who gives up his eternal friendship with Lord Kāññā and instead identifies himself with his own temporary material body, mind, society, community and family. The real path in life is not simply a modern interstate highway or, in more simple cultures, a footpath free of thorns and mud. It is that path that leads to Lord Kāññā. The wrong path in life is not simply a road having many thieves or tollbooths; it is that path that leads one to utter confusion in material sense gratification. A heavenly situation is that in which the mode of goodness predominates, rather than that found on the planet of Indra, where passion and ignorance sometimes disturb the celestial atmosphere. Hell is anywhere the mode of ignorance is predominant, and not merely the hellish planets, where, according to Lord Çiva, a pure devotee can think of Kāññā and remain happy. Our actual friend in life is the bona fide spiritual master, who saves us from all dangers. Among all gurus, Lord Kāññā is Himself the jagat-guru, or spiritual master of the entire universe. In material life our own material body is our immediate home, rather than some structure of bricks, cement, stone and wood. A rich man is one who possesses innumerable good qualities; he is not a neurotic fool with a large bank account. A poor man is one who is unsatisfied, which is self-explanatory. One who cannot control his senses is certainly wretched and miserable in life, whereas one who detaches himself from material life is actually a lord or controller. In modern times there are remnants of aristocracy in Europe and other countries, but such so-called lords often display the habits of lower forms of life. A real lord is one who conquers material existence by rising to the spiritual platform. A person who is attached to material life will undoubtedly manifest the opposites of all the good qualities mentioned here, and he is thus the symbol of going backward in life. The Lord concludes His analysis by stating that there is no need for further elaboration of these good and bad qualities. Indeed, the purpose of life is to transcend materially good and bad qualities and come to the liberated platform of pure Kāñëa consciousness. This point will be further explained in the following chapter.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Nineteenth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "The Perfection of Spiritual Knowledge."

20. Pure Devotional Service Surpasses Knowledge and Detachment

The processes of karma-yoga, jñāna-yoga and bhakti-yoga are explained in this chapter, in terms of the presence of different good and bad qualities in particular candidates.

The Vedic çāstras are the words expressing the order of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. In these Vedic literatures is found an outlook of duality, based on such concepts as the varëäçrama system, and at the same time the Vedas reject this dualistic vision. Uddhava, desiring to understand the reason why the scriptures contain such conflicting ideas, and how these might be reconciled, inquired from Lord Çré Kânëa about this matter. In response the Supreme Lord replied that the Vedas describe the processes of karma-yoga, jï äna-yoga and bhakti-yoga for facilitating the attainment of liberation. Karma-yoga is designated for those persons who are not detached and who are full of gross desires; jï äna-yoga is for those who are detached from the fruits of activity and have given up material endeavors; and bhakti-yoga is for those persons who have taken to the principle of yukta-vairägya, appropriate renunciation. As long as one has not become uninterested in enjoying the fruits of one's work, or as long as one's faith in the topics of discussion of the Supreme Personality of Godhead on the path of devotional service has not awakened, then one must continue to fulfill all the prescribed duties of his karma. But neither the renunciant nor the devotee of the Supreme Lord need carry out ritualistic duties.

Persons who follow their own duty, who abandon that which is forbidden and who are free from greed and other unhealthy characteristics attain either monistic knowledge or else, if they are fortunate, devotion to the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Such knowledge and devotion can be achieved in the human form of life, which is therefore a desirable object both for those living in hell and for the demigods. The human body, even though it awards the whole purpose of existence in the form of knowledge and devotion, is ephemeral; therefore one who is discriminating should soberly strive for liberation before death comes. The human body is like a boat, Çré Gurudeva is the helmsman, and the mercy of the Supreme Lord is the favorable breeze. If the person who has attained such a rare boat in the form of the human body does not desire to cross over the ocean of material existence, he is in fact the killer of the soul. The mind is fickle, but one should not indifferently allow it to act as it will. Rather, one should conquer the senses and the vital air and by intelligence endowed with the qualities of goodness should bring the mind under control.

Until the mind finally becomes stable, one should continue to meditate about the process of the creation of all material things in sequence from subtle to gross and of their destruction in reverse sequence of gross to subtle. One who has a sense of detachment and renunciation can give up false identification with the body and other sense objects by constantly studying the instructions of his spiritual master. By the yoga practice of yama, niyama and so forth, by cultivation of transcendental knowledge and by worship of and meditation upon the Supreme Personality of Godhead, one can remember the Supersoul.

Virtue, or guṇa, means to remain steadfast in the object of one's particular platform of qualification. By developing the desire to reject one's accumulated material association by pursuing the injunctions of what is good and what is bad, all of one's inauspicious material activities become diminished. By devotional service to the Supreme Personality of Godhead all perfections are achieved. Anyone who renders service to the Supreme Lord by constant devotional service will be able to steadily fix his mind upon the Supreme Lord, and thus all desires for sense gratification sitting within the heart will be destroyed to the root. When one directly perceives the presence of the Supreme Lord, his false ego becomes completely eradicated; all of his doubts are shattered, and heaps of material activities become diminished to nil. For this reason the devotees of the Supreme Personality of Godhead do not consider knowledge and renunciation to be the means for achieving the highest benefit. Only in the heart of a person who is devoid of material desire and disinterested in material things can devotional service to the Lord arise. The piety and impiety that result from ritualistic injunctions and prohibitions cannot be applied to the unalloyed pure devotees of the Supreme Lord.

TEXT 1

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
ivaiDaê 'aitaSaeDaê
inagAmaAe h"lir"sya tae @vae⁰atae'r"ivaNx"A⁰a

gAuNAM d"AeSaM ca k(maRNAAma,

*çré-uddhava uvāca
vidhiḥ ca pratiñedhaḥ ca
nigamo héçvarasya te avekñate 'raviëòäkñā
guëaà doñaà ca karmaëām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uvāca—Çré Uddhava said; vidhiù—positive injunction; ca—also; pratiñedhaù—prohibitive injunction; ca—and; nigamaù—the Vedic literature; hi—indeed; éçvarasya—of the Lord; te—of You; avekñate—focuses upon; araviëò-a-kñā—O lotus-eyed one; guëam—good or pious qualities; doñam—bad or sinful qualities; ca—also; karmaëām—of activities.

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava said: My dear lotus-eyed Kāñëa, You are the Supreme Lord, and thus the Vedic literatures, consisting of positive and negative injunctions, constitute Your order. Such literatures focus upon the good and bad qualities of work.

PURPORT

At the end of the previous chapter, Lord Kāñëa stated, guëa-doña-dâçir doño guëas tûbhaya-varjitaù: "Focusing upon material piety and sin is itself a discrepancy, since actual piety means to transcend both of them." Çré Uddhava now pursues this point so that Lord Kāñëa will give a more elaborate explanation of this difficult subject matter. Çré Uddhava here states that the Vedic literatures, which constitute the laws of God, deal with piety and sin; therefore, it must be clarified how one transcends activities recommended in the Vedas. According to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura, Uddhava suddenly understood Lord Kāñëa's purpose in the words

He had just spoken, and to induce the Lord to elaborate upon this interesting point Uddhava outwardly challenged the Lord's statement.

TEXT 2

vaNAAR™amaivak(lpaM ca
'aitalaAemaAnaulaAemajama, %"vyade"zAvaya:k(AlaAna, svagA< nar"k(maeva ca

*varëāçrama-vikalpaà ca pratilomānulomajam
dravya-deça-vayaù-kālān
svargaà narakam eva ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

varëa-āçrama—of the varëāçrama system; vikalpam—the variety of superior and inferior positions created by piety and sin; ca—and; pratiloma—birth in a mixed family wherein the father is inferior in social status to the mother; anuloma-jam—birth in a mixed family in which the father is superior in social status to the mother; dravya—material objects or possessions; deça—the place; vayaù—one's age; kālān—the time; svargam—heaven; narakam—hell; eva—indeed; ca—also.

TRANSLATION

According to Vedic literature, the superior and inferior varieties found in the human social system, varëāçrama, are due to pious and sinful modes of family planning. Thus piety and sin are constant points of reference in the Vedic analysis of the components of a given situation—namely the material ingredients, place, age and time. Indeed, the Vedas reveal the existence of material heaven and hell, which are certainly based on piety and sin.

PURPORT

Pratiloma indicates the combination of a superior woman with an inferior man. For example, the vaidehaka community consists of those born of a çüdra father and brähmaëa mother, whereas the sütas are those born from a kñatriya father and a brähmaëa mother or from a çüdra father and kñatriya mother. Anuloma indicates those born from a superior father and inferior mother. The mürdhävasikta are those born of a brähmaëa father and kñatriya mother. Ambaññhas are those born from a brähmaëa father and vaiçya mother, and they often become medical men. Karaëa indicates those born of a vaiçya father and çüdra mother or of a kñatriya father and vaiçya mother. That such mixing of castes is not very much appreciated in the Vedic culture is demonstrated in the first chapter of Bhagavad-gétä. Arjuna was very worried that the death of so many kñatriyas on the battlefield would lead to the mixing of superior women with inferior men, and on those grounds he objected to fighting. In any case, the entire Vedic social system is based on distinguishing between piety and sin, and Çré Uddhava is encouraging the Lord to explain more elaborately His statement that one should transcend both piety and sin.

TEXT 3

gAuNAd"AeSaiBad"Aä{"í"ma, @ntare"NA vacastava
ina:™aeyas$aM k(TaM na|NAAM
inaSaeDaivaiDala°aNAMa,

guëa-doña-bhidä-dãññim
antareëa vacas tava
niùçreyasaà kathaà nèëääà
niñedha-vidhi-lakñäëam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

guëa—piety; doña—sin; bhidä—the difference between; dãññim—seeing;

antareëa—without; vacaù—words; tava—Your; niùçreyasam—perfection of life, liberation; katham—how is it possible; nèëäm—for human beings; niñedha—prohibitions; vidhi—positive injunctions; lakñaëam—characterized by.

TRANSLATION

Without seeing the difference between piety and sin, how can one understand Your own instructions in the form of Vedic literatures, which order one to act piously and forbid one to act sinfully? Furthermore, without such authorized Vedic literatures, which ultimately award liberation, how can human beings achieve the perfection of life?

PURPORT

If one does not accept the necessity of performing pious activities and avoiding sinful activities, it becomes very difficult to understand authorized religious scriptures; and without such scriptures, how can human beings attain salvation? This is the essence of Çré Uddhava's question.

TEXT 4

ipata{de"vamanauSyaAnaAM
vaed"ê°austavaeìr"
™aeyastvanaupalabDae'TaeR
s$ADyas$aADanayaAer"ipa

pitâ-deva-manuñyänäà
vedaç cakñus taveçvara
çreyas tv anupalabdhe 'rthe
sâdhya-sâdhanayor api

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pitâ—of the forefathers; deva—of the demigods; manuñyäëäm—of the human beings; veda—the Vedic knowledge; cakñu—is the eye; tava—emanating from You; īçvara—O Supreme Lord; çreya—superior; tu—indeed; anupalabdhe—in that which cannot be directly perceived; arthe—in the goals of human life, such as sense gratification, liberation, and attainment of heaven; sādhya-sādhanayo—both in the means and the end; api—indeed.

TRANSLATION

My dear Lord, in order to understand those things beyond direct experience—such as spiritual liberation or attainment of heaven and other material enjoyments beyond our present capacity—and in general to understand the means and end of all things, the forefathers, demigods and human beings must consult the Vedic literatures, which are Your own laws, for these constitute the highest evidence and revelation.

PURPORT

One might argue that while human beings are certainly prone to ignorance, the elevated forefathers and demigods are considered to be all-knowing within universal affairs. If such superior beings would communicate with the earth, then everyone could bypass Vedic knowledge in achieving his personal desire. This concept is denied here by the words vedaç cakñu. Even the demigods and forefathers have at best an ambiguous conception of supreme liberation, and even in material affairs they are subject to personal frustration. Although the demigods are all-powerful in awarding material benedictions to inferior species such as human beings, they are sometimes thwarted in their personal programs of sense gratification. A rich businessman, for example, may have no difficulty paying the insignificant salary of one of his innumerable workers, but the same wealthy man may be completely frustrated in his dealings with his own family and friends and may also be defeated in his attempts to expand his fortune by further investments. Although a rich man appears to be all-powerful to his subordinate workers, he must personally struggle to fulfill his personal desires. Similarly, the demigods and forefathers encounter many difficulties in maintaining and expanding their celestial standard of living. They must therefore constantly take shelter of superior Vedic knowledge. Even in the administration of cosmic affairs, they strictly follow the guidelines of the Vedas, which are the laws of God. If such fabulous entities as demigods must take shelter of the Vedas, we can just imagine the position of human beings, who are frustrated at virtually every step of their lives. Every human being should accept Vedic knowledge as the highest evidence in material and spiritual affairs. Uddhava points out to the Lord that if one accepts the authority of Vedic knowledge, it is seemingly impossible to reject the concept of material piety and sin. Thus Uddhava persists in examining the Lord's controversial statement at the end of the last chapter.

TEXT 5

gAuNAd"AeSaiBad"Aä{"î"r," inagAmaAÔae na ih" svata:
inagAmaenaApavaAd"ê iBad"AyaA wita h" "ama:

guëa-doña-bhidä-dãñiù
nigamät te na hi svataù nigamenäpavädaç ca
bhidäyã iti ha bhramaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

guëa—piety; doña—sin; bhidä—the difference between; dãñiù—seeing; nigamät—from Vedic knowledge; te—Your; na—not; hi—indeed; svataù—automatically; nigamena—by the Vedas; apavädaù—nullification; ca—also; bhidäyãù—of such distinction; iti—thus; ha—clearly; bhramaù—confusion.

TRANSLATION

My dear Lord, the distinction observed between piety and sin comes from Your own Vedic knowledge and does not arise by itself. If the same Vedic literature subsequently nullifies such distinction between piety and sin, there will certainly be confusion.

PURPORT

In the Bhagavad-gētā (15.15) Lord Kāñëa states, vedaïç ca sarvair aham eva vedyau: "By all the Vedas I am to be known. Indeed, I am the compiler of Vedanta, and I know the Veda as it is." Vedic knowledge emanates from the breathing of the Personality of Godhead; therefore, whatever Lord Kāñëa speaks is Veda, or perfect knowledge. The Vedic literatures are full of descriptions of piety and sin, but Lord Kāñëa's statement that one should transcend piety and sin is also to be understood as Vedic knowledge. Çré Uddhava has understood this point and therefore requests Lord Kāñëa to clear up an apparent contradiction. Ultimately, the material world gives the living entities a chance to satisfy their perverted desires and at the same time gradually achieve the liberation of going back home, back to Godhead. Thus material piety must be considered a means and never an absolute end, since the material world itself is not absolute, being temporary and limited. The Personality of Godhead is Himself the reservoir of all virtue and goodness. Those persons and activities that please the Lord are to be considered virtuous, and those that displease Him are to be considered sinful. There cannot be any other permanent definition of these terms. If one becomes a mundane moralist, forgetting the Supreme Lord, one's position is certainly imperfect, and one will not achieve the ultimate goal of piety, going back home, back to Godhead. On the other hand, there is great fear among moralists that if the distinction between piety and sin is minimized, people will commit many atrocities in the name of God. In the modern world there is no clear understanding of spiritual authority, and moral men consider any appeal to transcend morality to be an invitation to fanaticism, anarchy, violence and corruption. Thus they regard material moral principles as more important than directly trying to please God. Because this point is controversial, Uddhava is anxiously requesting the Lord to give a clear explanation.

TEXT 6

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
yaAegAAñyaAe mayaA 'aAe·(A na|NAAM ™aeyaAeivaiDats$ayaA ÁaAnaM k(maR ca Bai·(ê naAepaAyaAe'nyaAe'ista ku(‡aicata,

çré-bhagavān uvāca
yogās trayo mayā proktā
nèëää çreyo-vidhitsayā
jī ānaā karma ca bhaktiḥ ca
nopāyo 'nyo 'sti kutracit

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said;
yogāu—processes; trayaū—three; mayā—by Me; proktāu—described;
nèëam—of human beings; çreyaū—perfection; vidhitsayā—desiring to bestow; jī ānam—the path of philosophy; karma—the path of work;
ca—also; bhaktiū—the path of devotion; ca—also; na—no; upāyaū—means;
anyaū—other; asti—exists; kutracit—whatsoever.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, because I desire that human beings may achieve perfection, I have presented three paths of advancement—the path of knowledge, the path of work and the path of devotion. Besides these three there is absolutely no other means of elevation.

PURPORT

Ultimately, the goal of philosophical speculation, pious regulated work and devotional service is the same—Kāñëa consciousness. As stated by the Lord in Bhagavad-gētā (4.11),

*ye yathā māà prapadyante
tāàs tathaiva bhajāmy aham mama vartmānuvartante
manuñyāù pārtha sarvaçaù*

"All of them—as they surrender unto Me—I reward accordingly. Everyone follows My path in all respects, O son of Pāthā." Although all authorized processes of human perfection ultimately lead to Kāñëa consciousness, or love of God, various performers have specific propensities and qualifications and thus gravitate to different methods of self-realization. Lord Kāñëa here describes the three authorized processes together in order to emphasize that their ultimate goal is one. At the same time, philosophical speculation and regulated pious work can never be considered equal to pure love of Godhead, as the Lord has elaborately clarified in the previous chapters. The word trayaù, or "three," indicates that despite their ultimate oneness of purpose, the three paths display diversity in progress and achievement. One cannot achieve the same result by mere speculation or piety that one achieves by directly surrendering to the Personality of Godhead, depending completely on His mercy and friendship. The word karma here indicates work dedicated to the Personality of Godhead. As described in Bhagavad-gētā (3.9), *yajì ārthāt karmaëo 'nyatra

loko 'yaà karma-bandhanaù
tad-arthaà karma kaunteya
mukta-saì gaù samācara*

"Work done as a sacrifice for Viñëu has to be performed, otherwise work binds one to this material world. Therefore, O son of Kunté, perform your prescribed duties for His satisfaction, and in that way you will always remain unattached and free from bondage." In the process of jìāna, one seeks impersonal liberation by merging into the glaring effulgence of the Personality of Godhead. Such liberation is considered hellish by the devotees, because by merging one loses all awareness of the supreme blissful feature of the Lord as Bhagavān, the supreme person. The performers of karma, or regulated work, seek the three aspects of human progress other than liberation—namely religiosity, economic development and sense gratification. The fruitive workers think that by exhausting each of their innumerable material desires they will gradually come out of the dark tunnel of material existence into the clear light of spiritual liberation. This process is very dangerous and uncertain, because not only is there virtually no limit to material desires, but even a slight flaw in the process of regulated work constitutes sin and throws one off the path of progressive life. The devotees directly aim for love of Godhead and are therefore most pleasing to the Supreme Lord. In any case, all three divisions of Vedic elevation depend completely on the mercy of Lord Kāñëa. One cannot progress along any one of these paths without the blessings of the Lord. Other Vedic processes, such as austerity, charity and so forth, are included within the three primary divisions described here.

TEXT 7

inaivaRNNAAnaAM ÁaAnayaAegAAe nyaAis$anaAimah" k(maRs$au
 taeSvainaivaRNNAicaÔaAnaAM
 k(maRyaAegAstau k(AimanaAma, nirviëëänäà jì äna-yogo

nyäsinäm iha karmasu
teñv anirviëëa-cittänäà
karma-yogas tu käminäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nirviëëänäm—for those who are disgusted; jì äna-yogaù—the path of philosophical speculation; nyäsinäm—for those who are renounced;

iha—among these three paths; karmasu—in ordinary material activities; teñu—in those activities; anirviëä—not disgusted; cittänäm—for those who have consciousness; karma-yogaù—the path of karma-yoga; tu—indeed; käminäm—for those who still desire material happiness.

TRANSLATION

Among these three paths, jī āna-yoga, the path of philosophical speculation, is recommended for those who are disgusted with material life and are thus detached from ordinary, fruitive activities. Those who are not disgusted with material life, having many desires yet to fulfill, should seek perfection through the path of karma-yoga.

PURPORT

In this verse the Lord reveals the different propensities that lead human beings to adopt different processes of perfection. Those who are frustrated in the ordinary material life of society, friendship and love, and who understand that promotion to heaven simply brings further domestic miseries, take directly to the path of knowledge. Through authorized philosophical discrimination they transcend the bonds of material existence. Those who are still desirous of enjoying material society, friendship and love, and who are excited by the prospect of going with their relatives to material heavenly planets, cannot take directly to the path of rigorous philosophical advancement, which requires great austerity. Such persons are advised to remain in family life and offer the fruits of their work to the Supreme. In this way, they also can become perfect and gradually learn detachment from material life.

TEXT 8

yaä{"cC$yaA matk(TaAd"AE jaAta™aÜ"stau ya: paumaAna, na inaivaRNNAE naAitas$a·(Ae Bai-(yaAegAAe'sya is$aiÜ"d":

*yadâcchayâ mat-kathâdau
jâta-çraddhas tu yaù pumân na nirviëëo nâti-sakto
bhakti-yogo 'sya siddhi-daù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadâcchayâ—somehow or other by good fortune; mat-kathâ-âdau—in the narrations, songs, philosophy, dramatical performances, etc., that describe My glories; jâta—awakened; çraddhaù—faith; tu—indeed; yaù—one who; pumân—a person; na—not; nirviëëaù—disgusted; na—not; ati-saktaù—very attached; bhakti-yogaù—the path of loving devotion; asya—his; siddhi-daù—will award perfection.

TRANSLATION

If somehow or other by good fortune one develops faith in hearing and chanting My glories, such a person, being neither very disgusted with nor very much attached to material life, should achieve perfection through the path of loving devotion to Me.

PURPORT

If somehow or other one gets the association of pure devotees of the Lord and hears from them the transcendental message of Lord Kâñëa, then one has the chance to become a devotee of the Lord. As mentioned in the previous verse, those who become disgusted with material life take to impersonal philosophical speculation and rigorously try to stamp out any trace of personal existence. Those who are still attached to material sense gratification try to purify themselves by offering the fruits of their ordinary activities to the Supreme. A first-class candidate for pure devotional service, on the other hand, is neither completely disgusted with nor attached to material life. He does not desire to pursue ordinary material existence any further, because it cannot award real happiness. Nevertheless, a candidate for devotional service does not give up all hope for perfecting personal existence. A person who avoids the two extremes of material attachment and impersonal reaction to material attachment and who somehow or other gets the association of pure devotees, faithfully hearing their message, is a good candidate for going back home, back to Godhead, as described here by the Lord.

TEXT 9

taAvatk(maARiNA ku(val=ta na inaivaRâeta yaAvataA matk(TaA™avaNAAd"AE vaA ™aÜ"A yaAvaªa jaAyatae

*tāvat karmāēi kurvēta na nirvidyeta yāvatā
mat-kathā-ṣravaēāḍau vā
ṣraddhā yāvan na jāyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tāvat—up to that time; karmāēi—fruitive activities; kurvēta—one should execute; na nirvidyeta—is not satiated; yāvatā—as long as; mat-kathā—of discourses about Me; ṣravaēa-āḍau—in the matter of ṣravaēam, kērtanam and so on; vā—or; ṣraddhā—faith; yāvat—as long as; na—not; jāyate—is awakened.

TRANSLATION

As long as one is not satiated by fruitive activity and has not awakened his taste for devotional service by ṣravaēa à kērtana à viñēou [SB 7.5.23] one has to act according to the regulative principles of the Vedic injunctions.

PURPORT

Unless one has developed firm faith in Lord Kāṇḍea by association with pure devotees and is thus engaged full time in the devotional service of the Lord, one should not neglect ordinary Vedic principles and duties. As stated by the Lord Himself,

ṣṛuti-smāte mamaivāji e yas te ullaṁ ghya vartate āji ā-cchede mama dveṇe mad-bhakto 'pi na vaiṇēavaṁ

"The ṣṛuti and smāti literatures are to be understood as My injunctions, and one who violates such codes is to be understood as violating My will and thus opposing Me. Although such a person may claim to be My devotee, he is not actually a Vaiṇēava." The Lord here states that if one has not developed firm faith in the process of chanting and hearing, one must comply with the ordinary injunctions of Vedic literatures. There are many symptoms by which one can recognize an advanced devotee of the Lord. In the First Canto of Ṣṛēmad-Bhāgavatam (1.2.7) it is stated,

*vāsudeve bhagavati
bhakti-yogaṁ prayojitaṁ
janayaty āṇu vairāgyaṁ
ji ānaṁ ca yad ahaitukam*

One who is actually engaged in advanced devotional service immediately develops both clear knowledge of Kāṇḍea consciousness and detachment from nondevotional activities. One who is not situated on this platform must comply with the ordinary injunctions of Vedic literature or risk becoming inimical to the Supreme Personality of Godhead. On the other hand, one who has developed great faith in the devotional service of Lord Kāṇḍea does not hesitate to do anything that will further the mission of the Lord. As stated in the Eleventh Canto of Ṣṛēmad-Bhāgavatam (11.5.41),

*devarñi-bhütäpta-nâëääà pitèëääà
na kiì karo näyam âëé ca rājan sarvātmanā yaù çaraëääà çaraëyaà
gato mukundaà parihātya kartam*

"Anyone who has taken shelter of the lotus feet of Mukunda, the giver of liberation, giving up all kinds of obligation, and has taken to the path in all seriousness, owes neither duties nor obligations to the demigods, sages, general living entities, family members, humankind or forefathers."

Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé points out in this regard that when a person fully surrenders to Lord Kāñëä, he takes shelter of the Lord's promise to liquidate all other responsibilities and debts of the surrendered soul. The devotee thus becomes fearless by meditating on the Lord's promise of protection. Those, however, who are materially attached are frightened by the prospect of full surrender to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, thereby revealing their inimical mentality toward the Lord.

TEXT 10

*svaDamaRsTaAe yajana, yaÁaEr," @naAzAl:k(Ama oÜ"va na yaAita svagARnar"k(AE
yaânyaªa s$amaAcare"ta,*

*sva-dharma-stho yajan yajî air anâçëù-kāma uddhava
na yāti svarga-narakau
yady anyan na samācaret*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sva-dharma—in one's prescribed duties; sthaù—situated;
yajan—worshiping; yajî aiù—by prescribed sacrifices; anâçëù-kāmaù—not desiring fruitive results; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; na—does not;

yāti—go; svarga—to heaven; narakau—or to hell; yadi—if; anyat—something other than his prescribed duty; na—does not; samācaret—perform.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, a person who is situated in his prescribed duty, properly worshiping by Vedic sacrifices but not desiring the fruitive result of such worship, will not go to the heavenly planets; similarly, by not performing forbidden activities he will not go to hell.

PURPORT

The perfection of karma-yoga is described here. One who does not desire fruitive rewards for his religious activities does not waste time going to the heavenly planets for celestial sense gratification. Similarly, one who does not neglect his prescribed duty or perform forbidden activities will not be bothered by going to hell for punishment. Thus avoiding material rewards and punishments, such a desireless person can be promoted to the platform of pure devotional service to Lord Kāñëa.

TEXT 11

@isma*éaAe(vataRmaAna:
svaDamaRsTaAe'naGa: zAuica:
ÁaAnaM ivazAuÜ"maA «aAeita maà"i·M(vaA yaä{"cC$yaA

asmiñ loka vartamānaù
sva-dharma-stho 'naghaù çuciù
jì ānaà viçuddham āpnoti mad-bhaktià vā yadācchayā

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

asmin—in this; loke—world; vartamānaù—existing; sva-dharma—in one's prescribed duty; sthaù—situated; anaghaù—free from sinful activities; çuciù—cleansed of material contamination; j'i ānam—knowledge; viçuddham—transcendental; āpnoti—obtains; mat—to Me; bhaktim—devotional service; vā—or; yadācchayā—according to one's fortune.

TRANSLATION

One who is situated in his prescribed duty, free from sinful activities and cleansed of material contamination, in this very life obtains transcendental knowledge or, by fortune, devotional service unto Me.

PURPORT

Asmin loke indicates one's present duration of life. Before the death of one's present body one can obtain transcendental knowledge or, by great fortune, pure devotional service to the Supreme Lord. The word yadācchayā indicates that if one somehow or other gets the association of pure devotees and hears from them faithfully, one can achieve Kāñëa consciousness, the highest perfection of life. According to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Öhäkura, through transcendental knowledge one obtains liberation, whereas through pure devotional service one can achieve love of Godhead, in which liberation is automatically included. Both results are certainly superior to ordinary, fruitive activities, by which one tries to enjoy much the same things that animals do. If one's devotional service is mixed with a tendency toward fruitive activities or mental speculation, then one may achieve the neutral stage of love of Godhead, whereas those who are inclined to serve only Lord Kāñëa advance to the higher stages of love of Godhead in servitude, friendship, parental love and the conjugal relationship.

TEXT 12

svaigARNAAe'pyaetaimacC$inta laAekM(inar"iyaNAstaTaA

s$AaDakM(ÁaAnaBai·(ByaAma, oBayaM tad"s$AaDak(ma,

*svargiëo 'py etam icchanti
lokaà nirayiëas tathä sädhakaà ji' äna-bhaktibhyäm
ubhayaà tad-asädhakam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

svargiëaù—the residents of the heavenly planets; api—even; etam—this; icchanti—desire; *loka*m—earth planet; nirayiëaù—the residents of hell; tathä—in the same way; sädhakam—leading to achievement; ji' äna-bhaktibhyäm—of transcendental knowledge and love of Godhead; ubhayam—both (heaven and hell); tat—for that perfection; asädhakam—not useful.

TRANSLATION

The residents of both heaven and hell desire human birth on the earth planet because human life facilitates the achievement of transcendental knowledge and love of Godhead, whereas neither heavenly nor hellish bodies efficiently provide such opportunities.

PURPORT

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé points out that in material heaven one becomes absorbed in extraordinary sense gratification and in hell one is absorbed in suffering. In both cases there is little impetus to acquire transcendental knowledge or pure love of Godhead. Excessive suffering or excessive enjoyment are thus impediments to spiritual advancement.

TEXT 13

na nar": svagARitaM k(AÉeÿna, naAr" k(LM vaA ivaca°aNA:

naemaM laAekM(ca k(AÉeÿta
de"h"AvaezAAt'amaAâita

*na naraù svar-gatià kâi kñen nârakéà vâ vicakñâëaù
nemaà lokaà ca kâi kñeta
dehâveçât pramädyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—never; naraù—a human being; svaù-gatim—promotion to heaven; kâi kñet—should desire; nârakém—to hell; vâ—or; vicakñâëaù—a learned person; na—nor; imam—this; lokam—earth planet; ca—also; kâi kñeta—one should desire; deha—in the material body; äveçât—from absorption; pramädyati—one becomes a fool.

TRANSLATION

A human being who is wise should never desire promotion to heavenly planets or residence in hell. Indeed, a human being should also never desire permanent residence on the earth, for by such absorption in the material body one becomes foolishly negligent of one's actual self-interest.

PURPORT

One who has achieved human life on the earth has an excellent opportunity to attain spiritual liberation through Kâñëa consciousness, or devotional service to the Lord. Thus one should not desire promotion to heaven or risk residence in hell, where excessive enjoyment or punishment deviate one's mind from self-realization. On the other hand, one should not think, "The earth is so nice, I can stay here forever." One should develop thorough detachment from all aspects and categories of material existence and go back home, back to Godhead, where life is eternal and full of bliss and knowledge.

Lord Kāñëa now begins to develop His conclusive proof that actual human progress lies beyond material piety and sin. The Lord first clarified that there are basically three methods of human elevation, namely jī āna, karma and bhakti, and that the goal is transcendental knowledge and ultimately love of Godhead. Now the Lord explains that promotion to heavenly planets (the final goal of piety) as well as residence in hell (the result of sinful activities) are both useless in fulfilling the actual purpose of life. Neither material piety nor sin establish the eternal living entity in his constitutional position; therefore something more is required to achieve the actual perfection of life.

TEXT 14

Wtaiã"ã"Ana, paura ma{tyaAer," @BavaAya Gage%ta s$a: @'amaÔa wdM" ÁaAtvaA matyaRmapyaTaRis$aiÜ"d"ma,

etat vidvān purā mātyor
abhavāya ghañeta saù
apramatta idaà jī ātvā martyam apy artha-siddhi-dam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; vidvān—knowing; purā—before; mātyor—death; abhavāya—to transcend material existence; ghañeta—should act; saù—he; apramattaù—without laziness or foolishness; ida—this; jī ātvā—knowing; martyam—subject to death; api—even though; artha—of the goal of life; siddhi-dam—giving the perfection.

TRANSLATION

A wise person, knowing that although the material body is subject to death it can still award the perfection of one's life, should not foolishly neglect to take advantage of this opportunity before death arrives.

TEXT 15

iC$âmaAnaM yamaEre"taE:
k{(tanalxM" vanas$paitama, KagA: svake(tamauts$a{jya °aemaM yaAita ÷lampaq%:

chidyamānaà yamair etaiù
kāta-néòaà vanaspatim
khagaù sva-ketam utsâjya
kñemaà yāti hy alampaōaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

chidyamānam—being cut down; yamaiù—by cruel men, who are like death personified; etaiù—by these; kāta-néòam—in which he has constructed his nest; vanaspatim—a tree; khagaù—a bird; sva-ketam—his home; utsâjya—giving up; kñemam—happiness; yāti—achieves; hi—indeed; alampaōaù—without attachment.

TRANSLATION

Without attachment, a bird gives up the tree in which his nest was constructed when that tree is cut down by cruel men who are like death personified, and thus the bird achieves happiness in another place.

PURPORT

Here the example is given of detachment from the bodily concept of life. The living entity resides within the body just as a bird dwells within a tree. When thoughtless men cut down the tree, the bird, without lamenting the loss of its previous nest, does not hesitate to establish its residence in another place.

TEXT 16

@h"Aer"AṭaEizC$âmaAnaM bauä,"DvaAyauBaRyavaepaTau:
mau-(s$aĒy: parM" bauä,"DvaA
inar"lh" opazAAmyaita

*aho-rātraīḥ chidyamānaḥ
buddhvāyur bhaya-vepathuḥ mukta-saī gaḥ paraḥ buddhvā
nirēha upaśāmyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ahaḥ—by days; rātraīḥ—by nights; chidyamānam—being cut down; buddhvā—knowing; āyuḥ—the duration of life; bhaya—with fear; vepathuḥ—trembling; mukta-saī gaḥ—free from attachment; param—the Supreme Lord; buddhvā—understanding; nirēhaḥ—without material desire; upaśāmyati—achieves perfect peace.

TRANSLATION

Knowing that one's duration of life is being similarly cut down by the passing of days and nights, one should be shaken by fear. In this way, giving up all material attachment and desire, one understands the Supreme Lord and achieves perfect peace.

PURPORT

An intelligent devotee knows that the passing days and nights are exhausting one's duration of life, and he therefore gives up his futile attachment to material sense objects. Instead, he strives to achieve permanent benefit in life. Just as the detached bird immediately gives up its nest and goes to another tree, similarly, a devotee knows that there is no permanent opportunity for residence within the material world. Instead he dedicates his working energy to achieving eternal residence in the kingdom of God. Transcending the modes of material nature by attaining Kāñëa's own spiritual nature, the devotee at last obtains perfect peace.

TEXT 17

na{de"h"maAâM s$aulaBaM s$auäu"laRBaM plavaM s$auk(lpaM gAuç&k(NARDaAr"ma, mayaAnaukU(laena naBasvataeir"taM
paumaAna, BavaAibDaM na tare"ts$a @Atmah"A

*nâ-deham ädyaà su-labhaà su-durlabhaà plavaà su-kalpaà guru-karëadhâram mayänukülena nabhasvateritaà
pumän bhaväbdhià na taret sa ätma-hä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nr—human; deham—body; ädya—the source of all favorable results; su-labham—effortlessly obtained; su-durlabham—although impossible to obtain even with great endeavor; plavam—a boat; su-kalpam—extremely well suited for its purpose; guru—having the spiritual master; karëa-dhâram—as the captain of the boat; mayä—by Me; anukülena—with favorable; nabhasvatä—winds; ëritam—impelled; pumän—a person; bhava—of material existence; abdhim—the ocean; na—does not; taret—cross over; saü—he; ätma-hä—the killer of his own soul.

TRANSLATION

The human body, which can award all benefit in life, is automatically obtained by the laws of nature, although it is a very rare achievement. This human body can be compared to a perfectly constructed boat having the spiritual master as the captain and the instructions of the Personality of Godhead as favorable winds impelling it on its course. Considering all these advantages, a human being who does not utilize his human life to cross the ocean of material existence must be considered the killer of his own soul.

PURPORT

The human body, which is obtained after passing through many inferior forms, is created in such a way that it can award the highest perfection of life. A human being is supposed to serve the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and the bona fide spiritual master is the appropriate guide for such service. The causeless mercy of Lord Kāñëa is compared to favorable winds that help the boat of the body to ply smoothly on the course back home, back to Godhead. Lord Kāñëa gives His personal instructions in Vedic literature, speaks through the bona fide spiritual master, and encourages, warns and protects His sincere devotee from within the devotee's heart. Such merciful guidance of the Lord moves a sincere soul quickly on the path back to Godhead. But one who cannot understand that the human body is a suitable boat for crossing the ocean of material existence will see no need to accept a captain in the form of the spiritual master and will not at all appreciate the favorable winds of the Lord's mercy. He has no chance of achieving the goal of human life. Acting against his own self-interest, he gradually becomes the killer of his own soul.

TEXT 18

yad"Ar"mBaeSau inaivaRNNA Ae ivar"·(: s$A Myataein%o"ya:
@ByaAs$ aenaAtmanaAe yaAegAl DaAr"yaed"calaM mana:

*yadārambheṇu nirviëöo
viraktaù saàyatendriyaù
abhyäsenätmano yogé
dhārayed acalaà manaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; ārambheñu—in material endeavors; nirviëëaù—hopeless; viraktaù—detached; saàyata—completely controlling; indriyaù—the senses; abhyäsena—by practice; ätmanaù—of the soul; yogë—the transcendentalist; dhārayet—should concentrate; acalam—steady; manaù—the mind.

TRANSLATION

A transcendentalist, having become disgusted and hopeless in all endeavors for material happiness, completely controls the senses and develops detachment. By spiritual practice he should then fix the mind on the spiritual platform without deviation.

PURPORT

The inevitable result of material sense gratification is disappointment and pain that sears the heart. One becomes gradually hopeless and despondent in material life; then, receiving good instructions from the Lord or His devotee, one transforms one's material disappointment into spiritual success. Actually, Lord Kāñëa is our only true friend, and this simple understanding can bring one to a new life of spiritual happiness in the company of the Lord.

TEXT 19

DaAyaRmaANAM manaAe yaihR"
"aAmyad"ìnavaisTatama, @tain%o"taAe'naur"AeDaena maAgAeRNAAtmavazAM nayaeta,

*dhāryamäëaà mano yarhi
bhrāmyad açv anavasthitam atandrito 'nurodhena
mārgëätma-vaçaà nayet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dhāryamāëam—being concentrated on the spiritual platform; manaù—the mind; yarhi—when; bhrāmyat—is deviated; āçu—suddenly; anavasthitam—not situated on the spiritual platform; atandritaù—carefully; anurodhena—according to the prescribed regulations; mārgeëa—by the process; ātma—of the soul; vaçam—under the control; nayet—one should bring.

TRANSLATION

Whenever the mind, being concentrated on the spiritual platform, is suddenly deviated from its spiritual position, one should carefully bring it under the control of the self by following the prescribed means.

PURPORT

Although one is seriously engaging the mind in Kāñëa consciousness, the mind is so flickering that it may suddenly be deviated from its spiritual position. One should then carefully bring the mind back under the control of the self. It is stated in Bhagavad-gētā that if one is too austere or too sensuous one cannot control the mind. Sometimes one may bring the mind under control by allowing the material senses limited satisfaction. For example, although one may eat austere, from time to time one may accept a reasonable amount of mahā-prasādam, opulent foods offered to the temple Deities, so that the mind will not become disturbed. Similarly, one may occasionally relax with other transcendentalists through joking, swimming and so forth. But if such activities are performed excessively, they will lead to a setback in spiritual life. When the mind desires sinful gratification such as illicit sex or intoxication, one must simply tolerate the mind's foolishness and by strenuous effort push on with Kāñëa consciousness. Then the waves of illusion will soon subside, and the path of advancement will again open wide.

TEXT 20

manaAegAitaM na ivas$a{jaej, ijata'aANAAe ijataein%o"ya:
s$aÔvas$ampa^aayaA bauÜ"YaA
mana @AtmavazAM nayaeta,

*mano-gatià na visâje
jita-präëo jitendriyaù
sattva-sampannayä buddhyä
mana âtma-vaçaà nayet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

manaù—of the mind; gatim—goal; na—not; visâjet—should lose sight of; jita-präëaù—one who has conquered the breath; jita-indriyaù—who has conquered his senses; sattva—of the mode of goodness; sampannayä—characterized by flourishing; buddhyä—by the intelligence; manaù—the mind; âtma-vaçam—under the control of the self; nayet—one should bring.

TRANSLATION

One should never lose sight of the actual goal of mental activities, but rather, conquering the life air and senses and utilizing intelligence strengthened by the mode of goodness, one should bring the mind under the control of the self.

PURPORT

Although the mind may suddenly wander outside the jurisdiction of self-realization, one must bring the mind back under control by clear intelligence in the mode of goodness. The best solution is to keep the mind always busy in the service of Lord Kâñëa so that the mind cannot wander onto the dangerous path of sense gratification, headed by sex attraction. The material mind is naturally inclined to accept material objects at every moment. Therefore unless the mind is seriously brought under control there is no possibility of becoming steady on the path of spiritual advancement.

TEXT 21

WSa vaE par"maAe yaAegAAe
manas$a: s$al'yh": sma{ta:
ô$d"yaÁatvamaïnvacC$na,
d"myasyaevaAvaRtaAe mauò":

*eña vai paramo yogo
manasaù saì grahaù smâtaù
hâdaya-jî atvam anvicchan
damyasyevârvato muhuù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

eñaù—this; vai—indeed; paramaù—supreme; yogaù—yoga process; manasaù—of the mind; saì grahaù—complete control; smâtaù—thus declared; hâdaya-jî atvam—the characteristic of knowing intimately; anvicchan—carefully watching; damyasya—which is to be subdued; iva—like; arvataù—of a horse; muhuù—always.

TRANSLATION

An expert horseman, desiring to tame a headstrong horse, first lets the horse have his way for a moment and then, pulling the reins, gradually places the horse on the desired path. Similarly, the supreme yoga process is that by which one carefully observes the movements and desires of the mind and gradually brings them under full control.

PURPORT

Just as an expert rider intimately knows the propensities of an untamed horse and gradually brings the horse under control, an expert yogî allows the mind to reveal its materialistic propensities and then controls them through superior intelligence. A learned transcendentalist withholds and supplies sense objects so that the mind and senses remain fully controlled, just as the horseman sometimes pulls sharply on the reins and sometimes allows the horse to run freely. The rider never forgets his actual goal or destination, and eventually places the horse on the right path. Similarly, a learned transcendentalist, even though sometimes allowing the senses to act, never forgets the goal of self-realization, nor does he allow the senses to engage in sinful activity. Excessive austerity or restriction may result in great mental disturbance, just as pulling excessively on the reins of a horse may cause the horse to rear up against the rider. The path of self-realization depends upon clear intelligence, and the easiest way to acquire such expertise is surrender to Lord Kāñëa. The Lord says in Bhagavad-gétä (10.10),

*teñäà satata-yuktänäà
bhajatäà prëti-pürvakam
dadämi buddhi-yogaà taà yena mäm upayänti te*

One may not be a great scholar or spiritual intellect, but if one is sincerely engaged in loving service to the Lord without personal envy or personal motivation the Lord will reveal from within the heart the methodology required to control the mind. Expertly riding the waves of mental desire, a Kāñëa conscious person does not fall from the saddle, and he eventually rides all the way back home, back to Godhead.

TEXT 22

s$aAËyYaena s$avaRBaAvaAnaAM
'aitalaAemaAnaulaAemata:
BavaApyayaAvanauDyaAyaena,
manaAe yaAvat'as$dald"ita

säi khyena sarva-bhävänäà pratilomänulomataù

bhaväpyayäv anudhyäyen mano yävat prasédati

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

säi khyena—by analytic study; sarva—of all; bhävänäm—material elements (cosmic, earthly and atomic); pratiloma—by regressive function; anulomataù—by progressive function; bhava—creation; apyayau—annihilation; anudhyäyet—should constantly observe; manaù—the mind; yävat—until; prasédati—is spiritually satisfied.

TRANSLATION

Until one's mind is fixed in spiritual satisfaction, one should analytically study the temporary nature of all material objects, whether cosmic, earthly or atomic. One should constantly observe the process of creation through the natural progressive function and the process of annihilation through the regressive function.

PURPORT

There is a saying that whatever goes up must come down. Similarly, Lord Kāñëa states in the Bhagavad-gētä (2.27),

*jätasya hi dhruvo mâtyur
dhruvaà janma mâtasya ca
tasmäd aparihärye 'rthe
na tvaà çocitum arhasi*

"For one who has taken his birth, death is certain; and for one who is dead, birth is certain. Therefore, in the unavoidable discharge of your duty, you should not lament." Mano yävat prasédati: Until one has established one's consciousness on the liberated platform of perfect knowledge, one must constantly ward off the attacks of illusion through rigid analytic observation of material nature. The material mind may be attracted to sex; therefore by spiritual intelligence one should scrutinize the temporary nature of one's own body and the body that has artificially become the object of one's material lust. One may apply this rigid analysis to all material bodies, from the fantastic cosmic body of Lord Brahmā down to that of the most insignificant germ. As previously stated by Lord Kāñëa, one who is advanced in Kāñëa consciousness spontaneously avoids sense gratification and is constantly drawn by spiritual love into his relationship with Lord Kāñëa. One who has not achieved the platform of spontaneous Kāñëa consciousness must remain constantly vigilant so as not to be grossly cheated by the material energy of the Lord. One who tries to exploit the material energy ruins his spiritual life and experiences varieties of misery.

TEXT 23

inaivaRNNAsya ivar"·(sya pauç&SasyaAe·(vaeid"na:
manastyajaita d"AEr"AtmyaM
icaintatasyaAnauicantayaA

*nirviëëasya viraktasya puruñasyokta-vedinaù
manas tyajati daurätmyaà
cintitasyänucintayä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nirviëëasya—of one who is disgusted with the illusory nature of the material world; viraktasya—and who is therefore detached; puruñasya—of such a person; ukta-vedinaù—who is guided by the instructions of his spiritual master; manaù—the mind; tyajati—gives up; daurätmyam—the false identification with the material body and mind; cintitasya—of that which is contemplated; anucintayä—by constant analysis.

TRANSLATION

When a person is disgusted with the temporary, illusory nature of this world and is thus detached from it, his mind, guided by the instructions of his spiritual master, considers again and again the nature of this world and eventually gives up the false identification with matter.

PURPORT

Although it is difficult to control the mind, by constant practice the mind can be spiritualized in Kāñëa consciousness. A sincere disciple constantly remembers the instructions of his spiritual master and thereby faces again and again the stark truth that the material world is not the ultimate reality. By detachment and perseverance the mind gradually gives up its propensity toward sense gratification; thus illusion loses its grip on a sincere Kāñëa conscious devotee. Gradually the purified mind completely gives up the false identification with this world and transfers its attention to the spiritual platform. Then one is considered to be perfect in the yoga system.

TEXT 24

yamaAid"iBayaAeRgApaTaEr," @Anvali°afyaA ca ivaâyaA
mamaAcaAeRpaAs$anaAiBavaAR naAnyaeAeRgyaM smare"nmana:

*yamādibhir yoga-pathair
ānvéñīkyā ca vidyayā
mārcopāsanābhir vā
nānyair yogyā smaren manau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yama-ādibhiù—by disciplinary regulations, etc.; yoga-pathaiù—by the procedures of the yoga system; ānvéñīkyā—by logical analysis; ca—also; vidyayā—by spiritual knowledge; mama—My; arcā—worship; upāñanābhiù—by adoration, etc.; vā—or; na—never; anyaiù—by other (means); yogyam—the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the object of meditation; smaret—one should focus on; manaù—the mind.

TRANSLATION

Through the various disciplinary regulations and the purificatory procedures of the yoga system, through logic and spiritual education or through worship and adoration of Me, one should constantly engage his mind in remembering the Personality of Godhead, the goal of yoga. No other means should be employed for this purpose.

PURPORT

The word vä is significant in this verse, for it indicates that one engaged in the worship and adoration of the Personality of Godhead need not trouble himself with the disciplinary, regulatory and purificatory procedures of yoga, nor with the grueling intricacies of Vedic studies and logic. Yogyam, or the most appropriate object of meditation, is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, as confirmed throughout Vedic literature. One who directly takes to the worship of the Lord should not employ other methods, for full dependence on the Lord is in itself the supreme process of perfection.

TEXT 25

yaid" ku(yaARt'amaAde"na yaAegAI k(maR ivagAihR"tama, yaAegAenaEva d"he"dM"h"Ae naAnyâaṭa k(d"Acana

*yadi kuryät pramādena
yogē karma vigarhitam
yogenaiva dahed aàho
nānyat tatra kadācana*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadi—if; kuryät—should perform; pramādena—due to negligence; yogé—the yogé; karma—an activity; vigarhitam—abominable; yogena—by the yoga process; eva—only; dahet—he should burn up; aàhaù—that sin; na—no; anyat—other means; tatra—in this matter; kadācana—at any time (should be employed).

TRANSLATION

If, because of momentary inattention, a yogi accidentally commits an abominable activity, then by the very practice of yoga he should burn to ashes the sinful reaction, without at any time employing any other procedure.

PURPORT

The word yogena here indicates jī ānena yogena and bhaktyā yogena, since these two transcendental systems have the power to burn sinful reactions to ashes. It should be clearly understood that the word aàhas, or "sin," here refers to an accidental falldown against one's desire. Premeditated exploitation of the mercy of the Lord can never be excused.

Significantly, the Lord forbids any extraneous purificatory rites, since the transcendental yoga systems are themselves the most purifying processes, especially bhakti-yoga. If one gives up one's regular prescribed duties to perform a special ritual or penance, trying to purify a sinful reaction, then one will be guilty of the additional fault of giving up one's prescribed duties. One should pick oneself up from an accidental falldown and go on vigorously with one's prescribed duties in life without being unnecessarily discouraged. One should certainly lament and feel ashamed, or there will be no purification. However, if one becomes overly depressed at an accidental falldown one will not have the enthusiasm to go on to perfection. Lord Kāñēa also states in the Bhagavad-gētā (9.30), api cet su-durācāro

*bhajate mäm ananya-bhäk
sädhur eva sa mantavyau
samyag vyavasito hi sau*

"Even if one commits the most abominable actions, if he is engaged in devotional service, he is to be considered saintly because he is properly situated." The most important point is that one should be properly engaged in the devotional service of the Lord, for then the Lord will excuse and purify an accidental falldown. One should, however, be most cautious to avoid such an unhappy event.

TEXT 26

*svae svae'iDak(Are" yaA inai"A
s$a gAuNA: pair"k(LitaRta:
k(maRNAAM jaAtyazAuÜ"AnaAma, @naena inayama: k{(ta:
gAuNAd"AeSaivaDaAnaena
s$aËÿAnaAM tyAjanaecC$yaA*

*sve sve 'dhikäre yä niñöhä sa guëau parikértitaù
karmaëää jäty-açuddhänäm
anena niyamaù kâtaù
guëa-doña-vidhänena
saì gänää tyäjaneccchayä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sve sve—each in his own; adhikäre—position; yä—which; niñöhä—steady practice; saù—this; guëau—piety; parikértitaù—is thoroughly declared; karmaëäm—of fruitive activities; jäti—by nature; açuddhänäm—impure; anena—by this; niyamaù—disciplinary control; kâtaù—is established; guëa—of piety; doña—of sin; vidhänena—by the rule; saì gänäm—of association with different types of sense gratification; tyājana—of renunciation; icchayā—by the desire.

TRANSLATION

It is firmly declared that the steady adherence of transcendentalists to their respective spiritual positions constitutes real piety and that sin occurs when a transcendentalist neglects his prescribed duty. One who adopts this standard of piety and sin, sincerely desiring to give up all past association with sense gratification, is able to subdue materialistic activities, which are by nature impure.

PURPORT

Lord Kāñḍea here explains more clearly that those persons directly engaged in self-realization either through jī āna-yoga or bhakti-yoga need not give up their regular duties and perform special penances to atone for an accidental falldown. The actual purpose of Vedic literature is to direct one back home, back to Godhead, and not to encourage material sense gratification. Although the Vedas recommend innumerable rituals for promotion to heavenly planets and enjoyment of all varieties of material opulence, such materialistic rewards are meant only to engage materialistic people, who otherwise would become demoniac. To purify an accidental falldown, one who is engaged in transcendental realization need not adopt any procedure beyond his own spiritual practice. The words saṁ gānā à tyājanecchayā indicate that one should not practice Kāñḍea consciousness or self-realization superficially or casually; rather, one should sincerely and earnestly desire freedom from one's past sinful life. Similarly, the words yā nīñhā indicate that one must constantly practice Kāñḍea consciousness. Thus, essential piety is to give up material sense gratification and engage in the loving service of the Lord. One who engages his senses, mind and intelligence twenty-four hours a day in the Lord's service is the most pious person, and the Lord personally protects such a surrendered soul.

TEXTS 27-28

jaAta™aÜ"Ae matk(TaAs$au inaivaRNNA: s$avaRk(maRs$au vaed" äu":KaAtmak(Ana, k(AmaAna, pair"tyaAgAe'pyanalir":

tataAe Bajaeta maAM 'alta:
™aÜ"Alauä{R"X#inaêya: jauSamaANAê taAna, k(AmaAna, äu":KaAed"k(A<ê gAhR"yana,

*jāta-çraddho mat-kathāsu
nirviēēau sarva-karmasu
veda duùkhātmakān kāmān
parityāge 'py anēçvaraù*

*tato bhajeta mām prētau
çraddhālur dāḍha-niçcayaù juṇamāēāç ca tān kāmān
duùkhodarkāāç ca garhayan*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jāta—one who has awakened; çraddhaù—faith; mat-kathāsu—in the descriptions of My glories; nirviēēau—disgusted; sarva—with all; karmasu—activities; veda—he knows; duùkha—misery; ātmakān—constituted of; kāmān—all types of sense gratification; parityāge—in the process of renouncing; api—although; anēçvaraù—unable; tataù—due to such faith; bhajeta—he should worship; mām—Me; prētau—remaining happy; çraddhāluù—being faithful; dāḍha—resolute; niçcayaù—conviction; juṇamāēāù—engaging in; ca—also; tān—that; kāmān—sense gratification; duùkha—misery; udarkān—leading to; ca—also; garhayan—repenting of.

TRANSLATION

Having awakened faith in the narrations of My glories, being disgusted with all material activities, knowing that all sense gratification leads to misery, but still being unable to renounce all sense enjoyment, My devotee should remain happy and worship Me with great faith and conviction. Even though he is sometimes engaged in sense enjoyment, My devotee knows that all sense gratification leads to a miserable result, and he sincerely repents such activities.

PURPORT

The beginning stage of pure devotional service is described here by the Lord. A sincere devotee has practically seen that all material activities lead only to sense gratification and all sense gratification leads only to misery. Thus a devotee's sincere desire is to engage twenty-four hours a day in the loving service of Lord Kāñëa without any personal motivation. The devotee sincerely desires to be established in his constitutional position as the Lord's eternal servitor, and he prays to the Lord to elevate him to this exalted position. The word anêçvara indicates that because of one's past sinful activities and bad habits one may not immediately be able to completely extinguish the enjoying spirit. The Lord here encourages such a devotee not to be overly depressed or morose but to remain enthusiastic and to go on with his loving service. The word nirviëëa indicates that a sincere devotee, although somewhat entangled in the remnants of sense gratification, is completely disgusted with material life and under no circumstances willingly commits sinful activities. In fact, he avoids every kind of materialistic activity. The word kāmān basically refers to sex attraction and its by-products in the form of children, home and so forth. Within the material world, the sex impulse is so strong that even a sincere candidate in the loving service of the Lord may sometimes be disturbed by sex attraction or by lingering sentiments for wife and children. A pure devotee certainly feels spiritual affection for all living entities, including the so-called wife and children, but he knows that material bodily attraction leads to no good, for it simply entangles one and one's so-called relatives in a miserable chain reaction of fruitive activities. The word dāòha-niçcaya ("steadfast conviction") indicates that in any circumstance a devotee is completely determined to go on with his prescribed duties for Kāñëa. Thus he thinks, "By my previous shameful life my heart is polluted with many illusory attachments. Personally I have no power to stop them. Only Lord Kāñëa within my heart can remove such inauspicious contamination. But whether the Lord removes such attachments immediately or lets me go on being afflicted by them, I will never give up my devotional service to Him. Even if the Lord places millions of obstacles in my path, and even if because of my offenses I go to hell, I will never for a moment stop serving Lord Kāñëa. I am not interested in mental speculation and fruitive activities; even if Lord Brahmä personally comes before me offering such engagements, I will not be even slightly interested. Although I am attached to material things I can see very clearly that they lead to no good because they simply give me trouble and disturb my devotional service to the Lord. Therefore, I sincerely repent my foolish attachments to so many material things, and I am patiently awaiting Lord Kāñëa's mercy."

The word prëta indicates that a devotee feels exactly like the son or subject of the Supreme Personality of Godhead and is very attached to his relationship with the Lord. Therefore, although sincerely lamenting occasional lapses into sense enjoyment, he never gives up his enthusiasm to serve Lord Kāñëa. If a devotee becomes too morose or discouraged in devotional service, he may drift into an impersonal consciousness or give up his devotional service to the Lord. Therefore, the Lord here advises that although one should sincerely repent, he should not become chronically depressed. One should understand that because of his past sins he must occasionally suffer disturbances from the material mind and senses, but one should not therefore become a devotee of detachment, as do the speculative philosophers. Although one may desire detachment to purify one's devotional service to the Lord, if one becomes more concerned with renunciation than with acting for the pleasure of Lord Kāñëa, he is misunderstanding the position of loving devotional service. Faith in Lord Kāñëa is so powerful that in due course of time it will automatically award detachment and perfect knowledge. If one gives up Lord Kāñëa as the central object of one's worship and concentrates more on knowledge and detachment, one will become deviated from one's progress in going back home, back to Godhead. A sincere devotee of the Lord must be sincerely convinced that simply by the strength of devotional service and the mercy of Lord Kåñëa he will achieve everything auspicious in life. One must believe that Lord Kåñëa is all-merciful and that He is the only real goal of one's life. Such determined faith combined with a sincere desire to give up sense enjoyment will carry one past the obstacles of this world.

The words jāta-çraddhaù mat-kathäsu are most significant here. By faithful hearing of the mercy and glories of the Lord one will gradually be freed from all material desire and clearly see at every moment the utter frustration of sense gratification. Chanting the glories of the Lord with firm faith and conviction is a tremendously powerful spiritual process that enables one to give up all material association.

There is actually nothing inauspicious in the devotional service of the Lord. Occasional difficulties experienced by a devotee are due to his previous material activities. On the other hand, the endeavor for sense gratification is completely inauspicious. Thus sense gratification and devotional service are directly opposed to each other. In all circumstances one should therefore remain the Lord's sincere servant, always believing in His mercy. Then one will certainly go back home, back to Godhead.

TEXT 29

'aAe·e(na Bai·(yaAegAena BajataAe maAs$ak{(nmaunae:
k(AmaA ô$d"yyaA nazyainta
s$avaeR maiya ô$id" isTatae

*proktena bhakti-yogena bhajato mäsakân muneù
kämä hâdayyâ naçyanti
sarve mayi hâdi sthite*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

proktena—which has been described; bhakti-yogena—by devotional service; bhajataù—who is worshiping; mä—Me; asakât—constantly; muneù—of the sage; kämäù—material desires; hâdayyâù—in the heart; naçyanti—are destroyed; sarve—all of them; mayi—in Me; hâdi—when the heart; sthite—is firmly situated.

TRANSLATION

When an intelligent person engages constantly in worshiping Me through loving devotional service as described by Me, his heart becomes firmly situated in Me. Thus all material desires within the heart are destroyed.

PURPORT

The material senses are engaged in gratifying the concoctions of the mind, causing many types of material desires to become prominent, one after another. One who constantly engages in the devotional service of the Lord by hearing and chanting the Lord's transcendental glories with firm faith gets relief from the harassment of material desires. By serving the Lord one becomes strengthened in the conviction that Çré Kâñëa is the only actual enjoyer and all others are meant to share the Lord's pleasure through devotional service. A devotee of the Lord situates Çré Kâñëa on a beautiful throne within his heart and there offers the Lord constant service. Just as the rising sun gradually eliminates all trace of darkness, the Lord's presence within the heart causes all material desires there to weaken and eventually disappear. The words mayi hâdi sthite ("when the heart is situated in Me") indicate that an advanced devotee sees Lord Kâñëa not only within his own heart but within the hearts of all living creatures. Thus a sincere devotee who chants and hears the glories of Çré Kâñëa should not be discouraged by the remnants of material desires within the heart. He should faithfully wait for the devotional process to naturally purify the heart of all contamination.

TEXT 30

iBaâtae ô$d"yafainTazA, iC$ântae s$avaRs$aMzAyaA: °alyantae caAsya k(maARiNA
maiya ä{"ie""iKalaAtmaina

*bhidyate hâdaya-granthiç
chidyante sarva-saâçayäù
kñéyante cäsya karmäëi
mayi dāñõe 'khilätmani*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhidyate—pierced; hâdaya—heart; granthiù—knots; chidyante—cut to pieces; sarva—all; saâçayäù—misgivings; kñéyante—terminated; ca—and; asya—his; karmaëi—chain of fruitive actions; mayi—when I; dāñõe—am seen; akhila-ätmani—as the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TRANSLATION

The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

PURPORT

Hâdaya-granthi indicates that one's heart is bound to illusion by false identification with the material body. One thus becomes absorbed in material sex pleasure, dreaming of innumerable combinations of male and female bodies. A person intoxicated by sex attraction cannot understand that the Supreme Personality of Godhead is the reservoir of all pleasure and the supreme enjoyer. When a devotee achieves steadiness in devotional service, feeling transcendental pleasure at every moment in the execution of his loving service to the Lord, the knot of false identification is pierced and all his misgivings are cut to pieces. In illusion we imagine that the living entity cannot be fully satisfied without material sense gratification and speculative doubting of the Absolute Truth. Materialistic persons consider sense enjoyment and speculative doubting to be essential for civilized life. A pure devotee, however, realizes that Lord Kâñëa is an unlimited ocean of happiness and the personification of all knowledge. This realization of Lord Kâñëa completely eradicates the twin tendencies of sense gratification and mental speculation. Thus the chain of fruitive activities, or karma, automatically collapses, just as a fire collapses and goes out when its fuel is removed.

Advanced devotional service automatically awards one liberation from material bondage, as confirmed by Lord Kapila: jarayaty äçu yä koçaà nigërëam analo yathä. "Bhakti, devotional service, dissolves the subtle body of the living entity without separate effort, just as fire in the stomach digests all that we eat." (SB 3.25.33) Çréla Prabhupäda states in his purport to this verse, "A devotee does not have to try separately to attain liberation. That very service to the Supreme Personality of Godhead is the process of liberation, because to engage oneself in the service of the Lord is to liberate oneself from material entanglement. Çré Bilvamañi gäla Öhäkura explained this position very nicely. He said, 'If I have unflinching devotion unto the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord, then mukti, or liberation, serves me as my maidservant. Mukti the maidservant is always ready to do whatever I ask.' For a devotee, liberation is no problem at all. Liberation takes place without separate endeavor."

TEXT 31

tasmaAnmaà"i·(yau·(sya yaAeigAnaAe vaE mad"Atmana:
na ÁaAnaM na ca vaEr"AgyaM
'aAya: T^MaeyaAe Bavaeid"h"

*tasmän mad-bhakti-yuktasya yogino vai mad-ätmanaù
na ji'änaà na ca vairägyaà
präyaù çreyo bhaved iha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmāt—therefore; mat-bhakti-yuktasya—of one who is engaged in My loving service; yoginaù—of a devotee; vai—certainly; mat-ātmanaù—whose mind is fixed in Me; na—not; jī'ānam—the cultivation of knowledge; na—nor; ca—also; vairāgyam—the cultivation of renunciation; prāyaù—generally; çreyaù—the means of achieving perfection; bhavet—may be; iha—in this world.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, for a devotee engaged in My loving service, with mind fixed on Me, the cultivation of knowledge and renunciation is generally not the means of achieving the highest perfection within this world.

PURPORT

A surrendered devotee of Lord Kāñëa does not seek perfection through the cultivation of knowledge and renunciation outside the loving service of the Lord. Devotional service to Lord Kāñëa, being itself the supreme transcendental process, never depends upon the secondary methods involving the cultivation of knowledge and renunciation. By chanting and hearing the glories of the Personality of Godhead a devotee automatically realizes all knowledge, and as the devotee's attachment to the Lord increases, he automatically gives up attachment for the inferior material nature. The Lord has explicitly declared in the previous verses that a devotee should not try to solve his lingering problems by means other than devotional service. Although a sincere devotee has surrendered heart and soul in loving service to the Lord, there may be lingering material attachments that prevent the devotee from perfectly realizing transcendental knowledge. Devotional service, however, will automatically eradicate such lingering attachments in due course of time. If the devotee tries to purify himself through cultivation of knowledge and renunciation, which fall outside the scope of devotional service, there is danger of his being deviated from the Lord's lotus feet and falling down completely from the transcendental path. One who endeavors for purification outside the loving service of the Lord has not actually understood the transcendental potency of bhakti-yoga and does not appreciate the extent of Lord Kāñëa's mercy.

Within this world one's heart is bound by sex attraction, which disturbs one's meditation on the lotus feet of Lord Kāñëa. Intoxicated by contact with women, the conditioned soul becomes artificially proud and forgets his loving servitude to the Lord. Through determined cultivation of knowledge and detachment, a conditioned soul may try to purify himself without the mercy of Lord Kāñëa, but such false pride is to be given up, just as one must give up the false pride of material attraction. When pure devotional service to the Lord is available to a conditioned soul, attraction to other processes is certainly a deviation in his devotional career. Material desire stubbornly residing within the heart can be vanquished by taking full shelter of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Without false confidence in one's own cultivation of knowledge and renunciation, one should depend fully on the mercy of Lord Kāñëa and at the same time strictly follow the rules and regulations of bhakti-yoga, as instructed by the Lord Himself.

TEXTS 32-33

yatk(maRiBayaRÔapas$aA ÁaAnavaEr"Agyataê yata, yaAegAena d"AnaDamaeRNA ™aeyaAeiBair"tarE"r"ipa

s$ava< maà"i·(yaAegAena maà"·(Ae laBatae'Ãas$aA svagAARpavagA< maÜ"Ama
k(TaiÂaâid" vaAHC$ita

yat karmabhir yat tapasä ji äna-vairägyataç ca yat yogena dāna-dharmeëa

çreyobhir itarair api
sarvaà mad-bhakti-yogena mad-bhakto labhate 'i'jasä svargäpavargaà mad-dhāma
kathai cid yadi väi chati

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—that which is obtained; karmabhiù—by fruitive activities; yat—that which; tapasä—by penance; jì āna—by cultivation of knowledge; vairägyataù—by detachment; ca—also; yat—that which is achieved; yogena—by the mystic yoga system; dāna—by charity; dharmeëa—by religious duties; çreyobhiù—by processes for making life auspicious; itaraiù—by others; api—indeed; sarvam—all; mat-bhakti-yogena—by loving service unto Me; mat-bhaktaù—My devotee; labhate—achieves; ai'jasä—easily; svarga—promotion to heaven; apavargam—liberation from all misery; mat-dhāma—residence in My abode; kathai'cit—somehow or other; yadi—if; vai chati—he desires.

TRANSLATION

Everything that can be achieved by fruitive activities, penance, knowledge, detachment, mystic yoga, charity, religious duties and all other means of perfecting life is easily achieved by My devotee through loving service unto Me. If somehow or other My devotee desires promotion to heaven, liberation, or residence in My abode, he easily achieves such benedictions.

PURPORT

Lord Kāñëa here reveals the transcendental glories of devotional service to the Lord. Although pure devotees are desireless, desiring only the Lord's service, sometimes a great devotee may desire the Lord's benediction to facilitate his loving service. In the Sixth Canto of the Bhāgavatam we find that Çré Citraketu, a great devotee of the Lord, desired promotion to heaven

so that accompanied by the most attractive ladies of the Vidyādhara planet he could beautifully chant the glories of the Lord. Similarly, Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé, the great narrator of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, desiring to avoid entanglement in the illusory potency of the Lord, would not come out of his mother's womb. In other words, Çukadeva Gosvāmé desired apavargam, or liberation from māyā, so that his devotional service would not be disturbed. Lord Kāñëa personally sent the illusory energy far away so that Çukadeva Gosvāmé would come out of his mother's womb. Because of intense loving desire to serve the lotus feet of the Lord, a devotee may also desire promotion to the spiritual world.

According to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Öhäkura, a devotee, having given up the independent cultivation of knowledge and detachment, may have firm faith in the devotional service of the Lord and yet remain slightly attached to the fruits of such activities. By expert fruitive activities one gains residence in material heaven, and by cultivation of detachment one is relieved of all bodily distress. If Lord Kāñëa detects within a devotee's heart the desire for such benedictions, the Lord can easily award them to His devotee.

The word itaraiù in this verse indicates visiting holy places, accepting religious vows and so forth. Several auspicious processes of elevation are mentioned in the verse preceding this, but all the auspicious results of these processes are easily achieved by loving service to the Lord. Thus all devotees of the Lord, in whatever stage of advancement, should dedicate their energy exclusively to the Lord's service, as affirmed in the Second Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam by Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé:

*akāmaù sarva-kāmo vā
mokiā-kāma udāra-dhéù
tévreëa bhakti-yogena
yajeta puruñāè param*

"A person who has broader intelligence, whether he be full of all material desire, without any material desire or desiring liberation, must by all means worship the supreme whole, the Personality of Godhead." (SB 2.3.10)

TEXT 34

na ik(iÂats$aADavaAe Dalr"A Ba·(A ÷ek(AintanaAe mama vaAHC$ntyaiPa mayaA d"ÔaM kE(valyamapaunaBaRvama,

*na kii cit sâdhavo dhérâ
bhaktâ hy ekântino mama
väi chanty api mayä dattaà
kaivalyam apunar-bhavam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—never; kii cit—anything; sâdhavaù—saintly persons; dhérâù—with deep intelligence; bhaktâù—devotees; hi—certainly; ekântinaù—completely dedicated; mama—unto Me; väi chanti—desire; api—indeed; mayä—by Me; dattam—given; kaivalyam—liberation; apunaù-bhavam—freedom from birth and death.

TRANSLATION

Because My devotees possess saintly behavior and deep intelligence, they completely dedicate themselves to Me and do not desire anything besides Me. Indeed, even if I offer them liberation from birth and death, they do not accept it.

PURPORT

The words ekântino mama indicate that the pure devotees of the Lord, being saintly and most intelligent, dedicate themselves exclusively to the devotional service of the Personality of Godhead. Even when the Lord offers them personal liberation from birth and death, the devotees will not accept it. A pure devotee automatically gains an eternal life of bliss and knowledge in the Lord's personal abode and thus considers mere liberation without the loving service of the Lord to be most abominable. One who chants Lord Kāñëa's holy name or superficially serves the Lord with the motive of achieving impersonal liberation or material sense gratification cannot be considered a transcendental devotee of the Lord. As long as one desires mundane religiosity, economic development, sense gratification or liberation, one cannot achieve the platform of samādhi, or perfect self-realization. Every living entity is actually the eternal servant of Lord Kāñëa and is constitutionally meant to engage in the loving service of the Lord without personal desire. This pure and supreme status of life is described in this verse by the Lord Himself.

TEXT 35

naEr"pae^oyaM parM" 'aAò"r," ina:™aeyas$amanalpak(ma, tasmaAi^aar"AizASaAe Bai·(r," inar"pae^oasya mae Bavaeta,

nairapekñyaà paraà prāhur
niùçreyasam analpakam
tasmān nirāçiño bhaktir
nirapekñasya me bhavet

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nairapekñyam—not desiring anything except devotional service;
param—the best; prāhuù—it is said; niùçreyasam—highest stage of liberation; analpakam—great; tasmāt—therefore; nirāçiñaù—of one who does not seek personal rewards; bhaktiù—loving devotional service; nirapekñasya—of one who only sees Me; me—unto Me; bhavet—may arise.

TRANSLATION

It is said that complete detachment is the highest stage of freedom. Therefore, one who has no personal desire and does not pursue personal rewards can achieve loving devotional service unto Me.

PURPORT

As stated in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (2.3.10),

*akāmaṁ sarva-kāma vā
mokaṁ-kāma udāra-dhēu
tēvreṣa bhakti-yogena
yajeta puruṣaṁ param*

"A person who has broader intelligence, whether he be full of all material desire, without any material desire or desiring liberation, must by all means worship the supreme whole, the Personality of Godhead." In this statement by Çukadeva Gosvāmī, the words tēvreṣa bhakti-yogena are very significant. Çréla Prabhupāda remarks in this regard, "As the unmixed sun ray is very forceful and is therefore called tēvra, similarly, unmixed bhakti-yoga of hearing, chanting, etc., may be performed by one and all regardless of inner motive." Undoubtedly, in this age of Kali people are generally very fallen and polluted by material lust, greed, anger, lamentation and so forth. In this age most people are sarva-kāma, or full of material desires. Still we must understand that simply by taking shelter of Lord Kāṇḍa we will achieve everything in life. The living entity should not engage in any process except the loving service of the Lord. One must accept that Lord Kāṇḍa is the reservoir of all pleasure and that only Lord Kāṇḍa within our heart can fulfill our real desire. This simple faith that one will achieve everything by approaching Lord Kāṇḍa is the essence of all knowledge and carries even a fallen person over the painful hurdles of this difficult age.

TEXT 36

*na mayyaek(AntaBa-(AnaAM gAuNAd"AeSaAeà"vaA gAuNAA:
s$aADaUnaAM s$amaicaÔaAnaAM*

bauÜe": par"maupaeyauSaAma,

*na mayy ekānta-bhaktānāà
guëa-doñodbhavä guëäù sādhünāà sama-cittānāà
buddheù param upeyuñām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; mayi—in Me; eka-anta—unalloyed; bhaktānām—of the devotees; guëa—recommended as good; doña—forbidden as unfavorable; udbhaväù—arising from such things; guëäù—piety and sin; sādhünām—of those who are free from material hankering; sama-cittānām—who maintain steady spiritual consciousness in all circumstances; buddheù—that which can be conceived by material intelligence; param—beyond; upeyuñām—of those who have achieved.

TRANSLATION

Material piety and sin, which arise from the good and evil of this world, cannot exist within My unalloyed devotees, who, being free from material hankering, maintain steady spiritual consciousness in all circumstances. Indeed, such devotees have achieved Me, the Supreme Lord, who am beyond anything that can be conceived by material intelligence.

PURPORT

The words buddheù param indicate that the material modes of nature cannot be found within a pure devotee absorbed in the transcendental qualities of the Lord. In the Second Chapter of Bhagavad-gētā, Lord Kāñëa clearly explains that a pure devotee is recognized by complete detachment from personal desire; therefore, a pure devotee constantly engaged in selfless service to Lord Kāñëa may not always observe the innumerable details of Vedic rituals and regulations. Such occasional negligence is not to be considered a transgression. Similarly, observance of ordinary material piety does not constitute the ultimate qualification of a soul surrendered to God. Love of Kåñëa and absolute surrender to the Lord's will raise one immediately to the transcendental platform, where activities performed on the Lord's behalf are absolute, being an expression of God's will. Ordinary materialistic persons sometimes falsely claim this exalted status for their whimsical, immoral activities and cause a great disturbance in society. However, just as an ordinary person should not falsely claim the executive privileges of the personal assistants of a national leader, similarly, an ordinary conditioned soul may not foolishly claim that his immoral, whimsical or speculative activities are sheltered by divine right, being the will of God. One must actually be a pure devotee of the Lord, empowered by the Lord Himself and completely surrendered to the will of the Lord, before one may be accepted as transcendental to ordinary piety and sin.

There are cases of highly elevated devotees who momentarily fell down from the saintly platform of devotional service. The Lord instructs in Bhagavad-gîtä (9.30), *api cet su-duräcäro

bhajate mäm ananya-bhäk
sädhur eva sa mantavyau
samyag vyavasito hi sau*

A momentary falldown by a sincere devotee of the Lord cannot change the Lord's feelings toward such a person. Even an ordinary father or mother quickly excuses a momentary transgression by their child. Just as children and parents enjoy mutual love, the Lord's surrendered servants enjoy a loving relationship with the Lord. An unpremeditated, accidental falldown is quickly excused by the Lord, and all members of society must share in the Lord's own feelings, excusing such a sincere devotee. An advanced devotee should not be branded as materialistic or sinful because of accidental falldown. A devotee immediately returns to the platform of saintly service and begs the Lord's forgiveness. However, one who permanently remains in a fallen condition can no longer be accepted as a highly elevated devotee of the Lord.

TEXT 37

WvamaetaAnmayaA id"í"Ana,
@nauitai"inta mae paTa:
°aemaM ivand"inta matsTaAnaM
yaä," "aö par"maM ivaäu":

*evam etän mayä diññān
anutiññhanti me pathaù
kñemam vīdanti mat-sthānam
yad brahma paramam viduù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—thus; etän—these; mayä—by Me; diññān—instructed;
anutiññhanti—those who follow; me—Me; pathaù—the means of achieving;
kñemam—freedom from illusion; vīdanti—they achieve; mat-sthānam—My personal abode; yad—that which; brahma paramam—the Absolute Truth;
viduù—they directly know.

TRANSLATION

Persons who seriously follow these methods of achieving Me, which I have personally taught, attain freedom from illusion, and upon reaching My personal abode they perfectly understand the Absolute Truth.

*Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C.
Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Twentieth Chapter, of the Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Pure Devotional Service Surpasses Knowledge and Detachment."*

21. Lord Kāñëa's Explanation of the Vedic Path

There are persons who are unfit for all three of the forms of yoga-karma, jñāna and bhakti. They are inimical to Lord Kāñëa, attached to sense gratification, and are dominated by fruitive activities aimed at fulfillment of material desires. This chapter describes their faults in terms of place, time, substance and beneficiary of actions.

For those who are perfect in knowledge and devotion to the Lord, there are no materially good qualities or faults. But for a candidate endeavoring on the platform of karma to achieve cessation of material life, execution of regular and special fruitive duties is good and the failure to execute such is evil. That which counteracts sinful reaction is also good for him.

For one on the platform of knowledge in the pure mode of goodness and for one on the platform of devotion, the proper actions are, respectively, cultivation of knowledge and practice of devotional service consisting of hearing, chanting and so forth. For both, everything detrimental to their proper actions is bad. But for persons who are not candidates for transcendental advancement or who are not perfected souls, namely those who are completely inimical to spiritual life and are devoted exclusively to fruitive work for fulfillment of lusty desires, there are numerous considerations of purity and impurity and auspiciousness and inauspiciousness. These are to be made in terms of one's body, the place of activity, the time, the objects utilized, the performer, the mantras chanted and the particular activity.

In actuality, virtue and fault are not absolute but are relative to one's particular platform of advancement. Remaining fixed in the type of discrimination suitable to one's level of advancement is good, and anything else is bad. This is the basic understanding of virtue and fault. Even among objects belonging to the same category, there are different considerations of their purity or impurity in relation to performance of religious duties, worldly transactions, and the maintenance of one's life. These distinctions are described in various scriptures.

The doctrine of varëāçrama codifies precepts of bodily purity and impurity. With respect to place, purity and impurity are distinguished by such facts as the presence of black deer. In connection with time, there are distinctions of purity and impurity either in terms of the time itself or in terms of its specific relation with various objects. In connection with physical substances, distinctions of purity and impurity are made in terms of sanctification of objects and words and by such activities as bathing, giving charity, performing austere penances and remembering the Supreme Lord. There are also distinctions of the purity and impurity of the performers of actions. When one's knowledge of mantras is received from the lips of the bona fide spiritual master, one's mantra is considered pure, and one's work is purified by offering it unto the Supreme Personality of Godhead. If the six factors of place, time and so forth are purified, then there is dharma, or virtue, but otherwise there is adharma, or fault.

Ultimately, there is no substantial basis in distinctions of virtue and fault, because they transform according to place, time, beneficiary and so on. In regard to the execution of prescribed duties for sense gratification, the actual intent of all the scriptures is the subduing of materialistic propensities; such is the actual principle of religion that destroys sorrow, confusion and fear and bestows all good fortune. Work performed for sense gratification is not actually beneficial. The descriptions of such fruitive benefits offered in various phala-çrutis are actually meant to help one gradually cultivate a taste for the highest benefit. But persons of inferior intelligence take the flowery benedictory verses of the scriptures to be the actual purport of the Vedas; this opinion, however, is never held by those in factual knowledge of the truth of the Vedas. Persons whose minds are agitated by the flowery words of the Vedas have no attraction for hearing topics about Lord Hari. It should be understood that there is no inner purport to the Vedas apart from the original Personality of Godhead. The Vedas focus exclusively upon the Supreme Absolute Truth, the Personality of Godhead. Because this material world is simply the illusory energy of the Supreme Lord, it is by refuting material existence that one gains disassociation from matter.

TEXT 1

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
ya WtaAnmatpaTaAe ih"tvaA Bai·(ÁaAnai,(yaAtmak(Ana, °au"%o"Ana, k(AmaAMêlaE: 'aANAEr," jauSanta: s$SaMs$ar"inta tae

çré-bhagavān uvāca
ya etān mat-patho hitvā
bhakti-jī āna-kriyātmakān kñudrān kāmāṇaḥ calaiu prāḇair juñantaù saṇsaranti te

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; ye—those who; etān—these; mat-pathaù—means for achieving Me; hitvā—giving up; bhakti—devotional service; jī āna—analytic philosophy; kriyā—regulated work; ātmakān—consisting of; kñudrān—insignificant; kāmān—sense gratification; calaiu—by the flickering; prāḇaiu—senses; juñantaù—cultivating; saṇsaranti—undergo material existence; te—they.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Those who give up these methods for achieving Me, which consist of devotional service, analytic philosophy and regulated execution of prescribed duties, and instead, being moved by the material senses, cultivate insignificant sense gratification, certainly undergo the continual cycle of material existence.

PURPORT

As clearly explained by Lord Kāñëa in the previous chapters, philosophical analysis and also the performance of prescribed duties are ultimately meant for achieving Kāñëa consciousness, or pure love of God. Devotional service, based on hearing and chanting the glories of the Lord, directly engages the conditioned soul in the Lord's loving service and thus is the most efficient means of achieving the Lord. All three processes, however, share a common goal, Kāñëa consciousness. Now the Lord describes those who, being completely absorbed in material sense gratification, do not adopt any authorized means to achieve the Lord's mercy. Currently, hundreds of millions of unfortunate human beings fit squarely into this category and, as described here, perpetually suffer the bondage of material existence.

TEXT 2

svae svae'iDak(Are" yaA inai"A
s$a gAuNA: pair"k(LitaRta:
ivapayaRyastau d"AeSa: syaAä," oBayaAere"Sa inaêya:

*sve sve 'dhikāre yā nīñhā
sa guëaù parikértitaù
viparyayas tu doñaù syād
ubhayor eña niçcayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sve sve—each in his own; adhikāre—position; yā—such; nīñhā—steadiness; saù—this; guëaù—piety; parikértitaù—is declared to be; viparyayaù—the opposite; tu—indeed; doñaù—impiety; syāt—is; ubhayaù—of the two; eñaù—this; niçcayaù—the definite conclusion.

TRANSLATION

Steadiness in one's own position is declared to be actual piety, whereas deviation from one's position is considered impiety. In this way the two are definitely ascertained.

PURPORT

In the previous verse Lord Kāñëa explained that the path of spiritual progress begins with working without fruitive desires, advances to the stage of realized spiritual knowledge, and culminates in direct engagement in the devotional service of the Lord. Here the Lord emphasizes that a conditioned soul should not artificially disrupt the natural evolution of his Kāñëa consciousness by deviating from those duties prescribed by the Lord Himself. In the lower stages of human life one is entangled in false identification with the gross material body and desires to execute material fruitive activities based on society, friendship and love. When such materialistic activities are offered in sacrifice to the Supreme Lord, one becomes situated in karma-yoga. By regulated sacrifice one gradually gives up the gross bodily concept of life and advances to the stage of realization of spiritual knowledge, whereby one understands oneself to be an eternal spirit soul completely different from the material body and mind. Feeling relief from the pangs of materialism one becomes very attached to one's spiritual knowledge, and thus one is situated in the stage of jñāna-yoga. As the candidate further advances on the spiritual path, he understands himself to be part and parcel of the Supreme Soul, the Personality of Godhead, Lord Kāñëa. He then sees that his conditional life as well as his spiritual knowledge was obtained from the Personality of Godhead, who awards the results of all types of activities, both pious and sinful. By directly engaging in the loving service of the Supreme Lord and understanding oneself to be the Lord's eternal servant, one's attachment evolves into pure love of Godhead. Thus one first gives up the lower stage of attachment to the material body and then subsequently gives up attachment to cultivation of spiritual knowledge. This relieves one of material life. Finally one recognizes the Lord Himself as the resting place of one's eternal love and fully surrenders to God in full Kâñëa consciousness.

Lord Kâñëa explains in this verse that one who is still attached to the material body and mind cannot artificially give up the prescribed duties of karma-yoga. In the same way, one who is a spiritual neophyte, just beginning to realize the illusion of material life, should not artificially try to think of the Lord's intimate pastimes twenty-four hours a day, imitating the stage of prema-bhakti. Rather, he should cultivate analytic knowledge of the material world, by which one gives up attachment to the material body and mind. In Çrémad-Bhāgavatam we find many analytic descriptions of the material world, and they can free the conditioned soul from false identification with matter. One who has achieved the perfect stage of love of Godhead, however, being freed from all gross and subtle attachments to the material world, may give up the lower stages of karma-yoga and jī āna-yoga and engage directly in the Lord's loving service.

In Chapter Nineteen, verse 45, Lord Kâñëa states, guëa-doña-dâçir doño guëas tûbhaya-varjitaù. One should not see material good and evil within a devotee of the Lord. Indeed, one becomes pious by giving up such mundane conceptions. Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura points out that occasionally a neophyte devotee may be polluted by association with those enthusiastically executing fruitive activities and mental speculation. Such a devotee's religious activities may be affected by mundane tendencies. Similarly, an ordinary person who observes the exalted status of a pure devotee sometimes externally imitates the devotee's activities, considering himself to be on the same exalted platform of pure devotional service. These imperfect practitioners of bhakti-yoga are not exempt from criticism, since their fruitive activities, mental speculation and false prestige are material intrusions in the pure loving service of the Lord. A pure devotee engaged exclusively in the Lord's service should not be criticized, but a devotee whose devotional service is mixed with material qualities may be corrected so that he can rise to the platform of pure devotional service. Innocent persons should not be misled by the mixed devotional service of those not engaged exclusively in the bhakti-yoga system, but those unable to fully engage in Kâñëa consciousness should nevertheless not give up their regular prescribed duties, declaring them to be illusion. For example, one unable to fully engage in pure Kāñëa consciousness should not give up his family, considering it an illusion, for by doing so he will fall into illicit sex life. Material piety and analytic knowledge of the material world must therefore be cultivated until one comes to the stage of directly practicing Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 3

zAuÜ"YazAuÜ"I ivaDalyaetae
s$amaAnaeSvaipa vastauSau %"vyasya ivaicaik(ts$aATa<
gAuNAd"AeSaAE zAuBaAzAuBaAE DamaARTa< vyavah"Ar"ATa< yaAḥaATaRimaita caAnaGa

*çuddhy-açuddhé vidhéyete samāneñv apī vastuñu
dravyasya vicikitsārthaà
guëa-doñau çubhāçubhau
dharmārthaà vyavahārārthaà
yātrārtham iti cānagha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çuddhi—purity; açuddhé—and impurity; vidhéyete—are established; samāneñu—of the same category; apī—indeed; vastuñu—among objects; dravyasya—of a particular object; vicikitsä—evaluation; artham—for the purpose of; guëa-doñau—good and bad qualities; çubha-açubhau—auspicious and inauspicious; dharma-artham—for the purpose of religious activities; vyavahāra-artham—for the purpose of ordinary dealings; yātrā-artham—for one's physical survival; iti—thus; ca—also; anagha—O sinless one.

TRANSLATION

O sinless Uddhava, in order to understand what is proper in life one must evaluate a given object within its particular category. Thus, in analyzing religious principles one must consider purity and impurity. Similarly, in one's ordinary dealings one must distinguish between good and bad, and to insure one's physical survival one must recognize that which is auspicious and inauspicious.

PURPORT

In religious activities, ordinary dealings and personal survival one cannot avoid value judgements. Morality and religion are perennial necessities in civilized society; therefore distinctions between purity and impurity, piety and impiety, morality and immorality must somehow be ascertained. Similarly, in our ordinary, worldly activities we distinguish between palatable and tasteless food, good and bad business, high-class and low-class residences, good and bad friends, and so forth. And to insure our physical health and survival, we must constantly distinguish between what is safe and unsafe, healthy and unhealthy, profitable and unprofitable. Even a learned person must constantly distinguish between good and bad within the material world, but at the same time he must understand the transcendental position of Kāñëa consciousness. Despite one's careful calculation of that which is materially healthy and unhealthy, the physical body will collapse and die. Despite careful scrutiny of the socially favorable and unfavorable, one's entire social milieu will vanish with the passing of time. In the same way, great religions arise and disappear in the course of history. Thus mere religiosity, social and financial expertise or physical fitness cannot award the actual perfection of life. There is a transcendental good beyond the relative good of the material world. Any sane person accepts the practical and immediate necessity of material discrimination; yet one must come ultimately to the transcendental stage of Kāñëa consciousness, where life is eternal, full of bliss and knowledge. Lord Kāñëa, in His elaborate teachings to Çré Uddhava, is gradually clarifying the transcendental position of Kāñëa consciousness beyond the endless variety of material good and evil.

TEXT 4

d"izARtaAe'yaM mayaAcaAr"Ae DamaRmauã"h"taAM Daur"ma,

*darçito 'yaà mayäcäro
dharmam udvahatäà dhuram*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

darçitaù—revealed; ayam—this; mayä—by Me; äcäraù—way of life;
dharmam—religious principles; udvahatäm—for those who are bearing;
dhuram—the burden.

TRANSLATION

I have revealed this way of life for those bearing the burden of mundane religious principles.

PURPORT

Ordinary religious principles, prescribing innumerable rules, regulations and prohibitions, are undoubtedly a great burden for those bereft of Kåñëa consciousness. In the First Canto of Çrémad-Bhägavatam (1.1.11) it is stated, bhüréëi bhüri-karmäëi çrotavyäni vibhägaçaù: there are countless religious scriptures in the world prescribing countless religious duties. The authorized scriptures are those spoken by the Lord Himself or His representatives, as stated in this verse. In the last chapter of Bhagavad-gétä (18.66) Lord Kåñëa states, sarva-dharmän parityajya mäm ekaà çaraëaà vraja: [Bg. 18.66] one should give up the troublesome burden of mundane piety and directly take to the loving service of the Lord, in which everything is simplified. Lord Kåñëa also states in Bhagavad-gétä (9.2), su-sukham kartum avyayam: the bhakti-yoga process, which depends completely upon the mercy of the Lord, is very joyful and easily performed. Similarly, Locana däsä Öhäkura sings, *parama karuëa, pahuì dui jana, nitäi-gauracandra

saba avatära-, sära-çiromaëi,
kevala änananda-käëòa*

Çré Caitanya Mahäprabhu, who is Lord Kåñëa Himself, appeared five hundred years ago to distribute the sublime method of chanting the holy names of the Lord. In this way, rather than bearing the burden of artificial austerity, one can directly take to the Lord's service, cleansing one's heart and immediately experiencing transcendental bliss. Those who have taken to Caitanya Mahäprabhu's movement follow four basic principles: no illicit sex, no eating of meat, fish or eggs, no intoxication and no gambling. They rise early in the morning, chant Hare Kåñëa and spend the day happily engaged in the Lord's service. Those who follow the ritualistic karma-käëòa section of the Vedas, however, are burdened with innumerable regulations, rituals and ceremonies, which must be personally performed by the worshipers or performed on their behalf by qualified brähmaëas. At any moment there is danger of discrepancy resulting in the total loss of their accumulated piety. Similarly, those on the philosophical path must painstakingly define, refine and adjust philosophical categories, a process that generally ends in confusion and hopelessness. The practitioners of mystic yoga undergo grueling penances, subjecting themselves to severe heat and cold, near starvation and so on. All such materialistic persons have personal desires to fulfill, whereas the devotees of the Lord, who desire the Lord's pleasure, simply depend upon the Lord's mercy and go back home, back to Godhead. In the previous verse the Lord mentioned that in the material world there are endless distinctions and value judgements to be made in the course of one's life. A devotee, however, sees Kåñëa within everything and everything within Kåñëa, remaining humble, simple and blissful in the Lord's service. He does not perform elaborate religious ceremonies, nor does he become antisocial or immoral. The devotee simply chants the holy name of Kåñëa and easily achieves the highest perfection of life. Ordinary persons endeavor for bodily maintenance, but a devotee is automatically maintained by the Lord's mercy. A devotee's ordinary dealings and religious activities are also all dedicated to the Personality of Godhead; thus there is nothing but Kāñëa in a devotee's life. Kāñëa gives all protection and maintenance, and the devotee gives everything to Kāñëa. This natural liberated situation is called Kāñëa consciousness. It is the ultimate absolute good, as explained by the Lord throughout this canto.

TEXT 5

BaUmyambvagnyainalaAk(AzAA
BaUtaAnaAM paÂaDaAtava:
@A“aôsTaAvar"Ad"lnaAM
zAAr"lr"A @Atmas$aMyautaA:

bhümy-ambv-agny-aniläkäçä
bhütänäà pai ca-dhātavaù
ä-brahma-sthävarädénäà
çärérä ätma-saàyutäù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhümi—earth; ambu—water; agni—fire; anila—air; äkäçäù—sky or ether; bhütänäm—of all conditioned souls; pai ca—the five; dhātavaù—basic elements; ä—brahma—from Lord Brahmä; sthävara-ädénäm—down to the nonmoving creatures; çäréräù—used for the construction of the material bodies; ätma—to the Supreme Soul; saàyutäù—equally related.

TRANSLATION

Earth, water, fire, air and ether are the five basic elements that constitute the bodies of all conditioned souls, from Lord Brahmä himself down to the nonmoving creatures. These elements all emanate from the one Personality of Godhead.

PURPORT

All material bodies are composed of different proportions of the same five gross elements, which emanate from the one Personality of Godhead and cover the living entities, who are all in the jéva category.

The concepts of good and bad depend on the choice of the Supreme Lord and not on inherent qualitative differences in material objects. A Kāñëa conscious person ultimately sees all material phenomena as one. The devotee's good behavior, intelligent discrimination and artistic sense within the material world are all based on the will of God. The material elements, being emanations from the Supreme Lord, are ultimately all nondifferent. However, advocates of mundane piety fear that if the material duality of good and bad is minimized, people will become immoral or anarchistic. Certainly the impersonal and atheistic philosophy preached by modern scientists, in which material variety is reduced to mere mathematical descriptions of molecular and atomic particles, leads to immoral society. Although both material science and Vedic knowledge uncover the illusion of material variety and reveal the ultimate oneness of all material energy, only the devotees of Lord Kāñëa are surrendered to the supreme absolute piety of God's will. Thus they always act for the benefit of all living entities, accepting material variety in the Lord's service, according to the Lord's desire. Without Kāñëa consciousness, or God consciousness, people cannot understand the absolute position of spiritual goodness; instead they artificially try to construct a civilization based on interdependent self-interest on the material platform. Such a foolish arrangement easily collapses, as evidenced by widespread social conflict and chaos in the modern age. All members of a civilized society must accept the absolute authority of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and then social peace and harmony will not rest on the flimsy relative platform of mundane piety and sin.

TEXT 6

vaede"na naAmaè&paAiNA
ivaSamaAiNA s$amaeSvaipa DaAtauSaUÜ"va k(lpyanta

WtaeSaAM svaATaRis$aÜ"yae

vedena nāma-rüpāēi
viñamāēi sameñv api
dhātuñuddhava kalpyanta
eteñāà svārtha-siddhaye

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vedena—by Vedic literature; nāma—names; rüpāēi—and forms; viñamāēi—different; sameñu—which are equal; api—indeed; dhātuñu—in (material bodies composed of) the five elements; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; kalpyante—are conceived of; eteñām—of them, the living entities; sva-artha—of self-interest; siddhaye—for the achievement.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, although all material bodies are composed of the same five elements and are thus equal, the Vedic literatures conceive of different names and forms in relation to such bodies so that the living entities may achieve their goal of life.

PURPORT

The words nāma-rüpāēi viñamāēi refer to the system of varëāçrama-dharma, in which members of human society are designated according to four social and four occupational divisions. Those dedicated to intellectual or religious perfection are called brāhmaëas, those dedicated to political perfection are called kñatriyas, those dedicated to financial perfection are called vaiçyas, and those dedicated to eating, sleeping, sex and honest work are called çüdras. Such propensities arise from the three modes of material nature (goodness, passion and ignorance), because the pure soul is not materially intellectual, ambitious for power, enterprising or servile. Rather, the pure soul is always absorbed in loving devotion to the Supreme Lord. If the various propensities of a conditioned soul are not engaged in the varëäçrama system, they will certainly be misused, and thus that person will fall down from the standard of human life. The Vedic system is designed by the Lord so that conditioned souls may pursue their individual achievements and at the same time advance toward the ultimate goal of life, Kãñëa consciousness. Just as a doctor deals with a crazy man by speaking to him sympathetically in terms of his false conception of life, one who understands the Vedic literature engages the living entities according to their illusory identification with the elements of matter. Although all material bodies are composed of the same material elements and are thus qualitatively identical, as described here by the word samëñu, the Vedic social system, varëäçrama, is created to engage all human beings in Kãñëa consciousness according to their various degrees of material identification. The absolute good is the Supreme Lord Himself, and that which approaches the Supreme Lord becomes similarly good. Because the sun is the source of heat within this world, an object that approaches the sun becomes hotter and hotter until it merges into fire. In the same manner, as we approach the transcendental nature of the Personality of Godhead, we automatically become surcharged with absolute goodness. Although this knowledge is the real basis of the Vedic literature, mundane piety is enjoined and sin is prohibited so that one can gradually come to the platform of material goodness, whereupon spiritual knowledge becomes visible.

TEXT 7

de"zAk(AlaAid"BaAvaAnaAM
vastaUnaAM mama s$aÔama
gAuNAd"AeSaAE ivaDalyaetae inayamaATa< ih" k(maRNAAma,

deça-kälädi-bhävänäà
vastünäà mama sattama
guëa-doñau vidhéyete
niyamärthaà hi karmaëäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deça—of space; kāla—time; ādi—and so on; bhāvānām—of such states of existence; vastūnām—of things; mama—by Me; sat-tama—O most saintly Uddhava; guḍa-doṇau—piety and sin; vidhēyete—are established; niyama-artham—for the restriction; hi—certainly; karmaëām—of fruitive activities.

TRANSLATION

O saintly Uddhava, in order to restrict materialistic activities, I have established that which is proper and improper among all material things, including time, space and all physical objects.

PURPORT

The word niyamārtham ("in order to restrict") is significant in this verse. A conditioned soul falsely identifies with his material senses and thus considers anything giving immediate satisfaction to the body to be good and anything inconvenient or disturbing to be bad. By higher intelligence, however, one recognizes long-term self-interest and danger. For example, medicine may be immediately bitter, but by calculating one's long-term interest one accepts the bitter medicine to cure a disease that is not immediately troublesome but ultimately fatal. Similarly, Vedic literature restricts the sinful propensities of human beings by establishing what is proper and what is improper among all the objects and activities of the material world. Because everyone must eat, the Vedas prescribe foods in the mode of goodness and not those which are sinful, such as meat, fish and eggs. Similarly, one is advised to live in a peaceful and pious community and not in association with sinful persons, nor in an unclean or turbulent environment. By designating and restricting the exploitation of the material world, Vedic knowledge gradually brings a conditioned soul to the platform of material goodness. At that stage one becomes eligible to serve the Supreme Personality of Godhead and enter the transcendental stage of life.

It should be remembered that such mere eligibility does not constitute actual qualification; without Kâñëa consciousness mere mundane piety can never qualify a conditioned soul to go back home, back to Godhead. Within this world we are all infected by false pride, which must be diminished through submission to the Vedic injunctions. One who is completely engaged in the loving service of the Lord need not adopt these preliminary methods, for he directly contacts the Personality of Godhead through the spontaneous process of surrender. In the previous verse the Lord explained why Vedic literatures assign different values to the bodies of different living entities, and here the Lord explains the Vedic value system in regard to the material objects that interact with these bodies.

TEXT 8

@k{(SNAs$aAr"Ae de"zAAnaAma, @“aöNyaAe's$aauicaBaR"vaeta,
k{(SNAs$aAr"Ae'pyas$aAEvalr"- k(Lk(q%As$aMs$k{(taeir"N Ama,

akâñëa-sāro deçānām
abrahmaëyo 'sucir bhavet
kâñëa-sāro 'py asauvérakékaõäsaàskâteriëam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

akâñëa-sāraù—without spotted antelopes; deçānām—among places; abrahmaëyaù—where there is no devotion to the brāhmaëas; açuciù—contaminated; bhavet—is; kâñëa-sāraù—possessing spotted antelopes; api—even; asauvéra—without saintly cultured men; kékaõä—(a place of low-class men, such as) the state of Gayä; asaàskâta—where people do not practice cleanliness or purificatory ceremonies; ëraëam—where the land is barren.

TRANSLATION

Among places, those bereft of the spotted antelope, those devoid of devotion to the brähmaëas, those possessing spotted antelopes but bereft of respectable men, provinces like Kékaöa and places where cleanliness and purificatory rites are neglected, where meat-eaters are prominent or where the earth is barren, are all considered to be contaminated lands.

PURPORT

The word kāñëa-sära refers to the spotted antelope, whose hide is used by brahmacārëś while residing in the āçrama of the spiritual master. Brahmacārëś never hunt in the forest, but rather accept skins from those animals already deceased. The skin of the black or spotted antelope is also used as a garment by those receiving instruction in the execution of Vedic sacrifice. Therefore, since sacrifice cannot be properly performed in areas bereft of such creatures, these places are impure. Furthermore, although the inhabitants of a particular place may be expert in performing fruitive activities and ritualistic sacrifices, if they are inimical to the devotional service of the Lord, such a place is also polluted. Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatë Öhäkura explains that previously the provinces of Bihar and Bengal were bereft of devotional service to the Lord and were considered impure. Then great Vaiñëavas such as Jayadeva appeared in these territories, converting them into holy places.

The word asauvéra indicates those places without suvéras, respectable saintly persons. Ordinarily, a person who obeys the state laws is considered a respectable citizen. In the same way, one who strictly obeys the law of God is considered to be a cultured or decent man, suvéra. The place where such intelligent persons reside is called sauvéram. Kékaöa refers to the modern state of Bihar, which traditionally has been known as a territory of uncivilized men. Even in such provinces, however, any place where saintly persons gather is considered to be holy. On the other hand, a province of generally respectable persons is immediately polluted by the presence of sinful men. Asaòskāta indicates lack of external cleanliness, as well as the absence of purificatory ceremonies for internal cleanliness. Çréla Madhvācārya quotes from the Skanda Purāṇa as follows: "Religious persons should reside within an eight-mile radius of rivers, oceans, mountains, hermitages, forests, spiritual cities or places where the çālagrāma-çēlā is found. All other places should be considered kēkaṇḍa, or contaminated. But if even in such contaminated places black and spotted antelopes are found, one may reside there as long as sinful persons are not also present. Even if sinful persons are present, if the civil power rests with respectable authorities, one may remain. Similarly, one may dwell wherever the Deity of Viñēu is duly installed and worshiped."

The Lord here elaborates upon the theme of piety and sin, which are based on purity and impurity. Thus pure and contaminated places of residence are described here.

TEXT 9

k(maRNyaAe gAuNAvaAna, k(AlaAe %"vyata: svata Wva vaA yataAe inavataRtae k(maR
 s$a d"AeSaAe'k(maRk(: sma{ta:

*karmaëyo guëavān kālo
 dravyataù svata eva vā
 yato nivartate karma
 sa doño 'karmakaù smātaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

karmaëyaù—suitable for executing one's prescribed duty; guëavān—pure; kālaù—time; dravyataù—by achievement of auspicious objects; svataù—by its own nature; eva—indeed; vā—or; yataù—due to which (time); nivartate—is impeded; karma—one's duty; saù—this (time); doñaù—impure; akarmakaù—inappropriate for working properly; smātaù—is considered.

TRANSLATION

A specific time is considered pure when it is appropriate, either by its own nature or through achievement of suitable paraphernalia, for the performance of one's prescribed duty. That time which impedes the performance of one's duty is considered impure.

PURPORT

Having discussed pure and impure places, the Lord now discusses different qualities of time. Certain times, such as the brāhma-muhūrta, the last few hours before sunrise, are always auspicious for spiritual advancement. Other times, not auspicious in themselves, become so by achievement of material prosperity that facilitates one's mission in life.

Political, social or economic disturbances that obstruct the execution of one's religious duties are considered inauspicious times. Similarly, a woman is considered contaminated just after childbirth or during her menstrual period. She cannot perform ordinary religious activities at such times, which are therefore inauspicious and impure. Ćṛēla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatē Ōhākura explains that the most auspicious of all times is the moment one achieves the mercy of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. If one neglects the loving service of the Lord, being carried away by sense gratification, he is certainly living in most inauspicious times. Therefore that moment in which one achieves the association of the Supreme Lord or the Lord's pure devotee is the most auspicious time, whereas the moment of losing such association is most inauspicious. In other words, the perfection of life is simply Kāñēa consciousness, by which one transcends the dualities of time and space caused by the three modes of material nature.

TEXT 10

% "vyasya zAuÜ"YazAuÜ"l ca % "vyaeNA vacanaena ca
s$ aMs$ k(Are"NAATa k(Alaena

mah"tvaAlpatayaATa vaA

*dravyasya çuddhy-açuddhé ca dravyeëa vacanena ca
saàskäreëaätha kälena
mahatvälpatayätha vä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dravyasya—of an object; çuddhi—purity; açuddhé—or impurity; ca—and; dravyeëa—by another object; vacanena—by speech; ca—and; saàskäreëa—by ritual performance; atha—or else; kälena—by time; mahatva-alpatayä—by greatness or smallness; atha vä—or else.

TRANSLATION

An object's purity or impurity is established by application of another object, by words, by rituals, by the effects of time or according to relative magnitude.

PURPORT

Cloth is purified by application of clean water and contaminated by application of urine. The words of a saintly brähmaëa are pure, but the sound vibration of a materialistic person is contaminated by lust and envy. A saintly devotee explains actual purity to others, whereas a nondevotee makes false propaganda that leads innocent people to commit polluted, sinful activities. Pure rituals are those meant for the satisfaction of the Supreme Lord, while materialistic ceremonies are those that lead their followers into materialistic and demoniac activities. The word saàskäreëa also indicates that the purity or impurity of a particular object is ascertained according to the regulations of ritualistic performances. For example, a flower to be offered to the Deity must be purified with water. Flowers or food cannot be offered to the Deity, however, if they have been contaminated by being smelled or tasted before the offering. The word kālena indicates that certain substances are purified by time and others contaminated by time. Rainwater, for example, is considered pure after ten days' time, and after three days in cases of emergency. On the other hand, certain foods decay in time and thus become impure. Mahatva indicates that great bodies of water do not become contaminated, and alpatayā means that a small amount of water can easily become polluted or stagnant. In the same way, a great soul is not polluted by occasional contact with materialistic persons, whereas one whose devotion to God is very small is easily carried away and put into doubt by bad association. In terms of combination with other substances, and in terms of speech, ritual, time and magnitude, the purity and impurity of all objects can be ascertained.

Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura remarks that impure or decayed food is certainly forbidden for normal persons but is permissible for those who have no other means of subsistence.

TEXT 11

zAftyaAzAftyaATa vaA bauÜ"YaA
s$ama{Ü"YaA ca yad"Atmanae @GaM ku(vaRinta ih" yaTaA
de"zAAvasTaAnaus$aAr"ta:

*çaktyāçaktyātha vā buddhyā samāddhyā ca yad ātmane
aghaṇ kurvanti hi yathā
deçāvasthānusāratau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çaktyā—by relative potency; açaktyā—impotence; atha vā—or; buddhyā—in terms of understanding; samāddhyā—opulence; ca—and; yat—which; ātmane—to oneself; agham—sinful reaction; kurvanti—cause; hi—indeed; yathā—in actuality; deça—place; avasthā—or one's condition; anusāratau—in accordance with.

TRANSLATION

Impure things may or may not impose sinful reactions upon a person, depending on that person's strength or weakness, intelligence, wealth, location and physical condition.

PURPORT

The Lord has described the purity and impurity of different places, times and material objects. According to the laws of nature, that which is impure contaminates a particular person in accordance with that person's situation, as described here. For example, on certain occasions, such as a solar eclipse or just after childbirth, one must restrict the intake of food according to ritualistic injunctions. One who is physically weak, however, may eat without being considered impious. Ordinary persons consider the ten days following childbirth to be most auspicious, whereas one who is learned knows that this period is actually impure. Ignorance of the law does not save one from being punished, but one who consciously commits sinful activities is considered most fallen. Concerning opulence (samāddhi), worn-out, dirty clothing or a messy residence are considered impure for a rich man but acceptable for one who is poor. The word deça indicates that in a safe and peaceful place one is obligated to strictly perform religious rituals, whereas in a dangerous or chaotic situation one may be excused for occasional negligence of secondary principles. One who is physically healthy must offer obeisances to the Deities, attend religious functions and execute his prescribed duties, but a young child or sickly person may be excused from such activities, as indicated by the word avasthā. Ultimately, as Çrëla Rūpa Gosvāmë states,

*anyābhilāñitā-çünyaà
jī āna-karmādy-anāvātam ānukūlyena kñēānu-
çēlanaà bhaktir uttamā
[Cc. Madhya 19.167]*

"One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kåñëa favorably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service." (Bhakti-rasāmāta-sindhu 1.1.11) One should accept everything which is favorable for the devotional service of Lord Kåñëa and reject whatever is unfavorable. One must learn the process of serving God from the bona fide spiritual master and thus always maintain one's existence pure and free from anxiety. In general, however, when considering the relative purity and impurity of material things, all of the above-mentioned factors must be calculated.

TEXT 12

DaAnyad"AvaRisTatantaUnaAM
r"s$ataEjas$acamaRNAAma,
k(AlavaAyvaiçama{ÔaAeyaE:
paAiTaRvaAnaAM yautaAyautaE:

dhānya-dārv-asthi-tantūnāà
rasa-taijasa-carmaëäm
kāla-vāyv-agni-māt-toyaiù
pārthivānāà yutāyutaiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dhānya—of grains; dāru—of wood (in the form of both ordinary objects and sacred utensils); asthi—bone (such as elephant tusks); tantūnām—and thread; rasa—of liquids (oil, ghee, etc.); taijasa—fiery objects (gold, etc.); carmaëäm—and skins; kāla—by time; vāyu—by air; agni—by fire; māt—by earth; toyaiù—and by water; pārthivānām—(also) of earthen objects (such as chariot wheels, mud, pots, bricks, etc.); yuta—in combination; ayutaiù—or separately.

TRANSLATION

Various objects such as grains, wooden utensils, things made of bone, thread, liquids, objects derived from fire, skins and earthy objects are all purified by time, by the wind, by fire, by earth and by water, either separately or in combination.

PURPORT

The word kāla, or "time," is mentioned here, since all purificatory processes take place within time.

TEXT 13

@maeDyailaæaM yaâena
gAnDalaepaM vyapaAeh"ita Bajatae 'ak{(itaM tasya tacC$AEcaM taAvaïd"Syatae

*amedhya-liptaà yad yena gandha-lepaà vyapohati
bhajate prakâtià tasya
tac chaucaà tävad iñyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

amedhya—by something impure; liptam—touched; yat—that thing which; yena—by which; gandha—the bad smell; lepam—and the impure covering; vyapohati—gives up; bhajate—the contaminated object again assumes; prakâtim—its original nature; tasya—of that object; tat—that application; çaucam—purification; tävat—to that extent; iñyate—is considered.

TRANSLATION

A particular purifying agent is considered appropriate when its application removes the bad odor or dirty covering of some contaminated object and makes it resume its original nature.

PURPORT

Furniture, kitchen utensils, clothing and other objects are purified by application of abrasion, alkali, acid, water and so on. One thereby removes the bad fragrance or impure coating of such objects, restoring them to their original clean appearance.

TEXT 14

µaAnad"AnatapaAe'vasTaA-valyaRs$aMs$k(Ar"k(maRiBa:
matsma{tyaA caAtmana: zAAEcaM zAuÜ": k(maARcare"ä," iã"ja:

*snāna-dāna-tapo-'vasthāvérya-saàskāra-karmabhiù
mat-smātyā cātmanaù çaucaà
çuddhaù karmācared dvijaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

snāna—by bathing; dāna—charity; tapaù—austerity; avasthā—by virtue of one's age; vérya—potency; saàskāra—execution of ritual purification; karmabhiù—and prescribed duties; mat-smātyā—by remembrance of Me; ca—also; ātmanaù—of the self; çaucam—cleanliness; çuddhaù—pure; karma—activity; ācared—he should perform; dvijaù—a twice-born man.

TRANSLATION

The self can be cleansed by bathing, charity, austerity, age, personal strength, purificatory rituals, prescribed duties and, above all, by remembrance of Me. The brāhmaëa and other twice-born men should be duly purified before performing their specific activities.

PURPORT

The word avasthā indicates that when boys and girls are young they are kept pure by youthful innocence and that as they grow up they are kept pure through proper education and engagement. By one's individual potency one should avoid sinful activities and the association of those inclined toward sense gratification. The word karma here refers to prescribed duties, such as worshiping the spiritual master and the Deity, chanting the Gāyatrī mantra three times daily and accepting spiritual initiation. The prescribed duties of the varēācrama system automatically purify one from the covering of false ego by dovetailing one's bodily designation in appropriate religious activities. There are specific duties for brāhmaēas, kñātriyas, vaiçyas, çūdras, brahmacārēs, gāhasthas, vānaprasthas and sannyāsēs, as described previously in this canto by the Lord Himself. The most significant word here is mat-smātyā ("by remembrance of Me"). Ultimately, one cannot avoid the infection of illusion through any process except Kāñēa consciousness. The three modes of nature perpetually interact, and one must sometimes fall into the mode of ignorance and sometimes rise to the mode of goodness, uselessly rotating within the kingdom of illusion. But by Kāñēa consciousness, remembrance of the Personality of Godhead, one can actually uproot one's tendency to act against the will of the Absolute Truth. Then one becomes freed from the clutches of māyā and goes back home, back to Godhead. As stated in the Garuòà Purāēa,

*apavitraù pavitro vā
sarvāvasthāà gato 'pi vā
yaù smaret puēòarékākñāà
sa bāhyābhyantare çuciù*

"Whether one is pure or contaminated, and regardless of one's external situation, simply by remembering the lotus-eyed Personality of Godhead one can internally and externally cleanse one's existence."

Lord Caitanya recommended that we constantly remember the Supreme Lord by chanting His holy names, Hare Kāñēa, Hare Kāñēa, Kāñēa Kāñēa, Hare Hare/ Hare Rāma, Hare Rāma, Rāma Rāma, Hare Hare. This sublime process is essential for every human actually desirous of purifying his existence.

TEXT 15

manṭasya ca pair"ÁaAnaM
k(maRzAuiÜ"maRd"paRNAma, DamaR: s$ampaâtae SaiÑ"r," @DamaRstau ivapayaRya:

*mantrasya ca parijī ānaṁ
karma-çuddhir mad-arpaëam dharmaù sampadyate ñaòbhir
adharmas tu viparyayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mantrasya—(the purification) of a mantra; ca—and; parijī ānam—correct knowledge; karma—of work; çuddhiù—the purification; mat-arpaëam—offering unto Me; dharmaù—religiousness; sampadyate—is achieved; ñaòbhiù—by the six (purification of place, time, substance, the doer, the mantras and the work); adharmaù—irreligiosity; tu—but; viparyayaù—otherwise.

TRANSLATION

A mantra is purified when chanted with proper knowledge, and one's work is purified when offered to Me. Thus by purification of the place, time, substance, doer, mantras and work, one becomes religious, and by negligence of these six items one is considered irreligious.

PURPORT

One receives a mantra from the mouth of a bona fide spiritual master, who instructs the disciple in the method, meaning and ultimate purpose of the mantra. The bona fide spiritual master in this age gives his disciple the mahā-mantra, or holy names of God, Hare Kāñëa, Hare Kāñëa, Kāñëa Kāñëa, Hare Hare/ Hare Rāma, Hare Rāma, Rāma Rāma, Hare Hare. One who chants this mantra, considering himself to be the eternal servant of the Lord, gradually learns to chant offenselessly and by such purified chanting quickly achieves the highest perfection of life. The Lord here summarizes His discussion of purity and impurity, which manifest ultimately in religious and irreligious life.

TEXT 16

„(icaÖ"NAAe'ipa d"AeSa: syaAä," d"AeSaAe'ipa ivaiDanaA gAuNA:
gAuNAd"AeSaATaRinayamas$a, taià"d"Amaeva baADatae

*kvacit guëo 'pi doñaù syäd doño 'pi vidhinä guëaù
guëa-doñārtha-niyamas
tat-bhidäm eva bād hate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kvacit—sometimes; guëaù—piety; api—even; doñaù—sin; syät—becomes; doñaù—sin; api—also; vidhinä—on the strength of Vedic injunction; guëaù—piety; guëa-doña—to piety and sin; ārtha—regarding; niyamaù—restrictive regulation; tat—of them; bhidäm—the distinction; eva—actually; bād hate—undoes.

TRANSLATION

Sometimes piety becomes sin, and sometimes what is ordinarily sin becomes piety on the strength of Vedic injunctions. Such special rules in effect eradicate the clear distinction between piety and sin.

PURPORT

The Lord clearly explains here that material piety and sin are always relative considerations. For example, if a neighbor's house is on fire and one chops a hole in the roof so that the trapped family may escape, one is considered to be a pious hero because of the dangerous condition. In normal conditions, however, if one chops a hole in his neighbor's roof or breaks the neighbor's windows, he is considered a criminal. Similarly, one who abandons one's wife and children is certainly irresponsible and thoughtless. If one takes sannyāsa, however, and remains fixed on a higher spiritual platform, he is considered to be a most saintly person. Piety and sin therefore depend upon particular circumstances and are at times difficult to distinguish.

According to Çrëla Madhvācārya, persons above the age of fourteen are considered capable of distinguishing between good and bad and are thus responsible for their pious and sinful activities. Animals, on the other hand, being merged in ignorance, cannot be blamed for their offenses or praised for their so-called good qualities, which all arise ultimately from ignorance. Human beings who act like animals, with the idea that one should not feel any guilt but should do whatever one likes, will certainly take birth as animals absorbed in ignorance. And there are other foolish people who, observing the relativity of material piety and sin, conclude that there is no absolute good. It should be understood, however, that Kāñëa consciousness is absolutely good because it involves complete obedience to the Absolute Truth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, whose goodness is eternal and absolute. Those who are inclined to study material piety and sin ultimately experience frustration due to the relativity and variability of the subject matter. One should therefore come to the transcendental platform of Kāñëa consciousness, which is valid and perfect in all circumstances.

TEXT 17

s$amaAnak(maARcar"NAM

paitataAnaAM na paAtak(ma, @AEtpaiÔak(Ae gAuNA: s$aËÿAe na zAyaAna: patatyDa:

samāna-karmācaraëaà
patitānāà na pātakam
autpattiko guëaù saì go na çayānaù pataty adhaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

samāna—equal; karma—of work; ācaraëam—the performance;
patitānām—for those who are fallen; na—is not; pātakam—a cause of falldown; autpattikaù—dictated by one's nature; guëaù—becomes a good quality; saì gaù—material association; na—does not; çayānaù—one who is lying down; patati—fall; adhaù—further down.

TRANSLATION

The same activities that would degrade an elevated person do not cause falldown for those who are already fallen. Indeed, one who is lying on the ground cannot possibly fall further. The material association that is dictated by one's own nature is considered a good quality.

PURPORT

The Lord here further describes the ambiguity in ascertaining material piety and sin. Although intimate association with women is most abominable for a renounced sannyäse, the same association is pious for a householder, who is ordered by Vedic injunction to approach his wife at the suitable time for procreation. Similarly, a brāhmaëa who drinks liquor is considered to be committing a most abominable act, whereas a çüdra, a low-class man, who can moderate his drinking is considered to be self-controlled. Piety and sin on the material level are thus relative considerations. Any member of society, however, who receives dëkñä, initiation into the chanting of the Lord's holy names, must strictly obey the four regulative principles: no eating of meat, fish or eggs, no illicit sex, no intoxication and no gambling. A spiritually initiated person neglecting these principles will certainly fall from his elevated position of liberation.

TEXT 18

yataAe yataAe inavataeRta
ivamaucyaeta tatastata:
WSa DamaAeR na{NAAM °aema: zAAek(maAeh"BayaApah":

*yato yato nivarteta
vimucyeta tatas tataù
eña dharmo nãëää kñemaù
çoka-moha-bhayäpahaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yataù yataù—from whatever; nivarteta—one desists; vimucyeta—he becomes liberated; tataù tataù—from that; eñaù—this; dharmàù—the system of religion; nãëäm—for humans; kñemaù—the path of auspiciousness; çoka—suffering; moha—delusion; bhaya—and fear; apahaù—which takes away.

TRANSLATION

By refraining from a particular sinful or materialistic activity, one becomes freed from its bondage. Such renunciation is the basis of religious and auspicious life for human beings and drives away all suffering, illusion and fear.

PURPORT

In Caitanya-caritāmāta (Antya 6.220) it is stated,

*mahāprabhura bhakta-gaëera vairāgya pradhāna
yāhā dekhi' prēta hana gaura-bhagavān*

"Renunciation is the basic principle sustaining the lives of Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu's devotees. Seeing this renunciation, Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is extremely satisfied."

Because of false ego one considers oneself to be the proprietor and enjoyer of one's activities. Actually, Lord Kāñëa, the Personality of Godhead, is the proprietor and enjoyer of our activities; recognition of this fact in Kāñëa consciousness leads one to real renunciation. Every human being should perform his prescribed duty as an offering to the Supreme Lord. Then there will be no possibility of material entanglement. Lord Kāñëa clearly explains in Bhagavad-gētā that prescribed duties performed as an offering to the Lord award liberation from material bondage. Sinful activities cannot be offered to the Lord but must be given up altogether. In effect, the distinction between piety and sin is made so that the living entities will become pious and eligible to surrender to the Supreme Lord. As explained in Bhagavad-gētā (7.28),

*yeñāà tv anta-gataà pāpaà
janānāà puëya-karmaëām te dvandva-moha-nirmuktā
bhajante mää dāòha-vratäù*

"Persons who have acted piously in previous lives and in this life, whose sinful actions are completely eradicated and who are freed from the duality of delusion, engage themselves in My service with determination."

By thorough piety one's life becomes auspicious and freed from lamentation, illusion and fear, and one can then take to the path of Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 19

ivaSayaeSau gAuNAADyaAs$aAta, pauMs$a: s$aËÿstataAe Bavaeta,

s$aËÿAÔaṭa Bavaetk(Ama:
k(AmaAde"va k(ilana{RNAAma,

viñayeñu guëädhyäsät
puàsaù saì gas tato bhavet
saì gät tatra bhavet kâmaù
kämäd eva kalir nâëäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

viñayeñu—in material objects of sense gratification; guëa-adhyäsät—because of presuming them to be good; puàsaù—of a person; saì gaù—attachment; tataù—from that presumption; bhavet—comes into being; saì gät—from that material association; tatra—thus; bhavet—arises; kâmaù—lust; kämät—from lust; eva—also; kaliù—quarrel; nâëäm—among men.

TRANSLATION

One who accepts material sense objects as desirable certainly becomes attached to them. From such attachment lust arises, and this lust creates quarrel among men.

PURPORT

The actual goal of human life should not be material sense gratification, for it is the basis of conflict in human society. Although the Vedic literature sometimes sanctions sense gratification, the ultimate purpose of the Vedas is renunciation, since Vedic culture cannot possibly recommend anything that disturbs human life. A lusty person is easily angered and becomes inimical to anyone frustrating his lusty desires. Since his sex desire can never be satisfied, a lusty person ultimately becomes frustrated with his own sex partner, and thus a "love-hate" relationship develops. A lusty person considers himself to be the enjoyer of God's creation and is therefore full of pride and false prestige. The lusty, proud person will not be attracted to the process of humble submission at the lotus feet of the bona fide spiritual master. Attraction to illicit sex is thus the direct enemy of Kāñëa consciousness, which depends upon humble submission to the representative of the Supreme Lord. Lord Kāñëa also states in Bhagavad-gētā that desire for illicit sex is the all-devouring, sinful enemy of this world.

Because modern society sanctions unrestricted mixing of men and women, its citizens cannot possibly achieve peace; rather, the regulation of conflict becomes the basis of social survival. This is the symptom of an ignorant society falsely accepting the material body as the highest good, as described here by the words viñayeñu guëädhyäsät. One who is too affectionate to his own body will inevitably be seized by sex desire.

TEXT 20

k(laeäuR"ivaRSah": ,(AeDas$a, tamastamanauvataRtae
tamas$aA fasyatae pauMs$aA, caetanaA vyaAipanal âu"tama,

*kaler durviñahaù krodhas
tamas tam anuvartate
tamasä grasyate puàsaç
cetanä vyäpiné drutam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kaleù—from quarrel; durviñahaù—intolerable; krodhaù—anger; tamaù—ignorance; tam—that anger; anuvartate—follows; tamasä—by ignorance; grasyate—is seized; puàsaù—of a man; cetanä—the consciousness; vyäpiné—broad; drutam—swiftly.

TRANSLATION

From quarrel arises intolerable anger, followed by the darkness of ignorance. This ignorance quickly overtakes a man's broad intelligence.

PURPORT

The desire for material association arises from one's propensity to deny that everything is God's energy. Falsely imagining material sense objects to be separate from the Supreme Lord, one desires to enjoy them; such desire gives rise to conflict and quarrel in human society. This conflict inevitably gives rise to great anger, which makes human beings become foolish and destructive. Thus the actual goal of human life is quickly forgotten.

TEXT 21

tayaA ivar"ih"ta: s$aADaAe jantau: zAUnyaAya k(lpatae tataAe'sya svaATaRiva"amzAAe
maUicCR$tasya ma{tasya ca

*tayā virahitaù sādho
jantuù çünyāya kalpate
tato 'sya svārtha-vibhraàço
mürcchitasya mātasya ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tayā—of that intelligence; virahitaù—deprived; sādho—O saintly Uddhava; jantuù—a living creature; çünyāya—practically void; kalpate—becomes; tataù—consequently; asya—his; sva-artha—from the goals of life; vibhraàçaù—downfall; mürcchitasya—of him who has become like dull matter; mātasya—virtually dead; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

O saintly Uddhava, a person bereft of real intelligence is considered to have lost everything. Deviated from the actual purpose of his life, he becomes dull, just like a dead person.

PURPORT

Kāñëa consciousness is so vital and essential that one who has deviated from this progressive path of self-realization is considered to be virtually unconscious, or like a dead person. Since every living entity is part and parcel of Kāñëa, anyone who falsely identifies with the external body is actually unconscious of his real position. Thus it is stated, çünyäya kalpate: pursuing that which has no factual existence, he is devoid of any tangible progress or benefit in life. One whose consciousness is absorbed in the nonexistent becomes himself practically nonexistent. In this way, the eternal living entities become fallen, lost in the ocean of material existence, and it is only by the special mercy of the pure devotees of the Lord that they can be rescued. The Lord's devotees therefore instruct the fallen people to chant Hare Kāñëa, Hare Kāñëa, Kāñëa Kāñëa, Hare Hare/ Hare Rāma, Hare Rāma, Rāma Rāma, Hare Hare. By this process our real consciousness and life can be quickly revived.

TEXT 22

ivaSayaAiBainavaezAena
naAtmaAnaM vaed" naApar"ma, va{°a jalivak(yaA jalvana, vyaTa< Bañeva ya: is$ana,

viñayaābhiniveçena
nātmānaā veda nāparam
vākñā jēvikayā jēvan
vyarthaā bhastreva yaù çvasan

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

viñaya—in sense gratification; abhiniveçena—by overabsorption; na—not; ātmānam—himself; veda—knows; na—nor; aparam—another; vākñā—of a tree; jēvakayā—by the life-style; jēvan—living; vyartham—in vain; bhastrā

iva—just like a bellows; yaù—who; çvasan—is breathing.

TRANSLATION

Because of absorption in sense gratification, one cannot recognize himself or others. Living uselessly in ignorance like a tree, one is merely breathing just like a bellows.

PURPORT

Just as trees, having no means of defending themselves, are always being cut down, similarly, the conditioned souls are constantly being cut down by the cruel laws of nature, which impose innumerable miseries culminating in sudden death. Although foolish people think they are helping themselves and others, they actually do not know their own identity, nor the identities of their so-called friends and relatives. Absorbed in gratifying the senses of the external body, they spend their lives uselessly, without spiritual profit. This useless life-style can be transformed into a perfect life simply by chanting the holy names of God in Kâñëa consciousness, as recommended by Çré Caitanya Mahäprabhu.

TEXT 23

P(laTMauitair"yaM na|NAAM
na TMaeyaAe r"AecanaM par"ma, TMaeyaAeivava⁰ayaA 'aAe·M(
yaTaA BaESajyar"Aecanama,

*phala-çrutir iyaà nèëääà na çreyo rocanaà param
çreyo-vivakñayä proktaà
yathä bhaiñajya-rocanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

phala-çrutiù—the statements of scripture promising rewards; iyam—these; nèëäm—for men; na—are not; çreyaù—the highest good; rocanam—enticement; param—merely; çreyaù—the ultimate good; vivakñayä—with the idea of saying; proktam—spoken; yathä—just as; bhaiñajya—for taking medicine; rocanam—inducement.

TRANSLATION

Those statements of scripture promising fruitive rewards do not prescribe the ultimate good for men but are merely enticements for executing beneficial religious duties, like promises of candy spoken to induce a child to take beneficial medicine.

PURPORT

In the previous verse Lord Kāñëa stated that persons absorbed in sense gratification certainly deviate from the real purpose of human life. But since the Vedas themselves promise heavenly sense gratification as the result of sacrifice and austerity, how can such promotion to heaven be considered a deviation from the goal of life? The Lord here explains that the fruitive rewards offered in religious scriptures are merely inducements, like candy that is used to induce a child to take medicine. It is actually the medicine that is beneficial, and not the candy. Similarly, in fruitive sacrifices it is the worship of Lord Viñëu that is beneficial, not the fruitive reward itself. According to Bhagavad-gëtä, those professing fruitive rewards to be the ultimate goal of religious scripture are certainly less intelligent fools inimical to the purpose of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. The Lord desires that all conditioned souls be purified and come back home, back to Godhead, for an eternal life of bliss and knowledge. One who opposes the Lord's purpose in the name of religiosity is certainly bewildered about the purpose of life.

TEXT 24

otpaÔyaEva ih" k(AmaeSau
'aANAeSau svajanaeSau ca
@As$a·(manas$aAe matyaAR @AtmanaAe'naTaR$he"tauSau

*utpattyaiva hi kämeñu präëeñu sva-janeñu ca
āsakta-manaso martyä
ātmano 'nārtha-hetuñu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

utpattyä eva—simply by birth; hi—indeed; kämeñu—in objects of selfish desires; präëeñu—in vital functions (such as one's duration of life, sense activities, physical strength and sexual potency); sva-janeñu—in his family members; ca—and; āsakta-manasaù—having become attached within the mind; martyäù—mortal human beings; ātmanaù—of their real self; anārtha—of defeating the purpose; hetuñu—which are the causes.

TRANSLATION

Simply by material birth, human beings become attached within their minds to personal sense gratification, long duration of life, sense activities, bodily strength, sexual potency and friends and family. Their minds are thus absorbed in that which defeats their actual self-interest.

PURPORT

Our attachment to the material body and the bodies of family and friends inevitably leads to unbearable anxiety and suffering. The mind absorbed in the bodily concept of life cannot possibly advance in self-realization, and thus one's hope for an eternal life of bliss and knowledge is defeated by the objects of one's so-called affection. Activities performed in ignorance are beneficial neither for oneself nor others, just as the charitable activities one may perform in a dream bestow no tangible benefit on real people. The conditioned soul is dreaming of a world separate from God, but any advancement experienced in this dream world is merely hallucination. The Lord states in Bhagavad-gētā, sarva-loka-maheçvaram: [Bg. 5.29] He is the supreme enjoyer and Lord of all planets and worlds. Only by Kâñëa consciousness, recognition of the supremacy of God, can one make actual progress in life.

TEXT 25

nataAnaivaäu"Sa: svaATa<
"aAmyataAe va{ijanaADvaina
k(TaM yauHjyaAtpaunastaeSau taAMstamaAe ivazAtaAe bauDa:

*natān aviduñāu svārthaà
bhrāmyato vâjinādhvani
kathaà yui jyāt punas teñu
tāàs tamo viçato budhaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

natān—submissive; aviduñāu—ignorant; sva-artham—of their own interest; bhrāmyatau—wandering; vâjina—of danger; adhvani—upon the path; katham—for what purpose; yui jyāt—would cause to engage; punaù—further; teñu—in those (modes of sense gratification); tān—them; tamaù—darkness; viçatau—who are entering; budhaù—the intelligent (Vedic authority).

TRANSLATION

Those ignorant of their real self-interest are wandering on the path of material existence, gradually heading toward darkness. Why would the Vedas further encourage them in sense gratification if they, although foolish, submissively pay heed to Vedic injunctions?

PURPORT

Materialistic persons are not prepared to renounce society, friendship and love, which are all based on sex indulgence, to instead take to a life of renunciation and self-realization. In order to bring such foolish persons under the canopy of Vedic injunctions, the Vedas promise innumerable material rewards, even promotion to heavenly planets, to those who faithfully execute the Vedic injunctions. As explained by the Lord, such rewards are like the candy offered to a child, who then faithfully takes his medicine. Material enjoyment is certainly the cause of suffering, since all enjoyable objects are subject to destruction along with the so-called enjoyer. Material life is simply painful and full of anxiety, frustration and lamentation. We become agitated by seeing a so-called enjoyable object, such as the naked body of a woman, a beautiful residence, a sumptuous tray of food or the expansion of our own prestige, but actually such imagined happiness is simply the intense expectation of a satisfaction that never comes. One remains perpetually frustrated in material existence, and the more one tries to enjoy, the more one's frustration increases. Therefore, the Vedic knowledge, which aims at ultimate peace and happiness on the spiritual platform, cannot possibly authorize the materialistic way of life. Material rewards are employed by the Vedas merely as inducements for the conditioned soul to take the medicine, submission to the Supreme Lord, Viñëu, through various types of sacrifice. Those who are veda-väda-rata claim that religious scriptures are meant to facilitate sense gratification in the ignorance of conditioned life. The true goal of religion, however, is spiritual liberation, in which material sense gratification ceases to exist. The darkness of bodily attachment cannot exist in the effulgent light of spiritual knowledge. In the ocean of spiritual bliss, the anxiety-ridden apparent pleasure of this world vanishes completely. The true meaning of veda, or perfect knowledge, is to surrender to the Supreme Lord in full Kãñëa consciousness for an eternal life of bliss and knowledge as the Lord's faithful servant.

TEXT 26

WvaM vyavais$ataM ke(icaä," @ivaÁaAya ku(bauÜ"ya:
P(la™auitaM ku(s$auimataAM na vaed"ÁaA vad"inta ih"

*evaà vyavasitaà kecid
avijì äya kubuddhayaù
phala-çrutià kusumitää
na veda-ji ä vadanti hi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—in this way; vyavasitam—the actual conclusion; kecit—some people; avijì äya—not understanding; ku-buddhayaù—having perverted intelligence; phala-çrutim—the scriptural statements promising material rewards; kusumitäm—flowery; na—do not; veda-ji äù—those in full knowledge of the Vedas; vadanti—speak; hi—indeed.

TRANSLATION

Persons with perverted intelligence do not understand this actual purpose of Vedic knowledge and instead propagate as the highest Vedic truth the flowery statements of the Vedas that promise material rewards. Those in actual knowledge of the Vedas never speak in that way.

PURPORT

The followers of the karma-mémäàsä philosophy declare that there is no eternal kingdom of God beyond this universe and that one should therefore become a professional performer of Vedic rituals in order to keep oneself in a material heavenly planet. As explained by the Lord to Çré Uddhava in a previous chapter, there is no actual happiness in the material world, since one will inevitably rotate throughout the various planetary environments stretching from heaven to hell and thus always be disturbed within the material atmosphere. Although the doctor may give a child candy-covered medicine, one who urges the child to eat the candy and throw away the medicine is certainly a great fool. In the same way, the flowery statements of the Vedas describing heavenly enjoyment do not award the real fruit of Vedic knowledge but merely supply decorative blossoms of sense gratification. As stated in the Vedas (Āg Veda 1.22.20), tad viñēoṁ paramaṁ padaṁ sadā paçyanti sūrayaṁ. Even the demigods, who are permanent residents of heaven, are always looking to the eternal abode of the Supreme Lord. Foolish people who admire the standard of living in material heaven should therefore note that the demigods themselves are devotees of the Supreme Lord. One should not become a bogus propagator of so-called Vedic knowledge but should take to Kāñēa consciousness and make a genuine solution to the problem of progressing in life.

TEXT 27

k(Aimana: k{(paNAA laubDaA: pauSpaeSau P(labauÜ"ya: @içamaugDaA DaUmataAntaA:
svaM laAekM(na ivad"inta tae

*kāminaṁ kāpaēṁ lubdhāṁ puñpeṇu phala-buddhayaṁ
agni-mugdhā dhūma-tāntāṁ
svaṁ lokaṁ na vidanti te*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kāminaṁ—lusty persons; kāpaēṁ—miserly; lubdhāṁ—greedy;
puñpeṇu—flowers; phala-buddhayaṁ—thinking to be the ultimate fruits;
agni—by fire; mugdhāṁ—bewildered; dhūma-tāntāṁ—suffocating from smoke; svam—their own; lokaṁ—identity; na vidanti—do not recognize;
te—they.

TRANSLATION

Those who are full of lust, avarice and greed mistake mere flowers to be the actual fruit of life. Bewildered by the glare of fire and suffocated by its smoke, they cannot recognize their own true identity.

PURPORT

Those attached to female association become proud separatists; desiring everything for their personal gratification and that of their lady friends, they become greedy misers, full of anxiety and envy. Such unfortunate persons mistake the flowery statements of the Vedas to be the highest perfection of life. The word agni-mugdhäù, "bewildered by fire," indicates that such persons consider Vedic fire sacrifices awarding material benefit to be the highest religious truth, and thus they merge into ignorance. Fire produces smoke, which obscures one's vision. Similarly, the path of fruitive fire sacrifices is cloudy and obscure, without clear understanding of the spirit soul. The Lord here clearly states that fruitive religionists cannot understand their actual spiritual identity, nor do they realize the genuine shelter of the spirit soul in the kingdom of God.

Lord Kāñëa states in Bhagavad-gētä (15.15), vedaiç ca sarvair aham eva vedyau: all Vedic knowledge is actually meant to lead one to pure love of Godhead. Lord Kāñëa is certainly the Absolute Truth, and to love Him is the ultimate purpose of our existence. The Vedic knowledge patiently tries to bring the conditioned soul to this perfection of pure Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 28

na tae maAmaËÿ jaAnainta
ô$ïd"sTaM ya wdM" yata:
ofTazAñA ÷s$auta{paAe
yaTaA nalh"Ar"ca^oauSa:

na te mäm aì ga jänanti

*hâdi-sthaà ya idaà yataù uktha-çasträ hy asu-tâpo
yathä nêhâra-cakñuñau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—do not; te—they; mäm—Me; aì ga—My dear Uddhava; jänanti—know; hâdi-stham—seated within the heart; yaù—who is; idam—this created universe; yataù—from whom it comes; uktha-çasträù—who consider Vedic ritual activities to be praiseworthy, or else, for whom their own ritualistic performances are like the weapon that kills the sacrificial animal; hi—indeed; asu-tâpaù—interested only in sense gratification; yathä—just as; nêhâra—in fog; cakñuñau—those whose eyes.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, persons dedicated to sense gratification obtained through honoring the Vedic rituals cannot understand that I am situated in everyone's heart and that the entire universe is nondifferent from Me and emanates from Me. Indeed, they are just like persons whose eyes are covered by fog.

PURPORT

The word uktha-çasträù refers to the chanting of certain Vedic hymns, by which one obtains fruitive results in this world and the next. The word çastra also indicates a weapon, and thus uktha-çastra also means the weapon used in Vedic sacrifice to kill the sacrificial animal. Persons exploiting Vedic knowledge for bodily gratification are slaughtering themselves with the weapon of materialistic religious principles. They are also compared to those trying to see within a dense fog. The false bodily concept of life, in which one ignores the eternal soul within the body, is a dense fog of ignorance that blocks our vision of God. Lord Kâñëa therefore begins His instruction in Bhagavad-gétä by clearing away the dense ignorance of the bodily concept of life. Religion means the law of God. The Lord's final order, or law, is that every conditioned soul surrender unto Him, learn to serve and love Him, and thus go back home, back to Godhead. This is the process of Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXTS 29-30

tae mae matamaivaÁaAya par"Ae°aM ivaSayaAtmak(A:
ihM"s$aAyaAM yaid" r"AgA: syaAä," yaÁa Wva na caAed"naA

ihM"s$aAivah"Ar"A ÷AlabDaE:
pazAuiBa: svas$auKaecC$yaA
yajantae de"vataA yaÁaE:
ipata{BaUtapatalna, KalaA:

*te me matam avijī äya
parokñāà viñayātmakāu
hiàsäyāà yadi rāgaù syād
yajī a eva na codanā*

*hiàsä-vihārā hy ālabdhaiù paçubhiù sva-sukhecchayā yajante devatā yajī aiù
pitā-bhūta-patēn khalāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

te—they; me—My; matam—conclusion; avijī äya—without understanding; parokñām—confidential; viñaya-ātmakāu—absorbed in sense gratification; hiàsäyām—to violence; yadi—if; rāgaù—attachment; syāt—may be; yajī e—in the sacrificial prescriptions; eva—certainly; na—there is not; codanā—encouragement; hiàsä-vihārāu—those who take pleasure in violence; hi—indeed; ālabdhaiù—which have been slaughtered; paçubhiù—by means of the animals; sva-sukha—for their own happiness; icchayā—with the desire; yajante—they worship; devatāu—the demigods;

yajī aiù—by sacrificial rituals; pitā—the forefathers; bhūta-patēn—and the leaders among the ghostly spirits; khaläù—cruel persons.

TRANSLATION

Those who are sworn to sense gratification cannot understand the confidential conclusion of Vedic knowledge as explained by Me. Taking pleasure in violence, they cruelly slaughter innocent animals in sacrifice for their own sense gratification and thus worship demigods, forefathers and leaders among ghostly creatures. Such passion for violence, however, is never encouraged within the process of Vedic sacrifice.

PURPORT

The Vedic scriptures sanction occasional animal sacrifice to satisfy cruel, low-class men who cannot live without the taste of flesh and blood. Such concessions, however, are restricted by rigorous obligatory rituals and are meant to gradually discourage animal-killing, just as the exorbitant cost of a liquor license restricts the number of retail outlets selling alcoholic beverages. But unscrupulous persons misconstrue such restrictive sanctions and declare that Vedic sacrifice is meant for killing animals in order to enjoy sense gratification. Being materialistic, they desire to attain the planets of the forefathers or demigods and thus worship such beings. Sometimes materialistic persons are attracted to the subtle life-style of ghosts and worship ghostly creatures. These methods constitute gross ignorance of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the actual enjoyer of all sacrifice and austerity. The demons perform Vedic sacrifice but are inimical to Lord Nārāyaëa, for they consider the demigods, the forefathers or Lord Çiva to be equal to God. Although understanding the authority of Vedic rituals, they do not accept the ultimate Vedic conclusion and therefore never surrender to God. Thus false religious principles flourish in the demoniac societies of the animal-killers. Although in countries like America people outwardly profess to be followers of God alone, actual worship and glorification is offered to innumerable popular heroes such as entertainers, politicians, athletes and other equally insignificant persons.

Animal-killers, being grossly materialistic, are inevitably attracted to the extraordinary features of material illusion; they cannot understand the real platform of Kāñëa consciousness, or spiritual life.

TEXT 31

sva«aAepamamamauM laAek(ma, @s$antaM TMavaNAi'ayama, @AizASaAe ô$id" s$aÆÿlpya tyajantyaTaARna, yaTaA vaiNAk,(

*svapnopamam amuà lokam
asantaà çravaëa-priyam
äçiño hâdi saì kalpya
tyajanty arthän yathä vaëik*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

svapna—a dream; upamam—equal to; amum—that; lokam—world (after death); asantam—unreal; çravaëa-priyam—only enchanting to hear about; äçiñaù—mundane achievements in this life; hâdi—in their hearts; saì kalpya—imagining; tyajanti—they give up; arthän—their wealth; yathä—like; vaëik—a businessman.

TRANSLATION

Just as a foolish businessman gives up his real wealth in useless business speculation, foolish persons give up all that is actually valuable in life and instead pursue promotion to material heaven, which although pleasing to hear about is actually unreal, like a dream. Such bewildered persons imagine within their hearts that they will achieve all material blessings.

PURPORT

All over the world people are working hard to achieve perfect sense gratification in this life or the next. As eternal living beings, part and parcel of Lord Kāñëa, we are naturally endowed with all bliss and knowledge in the association of the Lord. But giving up this exalted position of spiritual bliss and knowledge, we foolishly waste our time pursuing the phantasmagoria of bodily happiness, just like a foolish businessman who squanders his real assets in imaginary business ventures that deliver no real profit.

TEXT 32

r"ja:s$aÔvatamaAeinaï"A r"ja:s$aÔvatamaAejauSa:
opaAs$aata wn%"mauKyaAna,
de"vaAd"l'a yaTaEva maAma,

rajaù-sattva-tamo-niñöhä
rajaù-sattva-tamo-juñaù
upäsata indra-mukhyän
devädén na yathaiva mäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rajaù—in the mode of passion; sattva—goodness; tamaù—or ignorance; niñöhäù—established; rajaù—passion; sattva—goodness; tamaù—or ignorance; juñaù—who manifest; upäsate—they worship; indra-mukhyän—headed by Lord Indra; deva-ädén—the demigods and other deities; na—but not; yathä eva—in the proper way; mäm—Me.

TRANSLATION

Those established in material passion, goodness and ignorance worship the particular demigods and other deities, headed by Indra, who manifest the same modes of passion, goodness or ignorance. They fail, however, to properly worship Me.

PURPORT

Although the demigods are part and parcel of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, demigod worship fosters the false idea that the demigods exist apart from the Supreme Lord. Such worship is avidhi-pūrvakam, or an improper approach to the Absolute Truth. Çréla Madhvācārya quotes from the Hari-vaṅṇa that among those primarily in the mode of ignorance there are sometimes manifestations of passion and goodness. Ignorant persons possessing a tendency toward goodness may go to hell but are also allowed a little heavenly pleasure. Thus it can be seen that a man suffering in miserable financial or political conditions sometimes enjoys the company of a beautiful wife, though his general condition is hellish. Those in ignorance mixed slightly with passion simply go to hell, and those purely in the mode of ignorance glide down to the darkest region of hell. Those devoid of devotion to the Supreme Lord are in ignorance in these three categories. Sometimes persons situated in the mode of goodness accept the supremacy of the Supreme Lord but are more attracted to the demigods, believing that through Vedic rituals they can achieve the same standard of living as the demigods. This proud tendency is certainly an obstacle in the loving service of the Supreme Lord and ultimately causes falldown.

TEXTS 33-34

wîe" h" de"vataA yaÁaEr," gAtvaA rM"syaAmahe" id"iva tasyaAnta wh" BaUyaAsma mah"AzAAlaA mah"Aku(laA:

WvaM pauiSpatayaA vaAcaA vyaAi°aæamanas$aAM na{NAAma, maAinanaAM caAitalaubDaAnaAM
maã"AtaARipa na r"Aecatae

īñōveha devatā yajī air

*gatvā raṅsyāmahe divi tasyānta iha bhūyāsma
mahā-çälā mahā-kulāu*

*evaṁ puṇpitayā vācā
vyākṛipta-manasāṁ nāḥm
mānināṁ cāti-lubdhānām mad-vārtāpi na rocate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iṅvā—offering sacrifice; iha—in this world; devatāu—to the demigods; yajī aiu—by our sacrifices; gatvā—going; raṅsyāmahe—we shall enjoy; divi—in heaven; tasya—of that enjoyment; ante—at the end; iha—on this earth; bhūyāsmau—we shall become; mahā-çälāu—great householders; mahā-kulāu—members of aristocratic families; evam—thus; puṇpitayā—by the flowery; vācā—words; vyākṛipta-manasām—for those whose minds are bewildered; nāḥm—men; māninām—very proud; ca—and; ati-lubdhānām—extremely greedy; mad-vārtā—topics about Me; api—even; na rocate—have no attraction.

TRANSLATION

The worshipers of demigods think, "We shall worship the demigods in this life, and by our sacrifices we shall go to heaven and enjoy there. When that enjoyment is finished we shall return to this world and take birth as great householders in aristocratic families." Being excessively proud and greedy, such persons are bewildered by the flowery words of the Vedas. They are not attracted to topics about Me, the Supreme Lord.

PURPORT

Real pleasure is found in the transcendental form of the Lord, who is the supreme Cupid, engaging in pastimes of love in the spiritual world. Neglecting the eternal bliss of the Lord's pastimes, the foolish worshipers of the demigods dream of becoming like the Lord, but they achieve exactly the opposite result. In other words, they continue perpetually in the cycle of birth and death.

TEXT 35

vaed"A "aöAtmaivaSayaAs$a, iṭak(ANx"ivaSayaA wmae
par"Ae^oavaAd"A [%Saya:
par"Ae^oaM mama ca i'ayama,

*vedā brahmātma-viñayās
tri-kāëò-a-viñayā ime
parokñā-vādā āñayaù
parokñāà mama ca priyam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vedäù—the Vedas; brahma-ätma—the understanding that the soul is pure spirit; viñayäù—having as their subject matter; tri-käëò-a-viñayäù—divided into three sections (which represent fruitive work, worship of demigods and realization of the Absolute Truth); ime—these; parokñā-vädäù—speaking esoterically; āñayaù—the Vedic authorities; parokñam—indirect explanation; mama—to Me; ca—also; priyam—dear.

TRANSLATION

The Vedas, divided into three divisions, ultimately reveal the living entity as pure spirit soul. The Vedic seers and mantras, however, deal in esoteric terms, and I also am pleased by such confidential descriptions.

PURPORT

In the previous verses Lord Kāñëa clearly refuted the concept that Vedic knowledge is meant for material enjoyment, and here the Lord summarizes the actual purpose of Vedic literature: self-realization. Although the conditioned souls are struggling in the network of material energy, their actual existence is transcendental freedom in the kingdom of God. The Vedas gradually lift the conditioned soul out of the darkness of illusion and establish him in the eternal loving service of the Lord. As stated in the Vedānta-sūtra (4.4.23), anāvāttiū çabdāt: "One who properly hears Vedic knowledge does not have to return to the cycle of birth and death."

One may ask why the Lord Himself as well as the Lord's representatives, the Vedic seers and mantras, speak in esoteric or indirect terms. As the Lord states in Bhagavad-gētā, nāham prakāçaū sarvasya: [Bg. 7.25] the Supreme Lord does not allow Himself to be taken cheaply, and thus He is not manifest to superficial or inimical people. Those who are polluted by the material atmosphere are induced to purify themselves through Vedic rituals that offer fruitive results, just as a child is induced to take medicine by the offer of a candy reward. Because of the confidential nature of Vedic exposition, less intelligent persons cannot appreciate the ultimate transcendental purpose of the Vedas, and consequently they fall down to the platform of sense gratification.

The term brahmātma ("spirit soul") ultimately indicates the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who states in Bhagavad-gētā that knowledge of Him is rāja-guhyam, the most confidential of all secrets. One who depends upon material sense perception remains in gross ignorance of the Absolute Truth. One who depends upon mental and intellectual speculation may get a clue that the eternal soul and Supersoul are both within the material body. But one who depends upon the Lord Himself, faithfully hearing the Lord's own message in Bhagavad-gētā, perfectly understands the entire situation and goes back home, back to Godhead, having fulfilled the true purpose of Vedic knowledge.

TEXT 36

zAbd""aö s$auäu"baAeRDaM
'aANAein%"yamanaAemayama, @nantapaArM" gAmBaIrM"

äü"ivaRgAA÷M s$amau"%o"vata, çabda-brahma su-durbodhaà

präëendriya-mano-mayam
ananta-päraà gambhëraà
durvigähyaà samudra-vat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çabda-brahma—the transcendental sound of the Vedas; su-durbodham—extremely difficult to comprehend; präëa—of the vital air; indriya—senses; manaù—and mind; mayam—manifesting on the different levels; ananta-päram—without limit; gambhëram—deep; durvigähyam—unfathomable; samudra-vat—like the ocean.

TRANSLATION

The transcendental sound of the Vedas is very difficult to comprehend and manifests on different levels within the präëa, senses and mind. This Vedic sound is unlimited, very deep and unfathomable, just like the ocean.

PURPORT

According to Vedic knowledge, the Vedic sound is divided into four phases, which can be understood only by the most intelligent brähmaëas. This is because three of the divisions are internally situated within the living entity and only the fourth division is externally manifested, as speech. Even this fourth phase of Vedic sound, called vaikharé, is very difficult to understand for ordinary human beings. Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura explains these divisions as follows. The präëa phase of Vedic sound, known as parä, is situated in the ädhära-cakra; the mental phase, known as paçyanté, is situated in the area of the navel, on the maëipüraka-cakra; the intellectual phase, known as madhyamä, is situated in the heart area, in the anähata-cakra. Finally, the manifest sensory phase of Vedic sound is called vaikharé.

Such Vedic sound is ananta-pāra because it comprehends all vital energies within the universe and beyond and is thus undivided by time or space. Actually, Vedic sound vibration is so subtle, unfathomable and deep that only the Lord Himself and His empowered followers such as Vyāsa and Nārada can understand its actual form and meaning. Ordinary human beings cannot comprehend all of the intricacies and subtleties of Vedic sound, but if one takes to Kāñḍea consciousness one can immediately understand the conclusion of all Vedic knowledge, namely Lord Kāñḍea Himself, the original source of Vedic knowledge. Foolish persons devote their vital air, senses and mind to sense gratification and thus do not understand the transcendental value of the holy name of God. Ultimately, the essence of all Vedic sound is the holy name of the Supreme Lord, which is not different from the Lord Himself. Since the Lord is unlimited, His holy name is equally unlimited. No one can understand the transcendental glories of the Lord without the Lord's direct mercy. By offenselessly chanting the holy names Hare Kāñḍea, Hare Kāñḍea, Kāñḍea Kāñḍea, Hare Hare/ Hare Rāma, Hare Rāma, Rāma Rāma, Hare Hare, one can enter into the transcendental mysteries of Vedic sound. Otherwise the knowledge of the Vedas will remain durvigāhyam, or impossible to penetrate.

TEXT 37

mayaAepaba{Mih"taM BaU°aA “aöNAAnantazAi·(naA
 BaUtaeSau GaAeSaè&paeNA
 ivas$aeSaUNAeRva la°yatae

*mayopabâḥhitaḥ bhūmnā brahmaëānanta-çaktinā
 bhūteṇu ghoṇa-rūpeëa
 viseṇürëeva lakṇyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mayā—by Me; upabâḥhitam—established; bhūmnā—by the unlimited;

brahmaëä—the changeless Absolute; ananta-çaktinä—whose potencies have no end; bhüteñu—within the living beings; ghoña-rüpeëa—in the form of subtle sound, the oàkära; viseñu—in the subtle fibrous covering of a lotus stalk; ürëä—one thread; iva—as; lakñyate—appears.

TRANSLATION

As the unlimited, unchanging and omnipotent Personality of Godhead dwelling within all living beings, I personally establish the Vedic sound vibration in the form of oàkära within all living entities. It is thus perceived subtly, just like a single strand of fiber on a lotus stalk.

PURPORT

The Supreme Personality of Godhead personally resides within the heart of every living entity, and from this verse we can understand that the seed of all Vedic knowledge is also situated within all living beings. In this way, the process of awakening Vedic knowledge, and thereby awakening one's eternal relationship with God, is natural and necessary for everyone. All perfection is found within the heart of the living being; as soon as the heart is purified by chanting the holy names of God, that perfection, Kãñëa consciousness, immediately awakens.

TEXTS 38-40

yaTaAeNARnaAiBaôR$d"yaAä," ONAARmauã"matae mauKaAta, @Ak(AzAAÛ"AeSavaAna, 'aANAAe
manas$aA s$pazARè&ipaNAA

C$nd"AemayaAe'ma{tamaya:
s$ah"›apad"val%M 'aBau: Vk(Ar"Aã"YaiÃatas$pazARsvar"AeSmaAntasTaBaUiSataAma,

ivaicaṭaBaASaAivatataAM
C$nd"AeiBaêtauç&ÔarE": @nantapaAr"AM ba{h"tal%M
s$afjatyaAi°apatae svayama,

*yathorëanābhir hādayād
ürëām udvamate mukhāt
ākāçād ghoṇavān prāëo
manasā sparça-rüpiëä*

*chando-mayo 'māta-mayaù
sahasra-padavéà prabhuù oàkārād vyai jita-sparçasvaroṇmāntastha-bhūñitām*

*vicitra-bhāñā-vitatäà
chandobhiç catur-uttaraiù
ananta-päräà bâhatéà
sâjaty ākñipate svayam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathä—just as; ürëa-nābhiù—a spider; hādayāt—from its heart; ürëām—its web; udvamate—emits; mukhāt—through its mouth; ākāçāt—from the ether; ghoṇa-vān—manifesting sound vibration; prāëaù—the Lord in the form of the original life air; manasā—by means of the primeval mind; sparça-rüpiëä—which exhibits the forms of the different phonemes of the alphabet, beginning with the sparça letters; chandaù-mayaù—comprising all the sacred Vedic meters; amāta-mayaù—full of transcendental pleasure; sahasra-padavém—which branches out in thousands of directions; prabhuù—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; oàkārāt—from the subtle vibration oàkāra; vyai jita—expanded; sparça—with the consonant stops; svara—vowels; uñma—sibilants; anta-stha—and semivowels; bhūñitām—decorated; vicitra—variegated; bhāñā—by verbal expressions; vitatām—elaborated; chandobhiù—along with the metrical arrangements; catuù-uttaraiù—each having four syllables more than the previous;

ananta-päräm—limitless; bâhatêm—the great expanse of Vedic literature; sâjati—He creates; âkñipate—and withdraws; svayam—Himself.

TRANSLATION

Just as a spider brings forth from its heart its web and emits it through its mouth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead manifests Himself as the reverberating primeval vital air, comprising all sacred Vedic meters and full of transcendental pleasure. Thus the Lord, from the ethereal sky of His heart, creates the great and limitless Vedic sound by the agency of His mind, which conceives of variegated sounds such as the sparças. The Vedic sound branches out in thousands of directions, adorned with the different letters expanded from the syllable oâ: the consonants, vowels, sibilants and semivowels. The Veda is then elaborated by many verbal varieties, expressed in different meters, each having four more syllables than the previous one. Ultimately the Lord again withdraws His manifestation of Vedic sound within Himself.

PURPORT

Çréla Çrédhara Svämé has given an elaborate technical explanation of these three verses, the understanding of which requires extensive linguistic knowledge of the Sanskrit language. The essential point is that transcendental knowledge is expressed through Vedic sound vibration, which is itself a manifestation of the Absolute Truth, the Personality of Godhead. Vedic sound emanates from the Supreme Lord and is vibrated to glorify and understand Him. The conclusion of all Vedic sound vibration is found in Bhagavad-gétâ, wherein the Lord states, vedaïç ca sarvair aham eva vedyau: [Bg. 15.15] all Vedic knowledge is simply meant to teach us to know and love God. One who always thinks of Lord Kânëa, who becomes the Lord's devotee and who bows down to and worships the Lord with faith and devotion, chanting His holy name, has certainly achieved a perfect understanding of all that is indicated by the word veda ("knowledge").

TEXT 41

gAAyaṭyauiSNAgAnauī]pca
ba{h"tal paiĒÿre"va ca
iṭaī]"bjagAtyaitacC$nd"Ae ÷tyaī"YaitajagAiā"r"Aq%.

*gāyatrī uñēik anuñōup ca
bāhaté paī ktir eva ca
triñōub jagaty aticchando
hy atyañōi-atijagad-virāo*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

gāyatré uñēik anuñōup ca—known as Gāyatré, Uñēik and Anuñōup; bāhaté paī ktiū—Bāhaté and Paī kti; eva ca—also; triñōub jagaté aticchandaū—Triñōup, Jagaté and Aticchanda; hi—indeed; atyañōi-atijagat-virāo—Atyañōi, Atijagaté and Aktivirāo.

TRANSLATION

The Vedic meters are Gāyatré, Uñēik, Anuñōup, Bāhaté, Paī kti, Triñōup, Jagaté, Aticchanda, Atyañōi, Atijagaté and Aktivirāo.

PURPORT

The Gāyatré meter has twenty-four syllables, the Uñēik twenty-eight, the Anuñōup thirty-two, and so on, each meter having four more syllables than the previous one. Vedic sound is called bāhaté, or most expansive, and thus it is not possible for ordinary living entities to understand all the technical details in this matter.

TEXT 42

ikM(ivaDaÔae ik(maAcaíe" ik(manaUâ ivak(lpayaeta, wtasyaA ô$d"yaM laAeke( naAnyAe maãe"d" k(êna

kià vidhatte kim äcañõe
kim anüdyä vikalpayet
ity asyä hâdayaà loke
nänyo mad veda kaçcana

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kim—what; vidhatte—enjoins (in the ritualistic karma-käëòa); kim—what; äcañõe—indicates (as the object of worship in the devatä-käëòa); kim—what; anüdyä—describing in different aspects; vikalpayet—raises the possibility of alternatives (in the jñäna-käëòa); iti—thus; asyä—of Vedic literature; hâdayam—the heart, or confidential purpose; loke—in this world; na—does not; anya—other; mat—than Me; veda—know; kaçcana—anyone.

TRANSLATION

In the entire world no one but Me actually understands the confidential purpose of Vedic knowledge. Thus people do not know what the Vedas are actually prescribing in the ritualistic injunctions of karma-käëòa, or what object is actually being indicated in the formulas of worship found in the upäsanä-käëòa, or that which is elaborately discussed through various hypotheses in the jñäna-käëòa section of the Vedas.

PURPORT

The Supreme Personality of Godhead is the Absolute Truth, Lord Çré Kāñëa. Since the Lord is the source, maintainer and ultimate goal of Vedic knowledge, He is veda-vit, or the only true knower of Vedic knowledge. So-called philosophers, either Vedic scholars or ordinary men, may give their sectarian opinion, but it is the Lord Himself who knows the confidential purpose of the Vedas. The Lord is the only actual shelter and lovable object for all living entities. As He states in the Tenth Chapter of Bhagavad-gētā (10.41):

*yad yad vibhūtimat sattvaà
çrémad ūrjitam eva vā tad tad evāvagaccha tvaà
mama tejo-'àça-sambhavam*

"Know that all beautiful, glorious and mighty creations spring from but a spark of My splendor." All beautiful, extraordinary and powerful manifestations are insignificant displays of the Lord's own opulences. Although ordinary people may quarrel over the purpose of religion, the actual purpose is one, Kāñëa consciousness, or pure love of Godhead. All Vedic formulas are understood to be preliminary stages leading to the perfect stage of Kāñëa consciousness, in which one fully surrenders to the devotional service of the Lord. The pure devotees of the Lord represent Him within this world and never speak anything which is not authorized by the Lord. Because they are repeating the Lord's own words, they are also to be understood as true knowers of the Veda.

TEXT 43

*maAM ivaDaÔae'iBaDaÔae maAM
ivak(lpyaApaAe÷tae tvah"ma, WtaAvaAna, s$avaR"vaed"ATaR:
zAbd" @AsTaAya maAM iBad"Ama, maAyaAmaAṭamanaUâAntae
'aitaiSaDya 'as$ald"ita*

*māà vidhatte 'bhidhatte māà vikalpyāpohyate tv aham
etāvan sarva-vedārthau çabda āsthāya māà bhidām
māyā-mātram anūdyānte
pratiñidhya prasēdati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mām—Me; vidhatte—enjoins in sacrifice; abhidhatte—designates as the object of worship; mām—Me; vikalpā—presented as alternate hypothesis; apohyate—am refuted; tu—also; aham—I; etāvān—thus; sarva-veda—of all the Vedas; arthaù—the meaning; ṣabdaù—the transcendental sound vibration; āsthāya—establishing; mām—Me; bhidām—material duality; māyā-mātram—as simply illusion; anūdyā—describing elaborately in different aspects; ante—ultimately; pratiñidhya—negating; prasēdati—becomes satisfied.

TRANSLATION

I am the ritualistic sacrifice enjoined by the Vedas, and I am the worshipable Deity. It is I who am presented as various philosophical hypotheses, and it is I alone who am then refuted by philosophical analysis. The transcendental sound vibration thus establishes Me as the essential meaning of all Vedic knowledge. The Vedas, elaborately analyzing all material duality as nothing but My illusory potency, ultimately completely negate this duality and achieve their own satisfaction.

PURPORT

The Lord declared in the previous verse that He alone knows the ultimate purpose of the Vedas, and now the Lord reveals that He alone is the ultimate basis and purpose of all Vedic knowledge. The karma-kāēōa section of the Vedas prescribes ritualistic sacrifices for promotion to heaven. Such sacrifices are the Lord Himself. Similarly, the upāsanā-kāēōa section of the Vedas designates different demigods as objects of ritualistic worship, and these deities are not different from the Lord Himself, being expansions of the Lord's body. In the jīāna-kāēōa section of the Vedas different philosophical methods of analysis are presented and refuted. Such knowledge, which analyzes the potency of the Supreme Lord, is not different from Him. Ultimately Lord Kāñēa is everything, because everything is part and parcel of the Lord's multipotencies. Although Vedic literature entices those absorbed in material duality to begin the Vedic way of life by offering them materially desirable rewards, the Vedas eventually refute all material duality by bringing one to the stage of God consciousness, wherein there is nothing different from the Supreme Lord.

Within the Vedic literature there are various injunctions stating that at a particular stage of life one should give up fruitive rituals and take to the path of knowledge. Similarly, other injunctions declare that a self-realized soul should give up the path of speculative knowledge and take directly to the shelter of the Absolute Truth, the Personality of Godhead. But nowhere is there an injunction recommending that one give up the loving service of the Lord, because that is the eternal constitutional position of every living entity. Different philosophical theses are presented and rejected in the Vedas, since one who is progressing must give up each previous stage in the advancement of knowledge. For example, one who is addicted to sex enjoyment is taught to accept religious marriage and enjoy sex pleasure with his wife. Such ritualistic knowledge is to be given up when one attains the stage of detachment, whereupon one is recommended to take the renounced order of life. In that stage of life one is forbidden to see or speak with women. When, however, one reaches the perfection of Kâñëa consciousness, wherein the Lord is manifest everywhere, one may engage all living entities, including women, in the loving service of the Lord without danger of spiritual falldown. Thus different injunctions based on progressive stages of spiritual vision are presented and refuted in Vedic literature. Since all such injunctions and processes are ultimately meant for the achievement of Kâñëa consciousness, the loving service of the Lord, they are not different from Lord Kâñëa Himself. The conditioned soul, therefore, should not prematurely stop his progressive march back home, back to Godhead, by foolishly mistaking an intermediate or preliminary stage of advancement as the actual goal of life. One must understand that the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Çré Kâñëa, is the source, maintenance and resting place of everything, and that every living entity is the Lord's eternal servant. In this way one should continue on the Vedic path all the way back home, back to Godhead, for eternal life of bliss and knowledge.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Twenty-first Chapter, of the Śrēmad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Lord Kāñēa's Explanation of the Vedic Path."

22. Enumeration of the Elements of Material Creation

This chapter enumerates and categorizes the natural elements, explains the difference between the male and female natures and describes birth and death.

There are many opinions concerning the number of material elements. But this difference of opinions, brought about by the influence of the illusory energy, is not illogical. All the elements of nature exist everywhere; so authorities who have accepted the illusory potency of the Supreme Personality may propose a variety of theories. The insurmountable illusory energy of God is the root cause of their mutually contradictory arguments.

There is no difference between the ultimate enjoyer and the supreme controller. To presuppose any distinction between them is senseless. Ordinary knowledge is simply a quality of material nature, not of the soul proper. The raw substance of material nature is designated according to its different phases. In the mode of goodness, it is known as knowledge, in the mode of passion as activity, and in the mode of darkness as ignorance. Time is another name of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and another name for material propensity is sūtra or mahat-tattva. The twenty-five elements of nature are the Lord, nature, the mahat, false ego, ether, air, fire, water, earth, the eyes, the ears, the nose, the tongue, the skin, speech, the hands, the feet, the genitals, the anus, the mind, sound, touch, form, taste and smell.

The unmanifest Supreme Personality merely glances at nature. Material nature, which is under the control of the Supreme Lord, then assumes the forms of causes and effects and carries out the creation, maintenance and destruction of the material world. Even though the puruṇa and prakāṭi appear nondifferent to superficial vision, there is an ultimate difference between the two. Material creation is produced from the modes of prakāṭi, and its quality is transformation. The living entities who are inimical to the Supreme Personality of Godhead take on and give up various kinds of material bodies through the agency of their own material work. But those who are ignorant of the self, because of being bewildered by illusion, do not understand this. The mind, which is filled with ideas of fruitive work, simply takes the senses with it from one body to another, while the soul follows along. Nevertheless, on account of being totally absorbed in sense gratification, one cannot remember his past existence.

The body undergoes nine stages of manifestation, which are brought about by association with the qualities of material nature. These are impregnation, gestation, birth, childhood, youth, maturity, middle age, old age and death. From the death of one's father and the birth of one's son, a person can easily comprehend the rise and fall of his own body. The soul, who is the perceiver, is different from this body. But when there is no knowledge of the true facts, the living entity, confused by the objects of sense gratification, achieves his destinations within the cycle of material existence. Thus the living entity continuously wanders under the spell of material work, taking birth as a sage or a demigod when he is predominated by the mode of goodness, among the demons or human beings when he is predominantly influenced by the mode of passion, and in the species of ghosts, spirits or animals when he is predominated by the mode of ignorance. The spirit soul does not engage in the enjoyment of sense objects; rather, it is the senses that perform this activity. Therefore the living being has no actual need for sense gratificatory pleasures. With the exception of those peaceful personalities who have taken shelter of the lotus feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead and are dedicated to the divine duty of His service, everyone, including so-called learned scholars, is inevitably overcome by the all-powerful material nature.

TEXTS 1-3

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
k(ita taÔvaAina ivaiezA
s$aÊÿYaAtaAnyaiSaiBa: 'aBaAe navaEk(Ad"zA paÂa ‡aINya, @AtTa tvaimah" zAu™auma ke(icatSaiÔM"zAitaM 'aAò"r," @pare" paÂaivaMzAitaM

s$aæaEke(nava Saq%. ke(icaca, catvaAyaerK(Ad"zAApare" ke(icats$aæad"zA 'aAò": SaAex"zAEke(‡ayaAed"zA

WtaAvaÔvaM ih" s$aÊÿYaAnaAma, [%SayaAe yaiã"va°ayaA
gAAyainta pa{TagAAyauSmaªa, wdM" naAe va·u(mahR"is$a

çré-uddhava uvāca
kati tattvāni viçveça
saì khyātāny āñibhiù prabho navaikādaça paì ca tréëy
āttha tvam iha çuçruma

kecit ñaò-viàçatià prāhur
apare paì ca-viàçatià
saptaike nava ñaō kecic
catvāry ekādaçāpare
kecit saptadaça prāhuù
ñodaçaike trayodaça

etāvattvaà hi saì khyānām
āñayo yad-vivakñayā
gāyanti pāthag āyuñmann

idaà no vaktum arhasi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uvāca—Çré Uddhava said; kati—how many; tattväni—basic elements of creation; viçva-éça—O Lord of the universe; saì khyätäni—have been enumerated; āñibhiù—by great authorities; prabho—O my master; nava—nine (God, the individual soul, the mahat-tattva, false ego and the five gross elements); ekākaça—plus eleven (the ten knowledge-acquiring and working senses together with the mind); pañca—plus five (the subtle forms of the sense objects); tréi—plus three (the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance, making altogether a total of twenty-eight); ättha—have stated; tvam—You; iha—during Your appearance in this world; çuçruma—so I have heard; kecit—some; ñāō-viàçatim—twenty-six; prāhuù—they say; apare—others; pañca-viàçatim—twenty-five; sapta—seven; eke—some; nava—nine; ñāō—six; kecit—some; catväri—four; ekādaça—eleven; apare—still others; kecit—some; saptadaça—seventeen; prāhuù—say; ñōdaça—sixteen; eke—some; trayodaça—thirteen; etāvattvam—such calculations; hi—indeed; saì khyänām—of the different ways of counting the elements; āñayaù—the sages; yat vivakñayā—with the intention of expressing what ideas; gāyanti—they have declared; pāthak—in various manners; āyuù-man—O supreme eternal; idam—this; naù—to us; vaktum—to explain; arhasi—You should please.

TRANSLATION

Uddhava inquired: My dear Lord, O master of the universe, how many different elements of creation have been enumerated by the great sages? I have heard You personally describe a total of twenty-eight—God, the jéva soul, the mahat-tattva, false ego, the five gross elements, the ten senses, the mind, the five subtle objects of perception and the three modes of nature. But some authorities say that there are twenty-six elements, while others cite twenty-five or else seven, nine, six, four or eleven, and even others say that there are seventeen, sixteen or thirteen. What did each of these sages have in mind when he calculated the creative elements in such different ways? O supreme eternal, kindly explain this to me.

PURPORT

Lord Kāñëa thoroughly explained in the previous chapter that Vedic knowledge is not meant for sense gratification but for liberation from material bondage. Now Uddhava presents some intermediate questions that must be answered so the path of liberation will be clear. Different philosophers have historically disagreed over the exact number of material elements, about the existence and nonexistence of particular external objects and about the existence of the soul itself. The jī'āna-käëòa section of the Vedas aims at liberation through analytic understanding of the material world and of the spirit soul as a transcendental element beyond matter. Ultimately the Supreme Lord Himself stands above all elements and maintains them by His personal potency. Uddhava mentions in numerical terms different methodologies of various sages, citing first the Lord's own opinion. The word āyūñman, or "possessing eternal form," is significant in this regard. Since Lord Kāñëa is eternal, He possesses all knowledge of past, present and future and is thus the original and supreme philosopher.

According to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Öhäkura, the different analytic approaches mentioned by Çré Uddhava are actually not contradictory, since they are different methods of categorizing the same reality. Atheistic speculation on reality does not recognize the existence of God; consequently it is a worthless attempt to explain the truth. The Lord Himself empowers different living entities to speculate and speak on reality in different ways. The actual reality, however, is the Lord Himself, who will now speak to Çré Uddhava.

TEXT 4

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
yau·M(ca s$ainta s$avaRṭa BaASantae "aAöNAA yaTaA maAyaAM mad"lyaAmauä,"gA{÷

vad"taAM ikM(nau äu"GARq%ma,

*çré-bhagavän uväca
yuktaà ca santi sarvatra
bhäñante brähmaëä yathä
mäyää madéyam udgähya
vadatää kià nu durghaäm*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said;
yuktam—reasonably; ca—even; santi—they are present;
sarvatra—everywhere; bhäñante—they speak; brähmaëä—brähmaëas;
yathä—how; mäyäm—the mystic energy; madéyam—My;
udgähya—resorting to; vadatäm—of those who speak; kim—what; nu—after all; durghaäm—will be impossible.

TRANSLATION

Lord Kåñëa replied: Because all material elements are present everywhere, it is reasonable that different learned brähmaëas have analyzed them in different ways. All such philosophers spoke under the shelter of My mystic potency, and thus they could say anything without contradicting the truth.

PURPORT

The words santi sarvatra in this verse indicate that all material elements are found within each other in gross and subtle forms. In this way there are innumerable ways to categorically describe them. The material world is ultimately illusory, undergoing constant transformation. It may be measured in different ways, just as the mirage of an oasis may be described in different ways, but the Lord's own analysis of twenty-eight elements is perfect and should be accepted. Çréla Jëva Gosvämé states that the word mäyä in this verse does not refer to mahä-mäyä, or the potency of ignorance, but to the Lord's inconceivable mystic power, which shelters the learned followers of Vedic knowledge. Each of the philosophers mentioned here reveals a particular aspect of truth, and their theories are not contradictory, since they are simply describing the same phenomena with different categorical systems. Such philosophical disagreement is endless within the material world; thus everyone should unite on the platform of the Lord's own opinion, as stated in this verse. Similarly, in Bhagavad-gētā Lord Kāñëa requests all conditioned souls to give up their various forms of worship and surrender unto Him in full Kāñëa consciousness, becoming His devotees. Thus the whole universe can be united in love of Godhead by chanting Hare Kāñëa, Hare Kāñëa, Kāñëa Kāñëa, Hare Hare/ Hare Rāma, Hare Rāma, Rāma Rāma, Hare Hare. By the Lord's revealing Himself to a sincere devotee, the controversy of analytic philosophy is ended.

TEXT 5

naEtade"vaM yaTaAtTa tvaM
yad"hM" vaicma taÔaTaA WvaM ivavad"taAM he"tauM
zA·(yaAe mae äu"r"tyayaA:

*naitad evaà yathättha tvaà
yad ahaà vacmi tat tathä evaà vivadatäà hetuà
çaktayo me duratyayäù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—it is not; etat—this; evam—so; yathä—as; ättha—say; tvam—you; yat—which; aham—I; vacmi—am saying; tat—that; tathä—thus; evam—in this way; vivadatäm—for those who argue; hetum—over logical reasons; çaktayaù—the energies (are impelling); me—My; duratyayäù—unsurpassable.

TRANSLATION

When philosophers argue, "I don't choose to analyze this particular case in the same way that you have," it is simply My own insurmountable energies that are motivating their analytic disagreements.

PURPORT

Because of the material potencies of the Supreme Lord, mundane philosophers are perpetually arguing about which came first, the chicken or the egg. By the influence of the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance, different philosophers are attracted to different views; and by the influence of the material atmosphere created by the Lord, these philosophers perpetually disagree with one another. The Supreme Lord Himself, however, has given the clear explanation. As stated in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (6.4.31),

*yac-chaktayo vadatāà vādināà vai
vivāda-saàvāda-bhuvo bhavanti
kurvanti caiñāà muhur ātma-mohaà tasmai namo 'nanta-guēāya bhūmne*

"Let me offer my respectful obeisances unto the all-pervading Supreme Personality of Godhead, who possesses unlimited transcendental qualities. Acting from within the cores of the hearts of all philosophers, who propagate various views, He caused them to forget their own souls while sometimes agreeing and sometimes disagreeing among themselves. Thus He creates within this material world a situation in which they are unable to come to a conclusion. I offer my respectful obeisances unto Him."

TEXT 6

*yaAs$aAM vyaitak(r"Ad"As$alä," ivak(lpaAe vad"taAM pad"ma,
'aAæae zAmad"mae'pyaeita
vaAd"stamanau zAAmyaita*

yäsāà vyatīkarād āséd

*vikalpo vadatäà padam präpte çama-dame 'pyeti
vādas tam anu çämyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yäsām—of which (energies of Mine); vyatīkarāt—by the interaction; āsēt—has arisen; vikalpau—difference of opinion; vadatām—of those arguing; padam—the subject of discussion; prāpte—when one has achieved; çama—the ability to fix his intelligence on Me; dame—and control of his external senses; apyeti—disappears (that difference of opinion); vādau—the argument itself; tam anu—consequently; çämyati—subsides.

TRANSLATION

By interaction of My energies different opinions arise. But for those who have fixed their intelligence on Me and controlled their senses, differences of perception disappear, and consequently the very cause for argument is removed.

PURPORT

Conflicting varieties of perception are created by the interaction of the Lord's material energies in the minds of different philosophers, who staunchly defend their opinions, stating, "This may be the case or perhaps that or the other; or this may not be the case, or perhaps that is not the case." Such logical or rational proposing, doubting, counter-proposing, counteracting, etc., take thousands of different forms and become the basis of argument. Actually, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Kāñëa, is the basis of all existence, since everything emanates from the Lord, is maintained by the Lord and at the end is merged to rest within the Lord. Lord Kāñëa is para-tattva, the highest truth underlying all other dependent truths. In a society of learned persons who have understood the Personality of Godhead to be everything, there is no further cause of philosophical quarrel. Such unity of opinion is not based on the absence of philosophical inquiry, nor on the stifling of rational discussion, but is the natural result of spiritual enlightenment. So-called philosophers proudly boast that they are searching and researching for the Absolute Truth, yet they somehow consider one who has found the Absolute Truth to be less intelligent than one who has not found it but is searching. Because Lord Kāñëa is the Absolute Truth, one who fully surrenders to the Lord becomes the most learned person.

TEXT 7

par"s$par"Anau'avaezAAta, taÔvaAnaAM pauç&SaSaRBa
paAEvaARpayaR'as$aÊÿYaAnaM yaTaA va·u(ivaRvai°atama,

parasparānupraveçāt
tattvānāà puruṇārñabha
paurvāparya-prasaṇ khyānaà
yathā vaktur vivakñitam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

paraspara—mutual; anupraveçāt—because of the entrance (as subtle causes within gross manifestations, and vice versa); tattvānām—of the various elements; puruṇa-āñabha—O best among men (Uddhava); paurva—in terms of prior causes; aparya—or of resultant products; prasaṇ khyānam—enumeration; yathā—however; vaktuù—the speaker; vivakñitam—wants to describe.

TRANSLATION

O best among men, because subtle and gross elements mutually enter into one another, philosophers may calculate the number of basic material elements in different ways, according to their personal desire.

PURPORT

Material creation takes place as a chain reaction in which subtle elements expand and transform into progressively denser elements. Since a cause is in a sense present within its effect, and the effect is subtly present within the cause, all subtle and gross elements have entered within one another. Thus one may categorize basic material elements in many different ways, assigning various numbers and names according to one's methodology. Although material philosophers proudly assume their individual theories to be supreme, they are all speculating according to their personal proclivities, as described in this and the following verse.

TEXT 8

Wk(isma^aaipa ä{"zyantae
'aivai"Analtar"AiNA ca
paUvaRismana, vaA par"ismana, vaA
taÔvae taÔvaAina s$avaRzA:

*ekasminn api dācyante
praviññānētarāēi ca
pūrvasmin vā parasmin vā
tattve tattvāni sarvaçaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ekasmin—in one (element); api—even; dācyante—there are seen; praviññāni—entered within; itarāēi—others; ca—also; pūrvasmin—in a prior (subtle causal element, such as the dormant presence of ether within its cause, sound); vā—either; parasmin—or in a later (produced element, such as the subtle presence of sound within its further product, air); vā—or; tattve—in some element; tattvāni—other elements; sarvaçaù—in the cases of each of the different enumerations.

TRANSLATION

All subtle material elements are actually present within their gross effects; similarly, all gross elements are present within their subtle causes, since material creation takes place by progressive manifestation of elements from subtle to gross. Thus we can find all material elements within any single element.

PURPORT

Since material elements are present within each other, there are innumerable ways to construe and categorize the material creation of God. Ultimately, however, the significant element is God Himself, who is the basis of all the transformations and permutations of the material cosmos. The creation of the material world takes place by a progression from subtle to gross elements, as explained in the sāi khyā-yoga system of Lord Kapila. The example may be given that we find the dormant existence of an earthen pot within mud and also the existence of mud within the earthen pot. Similarly, one element is present within another, and ultimately all elements rest within the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is simultaneously within everything. By such explanations, Kāñëa consciousness constitutes the ultimate scientific methodology for factually understanding this universe.

TEXT 9

paAEvaARpayaRmataAe'maISaAM
'as$aÊÿYaAnamaBalps$aataAma, yaTaA ivaiva·M(yaã"f†aM gA{õ"ImaAe yaui·(s$amBavaAta,

*paurvāparyam ato 'méñäà
prasaì khyānam abhépsatām
yathā viviktaà yad-vaktraà*

gāhēemo yukti-sambhavāt

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

paurva—considering causal elements to include their manifest products; aparyam—or assuming elements to include their subtle causes; ataù—therefore; amēñām—of these thinkers; prasaì khyānam—the counting; abhépsatām—who are intending; yathā—how; viviktam—ascertained; yat-vaktram—from whose mouth; gāhēemaù—We accept it; yukti—of reason; sambhavāt—because of the possibility.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, no matter which of these thinkers is speaking, and regardless of whether in their calculations they include material elements within their previous subtle causes or else within their subsequent manifest products, I accept their conclusions as authoritative, because a logical explanation can always be given for each of the different theories.

PURPORT

Although innumerable philosophers may rationally describe the material creation from different points of view, one cannot perfect one's knowledge without Kāñëa consciousness. An intellectual person should therefore not be falsely proud simply because he has ascertained a particular truth within the material world. The Lord here states that one who follows the Vedic way of analysis will undoubtedly have many insights concerning the material creation. Ultimately, however, one must become a devotee of the Supreme Lord and perfect one's knowledge in Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 10

@naAâivaâAyau·(sya
pauç&SasyaAtmavaed"nama, svataAe na s$amBavaAd"nyas$a,

taÔvaÁaAe ÁaAnad"Ae Bavaeta,

*anädy-avidyā-yuktasya
puruñasyātma-vedanam
svato na sambhavād anyas
tattva-jī o jī āna-do bhavet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anädi—without beginning; avidyā—with ignorance; yuktasya—who is joined; puruñasya—of a person; ātma-vedanam—the process of self-realization; svataù—by his own ability; na sambhavāt—because it cannot occur; anyaù—another person; tattva-jī aù—the knower of transcendental reality; jī āna-daù—the bestower of real knowledge; bhavet—must be.

TRANSLATION

Because a person who has been covered by ignorance since time immemorial is not capable of effecting his own self-realization, there must be some other personality who is in factual knowledge of the Absolute Truth and can impart this knowledge to him.

PURPORT

Although the Lord tolerates different methods of calculating material causes within their effects and material effects within their causes, there cannot be any speculation regarding the two spiritual elements found in this universe, namely the individual soul and the Supersoul. Lord Kāñëa clearly states in this verse that the living entity is incapable of effecting his own enlightenment. The Supreme Lord is tattva-jī a, omniscient, and jī āna-da, the spiritual master of the entire universe. Çré Uddhava mentioned that some philosophers describe twenty-five elements and others twenty-six. The difference is that the twenty-six elements include a separate category for the individual soul and the Supreme Soul, Lord Kāñëa, whereas the proponents of twenty-five elements artificially merge the two transcendental categories of jéva-tattva and viñëu-tattva, hiding the eternal supremacy of the Personality of Godhead.

Knowledge based on the three modes of material nature cannot rise to the transcendental platform, where the Personality of Godhead exists as the supreme enjoyer of eternal spiritual varieties of form, color, flavor, musical sounds and loving affairs. Mundane philosophers simply bounce back and forth between material enjoyment and material renunciation. Being victims of Mâyävâda (impersonal) perception of the Absolute Truth, they cannot achieve the shelter of the Personality of Godhead and thus cannot understand Him. Because foolish, impersonal philosophers consider themselves supreme, they are unable to appreciate that loving service exists on the spiritual platform. Stubbornly rejecting subservience to the Personality of Godhead, the impersonalists are eventually overwhelmed by the illusory potency of the Lord and undergo the miseries of material existence. The Vaiñëavas, on the other hand, are not envious of the Personality of Godhead. They gladly accept His shelter and supremacy, and thus the Lord personally takes charge of His devotees and enlightens them, filling them with His own transcendental bliss. Spiritual service to the Supreme Lord is in this way free from the disappointment and repression of material service.

TEXT 11

pauç&Saeir"yaAer"ḥa
na vaEla°aNyamaNvaipa tad"nyak(IpanaApaATaAR ÁaAnaM ca 'ak{(taegAuRNA:

*puruñeçvarayor atra
na vailakñäëyam aëv api
tad-anyakalpanäpärthä
ji änaà ca prakâter guëaü*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puruṇā—between the enjoyer; ēçvarayoù—and the supreme controller; atra—herein; na—there is no; vailakṇāëyam—dissimilarity; aëu—minute; api—even; tat—of them; anya—as being completely different; kalpanā—the imagined idea; apārthā—useless; jī ānam—knowledge; ca—and; prakāteu—of material nature; guëaù—a quality.

TRANSLATION

According to knowledge in the material mode of goodness, there is no qualitative difference between the living entity and the supreme controller. The imagination of qualitative difference between them is useless speculation.

PURPORT

According to certain philosophers there are twenty-five elements, among which a single category is stipulated for both the individual living entity and the Supreme Lord. Such impersonal knowledge is declared by the Lord to be material: jī ānaà ca prakāter guëaù. Such knowledge can, however, be accepted to establish the qualitative identity of the Supreme Lord and the living entities who expand from Him. Materialistic persons sometimes believe that there is a supreme spirit in heaven but also think that human beings are identical with their material bodies and thus qualitatively and perpetually separated from the Supreme Lord. Knowledge of the Lord's qualitative oneness with the living entity, as described in this verse, refutes the materialistic concept of life and partially establishes the Absolute Truth. Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu described the actual situation as acintya-bhedābheda-tattva(96): the supreme controller and the controlled living entities are simultaneously one and different. In the material mode of goodness the oneness is perceived. As one proceeds further, to the stage of viçuddha-sattva, or purified spiritual goodness, one finds spiritual variety within the qualitative oneness, completing one's knowledge of the Absolute Truth. The words na vailakṇāëyam aëv api boldly affirm that the individual living entity is indisputably part and parcel of the Supreme Lord and qualitatively one with Him. Any philosophical attempt to separate the living entity from the Supreme Lord and deny his eternal servitude to the Lord is thus refuted. Speculation arriving at the conclusion that the living entity has independent existence separate from the Lord is described here as apārthā, useless. Nevertheless, the theory of twenty-five elements is acceptable to the Lord as a preliminary phase in the evolution of spiritual knowledge.

TEXT 12

‘ak{(itagAuRNAs$aAmyaM vaE ‘ak{(taenaARtmanaAe gAuNAA:
s$aÔvaM r"jastama wita
isTatyautpaÔyantahe"tava:

*prakâtir guëa-sämyaà vai
prakâter nâtmano guëäù
sattvaà rajas tama iti
sthity-utpatty-anta-hetavaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prakâtiù—material nature; guëa—of the three modes; sämyam—the original equilibrium; vai—indeed; prakâteù—of nature; na âtmanaù—not of the spirit soul; guëäù—these modes; sattvam—goodness; rajaù—passion; tamaù—ignorance; iti—thus called; sthiti—of the maintenance of universal creation; utpatti—its production; anta—and its annihilation; hetavaù—the causes.

TRANSLATION

Nature exists originally as the equilibrium of the three material modes, which pertain only to nature, not to the transcendental spirit soul. These modes—goodness, passion and ignorance—are the effective causes of the creation, maintenance and destruction of this universe.

PURPORT

In Bhagavad-gētā (3.27) it is stated,

*prakāteu kriyamäëäni
guëaiu karmäëi sarvaçaù
ahaì kära-vimüòhätmä
kartāham iti manyate*

"The bewildered spirit soul, under the influence of the three modes of material nature, thinks himself to be the doer of activities, which are in actuality carried out by nature."

The three modes of nature, in their original state of equilibrium, as well as the subsequent creation generated from the modes, are vastly more powerful than the tiny living entity who is controlled by them. The living entity thus cannot be accepted as the actual doer or creator within the material world. The mode of goodness is symptomized by the experience of knowledge, the mode of passion by the experience of work, and the mode of ignorance by the experience of darkness. These modes of material knowledge, work and darkness have no real relation with the transcendental spirit soul, who exhibits his own qualities of eternality, bliss and knowledge (the sandhiné, saàvit and hlādiné potencies of the Supreme Lord). The material modes have no access within the kingdom of God, in the unbounded atmosphere of which the eternal living entity is meant to live.

TEXT 13

*s$aÔvaM ÁaAnaM r"ja: k(maR
tamaAe'ÁaAnaimah"Aecyatae gAuNAvyaitak(r": k(Ala:
svaBaAva: s$aU†amaeva ca*

sattvaà ji'ānaà rajaù karma

*tamo 'ji ānam ihocyate
guëa-vyatikaraù kālaù
svabhāvaù sūtram eva ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sattvam—the mode of goodness; ji ānam—knowledge; rajaù—the mode of passion; karma—fruitive work; tamaù—the mode of ignorance; aji ānam—foolishness; iha—in this world; ucyate—is called; guëa—of the modes; vyatikaraù—the agitated transformation; kālaù—time; svabhāvaù—innate tendency, nature; sūtram—the mahat-tattva; eva—indeed; ca—also.

TRANSLATION

In this world the mode of goodness is recognized as knowledge, the mode of passion as fruitive work, and the mode of darkness as ignorance. Time is perceived as the agitated interaction of the material modes, and the totality of functional propensity is embodied by the primeval sūtra, or mahat-tattva.

PURPORT

The impetus for the interaction of the material elements is the forward movement of time. Because time is passing, the embryo grows within the womb, gradually comes out, grows up, produces by-products, dwindles and dies. All of this is due to the pushing of time. In the absence of the time factor, the material elements do not interact but remain inert in the form of pradhāna. Lord Kāñëa is establishing the basic categories of the material world so that human beings can conceive of the Lord's creation. Were the categories not condensed, analysis and conceptualization would be impossible, since the Lord's potencies are infinite. Although there are numerous divisions of material elements within the basic divisions, the spirit soul is always to be understood as a distinct transcendental element, meant for residence in the kingdom of God.

TEXT 14

pauç&Sa: 'ak{(itavyaR·(ma, @h"ÆÿAr"Ae naBaAe'inala:
jyaAeitar"Apa: i^oaitair"ita taÔvaAnyau·(Aina mae nava

*puruṇaù prakâtiṛ vyaktam
ahaì kâro nabho 'nilaù jyotiṛ äpaù kñitiṛ iti
tattväny uktäni me nava*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puruṇaù—the enjoyer; prakâtiù—nature; vyaktam—the primeval manifestation of matter; ahaì kâraù—false ego; nabhaù—ether; anilaù—air; jyotiù—fire; äpaù—water; kñitiù—earth; iti—thus; tattväni—the elements of creation; uktäni—have been described; me—by Me; nava—nine.

TRANSLATION

I have described the nine basic elements as the enjoying soul, nature, nature's primeval manifestation of the mahat-tattva, false ego, ether, air, fire, water and earth.

PURPORT

Prakâti, or nature, is originally unmanifest and later becomes manifest as the mahat-tattva. Although the living entity is puruṇa, an enjoyer, the real process by which he can enjoy is by satisfying the transcendental senses of the Lord, just as the hand eats by supplying food to the stomach. Within material nature the living entity becomes a false enjoyer, forgetting his subservience to the Lord. The material elements as well as the living entity and the Supersoul are thus systematically analyzed to demonstrate to the conditioned soul his actual constitutional position beyond material nature.

TEXT 15

™aAeḥaM tvagd"zARnaM „aANAAe ijaùe"ita ÁaAnazA·(ya:
vaAfpaNyaupasTapaAyvax.~i,,a:
k(maARNyaËÿAeBayaM mana:

*çrotraà tvag darçanaà ghräëo
jihveti ji' äna-çaktayaù
vāk-päëy-upastha-päyv-aì ghriù
karmäëy aì gobhayaà manaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çrotram—the sense of hearing; tvak—the sense of touch, experienced upon the skin; darçanam—sight; ghräääù—smell; jihvā—the sense of taste, experienced upon the tongue; iti—thus; ji' äna-çaktayaù—the knowledge-acquiring senses; vāk—speech; päëi—the hands; upastha—the genitals; päyu—the anus; aì ghriù—and the legs; karmäëi—the working senses; aì ga—My dear Uddhava; ubhayam—belonging to both these categories; manaù—the mind.

TRANSLATION

Hearing, touch, sight, smell and taste are the five knowledge acquiring senses, My dear Uddhava, and speech, the hands, the genitals, the anus and the legs constitute the five working senses. The mind belongs to both these categories.

PURPORT

Eleven elements are mentioned in this verse.

TEXT 16

zAbd": s$ pazAAeR r"s$aAe gAnDaAe
è&paM caetyaTaRjaAtaya:
gAtyauftyauts$agARizAlpaAina
k(maARyatanaïs$aÜ"ya:

*çabdaù sparço raso gandho
rüpaà cety artha-jätayaù
gaty-ukty-utsarga-çilpäni karmäyatana-siddhayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çabdaù—sound; sparçaù—touch; rasaù—taste; gandhaù—fragrance;
rüpam—form; ca—and; iti—thus; artha—of sense objects; jätayaù—the categories; gati—movement; ukti—speech; utsarga—excretion (by both the genitals and anus); çilpäni—and manufacture; karma-äyatana—by the above-mentioned working senses; siddhayaù—accomplished.

TRANSLATION

Sound, touch, taste, smell and form are the objects of the knowledge-acquiring senses, and movement, speech, excretion and manufacture are functions of the working senses.

PURPORT

Here the word utsarga refers to evacuation by the genitals and anus, and thus constitutes two elements. In this way ten elements are listed here in two sets of five.

TEXT 17

s$agAARd"AE 'ak{(ita÷Rsya
k(AyaRk(Ar"NAè&ipaNAl
s$aÔvaAid"iBagAuRNAEDaRÔae

pauç&SaAe'vya·(wR⁰atae

*sargādau prakâtir hy asya kārya-kāraëa-rüpiëë
sattvādibhir guëair dhatte
puruño 'vyakta êkñate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sarga—of creation; ādau—in the beginning; prakātiù—the material nature; hi—indeed; asya—of this universe; kārya—the manifest products; kāraëa—and subtle causes; rüpiëë—embodying; sattva-ādibhiù—by means of goodness, passion and ignorance; guëaiù—the modes; dhatte—assumes its position; puruñau—the Supreme Lord; avyaktaù—not involved in material manifestation; êkñate—witnesses.

TRANSLATION

In the beginning of creation nature assumes, by the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance, its form as the embodiment of all subtle causes and gross manifestations within the universe. The Supreme Personality of Godhead does not enter the interaction of material manifestation but merely glances upon nature.

PURPORT

The Personality of Godhead is not subject to transformation like the subtle and gross material elements. Thus the Lord is avyakta, or not materially manifest at any stage of cosmic evolution. Regardless of the specific method of cataloging the material elements, the Lord remains the ultimate creator, maintainer and annihilator of the total cosmic situation.

TEXT 18

vya·(Ad"AyaAe ivaku(vaARNAA

DaAtava: pauç&Sae^oayaA labDavalayaAR: s$a{jantyaNxM"
s$aMh"taA: 'ak{(taebaRlaAta,

vyaktädäyo vikurväää
dhätavaù puruñekñayä
labdha-véryäù sājanty aëòaa
saèhataù prakâter balät

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vyakta-ädayaù—the mahat-tattva and so on; vikurväääù—undergoing transformation; dhätavaù—the elements; puruña—of the Lord; ekñayä—by the glance; labdha—having attained; véryäù—their potencies; sājanti—they create; aëòam—the egg of the universe; saèhataù—amalgamated; prakâteù—of nature; balät—by the power.

TRANSLATION

As the material elements, headed by the mahat-tattva, are transformed, they receive their specific potencies from the glance of the Supreme Lord, and being amalgamated by the power of nature, they create the universal egg.

TEXT 19

s$aæaEva DaAtava wita taṭaATaAR: paÂa KaAd"ya: ÁaAnamaAtmaAeBayaADaAr"s$a, tataAe de"he"in%"yaAs$ava:

saptaiva dhätava iti
taträrthäù pai ca khādayaù
jī ānam ātmobhayādhāras
tato dehendriyāsavaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sapta—seven; eva—indeed; dhātavaù—elements; iti—thus saying; tatra—therein; arthäù—the physical elements; pañca—five; kha-ādayaù—beginning with ether; jī ānam—the spirit soul, who is the possessor of knowledge; ātmā—the Supreme Soul; ubhaya—of both (the seen nature and the jēva who is its seer); ādhāraù—the fundamental basis; tataù—from these; deha—the body; indriya—senses; asavaù—and vital airs.

TRANSLATION

According to some philosophers there are seven elements, namely earth, water, fire, air and ether, along with the conscious spirit soul and the Supreme Soul, who is the basis of both the material elements and the ordinary spirit soul. According to this theory, the body, senses, life air and all material phenomena are produced from these seven elements.

PURPORT

Having explained His own viewpoint, the Lord now summarizes various other analytic methodologies.

TEXT 20

Saix"tyaṭaAipa BaUtaAina
paĀa Sai": par": paumaAna, taEyauRwta @Atmas$amBaUtaE:
s$a{"îe"dM" s$amapaAivazAta,

*ñāò ity atrāpi bhūtāni
pañ ca ñāñhaù paraù pumān
tair yuita ātma-sambhūtaiù
sāñvedaà samapāviṣat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ñai—six; iti—thus; atra—in this theory; api—also; bhütāni—the elements; pañca—five; ñaiṇha—the sixth; para—the transcendental; pumān—Supreme Personality; tai—with those (five gross elements); yukta—conjoined; ātma—from Himself; sambhūtai—created; sāñvā—sending forth; idam—this creation; samupāviṣat—He entered within it.

TRANSLATION

Other philosophers state that there are six elements—the five physical elements (earth, water, fire, air and ether) and the sixth element, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. That Supreme Lord, endowed with the elements that He has brought forth from Himself, creates this universe and then personally enters within it.

PURPORT

Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé states that according to this philosophy, the ordinary living entity is included within the category of the Supersoul. This theory thus accepts only the Supreme Personality of Godhead and the five physical elements.

TEXT 21

catvaAyaR"vaeita taṭaAipa
taeja @ApaAe'aamaAtmana:
jaAtaAina taEir"dM" jaAtaM
janmaAvayaivana: Kalau

*catvāry eveti tatrāpi
teja āpo 'nnam ātmana
jātāni tair idaṁ jātaṁ*

janmävayavinaù khalu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

catväri—four; eva—also; iti—thus; tatra—in that case; api—even; tejaù—fire; äpaù—water; annam—earth; ätmanaù—from the Self; jätäni—all arising; taiù—by them; idam—this cosmos; jätam—has come about; janma—the birth; avayavinaù—of the manifest product; khalu—indeed.

TRANSLATION

Some philosophers propose the existence of four basic elements, of which three—fire, water and earth—emanate from the fourth, the Self. Once existing, these elements produce the cosmic manifestation, in which all material creation takes place.

TEXT 22

s$aÊÿYaAnae s$aæad"zAke( BaUtamaA†aein%"yaAiNA ca paÂa paÂaEk(manas$aA @AtmaA s$aæad"zA: sma{ta:

saì khyäne saptadaçake
bhüta-mätrendriyäëi ca
paì ca paì caika-manasä
ätmä saptadaçaù smâtaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saì khyäne—in the enumeration; saptadaçake—in terms of seventeen elements; bhüta—the five gross elements; mättra—the five subtle perceptions pertaining to each; indriyäëi—and the five corresponding senses; ca—also; paì ca paì ca—in groups of five; eka-manasä—along with the one mind; ätmä—the soul; saptadaçaù—as the seventeenth; smâtaù—is so considered.

TRANSLATION

Some calculate the existence of seventeen basic elements, namely the five gross elements, the five objects of perception, the five sensory organs, the mind, and the soul as the seventeenth element.

TEXT 23

taã"tSaAex"zAs$aÊÿYaAnae @AtmaEva mana ocyatae BaUtaein%"yaAiNA paÂaEva mana @AtmaA ‡ayaAed"zA

*tadvat ñòàça-saì khyāne
ätmaiva mana ucyate
bhütendriyāëi paī caiva
mana ätmā trayodaça*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tadvat—similarly; ñòàça-saì khyāne—in counting sixteen; ätmā—the soul; eva—indeed; manaù—as the mind; ucyate—is identified; bhüta—the five gross elements; indriyāëi—the senses; paī ca—five; eva—certainly; manaù—the mind; ätmā—the soul (both the individual soul and the Supersoul); trayodaça—thirteen.

TRANSLATION

According to the calculation of sixteen elements, the only difference from the previous theory is that the soul is identified with the mind. If we think in terms of five physical elements, five senses, the mind, the individual soul and the Supreme Lord, there are thirteen elements.

PURPORT

According to the theory of thirteen elements, the sense objects—aroma, taste, form, touch and sound—are considered by-products of the interaction of the senses and physical matter.

TEXT 24

Wk(Ad"zAtva @AtmaAs$aAE
mah"ABaUtaein%"yaAiNA ca @í"AE 'ak{(tayaêEva
pauç&Saê navaetyaTa

*ekādaçatva ātmāsau
mahā-bhütendriyāëi ca aññau prakātayaç caiva
puruñaç ca navety atha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ekādaçatve—in the consideration of eleven; ātmā—the soul; asau—this; mahā-bhüta—the gross elements; indriyāëi—the senses; ca—and; aññau—eight; prakātayaù—natural elements (earth, water, fire, air, ether, mind, intelligence and false ego); ca—also; eva—certainly; puruñaù—the Supreme Lord; ca—and; nava—nine; iti—thus; atha—furthermore.

TRANSLATION

Counting eleven, there are the soul, the gross elements and the senses.
Eight gross and subtle elements plus the Supreme Lord would make nine.

TEXT 25

wita naAnaA'as$aÊÿYaAnaM taÔvaAnaAma{iSaiBa: k{(tama,

s$ava< nyaAyyaM yauī-(maÔvaAä," ivaäu"SaAM ik(mazAAeBanama,

*iti nānā-prasaī khyānaà
tattvānām āñibhiù kātam
sarvaà nyāyyaà yuktimattvād
viduñāà kim açobhanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—in these ways; nānā—various; prasaī khyānam—enumeration; tattvānām—of the elements; āñibhiù—by the sages; kātam—has been done; sarvam—all this; nyāyyam—logical; yukti-mattvāt—because of the presentation of rational arguments; viduñām—of those who are learned; kim—what; açobhanam—lack of brilliance.

TRANSLATION

Thus great philosophers have analyzed the material elements in many different ways. All of their proposals are reasonable, since they are all presented with ample logic. Indeed, such philosophical brilliance is expected of the truly learned.

PURPORT

The material world has been analyzed in innumerable ways by innumerable brilliant philosophers, but the conclusion is always one—the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Vāsudeva. Aspiring philosophers need not waste their precious time showing off their intellectual brilliance, because there is little left to analyze on the material platform. One should simply surrender to the Absolute Truth, the supreme element, Lord Çré Kāñëa, and uncover one's eternal consciousness of God.

TEXT 26

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
'ak{(ita: pauç&SaêAeBaAE
yaâpyaAtmaivala°aNAAE @nyaAenyaApaA™ayaAtk{(SNA
ä{"zyatae na iBad"A tayaAe:
'ak{(taAE la°yatae ÷AtmaA
'ak{(itaê taTaAtmaina

çré-uddhava uvāca
prakātiù puruṇaḥ cobhau
yadi apy ātma-vilakṣaṇau
anyonyāpāçrayāt kṣaṇa
dāçyate na bhidā tayoḥ
prakātau lakṣyate hy ātmā
prakātiḥ ca tathātmani

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uvāca—Çré Uddhava said; prakātiù—nature; puruṇaù—the enjoyer, or living entity; ca—and; ubhau—both; yadi api—although; ātma—constitutionally; vilakṣaṇau—distinct; anyonya—mutual; apāçrayāt—because of shelter; kṣaṇa—O Lord Kṣaṇa; dāçyate na—it does not appear; bhidā—any difference; tayoḥ—between them; prakātau—within nature; lakṣyate—is apparently seen; hi—indeed; ātmā—the soul; prakātiù—nature; ca—and; tathā—also; ātmani—in the soul.

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava inquired: Although nature and the living entity are constitutionally distinct, O Lord Kṣaṇa, there appears to be no difference between them, because they are found residing within one another. Thus the soul appears to be within nature and nature within the soul.

PURPORT

Çré Uddhava here expresses the doubt that arises in the heart of an ordinary conditioned soul. Although the Vedic scriptures declare that the material body is a temporary fabrication of the material modes of nature, the conscious living entity within the body is actually an eternal spirit soul. In Bhagavad-gētā Lord Kāñëa has declared the material elements constituting the body to be His separated, inferior energy, whereas the living entity is the superior, conscious energy of the Lord. Still, in conditioned life the material body and conditioned soul appear inseparable and thus nondifferent. Because the living entity enters the womb of a mother and gradually comes out in a developed body, the soul appears to have entered deeply within material nature. Similarly, by the soul's identification with the material body, the body appears to enter deeply within the consciousness of the soul. What is more, the body cannot exist without the presence of the soul. By this apparent mutual dependence, the difference between the body and soul is obscured. Çré Uddhava therefore questions the Lord in order to clarify this issue.

TEXT 27

WvaM mae pauNx"r"lk(A°a mah"AntaM s$aMzAyaM ô$id" Ce$ÔaumahR"is$a s$avaRÁa vacaAeiBanaRyanaEpauNAE:

evaà me puëòaréka-kñā
mahāntaà saàçayaà hādi chettum arhasi sarva-ji a vacobhir naya-naipuëaiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—thus; me—my; puëòaréka-akñā—O lotus-eyed Lord; mahāntam—great; saàçayam—doubt; hādi—within my heart; chettum—cut; arhasi—You should please; sarva-ji a—O omniscient one; vacobhiù—with Your words; naya—in reasoning; naipuëaiù—very expert.

TRANSLATION

O lotus-eyed Kāñëa, O omniscient Lord, kindly cut this great doubt out of my heart with Your own words, which exhibit Your great skill in reasoning.

PURPORT

Çré Uddhava requests Lord Kāñëa to clearly demonstrate the difference between the material body and the spirit soul.

TEXT 28

tvaÔaAe ÁaAnaM ih" jalvaAnaAM
'amaAeSastae'ṭa zAi·(ta:
tvamaeva ÷AtmamaAyaAyaA
gAitaM vaetTa na caApar":

*tvatto ji' ānaà hi jēvānāà pramoñas te 'tra çaktitaù tvam eva hy ātma-māyāyā
gatià vettha na cāparaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tvattaù—from You; ji' ānam—knowledge; hi—indeed; jēvānām—of the living beings; pramoñāù—stealing away; te—Your; atra—in this knowledge; çaktitaù—by the potency; tvam—You; eva—alone; hi—indeed; ātma—Your own; māyāyāù—of the illusory potency; gatiṁ—the real nature; vettha—You know; na—not; ca—and; aparaù—any other person.

TRANSLATION

From You alone the knowledge of the living beings arises, and by Your potency that knowledge is stolen away. Indeed, no one but Yourself can understand the real nature of Your illusory potency.

PURPORT

As stated in Bhagavad-gétä, mattaù smâtir jî änam apohanaà ca: [Bg. 15.15] "From Me come remembrance, knowledge and forgetfulness." By the Lord's causeless mercy one is enlightened with knowledge, and by the Lord's illusory potency that knowledge vanishes and one is merged into ignorance. Those bewildered by mâyä cannot understand the difference between the material body and the spirit soul and thus should hear from the Lord Himself to remove this illusory covering.

TEXT 29

™aIBagAvaAnauvaAca
'ak{(ita: pauç&Saêeita ivak(lpa: pauç&SaSaRBa WSa vaEk(Air"k(: s$agAAeR gAuNAvyaitak(r"Atmak(:

çré-bhagavän uväca
prakâtiù puruñaç ceti
vikalpaù puruñarñabha
eña vaikärikaù sargo
guëa-vyatikarätmakaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said;
prakâtiù—nature; puruñaù—the enjoyer, living entity; ca—and; iti—thus;
vikalpaù—complete distinction; puruña-âñabha—O best among men;
eñaù—this; vaikärikaù—subject to transformation; sargaù—creation;
guëa—of the modes of nature; vyatikara—the agitation; ätmakaù—based upon.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best among men, material nature and its enjoyer are clearly distinct. This manifest creation undergoes constant transformation, being founded upon the agitation of the modes of nature.

PURPORT

The word puruṣa indicates the living entity and also the Supreme Lord, who is the supreme living entity. Material nature, subject to transformation, is full of duality, whereas the Lord is one and absolute. Material nature is dependent on its creator, maintainer and annihilator; the Lord, however, is completely self-reliant and independent. In the same way, material nature is unconscious and dull, lacking self-awareness, whereas the Supreme Lord is self-sufficient omniscience. The individual living entity shares the eternality, bliss and knowledge of the Personality of Godhead and is also completely distinct from material nature.

The word sarga here refers to the material amalgamation of the body, which covers the living entity. The material body undergoes constant transformation and is thus clearly different from the living entity, who is eternally the same. In the transcendental kingdom of God there is no conflict or agitation caused by creation, maintenance and destruction as exhibited in the material world. There all variety is resolved in the transcendental loving experience of Kāñṛea consciousness, the natural constitutional position of the soul.

TEXT 30

mamaAËÿ maAyaA gAuNAmayyanaek(DaA ivak(lpabauÜ"lê gAuNAEivaRDaÔae vaEk(Air"k(iñivaDaAe'DyaAtmamaek(ma, @TaAiDadE"vamaiDaBaUtamanyata,

mamāi ga māyā guëa-mayy anekadhā vikalpa-buddhéc ca guëair vidhatte

vaikārikas tri-vidho 'dhyātmam ekam athādhidaivam adhibhūtam anyat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mama—My; aī ga—My dear Uddhava; māyā—material energy; guëa-mayē—consisting of the three modes; anekadhā—manifold; vikalpa—different manifestations; buddhēu—and perceptions of these differences; ca—and; guëaiū—by the modes; vidhatte—establishes; vaikārikaū—the full-blown manifestation of transformations; tri-vidhaū—having three aspects; adhyātmam—called adhyātma; ekam—one; atha—and; adhidaivam—adhidaiva; adhibhūtam—adhibhūta; anyat—another.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, My material energy, comprising three modes and acting through them, manifests the varieties of creation along with varieties of consciousness for perceiving them. The manifest result of material transformation is understood in three aspects: adhyātmic, adhidaivic and adhibhautic.

PURPORT

The word vikalpa-buddhēu indicates that consciousness within various material bodies reveals different aspects of the Lord's creation. Birds such as seagulls glide on the ocean breezes, experiencing the Lord's creation of wind and altitude. The fish experience life within the water, and other creatures intimately experience life within trees or within the earth. Human society affords its own varieties of awareness, and similarly in heaven and hell different experiences are available. All types of material consciousness are transformations of the three modes of material nature, the expansions of the Lord's illusory energy.

TEXT 31

ä{"faUpamaAk<(vapaur"ṭa r"n'ae
par"s$parM" is$aDyaita ya: svata: Kae @AtmaA yade"SaAmapar"Ae ya @Aâ: svayaAnauBaUtyaAiKalais$aÜ"is$aiÜ":

dāk rūpam ārkāṇ vāpura atra randhre parasparaṇ sidhyati yau svataṇ khe ātmā yad eṇām aparō ya ādyaṇ svayānubhūtyākhila-siddha-siddhiṇ

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dāk—the function of sight (as adhyātma); rūpam—visible form (as adhibhūta); ārkam—of the sun; vapuṇ—the partial image (as adhidaiva); atra—in this; randhre—aperture (of the eyeball); parasparam—mutually; sidhyati—cause the manifestation of each other; yau—which; svataṇ—by its own power; khe—in the sky; ātmā—the Supersoul; yat—which; eṇām—of these (three features); aparaṇ—separate; yau—who; ādyaṇ—the original cause; svayā—by His own; anubhūtyā—transcendental experience; akhila—of all; siddha—manifest phenomena; siddhiṇ—the source of manifestation.

TRANSLATION

Sight, visible form and the reflected image of the sun within the aperture of the eye all work together to reveal one another. But the original sun standing in the sky is self-manifested. Similarly, the Supreme Soul, the original cause of all entities, who is thus separate from all of them, acts by the illumination of His own transcendental experience as the ultimate source of manifestation of all mutually manifesting objects.

PURPORT

Form is recognized by the function of the eye, and the eye's function is understood by the presence of perceivable form. This interaction of sight and form further depends on the presence of light provided by the demigods, whose service of universal management depends on the presence of those who are to be managed, namely the living entities experiencing form with their eyes. Thus the three factors-adhyātma, represented by the senses such as the eye; adhibhūta, the sense objects such as form; and adhidaiva, the influence of the controlling deities—exist in an interdependent relationship.

The sun globe itself is said to be self-manifest, self-luminous and self-experiencing; it does not share the interdependence of the senses and sense objects although facilitating their function. Similarly, the Supreme Personality of Godhead facilitates the interdependent experiences of all living entities. For example, newspapers, radio and television reveal world events to the mass of people. Parents reveal facts about life to their children, teachers to their students, friends to friends, and so on. The government manifests its will to the people and the people to their government. The sun and moon reveal the visual forms of all objects, and the perception of sound reveals audible form. The vibrations of particular types of music or rhetoric reveal the inner feelings of other living beings, and other types of knowledge are revealed by aroma, touch and taste. In this way, through the interaction of the senses and mind with innumerable sense objects, different types of knowledge are acquired. All such informative interactions, however, depend upon the supreme illuminating power of the Personality of Godhead. As stated in Brahma-saṅhitā (5.52), yac-cakñur eña savitā sakala-grahāḥ: "Among all the planets the sun is considered the eye of the Supreme Lord." The Personality of Godhead is eternally omniscient by His own transcendental potency, and thus no one can reveal anything to the Lord about anything. Still, Lord Kāñḍa humbly accepts our prayers offered in Kāñḍa consciousness. In conclusion, Lord Kāñḍa clearly explains here that His sublime characteristics are completely different from those of the manifest universe. The Lord is therefore the supreme transcendental entity, free from all material influence.

TEXT 32

WvaM tvagAAid" T^mavaNAAid" ca⁰aur," ijaù"Aid" naAs$aAid" ca icaÔayau.(ma,

*evaà tvag-ädi çravaëädi cakñur
jihvädi näsädi ca citta-yuktam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—in the same way; tvak-ädi—the skin, the sensation of touch and the demigod of the wind, Väyu; çravaëa-ädi—the ears, the sensation of sound and the demigods of the directions; cakñuù—the eyes (described in the previous verse); jihvä-adi—the tongue, the sensation of taste and the god of water, Varuëa; näsa-ädi—the nose, the sensation of smell and the Açviné-kumāras; ca—also; citta-yuktam—along with consciousness (implying not only conditioned consciousness together with the object of that consciousness and the presiding Deity Vāsudeva, but also the mind together with the object of thought and the moon-god Candra, intelligence with the object of intelligence and Lord Brahmā, and false ego together with the identification of false ego and Lord Rudra).

TRANSLATION

Similarly, the sense organs, namely the skin, ears, eyes, tongue and nose—as well as the functions of the subtle body, namely conditioned consciousness, mind, intelligence and false ego—can all be analyzed in terms of the threefold distinction of sense, object of perception and presiding deity.

PURPORT

The individual soul has no permanent relationship with the inter dependent material functions of the senses, sense objects and controlling deities. The living entity is originally pure spirit soul and is meant to depend on the Personality of Godhead in the spiritual world. It is useless to try to analyze matter and spirit within the same categories, since they belong to different potencies of the Supreme Lord. Thus the act of spiritually perceiving the Supreme Lord, His abode and one's own self is an entirely anti-material process realized within pure Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 33

yaAe's$aAE gAuNA°aAeBak{(taAe ivak(Ar":
'aDaAnamaUlaAnmah"ta: 'as$aUta: @hM" iṭava{nmaAeh"ivak(lpahe"taur," vaEk(Air"k(staAmas$a Wein%"yaê

yo 'sau guëa-kñobha-kâto vikâraù pradhâna-mülân mahataù prasûtaù ahaà tri-vân moha-vikalpa-hetur vaikârikas tãmasa aindriyaç ca

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù asau—this; guëa—of the modes of nature; kñobha—by the agitation; kâtaù—caused; vikâraù—transformation; pradhâna-mülât—which is generated from the pradhâna, the unmanifest form of the total material nature; mahataù—from the mahat-tattva; prasûtaù—generated; aham—false ego; tri-vât—in three phases; moha—of bewilderment; vikalpa—and material variety; hetuù—the cause; vaikârikaù—in the mode of goodness; tãmasaù—in the mode of ignorance; aindriyaù—in the mode of passion; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

When the three modes of nature are agitated, the resultant transformation appears as the element false ego in three phases—goodness, passion and ignorance. Generated from the mahat-tattva, which is itself produced from the unmanifest pradhâna, this false ego becomes the cause of all material illusion and duality.

PURPORT

By giving up one's false ego of identification with the three modes of nature, one can achieve Kāñëa consciousness, the pure, original state of existence. The word moha-vikalpa-hetuù indicates that because of false ego one considers himself to be the enjoyer of nature and thus develops a false sense of material duality in terms of material happiness and distress. False ego is removed by identifying oneself as the Lord's eternal servitor in full Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 34

@AtmaApair"ÁaAnamayaAe ivavaAd"Ae ÷stalita naAstalita iBad"ATaRinaï":
 vyaTaAeR'ipa naEvaAepar"maeta pauMs$aAM maÔa: par"Ava{ÔaiDayaAM svalaAek(Ata,

*ätmäparijī āna-mayo vivādo
 hy astēti nāstēti bhidārtha-niñōhaù vyartha 'pi naivoparameta puàsāà
 mattaù parāvātta-dhiyāà sva-lokāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ätma—of the Supreme Soul; aparijī āna-mayaù—based on lack of full knowledge; vivādaù—speculative argument; hi—indeed; asti—(this world) is real; iti—thus saying; na asti—it is not real; iti—thus saying; bhidā—material differences; artha-niñōhaù—having as its focus of discussion; vyarthaù—worthless; api—although; na—does not; eva—certainly; uparameta—cease; puàsām—for persons; mattaù—from Me; parāvātta—who have turned; dhiyām—their attention; sva-lokāt—who am nondifferent from them.

TRANSLATION

The speculative argument of philosophers—"This world is real," "No, it is not real"—is based upon incomplete knowledge of the Supreme Soul and is simply aimed at understanding material dualities. Although such argument is useless, persons who have turned their attention away from Me, their own true Self, are unable to give it up.

PURPORT

If one doubts the existence of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, one will inevitably doubt the reality of the Lord's creation. Thus, without understanding Lord Kāñëa, mere argument and debate over the reality and nonreality of the material world are useless. The material world is real specifically because it emanates from the supreme reality, Lord Kāñëa. Without understanding the reality of Lord Kāñëa one can never definitely ascertain the reality of His creation; one will always wonder if he is actually seeing something or merely thinking that he is seeing it. This kind of speculation can never be resolved without taking shelter of the Supreme Lord and is therefore useless. The devotees of the Lord are not inclined to such argument, because they are factually advancing in spiritual enlightenment and are fully satisfied with their progressively more beautiful experience of Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXTS 35-36

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
tvaÔa: par"Ava{ÔaiDaya:
svak{(taE: k(maRiBa: 'aBaAe
o»aAvacaAna, yaTaA de"h"Ana,
gA{õ"inta ivas$a{jainta ca

tanmamaAKyaAih" gAAeivand" äu"ivaRBaAvyamanaAtmaiBa:
na ÷etat'aAyazAAe laAeke( ivaã"AMs$a: s$ainta vaiÂataA:

çré-uddhava uvāca
tvattaù parāvātta-dhiyaù

*sva-kātaiù karmabhiù prabho uccāvacān yathā dehān
gāhēanti visājanti ca

tan mamākhyāhi govinda durvibhāvyam anātmabhiù
na hy etat prāyaṣo loke
vidvāṇsaù santi vai citāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uvāca—Çré Uddhava said; tvattaù—from You; parāvāta—diverted; dhiyaù—whose minds; sva-kātaiù—done by them; karmabhiù—by the fruitive activities; prabho—O supreme master; ucca-avacān—higher and lower; yathā—in which way; dehān—material bodies; gāhēanti—they accept; visājanti—give up; ca—and; tat—that; mama—to me; ākhyāhi—please explain; govinda—O Govinda; durvibhāvyam—impossible to understand; anātmabhiù—by those who are not intelligent; na—not; hi—indeed; etat—about this; prāyaṣaù—for the most part; loke—in this world; vidvāṇsaù—knowledgeable; santi—they are; vai citāù—who are cheated (by material illusion).

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava said: O supreme master, the intelligence of those dedicated to fruitive activities is certainly deviated from You. Please explain to me how such persons accept superior and inferior bodies by their materialistic activities and then give up such bodies. O Govinda, this topic is very difficult for foolish persons to understand. Being cheated by illusion in this world, they generally do not become aware of these facts.

PURPORT

No one can be considered intelligent without understanding the science of God, which includes a description of the negative results of those who have forgotten their eternal relationship with Him. There are many so-called wise men in the world, but although considering themselves to be most intelligent, they generally do not surrender to the supreme intelligence of the Lord. Thus they concoct varieties of philosophies according to their positions within the modes of nature. However, one cannot escape the influence of material nature through philosophy generated from that same illusory nature. Liberation is achieved by perfect knowledge coming from the spiritual platform, the kingdom of God. By faithfully hearing from Lord Kāñëa and His authorized representatives one can easily achieve liberation and go back home, back to Godhead.

TEXT 37

™a|BagAvaAnauvaAca
mana: k(maRmayaM NA|NAAma, win%"yaE: paÂaiBayauRtama, laAek(AéaAekM('ayaAtyanya @AtmaA tad"nauvataRtae

çré-bhagavān uvāca
manaù karma-mayaà èèëām
indriyaiù pai cabhir yutam
lokāl lokaà prayāty anya
ātmā tad anuvartate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; manaù—the mind; karma-maya—shaped by fruitive work; nèëām—of persons; indriyaiù—along with the senses; pai cabhiù—five; yutam—conjoined; lokāt—from one world; lokam—to another world; prayāti—travels; anyau—separate; ātmā—the soul; tad—that mind; anuvartate—follows.

TRANSLATION

Lord Kāñëa said: The material mind of men is shaped by the reactions of fruitive work. Along with the five senses, it travels from one material body to another. The spirit soul, although different from this mind, follows it.

TEXT 38

DyaAyanmanaAe'nau ivaSayaAna, ä{"í"Ana, vaAnau™autaAnaTa oâts$ald"tk(maRtanṭaM
sma{itastad"nau zAAmyaita

*dhyāyan mano 'nu viñayān dāññān vānuçrutān atha
udyat sédat karma-tantraà
smâtis tad anu çāmyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dhyāyat—meditating; manau—the mind; anu—regularly; viñayān—on the sense objects; dāññān—seen; vā—or; anuçrutān—heard from Vedic authority; atha—subsequently; udyat—rising; sédat—dissolving; karma-tantram—bound to the reactions of fruitive work; smātiu—remembrance; tat anu—after that; çāmyati—is destroyed.

TRANSLATION

The mind, bound to the reactions of fruitive work, always meditates on the objects of the senses, both those that are seen in this world and those that are heard about from Vedic authority. Consequently, the mind appears to come into being and to suffer annihilation along with its objects of perception, and thus its ability to distinguish past and future is lost.

PURPORT

One may ask how the subtle body, or mind, gives up its connection with one physical body and enters another. Such entering and leaving of physical bodies is called birth and death by conditioned souls. One utilizes his present senses to meditate on the visible objects of this world—beautiful women, palatial estates, and so on—and similarly one daydreams about the heavenly planets described in the Vedas. As death occurs, the mind is pulled away from the objects of its immediate experience and enters another body to experience a new set of sense objects. As the mind undergoes total reorientation there is the apparent loss of one's previous mentality and creation of a new mind, though actually the same mind is experiencing, but in a different way.

The conditioned soul is overwhelmed by the constant flow of material experience consisting of direct perception and abstract contemplation of the objects of this world. One thereby loses his transcendental memory of his relationship with God. As soon as one identifies with this world he forgets his eternal identity and surrenders to the false ego created by māyā.

TEXT 39

ivaSayaAiBainavaezAena
naAtmaAnaM yatsmare"tpauna:
jantaAevaE= k(syaicaÜe"taAer," ma{tyaur"tyantaivasma{ita:

viñayaābhiniveçena
nātmānaā yat smaret punaū jantor vai kasyacid dhetor
mātyur atyanta-vismātiū

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

viñaya—in (new) objects of perception; abhiniveçena—because of absorption; na—not; ātmānam—his previous self; yat—the situation in which; smaret—remembers; punaū—any more; jantoū—of the living entity; vai—indeed; kasyacid hetoū—for any reason or other; mātyuū—known as death; atyanta—total; vismātiū—forgetfulness.

TRANSLATION

When the living entity passes from the present body to the next body, which is created by his own karma, he becomes absorbed in the pleasurable and painful sensations of the new body and completely forgets the experience of the previous body. This total forgetfulness of one's previous material identity, which comes about for one reason or another, is called death.

PURPORT

Depending on one's karma, or fruitive activities, one may achieve a beautiful, wealthy or powerful body or be degraded to an abominable condition of life. Taking birth in heaven or in hell, the living entity learns to completely identify his ego with the new body and thus becomes absorbed in the pleasure, fear, opulence or suffering of the new body, completely forgetting the experiences of the previous body. Death occurs when the specific karma allotted to a physical body is finished. Since that particular body's karma is used up, it can no longer act upon one's mind; in that way one forgets the previous body. The new body is created by nature so that one can experience the karma currently in effect. Consequently one's entire consciousness becomes absorbed in one's current body in order that one can fully experience the results of his previous activities. Because the living entity falsely identifies himself as the body, bodily death is experienced as death of the soul. Actually, however, the soul is eternal and is never subject to creation or annihilation. This analytic knowledge of self-realization is easily understood in Kåñëa consciousness.

TEXT 40

janma tvaAtmatayaA pauMs$a:
s$avaRBaAvaena BaUir"d" ivaSayasvalk{(itaM 'aAò"r," yaTaA sva«amanaAer"Ta:

*janma tv ätmatayä puàsaù
sarva-bhävena bhüri-da viñaya-svékâtià prähur
yathä svapna-manorathaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

janma—birth; tu—and; ätmatayä—by identification with oneself; puàsaù—of a person; sarva-bhävena—completely; bhüri-da—O most charitable Uddhava; viñaya—of the body; své-kâtim—the acceptance; prähur—is called; yathä—just as; svapna—a dream; manaù-rathaù—or a mental fantasy.

TRANSLATION

O most charitable Uddhava, what is called birth is simply a person's total identification with a new body. One accepts the new body just as one completely accepts the experience of a dream or a fantasy as reality.

PURPORT

Identification with one's material body surpasses the mere affection and attachment one feels for the bodies of relatives or friends. The word sarva-bhävena here shows that one totally accepts the material body to be oneself, just as one completely accepts the experience of a dream as real. Mere imagination without practical action is called a daydream; the mental concoction that occurs in a sleeping state is called a dream. Our identification with our own body and our blind acceptance of bodily relationships as permanent constitute a prolonged form of dreaming or fantasy in which one imagines oneself to be separate from the Supreme Personality of Godhead. The term birth, therefore, does not refer to the generation of a new entity but to the blind acceptance by the spirit soul of a new material body.

TEXT 41

sva«aM manaAer"TaM caetTaM
'aA·(naM na smar"tyas$aAE
taṭa paUvaRimavaAtmaAnama, @paUvaRmcaAnaupazyaita

*svapnaà manorathaà cetthaà prāktanaà na smaraty asau tatra pūrvam ivātmānam
apūrvam cānupaçyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

svapnam—a dream; manaù-ratham—a daydream; ca—and; ittham—thus; prāktanam—previous; na smarati—does not remember; asau—he; tatra—in that (present body); pūrvam—the previous; iva—as if; ātmānam—himself; apūrvam—having no past; ca—and; anupaçyati—he views.

TRANSLATION

Just as a person experiencing a dream or daydream does not remember his previous dreams or daydreams, a person situated in his present body, although having existed prior to it, thinks that he has only recently come into being.

PURPORT

The objection may be raised that sometimes when experiencing a dream one actually remembers a previous dream. Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura replies that by the mystic power of jāti-smara one can remember one's previous body, and as is well known, "The exception establishes the rule." Normally, conditioned souls do not perceive their past existence; they think, "I am six years old" or "I am thirty years old," and "previous to this birth I did not exist." In such material ignorance one cannot understand the actual situation of the soul.

TEXT 42

win%o"yaAyanas$a{í"YaedM" ‡aEivaDyaM BaAita vastauina baih"r"ntaiBaRd"Ahe"taur," janaAe's$aÀanak{(âTaA

*indriyāyana-sāñōyedaà trai-vidhyaà bhāti vastuni
bahir-antar-bhidā-hetur
jano 'saj-jana-kād yathā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

indriya-ayana—by the resting place of the senses (the mind);
sāñōyā—because of the creation (of identification with a new body);
idam—this; trai-vidhyam—threefold variety (of high, middle and low class);
bhāti—appears; vastuni—in the reality (the soul); bahiù—external;
antaù—and internal; bhidā—of the differences; hetuù—the cause; janaù—a person; asat-jana—of a bad person; kāt—the progenitor; yathā—as.

TRANSLATION

Because the mind, which is the resting place of the senses, has created the identification with a new body, the threefold material variety of high, middle and low class appears as if present within the reality of the soul. Thus the self creates external and internal duality, just as a man might give birth to a bad son.

PURPORT

The wealth, beauty, strength, intelligence, fame and detachment of different bodies are considered to be excellent, normal or inferior according to the material situation. The spirit soul acquires a particular body and thus judges himself and others to be high, middle or low class according to their material situation. Actually, the eternal soul exists beyond material duality but falsely mistakes the material situation to be his own. The words asaj-jana-kād yathā are significant. A father may by nature be peaceful, but because his bad son gets into trouble the father is forced to defend his son and consider his son's enemies to be enemies of the entire family. Thus the bad son implicates the father in troublesome conflicts. Similarly, the spirit soul has no intrinsic problems, but by creating a false identification with the material body the soul becomes involved in the happiness and distress of the body. With this verse the Lord summarizes His discussion of the difference between the body and the soul.

TEXT 43

inatyad"A ÷Ëÿ BaUtaAina
Bavainta na Bavainta ca
k(AlaenaAla°yavaegAena
s$aU°matvaAÔa°a ä{"zyatae

*nityadā hy aī ga bhūtāni
bhavanti na bhavanti ca
kālenālakṇya-vegena
sūkṣmatvāt tat na dāṣyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nityadā—constantly; hi—indeed; aī ga—My dear Uddhava; bhūtāni—created bodies; bhavanti—come into being; na bhavanti—go out of being; ca—and; kālena—by time; alakṇya—imperceptible; vegena—whose speed; sūkṣmatvāt—because of being very subtle; tat—that; na dāṣyate—is not seen.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, material bodies are constantly undergoing creation and destruction by the force of time, whose swiftness is imperceptible. But because of the subtle nature of time, no one sees this.

TEXT 44

yaTaAicaRSaAM ›aAetas$aAM ca P(laAnaAM vaA vanas$patae:
taTaEva s$avaRBaUtaAnaAM vayaAe'vasTaAd"ya: k{(taA:

*yathārciṇāḥ srotasāḥ ca
phalānāḥ vā vanaspateḥ
tathaiva sarva-bhūtānāḥ
vayo- 'vasthādayaḥ kâtāḥ*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathā—as; arciṇām—of the flames of a candle; srotasām—of the currents of a river; ca—and; phalānām—of fruits; vā—or; vanaspateḥ—of a tree; tathā—thus; eva—certainly; sarva-bhūtānām—of all material bodies; vayaḥ—of different ages; avasthā—situations; ādayaḥ—and so on; kâtāḥ—are created.

TRANSLATION

The different stages of transformation of all material bodies occur just like those of the flame of a candle, the current of a river, or the fruits of a tree.

PURPORT

The wavering flame of a candle sometimes waxes brightly and again becomes weak. Finally it vanishes altogether. The waves of a flowing river rise and fall, creating innumerable shapes and patterns. The fruits of a tree gradually take birth, grow, ripen, sweeten and eventually rot and die. Similarly, one can easily understand that one's own body is undergoing constant transformation, and that the body is certainly subject to old age, disease and death. At different times of life the body exhibits degrees of sexual potency, physical strength, desire, wisdom and so on. As the body grows old, physical strength diminishes, but one's knowledge may increase even as the body undergoes such transformation.

Material birth and death occur within the realm of segmented time. The birth, creation or production of a material object immediately connects it with a segmented sequence of subtle time within the material world. Thus its destruction or death is inevitable. The irresistible force of time moves so subtly that only the most intelligent can perceive it. Just as the candle flame gradually diminishes, as the flowing currents move within the river or as fruits gradually ripen on a tree, the material body is steadily moving toward inevitable death. The temporary body should therefore never be confused with the eternal, unchanging spirit soul.

TEXT 45

s$aAe'yaM d"lpaAe'icaRSaAM yaã"ta, ›aAetas$aAM taid"dM" jalama,
 s$aAe'yaM paumaAinaita na{NAAM
 ma{SaA gAIDal=ma{RSaAyaSaAma,

*so 'yaà dépo 'rciñää yadvat srotasää tad idaà jalam
 so 'yaà pumän iti nääää
 mãñä gér dhér mãñäyuñäm*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—this; ayam—the same; dépaù—light; arciñäm—of the radiation of a lamp; yadvat—just as; srotasäm—of the currents flowing in a river; tat—that; idam—the same; jalam—water; saù—this; ayam—the same; pumän—person; iti—thus; näääm—of men; mãñä—false; gèù—statement; dhèù—thought; mãñä-äyuñäm—of those who are wasting their life.

TRANSLATION

Although the illumination of a lamp consists of innumerable rays of light undergoing constant creation, transformation and destruction, a person with illusory intelligence who sees the light for a moment will speak falsely, saying, "This is the light of the lamp." As one observes a flowing river, ever-new water passes by and goes far away, yet a foolish person, observing one point in the river, falsely states, "This is the water of the river." Similarly, although the material body of a human being is constantly undergoing transformation, those who are simply wasting their lives falsely think and say that each particular stage of the body is the person's real identity

PURPORT

Although one may say, "This is the light of the lamp," there are innumerable rays of light being created, transformed and destroyed at every moment; and although one may speak of the water of the river, there is an ever-new supply of different water molecules passing by. Similarly, when one meets a young child, one accepts that particular transitory phase of the body as the actual identity of the person, considering him to be a child. One also considers an old body to be an old person. In fact, however, the material body of a human being, just like the waves of a river or the radiation of a lamp, is merely a transformation of the three modes of material nature, the potency of the Supreme Lord. The real identity of a person is spirit soul, part and parcel of Lord Kāñëa, but as Lord Kāñëa proves in this verse, a conditioned soul is incapable of observing or understanding the subtle movements of time. With the gross vision of material consciousness one cannot ascertain the subtle segments of material manifestation, which are impelled by the Lord Himself as time. The word māñäyuiñäm in this verse indicates those who are uselessly wasting their time in ignorance without understanding the instructions of the Lord. Such persons gullibly accept any particular phase of the body to be the actual identity of the spirit soul within the body. Because the spirit soul is not subject to material transformation, when he engages himself in the eternal variegated pleasure of Kāñëa consciousness, loving service to the Supreme Lord, he will experience no further ignorance and suffering.

TEXT 46

maA svasya k(maRbaljaena
jaAyatae s$aAe'pyayaM paumaAna,
i•ayatae vaAmar"Ae "aAntyaA
yaTaAiçad"ARç&s$aMyauta:

*mā svasya karma-bējena
jāyate so 'py ayaà pumān
mriyate vāmaro bhrāntyā
yathāgnir dāru-saàyutaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mā—does not; svasya—of the self; karma-bējena—by the seed of his activities; jāyate—take birth; saù—he; api—indeed; ayam—this; pumān—personality; mriyate—dies; vā—or; amaraù—immortal; bhrāntyā—because of illusion; yathā—as; agniù—fire; dāru—with wood; saàyutaù—joined.

TRANSLATION

A person does not actually take birth out of the seed of past activities, nor, being immortal, does he die. By illusion the living being appears to be born and to die, just as fire in connection with firewood appears to begin and then cease to exist.

PURPORT

The element fire exists perpetually within the material creation, but in connection with a particular piece of wood fire apparently comes into existence and ceases to exist. Similarly, the living entity is eternal, but in connection with a particular body apparently takes birth and dies. The reactions of karma thus impose an illusory suffering or enjoyment upon the living entity, but they do not cause the entity himself to change his eternal nature. In other words, karma represents a cycle of illusion in which each illusory activity produces another. Kāñëa consciousness stops this cycle of karma by engaging the living being in spiritual activities in the loving service of the Lord. By such Kāñëa consciousness one can escape the illusory chain of fruitive reactions.

TEXT 47

inaSaek(gABaRjanmaAina baAlyak(AEmaAr"yaAEvanama, vayaAemaDyaM jar"A ma{tyaur," wtyavasTaAstanaAenaRva

niñeka-garbha-janmäni
bälya-kaumära-yauvanam
vayo-madhyaà jarä mâtyur
ity avasthäs tanor nava

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

niñeka—impregnation; garbha—gestation; janmäni—and birth;
bälya—infancy; kaumära—childhood; yauvanam—and youth;
vayaù-madhyam—middle age; jarä—old age; mâtyuù—death; iti—thus;
avasthäu—ages; tanoù—of the body; nava—nine.

TRANSLATION

Impregnation, gestation, birth, infancy, childhood, youth, middle age, old age and death are the nine ages of the body.

TEXT 48

WtaA manaAer"TamayaIr," h"AnyasyaAe»aAvacaAstanaU:
gAuNAs$aËÿAäu"paAd"Ôae
,(icatK(iêÀah"Aita ca

*etä manoratha-mayér
hänyasyoccävacäs tanüü
guëa-saì gäd upädatte
kvacit kaçcij jahäti ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etäü—these; manaü-rathaü-mayëü—achieved by meditation of the mind;
ha—certainly; anyasya—of the body (who is separate from the self);
ucca—greater; avacäü—and lesser; tanüü—bodily conditions;
guëa-saì gät—because of associating with the modes of nature; upädatte—he accepts; kvacit—sometimes; kaçcit—someone; jahäti—gives up; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

Although the material body is different from the self, because of the ignorance due to material association one falsely identifies oneself with the superior and inferior bodily conditions. Sometimes a fortunate person is able to give up such mental concoction.

PURPORT

One who has received the special mercy of the Supreme Lord is able to give up the mental concoction of bodily identification. Thus there is always a chance of escaping the cycle of birth and death.

TEXT 49

@Atmana: ipata{pauṭaAByaAma,

@naumaeyaAE BavaApyayaAE
na BavaApyayavastaUnaAma, @iBaÁaAe ã"yala°aNA:

*ātmanaù pitā-putrābhyām anumeyau bhavāpyayau na bhavāpyaya-vastūnām
abhijī o dvaya-lakṣaṇa*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ātmanaù—one's own; pitā—from the father or ancestors; putrābhyām—and the son; anumeyau—can be surmised; bhava—birth; apyayau—and death; na—is no longer; bhava-apyaya-vastūnām—of all that is subject to generation and destruction; abhijī aù—one who is in proper knowledge; dvaya—by these dualities; lakṣaṇa—characterized.

TRANSLATION

By the death of one's father or grandfather one can surmise one's own death, and by the birth of one's son one can understand the condition of one's own birth. A person who thus realistically understands the creation and destruction of material bodies is no longer subject to these dualities.

PURPORT

The Lord has described the nine stages of the material body, beginning with impregnation, gestation and birth. One may argue that a living entity cannot remember his presence in the mother's womb nor his birth and early infancy. The Lord therefore states here that one can experience these phases of bodily existence by studying one's own child. Similarly, although one may hope to live forever, by experiencing the death of one's father, grandfather or great-grandfather, one has definite proof that the material body will die. A sober person, knowing the soul to be eternal, therefore gives up false identification with the temporary, unreliable body and takes shelter of the devotional service of the Lord. By this process one can escape the artificial imposition of birth and death.

TEXT 50

tar"Aebal=jaivapaAk(AByaAM
yaAe ivaã"AÃanmas$aMyamaAE tar"AeivaRla°aNAAe %o"í"A WvaM %o"í"A tanaAe: pa{Tak,( taror béja-vipākābhyā̀ yo vidvāi janma-sàyamau taror vilakñāëo drañöä

evà drañöä tanoù pāthak

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tarou—of a tree; béja—(birth from) its seed; vipākābhyām—(destruction subsequent to) maturity; ya—one who; vidvān—in knowledge; janma—of birth; sàyamau—and death; tarou—from the tree; vilakñāëaù—distinct; drañöä—the witness; evam—in the same way; drañöä—the witness; tanoù—of the material body; pāthak—is separate.

TRANSLATION

One who observes the birth of a tree from its seed and the ultimate death of the tree after maturity certainly remains a distinct observer separate from the tree. In the same way, the witness of the birth and death of the material body remains separate from it.

PURPORT

As a reference to trees, vipāka indicates the final transformation called death. In reference to other types of plants such as rice, vipāka indicates the stage of maturity, in which death also occurs. Thus by common observation one can understand the actual position of one's material body and one's own position as the transcendental observer.

TEXT 51

‘ak{(taere"vamaAtmaAnama, @ivaivacyaAbauDa: paumaAna, taÔvaena s$pazARs$ammaUX#:
s$aMs$aArM" ‘aitapaâtae

*prakâter evam âtmānam avivicyābudhaù pumān
tattvena sparṇa-sammūḥaù
saàsāraà pratipadyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prakâteù—from material nature; evam—in this way; âtmānam—the self; avivicya—failing to distinguish; abudhaù—the unintelligent; pumān—person; tattvena—because of thinking (material things) to be real; sparṇa—by material contact; sammūḥaù—completely bewildered; saàsāram—the cycle of material existence; pratipadyate—attains.

TRANSLATION

An unintelligent man, failing to distinguish himself from material nature, thinks nature to be real. By contact with it he becomes completely bewildered and enters into the cycle of material existence.

PURPORT

A similar verse is found in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (1.7.5):

*yayā sammohito jēva
âtmānaà tri-guëâtmakam
paro 'pi manute 'narthāà*

tat-kātaà cābhipadyate

"Due to this external energy, the living entity, although transcendental to the three modes of material nature, thinks of himself as a material product and thus undergoes the reactions of material miseries."

TEXT 52

s$aÔvas$aËyAä{"SaInde"vaAna,
r"jas$aAs$aaur"maAnauSaAna,
tamas$aA BaUtaitayaRftvaM
"aAimataAe yaAita k(maRiBa:

*sattva-sai gād āñēn devān rajasāsura-mānuñān
tamasā bhūta-tiryaktvaà
bhrāmito yāti karmabhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sattva-sai gāt—by association with the mode of goodness; āñēn—to the sages; devān—to the demigods; rajasā—by the mode of passion; asura—to the demons; mānuñān—and to human beings; tamasā—by the mode of ignorance; bhūta—to the ghostly spirits; tiryaktvam—or the animal kingdom; bhrāmitaù—made to wander; yāti—he goes; karmabhiù—because of his fruitive activities.

TRANSLATION

Made to wander because of his fruitive work, the conditioned soul, by contact with the mode of goodness, takes birth among the sages or demigods. By contact with the mode of passion he becomes a demon or human being, and by association with the mode of ignorance he takes birth as a ghost or in the animal kingdom.

PURPORT

The word tiryaktvam means "the status of an animal," which includes all lower forms of life, such as beasts, birds, insects, fish and plants.

TEXT 53

na{tyataAe gAAyata: pazyana, yaTaEvaAnauk(r"Aeita taAna, WvaM baiiÜ"gAuNAAna, pazyaa, @nalh"Ae'pyanauk(AyaRtae

*nātyato gāyatau paçyan yathaivānukaroti tñ
evaà buddhi-guëän paçyann
anēho 'py anukāryate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nātyatau—persons who are dancing; gāyatau—and singing; paçyan—observing; yathā—just as; eva—indeed; anukaroti—imitates; tñ—them; evam—thus; buddhi—of the material intelligence; guëän—the acquired qualities; paçyan—seeing; anēhaù—although not himself engaged in activity; api—nevertheless; anukāryate—is made to imitate.

TRANSLATION

Just as one may imitate persons whom one sees dancing and singing, similarly the soul, although never the doer of material activities, becomes captivated by material intelligence and is thus forced to imitate its qualities.

PURPORT

Sometimes people are captivated by professional singers and dancers and imitate within their minds the musical rhythms and melodies of the performers along with their romantic, humorous or heroic emotions. People sing songs heard on the radio and imitate dances and dramatic performances seen on television or in movies and theaters, entering into the emotions and art of the performer. The conditioned soul is similarly captivated by the concoctions of the material mind and intelligence, which convince him that he can become the enjoyer of the material world. Although different from the material body and never the actual performer of its activities, the conditioned soul is induced to engage his body in material activities, which entangle him in the cycle of birth and death. One should not accept the illicit propositions of material intelligence, but rather should engage himself fully in the service of the Lord in Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXTS 54-55

yaTaAmBas$aA 'acalataA
tar"vaAe'ipa calaA wva
ca^oaus$aA "aAmyamaANAena
ä{"zyatae "amatalva BaU:

yaTaA manaAer"TaiDayaAe ivaSaySaAnauBavaAe ma{SaA sva«aä{"í" Aê d"AzAAhR" taTaA s$aMs$aAr" @Atmana:

*yathāmbhasā pracalatā
taravo 'pi calā iva
cakñusā bhrāmyamāëena
dāçyate bhramatéva bhüù*

*yathā manoratha-dhiyo viñayñānubhavo māñā
svapna-dāñōāç ca dāçārha
tathā saàsära ātmanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathā—as; ambhasā—by water; pracalatā—moving, agitated; taravaù—trees; api—indeed; calāù—moving; iva—as if; cakñuñā—by the eyes; bhrāmyamāëëna—which are being turned about; dāçyate—appears; bhramatē—moving; iva—as if; bhūù—the earth; yathā—as; manaù-ratha—of a mental fantasy; dhiyaù—the ideas; viñaya—of sense gratification; anubhavaù—the experience; māñā—false; svapna-dāññaù—things seen in a dream; ca—and; dāçārha—O descendant of Daçārha; tathā—thus; saàsāraù—the material life; ātmanaù—of the soul.

TRANSLATION

The soul's material life, his experience of sense gratification, is actually false, O descendant of Daçārha, just like trees' appearance of quivering when the trees are reflected in agitated water, or like the earth's appearance of spinning due to one's spinning his eyes around, or like the world of a fantasy or dream.

PURPORT

Trees appear to be swaying when reflected in agitated water, and similarly, when one is sitting on a moving boat the trees on the shore appear to be moving. When the wind whips up the water, creating waves, the water appears to have movement of its own, although it is actually being moved by the wind. The conditioned soul in material life does not perform any activities, but rather the material body, with the consent of the illusioned living entity, is being moved by the modes of nature. One imposes this external movement upon oneself, considering oneself to be dancing, singing, running, dying, conquering and so on, although these are merely interactions of the external body with the modes of nature.

TEXT 56

@TaeR ÷ivaâmaAnae'ipa
s$amS$a{itanaR inavataRtae
DyaAyataAe ivaSayaAnasya
sva«ae'naTaARgAmaAe yaTaA

*arthe hy avidyamäne 'pi
saàsâtir na nivartate
dhyâyato viñayän asya
svapne 'narthägamo yathä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

arthe—in truth; hi—certainly; avidyamäne—not existing; api—even though; saàsâtü—material existence; na nivartate—does not stop; dhyâyataù—who is meditating; viñayän—on the objects of sense gratification; asya—for him; svapne—in a dream; anartha—of unwanted things; ägamaù—the coming; yathä—just as.

TRANSLATION

For one who is meditating on sense gratification, material life, although lacking factual existence, does not go away, just as the unpleasant experiences of a dream do not.

PURPORT

One may object that if Lord Kāñëa insists that material life is false, then why should one endeavor to stop it? The Lord therefore explains here that although not factual, material life stubbornly continues for one addicted to sense gratification, just as a frightening dream continues for one merged in sleep. The word avidyamäna, "not existing," means that material life is based on mental concoction, in which one thinks, "I am a man," "I am a woman," "I am a doctor," "I am a senator," "I am a street sweeper" and so on. A conditioned soul enthusiastically performs his activities based on the imaginary identification with the body. Thus although the spirit soul exists and the body exists, the false identification with the body does not exist.

Material life, based on a false idea, has no factual existence.

After one awakens from a dream, the dim reflection of the dream may linger in one's memory. Similarly, one engaging in the devotional service of the Lord may be troubled sometimes by the dim reflection of sinful life. One should therefore become strong in Kāñëa consciousness by hearing the Lord's instructions to Çré Uddhava.

TEXT 57

tasmaAäu"Ü"va maA Baux.~^ova ivaSayaAnas$aid"in%"yaE: @AtmaAfah"NAinaBaARtaM
pazyavaEk(ilpakM("amama,

*tasmäd uddhava mä bhuì kīva viñayān asad-indriyaiù
ātmāgrahaëa-nirbhātaà
paçya vaikalpikaà bhramam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmät—therefore; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; mä bhuì kīva—do not enjoy; viñayān—the objects of sense gratification; asad—impure; indriyaiù—with senses; ātma—of the self; agrahaëa—inability to realize; nirbhātam—in which is manifest; paçya—see it; vaikalpikam—based on material duality; bhramam—the illusion.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, O Uddhava, do not try to enjoy sense gratification with the material senses. See how illusion based on material dualities prevents one from realizing the self.

PURPORT

Everything that exists is the potency and property of the Supreme Lord, meant to be used in His loving service. Seeing material objects as separate from the Lord and thus meant to be possessed and enjoyed by oneself is called vaikalpikaà bhramam, the illusion of material duality. When selecting one's personal object of enjoyment, such as food, clothing, residence or vehicle, one considers the relative quality of the object to be acquired. Consequently, in material life one is in constant anxiety, trying to acquire the most excellent sense gratification for one's personal pleasure. If one realizes everything as the property of the Lord, however, he will see everything as meant for the Lord's pleasure. He will feel no personal anxiety, because he is satisfied simply to be engaged in the Lord's loving service. It is not possible to exploit the property of the Lord and at the same time advance in self-realization.

TEXTS 58-59

i^oaæaAe'vamaAinataAe's$aià":
'alabDaAe's$aUiyataAe'Ta vaA
taAix"ta: s$ai^aaç&Ü"Ae vaA
va{ÔyaA vaA pair"h"Aipata:

inaï"YautaAe maUiṭataAe vaAÁaEr," baò"DaEvaM 'ak(impata: ™aeyas$k(Ama: k{(cC)$gAta @AtmanaAtmaAnamauÜ"re"ta,

*kñipto 'vamānito 'sadbhiù
pralabdho 'süyito 'tha vä
täòitaù sanniruddho vä
våttyä vä parihäpitaù*

*niñhyuto mütrito väji air bahudhaivaà prakampitaù
çreyas-kämaù kâcchra-gata
ätmanätmänam uddharet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kñiptaù—insulted; avamānitaù—neglected; asadbhiù—by bad men; pralabdhaù—ridiculed; asüyitaù—envied; atha vä—or else; täòitaù—chastised; sanniruddhaù—tied up; vä—or; vättyä—of his means of livelihood; vä—or; parihäpitaù—deprived; niñöhyutaù—spat upon; mütritaù—polluted with urine; vä—or; aji aiù—by foolish men; bahudhä—repeatedly; evam—thus; prakampitaù—agitated; çreyaù-kāmaù—one who desires the highest goal in life; kācchra-gataù—experiencing difficulty; ātmanā—by his intelligence; ātmānam—himself; uddharet—should save.

TRANSLATION

Even though neglected, insulted, ridiculed or envied by bad men, or even though repeatedly agitated by being beaten, tied up or deprived of one's occupation, spat upon or polluted with urine by ignorant people, one who desires the highest goal in life should in spite of all these difficulties use his intelligence to keep himself safe on the spiritual platform.

PURPORT

Throughout history many of the above-mentioned inconveniences have been experienced by devotees of the Lord. One who is advanced in God consciousness does not allow himself to become obsessed with the material body even in such conditions, but rather keeps the mind fixed on the spiritual platform through proper intelligence.

TEXT 60

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
yaTaEvamanaubauDyaeyaM
vad" naAe vad"taAM var"

*çré-uddhava uvāca
yathaivam anubudhyeyaà
vada no vadatāà vara*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uvāca—Çré Uddhava said; yathā—how; evam—thus; anubudhyeyam—I may properly understand; vada—please speak; naù—to us; vadatām—of all speakers; vara—O You who are the best.

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava said: O best of all speakers, please explain to me how I may properly understand this.

TEXT 61

*s$auäu":Sah"imamaM manya @Atmanyas$ad"ita,(mama, ivaäu"SaAmaipa ivaìAtmana,
'ak{(itaihR" balalyas$al
[%tae tvaÜ"maRinar"taAna, zAAntaAMstae car"NAAlayaAna,*

*su-duññaham imaà manya
ätmany asad-atikramam
viduññām api viçvātman
prakâtir hi baléyasé
âte tvad-dharma-niratān
çäntāàs te caraëälayān*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

su-duùsaham—most difficult to tolerate; imam—this; manye—I consider; ätmani—upon oneself; asad—by ignorant people; atikramam—the attacks; viduññām—for those who are learned; api—even; viçva-ätman—O soul of the universe; prakâti—one's conditioned personality; hi—certainly; baléyasé—very strong; âte—except for; tvat-dharma—in Your devotional service; niratān—those who are fixed; çāntān—peaceful; te—Your; caraëa-ālayān—who reside at the lotus feet.

TRANSLATION

O soul of the universe, the conditioning of one's personality in material life is very strong, and therefore it is very difficult even for learned men to tolerate the offenses committed against them by ignorant people. Only Your devotees, who are fixed in Your loving service and who have achieved peace by residing at Your lotus feet, are able to tolerate such offenses.

PURPORT

Unless one becomes advanced in the process of hearing and chanting the glories of the Supreme Lord, theoretical learning cannot make one actually saintly. One's conditioned personality, the result of long material association, is very difficult to overcome. Therefore we should humbly take shelter of the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord, who has so wonderfully explained to Çré Uddhava the real meaning of knowledge.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Twenty-second Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Enumeration of the Elements of Material Creation."

23. The Song of the Avanté Brāhmaëa.

This chapter tells the story of a mendicant sannyāsé from the Avanté country as an example of how one should tolerate the disturbances and offenses created by evil persons.

The harsh words of uncouth persons pierce the heart even more severely than arrows. Yet a mendicant brāhmaëa from the city of Avanté, even while being attacked by wicked men, considered this trouble to be simply the consequence of his own past deeds and tolerated it with utmost sobriety. Previously the brāhmaëa had been an agriculturalist and merchant. He had been extremely greedy, miserly and prone to anger. As a result, his wife, sons, daughters, relatives and servants were all deprived of every kind of enjoyment and gradually came to behave unaffectionately toward him. In due course of time, thieves, family members and providence took away the sum total of his wealth. Finding himself without any property and abandoned by everyone, the brāhmaëa developed a deep sense of renunciation.

He considered how the earning and preservation of wealth involve great effort, fear, anxiety and confusion. Because of wealth, there arise fifteen unwanted items-thievery, violence, lying, deception, lust, anger, pride, feverishness, disagreement, hatred, distrust, conflict, attachment to women, gambling and intoxication. When this meditation arose in his heart, the brāhmaëa could understand that the Supreme Lord Çré Hari had somehow become satisfied with him. He felt that only because the Lord was pleased with him had the apparently unfavorable turn of events in his life occurred. He was grateful that a sense of detachment had arisen in his heart and considered it the factual means for delivering his soul. In this condition he determined to engage the duration of his life in the worship of Lord Hari and thus accepted the mendicant order of tridaëòì-sannyäsa. Subsequently, he would enter different villages to beg charity, but the people would harass and disturb him. But he simply tolerated all this, remaining firm as a mountain. He remained fixed in his chosen spiritual practice and sang a song renowned as the Bhikñu-gêta.

Neither mortal persons, the demigods, the soul, the ruling planets, the reactions of work nor time are the causes of one's happiness and distress. Rather, the mind alone is their cause, because it is the mind that makes the spirit soul wander in the cycle of material life. The real purpose of all charity, religiosity and so forth is to bring the mind under control. A person who has already composed his mind in meditation has no need for these other processes, and for a person who is incapable of fixing his mind they are of no practical use. The false conception of material ego binds the transcendental soul to material sense objects. The Avanté brāhmaëa therefore became determined to bring himself over the insurmountable ocean of material existence by rendering service to the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord, Mukunda, with the same perfect faith in the Lord exhibited by the great devotees of the past.

Only when one can focus his intelligence on the lotus feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead can the mind be completely subdued; this is the essence of all practical prescriptions for spiritual advancement.

TEXT 1

™albaAd"r"AyaiNAç&vaAca
 s$a WvamaAzAMis$ata oÜ"vaena BaAgAvatamauKyaena d"AzAAhR"mauKya:
 s$aBaAJayana, Ba{tyavacaAe mauku(nd"s$a,
 tamaAbaBaASae ™avaNAIyavalyaR:

çré-bādarāyaëir uvāca
sa evam āçaàsita uddhavana
bhāgavata-mukhyena dāçārha-mukhyaù sabhājayan bhātya-vaco mukundas tam ābabhāñe çravaëéya-véryaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bādarāyaëiù uvāca—Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé said; saù—He; evam—thus; āçaàsitaù—respectfully requested; uddhavana—by Uddhava; bhāgavata—of the devotees; mukhyena—by the greatest; dāçārha—of the dynasty of Dāçārha (the Yadus); mukhyaù—the chief; sabhājayan—praising; bhātya—of His servant; vacaù—the words; mukundaù—Lord Mukunda,

Kāñëa; tam—to him; ābabhāñe—began to speak; çravaëéya—most worthy of hearing about; véryaù—whose omnipotency.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Lord Mukunda, the chief of the Dāçārhas, having thus been respectfully requested by the best of His devotees, Çré Uddhava, first acknowledged the fitness of his servant's statements. Then the Lord, whose glorious exploits are most worthy of being heard, began to reply to him.

TEXT 2

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
baAhR"s$patya s$a naAstyaṭa
s$aADauvaE= äu"jaR"naeir"taE:
äu"r".E(iBaR^aamaAtmaAnaM
ya: s$amaADaAtaumaIir":

çré-bhagavän uväca
bārhaspatya sa nästy atra
sādhur vai durjaneritaiù
duraktair bhinnam ātmānaà
yaù samādhätum éçvaraù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; bārhaspatya—O disciple of Bāhaspati; saù—he; na asti—there is not; atra—in this world; sādhur—a saintly person; vai—indeed; durjana—by uncivilized men; eritaiù—used; duruktaiù—by insulting words; bhinnam—disturbed; ātmānam—his mind; yaù—who; samādhätum—to compose; éçvaraù—is capable.

TRANSLATION

Lord Çré Kâñëa said: O disciple of Bâhaspati, there is virtually no saintly man in this world capable of resettling his own mind after it has been disturbed by the insulting words of uncivilized men.

PURPORT

In the modern age there is widespread propaganda ridiculing the path of spiritual realization, and thus even saintly devotees are disturbed to see the progress of human society being obstructed. Still, a devotee of the Lord must tolerate any personal insult, though he cannot tolerate offense against the Lord Himself or the Lord's pure devotee.

TEXT 3

na taTaA tapyatae ivaÜ":
paumaAna, baANAEstau mamaR"gAE:
yaTaA taud"inta mamaRsTaA ÷s$ataAM paç&SaeSava:

*na tathä tapyate viddhaù
pumän bäëais tu marma-gaiù yathä tudanti marma-sthä
hy asatäà paruñëñavaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; tathä—in the same way; tapyate—is caused pain; viddhaù—pierced; pumän—a person; bäëaiù—by arrows; tu—however; marma-gaiù—going to the heart; yathä—as; tudanti—prick; marma-sthäù—attaching within the heart; hi—indeed; asatäm—of evil persons; paruñä—harsh (words); ñävaù—the arrows.

TRANSLATION

Sharp arrows which pierce one's chest and reach the heart do not cause as much suffering as the arrows of harsh, insulting words that become lodged within the heart when spoken by uncivilized men.

TEXT 4

k(Tayainta mah"tpauNyama, witaH"As$aimah"AeÜ"va
tamahM" vaNARiyaSyaAima inabaAeDa s$aus$amaAih"ta:

*kathayanti mahat puëyam
itihäsam ihoddhava
tam ahaà varëayinïyāmi
nibodha su-samāhitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kathayanti—they tell; mahat—greatly; puëyam—pious; itihäsam—story; iha—in this regard; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; tam—that; aham—I; varëayinïyāmi—will describe; nibodha—please listen; su-samāhitaù—with careful attention.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, in this regard a most pious story is told, and I shall now describe it to you. Please listen with careful attention.

PURPORT

The Lord will now relate to Uddhava a historical account which teaches how to tolerate the insults of others.

TEXT 5

ke(naicaia"°auNAA gAltaM pair"BaUtaena äu"jaR$naE:
smar"taA Da{itayau·e(na ivapaAkM(inajak(maRNAAma,

*kenacid bhikñuëä gëtaà
paribhütena durjanaiù
smaratä dhâti-yuktena
vipäkaà nija-karmaëäm*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kenacit—by a certain; bhikñuëä—sannyäse; gëtam—sung; paribhütena—who was insulted; durjanaiù—by impious persons; smaratä—remembering; dhâti-yuktena—fixing his resolution; vipäkam—the consequences; nija-karmaëäm—of his own past activities.

TRANSLATION

Once a certain sannyäse was insulted in many ways by impious men. However, with determination he remembered that he was suffering the fruit of his own previous karma. I will narrate to you his story and that which he spoke.

PURPORT

Çréla Bhaktisiddhanta Sarasvaté Öhäkura comments as follows. "Often those who give up the materialistic path and devote themselves to renunciation are attacked by impious persons. This analysis, however, is superficial, since the punishment is actually the cumulative result of one's past karma. Some renunciants show lack of tolerance when presented with the remnants of their previous sins and thus are forced to enter again onto the path of impious life. Çré Caitanya Mahäprabhu therefore instructs that one should become as tolerant as a tree. If a neophyte on the path of devotional service to the Lord's pure devotees is attacked by envious persons, he must accept it as a consequence of his previous fruitive activities. One should be intelligent and avoid future unhappiness by rejecting the ethic of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. If one refuses to enter into enmity with envious men, they will automatically leave him alone."

TEXT 6

@vaintaSau iã"ja: k(iêä,"
@As$ald"AX#Yatama: i™ayaA vaAtaARva{iÔa: k(d"yaRstau
k(Amal laubDaAe'itak(Aepana:

*avantiñu dvijaù kaçcid
äséd äòhyatamaù çriyā
vārtā-vāttiù kadaryas tu
kāmé lubdho 'ti-kopanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

avantiñu—in the Avanté country; dvijaù—brähmaëa; kaçcit—a certain; äsét—there was; äòhya-tamaù—very rich; çriyā—with opulences; vārtā—by business; vāttiù—earning his livelihood; kadaryaù—miserly; tu—but; kāmé—lusty; lubdhak—greedy; ati-kopanaù—very prone to anger.

TRANSLATION

In the country of Avanté there once lived a certain brähmaëa who was very rich and gifted with all opulences, and who was engaged in the occupation of commerce. But he was a miserly person—lusty, greedy and very prone to anger.

PURPORT

According to Çrëla Çrédhara Svämé, the Avanté country is the district of Malwa. This brähmaëa was extremely wealthy, doing business in agriculture, banking and so on. Being a miser, he suffered agony when his hard-earned wealth was lost, as will be described by the Lord Himself.

TEXT 7

ÁaAtayaAe'itaTayastasya
vaAx.~maAḥaeNAAipa naAicaRtaA:
zAUnyaAvas$Ta @AtmaAipa
k(Alae k(AmaEr"naicaRta:

*jī ātayo 'tithayas tasya
vāi -mātreëapi nārcitāu çünyāvasatha ātmāpi
kāle kāmair anarcitāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jī ātayaù—the relatives; atithayaù—and guests; tasya—his; vāk-mātreëa api—even by words; na arcitāù—were not shown respect; çünya-avasathe—in his home deprived of religiosity and sense gratification; ātmā—himself; api—even; kāle—at the suitable times; kāmaiù—with sensory enjoyment; anarcitāù—not gratified.

TRANSLATION

In his home, devoid of religiosity and lawful sense gratification, the family members and guests were never properly respected, even with words. He would not even allow sufficient gratification for his own body at the suitable times.

TEXT 8

äu"h."zAllasya k(d"yaRsya
äu"÷ntae pauṭabaAnDavaA:
d"Ar"A äu"ih"tar"Ae Ba{tyaA ivaSaNNAA naAcar"na, i'ayama,

*duḥçēlasya kadaryasya
druhyante putra-bāndhaväu
dārā duhitaro bhātyā
vīṇaēēä nācaran priyam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

duḥçēlasya—having a bad character; kadaryasya—toward the miser;
druhyante—they developed enmity; putra—his sons; bāndhaväu—and in-laws; dāräu—his wife; duhitaraü—his daughters; bhātyäu—the servants;
visaēēäu—disgusted; na ācaran—they did not act; priyam—affectionately.

TRANSLATION

Since he was so hardhearted and miserly, his sons, in-laws, wife, daughters and servants began to feel inimical toward him. Becoming disgusted, they would never treat him with affection.

TEXT 9

tasyaEvaM ya^oaivaÔasya cyautasyaAeBayalaAek(ta: DamaRk(Amaivah"lnasya cau,u(Dau: paÂaBaAigAna:

*tasyaiva à yakña-vittasya
cyutasyobhaya-lokataü dharma-kāma-vihēnasya
cukrudhuü pai ca-bhāginaü*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—at him; evam—in this way; yakña-vittasya—who simply kept his wealth without spending it, like the Yakñas, who guard the treasury of Kuvera; cyutasya—who was deprived; ubhaya—of both; lokataù—worlds (this life and the next); dharma—religiosity; kāma—and sense gratification; vihēnasya—lacking; cakrudhuù—they became angry; pañca-bhāgināù—the deities of the five prescribed household sacrifices.

TRANSLATION

In this way the presiding deities of the five family sacrifices became angry at the bāāhmaëa, who, being niggardly, guarded his wealth like a Yakña, who had no good destination either in this world or the next, and who was totally deprived of religiosity and sense enjoyment.

TEXT 10

tad"vaDyaAnaivaṛasta-pauNyas$k(nDasya BaUir"d" @TaAeR'pyagAcC$iaDanaM
baù"AyaAs$apair"™ama:

*tad-avadhyāna-visrastapuēya-skandhasya bhūri-da
artho 'py agacchan nidhanaà
bahv-āyāsa-pariçramaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat—of them; avadhyāna—because of his neglect; visrasta—depleted; puēya—of piety; skandhasya—whose portion; bhūri-da—O magnanimous Uddhava; arthaù—the wealth; api—indeed; agacchat nidhanam—became lost; bahu—much; āyāsa—of endeavor; pariçramaù—which consisted only of the labor.

TRANSLATION

O magnanimous Uddhava, by his neglect of these demigods he depleted his stock of piety and all his wealth. The accumulation of his repeated exhaustive endeavors was totally lost.

PURPORT

The brāhmaëa's stock of piety became like a withered branch that no longer gives fruits or flowers. Çréla Jéva Gosvämé comments that the brāhmaëa had a trace of piety directed at the Supreme Lord with hopes of liberation. That pure portion of the branch of his piety remained unwithered, eventually giving the fruit of knowledge.

TEXT 11

ÁaAtyaAe jagA{"ò": ik(iÂata, ik(iÂaÚ"syava oÜ"va
dE"vata: k(Alata: ik(iÂaä," “aöbanDaAena{RpaAiTaRvaAta,

jī ātyo jagāhuù kīi cit
kīi cid dasyava uddhava daivataù kālataù kīi cid
brahma-bandhor nā-pārthivāt

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jī ātayaù—the relatives; jagāhuù—took away; kīi cit—some; kīi cit—some;
dasyavaù—thieves; uddhava—O Uddhava; daivataù—by providence;
kālataù—by time; kīi cit—some; brahma-bandhoù—of the so-called brāhmaëa; nā—by common men; pārthivāt—and by elevated government officials.

TRANSLATION

Some of the wealth of this so-called brähmaëa was taken away by his relatives, My dear Uddhava, some by thieves, some by the whims of providence, some by the effects of time, some by ordinary men and some by government authorities.

PURPORT

It appears that even though the so-called brähmaëa was determined not to spend his money, his wife and other relatives managed to squeeze out a portion. According to Çréla Çrédhara Svämé, providence here refers to fires in the home and other types of occasional misfortune. Effects of time here refers to the destruction of agricultural crops through seasonal irregularities and other such occurrences. Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Öhäkura points out that one should not merely proclaim oneself to be a brähmaëa but should actually understand one's original identity as a servant of the Lord. One declaring himself to be a brähmaëa but maintaining a materialistic mentality is not a real brähmaëa, but rather a brahma-bandhu, or so-called brähmaëa. The humble devotees of Lord Viñëu, following the indications of the Vedic scriptures, refer to themselves as unfortunate and unable to understand the kingdom of God; they do not proudly proclaim themselves to be brähmaëas. Those who are wise, however, know that such humble devotees are actually brähmaëas whose hearts are cleansed by the pure mode of goodness.

TEXT 12

s$a WvaM %o"ivaNAe naíe" DamaRk(AmaivavaijaRta:
opaei°ataê svajanaEzA,
icantaAmaApa äü"r"tyayaAma,

sa evaà draviëe nañöe

*dharma-kāma-vivarjitaù
upekñitaç ca sva-janaìç
cintām āpa duratyayām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he; evam—thus; draviëe—when his property; nañõe—was lost; dharma—religiosity; kāma—and sense enjoyment; vivarjitaù—devoid of; upekñitaù—neglected; ca—and; sva-janaìu—by his family members; cintām—anxiety; āpa—he obtained; duratyayām—insurmountable.

TRANSLATION

Finally, when his property was completely lost, he who never engaged in religiosity or sense enjoyment became ignored by his family members. Thus he began to feel unbearable anxiety.

TEXT 13

*tasyaEvaM DyaAyataAe d"IGa< naí"r"Ayastapaisvana:
iKaâtaAe baASpak(NQ&sya
inavaeRd": s$aumah"AnaBaUta,*

*tasyaivaà dhyäyato dérghaà
nañõa-rāyaù tapasvinaù
khidyato bāñpa-kaëöhasya
nirvedaù su-mahän abhüt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—of him; evam—thus; dhyäyataù—thinking; dérgham—for a long time; nañõa-rāyaù—his wealth lost; tapasvinaù—experiencing agony; khidyataù—lamenting; bāñpa-kaëöhasya—his throat choked with tears; nirvedaù—a sense of renunciation; su-mahän—very great; abhüt—arose.

TRANSLATION

Having lost all his wealth, he felt great pain and lamentation. His throat choked up with tears, and he meditated for a long time on his fortune. Then a powerful feeling of renunciation came over him.

PURPORT

The brähmaëa had previously been trained in pious life, but his past goodness was covered by his offensive behavior. Finally, his previous purity was reawakened within him.

TEXT 14

s$a caAhe"d"mah"Ae k(iM"
va{TaAtmaA mae'nautaAipata:
na DamaARya na k(AmaAya yasyaATaARyaAs$a wRä{"zA:

*sa cāhedam aho kaññaà
vāthātmā me 'nutāpitaù na dharmāya na kāmāya
yasyārthāyāsa édāçaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he; ca—and; aha—spoke; idam—this; aho—alas; kaññaam—the painful misfortune; vāthā—vainly; ātmā—the self; me—my; anutāpitaù—distressed; na—not; dharmāya—for religiosity; na—nor; kāmāya—for sense gratification; yasya—whose; artha—for wealth; āyasaù—labor; édāçaù—such as this.

TRANSLATION

The brähmaëa spoke as follows: O what great misfortune! I have simply tormented myself uselessly, struggling so hard for money that was not even intended for religiosity or material enjoyment.

TEXT 15

‘aAyaenaATA: k(d"yaARNAAM na s$auKaAya k(d"Acana wh" caAtmaAepataApaAya maṭtasya nar"k(Aya ca

*prāyeëāthāu kadaryäëäà
na sukhāya kadācana
iha cātmopatāpāya
mātasya narakāya ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prāyeëa—generally; arthāu—items of wealth; kadaryäëäm—of those who are misers; na—do not; sukhāya—lead to happiness; kadācana—at any time; iha—in this life; ca—both; ātma—of himself; upatāpāya—result in the torment; mātasya—and of him when he has died; narakāya—in the attainment of hell; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

Generally, the wealth of misers never allows them any happiness. In this life it causes their self-torment, and when they die it sends them to hell.

PURPORT

A miser is afraid to spend his money even for obligatory religious and social duties. Offending God and people in general, he goes to hell.

TEXT 16

yazAAe yazAisvanaAM zAuÜM" ëAGyaA yae gAuiNAnaAM gAuNAA:
laAeBa: svalpaAe'ipa taAna, h"inta
iïṭaAe è&paimavaeips$atama,

*yaçau yaçasvināḥ çuddhaḥ
çlāghyā ye guëināḥ guëāu lobhaḥ sv-alpa 'pi tñ hanti
çvitro rūpam ivepsitam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaçau—the fame; yaçasvinām—of those who are famous; çuddham—pure;
çlāghyāu—praiseworthy; ye—which; guëinām—of those endowed with good qualities; guëāu—the qualities; lobhaḥ—greed; su-alpaḥ—a little; api—even;
tñ—these; hanti—destroys; çvitraḥ—white leprosy; rūpam—physical beauty; iva—just as; epsitam—enchanting.

TRANSLATION

Whatever pure fame is possessed by the famous and whatever praiseworthy qualities are found in the virtuous are destroyed by even a small amount of greed, just as one's attractive physical beauty is ruined by a trace of white leprosy.

TEXT 17

@TaRsya s$aADanae is$aÜe" otk(SaeR r"°aNAe vyayae naAzAAepaBaAegA @AyaAs$as$a, ṭaAs$aiêntaA "amaAe na{NAAma,

*arthasya sādhanē siddhe
utkarṇe rakṣāḥ vyaye nāçopabhoga āyāsas*

trāsaç cintā bhramo nâëäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

arthaysa—of wealth; sādhane—in the earning; siddhe—in the attainment; utkarīe—in the increasing; rakñāëe—in the protecting; vyaye—in the expending; nāça—in the loss; upabhoge—and in the enjoyment; äyāsaù—labor; trāsaù—fear; cintā—anxiety; bhramaù—confusion; nâëäm—for men.

TRANSLATION

In the earning, attainment, increase, protection, expense, loss and enjoyment of wealth, all men experience great labor, fear, anxiety and delusion.

TEXTS 18-19

staeyaM ihM"s$aAna{taM d"mBa:
k(Ama: ,(AeDa: smayaAe mad":
Baed"Ae vaEr"maivaìAs$a:
s$aMs$paDaAR vya$anaAina ca

Wtae paÂad"zAAnaTaAR ÷TaRmaUlaA mataA na{NA Ama, tasmaAd"naTaRmaTaARKyaM ™aeyaAe'Tal= äU"r"tastyajaeta,

steyaà hiàsânâtaà dambhaù
kāmaù krodhaù smayo madaù
bhedo vairam aviçvāsaù saàspardhā vyasanāni ca

ete pai cadaçānarthā hy artha-mülā matā nâëäm
tasmād anartham arthākhyāà

çreyo-'rthé dūratas tyajet

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

steyam—theft; hiàsä—violence; anātam—lying; dambhaù—duplicity; kāmaù—lust; krodhaù—anger; smayaù—perplexity; madaù—pride; bhedaù—disagreement; vairam—enmity; aviçvāsaù—lack of faith; saàspardhä—rivalry; vyasanāni—the dangers (coming from women, gambling and intoxication); ca—and; ete—these; pañcadaça—fifteen; anarthäù—unwanted things; hi—indeed; artha-müläù—based on wealth; matäù—are known; nâëäm—by men; tasmāt—therefore; anartham—that which is undesirable; artha-ākhyam—wealth, spoken of as if desirable; çreyaù-arthé—one who desires the ultimate benefit of life; dūrataù—at a great distance; tyajet—should leave.

TRANSLATION

Theft, violence, speaking lies, duplicity, lust, anger, perplexity, pride, quarreling, enmity, faithlessness, envy and the dangers caused by women, gambling and intoxication are the fifteen undesirable qualities that contaminate men because of greed for wealth. Although these qualities are undesirable, men falsely ascribe value to them. One desiring to achieve the real benefit of life should therefore remain aloof from undesirable material wealth.

PURPORT

The words anartham arthākhyam, or "undesirable wealth," indicate wealth that cannot be efficiently engaged in the loving service of the Lord. Such superfluous money or property will undoubtedly pollute a man with all of the above-mentioned qualities and therefore should be given up.

TEXT 20

iBaântae "aAtar"Ae d"Ar"A:

ipatar": s$auô$d"staTaA Wk(AiµagDaA: k(Aik(iNAnaA
s$â: s$avaeR'r"ya: k{(taA:

bhidyante bhrätaro dārāu
pītarāu suhādas tathā
ekāsnigdhāu kākiēinā
sadyāu sarve 'rayāu kātāu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhidyante—they break off; bhrātaraū—the brothers; dārāu—wife;
pītarāu—parents; suhādaū—friends; tathā—and; eka—as if one;
āsnigdhāu—very dear; kākiēinā—by a small coin; sadyāu—immediately;
sarve—all of them; arayaū—enemies; kātāu—made.

TRANSLATION

Even a man's brothers, wife, parents and friends united with him in love will immediately break off their affectionate relationships and become enemies over a single coin.

TEXT 21

@TaeRnaAlpalyas$aA ÷etae
s$aMr"bDaA d"læamanyava:
tyajantyaAzAu s$pa{DaAe £ainta
s$ah"s$aAets$a{jya s$aAEô$d"ma,

arthenālpēyasā hy ete
saàrabdhā dépta-manyavaū
tyajanty āçu spādho ghnanti
sahasotsājya sauhādam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

arthena—by wealth; alpéyasā—insignificant; hi—even; ete—they; saàrabdhäù—agitated; dépta—inflamed; manyavaù—their anger; tyajanti—they give up; äçu—very quickly; spâdhaù—becoming quarrelsome; ghnanti—they destroy; sahasā—quickly; utsājya—rejecting; sauhādam—goodwill.

TRANSLATION

For even a small amount of money these relatives and friends become very agitated and their anger is inflamed. Acting as rivals, they quickly give up all sentiments of goodwill and will reject one at a moment's notice, even to the point of committing murder.

TEXT 22

labDvaA janmaAmar"“aATya< maAnauSyaM taä," iā"jaAfyataAma, tad"naAä{"tya yae svaATa< £ainta yaAntyazAuBaAM gAitama,

labdhvā janmāmara-prārthyaà
mānuṇyaà tad dvijāgryatām
tad anādātya ye svārthaà
ghnanti yānty aṣubhāà gatim

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

labdhvā—having attained; janma—the birth; amara—by the demigods; prārthyam—prayed for; mānuṇyam—human; tat—and in that; dvija-āgryatām—the status of being the best of the twice-born; tat—that; anādātya—not appreciating; ye—those who; sva-artham—their own best interest; ghnanti—destroy; yānti—they go; aṣubhām—to an inauspicious; gatim—destination.

TRANSLATION

Those who obtain human life, which is prayed for even by the demigods, and in that human birth become situated as first-class brāhmaëas, are extremely fortunate. If they disregard this important opportunity, they are certainly killing their own self-interest and thus achieve a most unfortunate end.

PURPORT

Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatē Ōhākura comments as follows. "Human birth is better than that of the demigods, ghosts, spirits, animals, trees, lifeless stones, and so forth, because the demigods simply enjoy celestial pleasures, and in other forms of life there is excessive suffering. It is only in human life that one deeply considers one's ultimate benefit in life. Human birth is therefore more desirable than even that of the demigods." Within human life the position of a high-class brāhmaëa is certainly most desirable. If a brāhmaëa, however, gives up the devotional service of the Lord and works hard like a çūdra simply for the prestige of his community, he is certainly on the platform of material sense gratification. The special qualification of the brāhmaëas is the spiritual knowledge by which they recognize every living entity to be an eternal servant of the Lord. A brāhmaëa, free from false ego, thus feels himself lower than a blade of grass and tolerantly offers respect to all living entities. All human beings, and especially the brāhmaëas, should avoid becoming killers of their own self-interest by neglecting Kāñëa consciousness, the loving service of the Lord. Such neglect paves the way for future suffering.

TEXT 23

svagAARpavagARyaAeã"ARrM"
'aApya laAek(imamaM paumaAna, %"ivaNAe k(Ae'nauSaÀaeta

matyaAeR'naTaRsya DaAmaina

*svargäpavargayor dväraà präpya lokam imaà pumän
draviëe ko 'nuñajjeta
martyo 'narthasya dhämani*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

svarga—of heaven; apavargayoù—and liberation; dväram—the gateway; präpya—achieving; lokam—the human life; imam—this; pumän—a person; draviëe—to property; kaù—who; anuñajjeta—will become attached; martyaù—prone to death; anarthasya—of worthlessness; dhämani—in the realm.

TRANSLATION

What mortal man, having achieved this human life, which is the very gateway to both heaven and liberation, would willingly become attached to that abode of worthlessness, material property?

PURPORT

That which one intends to use for one's personal sense gratification is called material property, whereas paraphernalia to be used in the Lord's loving service is understood to be spiritual. One should give up all one's material property by utilizing it completely in the devotional service of the Lord. A person who owns a luxurious mansion should install the Deity of the Lord and hold regular programs to propagate Kåñëa consciousness. Similarly, wealth should be used to build temples of the Lord and publish literature scientifically explaining the Personality of Godhead. One who blindly renounces material property without utilizing it in the service of the Lord does not understand that everything belongs to the Personality of Godhead. Such blind renunciation is based on the material idea that "This property could belong to me, but I don't want it." Everything, in fact, belongs to God; knowing this one neither tries to enjoy nor to reject the things of this world, but peacefully engages them in the service of the Lord.

TEXT 24

de"vaiSaRipata{BaUtaAina ÁaAtalna, banDaUMê BaAigAna:
@s$aMivaBajya caAtmaAnaM
ya°aivaÔa: patatyDa:

*devarñi-pitā-bhūtāni
jī'ātēn bandhūàç ca bhāginau asaàvibhajya cātmānaà
yakña-vittau pataty adhaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deva—the demigods; āñi—sages; pitā—departed forefathers; bhūtāni—and living entities in general; jī'ātēn—one's immediate relatives; bandhūn—extended family; ca—and; bhāginau—to the shareholders; asaàvibhajya—not distributing; ca—and; ātmānam—to oneself; yakña-vittau—whose wealth is simply like that of a Yakña; patati—he falls; adhaù—down.

TRANSLATION

One who fails to distribute his wealth to the proper shareholders—the demigods, sages, forefathers and ordinary living entities, as well as his immediate relatives, in-laws and own self—is maintaining his wealth simply like a Yakña and will fall down.

PURPORT

One who does not share his wealth with the above-mentioned authorized persons and does not even enjoy the wealth himself will certainly suffer unlimited problems in life.

TEXT 25

vyaTaRyaATaeRh"yaA ivaÔaM
'amaÔasya vayaAe balama, ku(zAlaA yaena is$aDyainta jar"Q&: ikM(nau s$aADayae

*vyarthayärthehayä vittaà pramattasya vayo balam
kuçalä yena sidhyanti
jaraõhaù kià nu sādhave*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vyarthayä—useless; artha—for wealth; ēhayä—by the endeavor; vittam—money; pramattasya—of the maddened; vayaù—youth; balam—strength; kuçaläù—those who are discriminating; yena—by means of which; sidhyanti—become perfect; jaraõhaù—an old man; kim—what; nu—indeed; sādhave—can I achieve.

TRANSLATION

Discriminating persons are able to utilize their money, youth and strength to achieve perfection. But I have feverishly squandered these in the useless endeavor for further wealth. Now that I am an old man, what can I achieve?

TEXT 26

k(smaAts$ax.~iflazyatae ivaã"Ana, vyaTaRyaATaeRh"yaAs$ak{(ta,
k(syaicanmaAyayaA naUnaM laAek(Ae'yaM s$auivamaAeih"ta:

*kasmät saì kliçyate vidvân vyarthayârthehayâsakât
kasyacin mâyayâ nûnaà
loko 'yaà su-vimohitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kasmät—why; saì kliçyate—suffers; vidvân—one who is wise; vyarthayâ—vain; artha-êhayâ—in the pursuit of wealth; asakât—constantly; kasyacit—of someone; mâyayâ—by the illusory potency; nûnam—certainly; lokaù—the world; ayam—this; su-vimohitaù—very much bewildered.

TRANSLATION

Why must an intelligent man suffer by his constant vain efforts to get wealth? Indeed, this whole world is most bewildered by someone's illusory potency.

TEXT 27

*ikM(DanaEDaRnadE"vaAR ikM( k(AmaEvaAR k(AmadE"ç&ta
ma{tyaunaA fasyamaAnasya
k(maRiBavaAeRta janmadE":*

*kià dhanair dhana-dair vä kià
kämair vä käma-dair uta mâtyunä grasyamānasya
karmabhir vota janma-daiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kim—of what use; ghanaiù—are different kinds of wealth; ghana-daiù—the givers of wealth; vä—or; kim—what is the use; kāmaiù—of the objects of sense gratification; vä—or; kāma-daiù—those who give such sense gratification; uta—or; mâtyunä—by death; grasyamānasya—for one who is being seized; karmabhiù—by fruitive activities; vä uta—or else; janma-daiù—which give him his next birth.

TRANSLATION

For one who is in the grips of death, what is the use of wealth or those who offer it, sense gratification or those who offer it, or, for that matter, any type of fruitive activity, which simply causes one to again take birth in the material world?

TEXT 28

naUnaM mae BagAvaAMstauí":
s$avaR$de"vamayaAe h"ir":
yaena naltaAe d"zAAmaetaAM
inavaeRd"êAtmana: plava:

nünaà me bhagaväàs tuñõaù
sarva-deva-mayo hariù
yena néto daçãm etäà
nirvedaç cätmanaù plavaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nünam—certainly; me—with Me; bhagavän—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; tuñõaù—is satisfied; sarva-deva-mayaù—who comprises all the demigods; hariù—Lord Viñëu; yena—by whom; nétaù—I have been brought; daçãm—to the condition; etäm—this; nirvedaù—detachment; ca—and; ätmanaù—of the self; plavaù—the boat (to carry me over the ocean of material suffering).

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, who contains within Himself all the demigods, must be satisfied with me. Indeed, He has brought me to this suffering condition and forced me to experience detachment, which is the boat to carry me over this ocean of material life.

PURPORT

The brāhmaëa could understand that the demigods, who award different types of sense gratification as the result of one's fruitive activities, cannot bestow the highest benefit in life. When the brāhmaëa lost all his property he could understand that the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who comprises all the demigods, had given him the highest perfection, not by awarding sense gratification but by saving him from the ocean of material enjoyment. Being thus deprived of the opportunity to cultivate religiosity, wealth, sense gratification and liberation, the brāhmaëa became detached, and transcendental knowledge awakened within his heart.

TEXT 29

s$Ae'hM" k(AlaAvazAeSaeNA
zAAeSaiyaSyae'ËymaAtmana:
@'amaÔaAe'iKalasvaATaeR
yaid" syaAits$aÜ" @Atmaina

*so 'haà kälavaçeñeëa çoñayiñye 'i gam ätmanaù
apramatto 'khila-svärthe
yadi syät siddha ätmani*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù aham—I; käla-avaçeñeëa—with whatever time remains; çoñayiñye—shall reduce to the minimum; aì gam—this body; ätmanaù—my; apramattaù—unbewildered; akhila—entire; sva-arthe—in the real self-interest; yadi—if; syät—there remains any (time); siddhaù—satisfied; ätmani—within myself.

TRANSLATION

If there is any time remaining in my life, I will perform austerities and force my body to subsist on the bare necessities. Without further confusion I shall pursue that which constitutes my entire self-interest in life, and I shall remain satisfied within the self.

TEXT 30

taṭa maAmanaumaAede"r"na,
de"vaAiñBauvanaeìr"A:
mauó"taeRna "aölaAekM( KaÅ%AËy: s$amas$aADayata,

*tatra mām anumoderan
devās tri-bhuvaneṣvarāu
muhūrtena brahma-lokaà
khaöväi gaù samasādhayat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tatra—in this regard; mām—with me; anumoderan—may they kindly be pleased; devāu—the demigods; tri-bhuvana—of the three worlds; ēṣvarāu—the controllers; muhūrtena—in a single moment; brahmalokam—the spiritual world; khaöväi ga—King Khaöväi ga; samasādhayat—achieved.

TRANSLATION

Thus may the presiding demigods of these three worlds kindly show their mercy upon me. Indeed, Mahārāja Khaöväi ga was able to achieve the spiritual world in a single moment.

PURPORT

The brähmaëa of Avanté thought that although he was an old man who might die at any moment he could follow the example of Mahārāja Khaövāi ga, who achieved the Lord's mercy in a single moment. Mahārāja Khaövāi ga, as described in the Second Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, fought valiantly on behalf of the demigods, and they offered the king any benediction he might desire. Khaövāi ga Mahārāja chose to find out the remaining duration of his life, which unfortunately was a single moment. The king therefore immediately surrendered to Lord Kāñëa and achieved the spiritual world. The brähmaëa of Avanté desired to follow this example; with the blessings of the demigods, who are all devotees of the Lord, he hoped to become fully Kāñëa conscious before giving up his body.

TEXT 31

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
 wtyaiBa'aetya manas$aA ÷AvantyaAe iā"jas$aÔama:
 onmaucya ô$d"yafanTalna,
 zAAntaAe iBa°aur"BaUnmauina:

çré-bhagavän uväca
ity abhipretya manasä
hy ävantyo dvija-sattamaù
unmucya hâdaya-granthén
çänto bhikñur abhün muniù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Lord said; iti—thus; abhipretya—concluding; manasä—within his mind; hi—indeed; ävantyaù—of the district of Avanté; dvija-sat-tamaù—now the most pious brähmaëa; unmucya—untying; hâdaya—in his heart; granthén—the knots (of desire); çäntaù—peaceful; bhikñuù—a mendicant sannyäse; abhüt—he became; muniù—silent.

TRANSLATION

Lord Çré Kāṇēa continued: His mind thus determined, that most excellent Avanté brāhmaëa was able to untie the knots of desire within his heart. He then assumed the role of a peaceful and silent sannyäse mendicant.

TEXT 32

s$a cacaAr" mah"ImaetaAM
s$aMyataAtmaein%"yaAinala:
iBa°aATa< nagAr"faAmaAna, @s$aËÿAe'lai°ataAe'ivazAta,

*sa cacära mahém etäà
saàyatätmendriyänilaù
bhikñärthaà nagara-grāmān
asaì go 'lakñito 'viçat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he; cacära—wandered; mahém—the earth; etäm—this; saàyata—controlled; ätma—his consciousness; indriya—senses; anilaù—and vital air; bhikñä-artham—for the purpose of taking charity; nagara—the cities; grāmān—and villages; asaì gaù—without any association; alakñitaù—not making himself prominent, thus unrecognized; aviçat—he entered.

TRANSLATION

He wandered about the earth, keeping his intelligence, senses and life air under control. To beg charity he traveled alone to various cities and villages. He did not advertise his advanced spiritual position and thus was not recognized by others.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ōhākura, the acceptance of the tridaēōi-sannyāsa order of life is the chief indication that one has actually taken shelter of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. The three rods of the daēōa, or staff, of the Vaiñēava sannyās indicate control of the body, mind and words by engaging them only in the loving service of the Lord. This procedure helps one to become more tolerant than a tree, as recommended by Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu. By strict control of one's body, mind and speech, the quality of tolerance becomes strengthened, and thus one manifests the further qualities of forgiving others, never wasting one's time, detachment from sense gratification, lack of false pride in one's work and not hankering for liberation. One in this way gives up the mentality of materialistic persons, who establish so-called affectionate relationships of mutual flattery and exploit each other for sense gratification. One who adopts the strict path of Kāñēa consciousness, following in the footsteps of great souls, can achieve the shelter of the Lord.

TEXT 33

taM vaE 'avayas$aM iBa^oauma, @vaDaUtamas$aĀanaA:
ä{"Ī"A payaRBavana, Ba%o"
baù"liBa: pair"BaUitaiBa:

taà vai pravayasaà bhikñum
avadhūtam asaj-janāù
dāñōvā paryabhavan bhadra
bahvébhiù paribhūtibhiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—him; vai—indeed; pravayasam—old; bhikñum—the beggar;
avadhūtam—unclean; asat—low-class; janāù—persons; dāñōvā—seeing;
paryabhavan—dishonored; bhadra—O kind Uddhava; bahvébhiù—with many; paribhūtibhiù—insults

TRANSLATION

O kind Uddhava, seeing him as an old, dirty beggar, rowdy persons would dishonor him with many insults.

TEXT 34

ke(icaityavaeNAuM jagA{"ò"r," Wke(paAṭaM k(maNx"lauma, paIQM& caEke('°as$aUṭaM ca
k(nTaAM calr"AiNA ke(cana
'ad"Aya ca paunastaAina
d"izARtaAnyAd"äu"mauR"nae:

*kecit tri-veëuà jagāhur
eke pātraà kamaëòalum
péōhaà caike 'kñā-sūtraà ca
kanthāà céräëi kecana pradāya ca punas tāni
darçitāny ādadur muneù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kecit—some of them; tri-veëum—his sannyāsē triple staff; jagāhuù—they took away; eke—some; pātram—his begging bowl; kamaëòalum—waterpot; péōham—seat; ca—and; eke—some; akñā-sūtram—chanting beads; ca—and; kanthām—rags; céräëi—torn; kecana—some of them; pradāya—offering back; ca—and; punaù—again; tāni—they; darçitāni—which were being shown; ādaduù—they took away; muneù—of the sage.

TRANSLATION

Some of these persons would take away his sannyāsē rod, and some the waterpot which he was using as a begging bowl. Some took his deerskin seat, some his chanting beads, and some would steal his torn, ragged clothing. Displaying these things before him, they would pretend to offer them back but would then hide them again.

TEXT 35

@^aaM ca BaE^oyas$ampa^aaM Bau^ãaAnasya s$air"Ôaqe% maU[†]ayainta ca paAipaï"A:
ï"lvantyasya ca maUDaRina

*anna^à ca bhaikñya-sampanna^à bhui^jānasya sarit-ta^œ mūtrayanti ca pāpiññhāu
ññhévanti asya ca mūrdhani*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

annam—food; ca—and; bhaikñya—by his begging; sampannam—acquired; bhui^jānasya—of him who was about to partake; sarit—of a river; ta^œ—on the shore; mūtrayanti—they urinate upon; ca—and; pāpiññhāu—most sinful persons; ññhévanti—they spit; asya—his; ca—and; mūrdhani—on his head.

TRANSLATION

When he was sitting on the bank of a river about to partake of the food that he had collected by his begging, such sinful rascals would come and pass urine on it, and they would dare to spit on his head.

TEXT 36

yatavaAcaM vaAcayainta taAx"yainta na vai-(caeta, tajaRyantyapare" vaAigBa:

staenaAe'yaimaita vaAid"na:
ba©ainta r"jjvaA taM ke(icaä," baDyataAM baDyataAimaita

yata-vācaà vācayanti tāòayanti na vakti cet tarjayanty apare vāgbhiù
steno 'yam iti vādinaù badhnanti rajjvā taà kecid
badhyatāà badhyatām iti

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yata-vācam—who had taken a vow of silence; vācayanti—they try to make speak; tāòayanti—they beat; na vakti—he does not speak; cet—if; tarjayanti—they cajole; apare—others; vāgbhiù—with their words; stenaù—thief; ayam—this person; iti—thus; vādinaù—saying; badhnanti—they bind up; rajjvā—with rope; tam—him; kecit—some; badhyatām badhyatām—"Bind him up! Bind him up!"; iti—thus saying.

TRANSLATION

Although he had taken a vow of silence, they would try to make him speak, and if he did not speak they would beat him with sticks. Others would chastise him, saying, "This man is just a thief." And others would bind him up with rope, shouting, "Tie him up! Tie him up!"

TEXT 37

i°apantyaেকে('vajaAnanta
WSa DamaRDvaja: zAQ&:
°aINaIvaÔa wmaAM va{iÔama, @fah"ltsvajanaAeijJata:

kñipanty eke 'vajānanta

*eña dharma-dhvajaù çaõhaù kñéëa-vitta imäà vâttim
agrahét sva-janojjhitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kñipanti—they criticize; eke—some; avajānantaù—committing insults; eñaù—this person; dharma-dhvajaù—a religious hypocrite; çaõhaù—a cheater; kñéëa-vittaù—having lost his wealth; imäm—this; vâttim—occupation; agrahét—has taken; sva-jana—by his family; ujjhitaù—turned out.

TRANSLATION

They would criticize and insult him, saying, "This man is just a hypocrite and a cheat. He makes a business of religion simply because he lost all his wealth and his family threw him out."

TEXTS 38-39

@h"Ae W Sa mah" As$ a Ar" Ae Da{ itama Ana, ig Air" r" Aix" va ma A Enaena s$ a A Dayatya Ta< bak(vaä," ä{" X# inaêya:

wtyaeke(ivah"s$ antyaenama, Wke(äu" va ARtayainta ca taM baban Dauina Rç&ç& Daur," yaTaA ,(Lx" nakM(iã" jama,

*aho eña mahā-sāro
dhātimān giri-rāo iva
maunena sādhayaty arthaà
baka-vad dāõha-niçcayaù
ity eke vihasanty enam*

*eke durvātayanti ca
taà babandhur nirurudhur
yathā krèòanakaà dvijam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

aho—just see; eñau—this person; mahā-sārau—very powerful; dhātimān—steadfast; giri-rāu—the Himalaya Mountains; iva—just like; maunena—with his vow of silence; sādhayati—he is striving; artham—for his goal; baka-vat—just like a heron; dāōha—firm; niçcayaū—his determination; iti—thus speaking; eke—some; vihasanti—ridicule; enam—him; eke—some; durvātayanti—pass foul air; ca—and; tam—him; babandhuū—they bound in chains; nirurudhuū—kept captive; yathā—as; krèòanakam—a pet animal; dvijam—that brāhmaëa.

TRANSLATION

Some would ridicule him by saying, "Just see this greatly powerful sage! He is as steadfast as the Himalaya Mountains. By practice of silence he strives for his goal with great determination, just like a heron." Other persons would pass foul air upon him, and sometimes others would bind this twice-born brāhmaëa in chains and keep him captive like a pet animal.

TEXT 40

WvaM s$a BaAEitakM(äu":KaM
dE"ivakM(dE"ih"kM(ca yata, BaAe·(vyamaAtmanaAe id"iM"
'aAæaM 'aAæamabauDyata

*evaà sa bhautikaà duùkhaà daivikaà daihikaà ca yat bhoktavyam ātmano dīñāà
prāptaà prāptam abudhyata*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—thus; saù—he; bhautikam—due to other living entities; duùkham—suffering; daivikam—due to higher powers; daihikam—due to his own body; ca—and; yat—whatever; bhoktavyam—destined to be suffered; ätmanaù—his own; diññam—allotted by destiny; präptam präptam—whatever was received; abudhyata—he understood.

TRANSLATION

The brähmaëa understood that all his suffering—from other living beings, from the higher forces of nature and from his own body—was unavoidable, being allotted to him by providence.

PURPORT

Many cruel persons harassed the brähmaëa, and his own body caused him suffering in the form of fever, hunger, thirst, fatigue, etc. The higher forces of nature are those that cause excessive heat, cold, wind and rain. The brähmaëa realized that his suffering was due to his false identification with his material body, and not to the interaction of his body with external phenomena. Rather than try to adjust his external situation, he tried to adjust his Kãñëa consciousness and thus realize his actual identity as eternal spirit soul.

TEXT 41

pair"BaUta wmaAM gAATaAma, @gAAyata nar"ADamaE:
paAtayaià": sva DamaRsTaAe Da{itamaAsTaAya s$aAiÔvak(Lma,

paribhüta imäà gäthäm
agäyata narädhamaiù

*pätayadbhiù sva dharma-stho
dhâtim ästhäya sättvikém*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

paribhütaù—insulted; imäm—this; gäthäm—song; agäyata—he sang; nara-adhamaiù—by low-class men; pätayadbhiù—who were trying to make him fall down; sva-dharma—in his own duty; sthaù—remaining firm; dhâtim—his resolution; ästhäya—fixing; sättvikém—in the mode of goodness.

TRANSLATION

Even while being insulted by these low-class men who were trying to effect his downfall, he remained steady in his spiritual duties. Fixing his resolution in the mode of goodness, he began to chant the following song.

PURPORT

Resolution in the mode of goodness is described in Bhagavad-gétä (18.33):

*dhâtyä yayä dhārayate
manaù-präëendriya-kriyäu yogenävyabhicäriëyā
dhâtiù sä pārtha sättviké*

"O son of Pâthä, that determination which is unbreakable, which is sustained with steadfastness by yoga practice, and thus controls the mind, life and the acts of the senses, is in the mode of goodness."

Atheists who are envious of the devotees of the Supreme Lord are called narādhamas, or the lowest of men, and undoubtedly are enroute to hell. By all means at their disposal they disturb the devotional service of the Lord, sometimes by direct attack and sometimes by mockery. The devotees, however, remain tolerant, fixing their determination in the mode of goodness. As described by Çréla Rūpa Gosvämé in Çré Upadeçämâta (1),

*vāco vegaà manasaù krodha-vegaà
jihvā-vegāṃ udaropastha-vegāṃ
etān vegān yo viñaheta dhēraù
sarvām apēmāà pāthivēà sa çīñyāt*

"A sober person who can tolerate the urge to speak, the mind's demands, the actions of anger and the urges of the tongue, belly and genitals is qualified to make disciples all over the world."

TEXT 42

*iā"ja ovaAca
naAyaM janaAe mae s$auKaäu":Kahe"taur," na de"vataAtmaA fah"k(maRk(AlaA:
mana: parM" k(Ar"NAmaAmanainta
s$ams$aAr"ca,M(pair"vataRyaeâta,*

*dvija uvāca
nāyaà jano me sukha-duùkha-hetur
na devatātmā graha-karma-kālāù manaù paraà kāraëam āmananti saàsāra-cakraà parivartayed yat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dvijaù uvāca—the brāhmaëa said; na—not; ayam—these; janaù—people; me—my; sukha—of happiness; duùkha—and distress; hetuù—the cause; na—nor; devatā—the demigods; ātmā—my own body; graha—the controlling planets; karma—my past work; kālāù—or time; manaù—the mind; param—rather only; kāraëaà—the cause; āmananti—is called by standard authorities; saàsāra—of material life; cakram—the cycle; parivartayet—causes to rotate; yat—which.

TRANSLATION

The brähmaëa said: These people are not the cause of my happiness and distress. Neither are the demigods, my own body, the planets, my past work, or time. Rather, it is the mind alone that causes happiness and distress and perpetuates the rotation of material life.

TEXT 43

manaAe gAuNAAna, vaE s$a{jatae balalyas$a, tataê k(maARiNA ivala°aNAAina zAuflaAina k{(SNAAnyTa laAeih"taAina
taeBya: s$avaNAAR: s$a{tayaAe Bavainta

*mano guëän vai sâjate baléyas tataç ca karmäëi vilakñäëäni çuklâni kâñëäny atha lohitâni
tebhyaù sa-varëäù sâtayo bhavanti*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

manaù—the mind; guëän—the activities of the modes of nature; vai—indeed; sâjate—manifests; baléyaù—very strong; tataù—by those qualities; ca—and; karmäëi—material activities; vilakñäëäni—of different varieties; çuklâni—white (in the mode of goodness); kâñëäni—black (in the mode of ignorance); atha—and; lohitâni—red (in the mode of passion); tebhyaù—from those activities; sa-varëäù—having the same corresponding colors; sâtayaù—created conditions; bhavanti—arise.

TRANSLATION

The powerful mind actuates the functions of the material modes, from which evolve the different kinds of material activities in the modes of goodness, ignorance and passion. From the activities in each of these modes develop the corresponding statuses of life.

PURPORT

In the mode of goodness one considers oneself to be a saintly or wise person, in the mode of passion one struggles for material success, and in the mode of ignorance one becomes cruel, lazy and sinful. By the combination of the material modes one identifies oneself as a demigod, a king, a rich capitalist, a wise scholar, etc. These conceptions are material designations generated from the modes of nature, and they arrange themselves according to the tendency of the powerful mind to enjoy temporary sense gratification. The word baléyas in this verse, meaning "very strong," indicates that the material mind becomes insensitive to intelligent advice. Even if we are informed that we are committing many sins and offenses in order to earn money, we may still think that money should be acquired at all costs, since without it one can neither perform religious ceremonies nor gratify the senses with beautiful women, mansions and vehicles. Once the money is achieved, one suffers further problems, but the stubborn mind will never heed good advice in this regard. One must therefore give up mental concoction and control the mind in Kāñëa consciousness, as exemplified here by the brāhmaëa from Avanté.

TEXT 44

@nalh" @AtmaA manas$aA s$amalh"taA ih"r"NmayaAe mats$aKa oiã"caíe" mana: svaïlaĒMÿ pair"ga{÷ k(AmaAna, jauSai^aabaÜ"Ae gAuNAs$aĒÿtaAe's$aAE

anēha ātmā manasā samēhatā hiraë-mayo mat-sakha udvicañõe manau sva-lii gaà parigāhya kāmān juñan nibaddho guëa-sai gato 'sau

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anēha—not endeavoring; ātmā—the Supreme Soul; manasā—along with the mind; saméhatä—which is struggling; hiraë-mayaù—exhibiting transcendental enlightenment; mat-sakhaù—my friend; udvicanñe—looks down from above; manaù—the mind; sva-lingam—which projects the image of the material world upon him (the soul); parigâhya—embracing; kāmān—objects of desire; juñan—engaging with; nibaddhaù—becomes bound; guëa-saì gataù—because of association with the modes of nature; asau—that infinitesimal spirit soul.

TRANSLATION

Although present along with the struggling mind within the material body, the Supersoul is not endeavoring, because He is already endowed with transcendental enlightenment. Acting as my friend, He simply witnesses from His transcendental position. I, the infinitesimal spirit soul, on the other hand, have embraced this mind, which is the mirror reflecting the image of the material world. Thus I have become engaged in enjoying objects of desire and am entangled due to contact with the modes of nature.

TEXT 45

d"AnaM svaDamaAeR inayamaAe yamaê ™autam ca k(maARiNA ca s$aä,"~ataAina
 s$avaeR manaAeinafah"la°aNAAntaA:
 par"Ae ih" yaAegAAe manas$a: s$amaAiDa:

*dānaà sva-dharmo niyamo yamaç ca
 çrutaà ca karmäëi ca sad-vratāni sarve mano-nigraha-lakñāëäntäù
 paro hi yogo manasaù samādhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dānam—giving of charity; sva-dharmaù—carrying out one's prescribed duties; niyamaù—the regulations of day-to-day life; yamaù—the major regulations of spiritual practice; ca—and; çrutam—listening to scripture;

ca—and; karmäi—pious work; ca—and; sat—pure; vratäni—vows; sarve—all; manaù-nigrahaù—the subduing of the mind; lakñaëa—consisting of; antäù—their aim; paraù—supreme; hi—indeed; yogaù—transcendental knowledge; manasaù—of the mind; samädhìù—meditation on the Supreme in trance.

TRANSLATION

Charity, prescribed duties, observance of major and minor regulative principles, hearing from scripture, pious works and purifying vows all have as their final aim the subduing of the mind. Indeed, concentration of the mind on the Supreme is the highest yoga.

TEXT 46

s$amaAih"taM yasya mana: 'azAAantaM
d"AnaAid"iBa: ikM(vad" tasya k{(tyama, @s$amMyataM yasya manaAe ivanazyä," d"AnaAid"iBaêed"parM" ik(maeiBa:

*samähita*à *yasya manaù praçänta*à *dänädibhiù ki*à vada tasya kâtyam
*asa*à*yata*à yasya mano vinaçyad
*dänädibhiç ced apara*à kim ebhiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

samähitam—perfectly fixed; yasya—whose; manaù—mind;
praçäntam—pacified; däna-ädibhiù—by charity and the other processes;
kim—what; vada—please tell; tasya—of those processes; kâtyam—use;
*asa*à*yatam*—uncontrolled; yasya—whose; manaù—mind;
vinaçyat—dissolving; däna-ädibhiù—by these processes of charity and so on;
cet—if; aparam—further; kim—what use; ebhiù—of these.

TRANSLATION

If one's mind is perfectly fixed and pacified, then tell me what need does one have to perform ritualistic charity and other pious rituals? And if one's mind remains uncontrolled, lost in ignorance, then of what use are these engagements for him?

TEXT 47

manaAevazAe'nyae ÷Bavana, sma de"vaA
manaê naAnyasya vazAM s$amaeita BaISmaAe ih" de"va: s$ah"s$a: s$ah"lyaAna, yauHjyaAã"zAe taM s$a ih" de"vade"va:

*mano-vaçe 'nye hy abhavan sma devä
manaç ca nänyasya vaçaà sameti bhēñmo hi devaù sahasaù sahéyān
yui jyäd vaçe taà sa hi deva-devaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

manaù—of the mind; vaçe—under the control; anye—others; hi—indeed; abhavan—have become; sma—in the past; deväù—the senses (represented by their presiding deities); manaù—the mind; ca—and; na—never; anyasya—of another; vaçam—under the control; sameti—comes; bhēñmaù—fearsome; hi—indeed; devaù—the godlike power; sahasaù—than the strongest; sahéyān—stronger; yui jyät—can fix; vaçe—under control; tam—that mind; saù—such a person; hi—indeed; deva-devaù—the master of all the senses.

TRANSLATION

All the senses have been under the control of the mind since time immemorial, and the mind himself never comes under the sway of any other. He is stronger than the strongest, and his godlike power is fearsome.

Therefore, anyone who can bring the mind under control becomes the master of all the senses.

TEXT 48

tamäü"jaRyaM zAṭaumas$a÷vaegAma, @ç&ntaudM" ta^a ivaijatya ke(icata, ku(vaRntyas$aiã" fah"maṭa matyaE=r," imaṭaANYaud"As$alnair"paUna, ivamaUX#A:

*tam durjayaà çatrum asahya-vegam
arun-tudaà tan na vijitya kecit kurvanti asad-vigraham atra martyair mitrāëy udāsēna-ripün vimüòhāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—that; durjayam—difficult to conquer; çatrum—enemy; asahya—intolerable; vegam—whose urges; arun-tudam—capable of tormenting the heart; tat—therefore; na vijitya—failing to conquer over; kecit—some people; kurvanti—they create; asad—useless; vigraham—quarrel; atra—in this world; martyaiù—with mortal living beings; mitrāëi—friends; udāsēna—indifferent persons; ripün—and rivals; vimüòhāù—completely bewildered.

TRANSLATION

Failing to conquer this irrepressible enemy, the mind, whose urges are intolerable and who torments the heart, many people are completely bewildered and create useless quarrel with others. Thus they conclude that other people are either their friends, their enemies or parties indifferent to them.

PURPORT

Falsely identifying oneself as the material body, and accepting bodily expansions such as children and grandchildren to be one's eternal property, one completely forgets that every living being is qualitatively one with God. There is no essential difference between one individual being and another, since all are eternal expansions of the Supreme Lord. The mind absorbed in false ego creates the material body, and by identification with the body, the conditioned soul is overwhelmed by false pride and ignorance, as described here.

TEXT 49

de"hm" manaAemaAḥaimamaM gA{h"ltvaA
mamaAh"imatyanDaiDayaAe manauSyaA:
WSaAe'h"manyaAe'yaimaita "amaeNA
äu"r"ntapaAre" tamais$a "amainta

dehaà mano-mātram imaà gāhētvā mamāham ity andha-dhiyo manuṇyāu eṇo 'ham anyo 'yam iti bhrameëa duranta-pāre tamasi bhramanti

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deham—the material body; manau-mātram—coming simply from the mind; imam—this; gāhētvā—having accepted; mama—mine; aham—I; iti—thus; andha—blinded; dhiyaù—their intelligence; manuṇyāu—human beings; eṇaù—this; aham—I am; anyaù—someone else; ayam—this is; iti—thus; bhrameëa—by the illusion; duranta-pāre—unsurpassable; tamasi—within the darkness; bhramanti—they wander.

TRANSLATION

Persons who identify with this body, which is simply the product of the material mind, are blinded in their intelligence, thinking in terms of "I" and "mine." Because of their illusion of "this is I, but that is someone else," they wander in endless darkness.

TEXT 50

janastau he"tau: s$auKaäu":KayaAeêeta, ik(maAtmanaêAṣa ih" BaAEmayaAestata, ijaù"AM ,(icats$and"zAita svad"ià"s$a, taãe"d"naAyaAM k(tamaAya ku(pyaeta,

janas tu hetuù sukha-duùkhayoç cet kim ätmanaç cätra hi bhaumayos tat jihväà kvacit sandaçati sva-dadbhis tad-vedanâyäà katamäya kupyet

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

janaù—these people; tu—but; hetuù—the cause; sukha-duùkhayoù—of my happiness and distress; cet—if; kim—what; ätmanaù—for the self; ca—and; atra—in this conception; hi—indeed; bhaumayoù—they pertain to the material bodies; tat—that (status of being the performer and the sufferer); jihväm—the tongue; kvacit—sometimes; sandaçati—is bitten; sva—by one's own; dadbhiù—teeth; tat—of that; vedanâyäm—in the distress; katamäya—with whom; kupyet—can one get angry.

TRANSLATION

If you say that these people are the cause of my happiness and distress, then where is the place of the soul in such a conception? This happiness and distress pertain not to the soul but to the interactions of material bodies. If someone bites his tongue with his own teeth, at whom can he become angry in his suffering?

PURPORT

Although bodily pleasure and pain are felt by the soul, one must tolerate such duality, understanding it to be a creation of one's own material mind. If one accidentally bites his own tongue or lip, he cannot become angry and pull out his own teeth. Similarly, all living beings are individual parts and parcels of God, and thus nondifferent from each other. All of them are meant to serve the Supreme Lord in spiritual equality. If the living beings give up their master's service and instead quarrel among themselves, they will be forced to suffer by the laws of nature. If the conditioned souls establish artificial relationships of affection based on the material body and having nothing to do with God, then time itself will destroy such relationships, and they will be subjected to further suffering. But if the individual living entities understand each other to be of the same family, all having connection with the Supreme Lord, their mutual friendship will develop. Thus one should not exhibit anger that will be harmful to oneself and others. Although the brāhmaëa was receiving kind offerings of charity from some people and being harassed and beaten by others, he denied that these people were the ultimate cause of his happiness and distress, for he was fixed on the platform of self-realization beyond the material body and mind.

TEXT 51

äü":Kasya he"tauYaRid" de"vataAsta ik(maAtmanastaṭa ivak(Ar"yaAestata, yad"ËymaËëyna inah"nyatae ,(icata,
 ,u(Dyaeta k(smaE pauç&Sa: svade"he"

*duùkhasya hetur yadi devatäs tu kim ätmanas tatra vikärayos tat yad aì gam aì gena nihanyate kvacit
 krudhyeta kasmai puruñau sva-dehe*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

duùkhasya—of suffering; hetuù—the cause; yadi—if; devatäu—the demigods (who rule over the different senses within the body); tu—but; kim—what; ätmanaù—for the soul; tatra—in that connection; vikärayou—which pertain to the transformable (senses and their deities); tat—that (acting and being acted upon); yat—when; aṅgam—a limb; aṅgena—by another limb; nihanyate—is hurt; kvacit—ever; krudhyeta—should become angry; kasmai—at whom; puruṣa—the living entity; sva-dehe—within his own body.

TRANSLATION

If you say that the demigods who rule the bodily senses cause suffering, still, how can such suffering apply to the spirit soul? This acting and being acted upon are merely interactions of the changeable senses and their presiding deities. When one limb of the body attacks another, with whom can the person in that body be angry?

PURPORT

The brāhmaṇa is elaborately explaining the condition of self-realization, in which one understands oneself to be totally distinct from the material body and mind and the demigods who control them. By cultivating bodily happiness we are forced to accept bodily pain. Foolish conditioned souls endeavor to eliminate distress and enjoy happiness, but material happiness and distress are two sides of the same coin. One cannot relish bodily happiness without identifying oneself as the body. But as soon as such identification occurs, one is harassed by the innumerable pains and sufferings also inevitably present within the same body. Bodily happiness and distress are administered by the demigods, who can never be brought under our control; thus one remains subject to the whims of providence on the material platform. If, however, one surrenders to the Personality of Godhead, Lord Kṛṣṇa, the reservoir of all pleasure, one can reach the spiritual platform, where transcendental bliss enlivens the liberated souls without any interrupting anxiety or unhappiness.

TEXT 52

@AtmaA yaid" syaAts$auKaäu":Kahe"tau:
ik(manyatastaṭa inajasvaBaAva:
na ÷AtmanaAe'nyaâid" tanma{SaA syaAta,
,u(Dyaeta k(smaA^a s$auKaM na äü":Kama,

*ätmä yadi syät sukha-duùkha-hetuù
kim anyatas tatra nija-svabhävaù na hy ätmano 'nyad yadi tan mãñä syät krudhyeta kasmän na sukhaà na duùkham*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ätmä—the soul himself; yadi—if; syät—should be; sukha-duùkha—of happiness and distress; hetuù—the cause; kim—what; anyataù—other; tatra—in that theory; nija—his own; svabhävaù—nature; na—not; hi—indeed; ätmanaù—than the soul; anyat—anything separate; yadi—if; tat—that; mãñä—false; syät—would be; krudhyeta—one can become angry; kasmät—at whom; na—there is no; sukham—happiness; na—nor; duùkham—misery.

TRANSLATION

If the soul himself were the cause of happiness and distress, then we could not blame others, since happiness and distress would be simply the nature of the soul. According to this theory, nothing except the soul actually exists, and if we were to perceive something besides the soul, that would be illusion. Therefore, since happiness and distress do not actually exist in this concept, why become angry at oneself or others?

PURPORT

Because a dead body does not feel pleasure or pain, our happiness and distress are due to our own consciousness, which is the nature of the soul. It is not, however, the original function of the soul to enjoy material happiness and suffer material distress. These are produced by ignorant material affection and enmity based on false ego. Our involvement in sense gratification drags our consciousness into the material body, where it is shocked by the inevitable bodily pains and problems.

On the spiritual platform there is neither material happiness nor distress because there the living consciousness is fully engaged, without personal desire, in the devotional service of the Supreme Lord. This is the actual position of happiness, aloof from false bodily identification. Rather than uselessly becoming enraged with others for one's own foolishness, one should take to self-realization and solve the problems of life.

TEXT 53

*fah"A inaimaÔaM s$auKaäu":KayaAeêeta, ik(maAtmanaAe'jasya janasya tae vaE
fahE"faRh"syaEva vad"inta palx"AM
,u(Dyaeta k(smaE pauç&SastataAe'nya:*

*grahä nimittaà sukha-duùkhayoç cet
kim ätmano 'jasya janasya te vai grahair grahasyaiva vadanti péöäà
krudhyeta kasmai puruñas tato 'nyaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

grahäù—the controlling planets; nimittam—the immediate cause; sukha-duùkhayoù—of happiness and distress; cet—if; kim—what; ätmanaù—for the soul; ajasya—who is unborn; janasya—of that which is born; te—those planets; vai—indeed; grahaiù—by other planets; grahasya—of a planet; eva—only; vadanti—(expert astrologers) say; péöäm—suffering; krudhyeta—should become angry; kasmai—at whom; puruñaù—the living entity; tataù—from that material body; anyaù—distinct.

TRANSLATION

And if we examine the hypothesis that the planets are the immediate cause of suffering and happiness, then also where is the relationship with the soul, who is eternal? After all, the effect of the planets applies only to things that have taken birth. Expert astrologers have moreover explained how the planets are only causing pain to each other. Therefore, since the living entity is distinct from these planets and from the material body, against whom should he vent his anger?

TEXT 54

k(maARstau he"tau: s$auKaäu":KayaAeêeta, ik(maAtmanastaiÜ" jax"Ajax"tvae
de"h"stvaicatpauç&SaAe'yaM s$aupaNAR:
,u(Dyaeta k(smaE na ih" k(maR maUlama,

karmāstu hetuù sukha-duùkhayoç cet kim ātmanas tad dhi jaòajaòatve dehas tv acit puruño 'yaà suparëaù krudhyeta kasmai na hi karma mūlam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

karma—one's fruitive activities; astu—hypothetically granted; hetuù—the cause; sukha-duùkhayoù—of happiness and distress; cet—if; kim—what; ātmanaù—for the soul; tat—that karma; hi—certainly; jaòa-ajaòatve—in being both material and not material; dehaù—the body; tu—on the one hand; acit—not living; puruñaù—the person; ayam—this; su-parëaù—endowed with living consciousness; krudhyeta—one should become angry; kasmai—at whom; na—are not; hi—certainly; karma—fruitive activities; mūlam—the root cause.

TRANSLATION

If we assume that fruitive work is the cause of happiness and distress, we still are not dealing with the soul. The idea of material work arises when there is a spiritual actor who is conscious and a material body that undergoes the transformation of happiness and distress as a reaction to such work. Since the body has no life, it cannot be the actual recipient of happiness and distress, nor can the soul, who is ultimately completely spiritual and aloof from the material body. Since karma thus has no ultimate basis in either the body or the soul, at whom can one become angry?

PURPORT

The material body is composed of earth, water, fire and air, just like bricks, stones and other objects. Our consciousness, falsely absorbed in the body, experiences happiness and distress, and fruitive work (karma) is performed when we falsely consider ourselves to be the enjoyers of the material world. False ego is thus the illusory combination within our minds of the self and the body, which are actually two separate objects. Since karma, or material work, is based on illusory consciousness, these activities are also illusory and have no factual basis in either the body or the soul. When a conditioned soul falsely considers himself to be the body, and consequently the enjoyer of the material world, he tries to find pleasure in illicit connection with women. Such sinful activity is based on his false concept of being the body and thus the enjoyer of women and of the world. Since he is not the body, his activity of enjoying a woman does not actually exist. There is merely the interaction of two machines, namely the two bodies, and the interaction of the illusory consciousness of the man and woman. The sensation of illicit sex occurs within the material body and is falsely assimilated by the false ego as its own experience. Thus the miserable or pleasurable reactions of karma ultimately act upon the false ego and not upon the body, which is composed of dull matter, nor upon the soul, which has nothing to do with matter. False ego is the illusory concoction of the mind; it is specifically this false ego that is suffering happiness and distress. The soul cannot become angry at others, since he is not personally enjoying or suffering. Rather, the false ego is doing this.

TEXT 55

k(Alastau he"tau: s$auKaäu":KayaAeêeta, ik(maAtmanastaṭa tad"Atmak(Ae's$aAE
naAçaeihR" taApaAe na ih"masya tatsyaAta,
,u(Dyaeta k(smaE na par"sya ã"nã"ma,

kālas tu hetuṁ sukha-duḥkhaḥ cet kim ātmanas tatra tad-ātmako 'sau nāgner hi tāpo na himasya tat syāt krudhyeta kasmai na parasya dvandvam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kālaṁ—time; tu—but; hetuṁ—the cause; sukha-duḥkhaḥ—of happiness and distress; cet—if; kim—what; ātmanaṁ—for the soul; tatra—in that idea; tad-ātmako—based on time; asau—the soul; na—not; agneḥ—from fire; hi—indeed; tāpo—burning; na—not; himasya—of snow; tat—that; syāt—becomes; krudhyeta—should become angry; kasmai—at whom; na—there is not; parasya—for the transcendental soul; dvandvam—duality.

TRANSLATION

If we accept time as the cause of happiness and distress, that experience still cannot apply to the spirit soul, since time is a manifestation of the Lord's spiritual potency and the living entities are also expansions of the Lord's spiritual potency manifesting through time. Certainly a fire does not burn its own flames or sparks, nor does the cold harm its own snowflakes or hail. In fact, the spirit soul is transcendental and beyond the experience of material happiness and distress. At whom, therefore, should one become angry?

PURPORT

The material body is dull matter and does not experience happiness, distress or anything else. Because the spirit soul is completely transcendental, he should fix his consciousness on the transcendental Lord, who is beyond material happiness and distress. It is only when transcendental consciousness falsely identifies with dull matter that the living entity imagines he is enjoying and suffering in the material world. This illusory identification of consciousness with matter is called false ego and is the cause of material existence.

TEXT 56

na ke(naicat, (Aipa k(TaÂanaAsya
ã"nã"Aepar"AgA: par"ta: par"sya yaTaAh"ma: s$Ms$a{itaè&ipaNA: syaAä," WvaM 'abauÜ"Ae na ibaBaeita BaUtaE:

*na kenacit kväpi kathai' canäsya dvandvoparägaù parataù parasya yathähamaù saàsâti-rüpiëaù syäd
evaà prabuddho na bibheti bhütaiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—there is not; kenacit—by the agency of anyone; kva api—anywhere; kathai'cana—by any means; asya—for him, the soul; dvandva—of the duality (of happiness and distress); uparägaù—the influence; parataù parasya—who is transcendental to material nature; yathä—in the same way as; ahamaù—for the false ego; saàsâti—to material existence; rüpiëaù—which give shape; syät—arises; evam—thus; prabuddhaù—one whose intelligence is awakened; na bibheti—does not fear; bhütaiù—on the basis of material creation.

TRANSLATION

The false ego gives shape to illusory material existence and thus experiences material happiness and distress. The spirit soul, however, is transcendental to material nature; he can never actually be affected by material happiness and distress in any place, under any circumstance or by the agency of any person. A person who understands this has nothing whatsoever to fear from the material creation.

PURPORT

The brāhmaëa has refuted six specific explanations of the happiness and distress of the living entity, and now he refutes any other explanation that might be given. On the basis of false ego, the bodily covering factually overwhelms the spirit soul, and thus one falsely enjoys and suffers that which has no real relationship with oneself. One who can understand this sublime teaching of the brāhmaëa, spoken by the Lord to Uddhava, will never again suffer the terrible anxiety of fear within the material world.

TEXT 57

WtaAM s$@ @AsTaAya par"Atmainaï"Ama, @DyaAis$ataAM paUvaRtamaEmaRh"iSaRiBa: @hM" tair"SyaAima äu"r"ntapaArM" tamaAe mauku(nd"Ax.~i,,ainaSaevayaEva

*etäà sa ästhäya parätma-niñöhäm adhyäsitäà pürvatamair maharñibhiù ahaà tariñyämi duranta-päraà
tamo mukundäi ghri-niñevayaiva*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etäm—this; saù—such; ästhäya—becoming completely fixed in;
para-ätma-niñöhäm—devotion to the Supreme Person, Kāñëa;
adhyäsitäm—worshipped; pürva-tamaiù—by previous;
mahä-ññibhiù—äcäryas; aham—I; tariñyämi—shall cross over;
duranta-päram—the insurmountable; tamaù—the ocean of nescience;
mukunda-aì ghri—of the lotus feet of Mukunda; niñevayä—by worship;
eva—certainly.

TRANSLATION

I shall cross over the insurmountable ocean of nescience by being firmly fixed in the service of the lotus feet of Kāñëa. This was approved by the previous ācāryas, who were fixed in firm devotion to the Lord, Paramātmā, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

PURPORT

This verse is quoted by Kāñëadāsa Kavirāja in his Caitanya-caritāmāta (Madhya 3.6). Çréla Prabhupāda comments as follows. "In connection with this verse, which is a quotation from Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (11.23.57), Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Ōhākura says that of the sixty-four items required for rendering devotional service, acceptance of the symbolic marks of sannyāsa is a regulative principle. If one accepts the sannyāsa order, his main business is to devote his life completely to the service of Mukunda, Kāñëa. If one does not completely devote his mind and body to the service of the Lord, he does not actually become a sannyāsé. It is not simply a matter of changing dress. In Bhagavad-gētā (6.1) it is also stated, anāçritaù karma-phalaà kār्याà karma karoti yaù/ sa sannyāsé ca yogé ca: one who works devotedly for the satisfaction of Kāñëa is a sannyāsé. The dress is not sannyāsa, but the attitude of service to Kāñëa is.

"The word parātma-niñöhā means being a devotee of Lord Kāñëa. Parātmā, the Supreme Person, is Kāñëa. Ēçvaraù paramaù kāñëaù sac-cid-ānanda-vigrahaù [Bs. 5.1]. Those who are completely dedicated to the lotus feet of Kāñëa in service are actually sannyāsés. As a matter of formality, the devotee accepts the sannyāsa dress as previous ācāryas did. He also accepts the three daëòas. Later Viñëu Svāmé considered that accepting the dress of a tri-daëòé was parātma-niñöhā. Therefore sincere devotees add another daëòà, the jéva-daëòà, to the three existing daëòas. The Vaiñëava sannyāsé is known as a tridaëòi-sannyāsé. The Māyāvādé sannyāsé accepts only one daëòà, not understanding the purpose of tri-daëòà. Later, many persons in the community of Çiva Svāmé gave up the ātma-niñöhā (devotional service) of the Lord and followed the path of Çai karācārya. Instead of accepting 108 names, those in the Çiva Svāmé sampradāya follow the path of Çai karācārya and accept the ten names of sannyāsa. Although Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu accepted the then-existing order of sannyāsa (namely eka-daëòà), He still recited a verse from Çrémad-Bhāgavatam about the tridaëòà-sannyāsa accepted by the brāhmaëa of Avantépura. Indirectly He declared that within that ekadaëòà (one daëòà), four daëòas existed as one. Accepting ekadaëòà sannyāsa without parātma-niñöhā (devotional service to Lord Kāñëa) is not acceptable to Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu. In addition, according to the exact regulative principles, one should add the jéva-daëòà to the tri-daëòà. These four daëòas, bound together as one, are symbolic of unalloyed devotional service to the Lord. Because the ekadaëòà-sannyāsés of the Māyāvāda school are not devoted to the service of Kāñëa, they try to merge into the Brahman effulgence, which is a marginal position between material and spiritual existence. They accept this impersonal position as liberation. Māyāvādé sannyāsés, not knowing that Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu was a tri-daëòé, think of Caitanya Mahāprabhu as an ekadaëòà-sannyāsé. This is due to their vivarta, bewilderment. In Çrémad-Bhāgavatam there is no such thing as an ekadaëòà-sannyāsé; indeed, the tridaëòà-sannyāsé is accepted as the symbolic representation of the sannyāsa order. By citing this verse from Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu accepted the sannyāsa order recommended in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam. The Māyāvādé sannyāsés, who are enamored of the external energy of the Lord, cannot understand the mind of Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu.

"To date, all the devotees of Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu, following in His footsteps, accept the sannyāsa order and keep the sacred thread and tuft of unshaved hair. The ekadaëòà-sannyāsés of the Māyāvādé school give up the sacred thread and do not keep any tuft of hair. Therefore they are unable to understand the purport of tridaëòà-sannyāsa, and as such they are not inclined to dedicate their lives to the service of Mukunda. They simply think of merging into the existence of Brahman because of their disgust with the material existence. The ācāryas who advocate the daiva-varëäçrama (the social order of cātur-varëyam mentioned in Bhagavad-gētā) do not accept the proposition of āsura-varëäçrama, which maintains that the social order of varëa is indicated by birth.

"The most intimate devotee of Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu, namely Gadādhara Paëòita, accepted the tridaëòà-sannyāsa and also accepted

Mādhava Upādhyāya as his tridaēōi-sannyāsē disciple. It is said that from this Madhvācārya the sampradāya known in western India as the Vallabhācārya-sampradāya has begun. Çréla Gopāla Bhaōōa Vasu, who is known as a smāty-ācārya in the Gauōēya Vaiñēava-sampradāya, later accepted the tridaēōa-sannyāsa order from Tridaēōipāda Prabodhānanda Sarasvatē. Although acceptance of tridaēōa-sannyāsa is not distinctly mentioned in the Gauōēya Vaiñēava literature, the first verse of Çréla Rūpa Gosvāmē's Upadeçāmāta advocates that one should accept the tridaēōa-sannyāsa order by controlling the six forces:

*vāco vegaà manasaù krodha-vegaà
jihvā-vegām udaropastha-vegām
etān vegān yo viñaheta dhēraù
sarvām apémāà pāthivēà sa çīñyāt [NoI 1]*

"One who can control the forces of speech, mind, anger, belly, tongue and genitals is known as a gosvāmē and is competent to accept disciples all over the world.' The followers of Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu never accepted the Māyāvāda order of sannyāsa, and for this they cannot be blamed. Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu accepted Çrédhara Svāmē, who was a tridaēōi-sannyāsē, but the Māyāvādē sannyāsēs, not understanding Çrédhara Svāmē, sometimes think that Çrédhara Svāmē belonged to the Māyāvāda ekadaēōa-sannyāsa community. Actually this was not the case."

TEXT 58

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
inaivaRâ naí"%o"ivaNAe gAtaflama:
'a~ajya gAAM payaRq%maAna wtTama, inar"Ak{(taAe's$aià"r"ipa svaDamaARä," @k(impataAe'maUM mauinar"Ah" gAATaAma,

*çré-bhagavān uvāca
nirvidya nañōa-draviēē gata-klamaù*

pravrajya gäà paryaämäna ittham niräkâto 'sadbhir api sva-dharmäd akampito 'müà munir äha gäthäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; nirvidya—becoming detached; nañña-draviëe—his wealth having been destroyed; gata-klamaù—free from moroseness; pravrajya—leaving home; gäm—the earth; paryaämänaù—traveling; ittham—in this way; niräkâtaù—insulted; asadbhiù—by rascals; api—even though; sva-dharmät—from his prescribed duties; akampitaù—unswerved; amüm—this; muniù—the sage; äha—spoke; gäthäm—song.

TRANSLATION

Lord Çré Kânëa said: Thus becoming detached upon the loss of his property, this sage gave up his moroseness. He left home, taking sannyäsa, and began to travel about the earth. Even when insulted by foolish rascals he remained unswerved from his duty and chanted this song.

PURPORT

Those becoming free from the materialistic way of life, which involves grueling austerities performed to acquire money, may chant the preceding song of the Vaiñëava sannyäse. Çréla Bhaktisiddhanta Sarasvaté Öhäkura states that if one is not capable of listening to the song of this sannyäse, then one will certainly remain an obedient servant of material illusion.

TEXT 59

*s$auKaäu":Ka'ad"Ae naAnyä: pauç&SasyaAtmaiva"ama:
imaḥaAed"As$alnair"pava:*

s$amS$aAr"stamas$a: k{(ta:

sukha-duùkha-prado nānyaù
puruñasyātma-vibhramaù mitrodāsēna-ripavaù
saàsāras tamasaù kâtaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sukha-duùkha-pradaù—giver of happiness and distress; na—there is no; anyaù—other; puruñasya—of the soul; ātma—of the mind; vibhramaù—bewilderment; mitra—friends; udāsēna—indifferent parties; ripavaù—and enemies; saàsāraù—material life; tamasaù—out of ignorance; kâtaù—created.

TRANSLATION

No other force besides his own mental confusion makes the soul experience happiness and distress. His perception of friends, neutral parties and enemies and the whole material life he builds around this perception are simply created out of ignorance.

PURPORT

Everyone is working hard to please their friends, defeat their enemies and maintain the status quo with neutral parties. These relations are certainly based on the material body and do not exist beyond the body's inevitable demise. They are called ignorance, or material illusion.

TEXT 60

tasmaAts$avaARtmanaA taAta
inagA{h"ANA manaAe iDayaA mayyaAvaeizAtayaA yau·( WtaAvaAna, yaAegAs$alÿh":

*tasmāt sarvātmanā tāta
nigāhāēa mano dhiyā
mayy āveçitayā yukta
etāvān yoga-saī grahaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmāt—therefore; sarva-ātmanā—in all respects; tāta—My dear Uddhava; nigāhāēa—bring under control; manaù—the mind; dhiyā—with intelligence; mayi—in Me; āveçitayā—which is absorbed; yuktaù—linked up; etāvān—thus; yoga-saī grahaù—the essence of spiritual practice.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, fixing your intelligence on Me, you should thus completely control the mind. This is the essence of the science of yoga.

TEXT 61

ya WtaAM iBa°auNAA gAltaAM “aöinaĩ”AM s$amaAih"ta: DaAr"yaHC)$AvayaHC+$Nvana, ã"nãE"naE=vaAiBaBaUyatae

*ya etāà bhikñuēā gētāà brahma-niñöhāà samāhitaù
dhārayai chrāvayai chāēvan
dvandvair naivābhibhūyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—whoever; etām—this; bhikñuēā—by the sannyāsē; gētām—sung; brahma—knowledge of the Absolute; niñöhām—based upon; samāhitaù—with full attention; dhārayan—meditating; çrāvayan—causing others to hear; çāēvan—himself hearing; dvandvaiù—by dualities;

na—never; eva—indeed; abhibhüyate—will become overwhelmed.

TRANSLATION

Anyone who listens to or recites to others this song of the sannyäse, which presents scientific knowledge of the Absolute, and who thus meditates upon it with full attention, will never again be overwhelmed by the dualities of material happiness and distress.

PURPORT

The Vaiñëava sannyäse took shelter of the devotional service of the Lord and thus could overcome the illusory potency of his worshipable object, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. He himself meditated upon and heard this song, and also taught it to others. Having received the Lord's mercy, he enlightened other conditioned souls with transcendental intelligence so that they could also follow in the footsteps of the devotees of the Lord. Religion actually means to become a pure devotee of the Supreme Lord in loving service. Those who are trying to enjoy the material world or merely renounce it to avoid personal inconvenience cannot actually understand love of Godhead, in which the only objective is the satisfaction of the Lord.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupäda to the Eleventh Canto, Twenty-third Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhägavatam, entitled "The Song of the Avanté Brähmaëa."

24. The Philosophy of Säi khya

In this chapter Lord Kāñëa gives instruction how bewilderment of the mind can be dispelled by the science of Sāi khyā. Herein the Supreme Lord again imparts to Uddhava instruction about the analysis of material nature. By assimilating this knowledge the spirit soul can drive away his confusion based on false dualities.

In the beginning of creation, the seer and seen are one and indistinguishable. This Supreme Absolute Truth, one without a second and inaccessible to words and mind, then separates into two—the seer, which means consciousness or personality, and the seen, which means substance or nature. The material nature, which comprises the three modes of matter, is agitated by the controlling male factor. The mahat-tattva then becomes manifest together with the energies of consciousness and activity. From these come the principle of false ego in its three aspects of goodness, passion and ignorance. From false ego in the mode of ignorance arise fifteen subtle forms of sense perception, followed by the fifteen physical elements. From false ego in the mode of passion come the ten senses, and from false ego in the mode of goodness come the mind and the eleven demigods who preside over the senses. By the conglomeration of all of these elements grows the universal egg, in the midst of which the Supreme Personality of Godhead as the creating Lord of the universe takes up residence in the role of indwelling Supersoul. From the navel of this ultimate creator comes a lotus, upon which Brahma takes birth. Lord Brahma, invested with the mode of passion, executes austerities by the grace of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and on the strength of these penances he is able to create all the planets of the universe. The region of heaven is meant for the demigods, that of inner space for ghostly spirits and that of the earth for human beings and others. In the region above these three planetary systems are the places of advanced sages, and in the lower worlds are those of the demons, Nāga serpents and so forth. The goals achieved by activities based on the three modes of material nature are all within the three mortal worlds. The destinations of yoga, severe austerity and the renounced order of life are the worlds known as Mahar, Janas, Tapas and Satya. The goal of devotional service to the Supreme Lord, on the other hand, is the lotus feet of the Personality of Godhead in His abode, Vaikuṇṭha. This universe of material action and reaction is constituted under the control of time and the three modes of material nature. Moreover, whatever exists in this universe is simply the product of the combination of material nature and her Lord. In the same way that creation proceeds gradually from the one and supremely subtle to the multitudinous and very gross, the process of annihilation proceeds from the grossest to the subtlest manifestation of nature, leaving only the eternal spiritual substance. This ultimate Soul remains situated within Himself, alone and without end. The mind of a person who meditates on these ideas does not become bewildered by material dualities. This science of Sāi khyā, narrated in alternating sequences of creation and annihilation, serves to cut off all doubts and bondage.

TEXT 1

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
@Ta tae s$am'ava°yaAima
s$aAÊÿYaM paUvaE=#ivaRinaiêtama, yaiã"ÁaAya paumaAna, s$aâAe ja÷AãE"k(ilpakM("amama,

çré-bhagavān uvāca
atha te sampravakñyāmi
sāi khyāḥ pūrvair viniṣcitam
yad vijī āya pumān sadyo
jahyāt vaikalpikāḥ bhramam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; atha—now; te—unto you; sampravakñyāmi—I shall speak; sāi khyā—the knowledge of the evolution of the elements of creation; pūrvaiḥ—by previous authorities; viniṣcitam—ascertained; yad—which; vijñāya—knowing; pumān—a person; sadyaḥ—immediately; jahyāt—can give up; vaikalpikam—based on false duality; bhramam—the illusion.

TRANSLATION

Lord Çré Kâñëa said: Now I shall describe to you the science of Sâi khya, which has been perfectly established by ancient authorities. By understanding this science a person can immediately give up the illusion of material duality.

PURPORT

In the previous chapter the Lord explained that one can give up material duality by controlling the mind and fixing it in Kâñëa consciousness. This chapter describes the Sâi khya system, in which the difference between matter and spirit is elaborately explained. By hearing this knowledge one can easily separate the mind from material contamination and fix it on the spiritual platform in Kâñëa consciousness. The Sâi khya philosophy system mentioned here is that presented by Lord Kapila in the Third Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam and not the atheistic Sâi khya presented later by materialists and Mâyāvādés. The material elements, which emanate from the potency of the Lord, evolve in a progressive sequence. One should not foolishly think that such evolution begins from an original material element without the assistance of the Lord. This speculative theory is generated from the false ego of conditioned life and constitutes gross ignorance, unacceptable to the Personality of Godhead and His followers.

TEXT 2

@As$aljÁaAnamaTaAe @TaR Wk(maevaAivak(ilpatama, yad"A ivavaek(inapauNAA @Ad"AE k{(tayaugAe'yaugAe

*äséj ji ānam atho artha ekam evāvikalpitaṁ
yadā viveka-nipuëā
ādau kâta-yuge 'yuge*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

äsét—there existed; jī ānam—the seer; atha u—thus; arthaù—the seen; ekam—one; eva—simply; avikalpitam—undifferentiated; yadä—when; viveka—in discrimination; nipuëäù—persons who were expert; ädau—in the beginning; kâta-yuge—in the age of purity; ayuge—and before that, during the time of annihilation.

TRANSLATION

Originally, during the Kâta-yuga, when all men were very expert in spiritual discrimination, and also previous to that, during the period of annihilation, the seer existed alone, nondifferent from the seen object.

PURPORT

Kâta-yuga is the first age, also known as Satya-yuga, in which knowledge, being perfect, is not different from its object. In modern society, knowledge is highly speculative and constantly changing. There is often a vast difference between people's theoretical ideas and actual reality. In Satya-yuga, however, people are viveka-nipuëäù, or expert in intelligent discrimination, and thus there is no difference between their vision and reality. In Satya-yuga, the population in general is self-realized. Seeing everything as the potency of the Supreme Lord, they do not artificially create duality between themselves and other living entities. This is a further aspect of the oneness of Satya-yuga. At the time of annihilation, everything merges to rest within the Lord, and at that time also there is no difference between the Lord, who becomes the only seer, and the objects of knowledge, which are contained within the Lord. The liberated living entities in the eternal spiritual world are never subject to such merging but remain forever undisturbed in their spiritual forms. Because they are voluntarily one with the Lord in love, their abode is never annihilated.

TEXT 3

tanmaAyaAP(laè&paeNA
ke(valaM inaivaRk(ilpatama, vaAx.~manaAe'gAAecarM" s$atyaM
iã"DaA s$amaBavaä," ba{h"ta, tan mäsya-phala-rüpeäa

kevalaà nirvikalpita
väi -mano-'gocaraà satyaà
dvidhä samabhavat bâhat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat—that (Supreme); mäsya—of the material nature; phala—and the enjoyer of its manifestations; rüpeäa—in the two forms; kevalam—one; nirvikalpita—nondifferentiated; väk—to speech; manaù—and the mind; agocaram—inaccessible; satyam—true; dvidhä—twofold; samabhavat—He became; bâhat—the Absolute Truth.

TRANSLATION

That one Absolute Truth, remaining free from material dualities and inaccessible to ordinary speech and mind, divided Himself into two categories—the material nature and the living entities who are trying to enjoy the manifestations of that nature.

PURPORT

Both material nature and the living entity are potencies of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 4

tayaAere"k(tar"Ae ÷TaR:
'ak{(ita: s$aAeBayaAitmak(A ÁaAnaM tvanyatamaAe BaAva:

pauç&Sa: s$aAe'iBaDalyatae

*tayor ekataro hy arthaù prakâtiù sobhayâtmikâ
ji' ânaà tv anyatamo bhâvaù
puruñaù so 'bhidhêyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tayou—of the two; ekatarau—one; hi—indeed; arthaù—entity; prakâtiù—nature; sâ—she; ubhaya-âtmikâ—consisting of both the subtle causes and their manifest products; ji' ânam—(who possesses) consciousness; tu—and; anyatamaù—the other; bhâvaù—entity; puruñaù—the living soul; saù—he; abhidhêyate—is called.

TRANSLATION

Of these two categories of manifestation, one is material nature, which embodies both the subtle causes and manifests products of matter. The other is the conscious living entity, designated as the enjoyer.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Jêva Gosvâmé, prakâti here refers to the subtle pradhâna, which later becomes manifest as mahat-tattva.

TEXT 5

tamaAe r"ja: s$aÔvaimaita
'ak{(taer"Bavana, gAuNAA:
mayaA 'a°aAeByamaANAAyaA:
pauç&SaAnaumataena ca

*tamo rajaù sattvam iti
prakâter abhavan guëäù*

mayä prakñobhyamäëäyäu
puruñānumatena ca

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tamaù—ignorance; rajaù—passion; sattvam—goodness; iti—thus; prakāteù—from nature; abhavan—became manifest; guëäù—the modes; mayä—by Me; prakñobhyamäëäyäu—who was being agitated; puruña—of the living entity; anumatena—in order to fulfill the desires; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

When material nature was agitated by My glance, the three material modes—goodness, passion and ignorance—became manifest to fulfill the pending desires of the conditioned souls.

PURPORT

The Lord casts His glance over material nature to remind her that the conditioned souls have not worked out their chain of fruitive activity and mental speculation and that creation is therefore again necessary. The Lord desires that the conditioned souls get the opportunity to become Kāñëa conscious in love of Godhead by understanding the futility of life without the Lord. The modes of nature arise after the glance of the Lord and become inimical to one another, each mode attempting to conquer the other two. There is constant competition between birth, maintenance and annihilation. Although a child desires to take birth, the cruel mother may desire to kill the child through abortion. Although we may desire to kill the weeds in a field, they stubbornly take birth again and again. Similarly, we often desire to maintain our physical status quo, but still deterioration sets in. Thus there is constant competition among the modes of nature, and by their combinations and permutations the living entities try to enjoy innumerable material situations without Kāñëa consciousness. The word puruñānumatena indicates that the Lord sets the stage for such material futility so that the conditioned souls will eventually come back home, back to Godhead.

TEXT 6

taeBya: s$amaBavats$aUṭaM
mah"Ana, s$aUṭaeNA s$aMyauta:
tataAe ivaku(vaRtaAe jaAtaAe yaAe'h"ÆyAr"Ae ivamaAeh"na:

*tebhyaù samabhavat sūtraà
mahān sūtreëa saàyutaù tato vikurvato jāto
yo 'haì kāro vimohanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tebhyaù—from those modes; samabhavat—arose; sūtram—the first transformation of nature, endowed with the potency of activity; mahān—primeval nature endowed with the potency of knowledge; sūtreëa—with this sūtra-tattva; saàyutaù—conjoined; tataù—from the mahat; vikurvataù—transforming; jātaù—was generated; yaù—which; ahaì kāraù—false ego; vimohanaù—the cause of bewilderment.

TRANSLATION

From these modes arose the primeval sūtra, along with the mahat-tattva. By the transformation of the mahat-tattva was generated the false ego, the cause of the living entities' bewilderment.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé, sūtra is the first transformation of material nature that manifests the potency of activity, and it is accompanied by the mahat-tattva, which is endowed with the potency of knowledge. In the material world, one's real knowledge is covered by fruitive activity and mental speculation. As one's devotional service to the Lord slackens, these two tendencies grow automatically, just as the diminishing of light automatically brings an increase in darkness.

TEXT 7

vaEk(Air" k(staEjas$aê
taAmas$aêetyahM" iṭava{ta, tanmaAṭaein%o" yamanas$aAM
k(Ar" NAM icad" icanmaya:

*vaikārikas taijasaḥ ca
tāmasaḥ cety ahaṁ tri-vāt
tan-mātrendriya-manasāṁ
kāraëaṁ cid-acin-mayaṁ*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vaikārikaṁ—in the mode of goodness; taijasaṁ—in the mode of passion; ca—and; tāmasaṁ—in the mode of ignorance; ca—also; iti—thus; aham—false ego; tri-vāt—in three categories; tat-mātra—of the subtle forms of sense objects; indriya—of the senses; manasām—and of the mind; kāraëam—the cause; cit-acit—both spirit and matter; mayaṁ—encompassing.

TRANSLATION

False ego, which is the cause of physical sensation, the senses, and the mind, encompasses both spirit and matter and manifests, in three varieties: in the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance.

PURPORT

The word cid-acin-maya, "encompassing both spirit and matter," is significant in this regard. The false ego is the illusory combination of the eternal conscious soul and the temporary unconscious body. Because the spirit soul desires to exploit illicitly the creation of God, he is bewildered by the three modes of nature and assumes an illusory identity within the material world. Struggling to enjoy, he becomes more and more entangled in the complexities of illusion and only increases his anxiety. This hopeless situation can be overcome by taking to pure Kāñëa consciousness, in which the pleasure of the Supreme Lord becomes the only goal of one's life.

TEXT 8

@TaRstanmaAiṭak(AÀaÁae
taAma$Aid"in%"yaAiNA ca
taEja$AÚe"vataA @As$aªa, Wk(Ad"zA ca vaEk{(taAta,

*arthas tan-mātrikāj jājī e tāmasād indriyāëi ca
taijasād devatā āsann
ekādaça ca vaikātāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

arthaù—the gross elements; tat-mātrikāt—from the subtle sensations (which themselves are derived from false ego in the mode of goodness); jājī e—became generated; tāmasāt—from false ego in the mode of ignorance; indriyāëi—the senses; ca—and; taijasāt—from false ego in the mode of passion; devatāù—the demigods; āsan—arose; ekādaça—eleven; ca—and; vaikātāt—from false ego in the mode of goodness.

TRANSLATION

From false ego in the mode of ignorance came the subtle physical perceptions, from which the gross elements were generated. From false ego in the mode of passion came the senses, and from false ego in the mode of goodness arose the eleven demigods.

PURPORT

From false ego in the mode of ignorance, sound is generated along with the sense of hearing to receive it and the sky as its medium. Next, the sensation of touch, air and the sense of touch are generated, and thus from subtle to gross all of the elements and their perceptions are generated. The senses, because they are busily engaged in activity, are created from false ego in the mode of passion. From false ego in goodness come eleven demigods: the deities of the directions, the wind and the sun, Varuëa, the Açviné deities, Agni, Indra, Upendra, Mitra, Brahmä and Candra.

TEXT 9

mayäA s$aÂaAeid"taA BaAvaA:
s$avaeR s$aMh"tyak(Air"NA: @Nx"mautpaAd"yaAmaAs$aur," mamaAyatanamauÔamama,

*mayä sai coditâ bhävâù
sarve saâhatya-kâriëaù
aëòam utpâdayäm äsur
mamäyatanam uttamam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mayä—by Me; sai coditâù—impelled; bhävâù—elements; sarve—all; saâhatya—by amalgamation; kâriëaù—functioning; aëòam—the egg of the universe; utpâdayäm äsuù—they brought into being; mama—My; äyatanam—residence; uttamam—superior.

TRANSLATION

Impelled by Me, all these elements combined to function in an orderly fashion and together gave birth to the universal egg, which is My excellent place of residence.

TEXT 10

taisma^aahM" s$amaBavama, @Nxe" s$ailalas$aMisTataAE
mama naAByaAmaBaUtpaáM
ivaìAKyaM taḥa caAtmaBaU:

*tasminn ahaà samabhavam
aëòe salila-saàsthitau
mama nābhyām abhūt padmaà
viçvākhyā tatra cātma-bhüù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmin—within that; aham—I; samabhavam—appeared; aëòe—in the egg of the universe; salila—in the water of the Causal Ocean; saàsthitau—which was situated; mama—My; nābhyām—from the navel; abhūt—arose; padmam—a lotus; viçva-ākhyam—known as universal; tatra—in that; ca—and; ātma-bhüù—self-born Brahṁä.

TRANSLATION

I Myself appeared within that egg, which was floating on the causal water, and from My navel arose the universal lotus, the birthplace of self-born Brahṁä.

PURPORT

The Supreme Lord here describes His appearance in His transcendental pastime form of Çré Nārāyaëa. Lord Nārāyaëa enters within the universe but does not give up His purely transcendental body of knowledge and bliss. Lord Brahṁä, however, born from the Lord's navel lotus, has a material body. Although Lord Brahṁä is the most powerful mystic, his body, which pervades all material existence, is material, whereas the body of the Supreme Lord Hari, Nārāyaṇa, is always transcendental.

TEXT 11

s$A Ae's$A {jaÔapas$A A yau·(Ae
r"jas$A A mad"naufah"Ata, laAek(Ana, s$apaAlaAna, ivaìAtmaA BaUBauRva: svair"ita iṭaDaA

*so 'sājat tapasā yukto rajasā mad-anugrahāt
lokān sa-pālān viçvātmā
bhūr bhuvaṁ svar iti tridhā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saṁ—he, Brahmā; asājat—created; tapasā—by his austerity; yuktaṁ—endowed; rajasā—with the potency of the mode of passion; mat—My; anugrahāt—because of the mercy; lokān—the different planets; sa-pālān—along with their presiding demigods; viçva—of the universe; ātmā—the soul; bhūṁ bhuvaṁ svaṁ iti—called Bhūr, Bhuvar and Svar; tridhā—three divisions.

TRANSLATION

Lord Brahmā, the soul of the universe, being endowed with the mode of passion, performed great austerities by My mercy and thus created the three planetary divisions, called Bhūr, Bhuvar and Svar, along with their presiding deities.

TEXT 12

de"vaAnaAmaAek(@As$altsvar," BaUtaAnaAM ca Bauva: pad"ma, matyaARd"lnaAM ca BaUlaAeRk(:

is$aÜ"AnaAM iṭatayaAtpar"ma,

*devānām oka āsēt svar
bhūtānāà ca bhuvaù padam
martyādénāà ca bhūr lokaù
siddhānāà tritayāt param*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

devānām—of the demigods; okaù—the home; āsēt—became; svaù—heaven; bhūtānām—of ghostly spirits; ca—and; bhuvaù—Bhuvar; padam—the place; martya-ādénām—of ordinary mortal humans and other beings; ca—and; bhüù lokaù—the planet called Bhür; siddhānām—(the place) of those striving for liberation; tritayāt—these three divisions; param—beyond.

TRANSLATION

Heaven was established as the residence of the demigods, Bhuvarloka as that of the ghostly spirits, and the earth system as the place of human beings and other mortal creatures. Those mystics who strive for liberation are promoted beyond these three divisions.

PURPORT

Planets such as Indraloka and Candraloka are meant for the heavenly enjoyment of the most pious fruitive workers. The highest four planets, however, Satyaloka, Maharloka, Janaloka and Tapoloka, are meant for those who are most perfectly endeavoring for liberation. Caitanya Mahāprabhu is so inconceivably merciful that He is promoting the most fallen victims of Kali-yuga beyond these four planets and even beyond Vaikuṇṭha, to the supreme planet of Lord Kāñēa in the spiritual sky, called Goloka Vāndāvana. Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Ōhākura explains that heaven is the residence of the demigods, the earth is the residence of the human beings, and in between is a temporary residence for both classes of beings.

TEXT 13

@DaAe's$aur"ANAAM naAgAAnaAM BaUmaer"Aek(Ae's$a{jat'aBau:
iṭalaAefyaAM gAtaya: s$avaAR:
k(maRNAAM iṭagAuNAAtmanaAma,

*adho 'suräëäà nāgānāà
bhūmer oko 'sājat prabhuù
tri-lokyäà gatayaù sarvāù
karmaëäà tri-guëätmanām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

adhaù—below; asuräëäm—of the demons; nāgānām—of the celestial snakes; bhūmeù—from the earth; okaù—the residence; asājat—created; prabhuù—Lord Brahṁā; tri-lokyām—of the three worlds; gatayaù—the destinations; sarvāù—all; karmaëäm—of fruitive activities; tri-guëa-ätmanām—partaking of the three modes.

TRANSLATION

Lord Brahṁā created the region below the earth for the demons and the Nāga snakes. In this way the destinations of the three worlds were arranged as the corresponding reactions for different kinds of work performed within the three modes of nature.

TEXT 14

yaAegAsya tapas$aêEva
nyaAs$asya gAtayaAe'malaA:
mah"jaRnastapa: s$atyaM Bai·(yaAegAsya maÕ"ita:

yogasya tapasaç caiva

*nyäsasya gatayo 'maläù
mahar janas tapaù satyaà
bhakti-yogasya mad-gatiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yogasya—of mystic yoga; tapasaù—of great austerity; ca—and; eva—certainly; nyäsasya—of the renounced order of life; gatayaù—the destinations; amaläù—spotless; mahaù—Mahar; janaù—Janas; tapaù—Tapas; satyam—Satya; bhakti-yogasya—of devotional service; mat—My; gatiù—destination.

TRANSLATION

By mystic yoga, great austerities and the renounced order of life, the pure destinations of Maharloka, Janaloka, Tapoloka and Satyaloka are attained. But by devotional yoga, one achieves My transcendental abode.

PURPORT

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé explains that the word tapasaù in this verse refers to austerities performed by brahmacārés and vānaprasthas. A brahmacārē who practices celibacy perfectly in some particular stage of his life achieves Maharloka, and one who perfectly practices lifelong celibacy achieves Janaloka. By perfect execution of vānaprastha one may achieve Tapoloka, and one in the renounced order of life goes to Satyaloka. These different destinations certainly depend on one's seriousness in the yoga system. In the Third Canto of the Bhāgavatam, Lord Brahmā explains to the demigods, "The inhabitants of Vaikuëha travel in their airplanes made of lapis lazuli, emeralds and gold. Although crowded by their consorts, who have large hips and beautiful smiling faces, they cannot be stimulated to passion by their mirth and beautiful charms." (SB 3.15.20) Thus in the spiritual world, the kingdom of God, the inhabitants have absolutely no desire for personal satisfaction, since they are completely satisfied in love of Godhead. Because they only think of the Lord's pleasure, there is no possibility of cheating, anxiety, lust, disappointment, and so on. As described in Bhagavad-gētā (18.62),

*tam eva çaraëaà gaccha
sarva-bhävena bhärata
tat-prasädät paräm çäntià
sthänaà präpsyasi çäçvatam*

"O scion of Bharata, surrender unto Him utterly. By His grace you will attain transcendental peace and the supreme and eternal abode."

TEXT 15

*mayA k(AlaAtmanaA DaAḥaA k(maRyau-(imadM" jagAta,
gAuNA'avaAh" Wtaisma^aa,
onmaÀaita inamaÀaita*

*mayä kälätmanä dhäträ karma-yuktam idaà jagat
guëa-praväha etasminn
unmajjati nimajjati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mayä—by Me; käla-ätmanä—who contains the energy of time; dhäträ—the creator; karma-yuktam—full of fruitive activities; ida—this; jagat—world; guëa-pravähe—in the mighty current of the modes; etasmin—in this; unmajjati—one rises up; nimajjati—one drowns.

TRANSLATION

All results of fruitive work have been arranged within this world by Me, the supreme creator acting as the force of time. Thus one sometimes rises up toward the surface of this mighty river of the modes of nature and sometimes again submerges.

PURPORT

Unmajjati refers to one's promotion to the higher planetary systems, as mentioned in previous verses, and nimajjati refers to being submerged in a miserable condition of life by impious activities. In both cases one is drowning within the mighty river of material existence, which carries one far away from one's real home in the kingdom of God.

TEXT 16

@NAuba{Rh"tk{(zA: sTaUlaAe
yaAe yaAe BaAva: 'ais$aDyaita
s$avaAeR'pyauBayas$aMyau·(:
'ak{(tyaA pauç&SaeNA ca

aëur bâhat kâçaù sthülo yo yo bhävaù prasidhyati
sarvo 'py ubhaya-saàyuktaù
prakâtyä puruñëëa ca

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

aëuù—small; bâhat—great; kâçaù—thin; sthülaù—stout; yaù yaù—whatever; bhävaù—manifestation; prasidhyati—is established;
sarvaù—all; api—indeed; ubhaya—by both; saàyuktaù—conjoined;
prakâtyä—by nature; puruñëëa—by the enjoying spirit soul; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

Whatever features visibly exist within this world—small or great, thin or stout—certainly contain both the material nature and its enjoyer, the spirit soul.

TEXT 17

yastau yasyaAid"r"ntaê
s$a vaE maDyaM ca tasya s$ana,
ivak(Ar"Ae vyavah"Ar"ATaAeR
yaTaA taEjas$apaAiTaRvaA:

*yas tu yasyādir antaḥ ca sa vai madhyaà ca tasya san vikāro vyavahārārtho
yathā taijasa-pārthivāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—which (cause); tu—and; yasya—of which (product); ādiù—the beginning; antaù—the end; ca—and; saù—that; vai—indeed; madhyam—the middle; ca—and; tasya—of that product; san—being (real); vikāraù—the transformation; vyavahāra-arthaù—for ordinary purposes; yathā—as; taijasa—things produced from gold (which is itself derived from fire); pārthivaù—and things produced from earth.

TRANSLATION

Gold and earth are originally existing as ingredients. From gold one may fashion golden ornaments such as bracelets and earrings, and from earth one may fashion clay pots and saucers. The original ingredients gold and earth exist before the products made from them, and when the products are eventually destroyed, the original ingredients, gold and earth, will remain. Thus, since the ingredients are present in the beginning and at the end, they must also be present in the middle phase, taking the form of a particular product to which we assign for convenience a particular name, such as bracelet, earring, pot or saucer. We can therefore understand that since the ingredient cause exists before the creation of a product and after the product's destruction, the same ingredient cause must be present during the manifest phase, supporting the product as the basis of its reality.

PURPORT

The Lord here explains that the original cause is certainly present in its effect, citing the example of gold and clay functioning as the causal ingredients of many different products in which gold and clay continue to be present. For our convenience, we assign different names to temporary products, although their essential nature continues to be that of the ingredient, and not of the temporary product.

TEXT 18

yaäu"paAd"Aya paUvaRstau BaAvaAe ivaku(ç&tae'par"ma, @Aid"r"ntaAe yad"A yasya
tats$atyamaiBaDalyatae

*yad upādāya pūrvas tu
bhāvo vikurute 'param
ādir anto yadā yasya
tat satyam abhidhēyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—which (form); upādāya—accepting as the ingredient cause; pūrvaù—the previous cause (such as the mahat-tattva); tu—and; bhāvaù—thing; vikurute—produces as transformation; aparam—the second thing (such as the element ahaì kāra); ādiù—the beginning; antaù—the end; yadā—when; yasya—of which (product); tat—that (cause); satyam—real; abhidhēyate—is called.

TRANSLATION

A material object, itself composed of an essential ingredient, creates another material object through transformation. Thus one created object becomes the cause and basis of another created object. A particular thing may thus be called real in that it possesses the basic nature of another object that constitutes its origin and final state.

PURPORT

One may understand the purport of this verse through the simple analogy of a clay pot. A clay pot is formed from a lump of clay, which is itself prepared from the earth. In this case earth is the original ingredient forming the clay lump, and the clay lump is in a sense the original cause of the pot. When the pot is destroyed, it will again assume the designation clay and ultimately merge back into the earth, its original cause. In relation to the clay pot, clay is the beginning and final state; thus the pot is called real, for it possesses the essential characteristics of clay, which exists before and after the existence of the functioning instrument known as the pot. Similarly, earth exists before and after the clay, and thus clay may be considered real because it possesses the essential characteristics of earth, which exists before and after the existence of the clay. Similarly, earth and other elements are created from the mahat-tattva, which exists before and after the existence of the elements, which may be considered real because they possess the essential characteristics of the mahat-tattva. The mahat-tattva is ultimately the creation of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the cause of all causes, who exists after all is annihilated. The Absolute Truth is the Supreme Lord Himself, who step by step gives meaning and character to all that exists.

TEXT 19

‘ak{(itayaRsyaAepaAd"Anama, @ADaAr": pauç&Sa: par":
s$ataAe'iBavyaÃak(: k(AlaAe “aö taitṭatayaM tvah"ma,

*prakâtir yasyopädânam
âdhâraù puruṇaù paraù sato 'bhivyaï jakaù kâlo
brahma tat tritayaà tv aham*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prakāti—material nature; yasya—of which (produced manifestation of the universe); upādānam—the ingredient cause; ādhāra—the foundation; puruṣa—the Personality of Godhead; para—Supreme; sata—of the real (nature); abhivyaijaka—the agitating agent; kāla—time; brahma—the Absolute Truth; tat—this; tritayam—group of three; tu—but; aham—I.

TRANSLATION

The material universe may be considered real, having nature as its original ingredient and final state. Lord Mahā-viñēu is the resting place of nature, which becomes manifest by the power of time. Thus nature, the almighty Viñēu and time are not different from Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth.

PURPORT

Material nature is the energy of the Lord, Mahā-viñēu is His plenary portion, and time represents the Lord's activity. In this way, time and nature are always subservient to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who creates, maintains and annihilates all that exists through the agency of His potencies and plenary portions. In other words, Lord Kāñēa is the Absolute Truth because He contains all existence within Himself.

TEXT 20

s$agAR: 'avataRtae taAvata, paAEvaARpayaeRNA inatyazA:
mah"Ana, gAuNAivas$agAARTaR:
isTatyantaAe yaAvad"I°aNAma,

sarga pravartate tāvat
paurvāparyeēa nitya
mahān guēa-visargārtha

sthity-anto yävad êkñäëam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sargaù—the creation; pravartate—continues to exist; tävat—to that extent; paurva-aparyeëa—in the form of parents and children; nityaçau—perpetually; mahän—bountiful; guëa-visarga—of the variegated manifestation of the material modes; arthaù—for the purpose; sthiti-antaù—until the end of its maintenance; yävat—as long as; êkñäëam—the glance of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TRANSLATION

As long as the Supreme Personality of Godhead continues to glance upon nature, the material world continues to exist, perpetually manifesting through procreation the great and variegated flow of universal creation.

PURPORT

Although the mahat-tattva, impelled by the force of time, is the ingredient cause of this world, it is clearly explained here that the Supreme Lord is personally the only ultimate cause of all that exists. Time and nature are powerless to act without the glance of the Personality of Godhead. He creates unlimited material variety for the sense gratification of the conditioned souls, who try to enjoy life as the children of particular parents and as the parents of particular children, throughout the 8,400,000 species of life.

TEXT 21

ivar"ANmayaAs$aAâmaAnaAe laAek(k(lpaivak(lpak(:
paÂatvaAya ivazAeSaAya
k(lpatae BauvanaE: s$ah"

*viräë mayäsädyamäno
loka-kalpa-vikalpakaù
pai catväya viçeñäya
kalpate bhuvanaiù saha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

viräë—the universal form; mayä—by Me; äsädyamänaù—being pervaded; loka—of the planets; kalpa—of repeated creation, maintenance and destruction; vikalpakaù—manifesting the variety; pai catväya—the elemental manifestation of creation of the five elements; viçeñäya—in varieties; kalpate—is capable of displaying; bhuvanaiù—with the different planets; saha—being endowed.

TRANSLATION

I am the basis of the universal form, which displays endless variety through the repeated creation, maintenance and destruction of the planetary systems. Originally containing within itself all planets in their dormant state, My universal form manifests the varieties of created existence by arranging the coordinated combination of the five elements.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svämé, the word mayä refers to the Lord in His form as eternal time.

TEXTS 22-27

@^aae ‘alalyatae matyaRma,
@^aaM DaAnaAs$au lalyatae
DaAnaA BaUmaAE ‘alalyantae
BaUimagARnDae ‘alalyatae

@ps$au ‘alalyatae gAnDa @Apaê svagAuNAe r"s$ae

lalyatae ज्याAeitaiSa r"s$Aae
jyaAetal è&pae 'alalyatae

è&paM vaAyaAE s$a ca s$pazAeR
lalyatae s$aAe'ipa caAmbare" @mbarM" zAbd"tanmaAṭa
win%"yaAiNA svayaAeinaSau yaAeinavaE=k(Air"ke(s$aAEmya lalyatae manas$alire"

zAbd"Ae BaUtaAid"mapyaeita BaUtaAid"maRh"ita 'aBau:

s$a lalyatae mah"Ana, svaesau
gAuNAes$au gAuNAvaÔama:
tae'vya·e(s$am'alalyantae tatk(Alae lalyatae'vyayae

k(AlaAe maAyaAmayae jalvae
jalva @Atmaina mayyajae @AtmaA ke(vala @AtmasTaAe ivak(lpaApaAyala°aNA:

*anne praléyate martyam
annaà dhānāsu léyate
dhānā bhūmau praléyante
bhūmir gandhe praléyate*

*apsu praléyate gandha
āpaç ca sva-guëe rase
léyate jyotiṇi raso
jyoté rūpe praléyate*

*rūpaà vāyau sa ca sparçe léyate so 'pi cāmbare
ambaraà çabda-tan-mātra
indriyāëi sva-yoniṇu*

*yonir vaikārike saumya
léyate manasēçvare
çabdo bhütādim apyeti
bhütādir mahati prabhuù*

*sa léyate mahān sveñu
guëesu guëa-vattamaù
te 'vyakte sampraléyante
tat käle léyate 'vyaye*

*kālo mājā-maye jéve jéva ātmani mayy aje
ātmā kevala ātma-stho
vikalpāpāya-lakñāëaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anne—in food; praléyate—becomes merged; martyam—the mortal body; annam—food; dhänäsu—within the grains; léyate—becomes merged; dhänäù—the grains; bhümau—in the earth; praléyante—become merged; bhümiù—the earth; gandhe—within fragrance; praléyate—becomes merged; apsu—in water; praléyate—becomes merged; gandhaù—fragrance; äpaù—water; ca—and; sva-guëe—within its own quality; rase—taste; léyate—becomes merged; jyotiñi—within fire; rasaù—taste; jyotiù—fire; rüpe—within form; praléyate—becomes merged; rüpam—form; vāyau—in air; saù—it; ca—and; sparçe—in touch; léyate—becomes merged; saù—it; api—also; ca—and; ambare—in ether; ambaram—ether; çabda—in sound; tat-mātre—its corresponding subtle sensation; indriyāëi—the senses; sva-yoniñu—in their sources, the demigods; yoniu—the demigods; vaikārike—in false ego in the mode of goodness; saumya—My dear Uddhava; léyate—become merged; manasi—in the mind; ēçvare—which is the controller; çabdaù—sound; bhüta-ādim—in the original false ego; apyeti—becomes merged; bhüta-ādiù—false ego; mahati—in the total material nature; prabhuù—powerful; saù—that; léyate—becomes merged; mahān—the total material nature; sveñu—in its own; guëeñu—three modes;

guëa-vat-tamaù—being the ultimate abode of these modes; te—they; avyakte—in the unmanifest form of nature; sampraléyante—become completely merged; tat—that; käle—in time; léyate—become merged; avyaye—in the infallible; kālaù—time; māyā-maye—who is full of transcendental knowledge; jéve—in the Supreme Lord, who activates all living beings; jévaù—that Lord; ätmani—in the Supreme Self; mayi—in Me; aje—the unborn; ätmä—the original Self; kevalaù—alone; ätma-sthaù—self-situated; vikalpa—by creation; apāya—and annihilation; lakñaëaù—characterized.

TRANSLATION

At the time of annihilation, the mortal body of the living being becomes merged into food. Food merges into the grains, and the grains merge back into the earth. The earth merges into its subtle sensation, fragrance. Fragrance merges into water, and water further merges into its own quality, taste. That taste merges into fire, which merges into form. Form merges into touch, and touch merges into ether. Ether finally merges into the sensation of sound. The senses all merge into their own origins, the presiding demigods, and they, O gentle Uddhava, merge into the controlling mind, which itself merges into false ego in the mode of goodness. Sound becomes one with false ego in the mode of ignorance, and all-powerful false ego, the first of all the physical elements, merges into the total nature. The total material nature, the primary repository of the three basic modes, dissolves into the modes. These modes of nature then merge into the unmanifest form of nature, and that unmanifest form merges into time. Time merges into the Supreme Lord, present in the form of the omniscient Mahā-puruṇa, the original activator of all living beings. That origin of all life merges into Me, the unborn Supreme Soul, who remains alone, established within Himself. It is from Him that all creation and annihilation are manifested.

PURPORT

The annihilation of the material world is the reversal of the process of creation, and ultimately everything is merged to rest within the Supreme

Lord, who remains full in His absolute position.

TEXT 28

Wvamanval^oamaANAsya
k(TaM vaEk(ilpak(Ae "ama:
manas$aAe ô$id" itaie"ta vyaAe^oalvaAk(AeRd"yae tama:

*evam anvékñamäëasya
kathaà vaikalpiko bhramaù
manaso hâdi tiñöheta
vyomnévârkodaye tamaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—in this way; anvékñamäëasya—of one who is carefully examining;
katham—how; vaikalpikaù—based on duality; bhramaù—illusion;
manasaù—of his mind; hâdi—in the heart; tiñöheta—can remain;
vyomni—in the sky; iva—just as; arka—of the sun; udaye—upon the rising;
tamaù—darkness.

TRANSLATION

Just as the rising sun removes the darkness of the sky, similarly, this scientific knowledge of cosmic annihilation removes all illusory duality from the mind of a serious student. Even if illusion somehow enters his heart, it cannot remain there.

PURPORT

Just as the brilliant sun removes all darkness from the sky, a clear understanding of the knowledge spoken by Lord Kāñëa to Uddhava removes all ignorance concocted by the material mind. One will then no longer accept the material body as the self. Even if such illusion temporarily manifests within one's consciousness, it will be driven away by the resurgence of one's spiritual knowledge.

TEXT 29

WSa s$aAÊÿYaivaiDa: 'aAe·(:
s$aMzAyafainTaBaed"na:
'aitalaAemaAnaulaAemaAByaAM
par"Avar"ä{"zA mayaA

eña sâi khya-vidhiù proktaù saâçaya-granthi-bhedanaù
pratilomānulomābhyāà
parāvara-dāça mayä

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

eñaù—this; sâi khya-vidhiù—method of Sâi khya (analytic philosophy); proktaù—spoken; saâçaya—of doubts; granthi—the bondage; bhedanaù—which breaks; pratiloma-anulomābhyām—in both direct and reverse order; para—the situation of the spiritual world; avara—and the inferior situation of the material world; dāça—by Him who sees perfectly; mayä—by Me.

TRANSLATION

Thus I, the perfect seer of everything material and spiritual, have spoken this knowledge of Sâi khya, which destroys the illusion of doubt by scientific analysis of creation and annihilation.

PURPORT

Lord Çré Kāñëa has explained that the material mind accepts and rejects many different concepts of life, generating innumerable false arguments about the actual process of perfection. But a person who takes shelter of the lotus feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead can see everything with clear intelligence. One who understands how the Supreme Lord creates and annihilates can be liberated from material bondage and devote himself to the eternal service of the Supreme Lord.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Twenty-fourth Chapter, of the Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "The Philosophy of Sāi khyā."

25. The Three Modes of Nature and Beyond

To establish the transcendental nature of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, this chapter describes the various functional manifestations of the three modes (goodness, passion and ignorance), which arise in the mind.

Control of the mind, control of the senses, tolerance and so forth are manifestations of the unmixed mode of goodness. Desire, endeavor, false pride and so on are manifestations of the unmixed mode of passion. And anger, greed and bewilderment are among the functions of the unmixed mode of ignorance. In the admixture of the three modes we find the concept of "I" and "my," behavior in accordance with this mentality by body, mind and words, adherence to the principles of religiosity, economic development and sense gratification, and the fixed pursuit of one's occupational duty for material interest.

A person whose character is in the mode of goodness worships Lord Hari in a spirit of devotion, without regard to profit. On the other hand, one who hankers after the fruits of his worship of the Lord is passionate by nature. And one who desires violence is in the mode of ignorance. These modes of goodness, passion and ignorance are present in the infinitesimal living entity, whereas the Supreme Personality of Godhead is transcendental to the three modes of material nature.

The substance, place and result of activity, along with the time, the knowledge underlying action, the activity itself, the performer, his faith, his level of awareness, his spiritual progress and his destination after death, all partake of the three modes and manifest variously in terms of distinctions and hierarchies. But objects related to the Supreme Personality, places connected with Him, happiness based on Him, the time occupied in His worship, knowledge related to Him, work offered to Him, the performer of work who acts under His shelter, faith in His devotional service, progress toward the spiritual realm, and the destination of the Supreme Lord's personal abode all transcend the material modes.

There are many different destinations and conditions of life for the spirit soul within the cycle of material existence. These are all based on the modes of nature and on fruitive activities, which are governed by the modes. It is only by practicing the yoga of pure devotional service to the Supreme Lord that one can conquer the three modes, which arise originally from the mind. After obtaining a human body, which has the potential for developing knowledge and realization, a person who is intelligent should renounce association with the three modes of nature and then worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead. First, by increasing the mode of goodness, one can defeat passion and ignorance. Then one can conquer material goodness by evolving his consciousness to the platform of transcendence. At that time he becomes entirely liberated from the material modes, gives up his subtle body (the material mind, intelligence and false ego) and attains the association of the Personality of Godhead. By the shattering of his subtle covering, the living entity is able to come face to face with the Supreme Lord and thus achieve absolute fulfillment by His grace.

TEXT 1

™aI BagAvaAnauvaAca
gAuNAAnaAmas$aimma™aANAAM
paumaAna, yaena yaTaA Bavaeta, tanmae pauç&SavayaeRd"ma,

opaDaAr"ya zAMs$ata:

*çré-bhagavän uväca
guëänäm asammiçräëää
pumän yena yathä bhavet
tan me puruñä-varyedam
upadhäraya çaäsataù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; guëänäm—of the modes of nature; asammiçräëää—in their unmixed state; pumän—a person; yena—by which mode; yathä—how; bhavet—he becomes; tat—that; me—by Me; puruñä-varya—O best among men; idam—this; upadhäraya—please try to understand; çaäsataù—as I speak.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best among men, please listen as I describe to you how the living entity attains a particular nature by association with individual material modes.

PURPORT

The word asammiçra indicates that which is not mixed with anything else. Lord Kânëa now explains how each of the three material modes (goodness, passion and ignorance), acting separately, causes a conditioned soul to manifest a particular type of existence. The living entity is ultimately transcendental to the modes of nature, being part and parcel of Lord Kânëa, but in conditioned life he manifests material qualities. This is described in the following verses.

TEXTS 2-5

zAmaAe d"maistaita⁰ae⁰aA

tapa: s$atyaM d"yaA sma{ita:
tauí"styaAgAAe's$pa{h"A ™aÜ"A œ"ldR"yaAid": svainava{Rita:

k(Ama wRh"A mad"sta{SNAA stamBa @AzAliBaRd"A s$auKama, mad"Aets$aAh"Ae yazA:‘alitar," h"AsyaM valya< balaAeâma:

,(AeDaAe laAeBaAe'na{taM ihM"s$aA yaA¿aA d"mBa: flama: k(ila:
zAAek(maAeh"AE ivaSaAd"Atal= ina‰o"AzAA Balr"nauâma:

s$aÔvasya r"jas$aêEtaAs$a,
tamas$aêAnaupaUvaRzA:
va{ÔayaAe vaiNARta‘aAyaA:
s$aiªapaAtamaTaAe Za{NAu

çamo damas titikñekñä
tapaù satyaà dayä smâtiù
tuñõis tyägo 'spâhä çraddhä
hrér dayädiù sva-nirvâtiù

käma éhä madas tâñëä
stambha äçér bhidä sukham
madotsäho yaçaù-prétir
häsyàà véryaà balodyamaù

krodho lobho 'nâtaà hiàsä
yäci ä dambhaù klamaù kaliù çoka-mohau viñädärtë
nidräçä bhér anudyamaù

sattvasya rajasaç caitäs
tamasaç cänupürvaçaù
vâttayo varëita-präyäu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çamaù—mind control; damaù—sense control; titikñä—tolerance; ékñä—discrimination; tapaù—strictly following one's prescribed duty; satyam—truthfulness; dayä—mercy; smâtiù—observation of the past and future; tuññiù—satisfaction; tyägaù—generosity; aspâhä—detachment from sense gratification; çraddhä—faith (in the guru and other bona fide authorities); hrëù—shame (due to improper activities); dayä-ädiù—charity, simplicity, humility and so on; sva-nirvâtiù—taking one's pleasure from within; kâmaù—material desire; ëhä—endeavor; madaù—audacity; tânëa—dissatisfaction even in gain; stambhaù—false pride; äçëù—praying to the demigods and other deities with desire for material gain; bhidä—separatist mentality; sukham—sense gratification; mada-utsähaù—courage based on intoxication; yaçaù-prëtiù—being fond of praise; häsyam—indulging in ridicule; véryam—advertising one's power; bala-udyamaù—acting on the sanction of one's own strength; krodhaù—intolerant anger; lobhaù—stinginess; anâtam—false speech (speaking what is not stated in scripture as if it were evidence); hiäsä—enmity; yäci'ä—begging; dambhaù—hypocrisy; klamaù—fatigue; kaliù—quarrel; çoka-mohau—lamentation and delusion; viñäda-ärtë—unhappiness and false humility; nidrä—sloth; äçä—false expectations; bhëù—fear; anudyamaù—lack of endeavor; sattvasya—of the mode of goodness; rajasaù—of the mode of passion; ca—and; etäù—these; tamasaù—of the mode of ignorance; ca—and; änuvärvaçaù—one after another; vättayaù—the functions; varëita—have been described; präyäu—for the most part; sannipātam—the combination of these; atho—now; çâëu—please hear.

TRANSLATION

Mind and sense control, tolerance, discrimination, sticking to one's prescribed duty, truthfulness, mercy, careful study of the past and future, satisfaction in any condition, generosity, renunciation of sense gratification, faith in the spiritual master, being embarrassed at improper action, charity, simplicity, humbleness and satisfaction within oneself are qualities of the mode of goodness. Material desire, great endeavor, audacity, dissatisfaction even in gain, false pride, praying for material advancement, considering oneself different and better than others, sense gratification, rash eagerness to fight, a fondness for hearing oneself praised, the tendency to ridicule others, advertising one's own prowess and justifying one's actions by one's strength are qualities of the mode of passion. Intolerant anger, stinginess, speaking without scriptural authority, violent hatred, living as a parasite, hypocrisy, chronic fatigue, quarrel, lamentation, delusion, unhappiness, depression, sleeping too much, false expectations, fear and laziness constitute the major qualities of the mode of ignorance. Now please hear about the combination of these three modes.

TEXT 6

s$ai^aapaAtastvah"imaita mamaetyauÜ"va yaA maita:
vyavah"Ar": s$ai^aapaAtaAe
manaAemaA†aein%o"yaAs$auBa:

*sannipātas tv aham iti
mamety uddhava yā matiù vyavahāraù sannipāto
mano-mātrendriyāsubhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sannipātaù—the combination of the modes; tu—and; aham iti—"I"; mama iti—"mine"; uddhava—O Uddhava; yā—which; matiù—mentality; vyavahāraù—ordinary activities; sannipātaù—the combination; manaù—by the mind; mātrā—the objects of perception; indriya—the senses; asubhiù—and the vital airs.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, the combination of all three modes is present in the mentality of "I" and "mine." The ordinary transactions of this world, which are carried out through the agency of the mind, the objects of perception, the senses and the vital airs of the physical body, are also based on the combination of the modes.

PURPORT

The illusory concept of "I" and "mine" occurs by the mixture of the three modes of nature. A person in goodness may feel, "I am peaceful." One in passion may think, "I am lusty." And one in ignorance may think, "I am angry." Similarly, one may think "my peace," "my lust" or "my anger." One completely absorbed in the mentality of being peaceful could not work in the material world; he would lack any impulse to perform activity. Similarly, one absorbed in lust would be blinded without at least a tinge of peacefulness or restraint. One overwhelmed with anger could not function properly in the material world without the mixture of other qualities. Thus we find that a material mode does not occur in a pure, isolated form but rather is mixed with other modes, thereby making possible normal functioning within this world. Ultimately one should think, "I am an eternal servant of Lord Kāñëa" and "My only possession is loving service to the Lord." This is the pure state of consciousness, beyond the material modes of nature.

TEXT 7

DamaeR caATaeR ca k(Amae ca
yad"As$ae pair"inaï"ta:
gAuNAAnaAM s$ai^aak(SaAeR'yaM ™aÜ"Ar"itaDanaAvah":

dharme cārthe ca kāme ca

*yadāsau pariniñhitaù
guëänäà sannikarñio 'yaà
çraddhä-rati-dhanāvahaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dharme—in religiosity; ca—and; arthe—in economic development; ca—and; kāme—in sense gratification; ca—and; yadā—when; asau—this living entity; pariniñhitaù—is fixed; guëänām—of the modes of nature; sannikarñiaù—the intermingling; ayam—this; çraddhä—faith; rati—sensual enjoyment; dhana—and wealth; āvahaù—which each bring.

TRANSLATION

When a person devotes himself to religiosity, economic development and sense gratification, the faith, wealth and sensual enjoyment obtained by his endeavors display the interaction of the three modes of nature.

PURPORT

Religiosity, economic development and sense gratification are situated within the modes of nature, and the faith, wealth and enjoyment obtained by them clearly reveal the particular situation of a person within the modes of nature.

TEXT 8

‘ava{iÔala°aNAe inaï"A paumaAna, yaihR" gA{h"A™amae svaDamaeR caAnau itaïe"ta gAuNAAnaAM s$aimaitaihR" s$aA

*pravâtti-lakñāëe niñöhä
pumän yarhi gâhâçrame
sva-dharme cânu tiñöheta*

guëänäà samitir hi sä

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pravâtti—of the path of material enjoyment; lakñāëe—in that which is the symptom; niñöhä—dedication; pumän—a person; yarhi—when; gâha-äçrame—in family life; sva-dharme—in prescribed duties; ca—and; anu—later; tiñöheta—he stands; guëänäm—of the modes of nature; samitiù—the combination; hi—indeed; sä—this.

TRANSLATION

When a man desires sense gratification, being attached to family life, and when he consequently becomes established in religious and occupational duties, the combination of the modes of nature is manifest.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svämé, religious duties performed for promotion to heaven are understood to be in the mode of passion, those performed to enjoy ordinary family life are in the mode of ignorance, and those performed selflessly to fulfill one's occupational duty in the varëäçrama system are in the mode of goodness. The Lord has thus explained how mundane religiosity is manifest within the modes of nature.

TEXT 9

pauç&SaM s$aÔvas$aMyau·(ma, @naumalyaAcC$maAid"iBa:
k(AmaAid"Bal r"jaAeyau·M( ,(AeDaAâEstamas$aA yautama,

puruñäà sattva-saàyuktam
anuméyâc chamädibhiù
kämädibhé rajo-yuktaà

krodhädyaïs tamasä yutam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puruñam—a person; sattva-saâyuktam—endowed with the mode of goodness; anuméyät—can be deduced; çama-ädibhiù—by his qualities of sense control and so on; käma-ädibhiù—by lust and so on; rajaù-yuktam—one who is in the mode of passion; krodha-ädyaiù—by anger and so on; tamasä—with the mode of ignorance; yutam—one who is endowed.

TRANSLATION

A person exhibiting qualities such as self-control is understood to be predominantly in the mode of goodness. Similarly, a passionate person is recognized by his lust, and one in ignorance is recognized by qualities such as anger.

TEXT 10

yad"A Bajaita maAM BaftyaA
inar"pae⁰a: svak(maRiBa:
taM s$aÔva'ak{(itaM ivaâAta,
pauç&SaM iñyamaeva vaA

yadä bhajati mää bhaktyä
nirapekñau sva-karmabhiù
taà sattva-prakâtià vidyät
puruñaa striyam eva vä

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; bhajati—a person worships; mäm—Me; bhaktyä—with devotion; nirapekñau—indifferent to results; sva-karmabhiù—by his own prescribed duties; tam—him; sattva-prakâtim—a person whose nature is in the mode of goodness; vidyät—one should understand; puruñam—a man;

striyam—a woman; eva—even; vä—or.

TRANSLATION

Any person, whether man or woman, who worships Me with loving devotion, offering his or her prescribed duties unto Me without material attachment, is understood to be situated in goodness.

TEXT 11

yad"A @AizASa @AzAAsya maAM Bajaeta svak(maRiBa:
taM r"ja:'ak{(itaM ivaâAta,
ihM"s$aAmaAzAAsya taAmas$ama,

yadä äçiña äçäsyä
mäà bhajeta sva-karmabhiù
taà rajaù-prakâtià vidyät
hiàsäm äçäsyä tämasam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; äçiñaù—benedictions; äçäsyä—hoping for; mäm—Me; bhajeta—a person worships; sva-karmabhiù—by his duties; tam—that; rajaù-prakâtim—a person situated in the mode of passion; vidyät—one should understand; hiàsäm—violence; äçäsyä—hoping for; tämasam—a person in the mode of ignorance.

TRANSLATION

When a person worships Me by his prescribed duties with the hope of gaining material benefit, his nature should be understood to be in passion, and one who worships Me with the desire to commit violence against others is in ignorance.

TEXT 12

s$aÔvaM r"jastama wita
gAuNAA jalvasya naEva mae icaÔajaA yaEstau BaUtaAnaAM
s$aÂamaAnaAe inabaDyatae

*sattvaà rajas tama iti
guëä jévasya naiva me
citta-jä yais tu bhütänäà
sajjamäno nibadhyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sattvam—the mode of goodness; rajaù—the mode of passion; tamaù—the mode of ignorance; iti—thus; guëäù—the modes; jévasya—pertaining to the spirit soul; na—not; eva—indeed; me—to Me; citta-jäù—manifest within the mind; yaiù—by which modes; tu—and; bhütänäm—to material creations; sajjamänaù—becoming attached; nibadhyate—one is bound up.

TRANSLATION

The three modes of material nature—goodness, passion and ignorance—influence the living entity but not Me. Manifesting within his mind, they induce the living entity to become attached to material bodies and other created objects. In this way the living entity is bound up.

PURPORT

The living entity is the marginal potency of the Supreme Lord, having the tendency to be overwhelmed by the Lord's illusory material energy. The Personality of Godhead, however, is the absolute controller of illusion. Illusion can never control the Lord. Thus the Supreme Lord, Çré Kâñëa, is the eternal object of service for all living beings, who are eternally servants of the Lord.

The three modes of nature manifest within the material energy. When a conditioned soul adopts a material mentality, the modes exert their influence within the jurisdiction of that mentality. But if one purifies one's mind in the devotional service of the Lord, the modes of nature can no longer act upon him, since they have no influence on the spiritual platform.

TEXT 13

yade"tar"AE jayaets$aÔvaM BaAsvarM" ivazAdM" izAvama, tad"A s$auKaena yaujyaeta DamaRÁaAnaAid"iBa: paumaAna,

*yadetarau jayet sattvaà
bhäsvaraà viçadaà çivam
tadä sukkena yujyeta
dharma-ji' änäbhiù pumän*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; itarau—the other two; jayet—overcomes; sattvam—the mode of goodness; bhäsvaram—luminous; viçadam—pure; çivam—auspicious; tadä—then; sukkena—with happiness; yujyeta—he becomes endowed; dharma—with religiousness; ji' äna—knowledge; ädibhiù—and other good qualities; pumän—a man.

TRANSLATION

When the mode of goodness, which is luminous, pure and auspicious, predominates over passion and ignorance, a man becomes endowed with happiness, virtue, knowledge and other good qualities.

PURPORT

One can control one's mind and senses in the mode of goodness.

TEXT 14

yad"A jayaeÔama: s$aÔvaM
r"ja: s$aËMÿ iBad"A calama, tad"A äu":Kaena yaujyaeta k(maRNAA yazAs$aA i™ayaA

*yadä jayet tamaù sattvaà
rajaù saì gaà bhidä calam
tadä duùkhena yujyeta
karmaëä yaçasä çriyä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; jayet—conquers; tamaù sattvam—both ignorance and goodness; rajaù—passion; saì gam—(the cause of) attachment; bhidä—separatism; calam—and change; tadä—then; duùkhena—with misery; yujyeta—one becomes endowed; karmaëä—with material work; yaçasä—with (the desire for) fame; çriyä—and with opulence.

TRANSLATION

When the mode of passion, which causes attachment, separatism and activity, conquers ignorance and goodness, a man begins to work hard to acquire prestige and fortune. Thus in the mode of passion he experiences anxiety and struggle.

TEXT 15

yad"A jayae%"ja: s$aÔvaM tamaAe maUXM# layaM jax"ma, yaujyaeta zAAek(maAeh"AByaAM
ina%"yaA ihM"s$ayaAzAyaA

*yadä jayed rajaù sattvaà
tamo müòhaà layaà jaòam*

*yujyeta çoka-mohäbhyäà
nidrayä hiàsayäçayä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; jayet—conquers; rajaù sattvam—the modes of passion and goodness; tamaù—the mode of darkness; müòham—defeating one's discrimination; layam—covering over consciousness; jaòam—devoid of endeavor; yujyeta—one becomes endowed; çoka—with lamentation; mohäbhyäm—and bewilderment; nidrayä—with oversleeping; hiàsayä—with violent qualities; äçayä—and false hopes.

TRANSLATION

When the mode of ignorance conquers passion and goodness, it covers one's consciousness and makes one foolish and dull. Falling into lamentation and illusion, a person in the mode of ignorance sleeps excessively, indulges in false hopes, and displays violence toward others.

TEXT 16

*yad"A icaÔaM 'as$alde"ta win%"yaANAAM ca inava{Rita:
de"he"BayaM manaAe's$aËMÿ
tats$aÔvaM ivaiÜ" matpad"ma,*

*yadä cittaà prasédeta
indriyäääà ca nirvâtiù
dehe 'bhayaà mano-'saì gaà
tat sattvaà viddhi mat-padam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; cittam—the consciousness; prasédeta—becomes clear; indriyäääm—of the senses; ca—and; nirvâtiù—cessation of their mundane activities; dehe—in the body; abhayam—fearlessness; manaù—of the mind;

asaṁgam—detachment; tat—that; sattvam—the mode of goodness; viddhi—know it; mat—realization of Me; padam—the situation in which such can be achieved.

TRANSLATION

When consciousness becomes clear and the senses are detached from matter, one experiences fearlessness within the material body and detachment from the material mind. You should understand this situation to be the predominance of the mode of goodness, in which one has the opportunity to realize Me.

TEXT 17

ivaku(vaRna, i,(yayaA caADaIr," @inava{iÔaê caetas$aAma, gAAṭaAsvaAs$TyaM manaAe "aAntaM
r"ja WtaEinaRzAAmaya

vikurvan kriyayā cā-dhēr
anivāttiṣ ca cetasām
gātrāsvāsthyaà mano bhrāntaà
raja etair niçāmaya

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vikurvan—becoming distorted; kriyayā—by activity; ca—and; ā—even up to; dhēu—the intelligence; anivāttiū—failure to stop; ca—and; cetasām—on the part of the conscious faculties of intelligence and the senses; gātra—of the working senses; asvāsthyam—unhealthy condition; manaū—the mind; bhrāntam—unsteady; rajaū—passion; etaiū—by these symptoms; niçāmaya—you should understand.

TRANSLATION

You should discern the mode of passion by its symptoms—the distortion of the intelligence because of too much activity, the inability of the perceiving senses to disentangle themselves from mundane objects, an unhealthy condition of the working physical organs, and the unsteady perplexity of the mind.

TEXT 18

s$ald"i»aÔaM ivalalyaeta caetas$aAe fah"NAe'°amama, manaAe naíM" tamaAe glaAinas$a, tamastaäu"paDaAr"ya

sédac cittaà viléyeta
cetaso grahaëe 'kñamam
mano naññaà tamo glānis
tamas tad upadhāraya

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sédac—failing; cittam—the higher faculties of consciousness; viléyeta—become dissolved; cetasau—awareness; grahaëe—in controlling; akñamam—incapable; manau—the mind; naññam—ruined; tamau—ignorance; glāniù—depression; tamau—the mode of ignorance; tat—that; upadhāraya—you should understand.

TRANSLATION

When one's higher awareness fails and finally disappears and one is thus unable to concentrate his attention, his mind is ruined and manifests ignorance and depression. You should understand this situation to be the predominance of the mode of ignorance.

TEXT 19

WDamaAnae gAuNAe s$aÔvae
de"vaAnaAM balamaeDatae
@s$aaur"ANAAM ca r"jais$a tamasyauÜ"va r"°as$aAma,

*edhamāne guëe sattve
devānāà balam edhate
asurāëää ca rajasi
tamasy uddhava rakñasām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

edhamāne—when it is increasing; guëe—the mode; sattve—of goodness; devānām—of the demigods; balam—the strength; edhate—increases; asurāëām—of the enemies of the demigods; ca—and; rajasi—when the mode of passion increases; tamasi—when the mode of ignorance increases; uddhava—O Uddhava; rakñasām—of the man-eating monsters.

TRANSLATION

With the increase of the mode of goodness, the strength of the demigods similarly increases. When passion increases, the demoniac become strong. And with the rise of ignorance, O Uddhava, the strength of the most wicked increases.

TEXT 20

s$aÔvaAÀaAgAr"NAM ivaâAä," r"jas$aA sva«amaAid"zAeta, ‘asvaApaM tamas$aA jantaAes$a,
taur"lyaM iṭaSau s$antatama,

sattvāj jāgaraëaà vidyād rajasā svapnam ādiçet prasvāpaà tamasā jantos

turéyaà triṇu santatam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sattvāt—by the mode of goodness; jāgaraëam—waking consciousness; vidyāt—one should understand; rajasä—by passion; svapnam—sleep; ädiçet—is indicated; prasväpam—deep sleep; tamasä—by the mode of ignorance; jantoù—of the living entity; turéyam—the fourth, transcendental state; triṇu—throughout the three; santatam—pervading.

TRANSLATION

It should be understood that alert wakefulness comes from the mode of goodness, sleep with dreaming from the mode of passion, and deep, dreamless sleep from the mode of ignorance. The fourth state of consciousness pervades these three and is transcendental.

PURPORT

Our original Kāñëa consciousness exists eternally within the soul, and it is also present in all the three phases of awareness, namely normal wakefulness, dreaming and dreamless sleep. Being covered by the modes of nature, this spiritual consciousness may not be manifest, but it continues to exist eternally as the real nature of the living entity.

TEXT 21

opayauRpair" gAcC$inta
s$aÔvaena "aAöNAA janaA:
tamas$aADaAe'Da @AmauKyaAä," r"jas$aAntar"caAir"NA:

*upary upari gacchanti
sattvena brähmaëä janäù
tamasädho 'dha ä-mukhyäd*

rajasāntara-cāriëaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

upari upari—higher and higher; gacchanti—they go; sattvena—by the mode of goodness; brāhmaëäù—persons dedicated to Vedic principles; janäù—such men; tamasä—by the mode of ignorance; adhaù adhaù—lower and lower; ä-mukhyät—headfirst; rajasä—by the mode of passion; antara-cāriëaù—remaining in intermediate situations.

TRANSLATION

Learned persons dedicated to Vedic culture are elevated by the mode of goodness to higher and higher positions. The mode of ignorance, on the other hand, forces one to fall headfirst into lower and lower births. And by the mode of passion one continues transmigrating through human bodies.

PURPORT

Çüdras, persons in the mode of ignorance, are generally in deep illusion about the purpose of life, accepting the gross material body as the self. Those in passion and ignorance are called vaiçyas and hanker intensely for wealth, whereas kñatriyas, who are in the mode of passion, are eager for prestige and power. Those in the mode of goodness, however, hanker after perfect knowledge; they are therefore called brāhmaëas. Such a person is promoted up to the supreme material position of Brahmaloka, the planet of Lord Brahmä. One who is in the mode of ignorance gradually falls to the level of unmoving species, such as trees and stones, while one in the mode of passion, filled with material desire but satisfying it within Vedic culture, is allowed to remain in human society.

TEXT 22

s$aÔvae 'alalnaA: svayaARinta
nar"laAekM(r"jaAelayaA:

tamaAelayaAatau inar"yaM yaAinta maAmaeva inagAuRNAA:

*sattve pralénäù svar yänti nara-lokaà rajo-layäù tamo-layäs tu nirayaà
yänti mäm eva nirguëäù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sattve—in the mode of goodness; pralénäù—those who die; svaù—to heaven; yänti—they go; nara-lokam—to the world of human beings; rajaù-layäù—those who die in the mode of passion; tamaù-layäù—those who die in the mode of ignorance; tu—and; nirayam—to hell; yänti—they go; mäm—to Me; eva—however; nirguëäù—those who are free from all the modes.

TRANSLATION

Those who leave this world in the mode of goodness go to the heavenly planets, those who pass away in the mode of passion remain in the world of human beings, and those dying in the mode of ignorance must go to hell. But those who are free from the influence of all modes of nature come to Me.

TEXT 23

mad"paRNAM inaSP(laM vaA
s$aAiÔvakM(inajak(maR tata,
r"Ajas$aM P(las$aÆyIpaM
ihM"s$aA'aAyaAid" taAmas$ama,

*mad-arpaëaà niñphalaà vä
sättvikaà nija-karma tat
rājasaà phala-saì kalpaà
hiàsä-präyādi tāmasam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mat-arpaëam—offered unto Me; niñphalam—done without expectation of result; vä—and; sättvikam—in the mode of goodness; nija—accepted as one's prescribed duty; karma—work; tat—that; räjasam—in the mode of passion; phala-sai kalpam—done in expectation of some result; hiäsä-präya-ädi—done with violence, envy and so on; tämasam—in the mode of ignorance.

TRANSLATION

Work performed as an offering to Me, without consideration of the fruit, is considered to be in the mode of goodness. Work performed with a desire to enjoy the results is in the mode of passion. And work impelled by violence and envy is in the mode of ignorance.

PURPORT

Ordinary work performed as an offering to God, without desire for the result, is understood to be in the mode of goodness, whereas activities of devotion—such as chanting and hearing the glories of the Lord—are transcendental forms of work beyond the modes of nature.

TEXT 24

kE(valyaM s$aAiÔvakM(ÁaAnaM
r"jaAe vaEk(ilpakM(ca yata,
'aAk{(taM taAmas$aM ÁaAnaM mai^aaiM" inagAuRNAM sma{tama, kaivalyaà sättvikaà ji änaà

rajo vaikalpikaà ca yat prakâtaà tämasaà ji änaà man-niñhaà nirguëaà smâtam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kaivalyam—absolute; sāttvikam—in the mode of goodness; jī ānam—knowledge; rajaū—in the mode of passion; vaikalpikam—manifold; ca—and; yat—which; prākātam—materialistic; tāmasam—in the mode of ignorance; jī ānam—knowledge; mat-niñōham—concentrated upon Me; nirguëam—transcendental; smātam—is considered.

TRANSLATION

Absolute knowledge is in the mode of goodness, knowledge based on duality is in the mode of passion, and foolish, materialistic knowledge is in the mode of ignorance. Knowledge based upon Me, however, is understood to be transcendental.

PURPORT

The Lord clearly explains here that spiritual knowledge of His supreme personality is transcendental to ordinary religious knowledge in the mode of goodness. In the mode of goodness one understands the existence of a higher spiritual nature within all things. In the mode of passion one acquires scientific knowledge of the material body. And in the mode of ignorance one fixes one's mind on the sense objects without higher awareness, perceiving things as a small child or a retarded person does.

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé elaborately explains in his commentary on this verse that the material mode of goodness does not award perfect knowledge of the Absolute Truth. He quotes from Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (6.14.2), proving that many great demigods in the mode of goodness could not understand the transcendental personality of Lord Kāñëä. In the material mode of goodness, one becomes pious or religious, aware of a higher, spiritual nature. On the spiritual platform of purified goodness, however, one establishes a direct, loving relationship with the Absolute Truth, rendering service to the Lord rather than merely maintaining a connection to mundane piety. In the mode of passion the conditioned soul speculates about the reality of his own existence and of the world around him, and considers speculatively the existence of a kingdom of God. In the mode of ignorance one acquires knowledge for sense gratification, absorbing the mind in varieties of eating, sleeping, defending and sex, without any higher purpose. Thus, within the modes of nature the conditioned souls are trying to gratify their senses, or else they are trying to free themselves from sense gratification. But they cannot directly engage themselves in their constitutional, liberated activities until they come to the transcendental position of Kāñëa consciousness, beyond the modes of nature.

TEXT 25

vanaM tau s$aAiÔvak(Ae vaAs$aAe faAmaAe r"Ajas$a ocyatae taAmas$aM âUtas$ad"naM mai^aake(taM tau inagAuRNama,

*vanaà tu sätviko väso
grāmo rājasa ucyate
tāmasaà dyūta-sadanaà
man-niketaà tu nirguëam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vanam—the forest; tu—whereas; sätvikaù—in the mode of goodness; vāsaù—residence; grāmaù—the village neighborhood; rājasaù—in the mode of passion; ucyate—is said; tāmasam—in the mode of ignorance; dyūta-sadanam—the gambling house; mat-niketam—My residence; tu—but; nirguëam—transcendental.

TRANSLATION

Residence in the forest is in the mode of goodness, residence in a town is in the mode of passion, residence in a gambling house displays the quality of ignorance, and residence in a place where I reside is transcendental.

PURPORT

Many creatures in the forest, such as the trees, wild boars and insects, are actually in the modes of passion and ignorance. But residence in the forest is designated as being in the mode of goodness because there one may live a solitary life free from sinful activities, material opulence and passionate ambition. Throughout the history of India, many millions of persons from all walks of life have adopted the orders of vānaprastha and sannyāsa and have gone to sacred forests to practice austerity and perfect their self-realization. Even in America and other Western countries, persons such as Thoreau achieved fame by retiring to the forest to reduce the scope and opulence of material involvement.

The word grāma here indicates residence in the village of one's family. Family life is certainly full of false pride, false hopes, false affection, lamentation and illusion, since the family connection is squarely resting on the bodily concept of life, the very opposite of self-realization. The word dyūta-sadanam, "gambling house," refers to pool halls, racetracks, poker clubs, bars and other sinful places that maintain an abysmal level of consciousness in the mode of ignorance. Man-niketam refers to the Lord's own abode in the spiritual world as well as the Lord's temples within this world, wherein the Deity form of the Lord is appropriately worshiped. One who lives in the temple of Lord Kāñëa, following the rules and regulations of temple life, is understood to be residing on the transcendental platform. In these verses the Lord clearly explains that all material phenomena may be divided into three divisions according to the modes of nature, and that ultimately there is the fourth, or transcendental, division—Kāñëa consciousness—which elevates all aspects of human culture to the liberated platform.

TEXT 26

s$AiÔvak(: k(Ar"k(Ae's$AËÿL

r"AgAAAnDaAe r"Ajas$a: sma{ta:
taAmas$a: sma{itaiva"ai"Ae inagAuRNAAe mad"paA™aya:

*sāttvikaù kārako 'saì gē
rāgāndho rājasaù smātaù
tāmasaù smāti-vibhrañōo
nirguëo mad-apāçrayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sāttvikaù—in the mode of goodness; kārakaù—the performer of activities; asaì gē—free from attachment; rāga-andhaù—blinded by personal desire; rājasaù—the performer in the mode of passion; smātaù—is considered; tāmasaù—the performer in the mode of ignorance; smāti—from remembrance of what is what; vibhrañōaù—fallen; nirguëaù—transcendental; mat-apāçrayaù—he who has taken shelter of Me.

TRANSLATION

A worker free of attachment is in the mode of goodness, a worker blinded by personal desire is in the mode of passion, and a worker who has completely forgotten how to tell right from wrong is in the mode of ignorance. But a worker who has taken shelter of Me is understood to be transcendental to the modes of nature.

PURPORT

A transcendental worker performs his activities in strict accordance with the directions of Lord Kāñëa and the Lord's bona fide representatives. Taking shelter of the Lord's guidance, such a worker remains transcendental to the material modes of nature.

TEXT 27

s$AiÔvafyaADyaAitmak(L™aÜ"A k(maR™aÜ"A tau r"Ajas$al taAmasyaDamaeR yaA™aÜ"A mats$aevaAyaAM tau inagAuRNAA

*sāttviky ādhyātmiké çraddhā karma-çraddhā tu rājasé
tāmasy adharme yā çraddhā
mat-sevāyā tu nirguëā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sāttviké—in the mode of goodness; ādhyātmiké—spiritual; çraddhā—faith; karma—in work; çraddhā—faith; tu—but; rājasé—in the mode of passion; tāmasy—in the mode of ignorance; adharme—in irreligion; yā—which; çraddhā—faith; mat-sevāyām—in My devotional service; tu—but; nirguëā—transcendental.

TRANSLATION

Faith directed toward spiritual life is in the mode of goodness, faith rooted in fruitive work is in the mode of passion, faith residing in irreligious activities is in the mode of ignorance, but faith in My devotional service is purely transcendental.

TEXT 28

paTyaM paUtamanaAyastama, @Ah"Aya< s$AiÔvakM(sma{tama,
r"Ajas$aM caein%o"ya'aeiM" taAmas$aM caAitaRd"AzAuica

*pathyā pūtam anāyastam āhāryā sāttvika smātam
rājasa cendriya-preñha*

tāmasaà cārti-dāçuci

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pathyam—beneficial; pūtam—pure; anāyastam—attained without difficulty; āhāryam—food; sāttvikam—in the mode of goodness; smātam—is considered; rājasam—in the mode of passion; ca—and; indriya-preññham—very dear to the senses; tāmasam—in the mode of ignorance; ca—and; ārti-da—which creates suffering; açuci—is impure.

TRANSLATION

Food that is wholesome, pure and obtained without difficulty is in the mode of goodness, food that gives immediate pleasure to the senses is in the mode of passion, and food that is unclean and causes distress is in the mode of ignorance.

PURPORT

Food in the mode of ignorance causes painful disease and ultimately premature death.

TEXT 29

s$AiÔvakM(s$auKamaAtmaAetTaM ivaSayaAetTaM tau r"Ajas$ama, taAmas$am maAeh"dE"nyaAetTaM
inagAuRNAM mad"paA™ayama,

sāttvikaà sukham ātmotthaà
viñayotthaà tu rājasam
tāmasaà moha-dainyotthaà
nirguëaà mad-apāçrayam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sāttvikam—in the mode of goodness; sukham—happiness; ātma-uttham—generated from the self; viñaya-uttham—generated from sense objects; tu—but; rājasam—in the mode of passion; tāmasam—in the mode of ignorance; moha—from delusion; dainya—and degradation; uttham—derived; nirguḍam—transcendental; mat-apāçrayam—within Me.

TRANSLATION

Happiness derived from the self is in the mode of goodness, happiness based on sense gratification is in the mode of passion, and happiness based on delusion and degradation is in the mode of ignorance. But that happiness found within Me is transcendental.

TEXT 30

% "vyaM de"zA: P(laM k(AlaAe ÁaAnaM k(maR ca k(Ar"k(: ™aÜ"AvasTaAk{(itainaRĩ"A ‡aEgAuNya: s$avaR Wva ih"

dravyaà deçaù phalaà kălo
jĩ ānaà karma ca kārakaù
çraddhāvasthākâtir niñōhā
trai-guëyaù sarva eva hi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dravyam—object; deçaù—place; phalam—result; kălaù—time;
jĩ ānam—knowledge; karma—activity; ca—and; kārakaù—performer;
çraddhā—faith; avasthā—state of consciousness; ākâtiù—species;
niñōhā—destination; trai-guëyaù—partaking of the three modes; sarvaù—all these; eva hi—certainly.

TRANSLATION

Therefore material substance, place, result of activity, time, knowledge, work, the performer of work, faith, state of consciousness, species of life and destination after death are all based on the three modes of material nature.

TEXT 31

s$avaeR gAuNAmayaA BaAvaA:
pauç&SaAvya·(iDaii"taA:
ä{"iM"™autaM @nauDyaAtaM
bauÜ"YaA vaA pauç&SaSaRBa

sarve guëa-mayä bhäväù
puruñävyakta-dhiñöhitäù
dânñaaà çrutaà anudhyätaà
buddhyä vä puruñarñabha

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sarve—all; guëa-mayaù—composed of the modes of nature; bhäväù—states of existence; puruña—by the enjoying soul; avyakta—and subtle nature; dhiñöhitäù—established and maintained; dânñam—seen; çrutam—heard; anudhyätam—conceived; buddhyä—by the intelligence; vä—or; puruña-ñabha—O best among men.

TRANSLATION

O best of human beings, all states of material being are related to the interaction of the enjoying soul and material nature. Whether seen, heard of or only conceived within the mind, they are without exception constituted of the modes of nature.

TEXT 32

WtaA: s$AMs$a{taya: pauMs$aAe gAuNAk(maRinabanDanaA:

yaenaemae inaijaRtaA: s$aAEmya
gAuNAA jalvaena icaÔajaA: Bai-(yaAegAena mai³aï"Ae
maà"AvaAya 'apaâtae

etäù saàsâtayaù puàso
guëa-karma-nibandhanäù
yeneme nirjitäù saumya
guëä jévena citta-jäù
bhakti-yogena man-niñôho
mad-bhäväya prapadyate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etäù—these; saàsâtayaù—created aspects of existence; puàsaù—of a living being; guëa—with the material qualities; karma—and work; nibandhanäù—connected; yena—by whom; ime—these; nirjitäù—are conquered; saumya—O gentle Uddhava; guëäù—the modes of nature; jévena—by a living entity; citta-jäù—which are manifested from the mind; bhakti-yogena—through the process of devotional service; mat-niñôhaù—dedicated to Me; mat-bhäväya—of love for Me; prapadyate—receives the qualification.

TRANSLATION

O gentle Uddhava, all these different phases of conditioned life arise from work born of the modes of material nature. The living entity who conquers these modes, manifested from the mind, can dedicate himself to Me by the process of devotional service and thus attain pure love for Me.

PURPORT

The words mad-bhäväya prapadyate indicate the attainment of love for God or of the same state of existence as that of the Supreme Lord. Actual liberation is residence within the eternal kingdom of God, where life is full of bliss and knowledge. The conditioned soul falsely imagines himself to be the enjoyer of the modes of nature, and thus a particular type of material work is generated, the reaction of which binds the conditioned soul to repeated birth and death. This fruitless process can be counteracted by loving service to the Lord, as described here.

TEXT 33

tasmaAÚe"h"imamaM labDvaA ÁaAnaivaÁaAnas$amBavama, gAuNAs$aEMÿ ivainaDaURya
maAM Bajantau ivaca°aNAA:

*tasmäd deham imaà labdhvä
ji äna-viji äna-sambhavam
guëa-saì gaà vinirdhüya
mäà bhajantu vicakñäëäù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmät—therefore; deham—body; imam—this; labdhvä—having obtained; ji äna—of theoretical knowledge; viji äna—and realized knowledge; sambhavam—the place of generation; guëa-saì gam—association with the modes of nature; vinirdhüya—washing out completely; mäm—Me; bhajantu—they should worship; vicakñäëäù—persons who are very intelligent.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, having achieved this human form of life, which allows one to develop full knowledge, those who are intelligent should free themselves from all contamination of the modes of nature and engage exclusively in loving service to Me.

TEXT 34

ina:s$aËÿAe maAM Bajaeiã"ã"Ana, @'amaÔaAe ijataein%"ya:
r"jastamaêAiBajayaeta,
s$aÔvas$aMs$aevayaA mauina:

*niûsaì go mää bhajed vidvân apramatto jitendriyaù
rajas tamaç câbhijayet
sattva-saàsewayä muniù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

niûsaì gaù—free from material association; mäm—Me; bhajet—should worship; vidvân—a wise person; apramattaù—not bewildered; jita-indriyaù—having subdued his senses; rajaù—the mode of passion; tamaù—the mode of ignorance; ca—and; abhijayet—he should conquer; sattva-saàsewayä—by taking to the mode of goodness; muniù—the sage.

TRANSLATION

A wise sage, free from all material association and unbewildered, should subdue his senses and worship Me. He should conquer the modes of passion and ignorance by engaging himself only with things in the mode of goodness.

TEXT 35

s$aÔvaM caAiBajayaeâu.(Ae naEr"pae°yaeNA zAAntaDal:
s$ampaâtae gAuNAEmauR.(Ae jalvaAe jalvaM ivah"Aya maAma,

*sattvaà câbhijayed yukto
nairapekñyeëa çänta-dhéù
sampadyate guëair mukto
jévo jévaà vihäya mäm*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sattvam—the mode of goodness; ca—also; abhijayet—he should conquer; yuktaù—engaged in devotional service; nairapekñyeëa—by being indifferent to the modes; çänta—pacified; dhéù—whose intelligence; sampadyate—he achieves; guëaiù—from the modes of nature; muktaù—liberated; jévaù—the living entity; jévam—the cause of his being conditioned; vihäya—giving up; mäm—Me.

TRANSLATION

Then, being fixed in devotional service, the sage should also conquer the material mode of goodness by indifference toward the modes. Thus pacified within his mind, the spirit soul, freed from the modes of nature, gives up the very cause of his conditioned life and attains Me.

PURPORT

The word nairapekñyeëa refers to complete detachment from the modes of material nature. By attachment to the loving service of the Lord, which is completely transcendental, one gives up one's interest in the modes of nature.

TEXT 36

jalvaAe jalvaivainamauR·(Ae gAuNAEêAzAyas$amBavaE:
mayaEva “aöNAA paUNAAeR
na baih"naARntar"êre"ta,

jévo jéva-vinirmukto
guëaiç cäçaya-sambhavaù
mayaiva brahmaëä pürëo
na bahir nântaraç caret

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jēvaù—the living entity; jēva-vinirmuktaù—freed from the subtle conditioning of material consciousness; guēaiù—from the modes of nature; ca—and; āçaya-sambhavaù—which have manifested in his own mind; mayä—by Me; eva—indeed; brahmaëä—by the Supreme Absolute Truth; pürëaù—made full in satisfaction; na—not; bahiù—in the external (sense gratification); na—nor; antaraù—in the internal (remembrance of sense gratification); caret—he should wander.

TRANSLATION

Freed from the subtle conditioning of the mind and from the modes of nature born of material consciousness, the living entity becomes completely satisfied by experiencing My transcendental form. He no longer searches for enjoyment in the external energy, nor does he contemplate or remember such enjoyment within himself.

PURPORT

The human form of life is a rare opportunity for achieving spiritual liberation in Kâñëa consciousness. Lord Kâñëa has elaborately described in this chapter the characteristics of the three modes of nature and the transcendental situation of Kâñëa consciousness. Çré Caitanya Mahäprabhu has ordered us to take shelter of the holy name of Lord Kâñëa, by which process we can easily transcend the modes of nature and begin our real life of loving devotional service to Lord Kâñëa.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupäda to the Eleventh Canto, Twenty-fifth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhägavatam, entitled "The Three Modes of Nature and Beyond."

26. The Aila-gétä

This chapter explains how unfavorable association is a threat to one's position in devotional service and how by associating with saintly persons one can attain the highest platform of devotion.

The jéva who has received a human body, which is in itself most conducive toward achieving the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and who has situated himself in the duties of devotional service to the Lord becomes capable of realizing Him, the very identity of spiritual bliss. Such a person, fully dedicated to the Supreme Personality, is liberated from the influence of Mäyä; even while continuing to reside in this world created by illusion he is totally untouched by it. Those souls, on the other hand, who are bound up by Mäyä are devoted only to their bellies and genitals. They are impure, and by associating with them one will fall down into the dark pit of ignorance.

The emperor Purüravä, who was bewildered by the association of the heavenly lady Urvaçé, later became renounced after being separated from her. He thus sang a song expressing his contempt for womanly connection. He described that persons who are attached to the body of a woman (or a man)-which is simply a mass of skin, meat, blood, sinew, brain tissue, marrow and bones-are not much different from worms. What is the worth of the education, austerity, renunciation, reception of the Vedas, solitary living and silence of one whose mind becomes stolen away by the body of a woman? Learned men should distrust their six mental enemies, headed by lust, and thus avoid associating with women or with men who are controlled by women. After declaring these facts, King Purüravä, now freed from the illusion of material existence, attained realization of the Supreme Lord in His form as the indwelling Supersoul.

In conclusion, one who is intelligent should give up bad association and let himself become attracted to the company of saintly persons. By their transcendental instructions, the saintly devotees of the Lord can break the false attachments of one's mind. Real saints are always liberated and devoted to the Supreme Personality of Godhead. In their association there are constant discussions about the Supreme Lord, by serving whom the spirit soul completely eradicates his material sins and obtains pure devotional service. And when one gains the devotional service of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the original ocean of unlimited perfect qualities, what else remains to be gained?

TEXT 1

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
maéa°aNaimamaM k(AyaM
labDvaA maÜ"maR @AisTata:
@AnandM" par"maAtmaAnama, @AtmasTaM s$amaupaEita maAma,

çré-bhagavän uväca
mat-lakñäëam imaà käyaà
labdhvä mat-dharma ästhitaù änandaà paramätmänam
ätma-sthaà samupaiti mäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; mat-lakñäëam—in which I can be realized; imam—this; käyam—human body; labdhvä—having achieved; mat-dharme—in devotional service to Me; ästhitaù—situated; änandam—who is pure ecstasy; parama-ätmänam—the Supreme Soul; ätma-stham—situated within the heart; samapaiti—he achieves; mäm—Me.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having achieved this human form of life, which affords one the opportunity to realize Me, and being situated in My devotional service, one can achieve Me, the reservoir of all pleasure and the Supreme Soul of all existence, residing within the heart of every living being.

PURPORT

Because of bad association, even those who are spiritually liberated may fall down from self-realization. Within the material world the association of women is especially dangerous, and therefore in this chapter the Aila-géta is spoken to prevent such a falldown. One can be saved from sex attraction by association with saintly persons, who awaken one's real spiritual intelligence. Therefore Lord Kåñëa will speak to Uddhava the amazing song of Purüravä, also known as the Aila-gétä.

TEXT 2

gAuNAmayyaA jalvayaAenyaA ivamau·(Ae ÁaAnainaï"yaA
gAuNAeSau maAyaAmaA†aeSau
ä{"zyamaAnaeSvavastauta:
vataRmaAnaAe'ipa na paumaAna,
yaujyatae'vastauibagAuRNAE:

guëa-mayyā jēva-yonyā
vimukto jī āna-niñohayā
guëëñu māyā-mātreñu
dāçyamāneñv avastutaù
vartamāno 'pī na pumān
yujyate 'vastubhir guëaiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

guëa-mayyā—based on the modes of nature; jēva-yonyā—from the cause of material life, false identification; vimuktaù—one who has become completely free; jī āna—in transcendental knowledge; niñohayā—by being properly fixed; guëëñu—among the products of the modes of nature; mäyā-mātreñu—which are simply illusion; dāṣyamāneñu—appearing before the eyes; avastutaù—although not real; vartamānaù—living; api—although; na—does not; pumän—that person; yujyate—become entangled; avastubhiù—unreal; guëaiù—with the manifestations of the modes of nature.

TRANSLATION

A person fixed in transcendental knowledge is freed from conditioned life by giving up his false identification with the products of the material modes of nature. Seeing these products as simply illusion, he avoids entanglement with the modes of nature, although constantly among them. Because the modes of nature and their products are simply not real, he does not accept them.

PURPORT

The three modes of nature become manifest as varieties of material bodies, places, families, countries, foods, sports, war, peace and so forth. In other words, everything we see within the material world is constituted of the modes of nature. A liberated soul, although existing within the ocean of material energy, sees everything as the property of the Lord and is thus not entangled. Although Mäyā tempts such a liberated soul to become a thief—to steal the property of the Lord for sense gratification—a Kāñëa conscious person does not bite the bait of Mäyā; he remains honest and pure in Kāñëa consciousness. In other words, he does not believe that anything within the universe can become his personal property for sense gratification, especially the illusory form of a woman.

TEXT 3

s$aËMÿ na ku(yaARd"s$ataAM izA´aAed"r"ta{paAM ,(icata, tasyaAnaugAstamasyanDae

patatyanDaAnaugAAnDavata,

*saì gaà na kuryäd asatää
çiçnodara-tâpäà kvacit tasyänugas tamasy andhe
pataty andhänugändha-vat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saì gam—association; na kuryät—one should never make; asatäm—of those who are materialistic; çiçna—the genitals; udara—and the belly; tâpäm—who are devoted to gratifying; kvacit—at any time; tasya—of any such person; anugaù—the follower; tamasi andhe—into the darkest pit; patati—he falls; andha-anuga—following a blind man; andha-vat—just like another blind man.

TRANSLATION

One should never associate with materialists, those dedicated to gratifying their genitals and bellies. By following them one falls into the deepest pit of darkness, just like a blind man who follows another blind man.

TEXT 4

Wela: s$a•aAix"maAM gAATaAma, @gAAyata ba{h"cC)$vaA:
ovaRzAlivar"h"Anmau÷na, inaivaRNNA: zAAek(s$aMyamae

*ailaù samrào imää gäthäm agäyata bâhac-chraväù
urvaçé-virahän muhyan
nirviëëaù çoka-saâyame*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ailaù—King Purüravä; samrāo—the great emperor; imām—this; gāthām—song; agāyata—sang; bāhat—mighty; çraväù—whose fame; urvaçé-virahāt—because of experiencing separation from Urvaçé; muhyān—becoming bewildered; nirviëëaù—feeling detached; çoka—his lamentation; saàyame—when he was finally able to bring under control.

TRANSLATION

The following song was sung by the famous emperor Purüravä. When deprived of his wife, Urvaçé, he was at first bewildered, but by controlling his lamentation he began to feel detachment.

PURPORT

This story is also narrated in the Ninth Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam. Aila, or Purüravä, was a great king whose glories were vast. On being separated from Urvaçé, he felt great bewilderment at first. But after meeting her briefly at Kurukñetra, he worshiped the demigods with the sacrificial fire given him by the Gandharvas and received the privilege of entering the planet where she resided.

TEXT 5

tyaftvaAtmaAnaM ~ayantal%M taAM
naça onmaÔava^aa{pa:
ivalapa^aanvagAAÀaAyaē
GaAere" itaie"ita ivaflava:

tyaktvātmānaà vrayantēà tää
nagna unmatta-van nāpaù
vilapann anvagāj jāye
ghore tiññheti viklavaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tyaktvä—abandoning; ätmānam—him; vrajantēm—going away; tām—unto her; nagnaù—being naked; unmatta-vat—like a madman; nāpaù—the king; vilapan—crying out; anvagāt—followed; jāye—O my wife; ghore—O terrible woman; tiñña—please stop; iti—thus speaking; viklavaù—overwhelmed with distress.

TRANSLATION

When she was leaving him, even though he was naked he ran after her just like a madman and called out in great distress, "O my wife, O terrible lady! Please stop!"

PURPORT

As his beloved wife was leaving him, the shocked king was crying out, "My dear wife, please think for a moment. Just stop! You terrible lady, can't you stop? Why don't we speak together for a while? Why are you killing me?" Thus lamenting, he followed her.

TEXT 6

k(AmaAnata{æaAe'naujauSana, °auéak(Ana, vaSaRyaAimanal:
na vaed" yaAntalnaARyaAntalr," ovaRzyaAk{(i"caetana:

kāmān atāpto 'nujuñan
kñullakān varñā-yāminéu
na veda yāntér nāyāntér
urvaçy-ākāñña-cetanaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kāmān—lusty desires; atāptaù—unsatiated; anujuñan—gratifying; kñullakān—insignificant; varñā—of many years; yāminéu—the nights; na

veda—he did not know; yāntēu—going; na—nor; āyāntēu—approaching; urvaçé—by Urvañé; ākāñña—attracted; cetanaù—his mind.

TRANSLATION

Although for many years Purüravä had enjoyed sex pleasure in the evening hours, still he was not satisfied by such insignificant enjoyment. His mind was so attracted to Urvaçé that he did not notice how the nights were coming and going.

PURPORT

This verse refers to Purüravä's materialistic experience with Urvaçé.

TEXT 7

Wela ovaAca
@h"Ae mae maAeh"ivastaAr":
k(Amak(zmalacaetas$a:
de"vyaA gA{h"ltak(NQ&sya naAyau:KaNx"A wmae sma{taA:

aila uväca
aho me moha-vistäraù
kāma-kaçmala-cetasaù
devyā gāhēta-kaëöhasya
nāyuù-khaëöä ime smâtäù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ailaù uväca—King Purüravä said; aho—alas; me—my; moha—of the delusion; vistäraù—the extent; kāma—by lust; kaçmala—contaminated; cetasaù—my consciousness; devyā—by this goddess; gāhēta—is seized; kaëöhasya—whose neck; na—have not; āyuù—of my life span; khaëöäù—the divisions; ime—these; smâtäù—been taken notice of.

TRANSLATION

King Aila said: Alas, just see the extent of my delusion! This goddess was embracing me and held my neck in her grip. My heart was so polluted by lust that I had no idea how my life was passing.

TEXT 8

naAhM" vaed"AiBainamauR·(:
s$aUyaAeR vaAByauid"taAe'mauyaA
maUiSataAe vaSaRpaUgAAnaAM
bataAh"Aina gAtaAnyauta

*nāhaà vedābhinirmuktaù
sūryo vābhyudito 'muyā
mūñito varña-pūgānāà
batāhāni gatāny uta*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—did not; aham—I; veda—know; abhinirmuktaù—having set;
sūryaù—the sun; vā—or; abhyuditaù—risen; amuyā—by her;
mūñitaù—deceived; varña—years; pūgānām—comprising many; bata—alas;
ahāni—days; gatāni—have gone; uta—certainly.

TRANSLATION

That lady cheated me so much that I did not even see the rising or setting of the sun. Alas, for so many years I passed my days in vain!

PURPORT

Due to attachment to the goddess, King Purūravā forgot his devotional service to the Supreme Lord and became more concerned with pleasing this beautiful young lady. Thus he later lamented, having wasted his valuable time. Those who are Kāñëa conscious utilize every moment in the Lord's loving service.

TEXT 9

@h"Ae mae @Atmas$ammaAeh"Ae yaenaAtmaA yaAeiSataAM k{(ta:
,(Lx"Ama{gAê,(vatal=
nar"de"vaizAKaAmaiNA:

*aho me ātma-sammoho
yenātmā yoñitāḥ kâtaù
krêṭā-māgaù cakravartī
naradeva-çikhāmaëiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

aho—alas; me—my; ātma—of myself; sammohaù—total bewilderment; yena—by which; ātmā—my body; yoñitām—of women; kâtaù—became; krêṭā-māgaù—a toy animal; cakravartī—mighty emperor; naradeva—of kings; çikhā-maëiù—the crown jewel.

TRANSLATION

Alas, although I am supposed to be a mighty emperor, the crown jewel of all kings on this earth, just see how my bewilderment has rendered me a toy animal in the hands of women!

PURPORT

Since the king's body had become fully engaged in satisfying the superficial desires of women, his body was now like a toy animal in their hands.

TEXT 10

s$apair"cC$d"maAtmaAnaM
ih"tvaA ta{NAimavaeir"ma, yaAntal%M iñyaM caAnvagAmaM
naça onmaÔavaâu"d"na,

*sa-paricchadam ätmānaà
hitvā tāëam iveçvaram
yāntéà striyaà cānvagamaà
nagna unmatta-vad rudan*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sa-paricchadam—along with my kingdom and all paraphernalia;
ätmānam—myself; hitvā—abandoning; tāëam—a blade of grass; iva—as if;
éçvaram—the powerful lord; yāntém—going away; striyam—the woman;
ca—and; anvagaman—I followed; nagnaü—naked; unmatta-vat—like a madman; rudan—crying out.

TRANSLATION

Although I was a powerful lord with great opulence, that woman gave me up as if I were no more than an insignificant blade of grass. And still, naked and without shame, I followed her, crying out to her like a madman.

TEXT 11

ku(tastasyaAnauBaAva: syaAta, taeja wRzAtvamaeva vaA
yaAe'nvagAcCM$ iñyaM yaAntal%M Kar"vatpaAd"taAix"ta:

*kutas tasyānubhāvaü syāt
teja éçatvam eva vā yo 'nvagacchaà striyaà yāntéà
khara-vat päda-täðitaü*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kutaù—where; tasya—of that person (myself); anubhāvaù—the influence; syāt—is; tejaù—strength; éçatvam—sovereignty; eva—indeed; vā—or; yaù—who; anvagaccham—ran after; striyam—this woman; yāntém—while going away; khara-vat—just like an ass; pāda—by the foot; tāòitaù—punished.

TRANSLATION

Where are my so-called great influence, power and sovereignty? Just like an ass being kicked in the face by his she-ass, I ran after that woman, who had already given me up.

TEXT 12

ikM(ivaâyaA ikM(tapas$aA ikM(tyAaGAena TMautaena vaA ikM(ivaiva-e(na maAEnaena ñliBayaRsya manaAe ô$tama,

kià vidyayā kià tapasā
kià tyāgena çrutena vā
kià viviktena maunena
strēbhir yasya mano hātam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kim—what is the use; vidyayā—of knowledge; kim—what; tapasā—of austerities; kim—what; tyāgena—of renunciation; çrutena—of having studied the scriptures; vā—or; kim—what; viviktena—of solitude; maunena—of silence; strēbhiù—by women; yasya—whose; manaù—the mind; hātam—taken away.

TRANSLATION

What is the use of a big education or the practice of austerities and renunciation, and what is the use of studying religious scriptures, of living in solitude and silence, if, after all that, one's mind is stolen by a woman?

PURPORT

All of the above-mentioned processes are useless if one's heart and mind are stolen by an insignificant woman. One who hankers after a woman's association certainly spoils his spiritual progress. Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ōhākura states that if one worships the example of the liberated gopés of Vāndāvana, who accepted Lord Çré Kāñēa as their paramour, one can free one's mental activities from the contamination of lust.

TEXT 13

svaATaRsyaAk(AeivadM" iDax.~ maAM
maUKa< paiNx"tamaAinanama, yaAe'h"malir"taAM 'aApya
ñliBagAAeRKar"vaiÀata:

*svārthasyākovidaà dhiì mää
mürkhaà paëòita-māninam yo 'ham éçvaratää prāpya
strēbhir go-khara-vaj jitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sva-arthasya—his own best interest; akovida—who does not know; dhik—to hell; mām—with me; mürkham—a fool; paëòita-māninam—imagining himself to be a great scholar; yaù—who; aham—I; éçvaratām—the position of lordship; prāpya—achieving; strēbhiù—by women; go-khara-vat—like a bullock or an ass;

jitaù—conquered.

TRANSLATION

To hell with me! I am such a fool that I didn't even know what was good for me, although I arrogantly thought I was highly intelligent. Although I achieved the exalted position of a lord, I allowed myself to be conquered by women as if I were a bullock or a jackass.

PURPORT

All the fools of this world consider themselves very wise scholars even though, intoxicated by sense gratification and maddened by their lust for women's association, they become just like bullocks and jackasses. By the mercy of a saintly spiritual master, this lusty propensity can gradually be removed and one can understand the terrible, contemptible nature of material sense gratification. In this verse King Purüravä is coming to his senses in Kânëa consciousness.

TEXT 14

s$aevataAe vaSaRpaUgAAanmae ovaRzyaA @Dar"As$avama, na ta{pyatyAtmaBaU: k(AmaAe vai¶"r"Aò"itaiBayaRTaA

*sevato varña-pügän me urvaçyä adharäsavam
na tãpyaty ätma-bhüù kämo
vahnir ähutibhir yathä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sevataù—who was serving; varña-pügän—for many years; me—my; urvaçyäù—of Urvaçé; adhara—of the lips; äsavam—the nectar; na

tāpyati—never became satisfied; ātma-bhū—born from the mind; kāma—the lust; vahni—fire; āhutibhi—by oblations; yathā—just as.

TRANSLATION

Even after I had served the so-called nectar of the lips of Urvacī for many years, my lusty desires kept rising again and again within my heart and were never satisfied, just like a fire that can never be extinguished by the oblations of ghee poured into its flames.

TEXT 15

pauMêlyaApaô$taM icaÔaM
k(Ae nvanyaAe maAeicatauM 'aBau:
@AtmaAr"Amæir"ma{tae BagAvantamaDaAe°ajama,

puàçcalyāpahāta citta
ko nv anyo mocitu prabhu ātmārāmeçvaram āte
bhagavantam adhokñajam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puàçcalya—by a prostitute; apahātam—stolen; cittam—the intelligence; ka—who; nu—indeed; anya—other person; mocitum—to free; prabhu—is capable; ātma-ārāma—of the self-satisfied sages; ēçvaram—the Lord; āte—except for; bhagavantam—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; adhokñajam—who lies beyond the purview of material senses.

TRANSLATION

Who but the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who lies beyond material perception and is the Lord of self-satisfied sages, can possibly save my consciousness, which has been stolen by a prostitute?

TEXT 16

baAeiDatasyaAipa de"vyaA mae
s$aU·(vaAfyaena äü"maRtae:
manaAegAtaAe mah"AmaAeh"Ae
naApayaAtyaijataAtmana:

*bodhitasyäpi devyâ me
sükta-väkyena durmateù
mano-gato mahä-moho
näpayäty ajitâtmanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bodhitasya—who had been informed; api—even; devyâ—by the goddess Urvaçé; me—of me; su-ukta—well-spoken; väkyena—by words; durmateù—whose intelligence was dull; manaù-gataù—within the mind; mahä-mohaù—the great confusion; na apayäti—did not cease; ajita-âtmanaù—who had failed to control his senses.

TRANSLATION

Because I allowed my intelligence to become dull and because I failed to control my senses, the great confusion in my mind did not go away, even though Urvaçé herself gave me wise counsel with well-spoken words.

PURPORT

As described in the Ninth Canto of Çrémad-Bhägavatam, the goddess Urvaçé plainly told Purüravä that he should never trust women or believe their promises. Despite this frank advice, he became fully attached and thus suffered great mental anguish.

TEXT 17

ik(maetayaA naAe'pak{(taM r"jjvaA vaA s$apaRcaetas$a: %"ij": svaè&paAivaäu"SaAe
yaAe'hM" yad"ijataein%"ya:

*kim etayä no 'pakâtaà
rajjvä vä sarpa-cetasaù
drañōuù svarüpäviduño
yo 'haà yad ajitendriyaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kim—what; etayä—by her; naù—to us; apakâtam—offense has been done; rajjvä—by a rope; vä—or; sarpa-cetasaù—who is thinking it to be a snake; drañōuù—of such a seer; svarüpa—the real identity; aviduñäù—who does not understand; yaù—who; aham—I; yat—because of; ajita-indriyaù—having not controlled the senses.

TRANSLATION

How can I blame her for my trouble when I myself am ignorant of my real, spiritual nature? I did not control my senses, and so I am like a person who mistakenly sees a harmless rope as a snake.

PURPORT

When a person mistakes a rope for a snake, he becomes fearful and anxious. Such fear and anxiety are, of course, illusion, since the rope can never bite. Similarly, one who mistakenly thinks that the material, illusory energy of the Lord exists for his personal sense gratification will certainly bring down on his head an avalanche of material, illusory fear and anxiety. King Purüravä frankly admits here that the young lady Urvaçé is not to blame. After all, it was Purüravä who mistakenly considered her to be an object of his personal enjoyment, and therefore he suffered the reaction by the laws of nature. Purüravä himself was the offender for trying to exploit the external form of Urvaçé.

TEXT 18

„(AyaM malalmas$a: k(AyaAe
d"AEgARnDyaAâAtmak(Ae'zAuica:
,(gAuNAA: s$aAEmanasyaAâA ÷DyaAs$aAe'ivaâyaA k{(ta:

*kväyaâ malémasaù käyo
daurgandhyädy-âtmako 'çuciù
kva guëäù saumanasyädyä
hy adhyäso 'vidyayä kâtaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kva—where; ayam—this; malémasaù—very filthy; käyaù—material body; daurgandhya—bad odor; ädi—and so on; âtmakaù—consisting of; açuciù—unclean; kva—where; guëäù—the so-called good qualities; saumanasya—the fragrance and tenderness of flowers; ädyäù—and so on; hi—certainly; adhyäsaù—the superficial imposition; avidyayä—by ignorance; kâtaù—created.

TRANSLATION

What is this polluted body anyway—so filthy and full of bad odors? I was attracted by the fragrance and beauty of a woman's body, but what are those so-called attractive features? They are simply a false covering created by illusion.

PURPORT

Purüravä now understands that although he was madly attracted to the fragrant, shapely body of Urvaçé, in fact that body was a sack of stool, gas, bile, mucus, hairs and other repugnant elements. In other words, Purüravä is now becoming sane.

TEXTS 19-20

ipaṭaAe: ikM(svaM nau BaAyaARyaA:
svaAimanaAe'çae: igA{çayaAe:
ik(maAtmana: ikM(s$auô$d"Ama,
wita yaAe naAvas$alyatae

taimana, k(laevare"maeDyae
taucC$inaïe" ivaSaÀatae @h"Ae s$auBa%M" s$aunas$aM
s$auismataM ca mauKaM iñya:

pitroù kià svaà nu bhäryäyäu
svāmino 'gneù çva-gādhrayoù
kim ātmanaù kià suhādām
iti yo nāvaséyate

tasmin kalevare 'medhye
tuccha-niñōhe viñajjate
aho su-bhadraà su-nasaà
su-smitaà ca mukhaà striyaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pitroù—of the parents; kim—whether; svam—the property; nu—or; bhäryäyäu—of the wife; svāminaù—of the employer; agneù—of the fire; çva-gādhrayoù—of the dogs and vultures; kim—whether; ātmanaù—of the soul; kim—whether; suhādām—of friends; iti—thus; yaù—who; na avaséyate—can never decide; tasmin—to that; kalevare—material body; amedhye—abominable; tuccha-niñōhe—heading toward the lowest destination; viñajjate—becomes attached; aho—ah; su-bhadram—very attractive; su-nasam—having a beautiful nose; su-smitam—beautiful smile; ca—and; mukham—the face; striyaù—of a woman.

TRANSLATION

One can never decide whose property the body actually is. Does it belong to one's parents, who have given birth to it, to one's wife, who gives it pleasure, or to one's employer, who orders the body around? Is it the property of the funeral fire or of the dogs and vultures who may ultimately devour it? Is it the property of the indwelling soul, who partakes in its happiness and distress, or does the body belong to intimate friends who encourage and help it? Although a man never definitely ascertains the proprietor of the body, he becomes most attached to it. The material body is a polluted material form heading toward a lowly destination, yet when a man stares at the face of a woman he thinks, "What a good-looking lady! What a charming nose she's got, and see her beautiful smile!"

PURPORT

The phrase tuccha-niñōhe, or "headed toward a lowly destination," indicates that if buried, the body will be consumed by worms; if burned, it will turn to ashes; and if dying in a lonely place, it will be consumed by dogs and vultures. The illusory potency of Māyā enters within the female form and bewilders a man's mind. The man is attracted to Māyā appearing within the female form, but when he embraces the woman's body he ends up with two handfuls of stool, blood, mucus, pus, skin, bone, hairs and flesh. People should not be like cats and dogs, in the ignorance of bodily consciousness. A human being should be enlightened in Kāñēa consciousness and learn to serve the Supreme Lord without falsely trying to exploit His potencies.

TEXT 21

tvax.~maAMs$aç&iDar"µaAyaumaed"AemaÀaAisTas$aMh"taAE
ivaNmaUṭapaUyae r"mataAM
k{(maINaAM ik(yad"ntar"ma,

*tvaṭ -mäṭsa-rudhira-snāyumedo-majjāsthi-saḥatau
viḥ-mūtra-pūye ramatāḥ
kāméēḥ kiyaḍ antaram*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tvak—out of skin; mäṭsa—flesh; rudhira—blood; snāyu—muscle; medaḥ—fat; majjā—marrow; asthi—and bone; saḥatau—composed; viḥ—of stool; mūtra—urine; pūye—and pus; ramatām—enjoying; kāméēām—compared to the worms; kiyaḍ—how much; antaram—difference.

TRANSLATION

What difference is there between ordinary worms and persons who try to enjoy this material body composed of skin, flesh, blood, muscle, fat, marrow, bone, stool, urine and pus?

TEXT 22

@TaAipa naAepas$aĀaeta
ñISau ñENAeSau caATaRivata, ivaSayaein%"yas$aMyaAegAAana,
mana: °auByaita naAnyataA

*athāpi nopasajjeta
strēṇu straiēṇu cārtha-vit viñayendriya-saḥyogān
manaḥ kīubhyati nānyathā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atha api—yet therefore; na upasajjeta—he should never make contact; strēṇu—with women; straiēṇu—with men who are attached to women; ca—or; artha-vit—one who knows what is best for him; viñaya—of the objects of enjoyment; indriya—with the senses; saḥyogāt—because of the connection; manaù—the mind; kñubhyati—becomes agitated; na—not; anyathā—otherwise.

TRANSLATION

Yet even one who theoretically understands the actual nature of the body should never associate with women or with men attached to women. After all, the contact of the senses with their objects inevitably agitates the mind.

TEXT 23

@ä{"i"Ad"™autaAà"AvaAna, na BaAva opajaAyatae @s$am'ayauÃata: 'aANAAAna, zAAmyaita istaimataM mana:

*adāññād aṣrutād bhävān
na bhāva upajāyate
asamprayui jataù prāëān
çāmyati stimitaà manaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

adāññāt—which is not seen; aṣrutāt—which is not heard; bhävāt—from a thing; na—does not; bhāvaù—mental agitation; upajāyate—arise; asamprayui jataù—for one who is not using; prāëān—the senses; çāmyati—becomes pacified; stimitam—checked; manaù—the mind.

TRANSLATION

Because the mind is not disturbed by that which is neither seen nor heard, the mind of a person who restricts the material senses will automatically be checked in its material activities and become pacified.

PURPORT

It may be argued that even while closing one's eyes, while dreaming or while living in a solitary place, one may remember or contemplate sense gratification. Such an experience, however, is due to previous sense gratification that one repeatedly saw and heard about. When one restricts the senses from their objects, especially from intimate contact with women, the mind's material propensity will slacken and, like a fire without fuel, eventually die.

TEXT 24

tasmaAts$aĒyAe na k(taRvya:
ñISau ñENAeSau caein%"yaE:
ivaäu"SaAM caApyaiva'abDa: SaÒ"gaR: ik(mau maAä{"zAAma,

*tasmāt saī ga na kartavyaù
strēnu straiēēnu cendriyaiù viduñāà cāpy avisrabdhaù
ñāò-vargaù kim u mādāçām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmāt—therefore; saī gaù—association; na kartavyaù—should never be made; strēnu—with women; straiēēnu—with men attached to women; ca—and; indriyaiù—by one's senses; viduñām—of wise men; ca api—even; avisrabdhaù—untrustworthy; ñāò-vargaù—the six enemies of the mind (lust, anger, greed, bewilderment, intoxication and envy); kim u—what to speak; mādāçām—of persons like me.

TRANSLATION

Therefore one should never let his senses associate freely with women or with men attached to women. Even those who are highly learned cannot trust the six enemies of the mind; what to speak, then, of foolish persons like me.

TEXT 25

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
WvaM 'agAAyaªa{pade"vade"va:
s$ä ovaRzAllaAek(maTaAe ivah"Aya @AtmaAnamaAtmanyavagAmya maAM vaE opaAr"majÁaA@naivaDaUtamaAeh":

çré-bhagavän uväca
evaà pragäyan nâpa-deva-devaù
sa urvaçé-lokam atho vihäya ätmänam ätmany avagamyä mäà vai
upäramaj ji äna-vidhüta-mohaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; evam—in this way; pragäyan—singing; nâpa—among men; deva—and among demigods; devaù—who was eminent; saù—he, King Purüravä; urvaçé-lokam—the planet of Urvaçé, Gandharvaloka; atha u—then; vihäya—giving up; ätmänam—the Supreme Soul; ätmani—within his own heart; avagamyä—realizing; mäm—Me; vai—indeed; upäramat—he became peaceful; ji äna—by transcendental knowledge; vidhüta—removed; mohaù—his illusion.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having thus chanted this song, Mahārāja Purüravä, eminent among the demigods and human beings, gave up the position he had achieved in the planet of Urvaçé. His illusion cleansed away by transcendental knowledge, he understood Me to be the Supreme Soul within his heart and so at last achieved peace.

TEXT 26

tataAe äu":s$aËymauts$a{jya
s$ats$au s$aÀaeta bauiÜ"maAna,
s$santa WvaAsya iC$nd"inta manaAevyaAs$aËymaui·(iBa:

*tato duùsaì gam utsâjya
satsu sajjeta buddhimän
santa eväsya chindanti
mano-vyäsai gam uktibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataù—therefore; duùsaì gam—bad association; utsâjya—throwing away;
satsu—to saintly devotees; sajjeta—he should become attached;
buddhi-man—one who is intelligent; santaù—saintly persons; eva—only;
asya—his; chindanti—cut off; manaù—of the mind; vyäsai gam—excessive attachment; uktibhiù—by their words.

TRANSLATION

An intelligent person should therefore reject all bad association and instead take up the association of saintly devotees, whose words cut off the excessive attachment of one's mind.

TEXT 27

s$santaAe'napae°aA mai»aÔaA:
'azAAntaA: s$amad"izARna: inamaRmaA inar"h"ÆÿAr"A inaãR"nä"A inaSpair"fah"A:

*santo 'napekñä mac-cittäù
praçäntäù sama-darçinaù
nirmamä nirahaì kārā*

nirdvandvä niṇparigrahäù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

santaù—the saintly devotees; anapekñäù—not dependent on anything material; mat-cittäù—who have fixed their minds on Me; praçäntäù—completely peaceful; sama-darçinaù—endowed with equal vision; nirmamaù—free from possessiveness; nirahaì kāräù—free from false ego; nirdvandväù—free from all dualities; niṇparigrahäù—free from greed.

TRANSLATION

My devotees fix their minds on Me and do not depend upon anything material. They are always peaceful, endowed with equal vision, and free from possessiveness, false ego, duality and greed.

TEXT 28

taeSau inatyaM mah"ABaAgA mah"ABaAgAeSau matk(TaA:
s$amBavainta ih" taA na|NAAM
jauSataAM 'apaunantyaGama,

teṇu nityaà mahā-bhāga
mahā-bhāgeṇu mat-kathäù
sambhavanti hi tā nèëää
juñatää prapunanty agham

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

teṇu—among them; nityam—constantly; mahā-bhāga—O greatly fortunate Uddhava; mahā-bhāgeṇu—among these greatly fortunate devotees; mat-kathäù—discussions about Me; sambhavanti—arise; hi—indeed; täù—these topics; nèëäm—of persons; juñatām—who are partaking in them; prapunanti—totally purify; agham—the sins.

TRANSLATION

O greatly fortunate Uddhava, in the association of such saintly devotees there is constant discussion of Me, and those partaking in this chanting and hearing of My glories are certainly purified of all sins.

PURPORT

Even if one does not receive direct instructions from a pure devotee, simply by hearing him glorify the Supreme Personality of Godhead one can be purified of all sinful reactions caused by one's involvement in illusion.

TEXT 29

taA yae Za{Nvainta gAAyainta ÷naumaAed"inta caAä{"taA:
matpar"A: ™aÚ"DaAnaAê Bai·M(ivand"inta tae maiya

*tä ye çäëvanti gäyanti
hy anumodanti cädâtäù
mat-paräù çraddadhänäç ca
bhaktià vindanti te mayi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

täù—those topics; ye—persons who; çäëvanti—hear; gäyanti—chant; hi—indeed; anumodanti—take to heart; ca—and; ädâtäù—with respect; mat-paräù—dedicated to Me; çraddadhänäù—faithful; ca—and; bhaktim—devotional service; vindanti—achieve; te—they; mayi—for Me.

TRANSLATION

Whoever hears, chants and respectfully takes to heart these topics about Me becomes faithfully dedicated to Me and thus achieves My devotional service.

PURPORT

One who hears from advanced devotees of Lord Kåñëa can be saved from the ocean of material existence. When one obeys the order of a bona fide spiritual master, the polluted workings of the mind are checked, one sees things in a new, spiritual light, and there blossoms the propensity for selfless loving service to the Lord, which gives the fruit of love of Godhead.

TEXT 30

Bai-M(labDavata: s$aADaAe:
ik(manyad"vaizASyatae
mayyanantagAuNAe "aöNya, @Anand"AnauBavaAtmaina

*bhaktià labdhavataù sādhoù kim anyad avaçĩñyate
mayy ananta-guëe brahmaëy
ānandānubhavātmani*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhaktim—devotional service to the Supreme Lord; labdhavataù—who has achieved; sādhoù—for the devotee; kim—what; anyat—else; avaçĩñyate—remains; mayi—to Me; ananta-guëe—whose qualities are countless; brahmaëi—to the Absolute Truth; ānanda—of ecstasy; anubhava—the experience; ātmani—who comprises.

TRANSLATION

What more remains to be accomplished for the perfect devotee after achieving devotional service unto Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth, whose qualities are innumerable and who am the embodiment of all ecstatic experience?

PURPORT

Devotional service to Lord Kāñëa is so pleasing that a pure devotee cannot desire anything except service to the Lord. In the Tenth Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, Lord Kāñëa told the gopés that they would have to accept their own service as the ultimate reward of their devotion to Him, since nothing awards as much happiness and knowledge as devotional service itself. When one sincerely chants and hears the holy name and fame of Lord Kāñëa, the heart is purified and gradually one can appreciate the actual, blissful nature of Kāñëa consciousness, loving service to the Lord.

TEXT 31

yaTaAepa™ayamaANAsya BagAvantaM ivaBaAvas$auma, zAltaM BayaM tamaAe'pyaeita
s$aADaUna, s$aMs$aevatastaTaA

*yathopaçrayamäëasya
bhagavantaà vibhāvasum
çetaà bhayaà tamo 'pyeti
sādhün saàsevatas tathā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathā—just as; upaçrayamäëasya—of one who is approaching;
bhagavantam—the powerful; vibhāvasum—fire; çeta—cold; bhayam—fear;
tama—darkness; apyeti—are removed; sādhün—saintly devotees;
saàsevata—for one who is serving; tathā—similarly.

TRANSLATION

Just as cold, fear and darkness are eradicated for one who has approached the sacrificial fire, so dullness, fear and ignorance are destroyed for one engaged in serving the devotees of the Lord.

PURPORT

Those engaged in fruitive activities are certainly dull; they lack higher awareness of the Supreme Lord and the soul. Materialists are engaged more or less mechanically in gratifying their senses and ambitions, and thus they are considered dull or practically unconscious. All such dullness, fear and ignorance are removed when one serves the lotus feet of the Lord, just as cold, fear and darkness are removed when one approaches a fire.

TEXT 32

inamajjyaAenmaÀataAM GaAere" BavaAbDaAE par"maAyaNAma,
s$antaAe "aöivad": zAAntaA
naAEä{R"#Xe#vaAps$au maÀataAma,

nimajjyonmajjatäà ghore
bhaväbdhau paramäyaëam santo brahma-vidaù çäntä
naur dâòheväpsu majjatäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nimajjya—of those who are submerging; unmajjatäm—and rising again; ghore—in the horrible; bhava—of material life; abdhou—ocean; parama—supreme; ayanam—shelter; santaù—saintly devotees; brahma-vidaù—who understand the Absolute Truth; çäntäù—peaceful; nauù—a boat; dâòhä—strong; iva—just as; apsu—in the water; majjatäm—for those who are drowning.

TRANSLATION

The devotees of the Lord, peacefully fixed in absolute knowledge, are the ultimate shelter for those who are repeatedly rising and falling within the fearful ocean of material life. Such devotees are just like a strong boat that comes to rescue persons who are at the point of drowning.

TEXT 33

@^aaM ih" 'aAiNAnaAM 'aANA @AtaARnaAM zAr"NAM tvah"ma, DamaAeR ivaÔaM na{NAAM 'aetya
s$antaAe'vaARigbaByataAe'r"NAm,

*annaà hi prāëināà prāëa
ärtānāà çaraëaà tv aham
dharmo vittaà nāëääà pretya santo 'rväg bibhyato 'raëam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

annam—food; hi—indeed; prāëinām—of living entities; prāëaù—the very life; ärtānām—of those who are distressed; çaraëam—the shelter; tu—and; aham—I; dharmāù—religion; vittam—the wealth; nāëām—of men; pretya—when they have passed away from this world; santaù—the devotees; arvāk—of going downward; bibhyataù—for those who are fearful; araëam—the refuge.

TRANSLATION

Just as food is the life of all creatures, just as I am the ultimate shelter for the distressed, and just as religion is the wealth of those who are passing away from this world, so My devotees are the only refuge of persons fearful of falling into a miserable condition of life.

PURPORT

Those fearful of being dragged down by material lust and anger should take shelter of the lotus feet of the Lord's devotees, who can engage one safely in the Lord's loving service.

TEXT 34

s$antaAe id"zAinta ca⁰aUMis$a baih"r"kR(: s$amauiTata:
de"vataA baAnDavaA: s$anta:
s$anta @AtmaAh"maeva ca

*santo diçanti cakñüàsi
bahir arkaù samutthitaù
devatā bāndhaväù santaù
santa ätmāham eva ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

santaù—the devotees; diçanti—bestow; cakñüàñi—eyes; bahiù—external; arkaù—the sun; samutthitaù—when it is fully risen; devatäù—worshipable deities; bāndhaväù—relatives; santaù—the devotees; santaù—the devotees; ätmä—one's very soul; aham—Myself; eva ca—as well.

TRANSLATION

My devotees bestow divine eyes, whereas the sun allows only external sight, and that only when it is risen in the sky. My devotees are one's real worshipable deities and real family; they are one's own self, and ultimately they are nondifferent from Me.

PURPORT

Foolishness is the wealth of the impious, who place great value on their treasure and firmly make up their minds to remain in the darkness of ignorance. Saintly devotees of the Lord are just like the sun. By the light of their words, the living entities' eyes of knowledge are opened and the darkness of ignorance is destroyed. Thus the saintly devotees are one's real friends and relatives. They are the proper recipients of service—not the gross material body, which merely clamors for sense gratification.

TEXT 35

vaEtas$ae nastata Ae'pyaevama, ovaRzyaA laAek(inaSpa{h": mau·(s$aEÿAe mah"ImaetaAma, @AtmaAr"AmaêcaAr" h"

*vaitasenas tato 'py evam urvaçyā loka-niīpāhaù
mukta-saì go mahém etām
ātmārāmaç cacāra ha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vaitasenaù—King Purüravā; tataù api—for that reason; evam—thus; urvaçyāù—of Urvaçé; loka—of being on the same planet; niīpāhaù—freed from the desire; mukta—liberated; saì gaù—from all material association; mahém—the earth; etām—this; ātma-ārāmaù—self-satisfied; cacāra—he traveled; ha—indeed.

TRANSLATION

Thus losing his desire to be on the same planet as Urvaçé, Mahārāja Purüravā began to wander the earth free of all material association and completely satisfied within the self.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Twenty-sixth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "The Aila-gétā."

27. Lord Kåñëa's Instructions on the Process of Deity Worship

In this chapter the Supreme Personality of Godhead explains the process of kriyā-yoga, or Deity worship.

Worshipping the Deity form of the Supreme Lord automatically brings purity and satisfaction to the mind. Thus it is the source of all desirable gains. If a person has no engagement in Deity service he will simply remain attracted to material sense gratification, and he will have no hope of giving up bad association. The Personality of Godhead has given instruction, among the regulations of the Sātvata scriptures, on the process of worshipping Him as the bona fide Deity. Brahmā, Çiva, Nārada, Vyāsa and all other sages have recommended this process described by the Lord as most perfectly beneficial for all the occupational classes and spiritual orders of human society, including even the women and çūdras.

There are three varieties of arcana, Deity worship, based on either the original Vedas, the secondary tantras, or a combination of these. The Deity image, the ground, the fire, the sun, the water and the heart of the worshiper are all true locations of the Deity's presence. The Deity form to be worshiped may be constructed of any one of eight substances-stone, wood, metal, clay, paint, sand (drawn upon the ground), the mind or jewels. These categories are further subdivided into two: temporary and permanent.

The details of the worshipping process are as follows: The devotee should bathe both physically and by chanting mantras, and then he should perform the utterance of Gāyatrī at the prescribed juncture of the day. He should arrange a seat facing either east or north, or else directly facing the Deity, and should bathe and clean the Deity. Then he should present clothing and ornaments, sprinkle water on the vessels and other paraphernalia to be used in the worship, and offer water for bathing the Deity's feet, arghya, water for washing His mouth, fragrant oils, incense, lamps, flowers and food preparations. After this, one should worship the Lord's personal servants and bodyguards, His consort energies, and the spiritual masters by chanting their respective mūla-mantras. The worshiper should recite prayers from the Purāṇas and other sources, offer obeisances flat on the ground, beg for benediction, and place on himself the remnants of the Lord's garlands.

Included in this method of Deity worship are the proper installation of the transcendental Deity by constructing a fine temple, and also the conducting of processions and other festivals. By worshiping Lord Çré Hari with unconditional devotion in this manner, one gains access to pure loving service to His lotus feet. But if one steals property that has been given as charity to the Deity or the brāhmaṇas, whether given by himself or by others, he will have to take his next birth as a stool-eating worm.

TEXT 1

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
i,(yaAyaAegAM s$amaAca°va Bavad"Ar"ADanaM 'aBaAe yasmaAÔvaAM yae yaTaAcaRinta
s$aAtvataA: s$aAtvataSaRBa

çré-uddhava uvāca
kriyā-yogaà samācakñiva
bhavad-ārādhanaà prabho
yasmāt tvāà ye yathārcanti
sātvatāù sātvatarīabha

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uvāca—Çré Uddhava said; kriyā-yogam—the prescribed method of activity; samācakñiva—please explain; bhavad—of You; ārādhanam—the Deity worship; prabho—O Lord; yasmāt—based on what kind of form; tvām—You; ye—who; yathā—in what manner; arcanti—they worship; sātvatāu—the devotees; sātvata-āñabha—O master of the devotees.

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, O master of the devotees, please explain to me the prescribed method of worshiping You in Your Deity form. What are the qualifications of those devotees who worship the Deity, on what basis is such worship established, and what is the specific method of worship?

PURPORT

In addition to performing their prescribed duties, devotees of the Lord engage in regulated worship of the Lord in His Deity form in the temple. Such worship acts powerfully to cleanse the heart of both the lust to enjoy one's material body and the material family attachment that results directly from this lust. To be effective, however, the process of Deity worship must be performed in the authorized way. Therefore Uddhava now inquires from the Lord about this subject.

TEXT 2

Wtaã"d"inta maunayaAe
mauò"inaR:™aeyas$aM na{NAAma, naAr"d"Ae BagAvaAna, vyaAs$a @AcaAyaAeR'iEÿr"s$a: s$auta:

*etat vadanti munayo
muhur niùçreyasaè nãëäm
nārado bhagavān vyāsa
ācāryo 'ī girasau sutaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; vadanti—they say; munayaù—the great sages;
muhuù—repeatedly; niùçreyasam—the highest goal of life; nãëäm—for men;

nāradau—Nārada Muni; bhagavān vyāsa—Ṛṣi Vedavyāsa; ācāryau—my spiritual master; aṅ girasa—of Aṅ girā; sutau—the son.

TRANSLATION

All the great sages repeatedly declare that such worship brings the greatest benefit possible in human life. This is the opinion of Nārada Muni, the great Vyāsadeva and my own spiritual master, Bāhaspati.

TEXTS 3-4

ina:s$ā{taM tae mauKaAmBaAejaAä," yad"Ah" BagAvaAnaja:
pauṭaeByaAe Ba{gAumauKyaeyByaAe
de"vyaE ca BagAvaAna, Bava:

WtaãE" s$avaRvaNAARnaAma,
@A™amaANAAM ca s$ammatama, ™aeyas$aAmauÔamaM manyae ñlzAU#%"ANAAM ca maAnad"

niūsāta te mukhāmbhojād
yad āha bhagavān ajaù
putrebhyo bhāgu-mukhyebhyo devyai ca bhagavān bhavaù

etad vai sarva-varēānām
āçramāēā ca sammatam
çreyasām uttama te manye
strē-çüdrāēā ca māna-da

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

niūsātam—emanated; te—Your; mukha-ambhojāt—from the lotus mouth;
yat—which; āha—spoke; bhagavān—the great lord; ajaù—self-born Brahmā; putrebhyaù—to his sons; bhāgu-mukhyebhyaù—headed by Bhāgu;

devyai—to the goddess Pārvatī; ca—and; bhagavān bhavaū—Lord Śiva; etat—this (process of Deity worship); vai—indeed; sarva-varēṇām—by all the occupational classes of society; ācramāḥ—and spiritual orders; ca—also; sammata—approved; creyasām—of different kinds of benefit in life; uttama—the topmost; manye—I think; strī—for women; cuḍrāḥ—and low-class workers; ca—also; māna-da—O magnanimous Lord.

TRANSLATION

O most magnanimous Lord, the instructions on this process of Deity worship first emanated from Your lotus mouth. Then they were spoken by the great Lord Brāhmā to his sons, headed by Bhāgu, and by Lord Śiva to his wife, Pārvatī. This process is accepted by and appropriate for all the occupational and spiritual orders of society. Therefore I consider worship of You in Your Deity form to be the most beneficial of all spiritual practices, even for women and cuḍras.

TEXT 5

Wtatk(malapaṭaA^oa k(maRbanDaivamaAecanama, Ba·(Aya caAnaur"·(Aya
"aUih" ivaieire"ir"

etat kamala-patrākṣa
karma-bandha-vimocanam
bhaktāya cānuraktāya
brūhi viṣveṣvareṣvara

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; kamala-patra-ākṣa—O lotus-eyed Lord; karma-bandha—from the bondage of material work; vimocanam—the means of liberation; bhaktāya—to Your devotee; anuraktāya—who is very attached;

brühi—please speak; viçva-éçvara—of all the lords of the universe; éçvara—O Supreme Lord.

TRANSLATION

O lotus-eyed one, O Supreme Lord of all lords of the universe, please explain to Your devoted servant this means of liberation from the bondage of work.

TEXT 6

™aIBagAvaAnauvaAca
na ÷ntaAe'nantapaAr"sya
k(maRk(ANx"sya caAeÜ"va
s$aiÉÿæaM vaNARiyaSyaAima
yaTaAvad"naupaUvaRzA:

çré-bhagavän uväca
na hy anto 'nanta-pärasya karma-käëòasya coddhava
saì kñiptaà varëayiñyämi
yathävad anupürvaçaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; na—there is not; hi—indeed; antaù—any end; ananta-pärasya—of the boundless; karma-käëòasya—Vedic prescriptions for the execution of worship; ca—and; uddhava—O Uddhava; saì kñiptam—in brief; varëayiñyämi—I shall explain; yathä-vat—in a suitable manner; anupürvaçaù—in the appropriate order.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, there is no end to the innumerable Vedic prescriptions for executing Deity worship; so I shall explain this topic to you briefly, one step at a time.

PURPORT

Here the word karma-kāṇḍa refers to the various Vedic methods of worship, culminating in Deity worship of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Just as the means of sense gratification and material renunciation are innumerable, the transcendental pastimes and qualities the Supreme Personality of Godhead enjoys in His own abode, called Vaikuṇṭha, are also innumerable. The various concepts of piety and methods of purification in the material world ultimately cannot be reconciled amongst themselves without accepting the Absolute Truth, the Personality of Godhead, since without appreciation of Him there is no definitive understanding of what is actually obligatory for a human being. Even though almost all human beings are engaged in various processes of worship, the Lord will now summarize this topic, describing how one should worship Him in His Deity form.

TEXT 7

vaEid"K(staAinṭak(Ae ima™a wita mae iṭaivaDaAe maKa:
ṭayaANAAmalips$ataenaEva ivaiDanaA maAM s$amacaR&#re"ta,

*vaidikas tāntriko miçra
iti me tri-vidho makhaù
trayäëäm épsitenaiva
vidhinä mää samarcaret*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vaidikaù—according to the four Vedas; tāntrikaù—according to practical, explanatory literatures; miçraù—mixed; iti—thus; me—of Me; tri-vidhaù—of three kinds; makhaù—sacrifice; trayäëäm—of the three;

épsitena—that which one feels to be most suitable; eva—certainly; vidhinä—by the process; mäm—Me; samarcaret—one should properly worship.

TRANSLATION

One should carefully worship Me by selecting one of the three methods by which I receive sacrifice: Vedic, tantric or mixed.

PURPORT

Vaidika refers to sacrifice performed with mantras from the four Vedas and auxiliary Vedic literature. Tāntrika refers to such literatures as the Pañcarātra and the Gautamēya-tantra. And "mixed" indicates utilization of both literatures. It should be remembered that superficial imitation of elaborate Vedic sacrifices will not bring one the actual perfection of life. One must perform sacrifice according to the prescription of the Supreme Lord, who recommends for this age the chanting of His holy names: Hare Kāñëa, Hare Kāñëa, Kāñëa Kāñëa, Hare Hare/ Hare Rāma, Hare Rāma, Rāma Rāma, Hare Hare.

TEXT 8

yad"A svainagAmaenaAe·M(
iā"jatvaM 'aApya paUç&Sa:
yaTaA yajaeta maAM BaftyaA ™aÜ"yaA taiªabaAeDa mae

yadā sva-nigamenoktaà dvijatvaà prāpya pūruṇau
yathā yajeta māà bhaktyā
çraddhayā tan nibodha me

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; sva—specified according to one's qualification; nigamena—by the Vedas; uktam—enjoined; dvijatvam—the status of becoming twice-born; präpya—achieving; püruṇau—a person; yathä—in which way; yajeta—he should execute worship; mäm—unto Me; bhaktyä—with devotion; çraddhayä—with faith; tat—that; nibodha—please hear; me—from Me.

TRANSLATION

Now please listen faithfully as I explain exactly how a person who has achieved twice-born status through the relevant Vedic prescriptions should worship Me with devotion.

PURPORT

The word sva-nigamena refers to the particular Vedic injunctions relevant to one's social and occupational status. Members of the brähmaëa, kñatriya and vaiçya communities all achieve dvijatvam, twice-born status, by initiation into the Gäyatrë mantra. Traditionally, fully qualified brähmaëa boys may be initiated at age eight, kñatriyas at eleven and vaiçyas at twelve, provided the proper conditions are met. Having achieved twice-born status, one should faithfully worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead in His form of the Deity, as the Lord Himself will describe.

TEXT 9

@caARyaAM sTaiNx"lae'çae vaA
s$aUyaeR vaAps$au ô$id" iã"ja: %"vyaeNA Bai·(yau·(Ae'caeRta,
svagAuçM& maAmamaAyayaA

arcäyâà sthaëòile 'gnau vä sürye väpsu hädi dvijau
dravyeëa bhakti-yukto 'rcet
sva-guruà mäm amäyayä

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

arcāyām—within the Deity form; sthaëòile—in the earth; agnau—in fire; vā—or; sūrye—in the sun; vā—or; apsu—in water; hādi—in the heart; dvijaù—the brāhmaëa; dravyeëa—by various paraphernalia; bhakti-yuktaù—endowed with devotion; arcet—he should worship; sva-gurum—his worshipable Lord; mām—Me; amāyayā—without any deception.

TRANSLATION

A twice-born person should worship Me, his worshipable Lord, without duplicity, offering appropriate paraphernalia in loving devotion to My Deity form or to a form of Me appearing upon the ground, in fire, in the sun, in water or within the worshiper's own heart.

TEXT 10

paUva< µaAnaM 'aku(val=ta DaAEtad"ntaAe'ËÿzAuÜ"yae oBayaEr"ipa ca µaAnaM
manṭaEma{RØ"h"NAAid"naA

pūrvaà snānaà prakurvēta dhauta-danto 'i ga-çuddhaye ubhayair api ca snānaà
mantrair mād-grahaëädinā

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pūrvam—first; snānam—bath; prakurvēta—one should perform; dhauta—having cleaned; dantaù—his teeth; aṁ ga—of the body; çuddhaye—for purification; ubhayaiù—with both kinds; api ca—also; snānam—bathing; mantraiù—with mantras; mât-grahaëa-ädinā—by smearing with earth and so on.

TRANSLATION

One should first purify his body by cleansing his teeth and bathing. Then one should perform a second cleansing by smearing the body with earth and chanting both Vedic and tantric mantras.

TEXT 11

s$anDyaAepaAstyaAid"k(maARiNA
vaede"naAcaAeid"taAina mae paUjaAM taE: k(lpayaets$amyak,(-
s$aÆy!pa: k(maRpaAvanalma,

*sandhyopästyädi-karmäei
vedenäcoditāni me
pūjāà taiù kalpayet samyak-
saì kalpaù karma-pāvaném*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sandhyä—at the three junctures of the day (dawn, noon and sunset);
upästi—worship (by chanting the Gäyatrē mantra); ädi—and so on;
karmäei—prescribed duties; vedena—by the Vedas;
äcoditāni—recommended; me—My; pūjām—worship; taiù—by these activities; kalpayet—one should perform; samyak-saì kalpaù—who has perfectly fixed his determination (that the object of his endeavor will be the Personality of Godhead); karma—the reaction of fruitive work; pāvaném—which eradicates.

TRANSLATION

Fixing the mind on Me, one should worship Me by his various prescribed duties, such as chanting the Gäyatrē mantra at the three junctures of the day.

Such performances are enjoined by the Vedas and purify the worshiper of reactions to fruitive activities.

TEXT 12

zAEIaI d"Aç&mayal laAEh"I laepyaA laeKyaA ca s$aEk(tal manaAemayal maiNAmayal
'aitamaAÍ"ivaDaA sma{taA

*çailé dāru-mayé lauhé
lepyā lekhyā ca saikaté
mano-mayé maëi-mayé
pratimāñña-vidhā smātā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çailé—made of stone; dāru-mayé—made of wood; lauhé—made of metal; lepyā—made of clay, sandalwood and other substances laid down as a paste; lekhyā—painted; ca—and; saikaté—made of sand; manaù-mayé—conceived of in the mind; maëi-mayé—made of jewels; pratimā—the Deity; añña-vidhā—in eight varieties; smātā—it is remembered.

TRANSLATION

The Deity form of the Lord is said to appear in eight varieties—stone, wood, metal, earth, paint, sand, the mind or jewels.

PURPORT

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé explains that certain Deity forms, such as those made of sand, are manifested for a brief time to fulfill a personal desire of the worshiper. Those, however, who desire to attain pure love of God should worship the permanent form of the Deity (made, for instance, of marble, gold or brass), and they should maintain continual worship. In Kāñëa consciousness there is no scope for neglecting the worship of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 13

calaAcalaeita iā"ivaDaA
'aitaī"A jalvamaīd"r"ma,
oā"As$aAvaAh"nae na sta:
isTar"AyaAmauÜ"vaAcaR"nae

*calācaleti dvi-vidhā
pratiññā jēva-mandiram
udvāsāvāhane na staù
sthirāyām uddhavārcane*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

calā—movable; acalā—immovable; iti—thus; dvi-vidhā—of two varieties; pratiññā—the installation; jēva-mandiram—of the Deity, who is the shelter of all living entities; udvāsa—sending away; āvāhane—and calling forth; na staù—are not done; sthirāyām—for the permanently established Deity; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; arcane—in His worship.

TRANSLATION

The Deity form of the Lord, who is the shelter of all living entities, can be established in two ways: temporarily or permanently. But a permanent Deity, having been called, can never be sent away, My dear Uddhava.

PURPORT

The devotees of the Lord understand themselves to be the Lord's eternal servitors; recognizing the Deity to be the Lord Himself, they permanently install the Deity and engage in perpetual worship. The impersonalists, however, regard the eternal form of the Lord as a temporary manifestation of illusion. In fact, they regard the Deity form as a mere stepping—stone in their ambitious program to become God. Materialistic persons of whatever stripe consider the Lord to be their order supplier, and so they make temporary arrangements for religious ceremonies to achieve temporary material sense gratification. This temporary mode of worship is favored by those desiring to exploit the Personality of Godhead for their personal ends, whereas the loving devotees in Kāñëa consciousness eternally engage in worship of the Personality of Godhead. They install permanent Deities meant to be worshiped perpetually.

TEXT 14

@isTar"AyaAM ivak(lpa: syaAta, sTaiNx"lae tau Bavaeä," ã"yama,
µapanaM tvaivalaepyaAyaAma, @nyaṭa pair"maAjaRnama,

*asthiräyāà vikalpaù syät sthaëòile tu bhaved dvayam
snapanaà tv avilepyäyām
anyatra parimārjanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

asthiräyām—in the case of the temporarily installed Deity; vikalpaù—an option (as to whether the Deity is to be called and sent away); syät—there is; sthaëòile—in the case of the Deity traced upon the ground; tu—but; bhaved—do occur; dvayam—these two rituals; snapanam—the bathing; tu—but; avilepyäyām—in the case when the Deity is not made out of clay (or paint or wood); anyatra—in the other cases; parimārjanam—thorough cleansing, but without water.

TRANSLATION

The Deity that is temporarily established can optionally be called forth and sent away, but these two rituals should always be performed when the Deity is traced upon the ground. Bathing should be done with water except if the Deity is made of clay, paint or wood, in which cases a thorough cleansing without water is enjoined.

PURPORT

Various classes of devotees worship the Deity of the Personality of Godhead according to their various stages of faith in the Lord. An advanced devotee of Lord Kāñëa understands his eternal loving relationship with the Lord and, seeing the Deity as the Lord Himself, establishes an eternal relationship with the Deity based on loving servitude to Him. Understanding Lord Kāñëa to be the eternal form of bliss and knowledge, a faithful devotee makes a permanent arrangement for Deity worship, installing the Lord's form made of, for example, stone, wood or marble.

The çälagrāma-çilā is considered to be automatically installed even without the formal ceremony, and so it is forbidden to call the Deity with mantras or ask the Deity to leave. On the other hand, if one prepares a Deity form by drawing on sanctified ground or by constructing a sand image, one must call the Deity with mantras and then ask the Deity to leave the external form, which will soon be demolished by the natural elements.

The general principle is that a pure devotee of the Lord understands his relationship with the Deity to be eternal. The more one surrenders in loving devotion to the Deity, the more one can understand the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Lord Kāñëa is a person, but He is the Supreme Person, possessing His own unique feelings. One can easily please the Lord by devotional service offered to His Deity form. By pleasing the Lord one can gradually progress in the mission of human life and eventually go back home, back to Godhead, where the Deity personally appears before the devotee and welcomes the devotee to His personal abode, known throughout the world as the kingdom of God.

TEXT 15

%o"vyaE: 'ais$aÜE"maRâAgA:
'aitamaAid"SvamaAiyana: Ba·(sya ca yaTaAlabDaEr," ô$id" BaAvaena caEva ih"

dravyaiù prasiddhair mad-yägaù pratimädiñv amäyinaù
bhaktasya ca yathä-labdhair
hâdi bhävena caiva hi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dravyaiù—with items of paraphernalia; prasiddhaiù—excellent; mat-yägaù—My worship; pratimä-ädiñu—in the different Deity forms; amäyinaù—who has no material desire; bhaktasya—of a devotee; ca—and; yathä-labdhaiù—by whatever paraphernalia he can easily obtain; hâdi—in the heart; bhävena—by mental conception; ca—and; eva hi—certainly.

TRANSLATION

One should worship Me in My Deity forms by offering the most excellent paraphernalia. But a devotee completely freed from material desire may worship Me with whatever he is able to obtain, and may even worship Me within his heart with mental paraphernalia.

PURPORT

A devotee still troubled by material desire tends to see the world as an object of sense gratification. Such a neophyte devotee may misunderstand the Lord's supreme position and may even consider the Lord an object of his own enjoyment. Hence the neophyte must offer opulent paraphernalia to the Deity so that he may constantly remember that the Deity is the supreme enjoyer and that he, the neophyte, is simply the worshiper and is actually meant for the Deity's pleasure. In contrast, an advanced devotee, one fixed in Kâñëa consciousness, never forgets that the Supreme Lord is the actual enjoyer and controller of everything. The pure devotee offers his unalloyed love to the Personality of Godhead along with whatever paraphernalia is easily obtained. A Kāñëa conscious devotee does not waver in his devotion to Lord Kāñëa, and even with the simplest offering he completely satisfies the Personality of Godhead.

TEXTS 16-17

µaAnaAlaÆÿr"NAM 'aei'"ma, @caARyaAmaeva taUÜ"va sTaiNx"lae taÔvaivanyaAs$aAe
va¶"AvaAgyaplautaM h"iva:

s$aUyaeR caAByahR"NAM 'aeiM"
s$sailalae s$sailalaAid"iBa:
™aÜ"yaAepaAô$taM 'aeiM" Ba·e(na mama vaAyaRipa

snānālaḥ karaëaà preñōham arcāyām eva tūddhava
sthaëòile tattva-vinyāso
vahnāv ājya-plutaà haviù

sūrye cābhyarhaëaà preñōhaà salile salilādibhiù
çraddhayopāhātaà preñōhaà
bhaktena mama vāry api

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

snāna—bathing; alaḥ karaëam—and decorating with clothing and ornaments; preñōham—is most appreciated; arcāyām—for the Deity form; eva—certainly; tu—and; uddhava—O Uddhava; sthaëòile—for the Deity drawn upon the ground; tattva-vinyāsaù—establishing the expansions and potencies of the Lord within the various limbs of the Deity by chanting the respective mantras; vahnau—for the sacrificial fire; ājya—in ghee; plutam—drenched; haviù—the oblations of sesame, barley and so on;

sūrye—for the sun; ca—and; abhyarhaëam—the yoga meditation of twelve āsanas and offerings of arghya; preñōham—most dear; salile—for the water; salila-ādibhiū—by offerings of water and so on; çraddhayā—with faith; upāhātam—presented; preñōham—most dear; bhaktena—by the devotee; mama—My; vāri—water; api—even.

TRANSLATION

In worshiping the temple Deity, my dear Uddhava, bathing and decoration are the most pleasing offerings. For the Deity traced on sacred ground, the process of tattva-vinyāsa is most dear. Oblations of sesame and barley soaked in ghee are the preferred offering to the sacrificial fire, whereas worship consisting of upasthāna and arghya is preferred for the sun. One should worship Me in the form of water by offering water itself. Actually, whatever is offered to Me with faith by My devotee—even if only a little water—is most dear to Me.

PURPORT

The Supreme Personality of Godhead is present everywhere, and Vedic culture prescribes various ritualistic methods for worshiping the Lord in His various manifestations. The principal item is the faith and devotion of the worshiper, without which everything else is useless, as the Lord describes in the next verse.

TEXT 18

BaUyaRpyaBa·(AepaAô$taM na mae taAeSaAya k(lpatae gAnDaAe DaUpa: s$aumanas$aAe
d"lpaAe'aAâM ca ikM(pauna:

bhūry apy abhaktopāhātā
na me toñāya kalpate
gandho dhūpaù sumanaso

dépo 'nnädyaà ca kià punaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhüri—opulent; api—even; abhakta—by a nondevotee; upähâtam—offered; na—does not; me—My; toñäya—satisfaction; kalpate—create; gandhaù—fragrance; dhüpaù—incense; sumanasaù—flowers; dépaù—lamps; anna-ädyam—foodstuffs; ca—and; kim punaù—what to speak of.

TRANSLATION

Even very opulent presentations do not satisfy Me if they are offered by nondevotees. But I am pleased by any insignificant offering made by My loving devotees, and I am certainly most pleased when nice presentations of fragrant oil, incense, flowers and palatable foods are offered with love.

PURPORT

The Lord has stated in the previous verse that even a little water offered with love and devotion gives Him great pleasure. Therefore the words kià punaù indicate the Lord's complete happiness when a suitably opulent offering is made with love and devotion. But an opulent offering made by a nondevotee cannot please the Lord. As Çréla Jéva Gosvämé explains, the rules and regulations concerning Deity worship and the listing of offenses against the Deities are all meant for helping one avoid precisely this kind of disrespectful or neglectful attitude toward the Personality of Godhead in His Deity form. In fact, all offenses against the Deity are based upon irreverence and disregard for the Lord's position as master, and thus upon disobedience to His orders. Since one must worship the Deity with reverence, one should offer opulent presentations to the Deity with love, for such presentations both enhance the respectfulness of the worshiper and help him avoid offenses in his worship.

TEXT 19

zAuica: s$amBa{tas$amBaAr":
'aAgd"BaE=: k(ilpataAs$ana:
@As$alna: 'aAgAud"gvaAcaeRä," @caARyaAM tvaTa s$ammauKa:

*çuciù sambhâta-sambhâraù
präg-darbhaiù kalpitäsanaù
äsënaù präg udag vârced
arcâyäà tv atha sammukhaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çuciù—clean; sambhâta—having collected; sambhâraù—the paraphernalia; präk—their tips facing the east; darbhaiù—with blades of kuça grass; kalpita—having arranged; äsanaù—his own seat; äsënaù—sitting; präk—facing the east; udak—facing the north; vä—or; arcet—he should perform the worship; arcâyäm—of the Deity; tu—but; atha—or else; sammukhaù—directly facing.

TRANSLATION

After cleansing himself and collecting all the paraphernalia, the worshiper should arrange his own seat with blades of kuça grass whose tips point eastward. He should then sit facing either east or north, or else, if the Deity is fixed in one place, he should sit directly facing the Deity.

PURPORT

The word sambhâta-sambhâra means that before beginning the Deity worship one should place all necessary paraphernalia nearby. In this way one will not have to get up continually to search for different items. If the Deity has been permanently installed, then one should sit facing the Deity.

TEXT 20

k{(tanyaAs$a: k{(tanyaAs$aAM
mad"caA< paAiNAnaAma{jaeta, k(lazAM 'aAe°aNAlYaM ca
yaTaAvaäu"pas$aADayaeta,

kâta-nyâsaù kâta-nyäsäà
mad-arcäà päëinämâjet
kalaçaà prokñäëéyaà ca
yathâvad upasâdhayet

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kâta-nyâsaù—having sanctified his own body (by touching various parts and chanting appropriate mantras while meditating on the corresponding forms of the Supreme Lord); kâta-nyäsäm—(the Deity) upon which the same process has been applied; mat-arcäm—My Deity manifestation; päëinä—with his hand; ämâjet—should clean (by removing remnants of old offerings); kalaçam—the ritual pot filled with auspicious substances; prokñäëéyam—the vessel containing water for sprinkling; ca—and; yathâ-vat—appropriately; upasâdhayet—he should prepare.

TRANSLATION

The devotee should sanctify the various parts of his body by touching them and chanting mantras. He should do the same for My Deity forms and then with his hands he should clean the Deity of old flowers and the remnants of previous offerings. He should properly prepare the sacred pot and the vessel containing water for sprinkling.

PURPORT

Before beginning the process of worship mentioned here, one should offer obeisances to one's spiritual master, the Deity and other worshipable personalities.

TEXT 21

tad"ià"deR"vayajanaM
%o"vyaANyaAtmaAnamaeva ca
'aAe^oya paAṭaAiNA ṭaINyaià"s$a, taEstaE%oR"vyaEê s$aADayaeta,

*tad-adbhir deva-yajanaṁ
dravyäëy ätmānam eva ca
prokñya pātrāëi tréëy adbhis
tais tair dravyaiç ca sādhayet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat—of the vessel for sprinkling; adbhiù—with the water; deva-yajanam—the place where the Deity is worshiped; dravyäëi—the paraphernalia; ätmānam—one's own body; eva—indeed; ca—also; prokñya—sprinkling; pātrāëi—the vessels; tréëi—three; adbhiù—with water; taiù taiù—with those available; dravyaiù—auspicious items; ca—and; sādhayet—he should arrange.

TRANSLATION

Then, with the water of that prokñäëéya vessel he should sprinkle the area where the Deity is being worshiped, the offerings that are going to be presented, and his own body. Next he should decorate with various auspicious substances three vessels filled with water.

PURPORT

Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé gives references from Vedic literature stating that the water meant for bathing the feet should be combined with millet seeds, dūrvā grass mixed in water, viñëukrānta flowers and other items. The water used for arghya should include the following eight items: fragrant oil, flowers, unbroken barleycorns, husked barleycorns, the tips of kuça grass, sesame seeds, mustard seeds and dūrvā grass. The water for sipping should include jasmine flowers, ground cloves and kakkola berries.

TEXT 22

paAâAGyaARcamanalyaATa< ṭaliNA paAṭaAiNA de"izAk(:
ô$d"A zAISNAARTa izAKayaA gAAyaṭyaA caAiBamanṭayaeta,

*pādyārghyācamanēyārthaà
trēi pātrāi deçikaù
hādā çērñēātha çikhayā
gāyatrā cābhimantrayet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pādyā—of the water offered to the Lord for bathing His feet; arghya—the water offered to the Lord as a token of respectful greeting; ācamanēya—and the water offered to the Lord for washing His mouth; artham—placed there for the purpose; trēi—three; pātrāi—the vessels; deçikaù—the worshiper; hādā—by the "heart" mantra; çērñēā—by the "head" mantra; atha—and; çikhayā—by the "crown" mantra; gāyatrā—and by the Gāyatrī mantra; ca—also; abhimantrayet—he should perform purification by chanting.

TRANSLATION

The worshiper should then purify those three vessels. He should sanctify the vessel holding water for washing the Lord's feet by chanting hādayāya namaù, the vessel containing water for arghya by chanting çirase svāhā, and the vessel containing water for washing the Lord's mouth by chanting çikhāyai vañāō. Also, the Gāyatrī mantra should be chanted for all three vessels.

TEXT 23

ipaNxe" vaAyvaiças$amZauÜe"
ô$tpaásTaAM par"AM mama @Nval%M jalvak(laAM DyaAyaena, naAd"Antae is$aÜ"BaAivataAma,

piëòe väyv-agni-saàçuddhe
hât-padma-sthâà parâà mama aëvéà jéva-kalâà dhyäyen
nädänte siddha-bhävitäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

piëòe—within the body; väyu—by air; agni—and by fire; saàçuddhe—which has become completely purified; hât—of the heart; padma—upon the lotus; sthâm—situated; parâm—the transcendental form; mama—of Mine; aëvé—very subtle; jéva-kalâm—the Personality of Godhead, from whom all living entities expand; dhyäyet—he should meditate upon; näda-ante—at the end of the vibration of oà; siddha—by perfected sages; bhävitäm—experienced.

TRANSLATION

The worshiper should meditate upon My subtle form—which is situated within the worshiper's own body, now purified by air and fire—as the source of all living entities. This form of the Lord is experienced by self-realized sages in the last part of the vibration of the sacred syllable oà.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svämé, the praëava, or oàkära, has five parts: A, U, M, the nasal bindu and the reverberation (näda). Liberated souls meditate upon the Lord at the end of that reverberation.

TEXT 24

tayaAtmaBaUtayaA ipaNxe"
vyaAæae s$ampaUjya tanmaya:
@AvaA÷AcaARid"Sau sTaApya nyastaAËMÿ maAM 'apaUjayaeta,

tayätma-bhütayä pièðe
vyäpte sampüjya tan-mayaù
ävähyaärcädiñu sthäpya
nyastäi gaà mää prapüjayet

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tayä—by that form meditated upon; ätma-bhütayä—conceived of according to one's own realization; pièðe—in the physical body; vyäpte—which has become pervaded; sampüjya—perfectly worshipping that form; tat-mayaù—surcharged by His presence; ävähya—inviting; arcä-ädiñu—within the various Deities being worshiped; sthäpya—establishing Him; nyasta-aì gam—having touched the Deity's various limbs with the chanting of appropriate mantras; mäm—to Me; prapüjayet—he should carry out all the details of worship.

TRANSLATION

The devotee conceives of the Supersoul, whose presence surcharges the devotee's body, in the form corresponding to his realization. Thus the devotee worships the Lord to his full capacity and becomes fully absorbed in Him. By touching the various limbs of the Deity and chanting appropriate mantras, the devotee should invite the Supersoul to join the Deity's form, and then the devotee should worship Me.

PURPORT

The body of a devotee is pervaded by the Supreme Lord just as a house is pervaded by the glow of a lamp. Just as one gestures in a friendly way to indicate that a guest should enter one's house, one touches the body of the Deity, chants appropriate mantras, and enthusiastically invites the Supersoul to enter the form of the Deity. Since both the Deity and the Supersoul are the Supreme Personality of Godhead, they are not different. One form of the Lord can immediately become manifest in another.

TEXTS 25-26

paAâAepas$ pazAARhR"NAAd"l na,
opacaAr"Ana, 'ak(lpayaeta, DamaARid"iBaê navaiBa:
k(lpaiyatvaAs$anaM mama

paâmaí"d"laM taṭa
k(iNARk(Ake(s$ar"Aejjvalama, oBaAByaAM vaed"tanṭaAByaAM ma÷M taUBayais$aÜ"yae

pädyopasparçärhaëädén
upacärän prakalpayet
dharmädibhiç ca navabhiù kalpayitväsanaà mama

padmam aṇḍa-dalaà tatra
karëikä-kesarojjvalam
ubhābhyāà veda-tantrābhyāà
mahyaà tūbhaya-siddhaye

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pädyā—water for washing the Lord's feet; upasparça—water for washing the Lord's mouth; arhaëa—water presented as arghya; ädén—and other paraphernalia; upacärän—the offerings; prakalpayet—one should make; dharmā-dibhiù—with the personifications of religion, knowledge, renunciation and opulence; ca—and; navabhiù—with the nine (energies of the Lord); kalpayitvā—having imagined; āsanam—the seat; mama—My; padmam—a lotus; aṇḍa-dalam—having eight petals; tatra—therein; karëikā—in the whorl; kesara—with saffron filaments; ujjvalam—effulgent;

ubhābhyām—by both means; veda-tantrābhyām—of the Vedas and tantras; mahyam—to Me; tu—and; ubhaya—of both (enjoyment and liberation); siddhaye—for the achievement.

TRANSLATION

The worshiper should first imagine My seat as decorated with the personified deities of religion, knowledge, renunciation and opulence and with My nine spiritual energies. He should think of the Lord's sitting place as an eight-petaled lotus, effulgent on account of the saffron filaments within its whorl. Then, following the regulations of both the Vedas and the tantras, he should offer Me water for washing the feet, water for washing the mouth, arghya and other items of worship. By this process he achieves both material enjoyment and liberation.

PURPORT

According to Ćrēla Ćrēdhara Svāmē, religion, knowledge, renunciation and opulence are the legs of the Lord's sitting platform and occupy the four corners, beginning with the southeast. Irreligion, ignorance, attachment and wretchedness are the intermediate legs, standing in the four directions beginning with the east. The nine çaktis, or potencies, of the Lord are Vimalā, Utkarṇīēē, Jī āna, Kriyā, Yogā, Prahvē, Satyā, Ēçānā and Anugrahā.

TEXT 27

s$aud"zARnaM paAĀajanyaM
gAd"As$alSauDanauhR"laAna, mauSalaM k(AE$tauBaM maAlaAM ™alvats$aM caAnaupaUjayaeta,

sudarçanaà päi cajanyaà
gadāsēnu-dhanur-halān
muñalaà kaustubhaà mālāà
çrévatsaà cānupūjayet

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sudarçanam—the Lord's disc; päi'cajanya—the Lord's conchshell; gadä—His club; asi—sword; iñu—arrows; dhanuù—bow; halän—and plow; muñalam—His muñala weapon; kaustubham—the Kaustubha gem; mäläm—His garland; çrévatsam—the decoration of Çrévatsa on His chest; ca—and; anupūjayet—one should worship one after another.

TRANSLATION

One should worship, in order, the Lord's Sudarçana disc, His Päi'cajanya conchshell, His club, sword, bow, arrows and plow, His muñala weapon, His Kaustubha gem, His flower garland and the Çrévatsa curl of hair on His chest.

TEXT 28

nandM" s$aunandM" gAç&xM"
'acaNxM" caNxM" Wva ca mah"AbalaM balaM caEva ku(maudM" k(maude"°aNAm,

nandaà sunandaà garuòaà
pracaëòaà caëòaà eva ca
mahäbalaà balaà caiva
kumudaà kamudekñäëam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nandam sunandam garuòam—named Nanda, Sunanda and Garuòa; pracaëòam caëòam—Pracaëòa and Caëòa; eva—indeed; ca—also; mahä-balam balam—Mahäbala and Bala; ca—and; eva—indeed; kumudam kumuda-ékñäëam—Kumuda and Kumudekñäëa.

TRANSLATION

One should worship the Lord's associates Nanda and Sunanda, Garuòà, Pracaèòà and Caèòà, Mahàbala and Bala, and Kumuda and Kumudekñāèà.

TEXT 29

äu"gAA< ivanaAyakM(vyaAs$aM ivaSva°aenaM gAuè&na, s$aur"Ana,
svae svae sTaAnae tvaiBamauKaAna,
paUjayaet'aAe°aNAAd"iBa:

*durgā à vināyaka à vyāsa à viñvaksena à gurūn surān
sve sve sthāne tv abhimukhān
pūjayet prokñāēādibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

durgām—the Lord's spiritual energy; vināyakam—the original Gaëeça; vyāsam—the compiler of the Vedas; viñvaksenam—Viñvaksena; gurūn—one's spiritual masters; surān—the demigods; sve sve—each in his own; sthāne—place; tu—and; abhimukhān—all facing the Deity; pūjayet—one should worship; prokñāēā-ādibhiù—by the various prescriptions beginning with sprinkling of water for purification.

TRANSLATION

With offerings such as prokñāēā one should worship Durgā, Vināyaka, Vyāsa, Viñvaksena, the spiritual masters and the various demigods. All these personalities should be in their proper places facing the Deity of the Lord.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé, the Gaëeça and Durgā mentioned in this verse are not the same personalities present within the material world; rather, they are eternal associates of the Lord in Vaikuëòha. In this world

Gaëëça, the son of Lord Çiva, is famous for awarding financial success, and the goddess Durgä, the wife of Lord Çiva, is famous as the external, illusory potency of the Supreme Lord. The personalities mentioned here, however, are eternally liberated associates of the Lord who reside in the spiritual sky, beyond the material manifestation. Çréla Jéva Gosvämé quotes from various Vedic literatures to prove that the name Durgä may also indicate the internal potency of the Lord, who is nondifferent from Him. The external, or covering, potency of the Lord expands from this original Durgä. The Durgä of the material world, called Mahä-mäyā, assumes the function of bewildering the living entities. Thus a devotee should not fear becoming polluted by worshiping the Durgä mentioned here, who has the same name as illusion, but rather the devotee must show respect to these eternal servitors of the Supreme Lord in Vaikuëoha.

TEXTS 30-31

cand"naAezAlr"k(paURr"- ku(ÇÿmaAgAuç&vaAis$ataE:
s$ailalaE: µaApayaenmanṭaEr," inatyad"A ivaBavae s$aita svaNARGamaARnauvaAke(na

mah"Apauç&SaivaâyaA paAEç&SaeNAAipa s$aU·e(na
s$aAmaBal r"AjanaAid"iBa:

*candanoçéra-karpürakuì kumäguru-väsitaiù
salilaiù snäpayen mantrair
nityadä vibhave sati*

*svarëa-gharmänuväkena mahäpuruña-vidyayä
pauruñëäpi süktena
sämathé räjanädibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

candana—with sandalwood paste; uçéra—the fragrant uçéra root; karpūra—camphor; kuì kuma—vermilion; aguru—aloes wood; väsitaiù—which are perfumed; salilaiù—by different kinds of water; snāpayet—one should bathe the Deity; mantraiù—with mantras; nityadā—every day; vibhave—assets; sati—to the extent that there are; svarëa-gharma-anuvākena—by the chapter of the Vedas known as Svarëa-gharma; mahā-puruña-vidyā—by the incantation called Mahāpuruña; pauruñëa—by the Puruña-sūkta; api—also; süktena—the Vedic hymn; sāmabhiù—by songs from the Sāma Veda; rājana-ādibhiù—known as Rājana and so on.

TRANSLATION

The worshiper should bathe the Deity every day, as opulently as his assets permit, using waters scented with sandalwood, uçéra root, camphor, kuì kuma and aguru. He should also chant various Vedic hymns, such as the anuvāka known as Svarëa-gharma, the Mahāpuruña-vidyā, the Puruña-sūkta and various songs of the Sāma Veda, such as the Rājana and the Rohiëya.

PURPORT

The Puruña-sūkta prayer, beginning oà sahasra-çérñā-puruñaù sahasrākñāù sahasra-pät, is contained within the Āg Veda.

TEXT 32

vañAepavaltaABar"NA-
paṭaṅaggAnDalaepanaE:
@laÇyval=ta s$ā'aema maà".(Ae maAM yaTaAeicatama,

vastropavétābharaëa-

*patra-srag-gandha-lepanaiù
alaì kurvēta sa-prema
mad-bhakto mää yathocitam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vastra—with clothing; upavēta—a brāhmaëa thread; ābharaëa—ornaments; patra—decorations drawn on various parts of the body with tilaka; srag—garlands; gandha-lepanaiù—and smearing of fragrant oils; alaì kurvēta—he should decorate; sa-prema—with love; mat-bhaktaù—My devotee; mām—Me; yathā ucitam—as is enjoined.

TRANSLATION

My devotee should then lovingly decorate Me with clothing, a brāhmaëa thread, various ornaments, marks of tilaka and garlands, and he should anoint My body with fragrant oils, all in the prescribed manner.

PURPORT

Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé quotes Lord Çré Viñëu's instructions to Ambarēña Mahārāja in the Viñëu-dharma Upapurāëa as follows: "Absorbing your mind completely in the Deity, you should give up all other shelter and consider the Deity your intimate well-wisher. You should mentally worship Him and meditate upon Him while you walk, while you stand, while you sleep and eat. You should see the Deity in front of you, behind, above, below and on both sides. In this way you should constantly remember My Deity form." In the Gautaméya-tantra one is enjoined to give the Deity of the Lord a brāhmaëa thread, if possible one made of gold. In the Nāsiàha Purāëa it is stated, "If one offers to Lord Govinda a yellow sacred thread containing three strands of silk, he will become an expert in Vedānta."

TEXT 33

paAâmaAcamanalyaM ca

gAnDaM s$aušanas$aAe'°ataAna, DaUpad"lpaAepah"AyaARiNA
d"âAnmae ™aÜ"yaAcaRk(:

*pādyam ācamanēyaà ca
gandhaà sumanaso 'kñātān
dhūpa-dēpopahāryāēi
dadyān me çraddhayārcakaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pādyam—water for washing the feet; ācamanēyam—water for washing the mouth; ca—and; gandham—fragrances; sumanasaù—flowers; akñātān—unbroken grains; dhūpa—incense; dēpa—lamps; upahāryāēi—such items of paraphernalia; dadyāt—he should present; me—to Me; çraddhayā—with faith; arcakaù—the worshiper.

TRANSLATION

The worshiper should faithfully present Me with water for washing My feet and mouth, fragrant oils, flowers and unbroken grains, along with incense, lamps and other offerings.

TEXT 34

gAux"paAyas$as$apal>#iSa zASku(lyaApaUpamaAed"k(Ana,
s$AMyaAvad"iDas$aUpaAMê naEvaeâM s$aita k(lpayaeta,

*guò-a-pāyasa-sarpéàñi
çañkuly-āpūpa-modakān
saàyāva-dadhi-süpāàç ca
naivedyaà sati kalpayet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

guòā—sugar candy; pāyasa—sweet rice; sarpéṭāñi—and ghee; ṣaṅkulē—a kind of large, ear-shaped cake made of rice flour, sugar and sesame and fried in ghee; āpūpa—various kinds of sweet cakes; modakān—small conical steamed dumplings made of rice flour and filled with sweet coconut and sugar; saṭyāva—an oblong cake made of wheat, ghee and milk and covered with sugar and spices; dadhi—yogurt; sūpān—vegetable soups; ca—and; naivedyam—offerings of food; sati—if he has sufficient means; kalpayet—the devotee should arrange.

TRANSLATION

Within his means, the devotee should arrange to offer Me sugar candy, sweet rice, ghee, ṣaṅkulē [rice-flour cakes], āpūpa [various sweet cakes], modaka [steamed rice-flour dumplings filled with sweet coconut and sugar], saṭyāva [wheat cakes made with ghee and milk and covered with sugar and spices], yogurt, vegetable soups and other palatable foods.

PURPORT

One can acquire detailed information of proper and improper foods to offer in Deity worship by consulting Ṣṛē Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, Eighth vilāsa, verses 152-164.

TEXT 35

@ByaĒyAenmadR"naAd"zARd"ntaDaAvaAiBaSaecanama, @ªaAâgAltana{tyaAina
pavaRiNA syauç&taAnvah"ma,

abhyaṇi gonmardanādarṣadanta-dhāvābhiñecanam

annādyā-gēta-nātyāni
parvāḥi syur utānv-aham

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

abhyaṅga—with ointment; unmardana—massaging; ādarṣa—offering a mirror; danta-dhāva—washing the teeth; abhiñecanam—bathing; anna—offering food that can be eaten without chewing; ādyā—offering food that is chewed; gētā—singing; nātyāni—and dancing; parvāḥi—on special holidays; syuḥ—these offerings should be made; uta—or else (if it is within one's means); anu-aham—every day.

TRANSLATION

On special occasions, and daily if possible, the Deity should be massaged with ointment, shown a mirror, offered a eucalyptus stick for brushing His teeth, bathed with the five kinds of nectar, offered all kinds of opulent foods, and entertained with singing and dancing.

PURPORT

Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura describes the process of Deity worship as follows: "First the Deity's teeth should be cleaned and His body massaged with fragrant oil and rubbed with vermilion, camphor powder and so forth. Then He should be bathed with fragrant water and the five kinds of nectar. Next one should offer valuable silk garments and jeweled ornaments to the Deity, smear His body with sandalwood paste, and offer Him garlands and other gifts. After this, one should hold a mirror in front of the Deity and then offer fragrant oil, flowers, incense, lamps and scented water for refreshing the mouth. One should offer all types of palatable foods, fragrant water, betel nuts, garlands, ārati lamps, a bed to rest on, and so on. One should also fan the Deity and perform instrumental music, singing and dancing. This Deity worship must be performed on special occasions like religious holidays or else, if one can afford it, daily." According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé, Ekādaṣé is an appropriate day for performing special Deity worship.

TEXT 36

ivaiDanaA ivaih"tae ku(Nxe"
maeKalaAgAtaR"vaeid"iBa: @içamaADaAya pair"ta:
s$amaUhe"tpaAiNAnaAeid"tama,

vidhinā vihite kuëòe
mekhalā-garta-vedibhiù
agnim ādhāya paritaù
samühet päëinoditam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vidhinā—according to scriptural injunctions; vihite—constructed; kuëòe—in the sacrificial arena; mekhalā—with the paraphernalia of the sacred belt; garta—the sacrificial pit; vedibhiù—and the altar mound; agnim—the fire; ādhāya—establishing; paritaù—on all sides; samühet—one should build up; päëinā—with his hands; uditam—blazing.

TRANSLATION

In an arena constructed according to scriptural injunctions, the devotee should perform a fire sacrifice, utilizing the sacred belt, the sacrificial pit and the altar mound. When igniting the sacrificial fire, the devotee should bring it to a blaze with wood piled up by his own hands.

TEXT 37

pair"stalyaARTa payauR^oaeä," @nvaADaAya yaTaAivaiDa
‘aAe^oaNyaAs$aAâ %o"vyaAiNA

‘aAe°yaAçāAE BaAvayaeta maAma,

*paristéryätha paryukñed
anvādhāya yathā-vidhi
prokñāēyāsādyā dravyäëi
prokñyāgnau bhāvayeta mām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

paristérya—scattering (kuça grass); atha—then; paryukñet—he should sprinkle with water; anvādhāya—performing the ritual of anvādhāna (placing wood into the fire with recitations of oṁ bhūr bhuvaḥ svaḥ); yathā-vidhi—according to the standard prescription; prokñāēyā—by the water in the ācamana vessel; āsādyā—having arranged; dravyäëi—the items to be offered as oblations; prokñya—sprinkling them; agnau—within the fire; bhāvayeta—he should meditate; mām—on Me.

TRANSLATION

After spreading kuça grass on the ground and sprinkling it with water, one should perform the anvādhāna ritual according to the prescribed rules. Then one should arrange the items to be offered as oblations and should sanctify them with water from the sprinkling vessel. The worshiper should next meditate upon Me within the fire.

PURPORT

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé mentions that one should meditate upon the Lord as the Supersoul within the sacrificial fire.

TEXTS 38-41

taæajaAmbaUnad"‘aKyaM zAÊÿca,(gAd"AmbaujaE:
las$a»atauBauRjaM zAAntaM

paáik(Ãalk(vaAs$as$ama,

s$Pu(r"itk(r"lq%k(q%k(
k(iq%$aU‡avar"AËÿd"ma, ™alvats$ava°as$aM "aAjata,- k(AEtauBaM vanamaAilanama,

DyaAyaªaByacyaR d"Aè&iNA
h"ivaSaAiBaGa{taAina ca
'aAsyaAjyaBaAgAAvaAGaAr"AE
d"ÔvaA caAjyaplautaM h"iva:

jauò"yaAnmaUlaman‡aeNA
SaAex"zAcaARvad"Anata:
DamaARid"ByaAe yaTaAnyAyaM man‡aE: isvaií"k{(taM bauDa:

*tapta-jämbünada-prakhyaà
çaì kha-cakra-gadämbujaiù
lasac-catur-bhujaà çäntaà
padma-kii jalka-väsasam*

*sphurat-kirëöa-kaöaka
kaöi-sütra-varài gadam
çrévatsa-vakñasaà bhräjat-kaustubhaà vana-mälinam*

*dhyäyann abhyarcya därüëi haviñäbhighâtäni ca
präsyäjya-bhägäv äghärau
dattvä cäjya-plutaà haviù*

*juhuyän müla-mantreëa ñöaçarcävadänataù
dharmädibhyo yathä-nyäyaà
mantraiù sviñöi-kâtaà budhaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tapta—molten; jāmbū-nada—of gold; prakhyam—the color; ṣaī kha—with His conchshell; cakra—disc; gadā—club; ambujaiù—and lotus flower; lasat—brilliant; catuù-bhujam—having four arms; ṣāntam—peaceful; padma—of a lotus; kii'jalka—colored like the filaments; vāśasam—His garment; sphurat—shining; kirēōa—helmet; kaōaka—bracelets; kati-sūtra—belt; vara-aī gadam—fine ornaments on the arms; ṣré-vatsa—the emblem of the goddess of fortune; vakñasam—upon His chest; bhrājat—effulgent; kaustubham—the Kaustubha gem; vana-mālinam—wearing a flower garland; dhyāyan—meditating upon Him; abhyarcya—performing worship of Him; dārūēi—pieces of dry wood; haviñā—with the purified butter; abhigātāni—soaked; ca—and; prāsya—throwing into the fire; ājya—of the ghee; bhāgau—the two designated portions; āghārau—in the course of performing the āghāra ritual; dattvā—offering; ca—and; ājya—with ghee; plutam—drenched; haviù—various oblations; juhuyāt—one should offer into the fire; mūla-mantreēa—with the primary mantras naming each deity; ñōaṣa-ācā—with the hymn Puruñā-sūkta, consisting of sixteen lines of verse; avadānataù—pouring an oblation after each line; dharma-ādibhyaù—to the demigods, beginning with Yamarāja; yathā-nyāyam—in the proper order; mantraiù—with the specific mantras naming each demigod; sviñōi-kātam—the ritual of this name; budhaù—the intelligent devotee.

TRANSLATION

The intelligent devotee should meditate upon that form of the Lord whose color is like molten gold, whose four arms are resplendent with the conchshell, disc, club and lotus flower, and who is always peaceful and dressed in a garment colored like the filaments within a lotus flower. His helmet, bracelets, belt and fine arm ornaments shine brilliantly. The symbol of Ṣrévatsa is on His chest, along with the glowing Kaustubha gem and a garland of forest flowers. The devotee should then worship that Lord by taking pieces of firewood soaked in the sacrificial ghee and throwing them into the fire. He should perform the ritual of āghāra, presenting into the fire the various items of oblation drenched in ghee. He should then offer to sixteen demigods, beginning with Yamarāja, the oblation called sviññī-kāt, reciting the basic mantras of each deity and the sixteen-line Puruṇa-sūkta hymn. Pouring one oblation after each line of the Puruṇa-sūkta, he should utter the particular mantra naming each deity.

TEXT 42

@ByacyaARTa namas$ḥ{(tya paASaR$de"ByaAe bailaM h"re"ta, maUlaṁmanṭaM japaeä," "aö smar"ḥaAr"AyaNAAtmak(ma,

abhyarcyaṁṭha namaskātya
pāṇḍadebhyo baliṁ haret
mūla-mantraṁ japet brahma
smaran nārāyaṇa-ātmakam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

abhyarcya—having thus worshiped; atha—then; namaskātya—offering his obeisances by bowing down; pāṇḍadebhyo—unto the Lord's personal associates; balim—offerings; haret—he should present; mūla-mantram—the basic mantra for the Deity; japet—he should chant quietly; brahma—the Absolute Truth; smaran—remembering; nārāyaṇa-ātmakam—as the Supreme Personality, Lord Nārāyaṇa.

TRANSLATION

Having thus worshiped the Lord in the sacrificial fire, the devotee should offer his obeisances to the Lord's personal associates by bowing down and should then present offerings to them. He should then chant quietly the mūla-mantra of the Deity of the Lord, remembering the Absolute Truth as the Supreme Personality, Nārāyaṇa.

TEXT 43

d"ÔvaAcamanamaucCe$SaM
ivaSva°aenaAya k(lpayeta, mauKavaAs$SaM s$aur"iBamata,
taAmbaUlaAâmaTaAhR"yaeta,

*dattvâcamanam uccheṇāṇa viṇvakṇenāya kalpayet
mukha-vāsaṇa surabhimat
tāmbūlādyam athārhayet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dattvā—offering; âcamanam—water for washing the Lord's mouth; uccheṇām—the remnants of His food; viṇvakṣenāya—to the personal associate of Lord Viṇṇu, Viṇvakṣena; kalpayet—one should give; mukha-vāsam—cologne for the mouth; surabhi-mat—fragrant; tāmbūla-ādyam—betel-nut preparation; atha—then; arhayet—one should present.

TRANSLATION

Once again he should offer the Deity water for washing His mouth, and he should give the remnants of the Lord's food to Viṇvakṣena. Then he should present the Deity with fragrant perfume for the mouth and prepared betel nut.

TEXT 44

opagAAyana, gA{NA°a{tyana,
k(maARNyaiBanayanmama matk(TaA: °maAvayana, Za{Nvana, mauó"ta< °aiNAk(Ae Bavaeta,

upagāyan gāēan nātyan
karmāēy abhinayan mama
mat-kathāu çrāvayan çāēvan
muhūrtaà kīaēiko bhavet

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

upagāyan—singing along; gāēan—loudly vibrating; nātyan—dancing;
karmāēi—transcendental activities; abhinayan—imitating by acting out;
mama—My; mat-kathāu—stories about Me; çrāvayan—causing others to hear; çāēvan—hearing himself; muhūrtam—for some time;
kīaēikaù—absorbed in the celebration; bhavet—he should become.

TRANSLATION

Singing along with others, chanting loudly and dancing, acting out My transcendental pastimes, and hearing and telling stories about Me, the devotee should for some time absorb himself in such festivity.

PURPORT

A devotee engaged in regulative worship of the Supreme Lord should sometimes become ecstatically absorbed in chanting and hearing the pastimes of the Lord, dancing, and other festivities. The word muhūrtam, "for some time," indicates that a devotee should be careful not to neglect his regulative principles and service to the Lord in the name of so-called ecstasy. Although one may be ecstatically engaged in chanting, hearing and dancing, he cannot give up the formality of regulated service to the Lord.

TEXT 45

stavaEç&»aAvacaE: staAeḥaE:
paAEr"ANAE: 'aAk{(taEr"ipa

stautvaA 'as$ald" BagAva^aa,
wita vande"ta d"Nx"vata,

*stavair uccāvacaïù stotraiù
pauräëaiù prākātair api
stutvā prasēda bhagavann
iti vandeta daëòà-vat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

stavaiù—with prayers from the scriptures; ucca-avacaiù—of greater and lesser varieties; stotraiù—and with prayers written by human authors; pauräëaiù—from the Puräëas; prākātaiù—from ordinary sources; api—also; stutvā—thus praying to the Lord; prasēda—please show Your mercy; bhagavan—O Lord; iti—thus saying; vandeta—one should pay homage; daëòà-vat—falling down on the ground like a rod.

TRANSLATION

The devotee should offer homage to the Lord with all kinds of hymns and prayers, both from the Puräëas and from other ancient scriptures, and also from ordinary traditions. Praying, "O Lord, please be merciful to me! "he should fall down flat like a rod to offer his obeisances.

TEXT 46

izAr"Ae matpaAd"yaAe: k{(tvaA baAò"ByaAM ca par"s$par"ma,
'apa^aaM paAih" maAmalza BaltaM ma{tyaufah"ANARvaAta, *çiro mat-pādayoù kâtvā

bāhubhyāà ca parasparam
prapannaà pāhi mām éça
bhētaà māt̥yu-grahārēavāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çiraù—his head; mat-pādayoù—at My two feet; kātvā—placing; bāhubhyām—with the hands; ca—and; parasparam—together (grasping the feet of the Deity); prapannam—who am surrendered; pāhi—please protect; mām—me; éça—O Lord; bhētam—afraid; mātyu—of death; graha—the mouth; arēavāt—of this material ocean.

TRANSLATION

Placing his head at the feet of the Deity, he should then stand with folded hands before the Lord and pray, "O my Lord, please protect me, who am surrendered unto You. I am most fearful of this ocean of material existence, standing as I am in the mouth of death."

TEXT 47

wita zAeSaAM mayaA d"ÔaAM izAr"syaADaAya s$aAd"r"ma, oã"As$ayae»aeäu"ã"AsyaM
jyaAeitajyaAeRitaiSa tatpauna:

iti çeñäà mayä dattäà
çirasy ädhäya sädaram
udväsayec ced udväsyäà
jyotir jyotiñi tat punaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus praying; çeñām—the remnants; mayä—by Me; dattām—given; çirasi—on one's head; ädhäya—placing; sa-ädaram—respectfully; udväsayet—should send the Deity away; cet—if; udväsyam—if such is meant to be performed; jyotiù—the light; jyotiñi—within the light; tat—that; punaù—once again.

TRANSLATION

Praying in this way, the devotee should respectfully place upon his head the remnants I offer to him. And if the particular Deity is meant to be sent away at the end of the worship, then this should be performed, the devotee once again placing the light of the Deity's presence inside the light of the lotus within his own heart.

TEXT 48

@caARid"Sau yad"A yaṭa ™aÜ"A maAM taṭa caAcaRyaeta,
s$avaRBaUtaeSvaAtmaina ca
s$avaARtmaAh"mavaisTata:

*arcādiṇu yadā yatra
ṛaddhā māā tatra cācayet
sarva-bhūteṇv ātmani ca
sarvātmāham avasthitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

arcā-ādiṇu—in the Deity form and other manifestations of the Supreme Lord; yadā—whenever; yatra—in whichever form; ṛaddhā—faith develops; mām—Me; tatra—there; ca—and; arcayet—he should worship; sarva-bhūteṇu—within all created beings; ātmani—separately, in My original form; ca—also; sarva-ātmā—the original soul of all; aham—I am; avasthitaù—so situated.

TRANSLATION

Whenever one develops faith in Me—in My form as the Deity or in other bona fide manifestations—one should worship Me in that form. I certainly exist both within all created beings and also separately in My original form, since I am the Supreme Soul of all.

PURPORT

The Supreme Personality of Godhead is worshiped according to the faith of a particular worshiper. The Deity form, arcā, is specifically mentioned here because Deity worship is essential for spiritual progress. Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Ōhākura mentions that inexperienced persons may think that the Deity is meant for the sense gratification of the worshiper, since superficially the Deity is made of external substances such as marble or brass. But through the process of installing the Deity by chanting of authorized mantras, one invites the Supreme Personality of Godhead to enter the Deity form. By regulated, faithful worship one gradually understands that the Deity is completely nondifferent from the Supreme Lord Himself. At that stage, on the strength of Deity worship, one rises to the second-class platform of devotional service. At this more developed stage one desires to make friendship with other devotees of the Lord, and as one becomes solidly established in the community of Vaiñëavas, one completely gives up material life and gradually becomes perfect in Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 49

WvaM i,(yaAyaAegApaTaE:
paumaAna, vaEid"k(taAinṭake(: @caR^aauBayata: is$aiÜM" maÔaAe ivand"tyaBalips$ataAma,

*evaà kriyā-yoga-pathaiù
pumān vaidika-tāntrikaiù
arcann ubhayataù siddhià
matto vindaty abhēpsitām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—in this way; kriyā-yoga—of regulated Deity worship; pathaiù—by the processes; pumān—a person; vaidika-tāntrikaiù—presented in the Vedas and tantras; arcan-worshiping; ubhayataù—in both this life and the next; siddhim—perfection; mattaù—from Me; vindati—he achieves; abhépsitām—desired.

TRANSLATION

By worshiping Me through the various methods prescribed in the Vedas and tantras, one will gain from Me his desired perfection in both this life and the next.

TEXT 50

mad"caA< s$am'aitā"Apya maind"rM" k(Ar"yaeä," ä{"X#ma, pauSpaAeâAnaAina r"myaAiNA
paUjaAyaAṭaAets$avaAi™ataAna,

mad-arcäà sampratiñöhäpya
mandiraà kārayed dāòham
puñpodyänāni ramyāëi
pūjā-yātrotsavāçritān

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mat-arcām—My Deity form; sampratiñöhäpya—properly establishing; mandiram—a temple; kārayet—he should construct; dāòham—strong; puñpa-udyänāni—flower gardens; ramyāëi—beautiful; pūjā—for regular, daily worship; yātrā—special festivals; utsava—and yearly holidays; äçritān—set aside.

TRANSLATION

The devotee should more fully establish My Deity by solidly constructing a temple, along with beautiful gardens. These gardens should be set aside to provide flowers for the regular daily worship, special Deity processions and holiday observances.

PURPORT

Wealthy, pious persons should be engaged in constructing temples and gardens for the pleasure of the Deity. The word dāḥam indicates that the most solid means of construction should be employed.

TEXT 51

paUjaAd"lnaAM 'avaAh"ATa<
mah"ApavaRsvaTaAnvah"ma, °aeṭaApaNApaur"faAmaAna,
d"ÔvaA mats$aAiîR"taAimayaAta,

*pūjādēnāḥ pravāhārthaḥ
mahā-parvasv athānv-aham kñētrāpaēa-pura-grāmān
dattvā mat-sārñōitām iyāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pūjā-ādēnām—of the regular worship and special festivals; pravāha-artham—in order to assure the continuance; mahā-parvasu—on auspicious occasions; atha—and; anu-aham—daily; kñētra—land; āpaēa—shops; pura—cities; grāmān—and villages; dattvā—bestowing as a gift to the Deity; mat-sārñōitām—opulence equal to Mine; iyāt—he achieves.

TRANSLATION

One who offers the Deity gifts of land, markets, cities and villages so that the regular daily worship and special festivals of the Deity may go on continually will achieve opulence equal to My own.

PURPORT

By placing tracts of land in the Deity's name, there will be regular income for opulent Deity worship, both from rent and from agricultural production. A worshiper who makes the arrangements mentioned above will certainly achieve opulence like that of the Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 52

‘aitaī"yaA s$aAvaRBaAEmaM
s$aánaA Bauvanaṭayama, paUjaAid"naA "aölaAekM( iṭaiBamaRts$aAmyataAimayaAta,

*pratiññhayā sārva-bhaumaṁ sadmanā bhuvana-trayam
pūjādinā brahma-lokaṁ
tribhir mat-sāmyatām iyāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pratiññhayā—by having installed the Deity; sārva-bhaumam—sovereignty over the entire earth; sadmanā—by building a temple for the Lord; bhuvana-trayam—rulership over the three worlds; pūjā-ādinā—by worship and other service; brahma-lokam—the planet of Lord Brahmā; tribhiḥ—by all three; mat-sāmyatām—the status of equality with Me (by having a transcendental, spiritual body similar to Mine); iyāt—he attains.

TRANSLATION

By installing the Deity of the Lord one becomes king of the entire earth, by building a temple for the Lord one becomes ruler of the three worlds, by worshipping and serving the Deity one goes to the planet of Lord Brahmā, and by performing all three of these activities one achieves a transcendental form like My own.

TEXT 53

maAmaeva naEr"pae^oyaeNA Bai·(yaAegAena ivand"ita Bai·(yaAegAM s$a laBata WvaM ya: paUjayaeta maAma,

*mām eva nairapekñyeëa
bhakti-yogena vindati
bhakti-yogaà sa labhata
evaà yaù pūjayeta mām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mām—Me; eva—indeed; nairapekñyeëa—by being free from motivation;
bhakti-yogena—by the performance of devotional service;
vindati—achieves; bhakti-yogam—devotional service; saù—he;
labhate—receives; evam—thus; yaù—whom; pūjayeta—worships;
mām—Me.

TRANSLATION

But one who simply engages in devotional service with no consideration of fruitive results attains Me. Thus whoever worships Me according to the process I have described will ultimately attain pure devotional service unto Me.

PURPORT

The previous two verses were spoken by the Lord to attract those interested in fruitive results, and now the ultimate purpose of worshipping the Lord is described. The ultimate goal in life is Lord Kāñëa Himself. Love for the Lord is the highest bliss, although ordinary people cannot understand this.

TEXT 54

ya: svad"ÔaAM parE"dR"ÔaAM
h"re"ta s$aur"iva'ayaAe:
va{iÔaM s$a jaAyatae ivax".BaugA,
vaSaARNAAmayautaAyautama,

*yaù sva-dattâ à parair dattâ à hareta sura-viprayoù
vâtti à sa jâyate viò-bhug
varîäääm ayutäyutam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—who; sva-dattâm—given previously by himself; paraiù—by others; dattâm—given; hareta—takes away; sura-viprayoù—belonging to the demigods or brähmaëas; vâttim—property; saù—he; jâyate—takes birth; viò-bhuk—as a stool-eating worm; varîäääm—for years; ayuta—ten thousand; ayutam—times ten thousand.

TRANSLATION

Anyone who steals the property of the demigods or the brähmaëas, whether originally given to them by himself or someone else, must live as a worm in stool for one hundred million years.

TEXT 55

k(tauRê s$aAr"TaehE"taAer," @naumaAeid"taure"va ca
k(maRNAAM BaAigAna: 'aetya BaUyaAe BaUyais$a tatP(lama,

*kartuḥ ca sārathet hetor anumoditur eva ca
karmaëäà bhāginau pretya
bhūyo bhūyasi tat-phalam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kartuḥ—of the performer; ca—and; sārathet—of the assistant; hetor—of the instigator; anumodituḥ—of the person who approves; eva ca—also; karmaëäm—of the fruitive reactions; bhāginau—of the shareholder; pretya—in the next life; bhūyaḥ—more grievously; bhūyasi—to the extent that the action is grievous; tat—(must suffer) of that; phalam—the result.

TRANSLATION

Not only the performer of the theft but also anyone who assists him, instigates the crime, or simply approves of it must also share the reaction in the next life. According to their degree of participation, they each must suffer a proportionate consequence.

PURPORT

Stealing paraphernalia meant for worshiping the Supreme Lord or His authorized representatives should be avoided at all costs.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Twenty-seventh Chapter, of the Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Lord Kāñēa's Instructions on the Process of Deity Worship."

28. Jī āna-yoga

This chapter briefly summarizes the process of jī'āna-yoga, which previous chapters described in detail.

Every created thing in this universe is a material product of the three modes of nature, is subject to sensory perception, and is essentially unreal. Actually, the designations of "good" and "bad" that we assign to the various objects and activities of this world are all superficial. It is better to avoid condemning or praising anything of this world, because doing so simply entangles one in matter and deprives one of the higher goals of spiritual life. Hidden within every object of the material universe is the spirit soul, who underlies both the causes and products of manifest existence. One should see things in this light and thus move about the material world in a mood of detachment.

As long as there is a relationship between the bodily senses, which are comprised of matter, and the soul, which is the reality, one will continue in false consciousness. Although material existence is unreal, those who lack discrimination remain entangled in the cycle of birth and death because of their absorption in sense gratification. All the phases of material life-such as birth, death, sorrow and happiness-belong not to the soul but to the materialistic false ego. By learning to distinguish between the soul and its opposite, matter, one can destroy this false identification.

There is a single Absolute Truth present at the beginning and at the end of this world. During its interim, or maintenance, phase the cosmic manifestation is also founded upon the same Absolute Truth. This Absolute, Brahman, exists everywhere, both positively by its manifestations and negatively by its aloofness. Brahman is unique in being self-sufficient, whereas this world is the expansion of Brahman produced through the material mode of passion.

By the mercy of a bona fide spiritual master, one can understand the Absolute Truth and come to appreciate the nonspiritual nature of the material body and its extensions. Desisting from engagement in material sense enjoyment, one then becomes satisfied in the ecstasy of the self. Just as the sun remains untouched by the coming and going of clouds, the discriminating, liberated person remains unaffected by the activities of his senses. Nevertheless, until one becomes perfectly fixed in bhakti-yoga, pure devotional service to the Supreme Lord, one should carefully avoid contacting material sense objects. An aspiring devotee may meet various obstacles and fall down, but in his next life he will continue his practice by dint of what he has already accomplished in devotional service. He will never again become bound up by the laws of karma. The man who is liberated and established in discrimination will under no circumstances seek false enjoyment by indulging in material sense gratification. He knows that the soul is changeless and that any contrary conception imposed on the pure self is sheer illusion.

If, during the immature stage of spiritual practice, one suffers physical disease or other disturbances, the Vedas enjoin that he should certainly take proper measures to eradicate the problem. The prescribed remedies for lust and the other enemies of the mind are meditation on the Supreme Lord and saṁ kīrtana, the loud chanting of His names. The remedy for the disease of false ego is rendering service to the Supreme Lord's saintly devotees.

By practicing yoga, some nondevotees keep their bodies youthful and fit, and may even achieve mystic perfections or long life. But these attainments are actually worthless, because they are perfections only of the material body. An intelligent person is therefore uninterested in this kind of process. Rather, by taking shelter of the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord, an aspiring devotee who is seriously dedicated to the Lord rids himself of all disturbances and becomes empowered to attain the highest perfection, the full bliss of spiritual life.

TEXT 1

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
 par"svaBaAvak(maARiNA
 na 'azAMs$ae³a gAhR"yaeta, ivaïmaek(AmakM(pazyana,
 'ak{(tyaA pauç&SaeNA ca

*çré-bhagavān uvāca
para-svabhāva-karmāi
na praçaàsen na garhayet
viçvam ekāmakaà paçyan
prakātyā puruṇēa ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; para—anyone else's; svabhāva—nature; karmāi—and activities; na praçaàset—one should not praise; na garhayet—one should not criticize; viçvam—the world; eka-ātmakam—based on one reality; paçyan—seeing; prakātyā—along with nature; puruṇēa—with the enjoying soul; ca—also.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: One should neither praise nor criticize the conditioned nature and activities of other persons. Rather, one should see this world as simply the combination of material nature and the enjoying souls, all based on the one Absolute Truth.

PURPORT

Material situations and activities appear to be good, passionate or ignorant according to the interaction of the modes of nature. These modes are produced by the illusory potency of the Lord, which is itself not different from its master, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. So a devotee of the Lord remains aloof from the illusory, temporary manifestations of material nature. At the same time, he accepts material nature as the potency of the Lord and thus essentially real. The example may be given that modeling clay is shaped by a child into various playful forms such as tigers, men or houses. The modeling clay is real, whereas the temporary shapes it assumes are illusory, not being actual tigers, men or houses. Similarly, the entire cosmic manifestation is modeling clay in the hands of the Supreme Lord, who acts through māyā to shape the glaring temporary forms of illusion, which absorb the minds of those who are not devotees of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 2

par"svaBaAvak(maARiNA
ya: 'azAMs$aita inand"ita
s$a @AzAu "azyatae svaATaARä," @s$atyaiBainavaezAta:

*para-svabhāva-karmāi
yaù praçaàsati nindati
sa āçu bhraçyate svārthād
asaty abhiniveçataù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

para—another's; svabhāva—personality; karmāi—and work; yaù—who; praçaàsati—praises; nindati—criticizes; saù—he; āçu—quickly; bhraçyate—falls down; sva-arthāt—from his own interest; asati—in unreality; abhiniveçataù—because of becoming entangled.

TRANSLATION

Whoever indulges in praising or criticizing the qualities and behavior of others will quickly become deviated from his own best interest by his entanglement in illusory dualities.

PURPORT

A conditioned soul desires to lord it over material nature and thus criticizes another conditioned soul whom he considers inferior. Similarly, one praises a superior materialist because one aspires to that superior position, in which one may dominate others. Praising and criticizing other materialistic people are thus directly or indirectly based on envy of other living entities and cause one to fall down from sva-artha, one's real self-interest, Kāñëa consciousness.

The words asaty abhiniveçataù, "by absorption in the temporary, or unreal," indicate that one should not adopt a concept of material duality and praise or criticize other materialistic persons. Rather, one should praise the pure devotees of the Supreme Lord and criticize the mentality of rebellion against the Personality of Godhead, by which one becomes a nondevotee. One should not criticize a low-class materialist, thinking that a high-class materialist is nice. In other words, one should distinguish between the material and the spiritual and should not become absorbed in good and bad on the material platform. For example, an honest citizen distinguishes between the life of civil freedom and that of imprisonment, whereas a foolish prisoner distinguishes between comfortable and uncomfortable prison cells. Just as for a free citizen any situation in prison is unacceptable, for a liberated, Kāñëa conscious devotee any material position is unappealing.

Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Öhäkura indicates that rather than trying to separate conditioned souls by materialistic distinctions, one should bring them together to chant the holy names of the Lord and propagate the saì kértana movement of Lord Caitanya. A nondevotee, or even an envious third-class devotee, is not interested in uniting people on the platform of love of Godhead. Instead he unnecessarily separates them by emphasizing material distinctions like "communist," "capitalist," "black," "white," "rich," "poor," "liberal," "conservative" and so on. Material life is always imperfect, full of ignorance and disappointing in the end. Rather than praising and criticizing the high and low features of ignorance, one should be absorbed in Kāñëa consciousness, on the spiritual platform of eternity, bliss and knowledge.

TEXT 3

taEjas$ae ina%"yaApa^aae
ipaNx"sTaAe nai"caetana:
maAyaAM 'aA«aAeita ma{tyauM vaA

taã"ªaAnaATaRä{"fpaumaAna,

*taijase nidrayāpanne
piëòà-stho nañña-cetanaù
mâyäà prāpnoti māṭyuạ vā
tadvan nānārtha-dāk pumān*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

taijase—when the senses, which are the products of false ego in the mode of passion; nidrayā—by sleep; āpanne—are overcome; piëòà—in the shell of the material body; sthaù—(the soul) who is situated; nañña-cetanaù—having lost his consciousness; mâyām—the illusion of dreaming; prāpnoti—he experiences; māṭyum—the deathlike condition of deep sleep; vā—or; tadvat—in the same way; nānā-artha—in terms of material varieties; dāk—who sees; pumān—a person.

TRANSLATION

Just as the embodied spirit soul loses external consciousness when his senses are overcome by the illusion of dreaming or the deathlike state of deep sleep, so a person experiencing material duality must encounter illusion and death.

PURPORT

The material senses are described here as taijasa because they are born of false ego in the mode of passion. Impelled by false ego, one dreams of the material world without the Personality of Godhead and makes plans to lord it over nature, to exploit her resources. Modern atheistic scientists have developed this false ego to a fine art and imagine themselves great heroes conquering the obstacles of nature and moving forward toward inevitable omniscience. Such dreamy materialists are repeatedly stunned by the crushing reactions of the laws of nature, and their arrogant, agnostic civilizations are repeatedly annihilated by world wars, natural disasters and violent shifts of the cosmic situation.

On a simpler level, all conditioned souls are captivated by sex attraction and thus bound to the illusion of material society, friendship and love. They imagine themselves to be wonderful enjoyers of the material nature, which suddenly turns against them and kills them just like the "tamed" animal that suddenly turns on its master and kills him.

TEXT 4

ikM(Ba%oM" ik(maBa%oM" vaA ãE"tasyaAvastauna: ik(yata, vaAcaAeid"taM tad"na{taM
manas$aA DyaAtamaeva ca

*kià bhadraà kim abhadraà vä dvaitasyävastunaù kiyat väcoditaà tad anâtaà
manasä dhyätam eva ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kim—what; bhadram—good; kim—what; abhadram—bad; vä—or; dvaitasya—of this duality; avastunaù—insubstantial; kiyat—how much; väcä—by words; uditam—generated; tat—that; anâtam—false; manasä—by the mind; dhyätam—meditated upon; eva—indeed; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

That which is expressed by material words or meditated upon by the material mind is not ultimate truth. What, therefore, is actually good or bad within this insubstantial world of duality, and how can the extent of such good and bad be measured?

PURPORT

The actual truth is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, from whom everything emanates, by whom everything is maintained, and in whom everything merges to rest. Material nature is the reflection of the Absolute Truth, and by the interaction of the material modes of nature the innumerable varieties of matter appear to be separate, independent truths. Māyā, illusion, distracts the conditioned soul from the Absolute Truth and absorbs his mind in the glaring manifestation of matter, which ultimately is nondifferent from the Absolute Truth, being an emanation from Him. The sense of good and bad as separate from the Supreme Lord is like the good and bad dreams experienced by a sleeping person. Good and bad dreams are equally unreal. Similarly, material good and evil have no permanent existence separate from the Personality of Godhead.

The Supreme Lord is the well-wisher of every living entity, and therefore execution of His order is good, whereas disobeying His order is bad. Lord Kāñëa has created a perfect social and occupational system called varëäçrama-dharma, and the Lord has further given perfect spiritual knowledge in Bhagavad-gëtä and other literatures. Execution of Lord Kāñëa's order will bring complete social, psychological, political, economic and spiritual success to human society. We should not foolishly look for so-called good outside the orders of the Personality of Godhead. Such orders are called the laws of God and constitute the essence, or substance, of religion.

TEXT 5

C$AyaA'atyaAù"yaABaAs$aA
÷s$antaAe'pyaTaRk(Air"NA:
WvaM de"h"Ad"yaAe BaAvaA
yacC$ntyaAma{tyautaAe Bayama,

chäyā-pratyāhvayābhāsā
hy asanto 'py artha-kāriëaù
evaà dehādayo bhāvā
yacchanty ā-mātyuto bhayam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

châyä—shadows; pratyāhvaya—echoes; ābhāsāu—and false appearances; hi—indeed; asantaù—nonexistent; api—although; artha—ideas; kāriëaù—creating; evam—in the same way; deha-ādayaù—the body and so on; bhäväù—material conceptions; yacchanti—they give; ä-mātyutaù—up to the point of death; bhayam—fear.

TRANSLATION

Although shadows, echoes and mirages are only illusory reflections of real things, such reflections do cause a semblance of meaningful or comprehensible perception. In the same way, although the identification of the conditioned soul with the material body, mind and ego is illusory, this identification generates fear within him even up to the moment of death.

PURPORT

Although shadows, echoes and mirages are mere reflections of real substances, they create strong emotions in persons falsely accepting them as real. In the same manner, a conditioned soul is seized by such emotions as fear, lust, anger and hope because of his illusory perception of himself as the material body, mind and false ego. By practical example it is thus shown that even illusory objects may cause highly emotional reactions. Ultimately our emotions should be absorbed in the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is eternal truth. Fear is forever vanquished when one takes shelter of the Lord's lotus feet. One can then enjoy the pure emotions of liberated life.

TEXTS 6-7

@AtmaEva taid"dM" ivaiM
s$a{jyatae s$a{jaita 'aBau:
‡aAyatae ‡aAita ivaiAtmaA

ioe"yatae h"r"talir":

tasmaA^a ÷ AtmanaAe'nyasmaAä," @nyaAe BaAvaAe inaè&ipata:
inaè&ipatae'yaM iṭaivaDaA
inamaURLa BaAitar"Atmaina wdM" gAuNAmayaM ivaiÜ" iṭaivaDaM maAyayaA k{(tama,

*ātmaiva tad idaà viçvaà
sājyate sājati prabhuù
trāyate trāti viçvātmā
hriyate haratēçvaraù*

*tasmān na hy ātmano 'nyasmād anyo bhāvo nirūpitaù
nirūpite 'yaà tri-vidhā
nirmūla bhätir ātmani
idaà guëa-mayaà viddhi
tri-vidhaà māyayā kâtam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ātmā—the Supreme Soul; eva—alone; tat idam—this; viçvam—universe; sājyate—is created; sājati—and creates; prabhuù—the Supreme Lord; trāyate—is protected; trāti—protects; viçva-ātmā—the Soul of all that be; hriyate—is withdrawn; harati—withdraws; ēçvaraù—the supreme controller; tasmāt—than Him; na—no; hi—indeed; ātmanaù—than the Soul; anyasmāt—who is distinct; anyaù—other; bhāvaù—entity; nirūpitaù—is ascertained; nirūpite—thus established; ayam—this; tri-vidhā—threefold; nirmūlā—without basis; bhātiù—appearance; ātmani—within the Supersoul; idam—this; guëa-mayam—consisting of the modes of nature; viddhi—you should know; tri-vidham—threefold; māyayā—by the illusory energy; kâtam—created.

TRANSLATION

The Supersoul alone is the ultimate controller and creator of this world, and thus He alone is also the created. Similarly, the Soul of all existence Himself both maintains and is maintained, withdraws and is withdrawn. No other entity can be properly ascertained as separate from Him, the Supreme Soul, who nonetheless is distinct from everything and everyone else. The appearance of the threefold material nature, which is perceived within Him, has no actual basis. Rather, you should understand that this material nature, composed of the three modes, is simply the product of His illusory potency.

PURPORT

The Absolute Truth, Lord Çré Kāñëa, expands His external potency and thus creates the material cosmos. As with the sun globe and its expanded rays, the Lord and His expanded potency are simultaneously one and different. Although to conditioned souls material duality seems to be based on the modes of nature, the entire material manifestation is actually nondifferent from the Lord and is of one ultimately spiritual nature. The modes of nature create sense objects, demigods, human beings, animals, friends, enemies and so forth. But in reality, everything is simply an expansion of the potency of the Supreme Lord.

Foolishly, the conditioned soul tries to lord it over material nature, but the Lord Himself, being nondifferent from that nature, is its only true proprietor. In several places the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam has given the example of the spider spinning its web by expanding thread from its own mouth. Similarly, through His own potency the Lord manifests the material world, maintains it and eventually withdraws it within Himself. Although the Lord is the unique Supreme Personality of Godhead, above everyone and everything, He is simultaneously and inconceivably nondifferent from everything. Therefore it is the Lord Himself who is manifested when the Lord creates, it is the Lord Himself who is maintained when the Lord maintains, and it is the Lord Himself who is withdrawn at the time of annihilation.

Although the Lord is nondifferent from both His spiritual abode and His material creation, still the spiritual abode, Vaikuëöha, is always superior to the material manifestation. Both matter and spirit are energies of the Lord, yet the spiritual energy is molded into the eternal forms of bliss and knowledge, whereas the temporary forms of matter are symbols of ignorance and frustration for the conditioned souls who covet them. The Supreme Lord is Himself the reservoir of all pleasure and is thus dear to His devotees. The presumption that the Lord cannot give us complete pleasure is due to our misidentifying Him as a product of the material modes of nature. As a result, we pursue false happiness in the deadly embrace of mäyä and thus deviate from our eternal loving relationship with Lord Kåñëa.

TEXT 8

Wtaiã"ã"Anmaäu"id"taM ÁaAnaivaÁaAnanaEpauNAma,
na inand"ita na ca staAEita laAeke(car"ita s$aUyaRvata,

*etat vidvân mad-uditaà
jì äna-vijì äna-naipuëam na nindati na ca stauti
loke carati sürya-vat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; vidvân—one who knows; mat—by Me; uditam—described; jì äna—in knowledge; vijì äna—and realization; naipuëam—the status of being fixed; na nindati—does not criticize; na ca—nor; stauti—praise; loke—within the world; carati—he wanders; sürya-vat—just like the sun.

TRANSLATION

One who has properly understood the process of becoming firmly fixed in theoretical and realized knowledge, as described herein by Me, does not indulge in material criticism or praise. Like the sun, he wanders freely throughout this world.

PURPORT

Every living entity emanates from the Supreme Lord and is thus naturally full of realized knowledge. But when one becomes attached to praising or criticizing material good and bad for one's personal sense gratification, one's expert knowledge of the Lord becomes covered. A pure devotee should neither love nor hate any aspect of material illusion; he should rather accept whatever is favorable for serving Kåñëa and reject whatever is unfavorable, following the guidance of a bona fide spiritual master.

TEXT 9

‘atya⁰aeNAAnaumaAnaena inagAmaenaAtmas$aMivad"A @Aântavad"s$ajÁaAtvaA ina:s$aËÿAe ivacare"id"h"

*pratyakñeëänumänaena
nigamenätma-saàvidä
ädy-antavad asaj jñ ätvä
niüsai go vicared iha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pratyakñeëä—by direct perception; anumänaena—by logical deduction; nigamena—by the statements of scripture; ätma-saàvidä—and by one's own realization; ädi-anta-vat—having a beginning and an end; asat—unreal; jñ ätvä—knowing; niüsai gaù—free from attachment; vicaret—one should move about; iha—in this world.

TRANSLATION

By direct perception, logical deduction, scriptural testimony and personal realization, one should know that this world has a beginning and an end and so is not the ultimate reality. Thus one should live in this world without attachment.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Jéva Gosvämé, there are two main material dualities. The first duality is that one sees material good and bad, beautiful and ugly, rich and poor, and so on. The second is that one sees the entire material world as separate from or independent of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. The first duality, that of opposites, is subject to dissolution by the influence of time, and the second duality, that of separateness, is merely a hallucination. One who is firmly convinced of the temporary, illusory nature of this world moves about freely, without attachment. Although engaging in all types of devotional service for the Lord, such a person is never entangled and remains cheerful and satisfied in spiritual consciousness.

TEXT 10

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
naEvaAtmanaAe na de"h"sya
s$SaMs$a{ita%oR"í+"ä{"zyayaAe: @naAtmasvaä{"zAAer"lza
k(sya syaAäu"palaByatae

çré-uddhava uvāca
naivātmano na dehasya
sañsātir draññā-dācyayoù
anātma-sva-dāṣor éça
kasya syād upalabhyate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uvāca—Çré Uddhava said; na—there is not; eva—indeed; ātmanaù—of the self; na—nor; dehasya—of the body; saàsātiù—material existence; draññā-dācyayoù—of the seer or the seen; anātma—of that which is not spirit; sva-dāçouù—or of him who has innate knowledge; éça—O Lord; kasya—of whom; syāt—may be; upalabhyate—which is experienced.

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, it is not possible for this material existence to be the experience of either the soul, who is the seer, or of the body, which is the seen object. On the one hand, the spirit soul is innately endowed with perfect knowledge, and on the other hand, the material body is not a conscious, living entity. To whom, then, does this experience of material existence pertain?

PURPORT

Since the living entity is pure spirit soul, innately full of perfect knowledge and bliss, and since the material body is a biochemical machine without knowledge or personal consciousness, who or what is actually experiencing the ignorance and anxiety of this material existence? The conscious experience of material life cannot be denied, and thus Uddhava asks Lord Kāñëa this question to elicit a more precise understanding of the process by which illusion occurs.

TEXT 11

@AtmaAvyayaAe'gAuNA: zAuÜ":
svayaMjyaAeitar"naAva{ta: @içavaÚ"Aç&vad"icaä," de"h": k(syaeh" s$aMs$a{ita:

*ätmävyayo 'guëaù çuddhaù
svayaà-jyotir anävâtaù
agni-vad dâru-vad acit
dehaù kasyeha saàsâtiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ätmä—the spirit soul; avyayaù—inexhaustible; aguëaù—transcendental to the material modes; çuddhaù—pure; svayam-jyotiù—self-luminous; anävâtaù—uncovered; agni-vat—like fire; dâru-vat—like firewood; acit—nonliving; dehaù—the material body; kasya—of which; iha—in this world; saàsâtiù—the experience of material life.

TRANSLATION

The spirit soul is inexhaustible, transcendental, pure, self-luminous and never covered by anything material. It is like fire. But the nonliving material body, like firewood, is dull and unaware. So in this world, who is it that actually undergoes the experience of material life?

PURPORT

The words anävâtaù and agni-vat are significant here. Fire can never be covered with darkness because by nature fire is illuminating. Similarly, the spirit soul is svayaà-jyotiù, or self-luminous, and thus the soul is transcendental—he can never be covered by the darkness of material life. On the other hand, the material body, like firewood, is by nature dull and unilluminated. In itself it does not have any awareness of life. If the soul is transcendental to material life and the body is not even conscious of it, the following question arises: How does our experience of material existence actually take place?

TEXT 12

™aIBagAvaAnauvaAca

yaAvaÚe"he"in%"ya'aANAEr," @Atmana: s$ai^aak(SaRNAmā, s$AMs$Ar": P(lavaAMstaAvaā," @paATaAeR'pyaivavaeik(na:

çré-bhagavān uvāca
yāvad dehendriya-prāḥair
ātmanaù sannikarṇāḥam
saàsāraù phalavāàs tāvad
apārtho 'py avivekinaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; yāvat—as long as; deha—by the body; indriya—senses; prāḥaiù—and vital force; ātmanaù—of the soul; sannikarṇāḥam—attraction; saàsāraù—material existence; phala-vān—fruitful; tāvat—for that duration; apārthaù—meaningless; api—although; avivekinaù—for the undiscriminating.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: As long as the foolish spirit soul remains attracted to the material body, senses and vital force, his material existence continues to flourish, although it is ultimately meaningless.

PURPORT

Here the word sannikarṇāḥam indicates that the pure spirit soul voluntarily connects himself with the material body, considering this a most fruitful arrangement. Actually, the situation is apārtha, useless, unless one uses one's embodied situation to engage in the loving service of the Lord. At that time one's connection is actually with Lord Kāṇḍa, not with the body, which becomes a mere instrument for executing one's higher purpose.

TEXT 13

@TaeR ÷ivaâmaAnae'ipa
s$amS$a{itanaR inavataRtae
DyaAyataAe ivaSayaAnasya
sva«ae'naTaARgAmaAe yaTaA

*arthe hy avidyamāne 'pi
saàsâtir na nivartate
dhyâyato viñayān asya
svapne 'narthāgamo yathā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

arthe—real cause; hi—certainly; avidyamāne—not existing; api—although; saàsâtir—the material existential condition; na—not; nivartate—does cease; dhyâyataù—contemplating; viñayān—objects of the senses; asya—of the living entity; svapne—in a dream; anartha—of disadvantages; āgamaù—arrival; yathā—like.

TRANSLATION

Actually, the living entity is transcendental to material existence. But because of his mentality of lording it over material nature, his material existential condition does not cease, and, just as in a dream, he is affected by all sorts of disadvantages.

PURPORT

This same verse and other very similar verses occur elsewhere in the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam: Third Canto, Chapter twenty-seven, verse 4; Fourth Canto, Chapter twenty-nine, verses 35 and 73; and Eleventh Canto, Chapter twenty-two, verse 56. In fact, this verse completely explains the essence of illusion.

TEXT 14

yaTaA ÷‘aitabauÜ"sya ‘asvaApaAe baù"naTaRBa{ta, s$a Wva ‘aitabauÜ"sya na vaE maAeh"Aya k(lpatae

*yathā hy apratibuddhasya prasvāpo bahv-anartha-bhāt
sa eva pratibuddhasya
na vai mohāya kalpate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathā—as; hi—indeed; apratibuddhasya—for one who has not awakened;
prasvāpaù—sleep; bahu—many; anartha—undesirable experiences;
bhāt—presenting; saù—that same dream; eva—indeed; pratibuddhasya—for one who has awakened; na—not; vai—certainly; mohāya—confusion;
kalpate—generates.

TRANSLATION

Although while dreaming a person experiences many undesirable things, upon awakening he is no longer confused by the dream experiences.

PURPORT

Even a liberated soul must observe material objects while living in this world. But being awake to Kāñëa consciousness, he understands that sensory pains and pleasures, like dreams, are without substance. Thus the liberated soul is not bewildered by illusion.

TEXT 15

zAAek(h"SaRBaya,(AeDalaAeBamaAeh"s$pa{h"Ad"ya:

@h"ÆyAr"sya ä{"zyantae
janmama{tyauê naAtmana:

*çoka-harñā-bhaya-krodha-lobha-moha-spāhādayaù
ahaì kārasya dāçyante
janma-mātyuç ca nātmanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çoka—lamentation; harñā—elation; bhaya—fear; krodha—anger; lobha—greed; moha—confusion; spāhā—hankering; ādayaù—and so on; ahaì kārasya—of false ego; dāçyante—they appear; janma—birth; mātyuù—death; ca—and; na—not; ātmanaù—of the soul.

TRANSLATION

Lamentation, elation, fear, anger, greed, confusion and hankering, as well as birth and death, are experiences of the false ego and not of the pure soul.

PURPORT

False ego is the pure soul's illusory identification with the subtle material mind and the gross material body. As a result of this illusory identification, the conditioned soul feels lamentation for things lost, jubilation over things gained, fear of things inauspicious, anger at the frustration of his desires, and greed for sense gratification. And so, bewildered by such false attractions and aversions, the conditioned soul must accept further material bodies, which means he must undergo repeated births and deaths. One who is self-realized knows that all such mundane emotions have nothing to do with the pure soul, whose natural propensity is to engage in the loving service of the Lord.

TEXT 16

de"he"in%"ya'aANAmānaAe'iBamaAnaAe jalvaAe'ntar"AtmaA gAuNAk(maRmaUitaR:
s$aUṭaM mah"Ainatyauc&Daeva gAlta:
s$aMs$aAr" @ADaAvaita k(Alatanṭa:

*dehendriya-prāëa-mano-'bhimāno
jēvo 'ntar-ātmā guëa-karma-mūrtiù sūtraà mahān ity urudheva gētaù
saàsāra ādhāvati kāla-tantraù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deha—with the material body; indriya—senses; prāëa—life air; manaù—and mind; abhimānaù—who is falsely identifying; jēvaù—the living entity; antaù—situated within; ātmā—the soul; guëa—according to his material qualities; karma—and work; mūrtiù—assuming his form; sūtram—the sūtra-tattva; mahān—the original form of material nature; iti—thus; urudhā—in many different ways; iva—indeed; gētaù—described; saàsāre—in material life; ādhāvati—he runs about; kāla—of time; tantraù—under the strict control.

TRANSLATION

The living entity who falsely identifies with his body, senses, life air and mind, and who dwells within these coverings, assumes the form of his own materially conditioned qualities and work. He is designated variously in relation to the total material energy, and thus, under the strict control of supreme time, he is forced to run here and there within material existence.

PURPORT

False ego, which causes the living entity to suffer material existence, is here described in detail as the illusory identification with the material body, senses, life air and mind. The word kāla refers directly to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who imposes the limiting segments of time upon the conditioned souls, keeping them tightly bound under the laws of nature.

Liberation is not an impersonal experience; liberation is attainment of one's eternal body, senses, mind and intelligence in the association of the Personality of Godhead. We can revive our eternal, liberated personality, free from the contamination of false ego, by dedicating ourselves to the loving service of the Lord in Kāñëa consciousness. When the pure spirit soul accepts the false ego, he must undergo material suffering. One automatically conquers the false ego by accepting oneself, in pure Kāñëa consciousness, to be the eternal servant of Lord Kāñëa.

TEXT 17

@maUlamaetaß""ò"è&paè&ipataM manaAevaca:'aANaZAr"lr"k(maR ÁaAnaAis$anaAepaAs$anayaA izAtaena icC$ÔvaA mauinagAA< ivacar"tyata{SNA:

*amūlam etad bahu-rūpa-rūpitaà mano-vacaù-präëa-çarëra-karma
jī ānāsinopāsanayā çitena
cchittvā munir gāà vicaraty atāñëaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

amūlam—without foundation; etat—this (false ego); bahu-rūpa—in many forms; rūpitam—ascertained; manaù—of the mind; vacaù—speech; präëa—the life air; çarëra—and the gross body; karma—the functions; jī āna—of transcendental knowledge; asinā—by the sword; upāsanayā—through devotional worship (of the spiritual master); çitena—which has been sharpened; chittvā—cutting off; muny—a sober sage; gām—this earth; vicarati—wanders; atāñëaù—free from material desires.

TRANSLATION

Although the false ego has no factual basis, it is perceived in many forms—as the functions of the mind, speech, life air and bodily faculties. But with the sword of transcendental knowledge, sharpened by worship of a bona fide spiritual master, a sober sage will cut off this false identification and live in this world free from all material attachment.

PURPORT

The word bahu-rūpa-rūpitam, "perceived in many forms," also indicates that the false ego is manifest in the belief that one is a demigod, a great man, a beautiful lady, an oppressed worker, a tiger, a bird, an insect and so on. By the influence of false ego, the pure soul accepts some material covering to be his ultimate self, but such ignorance can be removed by the process described in this verse.

TEXT 18

ÁaAnaM ivavaek(Ae inagAmastapaê
'atya°amaEita÷maTaAnaumaAnama, @AântayaAer"sya yade"va ke(valaM
k(Alaê he"tauê tade"va maDyae

*jī ānaà viveko nigamas tapaç ca pratyakñam aitihyam athānumānam
ādy-antayor asya yad eva kevalaà
kālaç ca hetuç ca tad eva madhye*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jī ānam—transcendental knowledge; vivekaù—discrimination; nigamaù—the scripture; tapaù—austerity; ca—and; pratyakñam—direct perception; aitihyam—the historical accounts of the Purāëas; atha—and; anumānam—logic; ādi—in the beginning; antayoù—and the end; asya—of this creation; yat—which; eva—indeed; kevalam—alone; kālaù—the controlling factor of time; ca—and; hetuù—the ultimate cause; ca—and; tat—that; eva—alone; madhye—in the middle.

TRANSLATION

Real spiritual knowledge is based on the discrimination of spirit from matter, and it is cultivated by scriptural evidence, austerity, direct perception, reception of the Purāṇas' historical narrations, and logical inference. The Absolute Truth, which alone was present before the creation of the universe and which alone will remain after its destruction, is also the time factor and the ultimate cause. Even in the middle stage of this creation's existence, the Absolute Truth alone is the actual reality.

PURPORT

Material scientists and philosophers are desperately searching for the ultimate material cause or principle, which is described here as kāla, the time factor. The material process of cause and effect takes place entirely within a sequence of time; in other words, the time factor is the motivating impetus for material cause and effect. This time factor is a manifestation of the Supersoul, the form of the Supreme Lord that pervades and supports the cosmic manifestation. The method for acquiring knowledge is scientifically described here, and those who are serious, reasonable scholars will take advantage of the transcendental epistemology revealed here by the Lord.

TEXT 19

yaTaA ih"r"NyaM svak{(taM paura"staAta, paêA»a s$avaRsya ih"r"Nmayasya
tade"va maDyae vyavah"AyaRmaANAM naAnaApade"zAEr"h"masya taã"ta,

yathā hiraëyaà sv-akātaà purastāt paçcāc ca sarvasya hiraë-mayasya tad eva madhye vyavahāryamäëaà nānāpadeçair aham asya tadvat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathā—just as; hiraëyam—gold; su-akātam—unmanifest as manufactured products; purastāt—previously; paścāt—subsequently; ca—and; sarvasya—of everything; hiraë-mayasya—that is made of gold; tat—that gold; eva—alone; madhye—in the middle; vyavahāryamäëam—being utilized; nānā—various; apadeçaiù—in terms of designations; aham—I; asya—of this created universe; tadvat—in the same way.

TRANSLATION

Gold alone is present before its manufacture into gold products, the gold alone remains after the products' destruction, and the gold alone is the essential reality while it is being utilized under various designations. Similarly, I alone exist before the creation of this universe, after its destruction and during its maintenance.

PURPORT

Gold is manufactured into many types of jewelry, as well as into coins and other luxurious products. But at each stage—before manufacture, during manufacture, during utilization and afterward—the essential reality is gold. In the same way, the Supreme Personality of Godhead is the essential reality—both the dynamic and the ingredient cause of everything. All throughout the material creation, the Lord is simply setting into motion His own potency, which is not different from Him.

TEXT 20

ivaÁaAnamaetaitḥayavasTamaËy gAuNAḥayaM k(Ar"NAk(yaRk(ta{R s$amanvayaena vyaitare"k(taê
yaenaEva tauyaeRNA tade"va s$atyama,

*vijī ānam etat triy-avastham aī ga
guëa-trayaà kâraëa-karya-kartâ samanvayena vyatirekataç ca
yenaiva turyeëa tad eva satyam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vijī ānam—(the mind, whose symptom is) full knowledge; etat—this; tri-avastham—existing in three conditions (wakeful consciousness, sleep and deep sleep); aī ga—My dear Uddhava; guëa-trayam—manifesting through the three modes of nature; kâraëa—as the subtle cause (adhyātma); kârya—the gross product (adhibhūta); kartâ—and the producer (adhidaiva); samanvayena—in each of them, one after another; vyatirekataū—as separate; ca—and; yena—by which; eva—indeed; turyeëa—fourth factor; tat—that; eva—alone; satyam—is the Absolute Truth.

TRANSLATION

The material mind manifests in three phases of consciousness—wakefulness, sleep and deep sleep—which are products of the three modes of nature. The mind further appears in three different roles—the perceiver, the perceived and the regulator of perception. Thus the mind is manifested variously throughout these threefold designations. But it is the fourth factor, existing separately from all this, that alone constitutes the Absolute Truth.

PURPORT

As stated in Kaõha Upaniñad (2.2.15), tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaà/ tasya bhäsä sarvam idaà vibhāti: "Everything radiates its illumination in pursuance of His original illumination; His light illuminates everything in this universe." As thus described, the entire range of perception, cognition and sensitivity is an insignificant expansion of the perception, cognition and sensitivity of the Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 21

na yatpaur"staAäu"ta ya^aa paêAna, maDyae ca ta^aa vyapade"zAmaAḥama, BaUtaM 'ais$SaÜM" ca pare"NA yaâta,
tade"va tatsyaAid"ita mae manalSaA

*na yat purastād uta yan na paçcān
madhye ca tan na vyapadeṣa-mātram bhūtaà prasiddhaà ca pareëa yad yat tad eva tat syād iti me manēñā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—does not exist; yat—that which; purastāt—previously; uta—nor;
yat—which; na—not; paçcāt—afterward; madhye—in between; ca—and;
tat—that; na—does not exist; vyapadeṣa-mātram—merely a designation;
bhūtam—created; prasiddham—made known; ca—and; pareëa—by another;
yat yat—whatever; tat—that; eva—only; tat—that other; syāt—actually is;
iti—thus; me—My; manēñā—idea.

TRANSLATION

That which did not exist in the past and will not exist in the future also has no existence of its own for the period of its duration, but is only a superficial designation. In My opinion, whatever is created and revealed by something else is ultimately only that other thing.

PURPORT

Although all material products, such as our own bodies, are temporary and thus ultimately false, the material world is a real manifestation of the Lord's potency. The basic substance, or reality, of this world is the Personality of Godhead Himself, whereas the temporary designations imposed by the conditioned souls are illusion. Thus we consider ourselves American, Russian, British, German, Indian, black, white, Hindu, Muslim,

Christian and so forth. In fact, we are the marginal potency of the Supreme Lord, but by attempting to exploit the Lord's inferior material potency we have become entangled in illusion. Everything should be properly defined in terms of the Personality of Godhead, who is the essential reality of this and all other worlds.

TEXT 22

@ivaâmaAnaAe'pyavaBaAs$atae yaAe vaEk(Air"k(Ae r"Ajas$as$agAR Ws$a:
“aö svayaM jyaAeitar"taAe ivaBaAita “aöein%“yaATaARtmaivak(Ar"icaṭama,

*avidyamāno 'py avabhāsate yo vaikāriko rājasa-sarga esaù brahma svayaà jyotir ato vibhāti
brahmendriyārthātma-vikāra-citram*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

avidyamānaù—actually not existing; api—although; avabhāsate—appears; yaù—which; vaikārikaù—manifestation of transformations; rājasa—of the mode of passion; sargaù—the creation; ēṇaù—this; brahma—the Absolute Truth (on the other hand); svayam—established in Himself; jyotiù—luminous; ataù—therefore; vibhāti—becomes manifest; brahma—the Absolute Truth; indriya—of the senses; artha—their objects; ātma—the mind; vikāra—and of the transformations of the five gross elements; citram—as the variety.

TRANSLATION

Although thus not existing in reality, this manifestation of transformations created from the mode of passion appears real because the self-manifested, self-luminous Absolute Truth exhibits Himself in the form of the material variety of the senses, the sense objects, the mind and the elements of physical nature.

PURPORT

The total material nature, pradhāna, is originally undifferentiated and inert, but later it undergoes transformation when the Supreme Lord, through His time agent, glances upon it and activates the mode of passion. Material transformation thus takes place and is exhibited as the Lord's inferior energy. In contrast, the Supreme Lord's personal abode possesses eternal variety, which is the self-luminous, internal opulence of the Absolute Truth and is not subject to material creation, transformation or annihilation. The material world is in this way simultaneously one with and different from the Absolute Truth.

TEXT 23

WvaM s$Pu(taM "aöivavaek(he"tauBa:
par"ApavaAde"na ivazAAr"de"na
iC$ÔvaAtmas$ande"h"maupaAr"maeta svaAnand"tauí"Ae'iKalak(Amauke(Bya:

evaà sphutaà brahma-viveka-hetubhiù
parāpavādena viçāradena
chittvātma-sandeham upārameta
svānanda-tuñño 'khila-kāmukebhyaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—in this way; sphuāam—clearly; brahma—of the Absolute Truth; viveka-hetubhiù—by discriminating, logical arguments; para—of misidentification with other conceptions; apavādena—by refutation; viçāradena—expert; chittvā—cutting off; ātma—regarding the identity of the self; sandeham—doubt; upārameta—one should desist; sva-ānanda—in his own transcendental ecstasy; tuññaù—satisfied; akhila—from all; kāmukebhyaù—things of lust.

TRANSLATION

Thus clearly understanding by discriminating logic the unique position of the Absolute Truth, one should expertly refute one's misidentification with matter and cut to pieces all doubts about the identity of the self. Becoming satisfied in the soul's natural ecstasy, one should desist from all lusty engagements of the material senses.

TEXT 24

naAtmaA vapau: paAiTaRvaimain%o"yaAiNA
de"vaA ÷s$auvaARyaujaRIamò"taAzA:
manaAe'^aamaAḥaM iDaSaNAa ca s$aÔvama, @h"x.~k{(ita: KaM i^oaitar"TaRs$aAmyama,

*nātmā vapuù pārthivam indriyāēi
devā hy asur vāyur jalam hutāçaù mano 'nna-mātraà dhiñāēā ca sattvam
ahaì kâtiù khaà kīitir artha-sāmyam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—is not; ātmā—the self; vapuù—the body; pārthivam—made of earth; indriyāēi—the senses; devā—the presiding demigods; hi—indeed; asuù—the living air; vāyuù—the external air; jalam—water; huta-āçaù—fire; manaù—the mind; anna-mātram—being only matter; dhiñāēā—intelligence; ca—and; sattvam—material consciousness; ahaì kâtiù—false ego; kham—the ether; kīitiù—earth; artha—the objects of sense perception; sāmyam—and the original, undifferentiated state of nature.

TRANSLATION

The material body made of earth is not the true self; nor are the senses, their presiding demigods or the air of life; nor is the external air, water or fire or one's mind. All these are simply matter. Similarly, neither one's intelligence, material consciousness nor ego, nor the elements of ether or earth, nor the objects of sense perception, nor even the primeval state of material equilibrium can be considered the actual identity of the soul.

TEXT 25

s$amaAih"taE: k(: k(r"NAEgAuRNAAtmaiBar," gAuNAAe Bavaenmats$auivaiva·(DaA°a: ivai°apyamaANAEç&ta ikM(nau äU"SaNAM GanaEç&paetaEivaRgAtaE r"vae: ik(ma,

*samāhitaiù kaù karaëair guëätmabhir
guëo bhaven mat-suvivikta-dhāmnaù vikñipyamäëair uta kià nu dūñäëaà ghanair upetair vigatai raveù kim*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

samāhitaiù—which are perfectly concentrated in meditation; kaù—what; karaëaiù—by senses; guëa-ätmabhiù—which are basically manifestations of the modes of nature; guëaù—virtue; bhavel—will be; mat—My; su-vivikta—who has properly ascertained; dhāmnaù—the personal identity; vikñipyamäëaiù—which are being agitated; uta—on the other hand; kim—what; nu—indeed; dūñäëam—blame; ghanaiù—by clouds; upetaiù—which have come; vigataiù—or which have gone away; raveù—of the sun; kim—what.

TRANSLATION

For one who has properly realized My personal identity as the Supreme Godhead, what credit is there if his senses—mere products of the material modes—are perfectly concentrated in meditation? And on the other hand, what blame is incurred if his senses happen to become agitated? Indeed, what does it mean to the sun if the clouds come and go?

PURPORT

A pure devotee of the Lord is considered eternally liberated, because he has perfectly understood the Lord's transcendental personality and abode and is always engaged in serving the Lord's mission within this world. Although superficially such a devotee may appear agitated by events in the material world while engaged in the Lord's mission, this does not change his exalted status as the Lord's eternal servitor, just as the exalted status of the sun is not changed even when the sun is apparently covered by clouds.

TEXT 26

yaTaA naBaAe vaAyvanalaAmbauBaUgAuNAEr," gAtaAgAtaEvaRtauRgAuNAEnaR s$aÀatae taTaA°arM" s$aÔvar"jastamaAemalaEr," @hM"matae: s$aMs$a{itahe"tauiBa: par"ma,

*yathā nabho väyv-analāmbu-bhū-guëair gatāgatair vartu-guëair na sajjate tathākñaraà sattva-rajas-tamo-malair
ahaà-mateù saàsāti-hetubhiù param*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathā—just as; nabhaù—the sky; väyu—of air; anala—fire; ambu—water; bhū—and earth; guëaiù—by the qualities; gata-ägataiù—which come and go; vā—or; ātu-guëaiù—by the qualities of the seasons (such as heat and cold); na sajjate—is not entangled; tathā—similarly; akñaram—the Absolute Truth; sattva-rajau-tamaù—of the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance; malaiù—by the contaminations; aham-mateù—of the conception of false ego; saàsāti-hetubhiù—by the causes of material existence; param—the Supreme.

TRANSLATION

The sky may display the various qualities of the air, fire, water and earth that pass through it, as well as such qualities as heat and cold, which continually come and go with the seasons. Yet the sky is never entangled with any of these qualities. Similarly, the Supreme Absolute Truth is never entangled with the contaminations of goodness, passion and ignorance, which cause the material transformations of the false ego.

PURPORT

The word aha-è-mateu here indicates the conditioned living entity, who becomes manifest with the false ego of a particular material body. By contrast, the Personality of Godhead is unaffected by the modes of nature, and thus He is never covered by a material body and never subject to false ego. As described here, the Lord is eternally infallible and pure.

TEXT 27

taTaAipa s$aËÿ: pair"vajaRnalyaAe gAuNAeSau maAyaAr"icataeSau taAvata, maà"i-(yaAegAena ä{"Xe#na yaAvaä,"
r"jaAe inar"syaeta mana:k(SaAya:

tathäpi saì gaù parivarjanéyo
guëëñu mäyā-raciteñu tävat mad-bhakti-yogena dāòhena yāvad rajo nirasyeta manaù-kañäyaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tathä api—nevertheless; saì gaù—association; parivarjanéyaù—must be rejected; guëëñu—with the modes; mäyā-raciteñu—produced by the illusory material energy; tävat—for that long; mat-bhakti-yogena—by devotional service to Me; dāòhena—firm; yāvad—until; rajaù—passionate attraction; nirasyeta—is eliminated; manaù—of the mind; kañäyaù—the dirt.

TRANSLATION

Nevertheless, until by firmly practicing devotional service to Me one has completely eliminated from his mind all contamination of material passion, one must very carefully avoid associating with the material modes, which are produced by My illusory energy.

PURPORT

The word tathäpi in this verse indicates that even though the material nature is nondifferent from the Supreme Lord (as elaborately described in this chapter), one who has yet to conquer material desire should not artificially associate with material things, declaring them to be nondifferent from the Lord. Thus one aspiring to be Kãñëa conscious should not loosely associate with women, claiming them to be nondifferent from the Personality of Godhead, for by such imitation of the most advanced devotees one will become a sense gratifier. A neophyte devotee who presumes himself liberated is impelled by the mode of passion to become falsely proud of his position, and thus he neglects the actual process of devotional service to the Lord. One must have firm and steady engagement in the loving service of the Lord, under the direction of higher authorities; then advancement in Kãñëa consciousness will be easy and sublime.

TEXT 28

yaTaAmayaAe's$aADau icaik(its$aataAe na{NAAM pauna: pauna: s$antaud"ita 'ar"Aeh"na, WvaM manaAe'pa,(k(SaAyak(maR ku(yaAeigAnaM ivaDyaita s$avaRs$aËÿma,

yathämayo 'sädhu cikitsito nãëää
punaù punaù santudati prarohan evaà mano 'pakva-kañäya-karma kuyoginaà vidhyati sarva-saì gam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathā—as; āmayaù—a disease; asādhū—imperfectly; cikitsitaù—treated; nāëām—of men; punaù punaù—again and again; santudati—gives distress; prarohan—rising up; evam—in the same way; manaù—the mind; apakva—unpurified; kañāya—of contamination; karma—from its activities; ku-yoginam—the imperfect yogé; vidhyati—torments; sarva-saì gam—who is full of all kinds of material attachment.

TRANSLATION

Just as an improperly treated disease recurs and gives repeated distress to the patient, the mind that is not completely purified of its perverted tendencies will remain attached to material things and repeatedly torment the imperfect yogé.

PURPORT

Sarva-saì gam refers to one's stubborn attachment to material objects of so-called enjoyment, such as children, wife, money, nation and friends. One who increases his attachment to children, wife and so on, although supposedly performing devotional service to Lord Kāñëa, is understood to be either a kuyogé, as described in this verse, or a bewildered neophyte who has failed to properly treat the disease of the heart called material attachment. If one has repeated relapses into material attachment, he has failed to eradicate the darkness of ignorance from his heart.

TEXT 29

ku(yaAeigAnaAe yae ivaih"taAntar"AyaEr," manauSyaBaUtaEiñd"zAAepas$a{íE":
tae 'aA·(naAByaAs$abalaena BaUyaAe yauÃainta yaAegAM na tau k(maRtanṭama,

*kuyogino ye vihitāntarāyair
manuñya-bhūtais tridaṣopasāññaiù te prāktanābhyāsa-balena bhūyo
yuijanti yogaà na tu karma-tantram*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ku-yoginaù—those practitioners of yoga whose knowledge is not complete; ye—who; vihita—imposed; antarāyaiù—by obstructions; manuñya-bhūtaiù—in the form of human beings (their relatives, disciples and so on); tridaṣa—by the demigods; upasāññaiù—sent; te—they; prāktana—of the previous life; abhyāsa—of the accumulated practice; balena—on the strength; bhūyaù—once again; yuijanti—engage; yogam—in spiritual practice; na—never; tu—however; karma-tantram—the entanglement of fruitive work.

TRANSLATION

Sometimes the progress of imperfect transcendentalists is checked by attachment to family members, disciples or others, who are sent by envious demigods for that purpose. But on the strength of their accumulated advancement, such imperfect transcendentalists will resume their practice of yoga in the next life. They will never again be trapped in the network of fruitive work.

PURPORT

Sometimes sannyāsés and other spiritual teachers are bewildered by flattering followers and disciples sent by the demigods to embarrass spiritual leaders who are lacking complete spiritual knowledge. Similarly, spiritual progress is sometimes checked by attachment to one's bodily relatives. Although an imperfect transcendentalist may fall down from yoga practice in this life, he will resume it in the next life on the strength of his accumulated merit, as described in the Bhagavad-gētā. The words na tu karma-tantram indicate that a fallen transcendentalist does not have to pass through the lower stages of fruitive activity and gradually be promoted to the practice of yoga. Rather, he will immediately resume his yoga practice at that point at which he left it. Of course, one should not presume to fall back on the facility offered here but should try to become perfect in this lifetime. Sannyāsés, especially, should remove the knot of lust from their hearts and should avoid falling into the clutches of flattering followers or female disciples sent by the demigods to expose a so-called spiritual leader who is imperfect in Kāñëa conscious knowledge.

TEXT 30

k(r"Aeita k(maR i,(yatae ca jantau:
ke(naApyas$aAE caAeid"ta @AinapataAta, na taṭa ivaã"Ana, 'ak{(taAE isTataAe'ipa
inava{Ôata{SNA: svas$auKaAnauBaUtyaA

karoti karma kriyate ca jantuù kenäpy asau codita ä-nipatät na tatra vidvân prakâtau sthito 'pi nivâtta-tãñëaù sva-sukhänubhütyä

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

karoti—he performs; karma—material work; kriyate—is acted upon; ca—also; jantuù—the living entity; kena api—by some force or other; asau—he; coditaù—impelled; ä-nipätät—up to the point of death; na—not; tatra—there; vidvân—a wise person; prakâtau—in material nature; sthitaù—situated; api—even though; nivâtta—having given up; tãñëaù—material desire; sva—by his own; sukha—of happiness; anubhütyä—experience.

TRANSLATION

An ordinary living entity performs material work and is transformed by the reaction to such work. Thus he is driven by various desires to continue working fruitively up to the very moment of his death. A wise person, however, having experienced his own constitutional bliss, gives up all material desires and does not engage in fruitive work.

PURPORT

By sexual association with women, a man is driven to enjoy the female form again and again, and indeed he remains lusty up to the moment of death. Similarly, through association with family and friends the knot of material attachment becomes very tight. Thus the reactions of fruitive work bind one more and more in the cycle of material defeat. But a learned person, one who is in touch with the Supreme Lord within his heart, realizes the ultimate frustration of material work and the danger of entering the womb of a pig or dog in a future life as the result of sinful activities. One on the platform of self-realization does not regard himself as an enjoyer of the world. Rather, he regards the entire cosmos as simply an insignificant expansion of the Lord's potency—and himself as the Lord's humble servant.

TEXT 31

itaĩ"ntamaAs$alnamauta ~ajantaM zAyaAnamau⁰antamad"ntama^aama, svaBaAvamanyaitk(mapalh"maAnama, @AtmaAnamaAtmasTamaitanaR vaed"

*tiñöhantam äsénam uta vrajantaà çayānam ukñāntam adantam annam svabhāvam anyat kim apéhamānam
ātmānam ātma-stha-matir na veda*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tiñöhantam—standing; äsénam—sitting; uta—or; vrajantam—walking;
çayānam—lying down; ukñāntam—urinating; adantam—eating;
annam—food; sva-bhāvam—manifested from his conditioned nature;

anyat—other; kim api—whatever; éhamānam—executing; ātmānam—his own bodily self; ātma-stha—fixed in the true self; matiù—whose consciousness; na veda—he does not recognize.

TRANSLATION

The wise man, whose consciousness is fixed in the self, does not even notice his own bodily activities. While standing, sitting, walking, lying down, urinating, eating or performing other bodily functions, he understands that the body is acting according to its own nature.

TEXT 32

yaid" sma pazyatyas$aid"in%"yaATa< naAnaAnaumaAnaena ivaç&Ü"manyata, na manyatae vastautayaA manalSal
svaA«aM yaTaAetTaAya itar"Aed"DaAnama,

yadi sma paçyaty asat-indriyārthaà
nānānumānena viruddham anyat
na manyate vastutayā manéñé
svāpnāà yathotthāya tirodadhānam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadi—if; sma—ever; paçyati—he sees; asat—impure; indriya-artham—sense objects; nānā—of their being based on duality; anumānena—by the logical inference; viruddham—refuted; anyat—separate from true reality; na manyate—does not accept; vastutayā—as real; manéñé—the intelligent man; svāpnam—of a dream; yathā—as if; utthāya—waking; tirodadhānam—which is in the process of disappearing.

TRANSLATION

Although a self-realized soul may sometimes see an impure object or activity, he does not accept it as real. By logically understanding impure sense objects to be based on illusory material duality, the intelligent person sees them to be contrary to and distinct from reality, in the same way that a man awakening from sleep views his fading dream.

PURPORT

A sane person can clearly distinguish between a dream experience and his real life. Similarly a manéñé, or intelligent person, can clearly perceive polluted material sense objects to be creations of the Lord's illusory energy and not factual reality. This is the practical test of realized intelligence.

TEXT 33

paUva< gA{h"ltaM gAuNAk(maRicaṭama, @ÁaAnamaAtmanyaiivaiva-(maĒy inavataRtae tatpaunar"l°ayaEva na gA{ṭtae naAipa ivas$a{yya @AtmaA

*pūrvaà gāhētaà guēa-karma-citram aji ānam ātmany aviviktam aī ga nivartate tat punar ékñayaiva
na gāhyate nāpi visājya ātmā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pūrvam—previously; gāhētam—accepted; guēa—of the modes of nature; karma—by the activities; citram—made varied; aji ānam—the ignorance; ātmani—upon the soul; aviviktam—imposed as identical; aī ga—My dear Uddhava; nivartate—ceases; tat—that; punaù—again; ékñayā—by knowledge; eva—alone; na gāhyate—is not accepted; na—nor; api—indeed; visājya—being rejected; ātmā—the soul.

TRANSLATION

Material nescience, which expands into many varieties by the activities of the modes of nature, is wrongly accepted by the conditioned soul to be identical with the self. But through the cultivation of spiritual knowledge, My dear Uddhava, this same nescience fades away at the time of liberation. The eternal self, on the other hand, is never assumed and never abandoned.

PURPORT

It is emphasized here that the eternal self is never assumed or imposed as a material designation, nor is it ever abandoned. As explained in the Bhagavad-gētā, the soul is eternally the same and does not undergo transformation. The modes of nature, however, create the gross material body and subtle mind as a result of one's previous fruitive activities, and these gross and subtle bodies are imposed upon the soul. Thus the living entity can neither assume nor reject the soul, which is an eternal fact. Rather, he should give up the gross ignorance of material consciousness by cultivating spiritual knowledge, as indicated here.

TEXT 34

yaTaA ih" BaAnaAeç&d"yaAe na{ca⁰auSaAM
tamaAe inah"nyaA^a tau s$aiã"DaÔae WvaM s$amal⁰aA inapauNAA s$atal mae
h"nyaAÔaima^aM pauç&Sasya bauÜe":

*yathä hi bhānor udayo nā-cakñuñäà
tamo nihanyän na tu sad vidhatte evaà saméknä nipuëä saté me hanyät tamisraà puruñasya buddheu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathä—as; hi—indeed; bhānou—of the sun; udayaù—the rising; nā—human; cakñuñäm—of eyes; tamaù—the darkness; nihanyät—destroys; na—not; tu—but; sat—objects that exist; vidhatte—creates;

evam—similarly; saṁéknā—full realization; nipuëä—potent; satë—true; me—of Me; hanyät—destroys; tamisram—the darkness; puruñasya—of a person; buddheù—in the intelligence.

TRANSLATION

When the sun rises it destroys the darkness covering men's eyes, but it does not create the objects they then see before them, which in fact were existing all along. Similarly, potent and factual realization of Me will destroy the darkness covering a person's true consciousness.

TEXT 35

WSa svayaMjyaAeitar"jaAe"amaeyaAe mah"AnauBaUita: s$ak(laAnauBaUita: Wk(Ae'iã"talyaAe vacas$aAM ivar"Amae yaenaeiSataA vaAgAs$avaêr"inta

eña svaya-à-jyotir ajo 'prameyo mahānubhütiù sakalānubhütiù
eko 'dvitēyo vacasā-à virāme
yeneñitā vāg-asavaç caranti

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

eñaù—this (Supersoul); svayam-jyotiù—self-luminous; ajaù—unborn; aprameyaù—impossible to measure; mahā-anubhütiù—full of transcendental consciousness; sakala-anubhütiù—aware of everything; ekaù—one; advitēyaù—without a second; vacasām virāme—(realized only) when material words cease; yena—by whom; ēñitāù—impelled; vāk—speech; asavaù—and the life airs; caranti—move.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Lord is self-luminous, unborn and immeasurable. He is pure transcendental consciousness and perceives everything. One without a second, He is realized only after ordinary words cease. By Him the power of speech and the life airs are set into motion.

PURPORT

The Supreme Lord is self-luminous, self-manifested, whereas the individual living entity is manifested by Him. The Lord is unborn, but the living entity, because of material, designative coverings, takes birth in conditioned life. The Lord is immeasurable, being all-pervasive, whereas the living entity is localized. The Supreme Lord is mahānubhūti, the totality of consciousness, whereas the living entity is a tiny spark of consciousness. The Lord is sakalānubhūti, omniscient, whereas the living entity is aware only of his own limited experience. The Supreme Lord is one, whereas the living entities are innumerable. Considering all these contrasts between the Lord and ourselves, we should not waste time like the foolish material scientists and philosophers, who struggle to find the origin of this world by their insignificant mental speculation and word jugglery. Although one may discover some of the gross laws of material nature through material research, there is no hope of achieving the Absolute Truth by such petty endeavors.

TEXT 36

WtaAvaAnaAtmas$ammaAeh"Ae yaiã"k(lpastau ke(valae
@Atmana{tae svamaAtmaAnama, @valambaAe na yasya ih"

*etävān ātma-sammoho
yad vikalpas tu kevale
ātman āte svam ātmānam
avalambo na yasya hi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etävān—whatever; ātma—of the self; sammohaù—delusion; yat—which; vikalpaù—idea of duality; tu—but; kevale—in the unique; ātman—in the self; rte—without; svam—that very; ātmānam—self; avalambaù—basis; na—there is not; yasya—of which (duality); hi—indeed.

TRANSLATION

Whatever apparent duality is perceived in the self is simply the confusion of the mind. Indeed, such supposed duality has no basis to rest upon apart from one's own soul.

PURPORT

As explained in verse 33 of this chapter, the eternal self is neither assumed nor lost, since every living entity is an eternal reality. The word vikalpa, or "duality," here refers to the mistaken idea that the spirit soul is partly composed of matter in the form of the gross body or subtle mind. It is thus that foolish persons consider the material body or mind to be an intrinsic or fundamental component of the self. In fact the living entity is pure spirit, without any tinge of matter. Consequently the false ego, which is generated by the false identification with matter, is a mistaken identity imposed upon the pure spirit soul. The sense of ego, or "I am" in other words, the sense of one's individual identity—comes from the spirit soul, because there is no other possible basis for such self-awareness. By studying one's false sense of ego, one can analytically understand that there is a pure ego, which is expressed by the words ahaṁ brahmāsmi(97), "I am pure spirit soul." One can easily understand in a similar way that there is a supreme spirit soul, the Personality of Godhead, who is the omniscient controller of everything. Such understanding in Kāñḍea consciousness constitutes perfect knowledge, as described here by the Lord.

TEXT 37

ya^aaAmaAk{(itaiBafaAR÷M paÂavaNARmabaAiDatama,

vyaTaeRnaApyaTaRvaAd"Ae'yaM
ã"yaM paiNx"tamaAinanaAma,

*yan nāmākātibhir grāhyaā
pai ca-varëam abādhitam
vyarthenāpy artha-vādo 'yaā
dvayaā paëòita-māninām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—which; nāma—by names; ākātibhiū—and forms; grāhyam—perceivable; pai ca-varëam—consisting of the five material elements; abādhitam—undeniable; vyarthena—in vain; api—indeed; artha-vādaū—the imaginative interpretation; ayam—this; dvayam—duality; paëòita-māninām—of so-called scholars.

TRANSLATION

The duality of the five material elements is perceived only in terms of names and forms. Those who say this duality is real are pseudoscholars vainly proposing fanciful theories without basis in fact.

PURPORT

Material names and forms, subject as they are to creation and annihilation, have no permanent existence and so do not constitute essential, fundamental principles of reality. The material world consists of variegated transformations of the potency of God. Although God is real and His potency is real, the particular forms and names that temporarily or circumstantially appear have no ultimate reality. Gross ignorance occurs when the conditioned soul imagines himself to be material or a mixture of matter and spirit. Some philosophers argue that the eternal soul in contact with matter is permanently transformed and that the false ego represents a new and permanent reality of the soul. Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé replies that spirit is the living, superior energy of the Lord, whereas matter is the inferior, unconscious energy of the Lord, and that these two energies thus possess opposite qualities, as with light and darkness. The superior living entity and inferior matter therefore cannot possibly merge into a common existence, since they eternally possess opposite and incompatible characteristics. The hallucination of a mixture of matter and spirit is called illusion; it becomes specifically manifest as false ego, which identifies with a specific material body or mind created by illusion. Clearly those scientists or philosophers who are embedded in gross ignorance cannot be real scientists and philosophers. The simple criterion of spiritual self-awareness unfortunately eliminates a huge percentage of modern so-called scientists and philosophers, who bury their foolish noses in the Lord's material energy, without any knowledge of or interest in the Lord Himself.

TEXT 38

yaAeigAnaAe'pa,(yaAegAsya yauĀata: k(Aya oitTataE:
opas$agAE=#ivaRh"nyaeta
taṭaAyaM ivaih"taAe ivaiDa:

*yogino 'pakva-yogasya yui'jatau kāya utthitaiu
upasargair vihaneta
tatrāyaà vihito vidhiu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yoginau—of the yogé; apakva-yogasya—who is immature in the practice of yoga; yui'jatau—trying to engage; kāya—the body; utthitaiu—which have arisen; upasargaiu—by disturbances; vihaneta—may be frustrated; tatra—in that connection; ayam—this; vihitau—is prescribed; vidhiu—recommended process.

TRANSLATION

The physical body of the endeavoring yogē who is not yet mature in his practice may sometimes be overcome by various disturbances. Therefore the following process is recommended.

PURPORT

Having described the process of cultivating knowledge, the Lord now gives instructions to the yogē whose body may be disturbed by disease or other impediments. Those inferior yogēs who are attached to the body and bodily exercises are often incomplete in their realization, and thus the Lord here offers them some assistance.

TEXT 39

yaAegADaAr"NAYaA k(AMiêä," @As$anaEDaARr"NAAinvataE: tapaAemanṭaAESaDaE: k(AMiêä," opas$agAARna, ivainadR"#he"ta, yoga-dhāraëayä kâàçcid

āsanair dhāraëānvitaiù
tapo-mantrauñadhaiù kâàçcid
upasargän vinirdahet

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yoga-dhāraëayä—by yogic meditation; kâàçcit—some disturbances; āsanaiù—by prescribed postures; dhāraëā-anvitaiù—together with meditation on controlled breathing; tapaiù—by special austerities; mantra—magical chants; auñadhaiù—and medicinal herbs; kâàçcit—some; upasargän—obstructions; vinirdahet—can be eradicated.

TRANSLATION

Some of these obstructions may be counteracted by yogic meditation or by sitting postures, practiced together with concentration on controlled breathing, and others may be counteracted by special austerities, mantras or medicinal herbs.

TEXT 40

k(AMiênmamaAnauDyaAnaena naAmas$aÆÿLtaRnaAid"iBa:
yaAegAeîr"Anauva{ÔyaA vaA
h"nyaAd"zAuBad"Ana, zAnaE:

*käàçcin mamānudhyānena
nāma-saī kērtanādibhiù
yogeçvarānuvāṭṭyā vā
hanyād aṣubha-dān çanaiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

käàçcit—some; mama—of Me; anudhyānena—by constant thought; nāma—of the holy names; saī kēātana—by the loud chanting; ādibhiù—and so on; yoga-ēçvara—of the great masters of yoga; anuvāṭṭyā—by following in the footsteps; vā—or; hanyāt—may be destroyed; aṣubha-dān—(the obstructions) that create inauspicious situations; çanaiù—gradually.

TRANSLATION

These inauspicious disturbances can be gradually removed by constant remembrance of Me, by congregational hearing and chanting of My holy names, or by following in the footsteps of the great masters of yoga.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé, by meditation on the Supreme Lord one can overcome lust and other mental disturbances, and by following in the footsteps of great transcendentalists one can overcome hypocrisy, false pride and other types of mental imbalance.

TEXT 41

ke(icaÚe"h"imamaM Dalr"A:
s$auk(lpaM vayais$a isTar"ma,
ivaDaAya ivaivaDaAepaAyaEr," @Ta yauÃainta is$aÜ"yae

*kecid deham imaà dhëräù su-kalpaà vayasi sthiram
vidhäya vividhopäyair
atha yui janti siddhaye*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kecit—some; deham—the material body; imam—this;
dhëräù—self-controlled; su-kalpam—fit; vayasi—in youth; sthiram—fixed;
vidhäya—making; vividha—by various; upäyaiù—means; atha—thus;
yui janti—they engage; siddhaye—for the achievement of material perfections.

TRANSLATION

By various methods, some yogés free the body from disease and old age and keep it perpetually youthful. Thus they engage in yoga for the purpose of achieving material mystic perfections.

PURPORT

The process described here is meant to fulfill one's material desires, not to bring one transcendental knowledge. Therefore this process cannot be accepted as devotional service to the Lord, according to Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Ōhākura. Despite all such mystic perfections, the material body will ultimately die. Actual eternal youth and happiness are available only on the spiritual platform of Kåñëa consciousness.

TEXT 42

na ih" tatku(zAlaAä{"tyaM tad"AyaAs$aAe ÷paATaRk(:
@ntavaÔvaAcC$r"lr"sya
P(lasyaeva vanas$patae:

*na hi tat kuçalädätyaà
tad-äyāso hy apārthakaù
antavattvāc charērasya
phalasyeva vanaspateù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; hi—indeed; tat—that; kuçala—by those expert in transcendental knowledge; ädätya—to be respected; tat—of that; äyāsaù—the endeavor; hi—certainly; apārthakaù—useless; anta-vattvāt—because of being subject to destruction; charērasya—on the part of the material body; phalasya—of the fruit; iva—just as; vanaspateù—of a tree.

TRANSLATION

This mystic bodily perfection is not valued very highly by those expert in transcendental knowledge. Indeed, they consider endeavor for such perfection useless, since the soul, like a tree, is permanent, but the body, like a tree's fruit, is subject to destruction.

PURPORT

The example given here is of a tree that seasonally bears fruit. The fruit exists for a very short time, whereas the tree may exist for thousands of years. Similarly, the spirit soul is eternal, whereas the material body, even when preserved as long as possible, is destroyed relatively quickly. The body should never be equated with the eternally existing spirit soul. Those who are actually intelligent, who actually have spiritual knowledge, are not interested in material mystic perfections.

TEXT 43

yaAegAM inaSaevataAe inatyaM
k(Ayaêetk(IpataAimayaAta, tacC)$Ú"DyaA^a maitamaAna, yaAegAmauts$a{jya matpar":

*yogaà niñevato nityaà
kāyaç cet kalpatām iyāt
tac chraddadhyān na matimān
yogam utsājya mat-paraù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yogam—the practice of yoga; niñevataù—of one executing;
nityam—regularly; kāyaù—the material body; cet—even if;
kalpatām—fitness; iyāt—attains; tat—in that; çraddadhyāt—take faith;
na—does not; mati-mān—who is intelligent; yogam—the system of mystic yoga; utsājya—giving up; mat-paraù—the devotee dedicated to Me.

TRANSLATION

Although the physical body may be improved by various processes of yoga, an intelligent person who has dedicated his life to Me does not place his faith in the prospect of perfecting his physical body through yoga, and in fact he gives up such procedures.

PURPORT

A devotee of the Lord keeps his body fit by eating nourishing Kāñëa prasādam, by maintaining a clean and regulated life, free from unnecessary anxiety, and by chanting and dancing before the Deity of the Lord. When a devotee is sick, he accepts medical treatment by normal methods, but beyond this there is no need to absorb one's mind in the physical body in the name of so-called yoga practice. Ultimately one must accept the destiny that has been ordained by the Lord.

TEXT 44

yaAegAcayaARimamaAM yaAegAl
ivacar"nmad"paA™aya:
naAntar"AyaEivaRh"nyaeta
ina:s$pa{h": svas$auKaAnauBaU:

*yoga-caryām imāṅ yogé
vicaran mad-apāçrayaù
nāntarāyair vihanṇeta
niùspāhaù sva-sukhānubhüù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yoga-caryām—the prescribed process of yoga; imām—this; yogé—the practitioner; vicaran—executing; mat-apāçrayaù—having taken shelter of Me; na—not; antarāyair—by obstacles; vihanṇeta—is checked; niùspāhaù—free from hankering; sva—of the soul; sukha—the happiness; anubhüù—experiencing within.

TRANSLATION

The yogé who has taken shelter of Me remains free from hankering because he experiences the happiness of the soul within. Thus while executing this process of yoga, he is never defeated by obstacles.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé, the Supreme Lord has briefly described to Uddhava the essential wisdom of all the Upaniñads, with the conclusion that pure devotional service to the Lord is the real means of ultimate liberation. In this regard Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Öhākura emphasizes that although hāñha-yogés and rāja-yogés try to make progress along their prescribed paths, they confront obstacles and often fail to achieve their desired goals. However, one who surrenders to the Supreme Lord will certainly be victorious on his spiritual path back home, back to Godhead.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Twenty-eighth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Ji āna-yoga."

29. Bhakti-yoga

Thinking that the previously described spiritual practice, based on detachment, is too difficult, Uddhava inquired about an easier method. In reply, Lord Çré Kāñëa gave brief instructions on devotional service.

The fruitive workers and mystic yogés, who are bewildered by the illusory energy of the Supreme Personality of Godhead and puffed up by their false identifications, refuse to take shelter of the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord. But the swanlike men, those who know how to discriminate between the essential and nonessential, always take shelter at the lotus feet of the Personality of Godhead. The Supreme Lord Himself-within the living entity as the caittya-guru and without as the spiritual master who teaches by example-eradicates all the misfortune of the spirit soul and reveals His own personal form.

One should execute all duties for the sake of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, keeping one's mind absorbed in Him. One should take advantage of the sacred abodes of the Lord, where His devotees reside, and one should serve the Lord and celebrate the festivals and holidays in His honor. By understanding all living beings to be Lord Kāñëa's place of residence, one can attain the ability to see equally everywhere, and thus all faulty qualities of envy, false ego and so on will be removed. Bearing this in mind, the devotee should give up his proud relatives, his separatist outlook and his mundane embarrassment and should offer obeisances flat on the ground to all, even the dogs and outcastes. As long as one has not learned to see the presence of the Supreme Personality of Godhead in all creatures, he must continue to use his body, mind and speech to worship the Supreme Lord in that manner of offering full obeisances to all.

Because this eternal process of devotional service to the Supreme Lord is transcendental and has been established by the Lord Himself, it can never, to the slightest extent, be defeated or prove fruitless. When one offers himself completely to the Supreme Lord with exclusive devotion, the Lord becomes particularly pleased, and thus the devotee achieves immortality, becoming qualified to obtain opulence equal to that of the Lord.

After receiving these instructions, Çré Uddhava went to Badarikāçrama in pursuance of Lord Kāñëa's order, and by perfectly carrying out the instructions of the Supreme Lord, he attained the Lord's transcendental abode. By faithfully serving these instructions spoken by the Personality of Godhead to Uddhava, the greatest of devotees, the entire world can become liberated.

TEXT 1

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
s$auäu"star"AimamaAM manyae
yaAegAcayaARmanaAtmana:
yaTaAÃas$aA paumaAna, is$aÜ"Yaeta,
tanmae "aU÷Ãas$aAcyauta

çré-uddhava uväca su-dustaräm imäà manye

*yoga-caryäm anätmanaù
yathäi jasä pumän siddhyet
tan me brühy ai jasäcyuta*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaù uväca—Çré Uddhava said; su-dustaräm—very difficult to execute; imäm—this; manyé—I think; yoga-caryäm—process of yoga; anätmanaù—for one who has not controlled his mind; yathä—how; ai jasä—easily; pumän—a person; siddhyet—may accomplish it; tat—that; me—to me; brühi—please tell; ai jasä—in a simple manner; acyuta—O infallible Lord.

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Acyuta, I fear that the method of yoga described by You is very difficult for one who cannot control his mind. Therefore please explain to me in simple terms how someone can more easily execute it.

TEXT 2

‘aAyazA: pauNd"r"lk(A^oa yauHyantaAe yaAeigAnaAe mana:
ivaSald"ntyas$amaADaAnaAna, manaAeinafah"k(izARtaA:

*prāyaçaù puëdarékäkñä
yui yanto yogino manaù
viñedanty asamādhānān
mano-nigraha-karçitāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prāyaçaù—for the most part; puëðaréka-akñä—O lotus-eyed Lord; yui jantaù—who engage; yoginaù—yogés; manaù—the mind;

viñédanti—become frustrated; asamādhānāt—because of inability to attain trance; manaù-nigraha—by the attempt to subdue the mind; karçitāu—weary.

TRANSLATION

O lotus-eyed Lord, generally those yogés who try to steady the mind experience frustration because of their inability to perfect the state of trance. Thus they weary in their attempt to bring the mind under control.

PURPORT

Without the shelter of the Supreme Lord, a yogé easily becomes discouraged in the difficult task of fixing his mind on the Supreme.

TEXT 3

@TaAta @Anand"äu"GaM pad"AmbaujaM
hM"s$aA: ™ayaer"ar"ivand"laAecana
s$auKaM nau ivaieir" yaAegAk(maRiBas$a, tvanmaAyayaAmal ivah"taA na maAinana:

*athāta ānanda-dughaà padāmbujaà
haàsäù çrayerann aravinda-locana sukhaà nu viçveçvara yoga-karmabhis
tvan-mäyayämé vihatä na mäninaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atha—now; ataù—therefore; ānanda-dugham—the source of all ecstasy; pada-ambujam—Your lotus feet; haàsäù—the swanlike men; çrayeran—take shelter of; aravinda-locana—O lotus-eyed; sukham—happily; nu—indeed; viçva-éçvara—Lord of the universe; yoga-karmabhiù—because of their practice of mysticism and fruitive work; tvat-mäyayä—by Your material energy; amé—these; vihatäù—defeated;

na—do not (take shelter); māninaù—those who are falsely proud.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, O lotus-eyed Lord of the universe, swanlike men happily take shelter of Your lotus feet, the source of all transcendental ecstasy. But those who take pride in their accomplishments in yoga and karma fail to take shelter of You and are defeated by Your illusory energy.

PURPORT

Çré Uddhava emphasizes here that one can achieve spiritual perfection simply by taking shelter of the Personality of Godhead. Those who do so are called haàsäù, the most discriminating human beings, since they are able to locate the actual source of spiritual happiness, the Lord's lotus feet. The word yoga-karmabhiù indicates that those who are attracted to or proud of achievements in the field of mystic yoga or ordinary material endeavor cannot appreciate the great advantage of obediently surrendering to the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Generally the yogés and fruitive workers are proud of their so-called achievements and are more attracted to their own endeavor than to the Lord Himself. By humbly taking shelter of Lord Kāñëa, one can advance easily and quickly on the path of Kāñëa consciousness and go back home, back to Godhead.

TEXT 4

ikM(icaṭamacyauta tavaEtad"zAeSabanDaAe
d"As$aeSvananyazAr"NAes$au yad"Atmas$aAÔvama, yaAe'r"Aecayats$ah" ma{gAE: svayamalir"ANAAM ™almaitk(r"lq%taq%palix"tapaAd"palQ&:

*kià citram acyuta tavaitad aṇëa-bandho däseñv ananya-çaraëesu yad ātma-sāttvam yo 'rocyat saha māgaiù svayam eçvaräëäà
çrémat-kiréöa-taöa-péòita-päda-péöhaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kim—what; citram—wonder; acyuta—O infallible Lord; tava—Your; etat—this; açeña-bandho—O friend of all; dāseñu—for the servants; ananya-çaraëeñu—who have taken no other shelter; yat—which; ätma-sät tvam—intimacy with You; yaù—who; arocayat—acted affectionately; saha—with; māgaiù—the animals (monkeys); svayam—Yourself; éçvaräëäm—of the great demigods; çrēmat—effulgent; kirēöa—of the helmets; taöa—by the edges; pēöita—shaken; pāda-pēöhaù—whose footstool.

TRANSLATION

My dear infallible Lord, it is not very astonishing that You intimately approach Your servants who have taken exclusive shelter of You. After all, during Your appearance as Lord Rāmacandra, even while great demigods like Brahmā were vying to place the effulgent tips of their helmets upon the cushion where Your lotus feet rested, You displayed special affection for monkeys such as Hanumān because they had taken exclusive shelter of You.

PURPORT

The devotees of the Lord become completely successful by the Lord's causeless mercy. Sometimes Lord Kāñëa accepts a position of subservience to His great devotees, as with Nanda Mahārāja, the gopés, Bali Mahārāja and others. Although demigods like Lord Brahmā were standing in line to touch their helmets to the Lord's foot cushion, still Lord Rāmacandra awarded His most intimate friendship to subhumans, such as the monkeys headed by Hanumān. Similarly Lord Kāñëa's affection for the deer and cows, and even for the trees of Vāndāvana, is well known. Further, the Lord gladly drove the chariot of Arjuna and acted as the messenger and faithful subordinate of King Yudhiñöhira. Such devotees have no need for the elaborate jī āna-yoga systems or the process for achieving mystic powers. All these devotees are represented here by Çré Uddhava, who frankly informs the Lord that the sophisticated systems of philosophical speculation and mystic yoga are not appealing for one who has developed a taste for direct loving service to the Lord.

TEXT 5

taM tvaAiKalaAtmad"iyataeìr"maAi™ataAnaAM
s$avaARTaRdM" svak{(taivaiã"s$a{jaeta k(Ae nau k(Ae vaA Bajaeitk(maipa ivasma{tayae'nau BaUtyaE ikM(vaA Bavaeªa tava paAd"r"jaAejauSaAM na:

*taà tvākhilātma-dayiteçvaram āçritānāà
sarvārtha-daà sva-kāta-vid visājeta ko nu ko vā bhajet kim api vismātaye 'nu bhūtyai
kià vā bhaven na tava pāda-rajo-juñāà naù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—that; tvā—You; akhila—of all; ātma—the Supreme Soul; dayita—the most dear; ēçvaram—and the supreme controller; āçrētānām—of those who take shelter of You; sarva-artha—of all perfections; dam—the bestower; sva-kāta—the benefit you have given; vit—who knows; visājeta—can reject; kaù—who; nu—indeed; kaù—who; vā—or; bhajet—can accept; kim api—anything; vismātaye—for forgetfulness; anu—consequently; bhūtyai—for sense gratification; kim—what; vā—or; bhavet—is; na—not; tava—Your; pāda—of the lotus feet; rajaù—the dust; juñām—for those who are serving; naù—ourselves.

TRANSLATION

Who, then, could dare reject You, the very Soul, the most dear object of worship, and the Supreme Lord of all—You who give all possible perfections to the devotees who take shelter of You? Who could be so ungrateful, knowing the benefits You bestow? Who would reject You and accept something for the sake of material enjoyment, which simply leads to forgetfulness of You? And what lack is there for us who are engaged in the service of the dust of Your lotus feet?

PURPORT

As stated in the Nārāyaṇīya of the Mokṣa-dharma, in Çré Mahābhārata,

*yā vai sādhana-sampattiṁ puruṇārtha-catuṣṭaye
tayā vinā tad āpnoti
naro nārāyaṇācṛayaṁ*

"Whatever among the four goals of human life can be achieved by various spiritual practices is automatically achieved without such endeavors by the person who has taken shelter of Lord Nārāyaṇa, the refuge of all persons." Thus a Kāṇḍa conscious person knows that he will obtain all perfection of life simply by surrendering to the devotional service of Lord Kāṇḍa. This is the highest stage of yoga, as confirmed in Bhagavad-gītā.

TEXT 6

naEvaAepayantyapaicaitaM k(vayastavaeZA
"aöAyaUSaAipa k{(tama{Ü"maud": smar"nta:
yaAe'ntabaRih"stanauBa{taAmazAuBaM ivaDaunva^aa, @AcaAyaRcaEÔyavapauSaA svagAitaM vyanai-(

naivopayanty apacitiṁ kavayas taveça brahmāyuniṁpi kâtam ādḍha-mudaṁ smarantaṁ yo 'ntar bahis tanu-bhâtām aṣubhaṁ vidhunvann ācārya-caitya-vapuṁśa sva-gatiṁ vyanakti

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na eva—not at all; upayanti—are able to express; apacitim—their gratitude; kavayaṁ—learned devotees; tava—Your; éça—O Lord; brahma-āyuniṁ—with a lifetime equal to Lord Brahmā's; api—in spite of; kâtam—magnanimous work; âddha—increased; mudaù—joy; smarantaù—remembering; yaù—who; antaù—within; bahiù—outside; tanu-bhâtäm—of those who are embodied; açubham—misfortune; vidhunvan—dissipating; âcärya—of the spiritual master; caittya—of the Supersoul; vapuñä—by the forms; sva—own; gatim—path; vyanakti—shows.

TRANSLATION

O my Lord! Transcendental poets and experts in spiritual science could not fully express their indebtedness to You, even if they were endowed with the prolonged lifetime of Brahmä, for You appear in two features—externally as the âcärya and internally as the Supersoul—to deliver the embodied living being by directing him how to come to You.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Jéva Gosvämé, Lord Kânëa is ten million times more dear to a devotee than life itself. And according to Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura, even by rendering devotional service for the total duration of one thousand universal creations, a devotee cannot repay the debt he feels to the Lord for having awarded him loving service to the Lord's lotus feet. The Lord appears within the heart as the Supersoul and externally both as the spiritual master and as His literary incarnation—the supreme Vedic knowledge of Bhagavad-gétä and Çrémad-Bhägavatam.

TEXT 7

™alzAuk(ovaAca
wtyauÜ"vaenaAtyanaur"·(caetas$aA pa{í"Ae jagAt,(Lx"nak(: svazAi·(iBa:
gA{h"ItamaUitaR†aya wRire"ir"Ae

çré-çuka uväca
ity uddhavenäty-anurakta-cetasä
pñño jagat-kreòanakaù sva-çaktibhiù

gāhēta-mūrti-traya ēçvareçvaro jagāda sa-prema-manohara-smitaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çukaù uvāca—Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; iti—thus; uddhavana—by Uddhava; ati-anurakta—extremely attached; cetasā—whose heart; pāññaù—asked; jagat—the universe; krēḍanakaù—whose plaything; sva-çaktibhiù—by His own energies; gāhēta—who has assumed; mūrti—personal forms; trayaù—three; ēçvara—of all controllers; ēçvaraù—the supreme controller; jagāda—He spoke; sa-prema—loving; manaù-hara—attractive; smitaù—whose smile.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Thus questioned by the most affectionate Uddhava, Lord Kāñēa, the supreme controller of all controllers, who takes the entire universe as His plaything and assumes the three forms of Brahmā, Viñēu and Çiva, began to reply, lovingly displaying His all-attractive smile.

TEXT 8

TMalBagAvaAnauvaAca
h"nta tae k(TaiyaSyaAima
mama DamaARna, s$auMaEÿlaAna, yaAna, TMaÜ"yaAcar"nmatyaAeR

çré-bhagavān uvāca
hanta te kathayīñyāmi
mama dharmān su-maì galān
yān çraddhayācaran martyo
mātyuà jayati durjayam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; hanta—yes;

te—to you; kathayīyāmi—I shall speak; mama—relating to Me; dharmān—religious principles; su-maī galān—most auspicious; yān—which; çraddhayā—with faith; ācaran—executing; martyaù—a mortal human being; mātyum—death; jayati—conquers; durjayam—unconquerable.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Yes, I shall describe to you the principles of devotion to Me, by executing which a mortal human being will conquer unconquerable death.

TEXT 9

ku(yaARts$avaARiNA k(maARiNA mad"Ta< zAnakE(: smar"na, mayyaipaRtamanaiêÔaAe
maÜ"maARtmamanaAer"ita:

kuryāt sarvāëi karmāëi
mad-arthaà çanakaiù smaran
mayy arpita-manaç-citto
mad-dharmātma-mano-ratiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kuryāt—one should perform; sarvāëi—all; karmāëi—prescribed activities; mat-artham—for Me; çanakaiù—without becoming impetuous; smaran—remembering; mayi—unto Me; arpita—who has offered; manaù-cittaù—his mind and his intelligence; mat-dharma—My devotional service; ātma-manaù—of his own mind; ratiù—the attraction.

TRANSLATION

Always remembering Me, one should perform all his duties for Me without becoming impetuous. With mind and intelligence offered to Me, one should fix his mind in attraction to My devotional service.

PURPORT

The words mad-dharmātma-mano-ratiù mean that all of one's love and affection should be devoted to pleasing the Supreme Personality of Godhead. It is not indicated here that one should try to relish selfish satisfaction in devotional service, but rather that one should be attracted to the Lord's own satisfaction, which one achieves by faithfully executing the order of a bona fide spiritual master coming in disciplic succession from Lord Kāñëa Himself. Attachment to one's own satisfaction, even within devotional service, is materialistic, whereas attachment to the satisfaction of the Lord is pure spiritual emotion.

TEXT 10

de"zAAna, pauNyaAnaA™ayaeta maà".E(: s$aADauiBa: i™ataAna,
de"vaAs$aaur"manauSyaeSau maà".(Acair"taAina ca

deçän puëyän äçrayeta
mad-bhaktaiù sädhubhiù çritän
deväsura-manuñyeñu
mad-bhaktäcaritäni ca

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deçän—places; puëyän—sacred; äçrayeta—he should take shelter of;
mat-bhaktaiù—by My devotees; sädhubhiù—saintly; çritän—resorted to;
deva—among the demigods; asura—demons; manuñyeñu—and human beings; mat-bhakta—of My devotees; äcaritäni—the activities; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

One should take shelter of holy places where My saintly devotees reside, and one should be guided by the exemplary activities of My devotees, who appear among the demigods, demons and human beings.

PURPORT

Nārada Muni is one of the great devotees of the Lord who appeared among the demigods. Prahlāda Mahārāja appeared among the demons, and many other great devotees, such as Ambarīṣa Mahārāja and the Pāṇḍavas, appeared among human beings. One should take shelter of the devotees' exemplary activities and also the holy places where devotees reside. Thus one will remain safe on the path of devotional service.

TEXT 11

pa{Tafs$aṭaeNA vaA ma÷M pavaRyaAṭaAmah"Aets$avaAna, k(Ar"yaeÕ"ltana{tyaAâEr," mah"Ar"AjaivaBaUitaiBa:

*pāthak satreëa vā mahyaà
parva-yātrā-mahotsavān
kārayed gēta-nātyādyair
mahārāja-vibhūtibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pāthak—alone; satreëa—in assembly; vā—or; mahyam—for Me; parva—monthly observances, such as Ekādaṣī; yātrā—special gatherings; mahā-utsavān—and festivals; kārayet—one should arrange to perform; gēta—with singing; nātya-ādyaiù—dancing and so on; mahā-rāja—royal; vibhūtibhiù—with signs of opulence.

TRANSLATION

Either alone or in public gatherings, with singing, dancing and other exhibitions of royal opulence, one should arrange to celebrate those holy days, ceremonies and festivals set aside specially for My worship.

TEXT 12

maAmaeva s$avaRBaUtaeSau
baih"r"ntar"paAva{tama,
wR^oaetaAtmaina caAtmaAnaM
yaTaA KamamalaAzAya:

*mām eva sarva-bhūteṇu
bahir antar apāvātam
ékṇētatmani cātmānaḥ
yathā kham amalāçayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mām—Me; eva—indeed; sarva-bhūteṇu—within all living beings; bahiù—externally; antaù—internally; apāvātam—uncovered; ékṇēta—one should see; ātmani—within himself; ca—also; ātmānam—the Supreme Soul; yathā—as; kham—the sky; amala-āçayaù—having a pure heart.

TRANSLATION

With a pure heart one should see Me, the Supreme Soul within all beings and also within oneself, to be both unblemished by anything material and also present everywhere, both externally and internally, just like the omnipresent sky.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Öhäkura, the Lord has spoken the present verse to attract those who are inclined toward philosophical speculation about the Absolute Truth. Such transcendental scholars searching for the ultimate unity will be attracted by the Lord's manifestation described here.

TEXTS 13-14

wita s$avaARiNA BaUtaAina
maà"Avaena mah"Aâutae
s$aBaAjayanmanyamaAnaAe ÁaAnaM ke(valamaAi™ata:

“aAöNAe paufk(s$ae staenae “aöNyae'keR(s$Pu(ilaËÿke( @,U(re" ,U(r"ke(caEva
s$amaä{"fpaiNx"taAe mata:

*iti sarvāēi bhūtāni
mad-bhāvena mahā-dyute
sabhājayan manyamāno
jī ānaà kevalam āçritaù*

*brāhmaēe pukkase stene brahmaēye 'rke sphuliì gake akrüre krürake caiva
sama-dāk paëòito mataù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—in this way; sarvāēi—to all; bhūtāni—living beings; mat-bhāvena—with the sense of My presence; mahā-dyute—O greatly effulgent Uddhava; sabhājayan—giving respect; manyamānaù—so considering; jī ānam—knowledge; kevalam—transcendental; āçritaù—taking shelter of; brāhmaēe—in the brāhmaëa; pukkase—in the outcaste of the Pukkasa tribe; stene—in the thief; brahmaēye—in the man who respects brahminical culture; arke—in the sun; sphuliì gake—in the spark of the fire; akrüre—in the gentle; krürake—in the cruel; ca—also; eva—indeed; sama-dāk—having equal vision; paëòitaù—a learned scholar; mataù—is considered.

TRANSLATION

O brilliant Uddhava, one who thus views all living entities with the idea that I am present within each of them, and who by taking shelter of this divine knowledge offers due respect to everyone, is considered actually wise. Such a man sees equally the brähmaëa and the outcaste, the thief and the charitable promoter of brahminical culture, the sun and the tiny sparks of fire, the gentle and the cruel.

PURPORT

A series of opposites is set forth here—namely the high-class brähmaëa and the low-class aborigine, the thief who steals from respectable persons and the respecter of brahminical culture who gives charity to brähmaëas, the all-powerful sun and the insignificant spark, and finally the kind and the cruel. Ordinarily, the ability to distinguish between such opposites qualifies one as intelligent. How, then, can the Lord state that ignoring such obvious differences establishes one as a wise man? The answer is given by the words mad-bhāvena: a wise person sees the Supreme Personality of Godhead within everything. Therefore, although externally perceiving and dealing with the varieties of material situations, a wise man is more impressed by and concerned with the overwhelming unity of all existence, which is based on the presence of the Supreme Lord within everything. As explained here, a truly wise person is not limited to superficial material discrimination.

TEXT 15

nare"SvaBaI°NAM maà"AvaM pauMs$aAe BaAvayataAe'icar"Ata, s$paDaARs$aUyaAitar"s$k(Ar"A:
s$aAh"ÆÿAr"A ivayainta ih"

*nareñv abhékñëaà mad-bhávaà puàso bhāvayato 'cirāt
spardhäsüyā-tiraskārāu
sāhaì kārā viyanti hi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nareñu—in all persons; abhékñëam—constantly; mat-bhāvam—the personal presence of Me; puàsaù—of the person; bhāvayataù—who is meditating upon; acirāt—quickly; spardhā—the tendency to feel rivalry (against equals); asüyā—envy (of superiors); tiraskārāu—and abuse (of inferiors); sa—along with; ahaì kārāu—false ego; viyanti—they disappear; hi—indeed.

TRANSLATION

For him who constantly meditates upon My presence within all persons, the bad tendencies of rivalry, envy and abusiveness, along with false ego, are very quickly destroyed.

PURPORT

We conditioned souls tend to feel rivalry toward our equals, envy toward our superior, and the desire to belittle our subordinates. These contaminated propensities, along with their very basis, false ego, can be quickly vanquished by meditating upon the Supreme Personality of Godhead within every living being.

TEXT 16

*ivas$a{jya smayamaAnaAna, svaAna, ä{"zAM ~alx"AM ca dE"ih"k(Lma,
'aNAmaeÚ"Nx"vaàU"maAva, @AìcaANx"AlagAAeKar"ma,*

visâjya smayamānān svān

*dâçaà vrèòäà ca daihikém praëamed daëòa-vad bhümäv
ä-çva-cäëòäla-go-kharam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

visâjya—giving up; smayamänän—who are laughing; svän—one's own friends; dâçam—the outlook; vrèòäm—the embarrassment; ca—and; daihikém—of the bodily conception; praëamet—one should offer obeisances; daëòa-vat—falling down like a rod; bhümau—upon the ground; ä—even; çva—to the dogs; cäëòäla—outcastes; go—cows; kharam—and asses.

TRANSLATION

Disregarding the ridicule of one's companions, one should give up the bodily conception and its accompanying embarrassment. One should offer obeisances before all—even the dogs, outcastes, cows and asses—falling flat upon the ground like a rod.

PURPORT

One should practice seeing the Supreme Personality of Godhead within all creatures. Çré Caitanya Mahāprabhu advised all devotees to consider themselves lower than a blade of grass and to be more tolerant than a tree. In such a humble position, one will not be disturbed in the prosecution of pure devotional service to the Lord. A devotee does not foolishly think that a cow or an ass is God, but rather the devotee sees the Supreme Lord within all creatures, and on this higher, spiritual plane he does not discriminate.

TEXT 17

*yaAvats$avaeRSau BaUtaeSau maà"AvaAe naAepajaAyatae
taAvade"vamaupaAs$alta*

vaAx.~mana:k(Ayava{iÔaiBa:

yävat sarveñu bhüteñu
mad-bhävo nopajāyate
tävad evam upāsēta
vāi -manaù-kāya-vāttibhiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yävat—as long as; sarveñu—in all; bhüteñu—living entities; mat-bhāvaù—the vision of My presence; na upajāyate—does not fully develop; tävat—for that long; evam—in this way; upāsēta—one must worship; vāk—of his speech; manaù—mind; kāya—and body; vāttibhiù—by the functions.

TRANSLATION

Until one has fully developed the ability to see Me within all living beings, one must continue to worship Me by this process with the activities of his speech, mind and body.

PURPORT

Until one fully realizes the Supreme Lord within all beings, he should continue the process of offering obeisances to all creatures. Although one may not be able to actually fall on the ground before all creatures, at least within his mind or by his words one should offer respect to all living beings. This will accelerate the devotee's self-realization.

TEXT 18

s$ava< "aöAtmakM(tasya
ivaâyaAtmamanalSayaA
pair"pazyaaupar"maeta,

s$avaRtaAe mauwtas$amZaya:

*sarvaà brahmätmakaà tasya vidyayätma-manéñayä paripaçyann uparamet
sarvato mukta-saàçayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sarvam—everything; brahma-ätmakam—based on the Absolute Truth; tasya—for him; vidyayä—by transcendental knowledge; ätma-manéñayä—by realization of the Supreme Soul; paripaçyan—seeing everywhere; uparamet—he should desist from material activities; sarvataù—in all cases; mukta-saàçayaù—freed from doubts.

TRANSLATION

By such transcendental knowledge of the all-pervading Personality of Godhead, one is able to see the Absolute Truth everywhere. Freed thus from all doubts, one gives up fruitive activities.

TEXT 19

@yaM ih" s$avaRk(lpaAnaAM
s$a'alcalnaAe mataAe mama maà"Ava: s$avaRBaUtaeSau manaAevaAfk(Ayava{iÔaiBa:

*ayaà hi sarva-kalpänäà
sadhrecéno mato mama mad-bhávaù sarva-bhüteñu
mano-väk-käya-vättibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ayam—this; hi—indeed; sarva—of all; kalpänäm—processes;

sadhrécénaù—the most appropriate; mataù—is considered; mama—by Me; mat-bhávaù—seeing Me; sarva-bhüteñu—within all living entities; manaù-väk-käya-vättibhiù—by the functions of one's mind, words and body.

TRANSLATION

Indeed, I consider this process—using one's mind, words and bodily functions for realizing Me within all living beings—to be the best possible method of spiritual enlightenment.

TEXT 20

na ÷ËÿAepa,(mae DvaMs$aAe
maÜ"maRsyaAeÜ"vaANvaipa
mayaA vyavais$aata: s$amyax.~
inagAuRNAtvaAd"naAizASa:

*na hy aì gopakrame dhvaàso mad-dharmasyoddhaväëv api mayä vyavasitaù samyaì
nirguëatväd anäçïñaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—there is not; hi—indeed; aì ga—My dear Uddhava; upakrame—in the attempt; dhvaàsaù—destruction; mat-dharmasya—of My devotional service; uddhava—My dear Uddhava; aëu—the slightest; api—even; mayä—by Me; vyavasitaù—established; samyak—perfectly; nirguëa-tvät—because of its being transcendental; anäçïñaù—having no ulterior motive.

TRANSLATION

My dear Uddhava, because I have personally established it, this process of devotional service unto Me is transcendental and free from any material motivation. Certainly a devotee never suffers even the slightest loss by adopting this process.

PURPORT

Although great sages and authorities have established various methods of human progress, the Supreme Lord Himself has introduced the system of bhakti-yoga, wherein one directly takes shelter of the Lord in loving service. One who serves the Lord without personal motivation can never be defeated in his progress and will certainly go back home, back to Godhead, in the near future.

TEXT 21

yaAe yaAe maiya pare" DamaR:
k(lpyatae inaSP(laAya caeta, tad"AyaAs$aAe inar"TaR: syaAä," BayaAde"ir"va s$aÔama

*yo yo mayi pare dharmaù kalpyate niñphaläya cet
tad-äyāso nirarthaù syäd
bhayäder iva sattama*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù, yaù—whatever; mayi—unto Me; pare—the Supreme; dharmaù—is religion; kalpyate—tends; niñphaläya—toward becoming free from the result of material work; cet—if; tat—of that; äyāsaù—the endeavor; nirarthaù—futile; syät—may be; bhaya-ädeù—of fear and so on; iva—as; sat-tama—O best of saintly persons.

TRANSLATION

O Uddhava, greatest of saints, in a dangerous situation an ordinary person cries, becomes fearful and laments, although such useless emotions do not change the situation. But activities offered to Me without personal motivation, even if they are externally useless, amount to the actual process of religion.

PURPORT

Even the most insignificant activity, when offered to the Supreme Lord without personal desire, can elevate one to the perfection of spiritual life. Actually, Lord Kāñëa always protects and maintains His devotee. But if a devotee cries to the Lord for protection or maintenance, desiring to continue his devotional service unimpeded, Lord Kāñëa accepts such apparently unnecessary appeals to be the highest religious process.

TEXT 22

WSaA bauiÜ"mataAM bauiÜ"r," manalSaA ca manaliSaNAma, yats$atyamana{taenaeh"
matyaeRnaA«aAeita maAma{tama,

*eñä buddhimatäà buddhir
manéñä ca manéñiëäm
yat satyam anâteneha
martyenâpnoti māmâtam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

eñä—this; buddhi-matām—of the intelligent; buddhiü—the intelligence; manéñä—the cleverness; ca—and; manéñiëäm—of the clever; yat—which; satyam—the real; anâtena—by the false; iha—in this life; martyena—by the mortal; âpnoti—obtains; mä—Me; amâtam—the immortal.

TRANSLATION

This process is the supreme intelligence of the intelligent and the cleverness of the most clever, for by following it one can in this very life make use of the temporary and unreal to achieve Me, the eternal reality.

PURPORT

As described in this chapter, one who desires personal prestige in the Lord's service cannot be considered intelligent and clever. Similarly, one who is anxious to become a sophisticated transcendental philosopher is not the most intelligent. Nor is one who is expert in accumulating money. The Lord here states that the most intelligent and clever person is the devotee who offers his temporary, illusory material body and possessions to Him with love and without personal motivation. The devotee thus obtains the eternal Absolute Truth. In other words, real intelligence is to actually surrender to Lord Kāñëa, without personal desire or duplicity. That is the Lord's opinion.

TEXT 23

WSa tae'iBaih"ta: k{(tµaAe
"aövaAd"sya s$alÿh":
s$amaAs$avyaAs$aivaiDanaA
de"vaAnaAmaipa äu"gARma:

*eña te 'bhihitaù kâtsno
brahma-vädasya saì grahaù
samäsa-vyäsa-vidhinä
devänäm api durgamaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

eñaù—this; te—unto you; abhihitaù—has been described; kâtsnaù—completely; brahma-vädasya—of the science of the Absolute Truth; saì grahaù—the survey; samäsa—in brief; vyäsa—in detail; vidhinä—by both means; devänäm—for the demigods; api—even; durgamaù—inaccessible.

TRANSLATION

Thus have I related to you—both in brief and in detail—a complete survey of the science of the Absolute Truth. Even for the demigods, this science is very difficult to comprehend.

PURPORT

The word devānām indicates those living beings in the mode of goodness (such as demigods, saints and pious philosophers) who nevertheless cannot understand the Absolute Truth because they lack full surrender to the Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 24

@BaI°NAzAstae gAid"taM ÁaAnaM ivas$paí"yauí·(mata, Wtaiã"ÁaAya maucyaeta
pauç&SaAe naí"s$aMzAya:

*abhékñēaças te gaditaà
jī ānaà vispañña-yuktimat
etat vijī āya mucyeta
puruño nañña-saàçayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

abhékñēaçaù—repeatedly; te—to you; gaditam—spoken;
jī ānam—knowledge; vispañña—clear; yukti—logical arguments;
mat—having; etat—this; vijī āya—properly understanding; mucyeta—will become liberated; puruñaù—a person; nañña—destroyed; saàçayaù—his doubts.

TRANSLATION

I have repeatedly spoken this knowledge to you with clear reasoning.
Anyone who properly understands it will become free from all doubts and attain liberation.

TEXT 25

s$auivaiva·M(tava ‘a´aM
mayaEtat"ipa DaAr"yaeta, s$anaAtanaM “aögAu÷M parM" “aöAiDagAcC$ita

*su-viviktaà tava praçnaà mayaitad api dhārayet
sanātanaà brahma-guhyāà
paraà brahmādhigacchati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sa-viviktam—clearly elucidated; tava—your; praçnam—question; mayä—by Me; etat—this; api—even; dhārayet—fixes his attention upon; sanātanam—eternal; brahma-guhyam—secret of the Vedas; param—supreme; brahma—the Absolute Truth; adhigacchati—he attains.

TRANSLATION

Anyone who fixes his attention on these clear answers to your questions will attain to the eternal, confidential goal of the Vedas—the Supreme Absolute Truth.

TEXT 26

ya Wtanmama Ba·e(Sau
s$am‘ad"âAts$aupauSk(lama, tasyaAhM" “aöd"Ayasya

d"d"AmyaAtmaAnamaAtmanaA

*ya etan mama bhakteñu sampradadyät su-puñkalam
tasyähaà brahma-däyasya
dadämy ätmānam ätmanä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

*yaù—*who; *etat—*this; *mama—*My; *bhakteñu—*among the devotees; *sampradadyät—*instructs; *su-puñkalam—*liberally; *tasya—*to him; aham—I; *brahma-däyasya—*to the person who is the bestower of knowledge of the Absolute; dadämi—I give; *ätmānam—*Myself; *ätmanä—*by Myself.

TRANSLATION

One who liberally disseminates this knowledge among My devotees is the bestower of the Absolute Truth, and to him I give My very own self.

TEXT 27

*ya Wtats$amaDalyalta
paivaḥaM par"maM zAuica
s$a paUyaetaAh"r"h"maA< ÁaAnad"lpaena d"zARyana,*

*ya etat samadhéyēta
pavitraà paramaà çuci
sa püyetähar ahar mää
ji äna-dépena darçayan*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

*yaù—*who; *etat—*this; *samadhéyēta—*recites loudly; *pavitrām—*the purifying agent; *paramam—*supreme; *çuci—*clear and transparent; *saù—*he; *püyeta—*becomes purified; *ahaù ahaù—*day after day; *mām—*Me;

jī āna-dēpena—with the lamp of knowledge; darçayan—exhibiting.

TRANSLATION

He who loudly recites this supreme knowledge, which is the most lucid and purifying, becomes purified day by day, for he reveals Me to others with the lamp of transcendental knowledge.

TEXT 28

ya WtacC)$Ü"yaA inatyama, @vyafa: Za{NAuyaA^aar": maiya Bai·M(par"AM ku(vaRna,
k(maRiBanaR s$a baDyatae

*ya etac chraddhayä nityam avyagraù çäëuyän naraù mayi bhaktià paräà kurvan
karmabhir na sa badhyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—who; etat—this; çraddhayä—with faith; nityam—regularly; avyagraù—free from distraction; çäëuyät—listens; naraù—a person; mayi—to Me; bhaktim—devotional service; paräm—transcendental; kurvan—performing; karmabhiù—by fruitive actions; na—not; saù—he; badhyate—becomes bound up.

TRANSLATION

Anyone who regularly listens to this knowledge with faith and attention, all the while engaging in My pure devotional service, will never become bound by the reactions of material work.

TEXT 29

@pyauÜ"va tvayaA "aö
s$akae s$amavaDaAir"tama, @ipa tae ivagAtaAe maAeh":
zAAek(êAs$aAE manaAeBava:

*apy uddhava tvayā brahma
sakhe samavadhāritam
api te vigato mohaù
çokaç cäsau mano-bhavaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

api—whether; uddhava—O Uddhava; tvayā—by you; brahma—spiritual knowledge; sakhe—O friend; samavadhāritam—sufficiently understood; api—whether; te—your; vigataù—is removed; mohaù—the illusion; çokaù—lamentation; ca—and; asau—this; manaù-bhavaù—born of your mind.

TRANSLATION

My dear friend Uddhava, have you now completely understood this transcendental knowledge? Are the confusion and lamentation that arose in your mind now dispelled?

PURPORT

Çré Uddhava had been bewildered by considering manifestations of Lord Kāñëa's own potency to be separate from Him. Uddhava's lamentation arose because he thought himself separated from Lord Kāñëa. Actually, Çré Uddhava is an eternally liberated soul, but the Lord placed him in bewilderment and lamentation so that this supreme knowledge of the Uddhava-géta could be spoken. Lord Kāñëa's question here indicates that if Uddhava had not perfectly understood this knowledge, Lord Kāñëa would have explained the same thing again. According to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Öhäkura, since Çré Uddhava is the intimate friend of Lord Kāñëa, the Lord's question here was in a friendly, playful spirit. The Lord was well aware of Uddhava's complete enlightenment in Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 30

naEtaÔvayaA d"AimBak(Aya
naAistak(Aya zAQ&Aya ca @zAu™aUSaAer"Ba·(Aya
äu"ivaRnaltaAya d"lyataAma,

*naitat tvayä dāmbhikāya
nāstikāya çāḥāya ca açuçrūñor abhaktāya
durvinētāya dēyatām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; etat—this; tvayä—by you; dāmbhikāya—to a hypocrite; nāstikāya—to an atheist; çāḥāya—to a cheat; ca—and; açuçrūñor—to one who does not listen with faith; abhaktāya—to a nondevotee; durvinētāya—to one who is not humbly submissive; dēyatām—should be given.

TRANSLATION

You should not share this instruction with anyone who is hypocritical, atheistic or dishonest, or with anyone who will not listen faithfully, who is not a devotee, or who is simply not humble.

TEXT 31

WtaEd"AeR$SaEivaRh"lnaAya “aöNyaAya i‘ayaAya ca
s$SaADavae zAucayae “aUyaÄä,”

Bai·(: syaAcC^$%"yaAeiSataAma,

*etair doñair vihenāya
brahmaëyāya priyāya ca
sādhave çucaye brüyād
bhaktiù syāc chüdra-yoñitām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etaiù—of these; doñaiù—faulty qualities; vihenāya—to the person who is devoid; brahmaëyāya—to one dedicated to the welfare of the brāhmaëas; priyāya—kindly disposed; ca—and; sādhave—saintly; çucaye—pure; brüyāt—one should speak; bhaktiù—devotion; syāt—if it is present; çüdra—of the common workers; yoñitām—and women.

TRANSLATION

This knowledge should be taught to one who is free from these bad qualities, who is dedicated to the welfare of the brāhmaëas, and who is kindly disposed, saintly and pure. And if common workers and women are found to have devotion for the Supreme Lord, they are also to be accepted as qualified hearers.

TEXT 32

naEtaiã"ÁaAya ijaÁaAs$aAer," ÁaAtavyamavaizASyatae
paltvaA palyaUSamama{taM
paAtavyaM naAvaizASyatae

*naitad vijī āya jījī āsor jī ātavyam avaçīṇyate
pétvā péyūñam amātaà
pātavyaà nāvaçīṇyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; etat—this; viji äya—fully understanding; jiji äsoù—of the inquisitive person; ji ätavyam—matter to be understood; avaçin̄yate—remains; pétvā—having drunk; péyüñam—palatable; amâtam—nectarean beverage; pätavyam—to be drunk; na—nothing; avaçin̄yate—remains.

TRANSLATION

When an inquisitive person comes to understand this knowledge, he has nothing further to know. After all, one who has drunk the most palatable nectar cannot remain thirsty.

TEXT 33

ÁaAnae k(maRiNA yaAegAe ca
vaAtaARyaAM d"Nx"DaAr"NAe yaAvaAnaTaAeR na{NAAM taAta taAvaAMstae'hM" catauivaRDa:

ji äne karmaëi yoge ca
värtäyää à daëòà-dhāraëe
yävān artho nãëää à tātā
tävääs te 'ha à catur-vidhaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ji äne—in the process of knowledge; karmaëi—in fruitive work; yoge—in mystic yoga; ca—and; värtäyām—in ordinary business; daëòà-dhāraëe—in political rule; yävān—whatever; arthau—accomplishment; nãëām—of men; tātā—My dear Uddhava; tävān—that much; te—to you; aham—I; catuù-vidhaù—fourfold (i.e., the fourfold goals of human life: religiosity, economic development, sense gratification and liberation).

TRANSLATION

Through analytic knowledge, ritualistic work, mystic yoga, mundane business and political rule, people seek to advance in religiosity, economic development, sense gratification and liberation. But because you are My devotee, whatever men can accomplish in these multifarious ways you will very easily find within Me.

PURPORT

Lord Kāñëa is the basis of all that exists, and one who takes exclusive shelter of the Lord never suffers any loss whatsoever for his intelligent decision to surrender to Kāñëa.

TEXT 34

matyAeR yad"A tya·(s$amastak(maAR inavaeid"taAtmaA ivaicak(LiSaRtaAe mae tad"Ama{tatvaM 'aitapaâmaAnaAe mayaAtmaBaUyaAya ca k(lpatae vaE

*martyo yadä tyakta-samasta-karmä niveditätmä vicikérñito me tadämâtatvaà pratipadyamäno
mayätma-bhüyäya ca kalpate vai*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

martyaù—a mortal; yadä—when; tyakta—having given up; samasta—all; karmä—his fruitive activities; nivedita-ätmä—having offered his very self; vicikérñitaù—desirous of doing something special; me—for Me; tadä—at that time; amâtatvam—immortality; pratipadyamänaù—in the process of attaining; mayä—with Me; ätma-bhüyäya—for equal opulence; ca—also; kalpate—he becomes qualified; vai—indeed.

TRANSLATION

A person who gives up all fruitive activities and offers himself entirely unto Me, eagerly desiring to render service unto Me, achieves liberation from birth and death and is promoted to the status of sharing My own opulences.

TEXT 35

™alzAuk(ovaAca
s$a WvamaAd"izARtayaAegAmaAgARs$a, tad"AeÔama:ëAek(vacaAe inazAmya baÜ"AÃaila: 'altyupaç&Ü"k(NQ&Ae na ik(iÂaäU"cae'™aupair"plautaA°a:

çré-çuka uvāca
sa evam ādarçita-yoga-mārgas
tadottamaùçloka-vaco niçamya baddhāi jaliù prēty-uparuddha-kaëöho na kii'cid üce 'çru-pariplutākñau

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çukaù uvāca—Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; saù—he (Uddhava); evam—thus; ādarçita—shown; yoga-mārgaù—the path of yoga; tadā—then; uttamaù-çloka—of Lord Çré Kāñëa; vacaù—the words; niçamya—having heard; baddha-ai'jaliù—with hands folded in prayer; prēti—out of love; uparuddha—choked; kaëöhaù—his throat; na kii'cit—nothing; üce—he said; açru—with tears; paripluta—overflowing; akñau—his eyes.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Hearing these words spoken by Lord Kāñëa, and having thus been shown the entire path of yoga, Uddhava folded his hands to offer obeisances. But his throat choked up with love and his eyes overflowed with tears; so he could say nothing.

TEXT 36

ivaí"Bya icaÔaM 'aNayaAvaGaUNA< DaEyaerNA r"Ajana, baò"manyamaAna:
k{(taAÃaila: 'aAh" yaäu""avalrM"
zAISNAAR s$pa{zAMsta»ar"NAAr"ivand"ma,

*viñõabhya cittaà praëayävaghürëaà
dhairyeëa rājan bahu-manyamānaù kâtäi jaliù prāha yadu-pravéraà çérñëä spāçaàs tac-caraëäravindam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

viñõabhya—restraining; cittam—his mind; praëaya—with love;
avaghürëam—completely agitated; dhairyeëa—with steadfastness; rājan—O King; bahu-manyamānaù—feeling grateful; kāta-ai jaliù—his hands folded;
prāha—he spoke; yadu-pravéram—to the greatest hero of the Yadus;
çérñëä—with his head; spācan—touching; tat—His;
caraëa-aravindam—lotus feet.

TRANSLATION

Steadying his mind, which had become overwhelmed with love, Uddhava felt extremely grateful to Lord Kāñëa, the greatest hero of the Yadu dynasty. My dear King Parëkñit, Uddhava bowed down to touch the Lord's lotus feet with his head and then spoke with folded hands.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Jéva Gosvämé, the fear of separation from Lord Kāñëa was continually entering the mind of Çré Uddhava, and thus he tried to maintain his enthusiasm by remembering the Lord's great kindness upon him. He steadied his mind with feelings of gratitude toward the Lord.

TEXT 37

™aloÜ"va ovaAca
iva%"AivataAe maAeh"mah"AnDak(Ar"Ae ya @Ai™ataAe mae tava s$aiªaDaAnaAta, ivaBaAvas$aAe: ikM(nau s$amalpagAsya zAltaM tamaAe Bal: 'aBavantyajaAâ

*çré-uddhava uvāca
vidrāvito moha-mahāndhakāro
ya ācṛito me tava sannidhānāt vibhāvasoḥ kiṁ nu samēpa-gasya
çētaṁ tamo bhēu prabhavanti ajādyā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-uddhavaḥ uvāca—Çré Uddhava said; vidrāvitaḥ—is driven away; moha—of delusion; mahā-andhakāraḥ—the great darkness; yaḥ—which; ācṛitaḥ—was taken shelter of; me—by me; tava—Your; sannidhānāt—by the presence; vibhāvasoḥ—of the sun; kim—what; nu—indeed; samēpa-gasya—for one who has come into the proximity; çētam—cold; tamaḥ—darkness; bhēu—fear; prabhavanti—have power; aja—O unborn; adya—O primeval Lord.

TRANSLATION

Çré Uddhava said: O unborn, primeval Lord, although I had fallen into the great darkness of illusion, my ignorance has now been dispelled by Your merciful association. Indeed, how can cold, darkness and fear exert their power over one who has approached the brilliant sun?

PURPORT

Although Çré Uddhava feared separation from the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Kâñëa, he now understands that in a fundamental sense the Lord is everything. Kâñëa consciousness can never be threatened or diminished for one who has taken full shelter of the lotus feet of the Lord.

TEXT 38

‘atyaipaRtaAe mae BavataAnauk(impanaA Ba{tyaAya ivaÁaAnamaya: ‘ad"lpa:
ih"tvaA k{(taÁastava paAd"maUlaM
k(Ae'nyaM s$amalyaAcC$r"NAM tvad"lyama,

*pratyarpito me bhavatānukampinā
bhātyāya vijī āna-mayaù pradēpaù hitvā kâta-jī as tava pāda-mūlaà
ko 'nyaà saméyāc charaëaà tvadéyam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pratyarpitaù—offered in return; me—to me; bhavatā—by Your good self; anukampinā—who is merciful; bhātyāya—to Your servant; vijī āna-mayaù—of transcendental knowledge; pradēpaù—the torchlight; hitvā—giving up; kâta-jī aù—who is grateful; tava—Your; pāda-mūlam—the sole of the lotus feet; kaù—who; anyam—to another; saméyāt—can go; çaraëam—for shelter; tvadéyam—Your.

TRANSLATION

In return for my insignificant surrender, You have mercifully bestowed upon me, Your servant, the torchlight of transcendental knowledge. Therefore, what devotee of Yours who has any gratitude could ever give up Your lotus feet and take shelter of another master?

TEXT 39

va{fNAê mae s$auä{"X#: µaeh"paAzAAe
d"AzAAhR"va{SNyanDak(s$aAtvataeSau
'as$aAir"ta: s$a{î"ivava{Ü"yae tvayaA svamaAyayaA ÷Atmas$aubaAeDahe"itanaA

*vâkëaça me su-dâôhaù sneha-päço däçarha-vânëy-andhaka-sätvateñu prasäritaù sâñöi-vivâddhaye tvayä
sva-mäyayä hy ätma-subodha-hetinä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vâkëaù—cut off; ca—and; me—my; su-dâôhaù—very firm;
sneha-päçaù—binding rope of affection;
däçarha-vânëi-andhaka-sätvateñu—for the Däçarhas, Vâñëis, Andhakas and Sätvatas; prasäritaù—cast; sâñöi—of Your creation; vivâddhaye—for the increase; tvayä—by You; sva-mäyayä—through Your illusory energy;
hi—indeed; ätma—of the soul; su-bodha—of proper knowledge; hetinä—by the sword.

TRANSLATION

The firmly binding rope of my affection for the families of the Däçarhas, Vâñëis, Andhakas and Sätvatas—a rope You originally cast over me by Your illusory energy for the purpose of developing Your creation—is now cut off by the weapon of transcendental knowledge of the self.

PURPORT

Although the members of the families mentioned in this verse are eternal associates of Lord Kâñëa and thus proper objects of affection, Çré Uddhava had regarded them as his personal relatives rather than simply as pure devotees of the Lord. Influenced by the Lord's illusory potency, Uddhava had desired the prosperity and victory of these dynasties. But now, by hearing Lord Kâñëa's instructions, he has again fixed his mind exclusively upon Lord Kâñëa, and thus he regards his so-called family members without any mundane conception—as eternal servants of the Lord.

TEXT 40

namaAe'stau tae mah"AyaAeigAna,
'apa^aamanauzAAiDa maAma,
yaTaA tva»ar"NAAmBaAejae
r"ita: syaAd"napaAiyanal

*namo 'stu te mahā-yogin prapannam anuṣādhi mām
yathā tvac-caraëāmbhoje
ratiù syād anapāyinē*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

namaù astu—let me offer my obeisances; te—unto You; mahā-yogin—O greatest of mystics; prapannam—who am surrendered; anuṣādhi—please instruct; mām—me; yathā—how; tvat—Your; caraëa-ambhoje—at the lotus feet; ratiù—transcendental attraction; syāt—may be; anapāyinē—undeviating.

TRANSLATION

Obeisances unto You, O greatest of yogés. Please instruct me, who am surrendered unto You, how I may have undeviating attachment to Your lotus feet.

TEXTS 41-44

TMaIBagAvaAnauvaAca
gAcC$AeÜ"va mayaAid"i"Ae bad"yaARKyaM mamaATMamama, taṭa matpaAd"taITaAeR$de"

µaAnaAepas$ pazAR$naE: zAuica:

wR°ayaAlak(nand"AyaA ivaDaUtaAzAeSak(lmaSa:
vas$aAnaAe valk(laAnyāËÿ
vanyaBaufs$auKaina:s$pa{h":

itaita°auãR"nã"maA‡aANAAM
s$auzAlla: s$aMyataein%o"ya:
zAAnta: s$amaAih"taiDayaA ÁaAnaivaÁaAnas$aMyauta:

maÔaAe'nauizAi°ataM yaÔae ivaiva·(manauBaAvayana, mayyaAvaeizAtavaAifcaÔaAe
maÜ"maRinar"taAe Bava @ita~ajya gAtalista˘aAe
maAmaeSyais$a tata: par"ma,

*çré-bhagavān uvāca
gacchoddhava mayādīñōo
badary-ākhyāà mamāçramam
tatra mat-pāda-térthode
snānopasparçanaiù çuciù*

*ékñayālananandāyā
vidhütāçeña-kalmañaù
vasāno valkalāny aì ga
vanya-bhuk sukha-niùspāhaù*

*titikñur dvandva-mātrāëäà suçēlaù saàyatendriyaù
çāntaù samāhita-dhiyā
jī āna-vijī āna-saàyutaù*

matto 'nuçikñitaà yat te viviktam anubhāvayan

mayy äveçita-väk-citto
mad-dharma-nirato bhava
ativrajya gatés tisro
mäm eñyasi tataù param

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; gaccha—please go; uddhava—O Uddhava; mayä—by Me; ädiññau—ordered; badarë-äkhyam—named Badarikä; mama—My; äçramam—to the hermitage; tatra—there; mat-päda—emanating from My feet; tértha—of the holy places; ude—in the water; snäna—by bathing; upasparçanaiù—and by touching for purification; çuciù—cleansed; ékñayä—by glancing; alakanandäyäu—upon the river Gaì gä; vidhüta—cleansed; açeña—of all; kalmañaù—sinful reactions; vasänaù—wearing; valkaläni—bark; aì ga—My dear Uddhava; vanya—fruits, nuts, roots, etc., of the forest; bhuk—eating; sukha—happy; niùspähaù—and free from desire; titikñuù—tolerant; dvandva-mätrëäm—of all dualities; su-çëlaù—exhibiting saintly character; saàyata-indriyaù—with controlled senses; çäntaù—peaceful; samähita—perfectly concentrated; dhiyä—with intelligence; jì äna—with knowledge; vijì äna—and realization; saàyutaù—endowed; mattaù—from Me; anuçikñitam—learned; yat—that which; te—by you; viviktam—ascertained with discrimination; anubhävayan—thoroughly meditating upon; mayi—in Me; äveçita—absorbed; väk—your words; cittaù—and mind; mat-dharma—My transcendental qualities; nirataù—constantly endeavoring to realize; bhava—be thus situated; ativrajya—crossing beyond; gateù—the destinations of material nature; tisraù—three; mäm—unto Me; eñyasi—you will come; tataù param—thereafter.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, take My order and go to My äçrama called Badarikä. Purify yourself by both touching and also bathing in the holy waters there, which have emanated from My lotus feet. Rid yourself of all sinful reactions with the sight of the sacred Alakanandä River. Dress yourself in bark and eat whatever is naturally available in the forest. Thus you should remain content and free from desire, tolerant of all dualities, good-natured, self-controlled, peaceful and endowed with transcendental knowledge and realization. With fixed attention, meditate constantly upon these instructions I have imparted to you and assimilate their essence. Fix your words and thoughts upon Me, and always endeavor to increase your realization of My transcendental qualities. In this way you will cross beyond the destinations of the three modes of nature and finally come back to Me.

TEXT 45

™alZauk(ovaAca
 s$a Wvamau·(Ae h"ir"maeDas$aAeÜ"va:
 'ad"i°aNAM taM pair"s$a{tya paAd"yaAe:
 izAr"Ae inaDaAyaA™auk(laAiBar"A%oR"Dalr," nyaiSaÂad"ã"nã"par"Ae'pyapa,(mae

çré-çuka uvāca
sa evam ukto hari-medhasoddhavaù pradakñiëaà taà parisātya pādayoù çiro nidhāyāçru-kalābhir ārdra-dhēr nyañii' cat advandva-paro 'py apakrame

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çukaù uvāca—Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; saù—he; evam—thus; uktaù—addressed; hari-medhasā—by the Supreme Lord, whose intelligence takes away the misery of material life; uddhavaù—Uddhava; pradakñiëam—facing with his right side; tam—Him; parisātya—circumambulating; pādayoù—at the two feet; çiraù—his head; nidhāya—placing; açru-kalābhiù—with the teardrops; ārdra—melted; dheù—whose heart; nyañii' cat—he drenched; advandva-paraù—uninvolved in material dualities; api—although; apakrame—at the time of leaving.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Thus addressed by Lord Kåñëa, whose intelligence destroys all the suffering of material life, Çré Uddhava circumambulated the Lord and then fell down, placing his head upon the Lord's feet. Although Uddhava was free from the influence of all material dualities, his heart was breaking, and at this time of departure he drenched the Lord's lotus feet with his tears.

TEXT 46

s$auäu"styajapaeh"ivayaAegAk(Atar"Ae na zA;u(vaMstaM pair"h"AtaumaAtaur":
k{(cC)M$ yayaAE maUDaRina Bata{RpaAäu"ke( iba"aamas$k{(tya yayaAE pauna: pauna:

su-dustyaja-sneha-viyoga-kätaro
na çaknuvaàs taà parihätum äturaù kâcchraà yayau mürdhani bhartâ-päduke bibhran namaskâtya yayau punaù punaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

su-dustyaja—impossible to give up; sneha—(from Him) in whom he had reposed such affection; viyoga—because of separation; kätaraù—beside himself; na çaknuvan—being incapable; tam—Him; parihätum—to abandon; äturaù—overwhelmed; kâcchram yayau—he experienced great pain; mürdhani—upon his head; bhartâ—of his master; päduke—the slippers; bibhran—carrying; namaskâtya—bowing down to offer obeisances; yayau—he went away; punaù punaù—again and again.

TRANSLATION

Greatly fearing separation from Him for whom he felt such indestructible affection, Uddhava was distraught, and he could not give up the Lord's company. Finally, feeling great pain, he bowed down to the Lord again and again, placed the slippers of his master upon his head, and departed.

PURPORT

According to the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (3.4.5), while Uddhava was enroute to Badarikāçrama he heard about the Lord's journey to Prabhāsa. Turning back and following Lord Kāñëa from behind, he saw the Lord alone just after the withdrawal of the Yadu dynasty. After being again mercifully instructed by the Personality of Godhead (along with Maitreya, who had just arrived), Uddhava felt his knowledge of the truth reawaken, and then, by the order of the Lord, he went on his way.

TEXT 47

tatastamantaôR$id" s$ai^aavaezya gAtaAe mah"ABaAgAvataAe ivazAAlaAma, yaTaAepaid"í"AM jagAde"k(banDaunaA
tapa: s$amaAsTaAya h"re"r"gAAÕ"itama,

*tatas tam antar hâdi sanniveçya
gato mahâ-bhāgavato viçālām yathopadiññā jagad-eka-bandhunā
tapaù samāsthāya harer agād gatim*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataù—then; tam—Him; antaù—within; hâdi—his mind; sanniveçya—placing; gataù—going; mahâ-bhāgavataù—the great devotee; viçālām—to Badarikāçrama; yathâ—as; upadiññām—described; jagat—of the universe; eka—by the only; bandhunā—friend; tapaù—austerities; samāsthāya—properly executing; hareù—of the Supreme Lord; agât—he attained; gatim—the destination.

TRANSLATION

Thereupon, placing the Lord deeply within his heart, the great devotee Uddhava went to Badarikāçrama. By engaging there in austerities, he attained to the Lord's personal abode, which had been described to him by the only friend of the universe, Lord Kāñëa Himself.

PURPORT

Çré Uddhava returned to Dvārakā in the spiritual sky, according to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura.

TEXT 48

ya Wtad"Anand"s$amau"%o"s$amBa{taM
ÁaAnaAma{taM BaAgAvataAya BaAiSatama, k{(SNAena yaAegAeir"s$aeivataAx.~i,,aNAA
s$acC)$Ü"yaAs$aevyā jagAiā"maucyatae

*ya etad ānanda-samudra-sambhātaḥ ji' ānāmātaḥ bhāgavatāya bhāñitam kāñëena yogeçvara-sevitāi ghriëā
sac-çraddhayāsevyā jagat vimucyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—anyone who; etat—this; ānanda—of ecstasy; samudra—ocean; sambhātam—collected; ji' āna—of knowledge; amātam—the nectar; bhāgavatāya—to His devotee; bhāñitam—spoken; kāñëena—by Kāñëa; yoga-éçvara—by the masters of yoga; sevita—served; aì ghriëā—whose lotus feet; sat—true; çraddhayā—with faith; āsevyā—rendering service; jagat—the whole world; vimucyate—becomes liberated.

TRANSLATION

Thus Lord Kāñëa, whose lotus feet are served by all great yoga masters, spoke to His devotee this nectarean knowledge, which comprises the entire ocean of spiritual bliss. Anyone within this universe who receives this narration with great faith is assured of liberation.

TEXT 49

BavaBayamapah"ntauM ÁaAnaivaÁaAnas$ArM" inagAmak{(äu"pajacœe" Ba{"Ëÿvaãe"d"s$Ar"ma, @ma{tamaud"iDataêApaAyayaà{"tyavagAARna, pauç&Sama{SaBamaAâM k{(SNAs$aMÁaM nataAe'isma

bhava-bhayam apahantuà jì äna-vijì äna-säraà nigama-kâd upajahre bhâi ga-vad veda-säram amâtam udadhitaç cäpäyayad bhâtya-vargän puruñam âñabham ädyaà kâñëa-saàjì aà nato 'smi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhava—of material life; bhayam—the fear; apahantum—in order to take away; jì äna-vijì äna—of knowledge and self-realization; säram—the essence; nigama—of the Vedas; kât—the author; upajahre—delivered; bhâi ga-vat—like a bee; veda-säram—the essential meaning of the Vedas; amâtam—the nectar; udadhitaù—from the ocean; ca—and; apäyayat—made to drink; bhâtya-vargän—His many devotees; puruñam—to the Supreme Personality of Godhead; âñabham—the greatest; ädya—the first of all beings; kâñëa-saàjì am—named Lord Kāñëa; nataù—bowed down; asmi—I am.

TRANSLATION

I offer my obeisances to that Supreme Personality of Godhead, the original and greatest of all beings, Lord Çré Kāñëa. He is the author of the Vedas, and just to destroy His devotees' fear of material existence, like a bee He has collected this nectarean essence of all knowledge and self-realization.

Thus He has awarded to His many devotees this nectar from the ocean of bliss, and by His mercy they have drunk it.

PURPORT

Just as a bee extracts nectar from a flower without harming the flower, Lord Çré Kāñëa extracts the essence of all Vedic knowledge without disturbing the elaborate system of Vedic advancement. In other words, Lord Çré Kāñëa establishes Himself as the goal of Vedic knowledge without destroying preliminary, inferior processes that may be applicable to grossly materialistic men. Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé thus concludes by offering his obeisances to the spiritual master of the entire universe, Lord Çré Kāñëa.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Twenty-ninth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Bhakti-yoga."

30. The Disappearance of the Yadu Dynasty

This chapter discusses the destruction of the Yadu dynasty in connection with the winding up of the pastimes of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

After Çré Uddhava left for Badarikāçrama, Lord Çré Kāñëa, taking note of many bad omens, advised the Yādavas to abandon Dvārakā and go to Prabhāsa, on the bank of the Sarasvaté, to perform svasty-ayana and other rituals for counteracting bad fortune. They followed His advice and went to Prabhāsa. There they became absorbed in festivity, and by the illusory power of Lord Kāñëa they became intoxicated from drinking liquor. Thus losing their intelligence, they quarreled among themselves and began killing one another, until not a man was left alive.

Afterward, Çré Baladeva went to the shore of the ocean and by the mystic strength of yoga gave up His body. Seeing the disappearance of Baladeva, Lord Çré Kâñëa sat down silently upon the ground. Then a hunter named Jarä, mistaking the sole of the Lord's left foot for a deer, pierced it with an arrow. The hunter immediately understood his mistake and, falling at the feet of Lord Çré Kâñëa, begged to be punished. In reply Lord Kâñëa told the hunter that what he had done was actually according to His own desire. The Lord then sent the hunter to Vaikuëöha.

When Däruka, Kâñëa's charioteer, arrived on the scene and saw Lord Kâñëa in that condition, he began to lament. Kâñëa told him that he should go to Dvārakä, inform the residents about the annihilation of the Yadu dynasty, and advise them all to leave Dvārakä for Indraprastha. Däruka obediently carried out this order.

TEXT 1

™alr"AjaAevaAca
tataAe mah"ABaAgAvata
oÜ"vae inagARtae vanama, ã"Ar"vatyaAM ik(mak(r"Aeä," BagAvaAna, BaUtaBaAvana:

çré-räjoväca
tato mahä-bhägavata
uddhave nirgate vanam
dväravatyäà kim akarod
bhagavän bhüta-bhävanaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-räjä uväca—the king said; tataù—then; mahä-bhägavate—the great devotee; uddhave—Uddhava; nirgate—when he had gone; vanam—to the forest; dväravatyäm—in Dvārakä; kim—what; akarot—did; bhagavän—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; bhüta—of all living beings;

bhavanaù—the protector.

TRANSLATION

King Parékñit said: After the great devotee Uddhava left for the forest, what did the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the protector of all living beings, do in the city of Dvārakā?

PURPORT

Parékñit Mahārāja now inquires from Çukadeva Gosvāmé about the topic of Chapter One of this canto, namely the annihilation of the Yadu dynasty and Lord Kāñëa's return to the spiritual sky. Because Lord Kāñëa was playing the part of an ordinary member of the Yadu dynasty, He appeared to react to the curse of the brähmaëas by giving up His earthly pastimes. Lord Kāñëa cannot actually be cursed by anyone. Nārada Muni and the other sages who cursed the Yadu dynasty are eternal devotees of Lord Kāñëa and could hardly curse Him. Therefore, in giving up His pastimes and leaving the earth with the Yadu dynasty, Lord Kāñëa demonstrated His internal potency and personal will, since no one can challenge the supreme potency of the Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 2

“aözAApaAepas$aMs$a{ie"
svaku(lae yaAd"vaSaRBa:
'aeyas$aI%M s$avaR"naeḥaANAAM tanauM s$a k(Tamatyajata,

*brahma-çäpopasaàsäñöe
sva-kule yädavarñabhau
preyaséà sarva-neträëää
tanuà sa katham atyajat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brahma-çäpa—by the curse of the brähmaëas; upasaàsäñõe—having been destroyed; sva-kule—His own family; yädava-ânabhaù—the chief of the Yadus; preyasém—most dear; sarva-neträëäm—to all eyes; tanum—the body; saù—He; katham—how; atyajat—gave up.

TRANSLATION

After His own dynasty met destruction from the curse of the brähmaëas, how could the best of the Yadus give up His body, the dearest object of all eyes?

PURPORT

In relation to this verse, Çréla Jéva Gosvämé explains that the Personality of Godhead never gives up His spiritual body, which is eternal, full of bliss and knowledge. The word katham therefore indicates "How is it possible?", meaning it is not actually possible for Lord Kânëa to give up His eternal form, which is preyaséà sarva-neträëäm, the most attractive object of pleasure for the eyes and all other senses.

TEXT 3

‘atyaA,(í]M" nayanamabalaA yaṭa laçaM na zAeku(:
k(NAARivaíM" na s$ar"ita tataAe yats$ataAmaAtmalaçama, yacC)$IvaARcaAM janayaita r"itaM ikM(nau maAnaM k(valnaAM
ä{"î"A ijaSNAAeyauRiDa r"TagAtaM ya»a tats$aAmyamalyau:

pratyäkraññouà nayanam abalä yatra lagnaà na çekuù
karëäviññaà na sarati tato yat satäm ätma-lagnam yac-chrér vácäà janayati ratià kià nu mänaà kavénäà
dãñvã jiñëor yudhi ratha-gataà yac ca tat-sämyam éyuù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pratyākraññum—to withdraw; nayanam—their eyes; abalāu—the women; yatra—in which; lagnam—attached; na çekuù—were not able; karëa—the ears; äviññam—having entered; na sarati—would not leave; tatau—thence; yat—which; satām—of the sages; ātma—in their hearts; lagnam—attached; yat—of which; çrëu—the beauty; vācām—of the words; janayati—generates; ratim—special pleasurable attraction; kim nu—what to speak of; mānam—the reputation; kavēnām—of the poets; dāññvā—seeing; jññëou—of Arjuna; yudhi—on the battlefield; ratha-gatam—on the chariot; yat—which; ca—and; tat-sāmyam—an equal status with Him; ëyuù—they attained.

TRANSLATION

Once their eyes were fixed upon His transcendental form, women were unable to withdraw them, and once that form had entered the ears of the sages and become fixed in their hearts, it would never depart. What to speak of acquiring fame, the great poets who described the beauty of the Lord's form would have their words invested with transcendently pleasing attraction. And by seeing that form on Arjuna's chariot, all the warriors on the battlefield of Kurukñetra attained the liberation of gaining a spiritual body similar to the Lord's.

PURPORT

Transcendental, liberated personalities such as the gopés of Vāndāvana and Rukmiëë, the original goddess of fortune, were constantly meditating on the Lord's spiritual body. Great liberated sages (satām), having heard about Lord Kāñëa's body, could not take it out of their hearts. The Lord's bodily beauty expanded the love and poetic output of great liberated poets, and simply by seeing Lord Kāñëa's body, the warriors at Kurukñetra achieved spiritual liberation with an eternal body similar to the Lord's. Therefore it is impossible to imagine Lord Kāñëa's eternal form of bliss to be in any way material. Those who imagine that Lord Kāñëa gave up His eternal form are certainly bewildered by the Lord's illusory energy.

TEXT 4

™al [%iSaç&vaAca
id"iva Bauvyantair"°ae ca
mah"AetpaAtaAna, s$amauiTataAna, ä{"î"As$alnaAna, s$auDamaARyaAM
k{(SNA: 'aAh" yaäU" inad"ma,

çré āñir uvāca
divi bhuvy antarikñe ca
mahotpātān samutthitān
dāñōvāsēnān su-dharmāyāā
kāñëaù prāha yadūn idam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-āñiù uvāca—the sage (Çukadeva Gosvāmē) said; divi—in the sky; bhuvi—on the earth; antarikñe—in outer space; ca—and; mahā-utpātān—great disturbances; samutthitān—which had appeared; dāñōvā—seeing; āsēnān—who were seated; su-dharmāyām—in the legislative assembly called the Sudharmā; kāñëaù—Lord Kāñëa; prāha—spoke; yadūn—to the Yadus; idam—this.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmē said: Having observed many disturbing signs in the sky, on the earth and in outer space, Lord Kāñëa addressed the Yadus assembled in the Sudharmā council hall as follows.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmē, the inauspicious sign in the sky was the appearance of a halo around the sun, on the earth there were small earthquakes, and in outer space there was an unnatural redness on the horizon. These and other, similar omens were impossible to counteract, because they were personally arranged by Lord Kāṇhā.

TEXT 5

™aIBagAvaAnauvaAca
Wtae GaAer"A mah"AetpaAtaA ã"AvaRtyaAM yamake(tava:
mauó"taRmaipa na sTaeyama, @ṭa naAe yaäu"pauĒyvaA:

*çré-bhagavān uvāca
ete ghorā mahotpātā
dvārvatyāḥ yama-ketavaḥ
muhūrtam api na stheyam
atra no yadu-puṁsāvah*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; ete—these; ghorāḥ—fearful; mahā—great; utpātāḥ—inauspicious omens; dvārvatyām—in Dvārakā; yama—of the king of death; ketavaḥ—the flags; muhūrtam—a moment; api—even; na stheyam—should not remain; atra—here; naḥ—we; yadu-puṁsāvah—O best of the Yadus.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O leaders of the Yadu dynasty, please note all these terrible omens that have appeared in Dvārakā just like the flags of death. We should not remain here a moment longer.

PURPORT

Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura has given a great amount of evidence from the Vedic literatures proving that the humanlike form of the Personality of Godhead and His holy name, abode, paraphernalia and associates are all eternal, spiritual manifestations without any tinge of material contamination. (See Appendix). In this regard the äcärya has further explained that because the living entities must suffer the reactions to their sinful activities, the Lord arranges for them to be punished during the Kali-yuga. In other words, it is not Lord Kåñëa's desire that conditioned souls be sinful and suffer, but since they are already sinful, the Lord creates an appropriate age during which they can experience the bitter fruits of irreligiosity.

Since Lord Kåñëa personally establishes religious principles in His various appearances in this material world, at the end of Dväpara-yuga religion on the earth was overwhelmingly powerful. All the significant demons had been killed; the great sages, saints and devotees had been greatly encouraged, enlightened and fortified; and there was little scope for irreligion. Had Lord Kåñëa ascended to the spiritual sky in His spiritual body before the eyes of the world, it would have been very difficult for Kali-yuga to flourish. Lord Kåñëa left the world in exactly that way during His appearance as Rāmacandra, and hundreds of thousands of years later, hundreds of millions of pious persons still discuss this wonderful pastime of the Lord. To pave the way for Kali-yuga, however, Lord Kåñëa left this world in a way that puzzles those who are not His staunch devotees.

The eternal form of the Lord is described throughout Vedic literature, and His eternal form constitutes the highest understanding of the Absolute Truth according to all great äcäryas, including Çai karäcärya and Caitanya Mahäprabhu. Yet although Lord Kåñëa's eternal, spiritual form is a realized fact for advanced devotees, for those who are weak in Kåñëa consciousness the inconceivable pastimes and plan of the Lord are sometimes hard to appreciate properly.

TEXT 6

iñyaAe baAlaAê va{Ü"Aê

zAÊÿAeÜ"ArM" ~ajaintvata:
vayaM 'aBaAs$aM yaAsyaAmaAe
yaṭa 'atyafs$ar"svatal

*striyo bäläç ca vâddhäç ca
çaì khoddhâraà vrajantv itaù vayaà prabhâsaà yäsyâmo
yatra pratyak sarasvatê*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

striyaù—the women; bäläù—children; ca—and; vâddhäù—old men;
ca—and; çaì kha-uddhâram—to the holy place called Çai khoddhâra (about halfway between Dvârakâ and Prabhâsa); vrajantu—they should go;
itaù—from here; vayam—we; prabhâsam—to Prabhâsa; yäsyâmaù—shall go;
yatra—where; pratyak—flowing west; sarasvatê—the river Sarasvaté

TRANSLATION

The women, children and old men should leave this city and go to Çai khoddhâra. We shall go to Prabhâsa-kñetra, where the river Sarasvaté flows toward the west.

PURPORT

The word vayam here refers to the able-bodied male members of the Yadu dynasty.

TEXT 7

taṭaAiBaiSacya zAucaya
opaAeSya s$aus$amaAih"taA:
de"vataA: paUjaiyaSyaAma:
µapanaAlaepanaAhR"NAE:

tatrâbhiñicya çucaya

upoñya su-samāhitāu
devatāu pūjayiñyāmau
snapanālepanārhaëaiu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tatra—there; abhiñicya—taking bath; çucayaù—cleansed; upoñya—fasting; su-samāhitāu—fixing our minds; devatāu—the demigods; pūjayiñyāmau—we shall worship; snapana—by bathing; ālepana—smearing with sandalwood; arhaëaiu—and by various offerings.

TRANSLATION

There we should bathe for purification, fast, and fix our minds in meditation. We should then worship the demigods by bathing their images, anointing them with sandalwood pulp, and presenting them various offerings.

TEXT 8

“aAöNAAMstau mah"ABaAgAAna,
k{(tasvastyayanaA vayama, gAAeBaUih"r"NyavaAs$aAeiBar," gAjaAìr"TavaezmaiBa:

brāhmaëä̀s tu mahā-bhāgān
kāta-svastyayanā vayam
go-bhū-hiraëya-vāsobhir
gajāçva-ratha-veçmabhiu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brāhmaëän—the brāhmaëas; tu—and; mahā-bhāgān—greatly fortunate; kāta—having performed; svasti-ayanāu—the ceremonies for good fortune; vayam—we; go—with cows; bhū—land; hiraëya—gold; vāsobhiu—and clothing; gaja—with elephants; açva—horses; ratha—chariots;

veçmabhiù—and houses.

TRANSLATION

After performing the expiatory rituals with the help of greatly fortunate brāhmaëas, we will worship those brāhmaëas by offering them cows, land, gold, clothing, elephants, horses, chariots and dwelling places.

TEXT 9

ivaiDare"Sa ÷ir"í"£aAe maËÿlaAyanamauÔamama,
de"vaiã"jagAvaAM paUjaA BaUtaeSau par"maAe Bava:

*vidhir eña hy ariñña-ghno
maì galāyanam uttamam
deva-dvija-gavāṇ pūjā
bhūteñu paramo bhavaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vidhiù—the prescribed process; eñaù—this; hi—indeed; ariñña—inauspicious obstacles; ghnaù—which destroys; maì gala-ayanam—which brings good fortune; uttamam—the best; deva—of the demigods; dvija—brāhmaëas; gavām—and cows; pūjā—worship; bhūteñu—among living beings; paramaù—excellent; bhavaù—rebirth.

TRANSLATION

This is indeed the appropriate process for counteracting our imminent adversity, and it is sure to bring about the highest good fortune. Such worship of the demigods, brāhmaëas and cows can earn the highest birth for all living entities.

TEXT 10

wita s$avaeR s$amaAk(NyaR yaäu"va{Ü"A maDaiã"Sa:
taTaeita naAEiBaç&ÔalyaR
'aBaAs$aM 'ayayaU r"TaE:

*iti sarve samākarēya
yadu-vāddhā madhu-dvīṇaù
tatheti naubhir uttērya
prabhāsaà prayayü rathaiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; sarve—all of them; samākarēya—hearing; yadu-vāddhā—the elders of the Yadu dynasty; madhu-dvīṇaù—from Lord Kāṇḍa, the enemy of the demon Madhu; tathā—so be it; iti—thus saying; naubhiù—by boats; uttērya—crossing over (the ocean); prabhāsam—to Prabhāsa; prayayü—they went; rathaiù—in chariots.

TRANSLATION

Having heard these words from Lord Kāṇḍa, the enemy of Madhu, the elders of the Yadu dynasty gave their assent, saying, "So be it." After crossing over the ocean in boats, they proceeded on chariots to Prabhāsa.

TEXT 11

taismāna, BagAvataAid"íM"
yaäu"de"vaena yaAd"vaA:
ca,u(: par"mayaA BaftyaA
s$avaR™aeyaAepaba{Mih"tama,

*tasmin bhagavatādiṇḍaà
yadu-devena yādavāù
cakruù paramayā bhaktyā*

sarva-çreyopabâḥitam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmin—there; bhagavatā—by the Supreme Personality of Godhead; ādiññam—what was instructed; yadu-devena—by the Lord of the Yadus; yādavāu—the Yadus; cakruḥ—performed; paramayā—with transcendental; bhaktyā—devotion; sarva—all; çreyaḥ—with auspicious rituals; upabâḥitam—enriched.

TRANSLATION

There, with great devotion, the Yādavas performed the religious ceremonies according to the instructions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, their personal Lord. They also performed various other auspicious rituals.

TEXT 12

tatastaismān mahā-apa-ana-m papaumaE= ("re"yakM(maDau
id"i"iva"amizAtaiDayaAe
yaU"vaE"arZyatae maita:

tatas tasmin mahā-pānaḥ
papur maireyakaḥ madhu
diñña-vibhraḥṇita-dhiyo
yad-dravair bhraṇyate matiḥ

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataḥ—then; tasmin—there; mahā—a large amount; pānam—drink; papuḥ—they drank; maireyakam—called maireya; madhu—sweet-tasting; diñña—by destiny; vibhraḥṇita—having lost; dhiyaḥ—their intelligence; yad—of which beverage; dravaiḥ—by the liquid ingredients; bhraṇyate—is disrupted; matiù—the mind.

TRANSLATION

Then, their intelligence covered by Providence, they liberally indulged in drinking the sweet maireya beverage, which can completely intoxicate the mind.

PURPORT

The word diñña here indicates the desire of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. In the first chapter of this Canto, "The Curse Upon the Yadu Dynasty," this incident is elaborately explained.

TEXT 13

mah"ApaAnaAiBamaÔaAnaAM valr"ANAAM ä{"æacaetas$aAma,
k{(SNamaAyaAivamaUX#AnaAM
s$alÿSaR: s$aumah"AnaBaUta,

mahā-pānābhimattānāà
véṛäëää dāpta-cetasām
kāñëa-māyā-vimüòhānāà
saì gharñaù su-mahān abhüt

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mahā-pāna—by the excessive drinking; abhimattānām—who became intoxicated; véṛäëām—of the heroes; dāpta—becoming arrogant; cetasām—their minds; kāñëa-māyā—by the illusory energy of Lord Kāñëa; vimüòhānām—who became bewildered; saì gharñaù—friction; su-mahān—very great; abhüt—arose.

TRANSLATION

The heroes of the Yadu dynasty became intoxicated from their extravagant drinking and began to feel arrogant. When they were thus bewildered by the personal potency of Lord Kāñëa, a terrible quarrel arose among them.

TEXT 14

yauyauDau: ,(AeDas$aMr"bDaA
vaelaAyaAmaAtataAiyana: DanauiBaRr"is$aBaBaRéaEr," gAd"AiBastaAemar"iíR"iBa:

*yuyudhuù krodha-saàrabdhä
veläyäm ätatäyinaù
dhanurbhir asibhir bhallair
gadäbhis tomararñöibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yuyudhuù—they fought; krodha—with anger; saàrabdhäù—thoroughly agitated; veläyäm—on the shore; ätatäyinaù—bearing weapons; dhanurbhiù—with bows; asibhiù—with swords; bhallaiù—with a peculiarly shaped arrow; gadäbhiù—with clubs; tomara—with lances; añöibhiù—and spears.

TRANSLATION

Infuriated, they seized their bows and arrows, swords, bhallas, clubs, lances and spears and attacked one another on the shore of the ocean.

TEXT 15

patatpataAkE(r"Taku(Ãar"Aid"iBa: Kar"Aeí)"gAAeiBamaRih"SaEnaR(rE"r"ipa imaTa: s$amaetyaAitarE": s$auäu"maRd"A nyah"na, zArE"dR"ià"ir"va iã"paA vanae

patat-patākai ratha-kui jarādibhiù kharoñōra-gobhir mahiñair narair api mithaù sametyāçvataraiù su-durmadā nyahan çarair dadbhir iva dvipā vane

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

patat-patākaiù—with flags flying; ratha—on chariots; kui jara—elephants; ādibhiù—and other carriers; khara—on asses; uñōra—camels; gobhiù—and bulls; mahiñaiù—on buffalos; naraiù—on human beings; api—even; mithaù—together; sametya—meeting; açvataraiù—and on mules; su-durmadäù—very much enraged; nyahan—they attacked; çaraiù—with arrows; dadbhiù—with their tusks; iva—as if; dvipäù—elephants; vane—in the forest.

TRANSLATION

Riding on elephants and chariots with flags flying, and also on donkeys, camels, bulls, buffalos, mules and even human beings, the extremely enraged warriors came together and violently attacked one another with arrows, just as elephants in the forest attack one another with their tusks.

TEXT 16

‘aâu°as$aAmbaAE yauida è&X#mats$ar"Ava, @,U(r"BaAejaAvainaç&Ü"s$aAtyak(L s$auBa%"s$alÿAmajataAE s$aud"Aç&NAAE
gAd"AE s$auimaṭaAs$aur"TaAE s$amalyatau:

pradyumna-sāmbau yudhi rüòha-matsarāv

*akrüra-bhojäv aniruddha-sätyaké subhadra-saì grāmajitau su-dāruëau
gadau sumiträ-surathau saméyatuù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pradyumna-sāmbau—Pradyumna and Sāmba; yudhi—in the battle; rüòha—aroused; matsarau—their enmity; akrüra-bhojau—Akrüra and Bhoja; aniruddha-sätyaké—Aniruddha and Sätyaki; subhadra-saì grāmajitau—Subhadra and Saì grāmajit; su-dāruëau—ferocious; gadau—the two Gadas (one the brother of Çré Kāñëa and the other His son); sumiträ-surathau—Sumitra and Suratha; saméyatuù—met together.

TRANSLATION

Their mutual enmity aroused, Pradyumna fought fiercely against Sāmba, Akrüra against Kuntibhoja, Aniruddha against Sätyaki, Subhadra against Saì grāmajit, Sumitra against Suratha, and the two Gadas against each other.

TEXT 17

@nyae ca yae vaE inazAQ&Aelmuk(Ad"ya:
s$ah"›aijacC$taijaà"AnaumauKyaA: @nyaAenyamaAs$aAâ mad"AnDak(Air"taA ja£aumauRku(nde"na ivamaAeih"taA Ba{zAma,

*anye ca ye vai niçaõholmukädayaù sahasrajic-chatajid-bhānu-mukhyäù anyonyam āsādyā madāndha-kāritā
jaghnur mukundena vimohitā bhācam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anye—others; ca—and; ye—those who; vai—indeed;
niçaõha-ulmaka-ādayaù—Niçaõha, Ulmuka and so on;

sahasrajit-çatajit-bhānu-mukhyaù—headed by Sahasrajit, Çatajit and Bhānu; anyonyam—each other; āsādyā—meeting; mada—by intoxication; andha-kāritāù—blinded; jaghnuù—they killed; mukundena—by Lord Mukunda; vimohitāù—confused; bhāçam—totally.

TRANSLATION

Others also, such as Niçaiha, Ulmuka, Sahasrajit, Çatajit and Bhānu, confronted and killed one another, being blinded by intoxication and thus completely bewildered by Lord Mukunda Himself.

TEXT 18

d"AzAAhR"va{SNyanDak(BaAejas$aAtvataA maDvabauRd"A maATaur"zAUr"s$aenaA:
ivas$aajaRnaA: ku(ku(r"A: ku(ntyayâ
imaTastau ja£au: s$auivas$a{ja s$aAEô$d"ma,

däçärha-vāñëy-andhaka-bhoja-sätvatä
madhv-arbudä māthura-çürasenäù
visarjanäù kukuräù kuntayaç ca
mithas tu jaghnuù su-visāja sauhaadam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

däçärha-vāñëi-andhaka-bhoja-sätvatäù—the Däçärhas, Vāñëis, Andhakas, Bhojas and Sätvatas; madhu-arbudäù—the Madhus and Arbudas; māthura-çürasenäù—the inhabitants of Mathurā and Çürasena; visarjanäù—the Visarjanas; kukuräù—the Kukuras; kuntayaù—the Kuntis; ca—also; mithaù—each other; tu—and; jaghnuù—they killed; su-visāja—completely abandoning; sauhaadam—their friendship.

TRANSLATION

Completely abandoning their natural friendship, the members of the various Yadu clans—the Dācārhas, Vāñēis and Andhakas, the Bhojas, Sātvatas, Madhus and Arbudas, the Māthuras, Ćūrasenas, Visarjanas, Kukuras and Kuntis—all slaughtered one another.

TEXT 19

pauṭaA @yauDyana, ipata{iBa"aARta{iBaê
svaṛalyad"AEih"ṭaipata{vyamaAtaulaE:
imaṭaAiNA imaṭaE: s$auô$d": s$auô$à"r," ÁaAtal%Mstvah"na, ÁaAtaya Wva maUX#A:

*putrā ayudhyan pitābhir bhrātābhiḥ ca
svasrēya-dauhitra-pitāvya-mātulaiù mitrāēi mitraiù suhādaù suhādbhir
jī ātēàs tv ahan jī ātaya eva müòhāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

putrāù—sons; ayudhyan—fought; pitābhiù—with their fathers; bhrātābhiù—with brothers; ca—and; svasrēya—with the sons of sisters; dauhitra—the sons of daughters; pitāvya—paternal uncles; mātulaiù—and maternal uncles; mitrāēi—friends; mitraiù—with friends; suhādaù—well-wishers; suhādbhiù—with well-wishers; jī ātēn—intimate relatives; tu—and; ahan—killed; jī ātayaù—intimate relatives; eva—indeed; müòhāù—bewildered.

TRANSLATION

Thus bewildered, sons fought with fathers, brothers with brothers, nephews with paternal and maternal uncles, and grandsons with grandfathers. Friends fought with friends, and well-wishers with well-wishers. In this way intimate friends and relatives all killed one another.

TEXT 20

zAre"Sau h"lyamaAWSau BajyamaAnaes$au Danvas$au
zAñeSau °alyamaAnaesau mauii"BajaRœú"re"r"k(A:

çareñu héyamäeñu
bhajyamānesu dhanvasu
çastreñu kñeyamāneñu
muñöibhir jahrur erakäu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çareñu—the arrows; héyamāneñu—as they became depleted;
bhajyamāneñu—as they became broken; dhanvasu—the bows; çastreñu—the missile weapons; kñeyamāneñu—as they were used up; muñöibhiu—with their fists; jahruu—they seized; erakäu—cane stalks.

TRANSLATION

When all their bows had been broken and their arrows and other missiles spent, they seized the tall stalks of cane with their bare hands.

TEXT 21

taA vaṭak(lpaA ÷Bavana,
pair"GaA mauii"naA Ba{taA: jaḥauĩãR"SastaE: k{(SNAena vaAyaRmaANAAstau taM ca tae

tā vajra-kalpā hy abhavan parighā muñöinā bhâtäu
jaghnur dviñas taiù kñēena vāryamäëäs tu taà ca te

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

täu—those stalks; vajra-kalpäu—as strong as thunderbolts; hi—indeed; abhavan—became; parighäu—iron staffs; muññinā—with their fists; bhātäu—held; jaghnuu—they attacked; dviñau—their enemies; taiu—with these; kāñēena—by Lord Kāñēa; vāryamäëäu—being checked; tu—although; tam—Him; ca—as well; te—they.

TRANSLATION

As soon as they took these cane stalks in their fists, the stalks changed into iron rods as hard as thunderbolts. With these weapons the warriors began attacking one another again and again, and when Lord Kāñēa tried to stop them they attacked Him as well.

TEXT 22

‘atyanalkM(manyamaAnaA
balaBa%oM" ca maAeih"taA:
h"ntauM k{(taiDayaAe r"Aja^aa, @Apa^aaA @AtataAiyana:

*pratyanéka*à manyamänä
*balabhadra*à ca mohitäu
*hantu*à kâta-dhiyo räjann
äpannä ätatäyinau

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pratyanékam—an enemy; manyamänäu—thinking; balabhadram—Lord Balaräma; ca—also; mohitäu—confused; hantum—to kill; kâta-dhiyaü—having made up their minds; räjan—O King Parékñit; äpannäü—they set upon Him; ätatäyinaü—wielding weapons.

TRANSLATION

In their confused state, O King, they also mistook Lord Balaräma for an enemy. Weapons in hand, they ran toward Him with the intention of killing Him.

TEXT 23

@Ta taAvaipa s$ax.~,u(Ü"Ava, oâmya ku(ç&nand"na Wr"k(Amauii"pair"GaAE car"ntaAE ja£atauyauRiDa

*atha täv api saì kruddhäv udyamya kuru-nandana
erakä-muññi-parighau
carantau jaghnatur yudhi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atha—then; tau—those two (Kāññä and Balaräma); api—also; saì kruddhau—greatly angered; udyamya—joining the fight; kuru-nandana—O favorite son of the Kurus; erakä-muññi—the canes in their fists; parighau—using as clubs; carantau—moving about; jaghnatu—they began to kill; yudhi—in the battle.

TRANSLATION

O son of the Kurus, Kāññä and Balaräma then became very angry. Picking up cane stalks, They moved about within the battle and began to kill with these clubs.

TEXT 24

“aözAApaAepas$a{í"AnaAM
k{(SNamaAyaAva{taAtmanaAma,
s$paDaAR,(AeDa: °ayaM inanyae

vaENAvAaE'içayaRTaA vanama,

*brahma-çäpopasâññänäà
kâñëa-mäyävâtätmanäm
spardhä-krodhaù kñayaà ninye
vaiëavo 'gnir yathä vanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brahma-çäpa—by the curse of the brähmaëas; upasâññänäm—who were overtaken; kâñëa-mäyä—by the illusory energy of Lord Kâñëa; ävâta—covered; ätmanäm—of those whose minds; spardhä—arising from rivalry; krodhaù—the anger; kñayam—to destruction; ninye—led; vaiëavaù—of bamboo trees; agniù—a fire; yathä—as; vanam—the forest.

TRANSLATION

The violent anger of these warriors, who were overcome by the brähmaëas' curse and bewildered by Lord Kâñëa's illusory potency, now led them to their annihilation, just as a fire that starts in a bamboo grove destroys the entire forest.

TEXT 25

WvaM naie"Sau s$avaeRSau ku(laeSau svaesau ke(zAva: @vataAir"taAe BauvaAe BaAr"
wita maenae'vazAeiSata:

*evaà naññeñu sarveñu
kuleñu sveñu keçavaù
avatärito bhuvo bhära
iti mene 'vaçeñitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—in this way; nañõeñu—when they had been destroyed; sarveñu—all; kuleñu—the clans of the dynasty; sveñu—His own; keçavaù—Lord Kāñëa; avatäritaù—diminished; bhuvaù—of the earth; bhäraù—the burden; iti—thus; mene—He thought; avaçeñitaù—remaining.

TRANSLATION

When all the members of His own dynasty were thus destroyed, Lord Kāñëa thought to Himself that at last the burden of the earth had been removed.

TEXT 26

r"Ama: s$amau"%o"vaelaAyaAM yaAegAmaAsTaAya paAEç&Sama, tatyAja laAekM(maAnauSyaM
s$aMyaAejyaAtmaAnamaAtmaina

rämaù samudra-veläyää
yogam ästhäya pauruñam
tatyäja lokaà mänuñyaà
saàyojyaätmänam ätmani

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rämaù—Lord Balaräma; samudra—of the ocean; veläyäm—on the shore; yogam—meditation; ästhäya—resorting to; pauruñam—upon the Supreme Personality of Godhead; tatyäja—He gave up; loka—the world; mänuñyam—human; saàyojya—merging; ätmänam—Himself; ätmani—within Himself.

TRANSLATION

Lord Balaräma then sat down on the shore of the ocean and fixed Himself in meditation upon the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Merging Himself within Himself, He gave up this mortal world.

TEXT 27

r"AmainayaARNamaAlaAefya BagAvaAnde"vak(Ls$auta:
inaSas$aAd" Dar"AepasTae
tauSNAImaAs$aAâ ipappalama,

*rāma-niryäëam älokya
bhagavän devaké-sutaù
niñasäda dharopasthe
tuñëém äsädyä pippalam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rāma-niryäëam—the departure of Lord Balarāma; älokya—observing;
bhagavän—the Supreme Lord; devaké-sutaù—the son of Devaké;
niñasäda—sat down; dharä-upasthe—on the lap of the earth;
tuñëém—silently; äsädyä—finding; pippalam—a pippala tree.

TRANSLATION

Lord Kāñëa, the son of Devaké, having seen the departure of Lord Rāma, sat down silently on the ground under a nearby pippala tree.

TEXTS 28-32

iba"a»atauBauRjaM è&paM
"aAiyaSNAu 'aBayaA svayaA id"zAAe ivaitaimar"A: ku(vaRna, ivaDaUma wva paAvak(:

™alvats$aAÆMÿ GanazyaAmaM taæah"Aq%k(vacaRs$ama,
k(AEzAeyaAmbar"yaugmaena

pair"valtaM s$auMaËylama,

s$aund"r"ismatavaf#aAbjaM nallaku(ntalamaiNx"tama, pauNx"r"lk(AiBar"AmaA°aM
s$Pu(r"nmak(r"ku(Nx"lama,

k(iq%s$aU#a“aös$aU#a-ik(r"lq%k(q%k(AËydE":
h"Ar"naUpaur"mau"%o"AiBa:
k(AEstauBaena ivar"Aijatama,

vanamaAlaApar"ltaAËMÿ
maUitaRmaià"inaRjaAyauDaE:
k{(tvaAer"AE d"i°aNAe paAd"ma,
@As$alnaM paÆÿjaAç&NAma,

*bibhrac catur-bhujaà rüpaà
bhräyĩñeu prabhayä svayä
diço vitimiräù kurvan
vidhüma iva pävakaù*

*çrévatsäi kaà ghana-çyāmaà tapta-häöaka-varcasam kauçeyāmbara-yugmena
parivētaà su-maì galam*

*sundara-smita-vakträbjaà
néla-kuntala-maëòitam
puëòarékañbhirāmākñāà
sphuran makara-kuëòalam*

*kaöi-sütra-brahma-sütra-kiréöa-kaöakäi gadaiù
hāra-nüpora-mudrābhiù
kaustubhena virājitam
vana-mälä-parétäi gaà*

*mūrtimadbhir nijāyudhaiù kātvarau dakñiëe pādam
āsēnaà paì kajāruëam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bibhrat—bearing; catuù-bhujam—with four arms; rūpam—His form; bhrājñiëu—brilliant; prabhayā—with its effulgence; svayā—own; diçaù—all the directions; vitimiräù—devoid of darkness; kurvan—making; vidhūmaù—without smoke; iva—as; pāvakaù—a fire; çrévatsa-aì kam—with the mark of Çrévatsa; ghana-çyāmam—dark blue like the clouds; tapta—molten; hāūaka—like gold; varcasam—His glowing effulgence; kauçeya—of silk; ambara—of garments; yugmena—a pair; parivétam—wearing; su-maì galam—all-auspicious; sundara—beautiful; smita—with smiling; vaktra—His face; abjam—like a lotus; nēla—blue; kuntala—with locks of hair; maëòitam—(His head) adorned; puëòaréka—lotus; abhirāma—charming; akñam—eyes; sphurat—trembling; makara—shaped like sharks; kuëòalam—His earrings; kati-sūtra—with belt; brahma-sūtra—sacred thread; kirëōa—helmet; kaōaka—bracelets; aì gadaìù—and arm ornaments; hāra—with necklaces; nūpura—ankle bells; mudrābhiù—and His royal symbols; kaustubhena—with the Kaustubha gem; virājitam—splendid; vana-mālā—by a flower garland; paréta—encircled; aì gam—His limbs; mūrti-madbhiù—personified; nija—His own; āyudhaiù—and by the weapons; kātvā—placing; ūrau—on His thigh; dakñiëe—right; pādam—His foot; āsēnam—sitting; paì kaja—like a lotus; aruëam—reddish.

TRANSLATION

The Lord was exhibiting His brilliantly effulgent four-armed form, the radiance of which, just like a smokeless fire, dissipated the darkness in all directions. His complexion was the color of a dark blue cloud and His effulgence the color of molten gold, and His all-auspicious form bore the mark of Çrévatsa. A beautiful smile graced His lotus face, locks of dark blue hair adorned His head, His lotus eyes were very attractive, and His shark-shaped earrings glittered. He wore a pair of silken garments, an ornamental belt, the sacred thread, bracelets and arm ornaments, along with a helmet, the Kaustubha jewel, necklaces, anklets and other royal emblems. Encircling His body were flower garlands and His personal weapons in their embodied forms. As He sat He held His left foot, with its lotus-red sole, upon His right thigh.

TEXT 33

mauSalaAvazAeSaAya:KaNx"- k{(taeSaulauRbDak(Ae jar"A ma{gAAasyaAk(ArM" ta»ar"NAM ivavyaADa ma{gAzAÆÿyaA

*muñalāvaṇeñāyaù-khaëòà-kāteñur lubdhako jarä
māgāsyākāraà tac-caraëaà
vivyädha māga-ṇai kayä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

muñala—from the iron club; avaṇeña—remaining; ayaù—of iron; khaëòà—with the fragment; kāta—who had made; iñuù—his arrow; lubdhakaù—the hunter; jarä—named Jarä; māga—of a deer; āsya—of the face; ākāram—having the form; tat—His; caraëam—lotus foot; vivyädha—pierced; māga-ṇai kayä—thinking it to be a deer.

TRANSLATION

Just then a hunter named Jarä, who had approached the place, mistook the Lord's foot for a deer's face. Thinking he had found his prey, Jarä pierced the foot with his arrow, which he had fashioned from the remaining iron fragment of Sāmba's club.

PURPORT

According to Çrëla Viçvanätha Cakravartë Öhäkura, the statement that the arrow "pierced the Lord's foot" expresses the point of view of the hunter, who thought he had struck a deer. In fact the arrow merely touched the Lord's lotus foot and did not pierce it, since the Lord's limbs are composed of eternity, knowledge and bliss. Otherwise, in the description of the next verse (that the hunter became fearful and fell down with his head upon the Lord's feet), Çukadeva Gosvämé would have stated that he extracted his arrow from the Lord's foot.

TEXT 34

catauBauRjaM taM pauç&SaM
ä{"î"A s$A k{(taik(ilbaSa: Balta: papaAta izAr"s$A paAd"yaAer"s$aur"iä"Sa:

*catur-bhujaà taà puruñāà
dāñvā sa kâta-kilbiñāù
bhētaù papāta çirasā
pādayor asura-dviñāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

catuù-bhujam—four-armed; tam—that; puruñam—personality;
dāñvā—seeing; saù—he; kâta-kilbiñāù—having committed an offense;
bhētaù—afraid; papāta—fell; çirasā—with his head; pādayoù—at the feet;
asura-dviñāù—of the Supreme Lord, the enemy of the demons.

TRANSLATION

Then, seeing that four-armed personality, the hunter became terrified of the offense he had committed, and he fell down, placing his head upon the feet of the enemy of the demons.

TEXT 35

@jaAnataA k{(taimadM"
paApaena maDaus$aUd"na °antaumahR"is$a paApasya oÔama:ëAek(mae'naGa

*ajānatā kâtam idaà
päpena madhusüdana
kñantum arhasi päpasya
uttamaùçloka me 'nagha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ajānatā—who was acting without knowledge; kâtam—has been done; idam—this; päpena—by a sinful person; madhusüdana—O Madhusüdana; kñantum arhasi—please forgive; päpasya—of the sinful person; uttamaùçloka—O glorious Lord; me—my; anagha—O sinless one.

TRANSLATION

Jarä said: O Lord Madhusüdana, I am a most sinful person. I have committed this act out of ignorance. O purest Lord, O Uttamaùçloka, please forgive this sinner.

TEXT 36

yasyaAnausmar"NAM na{NAAma, @ÁaAnaDvaAntanaAzAnama, vad"inta tasya tae ivaSNAAe mayaAs$aADau k{(taM 'aBaAe

yasyānusmaraëaà nâëäm

aji āna-dhvānta-nāṣanam
vadanti tasya te viñēo
mayāsādhu kâtaà prabho

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yasya—of whom; anusmaraëam—the constant remembrance; nâëäm—of all men; aji āna—of ignorance; dhvānta—the darkness; nāṣanam—that which destroys; vadanti—they say; tasya—toward Him; te—You; viñēo—O Lord Viñēu; mayā—by me; asādhu—wrongly; kâtam—this has been done; prabho—O master.

TRANSLATION

O Lord Viñēu, the learned say that for any man, constant remembrance of You will destroy the darkness of ignorance. O master, I have wronged You!

TEXT 37

tanmaAzAu jaih" vaEku(NQ& paApmaAnaM ma{gAlaubDak(ma, yaTaA paunar"hM" tvaevaM
na ku(yaA< s$ad"ita,(mama,

tan māçu jahi vaikuëöha
pāpmānaà māga-lubdhakam
yathā punar ahaà tv evaà
na kuryäà sad-atikramam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat—therefore; mā—me; äçu—quickly; jahi—please kill; vaikuëöha—O Lord of Vaikuëöha; pāpmānam—the sinful; māga-lubdhakam—hunter of deer; yathā—so that; punaù—again; aham—I; tu—indeed; evam—thus; na kuryām—may not do; sat—against saintly persons;

atikramam—transgression.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, O Lord of Vaikuëöha, please kill this sinful hunter of animals immediately so he may not again commit such offenses against saintly persons.

PURPORT

Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura explains that the fratricidal battle of the Yadu dynasty and the hunter's attack upon Lord Kãñëa are clearly activities of the Lord's internal potency for the purpose of fulfilling the Lord's pastime desires. According to the evidence, the quarrel among the members of the Yadu dynasty occurred at sunset; then the Lord sat down on the bank of the Sarasvaté River. It is stated that a hunter then arrived with the intention of killing a deer, but it is highly unlikely—when more than 560 million warriors had just been killed in a great uproarious battle and the place had been flooded with blood and strewn with corpses—that a simple hunter would somehow come along trying to kill a deer. Since deer are by nature fearful and timid, how could any deer possibly be on the scene of such a huge battle, and how could a hunter calmly go about his business in the midst of such carnage? Therefore, the withdrawal of the Yadu dynasty and Lord Kãñëa's own disappearance from this earth were not material historical events; they were instead a display of the Lord's internal potency for the purpose of winding up His manifest pastimes on earth.

TEXT 38

yasyaAtmayaAegAr"icataM na ivaäu"ivaRir"ÂaAe
ç&%o"Ad"yaAe'sya tanayaA: patayaAe igAr"AM yae tvanmaAyayaA ipaih"taä{"í"ya Wtad"Âa:
ikM(tasya tae vayamas$aÖ"tayaAe gA{NAIma:

yasyätma-yoga-racitaè na vidur virii co

*rudrādayo 'sya tanayāu patayo girāà ye tvan-māyayā pihita-dāñōaya etad ai' jaù
kià tasya te vayam asad-gatayo gāëémaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yasya—whose; ātma-yoga—by the personal mystic power; racitam—produced; na vidaù—they do not understand; virii' caù—Lord Brahmā; rudra-ādayaù—Çiva and others; asya—his; tanayāu—sons; patayaù—masters; girām—of the words of the Vedas; ye—who are; tvat-māyayā—by Your illusory potency; pihita—covered; dāñōayaù—whose vision; etat—of this; ai' jaù—directly; kim—what; tasya—of Him; te—of You; vayam—we; asad—impure; gatayaù—whose birth; gāëémaù—shall say.

TRANSLATION

Neither Brahmā nor his sons, headed by Rudra, nor any of the great sages who are masters of the Vedic mantras can understand the function of Your mystic power. Because Your illusory potency has covered their sight, they remain ignorant of how Your mystic power works. Therefore, what can I, such a low-born person, possibly say?

TEXT 39

™alBagAvaAnauvaAca
maA BaEjaR&#re" tvamauiÔaï" k(Ama W Sa k{(taAe ih" mae
yaAih" tvaM mad"nauÁaAta:
svagA< s$auk{(itanaAM pad"ma,

*çré-bhagavān uvāca
mā bhair jare tvam uttīñha kāma eña kâto hi me
yāhi tvaà mad-anujī ātaù
svargaà su-kâtināà padam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; mā bhaiù—do not fear; jare—O Jarä; tvam—you; uttiñōha—please get up; kāmaù—the desire; eñau—this; kātaù—done; hi—indeed; me—My; yāhi—go; tvam—you; mat-anujīātaù—given permission by Me; svargam—to the spiritual world; su-kātinām—of the pious; padam—the abode.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Jarä, do not fear. Please get up. What has been done is actually My own desire. With My permission, go now to the abode of the pious, the spiritual world.

TEXT 40

wtYaAid"í"Ae BagAvataA
k{(SNAenaecC$AzAr"lir"NAA iṭa: pair", (mya taM natvaA
ivamaAnaena id"vaM yayaAE

ity ādiñōo bhagavatā kāñēenecchā-çarēriēā
triù parikramya taà natvā
vimānena divaà yayau

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; ādiñōau—instructed; bhagavatā—by the Supreme Personality of Godhead; kāñēena—by Lord Kāñēa; icchā-çarēriēā—whose transcendental body is manifested simply by His own will; triù—three times; parikramya—circumambulating; ta—to Him; natvā—bowing down; vimānena—by a celestial airplane; diva—into the sky; yayau—he went.

TRANSLATION

So instructed by the Supreme Lord Kāñëa, who assumes His transcendental body by His own will, the hunter circumambulated the Lord three times and bowed down to Him. Then the hunter departed in an airplane that had appeared just to carry him to the spiritual sky.

TEXT 41

d"Aç&k(: k{(SNApad"valma, @invacC$^aaiDagAmya taAma, vaAyaum taulais$ak(AmaAed"ma,
@A,,aAyaAiBamauKaM yayaAE

*därukaù kâñëa-padavém
anvicchann adhigamya tām
vāyuà tulasikāmodam
āghrāyābhimukhaà yayau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

därukaù—Däruka, the chariot driver of Lord Kāñëa; kâñëa—of Lord Kāñëa; padavém—the trail; anvicchan—seeking out; adhigamya—coming upon; tām—i; vāyum—the air; tulasikā-āmodam—fragrant with the aroma of tulasé flowers; āghrāya—scenting; abhimukham—toward Him; yayau—he went.

TRANSLATION

At that time Däruka was searching for his master, Kāñëa. As he neared the place where the Lord was sitting, he perceived the aroma of tulasé flowers in the breeze and went in its direction.

TEXT 42

taM taṭa itagmaâuiBar"AyauDaEva{RtaM ÷itTamaUlae k{(take(tanaM paitama, µaeh"plautaAtmaA inapapaAta paAd"yaAe
r"TaAd"vaplautya s$abaASpalaAecana:

*taà tatra tigma-dyubhir äyudhair vâtaà
hy açvattha-müle kâta-ketanaà patim
sneha-plutâtmâ nipapâta pâdayo
rathâd avaplutya sa-bâñpa-locanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—Him; tatra—there; tigma—brilliant; dyubhiù—the effulgence of which; äyudhaiù—by His weapons; vâtam—surrounded; hi—indeed; açvattha—of the banyan tree; müle—at the base; kâta-ketanam—resting; patim—his master; sneha—with affection; pluta—overwhelmed; âtmâ—his heart; nipapâta—he fell down; pâdayoù—at His feet; rathât—from the chariot; avaplutya—rushing down; sa-bâñpa—filled with tears; locanaù—his eyes.

TRANSLATION

Upon seeing Lord Kâñëa resting at the foot of a banyan tree, surrounded by His shining weapons, Dâruka could not control the affection he felt in his heart. His eyes filled with tears as he rushed down from the chariot and fell at the Lord's feet.

TEXT 43

@pazyatastva»ar"NAAmbaujaM 'aBaAe ä{"î": 'aNAí"A tamais$a 'aivaí"A id"zAAe na jaAnae na laBae ca zAAintaM
yaTaA inazAAyaAmaux"]pae 'aNAíe"

apaçyatas tvac-caraëâmbujaà prabho

*dāñōiù praëañöä tamasi praviñöä diço na jāne na labhe ca çäntià
yathä niçäyäm uòupe praëañöe*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

apaçyataù—of me, who am not seeing; tvat—Your; caraëa-ambujam—lotus feet; prabho—O master; dāñōiù—the power of vision; praëañöä—is destroyed; tamasi—into darkness; praviñöä—having entered; diçaù—the directions; na jāne—I do not know; na labhe—I cannot obtain; ca—and; çäntim—peace; yathä—just as; niçäyäm—in the night; uòupe—when the moon; praëañöe—has become new.

TRANSLATION

Däruka said: Just as on a moonless night people are merged into darkness and cannot find their way, now that I have lost sight of Your lotus feet, my Lord, I have lost my vision and am wandering blindly in darkness. I cannot tell my direction, nor can I find any peace.

TEXT 44

wita “auvaita s$aUtae vaE
r"TaAe gAç&x"laAHC$na: KamautpapaAta r"Ajaen%"
s$aAìDvaja od"l°ata:

*iti bruvati süte vai
ratho garuòa-läi' chanaù
kham utpapäta räjendra säçva-dhvaja udékñataù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; bruvati—while he was speaking; süte—the chariot driver; vai—indeed; rathaù—the chariot; garuòa-läi' chanaù—marked with the flag of Garuða; kham—into the sky; utpapāta—arose; rāja-indra—O king of kings (Parékñit); sa-açva—along with the horses; dhvajaù—and flag; udékñataù—as he looked up, watching.

TRANSLATION

[Çukadeva Gosvāmé continued:] O foremost of kings, while the chariot driver was still speaking, before his very eyes the Lord's chariot rose up into the sky along with its horses and its flag, which was marked with the emblem of Garuða.

TEXT 45

tamanvagAcC$ind"vyaAina
ivaSNAu'ah"r"NAAina ca taenaAitaivaismataAtmaAnaM
s$SaUtamaAh" janaAdR"na:

*tam anvagacchan divyāni
viñëu-praharaëäni ca
tenāti-vismitātmānaà
sūtam āha janārdanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—that chariot; anvagacchan—they followed; divyāni—divine; viñëu—of Lord Viñëu; praharaëäni—the weapons; ca—and; tena—by that occurrence; ati-vismita—astonished; ātmānam—his mind; sūtam—to the driver; āha—spoke; janārdanaù—Lord Çré Kāñëa.

TRANSLATION

All the divine weapons of Viñëu rose up and followed the chariot. The Lord, Janārdana, then spoke to His chariot driver, who was most astonished to see all this.

TEXT 46

gAcC$ ã"Ar"vatal%M s$aUta ÁaAtalnaAM inaDanaM imaTa:
s$aÆÿSaRNAsya inayaARNAM
banDauByaAe "aUih" maÚ"zAAma,

*gaccha dvāravatē à sūta jī ātēnā à nidhana à mitha à saī karṇāēasya niryāēam
bandhubhyo brūhi mad-daçām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

gaccha—just go; dvāravatēm—to Dvārakā; sūta—O chariot driver;
jī ātēnām—of their close relatives; nidhanam—the destruction;
mitha à—mutual; saī karṇāēasya—of Lord Balarāma; niryāēam—the passing away; bandhubhya à—to Our family members; brūhi—speak;
mat-daçām—My condition.

TRANSLATION

O driver, go to Dvārakā and tell Our family members how their loved ones destroyed one another. Also tell them of the disappearance of Lord Saī karṇāē and of My present condition.

PURPORT

Lord Kāṇēa sent His chariot driverless back to Vaikuṇṭha, along with the horses and weapons, because the chariot driver, Dārūka, had some final service to do on earth.

TEXT 47

ã"Ar"k(AyaAM ca na sTaeyaM Bavaià"ê svabanDauBa:
mayaA tya·(AM yaäu"paur"l%M s$amau"%": plaAvaiyaSyaita

*dvārakāyāà ca na stheyaà bhavadbhiç ca sva-bandhubhiù
mayā tyaktāà yadu-purēà
samudraù plāvayīṇyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dvārakāyām—in Dvārakā; ca—and; na stheyam—should not remain;
bhavadbhiù—you; ca—and; sva-bandhubhiù—along with your relatives;
mayā—by Me; tyaktām—abandoned; yadu-purém—the capital of the Yadus;
samudraù—the ocean; plāvayīṇyati—will drown.

TRANSLATION

You and your relatives should not remain in Dvārakā, the capital of the Yadus, because once I have abandoned that city it will be inundated by the ocean.

TEXT 48

svaM svaM pair"fahM" s$avaeR @Ad"Aya ipatar"AE ca na: @jauR"naenaAivataA: s$avaR
wn%""asTaM gAimaSyaTa

*svaà svaà parigrahaà sarve ādāya pitarau ca naù arjunenāvitāu sarva
indraprasthaà gamiṇyatha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

svam svam—each his own; parigraham—family; sarve—all of them; ädäya—taking; pitarau—parents; ca—and; naù—Our; arjunena—by Arjuna; avitäù—protected; sarve—all; indraprastham—to Indraprastha; gamiñyatha—you should go.

TRANSLATION

You should all take your own families, together with My parents, and under Arjuna's protection go to Indraprastha.

TEXT 49

tvaM tau maÜ"maRmaAsTaAya ÁaAnainai" opae^oak(:
manmaAyaAr"icataAmaetaAM
ivaÁayaAepazAmaM ~aja

tvaà tu mad-dharmam ästhäya
jì äna-niñña upekñakaù man-mäyā-racitām etāà
vijì ayopaçamaà vraja

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tvam—you; tu—however; mat-dharmam—in My devotional service; ästhäya—remaining firm; jì äna-niñña—fixed in knowledge; upekñakaù—indifferent; mat-mäyā—by My illusory energy; racitām—created; etām—this; vijì äya—understanding; upaçamam—cessation from agitation; vraja—obtain.

TRANSLATION

You, Däruka, should be firmly situated in devotion to Me, remaining fixed in spiritual knowledge and unattached to material considerations.

Understanding these pastimes to be a display of My illusory potency, you should remain peaceful.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Jéva Gosvämé, the word tu here emphasizes that Däruka is an eternally liberated associate of Lord Kåñëa, having descended from Vaikuëöha. Therefore, even though others might be bewildered by the Lord's pastimes, Däruka should remain peaceful and fixed in spiritual knowledge.

TEXT 50

wtiau·(staM pair", (mya
namas{k{(tya pauna: pauna:
tatpaAd"AE zAISNyauRpaADaAya äu"maRnaA: 'ayayaAE paur"Ima,

*ity uktas taà parikramya
namaskâtya punaù punaù tat-pâdau çérñëy upâdhäya
durmanäù prayayau purém*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; uktaù—spoken to; tam—Him; parikramya—circumambulating;
namaù-kâtya—offering obeisances; punaù punaù—again and again;
tat-pâdau—His lotus feet; çérñëi—upon his head; upâdhäya—placing;
durmanäù—unhappy in his mind; prayayau—he went; purém—to the city.

TRANSLATION

Thus ordered, Däruka circumambulated the Lord and offered obeisances to Him again and again. He placed Lord Kåñëa's lotus feet upon his head and then with a sad heart went back to the city.

*Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C.
Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Thirtieth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "The Disappearance of the Yadu Dynasty."*

31. The Disappearance of Lord Çré Kāṇḍa

This chapter describes the return of the Supreme Personality of Godhead to His own abode, along with all the Yadus.

Upon learning from Dāraka that Lord Çré Kāṇḍa had returned to His abode, Vasudeva and all the others remaining in Dvārakā became very much agitated by lamentation and went out from the city to find Him. All the demigods who, in pursuance of the desire of Lord Kāṇḍa, had taken birth in the Yadu dynasty to render assistance in His pastimes followed Lord Kāṇḍa and returned to their respective abodes. The Lord's activities of creating a life for Himself and then dismantling it are simply tricks of Māyā, like an actor's performance. Actually, He creates the entire universe, and then He enters within it as the Supersoul. In the end, He again winds up the entire universe within Himself and, remaining in His private glory, desists from external pastimes.

Though overcome by feelings of separation from Kāṇḍa, Arjuna was nevertheless able to pacify himself by remembering all the various instructions given to him by the Lord. Arjuna then carried out the rituals of offering piṇḍa and so on for his dead relatives. At that time the ocean swallowed up all of Dvārakā-purī except for the Lord's own residence. Arjuna took the remaining members of the Yadu dynasty to Indraprastha, where he installed Vajra upon the throne. Hearing of these events, the Pāṇḍavas, led by Yudhiṣṭhira, placed Parīkṣit upon their throne and left for the great journey.

TEXT 1

™alzAuk(ovaAca
@Ta taṭaAgAmaä," "aöA BavaAnyA ca s$amaM Bava:
mahe"n%""'amauKaA de"vaA
maunaya: s$a'ajaeir"A:

*çré-çuka uvāca
atha tatrāgamad brahmā
bhavānyā ca samaà bhavaù
mahendra-pramukhā devā
munayaù sa-prajēçvaräù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çukaù uvāca—Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; atha—then; tatra—there; āgamat—came; brahmā—Lord Brahmā; bhavānyā—his consort, Bhavāné; ca—and; samam—along with; bhavaù—Lord Çiva; mahā-indra-pramukhāù—led by Lord Indra; devāù—the demigods; munayaù—the sages; sa—with; prajā-ēçvaräù—the progenitors of the universe's population.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Then Lord Brahmā arrived at Prabhāsa along with Lord Çiva and his consort, the sages, the Prajāpatis and all the demigods, headed by Indra.

TEXTS 2-3

ipatar": is$aÜ"gAnDavaAR ivaâADar"mah"Aer"gAA:

caAr"NAA ya°ar"°aAMis$
ik(°ar"Aps$ar"s$Ae iã"jaA:

%°"i]"k(AmaA BagAvataAe inayaARNAM par"maAets$auk(A: gAAyantaê gA{Nantaê zAAEre": k(maARiNA janma ca

*pitarau siddha-gandharvā vidyādhara-mahoragāu
cāraēā yakña-rakñā̀̀si
kinnarāpsaraso dvijāu*

*draṇṇu-kāmā bhagavato niryāēā̀ paramotsukāu
gāyantaç ca gāēantaç ca çaureù karmāēi janma ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pitarau—the forefathers; siddha-gandharvau—the Siddhas and Gandharvas; vidyādhara-mahā-uragāu—the Vidyādharas and the great serpents; cāraēāu—the Cāraēas; yakña-rakñā̀̀si—the Yakñas and Rākñasas; kinnara-apsarasaù—the Kinnaras and Apsarās; dvijāu—the great birds; draṇṇu-kāmāu—desirous of seeing; bhagavatau—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead; niryāēam—the passing away; parama-utsukāu—very eager; gāyantaù—chanting; ca—and; gāēantaù—praising; ca—and; çaureù—of Lord Çauri (Kāṇēa); karmāēi—the activities; janma—the birth; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

The forefathers, Siddhas, Gandharvas, Vidyādharas and great serpents also came, along with the Cāraēas, Yakñas, Rākñasas, Kinnaras, Apsarās and relatives of Garuòā, greatly eager to witness the departure of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. As they were coming, all these personalities variously chanted and glorified the birth and activities of Lord Çauri [Kāṇēa].

TEXT 4

vava{Sau: pauSpavaSaARiNA
ivamaAnaAvailaiBanaRBa:
ku(vaRnta: s$aÇy!aM r"Ajana, BaftyaA par"mayaA yautaA:

*vavāñuù puñpa-varñäëi
vimānāvalibhir nabhaù
kurvantaù saì kulaà rājan
bhaktyä paramayä yutäù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vavāñuù—they showered; puñpa-varñäëi—showers of flowers; vimāna—of airplanes; āvalibhiù—by great numbers; nabhaù—the sky; kurvantaù—making; saì kulam—filled up; rājan—O King Parékñit; bhaktyä—with devotion; paramayä—transcendental; yutäù—endowed.

TRANSLATION

O King, crowding the sky with their many airplanes, they showered down flowers with great devotion.

TEXT 5

BagAvaAna, ipataAmahM" val°ya ivaBaUtalr"AtmanaAe ivaBau:
s$aMyaAejyaAtmaina caAtmaAnaM
paánaeḥae nyamallayata,

*bhagavān pitāmahaà vėkñya
vibhütér ātmano vibhuù
saàyojyätmani cātmānaà*

padma-netre nyamēlayat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhagavān—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; pitāmaham—Lord Brahmā; vékñya—seeing; vibhütēu—the powerful expansions, the demigods; ātmanaù—His own; vibhuù—the Almighty Lord; saàyojya—fixing; ātmani—in Himself; ca—and; ātmānam—His consciousness; padma-netre—His lotus eyes; nyamēlayat—closed.

TRANSLATION

Seeing before Him Brahmā, the grandfather of the universe, along with the other demigods, who are all His personal and powerful expansions, the Almighty Lord closed His lotus eyes, fixing His mind within Himself, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé, Lord Kāñëa had previously answered the prayers of Lord Brahmā and the other demigods, who had requested the Lord to descend within this universe for the protection of His servants, the demigods. Now the demigods arrived before the Lord, each one desiring to take the Lord to his own planet. To avoid these innumerable social obligations, the Lord closed His eyes as if absorbed in samādhi.

Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé adds that Lord Kāñëa closed His eyes to instruct the yogés how to leave this mortal world without attachment to one's mystic opulences. All the demigods, including Brahmā, are mystic expansions of Lord Kāñëa, and yet the Lord closed His eyes to emphasize that one should fix one's mind on the Supreme Personality of Godhead when departing from this world.

TEXT 6

laAek(AiBar"AmaAM svatanauM

DaAr"NAADyaAnamaĒylama, yaAegADaAr"NayaAçaeyyaA-d"gDvaA DaAmaAivazAtsvak(ma,

lokābhirāmāṇa sva-tanum
dhāraēḍ-dhyāna-maḥ galam yoga-dhāraēḍāgneyyā-
dagdhvā dhāmāviçat svakam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

loka—to all the worlds; abhirāmām—most attractive; sva-tanum—His own transcendental body; dhāraēḍ—of all trance; dhyāna—and meditation; maḥ galam—the auspicious object; yoga-dhāraēḍā—by mystic trance; āgneyyā—focused on fire; adagdhvā—without burning; dhāma—the abode; āviçat—He entered; svakam—His own.

TRANSLATION

Without employing the mystic āgneyē meditation to burn up His transcendental body, which is the all-attractive resting place of all the worlds and the object of all contemplation and meditation, Lord Kāṇēa entered into His own abode.

PURPORT

A yogē empowered to select the moment of leaving his body can cause it to burst into flames by engaging in the yogic meditation called āgneyē, and thus he passes into his next life. The demigods similarly employ this mystic fire when being transferred to the spiritual world. But the Supreme Personality of Godhead is completely different from conditioned souls like yogēs and demigods, since the Lord's eternal, spiritual body is the source of all existence, as indicated here by the words lokābhirāmāṇa sva-tanum. Lord Kāṇēa's body is the source of pleasure for the entire universe. The word dhāraēḍ-dhyāna-maḥ galam indicates that those trying for spiritual elevation through meditation and yoga achieve all auspiciousness through meditation on the Lord's body. Since yogés are liberated simply by thinking of Lord Kânëa's body, that body is certainly not material and therefore not subject to burning by mundane mystic fire or any other type of fire.

Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura reminds us of Lord Kânëa's statement in the Eleventh Canto, Chapter Fourteen, verse 37: vahni-madhye smared rūpaà mamaitad dhyāna-maī galam. "Within the fire one should meditate upon My form, which is the auspicious object of all meditation." Since Lord Kânëa's transcendental form is present within fire as the maintaining principle, how can fire affect that form? Thus although the Lord appeared to enter the mystic yoga trance, the word adagdhvā indicates that the Lord, since His body is purely spiritual, bypassed the formality of burning and directly entered His own abode in the spiritual sky. This point has also been elaborately explained by Çréla Jéva Gosvämé in his commentary to this verse.

TEXT 7

id"iva äü"näü"BayaAe naeäu":
paetau: s$aumanas$aê KaAta,
s$atyaM DamaAeR Da{itaBaURmae:
k(LitaR: ™alêAnau taM yayau:

divi dundubhayo neduù
petuù sumanasaç ca khât
satyaà dharmo dhâtir bhümeù
kértiù çréç cānu taà yayuù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

divi—in heaven; dundubhayaù—kettledrums; neduù—sounded; petuù—fell; sumanasaù—flowers; ca—and; khât—from the sky; satyam—Truth; dharmaù—Religion; dhâtiù—Faithfulness; bhümeù—from the earth; kértiù—Fame; çréù—Beauty; ca—and; anu—following; tam—Him;

yayyü—they went.

TRANSLATION

As soon as Lord Çré Kâñëa left the earth, Truth, Religion, Faithfulness, Glory and Beauty immediately followed Him. Kettledrums resounded in the heavens and flowers showered from the sky.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svämé, all the demigods were jubilant because each one thought Lord Kâñëa was coming to his own planet.

TEXT 8

de"vaAd"yaAe "aömauKyaA
na ivazAntaM svaDaAmaina @ivaÁaAtagAitaM k{(SNAM
d"ä{"zAuêAitaivaismataA:

*devādayo brahma-mukhyā
na viçantaà sva-dhāmani
avijī āta-gatià kâñëaà dadâçuç cāti-vismitāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deva-ādayaü—the demigods and others; brahma-mukhyäü—headed by Brahmä; na—not; viçantam—entering; sva-dhāmani—His own abode; avijī āta—unknown; gatim—His movements; kâñëam—Lord Kâñëa; dadâçuü—they saw; ca—and; ati-vismitāü—very amazed.

TRANSLATION

Most of the demigods and other higher beings led by Brahmä could not see

Lord Kāñëa as He was entering His own abode, since He did not reveal His movements. But some of them did catch sight of Him, and they were extremely amazed.

TEXT 9

s$AEd"AmanyaA yaTaAflaAzAe yaAntyaA ih"tvaA"amaNx"lama, gAitanaR la°yatae matyaE=s$a,
taTaA k{(SNAsya dE"vataE:

*saudāmanyā yathāklāṇe
yāntyā hitvābhra-maëòalam
gatir na lakṇyate martyais
tathā kāñëasya daivataiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saudāmanyäù—of lightning; yathä—just as; äkäṇe—in the sky; yäntyäù—which is traveling; hitvä—having left; abhra-maëòalam—the clouds; gatiù—the movement; na lakṇyate—cannot be ascertained; martyaiù—by mortals; tathä—similarly; kāñëasya—of Lord Kāñëa; daivataiù—by the demigods.

TRANSLATION

Just as ordinary men cannot ascertain the path of a lightning bolt as it leaves a cloud, the demigods could not trace out the movements of Lord Kāñëa as He returned to His abode.

PURPORT

The sudden movements of a lightning bolt are seen by the demigods but not by human beings. Similarly, the sudden departure of Lord Kāñëa could be understood by the Lord's intimate associates in the spiritual sky but not by the demigods.

TEXT 10

“aöç&% "Ad"yastae tau ä{"î" A yaAegAgAitaM h"re":
ivaismataAstaAM 'azAMs$anta:
svaM svaM laAekM(yayaustad"A

*brahma-rudrādayas te tu dāñvā yoga-gatià hareù
vismitās tāà praçaàsantaù
svaà svaà lokaà yayus tadä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brahma-rudra-ādayaù—Brahmā, Rudra and others; te—they; tu—but; dāñvā—seeing; yoga-gatim—the mystic power; hareù—of Lord Kāñëa; vismitäù—astonished; tām—that power; praçaàsantaù—glorifying; svam—each to his own; loka—world; yayaù—went; tadä—then.

TRANSLATION

A few of the demigods, however—notably Lord Brahmā and Lord Çiva—could ascertain how the Lord's mystic power was working, and thus they became astonished. All the demigods praised the Lord's mystic power and then returned to their own planets.

PURPORT

Although the demigods are virtually omniscient within this universe, they could not understand the movements of Lord Kāñëa's mystic potency. Thus they were astonished.

TEXT 11

r"Ajana, par"sya tanauBa{ÅananaApyayaeh"A maAyaAivax"mbanamavaeih" yaTaA naq%sya
s$a{"î"Atmanaed"manauivazya ivaô$tya caAntae
s$aMô$tya caAtmamaih"naAepar"ta: s$a @Astae

*rājan parasya tanu-bhāj-jananāpyayehā māyā-viòambanam avehi yathā naōasya sāñvātmanedam anuviçya vihātya cānte
saàhātya cātma-mahinoparataù sa āste*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rājan—O King Parékñit; parasya—of the Supreme; tanu-bhāt—resembling the embodied living beings; janana—of birth; apyaya—and disappearance; éhāù—the activities; māyā—of His illusory potency; viòambanam—the false show; avehi—you should understand; yathā—just as; naōasya—of an actor; sāñvā—creating; ātmanā—by Himself; idam—this universe; anuviçya—entering it; vihātya—playing; ca—and; ante—in the end; saàhātya—winding it up; ca—and; ātma-mahinā—with His own glory; uparataù—having ceased; saù—He; āste—remains.

TRANSLATION

My dear King, you should understand that the Supreme Lord's appearance and disappearance, which resemble those of embodied conditioned souls, are actually a show enacted by His illusory energy, just like the performance of an actor. After creating this universe He enters into it, plays within it for some time, and at last winds it up. Then the Lord remains situated in His own transcendental glory, having ceased from the functions of cosmic manifestation.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Jéva Gosvämé, the so-called fight among the members of the Yadu dynasty was actually a display of the pastime potency of the Lord, since Lord Kāñëa's personal associates are never subject to ordinary birth and death like conditioned souls. This being the case, certainly the Supreme Personality of Godhead Himself is transcendental to material birth and death, as clearly stated in this verse.

The word naāśya, "of an actor or magician," is significant here. Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Öhäkura tells the following story of a certain magician who exhibits the trick of dying:

"In front of a great king, a magician approaches a stack of valuable garments, jewels, coins and so forth, all placed there by the king. Taking a jeweled necklace, the magician tells the king, 'Now I am taking this necklace, and you can't have it,' and he makes the necklace disappear. 'Now I'm taking this gold coin, and you can't have it,' he says, and makes the gold coin disappear. Next, challenging the king in the same way, the magician makes seven thousand horses disappear. Then the magician creates the illusion that the king's children, grandchildren, brothers and other family members have attacked each other and that nearly all are dead from the violent quarrel. The king hears the magician speaking and at the same time observes these things taking place before him as he sits in the great assembly hall.

"Then the magician says, 'O King, I no longer wish to live. Just as I have studied magic, so also, by the mercy of the lotus feet of my guru, I have learned the mystic meditation of yoga. One is supposed to give up one's body while meditating in a holy place, and since you have performed so many pious activities, you are a holy place yourself. Therefore I shall now give up my body.'

"Thus speaking, the magician sits down in the proper yoga posture, fixes himself in prāëäyāma, pratyähāra, dhāraëä, dhyāna and samādhi and becomes silent. A moment later, a fire generated from his trance blazes forth out of his body and burns it to ashes. Then all the wives of the magician, distraught with lamentation, enter into that fire.

"Three or four days later, after the magician has returned to his own province, he sends one of his daughters to the king. The daughter tells him, 'O King, I have just come to your palace, bringing along with me, invisibly, all your sons, grandsons and brothers in good health—along with all the jewels and other items given by you. Please, therefore, give me whatever you consider fitting remuneration for the wisdom of the magic that has been exhibited before you.' In this way, even by ordinary magic one can simulate birth and death."

It is not difficult to understand, therefore, that the Supreme Personality of Godhead, although transcendental to the laws of nature, exhibits His illusory potency so that ordinary fools will think the Lord has left His body like a human being. Actually, Lord Kāñëa returned to His abode in His own eternal body, as confirmed throughout the Vedic literature.

TEXT 12

matyaeRna yaAe gAuç&s$autaM yamalaAek(naltaM
tvaAM caAnayacC$r"NAd": par"maAñd"gdama, ijagyae'ntak(Antak(mapalzAmas$aAvanalzA:
ikM(svaAvanae svar"nayanma{gAyauM s$ade"h"ma,

*martyena yo guru-sutaà yama-loka-nétaà
tväà cānayac charaëa-daù paramāstra-dagdham jigye 'ntakāntakam apéçam asāv anéçaù
kià svāvane svar anayan māgayuà sa-deham*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

martyena—in the same human body; yaù—who; guru-sutam—the son of His spiritual master; yama-loka—to the planet of Yamarāja; néta—brought; tväm—you; ca—and; ānayat—brought back; çaraëa-daù—the giver of shelter; parama-asthra—by the supreme weapon, the brahmāstra; dagdham—burned; jigye—He conquered; antaka—of the agents of death; antakam—who is the death; api—even; éçam—Lord Çiva; asau—He, Kāñëa; anéçaù—incapable; kim—whether; sva—of Himself; avane—in the protection; svaù—to the spiritual world; anayat—brought; māgayum—the hunter; sa-deham—in the same body.

TRANSLATION

Lord Kāñëa brought the son of His guru back from the planet of the lord of death in the boy's selfsame body, and as the ultimate giver of protection He saved you also when you were burned by the brahmāstra of Açvatthämä. He conquered in battle even Lord Çiva, who deals death to the agents of death, and He sent the hunter Jarä directly to Vaikuëöha in his human body. How could such a personality be unable to protect His own Self?

PURPORT

To mitigate his own and Parékñit Mahārāja's distress at the narration of Lord Kāñëa's departure from this world, Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé here gives several clear examples proving that Lord Kāñëa is far beyond the influence of death. Although the son of Lord Kāñëa's spiritual master (Sändépani Muni) had been taken by death, the Lord brought him back in his same body. Similarly, the power of Brahman cannot touch Lord Kāñëa, since Parékñit Mahārāja, though burned by the brahmāstra weapon, was easily saved by the Lord. Lord Çiva was clearly defeated by Lord Kāñëa in the battle with Bäëäsurä, and the hunter Jarä was sent to a Vaikuëöha planet in his same human body. Death is an insignificant expansion of Lord Kāñëa's external potency and cannot possibly act upon the Lord Himself. Those who actually understand the transcendental nature of Lord Kāñëa's activities will find convincing evidence in these examples.

TEXT 13

taTaApyazAeSaisTaitas$amBavaApyayaeSva, @nanyahe"tauyaRd"zAeSazAi·(Da{k,( naEcC$t'aNAetauM vapaur"a zAeiSataM matyaeRna ikM(svasTagAitaM 'ad"zARyana,

*tathäpy açeña-sthiti-sambhaväpyayeñv
ananya-hetur yad açeña-çakti-dhåk*

naicchat praëetuà vapur atra çeñitaà martyena kià sva-stha-gatià pradarçayan

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tathä api—nevertheless; açeña—of all created beings; sthiti—in the maintenance; sambhava—creation; apyayeñu—and annihilation; ananya-hetuù—the exclusive cause; yat—because; açeña—unlimited; çakti—potencies; dhâk—possessing; na aicchat—He did not desire; praëetum—to keep; vapuù—His transcendental body; atra—here; çeñitam—remaining; martyena—with this mortal world; kim—what use; sva-stha—of those who are fixed in Him; gatim—the destination; pradarçayan—showing.

TRANSLATION

Although Lord Kâñëa, being the possessor of infinite powers, is the only cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of innumerable living beings, He simply did not desire to keep His body in this world any longer. Thus He revealed the destination of those fixed in the self and demonstrated that this mortal world is of no intrinsic value.

PURPORT

Although Lord Kâñëa descended to this world to save the fallen souls, He did not want to encourage people in the future to loiter here unnecessarily. In other words, as soon as possible one should perfect one's Kâñëa consciousness and go back home, back to Godhead. If Lord Kâñëa had remained longer on the earth, He would have unnecessarily increased the prestige of the material world.

As stated by Çré Uddhava in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (3.2.11), ädäyāntar adhād yas tu sva-bimbaà loka-locanam: "Lord Çré Kâñëa, who manifested His eternal form before the vision of all on the earth, performed His disappearance by removing His form from the sight of those who are unable to see Him [as He is] due to not executing the required penance. " Uddhava

also states in the Bhāgavatam (3.2.10):

*devasya māyayā spāññā
ye cānyad-asad-āçritāu
bhrāmyate dhēr na tad-vākyair
ātmany uptātmano harau*

"Under no circumstances can the words of persons bewildered by the illusory energy of the Lord deviate the intelligence of those who are completely surrendered souls." One who follows the Vaiññava authorities in his attempt to understand Lord Kāññä's transcendental disappearance easily appreciates that the Lord is the omnipotent Personality of Godhead and that His spiritual body is identical with His eternal spiritual potency.

TEXT 14

*ya WtaAM 'aAtaç&tTaAya
k{(SNAsya pad"val%M par"Ama, 'ayata: k(LtaRyaeà"ftyaA
taAmaevaA«aAetyanauÔamaAma,* *ya etäà prātar utthāya

kāññasya padavéà parām
prayatau kērtayed bhaktyā
tām evāpnoty anuttamām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—anyone who; etām—this; prātaù—early in the morning; utthāya—getting up; kāññasya—of Lord Kāññä; padavém—the destination; parām—supreme; prayataù—with careful attention; kērtayet—glorifies; bhaktyā—with devotion; tām—that destination; eva—indeed; āpnoti—he obtains; anuttamam—unsurpassable.

TRANSLATION

Anyone who regularly rises early in the morning and carefully chants with devotion the glories of Lord Çré Kâñëa's transcendental disappearance and His return to His own abode will certainly achieve that same supreme destination.

TEXT 15

d"Aç&k(Ae ã"Ar"k(Amaetya
vas$au"vaAefas$enayaAe:
paitatvaA car"NAAva'aEr," nyaiSaÂatk{(SNAivacyauta:

*däruko dvārakām etya
vasudevograsenayoù
patitvā caraëäv asrai
nyañii cat kâñëa-vicyutaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

därukaù—Däruka; dvārakām—in Dvārakä; etya—arriving;
vasudeva-ugrasenayoù—of Vasudeva and Ugrasena; patitvā—falling down;
caraëau—at the feet; asraiù—with his tears; nyañii cat—drenched;
kâñëa-vicyutaù—deprived of Lord Kâñëa.

TRANSLATION

As soon as Däruka reached Dvārakä, he threw himself at the feet of Vasudeva and Ugrasena and drenched their feet with his tears, lamenting the loss of Lord Kâñëa.

TEXTS 16-17

k(TayaAmaAs$a inaDanaM va{SNAInaAM k{(tpazAAe na{pa
tacC_$tvaAeiã"çaô$d"yaA

janaA: zAAek(ivamaURicCR$taA:

taṭa sma tvair"taA jagmau:
k{(SNAivaëeSaivaù"laA:
vyas$ava: zAer"tae yaṭa ÁaAtayaAe £anta @Ananama,

*kathayäm äsa nidhanaà
vãñëñäà kâtsnaço nâpa
tac chrutvodvigna-hâdayä
janäù çoka-virmürcchitâù*

*tatra sma tvaritâ jagmuù
kãñëa-viçleña-vihvalâù
vyasavaù çerate yatra
ji âtayo ghnanta änanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kathayäm äsa—he related; nidhanam—the destruction; vãñëñäm—of the Vãñëis; kâtsnaçaù—total; nâpa—O King Parékñit; tat—that; çrutvä—hearing; udvigna—agitated; hâdayäù—their hearts; janäù—the people; çoka—by sorrow; virmürcchitâù—rendered senseless; tatra—there; sma—indeed; tvaritâù—swiftly; jagmuù—they went; kãñëa-viçleña—by separation from Lord Kãñëa; vihvalâù—overwhelmed; vyasavaù—lifeless; çerate—they lay; yatra—where; ji âtayaù—their relatives; ghnantaù—striking; änanam—their own faces.

TRANSLATION

Däruka delivered the account of the total destruction of the Vãñëis, and upon hearing this, O Parékñit, the people became deeply distraught in their hearts and stunned with sorrow. Feeling the overwhelming pain of separation from Kãñëa, they struck their own faces while hurrying to the place where their relatives lay dead.

TEXT 18

de"vak(L r"Aeih"NAI caEva vas$au de"vastaTaA s$autaAE
k{(SNAr"AmaAvapazyanta:
zAAek(AtaAR ivajaò": sma{itama,

*devaké rohiëé caiva
vasudevas tathä sutau
kâñëa-rāmāṁ apaçyantaù
çokärtä vijahuù smâtim*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

devaké—Devaké; rohiëé—Rohiëé; ca—also; eva—indeed;
vasudevaù—Vasudeva; tathä—as well; sutau—their two sons;
kâñëa-rāmāṁ—Kâñëa and Rāma; apaçyantaù—not seeing;
çoka-ärtäù—feeling the pain of lamentation; vijahuù—they lost;
smâtim—their consciousness.

TRANSLATION

When Devaké, Rohiëé and Vasudeva could not find their sons, Kâñëa and Rāma, they lost consciousness out of anguish.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura, the original Devaké, Rohiëé and other ladies of Dvārakā actually remained in Dvārakā, invisible to the eyes of the material world, whereas the demigods who represented partial aspects of Devaké, Rohiëé and so on went to Prabhāsa to see their dead relatives.

TEXT 19

‘aANAAMê ivajaò"staṭa BagAvaiã"r"h"Ataur"A:
opagAu÷ patal%MstaAta
icataAmaAç&ç&ò": iñya:

*präëäàç ca vijahus tatra
bhagavad-virahäturäù
upaguhya patéàs tāta
citām āruruhuù striyaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

präëän—their lives; ca—and; vijahuù—they gave up; tatra—there;
bhagavat—from the Personality of Godhead; viraha—because of separation;
äturäù—tormented; upagahya—embracing; patén—their husbands;
tāta—my dear Parékñit; citām—the funeral pyre; āruruhuù—they climbed upon; striyaù—the wives.

TRANSLATION

Tormented by separation from the Lord, His parents gave up their lives at that very spot. My dear Parékñit, the wives of the Yādavas then climbed onto the funeral pyres, embracing their dead husbands.

TEXT 20

r"Amapatnyaê taÚe"h"ma,
opagAu÷AiçamaAivazAna,
vas$auðevapatnyastaÕ"AṭaM ‘aâu°aAd"lna, h"re": mauSaA:
k{(SNApatnyaAe'ivazA^aaiçam ç&ifmaNyaAâAstad"Aitmak(A:

rāma-patnyaç ca tad-deham upaguhyāgnim āviçan

*vasudeva-patnyas tad-gātraḥ pradyumnādēn hareṁ snuṁhū
kāṇḍēa-patnyo 'viṣann agniḥ
rukmiṇy-ādyās tad-ātmikāṁ*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rāma-patnyaḥ—the wives of Lord Balarāma; ca—and; tat-deham—His body; upaguhya—embracing; agnim—the fire; āviṣan—entered; vasudeva-patnyaḥ—the wives of Vasudeva; tat-gātram—his body; pradyumna-ādēn—Pradyumna and the others; hareṁ—of Lord Hari; snuṁhū—the daughters-in-law; kāṇḍēa-patnyaḥ—the wives of Lord Kāṇḍēa; aviṣan—entered; agnim—the fire; rukmiṇy-ādyāḥ—led by Queen Rukmiṇī; tat-ātmikāṁ—whose consciousness was completely absorbed in Him.

TRANSLATION

The wives of Lord Balarāma also entered the fire and embraced His body, and Vasudeva's wives entered his fire and embraced his body. The daughters-in-law of Lord Hari entered the funeral fires of their respective husbands, headed by Pradyumna. And Rukmiṇī and the other wives of Lord Kāṇḍēa—whose hearts were completely absorbed in Him—entered His fire.

PURPORT

It is understood that the anguished scene described here is a display of the Lord's illusory potency, adding a final dramatic note to Lord Kāṇḍēa's pastimes on the earth. In reality, Lord Kāṇḍēa returned to His eternal abode in His original body, and His eternal associates returned with Him. This final heartbreaking scene of the Lord's pastimes is a creation of the Lord's internal potency that brings the Lord's manifest pastimes to a perfect dramatic end.

TEXT 21

@jauRna: 'aeyas$a: s$aKyau:
k{(SNAasya ivar"h"Ataur": @AtmaAnaM s$aAntvayaAmaAs$a k{(SNAgAltaE: s$aäu"i-(iBa:

arjunaù preyasaù sakhyuù
kāñēasya virahāturaù
ātmānaà sāntvayām āsa
kāñēa-gétaiù sad-uktibhiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

arjunaù—Arjuna; preyasaù—of his dear; sakhyuù—friend; kāñēasya—Lord Kāñēa; viraha—because of the separation; āturaù—distressed; ātmānam—himself; sāntvayām āsa—consoled; kāñēa-gétaiù—with the song sung by Lord Kāñēa (the Bhagavad-gétā); sat-uktibhiù—with the transcendental words.

TRANSLATION

Arjuna felt great distress over separation from Lord Kāñēa, his dearest friend. But he consoled himself by remembering the transcendental words the Lord had sung to him.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé, Arjuna remembered such verses from the Gétā as:

nāhaà prakāçaù sarvasya yoga-mäyā-samāvātaù
müòho 'yaà nābhijānāti
loko mām ajam avyayam
(Bg. 7.25)

"I am never manifest to the foolish and unintelligent. For them I am covered by My eternal creative potency (yoga-māyā), and so the deluded world knows Me not, who am unborn and infallible."

Similarly, Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé has mentioned the Gétā verse mām evaiñyasi satyaà te pratijāne priyo 'si me (Bg. 18.65): "You will come to Me without fail. I promise you this because you are My very dear friend." He has also quoted from the Svarga-parva of the Mahābhārata as follows:

*dadarça tatra govindaà
brahmaëe vapuñānvitam
tenaiva dāñña-pürveëa
sädâçyenopasücitam*

*dépyamānaà sva-vapuñā divyair astrair upaskâtam
cakra-prabhâtibhir ghorair
divyaiù puruñña-vigrahaiù*

*upäsyamānaà véreëa phälgunena su-varcasä
yathä-svarüpaà kaunteya
tathaiva madhusüdanam*

*täv ubhau puruñña-vyāghrau samudvékñya yudhiññohiram yathārhaà pratipedāte
pūjayā deva-pūjitau*

"There Yudhiññohira saw Lord Govinda as the Absolute Truth in His original, personal form. He appeared just as Yudhiññohira had seen Him before, with all the same characteristics. He was glowing brilliantly with the effulgence coming from His own body, and He was surrounded by His transcendental weapons—the disc and so on—which appeared in their fearsome personified forms. O descendant of Kunté, Lord Madhusüdana was being worshiped by the effulgent hero Arjuna, who also appeared in his original form. When these two lions among men, who are worshipable by the demigods, noticed the presence of Yudhiñöhira, they approached him with proper respect and offered him worship."

TEXT 22

banDaUnaAM nai"gAAeṭaANAma, @jauRna: s$aAmpar"Aiyak(ma,
h"taAnaAM k(Ar"yaAmaAs$a
yaTaAvad"naupaUvaRzA:

bandhünāḥ nañña-gotrāḥ
arjunaḥ sāmparāyikam
hatānāḥ kārayām āsa
yathā-vad anupūrvaḥ

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bandhünām—of the relatives; nañña-gotrāḥ—who had no remaining immediate family members; arjunaḥ—Arjuna; sāmparāyikam—the funeral rites; hatānām—of the killed; kārayām āsa—had executed; yathā-vat—as prescribed in the Vedas; anupūrvaḥ—in order of the seniority of the deceased.

TRANSLATION

Arjuna then saw to it that the funeral rites were properly carried out for the dead, who had no remaining male family members. He executed the required ceremonies for each of the Yadus, one after another.

TEXT 23

ā"Ar"k(AM h"ir"NAA tya·(AM
s$amau"%o"Ae'plaAvayat°aNAAta, vajaRiyatvaA mah"Ar"Aja

™almaà"gAvad"Alayama,

*dvārakāḥ hariṇī tyaktāḥ
samudro 'plāvayat kṇāṇī varjayitvā mahā-rāja
çrémad-bhagavad-ālayam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dvārakām—Dvārakā; hariṇī—by Lord Hari; tyaktām—abandoned; samudraḥ—the ocean; aplāvayat—overflowed; kṇāṇī—immediately; varjayitvā—except for; mahā-rāja—O King; çrémat-bhagavat—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead; ālayam—the residence.

TRANSLATION

As soon as Dvārakā was abandoned by the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the ocean flooded it on all sides, O King, sparing only His palace.

PURPORT

Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé explains that whereas the external manifestation of the Lord's abode was covered by the ocean, the Lord's eternal Dvārakā exists beyond the material universe and certainly beyond the material ocean. Dvārakā had been constructed by Viçvakarmā, the architect of the demigods, and the Sudharmā assembly hall had been brought from heaven. In that city there were many beautiful and splendorous residences of the aristocratic Yadu dynasty, and the most beautiful residence of all was that of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé mentions that even in the modern age, people who live near the site of the original Dvārakā sometimes catch a glimpse of it in the ocean. Ultimately, the Lord's associates and abode are eternal, and one who understands this is qualified to become fully Kāṇēa conscious.

TEXT 24

inatyaM s$ai^aaih"tastaṭa BagAvaAnmaDaus$aUd"na:
sma{tyaAzAeSaAzAuBah"rM"
s$avaRmaĒylamaĒylama,

*nityaà sannihitas tatra
bhagavān madhusūdanaù
smātyāçeñāçubha-haraà
sarva-maì gala-maì galam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nityam—eternally; sannihitaù—present; tatra—there; bhagavān—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; madhusūdanaù—Madhusūdana; smātyā—by remembrance; açeñā-açubha—of everything inauspicious; haram—which takes away; sarva-maì gala—of all auspicious things; maì galam—the most auspicious.

TRANSLATION

Lord Madhusūdana, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is eternally present in Dvārakā. It is the most auspicious of all auspicious places, and merely remembering it destroys all contamination.

TEXT 25

ñlbaAlava{Ü"AnaAd"Aya
h"tazAeSaAnDanaĀaya:
wn%o"asTaM s$amaAvaezya
vaṭaM taṭaAByaSaecayata,

*stré-bāla-vāddhān ādāya
hata-çeñān dhanai jayaù
indraprasthaà samāveçya
vajraà tatrābhyañecayat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

strī—the women; bāla—children; vāddhān—and elders; ādāya—taking; hata—of the killed; ceñān—the survivors; dhanai jayaù—Arjuna; indraprastham—in the capital of the Pāṇḍavas; samāveçya—resettling; vajram—Vajra, the son of Aniruddha; tatra—there; abhyañecayat—placed upon the throne.

TRANSLATION

Arjuna took the survivors of the Yadu dynasty—the women, children and old men—to Indraprastha, where he installed Vajra as ruler of the Yadus.

TEXT 26

™autvaA s$auô$ã"DaM r"Ajaªa, @jauRnaAÔae ipataAmah"A: tvaAM tau vaMzADarM" k{(tvaA
jagmu: s$avaeR mah"ApaTama,

çrutvā suhāt-vadhaà rājann
arjunāt te pitāmahāù
tvāà tu vaàça-dharaà kātvā
jagmuù sarve mahā-patham

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çrutvā—hearing; suhāt—of their friend; vadham—the death; rājan—O King; arjunāt—from Arjuna; te—your; pitāmahāù—grandfathers (Yudhiñöhira and his brothers); tvām—you; tu—and; vaàça-dharam—the maintainer of the dynasty; kātvā—making; jagmuù—they left; sarve—all of them; mahā-patham—for the great journey.

TRANSLATION

Hearing from Arjuna of the death of their friend, my dear King, your grandfathers established you as the maintainer of the dynasty and left to prepare for their departure from this world.

TEXT 27

ya WtaÚe"vade"vasya
ivaSNAAe: k(maARiNA janma ca
k(LtaRyaecC)$Ü"yaA matyaR:
s$avaRpaApaE: 'amaucyatae

*ya etad deva-devasya
viñëoü karmäëi janma ca
kértayet chraddhayä martyaü
sarva-päpaiü pramucyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaü—who; etat—these; deva-devasya—of the Lord of lords; viñëoü—of Lord Viñëu; karmäëi—the activities; janma—the birth; ca—and; kértayet—chants; çraddhayä—with faith; martyaü—a human being; sarva-päpaiü—from all sins; pramucyate—becomes completely liberated.

TRANSLATION

A person who with faith engages in chanting the glories of these various pastimes and incarnations of Viñëu, the Lord of lords, will gain liberation from all sins.

TEXT 28

wtTaM h"re"BaRgAvataAe ç&icar"AvataAr"- valyaARiNA baAlacair"taAina ca zAntamaAina @nyaṭa caeh" ca TMautaAina gA{NAnmanauSyaAe

Bai-M(par"AM par"mahM"s$agAtaAE laBaeta

*itthaà harer bhagavato rucirävatäravéryäëi bāla-caritāni ca çantamāni anyatra ceha ca çrutāni gāëan manuñyo
bhaktià parāà paramahaàsa-gatau labheta*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ittham—thus; hareu—of Lord Hari; bhagavatau—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead; rucira—attractive; avatāra—of the incarnations; véryäëi—the exploits; bāla—childhood; caritāni—pastimes; ca—and; çam-tamāni—most auspicious; anyatra—elsewhere; ca—and; iha—here; ca—also; çrutāni—heard; gāëan—clearly chanting; manuñyaù—a person; bhaktim—devotional service; parām—transcendental; paramahaàsa—of the perfect sages; gatau—for the destination (Lord Çré Kāñëa); labheta—will attain.

TRANSLATION

The all-auspicious exploits of the all-attractive incarnations of Lord Çré Kāñëa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and also the pastimes He performed as a child, are described in this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam and in other scriptures. Anyone who clearly chants these descriptions of His pastimes will attain transcendental loving service unto Lord Kāñëa, who is the goal of all perfect sages.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Eleventh Canto, Thirty-first Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "The Disappearance of Lord Çré Kāñëa."

The Eleventh Canto was completed at the New Gokula South American pilgrimage site, state of Sao Paulo, Brazil, on Friday, March 26, 1982.

END OF THE ELEVENTH CANTO

Appendix: The Absolute Nature of the Supreme Lord

In his commentary on Text 5, Chapter 30, Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura quotes several statements by Çré Uddhava from the Çrémad-Bhägavatam (3.2.7-12) that nicely explain the transcendental nature of Lord Kânëa's disappearance from this world. The reader is referred to that portion of Çréla Prabhupäda's Çrémad-Bhägavatam for further illumination on this subject.

Next, from various Vedic scriptures Viçvanätha Cakravarté cites many important verses that clearly establish the absolute, eternal nature of the Personality of Godhead's forms, names, abodes, qualities, pastimes and entourage.

Forms: The Gopäla-täpané Upaniñad (1.38) states, govindaà sac-cid-änanda-vigrahaà vändävana-sura-bhüraha-taläsénaà satataà sa-marud-gaëo 'haà paramayä stutyä toñayämi: "With transcendental prayers, I and the Maruts are always trying to satisfy Lord Govinda, whose personal form is eternal and full of knowledge and bliss, and who is sitting amidst the celestial desire trees of Vändävana."

Similarly, in his Vedänta-bhäñya Çréla Madhväcärya cites the following passage from the çruti: väsudevaù saì karñaëaù pradyumno 'niruddho 'haà matsyaù kürmo varäho narasiàho vämano rämo rämaù kânëo buddhaù kalkir ahaà çatadhähaà sahasradhähäm amito 'ham ananto 'haà naivaite jäyante naivaite mriyante naiñäm aji äna-bandho na muktiù sarva eva hy ete pürëä ajarä amätäù paramäù paramänandäù. "I am Väsudeva, Saì karñaëa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha. I am Matsya, Kürma, Varäha, Narasiàha, Vämana, the three Rāmas [Rāmacandra, Paraçurāma and Balarāma], Kânëa, Buddha and Kalki. Immeasurable and unlimited, I appear in hundreds and thousands of forms, none of which ever takes birth or dies. These forms of Mine are not bound by ignorance, nor do they have to strive for liberation. They are all complete, free from old age, immortal, supreme and supremely blissful."

The Dhyāna-bindu Upaniṣad states, nirdoṇa-pūrēa-guēa-vigraha ātma-tantro niṣcetanātmaka-ṣarēra-guēaiṣ ca hēnah/ ānanda-mātra-mukha-pāda-saroruhādiù: "[The Lord's] personal form possesses complete and faultless transcendental qualities. Indeed, the form of the completely independent Lord is free from all lifeless bodily characteristics. His lotus face and lotus feet consist simply of pure ecstasy."

The Vāsudeva Upaniṣad states, sad-rūpam advayaà brahma madhyādy-anta-vivarjitam/ sva-prabhaà sac-cid-ānandaà bhaktyā jānati cāvyaṃ: "[The Lord's] transcendental form is the Absolute Truth, devoid of duality or of middle, beginning or end. It is self-effulgent, eternal and full of knowledge and bliss. Only through devotional service can one understand that form to be infallible."

The Brahmāēōa Purāēa states, nanda-vraja-janānandē sac-cid-ānanda-vigrahaù: [Bs. 5.1], "The body of the Lord, who gives ecstasy to the residents of King Nanda's pastures, is eternal and full of knowledge and bliss." The Mahā-varāha Purāēa states, sarve nityāù ṣāsvatāṣ ca dehās tasya parātmanaù/ hānopadāna-rahitā naiva prakāti-jāù kvacit: "The bodies of that Supreme Soul are all eternal and primeval. Since they are not born of material nature, they are not subject to destruction or creation."

The Nāsiàha Purāēa states, yuge yuge viñēur anādi-mūrtim āsthāya ṣiñōaà paripāti duñōa-hā: "In each age, Lord Viñēu assumes His various eternal forms in order to protect those who are civilized [the devotees] and to destroy those who are evil [the demons]." The Bāhad-vaiñēava-smāti states, yo vetti bhautikaà dehaà kâñēasya paramātmanaù/ sa sarvasmād bahiñkāryaù ṣrauta-smārta-vidhānataù/ mukhaà tasyāvalokyāpi sa-celaà snānam ācaret: "If a person thinks the body of the Supreme Soul, Lord Kâñēa, is made of matter, he should be excluded from all ceremonies, both of the ṣrutī and the smāti. One who even glances upon such a person's face must immediately take a bath with all his clothes on." The Mahābhārata states, na bhūta-saì gha-samsthāno deho 'sya paramātmanaù: "The body of the Supreme Soul is not composed of a combination of material elements." Also from the Mahābhārata: amātāàṣo 'māta-vapuù. "His personal expansions and personal bodies are all immortal."

The Çrémad-Bhāgavatam itself contains many passages attesting to the absolute nature of the Lord's forms. Here are a few: çābdaà-brahma dadhad vapuù. "Appearing in Your transcendental form as the Vedas and as the personal feature of the Absolute Truth..." Yat tad vapur bhāti vibhūñāëäyudhair avyakta-cid-vyaktam adhārayad vibhuù (8.18.12): "That transcendental body which is appearing with its ornaments and weapons has been assumed by the Almighty Lord as the spiritual manifestation of Himself, who is materially unmanifested." Babandha prākātaà yathā (10.9.14): "She bound Him up just like an ordinary child." Satya-jī ānānantānanda-mātraika-rasa-mūrtyaù (10.13.54): "The viñëu-mūrtis all had eternal, unlimited forms full of knowledge and bliss and existing beyond the influence of time." Svecchā-mayasya na tu bhūta-mayasya (10.14.2): "His body is composed of His own desire, rather than of material elements." And tvayy eva nitya-sukha-bodha-tanau: "In You, whose body is full of eternal happiness and consciousness..."

Names: The Āg Veda states, oà āsya jānanto nāma cid viviktan: "If we understand even a little of the glories of His holy name..." The Bhāgavatam (10.8.15) contains the following passage: bahūni santi nāmāni rūpaëi ca sutasya te guëa-karmānurüpāëi. "For this son of yours there are many forms and names according to His transcendental qualities." That this passage is in the present tense indicates that the Lord's names are absolute and eternal.

The Padma Purāëa states, yat tv anāma-rūpa evāyaà bhagavān harir èçvaraù/ akarteti ca yo vedaiù smātibhiç cābhidhēyate: "It is the Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, whom the Vedas and smātis describe as that which has no name or form and which does nothing." The Vāsudevādhyātma reconciles the apparent contradiction thus raised: aprasiddhes tad-guëänām anāmo 'sau prakértitaù/ aprākātatvād rūpasyāpy arūpo 'sāv udéryate/ sambandhena pradhānasya harer nāsty eva kartatā/ akartāram ataù prāhuù purāëaà taà purā vidaù. "Because His qualities are generally unknown, He is said to have no name. Because His form is not material, He is said to be formless. And because Lord Hari does nothing in relationship with the material nature, He is said to be inactive."

Abodes: The Gopāla-tāpanē Upaniṣad (2.36) states, tāsāṁ madhye sākṣāḥ brahma gopāla-purē: "Among all these [abodes], the residence of Lord Gopāla is directly the Absolute Truth." And the Padma Purāṇa states, nityaṁ me mathurāṁ vidhi purēṁ dvāravatēṁ tathā: "You should know that My cities of Mathurā and Dvārakā are both eternal." An alternate reading for this verse is nityaṁ me mathurāṁ vidhi vanaṁ vāṇḍāvanaṁ tathā, in which case the translation is "You should know that both My Mathurā and My forest of Vāṇḍāvana are eternal."

Qualities: The Bhāgavatam (1.16.29) states, ete cānye ca bhagavan nityā yatra mahā-guṇāḥ/prārthyā mahattvam icchadbhir na viyanti sma karhicit: "In Him reside these and many other transcendental qualities, which are eternally present and never to be separated from Him."

Pastimes: The Puruṣa-bodhanē Upaniṣad, of the Pippalāda-śākhā of the Atharva Veda, states, eko devo nitya-līlānuraḥ bhakta-vyāpē bhakta-hādy antar-ātmā: "He is the one Supreme Lord, always attached to His eternal pastimes, extending Himself to His devotees, and present as the Supreme Soul within the hearts of His devotees." In the Bhāgavatam (10.90.48) we find the verse beginning jayati jana-nivāsaḥ, which contains the phrase dorbhir asyann adharmam, "with His arms casting out irreligion." The same verse also states, vraja-pura-vanitānāṁ vārdhayan kāma-devam, "increasing the lusty desires of the young women of Vāṇḍāvana village. " The Bhāgavatam (10.29.15) states, kāmaṁ krodhaṁ bhayaṁ sneham aikyaṁ sauhādam eva vā/ nityaṁ harau vidadhato yānti tan-mayatāṁ hi te: "Persons who constantly direct their lust, anger, fear, protective affection, feeling of impersonal oneness or friendship toward Lord Hari are sure to become absorbed in thought of Him." That all these passages employ the present tense indicates that the Lord is eternally enacting His pastimes.

Entourage: The Padma Purāṇa states, eta hi yādavāḥ sarve mad-gaṇā eva bhāvinī/ sarvathā mat-priyā devī mat-tulya-guṇā-śālināḥ: "My dear lady, all these Yādavas are My personal associates. They are in all respects very dear to Me, O goddess, and their characters are equal to Mine."

To summarize, we may cite the following verse from the Vedic literature: nityāv avatāre bhagavān nitya-mūrtir jagat-patiḥ/ nitya-rūpo nitya-gandho nityaiçvarya-sukhānubhū: "In His eternal incarnation, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the master of the universe, exhibits His eternal personal form. His bodily beauty, His fragrance, His opulence and His happiness are also all eternal."

Twelfth Canto

The Age of Deterioration

Çrémad-Bhāgavatam Canto 12: "The Age of Deterioration"

(98)1. The Degraded Dynasties of Kali-yuga

- Translations 1-41(99)

(100)2. The Symptoms of Kali-yuga

- Translations 1-44(101)

(102)3. The Bhūmi-gētā

- Translations 1-52(103)

(104)4. The Four Categories of Universal Annihilation

- Translations 1-43(105)

(106)5. Çukadeva Gosvāmē's Final Instructions to Mahārāja Parēkñit

- Translations 1-13(107)

(108)6. Mahārāja Parēkñit Passes Away

- Translations 1-80(109)

(110)7. The Purāëic Literatures

- Translations 1-25(111)

(112)8. Märkaëðeya's Prayers to Nara-Näräyaëa Āñi

- Translations 1-49(113)

(114)9. Märkaëðeya Āñi Sees the Illusory Potency of the Lord

- Translations 1-34(115)

(116)10. (117)Lord Çiva and Umā Glorify Märkaëðeya Āñi

• Translations 1-42(118)
(119)11. (120)Summary Description of the Mahāpuruṣa
• Translations 1-50(121)
(122)12. (123) The Topics of Ćrēmad-Bhāgavatam Summarized
• Translations 1-69(124)
(125)13. (126)The Glories of Ćrēmad-Bhāgavatam
• Translations 1-23(127)

1. The Degraded Dynasties of Kali-yuga

The Twelfth Canto of Ćrēmad-Bhāgavatam begins with Ćrēla Ćukadeva Gosvāmē predicting the kings of the earth who will appear in the future during the age of Kali. Then he gives a description of the numerous faults of the age, after which the presiding goddess of the earth sarcastically berates the foolish members of the kingly order who perpetually try to conquer her. Next Ćukadeva Gosvāmē explains the four varieties of material annihilation, and then he gives his final advice to Mahārāja Parēkṣīt. Thereafter King Parēkṣīt is bitten by the snake-bird Takṇaka and leaves this world. Sūta Gosvāmē concludes his narration of Ćrēmad-Bhāgavatam to the sages at Naimiṇāraēya forest by enumerating the teachers of the various branches of the Vedas and Purāēas, relating the pious history of Mārkaēḍeya Āṇi, glorifying the Supreme Lord in His universal form and in His expansion as the sun-god, summarizing the topics discussed in this literature, and offering final benedictions and prayers.

The first chapter of this canto briefly describes the future kings of the dynasty of Magadha and how they become degraded because of the influence of the age of Kali. There were twenty kings who ruled in the family of Pūru, in the dynasty of the sun-god, counting from Uparicara Vasu to Purai jaya. After Purai jaya, the lineage of this dynasty will become corrupted. Following Purai jaya there will be five kings known as the Pradyotanas, who are then followed by the Çiçunāgas, the Mauryas, the Çuī gas, the Kāēvas, thirty kings of the Andhra nation, seven Ābhēras, ten Gardabhēs, sixteen Kaī kas, eight Yavanas, fourteen Turuñkas, ten Guruēòas, eleven Maulas, five Kilakilā monarchs and thirteen Bāhlikas. After this, different regions will be ruled over at the same time by seven Andhra kings, seven Kauçalas, the kings of Vidūra, and the Niñadhas. Then the power of rulership in the countries of Magadha and so forth will fall to kings who are no better than çüdras and mlecchas and are totally absorbed in irreligion.

TEXTS 1-2

™alZAuk(ovaAca
yaAe'ntya: paura"ĀayaAe naAma BaivaSyaAe baAr"h"%o"Ta:
tasyaAmaAtyastau zAunak(Ae
h"tvaA svaAimanamaAtmajama,

‘aâAetas$amĀaM r"AjaAnaM
k(taAR yatpaAlak(: s$auta:
ivazAAKayaUpastatpauṭaAe BaivataA r"Ajak(stata:

çré-çuka uvāca
yo 'ntyaù purai jayo nāma bhaviṇyo bārahadraṭhaù
tasyāmātyas tu çunako
hatvā svāminam ātma-jam
pradyota-saàji' aà rājānaà
kartā yat-pālakaù sutaù viçākhayūpas tat-putro
bhavitā rājakas tataù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré çukaù uvāca—Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; yaù—who; antyaù—the final member (of the lineage described in the Ninth Canto); purai jayaù—Purai jaya (Ripuì jaya); nāma—named; bhaviṇyaù—will live in the future; bārahadraṭhaù—the descendant of Bāhadratha; tasya—his; amātyaù—minister; tu—but; çunakaù—Çunaka; hatvā—killing; svāminam—his master; ātma-jam—his own son; pradyota-saàji am—named Pradyota; rājānam—the king; kartā—will make; yat—whose; pālakaù—named Pālaka; sutaù—the son; viçākhayüpaù—Viçākhayüpa; tat-putraù—the son of Pālaka; bhavitā—will be; rājakaù—Rājaka; tataù—then (coming as the son of Viçākhayüpa).

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: The last king mentioned in our previous enumeration of the future rulers of the Māgadha dynasty was Purai jaya, who will take birth as the descendant of Bāhadratha. Purai jaya's minister Çunaka will assassinate the king and install his own son, Pradyota, on the throne. The son of Pradyota will be Pālaka, his son will be Viçākhayüpa, and his son will be Rājaka.

PURPORT

The vicious political intrigue described here is symptomatic of the age of Kali. In the Ninth Canto of this work, Çukadeva Gosvāmé describes how the great rulers of men descended from two royal dynasties, that of the sun and that of the moon. The Ninth Canto's description of Lord Rāmacandra, a most famous incarnation of God, occurs in this genealogical narration, and at the end of the Ninth Canto Çukadeva describes the forefathers of Lord Kāṇēa and Lord Balarāma. Finally, the appearance of Lord Kāṇēa and that of Lord Balarāma are mentioned within the context of the narration of the moon dynasty.

The Tenth Canto is devoted exclusively to a description of Lord Kāṇēa's childhood pastimes in Våndāvana, His teenage activities in Mathurā and His adult activities in Dvārakā. The famous epic Mahābhārata also describes the events of this period, focusing upon the five Pāṇḍava brothers and their activities in relation with Lord Kāṇḍa and other leading historical figures, such as Bhīṣma, Dhātārāṇḍa, Droṇācārya and Vidura. Within the Mahābhārata is Bhagavad-gētā, in which Lord Kāṇḍa is declared to be the Absolute Truth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, of which we are presently translating the twelfth and final canto, is considered a more advanced literature than the Mahābhārata because throughout the entire work Lord Çré Kāṇḍa, the Absolute Truth and supreme source of all existence, is directly, centrally and irrefutably revealed. In fact, the First Canto of the Bhāgavatam describes how Çré Vyāsadeva composed this great work because he was dissatisfied with his rather sporadic glorification of Lord Kāṇḍa in the Mahābhārata.

Although Çrémad-Bhāgavatam narrates the histories of many royal dynasties and the lives of innumerable kings, not until the description of the present age, the age of Kali, do we find a minister assassinating his own king and installing his son on the throne. This incident resembles Dhātārāṇḍa's attempt to assassinate the Pāṇḍavas and crown his son Duryodhana king. As the Mahābhārata describes, Lord Kāṇḍa thwarted this attempt, but with the departure of the Lord for the spiritual sky, the age of Kali became fully manifested, ushering in political assassination within one's own house as a standard technique.

TEXT 3

naind"vaDaRnastatpauṭa:
 paĀa 'aāAetanaA wmae
 @ī"iṭaMzAAeÔar"zAtaM
 BaAe°yainta pa{iTaval%M na{paA:

*nandivardhanas tat-putrau
 pai ca pradyotanā ime
 āṇḍa-triāçottara-çataā*

bhokñyanti pāthivēà nāpāù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nandivardhanaù—Nandivardhana; tat-putraù—his son; pañca—five; pradyotanāù—Pradyotanas; ime—these; añña-triàça—thirty-eight; uttara—increased by; çatam—one hundred; bhokñyanti—they will enjoy; pāthivēm—the earth; nāpāù—these kings.

TRANSLATION

The son of Rājaka will be Nandivardhana, and thus in the Pradyotana dynasty there will be five kings, who will enjoy the earth for 138 years.

TEXT 4

izAzAunaAgAstataAe BaAvya:
k(Ak(vaNARstau tats$auta:
°aemaDamaAR tasya s$auta: °aeṭaÁa: °aemaDamaRja:

çiçunāgas tato bhāvyaù
kākavarēas tu tat-sutaù
kñemadharmā tasya sutaù
kñetrajī aù kñemadharma-jaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çiçunāgaù—Çiçunāga; tataù—then; bhāvyaù—will take birth; kākavarēau—Kākavarēa; tu—and; tat-sutaù—his son; kñemadharmā—Kñemadharmā; tasya—of Kākavarēa; sutaù—the son; kñetrajī aù—Kñetrajī a; kñemadharma-jaù—born to Kñemadharmā.

TRANSLATION

Nandivardhana will have a son named Çiçunāga, and his son will be known as Kākavarēa. The son of Kākavarēa will be Kñemadharmā, and the son of Kñemadharmā will be Kñetrajī a.

TEXT 5

ivaiDas$aAr": s$autastasyaAjaAtazAḥauBaRivaSyaita
d"BaRk(stats$autaAe BaAval
d"BaRk(syaAjaya: sma{ta:

*vidhisāraù sutas tasyäjätaçatruur bhaviṇyati darbhakas tat-suto bhävé
darbhakasyäjayaù smātaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vidhisāraù—Vidhisāra; sutaù—the son; tasya—of Kñetrajī a;
ajātaçatruù—Ajātaçatru; bhaviṇyati—will be; darbhakaù—Darbhaka;
tat-sutaù—the son of Ajātaçatru; bhävé—will take birth; darbhakasya—of Darbhaka; ajayaù—Ajaya; smātaù—is remembered.

TRANSLATION

The son of Kñetrajī a will be Vidhisāra, and his son will be Ajātaçatru.
Ajātaçatru will have a son named Darbhaka, and his son will be Ajaya.

TEXTS 6-8

naind"vaDaRna @AjaeyaAe
mah"Anaind": s$autastata:
izAzAunaAgAA d"zAEvaEtae
s$ai"YauÔar"zAtaḥayama,

s$amaA BaAe°yainta pa{iTaval%M
ku(ç&™aei" k(laAE na{paA:

mah"Anaind"s$autaAe r"Ajana,
zAU#%"AgABaAeRà"vaAe balal

mah"Apaápaita: k(iêna, nand": °aṭaivanaAzAk{(ta,
tataAe na{paA BaivaSyainta zAU#%"aAyaAstvaDaAimaRk(A:

*nandivardhana ājeyo
mahānandīu sutas tatau
çiṣunāgā daṣaivaite
saññy-uttara-ṣata-trayam*

*samā bhokñyanti pāthivēṇa
kuru-ṣreṇṇha kalau nāpāu
mahānandi-suto rājan
ṣūdrā-garbhodbhavo balē*

*mahāpadma-patīu kaṣṣin
nandau kñātra-vināṣa-kāt
tato nāpā bhaviñyanti
ṣūdra-prāyās tv adhārmikāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nandivardhana—Nandivardhana; ājeyau—the son of Ajaya; mahā-nandīu—Mahānandi; suta—the son; tata—then (following Nandivardhana); çiṣunāgāu—the Çiṣunāgas; daṣa—ten; eva—indeed; ete—these; saññi—sixty; uttara—increased by; ṣata-trayam—three hundred; samā—years; bhokñyanti—they will rule; pāthivēṇa—the earth; kuruṣreṇṇha—O best of the Kurus; kalau—in this age of Kali; nāpāu—the kings; mahānandi-suta—the son of Mahānandi; rājan—O King Parékñit; ṣūdrā-garbha—in the womb of a ṣūdra woman; udbhava—taking birth; balē—powerful; mahā-padma—of an army, or wealth, measured in the millions; patīu—the master; kaṣṣit—a certain; nanda—Nanda; kñātra—of the royal class; vināṣa-kāt—the destroyer; tata—then; nāpāu—the kings;

bhaviṇyanti—will become; çüdra-präyäu—no better than çüdras; tu—and; adhärmikäu—irreligious.

TRANSLATION

Ajaya will father a second Nandivardhana, whose son will be Mahänandi. O best of the Kurus, these ten kings of the Çiçunäga dynasty will rule the earth for a total of 360 years during the age of Kali. My dear Parékñit, King Mahänandi will father a very powerful son in the womb of a çüdra woman. He will be known as Nanda and will be the master of millions of soldiers and fabulous wealth. He will wreak havoc among the kñatriyas, and from that time onward virtually all kings will be irreligious çüdras.

PURPORT

Here is a description of how authentic political authority degenerated and disintegrated throughout the world. There is a Supreme Godhead, and there are saintly, powerful men who have taken the role of government leaders and represented that Godhead on earth. With the advent of the age of Kali, however, this transcendental system of government collapsed, and unauthorized, uncivilized men gradually took the reins of power.

TEXT 9

s$a Wk(cC$†aAM pa{iTavalma, @nauéaiÿtazAAs$ana:
zAAis$aSyaita mah"ApaáAe
iã"talya wva BaAgARva:

*sa eka-cchaträà pāthivém
anullaì ghita-çāsanaù
çāsiṇyati mahāpadmo
dvitéya iva bhārgavaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he (Nanda); eka-chaträm—under a single leadership; pāthivém—the entire earth; anullaì ghita—undefied; çäsanaù—his rulership; çäsiñyati—he will have sovereignty over; mahāpadmaù—the lord of Mahāpadma; dvitéyaù—a second; iva—as if; bhārgavaù—Paraçurāma.

TRANSLATION

That lord of Mahāpadma, King Nanda, will rule over the entire earth just like a second Paraçurāma, and no one will challenge his authority.

PURPORT

In the eighth verse of this chapter it was mentioned that King Nanda would destroy the remnants of the kñatriya order. Therefore he is here compared to Lord Paraçurāma, who annihilated the kñatriya class twenty-one times in a previous age.

TEXT 10

tasya caAí"AE BaivaSyainta
s$auMaAlya'amaUKaA: s$autaA:
ya wmaAM BaAe°yainta mah"I%M r"AjaAnaê zAtaM s$amaA:

tasya cāñau bhaviṇyanti
sumālya-pramukhāu sutāu ya imāà bhokṇyanti mahéà
rājānaç ca çataà samāu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—of him (Nanda); ca—and; añau—eight; bhaviṇyanti—will take birth; sumālya-pramukhāu—headed by Sumālya; sutāu—sons; ye—who;

imām—this; bhokīyanti—will enjoy; mahēm—the earth; rājānaù—kings; ca—and; çatam—one hundred; samāù—years.

TRANSLATION

He will have eight sons, headed by Sumālya, who will control the earth as powerful kings for one hundred years.

TEXT 11

nava nand"Ainã"ja: k(iêta,
'apa^aaAnauÜ"ir"Syaita taeSaAM @BaAvae jagAtal%M maAEyaAR BaAe^oyainta vaE k(laAE

*nava nandān dvijaù kaçcit prapannān uddhariṇyati
teñāà abhāve jagatēà
mauryā bhokīyanti vai kalau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nava—nine; nandān—the Nandas (King Nanda and his eight sons); dvijaù—brāhmaëa; kaçcit—a certain; prapannān—trusting; uddhariṇyati—will uproot; teñām—of them; abhāve—in the absence; jagatēm—the earth; mauryäù—the Maurya dynasty; bhokīyanti—will rule over; vai—indeed; kalau—in this age, Kali-yuga.

TRANSLATION

A certain brāhmaëa [Cäëakya] will betray the trust of King Nanda and his eight sons and will destroy their dynasty. In their absence the Mauryas will rule the world as the age of Kali continues.

PURPORT

Çrédhara Svämé and Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura both confirm that the brähmaëa mentioned here is Cäëakya, also known as Kauöilya or Vätsyäyana. The great historical narration Çrémad-Bhägavatam, which began with the events prior to the cosmic manifestation, now reaches into the realm of modern recorded history. Modern historians recognize both the Maurya dynasty and Candragupta, the king mentioned in the following verse.

TEXT 12

s$a Wva can%o" gAuæaM vaE
iã"jaAe r"Ajyae'iBaSae°yaita
tats$autaAe vaAir"s$aAr"stau tataêAzAAek(vaDaRna:

*sa eva candraguptaà vai
dvijo rājye 'bhiñekāyati
tat-suto vārisāras tu
tataç cāçokavardhanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he (Cäëakya); eva—indeed; candraguptam—Prince Candragupta; vai—indeed; dvijaù—the brähmaëa; rājye—in the role of king; abhiñekāyati—will install; tat—of Candragupta; sutaù—the son; vārisāraù—Vārisāra; tu—and; tataù—following Vārisāra; ca—and; açokavardhanaù—Açokavardhana.

TRANSLATION

This brähmaëa will enthrone Candragupta, whose son will be named Vārisāra. The son of Vārisāra will be Açokavardhana.

TEXT 13

s$auyazAA BaivataA tasya
s$aEÿta: s$auyazA:s$auta:
zAAilazAUk(statastasya
s$aAemazAmaAR BaivaSyaita zAtaDanvaA tatastasya BaivataA taä,"ba{h"%o"Ta:

*suyaçä bhavitä tasya
saì gataù suyaçaù-sutaù
çäliçüka tatas tasya
somaçarmä bhaviṇyati
çatadhanvä tatas tasya
bhavitä tad-bâhadrathaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

suyaçäù—Suyaçä; bhavitä—will be born; tasya—of him (Açokavardhana);
saì gataù—Saì gata; suyaçaù-sutaù—the son of Suyaçä; çäliçükaù—Çäliçüka;
tataù—next; tasya—of him (Çäliçüka); somaçarmä—Somaçarmä;
bhaviṇyati—will be; çatadhanvä—Çatadhanvä; tataù—next; tasya—of him (Somaçarmä); bhavitä—will be; tat—of him (Çatadhanvä); bâhadrathaù—Bâhadratha.

TRANSLATION

Açokavardhana will be followed by Suyaçä, whose son will be Saì gata. His son will be Çäliçüka, Çäliçüka's son will be Somaçarmä, and Somaçarmä's son will be Çatadhanvä. His son will be known as Brhadratha.

TEXT 14

maAEyaAR ÷etae d"zA na{paA:

s$æaiṭaMzAcC$taAeÔar"ma,
s$amaA BaAe°yainta pa{iTaval%M
k(laAE ku(ç&ku(laAeã"h"

*mauryä hy ete daça nâpâù
sapta-triàçac-chatottaram
samä bhokñyanti pâthivéà
kalau kuru-kulodvaha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mauryäù—the Mauryas; hi—indeed; ete—these; daça—ten; nâpâù—kings;
sapta-triàçat—thirty-seven; çata—one hundred; uttaram—more than;
samäù—years; bhokñyanti—they will rule; pâthivém—the earth; kalau—in Kali-yuga; kuru-kula—of the Kuru dynasty; udvaha—O most eminent hero.

TRANSLATION

O best of the Kurus, these ten Maurya kings will rule the earth for 137 years of the Kali-yuga.

PURPORT

Although nine kings are mentioned by name, Daçaratha appeared after Sujyeñôha, before the rule of Saì gata, and thus there are ten Maurya kings.

TEXTS 15-17

@içaimaṭastatastasmaAta, s$aujyaei"Ae BaivataA tata:
vas$auimaṭaAe Ba%°"k(ê
pauiland"Ae BaivataA s$auta:

tataAe GaAeSa: s$autastasmaAä," vaṭaimaṭaAe BaivaSyaita tataAe BaAgAvatastasmaAä," de"vaBaUita: ku(è&ã"h"

zAuËÿA d"zAEtae BaAe^oyainta BaUimaM vaSaRzAtaAiDak(ma, tata: k(ANvaAinayaM BaUimar," yaAsyatyalpagAuNAA^aa{pa

*agnimitras tatas tasmät
sujyeñño bhavitä tataù
vasumitro bhadraça ca
pulindo bhavitä sutaù*

*tato ghoñaù sutas tasmäd vajramitro bhaviñyati
tato bhägavatas tasmäd
devabhütiù kurüdvaha*

*çuì gä daçaite bhokñyanti bhümià varña-çatädhikam
tataù käëvân iyaà bhümir
yäs्यaty alpa-guëän nâpa*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

agnimitraù—Agnimitra; tataù—from Puñpamitra, the general who will murder Bâhadratha; tasmät—from him (Agnimitra); sujyeñño—Sujyeñña; bhavitä—will be; tataù—from him; vasumitraù—Vasumitra; bhadraça—Bhadraça; ca—and; pulindaù—Pulinda; bhavitä—will be; sutaù—the son; tataù—from him (Pulinda); ghoñaù—Ghoña; sutaù—the son; tasmät—from him; vajramitraù—Vajramitra; bhaviñyati—will be; tataù—from him; bhägavataù—Bhägavata; tasmät—from him; devabhüti—Devabhüti; kuru-udvaha—O most eminent of the Kurus; çuì gä—the Çuì gas; daça—ten; ete—these; bhokñyanti—will enjoy; bhümim—the earth; varña—years; çata—one hundred; adhikam—more than; tataù—then; käëvân—the Käëva dynasty; iyam—this; bhümiù—the earth; yäs्यaty—will come under the domain; alpa-guëän—of few good qualities; nāpa—O King Parékñit.

TRANSLATION

My dear King Parékñit, Agnimitra will follow as king, and then Sujyeñōha. Sujyeñōha will be followed by Vasumitra, Bhadraka, and the son of Bhadraka, Pulinda. Then the son of Pulinda, named Ghoña, will rule, followed by Vajramitra, Bhāgavata and Devabhūti. In this way, O most eminent of the Kuru heroes, ten Çuī ga kings will rule over the earth for more than one hundred years. Then the earth will come under the subjugation of the kings of the Kāēva dynasty, who will manifest very few good qualities.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé, the Çuī ga dynasty began when General Puīpamitra killed his king, Bāhadratha, and assumed power. After Puīpamitra came Agnimitra and the rest of the Çuī ga dynasty, which lasted for 112 years.

TEXT 18

zAuĒMÿ h"tvaA de"vaBaUitaM
k(ANvaAe'maAtyastau k(Aimanama, svayaM k(ir"Syatae r"AjyaM
vas$au"vaAe mah"Amaita:

çuī ga à hatvā devabhūti à kāēvo 'mātyas tu kāmīnam svaya à kariṇyate rājya à vasudevo mahā-mati u

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çuī gam—the Çuī ga king; hatvā—killing; devabhūtim—Devabhūti; kāēva u—the member of the Kāēva family; amātya u—his minister; tu—but;

kāminam—lusty; svayam—himself; kariṇyate—will execute; rājyam—the rulership; vasudevaù—named Vasudeva; mahā-matiù—very intelligent.

TRANSLATION

Vasudeva, an intelligent minister coming from the Kāëva family, will kill the last of the Çuì ga kings, a lusty debauchee named Devabhüti, and assume rulership himself.

PURPORT

Apparently, because King Devabhüti was lusty after the wives of other men, his minister killed him, assuming leadership and thus beginning the Kāëva dynasty.

TEXT 19

tasya pauṭastau BaUimaṭas$a, tasya naAr"AyaNA: s$auta:
k(ANvaAyanaA wmae BaUimaM catvaAir$MzA»a paÂa ca
zAtaAina ṭaliNA BaAe°yainta vaSaARNAAM ca k(laAE yaugAe

tasya putras tu bhūmitras tasya nārāyaëaù sutaù
kāëvāyanā ime bhūmīà
catvāriàçac ca pa'i ca ca
çatāni trēi bhokṇiyanti
varṇāëää ca kalau yuge

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—of him (Vasudeva); putraù—the son; tu—and; bhūmitraù—Bhūmitra; tasya—his; nārāyaëaù—Nārāyaëa; sutaù—the son; kāëva-ayanäù—kings of the Kāëva dynasty; ime—these; bhūmim—the earth; *catvāri*àçat—forty; ca—and; pai ca—five; ca—and;

çatāni—hundreds; trēi—three; bhokñyanti—they will rule;
varñāëām—years; ca—and; kalau yuge—in the Kali-yuga.

TRANSLATION

The son of Vasudeva will be Bhūmitra, and his son will be Nārāyaëa.
These kings of the Kāëva dynasty will rule the earth for 345 more years of the Kali-yuga.

TEXT 20

h"tvaA k(ANvaM s$auzAmaARNAM
taà{"tyaAe va{SalaAe balal gAAM BaAe°yatyan'ajaAtalya:
k(iÂatk(Alamas$aÔama:

*hatvā kāëva*à *suçarmäëa*à tad-bhātyo vāñalo balé
*gā*à *bhokñyaty andhra-jätéya*ù
*kai cit kālam asattama*ù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

hatvā—killing; kāëvam—the Kāëva king; suçarmäëam—named Suçarmä;
*tat-bhātya*ù—his own servant; *vāñala*ù—a low-class çüdra; balé—named Balé;
gām—the earth; bhokñyati—will rule; *andhra-jätéya*ù—of the Andhra race;
kai cit—for some; kālam—time; *asattama*ù—most degraded.

TRANSLATION

The last of the Kāëvas, Suçarmä, will be murdered by his own servant, Balé a low-class çüdra of the Andhra race. This most degraded Mahārāja Balé will have control over the earth for some time.

PURPORT

Here is a further description of how uncultured men infiltrated government administration. The so-called king named Balé is described as asattama, a most impious, uncultured man.

TEXTS 21-26

k{(SNAnaAmaATa taä,""aAtaA BaivataA pa{iTavalpaita: ™alzAAntak(NARstatpauṭa:
paAENARmaAs$astau tats$auta:

lambaAed"r"stau tatpauṭas$a, tasmaAi»aibalak(Ae na{pa:
maeGasvaAitaiêibalak(Aä," @q%maAnastau tasya ca

@inaí"k(maAR h"Alaeyas$a, talak(stasya caAtmaja:
paur"ISaBalç&statpauṭas$a, tataAe r"AjaA s$aunand"na:

cak(Aer"Ae bah"vaAe yaṭa
izAvasvaAitar"ir"nd"ma:
tasyaAipa gAAematal pauṭa:
paur"ImaAna, BaivataA tata:

maed"izAr"A: izAvas$k(nd"Ae
yaÁa™alstats$autastata:
ivajayastats$autaAe BaAvyazA,
can%o"ivaÁa: s$alaAemaiDa:

Wtae iṭaMzAªa{patayazA,
catvaAyaRbd"zAtaAina ca
Saq%.paÁaAzA»a pa{iTaval%M

BaAe°yainta ku(ç&nand"na

*kâñëa-nämätha tad-bhrätä bhavitä pâthivé-patiù
çré-çäntakarëas tat-putraù paurëamäsas tu tat-sutaù*

*lambodaras tu tat-putras tasmäc cibilako nâpaù
meghasvätiç cibilakäd
aãmänas tu tasya ca*

*aniññakarmä häleyas
talakas tasya cätma-jaù
purëñabhërus tat-putras
tato räjä sunandanaù*

*cakoro bahavo yatra
çivasvätir arin-damaù
tasyäpi gomaté putraù
purémän bhavitä tataù*

*medaçiräù çivaskando
yaji' açrés tat-sutas tataù vijayas tat-suto bhävyaç candraviji' aù sa-lomadhiù*

*ete triàçan nâpatayaç
catväry abda-çatäni ca
ñäö-pai' cäçac ca pâthivéà
bhokñyanti kuru-nandana*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kâñëa-näma—named Kâñëa; atha—then; tat—of him (Balé); bhrätä—the brother; bhavitä—will become; pâthivé-patiù—the master of the earth; çré-çäntakarëaù—Çré Çäntakarëa; tat—of Kâñëa; putraù—the son;

paurëamäsaù—Paurëamäsa; tu—and; tat-sutaù—his son; lambodaraù—Lambodara; tu—and; tat-putraù—his son; tasmät—from him (Lambodara); cibilakaù—Cibilaka; näpaù—the king; meghasvätiù—Meghasväti; cibilakät—from Cibilaka; aöamänaù—Aöamäna; tu—and; tasya—of him (Meghasväti); ca—and; aniñöakarmä—Aniñöakarmä; häleyaù—Häleya; talakaù—Talaka; tasya—of him (Häleya); ca—and; ätma-jaù—the son; purëñabhëruù—Purëñabhëru; tat—of Talaka; putraù—the son; tataù—then; räjä—the king; sunandanaù—Sunandana; cakoraù—Cakora; bahavaù—the Bahu; yatra—among whom; çivasvätiù—Çivasväti; arimdamaù—the subduer of enemies; tasya—of him; api—also; gomaté—Gomaté; putraù—the son; purëmän—Purëmän; bhavitä—will be; tataù—from him (Gomaté); medaçiräù—Medaçirä; çivaskandaù—Çivaskanda; yajï açréù—Yajï açré; tat—of Çivaskanda; sutaù—the son; tataù—then; vijayaù—Vijaya; tat-sutaù—his son; bhävyaù—will be; candravijï aù—Candravijï a; sa-lomadhiù—along with Lomadhi; ete—these; triàçat—thirty; nä-patayaù—kings; catväri—four; abda-çatäni—centuries; ca—and; ñäö-pai çäsat—fifty-six; ca—and; päthivém—the world; bhokñiyanti—will rule; kuru-nandana—O favorite son of the Kurus.

TRANSLATION

The brother of Balé, named Kãñëa, will become the next ruler of the earth. His son will be Çäntakarëa, and his son will be Paurëamäsa. The son of Paurëamäsa will be Lambodara, who will father Mahäräja Cibilaka. From Cibilaka will come Meghasväti, whose son will be Aöamäna. The son of Aöamäna will be Aniñöakarmä. His son will be Häleya, and his son will be Talaka. The son of Talaka will be Purëñabhëru, and following him Sunandana will become king. Sunandana will be followed by Cakora and the eight Bahu, among whom Çivasväti will be a great subduer of enemies. The son of Çivasväti will be Gomaté. His son will be Purëmän, whose son will be Medaçirä. His son will be Çivaskanda, and his son will be Yajï açré. The son of Yajï açré will be Vijaya, who will have two sons, Candravijï a and Lomadhi. These thirty kings will enjoy sovereignty over the earth for a total of 456 years, O favorite son of the Kurus.

TEXT 27

s$aæaABalr"A @AvaBa{tyaA
d"zA gAdR"iBanaAe na{paA:
k(ÆÿA: SaAex"zA BaUpaAlaA BaivaSyantyaitalaAelaupaA:

*saptābhērā āvabhātyā
daça gardabhino nāpāu
kaī kâu ñoàça bhü-pälä
bhaviṇyanti ati-lolupāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sapta—seven; ābhērāu—Ābhéras; āvabhātyāu—of the city of Avabhāti;
daça—ten; gardabhinau—Gardabhés; nāpāu—kings; kaī kâu—Kaī kas;
ñoàça—sixteen; bhü-pälä—rulers of the earth; bhaviṇyanti—will be;
ati-lolupāu—very greedy.

TRANSLATION

Then will follow seven kings of the Ābhéra race from the city of Avabhāti, and then ten Gardabhés. After them, sixteen kings of the Kaī kas will rule and will be known for their excessive greed.

TEXT 28

tataAe'í"AE yavanaA BaAvyaAzA, cataudR"zA tauç&Sk(k(A: BaUyaAe d"zA gAuç&Nx"Aê maAEIaA Wk(Ad"zAEva tau

tato 'ñāu yavanā bhāvyāç

caturdaça turuṇkakāu
bhūyo daça guruëðäç ca
maulä ekädaçaiva tu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tatau—then; aññau—eight; yavanāu—Yavanas; bhāvyāu—will be;
catuū-daça—fourteen; туруṇkakāu—Turuṇkas; bhūyaū—furthermore;
daça—ten; guruëðäu—Guruëðas; ca—and; maulāu—Maulas;
ekädaça—eleven; eva—indeed; tu—and.

TRANSLATION

Eight Yavanas will then take power, followed by fourteen Turuṇkas, ten Guruëðas and eleven kings of the Maula dynasty.

TEXTS 29-31

Wtae BaAe^oyainta pa{iTaval%M d"zA vaSaRzAtaAina ca navaAiDak(AM ca navaitaM maAEIaA Wk(Ad"zA i^oaitama,

BaAe^oyantyabd"zAtaAnyāĒy ḥaliNA taE: s$AMisTatae tata:
ik(laik(laAyaAM na{patayaAe BaUtanand"Ae'Ta vaiĒyir":

izAzAunaind"ê taä,""aAtaA yazAAenaind": 'avalr"k(:
wtyaetae vaE vaSaRzAtaM BaivaSyantyaiDak(Aina Saq%.

ete bhokṇyanti pāthivēà
daça varīa-çatāni ca
navādhikāà ca navatīà

maulä ekädaça kñitim
bhokñyanty abda-çatäny aì ga
tréëi taiù saàsthite tataù kilakiläyää nâpatayo
bhütanando 'tha vaì giriù
çiçunandiç ca tad-bhrätä yaçonandiù pravérakaù
ity ete vai varña-çataà
bhaviñyanty adhikäni ñaô

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ete—these; bhokñyanti—will rule; pāthivém—the earth; daça—ten; varña-çatäni—centuries; ca—and; nava-adhikām—plus nine; ca—and; navatim—ninety; mauläù—the Maulas; ekädaça—eleven; kñitim—the world; bhokñyanti—will rule; abda-çatäni—centuries; aì ga—my dear Parékñit; tréëi—three; taiù—they; saàsthite—when they are all dead; tataù—then; kilakiläyäm—in the city Kilakilä; nâ-patayaù—kings; bhütanandaù—Bhütananda; atha—and then; vaì giriù—Vaì giri; çiçunandiù—Çiçunandi; ca—and; tat—his; bhrätä—brother; yaçonandiù—Yaçonandi; pravérakaù—Pravéraka; iti—thus; ete—these; vai—indeed; varña-çatam—one hundred years; bhaviñyanti—will be; adhikäni—plus; ñaô—six.

TRANSLATION

These Äbhéras, Gardabhés and Kaì kas will enjoy the earth for 1,099 years, and the Maulas will rule for 300 years. When all of them have died off there will appear in the city of Kilakilä a dynasty of kings consisting of Bhütananda, Vaì giri, Çiçunandi, Çiçunandi's brother Yaçonandi, and Pravéraka. These kings of Kilakilä will hold sway for a total of 106 years.

TEXTS 32-33

taeSaAM þayaAed"zA s$autaA BaivataAr"ê baAiø"k(A:
pauSpaimaþaAe'Ta r"AjanyaAe
äu"imaRþaAe'sya taTaEva ca

Wk(k(AlaA wmae BaUpaA:
s$aæaAn'æA: s$aæa k(AEzAlaA:
ivaäU"r"patayaAe BaAvyaA inaSaDaAstata Wva ih"

teñäà trayodaça sutä
bhavitäraç ca bählikäù
puñpamitro 'tha rājanyo
durmitro 'sya tathaiva ca

eka-kālā ime bhü-päù
saptāndhräù sapta kauçaläù
vidūra-patayo bhävyä
niñadhäs tata eva hi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

teñäm—of them (Bhütananda and the other kings of the Kilakilä dynasty);
trayodaça—thirteen; sutäù—sons; bhavitäraù—will be; ca—and;
bählikäù—called the Bählikas; puñpamitraù—Puñpamitra; atha—then;
rājanyaù—the king; durmitraù—Durmitra; asya—his (son); tathä—also;
eva—indeed; ca—and; eka-käläù—ruling at the same time; ime—these;
bhü-päù—kings; sapta—seven; andhräù—Andhras; sapta—seven;
kauçaläù—kings of Kauçala-deça; vidūra-patayaù—rulers of Vidūra;
bhävyäù—will be; niñadhäù—Niñadhas; tataù—then (after the Bählikas);
eva hi—indeed.

TRANSLATION

The Kilakiläs will be followed by their thirteen sons, the Bählikas, and after them King Puñpamitra, his son Durmitra, seven Andhras, seven Kauçalas and also kings of the Vidūra and Niñadha provinces will separately rule in different parts of the world.

TEXT 34

maAgADaAnaAM tau BaivataA ivaïs$PU(ijaR: paur"Ãaya:
k(ir"Syatapar"Ae vaNAARna, pauiland"yaäu"ma%"k(Ana,

*māgadhānā tu bhavitā
viçvasphūrjī purai jayaù
kariṇyaty aparo varëän
pulinda-yadu-madrakān*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

māgadhānām—of the Magadha province; tu—and; bhavitā—there will be; viçvasphūrjī—Viçvasphūrji; purai jayaù—King Purai jaya; kariṇyati—he will make; aparaù—being the replica of; varëän—all the civilized classes of men; pulinda-yadu-madrakān—into outcastes such as the Pulindas, Yadus and Madrakas.

TRANSLATION

There will then appear a king of the Māgadhas named Viçvasphūrji, who will be like another Purai jaya. He will turn all the civilized classes into low-class, uncivilized men in the same category as the Pulindas, Yadus and Madrakas.

TEXT 35

‘ajaAêA“aöBaUiyaï”A:
sTaApaiyaSyaita äü"maRita:
valyaRvaAna, °aṭamauts$AÂ

paávatyaAM s$a vaE paui" @naugAËÿmaA'ayaAgAM gAuæaAM BaAe°yaita maeid"nalma,

prajāç cābrahma-bhūyiñhāu
sthāpayiñyati durmatiù
véryavān kñatram utsādyā
padmavatyāà sa vai puri
anu-gaì gam ā-prayāgaà
guptāà bhokñyati mediném

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prajāù—the citizens; ca—and; abrahma—unbrahminical; bhūyiñhāù—predominantly; sthāpayiñyati—he will make; durmatiù—the unintelligent (Viçvasphürji); vérya-van—powerful; kñatram—the kñatriya class; utsādyā—destroying; padmavatyām—in Padmavaté; saù—he; vai—indeed; puri—in the city; anu-gaì gam—from Gaì gādvārā (Hardwar); ā-prayāgam—to Prayāga; guptām—protected; bhokñyati—he will rule; mediném—the earth.

TRANSLATION

Foolish King Viçvasphürji will maintain all the citizens in ungodliness and will use his power to completely disrupt the kñatriya order. From his capital of Padmavaté he will rule that part of the earth extending from the source of the Gaì gā to Prayāga.

TEXT 36

s$aAEr"Aí)"AvantyaABalr"Aê
zAUr"A @bauRd"maAlavaA: ~aAtyaA iã"jaA BaivaSyainta
zAU#%"aAyaA janaAiDapaA:

*saṛāññāvanty-ābhērāḥ ca
ḥūrā arbuda-mālavāu vrātyā dvijā bhaviṇyanti
ḥūdra-prāyā janādhipāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ḥaurāññā—residing in Ḥaurāññā; avantē—in Avantē; ābhērāu—and in Ābhēra; ca—and; ḥūrāu—residing in the Ḥūra province; arbuda-mālavāu—residing in Arbuda and Mālava; vrātyāu—deviated from all purificatory rituals; dvijāu—the brāhmaēas; bhaviṇyanti—will become; ḥūdra-prāyāu—no better than ḥūdras; jana-adhipāu—the kings.

TRANSLATION

At that time the brāhmaēas of such provinces as Ḥaurāññā, Avantē, Ābhēra, Ḥūra, Arbuda and Mālava will forget all their regulative principles, and the members of the royal order in these places will become no better than ḥūdras.

TEXT 37

is$anDaAestaqM% can%"BaAgAAM k(AEntal%M k(Azmalr"maNx"lama, BaAe°yainta zAU#%"A ~aAtyaAâA mlaecC$AêA“aövacaRs$a:

*sindhos taāaà candrabhägāà
kauntéà kâçméra-maëòalam
bhokṇyanti ḥūdrā vrātyādyā
mlecchāḥ câbrahma-varcasaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sindhou—of the River Sindhu; taām—the land on the shore; candrabhägām—Candrabhägā; kauntém—Kaunté; kâçméra-maëòalam—the region of Kāçméra; bhokñyanti—will rule; çüdräù—çüdras; vrätya-ädyäù—brähmaëas who have fallen from the brahminical standard, and other disqualified men; mlecchäù—meat-eaters; ca—and; abrahma-varcasaù—lacking spiritual potency.

TRANSLATION

The land along the Sindhu River, as well as the districts of Candrabhägä, Kaunté and Kāçméra, will be ruled by çüdras, fallen brähmaëas and meat-eaters. Having given up the path of Vedic civilization, they will have lost all spiritual strength.

TEXT 38

taulyak(AlaA wmae r"Ajana, mlaecC$'aAyaAê BaUBa{ta:
Wtae'DamaARna{tapar"A: P(lgAud"Astaĩamanyava:

tulya-kälä ime räjan
mleccha-präyâç ca bhü-bhâtaù
ete 'dharmânâta-paräù
phalgu-däs tévra-manyavaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tulya-käläù—ruling at the same time; ime—these; räjan—O King Parékñit; mleccha-präyâù—mostly outcastes; ca—and; bhü-bhâtaù—kings; ete—these; adharma—to irreligion; anâta—and untruthfulness; paräù—dedicated; phalgu-däù—giving little benefit to their subjects; tévra—fierce; manyavaù—their anger.

TRANSLATION

There will be many such uncivilized kings ruling at the same time, O King

Parékñit, and they will all be uncharitable, possessed of fierce tempers, and great devotees of irreligion and falsity.

TEXTS 39-40

ñlbaAlagAAeiã"ja£aAê
par"d"Ar"DanaAä{"taA:
oid"taAstaimata'aAyaA @lpas$aÔvaAlpak(AyauSa:

@s$aMs$k{(taA: i,(yaAh"lnaA
r"jas$aA tamas$aAva{taA:
'ajaAstae Ba°aiyaSyainta mlaecC$a r"Ajanyaè&ipaNA:

*stré-bāla-go-dvija-ghnāç ca
para-dāra-dhanādātāu
uditāsta-mita-prāyā
alpa-sattvālpakāyūñāu
asaàskātāu kriyā-hénā
rajasā tamasāvātāu
prajās te bhakñayiñyanti
mlecchā rājanya-rūpiēāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

stré—of women; bāla—children; go—cows; dvija—and brāhmaēas; ghnāu—the murderers; ca—and; para—of other men; dāra—the wives; dhana—and money; ādātāu—showing interest in; udita-asta-mita—switching their moods from elated to depressed and then to moderate; prāyāu—for the most part; alpa-sattva—having little strength; alpaka-āyūñāu—and short life spans; asaàskātāu—not purified by Vedic rituals; kriyā-hénāu—devoid of regulative principles; rajasā—by the mode of passion; tamasā—and by the mode of ignorance; āvātāu—covered over; prajāu—the citizens; te—they; bhakñayiñyanti—will virtually devour;

mlecchäù—outcastes; rājanya-rüpiëaù—appearing as kings.

TRANSLATION

These barbarians in the guise of kings will devour the citizenry, murdering innocent women, children, cows and brāhmaëas and coveting the wives and property of other men. They will be erratic in their moods, have little strength of character and be very short-lived. Indeed, not purified by any Vedic rituals and lacking in the practice of regulative principles, they will be completely covered by the modes of passion and ignorance.

PURPORT

These verses give a concise, accurate description of the fallen leaders of this age.

TEXT 41

ta^aaATaAstae janapad"As$a,
tacC$llaAcaAr"vaAid"na:
@nyaAenyataAe r"AjaiBaê °ayaM yaAsyainta palix"taA:

tan-nāthās te janapadās
tac-chēlācāra-vādinaù
anyonyato rājabhiç ca
kñayaà yāsyanti péòitāù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat-nāthāù—the subjects having these kings as rulers; te—they; jana-padāù—the residents of the cities; tat—of these kings; çēla—(imitating) the character; ācāra—behavior; vādinaù—and speech; anyonyataù—one another; rājabhiù—by the kings; ca—and; kñayam yāsyanti—they will become ruined; péòitāù—tormented.

TRANSLATION

The citizens governed by these low-class kings will imitate the character, behavior and speech of their rulers. Harassed by their leaders and by each other, they will all suffer ruination.

PURPORT

At the end of the Ninth Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, it is stated that Ripuñ jaya, or Puraiñ jaya, the first king mentioned in this chapter, ended his rule about one thousand years after the time of Lord Kāñëa. Since Lord Kāñëa appeared approximately five thousand years ago, Puraiñ jaya must have appeared about four thousand years ago. That would mean that Viçvasphürji, the last king mentioned, would have appeared approximately in the twelfth century of the Christian era.

Modern Western scholars have made the false accusation that Indian religious literature has no sense of chronological history. But the elaborate historical chronology described in this chapter certainly refutes that naive assessment.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Twelfth Canto, First Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "The Degraded Dynasties of Kali-yuga."

2. The Symptoms of Kali-yuga

This chapter relates that, when the bad qualities of the age of Kali will increase to an intolerable level, the Supreme Personality of Godhead will descend as Kalki to destroy those who are fixed in irreligion. After that, a new Satya-yuga will begin.

As the age of Kali progresses, all good qualities of men diminish and all impure qualities increase. Atheistic systems of so-called religion become predominant, replacing the codes of Vedic law. The kings become just like highway bandits, the people in general become dedicated to low occupations, and all the social classes become just like çüdras. All cows become like goats, all spiritual hermitages become like materialistic homes, and family ties extend no further than the immediate relationship of marriage.

When the age of Kali has almost ended, the Supreme Personality of Godhead will incarnate. He will appear in the village Çambhala, in the home of the exalted brähmaëa Viñëuyaça, and will take the name Kalki. He will mount His horse Devadatta and, taking His sword in hand, will roam about the earth killing millions of bandits in the guise of kings. Then the signs of the next Satya-yuga will begin to appear. When the moon, sun and the planet Bâhaspati enter simultaneously into one constellation and conjoin in the lunar mansion Puñyâ, Satya-yuga will begin. In the order of Satya, Tretâ, Dvâpara and Kali, the cycle of four ages rotates in the society of living entities in this universe.

The chapter ends with a brief description of the future dynasties of the sun and moon coming from Vaivasvata Manu in the next Satya-yuga. Even now two saintly kñatriyas are living who at the end of this Kali-yuga will reinitiate the pious dynasties of the sun-god, Vivasvân, and the moon-god, Candra. One of these kings is Devâpi, a brother of Mahârâja Çantanu, and the other is Maru, a descendant of Ikâvâku. They are biding their time incognito in a village named Kalâpa.

TEXT 1

™alzAuk(ovaAca
tataêAnauid"naM DamaR:
s$atyaM zAAEcaM °amaA d"yaA
k(Alaena bailanaA r"Ajana, naÉyYatyaAyaubaRlaM smaṣita:

çré-çuka uvāca
tataç cānu-dinaà dharmaù
satyaà çaucaà kñamā dayā
kālena balinā rājan
naì kñyaty āyur balaà smātiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çukaù uvāca—Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; tataù—then; ca—and; anudinam—day after day; dharmaù—religion; satyam—truth; çaucam—cleanliness; kñamā—tolerance; dayā—mercy; kālena—by the force of time; balinā—strong; rājan—O King Parékñit; naì kñyati—will become ruined; āyuù—duration of life; bala—strength; smātiù—memory.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Then, O King, religion, truthfulness, cleanliness, tolerance, mercy, duration of life, physical strength and memory will all diminish day by day because of the powerful influence of the age of Kali.

PURPORT

During the present age, Kali-yuga, practically all desirable qualities will gradually diminish, as described in this verse. For example, dharma, which indicates a respect for higher authority that leads one to obey religious principles, will diminish.

In the Western world, theologians have been unable to scientifically present the laws of God or, indeed, God Himself, and thus in Western intellectual history a rigid dichotomy has arisen between theology and science. In an attempt to resolve this conflict, some theologians have agreed to modify their doctrines so that they conform not only to proven scientific facts but even to pseudoscientific speculations and hypotheses, which, though unproven, are hypocritically included within the realm of "science."

On the other hand, some fanatical theologians disregard the scientific method altogether and insist on the veracity of their antiquated, sectarian dogmas.

Thus bereft of systematic Vedic theology, material science has moved into the destructive realm of gross materialism, while speculative Western philosophy has drifted into the superficiality of relativistic ethics and inconclusive linguistic analysis. With so many of the best Western minds dedicated to materialistic analysis, naturally much of Western religious life, separated from the intellectual mainstream, is dominated by irrational fanaticism and unauthorized mystic and mystery cults. People have become so ignorant of the science of God that they often lump the Kāñëa consciousness movement in with this odd assortment of fanciful attempts at theology and religion. Thus dharma, or true religion, which is strict and conscious obedience to God's law, is diminishing.

Satyam, truthfulness, is also diminishing, simply because people do not know what the truth is. Without knowing the Absolute Truth, one cannot clearly understand the real significance or purpose of life merely by amassing huge quantities of relative or hypothetical truths.

Kñamä, tolerance or forgiveness, is diminishing as well, because there is no practical method by which people can purify themselves and thus become free of envy. Unless one is purified by chanting the holy names of the Lord in an authorized program of spiritual improvement, the mind will be overwhelmed by anger, envy and all sorts of small-mindedness. Thus dayä, mercy, is also decreasing. All living beings are eternally connected by their common participation in the divine existence of God. When this existential oneness is obscured through atheism and agnosticism, people are not inclined to be merciful to one another; they cannot recognize their self-interest in promoting the welfare of other living beings. In fact, people are no longer even merciful to themselves: they systematically destroy themselves through liquor, drugs, tobacco, meat-eating, sexual promiscuity and whatever other cheap gratificatory processes are available to them.

Because of all these self-destructive practices and the powerful influence of time, the average life span (äyur) is decreasing. Modern scientists, seeking to gain credibility among the mass of people, often publish statistics supposedly showing that science has increased the average duration of life. But these statistics do not take into account the number of people killed through the cruel practice of abortion. When we figure aborted children into the life expectancy of the total population, we find that the average duration of life has not at all increased in the age of Kali but is rather decreasing drastically.

Balam, bodily strength, is also decreasing. The Vedic literature states that five thousand years ago, in the previous age, human beings—and even animals and plants—were larger and stronger. With the progress of the age of Kali, physical stature and strength will gradually diminish.

Certainly smāti, memory, is weakening. In former ages human beings possessed superior memory, and they also did not encumber themselves with a terrible bureaucratic and technical society, as we have done. Thus essential information and abiding wisdom were preserved without recourse to writing. Of course, in the age of Kali things are dramatically different.

TEXT 2

ivaÔamaeva k(laAE na|NAAM janmaAcaAr"gAuNAAed"ya:
DamaRnyaAyavyavasTaAyaAM
k(Ar"NAM balamaeva ih"

vittam eva kalau nêëää janmâcâra-guëodayaû
dharma-nyâya-vyavasthâyââ
kâraëää balam eva hi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vittam—wealth; eva—alone; kalau—in the age of Kali; nêëää—among men; janma—of good birth; âcâra—good behavior; guëa—and good qualities; udayaû—the cause of manifestation; dharma—of religious duty;

nyāya—and reason; vyavasthāyām—in the establishment; kāraëam—the cause; balam—strength; eva—only; hi—indeed.

TRANSLATION

In Kali-yuga, wealth alone will be considered the sign of a man's good birth, proper behavior and fine qualities. And law and justice will be applied only on the basis of one's power.

PURPORT

In the age of Kali, a man is considered high class, middle class or low class merely according to his financial status, regardless of his knowledge, culture and behavior. In this age there are many great industrial and commercial cities with luxurious neighborhoods reserved for the wealthy. On beautiful tree-lined roads, within apparently aristocratic homes, it is not unusual to find many perverted, dishonest and sinful activities taking place. According to Vedic criteria, a man is considered high class if his behavior is enlightened, and his behavior is considered enlightened if his activities are dedicated to promoting the happiness of all creatures. Every living being is originally happy, because in all living bodies there is an eternal spiritual spark that partakes of the divine conscious nature of God. When our original spiritual awareness is revived, we become naturally blissful and satisfied in knowledge and peace. An enlightened, or educated, man should endeavor to revive his own spiritual understanding, and he should help others experience the same sublime consciousness.

The great Western philosopher Socrates stated that if a man is enlightened he will automatically act virtuously, and Çréla Prabhupāda confirmed this fact. But in the Kali-yuga this obvious truth is disregarded, and the search for knowledge and virtue has been replaced by a vicious, animalistic competition for money. Those who prevail become the "top dogs" of modern society, and their consumer power grants them a reputation as most respectable, aristocratic and well educated.

This verse also states that in the age of Kali brute strength (balam eva) will determine law and "justice." We should keep in mind that in the progressive, Vedic culture, there was no artificial dichotomy between the spiritual and the public realms. All civilized people took it for granted that God is everywhere and that His laws are binding upon all creatures. The Sanskrit word dharma, therefore, indicates one's social, or public, obligation as well as one's religious duty. Thus responsibly caring for one's family is dharma, and engaging in the loving service of God is also dharma. This verse indicates, however, that in the age of Kali the principle of "might makes right" will hold sway.

In the first chapter of this canto we observed how this principle infiltrated India's past. Similarly, as the Western world achieved political, economic and technological hegemony over Asian lands, bogus propaganda was disseminated to the effect that Indian, and in general all non-Western, religion, theology and philosophy are somehow primitive and unscientific—mere mythology and superstition. Fortunately this arrogant, irrational view is now dissipating, and people all over the world are beginning to appreciate the staggering wealth of spiritual philosophy and science available in the Sanskrit literature of India. In other words, many intelligent people no longer consider traditional Western religion or empirical science, which has virtually superseded religion as the official Western dogma, necessarily authoritative merely because the West has politically and economically subdued other geographic and ethnic configurations of humanity. Thus there is now hope that spiritual issues can be contested and resolved on a philosophical level and not merely by a crude test of arms.

Next this verse points out that the rule of law will be applied unequally to the powerful and the powerless. Already in many nations justice is available only to those who can pay and fight for it. In a civilized state, every man, woman and child must have equal and rapid access to a fair system of laws. In modern times we sometimes refer to this as human rights. Certainly human rights are one of the more obvious casualties of the age of Kali.

TEXT 3

d"Ampatyae'iBaç&icaheR"taur," maAyaEva vyaAvah"Air"ke( ñltvae pauMstvae ca ih" r"itar," iva'atvae s$aUṭamaeva ih"

*dāmpatye 'bhirucir hetur māyaiva vyāvahārike
strétve puàstve ca hi ratir
vipratve sūtram eva hi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dām-patye—in the relationship of husband and wife; abhiruciù—superficial attraction; hetuù—the reason; māyā—deceit; eva—indeed; vyāvahārike—in business; strétve—in being a woman; puàstve—in being a man; ca—and; hi—indeed; ratìù—sex; vipratve—in being a brāhmaëa; sūtram—the sacred thread; eva—only; hi—indeed.

TRANSLATION

Men and women will live together merely because of superficial attraction, and success in business will depend on deceit. Womanliness and manliness will be judged according to one's expertise in sex, and a man will be known as a brāhmaëa just by his wearing a thread.

PURPORT

Just as human life as a whole has a great and serious purpose—namely spiritual liberation—fundamental human institutions such as marriage and child-rearing should also be dedicated to that great objective. Unfortunately, in the present age the satisfaction of the sex impulse has become the overriding, if not the exclusive, reason for marriage.

The sexual impulse, which induces the male and female of almost every species to combine physically, and in higher species also emotionally, is ultimately not a natural urge, because it is based on the unnatural identification of the self with the body. Life itself is a spiritual phenomenon. It is the soul that lives and gives apparent life to the biological machine called the body. Consciousness is the soul's manifest energy, and thus consciousness, awareness itself, is originally an entirely spiritual event. When life, or consciousness, is confined within a biological machine and falsely mistakes itself to be that machine, material existence occurs and sex desire arises.

God intends human life to be an opportunity for us to rectify this illusory mode of existence and return to the vast satisfaction of pure, godly existence. But because our identification with the material body is a long historical affair, it is difficult for most people to immediately break free from the demands of the materially molded mind. Therefore the Vedic scriptures prescribe sacred marriage, in which a so-called man and a so-called woman may combine in a regulated, spiritual marriage sheltered by overarching religious injunctions. In this way the candidate for self-realization who has selected family life can derive adequate satisfaction for his senses and simultaneously please the Lord within his heart by obeying religious injunctions. The Lord then purifies him of material desire.

In Kali-yuga this deep understanding has been almost lost, and, as stated in this verse, men and women combine like animals, solely on the basis of mutual attraction to bodies made of flesh, bone, membrane, blood and so on. In other words, in our modern, godless society the weak, superficial intelligence of humanity rarely penetrates beyond the gross physical covering of the eternal soul, and thus family life has in most cases lost its highest purpose and value.

A corollary point established in this verse is that in the age of Kali a woman is considered "a good woman" if she is sexually attractive and, indeed, sexually efficient. Similarly, a sexually attractive man is "a good man." The best example of this superficiality is the incredible attention twentieth-century people give to materialistic movie stars, music stars and other prominent figures in the entertainment industry. In fact, pursuing sexual experiences with various types of bodies is similar to drinking old wine from new bottles. But few people in the Kali-yuga can understand this.

Finally, this verse states that in the age of Kali a man will become known as a priest, or brähmaëa, merely by wearing ceremonial dress. In India, brähmaëas wear a sacred thread, and in other parts of world members of the priestly class have other ornaments and symbols. But in the age of Kali the symbols alone will suffice to establish a person as a religious leader, despite his ignorance of God.

TEXT 4

ilaËymaevaA™amaKyaAtaAva, @nyaAenyaApaiÔak(Ar"N Ama, @va{ÔyaA nyaAyad"AEbaRlyam paAiNx"tyae caApalam vaca:

*lii gam evaçrama-khyätäv
anyonyäpatti-käraëam
avättyä nyäya-daurbalyaà
päëòitye cäpalaà vacaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

lii gam—the external symbol; eva—merely; äçrama-khyätau—in knowing a person's spiritual order; anyonya—mutual; äpatti—of exchange; käraëam—the cause; avättyä—by lack of livelihood; nyäya—in credibility; daurbalyam—the weakness; päëòitye—in scholarship; cäpalam—tricky; vacaù—words.

TRANSLATION

A person's spiritual position will be ascertained merely according to external symbols, and on that same basis people will change from one spiritual order to the next. A person's propriety will be seriously questioned if he does not earn a good living. And one who is very clever at juggling words will be considered a learned scholar.

PURPORT

The previous verse stated that in the age of Kali the priestly class will be recognized by external symbols alone, and this verse extends the same principle to the other orders of society, namely the political or military class, the business or productive class, and finally the laborer or artisan class.

Modern sociologists have demonstrated that in those societies chiefly governed by the Protestant ethic, poverty is considered a sign of indolence, dirtiness, stupidity, immorality and worthlessness. In a God-conscious society, however, many persons voluntarily decide to dedicate their lives not to material acquisition but rather to the pursuit of knowledge and spirituality. Thus a preference for the simple and the austere may indicate intelligence, self-control and sensitivity to the higher purpose of life. Of course, in itself poverty does not establish these virtues, but it may sometimes be the result of them. In the Kali-yuga, however, this possibility is often forgotten.

Intellectuality is another casualty of the bewildering age of Kali. Modern so-called philosophers and scientists have created a technical, esoteric terminology for each branch of learning, and when they give lectures people consider them learned simply because of their ability to speak that which no one else can understand. In Western culture, the Greek Sophists were among the first to systematically argue for rhetoric and "efficiency" above wisdom and purity, and sophistry certainly flourishes in the twentieth century. Modern universities have very little wisdom, though they do possess a virtual infinity of technical data. Although many modern thinkers are fundamentally ignorant of the higher, spiritual reality, they are, so to speak, "good talkers," and most people simply don't notice their ignorance.

TEXT 5

@naAX#YataEvaAs$aADautvae
s$aADautvae d"mBa Wva tau svalk(Ar" Wva caAeã"Ahe"

µaAnamaeva 'as$aADanama,

anäòhyataiväsädhutve
sädhutve dambha eva tu
svékära eva codvähe
snānam eva prasādhanam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anäòhyatä—poverty; eva—simply; asädhutve—in one's being unholy; sädhutve—in virtue, or success; dambhaù—hypocrisy; eva—alone; tu—and; své-käraù—verbal acceptance; eva—alone; ca—and; udvähe—in marriage; snānam—bathing with water; eva—alone; prasādhanam—cleaning and decorating of the body.

TRANSLATION

A person will be judged unholy if he does not have money, and hypocrisy will be accepted as virtue. Marriage will be arranged simply by verbal agreement, and a person will think he is fit to appear in public if he has merely taken a bath.

PURPORT

The word dambha indicates a self-righteous hypocrite—someone not so much concerned with being saintly as with appearing saintly. In the age of Kali there is a rather large number of self-righteous, hypocritical religious fanatics claiming to have the only way, the only truth and the only light. In many Muslim countries this mentality has resulted in brutal repression of religious freedom and thus destroyed the opportunity for enlightened spiritual dialectic. Fortunately, in much of the Western world there is a system of free religious expression. Even in the West, however, self-righteous hypocrites consider sincere and saintly followers of other disciplines to be heathens and devils.

Western religious fanatics are usually addicted to many bad habits, such as smoking, drinking, sex, gambling and animal slaughter. Although the followers of the Kāñëa consciousness movement strictly avoid illicit sex, intoxication, gambling and animal-killing, and although they dedicate their lives to the constant glorification of God, self-righteous hypocrites claim that such strict austerity and devotion to God are "tricks of the devil." Thus the sinful are promoted as religious, and the saintly are decried as demonic. This pathetic incapacity to grasp the most rudimentary criteria of spirituality is a prominent symptom of Kali-yuga.

In this age, the institution of marriage will degenerate. Indeed, already a marriage certificate is sometimes cynically rejected as "a mere piece of paper." Forgetting the spiritual purpose of marriage and misunderstanding sex to be the goal of family life, lusty men and women directly engage in sexual affairs without the troublesome formalities and responsibilities of a legal relationship. Such foolish people argue that "sex is natural." But if sex is natural, pregnancy and childbirth are equally natural. And for the child it is certainly natural to be raised by a loving father and mother and in fact to have the same father and mother throughout his life. Psychological studies confirm that a child needs to be cared for by both his father and his mother, and thus it is obviously natural for sex to be accompanied by a permanent marriage arrangement. Hypocritical people justify unrestricted sex by saying "it is natural" but to avoid the natural consequence of sex-pregnancy—they use contraceptives, which certainly do not grow on trees. Indeed, contraceptives are not at all natural. Thus hypocrisy and foolishness abound in the age of Kali.

The verse concludes by saying that people will neglect to ornament their bodies properly in the present age. A human being should decorate his body with various religious ornaments. Vaiñëavas mark their bodies with tilaka blessed with the holy name of God. But in the age of Kali, religious and even material formalities are thoughtlessly discarded.

TEXT 6

äU"re" vaAyaRyanaM taITa< laAvaNyaM ke(zADaAr"NAm,

od"rM"Bar"taA svaATaR:
s$atyatvae DaAí"YaRmaeva ih"
d"A°yaM ku(q%]mbaBar"NAM yazAAe'TaeR DamaRs$aevanama,

*düre vāry-ayanaà térthaà lāvaēyaà keça-dhāraëam
udaraà-bharatā svārthaù
satyatve dhārñōyam eva hi dākñyaà kuūumba-bharaëaà
yaço 'rthe dharma-sevanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

düre—situated far away; vāri—of water; ayanam—a reservoir; tértham—holy place; lāvaēyam—beauty; keça—hair; dhāraëam—carrying; udaram-bharatā—filling the belly; sva-arthaù—the goal of life; satyatve—in so-called truth; dhārñōyam—audacity; eva—simply; hi—indeed; dākñyam—expertise; kuūumba-bharaëam—maintaining a family; yaçaù—fame; arthe—for the sake of; dharma-sevanam—observance of religious principles.

TRANSLATION

A sacred place will be taken to consist of no more than a reservoir of water located at a distance, and beauty will be thought to depend on one's hairstyle. Filling the belly will become the goal of life, and one who is audacious will be accepted as truthful. He who can maintain a family will be regarded as an expert man, and the principles of religion will be observed only for the sake of reputation.

PURPORT

In India there are many sacred places through which holy rivers flow. Foolish persons eagerly seek redemption from their sins by bathing in these rivers but do not take instruction from learned devotees of the Lord who reside in such places. One should go to a holy place seeking spiritual enlightenment and not just for ritualistic bathing.

In this age, people tirelessly arrange their hair in different styles, trying to enhance their facial beauty and sexuality. They do not know that actual beauty comes from within the heart, from the soul, and that only a person who is pure is truly attractive. As the difficulties of this age increase, filling one's belly will be the mark of success, and one who can maintain his own family will be considered brilliant in economic affairs. Religion will be practiced, if at all, only for the sake of reputation and without any essential understanding of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 7

WvaM 'ajaAiBaäuR"i" AiBar," @Ak(LNAeR i°aitamaNx"lae
“aöivaq%.°aṭazAU#%°"ANAAM
yaAe balal BaivataA na{pa:

*evaà prajābhir duñābhir
ākérēe kñiti-maēḍale
brahma-viḥ-kñatra-ṣḍrāēā yo balé bhavitā nāpau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—in this way; prajābhiḥ—with populace; duñābhiḥ—corrupted; ākérēe—being crowded; kñiti-maēḍale—the earth globe; brahma—among the brāhmaṇas; viḥ—vaiśyas; kñatra—kñatriyas; ṣḍrāēām—and ṣḍras; yaḥ—whoever; balé—the strongest; bhavitā—he will become; nāpau—the king.

TRANSLATION

As the earth thus becomes crowded with a corrupt population, whoever among any of the social classes shows himself to be the strongest will gain political power.

TEXT 8

‘ajaA ih" laubDaE r"AjanyaEr," inaGa{RNAEdR"syauDamaRiBa: @AicC$^aad"Ar"%o"ivaNAA yaAsyainta igAir"k(Ananama,

*prajā hi lubdhai rājanyair
nirghāḍair dasyu-dharmabhiù ācchinna-dāra-draviëä
yāsyanti giri-kānanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prajāù—the citizens; hi—indeed; lubdhaiù—avaricious; rājanyaiù—by the royal order; nirghāḍaiù—merciless; dasyu—of ordinary thieves; dharmabhiù—acting according to the nature; ācchinna—taken away; dāra—their wives; draviëäù—and property; yāsyanti—they will go; giri—to the mountains; kānanam—and forests.

TRANSLATION

Losing their wives and properties to such avaricious and merciless rulers, who will behave no better than ordinary thieves, the citizens will flee to the mountains and forests.

TEXT 9

zAAk(maUlaAimaSa^oaAE%o"- P(lapauSpaAií"BaAejanaA: @naAva{í"YaA ivanaÉÿYainta äu"iBaR^oak(r"palix"taA:

*çäka-mülämiña-kñaudraphala-puñpāññi-bhojanäù
anāvāññyā vinaì kñyanti
durbhikñā-kara-péòitāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çäka—leaves; müla—roots; ämiña—meat; kñaudra—wild honey;
phala—fruits; puñpa—flowers; aññi—and seeds; bhojanäù—eating;
anāvāññyā—because of drought; vinaì kñyanti—they will become ruined;
durbhikñā—by famine; kara—and taxation; péòitāù—tormented.

TRANSLATION

Harassed by famine and excessive taxes, people will resort to eating leaves, roots, flesh, wild honey, fruits, flowers and seeds. Struck by drought, they will become completely ruined.

PURPORT

Çrémad-Bhāgavatam authoritatively describes the future of our planet. Just as a leaf disconnected from a plant or tree dries up, withers and disintegrates, when human society is disconnected from the Supreme Lord it withers up and disintegrates in violence and chaos. Despite our computers and rockets, if the Supreme Lord does not send rain we shall all starve.

TEXT 10

*zAltavaAtaAtapa‘aAva{x".-
ih"maEr"nyaAenyata: ‘ajaA:
°auÔa{Ñ"YaAM vyaAiDaiBaêEva
s$antapsyantae ca icantayaA*

çeta-vätätapa-prāvâ-himair anyonyataù prajāù

kñut-tâòbhyäà vyādhbhiḥ caiva santapsyante ca cintayā

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çeta—by cold; vāta—wind; ātapa—the heat of the sun; prāvāt—torrential rain; himaiù—and snow; anyonyataù—by quarrel; prajāù—the citizens; kñut—by hunger; tâòbhyām—and thirst; vyādhbhiù—by diseases; ca—also; eva—indeed; santapsyante—they will suffer great distress; ca—and; cintayā—by anxiety.

TRANSLATION

The citizens will suffer greatly from cold, wind, heat, rain and snow. They will be further tormented by quarrels, hunger, thirst, disease and severe anxiety.

TEXT 11

iṭaMzAiāM"zAita vaSaARiNA par"maAyaù: k(laAE na{NAAma,

*triàçad viàçati varñäëi
paramāyuù kalau nãëām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

triàçat—thirty; viàçati—plus twenty; varñäëi—years; parama-äyuù—the maximum duration of life; kalau—in Kali-yuga; nãëām—of men.

TRANSLATION

The maximum duration of life for human beings in Kali-yuga will become fifty years.

TEXTS 12-16

°alyamaANAeSau de"he"Sau
de"ih"naAM k(ilad"AeSata:
vaNAAR™amavataAM DamaeR
naíe" vaed"paTae na{NAAma,

paASaNx"“acaure" DamaeR
d"syau‘aAyaesau r"Ajas$au caAEyaARna{tava{TaAihM"s$aAnaAnaAva{iÔaSau vaE na{Sau

zAU#%o"“aAyaesau vaNAeRSau
cC$AgA‘aAyaAs$au DaenauSau gA{h"“aAyaesvaA™amaesau
yaAEa‘aAyaesau banDauSau

@NAu‘aAyaAsvaAeSaDaISau
zAmal‘aAyaesau sTaApauSau
ivaâut‘aAyaesau maeGaeSau
zAUnya‘aAyaesau s$aás$au

wtTaM k(laAE gAta‘aAyaesau janaesau Kar"DaimaRSau
DamaR‡aANAaya s$aÔvaena
BagAvaAnavatair"Syaita

*kñéyamäëëñu deheñu
dehinäà kali-doñataù
varëäçramavatäà dharme
nañõe veda-pathe nâëäm*

*pãñaëòa-pracure dharme
dasyu-präyeñu rãjasu
cauryänâta-vâthä-hiàsä-nänä-vättiñu vai nãñu*

çüdra-präyeñu varëëñu

cchäga-präyäsü dhenuñu
gäha-präyeñv äçrameñu
yauna-präyeñu bandhuñu

aëu-präyäsüv oñadhéñu
çamé-präyeñu sthäsnuñu
vidyut-präyeñu megheñu
çünya-präyeñu sadmasu

itthaà kalau gata-präye
janeñu khara-dharmiñu
dharma-träëäya sattvena
bhagavän avatariñyati

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kñeyamäëeñu—having become smaller; deheñu—the bodies; dehinäm—of all living entities; kali-doñatau—by the contamination of the age of Kali; varëa-äçrama-vatäm—of the members of varëaçrama society; dharme—when their religious principles; nañoe—have been destroyed; veda-pathe—the path of the Vedas; näëäm—for all men; päñaëòa-pracure—mostly atheism; dharme—religion; dasyu-präyeñu—mostly thieves; räjasu—the kings; caurya—banditry; anäta—lying; väthä-hiäsä—useless slaughter; nänä—various; vättiñu—their occupations; vai—indeed; näñu—when men; çüdra-präyeñu—mostly low-class çüdras; varëeñu—the so-called social orders; chäga-präyäsü—no better than goats; dhenuñu—the cows; gäha-präyeñu—just like materialistic homes; äçrameñu—the spiritual hermitages; yauna-präyeñu—extending no further than marriage; bandhuñu—family ties; aëu-präyäsü—mostly very small; oñadhéñu—plants and herbs; çamé-präyeñu—just like çamé trees; sthäsnuñu—all the trees; vidyut-präyeñu—always manifesting lightning; megheñu—the clouds; çünya-präyeñu—devoid of religious life; sadmasu—the homes; ittham—thus; kalau—when the age of Kali; gata-präye—is almost finished; janeñu—the people; khara-dharmiñu—when they have assumed the characteristics of asses; dharma-träëäya—for the deliverance of religion; sattvena—in the pure mode of goodness; bhagavän—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; avatariṇyati—will descend.

TRANSLATION

By the time the age of Kali ends, the bodies of all creatures will be greatly reduced in size, and the religious principles of followers of varëäçrama will be ruined. The path of the Vedas will be completely forgotten in human society, and so-called religion will be mostly atheistic. The kings will mostly be thieves, the occupations of men will be stealing, lying and needless violence, and all the social classes will be reduced to the lowest level of çüdras. Cows will be like goats, spiritual hermitages will be no different from mundane houses, and family ties will extend no further than the immediate bonds of marriage. Most plants and herbs will be tiny, and all trees will appear like dwarf çamë trees. Clouds will be full of lightning, homes will be devoid of piety, and all human beings will have become like asses. At that time, the Supreme Personality of Godhead will appear on the earth. Acting with the power of pure spiritual goodness, He will rescue eternal religion.

PURPORT

Significantly, these verses point out that most so-called religions in this age will be atheistic (päsaëöa-pracure dharme). In confirmation of the Bhägavatam's prediction, the United States Supreme Court has recently ruled that to be considered a religion a system of belief need not recognize a supreme being. Also, many atheistic, voidistic belief systems, often imported from the Orient, have attracted the attention of modern atheistic scientists, who expound on the similarities between Eastern and Western voidism in fashionable, esoteric books.

These verses vividly describe many unsavory symptoms of the age of Kali. Ultimately, at the end of this age, Lord Kãñëa will descend as Kalki and remove the thoroughly demonic persons from the face of the earth.

TEXT 17

car"Acar"GAur"AeivaRSNAAer," wRìr"syaAiKalaAtmana:
DamaRṭaANAAya s$ADaUnaAM
janma k(maARpanauÔayae

carācara-guror viñëor
éçvarasyākhilātmanaù
dharma-träëäya sādñünäà
janma karmāpanuttaye

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

cara-acara—of all moving and nonmoving living beings; guroù—of the spiritual master; viñëoù—the Supreme Lord, Viñëu; éçvarasya—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; akhila—of all; ātmanaù—of the Supreme Soul; dharma-träëäya—for the protection of religion; sādñünäm—of saintly men; janma—the birth; karma—of their fruitive activities; apanuttaye—for the cessation.

TRANSLATION

Lord Viñëu—the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the spiritual master of all moving and nonmoving living beings, and the Supreme Soul of all—takes birth to protect the principles of religion and to relieve His saintly devotees from the reactions of material work.

TEXT 18

zAmBalafaAmamauKyasya “aAöNAsya mah"Atmana:
Bavanae ivaSNAuyazAs$a:
k(ilk(: ‘aAäu"BaRivaSyaita

çambhala-grāma-mukhyasya brāhmaëasya mahātmanaù

*bhavane viñëuyaçasaù
kalkiù prädurbhaviñyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çambhala-gräma—in the village Çambhala; mukhyasya—of the chief citizen;
brähmaëasya—of the brähmaëa; mahä-ätmanaù—the great soul; bhavane—in the home; viñëuyaçasaù—of Viñëuyaçä; kalkiù—Lord Kalki;
prädurbhaviñyati—will appear.

TRANSLATION

Lord Kalki will appear in the home of the most eminent brähmaëa of Çambhala village, the great soul Viñëuyaçä.

TEXTS 19-20

@ìmaAzAugAmaAç&÷
de"vad"ÔaM jagAtpaita: @is$anaAs$aADaud"manama, @íE"iyaRgAuNAainvata:

ivacar"^aaAzAunaA °aAENyaAM
h"yaenaA'aitamaâuita:
na{pailaËÿcC$d"Ae d"syaUna,
k(Aeiq%zAAe inah"inaSyaita

*açvam açu-gam äruhya devadattaà jagat-patiù asinäsädhu-damanam
aññaicvarya-guëänvitaù*

*vicarann açunä kñauëyää hayenäpratima-dyutiù
nåpa-liì ga-cchado dasyün
koöiço nihaniñyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

açvam—His horse; äçu-gam—swift-traveling; äruhya—mounting; devadattam—named Devadatta; jagat-patiù—the Lord of the universe; asinä—with His sword; asädh-damanam—(the horse who) subdues the unholy; añña—with eight; aiçvarya—mystic opulences; guëa—and transcendental qualities of the Personality of Godhead; anvitaù—endowed; vicaran—traveling about; äçunä—swift; kñauëyäm—upon the earth; hayena—by His horse; apratima—unrivaled; dyutiù—whose effulgence; näpa-liì ga—with the dress of kings; chadaù—disguising themselves; dasyün—thieves; koñçaù—by the millions; nihaniñyati—He will slaughter.

TRANSLATION

Lord Kalki, the Lord of the universe, will mount His swift horse Devadatta and, sword in hand, travel over the earth exhibiting His eight mystic opulences and eight special qualities of Godhead. Displaying His unequalled effulgence and riding with great speed, He will kill by the millions those thieves who have dared dress as kings.

PURPORT

These verses describe the thrilling pastimes of Lord Kalki. Anyone would be attracted by the sight of a powerful, beautiful man riding on a wonderful horse at lightning speed, chastising and devastating cruel, demonic people with the sword in His hand.

Of course, fanatical materialists may argue that this picture of Lord Kalki is a mere anthropomorphic creation of the human mind—a mythological deity created by people who need to believe in some superior being. But this argument is not logical, nor does it prove anything. It is merely the opinion of certain people. We need water, but that does not mean man creates water. We also need food, oxygen and many other things that we do not create. Since our general experience is that our needs correspond to available objects existing in the external world, that we appear to need a Supreme Lord would tend to indicate that in fact there is a Supreme Lord. In other words, nature endows us with a sense of need for things that actually exist and that are in fact necessary for our well-being. Similarly, we experience a need for God because we are in fact part of God and cannot live without Him. At the end of Kali-yuga this same God will appear as the mighty Kalki avatāra and beat the pollution out of the demons.

TEXT 21

@Ta taeSaAM BaivaSyainta manaAMis$a ivazAd"Aina vaE vaAs$au"vaAËÿr"AgAAita-pauNyagAnDaAinalas$pa{zAAma, paAEr"jaAnapad"AnaAM vaE
h"taeSvaiKalad"syauSau

*atha teñāà bhaviṇyanti
manāàsi viçadāni vai
vāsudevāi ga-rāgāti-
puëya-gandhānila-spāçām
paura-jānapadānāà vai
hateñv akhila-dasyuñu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atha—then; teñām—of them; bhaviṇyanti—will become; manāàsi—the minds; viçadāni—clear; vai—indeed; vāsudeva—of Lord Vāsudeva; aì ga—of the body; rāga—from the cosmetic decorations; ati-puëya—most sacred; gandha—having the fragrance; anila—by the wind; spāçām—of those who have been touched; paura—of the city-dwellers; jana-padānām—and the residents of the smaller towns and villages; vai—indeed; hateñu—when they have been killed; akhila—all; dasyuñu—the rascal kings.

TRANSLATION

After all the impostor kings have been killed, the residents of the cities and towns will feel the breezes carrying the most sacred fragrance of the sandalwood paste and other decorations of Lord Vāsudeva, and their minds will thereby become transcendently pure.

PURPORT

Nothing can surpass the sublime experience of being dramatically rescued by a great hero who happens to be the Supreme Lord. The death of the demons at the end of Kali-yuga is accompanied by fragrant spiritual breezes, and thus the atmosphere becomes most enchanting.

TEXT 22

taeSaAM 'ajaAivas$agARê
sTaivai": s$amBaivaSyaita vaAs$aude"vae BagAvaita
s$aÔvamaUtaAE= ô$id" isTatae

*teñāà prajā-visargaç ca
sthaviñōhaù sambhaviñyati
vāsudeve bhagavati
sattva-mūrtau hādi sthite*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

teñām—of them; prajā—of progeny; visargaù—the creation; ca—and; sthaviñōhaù—abundant; sambhaviñyati—will be; vāsudeve—Lord Vāsudeva; bhagavati—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; sattva-mūrtau—in His transcendental form of pure goodness; hādi—in their hearts; sthite—when He is situated.

TRANSLATION

When Lord Vāsudeva, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, appears in their hearts in His transcendental form of goodness, the remaining citizens will abundantly repopulate the earth.

TEXT 23

yad"AvataINAAeR BagAvaAna, k(ilk(DaRmaRpaitahR"ir":
k{(taM BaivaSyaita tad"A 'ajaAs$aUitaê s$aAiÔvak(L

yadävatêrëo bhagavän
kalkir dharma-patir hariù
kâtaà bhaviñyati tadä
prajā-sütiç ca sättviké

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; avatêrëaù—incarnates; bhagavän—the Supreme Lord; kalkiù—Kalki; dharma-patiù—the master of religion; hariù—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; kâtam—Satya-yuga; bhaviñyati—will begin; tadä—then; prajā-sütiù—the creation of progeny; ca—and; sättviké—in the mode of goodness.

TRANSLATION

When the Supreme Lord has appeared on earth as Kalki, the maintainer of religion, Satya-yuga will begin, and human society will bring forth progeny in the mode of goodness.

TEXT 24

yad"A can%"ê s$aUyaRê
taTaA itaSyaba{h"s$patal Wk(r"AzAAE s$amaeSyainta

BaivaSyaita tad"A k{(tama,

*yadä candraç ca süryaç ca
tathä tiñya-bâhaspatē
eka-rāçau sameñyanti
bhaviñyati tadä kâtam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; candrau—the moon; ca—and; süryau—the sun; ca—and; tathä—also; tiñya—the asterism Tiñyā (more commonly known as Puñyā, extending from 3° 20′ to 16° 40′ Cancer); bâhaspatē—and the planet Jupiter; eka-rāçau—in the same constellation (Cancer); sameñyanti—will enter simultaneously; bhaviñyati—will be; tadä—then; kâtam—Satya-yuga.

TRANSLATION

When the moon, the sun and Bâhaspatē are together in the constellation Karkaōa, and all three enter simultaneously into the lunar mansion Puñyā—at that exact moment the age of Satya, or Kâta, will begin.

TEXT 25

yae'taltaA vataRmaAnaA yae BaivaSyainta ca paAiTaRvaA: tae ta oÚe"zAta: 'aAe·(A vaMzAlYaA: s$Aemas$aUyaRyaAe:

*ye 'tētā vartamānā ye bhaviñyanti ca pārthivāu
te ta uddeçatau proktā
vaàçéyāu soma-süryayou*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ye—those who; atētāu—past; vartamānāu—present; ye—who;

bhaviṇyanti—will be in the future; ca—and; pārthivāu—kings of the earth; te—all of them; uddeçatau—by brief mention; proktāu—described; vaàçeyāu—the members of the dynasties; soma-sūryayou—of the sun-god and the moon-god.

TRANSLATION

Thus I have described all the kings—past, present and future—who belong to the dynasties of the sun and the moon.

TEXT 26

@Ar"Bya BavataAe janma yaAva^aand"AiBaSaecanama, Wtaã"SaRs$ah"›aM tau
zAtaM paÂad"zAAeÔar"ma,

*ārabhya bhavato janma yāvan nandābhiñecanam
etat varṇa-sahasraà tu
çataà pai cadaçottaram*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ārabhya—beginning from; bhavatau—of your good self (Parékñit); janma—the birth; yāvat—up until; nanda—of King Nanda, the son of Mahānandi; abhiñecanam—the coronation; etat—this; varṇa—years; sahasram—one thousand; tu—and; çatam—one hundred; pai ca-daça-uttaram—plus fifty.

TRANSLATION

From your birth up to the coronation of King Nanda, 1,150 years will pass.

PURPORT

Although Çukadeva Gosvāmē previously described approximately fifteen hundred years of royal dynasties, it is understood that some overlapping occurred between kings. Therefore the present chronological calculation should be taken as authoritative.

TEXTS 27-28

s$aæaSal=NAAM tau yaAE paUvaAE= ä{"zyetae oid"taAE id"iva tayaAestau maDyae na°aṭaM
ä{"zyatae yats$amaM inaizA taenaEva [%SayaAe yau·(As$a, itaĩ"ntyabd"zAtaM na{NAAma, tae tvad"lyae iã"jaA: k(Ala @DaunaA caAi™ataA maGaA:

*saptarñēää tu yau pūrvau
dācyete uditau divi
tayos tu madhye nakīatraā
dācyate yat samaā niçi*

*tenaiva āñayo yuktās
tiññhanty abda-çataā nāēām
te tvadēye dvijāu kāla
adhunā cāçritā maghāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sapta-āñēām—of the constellation of the seven sages (the constellation known to Westerners as Ursa Major); tu—and; yau—which two stars; pūrvau—first; dācyete—are seen; uditau—risen; divi—in the sky; tayoū—of the two (named Pulaha and Kratu); tu—and; madhye—between;

nakñatram—the lunar mansion; dācyate—is seen; yat—which; samam—on the same line of celestial longitude, as their midpoint; niçi—in the night sky; tena—with that lunar mansion; eva—indeed; āñayaù—the seven sages; yuktäù—are connected; tiñöhanti—they remain; abda-çatam—one hundred years; nâëäm—of human beings; te—these seven sages; tvadéye—in your; dvijäù—the elevated brähmaëas; käle—in the time; adhunä—now; ca—and; äçritäù—are situated; maghäù—in the asterism Maghä.

TRANSLATION

Of the seven stars forming the constellation of the seven sages, Pulaha and Kratu are the first to rise in the night sky. If a line running north and south were drawn through their midpoint, whichever of the lunar mansions this line passes through is said to be the ruling asterism of the constellation for that time. The Seven Sages will remain connected with that particular lunar mansion for one hundred human years. Currently, during your lifetime, they are situated in the nakñatra called Maghä.

TEXT 29

ivaSNAAeBaRgAvataAe BaAnau:
k{(SNAAKyaAe's$Ae id"vaM gAta:
tad"AivazAtk(ilalaAeRkM(
paApae ya%"matae jana:

viñëor bhagavato bhänuù
kāñëäkhya 'sau divaà gataù
tadäviçat kalir lokaà
päpe yad ramate janaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

viñëou—of Viñëu; bhagavataù—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; bhänuù—the sun; kāñëa-äkhyaù—known as Kāñëa; asau—He; divam—to the spiritual sky; gataù—having returned; tadä—then; aviçat—entered;

kaliù—the age of Kali; lokaṁ—this world; pāpe—in sin; yat—in which age; ramate—take pleasure; janaù—the people.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Lord, Viñëu, is brilliant like the sun and is known as Kâñëa. When He returned to the spiritual sky, Kali entered this world, and people then began to take pleasure in sinful activities.

TEXT 30

yaAvats$a paAd"paáAByaAM
s$pa{zAnaAstae r"maApaita:
taAvatk(ilavaE= pa{iTaval%M par"A,(ntauM na caAzAk(ta,

yävat sa päda-padmäbhyäà
spâçan äste ramä-patiù
tävat kalir vai päthivéà
paräkrantuà na cäçakat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yävat—as long as; saù—He, Lord Çré Kâñëa; päda-padmäbhyäm—with His lotus feet; spâçan—touching; äste—remained; ramä-patiù—the husband of the goddess of fortune; tävat—for that long; kaliù—the age of Kali; vai—indeed; päthivém—the earth; paräkrantum—to overcome; na—not; ca—and; açakat—was able.

TRANSLATION

As long as Lord Çré Kâñëa, the husband of the goddess of fortune, touched the earth with His lotus feet, Kali was powerless to subdue this planet.

PURPORT

Although even during the time of Lord Kāñëa's presence on earth Kali had entered the earth to a slight extent through the impious activities of Duryodhana and his allies, Lord Kāñëa consistently suppressed Kali's influence. Kali could not flourish until Lord Kāñëa had left the earth.

TEXT 31

yad"A de"vaSaRya: s$aæa maGaAs$au ivacar"inta ih" tad"A 'ava{Ôastau k(ilar," ã"Ad"zAAbd"zAtaAtmak(:

*yadā devarñayaù sapta
maghāsu vicaranti hi
tadā pravāttas tu kalir
dvādaçābda-çatātmakaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadā—when; deva-āñayaù sapta—the seven sages among the demigods; maghāsu—in the lunar mansion Maghā; vicaranti—are traveling; hi—indeed; tadā—then; pravāttaù—begins; tu—and; kaliù—the age of Kali; dvādaça—twelve; abda-çata—centuries [These twelve hundred years of the demigods equal 432,000 earth years]; ātmakaù—consisting of.

TRANSLATION

When the constellation of the seven sages is passing through the lunar mansion Maghā, the age of Kali begins. It comprises twelve hundred years of the demigods.

TEXT 32

yad"A maGaAByaAe yaAsyainta paUvaARSaAX#AM mah"SaRya:
tad"A nand"At'aBa{tyaeSa
k(ilava{RiÜM" gAimaSyaita

*yadā maghābhyo yāsyanti pūrvāñāòhāà maharñayaù
tadā nandāt prabhāty eña
kalir vāddhià gamiñyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadā—when; maghābhyau—from Maghā; yāsyanti—they will go;
pūrvā-ñāòhām—to the next lunar mansion, Pūrvāñāòhā; mahā-ñāyaù—the seven great sages; tadā—then; nandāt—beginning from Nanda;
prabhāti—and his descendants; eñaù—this; kaliù—age of Kali;
vāddhim—maturity; gamiñyati—will attain.

TRANSLATION

When the great sages of the Saptarñi constellation pass from Maghā to Pūrvāsāòhā, Kali will have his full strength, beginning from King Nanda and his dynasty.

TEXT 33

yaismana, k{(SNAAe id"vaM yaAtas$a, taisma^aaeva tad"Ah"ina
'aitapa^aaM k(ilayaugAma, wita 'aAò": paur"Aivad":

*yasmin kânëo divaà yātas
tasminn eva tadāhani
pratipannaà kali-yugam
iti prāhuù purā-vidaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yasmin—on which; kāñëaù—Lord Çré Kāñëa; divam—to the spiritual world; yātaù—gone; tasmin—on that; eva—same; tadä—then; ahani—day; pratipannam—obtained; kali-yugam—the age of Kali; iti—thus; prāhuù—they say; purä—of the past; vidaù—the experts.

TRANSLATION

Those who scientifically understand the past declare that on the very day that Lord Çré Kāñëa departed for the spiritual world, the influence of the age of Kali began.

PURPORT

Although technically Kali-yuga was to begin during the time of Lord Kāñëa's presence on earth, this fallen age had to wait meekly for the departure of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 34

id"vyaAbd"AnaAM s$ah">aAntae catauTaeR tau pauna: k{(tama, BaivaSyaita tad"A na|NAAM mana @Atma'ak(AzAk(ma,

divyābdänäà sahasrānte
caturthe tu punaù kâtam
bhaviñyati tadä nèëää
mana âtma-prakāçakam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

divya—of the demigods; abdänäm—years; sahasra—of one thousand; ante—at the end; caturthe—in the fourth age, Kali; tu—and; punaù—again;

kâtam—the Satya-yuga; bhaviṇyati—will be; tadā—then; nèëām—of men; manaù—the minds; âtma-prakāçakam—self-luminous.

TRANSLATION

After the one thousand celestial years of Kali-yuga, the Satya-yuga will manifest again. At that time the minds of all men will become self-effulgent.

TEXT 35

wtyaeSa maAnavaAe vaMzAAe
yaTaA s$aÊÿYaAyatae Bauiva
taTaA ivaq%.zAU#%"iva'aANAAM taAstaA ÁaeyaA yaugAe yaugAe

ity eṇa mānavo vaàço
yathā saṁ khyāyate bhuvi
tathā viô-çüdra-vipräää
tās tā ji eyā yuge yuge

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus (in the cantos of this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam); eṇaù—this; mānavaù—descending from Vaivasvata Manu; vaàçaù—the dynasty; yathā—as; saṁ khyāyate—it is enumerated; bhuvi—upon the earth; tathā—in the same way; viô—of the vaiçyas; çüdra—çüdras; vipräääm—and brāhmaëas; täù täù—the situations of each; ji eyäù—are to be understood; yuge yuge—in each age.

TRANSLATION

Thus I have described the royal dynasty of Manu, as it is known on this earth. One can similarly study the history of the vaiçyas, çüdras and brāhmaëas living in the various ages.

PURPORT

Just as the dynasty of kings includes exalted and insignificant, virtuous and wicked monarchs, varieties of human character are found in the intellectual, commercial and laboring orders of society.

TEXT 36

WtaeSaAM naAmailaĒĳAnaAM
pauç&SaANAAM mah"AtmanaAma,
k(TaAmaAṭaAvaizAí"AnaAM
k(LitaR&#re"va isTataA Bauiva

eteñāà nāma-liṇ gānāà puruñāēāà mahātmanām
kathā-mātravaçinñānāà
kértir eva sthitā bhuvī

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

eteñām—of these; nāma—their names; liṇ gānām—which are the only means of remembering them; puruñāēām—of the personalities; mahā-ātmanām—who were great souls; kathā—the stories; mātra—merely; avaçinñānām—whose remaining portion; kérti—the glories; eva—only; sthitā—are present; bhuvī—on the earth.

TRANSLATION

These personalities, who were great souls, are now known only by their names. They exist only in accounts from the past, and only their fame remains on the earth.

PURPORT

Although one may consider oneself to be a great, powerful leader, he will ultimately end up as a name in a long list of names. In other words, it is useless to be attached to power and position in the material world.

TEXT 37

de"vaAipa: zAAntanaAe"ARtaA
maç&êe^ovaAku(vaMzAja:
k(laApafaAma @As$aAtae
mah"AyaAegAbalaAinvataAE

*deväpiù çāntanor bhrātā
maruṣ cekñvāku-vaṇṇa-jaù
kalāpa-grāma āsāte
mahā-yoga-balānvitau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deväpiù—Deväpi; çāntanou—of Mahārāja Çāntanu; bhrātā—the brother; maruṇ—Maru; ca—and; ikñvāku-vaṇṇa-jaù—born in the dynasty of Ikñvāku; kalāpa-grāme—in the village Kalāpa; āsāte—the two of them are living; mahā—great; yoga-bala—with mystic power; anvitau—endowed.

TRANSLATION

Deväpi, the brother of Mahārāja Çāntanu, and Maru, the descendant of Ikñvāku, both possess great mystic strength and are living even now in the village of Kalāpa.

TEXT 38

taAivahE"tya k(laer"ntae
vaAs$aude"vaAnauizAi^oataAE vaNAAR™amayautaM Dama< paUvaRvat'aTaiyaSyata:

*tāv ihaitya kaler ante
vāsudevānuçikñītau
varëäçrama-yutaà dharmaà
pūrva-vat prathayīñyatau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tau—they (Maru and Deväpi); iha—to human society; etya—returning; kaleu—of the age of Kali; ante—at the end; vāsudeva—by the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Vāsudeva; anuçikñītau—instructed; varëa-äçrama—the divine system of occupational and spiritual orders of society; yutam—comprising; dharmam—the code of eternal religion; pūrva-vat—just as previously; prathayīñyatau—they will promulgate.

TRANSLATION

At the end of the age of Kali, these two kings, having received instruction directly from the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Vāsudeva, will return to human society and reestablish the eternal religion of man, characterized by the divisions of varëa and äçrama, just as it was before.

PURPORT

According to this and the previous verse, the two great kings who will reestablish human culture after the end of Kali-yuga have already descended to the earth, where they are patiently waiting to render their devotional service to Lord Viñëu.

TEXT 39

*k{(taM þaetaA ā"AparM" ca
k(ilaêeita catauyauRgAma, @naena ,(mayaAegAena
Bauiva 'aAiNASau vataRtae*

*kātaà tretā dvāparaà ca
kaliṣ ceti catur-yugam anena krama-yogena
bhuvī prāëiṇu vartate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kātam—Satya-yuga; tretā—Tretā-yuga; dvāparam—Dvāpara-yuga; ca—and; kaliù—Kali-yuga; ca—and; iti—thus; catuù-yugam—the cycle of four ages; anena—by this; krama—sequential; yogena—pattern; bhuvī—in this world; prāëiṇu—among living beings; vartate—goes on continuously.

TRANSLATION

The cycle of four ages—Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara and Kali—continues perpetually among living beings on this earth, repeating the same general sequence of events.

TEXT 40

*r"Aja^aaetae mayaA 'aAe.(A nar"de"vaAstaTaApare" BaUmaAE mamatvaM k{(tvaAntae
ih"tvaemaAM inaDanaM gAtaA:*

*rājann ete mayā proktā
nara-devās tathāpare
bhūmau mamatvaà kātvānte
hitvemāà nidhanaà gatāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rājan—O King Parēkñit; ete—these; mayā—by me; proktāu—described; nara-devāu—kings; tathā—and; apare—other human beings; bhūmau—upon the earth; mamatvam—possessiveness; kātvā—exerting; ante—in the end; hitvā—giving up; imām—this world;

nidhanam—destruction; gatäù—met.

TRANSLATION

My dear King Parékñit, all these kings I have described, as well as all other human beings, come to this earth and stake their claims, but ultimately they all must give up this world and meet their destruction.

TEXT 41

k{(imaivaÑ"sma$MaÁaAntae
r"AjanaA°aAe'ipa yasya ca BaUta'au·(tk{(tae svaATa< ikM(vaed" inar"yaAe yata:

kâmi-viò-bhasma-saàji ante
räja-nämno 'pi yasya ca
bhüta-dhruk tat-kâte svärthaà
kià veda nirayo yataù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kâmi—of worms; viò—stool; bhasma—and ashes; saàji ä—the designation; ante—in the end; räja-nämnaù—going by the name "king"; api—even though; yasya—of which (body); ca—and; bhüta—of living beings; dhruk—an enemy; tat-kâte—for the sake of that body; sva-artham—his own best interest; kim—what; veda—does he know; nirayaù—punishment in hell; yataù—because of which.

TRANSLATION

Even though a person's body may now have the designation "king," in the end its name will be "worms," "stool" or "ashes." What can a person who injures other living beings for the sake of his body know about his own self-interest, since his activities are simply leading him to hell?

PURPORT

After death, the body may be buried and eaten by worms, or it may be thrown in the street or forest to be eaten by animals who will pass out its remnants as stool, or it may be burned and converted into ashes. Therefore one should not pave his way to hell by using his temporary body to injure the bodies of other living beings. In this verse the word bhūta includes nonhuman life forms, who are also creatures of God. One should give up all envious violence and learn to see God in everything by the process of Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 42

k(TaM s$aeYamaKaNx"A BaU:
paUvaE="maeR pauç&SaEDa{RtaA
matpauṭasya ca paAEṭasya
matpaUvaAR vaMzAjasya vaA

kathaà seyam akhaëöä bhüù pürvair me puruñair dhâtä mat-putrasya ca pautrasya
mat-pürvä vaàça-jasya vä

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

katham—how; sä iyam—this same; akhaëöä—unbounded; bhüù—earth; pürvaiù—by the predecessors; me—my; puruñaiù—by the personalities; dhâtä—held in control; mat-putrasya—of my son; ca—and; pautrasya—of the grandson; mat-pürvä—now under my sway; vaàça-jasya—of the descendant; vä—or.

TRANSLATION

[The materialistic king thinks:] "This unbounded earth was held by my predecessors and is now under my sovereignty. How can I arrange for it to remain in the hands of my sons, grandsons and other descendants?"

PURPORT

This is an example of foolish possessiveness.

TEXT 43

taejaAe'ba^aamayaM k(AyaM
gA{h"ltvaAtmatayaAbauDaA:
mah"l%M mamatayaA caAeBaAE
ih"tvaAntae'd"zARnaM gAtaA:

*tejo-'b-anna-mayaà käyaà
gâhétvâtmatayäbudhâù
mahéà mamatayä cobhau
hitvânte 'darçanaà gatâù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tejaù—fire; ap—water; anna—and earth; mayam—composed of; kâyam—this body; gâhétvâ—accepting; âtmatayä—with the sense of "I"; abudhâù—the unintelligent; mahém—this earth; mamatayä—with the sense of "my"; ca—and; ubhau—both; hitvâ—giving up; ante—ultimately; adarçanam—disappearance; gatâù—they have obtained.

TRANSLATION

Although the foolish accept the body made of earth, water and fire as "me" and this earth as "mine," in every case they have ultimately abandoned both their body and the earth and passed away into oblivion.

PURPORT

Although the soul is eternal, our so-called family tradition and earthly fame will certainly pass into oblivion.

TEXT 44

yae yae BaUpatayaAe r"Ajana, BauĀatae BauvamaAejas$aA
k(Alaena tae k{(taA: s$avaeR
k(TaAmaAḥaA: k(TaAs$au ca

*ye ye bhū-patayo rājan bhūi jate bhuvam ojasā
kālena te kātāu sarve
kathā-mātrāu kathāsu ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ye ye—whatever; bhū-patayaù—kings; rājan—O King Parékñit; bhūi jate—enjoy; bhuvam—the world; ojasā—with their power; kālena—by the force of time; te—they; kātāu—have been made; sarve—all;
kathā-mātrāu—mere accounts; kathāsu—in various histories; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

My dear King Parékñit, all these kings who tried to enjoy the earth by their strength were reduced by the force of time to nothing more than historical accounts.

PURPORT

The word rājan, "O King," is significant in this verse. Parékñit Mahārāja was preparing to give up his body and go back home, back to Godhead, and Çukadeva Gosvāmé, his most merciful spiritual master, devastated any possible attachment that he might have to the position of king by showing the ultimate insignificance of such a position. By the causeless mercy of the spiritual master one is prepared to go back home, back to Godhead. The spiritual master teaches one to relax one's strong grip on material illusion and leave the kingdom of māyā behind. Although Çukadeva Gosvāmé speaks very bluntly within this chapter about the so-called glory of the material world, he is exhibiting the causeless mercy of the spiritual master, who takes his surrendered disciple back to the kingdom of Godhead, Vaikuëöha.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupäda to the Twelfth Canto, Second Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhägavatam, entitled "The Symptoms of Kali-yuga."

3. The Bhümi-gétä

This chapter describes how the earth took note of the foolishness of the many kings bent on conquering her. It also describes how even though the age of Kali is full of faults, the glorification of the name of Lord Hari destroys them all.

Great kings, who are actually just playthings of death, desire to subdue their six internal enemies-the five senses and the mind-and afterward they imagine they will go on to conquer the earth and all its oceans. Seeing their false hopes, the earth simply laughs, for eventually they all must leave this planet and go elsewhere, as have all the great kings and monarchs of the past. Moreover, after usurping the earth or some part of it-which is actually unconquerable and must in every case be given up-fathers, sons, brothers, friends and relatives quarrel over it.

Thus the study of history naturally leads to the conclusion that all worldly achievements are temporary, and this conclusion should give rise to a sense of renunciation. Ultimately, the highest goal of life for any living entity is pure devotion to Lord Kânëa, which annihilates all inauspiciousness. In the age of Satya, religion was complete, still possessing its four legs of truth, mercy, austerity and charity. With the coming of each succeeding age, starting with Tretä, these religious qualities each diminish by one quarter. In Kali-yuga the legs of religion retain only one fourth of their power, and even that will be lost with the progress of the age. The mode of goodness is predominant during Satya-yuga, and the mode of passion is predominant during the Tretā-yuga. The mixed modes of passion and ignorance are predominant during Dvāpara-yuga, and in the age of Kali the mode of ignorance is predominant. Atheism, the smallness and inferiority of all things, and devotion to the genitals and belly are very much evident in the age of Kali. Living entities contaminated by the influence of Kali do not worship the Supreme Lord, Çré Hari, even though they can be freed from all bondage and easily achieve the supreme destination simply by chanting the glories of His name and taking shelter of Him. But if somehow or other the Supreme Personality of Godhead becomes manifest within the hearts of the conditioned souls in Kali-yuga, then all faults of place, time and personality inherent in the age will be destroyed. Kali-yuga is an ocean of faults, but it possesses one great quality: simply by the chanting of the name of Kâñëa, one can be delivered from material association and attain the Absolute Truth. All that was accomplished in the age of Satya by meditation, in the age of Tretā by sacrificial performances and in the age of Dvāpara by temple worship is easily gained during the Kali-yuga by the simple process of hari-kértana.

TEXT 1

™alzAuk(ovaAca
ä{"î" Atmaina jayae vyafaAna,
na{paAna, h"s$aita BaUir"yama, @h"Ae maA ivaijagAISainta ma{tyaAe: ,(Lx"nak(A na{paA:

çré-çuka uvāca
dāñvātmani jaye vyagrān
nāpān hasati bhūr iyam
aho mā vijigēñanti
mātyoū krēānakā nāpāu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çukaù uvāca—Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; dāñvā—observing; ātmani—of herself; jaye—in conquest; vyagrān—busily engaged; nāpān—the kings; hasati—she laughs; bhūù—the earth; iyam—this; aho—ah; mā—me; vijigēñanti—they are desiring to conquer; mātyoù—of death; krèðanakäù—playthings; nāpāù—the kings.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Seeing the kings of this earth busy trying to conquer her, the earth herself laughed. She said: "Just see how these kings, who are actually playthings in the hands of death, are desiring to conquer me.

TEXT 2

k(Ama W Sa nare"n%"ANAAM maAeGa: syaAiã"äu"SaAmaipa yaena Pe(naAepamae ipaNxe" yae'itaiva™aimBataA na{paA:

kāma eña narendrääm
moghaù syäd viduñām api
yena phenopame piëòe
ye 'ti-viçrambhitā nāpāù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kāmaù—lust; eñaù—this; nara-indrääm—of the rulers of men; moghaù—the failure; syät—becomes; viduñām—who are wise; api—even; yena—by which (lust); phena-upame—comparable to ephemeral bubbles; piëòe—in this lump; ye—who; ati-viçrambhitāù—perfectly trusting; nāpāù—the kings.

TRANSLATION

"Great rulers of men, even those who are learned, meet frustration and failure because of material lust. Driven by lust, these kings place great hope and faith in the dead lump of flesh called the body, even though the material frame is as fleeting as bubbles of foam on water.

TEXTS 3-4

paUva< inaijaRtya SaÔ"gA< jaeSyaAmaAe r"AjamainṭaNA:
tata: s$aicavapaAEr"Aæa-k(r"ln%"Anasya k(Nq%k(Ana,

WvaM ,(maeNA jaeSyaAma:
pa{Tval%M s$AaAr"maeKalaAma, wtiaAzAAbaÜ"ô$d"yaA
na pazyantyaintake('ntak(ma,

*pürvaà nirjitya ñaò-vargaà
jeñyāmaù rāja-mantriëaù tataù saciva-pauräptakarēndrān asya kaëöakān*

*evaà krameëa jeñyāmaù
pāthvëà sāgara-mekhalām
ity āçā-baddha-hādayā
na paçyanty antike 'ntakam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pürvam—first of all; nirjitya—conquering; ñaò-vargam—the five senses and the mind; jeñyāmaù—we will conquer; rāja-mantriëaù—the royal ministers; tataù—then; saciva—the personal secretaries; paura—the citizens of the capital; äpta—the friends; kari-indrān—the elephant keepers;

asya—ridding ourselves of; kaëöakän—the thorns; evam—in this way; krameëa—gradually; jeñyāmau—we shall conquer; pāthvém—the earth; sāgara—the ocean; mekhalām—whose girdle; iti—thus thinking; āçā—by hopes; baddha—bound up; hādayāu—their hearts; na paçyanti—they do not see; antike—nearby; antakam—their own end.

TRANSLATION

"Kings and politicians imagine: 'First I will conquer my senses and mind; then I will subdue my chief ministers and rid myself of the thorn-pricks of my advisors, citizens, friends and relatives, as well as the keepers of my elephants. In this way I will gradually conquer the entire earth.' Because the hearts of these leaders are bound by great expectations, they fail to see death waiting nearby.

PURPORT

To satisfy their greed for power, determined politicians, dictators and military leaders undergo severe austerities and sacrifice, with much self-discipline. Then they lead their great nations in a struggle to control the sea, land, air and space. Although the politicians and their followers will soon be dead—since birth and death are all inevitable in this world—they persist in their frenetic struggle for ephemeral glory.

TEXT 5

s$amau"% "Avar"NAAM i jatvaA maAM ivazAntyaibDamaAejas$aA ik(yad"AtmajayasyaEtana, maui-(r"Atmajayae P(lama,

*samudrāvaraëää jītvā
māà viçanty abdhim ojasā
kiyad ātma-jayasyaitan
muktir ātma-jaye phalam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

samudra-āvaraṇām—bounded by the ocean; jītvā—having conquered; mām—me; viçanti—they enter; abdhim—the ocean; ojasā—by their strength; kiyat—how much; ātma-jayasya—of victory over the self; etat—this; muktiḥ—liberation; ātma-jaye—of victory over the self; phalam—the fruit.

TRANSLATION

"After conquering all the land on my surface, these proud kings forcibly enter the ocean to conquer the sea itself. What is the use of their self-control, which is aimed at political exploitation? The actual goal of self-control is spiritual liberation."

TEXT 6

yaAM ivas$a{jyaEva manavas$a, tats$autāAê ku(è&ā"h"
gAtaA yaTaAgAtaM yauÜe" taAM maAM jaeSyantyabauÜ"ya:

*yāṇ visājyaiva manavas
tat-sutāḥ ca kurūdvaha
gatā yathāgataḥ yuddhe
tāṁ mām jeṇyanti abuddhayaḥ*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yām—whom; visājya—giving up; eva—indeed; manavaḥ—human beings; tat-sutāḥ—their sons; ca—also; kuru-udvaha—O best of the Kurus; gatāḥ—gone away; yathā-āgatam—just as they had originally come; yuddhe—in battle; tām—that; mām—me, the earth; jeṇyanti—they try to conquer; abuddhayaḥ—unintelligent.

TRANSLATION

O best of the Kurus, the earth continued as follows: "Although in the past great men and their descendants have left me, departing from this world in the same helpless way they came into it, even today foolish men are trying to conquer me.

TEXT 7

matk{(tae ipata{pauḥaANAAM
"aAta{NAAM caAipa ivafah":
jaAyatae ÷s$ataAM r"Ajyae
mamataAbaÜ"caetas$aAma,

*mat-kâte pitâ-putrâëää
bhrâtâëää cāpi vighrahaù
jäyate hy asatâà rājye
mamatâ-baddha-cetasām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mat-kâte—for the sake of me; pitâ-putrâëäm—between fathers and sons; bhrâtâëäm—among brothers; ca—and; api—also; vighrahaù—conflict; jäyate—arises; hi—indeed; asatām—among the materialistic; rājye—for political rule; mamatâ—by the sense of possession; baddha—bound up; cetasām—whose hearts.

TRANSLATION

"For the sake of conquering me, materialistic persons fight one another. Fathers oppose their sons, and brothers fight one another, because their hearts are bound to possessing political power.

TEXT 8

mamaEvaeyaM mah"l k{(tṛaA
na tae maUXe#ita vaAid"na:
s$paDaRmaAnaA imaTaAe £ainta
i•ayantae matk{(tae na{paA:

*mamaiveyaà mahé kâtsnä
na te müòheti vädinaù
spardhamänä mitho ghnanti
mriyante mat-kâte nâpâù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mama—mine; eva—indeed; iyam—this; mahé—land; kâtsnä—entire;
na—not; te—yours; müòha—you fool; iti vädinaù—thus speaking;
spardhamänäù—quarreling; mithaù—each other; ghnanti—they kill;
mriyante—they are killed; mat-kâte—for my sake; nâpâù—kings.

TRANSLATION

"Political leaders challenge one another: 'All this land is mine! It's not yours, you fool!' Thus they attack one another and die.

PURPORT

This verse describes with brilliant clarity the mundane political mentality that provokes innumerable conflicts in the world. For example, as we prepare this translation of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, British and Argentine military forces are bitterly fighting over the tiny Falkland Islands.

The fact is that the Supreme Lord is the proprietor of all land. Of course, even in a God-conscious world political boundaries exist. But in such a God-conscious atmosphere political tensions are greatly eased, and people of all lands welcome each other and respect each other's right to live in peace.

TEXTS 9-13

pa{Tau: pauè&r"vaA gAAiDar," naò"SaAe Bar"taAe'jauRna:
maAnDaAtaA s$agAr"Ae r"Ama: KaÅ%AËÿAe DaunDauh"A r"Gau:

ta{NAibanäu"yaRyaAitaê
zAyaARita: zAntanaugARya: BagAlr"Ta: ku(valayaAì:
k(ku(tsTaAe naESaDaAe na{gA:

ih"r"Nyak(izApauva{R‡aAe r"AvaNA Ae laAek(r"AvaNA:
namauica: zAmbar"Ae BaAEmaAe ih"r"NyaA°aAe'Ta taAr"k(:

@nyae ca bah"vaAe dE"tyaA
r"AjaAnaAe yae mahe"ir"A:
s$avaeR s$avaRivad": zAUr"A:
s$avaeR s$avaRijataAe'ijataA:

mamataAM mayyavataRnta
k{(tvaAe»aEmaRtyaRDaimaRNA:
k(TaAvazAeSaA: k(Alaena ÷k{(taATaAR: k{(taA ivaBaAe

*pāthuù purüravä gādhir nahuño bharato 'rjunaù
māndhātā sagaro rāmaù
khaövāi go dhundhuhä raghuù*

*tāëabindur yayātiç ca
çaryātiù çantanur gayaù
bhagérathaù kuvalayäçvaù
kakutstho naiñadho nāgaù*

hiraëyakaçipur vātro rävaëo loka-rävaëaù

namuciù çambaro bhaumo
hiraëyäkño 'tha tärakaù

anye ca bahavo daityä
räjāno ye maheçvaräù
sarve sarva-vidaù çüräù
sarve sarva-jito 'jitäù

mamatäà mayy avartanta
kâtvoccair martya-dharmiëaù kathävaçeñäù kälena
hy akâtärthäù kâtä vibho

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pāthuù purūravāù gādhiù—Mahārājas Pāthu, Purūravā and Gādhi; nahuñāù bharataù arjunaù—Nahuña, Bharata and Kārtavērya Arjuna; māndhātā sagaraù rāmaù—Māndhātā, Sagara and Rāma; khaövāi gaù dhundhuhä raghuù—Khaövāi ga, Dhundhuhä and Raghu; täëabinduù yayātiù ca—Täëabindu and Yayāti; çaryātiù çantanuù gayaù—Çaryāti, Çantanu and Gaya; bhagérathaù kuvalayäçvaù—Bhagératha and Kuvalayäçva; kakutsthaù naiñadhaù nāgaù—Kakutstha, Naiñadha and Nāga; hiraëyakaçipuù vātraù—Hiraëyakaçipu and Vātrāsura; rāvaëaù—Rāvaëa; loka-rāvaëaù—who made the whole world cry; namuciù çambaraù bhaumaù—Namuci, Çambara and Bhauma; hiraëyäkñāù—Hiraëyäkñā; atha—and; tärakaù—Täraka; anye—others; ca—as well; bahavaù—many; daityäù—demons; rājānaù—kings; ye—who; mahä-éçvaräù—great controllers; sarve—all of them; sarva-vidaù—all-knowing; çüräù—heroes; sarve—all; sarva-jitaù—all-conquering; ajitäù—unconquerable; mamatām—possessiveness; mayi—for me; avartanta—they lived; kātvā—expressing; uccaiù—to a great degree; martya-dharmiëaù—subject to the laws of birth and death; kathä-avaçeñäù—remaining merely as historical narrations; kälena—by the force of time; hi—indeed; akāta-arthäù—incomplete in perfecting their desires; kātäù—they have been made; vibho—O Lord.

TRANSLATION

"Such kings as Pāthu, Purūravā, Gādhi, Nahuña, Bharata, Kārtavērya Arjuna, Māndhātā, Sagara, Rāma, Khaövāi ga, Dhundhuhā, Raghu, Tāēabindu, Yayāti, Çaryāti, Çantanu, Gaya, Bhagératha, Kuvalayāçva, Kakutstha, Naiñadha, Nāga, Hiraëyakaçipu, Vātra, Rāvaëa, who made the whole world lament, Namuci, Çambara, Bhauma, Hiraëyākñā and Tāraka, as well as many other demons and kings who possessed great powers of control over others, were all full of knowledge, heroic, all-conquering and unconquerable. Nevertheless, O almighty Lord, although they lived their lives intensely trying to possess me, these kings were subject to the passage of time, which reduced them all to mere historical accounts. None of them could permanently establish their rule."

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé, and as confirmed by Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura, the King Rāma mentioned here is not the incarnation of Godhead Rāmacandra. Pāthu Mahārāja is understood to be an incarnation of the Supreme Personality of Godhead who completely exhibited the characteristics of an earthly king, claiming proprietorship over the entire earth. A saintly king like Pāthu Mahārāja, however, controls the earth on behalf of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, whereas a demon such as Hiraëyakaçipu or Rāvaëa tries to exploit the earth for his personal sense gratification. Nevertheless, both saintly kings and demons must leave the earth. In this way their political supremacy is ultimately neutralized by the force of time.

Modern political leaders cannot even temporarily control the entire earth, nor are their opulences and intelligence unlimited. Possessing hopelessly fragmented power, enjoying a miniscule life span, and lacking deep existential intelligence, modern leaders inevitably are symbols of frustration and misdirected ambition.

TEXT 14

k(TaA wmaAstae k(iTataA mah"lyas$aAM ivataAya laAeke(Sau yazA: pare"yauSaAma, ivaÁaAnavaEr"Agyaivava^oayaA ivaBaAe vacaAeivaBaUtalnaR tau paAr"maATyaRma,

*kathä imäs te kathitā mahéyasäà
vitāya lokeṇu yaçau pareyuñām viji āna-vairāgya-vivakñayā vibho
vaco-vibhūtér na tu pāramārthyam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kathäu—the narrations; imäü—these; te—unto you; kathitäü—have been spoken; mahéyasäm—of great kings; vitāya—spreading; lokeṇu—throughout all the worlds; yaçau—their fame; pareyuñām—who have departed; viji āna—transcendental knowledge; vairāgya—and renunciation; vivakñayā—with the desire for teaching; vibho—O mighty Parékñit; vacaü—of words; vibhütēu—the decoration; na—not; tu—but; pārama-artham—of the most essential purport.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvämé said: O mighty Parékñit, I have related to you the narrations of all these great kings, who spread their fame throughout the world and then departed. My real purpose was to teach transcendental knowledge and renunciation. Stories of kings lend power and opulence to these narrations but do not in themselves constitute the ultimate aspect of knowledge.

PURPORT

Since all the narrations of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam bring the reader to the perfection of transcendental knowledge, they all give supreme spiritual lessons though apparently dealing with kings or other mundane subject matter. In relation with Kâñëa, all ordinary topics become transcendental narrations, with the power to bring the reader to the perfection of life.

TEXT 15

yastaUÔama:ëAek(gAuNAAauvaAd":
s$aËÿLyatae'Bal°NAmamaËÿla£a:
tamaeva inatyaM Za{NAuyaAd"Bal°NAM
k{(SNAe'malaAM Bai·(maBalps$amaAna:

yas tûttamaù-çloka-guëänuvädaù
saì géyate 'bhékñëam amaì gala-ghnaù tam eva nityaà çäëuyäd abhékñëaà
kâñëe 'maläà bhaktim abhépsamänaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—which; tu—on the other hand; uttamaù-çloka—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is praised in transcendental verses; guëa—of the qualities; anuvädaù—the recounting; saì géyate—is sung; abhékñëam—always; amaì gala-ghnaù—which destroys everything inauspicious; tam—that; eva—indeed; nityam—regularly; çäëuyät—one should hear; abhékñëam—constantly; kâñëe—unto Lord Kâñëa; amaläm—untainted; bhaktim—devotional service; abhépsamänaù—he who desires.

TRANSLATION

The person who desires pure devotional service to Lord Kâñëa should hear the narrations of Lord Uttamaùçloka's glorious qualities, the constant chanting of which destroys everything inauspicious. The devotee should engage in such listening in regular daily assemblies and should also continue his hearing throughout the day.

PURPORT

Since any topic related to Lord Kâñëa is auspicious and transcendental, the direct narration of Lord Kâñëa's own activities, political and nonpolitical, is certainly the supreme subject matter for hearing. The word nityam here indicates regulated cultivation of the topics of Lord Kâñëa, and abhékñëam indicates constant remembrance of such regulated spiritual experiences.

TEXT 16

™alr"AjaAevaAca
ke(naAepaAyaena BagAvana,
k(laed"AeRSaAna, k(laAE janaA:
ivaDaimaSyantyaupaicataAMs$a,
tanmae "aUih" yaTaA maunae

çré-räjoväca
kenopäyena bhagavan
kaler doñän kalau janäù
vidhamiñyanty upacitäs
tan me brühi yathä mune

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-räjä uväca—King Parékñit said; kena—by what; upäyena—means; bhagavan—my dear lord; kaleù—of the age of Kali; doñän—the faults; kalau—living in Kali-yuga; janäù—people; vidhamiñyanti—will eradicate; upacitän—accumulated; tat—that; me—to me; brühi—please explain; yathä—fittingly; mune—O sage.

TRANSLATION

King Parékñit said: My lord, how can persons living in the age of Kali rid themselves of the cumulative contamination of this age? O great sage please explain this to me.

PURPORT

King Parékñit was a compassionate, saintly ruler. Thus, after hearing of the abominable qualities of the age of Kali, he naturally inquired as to how those born in this age can free themselves of its inherent contamination.

TEXT 17

yaugAAina yaugADamaA<ê maAnaM 'alayak(lpayaAe:
k(Alasyaeir"è&pasya
gAitaM ivaSNAAemaRh"Atmana:

*yugäni yuga-dharmäàç ca
mänaà pralaya-kalpayoù
kälasyeçvara-rüpasya
gatià viñëor mahätmanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yugäni—the ages of the universal history; yuga-dharmän—the special qualities of each age; ca—and; mänam—the measurement; pralaya—of annihilation; kalpayoù—and of universal maintenance; kälasya—of time; éçvara-rüpasya—the representation of the Personality of Godhead; gati—the movement; viñëoù—of Lord Viñëu; mahä-ätmanaù—the Supreme Soul.

TRANSLATION

Please explain the different ages of universal history, the special qualities of each age, the duration of cosmic maintenance and destruction, and the movement of time, which is the direct representation of the Supreme Soul, the Personality of Godhead, Lord Viñëu.

TEXT 18

™alZAuk(ovaAca
k{(tae 'avataRtae DamaRzA, catauSpaAÔaÀanaEDa{Rta:
s$atyaM d"yaA tapaAe d"Anama, wita paAd"A ivaBaAena{Rpa

çré-çuka uvāca
kāte pravartate dharmaç
catuñ-pāt taj-janair dhātaù satyaà dayā tapo dānam
iti pādā vibhor nāpa

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çukaù uvāca—Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; kāte—in the Satya-yuga, the age of truth; pravartate—exists; dharmaù—religion; catuù-pāt—with four legs; tat—of that age; janaiù—by the people; dhātaù—maintained; satyam—truth; dayā—mercy; tapaù—austerity; dānam—charity; iti—thus; pādäù—the legs; vibhou—of mighty religion; nāpa—O King.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: My dear King, in the beginning, during Satya-yuga, the age of truth, religion is present with all four of its legs intact and is carefully maintained by the people of that age. These four legs of powerful religion are truthfulness, mercy, austerity and charity.

PURPORT

Just as there are four seasons, there are four ages of the earth, each lasting hundreds of thousands of years. The first of these is Satya-yuga, when such good qualities as charity are prominent.

Actual charity, here referred to as dānam, is to award fearlessness and freedom to others, not to give them some material means of temporary pleasure or relief. Any material "charitable" arrangement will inevitably be crushed by the onward march of time. Thus only realization of one's eternal existence beyond the reach of time can make one fearless, and only freedom from material desire constitutes real freedom, for it enables one to escape the bondage of the laws of nature. Therefore real charity is to help people revive their eternal, spiritual consciousness.

Religion is here referred to as vibhu, "the mighty," because universal religious principles are not different from the Supreme Lord Himself and ultimately lead one to His kingdom. The qualities mentioned here—truthfulness, mercy, austerity and charity—are universal, nonsectarian aspects of pious life.

In the First Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, the fourth leg of religion is listed as cleanliness. According to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Öhäkura, this is an alternative definition of the word dānam in the present context.

TEXT 19

s$antauí"A: k(ç&NAA maEḥaA:
 zAAntaA d"AntaAistaita^oava: @AtmaAr"AmaA: s$amaä{"zA:
 'aAyazA: TMamaNAA janaA:

santuñöäù karuëä maitrâu
çäntä dāntäs titikñavaù
ätmärämäù sama-dâçaù
prâyaçaù çramaëä janäù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

santuñöäù—self-satisfied; karuëäù—merciful; maitrâu—friendly;
çäntäù—pacified; dāntäù—self-controlled; titikñavaù—tolerant;
ätma-ärämäù—enthused from within; sama-dâçaù—possessed of equal vision; prāyaçaù—for the most part; çramaëäù—endeavoring diligently (for self-realization); janäù—the people.

TRANSLATION

The people of Satya-yuga are for the most part self-satisfied, merciful, friendly to all, peaceful, sober and tolerant. They take their pleasure from within, see all things equally and always endeavor diligently for spiritual perfection.

PURPORT

Sama-darçana, equal vision, is based on the perception of the Supreme Spirit behind all material variety and within all living entities.

TEXT 20

‡aetaAyaAM DamaRpaAd"AnaAM
tauyaA<zAAe h"lyatae zAnaE: @DamaRpaAdE"r"na{taihM"SaAs$antaAeSaivafahE":

tretäyää dharmā-pādānää
turyääço héyate çanaiù adharma-pādair anāta-
hiāsā-asantoña-vigrahaiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tretäyām—in the second age; dharmā-pādānām—of the legs of religion; turya—one fourth; aàçaù—part; héyate—is lost; çanaiù—gradually; adharma-pādaiù—by the legs of irreligion; anāta—by falsity; hiāsā—violence; asantoña—dissatisfaction; vigrahaiù—and quarrel.

TRANSLATION

In Tretä-yuga each leg of religion is gradually reduced by one quarter by the influence of the four pillars of irreligion—lying, violence, dissatisfaction and quarrel.

PURPORT

By falsity truth is diminished, by violence mercy is diminished, by dissatisfaction austerity is diminished, and by quarrel charity and cleanliness are diminished.

TEXT 21

tad"A i,(yaAtapaAeinaï"A naAitaihM">aA na lampaq%A: ‡aEvaigARk(Añyalva{Ü"A vaNAAR "aöAeÔar"A na{pa

*tadä kriyā-tapo-niñöhä
nāti-hiàsrä na lampaöäù trai-vargikäs trayé-vâddhä
varëä brahmottarä nâpa*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tadä—then (in the Tretä age); kriyā—to ritualistic ceremonies; tapaù—and to penances; niñöhäù—devoted; na ati-hiàsräù—not excessively violent; na lampaöäù—not wantonly desiring sense gratification; trai-vargikäù—interested in the three principles of religiosity, economic development and sense gratification; trayé—by the three Vedas; vâddhäù—made prosperous; varëäù—the four classes of society; brahma-uttaräù—mostly brähmaëas; nâpa—O King.

TRANSLATION

In the Tretā age people are devoted to ritual performances and severe austerities. They are not excessively violent or very lusty after sensual pleasure. Their interest lies primarily in religiosity, economic development and regulated sense gratification, and they achieve prosperity by following the prescriptions of the three Vedas. Although in this age society evolves into four separate classes, O King, most people are brāhmaëas.

TEXT 22

tapa:s$atyad"yaAd"AnaeSva, @Da< œ"svaita ā"Apare"
ihM"s$AAtauí"Yana{taãe"SaEr," DamaRsyaADamaRla°aNAE:

tapaù-satya-dayä-dāneñv
ardhaà hrasvati dvāpare
hiàsātuñöy-anāta-dveñair
dharmasyädharma-lakñāëaiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tapaù—of austerity; satya—truth; dayä—mercy; dāneñu—and charity; ardham—one half; hrasvati—diminishes; dvāpare—in the age of Dvāpara; hiàsä—by violence; atuñöi—dissatisfaction; anāta—untruth; dveñaiù—and hatred; dharmasya—of religion; adharma-lakñāëaiù—by the qualities of irreligion.

TRANSLATION

In Dvāpara-yuga the religious qualities of austerity, truth, mercy and charity are reduced to one half by their irreligious counterparts—dissatisfaction, untruth, violence and enmity.

TEXT 23

yazAisvanaAe mah"AzAllaA:
svaADyaAyaADyayanae r"taA: @ADyaA: ku(q%]imbanaAe ô$î"A vaNAAR: °aṭaiã"jaAeÔar"A:

*yaçasvino mahā-çéläù
svādhyäyādhyayane ratäù
ädhyäù kuõumbino hãñöä
varëäù kñatra-dvijottaräù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaçasvinaù—eager for glory; mahā-çéläù—noble; svādhyäya-adhyayane—in study of the Vedic literature; ratäù—absorbed; ädhyäù—endowed with opulence; kuõumbinaù—having large families; hãñöä—joyful; varëäù—the four classes of society; kñatra-dvija-uttaräù—represented mostly by the kñatriyas and brähmaëas.

TRANSLATION

In the Dväpara age people are interested in glory and are very noble. They devote themselves to the study of the Vedas, possess great opulence, support large families and enjoy life with vigor. Of the four classes, the kñatriyas and brähmaëas are most numerous.

TEXT 24

k(laAE tau DamaRpaAd"AnaAM
tauYA<zAAe'DamaR$he"tauBa:
WDamaAnaE: °alyamaANAAe
÷ntae s$aAe'ipa ivanaÉÿYaita

kalau tu dharma-pädänäâ

*turyäâço 'dharma-hetubhiù edhamānaiù kñēyamäëo
hy ante so 'pi vinaì kñyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kalau—in the age of Kali; tu—and; dharma-pādānām—of the legs of religion; turya-aâçaù—one fourth; adharma—of irreligion; hetubhiù—by the principles; edhamānaiù—which are increasing; kñēyamäëaù—decreasing; hi—indeed; ante—in the end; saù—that one quarter; api—also; vinaì kñyati—will be destroyed.

TRANSLATION

In the age of Kali only one fourth of the religious principles remains. That last remnant will continuously be decreased by the ever-increasing principles of irreligion and will finally be destroyed.

TEXT 25

*taismanlaubDaA äù"r"AcaAr"A inadR"yaA: zAuSk(vaEir"NA:
äù"BaRgAA BaUir"taSaARê zAU#%"d"As$aAeÔar"A: 'ajaA:*

*tasmin lubdhā durācārā
nirdayāù çuñka-vairiëaù
durbhagā bhūri-tarñāç ca
çüdra-dāsottarāù prajāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmin—in that age; lubdhāù—greedy; durācārāù—ill-behaved; nirdayāù—merciless; çuñka-vairiëaù—prone to useless quarrel; durbhagāù—unfortunate; bhūri-tarñāù—obsessed by many kinds of hankering; ca—and; çüdra-dāsa-uttarāù—predominantly low-class laborers and barbarians; prajāu—the people.

TRANSLATION

In the Kali age people tend to be greedy, ill-behaved and merciless, and they fight one another without good reason. Unfortunate and obsessed with material desires, the people of Kali-yuga are almost all çüdras and barbarians.

PURPORT

In this age, we can already observe that most people are laborers, clerks, fishermen, artisans or other kinds of workers within the çüdra category. Enlightened devotees of God and noble political leaders are extremely scarce, and even independent businessmen and farmers are a vanishing breed as huge business conglomerates increasingly convert them into subservient employees. Vast regions of the earth are already populated by barbarians and semibarbarous peoples, making the entire situation dangerous and bleak. The Kāñëa consciousness movement is empowered to rectify the current dismal state of affairs. It is the only hope for the ghastly age called Kali-yuga.

TEXT 26

s$aÔvaM r"jastama wita
ä{"zyantae pauç&Sae gAuNAA:
k(Alas$aÂaAeid"taAstae vaE pair"vataRnta @Atmaina

*sattvaà rajas tama iti
dâçyante puruñe guëäù
kâla-sai coditäs te vai
parivartanta ätmani*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sattvam—goodness; rajaù—passion; tamaù—ignorance; iti—thus; dâçyante—are seen; puruñe—in a person; guëäù—the modes of material nature; käla-sai'coditäù—impelled by time; te—they; vai—indeed; parivartante—undergo permutation; ätmani—within the mind.

TRANSLATION

The material modes—goodness, passion and ignorance—whose permutations are observed within a person's mind, are set into motion by the power of time.

PURPORT

The four ages described in these verses are manifestations of various modes of material nature. The age of truth, Satya-yuga, manifests the predominance of material goodness, and Kali-yuga manifests the predominance of ignorance. According to Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura, within each age the other three ages occasionally manifest as sub-ages. Thus even within Satya-yuga a demon in the mode of ignorance may appear, and within the age of Kali the highest religious principles may flourish for some time. As described in Çrémad-Bhägavatam, the three modes of nature are present everywhere and in everything, but the predominant mode, or combination of modes, determines the general character of any material phenomenon. In each age, therefore, the three modes are present in varying proportions. The particular age represented by goodness (Satya), passion (Tretä), passion and ignorance (Dväpara) or ignorance (Kali) exists within each of the other ages as a subfactor.

TEXT 27

‘aBavainta yad"A s$aÔvae manaAebauÜ"lin%o"yaAiNA ca tad"A k{(tayaugAM ivaâAja, ÂaAanae tapais$a yaâu"ica:

*prabhavanti yadā sattve mano-buddhēndriyāëi ca
tadā kâta-yugaà vidyāj
jī āne tapasi yad ruciù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prabhavanti—they are predominantly manifest; yadā—when; sattve—in the mode of goodness; manaù—the mind; buddhi—intelligence; indriyāëi—senses; ca—and; tadā—then; kâta-yugam—the age of Kâta; vidyāt—should be understood; jī āne—in knowledge; tapasi—and austerity; yat—when; ruciù—pleasure.

TRANSLATION

When the mind, intelligence and senses are solidly fixed in the mode of goodness, that time should be understood as Satya-yuga, the age of truth. People then take pleasure in knowledge and austerity.

PURPORT

The word kâta means "performed" or "executed." Thus in the age of truth all religious duties are duly performed, and people take great pleasure in spiritual knowledge and austerity. Even in the Kali-yuga, those who are situated in the mode of goodness take pleasure in the cultivation of spiritual knowledge and the regulated performance of austerity. This sublime state of existence is possible for one who has conquered sex desire.

TEXT 28

yad"A k(maRs$au k(AmyaeSau Bai·(yaRzAis$a de"ih"naAma, tad"A ‡aetaA r"jaAeva{iÔar," wita jaAnalih" bauiÜ"mana,

*yadä karmasu kämyeñu
bhaktir yaçasi dehinäm
tadä tretä rajo-vättir
iti jänéhi buddhiman*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; karmasu—in duties; kämyeñu—based on selfish desire; bhaktiù—devotion; yaçasi—in honor; dehinäm—of the embodied souls; tadä—then; tretä—the age of Tretä; rajaù-vättiù—predominated by activities in the mode of passion; iti—thus; jänéhi—you should understand; buddhi-man—O intelligent King Parékñit.

TRANSLATION

O most intelligent one, when the conditioned souls are devoted to their duties but have ulterior motives and seek personal prestige, you should understand such a situation to be the age of Tretä, in which the functions of passion are prominent.

TEXT 29

*yad"A laAeBastvas$antaAeSaAe maAnaAe d"mBaAe'Ta mats$ar":
k(maRNAAM caAipa k(AmyaAnaAM
ã"AparM" ta%"jastama:*

*yadä lobhas tv asantoñö
mäno dambho 'tha matsaraù
karmaëää cäpi kämyänää
dväparaà tad rajas-tamaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; lobhaù—greed; tu—indeed; asantoñau—dissatisfaction; mänaù—false pride; dambhaù—hypocrisy; atha—and; matsaraù—envy;

karmaëäm—of activities; ca—and; api—also; kämyänäm—selfish; dväparam—the age of Dväpara; tat—that; rajaù-tamaù—predominated by a mixture of the modes of passion and ignorance.

TRANSLATION

When greed, dissatisfaction, false pride, hypocrisy and envy become prominent, along with attraction for selfish activities, such a time is the age of Dväpara, dominated by the mixed modes of passion and ignorance.

TEXT 30

yad"A maAyaAna{taM tan%o"A ina%o"A ihM"s$aA ivaSaAd"nama, zAAek(maAeh"AE BayaM dE"nyaM
s$a k(ilastaAmas$a: sma{ta:

yadä mäyänâtaà tandrä
nidrä hiàsä viñādanam
çoka-mohau bhayaà dainyaà
sa kalis tāmasaù smâtaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; mäyä—deceit; anâtam—false speech; tandrä—sloth; nidrä—sleep and intoxication; hiàsä—violence; viñādanam—depression; çoka—lamentation; mohau—and delusion; bhayam—fear; dainyam—poverty; saù—that; kaliù—the age of Kali; tāmasaù—in the mode of ignorance; smâtaù—is considered.

TRANSLATION

When there is a predominance of cheating, lying, sloth, sleepiness, violence, depression, lamentation, bewilderment, fear and poverty, that age is Kali, the age of the mode of ignorance.

PURPORT

In Kali-yuga, people are almost exclusively devoted to gross materialism, with hardly any affinity for self-realization.

TEXT 31

tasmaAt^oau"[%]"ä{"zAAe matyaAR: °au"[%]"BaAgyaA mah"AzAnaA:
k(AimanaAe ivaÔah"lnaAê
svaEir"Nyaê iñyaAe's$atal:

tasmät kñudra-dâço martyäù
kñudra-bhāgyā mahāçanäù
kāmino vitta-hénāç ca
svairiēyaç ca striyo 'satēù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmät—due to these qualities of the age of Kali;
kñudra-dâçaù—shortsighted; martyäù—human beings;
kñudra-bhāgyäù—unfortunate; mahā-açanäù—excessive in their eating habits; kāminaù—full of lust; vitta-hénäù—lacking wealth; ca—and;
svairiēyaù—independent in their social dealings; ca—and; striyaù—the women; asatēù—unchaste.

TRANSLATION

Because of the bad qualities of the age of Kali, human beings will become shortsighted, unfortunate, gluttonous, lustful and poverty-stricken. The women, becoming unchaste, will freely wander from one man to the next.

PURPORT

In the age of Kali certain pseudointellectuals, seeking individual freedom, support sexual promiscuity. In fact, identification of the self with the body and the pursuit of "individual freedom" in the body rather than in the soul are signs of the most dismal ignorance and slavery to lust. When women are unchaste, many children are born out of wedlock as products of lust. These children grow up in psychologically unfavorable circumstances, and a neurotic, ignorant society arises. Symptoms of this are already manifest throughout the world.

TEXT 32

d"syaUtk{(í"A janapad"A vaed"A: paASaNx"äU"iSataA:
 r"AjaAnaê 'ajaABa^oaA:
 izA 'aAed"r"par"A iã"jaA:

*dasyütkâñöä janapadä
 vedäù päñaëöa-düñitäù
 rājānaç ca prajā-bhakñäù
 çïçnodara-parä dvijäù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dasyu-utkâñöäù—predominated by thieves; jana-padäù—the populated places; vedäù—the Vedic scriptures; päñaëöa—by atheists; düñitäù—contaminated; rājānaù—the political leaders; ca—and; prajā-bhakñäù—consuming the populace; çïçna-udara—to the genitals and belly; paräù—dedicated; dvijäù—the brähmaëas.

TRANSLATION

Cities will be dominated by thieves, the Vedas will be contaminated by speculative interpretations of atheists, political leaders will virtually consume the citizens, and the so-called priests and intellectuals will be devotees of their bellies and genitals.

PURPORT

Many large cities are unsafe at night. For example, it is understood that no sane person will walk in New York's Central Park at night because he knows he will almost certainly be mugged. Apart from ordinary thieves, who abound in this age, large cities are filled with cutthroat businessmen, who enthusiastically convince people to purchase and consume useless or even harmful products. It has been well documented that beef, tobacco, liquor and many other modern products destroy one's physical health, what to speak of mental health, and yet modern capitalists do not hesitate to use every psychological trick in the book to convince people to consume these things. Modern cities are full of mental and atmospheric pollution, and even ordinary citizens are finding them unbearable.

This verse also points out that the teachings of the Vedic scriptures will be distorted in this age. Great universities teach courses on Hinduism in which Indian religion, despite limitless evidence to the contrary, is described as polytheistic and leading to an impersonal salvation. In fact, all Vedic literature is a unified whole, as stated by Lord Kāñëa Himself in Bhagavad-gētä (15.15): vedaiç ca sarvair aham eva vedyau "By all the Vedas I [Kāñëa] am to be known." All Vedic literature is meant for enlightening us about the Supreme Personal Absolute Truth—Viñëu, or Kāñëa. Although known by many names and appearing in many forms, God is a single absolute entity, and He is a person. But this true Vedic understanding is hidden in the Kali-yuga.

In this verse Çukadeva astutely observes that "political leaders will virtually consume the citizens, and the so-called priests and intellectuals will be devotees of their bellies and genitals." How sadly true this statement is.

TEXT 33

@~ataA baq%vaAe'zAAEcaA
iBa°avaê ku(q%]imbana:
tapaisvanaAe faAmavaAs$aA

nyaAis$anaAe'tyaTaRlaAelaupaA:

*avratā baḍavo 'çaucā
bhikṣavaḥ ca kuḍumbinaḥ
tapasvino grāma-vāsā
nyāsino 'tyartha-lolupāḥ*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

avratāḥ—failing to execute their vows; baḍavaḥ—the brahmacārīs; açaucāḥ—unclean; bhikṣavaḥ—prone to begging; ca—and; kuḍumbinaḥ—the householders; tapasvinaḥ—those who have gone to the forest for austerities; grāma-vāsāḥ—village residents; nyāsinaḥ—the sannyāsīs; atyartha-lolupāḥ—excessively greedy for wealth.

TRANSLATION

The brahmacārīs will fail to execute their vows and become generally unclean, the householders will become beggars, the vānaprasthas will live in the villages, and the sannyāsīs will become greedy for wealth.

PURPORT

Brahmacarya, celibate student life, is practically nonexistent in the age of Kali. In America, many boys' schools have become coeducational because young men frankly refuse to live without the constant companionship of lusty young girls. Also, we have personally observed throughout the Western world that student residences are among the dirtiest places on earth, as predicted here by the word açaucāḥ.

Concerning householder beggars, when devotees of the Lord go door to door distributing transcendental literature and requesting donations for the propagation of God's glories, irritated householders commonly reply, "Someone should give me a donation." Householders in Kali-yuga are not charitable. Instead, because of their miserly mentality, they become irritated when spiritual mendicants approach them.

In Vedic culture, at the age of fifty, couples retire to sacred places for austere life and spiritual perfection. In countries like America, however, retirement cities have been constructed wherein elderly people can make fools of themselves by wasting the last years of their lives playing golf, ping-pong and shuffleboard and by engaging in pathetic attempts at love affairs even while their bodies are horribly rotting and their minds are growing senile. This shameless abuse of the venerable last years of life denotes a stubborn unwillingness to acknowledge the actual purpose of human life and is certainly an offense against God.

The words nyāsino 'tyārtha-lolupāu indicate that charismatic religious leaders, and even those who are not charismatic, will proclaim themselves prophets, saints and incarnations to cheat the innocent public and fatten their bank accounts. Therefore the International Society for Krishna Consciousness is working arduously to establish bona fide celibate student life, religious householder life, dignified and progressive retirement, and genuine spiritual leadership for the entire world. Today, May 9, 1982, in the sensual city of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, we have awarded sannyāsa, the renounced order of life, to three young men, two Brazilians and one American, with the sincere hope that they will faithfully execute the rigid vows of renounced life and provide authentic spiritual leadership in South America.

TEXT 34

œ"svak(AyaA mah"Ah"Ar"A BaUyaRpatyaA gAtaœ"ya:
zAitk(q%)k(BaAiSaNyazA, caAEyaRmaAyaAeç&s$aAh"s$aA:

*hrasva-kāyā mahāhārā
bhūry-apatyā gata-hriyau
çaçvat kaūka-bhāñiēyaç
caurya-māyuru-sāhasāu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

hrasva-käyāu—having dwarfed bodies; mahā-āhārāu—eating too much; bhūri-apatyāu—having many children; gata-hriyāu—losing their shyness; çaçvat—constantly; kaōuka—harshly; bhāñiēyāu—speaking; caurya—exhibiting the tendencies of thievery; māyā—deceit; uru-sāhasāu—and great audacity.

TRANSLATION

Women will become much smaller in size, and they will eat too much, have more children than they can properly take care of, and lose all shyness. They will always speak harshly and will exhibit qualities of thievery, deceit and unrestrained audacity.

TEXT 35

paNAiyaSyainta vaE °au"%A:
ik(r"Aq%A: kU(q%k(Air"NA: @naApaâipa maMsyantae
vaAtaA< s$aADau jaugAuips$ataAma,

paēayiñyanti vai kñudrāu
kirāōāu kūōa-kāriēau
anāpady api maāsante
vārtā sādhu jugupsitām

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

paēayiñyanti—will engage in commerce; vai—indeed; kñudrāu—petty; kirāōāu—the merchants; kūōa-kāriēau—indulging in cheating; anāpady—when there is no emergency; api—even; maāsante—people will consider; vārtām—an occupation; sādhu—good; jugupsitām—which is actually contemptible.

TRANSLATION

Businessmen will engage in petty commerce and earn their money by cheating. Even when there is no emergency, people will consider any degraded occupation quite acceptable.

PURPORT

Although other occupations are available, people do not hesitate to work in coal mines, slaughterhouses, steel mills, deserts, floating oil rigs, submarines and other equally abominable situations. As also mentioned here, businessmen will consider cheating and lying to be a perfectly respectable way to do business. These are all symptoms of the age of Kali.

TEXT 36

paitaM tya^oyainta ina%oR"vyaM
Ba{tyaA @pyaiKalaAeÔamama, Ba{tyaM ivapa^aaM pataya:
k(AEIaM gAAêApayaisvanal:

*patià tyakīyanti nirdravyaà
bhātyā apy akhilottamam
bhātyaà vipannaà patayaù
kaulaà gāç cāpayasvinēù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

patim—a master; tyakīyanti—they will abandon; nirdravyam—lacking property; bhātyāù—servants; api—even; akhila-uttamam—most excellent in personal qualities; bhātyam—a servant; vipannam—incapacitated; patayaù—masters; kaulam—belonging to the family for generations; gāù—cows; ca—and; apayasvinēù—which have stopped giving milk.

TRANSLATION

Servants will abandon a master who has lost his wealth, even if that master is a saintly person of exemplary character. Masters will abandon an incapacitated servant, even if that servant has been in the family for generations. Cows will be abandoned or killed when they stop giving milk.

PURPORT

In India, the cow is considered sacred not because Indian people are primitive worshipers of mythological totems but because Hindus intelligently understand that the cow is a mother. As children, nearly all of us were nourished with cow's milk, and therefore the cow is one of our mothers. Certainly one's mother is sacred, and therefore we should not kill the sacred cow.

TEXT 37

ipata{''aAta{s$auô$jÁaAtalna, ih"tvaA s$aAEr"tas$aAEô$d"A: nanaAnä{"zyaAlas$aMvaAd"A d"lnaA: ñENAA: k(laAE nar"A:

*pitâ-bhrâtâ-suhâj-ji âten
hitvâ saurata-sauhâdâu
nanândâ-çyâla-saâvâdâ
dênâû straiëâû kalau narâû*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pitâ—their fathers; bhrâtâ—brothers; suhât—well-wishing friends; ji âten—and immediate relatives; hitvâ—giving up; saurata—based on sexual relationships; sauhâdâu—their conception of friendship; nanândâ—with their wives' sisters; çyâla—and wives' brothers; saâvâdâu—associating regularly; dênâû—wretched; straiëâû—effeminate; kalau—in Kali-yuga;

naräù—the men.

TRANSLATION

In Kali-yuga men will be wretched and controlled by women. They will reject their fathers, brothers, other relatives and friends and will instead associate with the sisters and brothers of their wives. Thus their conception of friendship will be based exclusively on sexual ties.

TEXT 38

zAU#%"A: 'aitafah"ISyainta
tapaAevaeSaAepajalivana:
Dama< va^oyantyaDamaRÁaA @iDaç&÷AeÔamaAs$anama,

çüdräù pratigrahēñyanti
tapo-veñopajévinaù
dharmaà vakñyanty adharma-jī ä adhiruhyottamāsanam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çüdräù—lowly, common workers; pratigrahēñyanti—will accept religious charity; tapaù—by shows of austerity; veña—and by dressing as mendicants; upajévinaù—earning their living; dharmam—the principles of religion; vakñyanti—will speak about; adharma-jī äù—those who know nothing about religion; adhiruhyā—mounting; uttama-āsanam—a high seat.

TRANSLATION

Uncultured men will accept charity on behalf of the Lord and will earn their livelihood by making a show of austerity and wearing a mendicant's dress. Those who know nothing about religion will mount a high seat and presume to speak on religious principles.

PURPORT

The epidemic of bogus gurus, swamis, priests and so forth is explicitly described here.

TEXTS 39-40

inatyaM oiã"çamanas$aAe äu"iBaR°ak(r"k(izARtaA:
inar"ªae BaUtalae r"Ajana, @naAva{ii"BayaAtaur"A:

vaAs$aAe'ªapaAnazAyana-vyavaAyapaAnaBaUSaNAE:
h"lInaA: ipazAAcas$and"zAAR BaivaSyainta k(laAE 'ajaA:

*nitya*à udvigna-manaso
durbhikñā-kara-*karçita*ù niranne bhü-tale rājan
anāvāññi-*bhayāturā*ù

vāso-'nna-pāna-çayana- vyavāya-snāna-*bhüññā*ē*ai*ù
*hēnā*ù piçāca-sandarçā
bhaviñyanti kalau *prajā*ù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nityam—constantly; udvigna—agitated; *manasa*ù—their minds;
durbhikñā—by famine; kara—and taxes; *karçita*ù—emaciated; niranne—when there is no food to be found; bhü-tale—upon the surface of the earth;
rājan—O King Paréknit; anāvāññi—of drought; bhaya—because of fear;
*āturā*ù—anxious; *vāsa*ù—clothing; anna—food; pāna—drink; çayana—rest;
vyavāya—sex; snāna—bathing; *bhüññā*ē*ai*ù—and personal ornaments;

hénäù—lacking; piçäca-sandarçäù—appearing just like ghostly demons; bhaviṇṇyanti—they will become; kalau—in the age of Kali; prajāù—the people.

TRANSLATION

In the age of Kali, people's minds will always be agitated. They will become emaciated by famine and taxation, my dear King, and will always be disturbed by fear of drought. They will lack adequate clothing, food and drink, will be unable to properly rest, have sex or bathe themselves, and will have no ornaments to decorate their bodies. In fact, the people of Kali-yuga will gradually come to appear like ghostly, haunted creatures.

PURPORT

The symptoms described here are already prevalent in many countries of the world and will gradually spread to other places engulfed by impiety and materialism.

TEXT 41

k(laAE k(Aik(iNAke('pyaTaeR ivagA{÷ tya·(s$aAEô$d"A:
tya^oyainta ca i'ayaAna, 'aANAAAna,
h"inaSyainta svak(Anaipa

kalau käkiëike 'py arthe
vigåhya tyakta-sauhådäù
tyakṇyanti ca priyān prāëän
haniṇṇyanti svakān api

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kalau—in the age of Kali; käkiëike—of a small coin; api—even; arthe—for the sake; vigåhya—developing enmity; tyakta—abandoning;

sauhādāu—friendly relations; tyakñiyanti—they will reject; ca—and; priyān—dear; prāēān—their own lives; hanñiyanti—they will kill; svakān—their own relatives; api—even.

TRANSLATION

In Kali-yuga men will develop hatred for each other even over a few coins. Giving up all friendly relations, they will be ready to lose their own lives and kill even their own relatives.

TEXT 42

na r"i"oSyainta manaujaA:
sTaivar"AE ipatar"Avaipa pauṭaAna, BaAyaA< ca ku(lajaAM °au"%o"A: izA´aAed"rM"Bar"A:

na rakñiñyanti manujäù
sthavirau pitaräv api
putrān bhäryäà ca kula-jäà
kñudräù çìçnodaraà-bharäù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na rakñiñyanti—they will not protect; manujäù—men; sthavirau—elderly; pitarau—parents; api—even; putrān—children; bhäryäm—wife; ca—also; kula-jäm—born of a proper family; kñudräù—petty; çìçna-udaram—their genitals and belly; bharäù—simply maintaining.

TRANSLATION

Men will no longer protect their elderly parents, their children or their respectable wives. Thoroughly degraded, they will care only to satisfy their own bellies and genitals.

PURPORT

In this age many people are already sending their elderly parents away to lonely, and often bizarre, old-age homes, although the elderly parents spent their entire lives serving their children.

Young children are also tormented in many ways in this age. Suicide among children has increased dramatically in recent years because they are being born not to loving, religious parents but to degraded, selfish men and women. In fact, children are often born because a birth-control pill, a prophylactic or some other contraceptive device malfunctioned. Under such conditions, it is very difficult nowadays for parents to morally guide their children. Generally ignorant of spiritual science, parents cannot lead their children on the path of liberation and thus fail to fulfill their primary responsibility in family life.

As predicted in this verse, adultery has become common, and people in general are extremely concerned with eating and sex, which they consider far more important than knowing the Absolute Truth.

TEXT 43

k(laAE na r"Ajana, jagAtaAM parM" gAuçM& iṭalaAek(naATaAnatapaAd"paÆÿjama,
'aAyaena matyaAR BagAvantamacyautaM
ya^oyainta paASaNX"ivaiBa^aacaetas$a:

*kalau na räjan jagatäà paraà guruà
tri-loka-näthänata-päda-paì kajam präyeëa martyä bhagavantam acyutaà yakñyanti päñäëöa-vibhinna-cetasaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kalau—in the age of Kali; na—not; räjan—O King; jagatäm—of the universe; param—the supreme; gurum—spiritual master; tri-loka—of the three worlds; nātha—by the various masters; ānata—bowed down to; pāda-paṇi kajaṁ—whose lotus feet; prāyeṣā—for the most part; martyāu—human beings; bhagavantam—the Personality of Godhead; acyutam—Lord Acyuta; yakṣiyanti—they will offer sacrifice; pāṇāḍā—by atheism; vibhinna—diverted; cetasaṁ—their intelligence.

TRANSLATION

O King, in the age of Kali people's intelligence will be diverted by atheism, and they will almost never offer sacrifice to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the supreme spiritual master of the universe. Although the great personalities who control the three worlds all bow down to the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord, the petty and miserable human beings of this age will not do so.

PURPORT

The impulse to find the Absolute Truth, the source of all existence, has motivated philosophers, theologians and other intellectuals of various persuasions since time immemorial, and continues to do so today. However, soberly analyzing the ever-increasing plurality of so-called philosophies, religions, paths, ways of life and so on, we find that in almost all cases the ultimate objective is something impersonal or formless. But this idea of an impersonal or formless Absolute Truth has serious logical flaws. According to ordinary rules of logic, a particular effect should directly or indirectly embody the attributes, or nature, of its own cause. Thus that which has no personality or activity could hardly be the source of all personality and all activity.

Our irrepressible proclivity to philosophize about the ultimate truth often expresses itself through philosophical, scientific and mystical attempts to discover that from which everything emanates. This material world, which is a seemingly limitless network of interactive causes and effects, is certainly not the Absolute Truth, since scientific observation of material elements indicates that the stuff of this world, material energy, is endlessly transformed into different states and shapes. Therefore, one particular instance of material reality cannot be the ultimate source of all other things.

We may speculate that matter in some shape or other has always existed. This theory, however, is no longer attractive to modern cosmologists, such as those at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. And even if we do posit that matter has always existed, we still must explain the source of consciousness if we want to satisfy our philosophical impulse toward discovering the Absolute Truth. Although modern empirical fanatics state that nothing is real except matter, everyone commonly experiences that consciousness is not the same kind of substance as a stone, a pencil or water. Awareness itself, in contradistinction to the objects of awareness, is not a physical entity but rather a process of perception and understanding. While there is ample evidence of a systematic interdependent relationship between matter and consciousness, there is no rigid empirical evidence whatsoever that matter is the cause of consciousness. Thus the theory that the material world has always existed and is therefore the ultimate truth does not scientifically or even intuitively explain the source of consciousness, which is the most fundamentally real aspect of our existence.

Furthermore, as demonstrated by Dr. Richard Thompson of the State University of New York at Binghamton and confirmed by several Nobel laureates in physics who have praised his work, the laws of nature governing the transformation of matter simply do not contain sufficiently complex information to account for the inconceivable complexity of events taking place within our own bodies and those of other life forms. In other words, not only do the material laws of nature fail to account for the existence of consciousness, but they cannot explain even the interaction of material elements at complex organic levels. Even Socrates, the first great Western philosopher, was disgusted with the attempt to establish ultimate causality in terms of mechanistic principles.

The heat and luminosity of the sun's rays demonstrate to the satisfaction of any rational man that the sun, the source of the rays, is certainly not a dark, cold globe but rather a reservoir of almost unlimited heat and light. Similarly, the innumerable instances of personality and personal consciousness within creation are more than adequate to demonstrate the existence, somewhere, of an unlimited reservoir of consciousness and personal behavior. In his dialogue Philebus, the Greek philosopher Plato argued that just as the material elements in our body are derived from a vast reservoir of material elements existing within the universe, our rational intelligence is also derived from a great cosmic intelligence existing within the universe, and this supreme intelligence is God, the creator. Unfortunately, in Kali-yuga many leading thinkers cannot understand this and instead deny that the Absolute Truth, the source of our personal consciousness, has consciousness and personality. This is as reasonable as saying that the sun is cold and dark.

In Kali-yuga, many people present cheap, stereotyped arguments, such as "If God had a body or personality, He would be limited." In this inadequate attempt at logic, a qualified term is falsely presented in a universal sense. What really should be said is, "If God had a material body or a material personality like those we have experienced, He would be limited." But we leave out the qualifying adjective material and make a pseudouniversal assertion, as if we understood the full range, within total reality, of bodies and personality.

Bhagavad-gētā, Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam and other Vedic literatures teach that the transcendental form and personality of the Absolute Truth are unlimited. Clearly, to be truly infinite God must be not only quantitatively but also qualitatively infinite. Unfortunately, in our mechanistic, industrial age we tend to define infinity only in its quantitative sense, and thus we fail to notice that an infinity of personal qualities is a necessary aspect of infinity. In other words, God must have infinite beauty, infinite wealth, infinite intelligence, infinite humor, infinite kindness, infinite anger and so on. Infinite is an absolute, and if anything we observe in this world is not contained, somehow or other, within our conception of the Absolute, then that conception is of something limited and not of the Absolute at all.

Only in Kali-yuga are there philosophers foolish enough to proudly define the most absolute of all terms—God—in materialistic, relative ways and then declare themselves enlightened thinkers. No matter how big our brain may be, we should have the common sense to place it at the feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 44

ya^aaAmaDaeyaM i•ayamaANA @Ataur":
patana, sKalana, vaA ivavazAAe gA{NAna, paumaAna, ivamau·(k(maARgARla oÔamaAM gAitaM
'aA«aAeita ya^oyainta na taM k(laAE janaA:

yan-nāmadheyaà mriyamäëa āturaù
patan skhalan vā vivaço gāëan pumān vimukta-karmārgala uttamāà gatià
prāpnoti yakīyanti na taà kalau janāù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—whose; nāmadheyam—name; mriyamäëaù—a person who is dying;
āturaù—distressed; patan—collapsing; skhalan—voice faltering; vā—or;
vivaçaù—helplessly; gāëan—chanting; pumān—a person; vimukta—freed;
karma—of fruitive work; argalaù—from the chains; uttamām—the topmost;
gatim—destination; prāpnoti—achieves; yakīyanti na—they do not worship;
ta—Him, the Personality of Godhead; kalau—in the age of Kali;
janāù—people.

TRANSLATION

Terrified, about to die, a man collapses on his bed. Although his voice is faltering and he is hardly conscious of what he is saying, if he utters the holy name of the Supreme Lord he can be freed from the reaction of his fruitive work and achieve the supreme destination. But still people in the age of Kali will not worship the Supreme Lord.

PURPORT

You can lead a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink.

TEXT 45

pauMs$aAM k(ilak{(taAnd"AeSaAna, %o"vyade"zAAatmas$amBavaAna,
s$avaARna, h"r"ita icaÔasTaAe BagAvaAna, pauç&SaAeÔama:

puàsäà kali-kâtän doñän
dravya-deçätma-sambhavän
sarvän harati citta-stho
bhagavän puruñottamaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puàsäm—of men; kali-kâtän—created by the influence of Kali; doñän—the faults; dravya—objects; deça—space; ätma—and personal nature; sambhavän—based upon; sarvän—all; harati—steals away; citta-sthaù—situated within the heart; bhagavän—the almighty Lord; puruña-uttamaù—the Supreme Person.

TRANSLATION

In the Kali-yuga, objects, places and even individual personalities are all polluted. The almighty Personality of Godhead, however, can remove all such contamination from the life of one who fixes the Lord within his mind.

TEXT 46

™auta: s$aÆyLitaRtaAe DyaAta:
paUijataêAä{"taAe'ipa vaA
na{NAAM DaunaAeita BagAvaAna, ô$tsTaAe janmaAyautaAzAuBama,

*çrutaù saì kértitaù dhyätaù püjitaç cädâto 'pi vä nâëäà dhunoti bhagavän
hât-stho janmäyutäçubham*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çrutaù—heard; saì kértitaù—glorified; dhyätaù—meditated upon;
püjitaù—worshiped; ca—and; ädâtaù—venerated; api—even; vä—or;
nâëäm—of men; dhunoti—cleanses away; bhagavän—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; hât-sthaù—seated within their hearts;
janma-ayuta—of thousands of births; açubham—the inauspicious contamination.

TRANSLATION

If a person hears about, glorifies, meditates upon, worships or simply offers great respect to the Supreme Lord, who is situated within the heart, the Lord will remove from his mind the contamination accumulated during many thousands of lifetimes.

TEXT 47

yaTaA he"i°a isTataAe vai¶"r," äu"vaRNA< h"inta DaAtaujama, WvamaAtmagAtaAe ivaSNAur," yaAeigAnaAmazAuBaAzAyama,

*yathä hemni sthito vahnir durvarëaà hanti dhätu-jam evam ätma-gato viñëur
yoginäm açubhäçayam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathä—just as; hemni—in gold; sthitaù—situated; vahniù—fire;

durvarëam—the discoloration; hanti—destroys; dhātu-jam—due to the taint of other metals; evam—in the same way; ātma-gatau—having entered the soul; viñëu—Lord Viñëu; yoginām—of the yogés; açubha-āçayam—the dirty mind.

TRANSLATION

Just as fire applied to gold removes any discoloration caused by traces of other metals, Lord Viñëu within the heart purifies the minds of the yogés.

PURPORT

Although one may practice the mystic yoga system, his actual spiritual advancement is due to the mercy of the Supreme Lord within the heart; it is not directly the result of his austerity and meditation. If one becomes foolishly proud in the name of yoga, his spiritual position becomes ridiculous.

TEXT 48

ivaâAtapa:‘aANAinar"AeDamaE†altalTaARiBaSaek(˜atad"AnajapyaE:
naAtyantazAuiÜM" laBatae'ntar"AtmaA
yaTaA ô$id"sTae BagAvatyanantae

*vidyā-tapaù-präëa-nirodha-maitrétérthābhiñëka-vrata-dāna-japyaiù
nātyanta-çuddhià labhate 'ntarātmā yathā hādi-sthe bhagavatya anante*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vidyā—by worship of demigods; tapaù—austerities; präëa-nirodha—exercise of breath control; maitré—compassion; tértha-abhiñëka—bathing in holy places; vrata—strict vows; dāna—charity; japyaiù—and chanting of various mantras; na—not; atyanta—complete; çuddhim—purification; labhate—can achieve; antaù-ätmä—the mind; yathä—as; hâdi-sthe—when He is present within the heart; bhagavati—the Personality of Godhead; anante—the unlimited Lord.

TRANSLATION

By one's engaging in the processes of demigod worship, austerities, breath control, compassion, bathing in holy places, strict vows, charity and chanting of various mantras, one's mind cannot attain the same absolute purification as that achieved when the unlimited Personality of Godhead appears within one's heart.

TEXT 49

tasmaAts$avaARtmanaA r"Ajana, ô$Id"sTaM ku(ç& ke(zAvama,
i•ayamaANAAe ÷vaih"tas$a, tataAe yaAis$a par"AM gAitama,

tasmät sarvätmanä räjan
hâdi-sthaà kuru keçavam
mriyamäëo hy avahitas
tato yäsi paräà gatim

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmät—therefore; sarva-ätmanä—with all endeavor; räjan—O King; hâdi-satham—within your heart; kuru—make; keçavam—Lord Keçava; mriyamäëaù—dying; hi—indeed; avahitaù—concentrated; tataù—then; yäsi—you will go; paräà—to the supreme; gatim—destination.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, O King, endeavor with all your might to fix the Supreme Lord

Keçava within your heart. Maintain this concentration upon the Lord, and at the time of death you will certainly attain the supreme destination.

PURPORT

Although the Supreme Lord is always in the heart of every living being, the words hâdi-sthaà kuru keçavam indicate that one should endeavor to realize the Lord's presence there and maintain this awareness at every moment. Parékñit Mahārāja is about to give up this world and is receiving final instructions from his spiritual master, Çukadeva Gosvāmé. In the context of the King's imminent departure, this verse has special significance.

TEXT 50

i•ayamaANAEr"iBaDyaeyaAe BagAvaAna, par"maeir":
@AtmaBaAvaM nayatyaËy
s$avaARtmaA s$avaRs$aM™aya:

*mriyamäëair abhidhyeyo
bhagavân paramaçvaraù
ätma-bhāvaà nayaty aì ga
sarvātmā sarva-saàçrayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mriyamäëaiù—by those who are dying; abhidhyeyau—meditated upon; bhagavân—the Personality of Godhead; parama-éçvaraù—the Supreme Lord; ätma-bhāvam—their own true identity; nayati—leads them to; aì ga—my dear King; sarva-ätmā—the Supreme Soul; sarva-saàçrayaù—the shelter of all beings.

TRANSLATION

My dear King, the Personality of Godhead is the ultimate controller. He is the Supreme Soul and the supreme shelter of all beings. When meditated upon by those about to die, He reveals to them their own eternal spiritual identity.

TEXT 51

k(laed"AeRSainaDae r"Aja^aa, @ista ÷ek(Ae mah"Ana, gAuNA:
k(LtaRnaAde"va k{(SNA^{sya} mau·(s$AĒÿ: parM" ~ajaeta,

*kaler doña-nidhe rājan
asti hy eko mahān guḍaù
kīrtanād eva kâñḍasya
mukta-saì gaù paraḥ vrajet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kaleù—of the age of Kali; doña-nidheù—in the ocean of faults; rājan—O King; asti—there is; hi—certainly; ekaù—one; mahān—very great; guḍaù—good quality; kīrtanāt—by chanting; eva—certainly; kâñḍasya—of the holy name of Kâñḍa; mukta-saì gaù—liberated from material bondage; param—to the transcendental spiritual kingdom; vrajet—one can go.

TRANSLATION

My dear King, although Kali-yuga is an ocean of faults, there is still one good quality about this age: Simply by chanting the Hare Kâñḍa mahā-mantra, one can become free from material bondage and be promoted to the transcendental kingdom.

PURPORT

After mentioning the innumerable faults of this age of Kali, Çukadeva

Gosvāmé now mentions its one brilliant aspect. Just as one powerful king can kill innumerable thieves, one brilliant spiritual quality can destroy all the contamination of this age. It is impossible to overestimate the importance of chanting Hare Kāñëa, Hare Kāñëa, Kāñëa Kāñëa, Hare Hare/ Hare Rāma, Hare Rāma, Rāma Rāma, Hare Hare, especially in this fallen age.

TEXT 52

k{(tae yaÜ"YaAyataAe ivaSNAuM ‡aetaAyaAM yajataAe maKaE:
ã"Apare" pair"cayaARyaAM
k(laAE taÜ"ir"k(LtaRnaAta,

*kâte yad dhyäyato viñëuà
tretäyää à yajato makhaiù dväpare paricaryäyää à kalau tad dhari-kértanät*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kâte—in the Satya-yuga; yat—which; dhyäyatau—from meditation; viñëum—on Lord Viñëu; tretäyäm—in the Tretä-yuga; yajatau—from worshipping; makhaiù—by performing sacrifices; dväpare—in the age of Dväpara; paricaryäyäm—by worshipping the lotus feet of Kāñëa; kalau—in the age of Kali; tat—that same result (can be achieved); hari-kértanät—simply by chanting the Hare Kāñëa mahä-mantra.

TRANSLATION

Whatever result was obtained in Satya-yuga by meditating on Viñëu, in Tretä-yuga by performing sacrifices, and in Dväpara-yuga by serving the Lord's lotus feet can be obtained in Kali-yuga simply by chanting the Hare Kāñëa mahä-mantra.

PURPORT

A similar verse is found in the Viñëu Puräëa (6.2.17), and also in the Padma Puräëa (Uttara-khaëòa 72.25) and the Bâhan-nâradéya Puräëa (38.97):

*dhyäyan kâte yajan yajî ais tretäyâà dvâpare 'rcayan yad äpnoti tad äpnoti
kalau saî kërtya keçavam*

"Whatever is achieved by meditation in Satya-yuga, by the performance of sacrifice in Tretä-yuga, and by the worship of Lord Kânëa's lotus feet in Dväpara-yuga is obtained in the age of Kali simply by glorifying the name of Lord Keçava."

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé has further quoted from the Brahma-vaivarta Puräëa concerning the degraded condition of people in Kali-yuga:

*ataù kalau tapo-yoga-vidyâ-yajî ädikäù kriyâù
sâi gâ bhavanti na kâtâù
kuçalair api dehibhiù*

"Thus in the age of Kali the practices of austerity, yoga meditation, Deity worship, sacrifice and so on, along with their various subsidiary functions, are not properly carried out, even by the most expert embodied souls".

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé has also cited the Cäturmäsya-mähätmya of the Skanda Puräëa concerning the necessity of chanting Hare Kânëa in this age:

*tathä caivottamaà loke
tapaù çré-hari-kértanam
kalau yuge viçeñëëa
viñëu-prétyai samäcaret*

"In this way the most perfect penance to be executed in this world is the chanting of the name of Lord Çré Hari. Especially in the age of Kali, one can satisfy the Supreme Lord Viñëu by performing saì kértana."

In conclusion, massive propaganda should be made all over the world to induce people to chant the Hare Kâñëa mantra, by which human society can be rescued from the dangerous ocean of the age of Kali.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupäda to the Twelfth Canto, Third Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhägavatam, entitled "The Bhümi-gêtä."

4. The Four Categories of Universal Annihilation

This chapter discusses the four kinds of annihilation (constant, occasional, material and final) and the chanting of the holy name of Lord Hari, which is the only means of stopping the cycle of material life.

One thousand cycles of four ages constitute one day of Brahmä, and each day of Brahmä, called a kalpa, contains within it the lifetimes of fourteen Manus. The duration of Brahmä's night is the same as that of his day. During his night Brahmä sleeps, and the three planetary systems meet destruction; this is the naimittika, or occasional, annihilation. When Brahmä's life span of one hundred years is finished, there occurs the präkätika, or total material, annihilation. At that time the seven elements of material nature, beginning with the mahat, and the entire universal egg composed of them are destroyed. When a person achieves knowledge of the Absolute, he understands factual reality. He perceives the entire created universe as separate from the Absolute and therefore unreal. That is called the ätyantika, or final, annihilation (liberation). At every moment time invisibly transforms the bodies of all created beings and all other manifestations of matter. This process of transformation causes the living entity to undergo the constant annihilation of birth and death. Those possessed of subtle vision state that all creatures, including Brahmä himself, are always subject to generation and annihilation. Material life means subjugation to birth and death, or generation and annihilation. The only boat suitable for crossing the ocean of material existence, which is otherwise impossible to cross, is the boat of submissive hearing of the nectarean pastimes of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 1

™alzAuk(ovaAca
k(Alastae par"maANvaAid"r," iã"par"ADaARvaiDana{Rpa
k(iTataAe yaugAmaAnaM ca Za{NAu k(lpalayaAvaipa

çré-çuka uvāca
kālas te paramāëv-ādir
dvi-parārdhāvadhir nāpa
kathito yuga-mānaà ca
çāëu kalpa-layāv api

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çukaù uvāca—Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; kālaù—time; te—to you; parama-aëu—(the smallest fraction of time measured in terms of) the indivisible atom; ādiù—beginning with; dvi-para-ardha—the two halves of Brahmä's total life span; avadhiù—culminating in; nāpa—O King Parékñit; kathitaù—has been described; yuga-mānam—the duration of the millennia; ca—and; çāëu—now hear; kalpa—Brahmā's day; layau—annihilation; api—also.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: My dear King, I have already described to you the measurements of time, beginning from the smallest fraction measured by the movement of a single atom up to the total life span of Lord Brahmā. I have also discussed the measurement of the different millennia of universal history. Now hear about the time of Brahmā's day and the process of annihilation.

TEXT 2

catauyauRgAs$ah"›aM tau “aöNAAe id"namaucyatae
s$a k(lpaAe yaṭa manavazA, cataudR"zA ivazAAmpatae

*catur-yuga-sahasraà tu brahmaëo dinam ucyate
sa kalpo yatra manavaç
caturdaça viçäm-pate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

catuù-yuga—four ages; sahasram—one thousand; tu—indeed; brahmaëaù—of Lord Brahmā; dinam—the day; ucyate—is said; saù—that; kalpaù—a kalpa; yatra—in which; manavaù—original progenitors of mankind; caturdaça—fourteen; viçäm-pate—O King.

TRANSLATION

One thousand cycles of four ages constitute a single day of Brahmā, known as a kalpa. In that period, O King, fourteen Manus come and go.

TEXT 3

tad"ntae ‘alayastaAvaAna, “aAöl r"Aiṭaç&d"Aô$taA ṭayaAe laAek(A wmae taṭa

k(lpantae 'alayaAya ih"

*tad-ante pralayas tävān
brāhmé rātrir udāhātā
trayo lokā ime tatra
kalpante pralayāya hi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat-ante—after those (thousand cycles of ages); pralayaù—the annihilation; tävān—of the same duration; brāhmé—of Brahmā; rātriù—the nighttime; udāhātā—is described; trayaù—the three; lokäù—worlds; ime—these; tatra—at that time; kalpante—are prone; pralayāya—to annihilation; hi—indeed.

TRANSLATION

After one day of Brahmā, annihilation occurs during his night, which is of the same duration. At that time all the three planetary systems are subject to destruction.

TEXT 4

WSa naEimaiÔak(: 'aAe·(:
'alayaAe yaṭa ivaìs$ak,( zAetae'nantaAs$anaAe ivaìma, @Atmas$aAtk{(tya caAtmaBaU:

*eña naimittikaù proktaù
pralayo yatra viçva-sāk
çete 'nantāsano viçvam
ātmasāt-kātya cātma-bhüù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

eñaù—this; naimittikaù—occasional; proktaù—is said;

pralayaù—annihilation; yatra—in which; viçva-sāk—the creator of the universe, the Supreme Lord, Nārāyaëa; çete—lies down; ananta-āsanaù—upon the snake-bed of Ananta Çeña; viçvam—the universe; ātma-sāt-kātya—absorbing within Himself; ca—also; ātma-bhüù—Lord Brahmä.

TRANSLATION

This is called the naimittika, or occasional, annihilation, during which the original creator, Lord Nārāyaëa, lies down upon the bed of Ananta Çeña and absorbs the entire universe within Himself while Lord Brahmä sleeps.

TEXT 5

iã"par"ADaeR tvaita,(Antae “aöNA: par"maeiï"na:
tad"A ‘ak{(taya: s$aæa
k(lpantae ‘alayaAya vaE

dvi-parärdhe tv atikrānte
brahmaëaù parameññhinaù
tadā prakātayaù sapta
kalpante pralayāya vai

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dvi-parärdhe—two parärdhas; tu-and; atikrānte—when they have become completed; brahmaëaù—of Lord Brahmä; parame-sthinaù—the most highly situated living entity; tadā—then; prakātayaù—the elements of nature; sapta—seven; kalpante—are subject; pralayāya—to destruction; vai—indeed.

TRANSLATION

When the two halves of the lifetime of Lord Brahmä, the most elevated created being, are complete, the seven basic elements of creation are annihilated.

TEXT 6

WSa 'aAk{(itak(Ae r"Ajana,
'alayaAe yaṭa lalyatae @Nx"k(AeSastau s$al̥yAtaAe ivaGaAq% opas$aAid"tae

*eṇa prākātiko rājan
pralayo yatra léyate
aëòà-koṇas tu saì ghāto
vighāo upasādite*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

eṇa—this; prākātika—of the elements of material nature; rājan—O King Parékñit; pralaya—the annihilation; yatra—in which; léyate—is dissolved; aëòà-koṇa—the egg of the universe; tu—and; saì ghāo—the amalgamation; vighāte—the cause of its disruption; upasādite—being encountered.

TRANSLATION

O King, upon the annihilation of the material elements, the universal egg, comprising the elemental amalgamation of creation, is confronted with destruction.

PURPORT

It is significant that Çukadeva Gosvāmé, the spiritual master of King Parékñit, is broadly discussing cosmic annihilation just before the death of his disciple. By attentively hearing the story of universal destruction, one can easily understand one's personal departure from this temporary world to be an insignificant incident within the gigantic scope of the total material manifestation. By his deep and relevant discussions of the creation of God, Çukadeva Gosvämé, as an ideal spiritual master, is preparing his disciple for the moment of death.

TEXT 7

pajaRnya: zAtavaSaARiNA BaUmaAE r"Aja^a vaSaRita tad"A inar"^aae ÷nyaAenyaM Ba^oyamaANAA: °auDaAidR"taA: °ayaM yaAsyainta zAnakE(:
k(AlaenaAepaåu"taA: 'ajaA:

*parjanyaù çata-varñäëi
bhümau räjan na variñati
tadä niranne hy anyonyaà
bhakñyamäëäù kñudhãrditãù
kñayaà yäsyanti çanakaiù
kälenopadrutãù prajāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

parjanyaù—the clouds; çata-varñäëi—for one hundred years; bhümau—upon the earth; räjan—my dear King; na variñati—will not give rain; tadä—then; niranne—with the coming of famine; hi—indeed; anyonyam—one another; bhakñyamäëäù—eating; kñudhã—by hunger; arditãù—distressed; kñayam—to destruction; yäsyanti—they go; çanakaiù—gradually; kälena—by the force of time; upadrutãù—confounded; prajāù—the people.

TRANSLATION

As annihilation approaches, O King, there will be no rain upon the earth for one hundred years. Drought will lead to famine, and the starving populace will literally consume one another. The inhabitants of the earth, bewildered by the force of time, will gradually be destroyed.

TEXT 8

s$aAmau"%oM" dE"ih"kM(BaAEmaM
r"s$aM s$aAMvataRk(Ae r"iva:
r"izmaiBa: ipabatae GaAerE":
s$ava< naEva ivamauÂaita

*sāmudraà daihikaà bhaumaà rasaà sâàvartako raviù raçmibhiù pibate ghoraiù
sarvaà naiva vimui cati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sāmudram—of the ocean; daihikam—of living bodies; bhaumam—of the earth; rasam—the juice; sâàvartakaù—annihilating; raviù—the sun; raçmibhiù—with its rays; pibate—drinks up; ghoraiù—which are terrible; sarvam—all; na—nothing; eva—even; vimui cati—gives.

TRANSLATION

The sun in its annihilating form will drink up with its terrible rays all the water of the ocean, of living bodies and of the earth itself. But the devastating sun will not give any rain in return.

TEXT 9

tata: s$aMvataRk(Ae vai¶":
s$aÆÿSaRNAmauKaAeitTata:
d"h"tyainalavaegAAetTa:
zAUnyaAna, BaUivavar"AnaTa

*tataù saàvartako vahniù
saì karṇaëa-mukhotthitaù
dahaty anila-vegotthaù
çünyän bhü-vivarän atha*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataù—then; saàvartakaù—of destruction; vahniù—the fire; saì karṇaëa—of the Supreme Lord, Saì karṇaëa; mukha—from the mouth; utthitaù—arisen; dahati—burns; anila-vega—by the force of the wind; utthaù—raised; çünyän—empty; bhü—of the planets; vivarän—the crevices; atha—after that.

TRANSLATION

Next the great fire of annihilation will flare up from the mouth of Lord Saì karṇaëa. Carried by the mighty force of the wind, this fire will burn throughout the universe, scorching the lifeless cosmic shell.

TEXT 10

opayaRDa: s$amantaA»a izAKaAiBavaRi¶"s$aUyaRyaAe:
d"÷maAnaM ivaBaAtyaNxM"
d"gDagAAemayaipaNx"vata,

*upary adhaù samantäc ca
çikhäbhir vahni-süryayoù dahyamänaà vibhätý aëòaà
dagdha-gomaya-piëòa-vat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

upari—above; adhaù—and below; samantät—in all directions; ca—and; çikhäbhiù—with the flames; vahni—of the fire; süryayoù—and of the sun; dahyamänam—being burned; vibhāti—glows; aëòam—the egg of the universe; dagdha—burned; go-maya—of cow dung; piëða-vat—like a ball.

TRANSLATION

Burned from all sides—from above by the blazing sun and from below by the fire of Lord Saì karīaëa—the universal sphere will glow like a burning ball of cow dung.

TEXT 11

tata: 'acaNx"pavanaAe
vaSaARNAAmalDakM(zAtama, par": s$aAMvataRk(Ae vaAita DaU•aM KaM r"jas$aAva{tama, tataù pracaëða-pavano

varñäëäm adhikaè çatam
paraù säèvartako vâti
dhümraè khaè rajasävâtam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataù—then; pracaëða—terrible; pavanaù—a wind; varñäëäm—of years;
adhikam—more than; çatam—one hundred; paraù—great;
sämvertakaù—causing annihilation; vâti—blows; dhümram—gray;
kham—the sky; rajasä—with dust; ävâtam—covered.

TRANSLATION

A great and terrible wind of destruction will begin to blow for more than one hundred years, and the sky, covered with dust, will turn gray.

TEXT 12

tataAe maeGaku(laAnyäËÿ

icaṭa vaNAARnyanaek(zA:
zAtaM vaSaARiNA vaSaRinta
nad"inta r"Bas$asvanaE:

*tato megha-kulāny aī ga
citra varēāny anekaṣaṭ
ṣataà varñāēi varñanti
nadanti rabhasa-svanaiṭ*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataṭ—then; megha-kulāni—the clouds; aī ga—my dear King;
citra-varēāni—of various colors; anekaṣaṭ—numerous; ṣatam—one hundred; varñāēi—years; varñanti—they pour down rain; nadanti—they thunder; rabhasa-svanaiṭ—with tremendous sounds.

TRANSLATION

After that, O King, groups of multicolored clouds will gather, roaring terribly with thunder, and will pour down floods of rain for one hundred years.

TEXT 13

tata Wk(Aed"kM(ivaīM “aöANx"ivavar"Antar"ma,

*tata ekodakaà viṣvaà
brahmäëöa-vivaräntaram*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataṭ—then; eka-udakam—a single body of water; viṣvam—the universe;
brahma-aëöa—of the egg of creation; vivara-antaram—within.

TRANSLATION

At that time, the shell of the universe will fill up with water, forming a single cosmic ocean.

TEXT 14

tad"A BaUmaegARnDagAuNAM fas$antyaApa od"plavae
fastagAnDaA tau pa{iTaval
'alayatvaAya k(lpatae

*tadā bhūmer gandha-guëaà
grasanty äpa uda-plave
grasta-gandhä tu pāthivē
pralayatväya kalpate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tadā—then; bhūmeu—of the earth; gandha-guëam—the perceptible quality of fragrance; grasanti—takes away; äpaü—the water; uda-plave—during the flooding; grasta-gandhä—deprived of its fragrance; tu—and; pāthivē—the element earth; pralayatväya kalpate—becomes unmanifest.

TRANSLATION

As the entire universe is flooded, the water will rob the earth of its unique quality of fragrance, and the element earth, deprived of its distinguishing quality, will be dissolved.

PURPORT

As clearly explained throughout Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, the first element, sky, possesses the unique quality of sound. As creation expands, the second element, air, comes into being, and it possesses sound and touch. The third element, fire, possesses sound, touch and form, and the fourth element, water, possesses sound, touch, form and flavor. The earth possesses sound, touch, form, flavor and aroma. As each element loses its unique distinguishing quality, it naturally becomes indistinguishable from the more subtle elements and is thus effectively dissolved as a unique entity.

TEXTS 15-19

@paAM r"s$amaTaAe taejas$a,
taA lalyantae'Ta nalr"s$aA:
fas$atae taejas$aAe è&paM vaAyausta%o"ih"taM tad"A lalyatae caAinalae taejaAe vaAyaAe: KaM fas$atae gAuNAma,

s$a vaE ivazAita KaM r"AjaMs$a,
tataê naBas$aAe gAuNAma, zAbdM" fas$aita BaUtaAid"r," naBastamanau lalyatae

taEjas$aêein%o"yaANyaËÿ
de"vaAna, vaEk(Air"k(Ae gAuNAE:

mah"Ana, fas$atyah"ÆÿArM" gAuNAA: s$aÔvaAd"yaê tama, fas$atae'vyaAk{(taM r"Ajana, gAuNAAna, k(Alaena caAeid"tama, na tasya k(AlaAvayavaE:

pair"NAamaAd"yaAe gAuNAA: @naAânantamavya·M( inatyaM k(Ar"NAmavyayama,

*apā̀ rasam atho tejas
tā léyante 'tha nérasā̀
grasate tejaso rūpà*

väyus tad-rahitaà tadä

*léyate cänile tejo
väyoù khaà grasate guëam
sa vai viçati khaà räjaàs
tataç ca nabhaso guëam*

*çabdaà grasati bhütädir nabhas tam anu léyate
taijasaç cendriyäëy aì ga
devän vaikäriko guëaiù*

*mahän grasaty ahaì käraà guëäù sattvädayaç ca tam
grasate 'vyäkâtaà räjan
guëän kälëna coditam*

*na tasya kälävayavaiù pariëämädayo guëäù
anädy anantam avyaktaà
nityaà käraëam avyayam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

apäm—of water; rasam—the taste; atha—then; tejaù—fire; täù—that water; léyante—dissolves; atha—after this; nérasäù—deprived of its quality of taste; grasate—takes away; tejasäù—of fire; rüpam—the form; väyuù—the air; tat-rahitam—deprived of that form; tadä—then; léyate—merges; ca—and; anile—in wind; tejaù—fire; väyoù—of the air; kham—the ether; grasati—takes away; guëam—the perceptible quality (touch); saù—that air; vai—indeed; viçati—enters; kham—the ether; räjan—O King Parékñit; tataù—thereupon; ca—and; nabhasäù—of the ether; guëam—the quality; çabdam—sound; grasate—takes away; bhüta-ädiù—the element of false ego in the mode of ignorance; nabhaù—the ether; tam—into that false ego; anu—subsequently; léyate—merges; taijasaù—false ego in the mode of passion; ca—and; indriyäëi—the senses; aì ga—my dear King; devän—the demigods; vaikärikaù—false ego in the mode of goodness; guëaiù—along with the manifest functions (of false ego); mahān—the mahat-tattva; grasati—seizes; ahaṁ kāram—false ego; guṇāḥ—the basic modes of nature; sattva-ādayaḥ—goodness, passion and ignorance; ca—and; tam—that mahat; grasate—seizes; avyākātam—the unmanifest original form of nature; rājan—O King; guṇān—the three modes; kālena—by time; coditam—impelled; na—there are not; tasya—of that unmanifest nature; kāla—of time; avayavaiḥ—by the segments; pariṇāma-ādayaḥ—transformation and the other changes of visible matter (creation, growth and so on); guṇāḥ—such qualities; anādi—without beginning; anantam—without end; avyaktam—unmanifest; nityam—eternal; kāraṇam—the cause; avyayam—infallible.

TRANSLATION

The element fire then seizes the taste from the element water, which, deprived of its unique quality, taste, merges into fire. Air seizes the form inherent in fire, and then fire, deprived of form, merges into air. The element ether seizes the quality of air, namely touch, and that air enters into ether. Then, O King, false ego in ignorance seizes sound, the quality of ether, after which ether merges into false ego. False ego in the mode of passion takes hold of the senses, and false ego in the mode of goodness absorbs the demigods. Then the total mahat-tattva seizes false ego along with its various functions, and that mahat is seized by the three basic modes of nature—goodness, passion and ignorance. My dear King Parāṇit, these modes are further overtaken by the original unmanifest form of nature, impelled by time. That unmanifest nature is not subject to the six kinds of transformation caused by the influence of time. Rather, it has no beginning and no end. It is the unmanifest, eternal and infallible cause of creation.

TEXTS 20-21

na yaṭa vaAcaAe na manaAe na s$aÔvaM
tamaAe r"jaAe vaA mah"d"Ad"yaAe'mal na 'aANAbauÜ"lin%"yade"vataA vaA

na s$ai^aavaezA: Kalau laAek(k(lpa:

na sva«ajaAfa^a ca tats$auSauæaM na KaM jalaM BaUr"inalaAe'içar"kR(:
s$ams$auæavacC^$nyavad""atafya< tanmaUlaBaUtaM pad"maAmanainta

na yatra väco na mano na sattvaà tamo rajo vä mahad-ädayo 'më na präëa-buddhëndriya-devatä vä na sanniveçau khalu loka-kalpaù

na svapna-jägran na ca tat suñuptaà na khaà jalaà bhür anilo 'gnir arkaù saàsupta-vac chünya-vad apratarkyaà tan müla-bhütaà padam ämananti

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; yatra—wherein; väcaù—speech; na—not; manaù—the mind; na—not; sattvam—the mode of goodness; tamaù—the mode of ignorance; rajaù—the mode of passion; vä—or; mahat—the mahat-tattva; ädayaù—and so on; amë—these elements; na—not; präëa—the vital air; buddhi—intelligence; indriya—the senses; devatäù—and the controlling demigods; vä—or; na—not; sanniveçau—the particular construction; khalu—indeed; loka-kalpaù—of the arrangement of the planetary systems; na—not; svapna—sleep; jägrat—waking condition; na—not; ca—and; tat—that; suñuptam—deep sleep; na—not; kham—ether; jalam—water; bhüù—earth; anilaù—air; agniù—fire; arkaù—the sun; saàsupta-vat—like one who is fast asleep; çünya-vat—like a void; apratarkyam—inaccessible to logic; tat—that pradhäna; müla-bhütam—serving as the basis; padam—the substance; ämananti—great authorities say.

TRANSLATION

In the unmanifest stage of material nature, called pradhäna, there is no expression of words, no mind and no manifestation of the subtle elements beginning from the mahat, nor are there the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance. There is no life air or intelligence, nor any senses or demigods. There is no definite arrangement of planetary systems, nor are there present the different stages of consciousness—sleep, wakefulness and deep sleep. There is no ether, water, earth, air, fire or sun. The situation is just like that of complete sleep, or of voidness. Indeed, it is indescribable. Authorities in spiritual science explain, however, that since pradhāna is the original substance, it is the actual basis of material creation.

TEXT 22

laya: 'aAk{(itak(Ae ÷eSa pauç&SaAvya·(yaAeyaRd"A zA·(ya: s$am'alalyantae ivavazAA: k(Alaivaâu"taA:

*layaù prākātiko hy eña
puruñävyaktayor yadä
çaktayaù sampraléyante
vivaçäù käla-vidrutäù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

layaù—the annihilation; prākātikaù—of the material elements; hi—indeed; eñaù—this; puruña—of the Supreme Lord; avyaktayoù—and of His material nature in its unmanifest form; yadä—when; çaktayaù—the energies; sampraléyante—merge totally; vivaçäù—helpless; käla—by time; vidrutäù—disarrayed.

TRANSLATION

This is the annihilation called prākātika, during which the energies belonging to the Supreme Person and His unmanifest material nature, disassembled by the force of time, are deprived of their potencies and merge together totally.

TEXT 23

bauÜ"lin%"yaATaRè&paeNA ÁaAnaM BaAita tad"A™ayama, ä{"zyatvaAvyaitare"k(AByaAma, @Aântavad"vastau yata,

*buddhëndriyārtha-rūpeëa
jī ānaà bhāti tad-āçrayam dāçyatvāvyatirekābhyām
ādy-antavad avastu yat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

buddhi—of intelligence; indriya—the senses; artha—and the objects of perception; rūpeëa—in the form; jī ānam—the Absolute Truth; bhāti—manifests; tad—of these elements; āçrayam—the basis; dāçyatva—because of being perceived; avyatirekābhyām—and because of being nondifferent from its own cause; ādi-anta-vat—which has a beginning and an end; avastu—is insubstantial; yat—whatever.

TRANSLATION

It is the Absolute Truth alone who manifests in the forms of intelligence, the senses and the objects of sense perception, and who is their ultimate basis. Whatever has a beginning and an end is insubstantial because of being an object perceived by limited senses and because of being nondifferent from its own cause.

PURPORT

The word dāçyatva indicates that all subtle and gross material manifestations are made visible by the potency of the Supreme Lord and again become invisible, or unmanifest, at the time of annihilation. They are therefore in essence not separate from the source of their expansion and withdrawal.

TEXT 24

d"lpaê^oauê è&paM ca
jyaAeitaSaAe na pa{TagBavaeta, WvaM Dal: KaAina maAṭaAê
na syaur"nyatamaAä{"taAta,

*dépaç cakñuṣ ca rūpaḥ ca
jyotiño na pāthag bhavet
evaḥ dhēu khāni mātṛāṣ ca
na syur anyatamād ātāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dépaṭ—a lamp; cakñuṭ—a perceiving eye; ca—and; rūpaṃ—a perceived form; ca—and; jyotiñāṭ—from the original element fire; na—not; pāthag—distinct; bhavet—are; evam—in the same way; dhēu—intelligence; khāni—the senses; mātṛāṭ—the perceptions; ca—and; na syuṭ—they are not; anyatamāt—which is itself completely distinct; ātāt—from the reality.

TRANSLATION

A lamp, the eye that views by the light of that lamp, and the visible form that is viewed are all basically nondifferent from the element fire. In the same way, intelligence, the senses and sense perceptions have no existence separate from the supreme reality, although that Absolute Truth remains totally distinct from them.

TEXT 25

bauÜe"jaARgAr"NAM sva«a:

s$auSauiæair"ita caAecyatae maAyaAmaAḥaimadM" r"Ajana, naAnaAtvaM 'atyagAAtmaina

*buddher jāgaraëaà svapnaù suñuptir iti cocyate
māyā-mātram idaà rājan
nānātvāà pratyag-ātmani*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

buddheù—of intelligence; jāgaraëam—waking consciousness; svapnaù—sleep; suñuptiù—deep sleep; iti—thus; ca—and; ucyate—are called; māyā-mātram—merely illusion; ida—this; rājan—O King; nānātvam—the duality; pratyag-ātmani—experienced by the pure soul.

TRANSLATION

The three states of intelligence are called waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep. But, my dear King, the variegated experiences created for the pure living entity by these different states are nothing more than illusion.

PURPORT

Pure Kāñëa consciousness exists beyond the various stages of material awareness. Just as darkness vanishes in the presence of light, so illusory material intelligence, which is experienced as normal perception, dreaming and deep sleep, completely vanishes in the brilliant presence of pure Kāñëa consciousness, the constitutional condition of every living entity.

TEXT 26

yaTaA jalaDar"A vyaAei°a Bavainta na Bavainta ca
"aöNAldM" taTaA ivaima,

@vayavyaud"yaApyayaAta,

*yathā jala-dharā vyomni
bhavanti na bhavanti ca
brahmaëdaà tathā viçvam
avayavy udayāpyayāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathā—just as; jala-dharā—the clouds; vyomni—in the sky; bhavanti—are; na bhavanti—are not; ca—and; brahmaëi—within the Absolute Truth; idam—this; tathā—similarly; viçvam—universe; avayavi—having parts; udaya—because of generation; apyayāt—and dissolution.

TRANSLATION

Just as clouds in the sky come into being and are then dispersed by the amalgamation and dissolution of their constituent elements, this material universe is created and destroyed within the Absolute Truth by the amalgamation and dissolution of its elemental, constituent parts.

TEXT 27

s$atyaM ÷vayava: 'aAe·(:
s$avaARvayaivanaAimah"
ivanaATaeRna 'atalyaer"na,
paq%syaevaAËÿ tantava:

*satyaà hy avayavaù proktaù sarvāvayavinām iha
vinārthena pratéyeran
paūasyevāi ga tantavaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

satyam—real; hi—because; avayavaù—the ingredient cause; proktaù—is said to be; sarva-avayavinām—of all constituted entities; iha—in this created world; vinā—apart from; arthena—their manifest product; pratéyeran—they can be perceived; pañāsyā—of a cloth; iva—as; aī ga—my dear King; tantavaū—the threads.

TRANSLATION

My dear King, it is stated [in the Vedānta-sūtra] that the ingredient cause that constitutes any manifested product in this universe can be perceived as a separate reality, just as the threads that make up a cloth can be perceived separately from their product.

TEXT 28

yats$aAmaAnyai vazAeSaAByaAma, opalaByaeta s$a "ama:
@nyaAenyaApaA™ayaAts$avaRma, @Aântavad"vastau yata,

*yat sāmānya-viçēñābhyām
upalabhyeta sa bhramaū
anyonyāpāçrayāt sarvam
ādy-antavad avastu yat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—whatever; sāmānya—in terms of general cause; viçēñābhyām—and specific product; upalabhyeta—is experienced; saū—that; bhramaū—is illusion; anyonya—mutual; apāçrayāt—because of dependence; sarvam—everything; ādi-anta-vat—subject to beginning and end; avastu—unreal; yat—which.

TRANSLATION

Anything experienced in terms of general cause and specific effect must be an illusion, because such causes and effects exist only relative to each other. Indeed, whatever has a beginning and an end is unreal.

PURPORT

The nature of a material cause cannot be perceived without perception of the effect. For example, the burning nature of fire cannot be perceived without observing the effect of fire, such as a burning object or ashes. Similarly, the saturating quality of water cannot be understood without observing the effect, a saturated cloth or paper. The organizational power of a man cannot be understood without observing the effect of his dynamic work, namely a solid institution. In this way, not only do effects depend upon their causes, but the perception of the cause also depends upon observation of the effect. Thus both are defined relatively and have a beginning and an end. The conclusion is that all such material causes and effects are essentially temporary and relative, and consequently illusory.

The Supreme Personality of Godhead, although the cause of all causes, has no beginning or end. Therefore He is neither material nor illusory. Lord Kāñëa's opulences and potencies are absolute reality, beyond the interdependence of material cause and effect.

TEXT 29

ivak(Ar": KyaAyamaAnaAe'ipa
'atyagAAtmaAnamantar"A na inaè&pyaAe'styaNAur"ipa
syaA»aei»ats$ama @Atmavata,

*vikāraù khyāyamāno 'pi
pratyag-ātmānam antarā
na nirūpyo 'sty aëur api
syāc cec cit-sama ātma-vat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vikāraù—the transformation of created existence; khyāyamānaù—appearing; api—although; pratyak-ātmānam—the Supreme Soul; antarā—without; na—not; nirūpyaù—conceivable; asti—is; aëuù—a single atom; api—even; syāt—it is so; cet—if; cit-samaù—equally spirit; ātma-vat—remaining as it is, without change.

TRANSLATION

Although perceived, the transformation of even a single atom of material nature has no ultimate definition without reference to the Supreme Soul. To be accepted as factually existing, something must possess the same quality as pure spirit—eternal, unchanging existence.

PURPORT

A mirage of water appearing in the desert is actually a manifestation of light; the false appearance of water is a specific transformation of light. That which falsely appears as independent material nature is similarly a transformation of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Material nature is the external potency of the Lord.

TEXT 30

na ih" s$atyasya naAnaAtvama, @ivaã"Ana, yaid" manyatae naAnaAtvaM iC$%"yaAeyaRã"ja, jyaAeitaSaAevaARtayaAeir"va

*na hi satyasya nānātvam avidvān yadi manyate
nānātvaà chidrayor yadvaj
jyotiñor vātayor iva*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—there is no; hi—indeed; satyasya—of the Absolute Truth; nānātvam—duality; avidvān—a person not in true knowledge; yadi—if; manyate—he thinks; nānātvam—the duality; chidrayoṁ—of the two skies; yadvat—just as; jyotiṁ—of the two celestial lights; vātayoṁ—of the two winds; iva—as.

TRANSLATION

There is no material duality in the Absolute Truth. The duality perceived by an ignorant person is like the difference between the sky contained in an empty pot and the sky outside the pot, or the difference between the reflection of the sun in water and the sun itself in the sky, or the difference between the vital air within one living body and that within another body.

TEXT 31

yaTaA ih"r"NyaM baò"DaA s$amalyatae na{iBa: i,(yaAiBavyaRvah"Ar"vatmaRs$au WvaM vacaAeiBaBaRgAvaAnaDaAe°ajaAe vyaAKyaAyatae laAEik(k(vaEid"kE(jaR$naE:

yathā hiraëyaà bahudhā saméyate
nābhiù kriyābhir vyavahāra-vartmasu evaà vacobhir bhagavān adhokñajo vyākhyāyate laukika-vaidikair janaiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathā—just as; hiraëyam—gold; bahudhā—in many forms; saméyate—appears; nābhiù—to men; kriyābhiù—in terms of different functions; vyavahāra-vartmasu—in ordinary usage; evam—similarly; vacobhiù—in varying terms; bhagavān—the Personality of Godhead; adhokñajau—the transcendental Lord, who is inconceivable to material senses; vyākhyāyate—is described; laukika—mundane; vaidikaiù—and Vedic; janaiù—by men.

TRANSLATION

According to their different purposes, men utilize gold in various ways, and gold is therefore perceived in various forms. In the same way, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is inaccessible to material senses, is described in various terms, both ordinary and Vedic, by different types of men.

PURPORT

All those who are not pure devotees of the Supreme Lord are basically trying to exploit the Lord and His energies. According to their strategy of exploitation, they conceive of and describe the Absolute Truth in various ways. In Bhagavad-gétä and Çrémad-Bhägavatam the Absolute Truth presents Himself as He actually is for the benefit of sincere people who do not foolishly try to conceptually manipulate the Supreme Godhead.

TEXT 32

yaTaA GanaAe'kR('aBavaAe'kR(d"izARtaAe ÷k(A<zABaUtasya ca ca^oauSastama:
WvaM tvahM" "aögAuNAstad"li^oataAe
"aöAMzAk(syaAtmana @AtmabanDana:

*yathä ghano 'rka-prabhavo 'rka-darçito
hy arkäàça-bhütasya ca cakñuñas tamaù evaà tv ahaà brahma-guëas tad-ékñito
brahmäàçakasyätmana ätma-bandhanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yathä—as; ghanaù—a cloud; arka—of the sun; prabhavaù—the product; arka—by the sun; darçitaù—made visible; hi—indeed; arka—of the sun; aàça-bhütasya—which is the partial expansion; ca—and; cakñuñaù—of the eye; tamaù—darkness; evam—in the same way; tu—indeed; aham—false ego; brahma-guëaù—a quality of the Absolute Truth; tat-ékñitaù—visible through the agency of that Absolute Truth; brahma-aàçakasya—of the partial expansion of the Absolute Truth; ātmanaù—of the jēva soul; ātma-bandhanaù—serving to obstruct perception of the Supreme Soul.

TRANSLATION

Although a cloud is a product of the sun and is also made visible by the sun, it nevertheless creates darkness for the viewing eye, which is another partial expansion of the sun. Similarly, material false ego, a particular product of the Absolute Truth made visible by the Absolute Truth, obstructs the individual soul, another partial expansion of the Absolute Truth, from realizing the Absolute Truth.

TEXT 33

GanaAe yad"AkR('aBavaAe ivad"lyaRtae
ca^oau: svaè&paM r"ivamal^oatae tad"A yad"A ÷h"ÆÿAr" opaAiDar"AtmanaAe
ijaÁaAs$ayaA nazyaita ta÷Rnausmare"ta,

*ghano yadārka-prabhavo vidéryate cakñuù svarüpaà ravim ékñate tadä yadä hy ahaì kàra upādhir ātmano
jijī āsayä naçyati tarhy anusmaret*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ghanaù—the cloud; yadä—when; arka-prabhavaù—the product of the sun; vidéryate—is torn apart; cakñuù—the eye; svarüpa—in its real form; ravim—the sun; ékñate—sees; tadä—then; yadä—when; hi—indeed also; ahaì kàraù—false ego; upādhiù—the superficial covering; ātmanaù—of the spirit soul; jijī āsayä—by spiritual inquiry; naçyati—is destroyed; tarhi—at that time; anusmaret—one gains his proper remembrance.

TRANSLATION

When the cloud originally produced from the sun is torn apart, the eye can see the actual form of the sun. Similarly, when the spirit soul destroys his material covering of false ego by inquiring into the transcendental science, he regains his original spiritual awareness.

PURPORT

Just as the sun can burn away the clouds that prevent one from seeing it, the Supreme Lord (and He alone) can remove the false ego that prevents one from seeing Him. There are some creatures, however, like owls, who are averse to seeing the sun. In the same way, those who are not interested in spiritual knowledge will never receive the privilege of seeing God.

TEXT 34

yadE"vamaetaena ivavaek(he"itanaA
maAyaAmayaAh"Æÿr"NAAtmabanDanama, iC$ÔvaAcyautaAtmaAnauBavaAe'vaitai"tae tamaAò"r"Atyaintak(maËÿ s$amplavama,

*yadaivam etena viveka-hetinä
mäyä-mayähaì karaëätma-bandhanam chittväcyutätmänubhavo 'vatiñöhate
tam ähur ätyantikam aì ga samplavam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yadä—when; evam—in this way; etena—by this; viveka—of discrimination; hetinä—sword; mäyä-maya—illusory; ahaì karaëa—false ego; ätma—of the soul; bandhanam—the cause of bondage; chittvä—cutting off; acyuta—of the infallible; ätma—Supreme Soul; anubhavaù—realization; avatiñöhate—develops firmly; tam—that; ähuù—they call;

ätyantikam—ultimate; aṁ ga—my dear King; samplavam—annihilation.

TRANSLATION

My dear Parékñit, when the illusory false ego that binds the soul has been cut off with the sword of discriminating knowledge and one has developed realization of Lord Acyuta, the Supreme Soul, this is called the ätyantika, or ultimate, annihilation of material existence.

TEXT 35

inatyad"A s$avaRBaUtaAnaAM
"aöAd"lnaAM par"ntapa otpaiÔa'alayaAvaeke(
s$aU°maÁaA: s$am'aca°atae

nityadä sarva-bhütänäà brahmädénäà parantapa
utpatti-pralayäv eke
sükñma-jì äù sampracakñate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nityadä—constantly; sarva-bhütänäm—of all created beings; brahma-ädénäm—beginning with Lord Brahmä; param-tapa—O subduer of the enemies; utpatti—creation; pralayau—and annihilation; eke—some; sükñma-jì äù—expert knowers of subtle things; sampracakñate—declare.

TRANSLATION

Experts in the subtle workings of nature, O subduer of the enemy, have declared that there are continuous processes of creation and annihilation that all created beings, beginning with Brahmä, constantly undergo.

TEXT 36

k(AlaṽaAetaAejavaenaAzAu ioe"yamaANAsya inatyad"A pair"NAAimanaAM @vasTaAstaA janma'alayahe"tava:

kāla-sroto-javenāṇu
hriyamāēasya nityadā
pariēāmināṇa avasthās tā
janma-pralaya-hetavaṇu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kāla—of time; srotaṇu—of the mighty current; javena—by the force;
āṇu—rapidly; hriyamāēasya—of that which is being taken away;
nityadā—constantly; pariēāminām—of things subject to transformation;
avasthāṇu—the various conditions; tāṇu—they; janma—of birth;
pralaya—and annihilation; hetavaṇu—the causes.

TRANSLATION

All material entities undergo transformation and are constantly and swiftly eroded by the mighty currents of time. The various stages of existence that material things exhibit are the perpetual causes of their generation and annihilation.

TEXT 37

@naAântavataAnaena
k(Alaenaeir"maUitaRnaA @vasTaA naEva ä{"zyantae
ivayaita jyaAeitaSaAM wva

anādy-antavatānena
kāleneçvara-mūrtinā
avasthā naiva dāṇyante

viyati jyotiñāà iva

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anādi-anta-vatā—without beginning or end; anena—by this; kālena—time; ēçvara—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead; mūrtinā—the representation; avasthāu—the different stages; na—not; eva—indeed; dāçyante—are seen; viyati—in outer space; jyotiñām—of the moving planets; iva—just as.

TRANSLATION

These stages of existence created by beginningless and endless time, the impersonal representative of the Supreme Lord, are not visible, just as the infinitesimal momentary changes of position of the planets in the sky cannot be directly seen.

PURPORT

Although everyone knows that the sun is constantly moving in the sky, one cannot normally see the sun moving. Similarly, no one can directly perceive his hair or nails growing, although with the passing of time we perceive the fact of growth. Time, the potency of the Lord, is very subtle and powerful and is an insurmountable barrier to fools who are trying to exploit the material creation.

TEXT 38

inatyaAe naEimaiÔak(êEva taTaA 'aAk{(itak(Ae laya: @Atyaintak(ê k(iTata:
k(Alasya gAitar"lă{"zAl

*nityo naimittikaç caiva
tathä prākātiko layau*

*ätyantikaç ca kathitaù
kälasya gätir édâçé*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nityaù—continuous; naimittikaù—occasional; ca—and; eva—indeed; tathä—also; präkâtikaù—natural; layaù—annihilation; ätyantikaù—final; ca—and; kathitaù—are described; kälasya—of time; gatiù—the progress; édâçé—like this.

TRANSLATION

In this way the progress of time is described in terms of the four kinds of annihilation—continuous, occasional, elemental and final.

TEXT 39

WtaA: ku(ç&™aeĩ" jagAiã"DaAtaur," naAr"AyaNAsyaAiKalas$aÔvaDaA°a: lallaAk(TaAstae k(iTataA: s$amaAs$ata:
k(Ats$nyaeRna naAjaAe'pyaiBaDaAtaumalZA:

etäù kuru-çreñöha jagad-vidhätur näräyaëasyäkhila-sattva-dhämnaù lélä-kathäs te kathitäù samäsataù kärtsnyena näjo 'py abhidhätum éçaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etäù—these; kuru-çreñöha—O best of the Kurus; jagat-vidhätuù—of the creator of the universe; näräyaëasya—of Lord Näräyaëa; akhila-sattva-dhämnaù—the reservoir of all existences; lélä-kathäù—the pastime narrations; te—to you; kathitäù—have been related; samäsataù—in summary; kärtsnyena—entirely; na—not; ajaù—unborn Brahmä; api—even; abhidhätum—to enumerate; éçaù—is capable.

TRANSLATION

O best of the Kurus, I have related to you these narrations of the pastimes of Lord Nārāyaṇa, the creator of this world and the ultimate reservoir of all existence, presenting them to you only in brief summary. Even Lord Brahmā himself would be incapable of describing them entirely.

TEXT 40

s$āMs$aAr"i$s$anDaumaitaäu"star"mauiÔatalSaAeRr," naAnyā: plavaAe BagAvata: pauç&SaAeÔamasya lallaAk(TaAr"s$aīnaSaevaNAmantare"NA pauMs$aAe Bavaeiā"ivaDaäu":Kad"vaAidR"tasya

*saàsāra-sindhum ati-dustaram uttitérñor nānyaù plavo bhagavataù puruñottamasya lélā-kathā-rasa-niñevaëam antareëa
puàso bhaved vividha-duùkha-davārditasya*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saàsāra—of material existence; sindhum—the ocean; ati-dustaram—impossible to cross; uttitérñor—for one who desires to cross; na—there is not; anyaù—any other; plavaù—boat; bhagavataù—of the Personality of Godhead; puruña-uttamasya—the Supreme Lord; lélā-kathā—of the narrations of the pastimes; rasa—to the transcendental taste; niñevaëam—the rendering of service; antareëa—apart from; puàsaù—for a person; bhaved—there can be; vividha—various; duùkha—of material miseries; dava—by the fire; arditasya—who is distressed.

TRANSLATION

For a person who is suffering in the fire of countless miseries and who desires to cross the insurmountable ocean of material existence, there is no suitable boat except that of cultivating devotion to the transcendental taste for the narrations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead's pastimes.

PURPORT

Although it is not possible to completely describe the pastimes of the Lord, even a partial appreciation can save one from the unbearable miseries of material existence. The fever of material existence can be removed only by the medicine of the holy name and pastimes of the Supreme Lord, which are perfectly narrated in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam.

TEXT 41

paur"ANAs$aMih"taAmaetaAma, [%iSanaARr"AyaNA Ae'vyaya:
naAr"d"Aya paur"A 'aAh"
k{(SNAãE"paAyanaAya s$a:

*purāëa-saàhitām etām
āñīr nārāyaëo 'vyayaù
nāradāya purā prāha
kāñëa-dvaipāyanāya saù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

purāëa—of all the Purāëas; saàhitām—the essential compendium; etām—this; āñiù—the great sage; nārāyaëaù—Lord Nara-Nārāyaëa; avyayaù—the infallible; nāradāya—to Nārada Muni; purā—previously; prāha—spoke; kāñëa-dvaipāyanāya—to Kāñëa Dvaipāyana Vedavyāsa; saù—he, Nārada.

TRANSLATION

Long ago this essential anthology of all the Purāëas was spoken by the infallible Lord Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi to Nārada, who then repeated it to Kāñëa Dvaipāyana Vedavyāsa.

TEXT 42

s$a vaE ma÷M mah"Ar"Aja BagAvaAna, baAd"r"AyaNA:
wmaAM BaAgAvatal%M 'alta:
s$aMih"taAM vaed"s$aimmataAma,

*sa vai mahyaà mahā-rāja
bhagavān bādarāyaëaù
imāà bhāgavatéà prētaù
saàhitāà veda-sammitām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he; vai—indeed; mahyam—to me, Çukadeva Gosvāmé; mahārāja—O King Parékñit; bhagavān—the powerful incarnation of the Supreme Lord; bādarāyaëaù—Çréla Vyāsadeva; imām—this; bhāgavatém—Bhāgavata scripture; prētaù—being satisfied; saàhitām—the anthology; veda-sammitām—equal in status to the four Vedas.

TRANSLATION

My dear Mahārāja Parékñit, that great personality Çréla Vyāsadeva taught me this same scripture, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, which is equal in stature to the four Vedas.

TEXT 43

wmaAM va^oyatyas$aAE s$aUta [%iSaByaAe naEimaSaAlayae
d"IGaRs$aṭae ku(ç&™aeĩ"
s$ampa{í": zAAEnak(Aid"iBa:

imāà vakīyaty asau sūta

*āñibhyo naimiñālaye dérgha-satre kuru-çreñña
sampāññaù çaunakādibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

imam—this; vakñyati—will speak; asau—present before us; sūtaù—Sūta Gosvāmé; āñibhyaù—to the sages; naimiña-ālaye—in the forest of Naimiña; dérgha-satre—at the lengthy sacrificial performance; kuru-çreñña—O best of the Kurus; sampāññaù—questioned; çaunaka-ādibhiù—by the assembly led by Çaunaka.

TRANSLATION

O best of the Kurus, the same Sūta Gosvāmé who is sitting before us will speak this Bhāgavatam to the sages assembled in the great sacrifice at Naimiñāraëya. This he will do when questioned by the members of the assembly, headed by Çaunaka.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Twelfth Canto, Fourth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "The Four Categories of Universal Annihilation."

4. Çukadeva Gosvāmé's Final Instructions to Mahārāja Parékñit

This chapter explains how King Parékñit's fear of death from the snakebird Takñaka was averted by Çukadeva Gosvāmé's brief instructions on the Absolute Truth.

Having in the last chapter described the four processes of annihilation that act in this material world, Çréla Çukadeva Gosvämé now reminds Parékñit Mahārāja how he had previously, in the Third Canto, discussed the measurement of time and of the various millennia of universal history. During a single day of Lord Brahmā, constituting one thousand cycles of four ages, fourteen different Manus rule and die. Thus death is unavoidable for every embodied being, but the soul itself never dies, being entirely distinct from the material body. Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé then states that in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam he has repeatedly chanted the glories of the Supreme Soul, Lord Çré Hari, from whose satisfaction Brahmā takes birth and from whose anger Rudra is born. The idea "I will die" is simply the mentality of animals, because the soul does not undergo the bodily phases of previous nonexistence, birth, existence and death. When the body's subtle mental covering is destroyed by transcendental knowledge, the soul within the body again exhibits his original identity. Just as the temporal existence of a lamp comes about by the combination of oil, the vessel, the wick and the fire, the material body comes about by the amalgamation of the three modes of nature. The material body appears at birth and displays life for some time. Finally, the combination of material modes dissolves, and the body undergoes death, a phenomenon similar to the extinguishing of a lamp. Çukadeva addresses the king, saying, "You should fix yourself in meditation upon Lord Väsudeva, and thus the bite of the snake-bird will not affect you."

TEXT 1

™alzAuk(ovaAca
 @ḥaAnauvaNyaRtae'Bal°NAM ivaìAtmaA BagAvaAna, h"ir":
 yasya 'as$aAd"jaAe "aöA
 ç&%o": ,(AeDas$amauà"va:

çré-çuka uvāca
 atrānuvarēyate 'bhékñēaà
 viçvātmā bhagavān hariù

*yasya prasāda-jo brahmā
rudraù krodha-samudbhavaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çukaù uvāca—Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said; atra—in this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam; anuvareyate—is elaborately described; abhékñēam—repeatedly; viçva-ātmā—the soul of the entire universe; bhagavān—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; hariù—Lord Hari; yasya—of whom; prasāda—from the satisfaction; jaù—born; brahmā—Lord Brahmā; rudraù—Lord Çiva; krodha—from the anger; samudbhavaù—whose birth.

TRANSLATION

Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: This Çrémad-Bhāgavatam has elaborately described in various narrations the Supreme Soul of all that be—the Personality of Godhead, Hari—from whose satisfaction Brahmā is born and from whose anger Rudra takes birth.

PURPORT

Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura has given a very elaborate summary of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam in his commentary on this verse. The essence of the great ācārya's statement is that unconditional loving surrender to the Supreme Lord, Kñēa, as described by Çukadeva Gosvāmé, is the highest perfection of life. The exclusive purpose of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is to convince the conditioned soul to execute such surrender to the Lord and go back home, back to Godhead.

TEXT 2

tvaM tau r"Ajanmair"Syaeita
pazAubaiÜ"imamaAM jaih"
na jaAta: 'aAgABaUtaAe'â

de"ha"vaÔvaM na naÉÿYais$a

*tvaà tu rājan mariṇyeti paçu-buddhim imāà jahi
na jātaù prāg abhūto 'dya
deha-vat tvaà na naī kṇyasi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tvam—you; tu—but; rājan—O King; mariṇye—I am about to die; iti—thus thinking; paçu-buddhim—animalistic mentality; imām—this; jahi—give up; na—not; jātaù—born; prāk—previously; abhūtaù—nonexistent; adya—today; deha-vat—like the body; tvam—you; na naī kṇyasi—will not be destroyed.

TRANSLATION

O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking, "I am going to die." Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed.

PURPORT

At the end of the First Canto (1.19.15) King Parékṇit stated:

*taà mopajātaà pratiyantu viprā
gaī gā ca devé dhāta-cittam éçe dvijopasāññaù kuhakas takṇako vā
daçatv alaà gāyata viñëu-gāthāù*

"O brāhmaëas, just accept me as a completely surrendered soul, and let mother Ganges, the representative of the Lord, also accept me in that way, for I have already taken the lotus feet of the Lord into my heart. Let the snake-bird—or whatever magical thing the brāhmaëa created—bite me at once. I only desire that you all continue singing the deeds of Lord Viñëu."

Even before hearing Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, King Parékṇit was a mahā-bhāgavata, a great and pure devotee of Lord Kāñëa. There was actually no animalistic fear of death within the King, but for our sake Çukadeva Gosvāmë is speaking very strongly to his disciple, just as Lord Kāñëa speaks strongly to Arjuna in Bhagavad-gëtä.

TEXT 3

na BaivaSyais$a BaUtvaA tvaM pauṭapaAEṭaAid"è&pavaAna, baljaAÇÿr"vaÚe"h"Ade"r," vyaitair"·(Ae yaTaAnala:

*na bhaviṇyasi bhūtvā tvaà
putra-pauṭrādi-rūpavān
bējāi kura-vad dehāder
vyatirikto yathānalaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na bhaviṇyasi—you will not come into being; bhūtvā—becoming; tvam—you; putra—of children; pauṭra—grandchildren; ādi—and so on; rūpa-vān—assuming the forms; bēja—the seed; aì kura—and the sprout; vat—like; deha-ādeù—from the material body and its paraphernalia; vyatiriktaù—distinct; yathā—as; analaù—the fire (from the wood).

TRANSLATION

You will not take birth again in the form of your sons and grandsons, like a sprout taking birth from a seed and then generating a new seed. Rather, you are entirely distinct from the material body and its paraphernalia, in the same way that fire is distinct from its fuel.

PURPORT

Sometimes one dreams of being reborn as the son of one's son, in the hope of perpetually remaining in the same material family. As stated in the çruti-mantra, pitā putreëa pitāmān yoni-yonau: "A father has a father in his son, because he may take birth as his own grandson." The purpose of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is spiritual liberation and not the foolish prolonging of the illusion of bodily identification. That is clearly stated in this verse.

TEXT 4

sva«ae yaTaA izAr"zCe$dM" paÂatvaAâAtmana: svayama,
yasmaAtpazyaita de"h"sya
tata @AtmaA ÷jaAe'mar":

*svapne yathā çiraç-chedaà
pai catvādy ātmanaù svayam yasmāt paçyati dehasya
tata ātmā hy ajo 'maraù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

svapne—in a dream; yathā—as; çiraù—of one's head; chedam—the cutting off; pai catva-ādi—the condition of being composed of the five material elements, and other material conditions; ātmanaù—one's own; svayam—oneself; yasmāt—because; paçyati—one sees; dehasya—of the body; tataù—therefore; ātmā—the soul; hi—certainly; ajaù—unborn; amaraù—immortal.

TRANSLATION

In a dream one can see his own head being cut off and thus understand that his actual self is standing apart from the dream experience. Similarly, while awake one can see that his body is a product of the five material elements. Therefore it is to be understood that the actual self, the soul, is distinct from the body it observes and is unborn and immortal.

TEXT 5

Gaqe% iBa^aae Gaq%Ak(AzA @Ak(AzA: syaA^âTaA paur"A WvaM de"he" ma{tae jalvaAe “aö s$ampaâtae pauna:

*ghaöe bhinne ghaöäkäça
äkäçaù syäd yathä purä
evaà dehe mâte jévo
brahma sampadyate punaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ghaöe—a pot; bhinne—when it is broken; ghäöa-äkäçaù—the sky within the pot; äkäçaù—sky; syät—remains; yathä—as; purä—previously; evam—similarly; dehe—the body; mâte—when it is given up, in the liberated condition; jévaù—the individual soul; brahma—his spiritual status; sampadyate—attains; punaù—once again.

TRANSLATION

When a pot is broken, the portion of sky within the pot remains as the element sky, just as before. In the same way, when the gross and subtle bodies die, the living entity within resumes his spiritual identity.

TEXT 6

mana: s$a{jaita vaE de"h"Ana, gAuNAAna, k(maARiNA caAtmana:
tanmana: s$a{jatae maAyaA
tataAe jalvasya s$aMs$a{ita:

*manaù sâjati vai dehän
guëän karmäëi cätmanaù
tan manaù sâjate mäyâ*

tato jévasya saàsàtiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

manaù—the mind; sàjati—produces; vai—indeed; dehän—the material bodies; guëän—the qualities; karmäëi—the activities; ca—and; ätmanaù—of the soul; tat—that; manaù—mind; sàjate—produces; mäyā—the illusory potency of the Supreme Lord; tataù—thus; jévasya—of the individual living being; saàsàtiù—the material existence.

TRANSLATION

The material bodies, qualities and activities of the spirit soul are created by the material mind. That mind is itself created by the illusory potency of the Supreme Lord, and thus the soul assumes material existence.

TEXT 7

µaeh"AiDai"AnavatyaRiça-
s$aMyaAegAAe yaAvad"lyatae taAvaÚ"lpasya d"lpatvama, WvaM de"h"k{(taAe Bava:
r"ja:s$aÔvatamaAeva{ÔyaA
jaAyatae'Ta ivanazyaita

*snehādhiñöhāna-varty-agnisaàyogo yāvad éyate
tāvad dépasya dépatvam
evaà deha-kāto bhavaù
rajaù-sattva-tamo-vāṭṭyā
jäyate 'tha vinaçyati*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sneha—of the oil; adhiñöhāna—the vessel; varti—the wick; agni—and the fire; saàyogaù—the combination; yāvat—to which extent; éyate—is seen;

tävat—to that extent; dēpasya—of the lamp; dēpatvam—the status of functioning as a lamp; evam—similarly; deha-kātaù—due to the material body; bhavaù—material existence; rajaù-sattva-tamaù—of the modes of passion, goodness and ignorance; vāṭṭyā—by the action; jāyate—arises; atha—and; vinaṣyati—is destroyed.

TRANSLATION

A lamp functions as such only by the combination of its fuel, vessel, wick and fire. Similarly, material life, based on the soul's identification with the body, is developed and destroyed by the workings of material goodness, passion and ignorance, which are the constituent elements of the body.

TEXT 8

na taṣaAtmaA svayaMjyaAeitar," yaAe vya·(Avya·(yaAe: par": @Ak(AzA wva caADaAr"Ae
'auvaAe'nantaAepamastata:

na tatrātmā svayaṁ-jyotir
yo vyaktāvyaktayoḥ paraḥ ākāśa iva cādhāro
dhruvo 'nantopamas tataḥ

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; tatra—there; ātmā—the soul; svayam-jyotiḥ—self-luminous; yaḥ—who; vyakta-avyaktayoḥ—from the manifest and the unmanifest (the gross and subtle bodies); paraḥ—different; ākāśaḥ—the sky; iva—as; ca—and; ādhāraḥ—the basis; dhruvaḥ—fixed; ananta—without end; upamaḥ—or comparison; tataḥ—thus.

TRANSLATION

The soul within the body is self-luminous and is separate from the visible gross body and invisible subtle body. It remains as the fixed basis of changing bodily existence, just as the ethereal sky is the unchanging background of material transformation. Therefore the soul is endless and without material comparison.

TEXT 9

WvamaAtmaAnamaAtmasTama, @AtmanaEvaAma{zA 'aBaAe
bauÜ"YaAnaumaAnagAiBaRNyaA
vaAs$aude"vaAnauicantayaA

*evam ātmānam ātma-stham ātmanaivāmāṇa prabho
buddhyānumāna-garbhiṇya
vāsudevānucintayā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—in this way; ātmānam—your true self; ātma-stham—situated within the bodily covering; ātmanā—with your mind; eva—indeed; āmāṇa—consider carefully; prabho—O master of the self (King Parīkṣit); buddhyā—with intelligence; anumāna-garbhiṇya—conceived by logic; vāsudeva-anucintayā—with meditation upon Lord Vāsudeva.

TRANSLATION

My dear King, by constantly meditating upon the Supreme Lord, Vāsudeva, and by applying clear and logical intelligence, you should carefully consider your true self and how it is situated within the material body.

TEXT 10

caAeid"taAe iva'avaAfyana

na tvaAM Da^oyaita ta^oak(:
ma{tyavaAe naAepaDa^oyainta
ma{tyaUnaAM ma{tyaumalir"ma,

*codito vipra-väkyena
na tväà dhakñiyati takñakaù mâtyavo nopadhakñiyanti
mâtyünäà mâtyum éçvaram*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

coditaù—sent; vipra-väkyena—by the words of the brähmaëa; na—not; tväm—you; dhakñiyati—will burn; takñakaù—the snake-bird Takñaka; mâtyavaù—the agents of death personified; na upadhakñiyanti—cannot burn; mâtyünäm—of these causes of death; mâtyum—the very death; éçvaram—the master of the self.

TRANSLATION

The snake-bird Takñaka, sent by the curse of the brähmaëa, will not burn your true self. The agents of death will never burn such a master of the self as you, for you have already conquered all dangers on your path back to Godhead.

PURPORT

Real death is the covering of one's eternal Kāñëa consciousness. For the soul, material illusion is just like death, but Parékñit Mahäräja had already destroyed all those dangers that threaten one's spiritual life, such as lust, envy and fear. Çukadeva Gosvämé here congratulates the great saintly king, who, as a pure devotee of Lord Kāñëa homeward bound to the spiritual sky, was far beyond the reach of death.

TEXTS 11-12

@hM" "aö parM" DaAma
"aöAhM" par"maM pad"ma,
WvaM s$amal^oya caAtmaAnama, @AtmanyaADaAya inaSk(lae

d"zAntaM ta^oakM(paAde" laeilah"AnaM ivaSaAnanaE:
na %^o"^oyais$a zAr"lrM" ca
ivaìM ca pa{TagAAatmana:

*ahaà brahma paraà dhāma
brahmāhaà paramaà padam
evaà samékñya cātmānam
ātmany ādhāya niñkale
daçantaà takñakaà päde
lelihānaà viñānanaiù
na drakñyasi çaréraà ca
viçvaà ca pāthag ātmanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

aham—I; brahma—the Absolute Truth; param—supreme; dhāma—the abode; brahma—the Absolute Truth; aham—I; paramam—the supreme; padam—destination; evam—thus; samékñya—considering; ca—and; ātmānam—yourself; ātmani—in the Supreme Self; ādhāya—placing; niñkale—which is free from material designation; daçantam—biting; takñakam—Takñaka; päde—upon your foot; lelihānam—the snake, licking his lips; viñā-ānanaiù—with his mouth full of poison; na drakñyasi—you will not even notice; çaréram—your body; ca—and; viçvam—the entire material world; ca—and; pāthag—separate; ātmanaù—from the self.

TRANSLATION

You should consider, "I am nondifferent from the Absolute Truth, the supreme abode, and that Absolute Truth, the supreme destination, is nondifferent from me." Thus resigning yourself to the Supreme Soul, who is free from all material misidentifications, you will not even notice the snake-bird Takñaaka when he approaches with his poison-filled fangs and bites your foot. Nor will you see your dying body or the material world around you, because you will have realized yourself to be separate from them.

TEXT 13

WtaÔae k(iTataM taAta
yad"AtmaA pa{í"vaA^aa{pa
h"re"ivaRiAtmanaêeí"AM ikM(BaUya: TMaAetauimacC$is$a

etat te kathitaà t̥ata
yad ātmā p̥āñāvān n̥apa
harer viçvātmanaç ceññāà
kià bhūyaù çrotum icchasi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; te—to you; kathitam—narrated; t̥ata—my dear Parékñit; yat—which; ātmā—you; p̥āñāvān—inquired; n̥apa—O King; hareù—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead; viçva-ātmanaù—of the Soul of the universe; ceññām—the pastimes; kim—what; bhūyaù—further; çrotum—to hear; icchasi—do you wish.

TRANSLATION

Beloved King Parékñit, I have narrated to you the topics you originally inquired about—the pastimes of Lord Hari, the Supreme Soul of the universe. Now, what more do you wish to hear?

PURPORT

In his commentary on this text, Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé has elaborately demonstrated, by citing many Bhāgavatam verses, the exalted devotional position of King Parékñit, who was fully determined to fix his mind upon Lord Kāñëa and go back home, back to Godhead.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Twelfth Canto, Fifth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Çukadeva Gosvāmë's Final Instructions to Mahārāja Parékñit."

6. Mahārāja Parékñit Passes Away

This chapter describes Mahārāja Parékñit's attainment of liberation, Mahārāja Janamejaya's performance of sacrifice for killing all snakes, the origin of the Vedas, and Çréla Vedavyāsa's dividing of the Vedic literature.

After hearing the words of Çré Çukadeva, Mahārāja Parékñit stated that by having listened to the Bhāgavatam, which is the compendium of the Purāëas and which is full of the nectarean pastimes of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Uttamaùçloka, Parékñit had attained the transcendental position of fearlessness and oneness with the Supreme. His ignorance had been dispelled, and by the mercy of Çré Çukadeva he had gained sight of the supremely auspicious personal form of God, namely the Personality of Godhead, Çré Hari. As a result, he had cast aside all fear of death. Çré Parékñit Mahārāja then begged Çukadeva Gosvāmë to permit him to fix his heart upon the lotus feet of Lord Hari and give up his life. Granting this permission, Çré Çukadeva rose and departed. Subsequently Mahārāja Parékñit, free of all doubts, sat down in yogic posture and merged himself in meditation upon the Supersoul. Then the snake-bird Takñaka, arriving in the disguise of a brāhmaëa, bit him, and the body of the saintly king immediately burned to ashes.

Janamejaya, the son of Parékñit, became very angry when he received news of his father's death, and he began a sacrificial performance for the purpose of destroying all the snakes. Even though Takñaka received protection from Indra, he nevertheless became attracted by the mantras and was about to fall into the fire. Seeing this, Bâhaspati, the son of Aṁ girā Āñi, came and advised Mahārāja Janamejaya that Takñaka could not be killed because he had drunk the nectar of the demigods. Furthermore, Bâhaspati said that all living entities must enjoy the fruits of their past activities. Therefore the king should give up this sacrifice. Janamejaya was thus convinced by the words of Bâhaspati and stopped his sacrifice.

Thereafter Sūta Gosvāmé, in response to questions from Çré Çaunaka, described the divisions of the Vedas. From the heart of the topmost demigod, Brahmā, came the subtle transcendental vibration, and from this subtle sound vibration arose the syllable oṁ, greatly potent and self-luminous. Using this oṁkāra, Lord Brahmā created the original Vedas and taught them to his sons, Maréci and others, who were all saintly leaders of the brāhmaëa community. This body of Vedic knowledge was handed down through the disciplic succession of spiritual masters until the end of Dvāpara-yuga, when Lord Vyāsadeva divided it into four parts and instructed various schools of sages in these four saṁhitās. When the sage Yāji avalkya was rejected by his spiritual master, he had to give up all the Vedic mantras he had received from him. To obtain new mantras of the Yajur Veda, Yāji avalkya worshiped the Supreme Lord in the form of the sun-god. Çré Sūryadeva subsequently fulfilled his prayer.

TEXT 1

s$Uta ovaAca

Wtai^aazAmya mauinanaAiBaih"taM par"li^oaä," vyaAs$aAtmajaena inaiKalaAtmaä{"zAA s$amaena
 tatpaAd"maUlamaupas${tya nataena maU@aAR baÜ"AÃailastaimad"maAh" s$a ivaSNAur"Ata:

sūta uvāca

*etan niçamyā muninābhihitaḥ parēkñit vyāsātmajena nikhilātma-dāṣa samena tat-pāda-mūlam upasātya natena mürdhnā
baddhāi jalis tam idam āha sa viñēurātau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtau uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmē said; etat—this; niçamyā—hearing; muninā—by the sage (Çukadeva); abhihitam—narrated; parēkñit—Mahārāja Parēkñit; vyāsa-ātma-jena—by the son of Vyāsadeva; nikhila—of all living beings; ātma—the Supreme Lord; dāṣa—who sees; samena—who is perfectly equipoised; tat—of him (Çukadeva); pāda-mūlam—to the lotus feet; upasātya—going up; natena—bowed down; mürdhnā—with his head; baddha-ai jaliu—his arms folded in supplication; tam—to him; idam—this; āha—said; sa—he; viñēu-rātau—Parēkñit, who while still in the womb had been protected by Lord Kāñēa Himself.

TRANSLATION

Sūta Gosvāmē said: After hearing all that was narrated to him by the self-realized and equipoised Çukadeva, the son of Vyāsadeva, Mahārāja Parēkñit humbly approached his lotus feet. Bowing his head down upon the sage's feet, the King, who had lived his entire life under the protection of Lord Viñēu, folded his hands in supplication and spoke as follows.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravartē Ōhākura, some of the sages present while Çukadeva was instructing King Parēkñit were impersonalist philosophers. Thus the word samena indicates that in the previous chapter Çukadeva Gosvāmē had spoken the philosophy of self-realization in a way pleasing to such intellectual yogīs.

TEXT 2

r"AjaAevaAca
is$aÜ"Ae'smyanaugA{h"ltaAe'isma BavataA k(ç&NAAtmanaA ™aAivataAe ya»a mae s$aA°aAä," @naAid"inaDanaAe h"ir":

rājavāca
siddho 'smy anugāhēto 'smi bhavatā karuëätmanā
çrāvito yac ca me sākṣāt
anādi-nidhano hariù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rājā uvāca—King Parékñit said; siddhaù—fully successful; asmi—I am; anugāhētaù—shown great mercy; asmi—I am; bhavatā—by your good self; karuëä-ätmanā—who are full of mercy; çrāvitaù—has been described aurally; yat—because; ca—and; me—to me; sākṣāt—directly; anādi—who has no beginning; nidhanaù—or end; hariù—the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TRANSLATION

Mahārāja Parékñit said: I have now achieved the purpose of my life, because a great and merciful soul like you has shown such kindness to me. You have personally spoken to me this narration of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, who is without beginning or end.

TEXT 3

naAtyaàu"tamahM" manyae
mah"taAmacyautaAtmanaAma, @ÁaeSau taApataæaeSau BaUtaeSau yad"naufah":

nāty-adbhutam ahaà manye

*mahatām acyutātmanām
aji eñu tãpa-tapteñu
bhüteñu yad anugrahaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; ati-adbhutam—very surprising; aham—I; manye—think; mahatām—for the great souls; acyuta-ātmanām—whose minds are always absorbed in Lord Kāñëa; aji eñu—upon the ignorant; tãpa—by the distresses of material life; tapteñu—tormented; bhüteñu—upon the conditioned souls; yat—which; anugrahaù—mercy.

TRANSLATION

I do not consider it at all amazing that great souls such as yourself, whose minds are always absorbed in the infallible Personality of Godhead, show mercy to the foolish conditioned souls, tormented as we are by the problems of material life.

TEXT 4

paur"ANAs$aMih"taAmaetaAma, @™aAESma BavataAe vayama, yasyaAM KalaUÔama:ëAek(Ae BagAvaAnanavaNyaRtae

*puräëa-saàhitām etām
açrauñma bhavato vayam
yasyäà khalüttamaù-çloko
bhagavān anuvarëyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puräëa-saàhitām—essential summary of all the Puräëas; etām—this; açrauñma—have heard; bhavataù—from you; vayam—we; yasyām—in which; khalu—indeed; uttamaù-çlokaù—who is always described in choice poetry; bhagavān—the Personality of Godhead; anuvareyate—is fittingly described.

TRANSLATION

I have heard from you this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, which is the perfect summary of all the Purāēas and which perfectly describes the Supreme Lord, Uttamaùçloka.

TEXT 5

BagAvaMsta°ak(Aid"ByaAe
ma{tyauByaAe na ibaBaemyah"ma,
'aivaí"Ae "aö inavaARNama, @BayaM d"izARtaM tvayaA

*bhagavaàs takñakädibhyo
mātyubhyo na bibhemy aham praviñño brahma nirvāëam
abhayaà darçitaà tvayä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhagavan—my lord; takñaka—from the snake-bird Takñaka; ädibhyaù—or other living entities; mātyubhyaù—from repeated deaths; na bibhemi—do not fear; aham—I; praviññaù—having entered; brahma—the Absolute Truth; nirvāëam—exclusive of everything material; abhayam—fearlessness; darçitam—shown; tvayä—by you.

TRANSLATION

My lord, I now have no fear of Takñaka or any other living being, or even of repeated deaths, because I have absorbed myself in that purely spiritual Absolute Truth, which you have revealed and which destroys all fear.

TEXT 6

@naujaAnalih" maAM "aöna, vaAcaM yacC$AmyaDaAe°ajae mau·(k(AmaAzAyaM caeta:
'avaezya ivas$a{jaAmyas$aUna,

*anujānéhi mää brahman
väcaà yacchāmy adhokñaje
mukta-kāmāçayaà cetaù
praveçya visājämy asün*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anujānéhi—please give your permission; mām—to me; brahman—O great brähmaëa; vācam—my speech (and all other sensory functions); yacchāmi—I shall place; adhokñaje—within the Supreme Personality of Godhead; mukta—having given up; kāma-açayam—all lusty desires; cetaù—my mind; praveçya—absorbing; visājämi—I shall give up; asün—my life air.

TRANSLATION

O brähmaëa, please give me permission to resign my speech and the functions of all my senses unto Lord Adhokñaja. Allow me to absorb my mind, purified of lusty desires, within Him and to thus give up my life.

PURPORT

Çukadeva Gosvämé asked King Parékñit, "What more do you wish to hear?" Now the King replies that he has perfectly understood the message of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam and that he is ready, without further discussion, to go back home, back to Godhead.

TEXT 7

@ÁaAnaM ca inar"staM mae ÁaAnaivaÁaAnainaĩ"yaA BavataA d"izARtaM °aemaM
parM" BagAvata: pad"ma,

*aji ānaà ca nirastaà me
ji āna-viji āna-niñohayā
bhavatā darçitaà kñemaà
paraà bhagavataù padam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

aji ānam—ignorance; ca—also; nirastam—eradicated; me—my; ji āna—in knowledge of the Supreme Lord; viji āna—and direct realization of His opulence and sweetness; niñohayā—by becoming fixed; bhavatā—by you; darçitam—has been shown; kñemam—all-auspicious; param—supreme; bhagavataù—of the Lord; padam—the Personality.

TRANSLATION

You have revealed to me that which is most auspicious, the supreme personal feature of the Lord. I am now fixed in knowledge and self-realization, and my ignorance has been eradicated.

TEXT 8

s$aUta ovaAca
wtiau·(stamanauÁaApya
BagAvaAna, baAd"r"AyaiNA:
jagAAma iBa°auiBa: s$aAkM(
nar"de"vaena paUijata:

*sūta uvāca
ity uktas tam anujī āpya
bhagavān bādarāyaēiù
jagāma bhikīubhiù sākaà*

nara-devena pūjitaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaù uvāca—Çré Sūta Gosvāmé said; iti—thus; uktaù—spoken to; tam—him; anujī āpya—giving permission; bhagavān—the powerful saint; bādarāyaëiù—Çukadeva, the son of Bādarāyaëa Vedavyāsa; jagāma—went away; bhikñubhiù—the renounced sages; sākam—along with; nara-devena—by the King; pūjitaù—worshiped.

TRANSLATION

Sūta Gosvāmé said: Thus requested, the saintly son of Çréla Vyāsadeva gave his permission to King Parékñit. Then, after being worshiped by the King and all the sages present, Çukadeva departed from that place.

TEXTS 9-10

par"li°ad"ipa r"AjaiSaRr," @AtmanyaAtmaAnamaAtmanaA
s$amaADaAya parM" d"DyaAva, @s$pand"As$auyaRTaA taç&:

‘aAfkU(lae baihR"SyaAs$alnaAe gAËÿAkU(la od"x.~mauKa:
“aöBaUtaAe mah"AyaAegAl
ina:s$aËÿizC$ªas$aMzAya:

parékñid api rājarñir
ätmany ätmānam ätmanä
samādhāya paraà dadhyāv
aspandāsura yathā taruù

prak-küle barhiṇy āsēno
gaḷ gā-kūla udaì -mukhaù brahma-bhūto mahā-yogè

niüsaì gaç chinna-saàçayaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

parékñit—Mahäräja Parékñit; api—furthermore; räja-âñiù—the great saintly King; ätmani—within his own spiritual identity; ätmänam—his mind; ätmanä—by his intelligence; samädhäya—placing; param—upon the Supreme; dadhyau—he meditated; aspanda—motionless; asuù—his living air; yathä—just as; taruù—a tree; prä-k-küle—with the tips of its stalks facing east; barhiñi—upon darbha grass; äsénaù—sitting; gaì gä-küle—on the bank of the Gaì gä; udak-mukhaù—facing north; brahma-bhütaù—in perfect realization of his true identity; mahä-yogé—the exalted mystic; niüsaì gaù—free of all material attachment; chinna—broken off; saàçayaù—all doubts.

TRANSLATION

Mahäräja Parékñit then sat down on the bank of the Ganges, upon a seat made of darbha grass with the tips of its stalks facing east, and turned himself toward the north. Having attained the perfection of yoga, he experienced full self-realization and was free of material attachment and doubt. The saintly King settled his mind within his spiritual self by pure intelligence and proceeded to meditate upon the Supreme Absolute Truth. His life air ceased to move, and he became as stationary as a tree.

TEXT 11

ta°ak(: 'aih"taAe iva'aA:
,u(Üe"na iã"jas$aUnaunaA
h"ntauk(AmaAe na{paM gAcC$na,
d"d"zAR paiTa k(zyapama,

takñakaù prahito vipräù
kruddhena dvija-sünunä
hantu-kämo nãpaà gacchan

dadarça pathi kaçyapam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

takñakaù—the snake-bird Takñaka; prahitaù—sent; viprāù—O learned brāhmaëas; kruddhena—who had been angered; dvija—of the sage Çaméka; sünunä—by the son; hantu-kāmaù—desirous of killing; nāpam—the King; gacchan—while going; dadarça—he saw; pathi—upon the road; kaçyapam—Kaçyapa Muni.

TRANSLATION

O learned brāhmaëas, the snake-bird Takñaka, who had been sent by the angry son of a brāhmaëa, was going toward the King to kill him when he saw Kaçyapa Muni on the path.

TEXT 12

taM tapaRiyatvaA %o"ivaNAEr," inavatyaR ivaSah"Air"NAmā, iã"jaè&pa'aitacC$ªa:
k(Amaè&paAe'd"zAªa{pama,

taè tarpayitvä draviëair
nivartya viña-häriëam
dvija-rüpa-praticchannaù
kāma-rüpo 'daçan nāpam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—him (Kaçyapa); tarpayitvä—gratifying; draviëaiù—with valuable offerings; nivartya—stopping; viña-häriëam—an expert in counteracting poison; dvija-rüpa—in the form of a brāhmaëa; praticchannaù—disguising himself; kāma-rüpaù—Takñaka, who could assume any form he wished; adaçat—bit; nāpam—King Parékñit.

TRANSLATION

Takṇaka flattered Kaçyapa by presenting him with valuable offerings and thereby stopped the sage, who was expert in counteracting poison, from protecting Mahārāja Parékṇit. Then the snakebird, who could assume any form he wished, disguised himself as a brāhmaëa, approached the King and bit him.

PURPORT

Kaçyapa could counteract the poison of Takṇaka and demonstrated this power by bringing a palm tree back to life after Takṇaka had burned it to ashes by biting it with his fangs. According to the arrangement of destiny, Kaçyapa was diverted by Takṇaka, and the inevitable took place.

TEXT 13

“aöBaUtasya r"AjaSaeRr," de"h"Ae'ih"gAr"laAiçanaA
baBaUva Basmass$ats$aâ:
pazyataAM s$avaR$de"ih"naAma,

brahma-bhütasya räjarñer
deho 'hi-garalägninä
babhüva bhasmasät sadyaù
paçyatäà sarva-dehinäm

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brahma-bhütasya—of the fully self-realized; räja-ãñeù—the saint among kings; dehaù—the body; ahi—of the snake; garala—from the poison; agninä—by the fire; babhüva—turned; bhasma-sät—to ashes; sadyaù—immediately; paçyatäm—while they were watching; sarva-dehinäm—all embodied living beings.

TRANSLATION

While living beings all over the universe looked on, the body of the great self-realized saint among kings was immediately burned to ashes by the fire of the snake's poison.

TEXT 14

h"Ah"Ak(Ar"Ae mah"AnaAs$alä," Bauiva Kae id"°au s$avaRta:
ivaismataA ÷Bavana, s$avaeR
de"vaAs$aur"nar"Ad"ya:

*hähä-kāro mahān āśēd
bhuvi khe dikñu sarvataù
vismitā hy abhavan sarve
devāsura-narādayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

hähä-kāraù—a cry of lamentation; mahān—great; āśēt—there was; bhuvi—on the earth; khe—in the sky; dikñu—in the directions; sarvataù—all about; vismitāù—amazed; hi—indeed; abhavan—they became; sarve—all; deva—the demigods; asura—demons; nara—human beings; ādayaù—and other creatures.

TRANSLATION

There arose a terrible cry of lamentation in all directions on the earth and in the heavens, and all the demigods, demons, human beings and other creatures were astonished.

TEXT 15

de"vaäu"näu"BayaAe naeäu"r," gAnDavaARps$ar"s$aAe jagAu:
vava{Sau: pauSpavaSaARiNA
ivabauDaA: s$aADauvaAid"na:

*deva- Dundubhaya nedur
gandharvāpsaraso jaguù
vavāñuù puñpa-varñäëi
vibudhäu sādhu-vādinaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deva—of the demigods; dundubhayaù—the kettledrums; neduù—resounded;
gandharva-apsarasaù—the Gandharvas and Apsaräs; jaguù—sang;
vavāñuù—they showered down; puñpa-varñäëi—rains of flowers;
vibudhäu—the demigods; sādhu-vādinaù—speaking praise.

TRANSLATION

Kettledrums sounded in the regions of the demigods, and the celestial Gandharvas and Apsaräs sang. The demigods showered flowers and spoke words of praise.

PURPORT

Although lamenting at first, all learned persons, including the demigods, soon realized that a great soul had gone back home, back to Godhead. This was certainly a cause for celebration.

TEXT 16

janmaejaya: svaipatarM" ™autvaA ta°ak(Bai°atama, yaTaAjauh"Ava s$an,u(Ü"Ae naAgAAana, s$aṭae s$ah" iã"jaE:

*janmejayaù sva-pitaraà
çrutvä takñaka-bhakñitam
yathäjuhäva sankruddho
nägän satre saha dvijaiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

janmejayaù—King Janamejaya, the son of Parékñit; sva-pitaram—his own father; çrutvä—hearing; takñaka—by Takñaka, the snake-bird; bhakñitam—bitten; yathä—properly; äjuhäva—offered as oblations; saì kruddhaù—extremely angry; nägän—the snakes; satre—in a great sacrifice; saha—along with; dvijaiù—brähmaëas.

TRANSLATION

Hearing that his father had been fatally bitten by the snakebird, Mahäräja Janamejaya became extremely angry and had brähmaëas perform a mighty sacrifice in which he offered all the snakes in the world into the sacrificial fire.

TEXT 17

s$apaRs$aṭae s$aimaÜ"AçaAE
d"÷maAnaAnmah"Aer"gAAna, ä{"îe"n%M" Bayas$aMivaças$a, ta⁰ak(: zAr"NAM yayaAE

*sarpa-satre samiddhāgnau dahyamānān mahoragān
dāñōvendraà bhaya-saàvignas
takñakaù çaraëaà yayau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sarpa-satre—in the snake sacrifice; samiddha—blazing; agnau—in the fire; dahyamānān—being burned; mahā-uragān—the great serpents;

dāñvā—seeing; indram—to Indra; bhaya—with fear; saāvignau—very disturbed; takñakaù—Takñaka; çaraëam—for shelter; yayau—went.

TRANSLATION

When Takñaka saw even the most powerful serpents being burned in the blazing fire of that snake sacrifice, he was overwhelmed with fear and approached Lord Indra for shelter.

TEXT 18

@pazyamsta°akM(taṭa
r"AjaA paAr"li°ataAe iā"jaAna, ovaAca ta°ak(: k(smaAna,
na d"÷etaAer"gAADama:

apaçyaàs takñakaà tatra
rājā pärékñito dvijān
uvāca takñakaù kasmān
na dahyetoragādhamau

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

apaçyan—not seeing; takñakam—Takñaka; tatra—there; rājā—the King; pärékñitaù—Janamejaya; dvijān—to the brähmaëas; uvāca—said; takñakaù—Takñaka; kasmāt—why; na dahyeta—has not been burned; uraga—of all the serpents; adhamaù—the lowest.

TRANSLATION

When King Janamejaya did not see Takñaka entering his sacrificial fire, he said to the brähmaëas: Why is not Takñaka, the lowest of all serpents, burning in this fire?

TEXT 19

taM gAAepaAyaita r"Ajaen%" zA,(; zAr"NAMAgaAtama, taena s$amstaimBata: s$apaRs$a,
tasmaA³aAçaAE patatyas$aAE

*taà gopäyati räjendra
çakraù çaraëam ägatam
tena saàstambhitaù sarpas
tasmän nägnau pataty asau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—him (Takñaka); gopäyati—is hiding; räja-indra—O best of kings;
çakraù—Lord Indra; çaraëam—for shelter; ägatam—who has approached;
tena—by that Indra; saàstambhitaù—kept; sarpaù—the snake;
tasmät—thus; na—not; agnau—into the fire; patati—does fall; asau—he.

TRANSLATION

The brähmaëas replied: O best of kings, the snake Takñaka has not fallen into the fire because he is being protected by Indra, whom he has approached for shelter. Indra is holding him back from the fire.

TEXT 20

paAr"li°ata wita T^MautvaA
'aAh"itvaRja od"Ar"Dal:
s$ahen%"sta°ak(Ae iva'aA naAçaAE ik(imaita paAtyatae

*päreknñita iti çrutvä prähartvija udära-dhéu
sahendras takñako viprä
nägnau kim iti pätyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pārékñitaù—King Janamejaya; iti—these words; çrutvä—hearing; prāha—replied; ātvijaù—to the priests; udāra—broad; dhēù—whose intelligence; saha—along with; indraù—Indra; takñakaù—Takñaka; vipräù—O brähmaëas; na—not; agnau—into the fire; kim—why; iti—indeed; pätyate—is made to fall.

TRANSLATION

The intelligent King Janamejaya, hearing these words, replied to the priests: Then, my dear brähmaëas, why not make Takñaka fall into the fire, along with his protector, Indra?

TEXT 21

tacC_ $tvaAjauò"vauivaR'aA:
s$ahē"n%oM" ta°akM(maKae ta°ak(AzAu patasvaeh"
s$ahē"n%oe"NA maç&tvataA

tac chrutväjuhuvur vipräù
sahendraà takñakaà makhe takñakäçu patasveha
sahendreëa marutvatä

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat—that; çrutvä—hearing; ājuhuvuù—they performed the ritual of offering oblation; vipräù—the brähmaëa priests; saha—along with; indram—King Indra; takñakam—the snake-bird Takñaka; makhe—into the sacrificial fire; takñaka—O Takñaka; äçu—quickly; patasva—you should fall; iha—here; saha indreëa—together with Indra; marut-vatä—who is accompanied by all the demigods.

TRANSLATION

Hearing this, the priests then chanted this mantra for offering Takṇaka together with Indra as an oblation into the sacrificial fire: O Takṇaka, fall immediately into this fire, together with Indra and his entire host of demigods!

TEXT 22

wita “aöAeid"taA°aepaE:
sTaAnaAid"n%": ‘acaAilata:
baBaUva s$am”aAntamaita:
s$aivamaAna: s$aata°ak(:

iti brahmoditākṇepaiù
sthānād indraù pracālitaù
babhüva sambhrānta-matiù
sa-vimānaù sa-takṇakaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; brahma—by the brāhmaëas; udita—spoken; ākṇepaiù—by the insulting words; sthānāt—from his place; indraù—Lord Indra; pracālitaù—thrown; babhüva—became; sambhrānta—disturbed; matiù—in his mind; sa-vimānaù—along with his heavenly airplane; sa-takṇakaù—along with Takṇaka.

TRANSLATION

When Lord Indra, along with his airplane and Takṇaka, was suddenly thrown from his position by these insulting words of the brāhmaëas, he became very disturbed.

TEXT 23

taM patantaM ivamaAnaena
s$ah"ta°ak(mambar"Ata, ivalaAefyaAiËÿr"s$a: 'aAh"
r"AjaAnaM taM ba{h"s$paita:

*taà patantaà vimānena
saha-takṇakam ambarāt
vilokyāi girasaù prāha
rājānaà taà bāhaspatiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—him; patantam—falling; vimānena—in his airplane;
saha-takṇakam—with Takṇaka; ambarāt—from the sky; vilokya—observing;
āi girasaù—the son of Aì girā; prāha—spoke; rājānam—to the King (Janamejaya); tam—to him; bāhaspatiù—Bāhaspati.

TRANSLATION

Bāhaspati, the son of Aì girā Muni, seeing Indra falling from the sky in his airplane along with Takṇaka, approached King Janamejaya and spoke to him as follows.

TEXT 24

naESa tvayaA manauSyaen%" vaDamahR"ita s$apaRr"Aq%.
@naena paltamama{tama, @Ta vaA @jar"Amar":

*naiṇa tvayā manuṇyendra
vadhā arhati sarpa-rāḥ
anena pētā amātā
atha vā ajarāmarau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; eñau—this snake-bird; tvayä—by you; manuñya-indra—O great ruler of men; vadham—murder; arhati—deserves; sarpa-räü—the king of snakes; anena—by him; pétam—has been drunk; amâtam—the nectar of the demigods; atha—therefore; vai—certainly; ajara—free from the effects of old age; amaraü—virtually immortal.

TRANSLATION

O King among men, it is not fitting that this king of snakes meet death at your hands, for he has drunk the nectar of the immortal demigods. Consequently he is not subject to the ordinary symptoms of old age and death.

TEXT 25

jalivataM mar"NAM jantaAer," gAita: svaenaEva k(maRNAA
r"AjaMstataAe'nyaAe naAstyasya
'ad"AtaA s$auKaäu":KayaAe:

jévitaà maraëaà jantor
gatiù svenaiva karmaëä
räjaàs tato 'nyo nästy asya
pradätä sukha-duùkhayò

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jévitam—the living; maräëam—the dying; jantou—of a living being; gatiù—the destination in his next life; svena—by his own; eva—only; karmaëä—work; räjan—O King; tataü—than that; anyaü—another; na asti—there is not; asya—for him; pradätä—bestower; sukha-duùkhayò—of happiness and distress.

TRANSLATION

The life and death of an embodied soul and his destination in the next life are all caused by himself through his own activity. Therefore, O King, no other agent is actually responsible for creating one's happiness and distress.

PURPORT

Although King Parékñit apparently died by the bite of Takñaka, it was Lord Kāñëa Himself who brought the King back to the kingdom of God. Bāhaspati wanted young King Janamejaya to see things from the spiritual point of view.

TEXT 26

s$apaRcaAEr"Aiçaiivaâuà"Ya: °auÔa{ã"YaADyaAid"iBana{Rpa paÂatvama{cC$tae jantaur," BauËÿ @Ar"bDak(maR tata,

sarpa-caurägñi-vidyudbhyaù
kñut-tåd-vyädhy-ädibhir nāpa pai catvam ācchate jantur
bhuì kta ārabdha-karma tat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sarpa—from snakes; caura—thieves; agni—fire; vidyudbhyaù—and lightning; kñut—from hunger; tåd—thirst; vyädhi—disease; ädibhiù—and other agents; nāpa—O King; pai catvam—death; ācchate—obtains; jantuù—the conditioned living entity; bhuì kta—he enjoys; ārabdha—already created by his past work; karma—the fruitive reaction; tat—that.

TRANSLATION

When a conditioned soul is killed by snakes, thieves, fire, lightning, hunger, disease or anything else, he is experiencing the reaction to his own past work.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura, King Parékñit obviously was not suffering the reaction of past karma. As a great devotee he was personally brought back home, back to Godhead, by the Lord.

TEXT 27

tasmaAts$at$aimadM" r"Ajana,
s$aMsTalyaetaAiBacaAir"k(ma,
s$apaAR @naAgAs$aAe d"gDaA
janaEidR"iM" ih" Baujyatae

*tasmät satram idaà räjan saàsthéyetaäbhicärikam
sarpä anägaso dagdhä
janair diñöaà hi bhujiyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmät—therefore; satram—sacrifice; idam—this; räjan—O King; saàsthéyeta—should be stopped; äbhicärikam—done with intent to harm; sarpä—the serpents; anägasu—innocent; dagdhä—burned; janaiu—by persons; diñöam—fate; hi—indeed; bhujiyate—is suffered.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, my dear King, please stop this sacrificial performance, which was initiated with the intent of doing harm to others. Many innocent snakes have already been burned to death. Indeed, all persons must suffer the unforeseen consequences of their past activities.

PURPORT

Bāhaspati here admits that although the snakes appeared to be innocent, by the Lord's arrangement they were also being punished for previous vicious activities.

TEXT 28

s$aUta ovaAca
wtyau-(: s$a taTaetyaAh"
mah"SaeRmaARnayana, vaca:
s$apaRs$aṭaAäu"par"ta:
paUjayaAmaAs$a vaAfpaitama,

sūta uvāca
ity uktaū sa tathety āha
maharñer mānayan vacaū
sarpa-satrād uparataū
pūjayām āsa vāk-patim

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaū uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmé said; iti—thus; uktaū—addressed; saū—he (Janamejaya); tathā iti—so be it; āha—he said; mahā-āñeū—of the great sage; mānayan—honoring; vacaū—the words; sarpa-satrāt—from the snake sacrifice; uparataū—ceasing; pūjayām āsa—he worshiped; vāk-patim—Bāhaspati, the master of eloquence.

TRANSLATION

Sūta Gosvāmé continued: Advised in this manner, Mahārāja Janamejaya replied, "So be it." Honoring the words of the great sage, he desisted from performing the snake sacrifice and worshiped Bâhaspati, the most eloquent of sages.

TEXT 29

s$aESaA ivaSNAAemaRh"AmaAyaAbaADyayaAla°aNAA yayaA
mau÷ntyasyaEvaAtmaBaUtaA BaUtaeSau gAuNAva{iÔaiBa:

*saiñā viñëor mahā-māyābādhyayālakñāëä yayā
muhyanty asyaivātma-bhūtā
bhūteñu guëa-vāttibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sā eñā—this very; viñëou—of the Supreme Lord, Viñëu; mahā-māyā—the illusory material energy; abādhyayā—by her who cannot be checked; alakñāëä—indiscernible; yayā—by whom; muhyanti—become bewildered; asya—of the Lord; eva—indeed; ātma-bhūtāu—the part-and-parcel spirit souls; bhūteñu—within their material bodies; guëa—of the modes of nature; vāttibhiù—by the functions.

TRANSLATION

This is indeed the Supreme Lord Viñëu's illusory energy, which is unstoppable and difficult to perceive. Although the individual spirit souls are part and parcel of the Lord, through the influence of this illusory energy they are bewildered by their identification with various material bodies.

PURPORT

The illusory energy of Lord Viñëu is so powerful that even the illustrious son of King Parékñit was temporarily misdirected. Because he was a devotee of Lord Kâñëa, however, his bewilderment was quickly rectified. On the other hand, an ordinary, materialistic person without the special protection of the Lord plummets to the depths of material ignorance. Factually, materialistic persons are not interested in the protection of Lord Viñëu. Therefore their complete ruination is inevitable.

TEXTS 30-31

na yaṭa d"mBalyaBayaA ivar"AijataA maAyaAtmavaAde"s$ak{(d"AtmavaAid"iBa:
na yaiã"vaAd"Ae ivaivaDastad"A™ayaAe manaê s$aÆÿlpaivak(lpava{iÔa yata,

na yaṭa s$aḥjyaM s$aḥjataAeBayaAe: parM" ™aeyaê jalvaiñiBar"invatastvah"ma, tade"taäu"ts$aAid"tabaADyabaADakM(
inaiSaDya caAemal=na, ivar"maeta tanmauina:

*na yatra dambhéty abhayä viräjitä
mäyätma-väde 'sakâd ätma-vädibhiù na yad vivädo vividhas tad-äçrayo manaç ca saì kalpa-vikalpa-vätti yat*

na yatra sâjyaà sâjatobhayoü paraà çreyaç ca jévas tribhir anvitas tv aham tad etad utsädita-bädhya-bädhakaà niñidhya cormén virameta tan muniù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; yatra—in which; dambhé—he is a hypocrite; iti—thinking thus; abhayä—fearless; viräjitä—visible; mäyä—the illusory energy; ätma-väde—when spiritual inquiry is being conducted; asakât—constantly; ätma-vädibhiù—by those who describe spiritual science; na—not; yat—in which; vivädaù—materialistic argument; vividhaù—taking many different forms; tat-äçrayaù—founded upon that illusory energy; manaù—the mind;

ca—and; saṁ kalpa—decision; vikalpa—and doubt; vātti—whose functions; yat—in which; na—not; yatra—in which; sājyam—the created products of the material world; sājatā—along with their causes; ubhayaṁ—by both; param—achieved; ṛeyaṁ—the benefits; ca—and; jēvaṁ—the living entity; tribhiḥ—with the three (modes of nature); anvitaṁ—joined; tu—indeed; aham—(conditioned by) false ego; tat etat—that indeed; utsāḍita—excluding; bādhya—the obstructed (conditioned living beings); bādhakam—and the obstructing (modes of material nature); nīṇidhya—warding off; ca—and; ūrmān—the waves (of false ego and so on); virameta—should take special pleasure; tat—in that; muniḥ—a sage.

TRANSLATION

But there exists a supreme reality, in which the illusory energy cannot fearlessly dominate, thinking, "I can control this person because he is deceitful." In that highest reality there are no illusory argumentative philosophies. Rather, there the true students of spiritual science constantly engage in authorized spiritual investigation. In that supreme reality there is no manifestation of the material mind, which functions in terms of alternating decision and doubt. Created material products, their subtle causes and the goals of enjoyment attained by their utilization do not exist there. Furthermore, in that supreme reality there is no conditioned spirit, covered by false ego and the three modes of nature. That reality excludes everything limited or limiting. One who is wise should therefore stop the waves of material life and enjoy within that Supreme Truth.

PURPORT

The illusory energy of the Lord, Māyā, can freely exert her influence over those who are hypocritical, deceitful and disobedient to the laws of God. Since the Personality of Godhead is free of all material qualities, Māyā herself becomes fearful in His presence. As stated by Lord Brahmā (vilajjamānaya yasya sthātum ékṇā-pate 'muyā): "Māyā herself is ashamed to stand face to face with the Supreme Lord."

In the supreme spiritual reality, useless academic wrangling is completely absent. As stated in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (6.4.31),

*yac-chaktayo vadatāà vādināà vai
vivāda-saàvāda-bhuvo bhavanti
kurvanti caiñāà mahur ātma-mohaà tasmai namo 'nanta-guëäya bhümne*

"Let me offer my respectful obeisances unto the all-pervading Supreme Personality of Godhead, who possesses unlimited transcendental qualities. Acting from within the cores of the hearts of all philosophers, who propagate various views, He causes them to forget their own souls while sometimes agreeing and sometimes disagreeing among themselves. Thus He creates within this material world a situation in which they are unable to come to a conclusion. I offer my obeisances unto Him."

TEXT 32

*parM" padM" vaESNAvamaAmanainta taä," ya^aaeita naetaltyataäu"its$as$a{^oava:
ivas$a{jya d"AEr"Atmyamananyas$aAEô$d"A ô$d"AepagAu÷Avais$ataM s$amaAih"taE:*

*paraà padaà vaiñëavam ämananti tad
yan neti netéty atad-utsisâkñavaù visâjya daurätmyam ananya-sauhâdä hâdopaguhyävasitaà samāhitaiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

param—the supreme; padam—situation; vaiñëavam—of Lord Viñëu; ämananti—they designate; tat—that; yat—which; na iti na iti—"not this, not this"; iti—thus analyzing; atat—everything extraneous; utsisâkñavaù—those who are desirous of giving up; visâjya—rejecting; daurätmyam—petty materialism; ananya—placing nowhere else;

sauhådäù—their affection; hådä—within their hearts; upaguhya—embracing Him; avasitam—who is captured; samāhitaiù—by those who meditate upon Him in trance.

TRANSLATION

Those who desire to give up all that is not essentially real move systematically, by negative discrimination of the extraneous, to the supreme position of Lord Viñëu. Giving up petty materialism, they offer their love exclusively to the Absolute Truth within their hearts and embrace that highest truth in fixed meditation.

PURPORT

The words yan neti netéty atad-utsisâkñavaù indicate the process of negative discrimination, by which one engaged in the search for essential and absolute truth systematically rejects all that is superfluous, superficial and relative. Throughout the world people have gradually rejected the ultimate validity of political, social and even religious truths, but because they lack Kâñëa consciousness they remain bewildered and cynical. However, as clearly stated here, paraà padaà vaiñëavam ämananti tat. Those who actually desire perfect knowledge must not only reject the nonessential but must also ultimately understand the essential spiritual reality called paraà padaà vaiñëavam: the supreme destination, the abode of Lord Viñëu. Padam indicates both the status and the abode of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, which can be understood only by those who give up petty materialism and adopt the position of ananya-sauhådam, exclusive love for the Lord. Such exclusive love is not narrow-minded or sectarian, because all living entities, being within the Lord, are automatically served when one directly serves the supreme entity. This process of rendering the highest service to the Lord and to all living entities constitutes the science of Kâñëa consciousness, which is taught throughout Çrémad-Bhågavatam.

TEXT 33

ta Wtad"iDagAcC$inta ivaSNAAeyaRtpar"maM pad"ma, @hM" mamaeita d"AEjaRnyaM
na yaeSaAM de"h"gAeh"jama,

*ta etad adhigacchanti viñëor yat paramaà padam
ahaà mameti daurjanyaà
na yeñää deha-geha-jam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

te—they; etat—this; adhigacchanti—come to know; viñëou—of Lord Viñëu; yat—which; paramam—the supreme; padam—personal situation; aham—I; mama—my; iti—thus; daurjanyam—the depravity; na—is not; yeñäm—for whom; deha—the body; geha—and home; jam—based upon.

TRANSLATION

Such devotees come to understand the supreme transcendental situation of the Personality of Godhead, Lord Viñëu, because they are no longer polluted by the concepts of "I" and "my," which are based on body and home.

TEXT 34

@itavaAd"AMistaita^oaeta
naAvamanyaeta k(Âana
na caemaM de"h"maAiTMatya
vaErM" ku(val=ta ke(naicata,

*ativädääs titikñeta
nävamanyeta kai'cana
na cemaà deham āçritya
vairaà kurvéta kenacit*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ati-vādān—insulting words; titikñeta—one should tolerate; na—never; avamanyeta—one should disrespect; kaīcana—anyone; na ca—nor; imam—this; deham—material body; āçritya—identifying with; vairam—enmity; kurvéta—one should have; kenacit—with anyone.

TRANSLATION

One should tolerate all insults and never fail to show proper respect to any person. Avoiding identification with the material body, one should not create enmity with anyone.

TEXT 35

namaAe BagAvatae tasmaE
k{(SNAayaAku(NQ&maeDas$ae yatpaAd"Ambauç&h"DyaAnaAta,
s$aMih"taAmaDyagAAimamaAma,

namo bhagavate tasmai
kāñēāyākuēōha-medhase
yat-pādāmburuha-dhyānāt
saàhitām adhyagām imām

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

namaù—obeisances; bhagavate—to the Supreme Personality of Godhead; tasmai—to Him; kāñēāya—Lord Çré Kāñēa; akuēōha-medhase—whose power is never impeded; yat—whose; pāda-ambu-ruha—upon the lotus feet; dhyānāt—by meditation; saàhitām—the scripture; adhyagām—I have assimilated; imām—this.

TRANSLATION

I offer my obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the invincible Lord Çré Kâñëa. Simply by meditating upon His lotus feet I have been able to study and appreciate this great literature.

TEXT 36

™alZAAEnak(ovaAca
paElaAid"iBavyaARs$aiZASyaEr," vaed"AcaAyaE=maRh"AtmaiBa:
vaed"Aê k(iTataA vyastaA Wtats$AEmyaAiBaDaeih" na:

*çré-çaunaka uvāca
pailādibhir vyāsa-çīṇyair
vedācāryair mahātmabhiù
vedāç ca kathitā vyastā
etat saumyābhidhehi naù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çaunakaù uvāca—Çré Çaunaka Āñi said; paila-ādibhiù—by Paila and others; vyāsa-çīṇyaiù—the disciples of Çréla Vyāsadeva; veda-ācāryaiù—the standard authorities of the Vedas; mahā-ātmabhiù—whose intelligence was very great; vedäù—the Vedas; ca—and; kathitäù—spoken; vyastäù—divided; etat—this; saumya—O gentle Sùta; abhidhehi—please narrate; naù—to us.

TRANSLATION

Çaunaka Āñi said: O gentle Sùta, please narrate to us how Paila and the other greatly intelligent disciples of Çréla Vyāsadeva, who are known as the standard authorities of Vedic wisdom, spoke and edited the Vedas.

TEXT 37

s$Uta ovaAca
s$amaAih"taAtmanaAe "aöna,
"aöNA: par"maeiï"na:
ô$âAk(AzAAAd"BaUªaAd"Ae
va{iÔar"AeDaAiã"BaAvyatae

süta uvāca
samāhitātmano brahman
brahmaëaù parameññhinaù
hādy ākāçād abhün nādo
vātti-rodhād vibhāvyate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sütaù uvāca—Süta Gosvāmé said; samāhita-ātmanaù—whose mind was perfectly fixed; brahman—O brāhmaëa (Çaunaka); brahmaëaù—of Lord Brahmä; parame-sthinaù—the most elevated of living beings; hādi—within the heart; ākāçāt—from out of the sky; abhüt—arose; nādaù—the transcendental subtle sound; vātti-rodhāt—by stopping the functioning (of the ears); vibhāvyate—is perceived.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvāmé said: O brāhmaëa, first the subtle vibration of transcendental sound appeared from the sky of the heart of the most elevated Lord Brahmä, whose mind was perfectly fixed in spiritual realization. One can perceive this subtle vibration when one stops all external hearing.

PURPORT

Because Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is the supreme Vedic literature, the sages headed by Çaunaka desired to trace out its source.

TEXT 38

yaäu"paAs$anayaA "aöna, yaAeigAnaAe malamaAtmana:

%o"vyai,(yaAk(Ar"k(AKyaM DaUtvaA yaAntyapaunaBaRvama,

*yad-upāsanayā brahman
yogino malam ātmanaù
dravya-kriyā-kāraḥkṛyā
dhūtvā yānti apunar-bhavam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—of which (subtle form of the Vedas); upāsanayā—by the worship;
brahman—O brāhmaëa; yoginaù—mystic sages; malam—the contamination; ātmanaù—of the heart; dravya—substance; kriyā—activity;
kāraḥ—and performer; ākṛyā—designated as such; dhūtvā—cleansing away; yānti—they achieve; apunar-bhavam—freedom from rebirth.

TRANSLATION

By worship of this subtle form of the Vedas, O brāhmaëa, mystic sages cleanse their hearts of all contamination caused by impurity of substance, activity and doer, and thus they attain freedom from repeated birth and death.

TEXT 39

tataAe'BaUitṭava{d"Ae"Mk(Ar"Ae yaAe'vya·('aBava: svar"Aq%.
yaÔaiéaËMÿ BagAvataAe “aöNA: par"maAtmana:

*tato 'bhūt tri-vād oàkāro yo 'vyakta-prabhavaù sva-rāo yat tal liè gaè bhagavato
brahmaëaù paramātmanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataù—from that; abhüt—came into being; tri-vât—threefold; oàkâraù—the syllable oà; yaù—which; avyakta—not apparent; prabhavaù—its influence; sva-râö—self-manifesting; yat—which; tat—that; liì gam—the representation; bhagavataù—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead; brahmaëaù—of the Absolute Truth in His impersonal aspect; parama-âtmanaù—and of the Supersoul.

TRANSLATION

From that transcendental subtle vibration arose the oàkâra composed of three sounds. The oàkâra has unseen potencies and manifests automatically within a purified heart. It is the representation of the Absolute Truth in all three of His phases—the Supreme Personality, the Supreme Soul and the supreme impersonal truth.

TEXTS 40-41

Za{NAAeita ya wmaM s$P(AeqM%
s$auæa™aAe‡ae ca zAUnyaä{"k,( yaena vaAgvyajyatae yasya
vyai-(r"Ak(AzA @Atmana:

svaDaA°aAe "aAöNA: s$aA°aAä," vaAcak(: par"maAtmana:
s$a s$avaRman‡aAepainaSaä," vaed"baljaM s$anaAtanama,

çâëoti ya imaà sphoöaà
supta-çrotre ca çünya-dâk
yena vâg vyajyate yasya
vyaktir âkâça âtmanaù

sva-dhämno brähmaëaù säkñäd

*vācakaù paramātmanaù
sa sarva-mantropaniñad
veda-béjaà sanātanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çāëoti—hears; yaù—who; imam—this; sphoōam—unmanifest and eternal subtle sound; supta-çrotre—when the sense of hearing is asleep; ca—and; çünya-dāk—devoid of material sight and other sensory functions; yena—by which; vāk—the expanse of Vedic sound; vyajyate—is elaborated; yasya—of which; vyaktiù—the manifestation; ākāçe—in the sky (of the heart); ātmanaù—from the soul; sva-dhāmnaù—who is His own origin; brahmaëaù—of the Absolute Truth; sākñāt—directly; vācakaù—the designating term; parama-ātmanaù—of the Supersoul; saù—that; sarva—of all; mantra—Vedic hymns; upaniñat—the secret; veda—of the Vedas; béjam—the seed; sanātanam—eternal.

TRANSLATION

This oākāra, ultimately nonmaterial and imperceptible, is heard by the Supersoul without His possessing material ears or any other material senses. The entire expanse of Vedic sound is elaborated from oākāra, which appears from the soul, within the sky of the heart. It is the direct designation of the self-originating Absolute Truth, the Supersoul, and is the secret essence and eternal seed of all Vedic hymns.

PURPORT

The senses of a sleeping person do not function until he has awakened. Therefore, when a sleeping person is awakened by a noise, one may ask, "Who heard the noise?" The words supta-çrotre in this verse indicate that the Supreme Lord within the heart hears the sound and awakens the sleeping living entities. The Lord's sensory activities always function on a superior level. Ultimately, all sounds vibrate within the sky, and in the internal region of the heart there is a type of sky meant for the vibration of Vedic sounds. The seed, or source, of all Vedic sounds is the oākāra. This is confirmed by the Vedic statement oà ity etad brahmaëo nediñōham nāma. The full elaboration of the Vedic seed sound is Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, the greatest Vedic literature.

TEXT 42

tasya ÷As$aMñyaAe vaNAAR @k(Ar"AâA Ba{gAUã"h" DaAyaRntae yaEñyaAe BaAvaA
gAuNAnaAmaATaRva{Ôaya:

tasya hy äsaàs trayo varëä
a-kärädyä bhâgüdvaha
dhäryante yais trayo bhävä
guëa-nämārtha-vāttayaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—of that oākāra; hi—indeed; äsan—came into being; trayaù—three; varëäù—sounds of the alphabet; a-kära-ädyäù—beginning with the letter a; bhâgu-udvaha—O most eminent of the descendants of Bhâgu; dhäryante—are sustained; yaiù—by which three sounds; trayaù—the threefold; bhäväù—states of existence; guëa—the qualities of nature; nāma—names; artha—goals; vāttayaù—and states of consciousness.

TRANSLATION

Oākāra* exhibited the three original sounds of the alphabet—A, U and M. These three, O most eminent descendant of Bhâgu, sustain all the different threefold aspects of material existence, including the three modes of nature, the names of the Āg, Yajur and Sāma Vedas, the goals known as the Bhūr, Bhuvar and Svar planetary systems, and the three functional platforms called waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep.

TEXT 43

tataAe'°ar"s$amaA°aAyama,
@s$afjaà"gAvaAnaja: @ntasTaAeSmasvar"s$pazARœ"svad"lGaARid"la°aNama,

*tato 'kñāra-samāmnāyam
asājad bhagavān ajaù
antasthoīma-svara-sparça-
hrasva-dérghādi-lakñāëam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataù—from that oàkāra; akñāra—of the different sounds; samāmnāyam—the total collection; asājat—created; bhagavān—the powerful demigod; ajaù—unborn Brahmā; anta-stha—as the semivowels; uīma—sibilants; svara—vowels; sparça—and consonant stops; hrasva-dérgha—in short and long forms; ādi—and so on; lakñāëam—characterized.

TRANSLATION

From that oàkāra Lord Brahmā created all the sounds of the alphabet—the vowels, consonants, semivowels, sibilants and others—distinguished by such features as long and short measure.

TEXT 44

taenaAs$aAE cataur"Ae vaed"AMzA, catauiBaRvaRd"naEivaRBau:
s$avyaAô$itak(Ana, s$aAe"Mk(Ar"AMzA, caAtauh"AeR†aivava°ayaA

tenāsau caturo vedāàç caturbhir vadanair vibhuù

*sa-vyähâtikän soàkäräàç
cätur-hotra-vivakñayä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tena—with that body of sounds; asau—he; caturaù—the four; vedän—Vedas; caturbhiù—from his four; adanaiù—faces; vibhuù—the all-powerful; sa-vyähâtikän—along with the vyähâtis (the invocations of the names of the seven planetary systems: bhüù, bhuvaù, svaù, mahaù, janaù, tapaù and satya); sa-oàkärän—along with the seed, oà; cätuù-hotra—the four aspects of ritual sacrifice performed by the priests of each of the four Vedas; vivakñayä—with the desire of describing.

TRANSLATION

All-powerful Brahmä made use of this collection of sounds to produce from his four faces the four Vedas, which appeared together with the sacred oàkära and the seven vyähâti invocations. His intention was to propagate the process of Vedic sacrifice according to the different functions performed by the priests of each of the four Vedas.

TEXT 45

pauṭaAnaDyaApayaÔaAMstau “aöSal=na, “aök(Aeivad"Ana, tae tau DamaAeRpade"í"Ar":
svapauṭaeBya: s$amaAid"zAna,

*putrân adhyäpayat täàs tu
brahmarñén brahma-kovidän te tu dharmopadeñöäraù
sva-putrebhyaù samädiçan*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

putrân—to his sons; adhyäpayat—he taught; tän—those Vedas; tu—and;

brahma-ānēn—to the great sages among the brāhmaēas; brahma—in the art of Vedic recitation; kovidān—who were very expert; te—they; tu—moreover; dharma—in religious rituals; upadeññāraù—instructors; sva-putrebhyaù—to their own sons; samādiṇan—imparted.

TRANSLATION

Brahmā taught these Vedas to his sons, who were great sages among the brāhmaēas and experts in the art of Vedic recitation. They in turn took the role of ācāryas and imparted the Vedas to their own sons.

TEXT 46

tae par"mpar"yaA 'aAæaAs$a, taÔaicC$SyaEDa{Rta~ataE:
catauyauRgAeSvaTa vyastaA
ã"Apar"Ad"AE mah"iSaRiBa:

te paramparayā prāptās
tat-tat-chiñyair dhāta-vrataiù
catur-yugeñv atha vyastā
dvāparāḍau maharñibhiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

te—these Vedas; paramparayā—by continuous disciplic succession; prāptāù—received; tat-tat—of each succeeding generation; ññyaiù—by the disciples; dhāta-vrataiù—who were firm in their vows; catuù-yugeñu—throughout the four ages; atha—then; vyastāù—were divided; dvāpara-āḍau—at the end of the Dvāpara millennium; mahā-ññibhiù—by great authorities.

TRANSLATION

In this way, throughout the cycles of four ages, generation after generation of disciples—all firmly fixed in their spiritual vows—have received these Vedas by disciplic succession. At the end of each Dvāpara-yuga the Vedas are edited into separate divisions by eminent sages.

TEXT 47

°aINAAyauSa: °aINAs$aÔvaAna, äu"maeRDaAna, val°ya k(Alata:
vaed"Ana, "aöSaRyaAe vyasyana,
ô$id"sTaAcyautacaAeid"taA:

kñéäyauñau kñéä-sattvān
durmedhān vékñya kālataù
vedān brahmañāyau vyasyan
hādi-sthācyuta-coditāu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kñéä-äyauñau—their life span diminished; kñéä-sattvān—their strength diminished; durmedhān—of less intelligence; vékñya—observing; kālataù—by the effect of time; vedān—the Vedas; brahma-ñāyau—the chief sages; vyasyan—divided up; hādi-stha—sitting within their hearts; acyuta—by the infallible Personality of Godhead; coditāu—inspired.

TRANSLATION

Observing that people in general were diminished in their life span, strength and intelligence by the influence of time, great sages took inspiration from the Personality of Godhead sitting within their hearts and systematically divided the Vedas.

TEXTS 48-49

@isma^aapyantare" "aöna, BagAvaAnlaAek(BaAvana:

“aöezAAâElaAeRk(paAlaEr," yaAicataAe DamaRgAuæayae

par"AzAr"Ats$atyavatyaAma, @MzAAMzAk(layaA ivaBau: @vataINAAeR mah"ABaAgA vaedM" ca,e(catauivaRDama,

*asminn apy antare brahman
bhagavän loka-bhävanaù brahmeçädyair loka-pälair
yácito dharma-guptaye
parāçarāt satyavatyaṁ
aàçäàça-kalayä vibhuù
avatéreö mahä-bhāga
vedaà cakre catur-vidham*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

asmin—in this; api—also; antare—rule of Manu; brahman—O brähmaëa (Çaunaka); bhagavän—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; loka—of the universe; bhävanaù—the protector; brahma—by Brahmä; éça—Çiva; ädyaiù—and the others; loka-pälaiù—the rulers of the various planets; yácitaiù—requested; dharma-guptaye—for the protection of the principles of religion; parāçarāt—by Parāçara Muni; satyavatyaṁ—in the womb of Satyavaté; aàça—of His plenary expansion (Saï karñaëa); aàça—of the expansion (Viñëu); kalayä—as the partial expansion; vibhuù—the Lord; avatéreäiù—descended; mahä-bhāga—O most fortunate one; vedam—the Veda; cakre—he made; catuù-vidham—in four parts.

TRANSLATION

O brähmaëa, in the present age of Vaivasvata Manu, the leaders of the universe, led by Brahmä and Çiva, requested the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the protector of all the worlds, to save the principles of religion. O most fortunate Çaunaka, the almighty Lord, exhibiting a divine spark of a portion of His plenary portion, then appeared in the womb of Satyavaté as the son of Parāçara. In this form, named Kāñëa Dvaipāyana Vyāsa, he divided the one Veda into four.

TEXT 50

[%gATavaRyajau:s$aA°aAM
r"AzAlç&ä,"Da{tya vagARzA:
cata>a: s$aMih"taAê,e( manṭaEmaRiNAgANAA wva

*âg-atharva-yajuù-sāmnâà
râçér uddhâtya vargaçaù
catasraù saàhitâç cakre
mantrair maëi-gaëä iva*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

âk-atharva-yajuù-sāmnām—of the Âg, Atharva, Yajur and Sāma Vedas;
râçér—the accumulation (of mantras); uddhâtya—separating out;
vargaçaù—in specific categories; catasraù—four; saàhitâù—collections;
cakre—he made; mantraiù—with the mantras; maëi-gaëäù—gems;
iva—just as.

TRANSLATION

Çréla Vyāsadeva separated the mantras of the Âg, Atharva, Yajur and Sāma Vedas into four divisions, just as one sorts out a mixed collection of jewels into piles. Thus he composed four distinct Vedic literatures.

PURPORT

When Lord Brahmā first spoke the four Vedas with his four mouths, the mantras were mixed together like an unsorted collection of various types of jewels. Çréla Vyāsadeva sorted the Vedic mantras into four divisions (saàhitäs), which thus became the recognizable Āg, Atharva, Yajur and Sāma Vedas.

TEXT 51

taAs$aAM s$a cataur": izASyaAna, opaAó"ya mah"Amaita: WkE(k(AM s$aMih"taAM "aöªa, WkE(k(smaE d"d"AE ivaBau:

täsäà sa caturaù çĩñyān
upāhüya mahā-matiù
ekaikāà saàhitāà brahmann
ekaikasmai dadau vibhuù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

täsām—of those four collections; saù—he; caturaù—four; çĩñyān—disciples; upāhüya—calling near; mahā-matiù—the powerfully intelligent sage; eka-ekām—one by one; saàhitām—a collection; brahman—O brāhmaëa; eka-ekasmai—to each of them; dadau—he gave; vibhuù—the powerful Vyāsadeva.

TRANSLATION

The most powerful and intelligent Vyāsadeva called four of his disciples, O brāhmaëa, and entrusted to each of them one of these four saàhitäs.

TEXTS 52-53

paElaAya s$aMih"taAmaAâAM baüü"caAKyaAM ovaAca h" vaEzAmpaAyanas$aMÁaAya

inagAd"AKyaM yajaugARNama,

s$aA°aAM jaEimanayae 'aAh" taTaA C$nd"AegAs$aMih"taAma, @TavaARiËÿr"s$aI%M naAma svaizASyaAya s$aumantavae

*pailāya saàhitām ādyāà bahvācākhyāà uvāca ha vaiçampāyana-saàji āya
nigadākhyāà yajur-gaëam*

*sāmnāà jaiminaye prāha
tathā chandoga-saàhitām
atharvāi girasēà nāma
sva-çiñyāya sumantave*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pailāya—to Paila; saàhitām—the collection; ādyām—first (of the Āg Veda); bahu-āca-ākhyam—called Bahvāca; uvāca—he spoke; ha—indeed; vaiçampāyana-saàji āya—to the sage named Vaiçampāyana; nigada-ākhyam—known as Nigada; yajuù-gaëam—the collection of Yajur mantras; sāmnām—the mantras of the Sāma Veda; jaiminaye—to Jaimini; prāha—he spoke; tathā—and; chandoga-saàhitām—the saàhitā named Chandoga; atharva-aì girasém—the Veda ascribed to the sages Atharva and Aì girā; nāma—indeed; sva-çiñyāya—to his disciple; sumantave—Sumantu.

TRANSLATION

Çréla Vyāsadeva taught the first saàhitā, the Āg Veda, to Paila and gave this collection the name Bahvāca. To the sage Vaiçampāyana he spoke the collection of Yajur mantras named Nigada. He taught the Sāma Veda mantras, designated as the Chandoga-saàhitā, to Jaimini, and he spoke the Atharva Veda to his dear disciple Sumantu.

TEXTS 54-56

paEla: svas$aMih"taAmaUcae
wn%o""'aimatayae mauina:
baASk(laAya ca s$aAe'pyaAh" izASyaeBya: s$aMih"taAM svak(Ama,

catauDaAR vyasya baAeDyaAya
yaAÁavalfyaAya BaAgARva
par"AzAr"AyaAiçaimaṭa
wn%o""'aimaitar"AtmavaAna,

@DyaApayats$aMih"taAM svaAM maANx"^ke(yama{iSaM k(ivama, tasya izASyaAe de"vaimaṭa:
s$aAEBayaARid"Bya OicavaAna,

*pailaù sva-saàhitām üce
indrapramitaye muniù
bāṅkalāya ca so 'py āha
çīṇyebhyaù saàhitāà svakām*

*caturdhā vyasya bodhyāya
yāji' avalkyāya bhārgava
parāçarāyāgnimitra
indrapramitir ātmavān*

*adhyāpayat saàhitāà svāà māëòükeyam āñià kavim
tasya çīṇyo devamitraù
saubhary-ādibhya ücivān*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pailaù—Paila; sva-saàhitām—his own collection; üce—spoke;
indrapramitaye—to Indrapramiti; muniù—the sage; bāṅkalāya—to Bāṅkala;

ca-and; saù—he (Bāṅkala); api—moreover; āha—spoke; çīṇyebhyaù—to his disciples; saàhitām—the collection; svakām—his own; caturdhā—in four parts; vyasya—dividing; bodhyāya—to Bodhya; yāji avalkyāya—to Yāji avalkya; bhārgava—O descendant of Bhāgu (Çaunaka); parāçarāya—to Parāçara; agnimitre—to Agnimitra; indrapramitiù—Indrapramiti; ātma-vān—the self-controlled; adhyāpayat—taught; saàhitām—the collection; svām—his; määëöükeyam—to Määëöükeya; āṇim—the sage; kavim—scholarly; tasya—of him (Määëöükeya); çīṇyaù—the disciple; devamitraù—Devamitra; saubhari-ādibhyaù—to Saubhari and others; ücivān—spoke.

TRANSLATION

After dividing his saàhitā into two parts, the wise Paila spoke it to Indrapramiti and Bāṅkala. Bāṅkala further divided his collection into four parts, O Bhārgava, and instructed them to his disciples Bodhya, Yāji avalkya, Parāçara and Agnimitra. Indrapramiti, the self-controlled sage, taught his saàhitā to the learned mystic Määëöükeya, whose disciple Devamitra later passed down the divisions of the Āg Veda to Saubhari and others.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svāmé, Määëöükeya was the son of Indrapramiti, from whom he received Vedic knowledge.

TEXT 57

zAAk(lyastats$auta: svaAM tau paÂaDaA vyasya s$aMih"taAma, vaAtsyamauÕ"lazAAIalyagAAeKalyaizAizAre"SvaDaAta,

çākalyas tat-sutaù svāà tu
pai cadhā vyasya saàhitām vātsya-mudgala-çäléya-

gokhalya-çiçireñv adhät

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çäkalyaù—Çäkalya; tat-sutaù—the son of Mäëöükeya; sväm—his own; tu—and; pa'icadhä—in five parts; vyasya—dividing; saàhitäm—the collection; vätsya-mudgala-çäléya—to Vätsya, Mudgala and Çäléya; gokhalya-çiçireñu—and to Gokhalya and Çiçira; adhät—gave.

TRANSLATION

The son of Mäëöükeya, named Çäkalya, divided his own collection into five, entrusting one subdivision each to Vätsya, Mudgala, Çäléya, Gokhalya and Çiçira.

TEXT 58

jaAtaUk(NyaRê taicC$Sya:
s$aînaç&·(AM svas$aMih"taAma, balaAk(paElajaAbaAla-ivar"jaeByaAe d"d"AE mauina:

jätükarëyaç ca tac-chiñyaù
sa-niruktäà sva-saàhitäm baläka-paila-jäbälavirajebhyo dadau muniù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jätükarëyaù—Jätükarëya; ca—and; tat-chiñyaù—the disciple of Çäkalya; sa-niruktäm—along with a glossary explaining obscure terms; sva-saàhitäm—the collection he received; baläka-paila-jäbäla-virajebhyaù—to Baläka, Paila, Jäbäla and Viraja; dadau—passed down; muniù—the sage.

TRANSLATION

The sage Jätükarëya was also a disciple of Çäkalya, and after dividing the saàhitä he received from Çäkalya into three parts, he added a fourth section, a Vedic glossary. He taught one of these parts to each of four disciples—Baläka, the second Paila, Jäbäla and Viraja.

TEXT 59

baASk(ila: 'aitazAAKaAByaAe vaAlaiKalyaAKyas$aMih"taAma, ca,e(vaAlaAyainaBaRjya:
k(AzAAr"êEva taAM d"Dau:

*bäñkaliù prati-çäkhäbhyo
välakhilyäkhyā-saàhitām
cakre vālāyanir bhajyaù
kāçāraç caiva tāà dadhuù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bäñkaliù—Bäñkali, the son of Bäñkala; prati-çäkhäbhyau—from all the different branches; välakhilya-äkhyā—entitled Välakhilya; saàhitām—the collection; cakre—he made; vālāyaniù—Välāyani; bhajyaù—Bhajya; kāçārau—Kāçāra; ca—and; eva—indeed; tām—that; dadhuù—they accepted.

TRANSLATION

Bäñkali assembled the Välakhilya-saàhitä, a collection from all the branches of the Āg Veda. This collection was received by Vālāyani, Bhajya and Kāçāra.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svämé, Völäyani, Bhajya and Käçära belonged to the Daitya community.

TEXT 60

baüü"caA: s$aMih"taA ÷etaA WiBa"aRöiSaRiBaDa{RtaA: ™autvaEtacC$nd"s$aAM vyaAs$aM
s$avaRpaApaE: 'amaucyatae

*bahvâcâu saàhitä hy etä
ebhir brahmarñibhir dhâtâu çrutvaitac-chandasäà vyäsaà
sarva-päpaiù pramucyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bahu-âcâu—of the Âg Veda; saàhitâu—the collections; hi—indeed; etâu—these; ebhiù—by these; brahma-âñibhiù—saintly brähmaëas; dhâtâu—maintained through disciplic succession; çrutvä—hearing; etat—their; chandasäm—of the sacred verses; vyäsam—the process of division; sarva-päpaiù—from all sins; pramucyate—one becomes delivered.

TRANSLATION

Thus these various saàhitäs of the Âg Veda were maintained through disciplic succession by these saintly brähmaëas. Simply by hearing of this distribution of the Vedic hymns, one will be freed from all sins.

TEXT 61

vaEzAmpaA yanaizASyaA vaE car"k(ADvayaRvaAe'Bavana, ya»aeç&"aRöh"tyaAMh":

°apaNAM svagAur"Ae~aRtama,

*vaiçampāyana-çiṇyā vai
carakādhvaryavo 'bhavan
yac cerur brahma-hatyā`aḥaṇ
kṇapaëa`a sva-guror vratam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vaiçampāyana-çiṇyā—the disciples of Vaiçampāyana; vai—indeed; caraka—named the Carakas; adhvaryavaṇ—authorities of the Atharva Veda; abhavan—became; yat—because; ceruṇ—they executed; brahma-hatyā—due to the killing of a brāhmaëa; a`aḥaṇ—of the sin; kṇapaëam—the expiration; sva-guroṇ—for their own guru; vratam—the vow.

TRANSLATION

The disciples of Vaiçampāyana became authorities in the Atharva Veda. They were known as the Carakas because they executed strict vows to free their guru from his sin of killing a brāhmaëa.

TEXT 62

yaAÁavalfyâ taicC$Sya @Ah"Ah"Ae BagAvana, ik(yata, cair"taenaAlpas$aAr"ANAAM
cair"Syae'hM" s$auäü"êr"ma,

*yäji' avalkyaç ca tac-chiṇya
ähäho bhagavan kiyat caritenälpa-säräëä`a cariṇye 'ha`a su-duçcaram*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yäji avalkyaù—Yäji avalkya; ca—and; tat-çiñyaù—the disciple of Vaiçampäyana; äha—said; aho—just see; bhagavan—O master; kiyat—how much value; caritena—with the endeavor; alpa-säräëäm—of these weak fellows; cariñye—shall execute; aham—I; su-duçcaram—that which is very difficult to perform.

TRANSLATION

Once Yäji avalkya, one of the disciples of Vaiçampäyana, said: O master, how much benefit will be derived from the feeble endeavors of these weak disciples of yours? I will personally perform some outstanding penance.

TEXT 63

wtyau·(Ae gAuç&r"pyaAh" ku(ipataAe yaA÷laM tvayaA
iva'aAvamanṭaA izASyaeNA mad"DaltaM tyajaAiiita

ity ukto gurur apy äha
kupito yähy alaà tvayä
viprävamanträ çiñyeëa
mad-adhétaà tyajāçv iti

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; uktaù—addressed; guruù—his spiritual master; api—indeed; äha—said; kupitaù—angry; yähi—go away; alam—enough; tvayä—with you; vipra-avamanträ—the insulter of brähmaëas; çiñyeëa—such a disciple; mat-adhétam—what has been taught by me; tyaja—give up; äçu—immediately; iti—thus.

TRANSLATION

Addressed thus, the spiritual master Vaiçampäyana became angry and said: Go away from here! Enough of you, O disciple who insults brähmaëas! Furthermore, you must immediately give back everything I have taught you.

PURPORT

Çré Vaiçampäyana was angry because one of his disciples, Yäji avalkya, was insulting the other disciples, who were, after all, qualified brähmaëas. Just as a father is disturbed when one son mistreats the father's other children, the spiritual master is very displeased if a proud disciple insults or mistreats the guru's other disciples.

TEXTS 64-65

de"var"Atas$auta: s$aAe'ipa C$idR"tvaA yajauSaAM gANama, tataAe gAtaAe'Ta maunayaAe
d"ä{"zAustaAna, yajaugARNAAAna,

yajaUMiSa itaiÔar"A BaUtvaA
taéaAelaupatayaAd"äu":
taEiÔar"lyaA wita yajau:-
zAAKaA @As$ana, s$aupaezAlaA:

*devaräta-sutaù so 'pi
charditvä yajuñää gaëam
tato gato 'tha munayo
dadâçus tñ yajur-gaëän*

*yajüàñi tittirä bhütvä
tal-lolupatayädaduù
taittiréyā iti yajuù-
çākhā āsan su-peçalāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

devaräta-sutaù—the son of Devaräta (Yäji avalkya); saù—he; api—indeed;

charditvā—vomiting; yajunām—of the Yajur Veda; gaëam—the collected mantras; tataù—from there; gataù—having gone; atha—then; munayaù—the sages; dadâçuù—saw; tân—those; yajuù-gaëän—yajur-mantras; yajüàsi—these yajurs; tittiräù—partridges; bhütvā—becoming; tat—for those mantras; lolupatayā—with greedy desire; ädaduù—picked them up; taittiréyāù—known as Taittiréya; iti—thus; yajuù-çâkhäù—branches of the Yajur Veda; äsan—came into being; su-peçaläù—most beautiful.

TRANSLATION

Yäji avalkya, the son of Devaräta, then vomited the mantras of the Yajur Veda and went away from there. The assembled disciples, looking greedily upon these yajur hymns, assumed the form of partridges and picked them all up. These divisions of the Yajur Veda therefore became known as the most beautiful Taittiréya-saàhitā, the hymns collected by partridges [tittiräù].

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svämé, it is improper for a brähmaëa to collect what has been vomited, and so the powerful brähmaëa disciples of Vaiçampäyana assumed the form of tittiras, partridges, and collected the valuable mantras.

TEXT 66

yaAÁaavalfyastataAe “aöMzA, C$nd"AMsyaiDa gAvaeSayana, gAur"Aer"ivaâmaAnaAina
s$aUpatasTae'kR(malir"ma,

*yäji avalkya*s tato *brahma*âç
*chandä*âsy adhi gaveñayan
guror avidyamänäni
*süpata*s the 'rkam éçvaram

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yāji avalkya—Yāji avalkya; tata—thereafter; brahman—O brāhmaëa; chandā̀si—mantras; adhi—additional; gaveñayan—seeking out; guro—to his spiritual master; avidyamānāni—not known; su-upatasthe—he carefully worshiped; arkam—the sun; éçvaram—the powerful controller.

TRANSLATION

My dear brāhmaëa Çaunaka, Yāji avalkya then desired to find out new yajur-mantras unknown to even his spiritual master. With this in mind he offered attentive worship to the powerful lord of the sun.

TEXT 67

™alyaAÁavalfya ovaAca
V namaAe BagAvatae @Aid"tyaAyaAiKalajagAtaAmaAtmasvaè&paeNA
k(Ala-
svaè&paeNA catauivaRDaBaUtainak(AyaAnaAM “aöAid"stambapayaRntaAnaAmantaôR$d"yaeSau baih"r"ipa caAk(AzA wvaAepaAiDanaAvyavaDalyamaAnaAe BavaAnaek( Wva
°aNAlavainamaeSaAvayavaAepaicatas$aMvats$ar"gANAenaApaAmaAd
"Ana-ivas$agAARByaAimamaAM laAek(yaAḥaAmanauvah"ita //

çré-yāji avalkya uvāca
oà namo bhagavate ādityāyākhila-jagatām ātma-svarūpeëa kālasvarūpeëa catur-vidha-bhūta-nikāyānā̀ brahmādi-stamba-paryantānām antar-hādayeñu bahir api cākāça ivopādhināvyavadhéyamāno bhavān eka eva kñāëa-lava-nimeñāvayavopacita-sàvatsara-gaëenāpām ādānavisargābhyām imā̀ loka-yātrām anuvahati.

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-yäji'avalikyaù uväca—Çré Yäji'avalikya said; oà namaù—I offer my respectful obeisances; bhagavate—to the Personality of Godhead; ädityäya—appearing as the sun-god; akhila-jagatäm—of all the planetary systems; ätma-svarüpeëa—in the form of the Supersoul; käla-svarüpeëa—in the form of time; catuù-vidha—of four kinds; bhüta-nikäyänäm-of all the living beings; brahma-ädi—beginning from Lord Brahmä; stamba-paryantänäm—and extending down to the blades of grass; antaù-hådayeñu—within the recesses of their hearts; bahiù—externally; api—also; ca—and; äkäçaù iva—in the same way as the sky; upädhinä—by material designations; avyavadhéyamänaù—not being covered; bhavän—yourself; ekaù—alone; eva—indeed; kñäëa-lava-nimeña—the kñäëa, lava and nimeña (the smallest fractions of time); avayava—by these fragments; upacita—collected together; saàvatsara-gaëena—by the years; apäm—of the water; ädäna—by taking away; visargäbhyäm—and giving; imäm—this; loka—of the universe; yäträm—the maintenance; anuvahati—carries out.

TRANSLATION

Çré Yäji'avalikya said: I offer my respectful obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead appearing as the sun. You are present as the controller of the four kinds of living entities, beginning from Brahmä and extending down to the blades of grass. Just as the sky is present both inside and outside every living being, you exist both within the hearts of all as the Supersoul and externally in the form of time. Just as the sky cannot be covered by the clouds present within it, you are never covered by any false material designation. By the flow of years, which are made up of the tiny fragments of time called kñäëas, lavas and nimeñas, you alone maintain this world, drying up the waters and giving them back as rain.

PURPORT

This prayer is not offered to the sun-god as an independent or autonomous entity but rather to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, represented by His powerful expansion the solar deity.

TEXT 68

yaäu" h" vaAva ivabauDaSaRBa s$aiavatar"d"stapatyanaus$avanamah"r," @h"r"A°aAyaivaiDanaAepaitaï"maAnaAnaAmaiKalaäu"ir"tava{ijanabaljaAvaBajaRna BagAvata: s$amaiBaDalmai" tapana maNx"lama,

yad u ha väva vibudhariñabha savitar adas tapaty anusavanam ahar ahar ämnäya-vidhinopatiññhamänänäm akhila-durita-vājina-béjavabharjana bhagavatau samabhidhémahi tapana maëòalam.

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—which; u ha väva—indeed; vibudha-ññabha—O chief of the demigods; savitaù—O lord of the sun; adaù—that; tapati—is glowing; anusavanam—at each of the junctures of the day (sunrise, noon and sunset); ahaù ahaù—each day; ämnäya-vidhinä—by the Vedic path, as passed down through disciplic succession; upatiññhamänänäm—of those who are engaged in offering prayer; akhila-durita—all sinful activities; vājina—the consequent suffering; béja—and the original seed of such; avabharjana—O you who burn; bhagavataù—of the mighty controller; samabhidhémahi—I meditate with full attention; tapana—O glowing one; maëòalam—upon the sphere.

TRANSLATION

O glowing one, O powerful lord of the sun, you are the chief of all the demigods. I meditate with careful attention on your fiery globe, because for those who offer prayers to you three times daily according to the Vedic method passed down through authorized disciplic succession, you burn away all sinful activities, all consequent suffering and even the original seed of desire.

TEXT 69

ya wh" vaAva isTar"car"inak(r"ANAAM inajainake(tanaAnaAM
manawin%"yaAs$augANAAananaAtmana: svayamaAtmaAntayaARmal 'acaAed"yaita //

ya iha väva sthira-cara-nikaräëäà nija-niketanänäà mana-indriyäsugaëän anätmanaù svayam ätmäntar-yämé pracodayati.

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—who; iha—in this world; väva—indeed; sthira-cara-nikaräëäm—of all the nonmoving and moving living beings; nija-niketanänäm—who depend on your shelter; manaù-indriya-asugaëän—the mind, senses and vital air; anätmanaù—which are nonliving matter; svayam—yourself; ätma—in their hearts; antaù-yämé—the indwelling lord; pracodayati—inspires to activity.

TRANSLATION

You are personally present as the indwelling lord in the hearts of all moving and nonmoving beings, who depend completely on your shelter. Indeed, you animate their material minds, senses and vital airs to act.

TEXT 70

ya WvaemaM laAek(maitak(r"Alavad"naAnDak(Ar"s$AMÁaAjagAr"fah"- igAilataM ma{tak(imava ivacaetanamavalaAefyaAnauk(mpayaA par"mak(Aç&iNAk(wR°ayaEvaAetTaApyaAh"r"h"r"naus$avanaM ™aeyais$ svaDamaARKyaAtmaAvasTanae 'avataRyaita //

ya evemaà lokam ati-karäla-vadanändhakära-saèjì äjagara-grahagilitaà matakam iva vicetanam avalokyänukampayä parama-käruëika êkñayaivotthäpyähar ahar anusavanaà çreyasi sva-dharmäkhyätmäva-sthane pravartayati.

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—who; eva—alone; imam—this; lokam—world; ati-karāla—very fearful; vadana—the mouth of which; andhakāra-saàjīa—known as darkness; ajagara—by the python; graha—seized; gilitam—and swallowed; mātakam—dead; iva—as if; vicetanam—unconscious; avalokya—by glancing; anukampayā—mercifully; parama-kāruëikaù—supremely magnanimous; ekāyā—by casting his glance; eva—indeed; utthāpya—raising them up; ahaù ahaù—day after day; anu-savanam—at the three sacred junctures of the day; çreyasi—in the ultimate benefit; sva-dharma-ākhyā—known as the soul's proper duty; ātma-avasthāne—in the inclination toward spiritual life; pravartayati—engages.

TRANSLATION

The world has been seized and swallowed by the python of darkness in its horrible mouth and has become unconscious, as if dead. But mercifully glancing upon the sleeping people of the world, you raise them up with the gift of sight. Thus you are most magnanimous. At the three sacred junctures of each day, you engage the pious in the path of ultimate good, inducing them to perform religious duties that situate them in their spiritual position.

PURPORT

According to Vedic culture, the three higher classes of society (the intellectual, political and mercantile sections) are formally connected with the spiritual master by initiation and receive the Gāyatrī mantra. This purifying mantra is chanted three times daily—at sunrise, noon and sunset. Auspicious moments for the performance of spiritual duties are calculated according to the sun's path in the sky, and this systematic scheduling of spiritual duties is here attributed to the sun as the representative of God.

TEXT 71

@vainapaitair"vaAs$aADaUnaAM Bayamaud"lr"ya^aaq%ita pair"ta @AzAApaAlaEs$a, taṭa taṭa k(malak(AezAAñailaiBaç&paô$taAhR"NA: //

avani-patir iväsādhünāà bhayam udérayann aōati parita āçā-pālais tatra tatra kamala-koçāi jalibhir upahâtārhaëaù.

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

avani-patiù—a king; iva—as; asādhünām—of the unholy; bhayam—fear; udérayan—creating; aōati—travels about; paritaù—all around; āçā-pālaiù—by the controlling deities of the directions; tatra tatra—here and there;
kamala-koça—holding lotus flowers; ai jalibhiù—with folded palms;
upahâta—offered; arhaëaù—honorable presentations.

TRANSLATION

Just like an earthly king, you travel about everywhere spreading fear among the unholy as the powerful deities of the directions offer you in their folded palms lotus flowers and other respectful presentations.

TEXT 72

@Ta h" BagAvaMstava car"NAnailanayaugAlaM iṭaBauvanagAuç&iBar"iBavaind"tamah"mayaAtayaAmayajauSk(Ama
opas$ar"Amalita //

atha ha bhagavaàs tava caraëa-nalina-yugalaà tri-bhuvana-gurubhir abhivanditam aham ayāta-yāma-yajuñ-kāma upasarāméti.

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atha—thus; ha—indeed; bhagavan—O lord; tava—your;
caraëa-nalina-yugalam—two lotus feet; tri-bhuvana—of the three worlds;
gurubhiù—by the spiritual masters; abhivanditam—honored; aham—I;
ayāta-yāma—unknown to anyone else; yajuù-kāmaù—desiring to have the yajur-mantras; upasarämi-am approaching with worship; iti—thus.

TRANSLATION

Therefore, my lord, I am prayerfully approaching your lotus feet, which are honored by the spiritual masters of the three worlds, because I hope to receive from you mantras of the Yajur Veda unknown to anyone else.

TEXT 73

s$aUta ovaAca
WvaM stauta: s$a BagAvaAna,
vaAijaè&paDar"Ae r"iva:
yajaUMSyayaAtayaAmaAina
maunayae'd"At'as$aAid"ta:

süta uvāca
evaà stutaù sa bhagavān
vāji-rūpa-dharo raviù
yajüàñi ayāta-yāmāni
munaye 'dāt prasāditaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sütaù uvāca—Süta Gosvāmé said; evam—in this way; stutaù—offered glorification; saù—he; bhagavān—the powerful demigod; vāji-rūpa—the form of a horse; dharaù—assuming; raviù—the sun-god; yajüàñi—yajur-mantras; ayāta-yāmāni—never learned by any other mortal; munaye—to the sage; adāt—presented; prasāditaù—being satisfied.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvāmé said: Satisfied by such glorification, the powerful sun-god assumed the form of a horse and presented to the sage Yāji avalkya yajur-mantras previously unknown in human society.

TEXT 74

yajauBaRr"k(r"AecC$AKaA
d"zA paÂa zAtaEivaRBau:
jagA{"ò"vaARjas$anyastaA:
k(ANvamaADyaind"naAd"ya:

*yajurbhir akaroc chākhā
daça paṛ ca çatair vibhuṁ jagāhur vājasanyas tāu
kāëva-mādhyandinādayau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yajurbhiṁ—with the yajur-mantras; akarot-he made; çākhāu—branches;
daça—ten; paṛ ca—plus five; çataiṁ—with the hundreds; vibhuṁ—the powerful; jagāhuṁ—they accepted; vāja-sanyaṁ—produced from the hairs of the horse's mane and thus known as Vājasaneyé; tāu-them;
kāëva-mādhyandina-ādayau—the disciples of Kāëva and Mādhyandina, and other āṇīs.

TRANSLATION

From these countless hundreds of mantras of the Yajur Veda, the powerful sage compiled fifteen new branches of Vedic literature. These became known as the Vājasaneyi-saṁhitā because they were produced from the hairs of the horse's mane, and they were accepted in disciplic succession
by the followers of Kāëva, Mādhyandina and other āṇīs.

TEXT 75

jaEimanae: s$amagAsyaAs$alta,
s$aumantaustanayaAe mauina:
s$autvaAMstau tats$autastaAByaAma,

WkE(k(AM 'aAh" s$aMih"taAma,

*jaimineu sama-gasyaset
sumantus tanayo muniu
sutvaas tu tat-sutas tabhyam
ekaika praha saahitam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jaimineu—of Jaimini; sama-gasya—the singer of the Säma Veda; aset—there was; sumantu—Sumantu; tanaya—the son; muni—the sage (Jaimini); sutvan—Sutvan; tu—and; tat-suta—the son of Sumantu; tabhyam—to each of them; eka-ekam—one of each of the two parts; praha—he spoke; saahitam—collection.

TRANSLATION

Jaimini Åñi, the authority of the Säma Veda, had a son named Sumantu, and the son of Sumantu was Sutvan. The sage Jaimini spoke to each of them a different part of the Säma-veda-saahita.

TEXTS 76-77

s$auk(maAR caAipa taicC$Sya:
s$aAmavaed"tar"AemaRh"Ana,
s$ah"as$aMih"taABaedM"
ca,e(s$aA°aAM tataAe iã"ja

ih"r"NyanaABa: k(AEzAlya: paAESyaiÃaê s$auk(maRNA:
izASyaAE jagA{h"tauêAny @AvantyaAe "aöivaÔama:

*sukarmä cäpi tac-chiñya
säma-veda-taror mahän
sahasra-saahita-bheda*

cakre sāmṇāṇ tato dvija

*hiraëyanābhaù kauçalyaù pauṇyaì jìç ca sukarmaëaù çīṇyau jagāhatuç cānya
āvantyo brahma-vittamaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sukarmā—Sukarmā; ca—and; api—indeed; tat-çīṇyaù—the disciple of Jaimini; sāma-veda-taroù—of the tree of the Sāma Veda; mahān—the great thinker; sahasra-saṇhitā—of one thousand collections; bhedam—a division; cakre—he made; sāmṇām—of the sāma-mantras; tataù—and then; dvija—O brāhmaëa (Çaunaka); hiraëyanābhaù kauçalyaù—Hiraëyanābha, the son of Kuçala; pauṇyaì jì—Pauṇyaì ji; ca—and; sukarmaëaù—of Sukarmā; çīṇyau—the two disciples; jagāhatuù—took; ca—and; anyaù—another; āvantyaù—Āvantya; brahma-vit-tamaù—most perfectly realized in knowledge of the Absolute Truth.

TRANSLATION

Sukarmā, another disciple of Jaimini, was a great scholar. He divided the mighty tree of the Sāma Veda into one thousand saṇhitās. Then, O brāhmaëa, three disciples of Sukarmā—Hiraëyanābha, the son of Kuçala; Pauṇyaì ji; and Āvantya, who was very advanced in spiritual realization—took charge of the sāma-mantras.

TEXT 78

od"lcyaA: s$AAmagAA: izASyaA @As$ana, paÂazAtaAina vaE paAESyaHjyaAvantyayaAeêAipa
taAMê 'aAcyaAna, 'aca°atae

*udécyäù sāma-gäù çīṇyā
āsan pai ca-çatāni vai*

*pauṇyai jy-āvantyaayoḥ cāpi
tāḥ ca prācyān pracakṇate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

udēcyāu—belonging to the north; sāma-gāu—the singer of the Sāma Veda; ṇyāu—the disciples; āsan—there were; pañca-ṣatāni—five hundred; vai—indeed; pauṇyai ji-āvantyaayoḥ—of Pauṇyai ji and Āvantya; ca—and; api—indeed; tān—they; ca—also; prācyān—easterners; pracakṇate—are called.

TRANSLATION

The five hundred disciples of Pauṇyai ji and Āvantya became known as the northern singers of the Sāma Veda, and in later times some of them also became known as eastern singers.

TEXT 79

laAEgAAi^oamaARĒyila: ku(lyā:
ku(zAl^d": ku(i^oare"va ca
paAESyāiĀais$āSyaA jagA{"ò":
s$āMih"taAstae zAtaM zAtama,

*laugākṇīr māi galiu kulyau kuṣṇādaḥ kukṇīr eva ca
pauṇyai ji-siṇyā jagāhuḥ
saḥhitāḥ te ṣatam ṣatam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

laugākṇīu māi galiu kulyau—Laugākṇī, Māi gali and Kulya; kuṣṇādaḥ kukṇīu—Kuṣṇāda and Kukṇī; eva—indeed; ca—also; pauṇyai ji-ṇyāu—disciples of Pauṇyai ji; jagāhuḥ—they took; saḥhitāu—collections; te—they; ṣatam ṣatam—each one hundred.

TRANSLATION

Five other disciples of Pauñyaï ji, namely Laugākñi, Māi gali, Kulya, Kuçéda and Kukñi, each received one hundred saàhitäs.

TEXT 80

k{(taAe ih"r"NyanaABasya
catauiva<zAita s$aMih"taA:
izASya Ocae svaizASyaeBya:
zAeSaA @Avantya @AtmavaAna,

*kâto hiraëyanäbhasya
catur-viàçati saàhitäù
çîñya üce sva-çîñyebhyaù
çeñä ävantya ätmavän*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kâtaù—Kâta; hiraëyanäbhasya—of Hiraëyanäbha;
catuù-viàçati—twenty-four; saàhitäù—collections; çîñyaù—the disciple;
üce—spoke; sva-çîñyebhyaù—to his own disciples; çeñäù—the remaining (collections); ävantyaù—Ävantya; ätma-vän—the self-controlled.

TRANSLATION

Kâta, the disciple of Hiraëyanäbha, spoke twenty four saàhitäs to his own disciples, and the remaining collections were passed down by the self-realized sage Ävantya.

*Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C.
Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupäda to the Twelfth Canto, Sixth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhägavatam, entitled "Mahäräja Parékñit Passes Away."*

7. The Purāëic Literatures

In this chapter Çré Sūta Gosvāmé describes the expansion of the branches of the Atharva Veda, enumerates the compilers of the Purāëas and explains the characteristics of a Purāëa. He then lists the eighteen major Purāëas and finishes his account by stating that any person who hears about these matters from someone in a proper disciplic succession will acquire spiritual potency.

TEXT 1

s$Uta ovaAca
@TavaRivats$aumantauê izASyamaDyaApayatsvak(Ama,
s$AMih"taAM s$aAe'ipa paTyaAya vaed"d"zAARya caAe·(vaAna,

sūta uvāca
atharva-vit sumantuḥ ca
çīṇyam adhyāpayat svakām
saḥhitāṁ so 'pi pathyāya
vedadarçāya cuktavān

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaḥ uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmé said; atharva-vit—the expert knower of the Atharva Veda; sumantuḥ—Sumantu; ca—and; çīṇyam—to his disciple; adhyāpayat—instructed; svakām—his own; saḥhitām—collection; saḥ—he, the disciple of Sumantu; api—also; pathyāya—to Pathya; vedadarçāya—to Vedadarça; ca—and; uktavān—spoke.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvämé said: Sumantu Āñi, the authority on the Atharva Veda, taught his saàhitā to his disciple Kabandha, who in turn spoke it to Pathya and Vedadarça.

PURPORT

As confirmed in the Viñëu Puräëa:

*atharva-vedaà sa muniù
sumantur amita-dyutiù
çïñyam adhyāpayām äsa kabandhaà so 'pi ca dvidhä
kātvä tu vedadarçäya
tathä pathyāya dattavän*

"That sage Sumantu, whose brilliance was immeasurable, taught the Atharva Veda to his disciple Kabandha. Kabandha in turn divided it into two parts and passed them down to Vedadarça and Pathya."

TEXT 2

zAAEflaAyaina“aRöbailar," maAed"AeSa: ipappalaAyaina:
vaed"d"zARsya izASyaAstae
paTyaizASyaAnaTaAe Za{NAu ku(maud": zAunak(Ae “aöna, jaAjailaêApyaTavaRivata,

*çaukläyanir brahmabalir
modoñaù pippaläyaniù vedadarçasya çïñyäs te pathya-çïñyän atho çäëu
kumudaù çunako brahman*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çaukläyaniù brahmabaliù—Çaukläyani and Brahmabali; modoñaù pippaläyaniù—Modoña and Pippaläyani; vedadarçasya—of Vedadarça; çiñyäu—the disciples; te—they; pathya-çiñyän—the disciples of Pathya; atho—furthermore; çäëu—please hear; kumudaù çunakaù—Kumuda and Çunaka; brahman—O brähmaëa, Çaunaka; jäjaliù—Jäjali; ca—and; api—also; atharva-vit—full in knowledge of the Atharva Veda.

TRANSLATION

Çaukläyani, Brahmabali, Modoña and Pippaläyani were disciples of Vedadarça. Hear from me also the names of the disciples of Pathya. My dear brähmaëa, they are Kumuda, Çunaka and Jäjali, all of whom knew the Atharva Veda very well.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Çrédhara Svämé, Vedadarça divided his edition of the Atharva Veda into four parts and instructed them to his four disciples. Pathya divided his edition into three parts and instructed it to the three disciples mentioned here.

TEXT 3

ba"au: izASyaAe'TaAingAr"s$a:
s$aEnDavaAyana Wva ca @DalyaetaAM s$aMih"tae ãe"
s$aAvaNAARâAstaTaApare"

babhruù çiñyo 'thängirasaù saindhaväyana eva ca
adhéyetäà saàhite dve

sāvarēadyās tathāpare

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

babhruu—Babhru; çin̐yaù—the disciple; atha—then; aì girasaù—of Çunaka (also known as Aì girä); saindhaväyanaù—Saindhaväyana; eva—indeed; ca—also; adhéyetäm—they learned; saàhite—collections; dve—two; sāvarēa—Sāvarēa; ädyäù—headed by; tathä—similarly; apare—other disciples.

TRANSLATION

Babhru and Saindhaväyana, disciples of Çunaka, studied the two divisions of their spiritual master's compilation of the Atharva Veda. Saindhaväyana's disciple Sāvarēa and disciples of other great sages also studied this edition of the Atharva Veda.

TEXT 4

na^oaṣṭak(lpa: zAAintaê
k(zyapaAiËÿr"s$AAd"ya:
Wtae @ATavaRNAAcAyaAR:
Za{NAu paAEr"AiNAk(Anmaunae

nakñatralpaù çantiç ca
kaçyapài girasādayaù
ete ātharvaēācāryäù
çâëu pauräëikān mune

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nakñatralpaù—Nakñatralpa; çantiù—Çantikarpa; ca—also; kaçyapa-äì girasa-ādayaù—Kaçyapa, Äì girasa and others; ete—these; ātharvaēā-ācāryäù—spiritual masters of the Atharva Veda; çâëu—now hear; pauräëikān—the authorities of the Purāēas; mune—O sage, Çaunaka.

TRANSLATION

Nakñatrakalpa, Çäntikalpa, Kaçyapa, Äi girasa and others were also among the äcäryas of the Atharva Veda. Now, O sage, listen as I name the authorities on Puräëic literature.

TEXT 5

‡ayyaAç&iNA: k(zyapaê
s$aAvaiNARr"k{(ta~ana:
vaEzAmpaAyanah"Ar"ltaAE SaÒE" paAEr"AiNAk(A wmae

*trayyärüëiù kaçyapaç ca
sävarëir akâtavranaù
vaiçampäyana-härétau
ñao vai pauräëikä ime*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

trayyärüëiù kaçyapaù ca—Trayyärüëi and Kaçyapa; sävarëiù akâtavranaù—Sävarëi and Akâtavrana;
vaiçampäyana-härétau—Vaiçampäyana and Häréta; ñao—six; vai—indeed;
pauräëikäù—spiritual masters of the Puräëas; ime—these.

TRANSLATION

Trayyärüëi, Kaçyapa, Sävarëi, Akâtavrana, Vaiçampäyana and Häréta are the six masters of the Puräëas.

TEXT 6

@Dalyanta vyaAs$aizASyaAta,
s$aMih"taAM maitpataumauRKaAta, WkE(k(Amah"maetaeSaAM

izASya: s$avaAR: s$amaDyagAAma,

*adhéyanta vyāsa-çīñyāt
saàhitā mat-pitur mukhāt
ekaikām aham eteñā
çīñyaù sarvāù samadhyagām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

adhéyanta—they have learned; vyāsa-çīñyāt—from the disciple of Vyāsadeva (Romahārṇāeā); saàhitām—the collection of the Purāeas; mat-pituù—of my father; mukhāt—from the mouth; eka-ekām—each learning one portion; aham—I; eteñām—of these; çīñyaù—the disciple; sarvāù—all the collections; samadhyagām—I have thoroughly learned.

TRANSLATION

Each of them studied one of the six anthologies of the Purāeas from my father, Romahārṇāeā, who was a disciple of Çréla Vyāsadeva. I became the disciple of these six authorities and thoroughly learned all their presentations of Puranic wisdom.

TEXT 7

k(zyapaAe'hM" ca s$AvaNAI= r"AmaizASyaAe'k{(ta~ana:
@Dalmaih" vyaAs$ aizASyaAca, catvaAr"Ae maUlas$aMih"taA:

*kaçyapo 'ha à ca sävarēē
rāma-çīñyo 'kātavranau
adhémahi vyāsa-çīñyāc
catvāro mūla-saàhitāù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kaçyapaù—Kaçyapa; aham—I; ca—and; sävarëiù—Sävarëi; räma-çin̄yaù—a disciple of Rāma; akātavraëaù—namely Akātavranaù; adhémahi—we have assimilated; vyäsa-çin̄yät—from the disciple of Vyäsa (Romaharṇāëa); catvāraù—four; mūla-saàhitäù—basic collections.

TRANSLATION

Romaharṇāëa, a disciple of Vedavyäsa, divided the Puräëas into four basic compilations. The sage Kaçyapa and I, along with Sävarëi and Akātavranaù, a disciple of Rāma, learned these four divisions.

TEXT 8

paur"ANAla°aNAM “aöna, “aöiSaRiBainaRè&ipatama, Za{NAuSva bauiÜ"maAi™atya vaed"zAAñAnaus$Ar"ta:

puräëa-lakṇāëaà brahman
brahmarīibhir nirüpitam
çâëuñva buddhim āçritya
veda-çästrānusārataù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puräëa-lakṇāëam—the characteristics of a Puräëa; brahman—O brähmaëa, Çaunaka; brahma-āñibhiù—by great learned brähmaëas; nirüpitam—ascertained; çâëuñva—please hear; buddhim—intelligence; āçritya—resorting to; veda-çästra—the Vedic scriptures; anusārataù—in accordance with.

TRANSLATION

O Çaunaka, please hear with attention the characteristics of a Puräëa, which have been defined by the most eminent learned brähmaëas in accordance with Vedic literature.

TEXTS 9-10

s$agAAeR'syaATa ivas$agARê
va{iÔar"°aAntar"AiNA ca
vaMzAAe vaMzAAnaucar"ItaM
s$aMsTaA he"taur"paA™aya:

d"zAiBalaR°aNAEyouR·M( paur"ANAM taiã"d"Ae ivaäu":
ke(ícatpaÂaivaDaM "aöna,
mah"d"lpavyavasTayaA

*sargo 'syätha visargaç ca
vätti-rakñāntarāëi ca
vaàço vaàçānucarétaà
saàsthā hetur apāçrayau*

*daçabhir lakñāëair yuktaà puräëaà tad-vido viduù
kecit pai ca-vidhaà brahman
mahad-alpa-vyavasthayä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sargaù—the creation; asya—of this universe; atha—then; visargaù—the secondary creation; ca—and; vätti—maintenance; rakñā—protection by sustenance; antarāëi—the reigns of the Manus; ca—and; vaàçaù—the dynasties of great kings; vaàça-anucaritam—the narrations of their activities; saàsthā—the annihilation; hetuù—the motivation (for the living entities' involvement in material activities); apāçrayau—the supreme shelter; daçabhiù—with the ten; lakñāëaiù—characteristics; yuktam—endowed; puräëam—a Puräëa; tat—of this matter; viduù—those who know; viduù—they know; kecit—some authorities; pai ca-vidham—fivefold; brahman—O brähmaëa; mahat—of great;

alpa—and lesser; vyavasthayā—according to the distinction.

TRANSLATION

O brāhmaëa, authorities on the matter understand a Purāëa to contain ten characteristic topics: the creation of this universe, the subsequent creation of worlds and beings, the maintenance of all living beings, their sustenance, the rule of various Manus, the dynasties of great kings, the activities of such kings, annihilation, motivation and the supreme shelter. Other scholars state that the great Purāëas deal with these ten topics, while lesser Purāëas may deal with five.

PURPORT

The ten subjects of a great Purāëa are also described in the Second Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (2.10.1):

çré-çuka uvāca
atra sargo visargaç ca
sthānaà poñāëam ütayaù manvantareçānukathā
nirodho muktir āçrayaù

"Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: In the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam there are ten divisions of statements regarding the following: the creation of the universe, subcreation, planetary systems, protection by the Lord, the creative impetus, the change of Manus, the science of God, returning home (back to Godhead), liberation and the summum bonum."

According to Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé, Purāëas such as Çrémad-Bhāgavatam deal with these ten topics, whereas lesser Purāëas deal with only five. As stated in Vedic literature:

sargaç ca pratisargaç ca
vaàço manvantarāëi ca vaàçānucaritaà ceti

puräëaà paĩ ca-lakñāëam

"Creation, secondary creation, the dynasties of kings, the reigns of Manus and the activities of various dynasties are the five characteristics of a Puräëa." Puräëas covering five categories of knowledge are understood to be secondary Puräëic literature.

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé has explained that the ten principal topics of Çrémad-Bhägavatam are found within each of the twelve cantos. One should not try to assign each of the ten topics to a particular canto. Nor should the Çrémad-Bhägavatam be artificially interpreted to show that it deals with the topics successively. The simple fact is that all aspects of knowledge important to human beings, summarized in the ten categories mentioned above, are described with various degrees of emphasis and analysis throughout the Çrémad-Bhägavatam.

TEXT 11

@vyaAk{(tagAuNA^oaAeBaAna, mah"taiñva{taAe'h"ma:
BaUtas$aU^omaein%"yaATaARnaAM
s$amBava: s$agAR ocyatae

avyākāta-guëa-kñobhän
mahatas tri-vāto 'hamaù
bhüta-sükñmendriyārthänäà
sambhavaù sarga ucyate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

avyākāta—of the unmanifest stage of nature; guëa-kñobhät—by the agitation of the modes; mahataù—from the basic mahat-tattva; tri-vātaù—threefold; ahamaù—from the false ego; bhüta-sükñma—of the subtle forms of perception; indriya—of the senses; arthänäm—and the objects of sense perception; sambhavaù—the generation; sargaù—creation;

ucyate—is called.

TRANSLATION

From the agitation of the original modes within the unmanifest material nature, the mahat-tattva arises. From the mahat-tattva comes the element false ego, which divides into three aspects. This threefold false ego further manifests as the subtle forms of perception, as the senses and as the gross sense objects. The generation of all these is called creation.

TEXT 12

pauç&SaAnaugA{h"ltaAnaAma, WtaeSaAM vaAs$anaAmaya:
ivas$agAAeR'yaM s$amaAh"Ar"Ae baljaAß"ljaM car"Acar"ma,

puruñānugāhētānām
eteñāà vāsanā-mayaù
visargo 'yaà samāhāro
bējād bējaà carācaram

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puruñā—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead in His pastime role of creation; anugāhētānām—which have received the mercy; eteñām—of these elements; vāsanā-mayaù—consisting predominantly of the remnants of past desires of the living entities; visargaù—the secondary creation; ayam—this; samāhāraù—manifest amalgamation; bējāt—from a seed; bējam—another seed; cara—moving beings; acaram—and nonmoving beings.

TRANSLATION

The secondary creation, which exists by the mercy of the Lord, is the manifest amalgamation of the desires of the living entities. Just as a seed produces additional seeds, activities that promote material desires in the performer produce moving and nonmoving life forms.

PURPORT

Just as a seed grows into a tree that produces thousands of new seeds, material desire develops into fruitive activity that stimulates thousands of new desires within the heart of the conditioned soul. The word puruṇānugāhētānām indicates that by the mercy of the Supreme Lord one is allowed to desire and act in this world.

TEXT 13

va{iÔaBaURtaAina BaUtaAnaAM car"ANAAmacar"AiNA ca
k{(taA svaena na{NAAM taṭa
k(AmaA»aAed"nayaAipa vaA

*vāttir bhūtāni bhūtānāḥ
carāḥm acarāḥi ca
kātā svena nāḥm tatra
kāmāt codanayāpi vā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vātti—the sustenance; bhūtāni—living beings; bhūtānām—of living beings; carāḥm—of those that move; acarāḥi—those that do not move; ca—and; kātā—executed; svena—by one's own conditioned nature; nāḥm—for human beings; tatra—therein; kāmāt—out of lust; codanayā—in pursuit of Vedic injunction; api—indeed; vā—or.

TRANSLATION

Vātti* means the process of sustenance, by which the moving beings live upon the nonmoving. For a human, vātti specifically means acting for one's livelihood in a manner suited to his personal nature. Such action may be carried out either in pursuit of selfish desire or in accordance with the law of God.

TEXT 14

r"°aAcyautaAvataAre"h"A ivaïsyāAnau yaugAe yaugAe itayaRx.~matyaRiSaR$de"vaeSau
h"nyantae yaEñyaliã"Sa:

*rakñācyutāvatārehā
viçvasyānu yuge yuge
tīryaī -martyarñi-deveñu
hanyante yaïs trayé-dviñau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rakñā—protection; acyuta-avatāra—of the incarnations of Lord Acyuta; ehā—the activities; viçvasya—of this universe; anu yuge yuge—in each age; tīryak—among the animals; martya—human beings; añi—sages; deveñu—and demigods; hanyante—are killed; yaiü—by which incarnations; trayé-dviñau—the Daityas, who are enemies of Vedic culture.

TRANSLATION

In each age, the infallible Lord appears in this world among the animals, human beings, sages and demigods. By His activities in these incarnations He protects the universe and kills the enemies of Vedic culture.

PURPORT

The protective activities of the Lord, indicated by the word rakñā, constitute one of the ten fundamental topics of a Mahā-Purāṇa, or a great Purāṇic literature.

TEXT 15

manvantarM" manauDeR"vaA
manupauḥaA: sṣaure"ir"A: SaRyaAe"M'zAAvataAr"Aê
h"re": SaiÒ"Damaucyatae

*manvantaraà manur devā manu-putrāù sureçvarāù
rñayo 'àçävatārāç ca
hareù ñaò-vidham ucyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

manu-antaram—the reign of each Manu; manuù—the Manu; devāù—the demigods; manu-putrāù—the sons of Manu; sura-éçvarāù—the different Indras; añayaù—the chief sages; aàça-avatārāù—the incarnations of portions of the Supreme Lord; ca—and; hareù—of Lord Hari; ñaò-vidham—sixfold; ucyate—is said.

TRANSLATION

In each reign of Manu, six types of personalities appear as manifestations of Lord Hari: the ruling Manu, the chief demigods, the sons of Manu, Indra, the great sages and the partial incarnations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 16

r"AÁaAM "aö'as$aUtaAnaAM vaMzAñEk(Ailak(Ae'nvaya:
vaMzAAnaucair"taM taeSaAma,
va{ÔaM vaMzADar"As$ca yae

rāji äà brahma-prasütānāà

vaàças trai-kāliko 'nvayaù vaàçānucaritaà teñām
vāttaà vaàça-dharäs ca ye

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rāji ām—of the kings; brahma-prasūtānām—born originally from Brahmā; vaàçaù—dynasty; trai-kālikaù—extending into the three phases of time (past, present and future); anvayaù—the series; vaàça-anucaritam—histories of the dynasties; teñām—of these dynasties; vāttam—the activities; vaàça dharāù—the prominent members of the dynasties; ca—and; ye—which.

TRANSLATION

Dynasties are lines of kings originating with Lord Brahmā and extending continuously through past, present and future. The accounts of such dynasties, especially of their most prominent members, constitute the subject of dynastic history.

TEXT 17

naEimaiÔak(: 'aAk{(itak(Ae inatya @Atyaintak(Ae laya:
s$AMsTaeita k(ivaiBa: 'aAe·(zA,
catauDaARsya svaBaAvata:

naimittikaù prākātiko
nitya ātyantiko layaù
saàstheti kavibhiù proktaç
caturdhāsya svabhāvataù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

naimittikaù—occasional; prākātikaù—elemental; nityaù—continuous; ātyantikaù—ultimate; layaù—annihilation; saàsthā—the dissolution;

iti—thus; kavibhiù—by learned scholars; proktaù—described; caturdhä—in four aspects; asya—of this universe; svabhävataù—by the inherent energy of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TRANSLATION

There are four types of cosmic annihilation—occasional, elemental, continuous and ultimate—all of which are effected by the inherent potency of the Supreme Lord. Learned scholars have designated this topic dissolution.

TEXT 18

he"taujaI=vaAe'sya s$agAAR$de"r," @ivaâAk(maRk(Ar"k(:
yaM caAnauzAAiyanaM 'aAò"r," @vyaAk{(tamautaApare"

*hetur jêvo 'sya sargäder
avidyâ-karma-kârakaù
yaà cânuçâyinaà prâhur
avyäkâtam utâpare*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

hetuù—the cause; jêvaù—the living being; asya—of this universe; sarga-âdeù—of the creation, maintenance and destruction; avidyâ—out of ignorance; karma-kârakaù—the performer of material activities; yam—whom; ca—and; anuçâyinaM—the underlying personality; prâhuù—they call; avyäkâtam—the unmanifest; uta—indeed; apare—others.

TRANSLATION

Out of ignorance the living being performs material activities and thereby becomes in one sense the cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of the universe. Some authorities call the living being the personality underlying the material creation, while others say he is the unmanifest self.

PURPORT

The Supreme Lord Himself creates, maintains and annihilates the cosmos. However, such activities are performed in response to the desires of conditioned souls, who are described herein as hetu, or the cause of cosmic activity. The Lord creates this world to facilitate the conditioned soul's attempt to exploit nature and ultimately to facilitate his self-realization.

Since conditioned souls cannot perceive their own constitutional identity, they are described here as avyākātam, or unmanifest. In other words, the living entity cannot perceive his real form unless he is completely Kāñëa conscious.

TEXT 19

vyaitare"k(AnvayaAe yasya
jaAfatsva«as$auSauiæaSau
maAyaAmayaeSau taä," "aö
jalvava{iÔaSvapaA™aya:

*vyatirekānvayo yasya
jāgrat-svapna-suñuptiñu
māyā-mayeñu tad brahma
jēva-vāttiñv apāçrayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vyatireka—the presence as separate; anvayaù—and as conjoint; yasya—of which; jāgrat—within waking consciousness; svapna—sleep; suñuptiñu—and deep sleep; māyā-mayeñu—within the products of the illusory energy; tat—that; brahma—the Absolute Truth; jēva-vāttiñu—within the functions of the living entities; apāçrayaù—the unique shelter.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Absolute Truth is present throughout all the stages of awareness—waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep—throughout all the phenomena manifested by the illusory energy, and within the functions of all living entities, and He also exists separate from all these. Thus situated in His own transcendence, He is the ultimate and unique shelter.

TEXT 20

pad"ATaeRSau yaTaA %o"vyaM
s$anmaAḥaM è&panaAmas$au
baljaAid"paÂataAntaAs$au ÷vasTaAs$au yautaAyautama,

*padârtheṇu yathā dravyaà
san-mātraà rūpa-nāmasu
bējādi-pai catāntāsu
hy avasthāsu yutāyutam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pada-artheṇu—within material objects; yathā—just as; dravyam—the basic substance; sat-mātram—the sheer existence of things; rūpa-nāmasu—among their forms and names; bēja-ādi—beginning from the seed (i.e., from the time of conception); pai catā-antāsu—ending with death; hi—indeed; avasthāsu—throughout the various phases of bodily existence; yuta-ayutam—both conjoined and separate.

TRANSLATION

Although a material object may assume various forms and names, its essential ingredient is always present as the basis of its existence. Similarly, both conjointly and separately, the Supreme Absolute Truth is always present with the created material body throughout its phases of existence, beginning with conception and ending with death.

PURPORT

Moist clay can be molded into various shapes and named "waterpot," "flowerpot" or "storage pot." Despite the various names and forms, the essential ingredient, earth, is constantly present. Similarly, the Supreme Lord is present throughout a material body's stages of bodily existence. The Lord is identical with material nature, being its ultimate generating source. At the same time, the unique Supreme Being exists separately, aloof in His own abode.

TEXT 21

ivar"maeta yad"A icaÔaM
ih"tvaA va{iÔaṭayaM svayama, yaAegAelaR vaA tad"AtmaAnaM
vaede"h"AyaA inavataRtae

*virameta yadā cittaà
hitvā vātti-trayaà svayam
yogerla vā tadātmānaà
vedehāyā nivartate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

virameta—desists; yadā—when; cittam—the mind; hitvā—giving up; vātti-trayam—the functions of material life in the three phases of waking, sleep and deep sleep; svayam—automatically; yogena—by regulated spiritual practice; vā—or; tadā—then; ātmānam—the Supreme Soul; veda—he knows; ehāyāu—from material endeavor; nivartate—he ceases.

TRANSLATION

Either automatically or because of one's regulated spiritual practice, one's mind may stop functioning on the material platform of waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep. Then one understands the Supreme Soul and withdraws from material endeavor.

PURPORT

As stated in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (3.25.33), jarayaty āçu yā koṣaṇṇaṁ nigērēam analo yathā: "Bhakti, devotional service, dissolves the subtle body of the living entity without separate endeavor, just as fire in the stomach digests all that we eat." The subtle material body is inclined to exploit nature through sex, greed, false pride and madness. Loving service to the Lord, however, dissolves the stubborn false ego and lifts one to pure blissful consciousness, Kāñhā consciousness, the sublime perfection of existence.

TEXT 22

WvaM la^oaNAIa^oyaAiNA
paur"ANAAina paur"Aivad": maunayaAe'í"Ad"zA 'aAò": °auéak(Aina mah"Ainta ca

evaṇ lakṣṇāḥ-lakṣyāḥ purāṇāni purā-vidāu
munayo 'aṣṭādaśa prāhuḥ
kṣullakāni mahānti ca

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—in this way; lakṣṇāḥ-lakṣyāḥ—symptomized by their characteristics; purāṇāni—the Purāṇas; purā-vidāu—those who are expert in such ancient histories; munayaḥ—the sages; aṣṭādaśa—eighteen; prāhuḥ—say; kṣullakāni—minor; mahānti—great; ca—also.

TRANSLATION

Sages expert in ancient histories have declared that the Purāëas, according to their various characteristics, can be divided into eighteen major Purāëas and eighteen secondary Purāëas.

TEXTS 23-24

“aAöM paAáM vaESNAvaM ca zAEvaM laEËMÿ s$agAAç&xM" naAr"d"lyaM BaAgAvatama, @AçaeyaM s$k(And"s$aMiÁatama,

BaivaSyaM “aövaEvata< maAkR(Nxe"yaM s$avaAmanama, vaAr"AhM" maAtsyaM k(AEma< ca “aöANx"AKyaimaita iṭaSaç%.

*brāhmaà pādmaà vaiñēavaà ca çaiivaà laiṭ gaà sa-gāruòàà nāradéyaà bhāgavatam
āgneyaà skānda-saàji itam
bhaviñyaà brahma-vaivartaà mārkaëòeyaà sa-vāmanam
vārāhaà mātasyaà kaurmaà ca
brahmäëòākhyam iti tri-ñai*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brāhmam—the Brahma Purāëa; pādmam—the Padma Purāëa;
vaiñēavam—the Viñēu Purāëa; ca—and; çaiivam—the Çiva Purāëa;
laiṭ gam—the Liṭ ga Purāëa; sa-gāruòam—along with the Garuòà Purāëa;
nāradéyam—the Nārada Purāëa; bhāgavatam—the Bhāgavata Purāëa; āgneyam—the Agni Purāëa; skānda—the Skanda Purāëa; saàji itam—known as; bhaviñyam—the Bhaviñya Purāëa; brahma-vaivartam—the Brahma-vaivarta Purāëa; mārkaëòeyam—the Mārkaëòeya Purāëa;
sa-vāmanam—together with the Vāmana Purāëa; vārāham—the Varāha

Purāëa; mätśyam—the Matsya Purāëa; kaurmam—the Kürma Purāëa; ca—and; brahmäëöa-äkhyam—known as the Brahmäëöa Purāëa; iti—thus; tri-ñai—three times six.

TRANSLATION

The eighteen major Purāëas are the Brahma, Padma, Viñëu, Çiva, Liñ ga, Garuöa, Närada, Bhāgavata, Agni, Skanda, Bhaviñya, Brahma-vaivarta, Märkaëöeya, Vāmana, Varāha, Matsya, Kürma and Brahmäëöa Purāëas.

PURPORT

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé has quoted from the Varāha Purāëa, Çiva Purāëa and Matsya Purāëa in confirmation of the above two verses.

TEXT 25

“aöi^aadM" s$amaAKyaAtaM zAAKaA'aNAyanaM maunae:
izASyaizASya'aizASyaANAAM “aötajejaAeivavaDaRnama, brahmann idaà samākhyātaà

çākhā-praëayanaà muneù
çiñya-çiñya-praçiñyāëäà
brahma-tejo-vivardhanam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brahman—O brähmaëa; idam—this; samākhyātam—thoroughly described; çākhā-praëayanam—the expansion of the branches; muneù—of the sage (Çréla Vyāsadeva); çiñya—of the disciples; çiñya-praçiñyāëäm—and the subsequent disciples of his disciples; brahma-tejaù—spiritual potency; vivardhanam—which increases.

TRANSLATION

I have thoroughly described to you, O brāhmaëa, the expansion of the branches of the Vedas by the great sage Vyāsadeva, his disciples and the disciples of his disciples. One who listens to this narration will increase in spiritual strength.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Twelfth Canto, Seventh Chapter, of the Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "The Purāëic Literatures."

8. Märkaëöeya's Prayers to Nara-Näräyaëa Āñi

This chapter describes how Märkaëöeya Āñi performed austerities, defeated by his potency Cupid and all his associates, and offered prayers to Lord Çré Hari in His forms of Nara and Näräyaëa.

Çré Çaunaka was confused about the extraordinarily long life span of Çré Märkaëöeya, who had taken birth in Çaunaka's own dynasty yet who had moved about alone in the ocean of devastation millions of years previously and seen a wonderful young child lying upon a banyan leaf. It seemed to Çaunaka that Märkaëöeya had lived through two days of Brahmä, and he asked Çré Sūta Gosvämé to explain this.

Suta Gosvämé replied that the sage Märkaëöeya, after receiving the purificatory ritual of brahminical initiation from his father, had fixed himself in the vow of lifelong celibacy. He then worshiped the Supreme Lord Hari for six lifetimes of Manu. In the seventh manvantara, Lord Indra sent Kāmadeva (Cupid) and his associates to interrupt the sage's austerities. But Märkaëöeya Āñi defeated them by the potency generated from his penance.

Then, to show mercy to Märkaëòeya, Lord Çré Hari appeared before him in the form of Nara-Näräyaëa. Çré Märkaëòeya prostrated himself in obeisance and then worshiped the Lords by offering Them comfortable seats, water for washing Their feet, and other respectful presentations. He then prayed, "O Almighty Lord, You bring to life the vital air of all creatures, and You also protect the three worlds, vanquish distress and award liberation. You never allow those who have taken shelter of You to be defeated by any kind of misery. Attaining Your lotus feet is the only auspicious goal for the conditioned souls, and service to You fulfills all their desires. Your pastimes, enacted in the mode of pure goodness, can award everyone salvation from material life. Therefore those who are intelligent worship Your personal form of pure goodness named Çré Näräyaëa, along with Nara, who represents Your unalloyed devotee.

"The living entity bewildered by illusion can directly understand You if he receives the knowledge presented in the Vedas and promulgated by You, the spiritual master of the entire universe. Even great thinkers like Brahmä are simply bewildered when they try to understand Your identity by struggling on the path of säi khya-yoga. You Yourself manifest the proponents of Säi khya and other philosophies, and thus Your true personal identity remains hidden beneath the designative covering of the jéva soul. I offer my homage to You, the Mahäpuruña."

TEXT 1

™alzAAEnak(ovaAca
s$aUta jalva icarM" s$aADaAe
vad" naAe vad"taAM var"
tamasyapaAre" "amataAM
na|NAAM tvaM paAr"d"zARna:

çré-çaunaka uväca
süta jéva ciraà sädho
vada no vadatäà vara

*tamasy apäre bhramatäà
nèëää tvaà pära-darçanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çaunakaù uväca—Çré Çaunaka said; süta—O Süta Gosvämé; jéva—may you live; ciram—for a long time; sädho—O saint; vada—please speak; naù—to us; vadatäm—of speakers; vara—O you who are the best; tamasi—in darkness; apäre—unbounded; bhramatäm—who are wandering; nèëäm—for men; tvam—you; pära-darçanaù—the seer of the opposite shore.

TRANSLATION

Çré Çaunaka said: O Süta, may you live a long life! O saintly one, best of speakers, please continue speaking to us. Indeed, only you can show men the path out of the ignorance in which they are wandering.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Jéva Gosvämé, the sages saw that Süta Gosvämé was about to end his narration of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, and thus they urged him to first tell the story of Märkaëöeya Āñi.

TEXTS 2-5

@Aò"iêr"AyauSama{iSaM
ma{k(Nx"]tanayaM janaA:
ya: k(lpaAntae ÷uvaRir"taAe
yaena f astaimadM" jagAta,

s$a vaA @smatku(laAetpaªa:
k(lpae'ismana, BaAgARvaSaRBa:
naEvaADaunaAipa BaUtaAnaAM
s$amplava: k(Ae'ipa jaAyatae

Wk(WvaANAR"vae "aAmyana, d"d"zAR pauç&SaM ik(la vaq%paṭapauqe% taAekM( zAyaAnaM tvaek(maàu"tama,

WSa na: s$SaMzAyaAe BaUyaAna,
s$SaUta k(AEtaUh"laM yata:
taM naizC$inDa mah"AyaAeigAna,
paur"ANAEsVaipa s$ammata:

*āhuç cirāyuniṁ āṇī à mākaēou-tanaya à janāu
yaù kalpānte hy urvarito
yena grastam ida à jagat
sa vā asmat-kuloṭpannau
kalpe 'smin bhārgavarīabhaù naivādhunāpi bhūtānā à samplavaù ko 'pi jāyate
eka evārēave bhrāmyan
dadarça puruṇa à kila vaṁa-patra-puṁe toka à çayāna à tv ekam adbhutam
eṇa naù sa à çayo bhūyān sūta kautūhala à yataù
ta à naç chindhi mahā-yogin
purāēēv api sammataù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

āhu—they say; cira-āyuniṁ—having an extraordinarily long life span;
āṇim—the sage; mākaēou-tanayam—the son of Mākaēou; janāu—people;
yaù—who; kalpa-ante—at the end of the day of Lord Brahmā; hi—indeed;
urvaritaù—remaining alone; yena—by which (annihilation);
grastam—seized; idam—this; jagat—entire universe; saù—he, Mārkaēodeya;

vai—indeed; asmat-kula—in my own family; utpannaù—born; kalpe—in the day of Brahmä; asmin—this; bhārgava-āñabhaù—the most eminent descendant of Bhāgu Muni; na—not; eva—certainly; adhunā—in our age; api—even; bhūtānām—of all creation; samlavaù—annihilation by flood; kaù—any; api—at all; jāyate—has arisen; ekaù—alone; eta—indeed; arēave—in the great ocean; bhrāmyan—wandering; dadarça—he saw; puruṇam—a personality; kila—it is said; vaōa-patra—of a banyan leaf; puōe—within the fold; tokam—an infant hoy; çayānam—lying; tu—but; ekam—one; adbhutam—wonderful; eñau—this; naù—our; saàçayaù—doubt; bhüyān—great; sūta—O Sūta Gosvāmē; kautūhalam—curiosity; yataù—due to which; tam—that; naù—for us; chindhi—please cut; mahā-yogin—O great yogē; purāneñu—of the Purāēas; api—indeed; sammataù—universally accepted (as the expert knower).

TRANSLATION

Authorities say that Märkaëðeya Āñi, the son of Mākaëðu, was an exceptionally long-lived sage who was the only survivor at the end of Brahmä's day, when the entire universe was merged in the flood of annihilation. But this same Märkaëðeya Āñi, the foremost descendant of Bhāgu, took birth in my own family during the current day of Brahmä, and we have not yet seen any total annihilation in this day of Brahmä. Also, it is well known that Märkaëðeya while wandering helplessly in the great ocean of annihilation, saw in those fearful waters a wonderful personality—an infant boy lying alone within the fold of a banyan leaf. O Sūta, I am most bewildered and curious about this great sage, Märkaëðeya Āñi. O great yogē, you are universally accepted as the authority on all the Purāēas. Therefore kindly dispel my confusion.

PURPORT

Lord Brahmä's day, consisting of his 12 hours, lasts 4 billion 320 million years, and his night is of the same duration. Apparently Märkaëðeya lived throughout one such day and night and in the following day of Brahmä continued living as the same Märkaëðeya. It seems that when annihilation occurred during Brahmā's night, the sage wandered throughout the fearful waters of destruction and saw within those waters an extraordinary personality lying on a banyan leaf. All of these mysteries concerning. Märkaëðeya will be clarified by Sūta Gosvāmé at the request of the great sages.

TEXT 6

s$Uta ovaAca
'a'astvayaA mah"SaeR'yaM
k{(taAe laAek("amaApah": naAr"AyaNAk(TaA yaṭa gAltaA k(ila malaApah"A

sūta uvāca
praçnas tvayā maharīe 'yaà
kāto loka-bhramāpahaù
nārāyaëa-kathā yatra
gētā kali-malāpahā

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaù uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmé said; praçnaù—question; tvayā—by you; mahā-āñe—O great sage, Çaunaka; ayam—this; kātaù—made; loka—of the entire world; bhrama—the delusion; apahaù—which takes away; nārāyaëa-kathā—discussion of the Supreme Lord, Nārāyaëa; yatra—in which; gētā—is sung; kali-mala—the contamination of the present age of Kali; apahā—removing.

TRANSLATION

Sūta Gosvāmé said: O great sage Çaunaka, your very question will help remove everyone's illusion, for it leads to the topics of Lord Nārāyaëa, which cleanse away the contamination of this Kali age.

TEXTS 7-11

‘aAæaiã"jaAitas$aMs$k(Ar"Ae maAkR(Nxe"ya: ipatau: ,(maAta, C$nd"AMsyaDaltya DamaeRNA
tapa:svaADyaAyas$aMyauta:

ba{h"ä,"~ataDar": zAAntaAe
jaiq%laAe valk(laAmbar":
iba”atk(maNx"lauM d"Nx"ma,
opavaltam s$amaeKalama,

k{(SNAAijanaM s$aA°as$aU‡aM ku(zAAMê inayamaÜR"yae @gnyakR(gAuç&iva‘aAtmasva, @caRyana, s$anDyayaAehR"ir"ma,

s$aAyaM ‘aAta: s$a gAur"vae BaE°yamaAô$tya vaAgyata:
bauBaujae gAuvaRnauÁaAta:
s$ak{(ªaAe caeäu"paAeiSata:

WvaM tapa:svaADyaAyapar"Ae
vaSaARNAamayautaAyautama,
@Ar"ADayana, ô$Salke(zAM
ijagyae ma{tyauM s$auäu"jaRyama,

*prāpta-dvijāti-saṅskāro
mārkaḍḍeyaṁ pituṁ kramāt
chandāṅsy adhṛtya dharmēa
tapaṁ-svādhyāya-saṅyutaṁ*

*bāhad-vrata-dharaṁ cānto jāṁilo valkalāmbaraṁ
bibhrat kamaḍḍaluṁ daḍḍam
upavētaṁ sa-mekhalam*

kāṇḍājinaṁ sākṇa-sūtraṁ

*kuçäàç ca niyamarddhaye
agny-arka-guru-viprätmasv
arcayan sandhyayor harim*

säyaà prātaù sa gurave bhaikñyam ähātya vāg-yataù bubhuje gurv-anuji ātaù sakān no ced upoñitaù

*evaà tapaù-svādhyāya-paro varñäëäm ayutäyutam
ärādhayan hññekeçaà
jigye mātuyuà su-durjayam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prāpta—having received; dvi-jāti—of second birth; saàskāraù—the purificatory rituals; mārkaëðeyaù—Mārkaëðeya; pituù—from his father; kramāt—by proper sequence; chandäàsi—the Vedic hymns; adhētya—studying; dharmeëa—along with regulative principles; tapaù—in austerities; svādhyāya—and study; saàyutaù—full; bāhat-vrata—the great vow of lifelong celibacy; dharaù—maintaining; çāntaù—peaceful; jañilaù—with matted hair; valkala-ambaraù—wearing bark as his clothing; bibhrat—carrying; kamaëòalum—a waterpot; daëòam—a mendicant's staff; upavētam—the sacred thread; sa-mekhalam—along with the ritual belt of a brahmacäre; kāñëa-ajinam—the skin of a black deer; sa-akñā-sūtram—and prayer beads made of lotus seeds; kuçän—kuça grass; ca—also; niyama-āddhaye—to facilitate his spiritual progress; agni—in the form of fire; arka—the sun; guru—the spiritual master; vipra—the brähmaëas; ätmasu—and the Supersoul; arcayan—worshiping; sandhyayouù—at the beginning and the end of the day; harim—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; sāyam—in the evening; prātaù—in the early morning; saù—he; gurave—unto his spiritual master; bhaikñyam—alms obtained by begging; ähātya—bringing; vāk-yataù—with controlled speech; bubhuje—he partook; guru-anuji ātaù—invited by his spiritual master; sakāt—once; na—not (invited); u—indeed; cet—if; upoñitaù—fasting; evam—in this way;

tapaù-svādhyāya-paraù—dedicated to austerities and studies of the Vedic literature; variāëäm—years; ayuta-ayutam—ten thousand times ten thousand; ārādhayan—worshiping; hāñēka-ēcam—the supreme master of the senses, Lord Viñëu; jigye—he conquered; mātyum—death; su-durjayam—impossible to conquer.

TRANSLATION

After being purified by his father's performance of the prescribed rituals leading to Märkaëðeya's brahminical initiation, Märkaëðeya studied the Vedic hymns and strictly observed the regulative principles. He became advanced in austerity and Vedic knowledge and remained a lifelong celibate. Appearing most peaceful with his matted hair and his clothing made of bark, he furthered his spiritual progress by carrying the mendicant's waterpot, staff, sacred thread, brahmacāre belt, black deerskin, lotus-seed prayer beads and bundles of kuça grass. At the sacred junctures of the day he regularly worshiped the Supreme Personality of Godhead in five forms—the sacrificial fire, the sun, his spiritual master, the brāhmaëas and the Supersoul within his heart. Morning and evening he would go out begging, and upon returning he would present all the food he had collected to his spiritual master. Only when his spiritual master invited him would he silently take his one meal of the day; otherwise he would fast. Thus devoted to austerity and Vedic study, Märkaëðeya Āñi worshiped the supreme master of the senses, the Personality of Godhead, for countless millions of years, and in this way he conquered unconquerable death.

TEXT 12

“aöA Ba{gAuBaRvaAe d"°aAe “aöpauṭaAê yae'pare"
 na{de"vaipata{BaUtaAina
 taenaAs$aªaitaivaismataA:

*brahmä bhāgur bhavo dakñö
 brahma-putrāç ca ye 'pare*

nâ-deva-pitâ-bhütäni
tenäsann ati-vismitäù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brahmä—Lord Brahmä; bhāgu—Bhāgu Muni; bhava—Lord Çiva; dakñä—Prajäpati Dakñä; brahma-puträ—the great sons of Brahmä; ca—and; ye—who; apare—others; nâ—human beings; deva—demigods; pitâ—forefathers; bhütäni—and ghostly spirits; tena—with that (conquest of death); äsan—they all became; ati-vismitäù—extremely amazed.

TRANSLATION

Lord Brahmä, Bhāgu Muni, Lord Çiva, Prajäpati Dakñä, the great sons of Brahmä, and many others among the human beings, demigods, forefathers and ghostly spirits—all were astonished by the achievement of Märkaëdeya Äñi.

TEXT 13

wtTaM ba{h"ä,"~ataDar"s$a,
tapa:svaADyaAyas$aMyamaE:
d"DyaAvaDaAe°ajaM yaAegAl DvastaflaezAAntar"AtmanaA

ittha—in this manner; bâhad-vrata-dharas
tapaù-svädhyäya-saâyamaiù dadhyäv adhokñaja—upon the transcendental Lord; yogé
dhvasta-kleçäntarätmanä

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ittham—in this manner; bâhat-vrata-dhara—maintaining the vow of celibacy, brahmacarya; tapaù-svädhyäya-saâyamaiù—by his austerities, studies of the Vedas and regulative principles; dadhyau—he meditated; adhokñajam—upon the transcendental Lord; yogé—the yogé;

dhvasta—destroyed; kleṣa—all troubles; antaù-ātmana—with his introspective mind.

TRANSLATION

In this way the devotional mystic Mārkaṇḍeya maintained rigid celibacy through penance, study of the Vedas and self-discipline. With his mind thus free of all disturbances, he turned it inward and meditated on the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who lies beyond the material senses.

TEXT 14

tasyaEvaM yauĀataiêÔaM
mah"AyaAegAena yaAeigAna:
vyatalyaAya mah"Ana, k(AlaAe manvantar"Sax"Atmak(:

*tasyaiva*à *yui jataç citta*à *mahā-yogena yogina*ù vyatēyāya mahān kālo
*manvantara-ñāo-ātmaka*ù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—he; evam—thus; *yui jata*ù—while fixing; cittam—his mind; mahā-yogena—by powerful practice of yoga; *yogina*ù—the mystic sage; vyatēyāya—passed by; mahān—a great; *kāla*ù—period of time; manu-antara—lifetimes of Manu; ñāo—six; *ātmaka*ù—consisting of.

TRANSLATION

While the mystic sage thus concentrated his mind by powerful yoga practice, the tremendous period of six lifetimes of Manu passed by.

TEXT 15

Wtatpaur"nd"r"Ae ÁaAtvaA
s$æamae'ismana, ik(laAntare" tapaAeivazAi/ÆytaAe "aöªa, @Are"Bae taiã"GaAtanama,

*etat purandaro ji ätvä
saptame 'smin kiläntare
tapo-viçai kito brahmann
ärebhe tad-vighätanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; purandaraù—Lord Indra; ji ätvä—learning; saptame—in the seventh; asmin—this; kila—indeed; antare—reign of Manu; tapaù—of the austerities; viçai kitaù—becoming fearful; brahman—O brähmaëa Çaunaka; ärebhe—he set into motion; tat—of that austerity; vighäöanam—obstruction.

TRANSLATION

O brähmaëa, during the seventh reign of Manu, the current age, Lord Indra came to know of Märkaëöeya's austerities and became fearful of his growing mystic potency. Thus he tried to impede the sage's penance.

TEXT 16

gAnDavaARps$ar"s$a: k(AmaM
vas$antamalayaAinalaAE maunayae 'aeSayaAmaAs$a r"jastaAek(mad"AE taTaA

*gandharväpsarasaù kämaà vasanta-malayänilau
munaye preñayäm äsa
rajas-toka-madau tathä*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

gandharva-apsarasaù—the celestial singers and dancing girls; kāmam—Cupid; vasanta—the spring season; malaya-anilau—and the refreshing breeze from the Malaya Hills; munaye—to the sage; preñayām äsa—he sent; rajaù-toka—the child of passion, greed; madau—and intoxication; tathä—also.

TRANSLATION

To ruin the sage's spiritual practice, Lord Indra sent Cupid, beautiful celestial singers, dancing girls, the season of spring and the sandalwood-scented breeze from the Malaya Hills, along with greed and intoxication personified.

TEXT 17

tae vaE tad"A™amaM jagmaur," ih"maA%oe": paAìR oÔare" pauSpaBa%"A nad"I yaṭa icaṭaAKyaA ca izAlaA ivaBaAe

te vai tad-äçramaè jagmur himädreù pārçva uttare
puñpabhadrä nadé yatra
citräkhyä ca çilä vibho

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

te—they; vai—indeed; tat—of Märkaëðeya Åñi; äçramam—to the hermitage; jagmuù—went; hima-adreù—of the Himälaya Mountains; pārçve—to the side; uttare—on the north; puñpabhadrä nadé—the Puñpabhadrä River; yatra—where; citrä-ākhyä—named Citrä; ca—and; çilä—the peak; vibho—O powerful Çaunaka.

TRANSLATION

O most powerful Çaunaka, they went to Märkaëðeya's hermitage, on the northern side of the Himälaya Mountains where the Puñpabhadra River passes by the famous peak Citra.

TEXTS 18-20

tad"A™amapadM" pauNyaM
pauNyaâu"malataAiÂatama, pauNyaiã"jaku(laAk(L[%naM
pauNyaAmalajalaAzAyama,

maÔa"amar"s$aËÿLtaM
maÔak(Aeik(lakU(ijatama, maÔabaihR"naq%Aq%AepaM maÔaiã"jaku(laAku(lama,

vaAyau: 'aivaí" @Ad"Aya ih"mainaJaRr"zAlk(r"Ana,
s$aumanaAeiBa: pair"Sva·(Ae vavaAvauÔamBayana, smar"ma,

*tad-âçrama-padaà puëyaà
puëya-druma-latäi citam
puëya-dvija-kuläkêânaà
puëyämala-jaläçayam*

*matta-bhramara-saì gëtaà matta-kokila-küjitam
matta-barhi-naöäöopaà
matta-dvija-kuläkulam*

*väyuù praviñña ädäya
hima-nirjhara-çëkarän
sumanobhiù pariñvakto*

vaväv uttambhayan smaram

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat—his; āçrama-padam—place of hermitage; puëyam—pious; puëya—pious; druma—with trees; latä—and creepers; ai'citam—specially marked; puëya—pious; dvija—of brähmaëa sages; kula—with the groups; äkérëam—brimming; puëya—pious; amala—spotless; jala-āçayam—having reservoirs of water; matta—maddened; bhramara—of bees; saì gétam—with singing; matta—maddened; kokila—of cuckoos; küjita—with cooing; matta—maddened; barhi—of peacocks; naõa-äöopam—with the frenzy of dancing; matta—maddened; dvija—of birds; kula—with the families; äkulam—filled; väyuù—the wind of the Malaya Hills; praviññaù—entering; ädäya—taking up; hima—chilling; nirjhara—of the waterfalls; çëkarän—the drops of mist; sumanobhiù—by the flowers; pariñvaktu—being embraced; vavau—blew; uttambhayan—evoking; smaram—Cupid.

TRANSLATION

Groves of pious trees decorated the holy āçrama of Märkaëöeya Äñi, and many saintly brähmaëas lived there, enjoying the abundant pure, sacred ponds. The āçrama resounded with the buzzing of intoxicated bees and the cooing of excited cuckoos, while jubilant peacocks danced about. Indeed, many families of maddened birds crowded that hermitage. The springtime breeze sent by Lord Indra entered there, carrying cooling drops of spray from nearby waterfalls. Fragrant from the embrace of forest flowers, that breeze entered the hermitage and began evoking the lusty spirit of Cupid.

TEXT 21

oâ»an%o"inzAAvaf‡a:
'avaAlastabak(AilaiBa: gAAepaâu"malataAjaAlaEs$a,
ta‡aAs$altku(s$aumaAk(r":

udyac-candra-niçä-vaktraù
praväla-stabakälibhiù
gopa-druma-latä-jälais
taträsét kusumäkaraù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

udyat—rising; candra—with the moon; niçä—nighttime; vaktraù—whose face; praväla—of new sprouts; stabaka—and blossoms; älibhiù—with rows; gopa—being hidden; druma—of the trees; latä—and creepers; jälaiù—along with the multitude; tatra—there; äsét—appeared; kusuma-äkaraù—the spring season.

TRANSLATION

Springtime then appeared in Märkaëðeya's äçrama. Indeed, the evening sky, glowing with the light of the rising moon, became the very face of spring, and sprouts and fresh blossoms virtually covered the multitude of trees and creepers.

TEXT 22

@nvalyamaAnaAe gAnDavaE=r," gAltavaAid"žayaUTakE(: @ä{"zyataAÔacaApaeSau:
sva:ñlyaUTapaita: smar":

anvéyamäno gandharvair
géta-väditra-yüthakaiù
adâçyatätta-cäpeñuù
svaù-stré-yütha-patiù smaraù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anvéyamänaù—being followed; gandharvaiù—by Gandharvas; géta—of singers; väditra—and players of musical instruments; yüthakaiù—by companies; adâçyata—was seen; âtta—holding up; cäpa-iñuù—his bow and arrows; svaù-stré-yütha—of hoardes of heavenly women; patiù—the master; smaraù—Cupid.

TRANSLATION

Cupid, the master of many heavenly women, then came there holding his bow and arrows. He was followed by groups of Gandharvas playing musical instruments and singing.

TEXT 23

ò"tvaAiçaM s$amaupaAs$alnaM
d"ä{"zAu: zA,(ik(Æÿr"A:
malilataA°aM äù"r"ADaSa<
maUitaRmantaimavaAnalama,

hutvägnià samupäsénaà
dadâçuù çakra-kiî karäù
mélitākñāà durādharñāà
mūrtimantam ivānaḥ

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

hutvä—having offered oblations; agnim—to the sacrificial fire; samupäsénam—sitting in yogic meditation; dadâçuù—they saw; çakra—of Indra; kiî karäù—the servants; mélita—closed; akñam—his eyes; durādharñam—invincible; mūrti-mantam—personified; iva—as if; anaḥ—fire.

TRANSLATION

These servants of Indra found the sage sitting in meditation, having just offered his prescribed oblations into the sacrificial fire. His eyes closed in trance, he seemed invincible, like fire personified.

TEXT 24

nana{taustasya paura:
iñyaAe'TaAe gAAyak(A jagAu:
ma{d"ĒyvaINAApaNAvaEr," vaAâM ca,u(maRnaAer"mama,

*nanâtus tasya puratau
striyo 'tho gâyakâ jagu
mâdaî ga-vēä-paëavair
vädyaà cakrur mano-ramam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nanâtu—danced; tasya—of him; puratau—in front; striya—women; atha
u—and furthermore; gâyakâ—singers; jagu—sang; mâdaî ga—with drums; vēä—stringed instruments; paëavai—and cymbals;
vädya—instrumental music; cakru—they made;
mana—ramam—charming.

TRANSLATION

The women danced before the sage, and the celestial singers sang to the charming accompaniment of drums, cymbals and vēäs.

TEXT 25

s$and"Dae'ñM svaDanauSa k(Ama: paÂamauKaM tad"A maDaumaRnaAe r"jastaAek( wn%"Ba{tyaA vyak(mpayana,

*sandadhe 'straà sva-dhanuñi
kâmau pai ca-mukhaà tadä*

*madhur mano rajas-toka
indra-bhâtyä vyakampayan*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sandadhe—he fixed; astram—the weapon; sva-dhanuîi—upon his bow; kâmaù—Cupid; pañca-mukham—having five heads (sight, sound, smell, touch and taste); tadä—then; madhuù—spring; manaù—the mind of the sage; rajaù-tokaù—the child of passion, greed; indra-bhâtyäù—the servants of Indra; vyakampayan—attempted to agitate.

TRANSLATION

While the son of passion [greed personified], spring and the other servants of Indra all tried to agitate Märkaëðeya's mind, Cupid drew his five-headed arrow and fixed it upon his bow.

TEXTS 26-27

,(Lx"ntyaA: pauiÃak(sTalyaA:
k(näu"kE(: stanagAAEr"vaAta, Ba{zAmauiã"çamaDyaAyaA:
ke(zAivaṛaMis$ataṛaja:

wtastataAe "amaä,"ä{"ie"zA, calantyaA @nau k(näu"k(ma,
vaAyaujaRh"Ar" taã"As$a:
s$aU°maM ‡auiq%tamaeKalama,

*kréòantyäù pui jikasthalyäù
kandukaiù stana-gauravät
bhâçam udvigna-madhyäyäù
keça-visraàsita-srajaù*

*itas tato bhramad-dânõç
calantya anu kandukam*

*vāyur jahāra tad-vāsaù
sūkīmaà truõita-mekhalam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

krédantyaù—who was playing; puì jikasthalyäù—of the Apsarä named Puì jikasthalé; kandukaiù—with a number of balls; stana—of her breasts; gauravät—because of the great weight; bhācam—very much; udvigna—overburdened; madhyäyäù—whose waist; keça—from her hair; visraàsita—falling; srajaù—the flower garland; itaù tataù—here and there; bhramat—wandering; dāñõeù—whose eyes; calantyaù—who was running about; anu kandukam—after her ball; vāyuù—the wind; jahāra—stole away; tat-vāsaù—her garment; sūkīmam—fine; truõita—loosened; mekhalam—the belt.

TRANSLATION

The Apsarä Puì jikasthalé made a show of playing with a number of toy balls. Her waist seemed weighed down by her heavy breasts, and the wreath of flowers in her hair became disheveled. As she ran about after the balls, glancing here and there, the belt of her thin garment loosened, and suddenly the wind blew her clothes away.

TEXT 28

*ivas$as$aJaR tad"A baANAM matvaA taM svaijataM smar":
s$ava< taṭaABavanmaAeGama, @nalzAsya yaTaAeâma*

*visasarja tadä bääëà
matvä taà sva-jitaà smaraù
sarvaà taträbhavan mogham
anécasya yathodyamaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

visasarja—shot; tadā—then; bāëam—the arrow; matvā—thinking; tam—him; sva—by himself; jitam—conquered; smaraù—Cupid; sarvam—all this; tatra—directed at the sage; abhavat—became; mogham—futile; anēçasya—of an atheist disbeliever; yathā—just as; udyamaù—the endeavors.

TRANSLATION

Cupid, thinking he had conquered the sage, then shot his arrow. But all these attempts to seduce Märkaëöeya proved futile, just like the useless endeavors of an atheist.

TEXT 29

ta wtTamapaku(vaRntaAe
maunaestaÔaejas$aA maunae
d"÷maAnaA inavava{tau:
'abaAeDyaAih"imavaABaRk(A:

ta ittham apakurvanto
munes tat-tejasā mune
dahyamānā nivavātuù
prabodhyāhim ivārbhakāù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

te—they; ittham—in this way; apakurvantaù—trying to do harm; muneù—to the sage; tat—his; tejasā—by the potency; mune—O sage (Çaunaka); dahyamānāù—feeling burned; nivavātuù—they desisted; prabodhya—having awakened; ahim—a snake; iva—as if; arbhakāù—children.

TRANSLATION

O learned Çaunaka, while Cupid and his followers tried to harm the sage, they felt themselves being burned alive by his potency. Thus they stopped their mischief, just like children who have aroused a sleeping snake.

TEXT 30

wtaln%o"AnaucarE""aRöna, DaiSaRtaAe'ipa mah"Amauina: ya^aaAgAAAd"h"maAe BaAvaM
na tai»aṭaM mah"ts$au ih"

*itēndrānucarair brahman dharṇito 'pi mahā-muniū yan nāgād ahamo bhāvaà
na tac citraà mahatsu hi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; indra-anucaraiū—by the followers of Indra; brahman—O brāhmaëa; dharṇitaū—impudently attacked; api—although; mahā-muniū—the elevated sage; yat—that; na agāt—he did not succumb; ahamaū—of false ego; bhāvam—to the transformation; na—not; tat—that; citram—surprising; mahatsu—for great souls; hi—indeed.

TRANSLATION

O brāhmaëa, the followers of Lord Indra had impudently attacked the saintly Märkaëöeya, yet he did not succumb to any influence of false ego. For great souls such tolerance is not at all surprising.

TEXT 31

ä{ "î" A inastaejas$aM k(AmaM
s$agANAM BagAvaAna, svar"Aq%.
™autvaAnauBaAvaM "aöSaeRr," ivasmayaM s$amagAAtpar"ma,

*dāñvā nistejasaà kāmā
sa-gaëaà bhagavān svarāo
çrutvānubhāvaà brahmañer
vismayaà samagāt param*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dāñvā—seeing; nistejasam—deprived of his power; kāmam—Cupid;
sa-gaëam—along with his associates; bhagavān—the powerful lord;
sva-rāo—King Indra; çrutvā—and hearing; anubhāvam—the influence;
brahma-āñeù—of the sage among the brāhmaëas; vismayam—astonishment;
samagāt—he attained; param—great.

TRANSLATION

The mighty King Indra was most astonished when he heard of the mystic prowess of the exalted sage Märkaëòeya and saw how Cupid and his associates had become powerless in his presence.

TEXT 32

tasyaEvaM yauÃataiêÔaM
tapa:svaADyaAyas$aMyamaE:
@naufah"AyaAivar"As$alna,
nar"naAr"AyaNA Ae h"ir":

*tasyaivaà yui jataç cittaà
tapaù-svādhyāya-saàyamaiù
anugrahāyāvirāsén
nara-nārāyaëo hariù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—while he, Märkaëðeya; evam—in this way; yuijatau—was fixing; cittam—his mind; tapau—by austerity; svādhyāya—study of the Vedas; saàyamaiu—and regulative principles; anugrahāya—for showing mercy; ävirāsét—made Himself manifest; nara-nārāyaëa—exhibiting the forms of Nara and Nārāyaëa; hariu—the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TRANSLATION

Desiring to bestow His mercy upon the saintly Märkaëðeya, who had perfectly fixed his mind in self-realization through penance, Vedic study and observance of regulative principles, the Supreme Personality of Godhead personally appeared before the sage in the forms of Nara and Nārāyaëa.

TEXTS 33-34

taAE zAuflak{(SNAAE navak(ÃalaAecanaAE catauBauRjaAE r"AEr"vavalk(laAmbar"AE paivaṭapaANAI opavaltakM(iṭava{ta, k(maNx"lauM d"Nx"ma{jauM ca vaENAvama,

paáA°amaAlaAmauta jantaumaAjaRnaM
vaedM" ca s$aA°aAÔapa Wva è&ipanaAE tapaÔaix"ã"NARipazAËÿr"AeicaSaA
'aAMzAU d"DaAnaAE ivabauDaSaRBaAicaRtaAE

tau çukla-kāñëau nava-kai ja-locanau catur-bhujau raurava-valkalāmbarau pavitra-päëë upavétakaà tri-vât kamaëòaluà daëòam âjuà ca vaiëavam

padmākñā-mālām uta jantu-mārjanaà vedaà ca sākñāt tapa eva rūpiëau tapat-taòid-varëa-piçaì ga-rociñä

prāṇṇu dadhānu vibudharṇābhārcitau

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tau—the two of Them; ṣukla-kāṇṇau—one white and the other black; nava-kaija—like blooming lotus flowers; locanau—Their eyes; catuḥ-bhujau—having four arms; raurava—black deerskin; valkala—and bark; ambarau—as Their clothing; pavitra—most purifying; pāṇi—Their hands; upavētakam—sacred thread; tri-vāt—threefold; kamaḍḍalum—waterpot; daḍḍam—staff; ājum—straight; ca—and; vaiḍḍavam—made of bamboo; padma-akṇa—of lotus seeds; mālām—prayer beads; uta—and; jantu-mārjanam—which purifies all living beings; vedam—the Vedas (represented by bundles of darbha grass); ca—and; sākṇāt—directly; tapaḥ—austerity; eva—indeed; rūpiḍḍau—personified; tapat—blazing; taḍḍit—lightning; varḍḍa—the color; piṣaṇ ga—yellowish; rociṇṇā—with Their effulgence; prāṇṇu—very tall; dadhānu—bearing; vibudha-ṇṇābha—by the chief of the demigods; arcitau—worshiped.

TRANSLATION

One of Them was of a whitish complexion, the other blackish, and They both had four arms. Their eyes resembled the petals of blooming lotuses, and They wore garments of black deerskin and bark, along with the three-stranded sacred thread. In Their hands, which were most purifying, They carried the mendicant's waterpot, straight bamboo staff and lotus-seed prayer beads, as well as the all-purifying Vedas in the symbolic form of bundles of darbha grass. Their bearing was tall and Their yellow effulgence the color of radiant lightning. Appearing as austerity personified, They were being worshiped by the foremost demigods.

TEXT 35

tae vaE BagAvataAe è&pae
nar"naAr"AyaNAAva{Sal
ä{"î"AetTaAyaAd"re"NAAe»aEr," nanaAmaAĒeĳna d"Nx"vata,

*te vai bhagavato rūpe
nara-nārāyaēāv āñē
dāñvotthāyādareēocair
nanāmāi gena daēòà-vat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

te—They; vai—indeed; bhagavatau—of the Personality of Godhead; rūpe—the personal manifestations; nara-nārāyaēau—Nara and Nārāyaēa; āñē—the two sages; dāñvā—seeing; utthāya—standing up; ādareēa—with respect; uccaiu—great; nanāma—bowed down; aì gena—with his entire body; daēòà-vat—just like a stick.

TRANSLATION

These two sages, Nara and Nārāyaēa, were the direct personal forms of the Supreme Lord. When Märkaēòeya Āñi saw Them, he immediately stood up and then with great respect offered Them obeisances by falling down flat on the ground like a stick.

TEXT 36

s$a tats$and"zARnaAnand"- inava{RtaAtmaein%"yaAzAya:
ô$î"r"AemaA™aupāUNAAR°aAe
na s$aehe" taAvaud"li°atauma,

*sa tat-sandarçanānandanirvātātmendriyāçayaù
hāñōa-romāçru-pürēākñō
na sehe tāv udékñītum*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he, Märkaëðeya; tat—of Them; sandarçana—because of seeing; ānanda—by the ecstasy; nirvāta—pleased; ātma—whose body; indriya—senses; āçayaù—and mind; hāñña—standing on end; romä—his bodily hairs; açru—with tears; pürëa—filled; akñau—his eyes; na sehe—he was unable; tau—upon them; udékñitum—to glance.

TRANSLATION

The ecstasy of seeing Them completely satisfied Märkaëðeya's body, mind and senses and caused the hairs on his body to stand on end and his eyes to fill with tears. Overwhelmed, Märkaëðeya found it difficult to look at Them.

TEXT 37

otTaAya 'aAñaila: 'aù" @AEts$aufyaAd"AiëSai^aava
namaAe nama wtalzAAnaAE
baBaAzAe gAÕ"d"A^oar"ma,

utthäya präi jaliù prahva
autsukyäd āçliñann iva
nama nama iteçānau
babhāçe gadgadākñaram

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

utthäya—standing up; präi jaliù—with folded hands; prahvaù—humble; autsukyät—out of eagerness; āçliñan—embracing; iva—as if; namaù—obeisances; namaù—obeisances; iti—thus; éçānau—to the two Lords; babhāñe—he spoke; gadgada—choking with ecstasy; akñaram—the syllables.

TRANSLATION

Standing with his hands folded in supplication and his head bowed in humility, Märkaëðeya felt such eagerness that he imagined he was embracing the two Lords. In a voice choked with ecstasy, he repeatedly said, "I offer You my humble obeisances."

TEXT 38

tayaAer"As$anamaAd"Aya
paAd"yaAer"vainajya ca @hR"NAenaAnaulaepaena DaUpamaAlyaEr"paUjayata,

*tayor äsanam ädäya
pädayor avanijya ca
arhaëenänulepena
dhüpa-mälyair apüjayat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tayou—to Them; äsanam—sitting places; ädäya—offering; pädayou—Their feet; avanijya—bathing; ca—and; arhaëena—with suitable respectful offerings; anulepena—by anointing Them with sandalwood pulp and other fragrant substances; dhüpa—with incense; mälyaiu—and flower garlands; apüjayat—he worshiped.

TRANSLATION

He gave Them sitting places and washed Their feet, and then he worshiped Them with presentations of arghya, sandalwood pulp, fragrant oils, incense and flower garlands.

TEXT 39

s$auKamaAs$anamaAs$alnaAE
'as$aAd"AiBamauKaAE maunal paunar"Anamya paAd"AByaAM

gAir"i"Aivad"ma“avalta,

*sukham āsanam āśēnau
prasādābhīmukhau munē
punar ānamya pādābhyā̀ā
garīṇōhāv idam abravēt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sukham—comfortably; āsanam—on sitting places; āśēnau—seated; prasāda—mercy; abhimukhau—ready to give; munē—to the Lord's incarnation as the two sages; punaḥ—again; ānamya—bowing down; pādābhyām—at Their feet; garīṇōhau—to the supremely worshipable; idam—this; abravēt—he spoke.

TRANSLATION

Mārkaēḍeya Āṇi once again bowed down at the lotus feet of those two most worshipable sages, who were sitting at ease, ready to bestow all mercy upon him. He then addressed Them as follows.

TEXT 40

™almaAkR(Nxe"ya ovaAca
ikM(vaNARyae tava ivaBaAe yaäu"d"lir"taAe's$au:
s$AMs$spand"tae tamanau vaAx.~manawin%o"yaAiNA
s$spand"inta vaE tanauBa{taAmajazAvaRyaAeê svasyaApyaTaAipa BajataAmais$a BaAvabanDau:

*çré-mārkaēḍeya uvāca
kiā varēaye tava vibho yad-udérīto 'suḥ saāspandate tam anu vāi -mana-indriyāēi spandanti vai tanu-bhātām aja-çarvayoç ca
svasyāpy athāpi bhajatām asi bhāva-bandhuḥ*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-mārkaëðeyaù uvāca—Çré Mārkaëðeya said; kim—what; varëaye—shall I describe; tava—about You; vibho—O Almighty Lord; yat—by whom; udëritaù—moved; asuù—the vital air; saàspandate—comes to life; tam anu—following it; vāk—the power of speech; manaù—the mind; indriyāëi—and the senses; spandanti—begin to act; vai—indeed; tanu-bhātām—of all embodied living beings; aja-çarvayoù—of Lord Brahmā and Lord Çiva; ca—as well; svasya—of myself; api—also; atha api—nevertheless; bhajatām—for those who are worshiping; asi—You become; bhāva-bandhuù—the intimate loving friend.

TRANSLATION

Çré Mārkaëðeya said: O Almighty Lord, how can I possibly describe You? You awaken the vital air, which then impels the mind, senses and power of speech to act. This is true for all ordinary conditioned souls and even for great demigods like Brahmā and Çiva. So it is certainly true for me. Nevertheless, You become the intimate friend of those who worship You.

TEXT 41

maUtal= wmae BagAvataAe BagAvaMiñlaAefyaA: °aemaAya taApaivar"maAya ca ma{tyauijatyaE
naAnaA ibaBaSyaRivataumanyatanaUyaRTaedM"
s$a{"î"A paunafaRs$ais$a s$avaRimavaAeNARnaAiBa:

*mūrté ime bhagavato bhagavaàs tri-lokyäù kñemāya täpa-viramāya ca māt̥yu-jityai nānā bibharñy avitum anya-tanūr yathedaà
sāñvā punar grasasi sarvam ivorëanābhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mūrté—the two personal forms; ime—these; bhagavataù—of the Supreme

Personality of Godhead; bhagavan—O Lord; tri-lokyäù—of all the three worlds; kñemäya—for the ultimate benefit; täpa—of material misery; viramäya—for the cessation; ca—and; mätü—of death; jityai—for the conquest; nänä—various; bibharñi—You manifest; avitum—for the purpose of protecting; anya—other; tanüù—transcendental bodies; yathä—just as; idam—this universe; sãñvã—having created; punaù—once again; grasasi—You swallow up; sarvam—entirely; iva—just like; ürëa-nãbhiù—a spider.

TRANSLATION

O Supreme Personality of Godhead, these two personal forms of Yours have appeared to bestow the ultimate benefit for the three worlds—the cessation of material misery and the conquest of death. My Lord, although You create this universe and then assume many transcendental forms to protect it, You also swallow it up, just like a spider who spins and later withdraws its web.

TEXT 42

tasyaAivatau: isTar"care"izAtaur"x.~i,amaUlaM yatsTaM na k(maRgAuNAk(Alar"ja: s$pa{zAinta
yaãE" stauvainta inanamainta yajantyaBal°NAM DyaAyainta vaed"ô$d"yaA maunayastad"AptyaE

*tasyävituù sthira-careçitur aì ghri-mülaà
yat-sthaà na karma-guëa-käla-rajaù spãçanti yad vai stuvanti ninamanti yajanty abhékñëaà dhyäyanti veda-hãdayä munayas tad-äptyai*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—of Him; avituù—the protector; sthira-cara—of the stationary and moving living beings; éçituù—the supreme controller; aì ghri-mülam—the soles of His lotus feet; yat-stham—one who is situated at which; na—do not;

karma-guëa-kāla—of material work, material qualities and time; rajaù—the contamination; spāçanti—touch; yat—whom; vai—indeed; stuvanti—praise; ninamanti—bow down to; yajanti—worship; abhékñëam—at every moment; dhyäyanti—meditate upon; veda-hādayäù—who have assimilated the essence of the Vedas; munayaù—sages; tat-äptyai—for the purpose of achieving Him.

TRANSLATION

Because You are the protector and the supreme controller of all moving and nonmoving beings, anyone who takes shelter of Your lotus feet can never be touched by the contamination of material work, material qualities or time. Great sages who have assimilated the essential meaning of the Vedañ offer their prayers to You. To gain Your association, they bow down to You at every opportunity and constantly worship You and meditate upon You.

TEXT 43

naAnyam tavaAx.~„yaupanayaAd"pavagARmaUtaeR: °aemaM janasya pair"taAeiBaya wRZA ivaá:
“aöA ibaBaetyalamataAe iã"par"ADaRiDaSNya:
k(Alasya tae ik(mauta tat{k(taBaAEitak(AnaAma,

nānyaà taväi ghry-upanayäd apavarga-mürteù
kñemaà janasya parito-bhiya éça vidmaù brahmä bibhety alam ato dvi-parärdha-dhiñëyaù
kālasya te kim uta tat-kāta-bhautikānām

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na anyam—no other; tava—Your; aì ghri—of the lotus feet; upanayät—than the attainment; apavarga-mürteù—who are liberation personified; kñemam—benefit; janasya—for the person; paritaù—on all sides; bhiyaù—who is fearful; éça—O Lord; vidmaù—do we know; brahmä—Lord Brahmä; bibheti—is afraid; alam—very much; ataù—on account of this; dvi-parārdha—the entire duration of the universe; dhiñēyaù—the period of whose reign; kālasya—because of time; te—Your feature; kim uta—then what to speak; tat-kāta—created by him, Brahmā; bhautikānām—of the mundane creatures.

TRANSLATION

My dear Lord, even Lord Brahmā, who enjoys his exalted position for the entire duration of the universe, fears the passage of time. Then what to speak of those whom Brahmā creates, the conditioned souls. They encounter fearful dangers at every step of their lives. I do not know of any relief from this fear except shelter at Your lotus feet, which are the very form of liberation.

TEXT 44

taãE" BajaAmya{taiDayastava paAd"maUlaM
ih"tvaed"maAtmacC$id" caAtmagAur"Ae: par"sya de"h"AâpaATaRmas$ad"ntyamaiBaÁamaAḥaM
ivande"ta tae taihR" s$avaRmanaliSataATaRma,

*tad vai bhajāmy āta-dhiyas tava pāda-mūlaà
hitvedam ātma-cchadi cātma-guroù parasya dehādy apārtham asad antyam abhiji a-mātraà vindeta te tarhi sarva-manéñitārtham*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat—therefore; vai—indeed; bhajāmi—I worship; āta-dhiyaù—of Him whose intelligence always perceives the truth; tava—of You; pāda-mūlam—the soles of the lotus feet; hitvā—giving up; idam—this; ātma-chadi—covering of the self; ca—and; ātma-guroù—of the master of the soul; parasya—who is the Supreme Truth; deha-ādi—the material body and other false designations; apārtham—useless; asad—insubstantial; antyam—temporary; abhiji a-mātram—only imagined to have a separate existence; vindeta—one obtains; te—from You; tarhi—then; sarva—all; manēñita—desired; artham—objects.

TRANSLATION

Therefore I worship Your lotus feet, having renounced my identification with the material body and everything else that covers my true self. These useless, insubstantial and temporary coverings are merely presumed to be separate from You, whose intelligence encompasses all truth. By attaining You—the Supreme Godhead and the master of the soul—one attains everything desirable.

PURPORT

One who falsely identifies himself as the material body or mind automatically feels entitled to exploit the material world. But when we realize our eternal spiritual nature and Lord Kāñēa's supreme proprietorship over all that be, we renounce our false enjoying propensity by the strength of spiritual knowledge.

TEXT 45

s$aÔvaM r"jastama wtaIzA tavaAtmabanDaAe maAyaAmayaA: isTaitalayaAed"yahe"tavaAe'sya lallaA Da{taA yad"ipa s$aÔvamayaI 'azAAntyae naAnyae na{NAAM vyas$anamaAeh"iBayaê yaAByaAma,

*sattva*à rajas tama itēca tavātma-bandho
māyā-mayāu sthiti-layodaya-hetavo 'sya lēlā dhātā yad api sattva-mayē praçāntyai
*nānye nāēā*à vyasana-moha-bhiyaç ca yābhyām

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sattvam—goodness; *raja*u—passion; *tama*u—ignorance; iti—the modes of nature thus termed; éça—O Lord; tava—Your; ätma-bandho—O supreme friend of the soul; mâyä-mayäù—produced from Your personal energy; sthiti-laya-udaya—of maintenance, destruction and creation; hetavaù—the causes; asya—of this universe; läläù—as pastimes; dhätäù—assumed; yat api—although; sattva-mayé—that which is in the mode of goodness; praçäntyai—for liberation; na—not; anye—the other two; nâëäm—for persons; vyasana—danger; moha—bewilderment; bhiyaù—and fear; ca—also; yäbhyäm—from which.

TRANSLATION

O my Lord, O supreme friend of the conditioned soul, although for the creation, maintenance and annihilation of this world You accept the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance, which constitute Your illusory potency, You specifically employ the mode of goodness to liberate the conditioned souls. The other two modes simply bring them suffering, illusion and fear.

PURPORT

The words lälä dhätäù indicate that the creative activities of Lord Brahmä, the destructive activities of Lord Çiva and the sustaining functions of Lord Viñëu are all pastimes of the Absolute Truth, Lord Kânëa. But ultimately only Lord Viñëu can award liberation from the clutches of material illusion, as indicated by the words sattva-mayé praçäntyai.

Our passionate and ignorant activities cause great suffering, illusion and fear for us and others; therefore they should be given up. One should become firmly situated in the mode of goodness and live peacefully on the spiritual platform. The essence of goodness is to renounce selfish interest in all one's activities and thus dedicate one's entire being to the Supreme Being, Lord Kânëa, who is the source of our existence.

TEXT 46

tasmaAÔavaeh" BagAva^aTa taAvak(AnaAM

zAuflaAM tanauM svad"iyataAM ku(zAlaA Bajainta
yats$AAtvataA: pauç&Saè&pamauzAinta s$âÔvaM laAek(Ae yataAe'BayamautaAtmas$auKaM na caAnyata,

*tasmāt taveha bhagavann atha tāvakānāà çuklāà tanuà sva-dayitāà kuçalā bhajanti yat sātvatāu puruṇa-rūpam uçanti sattvaà
loko yato 'bhayam utātma-sukhaà na cānyat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmāt—therefore; tava—Your; iha—in this world; bhagavan—O Supreme Lord; atha—and; tāvakānām—of Your devotees; çuklām—transcendental; tanum—the personal form; sva-dayitām—most dear to them; kuçalāu—those who are expert in spiritual knowledge; bhajanti—worship; yat—because; sātvatāu—the great devotees; puruṇa—of the original Personality of Godhead; rūpam—the form; uçanti—consider; sattvam—the mode of goodness; lokaù—the spiritual world; yataù—from which; abhayam—fearlessness; uta—and; ātma-sukham—the happiness of the soul; na—not; ca—and; anyat—any other.

TRANSLATION

O Lord, because fearlessness, spiritual happiness and the kingdom of God are all achieved through the mode of pure goodness, Your devotees consider this mode, but never passion and ignorance, to be a direct manifestation of You, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Intelligent persons thus worship Your beloved transcendental form, composed of pure goodness, along with the spiritual forms of Your pure devotees.

PURPORT

Intelligent persons do not worship the demigods, who represent the modes of passion and ignorance. Lord Brahmā represents passion, Lord Çiva represents ignorance, and demigods such as Indra also represent the modes of material nature. But Lord Viñëu, or Nārāyaëa, represents pure spiritual goodness, which brings one realization of the spiritual world, freedom from fear, and spiritual bliss. Such benefits can never be derived from impure, material goodness, for it is always mixed with the modes of passion and ignorance. As clearly indicated in this verse, the transcendental form of God is fully constituted of eternal spiritual goodness and thus has no tinge of the material mode of goodness, passion or ignorance.

TEXT 47

tasmaE namaAe BagAvatae pauç&SaAya BaU°ae ivaìAya ivaìgAur"vae par"dE"vataAya naAr"AyaNAAya [%Sayae ca nar"AeÔamaAya hM"s$aAya s$aMyataigAre" inagAmaeìr"Aya

*tasmai namo bhagavate puruñäya bhümne viçväya viçva-gurave para-daivatäya nārāyaëäya āñaye ca narottamäya
 haàsäya saàyata-gire nigameçvaräya*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmai—to Him; namaù—my obeisances; bhagavate—to the Godhead; puruñäya—the Supreme Person; bhümne—the all-pervading one; viçväya—the all-inclusive manifestation of the universe; viçva-gurave—the spiritual master of the universe; para-daivatäya—the supremely worshipable Deity; nārāyaëäya—to Lord Nārāyaëa; āñaye—the sage; ca—and; nara-uttamäya—to the best of human beings; haàsäya—situated in perfect purity; saàyata-gire—who has controlled his speech; nigama-ëçvaräya—the master of the Vedic scriptures.

TRANSLATION

I offer my humble obeisances to Him, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. He is the all-pervading and all-inclusive form of the universe, as well as its spiritual master. I bow down to Lord Nārāyaṇa, the supremely worshipable Deity appearing as a sage, and also to the saintly Nara, the best of human beings, who is fixed in perfect goodness, fully in control of his speech, and the propagator of the Vedic literatures.

TEXT 48

yaM vaE na vaed" ivataTaA°apaTaE" aRmaÜ"l:
s$antaM svake(Svas$auSau ô$âipa ä{"fpaTaeSau
tanmaAyayaAva{tamaita: s$a o Wva s$aA°aAä," @AâstavaAiKalagAur"Aeç&pas$aAâ vaed"ma,

yaà vai na veda vitathākñā-pathair bhramad-dhéu
santaà svakeñv asuñu hādy api dāk-patheñu tan-māyayāvāta-matiù sa u eva sākñād ādyas tavākhila-guror upasādyā vedam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yam—whom; vai—indeed; na veda—does not recognize; vitatha—deceptive; akñā-pathaiù—by methods of empirical perception; bhramat—becoming diverted; dhéu—whose intelligence; santam—present; svakeñu—within one's own; asuñu—senses; hādi—within the heart; api—even; dāk-patheñu—among perceived objects of the external world; tat-māyayā—by His illusory potency; āvāta—covered over; matiù—his understanding; saù—he; u—even; eva—indeed; sākñāt—directly; ādyau—originally (in ignorance); tava—of You; akhila-guroù—the spiritual master of all living beings; upasādyā—obtaining; vedam—the knowledge of the Vedas.

TRANSLATION

A materialist, his intelligence perverted by the action of his deceptive senses, cannot recognize You at all, although You are always present within his own senses and heart and also among the objects of his perception. Yet even though one's understanding has been covered by Your illusory potency, if one obtains Vedic knowledge from You, the supreme spiritual master of all, he can directly understand You.

TEXT 49

yaÚ"zARnaM inagAma @Atmar"h":'ak(AzAM mau÷inta yaṭa k(vayaAe'japar"A yatanta:
taM s$avaRvaAd"ivaSaya'aitaè&pazAllaM
vande" mah"Apauç&SamaAtmainagAUX#baAeDama,

yad-darçanaà nigama ätma-rahaù-prakāçaà muhyanti yatra kavayo 'ja-parä yatantaù taà sarva-vāda-viñaya-pratirüpa-çēlaà vande mahā-puruṇam ätma-nigüòha-bodham

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yat—of whom; darçanam—the vision; nigame—in the Vedas; ätma—of the Supreme Soul; rahaù—the mystery; prakāçam—which reveals; muhyanti—become bewildered; yatra—about which; kavayaù—great learned authorities; aja-paräù—headed by Brahmä; yatantaù—endeavoring; tam—to Him; sarva-vāda—of all different philosophies; viñaya—the subject matter; pratirüpa—adjusting itself as suitable; çēlam—whose personal nature; vande—I offer my homage; mahā-puruṇam—to the Supreme Personality of Godhead; ätma—from the spirit soul; nigüòha—hidden; bodham—understanding.

TRANSLATION

My dear Lord, the Vedic literatures alone reveal confidential knowledge of Your supreme personality, and thus even such great scholars as Lord Brahmä himself are bewildered in their attempt to understand You through empirical methods. Each philosopher understands You according to his particular speculative conclusions. I worship that Supreme Person, knowledge of whom is hidden by the bodily designations covering the conditioned soul's spiritual identity.

PURPORT

Even great demigods like Brahmā are bewildered in their speculative attempts to understand the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Each philosopher is covered by a unique combination of the modes of nature and thus describes the Supreme Truth according to his own material conditioning. Therefore even strenuous empirical endeavor will never bring one to the conclusion of all knowledge. The highest knowledge is Kāñēa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and one can understand Him only by fully surrendering to Him and serving Him with love. This is why Mārkaëðeya Āñi states here, vande mahā-puruṇam: "I simply worship that Supreme Personality." Those who try to worship God but at the same time continue speculating or acting fruitively will attain only mixed and bewildering results. To be pure a devotee must give up all fruitive activity and mental speculation; in that way his loving service to the Lord will yield perfect knowledge of the Supreme. Only this perfection can satisfy the eternal soul.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Twelfth Canto, Eighth Chapter, of the Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Mārkaëðeya's Prayers to Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi."

9. Mārkaëðeya Āñi Sees the Illusory Potency of the Lord

This chapter describes Mārkaëðeya Āñi's vision of the Supreme Personality of Godhead's illusory energy.

Satisfied by the prayers Çré Mārkaëðeya had offered, the Supreme Lord told him to ask for a benediction, and the sage said he wanted to see the Lord's illusory energy. The Supreme Lord Çré Hari, present before Märkaëðeya in the form of Nara-Näräyaëa, replied, "So be it," and then left for Badarikäçrama. One day, as Çré Märkaëðeya was offering his evening prayers, the water of devastation suddenly flooded the three worlds. With great difficulty Märkaëðeya moved about all alone in this water for a long time, until he came upon a banyan tree. Lying upon a leaf of that tree was an infant boy glowing with a charming effulgence. As Märkaëðeya moved toward the leaf, he was pulled by the boy's inhalation and, just like a mosquito, drawn within His body.

Inside the boy's body, Märkaëðeya was amazed to see the entire universe just as it had been before the annihilation. After a moment the sage was carried out by the force of the child's exhalation and hurled back into the ocean of annihilation. Then, seeing that the child on the leaf was actually Çré Hari, the transcendental Lord situated within his own heart, Çré Märkaëðeya tried to embrace Him. But at that moment Lord Hari, the master of all mystic power, disappeared. Then the waters of annihilation disappeared as well, and Çré Märkaëðeya found himself in his own äçrama, just as before.

TEXT 1

s$aUta ovaAca
s$aMstautaAe BagAvaAinatTaM maAkR(Nxe"yaena DalmataA naAr"AyaNA Ae nar"s$aKa:
'alta @Ah" Ba{gAUã"h"ma,

süta uväca
saàstuto bhagavän itthaà
märkaëðeyena dhématä
näräyaëo nara-sakhaù
préta äha bhâgüdvaham

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaù uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmé said; saàstutaù—properly glorified; bhagavān—the Supreme Lord; ittham—in this way; mārkaëòeyena—by Mārkaëòeya; dhé-matā—the intelligent sage; nārāyaëaù—Lord Nārāyaëa; nara-sakhaù—the friend of Nara; prētaù—satisfied; āha—spoke; bhāgu-udvahan—to the most eminent descendant of Bhāgu.

TRANSLATION

Sūta Gosvāmé said: The Supreme Lord Nārāyaëa, the friend of Nara, was satisfied by the proper glorification offered by the intelligent sage Mārkaëòeya. Thus the Lord addressed that excellent descendant of Bhāgu.

TEXT 2

™aIBagAvaAnauvaAca
BaAe BaAe “aöiSaRvayaAeR'is$a is$aÜ" @Atmas$amaAiDanaA maiya BaftyaAnapaAiyanyaA
tapa:svaADyaAyas$aMyamaE:

çré-bhagavān uvāca
bho bho brahmarñi-varyo 'si
siddha ātma-samādhinā
mayi bhaktyānapāyinyā
tapaù-svādhyāya-saàyamaiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the Supreme Personality of Godhead said; bhoù—dear sage; brahma-āñi—of all learned brāhmaëas; varyaù—the best; asi—you are; siddhaù—perfect; ātma-samādhinā—by fixed meditation upon the Self; mayi—directed toward Me; bhaktyā—by devotional service; anapāyinyā—undeviating; tapaù—by austerities; svādhyāya—study of the Vedas; saàyamaiù—and regulative principles.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Märkaèèeya, you are indeed the best of all learned brähmaëas. You have perfected your life by practicing fixed meditation upon the Supreme Soul, as well as by focusing upon Me your undeviating devotional service, your austerities, your study of the Vedas and your strict adherence to regulative principles.

TEXT 3

vayaM tae pair"tauí"A: sma
tvaä,"ba{h"ä,"~atacayaRyaA
varM" 'atalcC$ Ba%oM" tae
var"d"Ae'isma tvad"lips$atama,

*vayaà te parituñöäù sma
tvad-bâhad-vrata-caryayä varaà pratéccha bhadraà te vara-do 'smi tvad-épsitam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vayam—We; te—with you; parituñöäù—perfectly satisfied; sma—have become; tvat—your; bâhat-vrata—of the vow of lifelong celibacy; caryayä—by performance; varam—a benediction; pratéccha—please choose; bhadram—all good; te—unto you; vara-daù—the giver of benedictions; asmi—I am; tvat-épsitam—desired by you.

TRANSLATION

We are perfectly satisfied with your practice of lifelong celibacy. Please choose whatever benediction you desire, since I can grant your wish. May you enjoy all good fortune.

PURPORT

Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Ōhākura explains that the Lord used the plural form in the beginning of this verse—"We are satisfied"—because He was referring to Himself along with Çiva and Umä, who will later be glorified by Märkaëdeya. The Lord then used the singular—"I am the bestower of benedictions"—because ultimately only Lord Näräyaëa (Kāñëa) can award the highest perfection of life, eternal Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 4

™al[%iSaç&vaAca
ijataM tae de"vade"vaezA
'apa²aAitaRh"r"Acyauta
vare"NAEtaAvataAlaM naAe
yaà"vaAna, s$amaä{"zyata

çré-āñir uvāca
jitaà te deva-deveça
prapannārti-harācyuta
vareëaitāvatālaà no
yad bhavān samadācyata

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-āñiù uvāca—the sage said; jitam—are victorious; te—You; deva-deva-éça—O Lord of lords; prapanna—of one who is surrendered; ārti-hara—O remover of all distress; acyuta—O infallible one; vareëa—with the benediction; etāvatā—this much; alam—enough; naù—by us; yat—that; bhavān—Your good self; samadācyata—has been seen.

TRANSLATION

The sage said: O Lord of lords, all glories to You! O Lord Acyuta, You remove all distress for the devotees who surrender unto You. That you have allowed me to see You is all the benediction I want.

TEXT 5

gA{h"ltvaAjaAd"yaAe yasya ™almatpaAd"Abjad"zARnama, manas$aA yaAegApa,e(na
s$a BavaAnmae'i°agAAecar":

*gāhētvājādayo yasya
çrémat-pādājya-darçanam
manasā yoga-pakvena
sa bhavān me 'kñi-gocaraù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

gāhētvā—receiving; aja-ādayaù—(became) Brahmā and others;
yasya—whose; çrémat—all-opulent; pāda-abja—of the lotus feet;
darçanam—the sight; manasā—by the mind; yoga-pakvena—matured in yoga practice; saù—He; bhavān—Yourself; me—my; akñi—to the eyes;
go-caraù—perceptible.

TRANSLATION

Such demigods as Lord Brahmā achieved their exalted positions simply by seeing Your beautiful lotus feet after their minds had become mature in yoga practice. And now, my Lord, You have personally appeared before me.

PURPORT

Mārkaëðeya Āñi points out that exalted demigods like Lord Brahmā achieved their positions simply by glimpsing the Lord's lotus feet, and yet Mārkaëðeya Āñi was now able to see Lord Kāñëa's entire body. Thus he could not even imagine the extent of his good fortune.

TEXT 6

@TaApyambaujapaṭaA^oa pauNyaëAek(izAKaAmaNAe %^o"yae maAyaAM yayaA laAek(:
s$apaAlaAe vaed" s$aià"d"Ama,

*athäpy ambuja-paträkñā
puëya-çloka-çikhāmaëe
drakñye mâyäà yayā lokaù
sa-pālo veda sad-bhidām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atha api—nonetheless; ambuja-patra—like the petals of a lotus; akñā—O You whose eyes; puëya-çloka—of famous personalities; çikhāmaëe—O crest jewel; drakñye—I desire to see; mâyām—the illusory energy; yayā—by which; lokaù—the entire world; sa-pālaù—along with its ruling demigods; veda—considers; sat—of the absolute reality; bhidām—material differentiation.

TRANSLATION

O lotus-eyed Lord, O crest jewel of renowned personalities, although I am satisfied simply by seeing You, I do wish to see Your illusory potency, by whose influence the entire world, together with its ruling demigods, considers reality to be materially variegated.

PURPORT

A conditioned soul sees the material world to be constituted of independent, separate entities. Actually, all things are united, being potencies of the Supreme Lord. Märkaëöeya Āñi is curious to witness the exact process by which mâyä, the Lord's bewildering potency, casts living beings into illusion.

TEXT 7

s$aUta ovaAca
wtalix"taAe'icaRta: k(Amama, [%iSaNAA BagAvaAnmaunae taTaeita s$a smayana, 'aAgAAä," bad"yaAR™amamalir":

süta uväca
iteòito 'rcitaù kāmam
āñiëä bhagavān mune
tatheti sa smayan prägäd
badary-äçramam éçvaraù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sütaù uväca—Süta Gosvämé said; iti—in these words; éòitaù—glorified; arcitaù—worshiped; kāmam—satisfactorily; āñiëä—by the sage Märkaëðeya; bhagavān—the Personality of Godhead; mune—O wise Çaunaka; tathä iti—"so be it"; saù—He; smayan—smiling; prägät—departed; badarë-äçramam—for the hermitage Badarikäçrama; éçvaraù—the Supreme Lord.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvämé said: O wise Çaunaka, thus satisfied by Märkaëðeya's praise and worship, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, smiling, replied, "So be it," and then departed for His hermitage at Badarikäçrama.

PURPORT

The words bhagavān and éçvara in this verse refer to the Supreme Lord in His incarnation as the twin sages Nara and Näräyaëa. According to Çrëla Viçvanätha Cakravartë Öhäkura, the Supreme Lord smiled ruefully, because He prefers that His pure devotees stay away from His illusory energy.

Curiosity to see the illusory energy of the Lord sometimes develops into sinful material desire. Nonetheless, to please His devotee Märkaëðeya, the Lord granted his request, just as a father who cannot convince his son to give up pursuing a harmful desire may let him experience some painful reaction so that he will then voluntarily desist. Thus, understanding what would soon happen to Märkaëðeya, the Lord smiled as He prepared to display the illusory potency to him.

TEXTS 8-9

tamaeva icantaya^aaTaRma, [%iSa: svaATMama Wva s$a:
vas$a^aagnyakR(s$aAemaAmbau-BaUvaAyauivayad"Atmas$au

DyaAyana, s$avaRṭa ca h"ir$M BaAva%o"vyaEr"paUjayata,
,(icatpaUjaAM ivas$asmaAr"
'aema'as$ar"s$amplauta:

*tam eva cintayann artham
āñiù svāçrama eva saù
vasann agny-arka-somāmbubhü-vāyu-viyad-ätmasu*

*dhyāyan sarvatra ca harià
bhāva-dravyair apūjayat kvacit pūjāà visasmāra
prema-prasara-samplutaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—that; eva—indeed; cintayan—thinking of; artham—the goal;
āñiù—the sage Märkaëðeya; sva-āçrame—at his own hermitage;
eva—indeed; saù—he; vasan—remaining; agnī—in the fire; arka—the sun;
soma—the moon; ambu—the water; bhü—the earth; vāyu—the wind;

viyat—the lightning; ätmasu—and in his own heart; dhyäyan—meditating; sarvatra—in all circumstances; ca—and; harim—upon Lord Hari; bhāva-dravyaiu—with paraphernalia conceived in his mind; apūjayat—he offered worship; kvacit—sometimes; pūjām—the worship; visasmāra—he forgot; prema—of pure love of God; prasara—in the flood; samplutau—being drowned.

TRANSLATION

Thinking always of his desire to see the Lord's illusory energy, the sage remained in his āçrama, meditating constantly upon the Lord within fire, the sun, the moon, water, the earth, air, lightning and his own heart and worshiping Him with paraphernalia conceived in his mind. But sometimes, overwhelmed by waves of love for the Lord, Märkaëöeya would forget to perform his regular worship.

PURPORT

It is apparent from these verses that Märkaëöeya Āñi was a great devotee of Lord Kāñëa; therefore he wanted to see the illusory energy of the Lord not to fulfill some material ambition but to learn how His potency is working.

TEXT 10

tasyaEk(d"A Ba{gAu™aeĩ" pauSpaBa%o"Ataqe% maunae:
opaAs$alnasya s$anDyaAyaAM “aöna, vaAyaur"BaUnmah"Ana,

tasyaikadä bhāgu-çreñöha
puñpabhadrä-taöe muneu
upäsénasya sandhyäyää
brahman vāyur abhün mahän

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—while he; ekadā—one day; bhāgu-creñōha—O best of the descendants of Bhāgu; puñpabhadra-taōe—on the bank of the river Puñpabhadra; muneu—the sage; upāsénasya—was performing worship; sandhyāyām—at the juncture of the day; brahman—O brāhmaëa; vāyu—a wind; abhüt—arose; mahān—great.

TRANSLATION

O brāhmaëa Çaunaka, best of the Bhāgus, one day while Märkaëöeya was performing his evening worship on the bank of the Puñpabhadra, a great wind suddenly arose.

TEXT 11

taM caNx"zAbdM" s$amaud"lr"yantaM
balaAh"k(A @nvaBavana, k(r"AlaA: @°asTaivai"A maumaucaustaix"ià":
svananta o»aEr"iBa vaSaRDaAr"A:

*ta*à *caëöa-çabda*à *samudérayanta*à *balāhakā anv abhavan karälä*u
*akñā-sthaviñöhä mumucus taòidbhi*u
*svananta uccair abhi varña-dhärä*u

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—that wind; caëöa-çabdam—a terrible sound; samudérayantam—which was creating; *balāhakä*u—clouds; anu—following it; abhavan—appeared; *karälä*u—fearful; akñā—like wagon wheels; *sthaviñöhä*u—solid; *mumucu*u—they released; *taòidbhi*u—along with lightning; *svananta*u—resounding; *uccai*u—greatly; abhi—in all directions; varña—of rain; *dhärä*u—torrents.

TRANSLATION

That wind created a terrible sound and brought in its wake fearsome clouds that were accompanied by lightning and roaring thunder and that poured down on all sides torrents of rain as heavy as wagon wheels.

TEXT 12

tataAe vyaä{"zyanta catau: s$amau"%A:
s$amantata: °maAtalamaAfas$anta:
s$amalr"vaegAAeimaRiBaç&fana,(-
mah"ABayaAvataRgABalr"GaAeSaA:

tato vyadâçyanta catuù samudrâu samantataù kîmä-talam ägrasantaù saméra-vegormibhir ugra-nakramahä-bhayävarta-gabhéra-ghoñâu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataù—then; vyadâçyanta—appeared; catuù samudraù—the four oceans; samantataù—on all sides; kîmä-talam—the surface of the earth; ägrasantaù—swallowing up; saméra—of the wind; vega—impelled by the force; ürmibhiù—with their waves; ugra—terrible; nakra—with sea monsters; mahä-bhaya—very fearful; ävarta—with whirlpools; gabhéra—grave; ghoñâu—with sounds.

TRANSLATION

Then the four great oceans appeared on all sides, swallowing up the surface of the earth with their wind-tossed waves. In these oceans were terrible sea monsters, fearful whirlpools and ominous rumblings.

TEXT 13

@ntabaRih"êAià"r"itaâuiBa: KarE":
zAtaoë"d"AiBaç&pataAipataM jagAta, catauivaRDaM val°ya s$ah"AtmanaA mauinar," jalaAplautaAM °maAM ivamanaA: s$amaṭas$ata,

*antar bahiṣ cādbhir ati-dyubhiṁ kharaiṁ
çatahradābhir upatāpitaḥ jagat catur-vidhaḥ vékīya sahātmanā munir jalāplutāḥ kīmaḥ vimaṇāṁ samatrasat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

antaṁ—internally; bahiṁ—externally; ca—and; adbhiṁ—by the water; ati-dyubhiṁ—rising higher than the sky; kharaiṁ—by the fierce (winds); çata-hradābhiṁ—by lightning bolts; upatāpitam—greatly distressed; jagat—all the inhabitants of the universe; catuṁ-vidham—of four varieties (those who have taken birth from embryos, from eggs, from seeds and from perspiration); vékīya—seeing; saha—along with; ātmanā—himself; muniṁ—the sage; jala—by the water; āplutām—flooded; kīmām—the earth; vimaṇāṁ—perplexed; samatrasat—he became fearful.

TRANSLATION

The sage saw all the inhabitants of the universe, including himself, tormented within and without by the harsh winds, the bolts of lightning, and the great waves rising beyond the sky. As the whole earth flooded, he grew perplexed and fearful.

PURPORT

Here the word catur-vidham refers to the four sources of birth for conditioned souls: embryos, eggs, seeds and perspiration.

TEXT 14

tasyaEvamauã"l°ata OimaRBaISaNA:
'aBaÃanaAGaUiNARtavaAmaRh"ANARva: @ApaUyaRmaANAAe var"Saià"r"mbaudE": °maAmapyaDaAä," ã"lpavaSaARi%"iBa: s$amama,

tasyaivam udvékñata ürmi-bhéñäëaù
prabhai janāghürëita-vär mahärëavaù äpüryamäëo varañadbhir ambudaiù
kīmām apyadhāt dvépa-varñädribhiù samam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—while he; evam—in this way; udvékñataù—was looking on;
ürmi—with its waves; bhéñäëaù—frightening; prabhai jana—by hurricane winds; āghürëita—swirled around; väù—its water; mahä-arëavaù—the great ocean; äpüryamänaù—becoming filled; varañadbhiù—with rain;
ambu-daiù—by the clouds; kīmām—the earth; apyadhāt—covered over;
dvépa—with its islands; varñä—continents; adribhiù—and mountains;
samam—together.

TRANSLATION

Even as Märkaëöeya looked on, the rain pouring down from the clouds filled the ocean more and more until that great sea, its waters violently whipped into terrifying waves by hurricanes, covered up all the earth's islands, mountains and continents.

TEXT 15

s$a°maAntair"°aM s$aid"vaM s$aBaAgANAM ‡aElaAefyamaAs$alts$ah" id"igBar"Aplautama,
s$a Wk(WvaAevaRir"taAe mah"Amauinar," ba"aAma ivai°apya jaq%A jax"AnDavata,

sa-kīmāntarikñäà sa-divaà sa-bhā-gaëaà

trai-lokyam äsét saha digbhir äplutam sa eka evorvarito mahä-munir babhräma vikñipya jaä jaöandha-vat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sa—along with; kñmä—the earth; antarikñam—and outer space; sa-divam—along with the heavenly planets; sa-bhā-gaëam—along with all the celestial bodies; trai-lokyam—the three worlds; äsét—became; saha—along with; digbhiù—all the directions; äplutam—flooded; saù—he; ekaù—alone; eva—indeed; urvaritaù—remaining; mahä-muniù—the great sage; babhräma—wandered about; vikñipya—scattering; jaäù—his matted locks; jaöa—a dumb person; andha—a blind person; vat—like.

TRANSLATION

The water inundated the earth, outer space, heaven and the celestial region. Indeed, the entire expanse of the universe was flooded in all directions, and out of all its inhabitants only Märkaëöeya remained. His matted hair scattered, the great sage wandered about alone in the water as if dumb and blind.

TEXT 16

°auÔa{q%.par"ltaAe mak(rE"istaimaiËÿlaEr," opaâu"taAe valicanaBasvataAh"ta:
tamasyapaAre" paitataAe "amaind"zAAe
na vaed" KaM gAAM ca pair"™amaeiSata:

*kñut-tāo-parēto makarais timiñ gilair
upadruto vēci-nabhasvatāhataù tamasy apāre patito bhraman diço na veda khaà gāà ca pariçrameñitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kñut—by hunger; tāṁ—and thirst; parētaṁ—enveloped; makaraiṁ—by the makaras, a species of monster crocodile; timiṁ gilaiṁ—and by the timiṁ gila, a variety of huge fish that eats whales; upadrutaṁ—harassed; vēci—by the waves; nabhasvatā—and the wind; āhataṁ—tormented; tamasi—in the darkness; apāre—which was unlimited; patitaṁ—having fallen; bhraman—wandering; diṣaṁ—the directions; na veda—did not recognize; kham—the sky; gām—the earth; ca—and; pariçrama-iñitaṁ—overcome by exhaustion.

TRANSLATION

Tormented by hunger and thirst, attacked by monstrous makaras and timiṁ gila fish and battered by the wind and waves, he moved aimlessly through the infinite darkness into which he had fallen. As he grew increasingly exhausted, he lost all sense of direction and could not tell the sky from the earth.

TEXTS 17-18

,(icanmaçaaAe mah"AvataeR tar"laEstaAix"ta: ,(icata, yaAd"AeiBaBaR°yatae ,(Aipa
svayamanyaAenyaGaAitaiBa:

,(icacC$AekM(,(icanmaAehM"
,(icaä," äu":KaM s$auKaM Bayama,
,(icanma{tyaumavaA«aAeita
vyaADyaAid"iBaç&taAidR"ta:

kracin magno mahāvarte
taralais tāṁitaṁ kvacit
yādobhir bhakñyate kvāpi
svayam anyonya-ghātibhiṁ

kvacic chokaṁ kvacin mohaṁ

*kvacid duùkhaà sukhaà bhayam kvacin måtyum aväpnoti
vyädhy-ädibhir utärditaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kvacit—sometimes; magnaù—drowning; mahä-ävarte—in a great whirlpool; taralaiù—by the waves; täòitaù—beaten; kvacit—sometimes; yädobhiù—by the aquatic monsters; bhakāyate—he was threatened with being eaten; kva api—sometimes; svayam—himself; anyonya—each other; ghätibhiù—attacking; kvacit—sometimes; çokam—depression; kvacit—sometimes; moham—bewilderment; kvacit—sometimes; duùkham—misery; sukham—happiness; bhayam—fear; kvacit—sometimes; måtyum—death; aväpnoti—he experienced; vyädhi—by disease; ädibhiù—and other pains; uta—also; arditaù—distressed.

TRANSLATION

At times he was engulfed by the great whirlpools, sometimes he was beaten by the mighty waves, and at other times the aquatic monsters threatened to devour him as they attacked one another. Sometimes he felt lamentation, bewilderment, misery, happiness or fear, and at other times he experienced such terrible illness and pain that he felt himself dying.

TEXT 19

@yautaAyatavaSaARNAAM
s$ah"\"aAiNA zAtaAina ca
vyatalyau"\"aRmatastaismana, ivaSNAumaAyaAva{taAtmana:

*ayutäyata-varñäëäà
sahasräëi çatäni ca
vyatëyur bhramatas tasmin
viñëu-mäyävâtätmanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ayuta—tens of thousands; ayuta—by tens of thousands; varñäääm—of years; sahasräëi—thousands; çatäni—hundreds; ca—and; vyatéyuù—passed by; bhramataù—as he wandered; tasmin—in that; viñëu-mäyā—by the illusory energy of Lord Viñëu; ävâta—covered; ätmanaù—his mind.

TRANSLATION

Countless millions of years passed as Märkaëöeya wandered about in that deluge, his mind bewildered by the illusory energy of Lord Viñëu, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 20

s$a k(d"Aicaä," "amaMstaismana, pa{iTavyaA: k(ku(id" iã"ja:
nyaAfaAeDapaAetaM d"ä{"zAe P(lapaéavazAAeiBatama,

sa kadäcid bhramaàs tasmin
pâthivyäù kakudi dvijaù nyägrodha-potaè dadâçe
phala-pallava-çobhitam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he; kadäcit—on one occasion; bhraman—while wandering; tasmin—in that water; pâthivyäù—of earth; kakudi—upon a raised place; dvijaù—the brähmaëa; nyägrodha-potam—a young banyan tree; dadâçe—saw; phala—with fruits; pallava—and blossoms; çobhitam—decorated.

TRANSLATION

Once, while wandering in the water, the brāhmaëa Märkaëðeya discovered a small island, upon which stood a young banyan tree bearing blossoms and fruits.

TEXT 21

‘aAgAuÔar"syaAM zAAKaAyaAM tasyaAipa d"ä{"zAe izAzAuma, zAyaAnaM paNARpauq%ke(
fas$antaM ‘aBayaA tama:

präg-uttarasyäà çäkhäyääà
tasyäpi dadâçe çiçum
çayänaà parëa-puöake
grasantaà prabhayä tamaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

präk-uttarasyäm—toward the northeast; çäkhäyäm—upon a branch; tasya—of that tree; api—indeed; dadâçe—he saw; çiçum—an infant boy; çayänam—lying; parëa-puöake—within the concavity of a leaf; grasantam—swallowing; prabhayä—with His effulgence; tamaù—the darkness.

TRANSLATION

Upon a branch of the northeast portion of that tree he saw an infant boy lying within a leaf. The child's effulgence was swallowing up the darkness.

TEXTS 22-25

mah"Amar"k(tazyaAmaM ™almaã"d"napaÆÿjama, k(mbaufalvaM mah"Aer"s$kM(

s$aunas$aM s$aund"r""auvama, ìAs$aEjad"lak(ABaAtaM

k(mbau™alk(NARd"Aix"mama, ivaâu"maADar"BaAs$aesaca,- C$aENAAiyatas$auDaAismatama, paágABaARç&NAApaAËMÿ

ô$âh"As$aAvalaAek(nama, ìAs$aEjaã"ilas$aMivaça-ina°anaAiBad"laAed"r"ma,

caAvaRìÿilaByaAM paAiNAByaAma,
oªalya car"NAAmbaujama,
mauKae inaDaAya iva'aen%"Ae DayantaM val°ya ivaismata:

*mahā-marakata-çyāmaà
çrémad-vadana-paì kajam
kambu-grévaà mahoraskaà
su-nasaà sundara-bhruvam*

*çvāsaijad-alakābhātaà
kambu-çré-karëa-däòimam vidrumādhara-bhāseñacchoëäyita-sudhā-smitam*

*padma-garbhāruëäpäì gaà hādyā-hāsāvalokanam
çvāsaijad-vali-saàvignanimna-nābhi-dalodaram*

*cārv-aì gulibhyāà päëibhyām unnéya caraëāmbujam
mukhe nidhāya viprendro
dhayantaà vékñya vismitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mahā-marakata—like a great emerald; çyāmam—dark blue; çrémat—beautiful; vadana-paī kajam—whose lotus face; kambu—like a conchshell; grévam—whose throat; mahā—broad; uraskam—whose chest; su-nasam—having a beautiful nose; sundara-bhruvam—having beautiful eyebrows; çväsa—by His breath; ejat—trembling; alaka—with the hair; ābhātam—splendid; kambu—like a conchshell; çré—beautiful; karēa—His ears; dāòimam—resembling pomegranate flowers; vidruma—like coral; adhara—of His lips; bhäsā—by the effulgence; ēñat—slightly; çoëäyita—reddened; sudhā—nectarean; smitam—His smile; padma-garbha—like the whorl of a lotus; aruëa—reddish; apāī gam—the corners of His eyes; hādyā—charming; hāsa—with a smile; avalokanam—His countenance; çväsa—by His breath; ejat—made to move; vali—by the lines; saàvigna—contorted; nimna—deep; nābhi—with His navel; dala—like a leaf; udaram—whose abdomen; cāru—attractive; aī gulibhyām—having fingers; päëibhyām—by His two hands; unnéya—picking up; caraëa-ambujam—His lotus foot; mukhe—in His mouth; nidhāya—placing; vipra-indraù—the best of brāhmaëas, Märkaëòeya; dhayantam—drinking; vékñya—seeing; vismitaù—was amazed.

TRANSLATION

The infant's dark-blue complexion was the color of a flawless emerald, His lotus face shone with a wealth of beauty, and His throat bore marks like the lines on a conchshell. He had a broad chest, a finely shaped nose, beautiful eyebrows, and lovely ears that resembled pomegranate flowers and that had inner folds like a conchshell's spirals. The corners of His eyes were reddish like the whorl of a lotus, and the effulgence of His coral-like lips slightly reddened the nectarean, enchanting smile on His face. As He breathed, His splendid hair trembled and His deep navel became distorted by the moving folds of skin on His abdomen, which resembled a banyan leaf. The exalted brāhmaëa watched with amazement as the infant took hold of one of His lotus feet with His graceful fingers, placed a toe within His mouth and began to suck.

PURPORT

The young child was the Supreme Personality of Godhead. According to Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura, Lord Kânëa wondered, "So many devotees are hankering for the nectar of My lotus feet. Therefore let Me personally experience that nectar." Thus the Lord, playing like an ordinary baby, began to suck on His toes.

TEXT 26

taÚ"zARnaAã"Itapair"™amaAe maud"A
'aAetPu(éaô$tpaAEImaivalaAecanaAmbauja:
'aô$í"r"AemaAàu"taBaAvazAiÆÿta:
'aí]M"paur"staM 'as$as$aAr"baAlak(ma,

*tad-darçanäd véta-pariçramo mudä protphulla-hât-padma-vilocanämbujaù prahãñöa-romädbhuta-bhäva-çaì kitaù
prañöuà puras taà prasasära bälakam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat-darçanät—by seeing the child; véta—dispelled; pariçramaù—his weariness; mudä—out of pleasure; protphulla—expanded wide; hât-padma—the lotus of his heart; vilocana-ambujaù—and his lotus eyes; prahãñöa—standing on end; romä—the hairs on his body; adbhuta-bhäva—about the identity of this wonderful form; çaì kitaù—confused; prañöum—in order to inquire; puraù—in front; tam—of Him; prasasära—he approached; bälakam—the child.

TRANSLATION

As Märkaëöeya beheld the child, all his weariness vanished. Indeed, so great was his pleasure that the lotus of his heart, along with his lotus eyes, fully blossomed and the hairs on his body stood on end. Confused as to the identity of the wonderful infant, the sage approached Him.

PURPORT

Mārkaëðeya wanted to ask the child about His identity and therefore approached Him.

TEXT 27

taAvaicC$zAAevaE= iis$ataena BaAgARva:
s$aAe'nta: zAr"lrM" mazAk(Ae yaTaAivazAta, taṭaApyad"Ae nyastamacai" k{(ṭpazAAe
yaTaA paura"Amāu÷d"talva ivaismata:

*tāvac chiçor vai çvasitena bhārgavaù
so 'ntaù çaréraà maçako yathāviçat tatrāpy ado nyastam acañña kâtsnaço
yathā purāmuhyad atēva vismitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tāvat—at that very moment; çiçou—of the infant; vai—indeed; çvasitena—with the breathing; bhārgavaù—the descendant of Bhāgu; saù—he; antaù çareram—within the body; maçakaù—a mosquito; yathā—just like; aviçat—entered; tatra—therein; api—indeed; adaù—this universe; nyastam—placed; acañña—he saw; kâtsnaçaù—entire; yathā—as; purā—previously; amuhyat—he became bewildered; atēva—extremely; vismitaù—surprised.

TRANSLATION

Just then the child inhaled, drawing Mārkaëðeya within His body like a mosquito. There the sage found the entire universe arrayed as it had been before its dissolution. Seeing this, Märkaëðeya was most astonished and perplexed.

TEXTS 28-29

KaM r"Aed"s$al BaAgANAAnai%"s$aAgAr"Ana,
ã"lpaAna, s$avaSaARna, k(ku(Ba: s$aur"As$aur"Ana, vanaAina de"zAAna, s$air"ta: paur"Ak(r"Ana, Kaeq%Ana, ~ajaAnaA™amavaNARva{Ôaya:

mah"Ainta BaUtaAnyata BaAEitak(Anyas$aAE
k(AlaM ca naAnaAyaugAk(lpak(lpanama, yaitk(iÂad"nyaã"Yavah"Ar"k(Ar"NAM
d"d"zAR ivaìM s$aid"vaAvaBaAis$atama,

khaà rodasé bhä-gaëän adri-sägarän dvépän sa-varñän kakubhaù suräsurän vanäni deçän saritaù puräkarän kheöän vrajän äçrama-varëa-vättayaù

mahänti bhütäny atha bhautikäny asau kälàà ca nänä-yuga-kalpa-kalpanam yat kii cid anyad vyavahära-käraëaà dadarça viçvaà sad ivävabhäsitam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kham—the sky; rodasé—the heavens and earth; bhä-gaëän—all the stars; adri—the mountains; sägarän—and oceans; dvépän—the great islands; sa-varñän—along with the continents; kakubhaù—the directions; sura-asurän—the saintly devotees and the demons; vanäni—the forests; deçän—the various countries; saritaù—the rivers; pura—the cities; äkarän—and the mines; kheöän—the agricultural villages; vrajän—the cow pastures; äçrama-varëa—of the various spiritual and occupational divisions of society; vättayaù—the engagements; mahänti bhütäni—the basic elements of nature; atha—and; bhautikäni—all their gross manifestations; asau—he;

kālam—time; ca—also; nānā-yuga-kalpa—of the different millennia and the days of Brahmā; kalpanam—the regulating agent; yat kii cit—whatever; anyat—other; vyavahāra-kāraëam—object intended for use in material life; dadarça—he saw; viçvam—the universe; sat—real; iva—as if; avabhāsitam—manifest.

TRANSLATION

The sage saw the entire universe: the sky, heavens and earth, the stars, mountains, oceans, great islands and continents, the expanses in every direction, the saintly and demoniac living beings, the forests, countries, rivers, cities and mines, the agricultural villages and cow pastures, and the occupational and spiritual activities of the various social divisions. He also saw the basic elements of creation along with all their by-products, as well as time itself, which regulates the progression of countless ages within the days of Brahmā. In addition, he saw everything else created for use in material life. All this he saw manifested before him as if it were real.

TEXT 30

ih"maAlayaM pauSpavah"AM ca taAM nad"I%M inajaA™amaM yaṭa [%SaI @pazyata ivaiM ivapazyahC.$vais$ataAicC$zAAevaE= baih"inaRr"staAe nyapataéayaAbDaAE

himālayaà puñpavahäà ca täà nadéà nijäçramaà yatra āñé apaçyata viçvaà vipaçyai chvasitac chiçor vai bahir nirasto nyapatal layäbdhau

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

himālayam—the Himālaya Mountains; puñpa-vahām—Puñpabhadra; ca—and; tām—that; nadēm—river; nija-āçramam—his own hermitage; yatra—where; āñé—the two sages, Nara-Nārāyaëa; apaçyata—he saw;

viçvam—the universe; vipaçyan—while observing; çvasitāt—by the breath; çiçou—of the infant; vai—indeed; bahiù—outside; nirastaù—expelled; nyapatat—he fell; laya-abdhau—into the ocean of dissolution.

TRANSLATION

He saw before him the Himālaya Mountains, the Puṇṇabhadrā River, and his own hermitage, where he had had the audience of the sages Nara-Nārāyaṇa. Then, as Mārkaṇḍeya beheld the entire universe, the infant exhaled, expelling the sage from His body and casting him back into the ocean of dissolution.

TEXTS 31-32

taismāna, paṭitavyaA: k(ku(id" 'aè&XM#
vaqM% ca tatpaNARpauqe% zAyaAnama, taAekM(ca tat'aemas$auDaAismataena
inar"li°ataAe'paAĒyinar"l°aNAena

@Ta taM baAlakM(val°ya naeṭaAByaAM iDaii"taM ô$id" @ByayaAd"itas$ax.~iflai":
pair"Sva·u(maDaAe°ajama,

tasmin pāthivyāu kakudī prarūḥaà
vaōaà ca tat-parēa-puōe çayānam tokaà ca tat-prema-sudhā-smitena nirékñito 'pāi ga-nirékñāēena

atha taà bālakaà vékñya netrābhyāà dhiññhitaà hādi abhyayād ati-saī kliññaù
pariñvaktum adhokñajam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmin—in that water; pāthivyāu—of land; kakudī—on the raised place; prarūòham—growing up; vaòam—the banyan tree; ca—and; tat—of it; parëa-puõe—within the slight depression of the leaf; çayānam—lying; tokam—the child; ca—and; tat—for himself; prema—of love; sudhā—like nectar; smitena—with a smile; nirékñitaù—being looked upon; apāi ga—of the corner of His eyes; nirékñāëena—by the glance; atha—then; tam—that; bālakam—infant; vékñya—looking upon; netrābhyām—by his eyes; dhiññohitam—placed; hādi—within his heart; abhyayāt—ran forward; ati-saì kliññaù—greatly agitated; pariñvaktum—to embrace; adhokñajam—the transcendental Supreme Lord.

TRANSLATION

In that vast sea he again saw the banyan tree growing on the tiny island and the infant boy lying within the leaf. The child glanced at him from the corner of His eyes with a smile imbued with the nectar of love, and Märkaëòeya took Him into his heart through his eyes. Greatly agitated, the sage ran to embrace the transcendental Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 33

taAvats$a BagAvaAna, s$aA°aAä," yaAegAADalzAAe gAuh"AzAya: @ntadR"Da [%Sae: s$aâAe yaTaeh"AnalzAinaimaRtaA

tāvat sa bhagavān sākñāo
yogādhēço guhā-çayaù
antardadha āñeù sadyo
yathehānēça-nirmitā

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tāvat—just then; saù—He; bhagavān—the Personality of Godhead; sākñāt—directly; yoga-adhēçaù—the supreme master of yoga;

guhä-çayaù—who is hidden within the heart of all living beings; antardadhe—disappeared; āñeù—in front of the sage; sadyaù—suddenly; yathä—in the same way as; éhä—the object of endeavor; anēça—by an incompetent person; nirmitä—created.

TRANSLATION

At that moment the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the original master of all mysticism and who is hidden within everyone's heart, became invisible to the sage, just as the achievements of an incompetent person can suddenly vanish.

TEXT 34

tamanvaTa vaq%Ae “aöna,
s$ailalaM laAek(s$amplava:
itar"AeDaAiya °aNAAd"sya
svaA™amae paUvaRvaitaTata:

tam anv atha vaöo brahman
salilaà loka-samplavaù
tirodhäyi kñäëäd asya
sväçrame pürva-vat sthitaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—Him; anu—following; atha—then; vaöaù—the banyan tree; brahman—O brähmaëa, Çaunaka; salilam—the water; loka-samplavaù—the annihilation of the universe; tirodhäyi—they disappeared; kñäëät—immediately; asya—in front of him; sva-äçrame—in his own hermitage; pürva-vat—as previously; sthitaù—he was present.

TRANSLATION

After the Lord disappeared, O brähmaëa, the banyan tree, the great water and the dissolution of the universe all vanished as well, and in an instant Märkaëðeya found himself back in his own hermitage, just as before.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Twelfth Canto, Ninth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Märkaëðeya Āñi Sees the Illusory Potency of the Lord."

10. Lord Çiva and Umä Glorify Märkaëðeya Āñi

In this chapter Çré Sūta Gosvāmé describes how Märkaëðeya Āñi received benedictions from Lord Çiva.

Once, as Lord Çiva was traveling in the sky with his wife, Pārvaté, he came across Çré Märkaëðeya merged in meditative trance. At the request of Parvaté, Lord Çiva presented himself before the sage to grant him the result of his austerities. Coming out of his trance, Çré Märkaëðeya saw Lord Çiva, the spiritual master of the three worlds, together with Parvaté, and he worshiped them by offering them obeisances, words of greeting and a sitting place.

Then Lord Çiva praised the saintly devotees of the Personality of Godhead and requested Çré Märkaëðeya to choose whatever benediction he desired. Märkaëðeya begged for unflinching devotion to the Supreme Lord Çré Hari, to the devotees of the Supreme Lord and to Lord Çiva himself. Satisfied with Märkaëðeya's devotion, Lord Çiva awarded him the boons of renown, freedom from old age and death until the time of universal dissolution, knowledge of all three phases of time, renunciation, realized knowledge and the position of a teacher of the Purāëas.

Those who chant and hear the story of Märkaëðeya Āñi will attain liberation from material life, which is based on the accumulated desires generated from fruitive work.

TEXT 1

s$aUta ovaAca
s$a WvamanauBaUyaedM" naAr"AyaNAivainaimaRtama, vaEBavaM yaAegAmaAyaAyaAs$a, tamaeva zAr"NAM yayaAE

süta uvāca
sa evam anubhūyedaà
nārāyaëa-vinirmitam
vaibhavaà yoga-māyāyās
tam eva çaraëaà yayau

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sütaù uvāca—Süta Gosvāmé said; saù—he, Märkaëòeya; evam—in this way; anubhūya—experiencing; idam—this; nārāyaëa-vinirmitam—manufactured by the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Nārāyaëa; vaibhavam—the opulent exhibition; yoga-māyāyäu—of His internal mystic energy; tam—to Him; eva—indeed; çaraëam—for shelter; yayau—he went.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvāmé said: The Supreme Lord Nārāyaëa had arranged this opulent display of His bewildering potency. Märkaëòeya Āñi, having experienced it, took shelter of the Lord.

TEXT 2

™almaAkR(Nxe"ya ovaAca
'apa^aaAe'smyax.~i,,amaUlaM tae
'apa^aaABayadM" h"re"

yanmaAyayaAipa ivabauDaA mau÷inta ÁaAnak(AzAyaA

çré-mārkaëðeya uvāca
prapanno 'smy aì ghri-mūlaà te prapannābhaya-daà hare yan-māyayāpi vibudhā
muhyanti jī āna-kāçayā

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-mārkaëðeyaù uvāca—Çré Mārkaëðeya said; prapannaù—surrendered; asmi—I am; aì ghri-mūlam—to the soles of the lotus feet; te—Your; prapanna—of those who surrender; abhaya-dam—the giver of fearlessness; hare—O Lord Hari; yat-māyayā—by whose illusory potency; api—even; vibudhāù—intelligent demigods; muhyanti—become bewildered; jī āna-kāçayā—which falsely appears as knowledge.

TRANSLATION

Çré Mārkaëðeya said: O Lord Hari, I take shelter of the soles of Your lotus feet, which bestow fearlessness upon all who surrender to them. Even the great demigods are bewildered by Your illusory energy, which appears to them in the guise of knowledge.

PURPORT

Conditioned souls are attracted to material sense gratification, and thus they meticulously study the workings of nature. Although they appear to be advancing in scientific knowledge, they become increasingly entangled in their false identification with the material body and therefore increasingly merge into ignorance.

TEXT 3

s$Uta ovaAca
tamaevaM inaBa{taAtmaAnaM
va{SaeNA id"iva payaRq%na, ç&%o"ANyaA BagAvaAna, ç&%o"Ae
d"d"zAR svagANAEva{Rta:

süta uvāca
tam evaà nibhātātmānaà
vāñēēa divi paryaān
rudrāëyā bhagavān rudro
dadarça sva-gaëair vātaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sütaù uvāca—Süta Gosvāmé said; tam—him, Märkaëðeya Āñi; evam—thus; nibhāta-ātmānam—his mind completely absorbed in trance; vāñēēa—on his bull; divi—in the sky; paryaān—traveling; rudrāëyā—accompanied by his consort, Rudrāëé (Umā); bhagavān—the powerful lord; rudraù—Çiva; dadarça—saw; sva-gaëaiù—by his entourage; vātaù—surrounded.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvāmé said: Lord Rudra, traveling in the sky on his bull and accompanied by his consort, Rudrāëé, as well as his personal associates, observed Märkaëðeya in trance.

TEXT 4

@TaAemaA tama{iSaM val^oya
igAir"zAM s$amaBaASata
pazyamaM BagAvana, iva'aM inaBa{taAtmaein%"yaAzAyama,

athomā tam āñià vėkñya
giriçaà samabhñāta
paçyemaà bhagavan vipraà

nibhâtâtmendriyâçayam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atha—then; umä—Umä; tam—that; āñim—sage; vékīya—seeing; giriçam—to Lord Çiva; samabhāñata—spoke; paçya—just see; imam—this; bhagavan—my lord; vipram—learned brāhmaëa; nibhâta—motionless; ätma-indriya-açayam—his body, senses and mind.

TRANSLATION

Goddess Umä, seeing the sage, addressed Lord Giriça: My lord, just see this learned brāhmaëa, his body, mind and senses motionless in trance.

TEXT 5

inaBa{taAed"JaSa~aAtaAe vaAtaApaAyaE yaTaANARva:
ku(vaRsya tapas$a: s$aA°aAta,
s$aMis$aaiÜM" is$aaiÜ"d"Ae BavaAna,

nibhâtoda-jhaña-vrâto
vätäpäye yathärëavaù
kurv asya tapasaù säkñât
saèsiddhiàsiddhi-do bhavän

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nibhâta—stationary; uda—water; jhaña-vrâtaù—and schools of fish; vâta—of the wind; apäye—upon the ceasing; yathä—just as; arëavaù—the ocean; kuru—please make; asya—his; tapasaù—of the austerities; säkñât—manifest; saèsiddhim—perfection; siddhi-daù—the bestower of perfection; bhavän—you.

TRANSLATION

He is as calm as the waters of the ocean when the wind has ceased and the fish remain still. Therefore, my lord, since you bestow perfection on the performers of austerity, please award this sage the perfection that is obviously due him.

TEXT 6

™aI BagAvaAnauvaAca
naEvaecC$tyaAizASa: , (Aipa “aöiSaRmaAeR°amapyauta Bai·M(par"AM BagAvaita
labDavaAna, pauç&Sae'vyayae

çré-bhagavān uvāca
naivecchaty āçīṇaù kvāpi
brahmaṇīr mokṇam apy uta
bhaktià parāà bhagavati
labdhavān puruṇe 'vyaye

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavān uvāca—the powerful lord said; na—not; eva—indeed; icchaty—desires; āçīṇaù—benedictions; kva api—in any realm; brahma-āṇiù—the saintly brāhmaëa; mokṇam—liberation; apy uta—even; bhaktim—devotional service; parām—transcendental; bhagavati—for the Supreme Lord; labdhavān—he has achieved; puruṇe—for the Personality of Godhead; avyaye—who is inexhaustible.

TRANSLATION

Lord Çiva replied: Surely this saintly brāhmaëa does not desire any benediction, not even liberation itself, for he has attained pure devotional service unto the inexhaustible Personality of Godhead.

PURPORT

The words naivecchaty ācīṇaù kvāpi indicate that Mārkaëöeya Āṇi was uninterested in any reward available on any planet within the universe. Nor did he want liberation, for he had achieved the Supreme Lord Himself.

TEXT 7

@TaAipa s$aMvaid"SyaAmaAe
BavaAnyætaena s$aADaunaA @yaM ih" par"maAe laABaAe
na{NAAM s$aADaus$samaAgAma:

*athāpi saàvadiṇyāmo
bhavāny etena sādhunā
ayaà hi paramo lābho
nāëää sādhu-samāgamaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atha api—nevertheless; saàvadiṇyāmaù—we shall converse; bhavāni—my dear Bhavāné; etena—with this; sādhunā—pure devotee; ayam—this; hi—indeed; paramaù—the best; lābhaù—gain; nāëām—for men; sādhu-samāgamaù—the association of saintly devotees.

TRANSLATION

Still, my dear Bhavāné, let us talk with this saintly personality. After all, association with saintly devotees is man's highest achievement.

TEXT 8

s$aUta ovaAca
wtyauftvaA tamaupaeyaAya BagAvaAna, s$a s$aataAM gAita:

wRzAAAna: s$avaRivaâAnaAma,
wRîr": s$avaR$de"ih"naAma,

sûta uvāca
ity uktvā tam upeyāya
bhagavān sa satāṅ gatiṁ
ēṣānaṁ sarva-vidyānām ēṣvaraṁ sarva-dehinām

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sûtaṁ uvāca—Sûta Gosvāmé said; iti—thus; uktvā—having said; tam—to the sage; upeyāya—going; bhagavān—the exalted demigod; saṁ—he; satām—of the pure souls; gatiṁ—the shelter; ēṣānaṁ—the master; sarva-vidyānām—of all branches of knowledge; ēṣvaraṁ—the controller; sarva-dehinām—of all embodied living beings.

TRANSLATION

Sûta Gosvāmé said: Having spoken thus, Lord Çai kara—the shelter of pure souls, master of all spiritual sciences and controller of all embodied living beings—approached the sage.

TEXT 9

tayaAer"AgAmanaM s$aA°aAä," wRzAyaAejaRgAd"AtmanaAe:
na vaed" ç&Ü"Dalva{iÔar," @AtmaAnaM ivaïmaeva ca

tayor āgamanaṁ sākiād
ēṣayor jagad-ātmanou
na veda ruddha-dhé-vāttir
ātmānaṁ viçvam eva ca

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tayoù—of the two of them; āgamanam—the arrival; sākñāt—in person; éçayoù—of the powerful personalities; jagat-ātmanoù—the controllers of the universe; na veda—he did not notice; ruddha—checked; dhé-vāttiù—the functioning of his mind; ātmānam—himself; viçvam—the external universe; eva—indeed; ca—also.

TRANSLATION

Because Märkaëðeya's material mind had stopped functioning, the sage failed to notice that Lord Çiva and his wife, the controllers of the universe, had personally come to see him. Märkaëðeya was so absorbed in meditation that he was unaware of either himself or the external world.

TEXT 10

BagAvaAMstad"iBaÁaAya
igAir"zAAe yaAegAmaAyayaA @AivazAÔaÖ"h"Ak(AzAM
vaAyauizC$%"imavaeìr":

bhagavä`as tad abhijì`äya
giriço yoga-mäyayä äviçat tad-guhäkäça`a väyuç chidram iveçvaraù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhagavän—the great personality; tat—that; abhijì`äya—understanding; giriçaù—Lord Giriça; yoga-mäyayä—by his mystic power; äviçat—entered; tat—of Märkaëðeya; guhä-äkäçam—the hidden sky of the heart; väyuù—the air; chidram—a hole; iva—as if; éçvaraù—the lord.

TRANSLATION

Understanding the situation very well, the powerful Lord Çiva employed his mystic power to enter within the sky of Märkaëðeya's heart, just as the wind passes through an opening.

TEXTS 11-13

@AtmanyaiPa izAvaM 'aAæaM
taix"itpaËÿjaq%ADar"ma, ‡ya°aM d"zABaujaM 'aAMzAuma, oântaimava BaAs$k(r"ma,

vyaA,,acamaARmbarM" zAUla-Danauir"Svais$acamaRiBa: @°amaAlaAx"maç&k(- k(paAlaM par"zAuM s$ah"

iba"aANAM s$ah"s$aA BaAtaM
ivaca°ya ô$id" ivaismata:
ik(imadM" ku(ta Wvaeita
s$amaADaeivaRr"taAe mauina:

*ätmany api çivaà prāptaà
taòit-piì ga-jaöä-dharam
try-akñāà daça-bhujaà prāàçum
udyantam iva bhāskaram*

vyāghra-carmāmbaraà çūla-dhanur-iñv-asi-carmabhiù akñā-mālā-òamarukakapālaà paraçuà saha

*bibhräëaà sahasā bhātaà
vicakñya hādi vismitaù
kim idaà kuta eveti*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ātmani—within himself; api—also; çivam—Lord Çiva; prāptam—arrived; taòit—like lightning; piì ga—yellowish; jaöä—locks of hair; dharam—carrying; tri-akñam—with three eyes; daça-bhujam—and ten arms; präàçum—very tall; udyantam—rising; iva—as; bhāskaram—the sun; vyāghra—of a tiger; carma—the fur; ambaram—as his garment; çüla—with his trident; dhanaù—bow; iñu—arrows; asi—sword; carmabhiù—and shield; akñā-mālā—his prayer beads; òamaruka—small drum; kapālam—and skull; paraçum—ax; saha—together with; bibhräëam—exhibiting; sahasä—suddenly; bhätam—manifest; vicakñya—seeing; hādi—in his heart; vismitaù—surprised; kim—what; idam—this; kutaù—from where; eva—indeed; iti—thus; samādheù—from his trance; virataù—desisted; muniù—the sage.

TRANSLATION

Çré Märkaëöeya saw Lord Çiva suddenly appear within his heart. Lord Çiva's golden hair resembled lightning, and he had three eyes, ten arms and a tall body that shone like the rising sun. He wore a tiger skin, and he carried a trident, a bow, arrows, a sword and a shield, along with prayer beads, a òamaru drum, a skull and an ax. Astonished, the sage came out of his trance and thought, "Who is this, and where has he come from?"

TEXT 14

naeṭae onmallya d"ä{"zAe
s$agANAM s$aAemayaAgAtama, ç&%M" iṭalaAekE(k(gAuçM&
nanaAma izAr"s$aA mauina:

netre unmélya dadâçe
sa-gaëaà somayāgatam

*rudraà tri-lokaika-guruà
nanāma çirasā muniù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

netre—his eyes; unmélya—opening; dadāçe—he saw; sa-gaëam—with his associates; sa-umayä—and with Umä; ägatam—having arrived; rudram—Lord Rudra; tri-loka—of the three worlds; eka-gurum—the one spiritual master; nanāma—he offered his obeisances; çirasā—with his head; muniù—the sage.

TRANSLATION

Opening his eyes, the sage saw Lord Rudra, the spiritual master of the three worlds, together with Umä and Rudra's followers. Märkaëðeya then offered his respectful obeisances by bowing his head.

PURPORT

When Märkaëðeya Āñi saw Lord Çiva and Umä within his heart, he immediately became aware of them and thus also of his own individual self. During his trance, on the other hand, he had simply been absorbed in awareness of the Supreme Lord and had thus forgotten himself as the conscious perceiver.

TEXT 15

*tasmaE s$apayaA< vyad"DaAta,
s$agANAAya s$ah"AemayaA
svaAgAtaAs$anapaAâAGyaR-gAnDaṛagDaUpad"lpakE(:*

*tasmai saparyäà vyadadhät sa-gaëäya sahomayä
svägatäsana-pädyärghya-*

gandha-srag-dhüpa-dépakaiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasmai—to him; saparyäm—worship; vyadadhät—he offered; sa-gaëäya—together with his associates; saha umayä—together with Umä; su-ägata—by words of greeting; äsana—offering of sitting places; pädya—water for bathing the feet; arghya—fragrant drinking water; gandha—perfumed oil; srag—garlands; dhüpa—incense; dépakaiù—and lamps.

TRANSLATION

Märkaëöeya worshiped Lord Çiva, along with Umä and Çiva's associates, by offering them words of welcome, sitting places, water for washing their feet, scented drinking water, fragrant oils, flower garlands and ärati lamps.

TEXT 16

@Ah" tvaAtmaAnauBaAvaena paUNARk(Amasya tae ivaBaAe k(r"vaAma ik(malzAAna
yaenaedM" inava{RtaM jagAta,

äha tv ätmānubhāvena
pūrēa-kāmasya te vibho
karavāma kim éçāna
yenedaà nirvātaà jagat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

äha—Märkaëöeya said; tu—indeed; ätma-anubhāvena—by your own experience of ecstasy; pūrēa-kāmasya—who is satisfied in all respects; te—for you; vibho—O mighty one; karavāma—I can do; kim—what; éçāna—O lord; yena—by whom; idam—this; nirvātam—is made peaceful;

jagat—the entire world.

TRANSLATION

Mārkaëðeya said: O mighty lord, what can I possibly do for you, who are fully satisfied by your own ecstasy? Indeed, by your mercy you satisfy this entire world.

TEXT 17

nama: izAvaAya zAAntaAya
s$aÔvaAya 'ama{x"Aya ca r"jaAejauSae'Ta GaAer"Aya namastauByaM tamaAejauSae

*namaù çiväya çäntäya
sattväya pramâðäya ca
rajo-juñe 'tha ghoräya
namas tubhyaè tamo-juñe*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

namaù—obeisances; çiväya—to the all-auspicious; çäntäya—peaceful; sattväya—the personification of material goodness; pramâðäya—the giver of pleasure; ca—and; rajaù-juñe—to him who is in contact with the mode of passion; atha—also; ghoräya—terrible; namaù—obeisances; tubhyam—to you; tamaù-juñe—who associates with the mode of ignorance.

TRANSLATION

Again and again I offer my obeisances unto you, O all-auspicious transcendental personality. As the lord of goodness you give pleasure, in contact with the mode of passion you appear most fearful, and you also associate with the mode of ignorance.

TEXT 18

s$aUta ovaAca
WvaM stauta: s$a BagAvaAna, @Aid"de"va: s$ataAM gAita:
pair"tauí": 'as$aªaAtmaA
'ah"s$aMstamaBaASata

süta uvāca
evaà stutaù sa bhagavān
ädi-devaù satāà gatiù
parituññaù prasannātmā
prahasaàs tam abhāñata

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sütaù uvāca—Süta Gosvāmé said; evam—in these words; stutaù—praised; saù—he; bhagavān—the powerful Lord Çiva; ädi-devaù—the foremost of demigods; satām—of the saintly devotees; gatiù—the shelter; parituññaù—perfectly satisfied; prasanna-ātmā—happy in his mind; prahasan—smiling; tam—to Märkaëðeya; abhāñata—spoke.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvāmé said: Lord Çiva, the foremost demigod and the shelter of the saintly devotees, was satisfied by Märkaëðeya's praise. Pleased, he smiled and addressed the sage.

TEXT 19

™aIBagAvaAnauvaAca
varM" va{NAISva na: k(AmaM
var"de"zAA vayaM ‡aya:
@maAeGaM d"zARnaM yaeSaAM
matyaAeR yaiã"nd"tae'ma{tama,

çré-bhagavän uväca
varaà vâëñva naù kämaà
vara-deçä vayaà trayaù
amoghaà darçanaà yeñäà
martyo yad vindate 'mâtam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-bhagavän uväca—Lord Çiva said; varam—a benediction; vâëñva—please choose; naù—from us; kāmam—as desired; vara-da—of all givers of benedictions; éçäù—the controlling lords; vayam—we; trayaù—three (Brahmä, Viñëu and Maheçvara); amogham—never in vain; darçanam—the seeing; yeñäm—of whom; martyaù—a mortal being; yat—by which; vindate—achieves; amâtam—immortality.

TRANSLATION

Lord Çiva said: Please ask me for some benediction, since among all givers of benedictions, we three—Brahmä, Viñëu and I—are the best. Seeing us never goes in vain, because simply by seeing us a mortal achieves immortality.

TEXTS 20-21

“aAöNAA: s$aADava: zAAntaA
ina:s$aEëyA BaUtavats$alaA: Wk(AntaBa·(A @smaAs$au
inavaE=r"A: s$amad"izARna:

s$alaAek(A laAek(paAlaAstaAna,
vand"ntyacaRntyaupaAs$atae @hM" ca BagAvaAna, “aöA svayaM ca h"ir"r"lir":

brähmaëäù sädhavaù çäntä
niüsaì gä bhüta-vatsaläù

*ekānta-bhaktā asmāsu
nirvairāu sama-darçinau*

*sa-lokā loka-pālās tñ vandanty arcanty upāsate
ahaà ca bhagavān brahmā
svayaà ca harir éçvaraù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brāhmaëäù—brāhmaëas; sādhavaù—saintly in behavior; çāntäù—peaceful and free of envy and other bad qualities; niùsaì gäù—free of material association; bhüta-vatsaläù—compassionate to all living beings; eka-anta-bhaktäù—unalloyed devotees; asmāsu—of ourselves (Brahmā, Lord Çré Hari and Çiva); nirvairäù—never hateful; sama-darçinaù—seeing equally; sa-lokäù—with the inhabitants of all the worlds; loka-päläù—the rulers of the various planets; tñ—those brāhmaëas; vandanti—glorify; arcanti—worship; upāsate—assist; aham—I; ca—also; bhagavān—the great lord; brahmā—Brahmā; svayam—Himself; ca—also; hariù—Lord Hari; éçvaraù—the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TRANSLATION

The inhabitants and ruling demigods of all planets, along with Lord Brahmā, the Supreme Lord Hari and I, glorify, worship and assist those brāhmaëas who are saintly, always peaceful, free of material attachment, compassionate to all living beings, purely devoted to us, devoid of hatred and endowed with equal vision.

TEXT 22

*na tae mayyacyautae'jae ca
iBad"AmaNvaipa ca^oatae naAtmanaê janasyaAipa taâuSmaAna, vayamalmai"*

*na te mayy acyute 'je ca bhidäm aëv api cakñate nätmanaç ca janasyäpi
tad yuñmān vayam émahī*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—do not; te—they; mayi—in me; acyute—in Lord Viñëu; aje—in Lord Brahmä; ca—and; bhidäm—difference; aëv—slight; api—even; cakñate—see; na—not; ätmanaù—of themselves; ca—and; janasya—of other people; api—also; tat—therefore; yuñmān—yourselves; vayam—we; émahī—worship.

TRANSLATION

These devotees do not differentiate between Lord Viñëu, Lord Brahmä and me, nor do they differentiate between themselves and other living beings. Therefore, because you are this kind of saintly devotee, we worship you.

PURPORT

Lord Brahmä and Lord Çiva are, respectively, manifestations of the creating and annihilating potencies of the Personality of Godhead, Viñëu. Thus unity exists among these three ruling deities of the material world. One should not, on the basis of the modes of nature, find material duality within the ruling potency of the Supreme Lord, although that potency is manifested in three divisions as Brahmä, Viñëu and Çiva.

TEXT 23

*na ÷mmayaAina taITaARina
na de"vaAêetanaAeijJataA:
tae paunantyauç&k(Alaena
yaUyaM d"zARnamaAḥata:*

*na hy am-mayäni tēthāni
na devāḥ cetanojjhitāu
te punanty uru-kālena
yūyaà darṇana-mātratau*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; hi—indeed; ap-mayāni—consisting of sacred water; tēthāni—holy places; na—not; devāu—deity forms of demigods; cetana-ujjhitāu—devoid of life; te—they; punanti—purify; uru-kālena—after a long time; yūyam—yourselves; darṇana-mātratau—simply by being seen.

TRANSLATION

Mere bodies of water do not constitute holy places, nor are lifeless statues of the demigods actual worshipable deities. Because external vision fails to appreciate the higher essence of the holy rivers and the demigods, these purify only after a considerable time. But devotees like you purify immediately, just by being seen.

TEXT 24

“aAöNAeByaAe namasyaAmaAe yae'smaâU"paM ṭayalmayama, iba”atyaAtmas$amaADaAna-
tapa:svaADyaAyas$aMyamaE:

*brāhmaëebhyo namasyāmo
ye 'smad-rūpaà trayé-mayam bibhraty ātma-samādhāna-
tapaù-svādhyāya-saàyamaiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brāhmaëebhyaù—to the brāhmaëas; namasyāmaù—we offer our respects; ye—who; asmat-rūpam—the form of ourselves (Çiva, Brahmā and Viñëu);

trayé-mayam—represented by the three Vedas; bibhrati—carry; ātma-samādhāna—by meditative trance focused on the Self; tapau—by austerities; svādhyāya—by study; saàyamaiù—and by following regulative principles.

TRANSLATION

By meditating upon the Supreme Soul, performing austerities, engaging in Vedic study and following regulative principles, the brāhmaëas sustain within themselves the three Vedas, which are nondifferent from Lord Viñëu, Lord Brahmä and me. Therefore I offer my obeisances unto the brāhmaëas.

PURPORT

A pure devotee of the Supreme Lord is considered the most elevated of brāhmaëas, since all spiritual endeavor culminates in the loving service of God.

TEXT 25

™avaNAAÚ"zARnaAã"Aipa mah"ApaAtaik(naAe'ipa va:
zAuDyaer"^aantyajaAêAipa ik(mau s$amBaASaNAAd"iBa:

çravaëäd darçanäd väpi
mahä-pätakino 'pi vaù
çudhyerann antya-jäç cäpi
kim u sambhãñaëädibhiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çravaëät—by hearing about; darçanät—by seeing; vä—or; api—also; mahä-pätakinaù—those who commit the worst kinds of sins; api—even; vaù—you; çudhyeran—they become purified; antya-jäù—outcastes;

ca—and; api—even; kim u—what to speak of; sambhāṇāḍa-ādibhiṁ—by directly speaking with, and so on.

TRANSLATION

Even the worst sinners and social outcastes are purified just by hearing about or seeing personalities like you. Imagine, then, how purified they become by directly speaking with you.

TEXT 26

s$āUta ovaAca
wita can%"lalaAmasya DamaRgA÷Aepaba{Mih"tama, vacaAe'ma{taAyanama{iSar," naAta{pyatk(NARyaAe: ipabana,

sūta uvāca
iti candra-lalāmasya
dharma-gahyopabāḥitam
vaco 'mātāyanam āṇir
nātāpyat karēayoṁ piban

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaṁ uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmé said; iti—thus; candra-lalāmasya—of Lord Çiva, who is decorated with the moon; dharma-guhyā—with the secret essence of religion; upabāḥitam—filled; vaco—the words; amāta-ayanam—the reservoir of nectar; āṇiṁ—the sage; na atāpyat—did not feel satiated; karēayoṁ—with his ears; piban—drinking.

TRANSLATION

Sūta Gosvāmé said: Drinking with his ears Lord Çiva's nectarean words, full of the confidential essence of religion, Mārkaḍēya Āṇi could not be satiated.

PURPORT

Mārkaëðeya Āñi was not eager to hear himself praised by Lord Çiva, but he appreciated Lord Çiva's deep realization of religious principles and therefore desired to hear more.

TEXT 27

s$a icarM" maAyayaA ivaSNAAer," "aAimata: k(izARtaAe Ba{zAma, izAvavaAgAma{taDvasta-flaezApauĀastama“avalta,

*sa ciraâ mâyayâ viñëor
bhrämitaù karçito bhâçam
çiva-väg-amâta-dhvasta-kleça-pui jas tam abravêt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he; ciram—for a long time; mâyayâ—by the illusory energy; viñëou—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu; bhrämitaù—made to wander; karçitaù—exhausted; bhâçam—extremely; çiva—of Lord Çiva; väg-amâta—by the words of nectar; dhvasta—destroyed; kleça-pui jaù—his heaps of suffering; tam—to him; abravêt—spoke.

TRANSLATION

Mārkaëðeya, having been forced by Lord Viñëu's illusory energy to wander about for a long time in the water of dissolution, had become extremely exhausted. But Lord Çiva's words of nectar vanquished his accumulated suffering. Thus he addressed Lord Çiva.

PURPORT

Mārkaëðeya Āṇi had desired to see Lord Viñëu's illusory energy and had suffered extensive miseries. But now, in the person of Çiva, Lord Viñëu again appeared before the sage and relieved all his suffering by imparting blissful spiritual instructions.

TEXT 28

™almaAkR(Nxe"ya ovaAca
@h"Ae wRir"lallaeyaM
äu"ivaRBaAvyaA zAr"lir"NAAma, ya^aamantalizAtavyaAina stauvainta jagAd"lir"A:

çré-mārkaëðeya uvāca
aho éçvara-léleyaà
durvibhāvyā çarériëām
yan namantéçitavyāni
stuvanti jagad-éçvarāu

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-mārkaëðeyaù uvāca—Çré Mārkaëðeya said; aho—ah; éçvara—of the great lords; lélä—the pastime; iyam—this; durvibhāvyā—inconceivable; çarériëām—for embodied souls; yat—since; namanti—they offer obeisances; éçitavyāni—to those who are controlled by them; stuvanti—they praise; jagat-éçvarāu—the rulers of the universe.

TRANSLATION

Çré Mārkaëðeya said: It is indeed most difficult for embodied souls to understand the pastimes of the universal controllers, for such lords bow down to and offer praise to the very living beings they rule.

PURPORT

In the material world, conditioned souls strive to lord it over one another. Therefore they cannot understand the pastimes of the actual lords of the universe. Such bona fide lords have a wonderfully magnanimous mentality and thus sometimes bow down to the most qualified and saintly among their own subjects.

TEXT 29

Dama< faAh"iyatauM 'aAya:
'ava·(Ar"ê de"ih"naAma, @Acar"ntyanaumaAed"ntae
i,(yamaANAM stauvainta ca

*dharmaà grāhayituà prāyaù pravaktāraç ca dehinām
ācaranty anumodante
kriyamāëaà stuvanti ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dharmam—religion; grāhayitum—to cause the acceptance of; prāyaù—for the most part; pravaktāraù—the authorized speakers; ca—and; dehinām—for ordinary embodied souls; ācaranti—they act; anumodante—they encourage; kriyamāëam—one who is executing; stuvanti—they praise; ca—also.

TRANSLATION

Generally it is to induce embodied souls to accept religious principles that the authorized teachers of religion exhibit ideal behavior while encouraging and praising the proper behavior of others.

TEXT 30

naEtaAvataA BagAvata:
svamaAyaAmayava{iÔaiBa:
na äu"SyaetaAnauBaAvastaEr," maAiyana: ku(h"kM(yaTaA

naitävatä bhagavataù
sva-mäyā-maya-vāttibhiù
na duñyetānubhāvas tair
māyinaù kuhakaà yathā

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; etävatä—by such (a show of humility); bhagavataù—of the Personality of Godhead; sva-mäyā—of His own illusory energy; maya—consisting of; vāttibhiù—by the activities; na duñyeta—is not spoiled; anubhāvaù—the power; taiù—by them; māyinaù—of a magician; kuhakam—the tricks; yathā—just as.

TRANSLATION

This apparent humility is simply a show of mercy. Such behavior of the Supreme Lord and His personal associates, which the Lord effects by His own bewildering potency, does not spoil His power any more than a magician's powers are diminished by his exhibition of tricks.

TEXTS 31-32

s$a{"îe"dM" manas$aA ivaïma, @AtmanaAnau'aivazya ya:
gAuNAE: ku(vaRià"r"ABaAita k(taeRva sva«ää{"gyaTaA

tasmaE namaAe BagAvatae
i†agAuNAAYa gAuNAAtmanae

ke(ṽalaAyaAiā"talyaAya
gAur"vae "aōmaUtaRyae

*sāñōvedaḥ manasā viçvam ātmanānupraviçya yaù
guëaiù kurvadbhir ābhāti
karteva svapna-dāg yathā*

*tasmai namo bhagavate
tri-guëāya guëātmane
kevalāyādvitēyāya
gurave brahma-mūrtaye*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sāñōvā—creating; idam—this; manasā—by His mind, simply by His desire; viçvam—the universe; ātmanā—as the Supersoul; anupraviçya—subsequently entering; yaù—who; guëaiù—by the modes of nature; kurvadbhiù—which are acting; ābhāti—appears; kartā iva—as if the doer; svapna-dāk—a person who is seeing a dream; yathā—as; tasmai—unto Him; namaù—obeisances; bhagavate—unto the Supreme Personality of Godhead; tri-guëāya—who possesses the three modes of nature; guëa-ātmane—who is the ultimate controller of the modes of nature; kevalāya—to the pure; advitēyāya—who has no equal; gurave—the supreme spiritual master; brahma-mūrtaye—the personal form of the Absolute Truth.

TRANSLATION

I offer my obeisances to that Supreme Personality of Godhead, who has created this entire universe simply by His desire and then entered into it as the Supersoul. By making the modes of nature act, He seems to be the direct creator of this world, just as a dreamer seems to be acting within his dream. He is the owner and ultimate controller of the three modes of nature, yet He remains alone and pure, without any equal. He is the supreme spiritual master of all, the original personal form of the Absolute Truth.

PURPORT

The Supreme Lord releases His material potencies, and by their interaction creation takes place. The Lord remains aloof, as the supreme transcendental entity. Still, because the entire creation unfolds according to His design and will, His controlling hand is perceived within all things. People thus imagine that God is the direct builder of this world, although He remains aloof, creating through the manipulation of His multifarious potencies.

TEXT 33

kM(va{NAe nau parM" BaUmana, varM" tvaã"r"d"zARnaAta, yaÚ"zARnaAtpaUNARk(Ama:
s$atyak(Ama: paumaAna, Bavaeta,

*kaà vâëe nu paraà bhüman
varaà tvad vara-darçanät
yad-darçanät pürëa-kämaù
satya-kämaù pumän bhavet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kam—what; vâëe—shall I choose; nu—indeed; param—other; bhüman—O all-pervading lord; varam—benediction; tvat—from you; vara-darçanät—the sight of whom is itself the highest benediction; yat—of whom; darçanät—from the seeing; pürëa-kämaù—full in all desires; satya-kämaù—able to achieve anything desired; pumän—a person; bhavet—becomes.

TRANSLATION

O all-pervading lord, since I have received the benediction of seeing you, what other benediction can I ask for? Simply by seeing you, a person fulfills all his desires and can achieve anything imaginable.

TEXT 34

var"maekM(va{NAe'TaAipa paUNAARtk(AmaAiBavaSaRNAAta, BagAvatyacyautaAM Bai·M( tatpare"Sau taTaA tvaiya

*varam ekaà vâëe 'thäpi pürëät kāmābhivarñāëät
bhagavaty acyutāà bhaktià
tat-pareñu tathā tvayi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

varam—benediction; ekam—one; vâëe—I request; atha api—nevertheless; pürëät—from him who is completely full; kāma-abhivarñāëät—who showers down the fulfillment of desires; bhagavati—for the Supreme Personality of Godhead; acyutām—infallible; bhaktim—devotional service; tat-pareñu—for those who are dedicated to Him; tathā—and also; tvayi—for yourself.

TRANSLATION

But I do request one benediction from you, who are full of all perfection and able to shower down the fulfillment of all desires. I ask to have unfailing devotion for the Supreme Personality of Godhead and for His dedicated devotees, especially you.

PURPORT

The words tat-pareñu tathā tvayi clearly indicate that Lord Çiva is a devotee of the Supreme Lord, not the Supreme Lord Himself. Because the representative of God is offered the same protocol as God Himself, Märkaëöeya Āñi addressed Lord Çiva as "lord" in previous verses. But now it is clearly revealed that, as stated throughout Vedic literature, Lord Çiva is an eternal servant of God and not God Himself.

Desire manifests itself within the mind and heart according to the subtle laws governing consciousness. Pure desire to engage in the loving service of the Lord brings one to the most exalted platform of consciousness, and such a perfect understanding of life is available only by the special mercy of the Lord's devotees.

TEXT 35

s$aUta ovaAca
wtyaicaRtaAe'iBaĩ"taê mauinanaA s$aU·(yaA igAr"A tamaAh" BagAvaAHC$vaR:
zAvaRyaA caAiBanaind"ta:

sūta uvāca
ity arcito 'bhiñōutaç ca
muninā sūktayā girā tam āha bhagavāi charvaù
çarvayā cābhinanditaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaù uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmé said; iti—in these words; arcitaù—worshiped; abhiñōutaù—glorified; ca—and; muninā—by the sage; su-uktayā—well-spoken; girā—with words; tam—to him; āha—spoke; bhagavān çarvaù—Lord Çiva; çarvayā—by his consort, Çarvā; ca—and; abhinanditaù—encouraged.

TRANSLATION

Sūta Gosvāmé said: Thus worshiped and glorified by the eloquent statements of the sage Märkaëðeya, Lord Çarva [Çiva], encouraged by his consort, replied to him as follows.

TEXT 36

k(AmaAe mah"SaeR s$avaAeR'yaM Bai·(maAMstvamaDaAe°ajae @Ak(lpaAntaAâzA: pauNyama, @jar"Amar"taA taTaA

*kāmo maharñe sarvo 'yaà bhaktimāàs tvam adhokñaje ä-kalpāntād yaçaù puëyam
ajarāmaratā tathā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kāmaù—desire; mahā-āñe—O great sage; sarvaù—all; ayam—this;
bhakti-män—full of devotion; tvam—you; adhokñaje—for the transcendental Personality of Godhead; ä—kalpa-antāt—up until the end of the day of Brahmā; yaçaù—fame; puëyam—pious; ajara-amaratā—freedom from old age and death; tathā—also.

TRANSLATION

O great sage, because you are devoted to Lord Adhokñaja, all your desires will be fulfilled. Until the very end of this creation cycle, you will enjoy pious fame and freedom from old age and death.

TEXT 37

ÁaAnaM þaEk(AilakM(“aöna, ivaÁaAnaM ca ivar"i·(mata, “aövacaRisvanaAe BaUyaAta, paur"ANAAcaAyaRtaAstau tae

jī ānaà trai-kālīkaà brahman

vijī ānaà ca viraktimat brahma-varcasvino bhüyät puräëäcäryatästu te

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jī ānam—knowledge; trai-kālikam—of all three phases of time (past, present and future); brahman—O brāhmaëa; vijī ānam—transcendental realization; ca—also; virakti-mat—including renunciation; brahma-varcasvinau—of him who is endowed with brahminical potency; bhüyät—let there be; puräëa-äcäryatä—the status of being a teacher of the Puräëas; astu—may there be; te—of you.

TRANSLATION

O brāhmaëa, may you have perfect knowledge of past, present and future, along with transcendental realization of the Supreme, enriched by renunciation. You have the brilliance of an ideal brāhmaëa, and thus may you achieve the post of spiritual master of the Puräëas.

TEXT 38

s$aUta ovaAca
WvaM var"Ana, s$a maunayae
d"ÔvaAgAAÔr,"ya°a wRîr":
de"vyaE tatk(maR k(Tayaªa, @nauBaUtaM paura" AmaunaA

süta uväca
evaà varän sa munaye
dattvägät try-akñä eçvaraù
devyai tat-karma kathayann anubhütaà purämunä

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaù uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmé said; evam—in this way; varān—benedictions; saù—he; munaye—to the sage; dattvā—giving; agāt—went; tri-akñāù—he who has three eyes; ēçvaraù—Lord Çiva; devyai—to goddess Pārvaté; tat-karma—the activities of Mārkaëðeya; kathayan—recounting; anubhūtam—what was experienced; purā—before; amunā—by him, Mārkaëðeya.

TRANSLATION

Sūta Gosvāmé said: Having thus granted Mārkaëðeya Āñi benedictions, Lord Çiva went on his way, continuing to describe to goddess Devé the accomplishments of the sage and the direct exhibition of the Lord's illusory power that he had experienced.

TEXT 39

s$Aae'pyavaAæamah"AyaAegA-maih"maA BaAgARvaAeÔama: ivacar"tyaDaunaApyaÜ"A h"r"Avaek(AntataAM gAta:

so 'py avāpta-mahā-yoga-mahimā bhārgavottamaù
vicaraty adhunāpy addhā
harāv ekāntatāà gataù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—he, Mārkaëðeya; api—indeed; avāpta—having achieved; mahā-yoga—of the topmost perfection of yoga; mahimā—the glories; bhārgava-uttamaù—the best descendant of Bhāgu; vicarati—is traveling about; adhunā api—even today; addhā—directly; harau—for Lord Hari; eka-antatām—the platform of exclusive devotion; gataù—having attained.

TRANSLATION

Mārkaëðeya Āñi, the best of the descendants of Bhāgu, is glorious because of his achievement of perfection in mystic yoga. Even today he travels about this world, fully absorbed in unalloyed devotion for the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 40

@nauvaiNARtamaetaÔae maAkR(Nxe"yasya Dalmata:
@nauBaUtaM BagAvataAe
maAyaAvaEBavamaàu"tama,

*anuvareitam etat te mārkaëðeyasya dhémataù
anubhūtaà bhagavato
māyā-vaibhavam adbhutam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anuvareitam—described; etat—this; te—to you; mārkaëðeyasya—by Mārkaëðeya; dhé-mataù—the intelligent; anubhūtam—experienced; bhagavataù—of the Personality of Godhead; māyā-vaibhavam—the opulence of the illusory energy; adbhutam—amazing.

TRANSLATION

I have thus narrated to you the activities of the highly intelligent sage Mārkaëðeya, especially how he experienced the amazing power of the Supreme Lord's illusory energy.

TEXT 41

Wtatke(icad"ivaã"AMs$aAe maAyaAs$aMs$a{itar"Atmana:
@naAâAvaitaRtaM na|NAAM
k(Ad"AicatKM('aca^oatae

*etat kecid avidvâsa
mâyâ-saâsâtir âtmanaù
anâdy-âvartitaâ nêëââ
kâdâcitkaâ pracakñate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; kecit—some persons; avidvâsaù—who are not learned; mâyâ-saâsâtîù—the illusory creation; âtmanaù—of the Supreme Soul; anâdi—from time immemorial; âvartitam—repeating; nêëâm—of conditioned living beings; kâdâcitkam—unprecedented; pracakñate—they say.

TRANSLATION

Although this event was unique and unprecedented, some unintelligent persons compare it to the cycle of illusory material existence the Supreme Lord has created for the conditioned souls—an endless cycle that has been continuing since time immemorial.

PURPORT

Mārkaṇḍeya's being drawn into the Lord's body by His inhalation and expelled again by His exhalation should not be considered a symbolic description of the perennial cycles of material creation and annihilation. This portion of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam describes a real, historical event experienced by a great devotee of the Lord, and those trying to relegate this story to mere symbolic allegory are here declared to be unintelligent fools.

TEXT 42

ya Wvamaetaà{"gAuvayaR vaiNARtaM
r"TaAËÿpaANAer"nauBaAvaBaAivatama,
s$aM™aAvayaets$aMZa{NAuyaAäu" taAvauBaAE tayaAenaR k(maARzAyas$aMs$a{itaBaR"vaeta,

*ya evam etad bhāgu-varya varëitaà rathāi ga-päëer anubhāva-bhāvitam saàçrāvayet saàçäëuyäd u tāv ubhau
tayor na karmāçaya-saàsâtir bhavet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—who; evam—thus; etat—this; bhāgu-varya—O best of the descendants of Bhāgu (Çaunaka); varëitam—described; ratha-aì ga-päëeù—of Lord Çré Hari, who carries a chariot wheel in His hand; anubhāva—with the potency; bhāvitam—infused; saàçrāvayet—causes anyone to hear; saàçäëuyät—himself hears; u—or; tau—they; ubhau—both; tayou—of them; na—not; karma-äçaya—based on the mentality of fruitive work; saàsätü—the cycle of material life; bhavet—there is.

TRANSLATION

O best of the Bhāgus, this account concerning Märkaëöeya Āñi conveys the transcendental potency of the Supreme Lord. Anyone who properly narrates or hears it will never again undergo material existence, which is based on the desire to perform fruitive activities.

*Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C.
Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupāda to the Twelfth Canto, Tenth Chapter of the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, entitled "Lord Çiva and Umä Glorify Märkaëöeya Āñi."*

11. Summary Description of the Mahāpuruṇa

In the context of worship, this chapter describes the Mahāpuruṇa and the various expansions of the sun in each month. Çré Sūta first tells Çaunaka Āṇi about the material objects through which one can understand the major limbs, the secondary limbs, the weapons and the garments of Lord Çré Hari. Then he outlines the process of practical service by which a mortal soul can attain immortality. When Çaunaka shows further interest in learning about the expansion of Lord Hari in the form of the sungod, Sūta replies that Lord Çré Hari-the indwelling controller of the universe and its original creator-manifests Himself in the form of the demigod of the sun. Sages describe this sun-god in many features according to his different material designations. To sustain the world, the Personality of Godhead manifests His potency of time as the sun and travels throughout the twelve months, beginning with Caitra, along with twelve sets of personal associates. One who remembers the opulences of the Personality of Godhead Çré Hari in His form as the sun will become free of his sinful reactions.

TEXT 1

™alzAAEnak(ovaAca
@TaemamaTa< pa{cC$AmaAe BavantaM baò"ivaÔamama,
s$amastatanṭar"AÜ"Antae BavaAna, BaAgAvata taÔvaivata,

çré-çaunaka uvāca
athemam arthaà pācchāmo
bhavantaà bahu-vittamam
samasta-tantra-rāddhānte

bhavän bhägavata tattva-vit

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çaunakaù uväca—Çré Çaunaka said; atha—now; imam—this; artham—matter; pácchämaù—we are inquiring about; bhavantam—from you; bahu-vit-tamam—the possessor of the broadest knowledge; samasta—of all; tantra—the scriptures prescribing practical methods of worship; räddha-ante—in the definitive conclusions; bhavän—you; bhagavata—O great devotee of the Supreme Lord; tattva-vit—the knower of the essential facts.

TRANSLATION

Çré Çaunaka said: O Sūta, you are the best of learned men and a great devotee of the Supreme Lord. Therefore we now inquire from you about the definitive conclusion of all tantra scriptures.

TEXTS 2-3

taAinḥak(A: pair"cayaARyaAM
ke(valasya iTMaya: patae: @ËÿAepaAËÿAyauDaAk(lpaM
k(lpayainta yaTaA ca yaE:

ta^aaAe vaNARya Ba%oM" tae
i,(yaAyaAegAM bauBauts$ataAma, yaena i,(yaAnaEpauNAena matyaAeR yaAyaAd"matyaRtaAma,

*tāntrikāu paricaryāyāà
kevalasya çriyau pateu
aì gopāi gāyudhākalpaà
kalpayanti yathā ca yaiu*

tan no varēaya bhadraà te

*kriyā-yogaḥ bubhutsatām
yena kriyā-naipuḥena
martyo yāyāt amartyatām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tāntrikāḥ—the followers of the methods of the tantric literatures; paricaryāyām—in regulated worship; kevalasya—who is pure spirit; ṣrēyāḥ—of the goddess of fortune; pateḥ—of the master; aṅga—His limbs, such as His feet; upāṅga—His secondary limbs, such as associates like Garuḍa; āyudha—His weapons, such as the Sudarṣana disc; ākāṣa—and His ornaments, such as the Kaustubha gem; kalpayanti—they conceive of; yathā—how; ca—and; yaiḥ—by which (material representations); tat—that; naḥ—to us; varēya—please describe; bhadrām—all-auspiciousness; te—unto you; kriyā-yogam—the practical method of cultivation; bubhutsatām—who are eager to learn; yena—by which; kriyā—in the systematic practice; naipuḥena—expertise; martyaḥ—a mortal being; yāyāt—may attain; amartyatām—immortality.

TRANSLATION

All good fortune to you! Please explain to us, who are very eager to learn, the process of kriyā-yoga practiced through regulated worship of the transcendental Lord, the husband of the goddess of fortune. Please also explain how the Lord's devotees conceive of His limbs, associates, weapons and ornaments in terms of particular material representations. By expertly worshipping the Supreme Lord, a mortal can attain immortality.

TEXT 4

s$Auta ovaAca
namas$K{(tya gAuè&na, va°yae ivaBaUtalvaE=SNavalr"ipa yaA: 'aAe·(A vaed"tanḥaAByaAma,

@AcaAyaE=: paájaAid"iBa:

*süta uvāca
namaskātya gurūn vakīye
vibhūtér vaiñēavér api
yāu proktā veda-tantrābhyām
ācāryaiù padmajādibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sütaù uvāca—Süta Gosvāmé said; namaskātya—offering obeisances; gurūn—to the spiritual masters; vakīye—I shall speak; vibhūtēù—the opulences; vaiñēavēù—belonging to Lord Viñēu; api—indeed; yāù—which; proktāù—are described; veda-tantrābhyām—by the Vedas and the tantras; ācāryaiù—by standard authorities; padmaja-ādibhiù—beginning with Lord Brahmä.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvāmé said: Offering obeisances to my spiritual masters, I shall repeat to you the description of the opulences of Lord Viñēu given in the Vedas and tantras by great authorities, beginning from lotus-born Brahmä.

TEXT 5

maAyaAâEnaRvaiBastaÔvaE:
s$ä ivak(Ar"mayaAe ivar"Aq%.
inaimaRtaAe ä{"zyatae yaṭa
s$aicatke(Bauvanaṭayama,

*mäyādyair navabhis tattvaiù
sa vikāra-mayo virāò
nirmīto dācyate yatra
sa-citke bhuvana-trayam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mâyä-ädyaiù—beginning with the unmanifest stage of nature; navabhiù—with the nine; tattvaiù—elements; saù—that; vikāra-mayaù—also comprising the transformations (of the eleven senses and the five gross elements); viräù—the universal form of the Lord; nirmitaù—constructed; dācyate—are seen; yatra—in which; sa-citke—being conscious; bhuvana-trayam—the three planetary systems.

TRANSLATION

The universal form [viräù] of the Personality of Godhead includes the nine basic elements of creation, starting with the unmanifest nature, and their subsequent transformations. Once this universal form is instilled with consciousness, the three planetary systems become visible within it.

PURPORT

The nine basic elements of creation are prakāti, sūtra, mahat-tattva, false ego, and the five subtle perceptions. The transformations are the eleven senses and the five gross material elements.

TEXTS 6-8

WtaãE" paAEç&SaM è&paM BaU: paAd"AE âAE: izAr"Ae naBa:
naAiBa: s$aUyaAeR'i°aNAI naAs$ae vaAyau: k(NAAE= id"zA: 'aBaAe:
'ajaApaita: 'ajananama,

@paAnaAe ma{tyaur"lizAtau:
taß"Ah"vaAe laAek(paAlaA
manaên%"Ae "auvaAE yama:
laÀaAeÔar"Ae'Dar"Ae laAeBaAe

d"ntaA jyaAetpuaA smayaAe "ama:
r"AemaAiNA BaUç&h"A BaU°aAe
maeGaA: pauç&SamaUDaRjaA:

*etat vai pauruṇāṇā rūpāṇā
bhūṇā pādau dyauṇā ciro nabhaṇā nābhiṇā sūryo 'kñīṇā nāse vāyuṇā karēau diṇāṇā prabhoṇā*

*prajāpatiṇā prajānanam
apāṇā mātyur eṇitiṇā
tat-bāhavo loka-pālā
manaṇā candro bhruvau yamaṇā*

*lajjottaro 'dharo lobho
dantā jyotsnā smayo bhramaṇā
romāṇā bhūruḥā bhūmno
meghāṇā puruṇā-mūrdhajāṇā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—this; vai—indeed; pauruṇāṇā—of the Virāṇ-puruṇā; rūpāṇā—the form; bhūṇā—the earth; pādau—His feet; dyauṇā—heaven; ciro—His head; nabhaṇā—the sky; nābhiṇā—His navel; sūryo—the sun; akñīṇā—His eyes; nāse—His nostrils; vāyuṇā—the air; karēau—His ears; diṇāṇā—the directions; prabhoṇā—of the Supreme Lord; prajā-patiṇā—the demigod of procreation; prajānanam—His genital; apāṇā—His anus; mātyuṇā—death; eṇitiṇā—of the absolute controller; tat-bāhavaṇā—His many arms; loka-pālāṇā—the presiding demigods of the various planets; manaṇā—His mind; candraṇā—the moon; bhruvau—His eyebrows; yamaṇā—the god of death; lajjā—shame; uttaraṇā—His upper lip; adharaṇā—His lower lip; lobhaṇā—greed; dantāṇā—His teeth; jyotsnā—the light of the moon; smayaṇā—His smile; bhramaṇā—delusion; romāṇā—the hairs of the body; bhū-ruḥāṇā—the trees; bhūmnaṇā—of the almighty Lord; meghāṇā—the clouds; puruṇā—of the Virāṇ-puruṇā; mūrdha-jāṇā—the hairs upon the head.

TRANSLATION

This is the representation of the Supreme Lord as the universal person, in which the earth is His feet, the sky His navel, the sun His eyes, the wind His nostrils, the demigod of procreation His genitals, death His anus and the moon His mind. The heavenly planets are His head, the directions His ears, and the demigods protecting the various planets His many arms. The god of death is His eyebrows, shame His lower lip, greed His upper lip, delusion His smile, and moonshine His teeth, while the trees are the almighty Puruṇa's bodily hairs, and the clouds the hair on His head.

PURPORT

Various aspects of material creation, such as the earth, the sun and the trees, are sustained by various limbs of the universal body of the Lord. Thus they are considered nondifferent from Him, as described in this verse, which is meant for meditation.

TEXT 9

yaAvaAnayaM vaE pauç&SaAe yaAvatyA s$aMsTayaA imata:
taAvaAnas$aAvaipa mah"Apauç&SaAe laAek(s$aMsTayaA

*yāvān ayaṁ vai puruṇa
yāvatyā saṁsthayā mitaṁ
tāvān asāv api mahāpuruṇo loka-saṁsthayā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yāvān—to which extent; ayaṁ—this; vai—indeed; puruṇaṁ—ordinary individual person; yāvatyā—extending to which dimensions; saṁsthayā—by the position of his limbs; mitaṁ—measured; tāvān—to that extent;

asau—He; api—also; mahā-puruṇāu—the transcendental personality; loka-saṁsthayā—according to the positions of the planetary systems.

TRANSLATION

Just as one can determine the dimensions of an ordinary person of this world by measuring his various limbs, one can determine the dimensions of the Mahāpuruṇa by measuring the arrangement of the planetary systems within His universal form.

TEXT 10

k(AEstauBavyapade"zAena
svaAtmajyaAeitaibaRBatyaRja:
tat'aBaA vyaAipanal s$A^oaAta, ™alvats$amaur"s$A ivaBau:

kaustubha-vyapadeṣena
svātma-jyotir bibharti ajaù
tat-prabhā vyāpiné sāknāt
ṣṛévatsam urasā vibhuù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kaustubha-vyapadeṣena—represented by the Kaustubha gem; sva-ātma—of the pure jēva soul; jyotiù—the spiritual light; bibharti—carries; ajaù—the unborn Lord; tat-prabhā—the effulgence of this (Kaustubha); vyāpiné—expansive; sāknāt—directly; ṣṛévatsam—of the Ṣṛévatsa mark; urasā—upon His chest; vibhuù—the almighty.

TRANSLATION

Upon His chest the almighty, unborn Personality of Godhead bears the Kaustubha gem, which represents the pure spirit soul, along with the Ṣṛévatsa mark, which is the direct manifestation of this gem's expansive effulgence.

TEXTS 11-12

svamaAyaAM vanamaAlaAKyaAM naAnaAgAuNAmayal%M d"Data, vaAs$azC$nd"AemayaM paltaM “aös$aUṭaM iṭava{tsvar"ma,

ibaBaitaR s$aAËÿYaM yaAegAM ca de"vaAe mak(r"ku(Nx"lae maAËilaM padM" paAr"maeï"YaM s$avaRlaAek(ABayaAËÿr"ma,

sva-mäyāà vana-mälākhyāà
nānā-guëa-mayéà dadhat
vāsaç chando-mayaà pétaà
brahma-sūtraà tri-vât svaram

bibharti sāi khyāà yogaà ca
devo makara-kuëòale
maulià padaà pärameññhyaà
sarva-lokābhayaì -karam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sva-mäyām—His own material energy; vana-mälä-ākhyām—represented as His flower garland; nānā-guëa—various combinations of the modes of nature; mayém—composed of; dadhat—wearing; vāsaù—His garment; chandaù-mayam—consisting of the Vedic meters; pétam—yellow; brahma-sūtram—His sacred thread; tri-vât—threefold; svaram—the sacred sound oàkāra; bibharti—He carries; sāi khyam—the process of Sāi khyā; yogam—the process of yoga; ca—and; devaù—the Lord; makara-kuëòale—His shark-shaped earrings; maulim—His crown; padam—the position; pärameññhyam—supreme (of Lord Brahmā); sarva-loka—to all the worlds; abhayam—fearlessness; karam—which gives.

TRANSLATION

His flower garland is His material energy, comprising various combinations of the modes of nature. His yellow garment is the Vedic meters, and His sacred thread is the syllable oâ composed of three sounds. In the form of His two shark-shaped earrings, the Lord carries the processes of Sâi khya and yoga, and His crown, bestowing fearlessness on the inhabitants of all the worlds, is the supreme position of Brahmaloka.

TEXT 13

@vyaAk{(tamanantaAKyama,
@As$anaM yad"iDaiï"ta: DamaRÁaAnaAid"iBayauR·M( s$aÔvaM paáimah"Aecyatae

avyākātam anantākhyam
āsanaà yad-adhiññhitaù dharma-jī ānādibhir yuktaà
sattvaà padmam ihocyate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

avyākātam—the unmanifest phase of material creation;
ananta-ākhyam—known as Lord Ananta; āsanam—His personal seat;
yat-adhiññhitaù—upon which He is sitting; dharma-jī āna-ādibhiù—together with religion, knowledge and so on; yuktam—conjoined; sattvam—in the mode of goodness; padmam—His lotus; iha—thereupon; ucyate—is said.

TRANSLATION

Ananta, the Lord's sitting place, is the unmanifest phase of material nature, and the Lord's lotus throne is the mode of goodness, endowed with religion and knowledge.

TEXTS 14-15

@Aeja:s$ah"AebalayautaM mauKyataÔvaM gAd"AM d"Data, @paAM taÔvaM d"r"varM" taejastaÔvaM s$aud"zARnama,

naBaAeinaBaM naBastaÔvama, @is$aM camaR tamaAemayama, k(Alaè&paM Danau: zAAË<ÿ taTaA k(maRmayaeSauiDama,

ojaù-saho-bala-yutaà
mukhya-tattvaà gadäà dadhat
apäà tattvaà dara-varaà
tejas-tattvaà sudarçanam

nabho-nibhaà nabhas-tattvam asià carma tamo-mayam
kāla-rūpaà dhanuù çäri gaà
tathā karma-mayeñudhim

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ojaù-sahaù-bala—with the power of the senses, the power of the mind and the power of the body; yutam—conjoined; mukhya-tattvam—the principle element, air, which is the vital force within the material body; gadām—His club; dadhat—carrying; apām—of water; tattvam—the element; dara—His conchshell; varam—excellent; tejaù-tattvam—the element fire; sudarçanam—His Sudarçana disc; nabhaù-nibham—just like the sky; nabhaù-tattvam—the element ether; asim—His sword; carma—His shield; tamaù-mayam—composed of the mode of ignorance; kāla-rūpam—appearing as time; dhanuù—His bow; çäri gam—named Çäri ga; tathā—and; karma-maya—representing the active senses; iñu-dhim—the quiver holding His arrows.

TRANSLATION

The club the Lord carries is the chief element, prāëa, incorporating the potencies of sensory, mental and physical strength. His excellent conchshell is the element water, His Sudarçana disc the element fire, and His sword, pure as the sky, the element ether. His shield embodies the mode of ignorance, His bow, named Çärì ga, time, and His arrow-filled quiver the working sensory organs.

TEXT 16

win%o"yaAiNA zAr"AnaAò"r," @AkU(talr"sya syand"nama, tanmaAḥaANyasyaAiBavyai·M( mau"%o"yaATaRi,(yaAtmataAma,

*indriyāëi çarān āhur ākūtēr asya syandanam
tan-mātrāëy asyābhivyaktiā
mudrayārtha-kriyātmatām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

indriyāëi—the senses; çarān—His arrows; āhu—they say; ākūtē—(the mind with its) active functions; asya—of Him; syandanam—the chariot; tat-mātrāëi—the objects of perception; asya—His; abhivyaktim—external appearance; mudrayā—by the gestures of His hands (symbolizing the giving of benedictions, the offering of fearlessness, and so on); artha-kriyā-ātmatām—the essence of purposeful activity.

TRANSLATION

His arrows are said to be the senses, and His chariot is the active, forceful mind. His external appearance is the subtle objects of perception, and the gestures of His hands are the essence of all purposeful activity.

PURPORT

All activity is ultimately aimed at the supreme perfection of life, and this perfection is awarded by the merciful hands of the Lord. The gestures of the Lord remove all fear from the heart of a devotee and elevate him to the Lord's own association in the spiritual sky.

TEXT 17

maNx"laM de"vayajanaM
d"l^oaA s$amS$k(Ar" @Atmana:
pair"cayaAR BagAvata @AtmanaAe äu"ir"ta^oaya:

*maëòalaà deva-yajanaà
dékñä saàskära ätmanaù
paricaryä bhagavata
ätmano durita-kñayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

maëòalam—the sun globe; deva-yajanam—the place where the Supreme Lord is worshiped; dékñä—spiritual initiation; saàskäraù—the process of purification; ätmanaù—for the spirit soul; paricaryä—devotional service; bhagavataù—of the Personality of Godhead; ätmanaù—for the jéva soul; durita—of sinful reactions; kñayaù—the destruction.

TRANSLATION

The sun globe is the place where the Supreme Lord is worshiped, spiritual initiation is the means of purification for the spirit soul, and rendering devotional service to the Personality of Godhead is the process for eradicating all one's sinful reactions.

PURPORT

One should meditate on the fiery sun globe as a place where God is worshiped. Lord Kâñëa is the reservoir of all effulgence, and thus it is fitting that He be properly worshiped on the glowing sun.

TEXT 18

BagAvaAna, BagAzAbd"ATa< lallaAk(malamauã"h"na, Dama< yazAê BagAvaAMzA,
caAmar"vyajanae'Bajata,

*bhagavän bhaga-çabdärthaà
lälä-kamalam udvahan
dharmaà yaçaç ca bhagaväàç
cämara-vyajane 'bhajat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhagavän—the Personality of Godhead; bhaga-çabda—of the word bhaga; artham—the meaning (namely, "opulence"); lälä-kamalam—His pastime lotus; udvahan—carrying; dharmam—religion; yaçaù—fame; ca—and; bhagavän—the Personality of Godhead; cämara-vyajane—the pair of yak-tail fans; abhajat—has accepted.

TRANSLATION

Playfully carrying a lotus, which represents the various opulences designated by the word bhaga, the Supreme Lord accepts service from a pair of cämara fans, which are religion and fame.

TEXT 19

@AtapaṭaM tau vaEku(NQM& iā"jaA DaAmaAku(taAeBayama, iṭava{āe"d": s$aupanaARKyaAe
yaÁaM vah"ita paUç&Sama,

*ätapatraà tu vaikuëöhaà
dvijä dhämäkuto-bhayam tri-vâd vedaù suparëäkhyo
yajî aà vahati pûruñam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ätapatram—His umbrella; tu—and; vaikuëöham—His spiritual abode, Vaikuëöha; dvijäù—O brähmaëas; dhäma—His personal abode, the spiritual world; akutaù-bhayam—free from fear; tri-vât—threefold; vedaù—the Veda; suparëa-äkhyau—named Suparëa, or Garuòà; yajî am—sacrifice personified; vahati—carried; pûruñam—the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

TRANSLATION

O brähmaëas, the Lord's umbrella is His spiritual abode, Vaikuëöha, where there is no fear, and Garuòà, who carries the Lord of sacrifice, is the threefold Veda.

TEXT 20

@napaAiyanal BagAvatal Za{wR: s$aA°aAd"AtmanaAe h"re":
ivaSva°aenastanṭamaUitaRr," ivaid"ta: paASaRd"AiDapa:
nand"Ad"yaAe'î"AÊ ã"A:sTaAê tae'iNAMAâA h"re"gAuRNAA:

*anapäyiné bhagavaté
çâéù säkñäd ätmano hareù
viñvakñenas tantra-mürtir*

viditaù pārṇadādhipaù nandādayo 'ñṇau dvāù-sthāç ca te 'ëimādyā harer guëäù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

anapāyiné—inseparable; bhagavaté—the goddess of fortune; çréù—Çré; sākiāt—directly; ātmanaù—of the internal nature; hareù—of Lord Hari; viñvaksenaù—Viñvaksena; tantra-mūrtiù—as the personification of the tantra scriptures; viditaù—is known; pārṇada-adhipaù—the chief of His personal associates; nanda-ādayaù—Nanda and the others; añṇau—the eight; dvāù-sthāù—doorkeepers; ca—and; te—they; aëimā-ādyäù—aëimā and the other mystic perfections; hareù—of the Supreme Lord; guëäù—the qualities.

TRANSLATION

The goddess of fortune, Çré, who never leaves the Lord's side, appears with Him in this world as the representation of His internal potency. Viñvaksena, the chief among His personal associates, is known to be the personification of the Pañcarātra and other tantras. And the Lord's eight doorkeepers, headed by Nanda, are His mystic perfections, beginning with aëimā.

PURPORT

According to Çréla Jéva Gosvāmé, the goddess of fortune is the original source of all material opulence. Material nature is directly controlled by the Lord's inferior energy, Mahā-māyā, whereas the goddess of fortune is His internal, superior energy. Still, the opulence of the Lord's inferior nature has its source in the supreme spiritual opulence of the goddess of fortune. As stated in Çré Hayaçérṇa Pañcarātra:

*paramātmā harir devas
tac-chaktiù çrér ihoditā*

*çrér devé prakâtiù proktä keçavaù puruññaù smâtaù
na viññeunä vinä devé
na hariù padmajäà vinä*

"The Supreme Soul is Lord Hari, and His potency is known in this world as Çré. Goddess Çré is known as prakâti, and the Supreme Lord Keçava is known as the puruñña. The divine goddess is never present without Him, nor does He ever appear without her."

Also, Çré Viññeu Puräëa (1.8.15) states:

*nityaiva sä jagan-mätä
viññeou çrér anapäyiné
yathä sarva-gato viññeus
tathaiveyaà dvijottamäù*

"She is the eternal mother of the universe, the goddess of fortune of Lord Viññeu, and she is never separated from Him. In the same way that Lord Viññeu is present everywhere, so is she, O best of brähmaëas."

Also in Viññeu Puräëa (1.9.140):

*evaà yathä jagat-sväme
deva-devo janärdanaù avatäraà karoty eva tathä çrés tat-sahäyiné*

"Thus, in the same way that the Lord of the universe, the God of gods, Janärdana, descends to this world, so His consort, the goddess of fortune, does also."

The pure spiritual status of the goddess of fortune is described in the Skanda Puräëa:

*aparaà tv akñaraà yä sä
prakâtir jaòä-rüpikä
çréù parä prakâtiù proktä*

cetanā viññeu-saṅṣrayā

*taṁ akīraṇaṁ paraṁ prāhuṁ parataṁ param akīraṇam
harir evākhila-guṇo 'py
akīraṇa-trayam īritam*

"The inferior infallible entity is that nature who manifests as the material world. The goddess of fortune, on the other hand, is known as the superior nature. She is pure consciousness and is under the direct shelter of Lord Viññeu. While she is said to be the superior infallible entity, that infallible entity who is greater than the greatest is Lord Hari Himself, the original possessor of all transcendental qualities. In this way, three distinct infallible entities are described."

Thus, although the inferior energy of the Lord is infallible in her function, her power to manifest temporary illusory opulences exists by the grace of the internal energy, the goddess of fortune, who is the personal consort of the Supreme Lord.

The Padma Purāṇa (256.9-21) lists eighteen doorkeepers of the Lord: Nanda, Sunanda, Jaya, Vijaya, Caṇḍa, Pracaṇḍa, Bhadra, Subhadra, Dhātā, Vidhātā, Kumuda, Kumudākīṇa, Pundarīkīṇa, Vāmana, Ṣaṁkara, Sarvanetra, Sumukha and Supratīṇhita.

TEXT 21

*vaAs$auḍe"va: s$aÆySaRNA:
'aāu°a: pauṣ&Sa: svayama, @inaṣ&Ü" wita "aōna,
maUitaRvyaUh"Ae'iBaDalyatae*

*vāsudevaṁ saṁ karṇāḍaṁ pradyumnaṁ puruṇaṁ svayam aniruddha iti brahman
mūrti-vyūho 'bhidhēyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vāsudevaù saì karīaëaù pradyumnaù—Vāsudeva, Saì karīaëa and Pradyumna; puruṇaù—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; svayam—Himself; aniruddhaù—Aniruddha; iti—thus; brahman—O brāhmaëa, Çaunaka; mūrti-vyūhaù—the expansion of personal forms; abhidhēyate—is designated.

TRANSLATION

Vāsudeva, Saì karīaëa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha are the names of the direct personal expansions of the Supreme Godhead, O brāhmaëa Çaunaka.

TEXT 22

s$a ivaistaEjas$a: 'aAÁas$a,
taur"lya wita va{iÔaiBa:
@TaeRin%"yaAzAyaÁaAnaEr," BagAvaAna, pair"BaAvyatae

sa viçvas taijasaù prāji as turēya iti vāttibhiù
arthendriyāçaya-jī ānair
bhagavān paribhāvyate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saù—He; viçvaù taijasaù prāji aù—the manifestations of waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep; turēyaù—the fourth, transcendental stage; iti—thus termed; vāttibhiù—by the functions; artha—by the external objects of perception; indriya—the mind; āçaya—covered consciousness; jī ānaiù—and spiritual knowledge; bhagavān—the Personality of Godhead; paribhāvyate—is conceived of.

TRANSLATION

One can conceive of the Supreme Personality of Godhead in terms of awakened consciousness, sleep and deep sleep—which function respectively through external objects, the mind and material intelligence—and also in terms of the fourth, transcendental level of consciousness, which is characterized by pure knowledge.

TEXT 23

@ËÿAepaAËÿAyauDaAk(lpaEr," BagAvaAMsta»atauí"yama, ibaBaitaR sma cataumaURitaRr," BagAvaAna, h"ir"r"lir":

*aì gopài gäyudhäkalpair
bhagaväàs tac catuññayam bibharti sma catur-mürtir
bhagavän harir éçvaraù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

aì ga—with His major limbs; upài ga—minor limbs; äyudha—weapons; äkalpaiù—and ornaments; bhagavän—the Personality of Godhead; tat catuññayam—these four manifestations (of viçva, taijasa, präjī a and turéya); bibharti—maintains; sma—indeed; catuù-mürtiù—in His four personal features (Väsudeva, Saì karñaëa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha); bhagavän—the Lord; hariù—Hari; éçvaraù—the supreme controller.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, thus appears in four personal expansions, each exhibiting major limbs, minor limbs, weapons and ornaments. Through these distinct features, the Lord maintains the four phases of existence.

PURPORT

The Lord's spiritual body, weapons, ornaments and associates are all pure transcendental existence, identical with Him.

TEXT 24

iā"ja[%SaBa s$a W Sa "aöyaAeina: svayaMä{"k,( svamaih"mapair"paUNAAeR maAyayaA ca svayaEtata,
s$a{jaita h"r"ita paAtaltyaAKyayaAnaAva{taA°aAe ivava{ta wva inaç&·(statparE"r"AtmalaBya:

*dvija-āñabha sa eña brahma-yoniù svaya-à-dāk
sva-mahima-paripürëo mēyayā ca svayaitat sājati harati pätēty ākhyayānāvātākño vivāta iva niruktas tat-parair ātma-labhyaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dvija-āñabha—O best of the brāhmaëas; saù eñaù—He alone;
brahma-yoniù—the source of the Vedas; svayam-dāk—who is self-illuminating; sva-mahima—in His own glory; paripürëaù—perfectly complete; mēyayā—by the material energy; ca—and; svayā—His own;
etat—this universe; sājati—He creates; harati—He withdraws; pāti—He maintains; iti ākhyayā—conceived of as such; anāvāta—uncovered; akñāù—His transcendental awareness; vivātaù—materially divided; iva—as if; niruktaù—described; tat-paraiù—by those who are devoted to Him;
ātma—as their very Soul; labhyaù—realizable.

TRANSLATION

O best of brāhmaëas, He alone is the self-luminous, original source of the Vedas, perfect and complete in His own glory. By His material energy He creates, destroys and maintains this entire universe. Because He is the performer of various material functions, He is sometimes described as materially divided, yet He always remains transcendently situated in pure knowledge. Those who are dedicated to Him in devotion can realize Him to be their true Soul.

PURPORT

Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura recommends that we become humble by practicing the following meditation: "The earth, which is always visible to me, is the expansion of the lotus feet of my Lord, who is always to be meditated upon. All moving and nonmoving living beings have taken shelter of the earth and are thus sheltered at the lotus feet of my Lord. For this reason I should respect every living being and not envy anyone. In fact, all living entities constitute the Kaustubha gem on My Lord's chest. Therefore I should never envy or deride any living entity." By practicing this meditation one can achieve success in life.

TEXT 25

™alk{(SNA k{(SNAs$aKa va{SNya{SaBaAvaina'augA,- r"AjanyavaMzAd"h"naAnapavagARvalyaR gAAeivand" gAAepavainataA~ajaBa{tyagAlta talTaR™ava: ™avaNAmaËÿla paAih" Ba{tyaAna,

çré-kânëa kânëa-sakha vâñëy-ânabhävani-dhruk-rājanya-vaàça-dahanānapavarga-vérya govinda gopa-vanitä-vraja-bhātya-gēta tértha-çravaù çravaëa-maì gala pähi bhātyän

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-kânëa—O Çré Kânëa; kânëa-sakha—O friend of Arjuna; vâñëi—of the descendants of Vâñëi; ânabha—O chief; avani—on the earth; dhruk—rebellious; rājanya-vaàça—of the dynasties of kings; dahana—O annihilator; anapavarga—without deterioration; vérya—whose prowess; govinda—O proprietor of Goloka-dhāma; gopa—of the cowherd men; vanitā—and the cowherd women; vraja—by the multitude; bhātya—and by their servants; gēta—sung; tértha—pious, as the most holy place of pilgrimage; çravaù—whose glories; çravaëa—just to hear about whom; maì gala—auspicious; pāhi—please protect; bhātyān—Your servants.

TRANSLATION

O Kāñëa, O friend of Arjuna, O chief among the descendants of Vāñëi, You are the destroyer of those political parties that are disturbing elements on this earth. Your prowess never deteriorates. You are the proprietor of the transcendental abode, and Your most sacred glories, which are sung by Vāndāvana's cowherd men and women and their servants, bestow all auspiciousness just by being heard. O Lord, please protect Your devotees.

TEXT 26

ya wdM" k(lyā otTaAya
mah"Apauç&Sala°aNAmā,
tai»aÔa: 'ayataAe japtvāA “aö vaed" gAuh"AzAyama,

ya idaà kalya utthāya
mahā-puruña-lakñaëam
tac-cittaù prayato japtvā
brahma veda guhāçayam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—anyone who; idam—this; kalye—at dawn; utthāya—rising; mahā-puruña-lakñaëam—the characteristics of the Supreme Personality in His universal form; tat-cittaù—with mind absorbed in Him; prayataù—purified; japtvā—chanting to oneself; brahma—the Absolute Truth; veda—he comes to know; guhā-çayam—situated within the heart.

TRANSLATION

Anyone who rises early in the morning and, with a purified mind fixed upon the Mahāpuruṣa, quietly chants this description of His characteristics will realize Him as the Supreme Absolute Truth residing within the heart.

TEXTS 27-28

™alzAAEnak(ovaAca zAuk(Ae yad"Ah" BagAvaAna, ivaSNAur"AtaAya Za{Nvatae
s$aAEr"Ae gANAAe maAis$a maAis$a naAnaA vas$aita s$aæak(:

taeSaAM naAmaAina k(maARiNA inayau·(AnaAmaDalirE":
"aUih" na: ™aÚ"DaAnaAnaAM vyaUhM" s$aUyaARtmanaAe h"re":

*çré-çaunaka uvāca
çuko yad āha bhagavān
viñēu-rātāya çāēvate
sauro gaēo māsi māsi
nānā vasati saptakaù
teñāà nāmāni karmāēi
niyuktānām adhēçvaraiù
brūhi naù çraddadhānānāà
vyūhaà sūryātmano hareù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çré-çaunakaù uvāca—Çré Çaunaka said; çukaù—Çukadeva Gosvāmé;
yat—which; āha—described; bhagavān—the great sage; viñēu-rātāya—to King Parékñit; çāēvate—who was listening; sauraù—of the sun-god;
gaēaù—the associates; māsi māsi—in each month; nānā—various;

vasati—who reside; saptakaù—the group of seven; teñām—of them; nāmāni—the names; karmāēi—the activities; niyuktānām—who are engaged; adhéçvaraiù—by the various features of the sun-god, who are their controllers; brühi—please speak; naù—to us; çraddadhānānām—who are faithful; vyūham—the personal expansions; sūrya-ātmanaù—in His personal expansion as the sun-god; hareù—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari.

TRANSLATION

Çré Çaunaka said: Please describe to us, who have great faith in your words, the different sets of seven personal features and associates the sun-god exhibits during each month, along with their names and activities. The associates of the sun-god, who serve their lord, are personal expansions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari in His feature as the presiding deity of the sun.

PURPORT

After hearing an account of the exalted conversation between Çukadeva Gosvāmé and Mahārāja Parékñit, Çaunaka now inquires about the sun as the expansion of the Supreme Lord. Although the sun is the king of all planets, Çré Çaunaka is specifically interested in this effulgent globe as the expansion of Çré Hari, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

The personalities related with the sun are of seven categories. In the course of the sun's orbit there are twelve months, and in each month a different sun-god and a different set of his six associates preside. In each of the twelve months beginning from Vaiçākha there are different names for the sun-god himself, the sage, the Yakña, the Gandharva, the Apsarā, the Rākñasa and the Nāga, making a total of seven categories.

TEXT 29

s$Auta ovaAca

@naAâivaâyaA ivaSNAAer," @Atmana: s$avaR$de"ih"naAma, inaimaRtaAe laAek(tanṭaAe'yaM laAeke(Sau pair"vataRtae

sūta uvāca
anādy-avidyayā viñëor ātmanaù sarva-dehinām
nirmīto loka-tantro 'yaà
lokeñu parivartate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaù uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmé said; anādi—beginningless; avidyayā—by the illusory energy; viñëoù—of Lord Viñëu; ātmanaù—who is the Supreme Soul; sarva-dehinām—of all embodied living beings; nirmītaù—produced; loka-tantraù—the regulator of the planets; ayam—this; lokeñu—among the planets; parivartate—travels.

TRANSLATION

Sūta Gosvāmé said: The sun travels among all the planets and thus regulates their movements. It has been created by Lord Viñëu, the Supreme Soul of all embodied beings, through His beginningless material energy.

TEXT 30

Wk(Wva ih" laAek(AnaAM
s$aUyaR @AtmaAid"k{(Ü"ir":
s$avaR"vaed"i,(yaAmaUlama, [%iSaiBabaRò"DaAeid"ta:

eka eva hi lokānāà
sūrya ātmādi-kād dhariù
sarva-veda-kriyā-mūlam

āñibhir bahudhodaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ekaù—one; eva—only; hi—indeed; lokānām—of the worlds; sūryaù—the sun; ātmā—their soul; ādi-kāt—the original creator; hariù—the Personality of Godhead, Hari; sarva-veda—in all the Vedas; kriyā—of the ritualistic activities; mūlam—the basis; āñibhiù—by the sages; bahudhā—variously; uditaù—designated.

TRANSLATION

The sun-god, being nondifferent from Lord Hari, is the one soul of all the worlds and their original creator. He is the source of all the ritualistic activities prescribed in the Vedas and has been given many names by the Vedic sages.

TEXT 31

k(AlaAe de"zA: i,(yaA k(taAR
k(r"NAM k(AyaRmaAgAma: %o"vyaM P(laimaita "aöna, navaDaAe·(Ae'jayaA h"ir":

kālo deçaù kriyā kartā
karaëaà kāryam āgamaù
dravyaà phalam iti brahman
navadhokto 'jayā hariù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kālaù—time; deçaù—place; kriyā—endeavor; kartā—performer; karaëam—instrument; kāryam—specific ritual; āgamaù—scripture; dravyam—paraphernalia; phalam—result; iti—thus; brahman—O brāhmaëa, Çaunaka; navadhā—in nine phases; uktaù—described; ajayā—in terms of the material energy; hariù—Lord Hari.

TRANSLATION

Being the source of the material energy, the Personality of Godhead Lord Hari in His expansion as the sun-god is described in nine aspects, O Çaunaka: the time, the place, the endeavor, the performer, the instrument, the specific ritual, the scripture, the paraphernalia of worship and the result to be achieved.

TEXT 32

maDvaAid"Sau ã"Ad"zAs$au BagAvaAna, k(Alaè&paDa{k,( laAek(tanṭaAya car"ita
pa{Tagã"Ad"zAiBagARNAE:

*madhv-ädiñu dvādaçasu
bhagavān kāla-rūpa-dhāk
loka-tantrāya carati
pāthag dvādaçabhir gaëaiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

madhu-ädiñu—beginning with Madhu; dvādaçasu—in the twelve (months); bhagavān—the Supreme Lord; kāla-rūpa—the form of time; dhāk—assuming; loka-tantrāya—to regulate planetary motion; carati—travels; pāthag—separately; dvādaçabhiù—with twelve; gaëaiù—sets of associates.

TRANSLATION

The Supreme Personality of Godhead, manifesting His potency of time as the sun-god, travels about in each of the twelve months, beginning with Madhu, to regulate planetary motion within the universe. Traveling with the sun-god in each of the twelve months is a different set of six associates.

TEXT 33

DaAtaA k{(tasTalal he"itar," vaAs$auk(L r"Ta{k{(nmaunae paulastyastaumbauç&ir"ita maDaumaAs$aM nayantyamal

*dhätä kâasthalé hetir
väsuké rathakân mune
pulastya tumburur iti
madhu-mäsaà nayanty amé*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dhätä kâasthalé hetiù—Dhätä, Kâasthalé and Heti; väsukiù rathakât—Väsuki and Rathakât; mune—O sage; pulastyaù tumburuù—Pulastya and Tumburu; iti—thus; madhu-mäsam—the month of Madhu (Caitra, at the time of the spring equinox); nayanti—lead forth; amé—these.

TRANSLATION

My dear sage, Dhätä as the sun-god, Kâasthalé as the Apsarä, Heti as the Räkñasa, Väsuki as the Näga, Rathakât as the Yakña, Pulastya as the sage and Tumburu as the Gandharva rule the month of Madhu.

TEXT 34

@yaRmaA paulah"Ae'TaAEjaA: 'ahe"ita: pauiÃak(sTalal naAr"d": k(cC$nalr"ê nayantyaetae sma maADavama,

aryamä pulaho 'thaujäu

prahetiù pui jikasthalé
nāradaù kacchanéraç ca
nayanty ete sma mādham

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

aryamā pulahaù athaujäù—Aryamā, Pulaha and Athaujä; prahetiù pui jikasthalé—Praheti and Pui jikasthalé; nāradaù kacchanéraù—Nārada and Kacchanéra; ca—also; nayanti—rule; ete—these; sma—indeed; mādham—the month of Mādham (Vaiçākha).

TRANSLATION

Aryamā as the sun-god, Pulaha as the sage, Athaujä as the Yakṣa, Praheti as the Rākṣasa, Pui jikasthalé as the Apsarā, Nārada as the Gandharva and Kacchanéra as the Nāga rule the month of Mādham.

TEXT 35

imaṭaAe'iṭa: paAEç&SaeyaAe'Ta ta°ak(Ae maenak(A h"h"A:
r" Tasvana wita ÷etae
zAu,(maAs$aM nayantyamal

mitro 'triù pauraṇeyo 'tha takṇako menakā hahäù rathasvana iti hy ete
çukra-māsaà nayanty amé

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mitraù atriù pauraṇeyau—Mitra, Atri and Pauruṇeya; atha—as well; takṇakaù menakā hahäù—Takṇaka, Menakā and Hähä; rathasvanaù—Rathasvana; iti—thus; hi—indeed; ete—these; çukra-māsam—the month of Çukra (Jyaiṇōha); nayanti—rule; amé—these.

TRANSLATION

Mitra as the sun-god, Atri as the sage, Pauruṇeya as the Rākāsa, Takāka as the Nāga, Menakā as the Apsarā, Hāhā as the Gandharva and Rathasvana as the Yakā rule the month of Çukra.

TEXT 36

vaiṣṭā" Ae vaç&NAAe r"mBaA
s$ah"janyastaTaA ò"ó": zAu,(iêṭasvanaêEva
zAuicamaAs$aM nayantyamal

*vasiṇōho varuēo rambhā sahajanyas tathā huhū
çukraç citrasvanaç caiva
çuci-māsaà nayanty amē*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vasiṇōha—Vasiṇōha, Varuēa and Rambhā;
sahajanya—Sahajanya; tathā—also; huhū—Hühü; çukra—Çukra and Citrasvana; ca eva—as well; çuci-māsam—the month of Çuci (Äñāōha); nayanti—rule; amē—these.

TRANSLATION

Vasiṇōha as the sage, Varuēa as the sun-god, Rambhā as the Apsarā, Sahajanya as the Rākāsa, Hühü as the Gandharva, Çukra as the Nāga and Citrasvana as the Yakā rule the month of Çuci.

TEXT 37

wn% "Ae ivaìAvas$au: ™aAetaA WlaApaṭastaTaAiËÿr"A:

‘amlaAecaA r"A°as$AeAe vayaAeR naBaAemaAs$AM nayantyamal

*indro viçvävasuù çrotä eläpatras tathäi giräù
pramlocä räkiäso varyo
nabho-mäsaà nayanty amé*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

indraù viçvävasuù çrotäù—Indra, Viçvävasu and Çrotä; eläpatraù—Eläpatra; tathä—and; aì giräù—Aì girä; pramlocä—Pramlocä; räkiäsaù varyaù—the Räkñasa named Varya; nabhaù-mäsam—the month of Nabhas (Çrävaëa); nayanti—rule; amé—these.

TRANSLATION

Indra as the sun-god, Viçvävasu as the Gandharva, Çrotä as the Yakña, Eläpatra as the Näga, Aì girä as the sage, Pramlocä as the Apsarä and Varya as the Räkñasa rule the month of Nabhas.

TEXT 38

ivavasvaAnaufas$aenaê vyaA,,a @As$Ar"NAAe Ba{gAu: @naumlaAecaA zAÊÿpaAlaAe naBasyaAKyaM nayantyamal

*vivasvân ugrasenaç ca
vyäghra äsäraëo bhäguù
anumlocä çai khapälo
nabhasyäkhyäà nayanty amé*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vivasvân ugrasenaù—Vivasvân and Ugrasena; ca—also; vyäghraù äsäraëaù

bhāgu—Vyāghra, Āsāraëa and Bhāgu; anumlocā çai khapāla—Anumlocā and Çai khapāla; nabhasya-ākhyam—the month named Nabhasya (Bhādra); nayanti—rule; amé—these.

TRANSLATION

Vivasvān as the sun-god, Ugrasena as the Gandharva, Vyāghra as the Rākṇasa, Āsāraëa as the Yakṇa, Bhāgu as the sage, Anumlocā as the Apsarā and Çai khapāla as the Nāga rule the month of Nabhasya.

TEXT 39

paUSaA DanaÃayaAe vaAta:
s$auSaeNA: s$auç&icastaTaA
Ga{taAcal gAAEtamaêeita
tapaAemaAs$aM nayantyamal

pūñā dhanai jayo vāta suñeëa surucis tathā
ghātācé gautamaç ceti
tapo-māsa à nayanty amé

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pūñā dhanai jaya vāta—Pūñā, Dhanai jaya and Vāta; suñeëa suruci—Suñeëa and Suruci; tathā—also; ghātācé gautama—Ghātācé and Gautama; ca—as well; iti—thus; tapo-māsam—the month of Tapas (Māgha); nayanti—rule; amé—these.

TRANSLATION

Pūñā as the sun-god, Dhanai jaya as the Nāga, Vāta as the Rākṇasa, Suñeëa as the Gandharva, Suruci as the Yakṇa, Ghātācé as the Apsarā and Gautama as the sage rule the month of Tapas.

TEXT 40

[%tauvaRcaAR Bar"ã"Aja:
pajaRnya: s$ænaijaÔaTaA
ivaì Wer"AvataêEva
tapasyaAKyaM nayantyamal

*âtur varcä bharadväjaù
parjanyaù senajit tathä
viçva airävataç caiva
tapasyäkhyà nayanty amé*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

âtuù varcä bharadväjaù—Âtu, Varcä and Bharadväja; parjanyaù senajit—Parjanya and Senajit; tathä—also; viçvaù airävataù—Viçva and Airävata; ca eva—also; tapasya-äkhyam—the month known as Tapasya (Phälguna); nayanti—rule; amé—these.

TRANSLATION

Âtu as the Yakña, Varcä as the Räkñasa, Bharadväja as the sage, Parjanya as the sun-god, Senajit as the Apsarä, Viçva as the Gandharva and Airävata as the Näga rule the month known as Tapasya.

TEXT 41

@TaAMzAu: k(zyapastaA°yaR
[%tas$ænastaTaAevaRzAl ivaâucC$†aumaRh"AzAÊÿ:
s$ah"AemaAs$aM nayantyamal

*athäèçuù kaçyapas târkñya âtasenas tathorvaçé vidyucchatrur mahäçaì khaù
saho-mäsaè nayanty amé*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atha—then; aàçuù kaçyapaù tärkñyaù—Aàçu, Kaçyapa and Tärkñya; âtasenaù—Âtasena; tathä—and; urvaçé—Urvaçé; vidyucchatruù mahäçaì khaù—Vidyucchatru and Mahäçaì kha; sahaù-mäsam—the month of Sahas (Märgaçérña); nayanti—rule; amé—these.

TRANSLATION

Aàçu as the sun-god, Kaçyapa as the sage, Tärkñya as the Yakña, Âtasena as the Gandharva, Urvaçé as the Apsarä, Vidyucchatru as the Räkñasa and Mahäçaì kha as the Näga rule the month of Sahas.

TEXT 42

BagA: s$PU(jaAeR'ir"i"naeimar," ONAR @Ayauê paÂama:
k(k(AeRq%k(: paUvaRicaìÔa:
pauSyamaAs$aM nayantyamal

bhagaù sphürjo 'riññanemir
ürëa äyuç ca pai camaù karkoöakaù pürvacittiù
puñya-mäsaà nayanty amé

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhagaù sphürjaù ariññanemiù—Bhaga, Sphürja and Ariññanemi; ürëaù—Ürëa; äyuù—Äyur; ca—and; pai camaù—the fifth associate; karkoöakaù pürvacittiù—Karkoöaka and Pürvacitti; puñya-mäsam—the month of Puñya; nayanti—rule; amé—these.

TRANSLATION

Bhaga as the sun-god, Sphürja as the Räkñasa, Ariññanemi as the Gandharva, Ürëa as the Yakña, Äyur as the sage, Karkoöaka as the Näga and Pürvacitti as the Apsarä rule the month of Puñya.

TEXT 43

tvaí"A [%calk(tanaya:
k(mbalaê italaAeÔamaA
"aöApaetaAe'Ta s$ataijaä," Da{tar"Aí)" wSamBar"A:

tvañöä âcéka-tanayaù
kambalaç ca tilottamä
brahmäpeto 'tha satajid
dhâtaräñöra iñam-bharäù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tvañöä—Tvañöä; âcéka-tanayaù—the son of Äcéka (Jamadagni);
kambalaù—Kambala; ca—and; tilottamä—Tilottamä;
brahmäpetau—Brahmäpetä; atha—and; çatajit—Çatajit;
dhâtaräñöraù—Dhâtaräñöra; iñam-bharäù—the maintainers of the month Iña (Äçvina).

TRANSLATION

Tvañöä as the sun-god; Jamadagni, the son of Äcéka, as the sage; Kambaläçva as the Näga; Tilottamä as the Apsarä; Brahmäpetä as the Räkñasa; Çatajit as the Yakña; and Dhâtaräñöra as the Gandharva maintain the month of Iña.

TEXT 44

ivaSNAur"itar"Ae r"mBaA
s$aUyaRvacaARê s$atyaijata, ivaìAimaḥaAe maKaApaeta

OjaRmaAs$am nayantyamal

*viñëur açvataro rambhä süryavarcäç ca satyajit viçvämitro makhäpeta
ürja-mäsaà nayanty amé*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

viñëuù açvatarau rambhä—Viñëu, Açvatarä and Rambhä;
süryavarcäu—Süryavarcä; ca—and; satyajit—Satyajit; viçvämitrau
makhäpetaù—Viçvämitra and Makhäpeta; ürja-mäsam—the month of Ürja (Kärttika); nayanti—rule; amé—these.

TRANSLATION

Viñëu as the sun-god, Açvatarä as the Näga, Rambhä as the Apsarä, Süryavarcä as the Gandharva, Satyajit as the Yakña, Viçvämitra as the sage and Makhäpeta as the Räkñasa rule the month of Ürja.

PURPORT

All these sun-gods and their associates are mentioned in divisions in the Kürma Puräëa, as follows:

*dhätäryamä ca mitraç ca
varuëaç cendra eva ca
vivasvän atha püñä ca
parjanyaç cäàçur eva ca*

*bhagas tvañöö ca viñëuç ca ädityä dvädaça smätäu
pulastyaù pulahaç cätrir
vasiñöö 'thäi girä bhäguù*

gautamo 'tha bharadväjaù

kaçyapaù kratur eva ca
jamadagniù kauçikaç ca
munayo brahma-vädinäù

rathakâc câpy athojâç ca
grâmaëëù surucis tathä
ratha-citrasvanaù çrotä
aruëaù senajit tathä
tärkîya ariññanemiç ca
âtajit satyajit tathä

atha hetiù prahetiç ca
pauruñeyo vadhas tathä
varyo vyäghras tathäpaç ca väyur vidyud diväkaraù

brahmäpetaç ca vipendrä
yajî äpetaç ca räkñakäù
väsukiù kacchanéraç ca
takñakaù çukra eva ca

eläpatraù çai khapälas
tathairävata-saàji itaù
dhanai jayo mahäpadmas
tathä karkoōako dvijäù

kambalo 'çvataraç caiva
vahanty enaà yathä-kramam
tumburur nārado hāhā
hühür viçvävasus tathä

ugraseno vasurucir
viçvavasur athäparaù
citrasenas tathorëäyur

dhâöarâñöro dvijottamäù

*süryavarcä dvädaçaite
gandharvä gäyatäà varäù
kâasthaly apsaro-varyä
tathänyä pui jikasthalé*

*menakä sahajanyä ca
pramlocä ca dvijottamäù
anumlocä ghâtäcé ca
viçväcé corvaçé tathä*

*anyä ca pürvacittiù syäd
anyä caiva tilottamä
rambhä ceti dvija-çreñöhäs tathaiväpsarasaù smâtäù*

TEXT 45

WtaA BagAvataAe ivaSNAAer," @Aid"tyasya ivaBaUtaya:
smar"taAM s$anDyayaAena|RNAAM
h"r"ntyaMh"Ae id"nae id"nae

*etä bhagavato viñëor
ädityasya vibhütayaù
smaratäà sandhyayor nèëääà
haranty aàho dine dine*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etäù—these; bhagavataù—of the Personality of Godhead; viñëoù—Lord Viñëu; ädityasya—of the sun-god; vibhütayaù—the opulences; smaratäm—for those who remember; sandhyayoù—at the junctures of the day; nèëäm—for such men; haranti—they take away; aàhaù—sinful reactions; dine dine—day after day.

TRANSLATION

All these personalities are the opulent expansions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu, in the form of the sun-god. These deities take away all the sinful reactions of those who remember them each day at dawn and sunset.

TEXT 46

ã"Ad"zAsvaipa maAs$aeSau
de"vaAe's$aAE SaiÑ"r"sya vaE car"na, s$amantaAÔanautae par"ṭaeh" ca s$anmaitama,

*dvādaçasv api māseṇu
devo 'sau ñaòbhir asya vai caran samantāt tanute
paratreha ca san-matim*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dvādaçasu—in each of the twelve; api—indeed; māseṇu—months; devau—the lord; asau—this; ñaòbhiù—with his six types of associates; asya—for the population of this universe; vai—certainly; caran—traveling; samantāt—in all directions; tanute—spreads; paratra—in the next life; iha—in this life; ca—and; sat-matim—pure consciousness.

TRANSLATION

Thus, throughout the twelve months, the lord of the sun travels in all directions with his six types of associates, disseminating among the inhabitants of this universe purity of consciousness for both this life and the next.

TEXTS 47-48

s$AmagyaRjauBaRstaiéaĒEÿr," [%Saya: s$AMstauvantyamama, gAnDavaARstaM 'agAAyainta
na{tyantyaps$ar"s$Ae'fata:

o^aa÷inta r"TaM naAgAA faAmaNyaAe r"TayaAejak(A:
caAed"yainta r"TaM pa{ie"
naE[R%taA balazAAilana:

*sāmarg-yajurbhis tat-lii gair āñayaù saàstuvanti amum
gandharväs taà pragäyanti
nātyanty apsaraso 'grataù*

*unnahyanti rathaà nāgä grāmaëyo ratha-yojakäù
codayanti rathaà pāñöhe
nairâtä bala-çalinaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sāma-āk-yajurbhiù—with the hymns of the Sāma, Āg and Yajur Vedas;
tat-lii gaiù—which reveal the sun; āñayaù—the sages; saàstuvanti—glorify;
amum—him; gandharvāù—the Gandharvas; tam—about him;
pragäyanti—sing loudly; nātyanti—dance; apsarasaù—the Apsaräs;
agrataù—in front; unnahyanti—bind up; ratham—the chariot; nāgäù—the Nāgas; grāmaëyaù—the Yakñas; ratha-yojakäù—those who harness the horses to the chariot; codayanti—drive; ratham—the chariot; pāñöhe—from the rear; nairâtäù—the Rākñasas; bala-çalinaù—strong.

TRANSLATION

While the sages glorify the sun-god with the hymns of the Sāma, Āg and Yajur Vedas, which reveal his identity, the Gandharvas also sing his praises and the Apsarās dance before his chariot. The Nāgas arrange the chariot ropes and the Yakñas harness the horses to the chariot, while the powerful Rākṇāsas push from behind.

TEXT 49

vaAlaiKalyaA: s$ah"ᵛaAiNA Saii""aRöSaRyaAe'malaA:
paur"taAe'iBamauKaM yaAinta
stauvainta stauitaiBaivaRBauma,

vāḷakhilyāu sahasrāēi
ñāñōir brahmañāyo 'malāu
purato 'bhimukhaà yānti
stuvanti stutibhir vibhum

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vāḷakhilyāu—the Vāḷakhilyas; sahasrāēi—thousands; ñāñōiū—sixty;
brahma-āñayaū—great sages among the brāhmaēas; amalāu—pure;
purataū—in front; abhimukham—facing the chariot; yānti—they go;
stuvanti—they offer praise; stutibhiū—with Vedic prayers; vibhum—to the almighty lord.

TRANSLATION

Facing the chariot, the sixty thousand brāhmaēa sages known as Vāḷakhilyas travel in front and offer prayers to the almighty sun-god with Vedic mantras.

TEXT 50

WvaM ÷naAid"inaDanaAe

BagAvaAna, h"ir"r"lir":
k(lpae k(lpae svamaAtmaAnaM vyaU÷ laAek(Anavatyaja:

*evaà hy anädi-nidhano
bhagavän harir éçvaraù
kalpe kalpe svam ätmänaà
vyühya lokän avaty ajaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

evam—thus; hi—indeed; anädi—without beginning; nidhanaù—or end; bhagavän—the Personality of Godhead; hariù—Lord Hari; éçvaraù—the supreme controller; kalpe kalpe—in each day of Brahmä; svam ätmänam—Himself; vyühya—expanding into various forms; lokän—the worlds; avati—protects; ajaù—the unborn Lord.

TRANSLATION

For the protection of all the worlds, the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari, who is unborn and without beginning or end, thus expands Himself during each day of Brahmä into these specific categories of His personal representations.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupäda to the Twelfth Canto, Eleventh Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhägavatam, entitled "Summary Description of the Mahäpuruña."

12. The Topics of Çrémad-Bhägavatam Summarized

In this chapter, Çré Sūta Gosvāmé summarizes the subjects discussed in Çrémad-Bhāgavatam.

The Supreme Lord, Çré Hari, personally removes all the distress of a person who hears about His glories. Whatever words glorify the innumerable transcendental qualities of the Personality of Godhead are truthful, auspicious and conducive to piety, whereas all other words are impure. Discussions of topics concerning the Supreme Lord bestow ecstasy, which remains constantly new, but persons who are like crows become absorbed in unessential topics, those unrelated to the Personality of Godhead.

By chanting and hearing the countless names of Lord Çré Hari, which describe His glorious qualities, all human beings can be relieved of their sins. Neither knowledge devoid of devotion for Lord Viñëu nor fruitive work not offered to Him have any real beauty. By constant remembrance of Lord Kāñëa, on the other hand, all one's inauspicious desires are destroyed, one's mind is purified, and one attains devotion for Lord Çré Hari along with knowledge filled with realization and detachment.

Sūta Gosvāmé then states that previously, in the assembly of Mahārāja Parékñit, he heard from the mouth of Çré Çukadeva the glories of Çré Kāñëa, which annihilate all sinful reactions, and that now he has related these glories to the sages at Naimiñāraëya. By hearing Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, the spirit soul is purified and obtains salvation from all sins and all kinds of fear. Through the study of this scripture, one achieves the same result as that achieved by one who studies all the Vedas, and one also achieves the fulfillment of all desires. By studying with a controlled mind this essential compilation of all the Purāëas, one will reach the supreme abode of the Personality of Godhead. Every verse of this scripture, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, contains the narrations of Lord Çré Hari, who has innumerable personal forms.

Finally, Çré Sūta offers obeisances to the unborn and unlimited Supreme Soul, Çré Kāñëa, as well as to Çré Çukadeva, the son of Vyāsa, who is capable of destroying the sins of all living beings.

TEXT 1

s$aUta ovaAca
namaAe DamaARya mah"tae nama: k{(SNAAya vaeDas$ae “aöNAeByaAe namas$k{(tya
DamaARna, va°yae s$anaAtanaAna,

süta uvāca
namo dharmāya mahate
namaù kâñëäya vedhase brahmaëebhya namaskātya
dharmān vakñye sanātanān

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sütaù uvāca—Süta Gosvāmé said; namaù—obeisances; dharmāya—to the principle of religion; mahate—greatest; namaù—obeisances; kâñëäya—to Lord Kâñëa; vedhase—the creator; brahmaëebhyaù—to the brähmaëas; namaskātya—offering my obeisances; dharmān—the principles of religion; vakñye—I shall speak; sanātanān—eternal.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvāmé said: Offering my obeisances to the supreme religious principle, devotional service; to Lord Kâñëa, the supreme creator; and to all the brähmaëas, I shall now describe the eternal principles of religion.

PURPORT

In this Twelfth Chapter of the Twelfth Canto, Süta Gosvāmé will summarize all the topics of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, beginning from the First Canto.

TEXT 2

Wtaã": k(iTataM iva'aA
ivaSNAAeêir"tamaàu"tama, Bavaià"yaRd"hM" pa{í"Ae nar"ANAAM pauç&SaAeicatama,

*etat vaù kathitaà viprä
viñëoç caritam adbhutam
bhavadbhir yad ahaà pânöo
naräëää puruñocitam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etat—these; vaù—to you; kathitam—narrated; vipräu—O sages; viñëou—of Lord Viñëu; caritam—the pastimes; adbhutam—wonderful; bhavadbhiu—by your good selves; yat—which; aham—I; pânöau—was asked about; naräëäm—among men; puruña—for an actual human being; ucitam—suitable.

TRANSLATION

O great sages, I have narrated to you the wonderful pastimes of Lord Viñëu, as you inquired about them from me. Hearing such narrations is the suitable engagement for a person who is actually a human being.

PURPORT

The words naräëää puruñocitam indicate that men and women who actually come to the standard of human life hear and chant the glories of the Supreme Lord, whereas uncivilized persons may not be interested in the science of God.

TEXT 3

@ṭa s$AÆyLitaRta: s$A^oaAta,
s$avaRpaApah"r"Ae h"ir":
naAr"AyaNA Ae ô$Salke(zAAe

BagAvaAna, s$aAtvataAmpaita:

*atra saì kértitaù säkñät
sarva-päpa-haro hariù
näräyaëo hñékeço
bhagavän sätvatäm patiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atra—here, in the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam; saì kértitaù—is fully glorified; säkñät—directly; sarva-päpa—of all sins; haraù—the remover; hariù—the Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari; näräyaëaù—Näräyaëa; hñékeçaù—Hñékeça, the Lord of the senses; bhagavän—the Supreme Personality; sätvatäm—of the Yadus; patiù—the master.

TRANSLATION

This literature fully glorifies the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari, who removes all His devotees' sinful reactions. The Lord is glorified as Näräyaëa, Hñékeça and the Lord of the Sätvatas.

PURPORT

Lord Kñëa's many holy names indicate His extraordinary transcendental qualities. The name Hari indicates that the Lord removes all sins from the heart of His devotee. Näräyaëa indicates that the Lord sustains the existence of all other beings. Hñékeça indicates that Lord Kñëa is the ultimate controller of the senses of all living beings. The word bhagavän indicates that Lord Kñëa is the all-attractive Supreme Being. And the words sätvatäà patiù indicate that the Lord is naturally the master of saintly and religious people, especially the members of the exalted Yadu family.

TEXT 4

@‡a “aö parM” gAu÷M jagAta: 'aBavaApyayama, ÁaAnaM ca taäu"paAKyaAnaM

'aAe·M(ivaÁaAnas$AMyautama,

*atra brahma paraà guhyaà
jagataù prabhaväpyayam
ji' änaà ca tad-upäkhyänaà
proktaà viji' äna-saàyutam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

atra—here; brahma—the Absolute Truth; param—supreme;
guhyam—confidential; jagataù—of this universe; prabhava—the creation;
apyayam—and annihilation; ji' änam—knowledge; ca—and;
tat-upäkhyänam—the means of cultivating it; proktam—are spoken;
viji' äna—transcendental realization; saàyutam—including.

TRANSLATION

This literature describes the mystery of the Supreme Absolute Truth, the source of the creation and annihilation of this universe. Also presented are divine knowledge of Him together with the process of its cultivation, and the transcendental realization one achieves.

TEXT 5

Bai·(yaAegA: s$amaAKyaAtaAe vaEr"AgyaM ca tad"A™ayama, paAr"li°atamaupaAKyaAnaM
naAr"d"AKyaAnamaeva ca

*bhakti-yogaù samäkhyäto
vairägyaà ca tad-äçrayam pärekñitam upäkhyänaà
nāradäkhyānam eva ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhakti-yogaù—the process of devotional service; samākhyātaù—is thoroughly enunciated; vairāgyam—renunciation; ca—and; tat-āçrayam—which is subsidiary to it; pārékñitam—of Mahārāja Parékñit; upākhyānam—the history; nārada—of Nārada; ākhyānam—the history; eva—indeed; ca—also.

TRANSLATION

The following topics are also narrated: the process of devotional service together with its subsidiary feature of renunciation, and the histories of Mahārāja Parékñit and the sage Nārada.

TEXT 6

‘aAyaAepavaezAAe r"AjaSaeRr," iva‘azAApaAtpar"li⁰ata:
zAuk(sya “aöSaRBasya
s$aMvaAd"ê par"li⁰ata:

prāyopaveço rājarñer
vipra-çäpät parékñitaù
çukasya brahmañābhasya
saàvādaç ca parékñitaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prāya-upaveçaù—the fast until death; rāja-āñeù—of the sage among kings; vipra-çäpät—because of the curse of the brāhmaëa’s son; parékñitaù—of King Parékñit; çukasya—of Çukadeva; brahma-ñābhasya—the best of brāhmaëas; saàvādaù—the conversation; ca—and; parékñitaù—with Parékñit.

TRANSLATION

Also described are saintly King Parékñit's sitting down to fast until death in response to the curse of a brähmaëa's son, and the conversations between Parékñit and Çukadeva Gosvämé, who is the best of all brähmaëas.

TEXT 7

yaAegADaAr"NayaAet,(Ainta:
s$AMvaAd"Ae naAr"d"AjayaAe: @vataAr"AnaugAltaM ca
s$agAR: 'aADaAinak(Ae'fata:

yoga-dhāraēayotkrāntiù
saāvādo nāradañjayou
avatāranugētaà ca
sargaù prādhāniko 'grataù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yoga-dhāraēayā—by fixed meditation in yoga; utkrāntiù—the attainment of liberation at the time of passing away; saāvādaù—the conversation; nārada-ajayou—between Nārada and Brahmā; avatāra-anugētam—the listing of the incarnations of the Supreme Lord; ca—and; sargaù—the process of creation; prādhānikaù—from the unmanifest material nature; agrataù—in progressive order.

TRANSLATION

The Bhāgavatam explains how one can attain liberation at the time of death by practicing fixed meditation in yoga. It also contains a discussion between Nārada and Brahmā, an enumeration of the incarnations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and a description of how the universe was created in progressive sequence, beginning from the unmanifest stage of material nature.

PURPORT

Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura explains that it would be difficult to give a complete list of the numerous accounts and topics contained in the Çrémad-Bhägavatam. Therefore it is understood that Söta Gosväme is merely summarizing the topics. We should not consider the topics he fails to mention here less important or superfluous, since every letter and word of Çrémad-Bhägavatam is absolute, Kânëa conscious sound vibration.

TEXT 8

ivaäu"r"AeÜ"vas$aMvaAd": °aÔa{maE†aeyayaAestata:
paur"ANAs$aMih"taA'a'aAe
mah"Apauç&Sas$aMisTaita:

viduroddhava-saävädaù
kñattâ-maitreyayos tataù
puräëa-saàhitâ-praçno
mahâ-puruña-saàsthitiù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vidura-uddhava—between Vidura and Uddhava; saävädaù—the discussion;
kñattâ-maitreyayou—between Vidura and Maitreya; tataù—then;
puräëa-saàhitâ—concerning this Puräëic compilation; praçnaù—inquiries;
mahâ-puruña—within the Supreme Personality of Godhead; saàsthitiù—the winding up of creation.

TRANSLATION

This scripture also relates the discussions Vidura had with Uddhava and with Maitreya, inquiries about the subject matter of this Puräëa, and the winding up of creation within the body of the Supreme Lord at the time of annihilation.

TEXT 9

tata: 'aAk{(itak(: s$agAR:
s$aæa vaEk{(itak(Aê yae tataAe "aöANx"s$amBaUitar," vaEr"Aja: pauç&SaAe yata:

*tataù prakâtikaù sargaù
sapta vaikâtikäç ca ye tato brahmäëòa-sambhütir
vairājaù puruṇa yataù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tataù—then; prakâtikaù—from material nature; sargaù—the creation; sapta—the seven; vaikâtikäù—stages of creation derived by transformation; ca—and; ye—which; tataù—then; brahma-aëòa—of the universal egg; sambhütiù—the construction; vairājaù puruṇaù—the universal form of the Lord; yataù—from which.

TRANSLATION

The creation effected by the agitation of the modes of material nature, the seven stages of evolution by elemental transformation, and the construction of the universal egg, from which arises the universal form of the Supreme Lord—all these are thoroughly described.

TEXT 10

k(Alasya sTaUlas$aU^omasya
gAita: paás$amauà"va: Bauva oÜ"r"NAe'mBaAeDaer," ih"r"NyaA^oavaDaAe yaTaA

*kālasya sthūla-sūkīṃasya
gatiù padma-samudbhavaù
bhuva uddharaëe 'mbhodher
hiraëyākñā-vadho yathā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kālasya—of time; sthūla-sūkīṃasya—gross and subtle; gatiù—the movement; padma—of the lotus; samudbhavaù—the generation; bhuvaù—of the earth; uddharaëe—in connection with the deliverance; ambhodheù—from the ocean; hiraëyākñā-vadhaù—the killing of the demon Hiraëyākñā; yathā—as it occurred.

TRANSLATION

Other topics include the subtle and gross movements of time, the generation of the lotus from the navel of Garbhodakaçäyë Viñëu, and the killing of the demon Hiraëyākñā when the earth was delivered from the Garbhodaka Ocean.

TEXT 11

ODvaRitayaRgAvaAfs$agAAeR
ç&%"s$agARstaTaEva ca @DaRnaAr"lir"syaATa
yata: svaAyamBauvaAe manau:

*ürdhva-tiryag-aväk-sargo
rudra-sargas tathaiva ca
ardha-näreçvarasyätha
yataù sväyambhuvo manuù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ürdhva—of the higher species, the demigods; tiryak—of the animals; aväk—and of lower species; sargaù—the creation; rudra—of Lord Çiva; sargaù—the creation; tathä—and; eva—indeed; ca—also; ardha-näre—as a half man, half woman; éçvarasya—of the lord; atha—then; yataù—from whom; svâyambhuvaù manuù—Svâyambhuva Manu.

TRANSLATION

The Bhāgavatam also describes the creation of demigods, animals and demoniac species of life; the birth of Lord Rudra; and the appearance of Svâyambhuva Manu from the half-man, half-woman Éçvara.

TEXT 12

zAtaè&paA ca yaA ñINA Ama, @AâA 'ak{(itaç&ÔamaA
s$antaAnaAe DamaRpa¥alnaAM
k(dR"masya 'ajaApatae:

çatarüpä ca yä stréëäm
ädyä prakâtir uttamä
santāno dharma-patnénāà
kardamasya prajāpateù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çatarüpä—Çatarüpä; ca—and; yä—who; stréëäm—of women; ädyä—the first; prakâtiù—the consort; uttamä—best; santānaù—the progeny; dharma-patnénām—of the pious wives; kardamasya—of the sage Kardama; prajāpateù—the progenitor.

TRANSLATION

Also related are the appearance of the first woman, Çatarüpä, who was the excellent consort of Manu, and the offspring of the pious wives of Prajapati

Kardama.

TEXT 13

@vataAr"Ae BagAvata:
k(ipalasya mah"Atmana:
de"vaó"tyaAê s$aMvaAd":
k(ipalaena ca DalmataA

*avatāro bhagavataù
kapilasya mahātmanaù
devahütyäç ca saàvādaù
kapilena ca dhēmatā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

avatāraù—the descent; bhagavataù—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead; kapilasya—Lord Kapila; mahā-ātmanaù—the Supreme Soul; devahütyäù—of Devahüti; ca—and; saàvādaù—the conversation; kapilena—with Lord Kapila; ca—and; dhé-matā—the intelligent.

TRANSLATION

The Bhāgavatam describes the incarnation of the Supreme Personality of Godhead as the exalted sage Kapila and records the conversation between that greatly learned soul and His mother, Devahüti.

TEXTS 14-15

nava"aös$amautpaiÔar," d"°ayaÁaivanaAzAnama,
'auvasya cair"taM paêAta,
pa{TaAe: 'aAcalnabaihR"Sa:

naAr"d"sya ca s$aMvaAd"s$a,
tata: 'aEya~ataM iã"jaA:

naABaestataAe'naucair"tama, [%SaBasya Bar"tasya ca

*nava-brahma-samutpattir
dakña-yajī a-vināṣanam dhruvasya caritaḥ paścāt
pāthoḥ prācēnabarhiṇaḥ*

*nāradasya ca saṅvādas
tataḥ praiyavrataḥ dvijāḥ
nābhes tato 'nucaritam
āñabhasya bharatasya ca*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nava-brahma—of the nine brāhmaēas (the sons of Lord Brahmā, headed by Maréci); samutpattiḥ—the descendants; dakña-yajī a—of the sacrifice performed by Dakña; vināṣanam—the destruction; dhruvasya—of Dhruva Mahārāja; caritam—the history; paścāt—then; pāthoḥ—of King Pāthu; prācēnabarhiṇaḥ—of Prācēnabarhi; nāradasya—with Nārada Muni; ca—and; saṅvādaḥ—his conversation; tataḥ—then; praiyavratam—the story of Mahārāja Priyavrata; dvijāḥ—O brāhmaēas; nābheḥ—of Nābhi; tataḥ—then; anucaritam—the life story; āñabhasya—of Lord Āñabha; bharatasya—of Bharata Mahārāja; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

Also described are the progeny of the nine great brāhmaēas, the destruction of Dakña's sacrifice, and the history of Dhruva Mahārāja, followed by the histories of King Pāthu and King Prācēnabarhi, the discussion between Prācēnabarhi and Nārada, and the life of Mahārāja Priyavrata. Then, O brāhmaēas, the Bhāgavatam tells of the character and activities of King Nābhi, Lord Āñabha and King Bharata.

TEXT 16

ã"lpavaSaRs$amau"% "ANAAM
igAir"naâupavaNARnama, jyaAeitaê,(sya s$aMsTaAnaM
paAtaAlanar"k(isTaita:

*dvépa-varña-samudrääà
giri-nady-upavarëanam
jyotiç-cakrasya saàsthānaà
pātāla-naraka-sthitiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dvépa-varña-samudrääm—of the continents, great islands and oceans;
giri-nadē—of the mountains and rivers; upavarëanam—the detailed description; jyotiù-cakrasya—of the celestial sphere; saàsthānam—the arrangement; pātāla—of the subterranean regions; naraka—and of hell;
sthitiù—the situation.

TRANSLATION

The Bhāgavatam gives an elaborate description of the earth's continents, regions, oceans, mountains and rivers. Also described are the arrangement of the celestial sphere and the conditions found in the subterranean regions and in hell.

TEXT 17

d"°ajanma 'acaetaAeByas$a, tatpauṭaINAM ca s$antaita:
yataAe de"vaAs$aur"nar"As$a, itayaRx.~nagAKagAAd"ya:

*dakñā-janma pracetobhyas
tat-putréääà ca santatiù
yato devāsura-naräs*

tiryai -naga-khagādayau

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dakṇa-janma—the birth of Dakṇa; pracetobhyaù—from the Pracetās; tat-putrēām—of his daughters; ca—and; santatiù—the progeny; yataù—from which; deva-asura-narāù—the demigods, demons and human beings; tiryak-naga-khaga-ādayau—the animals, serpents, birds and other species.

TRANSLATION

The rebirth of Prajāpati Dakṇa as the son of the Pracetās, and the progeny of Dakṇa's daughters, who initiated the races of demigods, demons, human beings, animals, serpents, birds and so on—all this is described.

TEXT 18

tvaAī)"sya janmainaDanaM
pauṭayaAeê id"taeiãR"jaA:
dE"tyaeir"sya cair"taM
'aœ"Ad"sya mah"Atmana:

tvāñōrasya janma-nidhanaà
putrayoç ca diter dvijäù
daityeçvarasya caritaà
prahrādasya mahātmanaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tvāñōrasya—of the son of Tvañōā (Vātra); janma-nidhanam—the birth and death; putrayau—of the two sons, Hiraëyākṇa and Hiraëyakaçipu; ca—and; diteù—of Diti; dvijäù—O brāhmaëas; daitya-ēçvarasya—of the greatest of the Daityas; caritam—the history; prahrādasya—of Prahlāda; mahā-ātmanaù—the great soul.

TRANSLATION

O brähmaëas, also recounted are the births and deaths of Vâtrâsura and of Diti's sons Hiraëyâkñā and Hiraëyakaçipu, as well as the history of the greatest of Diti's descendants, the exalted soul Prahlāda.

TEXT 19

manvantar"Anauk(TanaM
gAjaen%"sya ivamaAe°aNama,
manvantar"AvataAr"Aê
ivaSNAAehR"yaizAr"Ad"ya:

*manv-antarānukathanaà
gajendrasya vimokñāëam
manv-antarāvatārāç ca
viñëor hayaçirādayaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

manu-antara—of reigns of the various Manus; anukathanam—the detailed description; gaja-indrasya—of the king of the elephants; vimokñāëam—the liberation; manu-antara-avatārāù—the particular incarnations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead in each manv-antara; ca-and; viñëou—of Lord Viñëu; hayaçirā-ādayaù—such as Lord Hayaçérñā.

TRANSLATION

The reign of each Manu, the liberation of Gajendra, and the special incarnations of Lord Viñëu in each manv-antara, such as Lord Hayaçérñā, are described as well.

TEXT 20

k(AEma< maAtsyaM naAr"iś$amhM"
vaAmanaM ca jagAtpatae:
°alr"Aed"maTanaM taā"ä," @ma{taATaeR id"vaAEk(s$Ama,

*kaurmaà mätśyaà nāraśiàhaà
vāmanaà ca jagat-pateu
kñēroda-mathanaà tadvad
amātārthe divaukasām*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kaurmam—the incarnation as a tortoise; mätśyam—as a fish;
nāraśiàham—as a man-lion; vāmanam—as a dwarf; ca—and;
jagat-pateu—of the Lord of the universe; kñēra-uda—of the ocean of milk;
mathanam—the churning; tadvat—thus; amāta-arthe—for the sake of nectar; diva-okasām—on the part of the inhabitants of heaven.

TRANSLATION

The Bhāgavatam also tells of the appearances of the Lord of the universe as Kūrma, Matsya, Naraśiàha and Vāmana, and of the demigods' churning of the milk ocean to obtain nectar.

TEXT 21

de"vaAs$aur"mah"AyauÜM"
r"AjavaMzAAnauk(LtaRnama, w°vaAku(janma taāM"zA:
s$auâu°asya mah"Atmana:

*devāsura-mahā-yuddhaà
rāja-vaàçānukērtanam
ikñivāku-janma tad-vaàçaù
sudyumnasya mahātmanaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deva-asura—of the demigods and demons; mahā-yuddham—the great war; rāja-vaṇṇa—of the dynasties of kings; anukṛtānam—the reciting in sequence; ikṣvāku-janma—the birth of Ikṣvāku; tat-vaṇṇa—his dynasty; sudyamnasya—(and the dynasty) of Sudyumna; mahā-ātmana—the great soul.

TRANSLATION

An account of the great battle fought between the demigods and the demons, a systematic description of the dynasties of various kings, and narrations concerning Ikṣvāku's birth, his dynasty and the dynasty of the pious Sudyumna—all are presented within this literature.

TEXT 22

wlaAepaAKyaAnamaṭaAe·M( taAr"AepaAKyaAnamaeva ca
s$aUyaRvaMzAAanauk(TanaM zAzAAAd"AâA na{gAAAd"ya:

ilopākhyānam atrokta
tāropākhyānam eva ca
sūrya-vaṇṇanukathana
ṇṇādādyā nāgādaya

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ilā-upākhyānam—the history of Ilā; acra—herein; uktam—is spoken; tārā-upākhyānam—the history of Tārā; eva—indeed; ca—also; sūrya-vaṇṇa—of the dynasty of the sun-god; anukathanam—the narration; ṇṇāda-ādyā—ṇṇāda and others; nāga-ādaya—Nāga and others.

TRANSLATION

Also related are the histories of Ilä and Tärä, and the description of the descendants of the sun-god, including such kings as Çaçäda and Nğa.

TEXT 23

s$aAEk(nyaM caATa zAyaARtae:
k(ku(tsTasya ca Dalmata:
KaÅ%AËÿsya ca maAnDaAtau:
s$aAEBare": s$agAr"sya ca

saukanyaà cätha çaryäteù
kakutsthasya ca dhémataù
khaöväi gasya ca mändhätuù
saubhareù sagarasya ca

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saukanyam—the story of Sukanyä; ca—and; atha—then; çaryäteù—that of Çaryäti; kakutsthasya—of Kakutstha; ca—and; dhé-mataù—who was an intelligent king; khaöväi gasya—of Khaöväi ga; ca—and; mändhätuù—of Mändhätä; saubhareù—of Saubhari; sagarasya—of Sagara; ca—and.

TRANSLATION

The histories of Sukanyä, Çaryäti, the intelligent Kakutstha, Khaöväi ga, Mändhätä, Saubhari and Sagara are narrated.

TEXT 24

r"Amasya k(AezAlaen%"sya cair"taM ik(ilbaSaApah"ma, inamaer"Ëÿpair"tyaAgAAe

janak(AnaAM ca s$amBava:

*rāmasya koçalendrasya
caritaà kilbiñāpaham
nimer aī ga-parityāgo
janakānāà ca sambhavaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rāmasya—of Lord Rāmacandra; koçala-indrasya—the King of Koçala; caritam—the pastimes; kilbiñā-apaham—which drive away all sins; nimeù—of King Nimi; aī ga-parityāgaù—the giving up of his body; janakānām—of the descendants of Janaka; ca—and; sambhavaù—the appearance.

TRANSLATION

The Bhāgavatam narrates the sanctifying pastimes of Lord Rāmacandra, the King of Kosala, and also explains how King Nimi abandoned his material body. The appearance of the descendants of King Janaka is also mentioned.

TEXTS 25-26

r"Amasya BaAgAR"vaen%"sya ina:°ata{wRk(r"NAM Bauva:
Welasya s$aAemavaMzAsya
yayaAtaenaRò"Sasya ca

d"AESmantaeBaRr"tasyaAipa
zAAntanaAestats$autasya ca
yayaAtaejyaeRi"pauḥasya yad"Aeva<zAAe'nauk(LitaRta:

*rāmasya bhārgavendrasya
niükñatāē-karaëaà bhuvaù
ailasya soma-vaàçasya*

*yayäter nahuñasya ca
dauñmanter bharatasyäpi
çäntanos tat-sutasya ca
yayäter jyeñña-putrasya
yador vaàço 'nukértitaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rāmasya—by Lord Paraçurāma; bhārgava-indrasya—the greatest of the descendants of Bhāgu Muni; niùkñātré-karaëam—the elimination of all the kñātriyas; bhuvaù—of the earth; ailasya—of Mahārāja Aila; soma-vaàçasya—of the dynasty of the moon-god; yayäteù—of Yayāti; nahuñasya—of Nahuña; ca—and; dauñmanteù—of the son of Duñmanta; bharatasya—Bharata; api—also; çäntanoù—of King Çäntanu; tat—his; sutasya—of the son, Bhēma; ca—and; yayäteù—of Yayāti; jyeñña-putrasya—of the eldest son; yadoù—Yadu; vaàçaù—the dynasty; anu-kértitaù—is glorified.

TRANSLATION

The Çrémad-Bhāgavatam describes how Lord Paraçurāma, the greatest descendant of Bhāgu, annihilated all the kñātriyas on the face of the earth. It further recounts the lives of glorious kings who appeared in the dynasty of the moon-god-kings such as Aila, Yayāti, Nahuña, Duñmanta's son Bharata, Çäntanu and Çäntanu's son Bhēma. Also described is the great dynasty founded by King Yadu, the eldest son of Yayāti.

TEXT 27

*yaṭaAvatal[%NAAe BagAvaAna, k{(SNAAKyaAe jagAd"lir":
vas$auDe"vagA{he" janma tataAe va{iÜ"ê gAAeku(lae*

yatrāvatēāëo bhagavān

*kāñëäkhya jagad-êçvaraù vasudeva-gâhe janma
tato vâddhiç ca gokule*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yatra—in which dynasty; avatérëaù—descended; bhagavän—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; kāñëa-äkhyau—known as Kāñëa; jagat-êçvaraù—the Lord of the universe; vasudeva-gâhe—in the home of Vasudeva; janma—His birth; tataù—subsequently; vâddhiù—His growing up; ca—and; gokule—in Gokula.

TRANSLATION

How Çré Kāñëa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead and Lord of the universe, descended into this Yadu dynasty, how He took birth in the home of Vasudeva, and how He then grew up in Gokula—all this is described in detail.

TEXTS 28-29

tasya k(maARNyapaAr"AiNA
k(LitaRtaAnyas$aur"iã"Sa:
paUtanaAs$aupaya:paAnaM
zAk(q%Ae»aAq%naM izAzAAe:

ta{NAAvataRsya inaSpaeSas$a, taTaEva bak(vats$ayaAe: @GaAs$aur"vaDaAe DaAḥaA
vats$apaAlaAvagAUh"nama,

*tasya karmäëy apäräëi
kértitäny asura-dviñaù
pütanäsu-payaù-pänaà
çakaöoccäöanaà çiçou*

*tâëäivartasya niñpeñas tathaiva baka-vatsayoù
aghāsura-vadho dhātrā
vatsa-pālāvagühanam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tasya—His; karmäë—activities; apārāëi—innumerable; kértitāni—are glorified; asura-dviñāù—of the enemy of the demons; pūtanā—of the witch Pūtanā; asu—along with her life air; payaù—of the milk; pānam—the drinking; çakata—of the cart; uccāānam—the breaking; çiçoù—by the child; tâëäivartasya—of Tâëäivarta; niñpeñaù—the trampling; tathā—and; eva—indeed; baka-vatsayoù—of the demons named Baka and Vatsa; agha-asura—of the demon Agha; vadhaù—the killing; dhātrā—by Lord Brahmā; vatsa-pāla—of the calves and cowherd boys; avagühanam—the hiding away.

TRANSLATION

Also glorified are the innumerable pastimes of Çré Kāñëa, the enemy of the demons, including His childhood pastimes of sucking out Pūtanā's life air along with her breast-milk, breaking the cart, trampling down Tâëäivarta, killing Bakāsura, Vatsāsura and Aghāsura, and the pastimes He enacted when Lord Brahmā hid His calves and cowherd boyfriends in a cave.

TEXT 30

Daenauk(sya s$ah""aAtau:
'alambasya ca s$aÉÿya:
gAAepaAnaAM ca pair"‡aANAM
d"AvaAçae: pair"s$apaRta:

*dhenukasya saha-bhrātuù
pralambasya ca saì kīayaù
gopānāà ca paritrāëaà*

dävägneù parisarpataù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dhenukasya—of Dhenuka; saha-bhrātuù—along with his companions; pralambasya—of Pralamba; ca—and; saì kñayaù—the destruction; gopänäm—of the cowherd boys; ca—and; pariträëam—the saving; däva-agneù—from the forest fire; parisarpataù—which was encircling.

TRANSLATION

The Çrémad-Bhāgavatam tells how Lord Kāñëa and Lord Balarāma killed the demon Dhenukāsura and his companions, how Lord Balarāma destroyed Pralambāsura, and also how Kāñëa saved the cowherd boys from a raging forest fire that had encircled them.

TEXTS 31-33

d"manaM k(AilayasyaAhe"r," mah"Ahe"naRnd"maAe°aNAma, ~atacayaAR tau k(nyaAnaAM
yaṭa tauí"Ae'cyautaAe ~ataE:

‘as$aAd"Ae yaÁapa¥aIByaAe
iva‘aANAAM caAnautaApanama, gAAevaDaRnaAeÜ"Ar"NAM ca
zA,(sya s$aur"Baer"Ta yaÁaiBaSaek(: k{(SNAasya ñliBa: ,(Lx"A ca r"AiṭaSau zAÊÿcaUx"sya äu"bauRÜe"r," vaDaAe'ir"í"sya ke(izAna:

damanaà kälīasyäher
mahäher nanda-mokñäëam
vrata-caryä tu kanyänäà

yatra tuñño 'cyuto vrataiù prasādo yaji a-patnēbhyo
viprāëä cānutāpanam
govardhanoddhāraëä ca
çakrasya surabher atha

yaji abhiñekaù kânēasya
strébhiù krèöä ca rātriñu
çaì khacüòasya durbuddher
vadho 'riñōasya keçinaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

damanam—the subduing; kāliasya—of Kāliya; aheù—the snake; mahā-aheù—from the great serpent; nanda-mokñāëam—the rescue of Mahārāja Nanda; vrata-caryā—the execution of austere vows; tu—and; kanyānām—of the gopés; yatra—by which; tuññaù—became satisfied; acyutaù—Lord Kāñëa; vrataiù—with their vows; prasādaù—the mercy; yaji a-patnēbhyau—to the wives of the brāhmaëas performing Vedic sacrifices; viprāëām—of the brāhmaëa husbands; ca—and; anutāpanam—the experience of remorse; govardhana-uddhāraëam—the lifting of Govardhana Hill; ca—and; çakrasya—by Indra; surabheù—along with the Surabhi cow; atha—then; yaji a-abhiñekaù—the worship and ritual bathing; kânēasya—of Lord Kāñëa; strébhiù—together with the women; krèöä—the sporting; ca—and; rātriñu—in the nights; çaì khacüòasya—of the demon Çai khacüòä; durbuddheù—who was foolish; vadhaù—the killing; ariñōasya—of Ariñōa; keçinaù—of Keçé.

TRANSLATION

The chastisement of the serpent Kāliya; the rescue of Nanda Mahārāja from a great snake; the severe vows performed by the young gopés, who thus satisfied Lord Kāñëa; the mercy He showed the wives of the Vedic brāhmaëas, who felt remorse; the lifting of Govardhana Hill followed by the worship and bathing ceremony performed by Indra and the Surabhi cow;

Lord Kāñëa's nocturnal pastimes with the cowherd girls; and the killing of the foolish demons Çai khacüòà, Ariñòa and Keçé—all these pastimes are elaborately recounted.

TEXT 34

@,U(r"AgAmanaM paêAta,
'asTaAnaM r"Amak{(SNayaAe:
~ajañINAAM ivalaApaê maTaur"AlaAek(naM tata:

*akrürägamanaà paçcät
prasthänaà räma-kāñëayou
vraja-stréëää viläpaç ca
mathurälokanaà tataù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

akrūra—of Akrūra; ägamana—the coming; paçcät—after that; prasthäna—the departure; räma-kāñëayou—of Lord Balaräma and Lord Kāñëa; vraja-stréëäm—of the women of Våndävana; viläpaù—the lamentation; ca—and; mathurä-älokanam—the seeing of Mathurä; tataù—then.

TRANSLATION

The Bhägavatam describes the arrival of Akrūra, the subsequent departure of Kāñëa and Balaräma, the lamentation of the gopés and the touring of Mathurä.

TEXT 35

gAjamauii"k(caANAUr"- kM(s$aAd"lnaAM taTaA vaDa:
ma{tasyaAnayanaM s$aUnaAe:

pauna: s$aAnd"IpanaegAuRr"Ae:

*gaja-muñōika-cäëürakaàsädénäà tathä vadhaù mâtasyānayanaà sünoù
punaù sändépaner guroù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

gaja—of the elephant Kuvalayäpéòa; muñōika-cäëüra—of the wrestlers Muñōika and Cäëüra; kaàsa—of Kaàsa; ädénäm—and of others; tathä—also; vadhaù—the killing; mâtasya—who had died; ānayanam—the bringing back; sünoù—of the son; punaù—again; sändépaneù—of Sändépani; guroù—their spiritual master.

TRANSLATION

Also narrated are how Kāñëa and Balarāma killed the elephant Kuvalayäpéòa, the wrestlers Muñōika and Cäëüra, and Kaàsa and other demons, as well as how Kāñëa brought back the dead son of His spiritual master, Sändépani Muni.

TEXT 36

maTaur"AyaAM inavas$ataA
yaäu"ca,(sya yait'ayama,
k{(tamaU"var"AmaAByaAM
yautaena h"ir"NAA iã"jaA:

*mathuräyää nivasatä
yadu-cakrasya yat priyam
kâtam uddhava-rāmābhyää
yutena hariëä dvijäù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

mathurâyäm—in Mathurä; nivasatä—by Him who was residing; yadu-cakrasya—for the circle of Yadus; yat—which; priyam—gratifying; kâtam—was done; uddhava-rämabhyäm—with Uddhava and Balaräma; yutena—joined; hariëä—by Lord Hari; dvijäù—O brähmaëas.

TRANSLATION

Then, O brähmaëas, this scripture recounts how Lord Hari, while residing in Mathurä in the company of Uddhava and Balaräma, performed pastimes for the satisfaction of the Yadu dynasty.

TEXT 37

jar" As$anDas$amaAnaltas$aEnyasya baò"zAAe vaDa: GaAtanaM yavanaen%"sya ku(zAsTalyaA inavaezAnama,

jaräsandha-samänëta-
sainyasya bahuço vadhaù
ghätanaà yavanendrasya
kuçasthalyä niveçanam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

jaräsandha—bv King Jaräsandha; samänëta—assembled; sainyasya—of the army; bahuçaù—many times; vadhaù—the annihilation; ghätanam—the killing; yavana-indrasya—of the king of the barbarians; kuçasthalyäù—of Dvarakä; niveçanam—the founding.

TRANSLATION

Also described are the annihilation of each of the many armies brought by Jaräsandha, the killing of the barbarian king Kälavyana and the establishment of Dvarakä City.

TEXT 38

@Ad"AnaM paAir"jaAtasya
s$auDamaARyaA: s$aur"AlayaAta, ç&ifmaNyaA h"r"NAM yauÜe"
'amaTya iã"SataAe h"re":

*ädänaà pärijätasya
sudharmâyäù surālayāt
rukmiëyā haraëaà yuddhe
pramathya dviñato hareù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ädānam—the receiving; pārijätasya—of the pārijāta tree; sudharmâyäù—of the Sudharmā assembly hall; sura-ālayāt—from the abode of the demigods; rukmiëyäù—of Rukmiëë; haraëam—the kidnapping; yuddhe—in battle; pramathya—defeating; dviñataù—His rivals; hareù—by Lord Hari.

TRANSLATION

This work also describes how Lord Kāñëa brought from heaven the pārijāta tree and the Sudharmā assembly hall, and how He kidnapped Rukmiëë by defeating all His rivals in battle.

TEXT 39

h"r"sya ja{mBaNAM yauÜe" baANAsya Baujak{(ntanama,
'aAgjyaAeitaSapaitaM h"tvaA
k(nyaAnaAM h"r"NAM ca yata,

*harasya jāmbhaëaà yuddhe
bäëasya bhuja-kāntanam*

*präggyotiña-patià hatvä
kanyänääà haraëaà ca yat*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

harasya—of Lord Çiva; jâmbhaëam—the forced yawning; yuddhe—in battle;
bäëasya—of Bäëa; bhuja—of the arms; kântanam—the cutting;;
präggyotiña-patim—the master of the city Präggyotiña; hatvä—killing;
kanyänäm—of the unmarried virgins; haraëam—the removal; ca—and;
yat—which.

TRANSLATION

Also narrated are how Lord Kânëa, in the battle with Bäëäsura, defeated Lord Çiva by making him yawn, how the Lord cut off Bäëäsura's arms, and how He killed the master of Präggyotiñapura and then rescued the young princesses held captive in that city.

TEXTS 40-41

*caEâpaAENx")k(zAAIvaAnaAM
d"ntava,(sya äü"maRtae:
zAmbar"Ae iã"ivad": paIQ&Ae
maur": paÂajanaAd"ya:*

maAh"AtmyaM ca vaDastaeSaAM vaAr"ANAsyaAê d"Ah"nama, BaAr"Avatar"NAM BaUmaer," inaimaÔalk{(tya paANx"vaAna,

*caidya-pauëòraka-çälvänääà dantavakrasya durmateù
çambaro dvividaù pëòho
muraù pai'cajanädayaù*

mähätmyaà ca vadhas teñääà

*vārāeasyāç ca dāhanam bhārāvataraēaà bhūmer
nimitté-kātya päëòavān*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

caidyā—of the King of Cedi, Çiçupāla; pauëòraka—of Pauëòraka; çālvānām—and of Çālva; dantavakrasya—of Dantavakra; durmateù—the foolish; çambaraù dvividaù pëøhaù—the demons Çambara, Dvivida and Pëøha; muraù paì cajana-ādayaù—Mura, Paì cajana and others; māhātmyam—the prowess; ca—and; vadhaù—the death; teñām—of these; vārāeasyāù—of the holy city of Benares; ca—and; dāhanam—the burning; bhāra—of the burden; avataraëam—the reduction; bhūmeù—of the earth; nimitté-kātya—making the apparent cause; päëòavān—the sons of Päëòu.

TRANSLATION

There are descriptions of the powers and the deaths of the King of Cedi, Pauëòraka, Çālva, the foolish Dantavakra, Çambara, Dvivida, Pëøha, Mura, Paì cajana and other demons, along with a description of how Vārāeasé was burned to the ground. The Bhāgavatam also recounts how Lord Kāñëa relieved the earth's burden by engaging the Päëòavas in the Battle of Kurukñetra.

TEXTS 42-43

iva‘azAApaApade"zAena
s$aMh"Ar": svaku(lasya ca oÜ"vasya ca s$aMvaAd"Ae
vas$aude"vasya caAàu"ta:

yaḥaAtmaivaâA ÷iKalaA ‘aAe·(A DamaRivainaNARya:
tataAe matyaRpair"tyaAgA @AtmayaAegAAnauBaAvata:

*vipra-çäpāpadeçena
saàhāraù sva-kulasya ca
uddhavyasya ca saävādo vasudevasya cādbhutaù

yatrātma-vidyā hy akhilā
proktā dharma-vinirēayaù
tato martya-parityāga
ātma-yogānubhāvataù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

vipra-çäpa—of the curse by the brāhmaëas; apadeçena—on the pretext; saàhāraù—the withdrawal; sva-kulasya—of His own family; ca—and; uddhavyasya—with Uddhava; ca—and; saävādaù—the discussion; vasudevasya—of Vasudeva (with Nārada); ca—and; adbhutaù—wonderful; yatra—in which; ātma-vidyā—the science of the self; hi—indeed; akhilā—completely; proktā—was spoken; dharma-vinirēayaù—the ascertainment of the principles of religion; tataù—then; martya—of the mortal world; parityāgaù—the giving up; ātma-yoga—of His personal mystic power; anubhāvataù—on the strength.

TRANSLATION

How the Lord withdrew His own dynasty on the pretext of the brāhmaëas' curse; Vasudeva's conversation with Nārada; the extraordinary conversation between Uddhava and Kāñëa, which reveals the science of the self in complete detail and elucidates the religious principles of human society; and then how Lord Kāñëa gave up this mortal world by His own mystic power—the Bhāgavatam narrates all these events.

TEXT 44

yaugAla°aNAva{iÔaê
k(laAE na|NAAmaupaplava:

catauivaRDaê 'alaya
otpaiÔaiñivaDaA taTaA

*yuga-lakṇāḍa-vāttiḥ ca
kalau nēḍām upaplavaù
catur-vidhaḥ ca pralaya
utpattis tri-vidhā tathā*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yuga—of the different ages; lakṇāḍa—the characteristics; vāttiù—and the corresponding activities; ca—also; kalau—in the present age of Kali; nēḍām—of men; upaplavaù—the total disturbance; catuù-vidhaù—fourfold; ca—and; pralayaù—the process of annihilation; utpattiù—creation; tri-vidhā—of three kinds; tathā—and.

TRANSLATION

This work also describes people's characteristics and behavior in the different ages, the chaos men experience in the age of Kali, the four kinds of annihilation and the three kinds of creation.

TEXT 45

de"h"tyaAgAê r"AjaSaeRr," ivaSNAur"Atasya Dalmata: zAAKaA'aNAyanama{Saer," maAkR(Nxe"yasya s$atk(TaA mah"Apauç&SaivanyaAs$a:
s$aUyaRsya jagAd"Atmana:

*deha-tyāgaḥ ca rājarñer
viñēu-rātasya dhēmataù
çākhā-praḍayanam āñer
mārkaḍḍeyasya sat-kathā*

mahā-puruṇa-vinyāsaù
sūryasya jagad-ātmanaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

deha-tyāgaù—the relinquishing of his body; ca—and; rāja-āñeù—by the saintly king; viñëu-rätasya—Parékñit; dhé-mataù—the intelligent; çākhā—of the branches of the Vedas; praëayanam—the dissemination; āñeù—from the great sage Vyāsadeva; mārkaëðeyasya—of Märkaëðeya Āñi; sat-kathā—the pious narration; mahā-puruṇa—of the universal form of the Lord; vinyāsaù—the detailed arrangement; sūryasya—of the sun; jagat-ātmanaù—who is the soul of the universe.

TRANSLATION

There are also an account of the passing away of the wise and saintly King Viñëurāta [Parékñit], an explanation of how Çréla Vyāsadeva disseminated the branches of the Vedas, a pious narration concerning Märkaëðeya Āñi, and a description of the detailed arrangement of the Lord's universal form and His form as the sun, the soul of the universe.

TEXT 46

wita caAe·M(iā"ja™aei"A yatpa{í"Ae'h"imah"Aisma va:
lallaAvataAr"k(maARiNA
k(LitaRtaAnalh" s$avaRzA:

iti coktaà dvija-çreñöhä
yat pāñöo 'ham ihäsmi vaù lélävatära-karmäëi
kértitänéha sarvaçaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

iti—thus; ca—and; uktam—spoken; dvija-çreñöhäù—O best of the brähmaëas; yat—what; pãññaù—inquired; aham—I; iha—here; asmi—have been; vaù—by you; lélä-avatära—of the divine descents of the Supreme Lord for His own enjoyment; karmäëi—the activities; kértitáni—have been glorified; iha—in this scripture; sarvaçaù—completely.

TRANSLATION

Thus, O best of the brähmaëas, I have explained herein what you have inquired from me. This literature has glorified in full detail the activities of the Lord's pastime incarnations.

TEXT 47

paitata: sKailataêAtaR: °auÔvaA vaA ivavazAAe gA{NAna,
h"r"yae nama wtyau»aEr," maucyatae s$avaRpaAtak(Ata,

*patitaù skhalitaç cārtaù
kñuttvā vā vivaço gāëan
haraye nama ity uccair
mucyate sarva-pātakāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

patitaù—falling; skhalitaù—tripping; ca—and; ārtaù—feeling pain; kñuttvā—sneezing; vā—or; vivaçaù—involuntarily; gāëan—chanting; haraye namaù—"obeisances to Lord Hari"; iti—thus; uccaiù—loudly; mucyate—one is freed; sarva-pātakāt—from all sinful reactions.

TRANSLATION

If when falling, slipping, feeling pain or sneezing one involuntarily cries out in a loud voice, "Obeisances to Lord Hari!" one will be automatically freed from all his sinful reactions.

PURPORT

Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Öhäkura explains that Lord Çré Caitanya is always loudly chanting the song haraye namaù kãñëa in the courtyard of Çréväsa Öhäkura and that this same Lord Caitanya will free us from our materialistic enjoying propensity if we also loudly chant the glories of the Supreme Lord Hari.

TEXT 48

s$aÆyLtyaRmaAnaAe BagAvaAnananta: ™autaAnauBaAvaAe vya$anaM ih" pauMs$aAma,
'aivazya icaÔaM ivaDaunaAetyazAeSaM yaTaA tamaAe'k(AeR'"aimavaAitavaAta:

*saì kértyamāno bhagavān anantaù çrutānubhāvo vyaśanaà hi puàśām praviçya cittaà vidhunoty açeñaà
yathā tamo 'rko 'bhram ivāti-vātaù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

saì kértyamānaù—being properly chanted about; bhagavān—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; anantaù—the unlimited; çruta—being heard about; anubhāvaù—His potency; vyaśanam—the misery; hi—indeed; puàśām—of persons; praviçya—enter; cittam—the heart; vidhunoti—cleans away; açeñaam—entirely; yathā—just as; tamaù—darkness; arkaù—the sun; abhram—clouds; iva—as; ati-vātaù—a strong wind.

TRANSLATION

When people properly glorify the Supreme Personality of Godhead or simply hear about His power, the Lord personally enters their hearts and cleanses away every trace of misfortune, just as the sun removes the darkness or as a powerful wind drives away the clouds.

PURPORT

One may not be satisfied by the example of the sun removing the darkness, since sometimes the darkness in a cave is not removed by the sun. Therefore the example is given of a strong wind that drives away a cover of clouds. It is thus emphatically stated here that the Supreme Lord will remove from the heart of His devotee the darkness of material illusion.

TEXT 49

ma{SaA igAr"staA ÷s$atalr"s$atk(TaA na k(Tyatae yaà"gAvaAnaDaAe^oaja:
tade"va s$atyaM taäu" hE"va maËÿlaM tade"va pauNyaM BagAvaÖ"NAAed"yama,

māñä giras tä hy asatér asat-kathä na kathyate yad bhagavän adhokñajaù tat eva satyaà tad u haiva maì galaà tat eva puëyaà bhagavad-guëodayam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

māñäù—false; giraù—words; täù—they; hi—indeed; asatëù—untrue; asat-kathäù—useless discussions of that which is not eternal; na kathyate—is not discussed; yat—wherein; bhagavän—the Personality of Godhead; adhokñajaù—the transcendental Lord; tat—that; eva—alone; satyam—true; tat—that; u ha—indeed; eva—alone; maì galam—auspicious; tat—that; eva—alone; puëyam—pious; bhagavat-guëa—the qualities of the Supreme Personality; udayam—which manifests.

TRANSLATION

Words that do not describe the transcendental Personality of Godhead but instead deal with temporary matters are simply false and useless. Only those words that manifest the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Lord are actually truthful, auspicious and pious.

PURPORT

Sooner or later, all material literature and discussion must fail the test of time. On the other hand, the transcendental descriptions of the Supreme Lord can free us from the bondage of illusion and restore us to our eternal status as loving servants of the Lord. Although men who are like animals may criticize the glorification of the Absolute Truth, those who are civilized should go on vigorously propagating the transcendental glories of the Lord.

TEXT 50

tade"va r"myaM ç&icarM" navaM navaM
tade"va zAinmanas$aAe mah"Aets$avama, tade"va zAAek(ANARvazAAeSaNAM na{NAAM yaäu"Ôama:ëAek(yazAAe'naugAlyatae

tad eva ramyaà ruciraà navaà navaà tad eva çaçvan manaso mahotsavam tad eva çokäreava-çoiäëaà nâëäà yad uttamaùçloka-yaço 'nugéyate

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat—that; eva—indeed; ramyam—attractive; ruciram—palatable; navam navam—newer and newer; tat—that; eva—indeed; çaçvat—constantly; manasaù—for the mind; mahä-utsavam—a great festival; tat—that; eva—indeed; çoka-arëava—the ocean of misery; çoiäëam—that which dries; nâëäà—for all persons; yat—in which; uttamaùçloka—of the all-famous Supreme Personality of Godhead; yaçaù—the glories; anugéyate—are sung.

TRANSLATION

Those words describing the glories of the all-famous Personality of Godhead are attractive, relishable and ever fresh. Indeed, such words are a perpetual festival for the mind, and they dry up the ocean of misery.

TEXT 51

na yaã"caiêṭapadM" h"re"yaRzAAe jagAtpaivaṭaM 'agA{NAIta k(ihR"icata, taä," DvaAÉytail[%TaM na tau hM"s$as$aeivataM
yaṭaAcyautastaṭa ih" s$ADavaAe'malaA:

*na yad vacaṣ citra-padaà harer yaço
jagat-pavitraà pragâëeta karhicit tad dhvâi kña-têathaà na tu haàsa-sevitaà yatrâcyutas tatra hi sâdhavo 'malâu*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

na—not; yat—which; vacaù—vocabulary; citra-padam—decorative words; hareù—of the Lord; yaçaù—the glories; jagat—the universe; pavitram—sanctifying; pragâëeta—describe; karhicit—ever; tat—that; dhvâi kña—of the crows; têrtham—a place of pilgrimage; na—not; tu—on the other hand; haàsa—by saintly persons situated in knowledge; sevitam—served; yatra—in which; acyutaù—Lord Acyuta (is described); tatra—there; hi—alone; sâdhavaù—the saints; amalâu—who are pure.

TRANSLATION

Those words that do not describe the glories of the Lord, who alone can sanctify the atmosphere of the whole universe, are considered to be like unto a place of pilgrimage for crows, and are never resorted to by those situated in transcendental knowledge. The pure and saintly devotees take interest only in topics glorifying the infallible Supreme Lord.

TEXT 52

taã"Aigvas$agAAeR janataAGas$amplavaAe yaismana, 'aitaëAek(mabaÜ"vatyaipa
naAmaAnyanantasya yazAAe'iÆÿtaAina yata, Za{Nvainta gAAyainta gA{NAinta s$aADava:

tad vāg-visargo janatāgha-samplavo yasmin prati-çlokaṁ abaddhavyatī api nāmāṇy anantasya yaçō 'ī kitāni yat çāëvanti gāyanti gāëanti sādhaṇā

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tat—that; vāk—vocabulary; visargaṁ—creation; janatā—of the people in general; agha—of the sins; samplavaṁ—a revolution; yasmin—in which; prati-çlokaṁ—each and every stanza; abaddhavyatī—is irregularly composed; api—although; nāmāṇi—the transcendental names, etc; anantasya—of the unlimited Lord; yaçaṁ—the glories; aī kitāni—depicted; yat—which; çāëvanti—do hear; gāyanti—do sing; gāëanti—do accept; sādhaṇā—the purified men who are honest.

TRANSLATION

On the other hand, that literature which is full of descriptions of the transcendental glories of the name, fame, forms, pastimes and so on of the unlimited Supreme Lord is a different creation, full of transcendental words directed toward bringing about a revolution in the impious lives of this world's misdirected civilization. Such transcendental literatures, even though imperfectly composed, are heard, sung and accepted by purified men who are thoroughly honest.

TEXT 53

naESk(myaRmapyacyautaBaAvavaijaRtaM na zAAeBatae ÁaAnamalaM inar"Āanama, ku(ta: pauna: zAid"Ba%"malire" na ÷ipaRtaM k(maR yad"pyanauÔamama,

*naiñkarmyam apy acyuta-bhāva-varjitaà
na çobhate ji' ānam alaà nirai' janam kutaù punaù çaçvad abhadram éçvare na hy arpitaà karma yad apy anuttamam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

naiñkarmyam—self-realization, being freed from the reactions of fruitive work; api—although; acyuta—of the infallible Lord; bhāva—conception; varjitam—devoid of; na—does not; çobhate—look well; ji' ānam—transcendental knowledge; alam—actually; nirai' janam—free from designations; kutaù—where is; punaù—again; çaçvat—always; abhadram—uncongenial; éçvare—unto the Lord; na—not; hi—indeed; arpitam—offered; karma—fruitive work; yad—which is; api—even; anuttamam—unsurpassed.

TRANSLATION

Knowledge of self-realization, even though free from all material affinity, does not look well if devoid of a conception of the Infallible [God]. What, then, is the use of even the most properly performed fruitive activities, which are naturally painful from the very beginning and transient by nature, if they are not utilized for the devotional service of the Lord?

PURPORT

This and the previous two verses are found in a slightly different form in the First Canto of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam (1.5.10-12). The translations are based on Çréla Prabhupāda's.

TEXT 54

yazA:i™ayaAmaeva pair"™ama: par"Ae
vaNAAR™amaAcaAr"tapa:™autaAid"Sau @ivasma{ita:™alDar"paAd"paáyaAer," gAuNANauvaAd"™avaNAAd"r"Aid"iBa:

*yaçaù-çriyām eva pariçramaù paro varëäçramäcära-tapaù-çrutädiñu avismâtiù çrédhara-päda-padmaya
guëänuväda-çravaëädarädibhiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaçaù—in fame; çréyām—and opulence; eva—only; pariçramaù—the labor;
paraù—great; varëa-äçrama-äcära—by one's execution of duties in the varëäçrama system; tapaù—austerities; çruta—hearing of sacred scripture; ädiñu—and so on; avismâtiù—remembrance; çrédhara—of the maintainer of the goddess of fortune; päda-padmayaù—of the lotus feet;
guëa-anuväda—of the chanting of the qualities; çravaëa—by hearing;
ädara—respecting; ädibhiù—and so on.

TRANSLATION

The great endeavor one undergoes in executing the ordinary social and religious duties of the varëäçrama system, in performing austerities, and in hearing from the Vedas culminates only in the achievement of mundane fame and opulence. But by respecting and attentively hearing the recitation of the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Lord, the husband of the goddess of fortune, one can remember His lotus feet.

TEXT 55

@ivasma{ita: k{(SNApad"Ar"ivand"yaAe:

i°aNAaetyaBa%o"AiNA ca zAM tanaAeita
s$aÔvasya zAuiÜM" par"maAtmaBai·M( ÁaAnaM ca ivaÁaAnaivar"AgAyau·(ma,

*avismâtiù kâñëa-padāravindayòu kñiëoty abhadräëi ca çaà tanoti sattvasya çuddhià paramātma-bhaktià
jī ānaà ca vijī āna-virāga-yuktam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

avismâtiù—remembrance; kâñëa-pada-aravindayòu—of Lord Kâñëa's lotus feet; kñiëoti—destroys; abhadräëi—everything inauspicious; ca—and; çam—good fortune; tanoti—expands; sattvasya—of the heart; çuddhim—the purification; parama-ātma—for the Supreme Soul; bhaktim—devotion; jī ānam—knowledge; ca—and; vijī āna—with direct realization; virāga—and detachment; yuktam—endowed.

TRANSLATION

Remembrance of Lord Kâñëa's lotus feet destroys everything inauspicious and awards the greatest good fortune. It purifies the heart and bestows devotion for the Supreme Soul, along with knowledge enriched with realization and renunciation.

TEXT 56

yaUyaM iā"jaAfyaA bata BaUir"BaAgAA yacC$ìd"AtmanyaiKalaAtmaBaUtama, naAr"AyaNAM de"vamade"vamaIzAma, @ja>aBaAvaA BajataAivavaezya

yüyaà dvijāgryā bata bhūri-bhāgā yac chaçvad ātmany akhilātma-bhūtam nārāyaëaà devam adevam éçam

ajasra-bhävā bhajatäviveçya

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yüyam—all of you; dvija-agryäù—O most eminent of brähmaëas; bata—indeed; bhüri-bhägäù—extremely fortunate; ya—because; çaçvat—constantly; ätmani—in your hearts; akhila—of all; ätma-bhütam—who is the ultimate Soul; näräyaëam—Lord Näräyaëa; devam—the Personality of Godhead; adevam—beyond whom there is no other god; éçam—the supreme controller; ajasra—without interruption; bhäväù—having love; bhajata—you should worship; äviveçya—placing Him.

TRANSLATION

O most eminent of brähmaëas, you are all indeed extremely fortunate, since you have already placed within your hearts Lord Çré Näräyaëa—the Personality of Godhead, the supreme controller and the ultimate Soul of all existence—beyond whom there is no other god. You have undeviating love for Him, and thus I request you to worship Him.

TEXT 57

@hM" ca s$AmsmaAir"ta @AtmataÔvaM ™autaM paura mae par"maiSaRvafṭaAta,
'aAyaAepavaezAe na{patae: par"li°ata:
s$ad"sya{SaINAAM mah"taAM ca Za{NvataAma,

ahaà ca saàsmärita ätma-tattvaà
çrutaà purā me paramarñi-vakträt präyopaveçe nāpateù parékñitaù
sadasy āñéääà mahatäà ca çäëvatām

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

aham—I; ca—also; saàsmäritaù—have been made to remember;

ätma-tattvam—the science of the Supersoul; çrutam—heard; purä—previously; me—by me; parama-āṇi—of the greatest of sages, Çukadeva; vakträt—from the mouth; präya-upaveçe—during the fast to death; nāpateu—of the king; parékñitaù—Parékñit; sadasi—in the assembly; āñéäm—of sages; mahatām—great; ca—and; çäëvatām—while they were listening.

TRANSLATION

I also have now been fully reminded of the science of God, which I previously heard from the mouth of the great sage Çukadeva Gosvämé. I was present in the assembly of great sages who heard him speak to King Parékñit as the monarch sat fasting until death.

TEXT 58

Wtaã": k(iTataM iva'aA:
k(TanalyaAeç&k(maRNA:
maAh"AtmyaM vaAs$aude"vasya
s$avaARzAuBaivanaAzAnama,

etad vaù kathitaà vipräù
kathanéyuru-karmaëaù
mähätmyaà väsudevasya
sarvāçubha-vināçanam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

etad—this; vaù—to you; kathitam—narrated; vipräù—O brähmaëas; kathanéya—of Him who is most worthy of being described; uru-karmaëaù—and whose activities are very great; mähätmyam—the glories; väsudevasya—of Lord Väsudeva; sarva-açubha—all inauspiciousness; vināçanam—which completely destroys.

TRANSLATION

O brähmaëas, I have thus described to you the glories of the Supreme Lord Väsudeva, whose extraordinary activities are most worthy of glorification. This narration destroys all that is inauspicious.

TEXT 59

ya Wtat™aAvayaei³atyaM
yaAma°aNAmananyaDal:
ëAek(maekM(tad"Da< vaA
paAdM" paAd"ADaRmaeva vaA ™aÜ"AvaAna, yaAe'nauZa{NAuyaAta, paunaAtyaAtmaAnamaeva s$a:

*ya etat çrävayen nityaà
yāma-kīāëam ananya-dhéù
çlokaṁ ekaà tad-ardhaà vä
pädaà pädārdham eva vä
çraddhävān yo 'nuçāëuyāt
punāty ātmānam eva saù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yaù—who; etat—this; çrävayet—makes others hear; nityam—always; yāma-kīāëam—every hour and every minute; ananya-dhéù—with undeviated attention; çlokaṁ—verse; ekaṁ—one; tat-ardham—half of that; vä—or; pädam—a single line; päda-ardham—half a line; eva—indeed; vä—or; çraddhā-vān—with faith; yaù—who; anuçāëuyāt—hears from the proper source; punāti—purifies; ātmānam—his very self; eva—indeed; saù—he.

TRANSLATION

One who with undeviating attention constantly recites this literature at every moment of every hour, as well as one who faithfully hears even one verse or half a verse or a single line or even half a line, certainly purifies his very self.

TEXT 60

ã"Ad"zyaAmaek(Ad"zyaAM vaA Za{NvaªaAyaSyavaAna, Bavaeta, paQ&tyana´ana, ´ayata:
paUtaAe Bavaita paAtak(Ata,

*dvādaçyām ekādaçyāà vā
çāëvann āyuñyavān bhavet
paõhaty anaçnan prayataù
pūto bhavati pātakāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

dvādaçyām—on the twelfth day of either fortnight of the month; ekādaçyām—on the auspicious eleventh day; vā—or; çāëvan—hearing; āyuñya-vān—possessed of long life; bhavet—one becomes; paõhati—if one recites; anaçnan—while refraining from eating; prayataù—with careful attention; pūtaù—purified; bhavati—one becomes; pātakāt—from sinful reactions.

TRANSLATION

One who hears this Bhāgavatam on the Ekādaçé or Dvādaçé day is assured of long life, and one who recites it with careful attention while fasting is purified of all sinful reactions.

TEXT 61

pauSk(re" maTaur"yaAM ca
ã"Ar"vatyaAM yataAtmavaAna,

opaAeSya s$aMih"taAmaetaAM
paiQ&tvaA maucyatae BayaAta,

*puñkare mathurayäà ca
dvāravatyäà yatātmavān
upoñya saàhitām etāà
pañhitvā mucyate bhayāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puñkare—at the holy place Puñkara; mathurāyām—at Mathurā; ca—and; dvāravatyām—at Dvārakā; yata-ātma-vān—self-controlled; upoñya—fasting; saàhitām—literature; etām—this; pañhitvā—reciting; mucyate—one becomes freed; bhayāt—from fear.

TRANSLATION

One who controls his mind, fasts at the holy places Puñkara, Mathurā or Dvārakā, and studies this scripture will be freed from all fear.

TEXT 62

de"vataA maunaya: is$aÜ"A:
ipatar"Ae manavaAe na{paA:
yacC$inta k(AmaAna, gA{NAta: Za{NvataAe yasya k(LtaRnaAta,

*devatā munayaù siddhāù
pitaro manavo nāpāù
yacchanti kāmān gāēataù
çāēvato yasya kērtanāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

devatāù—the demigods; munayaù—the sages; siddhāù—the perfected yogés; pitaraù—the forefathers; manavaù—the progenitors of mankind;

nāpaù—the kings of the earth; yacchanti—bestow; kāmān—desires; gāēataù—to one who is chanting; çāēvataù—or who is hearing; yasya—of which; kértanāt—because of the glorification.

TRANSLATION

Upon the person who glorifies this Purāēa by chanting or hearing it, the demigods, sages, Siddhas, Pitās, Manus and kings of the earth bestow all desirable things.

TEXT 63

[%caAe yajaUMiSa s$aAmaAina
iā"jaAe'DaltyaAnauivand"tae maDauku(lyA Ga{taku(lyA:
paya:ku(lyAÊ tatP(lama,

āco yajüàñi sāmāni
dvijo 'dhētyānuvindate
madhu-kulyā ghāta-kulyäù
payaù-kulyäç ca tat phalam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ācaù—the mantras of the Āg Veda; yajüàñi—those of the Yajur Veda; sāmāni—and those of the Sāma Veda; dvijaù—a brāhmaēa; adhētya—studying; anuvindate—obtains; madhu-kulyäù—rivers of honey; ghāta-kulyäù—rivers of ghee; payaù-kulyäù—rivers of milk; ca—and; tat—that; phalam—fruit.

TRANSLATION

By studying this Bhāgavatam, a brāhmaēa can enjoy the same rivers of honey, ghee and milk he enjoys by studying the hymns of the Āg, Yajur and Sāma Vedas.

TEXT 64

paur"ANAs$aMih"taAmaetaAma, @Daltya 'ayataAe iã"ja:
'aAe·M(BagAvataA yaÔau
tatpadM" par"maM ~ajaeta,

*puräëa-saàhitām etām
adhētya prayato dvijaù proktaà bhagavatā yat tu
tat padaà paramaà vrajet*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puräëa-saàhitām—essential compilation of all the Puräëas; etām—this;
adhētya—studying; prayataù—carefully; dvijaù—a brähmaëa;
proktam—described; bhagavatā—by the Personality of Godhead;
yat—which; tu—indeed; tat—that; padam—position; paramam—supreme;
vrajet—he attains.

TRANSLATION

A brähmaëa who diligently reads this essential compilation of all the Puräëas will go to the supreme destination, which the Supreme Lord Himself has herein described.

TEXT 65

iva'aAe'DaltyaA«auyaAt'aÁaAM
r"AjanyaAed"iDamaeKalaAma, vaEzyaAe inaiDapaitatvaM ca
zAU#%": zAuDyaeta paAtak(Ata,

vipro 'dhētyāpnuyāt prajī āà

*rājanyodadhi-mekhalām vaiçyo nidhi-patitvaà ca
çüdrau çudhyeta pātakāt*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

viprau—a brāhmaëa; adhetya—studying; āpnuyāt—achieves;
prajī ām—intelligence in devotional service; rājanya—a king;
udadhi-mekhalām—(the earth) bounded by the seas; vaiçyaù—a businessman; nidhi—of treasures; patitvam—lordship; ca—and; çüdrau—a worker; çudhyeta—becomes purified; pātakāt—from sinful reactions.

TRANSLATION

A brāhmaëa who studies the Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam achieves firm intelligence in devotional service, a king who studies it gains sovereignty over the earth, a vaiçya acquires great treasure and a çüdra is freed from sinful reactions.

TEXT 66

k(īlamalas$aMh"itak(AlanaAe'iKalaēzAAe
h"ir"ir"tar"ḥa na gAlyatae ÷BaI°NAmā, wh" tau paunaBaRgAvaAnazAeSamaUitaR:
pair"paiQ&taAe'naupadM" k(TaA'as$aĒĒy:

*kali-mala-saàhati-kālano 'khileço
harir itaratra na géyate hy abhékñëam iha tu punar bhagavān aṇeña-mūrtiù paripaõhito 'nu-padaà kathā-prasaì gaiù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kali—of the age of quarrel; mala-saàhati—of all the contamination;
kālanaù—the annihilator; akhila-éçaù—the supreme controller of all beings;
hariù—Lord Hari; itaratra—elsewhere; na géyate—is not described;

hi—indeed; abhékīëam—constantly; iha—here; tu—however; punaù—on the other hand; bhagavän—the Personality of Godhead; açeña-mürtiù—who expands in unlimited personal forms; paripaöhitaù—is openly described in narration; anu-padam—in each and every verse; kathä-prasaì gaiù—on the pretext of stories.

TRANSLATION

Lord Hari, the supreme controller of all beings, annihilates the accumulated sins of the Kali age, yet other literatures do not constantly glorify Him. But that Supreme Personality of Godhead, appearing in His innumerable personal expansions, is abundantly and constantly described throughout the various narrations of this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam.

TEXT 67

tamah"majamanantamaAtmataÔvaM jagAäu"d"yaisTaitas$amYamaAtmazAi·(ma, âupaitaiBar"jazA,(zAÆÿr"AâEr," äu"r"vais$atastavamacyautaM nataAe'isma

tam aham ajam anantam ātma-tattvaà jagad-udaya-sthiti-saàyamātma-çaktim dyu-patibhir aja-çakra-çaì karādyair duravasita-stavam acyutaà nato 'smi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

tam—to Him; aham—I; ajam—to the unborn; anantam—the unlimited; ātma-tattvam—the original Supersoul; jagat—of the material universe; udaya—the creation; sthiti—maintenance; saàyama—and destruction; ātma-çaktim—by whose personal energies; dyu-patibhiù—by the masters of heaven; aja-çakra-çaì kara-ādyaiù—headed by Brahmä, Indra and Çiva; duravasita—incomprehensible; stavam—whose praises; acyutam—to the infallible Supreme Lord; nataù—bowed down; asmi—I am.

TRANSLATION

I bow down to that unborn and infinite Supreme Soul, whose personal energies effect the creation, maintenance and destruction of the material universe. Even Brahmä, Indra, Çai kara and the other lords of the heavenly planets cannot fathom the glories of that infallible Personality of Godhead.

TEXT 68

opaicatanavazAi·(iBa: sva @Atmánya,
opar"icataisTar"jaĒyṁaAlayaAya BagAvata opalaibDamaAḥaDa°ae
s$aur"[%SaBaAya nama: s$anaAtanaAya

*upacita-nava-çaktibhiù sva ätmany uparacita-sthira-jaì gamālayāya bhagavata upalabdhi-mātra-dhamne
sura-āñabhāya namaù sanātanāya*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

upacita—fully developed; nava-çaktibhiù—by His nine energies (prakāti, puruṇa, mahat, false ego and the five subtle forms of perception); sve ätmani—within Himself; uparacita—arranged in proximity; sthira jaì gama—of both the nonmoving and the moving living beings; ālayāya—the abode; bhagavate—to the Supreme Personality of Godhead; upalabdhi-mātra—pure consciousness; dhāmne—whose manifestation; sura—of deities; āñabhāya—the chief; namaù—my obeisances; sanātanāya—to the eternal Lord.

TRANSLATION

I offer my obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the eternal Lord and the leader of all other deities, who by evolving His nine material energies has arranged within Himself the abode of all moving and nonmoving creatures, and who is always situated in pure, transcendental consciousness.

TEXT 69

svas$auKainaBa{tacaetaAstaã"Yaud"staAnyBaAvaAe
'pyaijataç&icar"lallaAk{(í"s$aAr"stad"lyama, vyatanauta k{(payaA yastaÔvad"lpaM paur"ANAM
tamaiKalava{ijana£aM vyaAs$as$aUnauM nataAe'isma

*sva-sukha-nibhâta-cetäs tad-vyudastänya-bhâvo
'py ajita-rucira-läläkânôa-sâras tadéyam vyatanuta kâpayä yas tattva-dépaà puräëaà tam akhila-vâjina-ghnaà vyâsa-sünuà nato 'smi*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sva-sukha—in the happiness of the self; nibhâta—solitary; cetäu—whose consciousness; tat—because of that; vyudasta—given up; anya-bhâvaù—any other type of consciousness; api—although; ajita—of Çré Kânëa, the unconquerable Lord; rucira—pleasing; lälä—by the pastimes; äkânôa—attracted; säraù—whose heart; tadéyam—consisting of the activities of the Lord; vyatanuta—spread, manifested; kâpayä—mercifully; yaù—who; tattva-dépam—the bright light of the Absolute Truth; puräëam—the Puräëa (Çrémad-Bhāgavatam); tam—unto Him; akhila-vâjina-ghnam—defeating everything inauspicious; vyâsa-sünun—son of Vyāsadeva; nataù asmi—I offer my obeisances.

TRANSLATION

Let me offer my respectful obeisances unto my spiritual master, the son of Vyāsadeva, Çukadeva Gosvāmé. It is he who defeats all inauspicious things within this universe. Although in the beginning he was absorbed in the happiness of Brahman realization and was living in a secluded place, giving up all other types of consciousness, he became attracted by the pleasing, most melodious pastimes of Lord Çré Kâñëa. He therefore mercifully spoke this supreme Puräëa, Çrémad-Bhägavatam, which is the bright light of the Absolute Truth and which describes the activities of the Lord.

PURPORT

Without offering respectful obeisances to Çukadeva Gosvämé and other great äcäryas in his line, one cannot possibly gain the privilege of entering into the deep transcendental meaning of Çrémad-Bhägavatam.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupäda to the Twelfth Canto, Twelfth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhägavatam, entitled "The Topics of Çrémad-Bhägavatam Summarized."

13. The Glories of Çrémad-Bhägavatam

In this final chapter Çré Söta Gosvämé describes the length of each of the Puräëas, along with the subject matter of Çrémad-Bhägavatam, its purpose, how to give it as a gift, the glories of such gift-giving and the glories of chanting and hearing it.

The total corpus of the Puräëas includes four hundred thousand verses, eighteen thousand of which constitute Çrémad-Bhägavatam. The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Näräyaëa, instructed Brahmä in this Çrémad-Bhägavatam, whose narrations produce detachment from matter and which contains the essence of all the Vedänta. One who gives the Çrémad-Bhägavata Puräëa as a gift will attain the highest destination. Among all the Puräëas, Çrémad-Bhägavatam is the best, and it is the most dear thing to the Vaiñëavas. It reveals that spotless, supreme knowledge accessible to the *paramahäsa*s, and it also reveals the process by which one can become free from the reactions of material work—a process enriched with knowledge, renunciation and devotion.

Having thus glorified the Bhāgavatam, Sūta Gosvāmī meditates upon Lord Ṛṇē Nārāyaṇa as the original Absolute Truth, who is perfectly pure, free from all contamination, devoid of sorrow and immortal. Then he offers obeisances to the greatest yogī, Ṛṇē Ṣukadeva, who is nondifferent from the Absolute Truth. Finally, praying with true devotion, Sūta Gosvāmī offers respects to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Ṛṇē Hari, who takes away all misery.

TEXT 1

s$Uta ovaAca

yaM “aöA vaç&NAen%”ç&%”maç&ta: staunvainta id"vyaE: stavaEr," vaedE": s$aAËÿpad", (maAepainaSadE" gAARyainta yaM s$aAmagAA: DyaAnaAvaisTatataÖ"taena manas$aA pazyainta yaM yaAeigAnaAe yasyaAntaM na ivaäu": s$aur"As$aur" gANAA de"vaAya tasmaE nama:

sūta uvāca

yaè brahmā varuëendra-rudra-marutaù stunvanti divyaiù stavair vedaiù sâi ga-pada-kramopaniñadair gāyanti yaè sāma-gāu dhyānāvasthita-tad-gatena manasā paçyanti yaè yogino yasyāntaè na viduù surāsura-gaëä devāya tasmai namaù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sūtaù uvāca—Sūta Gosvāmī said; yam—whom; brahmā—Lord Brahmā; varuëa-indra-rudra-marutaù—as well as Varuëa, Indra, Rudra and the Maruts; stunvanti—praise; divyaiù—with transcendental; stavaiù—prayers; vedaiù—with the Vedas; sa—along with; aì ga—the corollary branches; pada-krama—the special sequential arrangement of mantras; upaniñadaiù—and the Upaniñads; gāyanti—they sing about; yam—whom; sāma-gāu—the singers of the Sāma Veda; dhyāna—in meditative trance; avasthita—situated; tad-gatena—which is fixed upon Him; manasā—within the mind; paçyanti—they see; yam—whom; yoginaù—the mystic yogīs;

yasya—whose; antam—end; na viduù—they do not know; sura-asura-gaëù—all the demigods and demons; deväya—to the Supreme Personality of Godhead; tasmai—to Him; namaù—obeisances.

TRANSLATION

Süta Gosvämé said: Unto that personality whom Brahmä, Varuëa, Indra, Rudra and the Maruts praise by chanting transcendental hymns and reciting the Vedas with all their corollaries, pada-kramas and Upaniñads, to whom the chanters of the Säma Veda always sing, whom the perfected yogés see within their minds after fixing themselves in trance and absorbing themselves within Him, and whose limit can never be found by any demigod or demon—unto that Supreme Personality of Godhead I offer my humble obeisances.

TEXT 2

pa{ie" "aAmyad"mand"mand"r"igAir"faAvaAfak(Nx"^yanaAna, ina%"AlaAe: k(maQ&Ak{(taeBaRgAvata: iAs$aAinalaA: paAntau va:
yats$aMs$k(Ar"k(laAnauvataRnavazAAãe"laAinaBaenaAmBas$aAM yaAtaAyaAtamatain%"taM jalainaDaenaARâAipa iva™aAmyaita

pāñōhe bhrāmyad amanda-mandara-giri-grāvāgra-kaëöüyanān nidrāloù kamañhākāter bhagavataù çväsāniläù pāntu vaù yat-saàskāra-kalānuvartana-vaçād velā-nibhenāmbhasāà yätäyātam atandritaà jala-nidher nädyāpi viçrāmyati

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

pāñōhe—upon His back; bhrāmyat—rotating; amanda—most heavy; mandara-giri—of Mandara Mountain; grāva-agra—by the edges of the stones; kaëöüyanāt—by the scratching; nidrāloù—who became sleepy; kamañha-ākāteù—in the form of a tortoise; bhagavataù—of the Supreme Personality of Godhead; çvāsa—coming from the breathing; aniläù—the winds; pāntu—may they protect; vaù—all of you; yat—of which; saàskāra—of the remnants; kalā—the traces; anuvartana-vaçāt—as the effect of following; velā-nibhena—by that which resembles the flow; ambhasām—of the water; yāta-āyātam—the coming and going; atandritam—ceaseless; jala-nidheu—of the ocean; na—does not; adya api—even today; viçrāmyati—stop.

TRANSLATION

When the Supreme Personality of Godhead appeared as Lord Kūrma, a tortoise, His back was scratched by the sharp-edged stones lying on massive, whirling Mount Mandara, and this scratching made the Lord sleepy. May you all be protected by the winds caused by the Lord's breathing in this sleepy condition. Ever since that time, even up to the present day, the ocean tides have imitated the Lord's inhalation and exhalation by piously coming in and going out.

PURPORT

At times we alleviate an itching sensation by blowing upon it. Similarly, Çréla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvaté Ōhākura explains, the breathing of the Supreme Personality of Godhead can alleviate the itching sensation within the minds of mental speculators, as well as the itching of the material senses of conditioned souls engaged in sense gratification. Thus by meditating on the windy breath of Lord Kūrma—the tortoise incarnation—all categories of conditioned souls can be relieved of the deficiencies of material existence and come to the liberated, spiritual platform. One must simply allow the pastimes of Lord Kūrma to blow within one's heart like a favorable breeze; then one will surely find spiritual peace.

TEXT 3

paur"ANAs$aÊÿYaAs$amBaUitama, @sya vaAcya'ayaAejanae
d"AnaM d"Anasya maAh"AtmyaM paAQ&Ade"ê inabaAeData

puräëa-saì khyä-sambhütim
asya väcyä-prayojane
dänaà dänasya mähätmyaà
päöhädeç ca nibodhata

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

puräëa—of the Puräëas; saì khyä—of the counting (of verses); sambhütim—the summation; asya—of this Bhägavatam; väcyä—the subject matter; prayojane—and the purpose; dänam—the method of giving as a gift; dänasya—of such gift-giving; mähätmyam—the glories; päôha-ädeu—of teaching and so on; ca—and; nibodhata—please hear.

TRANSLATION

Now please hear a summation of the verse length of each of the Puräëas. Then hear of the prime subject and purpose of this Bhägavata Puräëa, the proper method of giving it as a gift, the glories of such gift-giving, and finally the glories of hearing and chanting this literature.

PURPORT

Çrémad-Bhägavatam is the best of all Puräëas. Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura explains that the other Puräëas will now be mentioned just as the assistants of a king are mentioned in connection with his glorification.

TEXTS 4-9

“aAöM d"zA s$ah">aAiNA
paAáM paÂaAenaSaií" ca ™alvaESNAvaM ‡ayaAeivaMzAca, catauiva<zAita zAEvak(ma, d"zAAí"AE ™alBaAgAvataM

naAr"dM" paÂaivaMzAita

maAkR(NxM" nava vaA¶M" ca
d"zApaÂa catau:zAtama, cataudR"zA BaivaSyaM syaAta, taTaA paÂazAtaAina ca

d"zAAí"AE "aövaEvata< laEËÿmaek(Ad"zAEva tau

catauiva<zAita vaAr"Ah"ma, Wk(AzAlitas$ah"›ak(ma,
s$k(AndM" zAtaM taTaA caEkM( vaAmanaM d"zA k(LitaRtama,

k(AEma< s$aæad"zAAKyaAtaM
maAtsyaM taÔau cataudR"zA Wk(AenaivaMzAts$aAEpaNA<
"aöANxM" ã"Ad"zAEva tau

WvaM paura"ANAs$and"Aeh"zA, cataulaR^oa od"Aô$ta:
ta‡aAí"d"zAs$aAh"›aM ™alBaAgAvataM wSyatae

*brāhmaà daça sahasrāëi
pādmaà pai cona-ñañōi ca
çré-vaiñëavaà trayo-viàçac
catur-viàçati çaivakam*

*daçäñōau çré-bhāgavataà nāradaà pai ca-viàçati
mārkaëòaà nava vāhnaà ca
daça-pai ca catuù-çatam*

*catur-daça bhaviñyaà syāt tathā pai ca-çatāni ca
daçäñōau brahma-vaivartaà
laiî gam ekādaçaiva tu*

*catur-viàçati vārāham ekāçēti-sahasrakam
skāndaà çataà tathā caikaà
vāmanaà daça kértitam
kaurmaà sapta-daçākhyātaà
mātsyaà tat tu catur-daça ekona-viàçat sauparēaà
brahmäëòaà dvādaçaiva tu
evaà purāëa-sandohaç
catur-lakña udāhātaù
tatrāññadaça-sāhasraà
çré-bhāgavataà iñyate*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

brāhmam—the Brahma Purāëa; daça—ten; sahasrāëi—thousands;
pādmam—the Padma Purāëa; pañca-ūna-ñāññi—five less than sixty;
ca—and; çré-vaiñëavam—the Viñëu Purāëa; trayaù-viàçat—twenty-three;
catuù-viàçati—twenty-four; çāivakam—the Çiva Purāëa;
daça-aññau—eighteen; çré-bhāgavatam—Çrémad-Bhāgavatam; nāradam—the Nārada Purāëa; pañca-viàçati—twenty-five; mārkaëòam—the Mārkaëòeya Purāëa; nava—nine; vāhnam—the Agni Purāëa; ca—and;
daça-pañca-catuù-çatam—fifteen thousand four hundred;
catuù-daça—fourteen; bhaviñyam—the Bhaviñya Purāëa; syāt—consists of;
tathā—plus; pañca-çatāni—five hundred (verses); ca—and;
daça-aññau—eighteen; brahma-vaivartam—the Brahma-vaivarta Purāëa;
laiì gam—the Liì ga Purāëa; ekādaça—eleven; eva—indeed; tu—and;
catuù-viàçati—twenty-four; vārāham—the Varāha Purāëa;
ekāçēti-sahasrakam—eighty-one thousand; skāndam—the Skanda Purāëa;
çatam—hundred; tathā—plus; ca—and; ekam—one; vāmanam—the Vāmana Purāëa; daça—ten; kértitam—is described; kaurmam—the *Kūrma
Purāëa*; sapta-daça—seventeen; ākhyātam—is said; mātsyam—the Matsya Purāëa; tat—that; tu—and; catuù-daça—fourteen;

eka-üna-viàcat—nineteen; sauparëam—the Garuòa Puräëa; brahmäëòam—the Brahmäëòà Puräëa; dvādaça—twelve; eva—indeed; tu—and; evam—in this way; Puräëa—of the Puräëas; sandohaù—the sum; catuù-lakñāù—four hundred thousand; udāhātaù—is described; tatra—therein; añña-daça-sāhasram—eighteen thousand; çré-bhāgavatam—Çrémad-Bhāgavatam; īṇyate—is said.

TRANSLATION

The Brahma Puräëa consists of ten thousand verses, the Padma Puräëa of fifty-five thousand, Çré Viññeu Puräëa of twenty-three thousand, the Çiva Puräëa of twenty-four thousand and Çrémad-Bhāgavatam of eighteen thousand. The Nārada Puräëa has twenty-five thousand verses, the Mārkaëðeya Puräëa nine thousand, the Agni Puräëa fifteen thousand four hundred, the Bhaviñya Puräëa fourteen thousand five hundred, the Brahma-vaivarta Puräëa eighteen thousand and the Lī ga Puräëa eleven thousand. The Varāha Puräëa contains twenty-four thousand verses, the Skanda Puräëa eighty-one thousand one hundred, the Vāmana Puräëa ten thousand, the Kūrma Puräëa seventeen thousand, the Matsya Puräëa fourteen thousand, the Garuòa Puräëa nineteen thousand and the Brahmäëòà Puräëa twelve thousand. Thus the total number of verses in all the Puräëas is four hundred thousand. Eighteen thousand of these, once again, belong to the beautiful Bhāgavatam.

PURPORT

Çréla Jéva Gosvämé has quoted from the Matsya Puräëa as follows:

*aññādaça puräëäni
kātvā satyavaté-sutaù
bhāratākhyānam akhilaà
cakre tad-upabāàhitam*

lakñāëaikena tat proktaà vedārtha-paribāàhitam

*vālmékināpi yat proktaḥ
rāmopakhyānam uttamam*

*brahmaēābhīhitaḥ tac ca
ṣata-koṭi-pravistarāt
āhātya nāradenaiva
vālmékāya punaḥ punaḥ*

*vālmékinā ca lokeṇu
dharma-kāmārtha-sāadhanam
evaḥ sa-pādāu pai caite
lakṣās teṇu prakēātītāu*

"After compiling the eighteen Purāṇas, Vyāsadeva, the son of Satyavatī, composed the entire Mahābhārata, which contains the essence of all the Purāṇas. It consists of over one hundred thousand verses and is filled with all the ideas of the Vedas. There is also the account of the pastimes of Lord Rāmacandra, spoken by Vālméki—an account originally related by Lord Brahmā in one billion verses. That Rāmāyaṇa was later summarized by Nārada and related to Vālméki, who further presented it to mankind so that human beings could attain the goals of religiosity, sense gratification and economic development. The total number of verses in all the Purāṇas and itihāsas (histories) is thus known in human society to amount to 525,000."

Ṣṛéla Viṣvanātha Cakravartī Ōhākura points out that in the First Canto, Third Chapter, of this work, after Sūta Gosvāmī lists the incarnations of Godhead, he adds the special phrase kāṇḍas tu bhagavān svayam: [SB 1.3.28] "But Kāṇḍa is the original Personality of Godhead." Similarly, after mentioning all of the Purāṇas, Ṣṛé Suta Gosvāmī again mentions the Ṣṛémad-Bhāgavatam to emphasize that it is the chief of all Purāṇic literatures.

TEXT 10

wdM" BagAvataA paUva<

“aöNAe naAiBapaÆÿjae
isTataAya BavaBaltaAya
k(Aç&NyaAts$am‘ak(AizAtama,

*idaà bhagavatä pürvaà
brahmaëe nābhi-paì kaje
sthitāya bhava-bhétāya
kāruëyāt samprakāçitam*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

idam—this; bhagavatä—by the Supreme Personality of Godhead; pürvam—first; brahmaëe—to Brahmä; nābhi-paì kaje—upon the lotus growing from the navel; sthitāya—who was situated; bhava—of material existence; bhétāya—who was fearful; kāruëyāt—out of mercy; samprakāçitam—was fully revealed.

TRANSLATION

It was to Lord Brahmä that the Supreme Personality of Godhead first revealed the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam in full. At the time, Brahmä, frightened by material existence, was sitting on the lotus flower that had grown from the Lord's navel.

PURPORT

Lord Kāñëa enlightened Brahmä with the knowledge of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam before the creation of this universe, as indicated here by the word pürvam. Also, the first verse of the Bhāgavatam states, tene brahma hädä ya ädi-kavaye: [SB 1.1.1] "Lord Kāñëa expanded perfect knowledge into the heart of Lord Brahmä." Because conditioned souls can experience only temporary objects, which are created, maintained and destroyed, they cannot readily understand that Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is an eternal, transcendental literature nondifferent from the Absolute Truth.

As stated in the Muëòaka Upaniñad (1.1.1):

brahmä devänäà prathamau sambabhüva viçvasya kartä bhuvanasya goptä sa brahma-vidyää sarva-vidyä-pratiñöhäm atharväya jyeñöha-puträya präha

"Among all the demigods, Brahmä was the first to take birth. He is the creator of this universe and also its protector. To his eldest son, Atharvä, He instructed the spiritual science of the self, which is the basis of all other branches of knowledge." Despite his exalted position, however, Brahmä still fears the influence of the Lord's illusory potency. Thus this energy seems virtually insurmountable. But Lord Caitanya is so kind that during His missionary activities in eastern and southern India, He freely distributed Kåñëa consciousness to everyone, urging them to become teachers of Bhagavad-gétä. Lord Caitanya, who is Kåñëa Himself, encouraged the people by saying, "By My order just become a teacher of Lord Kåñëa's message and save this country. I assure you that the waves of mäyä will never stop your progress." (Cc. Madhya 7.128)

If we give up all sinful activities and engage constantly in the saì kértana movement of Caitanya Mahäprabhu, victory is assured in our personal lives and also in our missionary efforts.

TEXTS 11-12

@Aid"maDyaAvas$aAnaeSau vaEr"AgyaAKyaAnas$aMyautama, h"ir"lallaAk(TaA~aAtaA-
ma{taAnaind"tas$ats$aur"ma,

s$avaR"vaed"Antas$aArM" yaä," "aöAtmaEk(tvala°aNama, vastvaiã"talyaM taiªaiM"
kE(valyaEk('ayaAejanama,

ädi-madhyävasäneñu

vairägyäkhyäna-saàyutam hari-lälä-kathä-vrätä-mätänandita-sat-suram

sarva-vedänta-säraà yad brahmätmaikatva-lakñaëam
vastv advitéyaà tan-niñhaà kaivalyaika-prayojanam

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

ädi—in the beginning; madhya—the middle; avasäneñu—and the end; vairägya—concerning renunciation of material things; äkhyäna—with narrations; saàyutam—full; hari-lälä—of the pastimes of Lord Hari; kathä-vrätä—of the many discussions; amäta—by the nectar; änandita—in which are made ecstatic; sat-suram—the saintly devotees and demigods; sarva-vedänta—of all the Vedänta; säram—the essence; yat—which; brahma—the Absolute Truth; ätma-ekatva—in terms of nondifference from the spirit soul; lakñaëam—characterized; vastu—the reality; advitéyam—one without a second; tat-niñham—having that as its prime subject matter; kaivalya—exclusive devotional service; eka—the only; prayojanam—ultimate goal.

TRANSLATION

From beginning to end, the Çrémad-Bhägavatam is full of narrations that encourage renunciation of material life, as well as nectarean accounts of Lord Hari's transcendental pastimes, which give ecstasy to the saintly devotees and demigods. This Bhägavatam is the essence of all Vedänta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while nondifferent from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth.

PURPORT

Vairägya, renunciation, means giving up everything that has no relation with the Absolute Truth. Saintly devotees and demigods are enthused by the nectar of the Lord's spiritual pastimes, which are the essence of all Vedic knowledge. Vedic knowledge elaborately negates the ultimate reality of material things by emphasizing their temporary, fleeting existence. The ultimate goal is vastu, the factual substance, which is advitēyam, one without a second. That unique Absolute Truth is a transcendental person far beyond the mundane categories and characteristics of personality found in our pale material world. Thus the ultimate goal of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is to train the sincere reader in love of Godhead. Lord Kāñëa is supremely lovable because of His eternal, transcendental qualities. The beauty of this world is a dim reflection of the unlimited beauty of the Lord. Without compromise, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam persistently declares the glories of the Absolute Truth and is therefore the supreme spiritual literature, awarding a full taste of the nectar of love of Kāñëa in full Kāñëa consciousness.

TEXT 13

‘aAEi"paâAM paAENARmaAsyaAM
 he"mais$aMh"s$amainvatama,
 d"d"Aita yaAe BaAgAvataM
 s$a yaAita par"maAM gAitama,

prauñöhapadyäà paureämäsyäà
hema-siàha-samanvitam
dadäti yo bhāgavataà
sa yäti paramäà gatim

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

prauñöhapadyäm—in the month of Bhādra; paureämäsyäm—on the full-moon day; hema-siàha—upon a golden throne; samanvitam—seated; dadäti—gives as a gift; yaù—who; bhāgavatam—Çrémad-Bhāgavatam; saù—he; yäti—goes; paramäm—to the supreme; gatim—destination.

TRANSLATION

If on the full moon day of the month of Bhādra one places Çrémad-Bhāgavatam on a golden throne and gives it as a gift, he will attain the supreme transcendental destination.

PURPORT

One should place Çrémad-Bhāgavatam on a golden throne because it is the king of all literature. On the full-moon day of the month of Bhādra, the sun, which is compared to this king of literatures, is present in the constellation Leo and looks as if raised up on a royal throne. (According to astrology, the sun is said to be exalted in the sign of Leo). Thus one may unreservedly worship Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, the supreme divine scripture.

TEXT 14

r"Ajantae taAvad"nyaAina
paur"ANAAina s$ataAM gANAe yaAvaà"AgAvataM naEva ™aUyatae'ma{tas$AAgAr"ma,

*rājante tāvad anyāni
purāēāni satāà gaēe
yāvad bhāgavataà naiva
çrūyate 'māta-sāgaram*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

rājante—they shine forth; tāvat—that long; anyāni—the other; purāēāni—Purāēas; satām—of saintly persons; gaēe—in the assembly; yāvat—as long as; bhāgavatam—Çrémad-Bhāgavatam; na—not; eva—indeed; çrūyate—is heard; amāta-sāgaram—the great ocean of nectar.

TRANSLATION

All other Puranic scriptures shine forth in the assembly of saintly devotees only as long as that great ocean of nectar, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, is not heard.

PURPORT

Other Vedic literatures and other scriptures of the world remain prominent until the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is duly heard and understood. Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is the ocean of nectar and the supreme literature. By faithful hearing, recitation and distribution of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, the world will be sanctified and other, inferior literatures will fade to minor status.

TEXT 15

s$avaR"vaed"Antas$aArM" ih" ™alBaAgAvataimaSyatae ta%"s$aAma{tata{æasya naAnyatā syaA%"ita: ,(icata,

*sarva-vedānta-sāraḥ hi
çré-bhāgavatam iṅyate
tad-rasāmāta-tāptasya
nānyatra syād ratiḥ kvacit*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

sarva-vedānta—of all Vedānta philosophy; sāra—the essence; hi—indeed; çré-bhāgavatam—Çrémad-Bhāgavatam; iṅyate—is said to be; tat—of it; rasa-amāta—by the nectarean taste; tāptasya—for one who is satisfied; na—not; anyatra—elsewhere; syāt—there is; ratiḥ—attraction; kvacit—ever.

TRANSLATION

Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is declared to be the essence of all Vedānta philosophy. One who has felt satisfaction from its nectarean mellow will never be attracted to any other literature.

TEXT 16

ina°agAAAnaAM yaTaA gAËyA
de"vaAnaAmacyautaAe yaTaA vaESNAvaAnaAM yaTaA zAmBau:
paur"ANAAAnaAimad"mtaTaA

nimna-gānāà yathā gaì gā
devānām acyuto yathā
vaiñëavānāà yathā çambhuù
puräëänām idam tathā

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

nimna-gānām—of rivers flowing down to the sea; yathā—as; gaì gā—the Ganges; devānām—of all deities; acyutaù—the infallible Supreme Personality of Godhead; yathā—as; vaiñëavānām—of devotees of Lord Viñëu; yathā—as; çambhuù—Çiva; puräëänām—of Puräëas; idam—this; tathā—similarly.

TRANSLATION

Just as the Gaì gā is the greatest of all rivers, Lord Acyuta the supreme among deities and Lord Çambhu [Çiva] the greatest of Vaiñëavas, so Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is the greatest of all Puräëas.

TEXT 17

°aeṭaANAAM caEva s$avaeRSaAM yaTaA k(AzAI ÷nauÔamaA
taTaA pauraANA~aAtaAnaAM ™almaà"AgAvataM iã"jaA:

*kñeträëää caiva sarveñää
yathä käçé hy anuttamä
tathä puräëa-vrätänää
çrémad-bhägavataà dvijäù*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kñeträëäm—of holy places; ca—and; eva—indeed; sarveñäm—of all;
yathä—as; käçé—Benares; hi—indeed; anuttamä—unexcelled; tathä—thus;
puräëa-vrätänäm—of all the Puräëas;
çrémat-bhägavatam-Çrémad-Bhägavatam; dvijäù—O brähmaëas.

TRANSLATION

O brähmaëas, in the same way that the city of Käçé is unexcelled among holy places, Çrémad-Bhägavatam is supreme among all the Puräëas.

TEXT 18

™almaà"AgAvataM pauraANAmamalaM yaãE"SNavaAnaAM i'ayaM yaismana, paAr"mahM"syamaek(mamalaM ÁaAnaM parM" gAlyatae taṭa ÁaAnaivar"AgABai·(s$aih"taM naESk(myaRmaAivas$k{(taM tacC+$Nvana, s$aupaQ&na, ivacaAr"NApar"Ae BaftyaA ivamaucyae²ar":

çrémad-bhägavataà puräëam amalaà yad vaiñëavänää priyaà yasmin päramahaàsyam ekam amalaà jì änaà paraà géyate tatra jì äna-viräga-bhakti-sahitaà naiñkarmyam äviskåtaà tac chãëvan su-paõhan vicäraëa-paro bhaktyä vimucyen naraù

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

çrémat-bhāgavatam—Çrémad-Bhāgavatam; purāëam—the Purāëa; amalam—perfectly pure; yat—which; vaiñëavānām—to the Vaiñëavas; priyam—most dear; yasmin—in which; pāramahaàsyam—attainable by the topmost devotees; ekam—exclusive; amalam—perfectly pure; jī ānam—knowledge; param—supreme; gēyate—is sung; tatra—there; jī āna-virāga-bhakti-sahitam—together with knowledge, renunciation and devotion; naiñkarmyam—freedom from all material work; āviñkātam—is revealed; tat—that; çāëvan—hearing; su-paōhan—properly chanting; vicāraëa-paraù—who is serious about understanding; bhaktyā—with devotion; vimucyete—becomes totally liberated; naraù—a person.

TRANSLATION

Çrémad-Bhāgavatam* is the spotless Purāëa. It is most dear to the Vaiñëavas because it describes the pure and supreme knowledge of the paramahaàsas. This Bhāgavatam reveals the means for becoming free from all material work, together with the processes of transcendental knowledge, renunciation and devotion. Anyone who seriously tries to understand Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, who properly hears and chants it with devotion, becomes completely liberated.

PURPORT

Because Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is completely free of contamination by the modes of nature, it is endowed with extraordinary spiritual beauty and is therefore dear to the pure devotees of the Lord. The word pāramahaàsyam indicates that even completely liberated souls are eager to hear and narrate Çrémad-Bhāgavatam. Those who are trying to be liberated should faithfully serve this literature by hearing and reciting it with faith and devotion.

TEXT 19

k(smaE yaena ivaBaAis$ataAe'yamataulaAe ÁaAna'ad"lpa: paur"A taåU"paeNA ca naAr"d"Aya maunayae k{(SNAAYa taåU"ipaNAA yaAegAln%"Aya tad"AtmanaATA BagAva%"AtaAya k(Aç&Nyatas$a, tacC]ŠÜM" ivamalaM ivazAAek(mama{taM s$atyaM parM" Dalmaih"

kasmai yena vibhāsito 'yam atulo jī āna-pradēpaù purā tad-rūpeēa ca nārādāya munaye kāñēāya tad-rūpiēā yogēndrāya tad-ātmanātha bhagavad-rātāya kārūēyatas tac chuddhaà vimalaà viçokam amātaà satyaà paraà dhémahi

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

kasmai—unto Brahmā; yena—by whom; vibhāsitaù—thoroughly revealed; ayam—this; atulaù—incomparable; jī āna—of transcendental knowledge; pradēpaù—the torchlight; purā—long ago; tad-rūpeēa—in the form of Brahmā; ca—and; nārādāya—to Nārada; munaye—the great sage; kāñēāya—to Kāñēa-dvaipāyana Vyāsa; tad-rūpiēā—in the form of Nārada; yogi-indrāya—to the best of yogés, Çukadeva; tad-ātmanā—as Nārada; atha—then; bhagavat-rātāya—to Parēkñit Mahārāja; kārūēyataù—out of mercy; tat—that; çuddham—pure; vimalam—uncontaminated; viçokam—free from misery; amātam—immortal; satyam—upon the truth; param—supreme; dhémahi—I meditate.

TRANSLATION

I meditate upon that pure and spotless Supreme Absolute Truth, who is free from suffering and death and who in the beginning personally revealed this incomparable torchlight of knowledge to Brahmā. Brahmā then spoke it to the sage Nārada, who narrated it to Kāñēa-dvaipāyana Vyāsa. Çréla Vyāsa revealed this Bhāgavatam to the greatest of sages, Çukadeva Gosvāmé, and Çukadeva mercifully spoke it to Mahārāja Parēkñit.

PURPORT

The first verse of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam states, satyaà paraà dhémahi [SB 1.1.1]—"I meditate upon the Supreme Truth"—and now at the conclusion of this magnificent transcendental literature, the same auspicious sounds are vibrated. The words tad-rūpeēa, tad-rūpiēā and tad-ātmanā in this verse clearly indicate that Lord Kāñëa Himself originally spoke Çrémad-Bhāgavatam to Brahmā and then continued to speak this literature through the agency of Nārada Muni, Dvaipāyana Vyāsa, Çukadeva Gosvāmé and other great sages. In other words, whenever saintly devotees vibrate Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, it is to be understood that Lord Kāñëa Himself is speaking the Absolute Truth through the agency of His pure representatives. Anyone who submissively hears this literature from the Lord's bona fide devotees transcends his conditioned state and becomes qualified to meditate upon the Absolute Truth and serve Him.

TEXT 20

namastasmaE BagAvatae vaAs$auDe"vaAya s$aAi°aNAe ya wd"mk{(payaA k(smaE
vyaAcaca°ae maumau°avae

*namas tasmai bhagavate vāsudevāya sākñiëe
ya idam kâpayā kasmai
vyācacakñe mumukñave*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

namaù—obeisances; tasmai—to Him; bhagavate—the Supreme Personality of Godhead; vāsudevāya—Lord Vāsudeva; sākñiëe—the supreme witness; yaù—who; idam—this; kâpayā—out of mercy; kasmai—to Brahmā; vyācacakñe—explained; mumukñave—who was desiring liberation.

TRANSLATION

We offer our obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Vāsudeva, the all-pervading witness, who mercifully explained this science to Brahmā when he anxiously desired salvation.

TEXT 21

yaAegAln%"Aya namastasmaE zAuk(Aya "aöè&ipaNAe
s$aMs$aAr"s$apaRd"iM" yaAe ivaSNAur"AtamamaUmaucata,

yogéndrāya namas tasmai çukāya brahma-rüpiëe saàsāra-sarpa-daññaà yo viññeu-rātam amūmucat

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

yogi-indrāya—to the king of mystics; namaù—obeisances; tasmai—to him; çukaya—Çukadeva Gosvāmé; brahma-rüpiëe—who is a personal manifestation of the Absolute Truth; saàsāra-sarpa—by the snake of material existence; daññaam—bitten; yaù—who; viññeu-rātam—Parékñit Mahārāja; amūmucat—freed.

TRANSLATION

I offer my humble obeisances to Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé, the best of mystic sages and a personal manifestation of the Absolute Truth. He saved Mahārāja Parékñit, who was bitten by the snake of material existence.

PURPORT

Süta Gosvāmé now offers obeisances to his own spiritual master Çukadeva Gosvāmé. Çréla Viçvanātha Cakravarté Öhākura clarifies that just as Arjuna was placed into material confusion so that Bhagavad-gētā might be spoken, so King Parékñit, a pure, liberated devotee of the Lord, was cursed to die so that Çrémad-Bhāgavatam might be spoken. Actually, King Parékñit is viññeu-rāta, eternally under the protection of the Lord. Çukadeva Gosvāmé liberated the king from his so-called illusion to exhibit the merciful nature of a pure devotee and the enlightening effect of his association.

TEXT 22

Bavae Bavae yaTaA Bai·(:
paAd"yaAestava jaAyatae taTaA ku(ç&Sva de"vaezA
naATastvaM naAe yata: 'aBaAe

*bhave bhave yathā bhaktiù pādayos tava jāyate
tathā kuruñva deveça
nāthas tvaè no yataù prabho*

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

bhave bhave—in life after life; yathā—so that; bhaktiù—devotional service;
pādayoù—at the lotus feet; tava—of You; jāyate—arises; tathā—so;
kuruñva—please do; deva-éça—O Lord of lords; nāthaù—the master;
tvam—You; naù—our; yataù—because; prabho—O Lord.

TRANSLATION

O Lord of lords, O master, please grant us pure devotional service at Your lotus feet, life after life.

TEXT 23

naAmas$aÆyLtaRnaM yasya
s$avaRpaApa 'aNAAzAnama,
'aNAaMaAe äu":KazAmanas$a,
taM namaAima h"ir$M par"ma,

*nāma-saì kértanaà yasya
sarva-pāpa praëāçanam
praëämo duùkha-çamanas*

taà namämi harià param

WORD-FOR-WORD MEANINGS

näma-sai kértanam—the congregational chanting of the holy name; yasya—of whom; sarva-päpa—all sins; praëäçanam—which destroys; praëämau—the bowing down; duùkha—misery; çamanaù—which subdues; tam—to Him; namämi—I offer my obeisances; harim—to Lord Hari; param—the Supreme.

TRANSLATION

I offer my respectful obeisances unto the Supreme Lord, Hari, the congregational chanting of whose holy names destroys all sinful reactions, and the offering of obeisances unto whom relieves all material suffering.

Thus end the purports of the humble servants of His Divine Grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupäda to the Twelfth Canto, Thirteenth Chapter, of the Çrémad-Bhägavatam, entitled "The Glories of Çrémad-Bhägavatam."

The Twelfth Canto was completed at Gainesville, Florida, on Sunday, July 18, 1982.

END OF THE TWELFTH CANTO

CONCLUSION

We offer our most respectful obeisances at the lotus feet of His Divine Grace Oà Viñëupäda Paramahaàsa Parivräjakäcärya Añöottara-çata Çré Çrémad Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupäda and, by his mercy, to the six Gosvämés of Våndävana, to Lord Caitanya and His eternal associates, to Çré Çré Rädhä-Käñëa and to the supreme transcendental literature, Çrémad-Bhägavatam. By the causeless mercy of Çréla Prabhupäda we have been able to approach the lotus feet of Çréla Bhaktisiddhänta Sarasvaté Öhäkura, Çréla Jéva Gosvämé, Çréla Viçvanätha Cakravarté Öhäkura, Çréla Çrédhara Svämé, and other great Vaiñëava äcäryas, and by carefully studying their liberated commentaries we have humbly tried to complete the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam. We are the insignificant servants of our spiritual master, Çréla Prabhupāda, and by his mercy we have been allowed to serve him through the presentation of Çrémad-Bhāgavatam.

Endnotes

1 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.1.1 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Lord Çré Kāñëa, accompanied by Balarāma and surrounded by the Yadu dynasty, executed the killing of many demons. Then, further to remove the burden of the earth, the Lord arranged for the great Battle of Kurukñetra, which suddenly erupted in violence between the Kurus and the Pāëðavas.

SB 11.1.2 - Because the sons of Pāëðu were enraged by the numerous offenses of their enemies, such as duplicitous gambling, verbal insults, the seizing of Draupadé's hair, and many other cruel transgressions, the Supreme Lord engaged those Pāëðavas as the immediate cause to execute His will. On the pretext of the Battle of Kurukñetra, Lord Kāñëa arranged for all the kings who were burdening the earth to assemble with their armies on opposite sides of the battlefield, and when the Lord killed them through the agency of war, the earth was relieved of its burden.

SB 11.1.3 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead used the Yadu dynasty, which was protected by His own arms, to eliminate the kings who with their armies had been the burden of this earth. Then the unfathomable Lord thought to Himself, "Although some may say that the earth's burden is now gone, in My opinion it is not yet gone, because there still remains the Yādava dynasty itself, whose strength is unbearable for the earth."

SB 11.1.4 - Lord Kāñëa thought, "No outside force could ever bring about the defeat of this family, the Yadu dynasty, whose members have always been fully surrendered to Me and are unrestricted in their opulence. But if I inspire a quarrel within the dynasty, that quarrel will act just like a fire created from the friction of bamboo in a grove, and then I shall achieve My real purpose and return to My eternal abode."

SB 11.1.5 - My dear King Parékñit, when the supreme almighty Lord, whose desire always comes to pass, had thus made up His mind, He withdrew His own family on the pretext of a curse spoken by an assembly of brāhmaëas.

SB 11.1.6-7 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Kāñëa, is the reservoir of all beauty. All beautiful things emanate from Him, and His personal form is so attractive that it steals the eyes away from all other objects, which then seem devoid of beauty in comparison to Him. When Lord Kāñëa was on the earth, He attracted the eyes of all people. When Kāñëa spoke, His words attracted the minds of all who remembered them. By seeing the footsteps of Lord Kāñëa, people became attracted to Him, and thus they wanted to offer their bodily activities to the Lord as His followers. In this way Kāñëa very easily spread His glories, which are sung throughout the world by the most sublime and essential Vedic verses. Lord Kāñëa considered that simply by hearing and chanting those glories, conditioned souls born in the future would cross beyond the darkness of ignorance. Being satisfied with this arrangement, He left for His desired destination.

SB 11.1.8 - King Parékñit inquired: How could the brāhmaëas curse the Vāñëis, who were always respectful to the brāhmaëas, charitable, and inclined to serve senior and exalted personalities and whose minds were always fully absorbed in thought of Lord Kāñëa?

SB 11.1.9 - King Parékñit continued inquiring: What was the motive for this curse? What did it consist of, O purest of the twice-born? And how could such a disagreement have arisen among the Yadus, who all shared the same goal of life? Please tell me all these things.

SB 11.1.10 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: The Lord, who bore His body as the amalgamation of everything beautiful, dutifully executed the most auspicious activities while on the earth, although He was, in fact, without any endeavor already satisfied in all desires. Residing in His abode and enjoying life, the Lord, whose glorification is in itself magnanimous, now wanted to annihilate His dynasty, as there still remained some small part of His duty to be carried out.

SB 11.1.11-12 - The sages Viçvämitra, Asita, Kaëva, Durväsä, Bhägu, Aì girä, Kaçyapa, Vämadeva, Atri and Vasiñöha, along with Närada and others, once performed fruitive rituals that award abundant pious results, bring great happiness and take away the sins of Kali-yuga for the whole world by merely being recounted. The sages duly executed these rituals in the home of the chief of the Yadus, Vasudeva, the father of Lord Kãñëa. After Lord Kãñëa, who was staying in Vasudeva's house as time personified, respectfully sent the sages off at the conclusion of the ceremonies, they went to the holy place called Piëöäraka.

SB 11.1.13-15 - To that holy place, the young boys of the Yadu dynasty had brought Sämba, son of Jämbavaté, dressed in woman's garb. Playfully approaching the great sages gathered there, the boys grabbed hold of the sages' feet and impudently asked them with feigned humility, "O learned brähmaëas, this black-eyed pregnant woman has something to ask you. She is too embarrassed to inquire for herself. She is just about to give birth and is very desirous of having a son. Since all of you are great sages with infallible vision, please tell us whether her child will be a boy or a girl."

SB 11.1.16 - Thus ridiculed by deceit, the sages became angry, O King, and told the boys, "Fools! She will bear you an iron club that will destroy your entire dynasty."

SB 11.1.17 - Upon hearing the curse of the sages, the terrified boys quickly uncovered the belly of Sämba, and indeed they observed that therein was an iron club.

SB 11.1.18 - The young men of the Yadu dynasty said, "Oh, what have we done? We are so unfortunate! What will our family members say to us?" Speaking thus and being very disturbed, they returned to their homes, taking the club with them.

SB 11.1.19 - The Yadu boys, the luster of their faces completely faded, brought the club into the royal assembly, and in the presence of all the Yādavas they told King Ugrasena what had happened.

SB 11.1.20 - O King Parékñit, when the inhabitants of Dvārakā heard of the infallible curse of the brāhmaëas and saw the club, they were astonished and distraught with fear.

SB 11.1.21 - After having the club ground to bits, King Ähuka [Ugrasena] of the Yadus personally threw the pieces, along with the remaining lump of iron, into the water of the ocean.

SB 11.1.22 - A certain fish swallowed the iron lump, and the bits of iron, carried back to the shore by the waves, implanted themselves there and grew into tall, sharp canes.

SB 11.1.23 - The fish was caught in the ocean along with other fish in a fishermen's net. The iron lump in the fish's stomach was taken by the hunter Jarä, who fixed it as an arrowhead at the end of his shaft.

SB 11.1.24 - Knowing fully the significance of all these events, the Supreme Lord, though capable of reversing the brāhmaëas' curse, did not wish to do so. Rather, in His form of time, He gladly sanctioned the events.

2 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.1.1 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Lord Çré Kåñëa, accompanied by Balaräma and surrounded by the Yadu dynasty, executed the killing of many demons. Then, further to remove the burden of the earth, the Lord arranged for the great Battle of Kurukñetra, which suddenly erupted in violence between the Kurus and the Päëòavas.

SB 11.1.2 - Because the sons of Päëòu were enraged by the numerous offenses of their enemies, such as duplicitous gambling, verbal insults, the seizing of Draupadé's hair, and many other cruel transgressions, the Supreme Lord engaged those Päëòavas as the immediate cause to execute His will. On the pretext of the Battle of Kurukñetra, Lord Kåñëa arranged for all the kings who were burdening the earth to assemble with their armies on opposite sides of the battlefield, and when the Lord killed them through the agency of war, the earth was relieved of its burden.

SB 11.1.3 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead used the Yadu dynasty, which was protected by His own arms, to eliminate the kings who with their armies had been the burden of this earth. Then the unfathomable Lord thought to Himself, "Although some may say that the earth's burden is now gone, in My opinion it is not yet gone, because there still remains the Yädava dynasty itself, whose strength is unbearable for the earth."

SB 11.1.4 - Lord Kåñëa thought, "No outside force could ever bring about the defeat of this family, the Yadu dynasty, whose members have always been fully surrendered to Me and are unrestricted in their opulence. But if I inspire a quarrel within the dynasty, that quarrel will act just like a fire created from the friction of bamboo in a grove, and then I shall achieve My real purpose and return to My eternal abode."

SB 11.1.5 - My dear King Parékñit, when the supreme almighty Lord, whose desire always comes to pass, had thus made up His mind, He withdrew

His own family on the pretext of a curse spoken by an assembly of brāhmaëas.

SB 11.1.6-7 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Kāñëa, is the reservoir of all beauty. All beautiful things emanate from Him, and His personal form is so attractive that it steals the eyes away from all other objects, which then seem devoid of beauty in comparison to Him. When Lord Kāñëa was on the earth, He attracted the eyes of all people. When Kāñëa spoke, His words attracted the minds of all who remembered them. By seeing the footsteps of Lord Kāñëa, people became attracted to Him, and thus they wanted to offer their bodily activities to the Lord as His followers. In this way Kāñëa very easily spread His glories, which are sung throughout the world by the most sublime and essential Vedic verses. Lord Kāñëa considered that simply by hearing and chanting those glories, conditioned souls born in the future would cross beyond the darkness of ignorance. Being satisfied with this arrangement, He left for His desired destination.

SB 11.1.8 - King Parékñit inquired: How could the brāhmaëas curse the Vāñëis, who were always respectful to the brāhmaëas, charitable, and inclined to serve senior and exalted personalities and whose minds were always fully absorbed in thought of Lord Kāñëa?

SB 11.1.9 - King Parékñit continued inquiring: What was the motive for this curse? What did it consist of, O purest of the twice-born? And how could such a disagreement have arisen among the Yadus, who all shared the same goal of life? Please tell me all these things.

SB 11.1.10 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: The Lord, who bore His body as the amalgamation of everything beautiful, dutifully executed the most auspicious activities while on the earth, although He was, in fact, without any endeavor already satisfied in all desires. Residing in His abode and enjoying life, the Lord, whose glorification is in itself magnanimous, now wanted to annihilate

His dynasty, as there still remained some small part of His duty to be carried out.

SB 11.1.11-12 - The sages Viçvämitra, Asita, Kaëva, Durväsä, Bhågu, Aì girä, Kaçyapa, Vämadeva, Atri and Vasiñöha, along with Närada and others, once performed fruitive rituals that award abundant pious results, bring great happiness and take away the sins of Kali-yuga for the whole world by merely being recounted. The sages duly executed these rituals in the home of the chief of the Yadus, Vasudeva, the father of Lord Kåñëa. After Lord Kåñëa, who was staying in Vasudeva's house as time personified, respectfully sent the sages off at the conclusion of the ceremonies, they went to the holy place called Piëöäraka.

SB 11.1.13-15 - To that holy place, the young boys of the Yadu dynasty had brought Sämba, son of Jämbavaté, dressed in woman's garb. Playfully approaching the great sages gathered there, the boys grabbed hold of the sages' feet and impudently asked them with feigned humility, "O learned brähmaëas, this black-eyed pregnant woman has something to ask you. She is too embarrassed to inquire for herself. She is just about to give birth and is very desirous of having a son. Since all of you are great sages with infallible vision, please tell us whether her child will be a boy or a girl."

SB 11.1.16 - Thus ridiculed by deceit, the sages became angry, O King, and told the boys, "Fools! She will bear you an iron club that will destroy your entire dynasty."

SB 11.1.17 - Upon hearing the curse of the sages, the terrified boys quickly uncovered the belly of Sämba, and indeed they observed that therein was an iron club.

SB 11.1.18 - The young men of the Yadu dynasty said, "Oh, what have we done? We are so unfortunate! What will our family members say to us?"

Speaking thus and being very disturbed, they returned to their homes, taking the club with them.

SB 11.1.19 - The Yadu boys, the luster of their faces completely faded, brought the club into the royal assembly, and in the presence of all the Yādavas they told King Ugrasena what had happened.

SB 11.1.20 - O King Parékñit, when the inhabitants of Dvārakā heard of the infallible curse of the brāhmaëas and saw the club, they were astonished and distraught with fear.

SB 11.1.21 - After having the club ground to bits, King Ähuka [Ugrasena] of the Yadus personally threw the pieces, along with the remaining lump of iron, into the water of the ocean.

SB 11.1.22 - A certain fish swallowed the iron lump, and the bits of iron, carried back to the shore by the waves, implanted themselves there and grew into tall, sharp canes.

SB 11.1.23 - The fish was caught in the ocean along with other fish in a fishermen's net. The iron lump in the fish's stomach was taken by the hunter Jarä, who fixed it as an arrowhead at the end of his shaft.

SB 11.1.24 - Knowing fully the significance of all these events, the Supreme Lord, though capable of reversing the brāhmaëas' curse, did not wish to do so. Rather, in His form of time, He gladly sanctioned the events.

SB 11.2.1 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Eager to engage in the worship of Lord Kânëä, O best of the Kurus, Närada Muni stayed for some time in Dväarakä, which was always protected by the arms of Govinda.

SB 11.2.2 - My dear King, in the material world the conditioned souls are confronted by death at every step of life. Therefore, who among the conditioned souls would not render service to the lotus feet of Lord Mukunda, who is worshipable even for the greatest of liberated souls?

SB 11.2.3 - One day the sage among the demigods, Närada, came to the house of Vasudeva. After worshiping Närada with suitable paraphernalia, seating him comfortably and respectfully bowing down to him, Vasudeva spoke as follows.

SB 11.2.4 - Çré Vasudeva said: My lord, your visit, like that of a father to his children, is for the benefit of all living beings. You especially help the most wretched among them, as well as those who are advanced on the path toward the Supreme Lord, Uttamaçloka.

SB 11.2.5 - The activities of demigods lead to both misery and happiness for living beings, but the activities of great saints like you, who have accepted the infallible Lord as their very soul, result only in the happiness of all beings.

SB 11.2.6 - Those who worship the demigods receive reciprocation from the demigods in a way just corresponding to the offering. The demigods are attendants of karma, like a person's shadow, but sädhus are actually merciful to the fallen.

SB 11.2.7 - O brähmaëa, although I am satisfied simply by seeing you, I still wish to inquire about those duties which give pleasure to the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Any mortal who faithfully hears about them is freed from all kinds of fear.

SB 11.2.8 - In a previous birth on this earth, I worshiped the Supreme Lord, Ananta, who alone can award liberation, but because I desired to have a child, I did not worship Him for liberation. Thus I was bewildered by the Lord's illusory energy.

SB 11.2.9 - My dear lord, you are always true to your vow. Please instruct me clearly, so that by your mercy I may easily free myself from material existence, which is full of many dangers and keeps us constantly bound in fear.

SB 11.2.10 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: O King, Devarîi Nārada was pleased by the questions of the highly intelligent Vasudeva. Because they suggested the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, they reminded Nārada of Lord Kāñëa. Thus Nārada replied to Vasudeva as follows.

SB 11.2.11 - Çré Nārada said: O best of the Sätvatas, you have quite correctly asked about the eternal duty of the living entity toward the Supreme Lord. Such devotional service to the Lord is so potent that its performance can purify the entire universe.

SB 11.2.12 - Pure devotional service rendered to the Supreme Lord is spiritually so potent that simply by hearing about such transcendental service, by chanting its glories in response, by meditating on it, by respectfully and faithfully accepting it, or by praising the devotional service of others, even persons who hate the demigods and all other living beings can be immediately purified.

SB 11.2.13 - Today you have made me remember my Lord, the supremely blissful Personality of Godhead, Nārāyaṇa. The Supreme Lord is so auspicious that whoever hears and chants about Him becomes completely pious.

SB 11.2.14 - To explain the devotional service of the Lord, sages have related the ancient history of the conversation between the great soul King Videha and the sons of Āṇabha.

SB 11.2.15 - Svāyambhuva Manu had a son named Mahārāja Priyavrata, and among Priyavrata's sons was Āgnédhra. From Āgnédhra was born Nābhi, whose son was known as Āṇabhadeva.

SB 11.2.16 - Ṣré Āṇabhadeva is accepted as an expansion of the Supreme Lord, Vāsudeva. He incarnated in this world to propagate those religious principles that lead living entities to ultimate liberation. He had one hundred sons, all perfect in Vedic knowledge.

SB 11.2.17 - Of the one hundred sons of Lord Āṇabhadeva, the eldest, Bharata, was completely devoted to Lord Nārāyaṇa. It is because of Bharata's fame that this planet is now celebrated as the great Bhārata-varṇa.

SB 11.2.18 - King Bharata rejected this material world, considering all types of material pleasure temporary and useless. Leaving his beautiful young wife and family, he worshiped Lord Hari by severe austerities and attained the abode of the Lord after three lifetimes.

SB 11.2.19 - Nine of the remaining sons of Āṇabhadeva became the rulers of the nine islands of Bhārata-varṇa, and they exercised complete sovereignty over this planet. Eighty-one sons became twice-born brāhmaṇas and helped initiate the Vedic path of fruitive sacrifices [karma-kāṇḍa].

SB 11.2.20-21 - The nine remaining sons of Āñabha were greatly fortunate sages who worked vigorously to spread knowledge of the Absolute Truth. They wandered about naked and were very well versed in spiritual science. Their names were Kavi, Havir, Antarékñā, Prabuddha, Pippalāyana, Āvirhotra, Drumila, Camasa and Karabhājana.

SB 11.2.22 - These sages wandered the earth seeing the entire universe, with all its gross and subtle objects, as a manifestation of the Supreme Lord and as nondifferent from the self.

SB 11.2.23 - The nine Yogendras are liberated souls who travel freely to the planets of the demigods, the perfected mystics, the Sādhyas, the heavenly musicians, the Yakñās, the human beings, and the minor demigods such as the Kinnaras and the serpents. No mundane force can check their free movement, and exactly as they wish they can travel as well to the worlds of the sages, the angels, the ghostly followers of Lord Çiva, the Vidyādharas, the brāhmaëas and the cows.

SB 11.2.24 - Once in Ajanābha [the former name of the earth], they came upon the sacrificial performance of the great soul Mahārāja Nimi, which was being carried out under the direction of elevated sages.

SB 11.2.25 - My dear King, seeing those pure devotees of the Lord, who rival the sun in brilliance, everyone present-the performer of the sacrifice, the brāhmaëas and even the sacrificial fires-stood in respect.

SB 11.2.26 - King Videha [Nimi] understood that the nine sages were exalted devotees of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Therefore, overjoyed at their auspicious arrival, he offered them suitable sitting places and worshiped them in a proper way, just as one would worship the Supreme

Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.27 - Overwhelmed by transcendental joy, the King humbly bowed his head and then proceeded to question the nine sages. These nine great souls glowed with their own effulgence and thus appeared equal to the four Kumāras, the sons of Lord Brāhmā.

SB 11.2.28 - King Videha said: I think that you must be direct associates of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is famous as the enemy of the demon Madhu. Indeed, the pure devotees of Lord Viñëu wander throughout the universe not for their personal, selfish interest, but to purify all the conditioned souls.

SB 11.2.29 - For the conditioned souls, the human body is most difficult to achieve, and it can be lost at any moment. But I think that even those who have achieved human life rarely gain the association of pure devotees, who are dear to the Lord of Vaikuëha.

SB 11.2.30 - Therefore, O completely sinless ones, I ask you to kindly tell me what the supreme good is. After all, even half a moment's association with pure devotees within this world of birth and death is a priceless treasure for any man.

SB 11.2.31 - Please speak about how one engages in the devotional service of the Supreme Lord, if you consider me capable of properly hearing these topics. When a living entity offers loving service to the Supreme Lord, the Lord is immediately satisfied, and in return He will give even His own self to the surrendered soul.

SB 11.2.32 - Çré Nārada said: O Vasudeva, when Mahārāja Nimi had thus inquired from the nine Yogendras about devotional service to the Lord, those best of saintly persons sincerely thanked the King for his questions and spoke to him with affection in the presence of the members of the sacrificial assembly and the brāhmaëa priests.

SB 11.2.33 - Çré Kavi said: I consider that one whose intelligence is constantly disturbed by his falsely identifying himself with the temporary material world can achieve real freedom from fear only by worshiping the lotus feet of the infallible Supreme Lord. In such devotional service, all fear ceases entirely.

SB 11.2.34 - Even ignorant living entities can very easily come to know the Supreme Lord if they adopt those means prescribed by the Supreme Lord Himself. The process recommended by the Lord is to be known as bhāgavata-dharma, or devotional service to the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.35 - O King, one who accepts this process of devotional service to the Supreme Personality of Godhead will never blunder on his path in this world. Even while running with eyes closed, he will never trip or fall.

SB 11.2.36 - In accordance with the particular nature one has acquired in conditioned life, whatever one does with body, words, mind, senses, intelligence or purified consciousness one should offer to the Supreme, thinking, "This is for the pleasure of Lord Nārāyaëa."

SB 11.2.37 - Fear arises when a living entity misidentifies himself as the material body because of absorption in the external, illusory energy of the Lord. When the living entity thus turns away from the Supreme Lord, he also forgets his own constitutional position as a servant of the Lord. This bewildering, fearful condition is effected by the potency for illusion, called māyā. Therefore, an intelligent person should engage unflinchingly in the unalloyed devotional service of the Lord, under the guidance of a bona fide spiritual master, whom he should accept as his worshipable deity and as his very life and soul.

SB 11.2.38 - Although the duality of the material world does not ultimately exist, the conditioned soul experiences it as real under the influence of his own conditioned intelligence. This imaginary experience of a world separate from Kāñëa can be compared to the acts of dreaming and desiring. When the conditioned soul dreams at night of something desirable or horrible, or when he daydreams of what he would like to have or avoid, he creates a reality that has no existence beyond his own imagination. The tendency of the mind is to accept and reject various activities based on sense gratification. Therefore an intelligent person should control the mind, restricting it from the illusion of seeing things separate from Kāñëa, and when the mind is thus controlled he will experience actual fearlessness.

SB 11.2.39 - An intelligent person who has controlled his mind and conquered fear should give up all attachment to material objects such as wife, family and nation and should wander freely without embarrassment, hearing and chanting the holy names of the Lord, the bearer of the chariot wheel. The holy names of Kāñëa are all-auspicious because they describe His transcendental birth and activities, which He performs within this world for the salvation of the conditioned souls. Thus the holy names of the Lord are sung throughout the world.

SB 11.2.40 - By chanting the holy name of the Supreme Lord, one comes to the stage of love of Godhead. Then the devotee is fixed in his vow as an eternal servant of the Lord, and he gradually becomes very much attached to a particular name and form of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. As his heart melts with ecstatic love, he laughs very loudly or cries or shouts. Sometimes he sings and dances like a madman, for he is indifferent to public opinion.

SB 11.2.41 - A devotee should not see anything as being separate from the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Kāñëä. Ether, fire, air, water, earth, the sun and other luminaries, all living beings, the directions, trees and other plants, the rivers and oceans-whatever a devotee experiences he should consider to be an expansion of Kāñëä. Thus seeing everything that exists within creation as the body of the Supreme Lord, Hari, the devotee should offer his sincere respects to the entire expansion of the Lord's body.

SB 11.2.42 - Devotion, direct experience of the Supreme Lord, and detachment from other things-these three occur simultaneously for one who has taken shelter of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, in the same way that pleasure, nourishment and relief from hunger come simultaneously and increasingly, with each bite, for a person engaged in eating.

SB 11.2.43 - My dear King, the devotee who worships the lotus feet of the infallible Personality of Godhead with constant endeavor thus achieves unflinching devotion, detachment and experienced knowledge of the Personality of Godhead. In this way the successful devotee of the Lord achieves supreme spiritual peace.

SB 11.2.44 - Mahārāja Nimi said: Now please tell me in greater detail about the devotees of the Supreme Lord. What are the natural symptoms by which I can distinguish between the most advanced devotees, those on the middle level and those who are neophytes? What are the typical religious activities of a Vaiñëäva, and how does he speak? Specifically, please describe those symptoms and characteristics by which Vaiñëävas become dear to the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.45 - Çré Havir said: The most advanced devotee sees within everything the soul of all souls, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Çré Kāñëä. Consequently he sees everything in relation to the Supreme Lord and understands that everything that exists is eternally situated within the Lord.

SB 11.2.46 - An intermediate or second-class devotee, called madhyama-adhikāre, offers his love to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is a sincere friend to all the devotees of the Lord, shows mercy to ignorant people who are innocent and disregards those who are envious of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.47 - A devotee who faithfully engages in the worship of the Deity in the temple but does not behave properly toward other devotees or people in general is called a prākāta-bhakta, a materialistic devotee, and is considered to be in the lowest position.

SB 11.2.48 - Even while engaging his senses in contact with their objects, one who sees this whole world as the energy of Lord Viñëu is neither repelled nor elated. He is indeed the greatest among devotees.

SB 11.2.49 - Within the material world, one's material body is always subject to birth and decay. Similarly, the life air [prāëa] is harassed by hunger and thirst, the mind is always anxious, the intelligence hankers for that which cannot be obtained, and all of the senses are ultimately exhausted by constant struggle in the material nature. A person who is not bewildered by the inevitable miseries of material existence, and who remains aloof from them simply by remembering the lotus feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is to be considered bhāgavata-pradhāna, the foremost devotee of the Lord.

SB 11.2.50 - One who has taken exclusive shelter of the Supreme Lord, Vāsudeva, becomes free from fruitive activities, which are based on material lust. In fact, one who has taken shelter of the lotus feet of the Lord is freed from even the desire to enjoy material sense gratification. Plans for enjoying sex life, social prestige and money cannot develop within his mind. Thus he is considered bhāgavatottama, a pure devotee of the Lord on the highest platform.

SB 11.2.51 - Birth in an aristocratic family and the execution of austere and pious activities certainly cause one to take pride in himself. Similarly, if one enjoys a prestigious position within society because his parents are highly respected members of the varëāçrama social system, one becomes even more infatuated with himself. But if despite these excellent material qualifications one does not feel even a tinge of pride within himself, he is to be considered the dearest servitor of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.52 - When a devotee gives up the selfish conception by which one thinks "This is my property, and that is his," and when he is no longer concerned with the pleasures of his own material body or indifferent to the discomforts of others, he becomes fully peaceful and satisfied. He considers himself simply one among all the living beings who are equally part and parcel of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Such a satisfied Vaiñëava is considered to be at the highest standard of devotional service.

SB 11.2.53 - The lotus feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead are sought even by the greatest of demigods, such as Brahmä and Çiva, who have all accepted the Supreme Personality of Godhead as their life and soul. A pure devotee of the Lord can never forget those lotus feet in any circumstance. He will not give up his shelter at the lotus feet of the Lord for a single moment-indeed, not for half a moment-even in exchange for the benediction of ruling and enjoying the opulence of the entire universe. Such a devotee of the Lord is to be considered the best of the Vaiñëavas.

SB 11.2.54 - How can the fire of material suffering continue to burn the hearts of those who worship the Supreme Lord? The Lord's lotus feet have performed innumerable heroic deeds, and the beautiful nails on His toes resemble valuable jewels. The effulgence emanating from those nails resembles cooling moonshine, for it instantly relieves the suffering within the heart of the pure devotee, just as the appearance of the moon's cooling light relieves the burning heat of the sun.

SB 11.2.55 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead is so kind to the conditioned souls that if they call upon Him by speaking His holy name, even unintentionally or unwillingly, the Lord is inclined to destroy innumerable sinful reactions in their hearts. Therefore, when a devotee who has taken shelter of the Lord's lotus feet chants the holy name of Kâñëa with genuine love, the Supreme Personality of Godhead can never give up the heart of such a devotee. One who has thus captured the Supreme Lord within his heart is to be known as bhāgavata-pradhāna, the most exalted devotee of the Lord.

4 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.2.1 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Eager to engage in the worship of Lord Kâñëa, O best of the Kurus, Nārada Muni stayed for some time in Dvārakā, which was always protected by the arms of Govinda.

SB 11.2.2 - My dear King, in the material world the conditioned souls are confronted by death at every step of life. Therefore, who among the conditioned souls would not render service to the lotus feet of Lord Mukunda, who is worshipable even for the greatest of liberated souls?

SB 11.2.3 - One day the sage among the demigods, Nārada, came to the house of Vasudeva. After worshiping Nārada with suitable paraphernalia, seating him comfortably and respectfully bowing down to him, Vasudeva spoke as follows.

SB 11.2.4 - Çré Vasudeva said: My lord, your visit, like that of a father to his children, is for the benefit of all living beings. You especially help the most wretched among them, as well as those who are advanced on the path toward the Supreme Lord, Uttamaçloka.

SB 11.2.5 - The activities of demigods lead to both misery and happiness for living beings, but the activities of great saints like you, who have accepted the infallible Lord as their very soul, result only in the happiness of all beings.

SB 11.2.6 - Those who worship the demigods receive reciprocation from the demigods in a way just corresponding to the offering. The demigods are attendants of karma, like a person's shadow, but sādhus are actually merciful to the fallen.

SB 11.2.7 - O brāhmaëa, although I am satisfied simply by seeing you, I still wish to inquire about those duties which give pleasure to the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Any mortal who faithfully hears about them is freed from all kinds of fear.

SB 11.2.8 - In a previous birth on this earth, I worshiped the Supreme Lord, Ananta, who alone can award liberation, but because I desired to have a child, I did not worship Him for liberation. Thus I was bewildered by the Lord's illusory energy.

SB 11.2.9 - My dear lord, you are always true to your vow. Please instruct me clearly, so that by your mercy I may easily free myself from material existence, which is full of many dangers and keeps us constantly bound in fear.

SB 11.2.10 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: O King, Devarîi Nārada was pleased by the questions of the highly intelligent Vasudeva. Because they suggested the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, they reminded Nārada of Lord Kāñëa. Thus Nārada replied to Vasudeva as follows.

SB 11.2.11 - Çré Nārada said: O best of the Sātvatas, you have quite correctly asked about the eternal duty of the living entity toward the Supreme Lord. Such devotional service to the Lord is so potent that its performance can purify the entire universe.

SB 11.2.12 - Pure devotional service rendered to the Supreme Lord is spiritually so potent that simply by hearing about such transcendental service, by chanting its glories in response, by meditating on it, by respectfully and faithfully accepting it, or by praising the devotional service of others, even persons who hate the demigods and all other living beings can be immediately purified.

SB 11.2.13 - Today you have made me remember my Lord, the supremely blissful Personality of Godhead, Nārāyaṇa. The Supreme Lord is so auspicious that whoever hears and chants about Him becomes completely pious.

SB 11.2.14 - To explain the devotional service of the Lord, sages have related the ancient history of the conversation between the great soul King Videha and the sons of Āṇabha.

SB 11.2.15 - Svāyambhuva Manu had a son named Mahārāja Priyavrata, and among Priyavrata's sons was Āgnédhra. From Āgnédhra was born Nābhi, whose son was known as Āṇabhadeva.

SB 11.2.16 - Çré Āṇabhadeva is accepted as an expansion of the Supreme Lord, Vāsudeva. He incarnated in this world to propagate those religious principles that lead living entities to ultimate liberation. He had one hundred sons, all perfect in Vedic knowledge.

SB 11.2.17 - Of the one hundred sons of Lord Āṇabhadeva, the eldest, Bharata, was completely devoted to Lord Nārāyaṇa. It is because of Bharata's fame that this planet is now celebrated as the great Bhārata-varṇa.

SB 11.2.18 - King Bharata rejected this material world, considering all types of material pleasure temporary and useless. Leaving his beautiful young wife and family, he worshiped Lord Hari by severe austerities and attained the abode of the Lord after three lifetimes.

SB 11.2.19 - Nine of the remaining sons of Āṇabhadeva became the rulers of the nine islands of Bhārata-varṇa, and they exercised complete sovereignty over this planet. Eighty-one sons became twice-born brāhmaṇas and helped initiate the Vedic path of fruitive sacrifices [karma-kāṇḍa].

SB 11.2.20-21 - The nine remaining sons of Āṇabha were greatly fortunate sages who worked vigorously to spread knowledge of the Absolute Truth. They wandered about naked and were very well versed in spiritual science. Their names were Kavi, Havir, Antarākṣa, Prabuddha, Pippalāyana, Āvirhotra, Drumila, Camasa and Karabhājana.

SB 11.2.22 - These sages wandered the earth seeing the entire universe, with all its gross and subtle objects, as a manifestation of the Supreme Lord and as nondifferent from the self.

SB 11.2.23 - The nine Yogendras are liberated souls who travel freely to the planets of the demigods, the perfected mystics, the Sādhya, the heavenly musicians, the Yakṣas, the human beings, and the minor demigods such as the Kinnaras and the serpents. No mundane force can check their free movement, and exactly as they wish they can travel as well to the worlds of the sages, the angels, the ghostly followers of Lord Śiva, the Vidyādhara, the

brähmaëas and the cows.

SB 11.2.24 - Once in Ajanābha [the former name of the earth], they came upon the sacrificial performance of the great soul Mahārāja Nimi, which was being carried out under the direction of elevated sages.

SB 11.2.25 - My dear King, seeing those pure devotees of the Lord, who rival the sun in brilliance, everyone present-the performer of the sacrifice, the brähmaëas and even the sacrificial fires-stood in respect.

SB 11.2.26 - King Videha [Nimi] understood that the nine sages were exalted devotees of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Therefore, overjoyed at their auspicious arrival, he offered them suitable sitting places and worshiped them in a proper way, just as one would worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.27 - Overwhelmed by transcendental joy, the King humbly bowed his head and then proceeded to question the nine sages. These nine great souls glowed with their own effulgence and thus appeared equal to the four Kumāras, the sons of Lord Brahmā.

SB 11.2.28 - King Videha said: I think that you must be direct associates of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is famous as the enemy of the demon Madhu. Indeed, the pure devotees of Lord Viñëu wander throughout the universe not for their personal, selfish interest, but to purify all the conditioned souls.

SB 11.2.29 - For the conditioned souls, the human body is most difficult to achieve, and it can be lost at any moment. But I think that even those who have achieved human life rarely gain the association of pure devotees, who are dear to the Lord of Vaikuëha.

SB 11.2.30 - Therefore, O completely sinless ones, I ask you to kindly tell me what the supreme good is. After all, even half a moment's association with pure devotees within this world of birth and death is a priceless treasure for any man.

SB 11.2.31 - Please speak about how one engages in the devotional service of the Supreme Lord, if you consider me capable of properly hearing these topics. When a living entity offers loving service to the Supreme Lord, the Lord is immediately satisfied, and in return He will give even His own self to the surrendered soul.

SB 11.2.32 - Çré Nārada said: O Vasudeva, when Mahārāja Nimi had thus inquired from the nine Yogendras about devotional service to the Lord, those best of saintly persons sincerely thanked the King for his questions and spoke to him with affection in the presence of the members of the sacrificial assembly and the brāhmaëa priests.

SB 11.2.33 - Çré Kavi said: I consider that one whose intelligence is constantly disturbed by his falsely identifying himself with the temporary material world can achieve real freedom from fear only by worshiping the lotus feet of the infallible Supreme Lord. In such devotional service, all fear ceases entirely.

SB 11.2.34 - Even ignorant living entities can very easily come to know the Supreme Lord if they adopt those means prescribed by the Supreme Lord Himself. The process recommended by the Lord is to be known as bhāgavata-dharma, or devotional service to the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.35 - O King, one who accepts this process of devotional service to the Supreme Personality of Godhead will never blunder on his path in this world. Even while running with eyes closed, he will never trip or fall.

SB 11.2.36 - In accordance with the particular nature one has acquired in conditioned life, whatever one does with body, words, mind, senses, intelligence or purified consciousness one should offer to the Supreme, thinking, "This is for the pleasure of Lord Nārāyaṇa."

SB 11.2.37 - Fear arises when a living entity misidentifies himself as the material body because of absorption in the external, illusory energy of the Lord. When the living entity thus turns away from the Supreme Lord, he also forgets his own constitutional position as a servant of the Lord. This bewildering, fearful condition is effected by the potency for illusion, called māyā. Therefore, an intelligent person should engage unflinchingly in the unalloyed devotional service of the Lord, under the guidance of a bona fide spiritual master, whom he should accept as his worshipable deity and as his very life and soul.

SB 11.2.38 - Although the duality of the material world does not ultimately exist, the conditioned soul experiences it as real under the influence of his own conditioned intelligence. This imaginary experience of a world separate from Kāñḍā can be compared to the acts of dreaming and desiring. When the conditioned soul dreams at night of something desirable or horrible, or when he daydreams of what he would like to have or avoid, he creates a reality that has no existence beyond his own imagination. The tendency of the mind is to accept and reject various activities based on sense gratification. Therefore an intelligent person should control the mind, restricting it from the illusion of seeing things separate from Kāñḍā, and when the mind is thus controlled he will experience actual fearlessness.

SB 11.2.39 - An intelligent person who has controlled his mind and conquered fear should give up all attachment to material objects such as wife, family and nation and should wander freely without embarrassment, hearing and chanting the holy names of the Lord, the bearer of the chariot wheel. The holy names of Kāñëa are all-auspicious because they describe His transcendental birth and activities, which He performs within this world for the salvation of the conditioned souls. Thus the holy names of the Lord are sung throughout the world.

SB 11.2.40 - By chanting the holy name of the Supreme Lord, one comes to the stage of love of Godhead. Then the devotee is fixed in his vow as an eternal servant of the Lord, and he gradually becomes very much attached to a particular name and form of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. As his heart melts with ecstatic love, he laughs very loudly or cries or shouts. Sometimes he sings and dances like a madman, for he is indifferent to public opinion.

SB 11.2.41 - A devotee should not see anything as being separate from the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Kāñëa. Ether, fire, air, water, earth, the sun and other luminaries, all living beings, the directions, trees and other plants, the rivers and oceans-whatever a devotee experiences he should consider to be an expansion of Kāñëa. Thus seeing everything that exists within creation as the body of the Supreme Lord, Hari, the devotee should offer his sincere respects to the entire expansion of the Lord's body.

SB 11.2.42 - Devotion, direct experience of the Supreme Lord, and detachment from other things-these three occur simultaneously for one who has taken shelter of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, in the same way that pleasure, nourishment and relief from hunger come simultaneously and increasingly, with each bite, for a person engaged in eating.

SB 11.2.43 - My dear King, the devotee who worships the lotus feet of the infallible Personality of Godhead with constant endeavor thus achieves unflinching devotion, detachment and experienced knowledge of the Personality of Godhead. In this way the successful devotee of the Lord achieves supreme spiritual peace.

SB 11.2.44 - Mahārāja Nimi said: Now please tell me in greater detail about the devotees of the Supreme Lord. What are the natural symptoms by which I can distinguish between the most advanced devotees, those on the middle level and those who are neophytes? What are the typical religious activities of a Vaiñëava, and how does he speak? Specifically, please describe those symptoms and characteristics by which Vaiñëavas become dear to the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.45 - Çré Havir said: The most advanced devotee sees within everything the soul of all souls, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Çré Kâñëa. Consequently he sees everything in relation to the Supreme Lord and understands that everything that exists is eternally situated within the Lord.

SB 11.2.46 - An intermediate or second-class devotee, called madhyama-adhikäré, offers his love to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is a sincere friend to all the devotees of the Lord, shows mercy to ignorant people who are innocent and disregards those who are envious of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.47 - A devotee who faithfully engages in the worship of the Deity in the temple but does not behave properly toward other devotees or people in general is called a prākāta-bhakta, a materialistic devotee, and is considered to be in the lowest position.

SB 11.2.48 - Even while engaging his senses in contact with their objects, one who sees this whole world as the energy of Lord Viñëu is neither repelled nor elated. He is indeed the greatest among devotees.

SB 11.2.49 - Within the material world, one's material body is always subject to birth and decay. Similarly, the life air [prāëa] is harassed by hunger and thirst, the mind is always anxious, the intelligence hankers for that which cannot be obtained, and all of the senses are ultimately exhausted by constant struggle in the material nature. A person who is not bewildered by the inevitable miseries of material existence, and who remains aloof from them simply by remembering the lotus feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is to be considered bhāgavata-pradhāna, the foremost devotee of the Lord.

SB 11.2.50 - One who has taken exclusive shelter of the Supreme Lord, Vāsudeva, becomes free from fruitive activities, which are based on material lust. In fact, one who has taken shelter of the lotus feet of the Lord is freed from even the desire to enjoy material sense gratification. Plans for enjoying sex life, social prestige and money cannot develop within his mind. Thus he is considered bhāgavatottama, a pure devotee of the Lord on the highest platform.

SB 11.2.51 - Birth in an aristocratic family and the execution of austere and pious activities certainly cause one to take pride in himself. Similarly, if one enjoys a prestigious position within society because his parents are highly respected members of the varëāçrama social system, one becomes even more infatuated with himself. But if despite these excellent material qualifications one does not feel even a tinge of pride within himself, he is to be considered the dearest servitor of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.2.52 - When a devotee gives up the selfish conception by which one thinks "This is my property, and that is his," and when he is no longer concerned with the pleasures of his own material body or indifferent to the discomforts of others, he becomes fully peaceful and satisfied. He considers himself simply one among all the living beings who are equally part and parcel of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Such a satisfied Vaiñëava is considered to be at the highest standard of devotional service.

SB 11.2.53 - The lotus feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead are sought even by the greatest of demigods, such as Brahmā and Çiva, who have all accepted the Supreme Personality of Godhead as their life and soul. A pure devotee of the Lord can never forget those lotus feet in any circumstance. He will not give up his shelter at the lotus feet of the Lord for a single moment-indeed, not for half a moment-even in exchange for the benediction of ruling and enjoying the opulence of the entire universe. Such a devotee of the Lord is to be considered the best of the Vaiñëavas.

SB 11.2.54 - How can the fire of material suffering continue to burn the hearts of those who worship the Supreme Lord? The Lord's lotus feet have performed innumerable heroic deeds, and the beautiful nails on His toes resemble valuable jewels. The effulgence emanating from those nails resembles cooling moonshine, for it instantly relieves the suffering within the heart of the pure devotee, just as the appearance of the moon's cooling light relieves the burning heat of the sun.

SB 11.2.55 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead is so kind to the conditioned souls that if they call upon Him by speaking His holy name, even unintentionally or unwillingly, the Lord is inclined to destroy innumerable sinful reactions in their hearts. Therefore, when a devotee who has taken shelter of the Lord's lotus feet chants the holy name of Kåñëa with genuine love, the Supreme Personality of Godhead can never give up the heart of such a devotee. One who has thus captured the Supreme Lord within his heart is to be known as bhāgavata-pradhāna, the most exalted devotee of the Lord.

5 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.3.1 - King Nimi said: Now we wish to learn about the illusory potency of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Çré Viñëu, which bewilders even great mystics. My lords, please speak to us about this subject.

SB 11.3.2 - Although I am drinking the nectar of your statements about the glories of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, my thirst is not yet satiated. Such nectarean descriptions of the Lord and His devotees are the actual medicine for conditioned souls like me, who are tormented by the threefold miseries of material existence.

SB 11.3.3 - Çré Antarákña said: O mighty-armed King, by activating the material elements, the primeval Soul of all creation has sent forth all living beings in higher and lower species so that these conditioned souls can cultivate either sense gratification or ultimate liberation, according to their desire.

SB 11.3.4 - The Supersoul enters the material bodies of the created beings, activates the mind and senses, and thus causes the conditioned souls to approach the three modes of material nature for sense gratification.

SB 11.3.5 - The individual living being, the master of the material body, uses his material senses, which have been activated by the Supersoul, to try to enjoy sense objects composed of the three modes of nature. Thus he misidentifies the created material body with the unborn eternal self and becomes entangled in the illusory energy of the Lord.

SB 11.3.6 - Impelled by deep-rooted material desires, the embodied living entity engages his active sense organs in fruitive activities. He then experiences the results of his material actions by wandering throughout this world in so-called happiness and distress.

SB 11.3.7 - Thus the conditioned living entity is forced to experience repeated birth and death. Impelled by the reactions of his own activities, he helplessly wanders from one inauspicious situation to another, suffering from the moment of creation until the time of cosmic annihilation.

SB 11.3.8 - When the annihilation of the material elements is imminent, the Supreme Personality of Godhead in His form of eternal time withdraws the manifest cosmos, consisting of gross and subtle features, and the entire universe vanishes into nonmanifestation.

SB 11.3.9 - As cosmic annihilation approaches, a terrible drought takes place on earth for one hundred years. For one hundred years the heat of the sun gradually increases, and its blazing heat begins to torment the three worlds.

SB 11.3.10 - Beginning from Pātāla-loka, a fire grows, emanating from the mouth of Lord Saṁkarṣaṇa. Its flames shooting upward, driven by great winds, it scorches everything in all directions.

SB 11.3.11 - Hoards of clouds called Saṁvartaka pour torrents of rain for one hundred years. Flooding down in raindrops as long as the trunk of an elephant, the deadly rainfall submerges the entire universe in water.

SB 11.3.12 - Then Vairāja Brahmā, the soul of the universal form, gives up his universal body, O King, and enters into the subtle unmanifest nature, like a fire that has run out of fuel.

SB 11.3.13 - Deprived of its quality of aroma by the wind, the element earth is transformed into water; and water, deprived of its taste by that same wind, is merged into fire.

SB 11.3.14 - Fire, deprived of its form by darkness, dissolves into the element air. When the air loses its quality of touch by the influence of space, the air merges into that space. When space is deprived of its tangible quality by the Supreme Soul in the form of time, space merges into false ego in the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.3.15 - My dear King, the material senses and intelligence merge into false ego in the mode of passion, from which they arose; and the mind, along with the demigods, merges into false ego in the mode of goodness. Then the total false ego, along with all of its qualities, merges into the mahat-tattva.

SB 11.3.16 - I have now described māyā, the illusory energy of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. This illusory potency, consisting of the three modes of material nature, is empowered by the Lord for the creation, maintenance and annihilation of the material universe. Now, what more do you wish to hear?

SB 11.3.17 - King Nimi said: O great sage, please explain how even a foolish materialist can easily cross over the illusory energy of the Supreme Lord, which is always insurmountable for those who are not self-controlled.

SB 11.3.18 - Çré Prabuddha said: Accepting the roles of male and female in human society, the conditioned souls unite in sexual relationships. Thus they constantly make material endeavors to eliminate their unhappiness and unlimitedly increase their pleasure. But one should see that they inevitably achieve exactly the opposite result. In other words, their happiness inevitably vanishes, and as they grow older their material discomfort increases.

SB 11.3.19 - Wealth is a perpetual source of distress, it is most difficult to acquire, and it is virtual death for the soul. What satisfaction does one actually gain from his wealth? Similarly, how can one gain ultimate or permanent happiness from one's so-called home, children, relatives and domestic animals, which are all maintained by one's hard-earned money?

SB 11.3.20 - One cannot find permanent happiness even on the heavenly planets, which one can attain in the next life by ritualistic ceremonies and sacrifices. Even in material heaven the living entity is disturbed by rivalry with his equals and envy of those superior to him. And since one's residence in heaven is finished with the exhaustion of pious fruitive activities, the denizens of heaven are afflicted by fear, anticipating the destruction of their heavenly life. Thus they resemble kings who, though enviously admired by ordinary citizens, are constantly harassed by enemy kings and who therefore never attain actual happiness.

SB 11.3.21 - Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide guru is that he has realized the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of these conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters.

SB 11.3.22 - Accepting the bona fide spiritual master as one's life and soul and worshipable deity, the disciple should learn from him the process of pure devotional service. The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, the soul of all souls, is inclined to give Himself to His pure devotees. Therefore, the disciple should learn from the spiritual master to serve the Lord without duplicity and in such a faithful and favorable way that the Supreme Lord, being satisfied, will offer Himself to the faithful disciple.

SB 11.3.23 - A sincere disciple should learn to dissociate the mind from everything material and positively cultivate association with his spiritual master and other saintly devotees. He should be merciful to those in an inferior position to him, cultivate friendship with those on an equal level and meekly serve those in a higher spiritual position. Thus he should learn to deal properly with all living beings.

SB 11.3.24 - To serve the spiritual master the disciple should learn cleanliness, austerity, tolerance, silence, study of Vedic knowledge, simplicity, celibacy, nonviolence, and equanimity in the face of material dualities such as heat and cold, happiness and distress.

SB 11.3.25 - One should practice meditation by constantly seeing oneself to be an eternal cognizant spirit soul and seeing the Lord to be the absolute controller of everything. To increase one's meditation, one should live in a secluded place and give up false attachment to one's home and household paraphernalia. Giving up the decorations of the temporary material body, one should dress himself with scraps of cloth found in rejected places, or with the bark of trees. In this way one should learn to be satisfied in any material situation.

SB 11.3.26 - One should have firm faith that he will achieve all success in life by following those scriptures that describe the glories of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Bhagavān. At the same time, one should avoid blaspheming other scriptures. One should rigidly control his mind, speech and bodily activities, always speak the truth, and bring the mind and senses under full control.

SB 11.3.27-28 - One should hear, glorify and meditate upon the wonderful transcendental activities of the Lord. One should specifically become absorbed in the appearance, activities, qualities and holy names of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Thus inspired, one should perform all of one's daily activities as an offering to the Lord. One should perform sacrifice, charity and penance exclusively for the Lord's satisfaction. Similarly, one should chant only those mantras which glorify the Supreme Personality of Godhead. And all one's religious activities should be performed as an offering to the Lord. Whatever one finds pleasing or enjoyable he should immediately offer to the Supreme Lord, and even his wife, children, home and very life air

he should offer at the lotus feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.3.29 - One who desires his ultimate self-interest should cultivate friendship with those persons who have accepted Kāñëa as the Lord of their life. One should further develop an attitude of service toward all living beings. One should especially try to help those in the human form of life and, among them, especially those who accept the principles of religious behavior. Among religious persons, one should especially render service to the pure devotees of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.3.30 - One should learn how to associate with the devotees of the Lord by gathering with them to chant the glories of the Lord. This process is most purifying. As devotees thus develop their loving friendship, they feel mutual happiness and satisfaction. And by thus encouraging one another they are able to give up material sense gratification, which is the cause of all suffering.

SB 11.3.31 - The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualized bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end.

SB 11.3.32 - Having achieved love of Godhead, the devotees sometimes cry out loud, absorbed in thought of the infallible Lord. Sometimes they laugh, feel great pleasure, speak out loud to the Lord, dance or sing. Such devotees, having transcended material, conditioned life, sometimes imitate the unborn Supreme by acting out His pastimes. And sometimes, achieving His personal audience, they remain peaceful and silent.

SB 11.3.33 - Thus learning the science of devotional service and practically engaging in the devotional service of the Lord, the devotee comes to the stage of love of Godhead. And by complete devotion to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Nārāyaṇa, the devotee easily crosses over the illusory energy, māyā, which is extremely difficult to cross.

SB 11.3.34 - King Nimi inquired: Please explain to me the transcendental situation of the Supreme Lord, Nārāyaṇa, who is Himself the Absolute Truth and the Supersoul of everyone. You can explain this to me, because you are all most expert in transcendental knowledge.

SB 11.3.35 - Ṣré Pippalāyana said: The Supreme Personality of Godhead is the cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of this universe, yet He has no prior cause. He pervades the various states of wakefulness, dreaming and unconscious deep sleep and also exists beyond them. By entering the body of every living being as the Supersoul, He enlivens the body, senses, life airs and mental activities, and thus all the subtle and gross organs of the body begin their functions. My dear King, know that Personality of Godhead to be the Supreme.

SB 11.3.36 - Neither the mind nor the faculties of speech, sight, intelligence, the life air or any of the senses are capable of penetrating that Supreme Truth, any more than small sparks can affect the original fire from which they are generated. Not even the authoritative language of the Vedas can perfectly describe the Supreme Truth, since the Vedas themselves disclaim the possibility that the Truth can be expressed by words. But through indirect reference the Vedic sound does serve as evidence of the Supreme Truth, since without the existence of that Supreme Truth the various restrictions found in the Vedas would have no ultimate purpose.

SB 11.3.37 - Originally one, the Absolute, Brahman, comes to be known as threefold, manifesting itself as the three modes of material nature-goodness, passion and ignorance. Brahman further expands its potency, and thus the power to act and the power of consciousness become manifest, along with the false ego, which covers the identity of the conditioned living being. Thus, by the expansion of the multipotencies of the Absolute, the demigods, as the embodiment of knowledge, become manifest, along with the material senses, their objects, and the results of material activity, namely happiness and distress. In this way the manifestation of the material world takes place as the subtle cause and as the material effect visible in the appearance of gross material objects. Brahman, which is the source of all subtle and gross manifestations, is simultaneously transcendental to them, being absolute.

SB 11.3.38 - Brahman, the eternal soul, was never born and will never die, nor does it grow or decay. That spiritual soul is actually the knower of the youth, middle age and death of the material body. Thus the soul can be understood to be pure consciousness, existing everywhere at all times and never being destroyed. Just as the life air within the body, although one, becomes manifest as many in contact with the various material senses, the one soul appears to assume various material designations in contact with the material body.

SB 11.3.39 - The spirit soul is born in many different species of life within the material world. Some species are born from eggs, others from embryos, others from the seeds of plants and trees, and others from perspiration. But in all species of life the prāëa, or vital air, remains unchanging and follows the spirit soul from one body to another. Similarly, the spirit soul is eternally the same despite its material condition of life. We have practical experience of this. When we are absorbed in deep sleep without dreaming, the material senses become inactive, and even the mind and false ego are merged into a dormant condition. But although the senses, mind and false ego are inactive, one remembers upon waking that he, the soul, was peacefully sleeping.

SB 11.3.40 - When one seriously engages in the devotional service of the Personality of Godhead, fixing the Lord's lotus feet within one's heart as the only goal of life, one can destroy the innumerable impure desires lodged within the heart as a result of one's previous fruitive work within the three modes of material nature. When the heart is thus purified one can directly perceive both the Supreme Lord and one's self as transcendental entities. Thus one becomes perfect in spiritual understanding through direct experience, just as one can directly experience the sunshine through normal, healthy vision.

SB 11.3.41 - King Nimi said: O great sages, please speak to us about the process of karma-yoga. Purified by this process of dedicating one's practical work to the Supreme, a person can very quickly free himself from all material activities, even in this life, and thus enjoy pure life on the transcendental platform.

SB 11.3.42 - Once in the past, in the presence of my father, Mahārāja Ikāvāku, I placed a similar question before four great sages who were sons of Lord Brāhmā. But they did not answer my question. Please explain the reason for this.

SB 11.3.43 - Ṣré Ävirhotra replied: Prescribed duties, nonperformance of such duties, and forbidden activities are topics one can properly understand through authorized study of the Vedic literature. This difficult subject matter can never be understood by mundane speculation. The authorized Vedic literature is the sound incarnation of the Personality of Godhead Himself, and thus Vedic knowledge is perfect. Even the greatest learned scholars are bewildered in their attempts to understand the science of action if they neglect the authority of Vedic knowledge.

SB 11.3.44 - Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine.

SB 11.3.45 - If an ignorant person who has not conquered the material senses does not adhere to the Vedic injunctions, certainly he will engage in sinful and irreligious activities. Thus his reward will be repeated birth and death.

SB 11.3.46 - By executing without attachment the regulated activities prescribed in the Vedas, offering the results of such work to the Supreme Lord, one attains the perfection of freedom from the bondage of material work. The material fruitive results offered in the revealed scriptures are not the actual goal of Vedic knowledge, but are meant for stimulating the interest of the performer.

SB 11.3.47 - One who desires to quickly cut the knot of false ego, which binds the spirit soul, should worship the Supreme Lord, Keçava, by the regulations found in Vedic literatures such as the tantras.

SB 11.3.48 - Having obtained the mercy of his spiritual master, who reveals to the disciple the injunctions of Vedic scriptures, the devotee should worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead in the particular personal form of the Lord the devotee finds most attractive.

SB 11.3.49 - After cleansing oneself, purifying the body by präëyāma, bhūta-çuddhi and other processes, and marking the body with sacred tilaka for protection, one should sit in front of the Deity and worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.3.50-51 - The devotee should gather whatever ingredients for worshipping the Deity are available, make ready the offerings, the ground, his mind and the Deity, sprinkle his sitting place with water for purification and prepare the bathing water and other paraphernalia. The devotee should then place the Deity in His proper place, both physically and within his own mind, concentrate his attention, and mark the Deity's heart and other parts of the body with tilaka. Then he should offer worship with the appropriate mantra.

SB 11.3.52-53 - One should worship the Deity along with each of the limbs of His transcendental body, His weapons such as the Sudarçana cakra, His other bodily features and His personal associates. One should worship each of these transcendental aspects of the Lord by its own mantra and with offerings of water to wash the feet, scented water, water to wash the mouth, water for bathing, fine clothing and ornaments, fragrant oils, valuable necklaces, unbroken barleycorns, flower garlands, incense and lamps. Having thus completed the worship in all its aspects in accordance with the prescribed regulations, one should then honor the Deity of Lord Hari with prayers and offer obeisances to Him by bowing down.

SB 11.3.54 - The worshiper should become fully absorbed in meditating upon himself as an eternal servant of the Lord and should thus perfectly worship the Deity, remembering that the Deity is also situated within his heart. Then he should take the remnants of the Deity's paraphernalia, such as flower garlands, upon his head and respectfully put the Deity back in His own place, thus concluding the worship.

SB 11.3.55 - Thus the worshiper of the Supreme Lord should recognize that the Personality of Godhead is all-pervading and should worship Him through His presence in fire, the sun, water and other elements, in the heart of the guest one receives in one's home, and also in one's own heart. In this way the worshiper will very soon achieve liberation.

6 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.3.1 - King Nimi said: Now we wish to learn about the illusory potency of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Çré Viñëu, which bewilders even great mystics. My lords, please speak to us about this subject.

SB 11.3.2 - Although I am drinking the nectar of your statements about the glories of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, my thirst is not yet satiated. Such nectarean descriptions of the Lord and His devotees are the actual medicine for conditioned souls like me, who are tormented by the threefold miseries of material existence.

SB 11.3.3 - Çré Antarákña said: O mighty-armed King, by activating the material elements, the primeval Soul of all creation has sent forth all living beings in higher and lower species so that these conditioned souls can cultivate either sense gratification or ultimate liberation, according to their desire.

SB 11.3.4 - The Supersoul enters the material bodies of the created beings, activates the mind and senses, and thus causes the conditioned souls to approach the three modes of material nature for sense gratification.

SB 11.3.5 - The individual living being, the master of the material body, uses his material senses, which have been activated by the Supersoul, to try to enjoy sense objects composed of the three modes of nature. Thus he misidentifies the created material body with the unborn eternal self and becomes entangled in the illusory energy of the Lord.

SB 11.3.6 - Impelled by deep-rooted material desires, the embodied living entity engages his active sense organs in fruitive activities. He then experiences the results of his material actions by wandering throughout this world in so-called happiness and distress.

SB 11.3.7 - Thus the conditioned living entity is forced to experience repeated birth and death. Impelled by the reactions of his own activities, he helplessly wanders from one inauspicious situation to another, suffering from the moment of creation until the time of cosmic annihilation.

SB 11.3.8 - When the annihilation of the material elements is imminent, the Supreme Personality of Godhead in His form of eternal time withdraws the manifest cosmos, consisting of gross and subtle features, and the entire universe vanishes into nonmanifestation.

SB 11.3.9 - As cosmic annihilation approaches, a terrible drought takes place on earth for one hundred years. For one hundred years the heat of the sun gradually increases, and its blazing heat begins to torment the three worlds.

SB 11.3.10 - Beginning from Pātāla-loka, a fire grows, emanating from the mouth of Lord Saṁkarṣaṇa. Its flames shooting upward, driven by great winds, it scorches everything in all directions.

SB 11.3.11 - Hoards of clouds called Saṁvartaka pour torrents of rain for one hundred years. Flooding down in raindrops as long as the trunk of an elephant, the deadly rainfall submerges the entire universe in water.

SB 11.3.12 - Then Vairāja Brahmā, the soul of the universal form, gives up his universal body, O King, and enters into the subtle unmanifest nature, like a fire that has run out of fuel.

SB 11.3.13 - Deprived of its quality of aroma by the wind, the element earth is transformed into water; and water, deprived of its taste by that same wind, is merged into fire.

SB 11.3.14 - Fire, deprived of its form by darkness, dissolves into the element air. When the air loses its quality of touch by the influence of space, the air merges into that space. When space is deprived of its tangible quality by the Supreme Soul in the form of time, space merges into false ego in the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.3.15 - My dear King, the material senses and intelligence merge into false ego in the mode of passion, from which they arose; and the mind, along with the demigods, merges into false ego in the mode of goodness. Then the total false ego, along with all of its qualities, merges into the mahat-tattva.

SB 11.3.16 - I have now described māyā, the illusory energy of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. This illusory potency, consisting of the three modes of material nature, is empowered by the Lord for the creation, maintenance and annihilation of the material universe. Now, what more do you wish to hear?

SB 11.3.17 - King Nimi said: O great sage, please explain how even a foolish materialist can easily cross over the illusory energy of the Supreme Lord, which is always insurmountable for those who are not self-controlled.

SB 11.3.18 - Çré Prabuddha said: Accepting the roles of male and female in human society, the conditioned souls unite in sexual relationships. Thus they constantly make material endeavors to eliminate their unhappiness and unlimitedly increase their pleasure. But one should see that they inevitably achieve exactly the opposite result. In other words, their happiness inevitably vanishes, and as they grow older their material discomfort increases.

SB 11.3.19 - Wealth is a perpetual source of distress, it is most difficult to acquire, and it is virtual death for the soul. What satisfaction does one actually gain from his wealth? Similarly, how can one gain ultimate or permanent happiness from one's so-called home, children, relatives and domestic animals, which are all maintained by one's hard-earned money?

SB 11.3.20 - One cannot find permanent happiness even on the heavenly planets, which one can attain in the next life by ritualistic ceremonies and sacrifices. Even in material heaven the living entity is disturbed by rivalry with his equals and envy of those superior to him. And since one's residence in heaven is finished with the exhaustion of pious fruitive activities, the denizens of heaven are afflicted by fear, anticipating the destruction of their heavenly life. Thus they resemble kings who, though enviously admired by ordinary citizens, are constantly harassed by enemy kings and who therefore never attain actual happiness.

SB 11.3.21 - Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide guru is that he has realized the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of these conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters.

SB 11.3.22 - Accepting the bona fide spiritual master as one's life and soul and worshipable deity, the disciple should learn from him the process of pure devotional service. The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, the soul of all souls, is inclined to give Himself to His pure devotees. Therefore, the disciple should learn from the spiritual master to serve the Lord without duplicity and in such a faithful and favorable way that the Supreme Lord, being satisfied, will offer Himself to the faithful disciple.

SB 11.3.23 - A sincere disciple should learn to dissociate the mind from everything material and positively cultivate association with his spiritual master and other saintly devotees. He should be merciful to those in an inferior position to him, cultivate friendship with those on an equal level and meekly serve those in a higher spiritual position. Thus he should learn to deal properly with all living beings.

SB 11.3.24 - To serve the spiritual master the disciple should learn cleanliness, austerity, tolerance, silence, study of Vedic knowledge, simplicity, celibacy, nonviolence, and equanimity in the face of material dualities such as heat and cold, happiness and distress.

SB 11.3.25 - One should practice meditation by constantly seeing oneself to be an eternal cognizant spirit soul and seeing the Lord to be the absolute controller of everything. To increase one's meditation, one should live in a secluded place and give up false attachment to one's home and household paraphernalia. Giving up the decorations of the temporary material body, one should dress himself with scraps of cloth found in rejected places, or with the bark of trees. In this way one should learn to be satisfied in any material situation.

SB 11.3.26 - One should have firm faith that he will achieve all success in life by following those scriptures that describe the glories of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Bhagavān. At the same time, one should avoid blaspheming other scriptures. One should rigidly control his mind, speech and bodily activities, always speak the truth, and bring the mind and senses under full control.

SB 11.3.27-28 - One should hear, glorify and meditate upon the wonderful transcendental activities of the Lord. One should specifically become absorbed in the appearance, activities, qualities and holy names of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Thus inspired, one should perform all of one's daily activities as an offering to the Lord. One should perform sacrifice, charity and penance exclusively for the Lord's satisfaction. Similarly, one should chant only those mantras which glorify the Supreme Personality of Godhead. And all one's religious activities should be performed as an offering to the Lord. Whatever one finds pleasing or enjoyable he should immediately offer to the Supreme Lord, and even his wife, children, home and very life air he should offer at the lotus feet of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.3.29 - One who desires his ultimate self-interest should cultivate friendship with those persons who have accepted Kāñëa as the Lord of their life. One should further develop an attitude of service toward all living beings. One should especially try to help those in the human form of life and, among them, especially those who accept the principles of religious behavior. Among religious persons, one should especially render service to the pure devotees of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.3.30 - One should learn how to associate with the devotees of the Lord by gathering with them to chant the glories of the Lord. This process is most purifying. As devotees thus develop their loving friendship, they feel mutual happiness and satisfaction. And by thus encouraging one another they are able to give up material sense gratification, which is the cause of all suffering.

SB 11.3.31 - The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualized bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end.

SB 11.3.32 - Having achieved love of Godhead, the devotees sometimes cry out loud, absorbed in thought of the infallible Lord. Sometimes they laugh, feel great pleasure, speak out loud to the Lord, dance or sing. Such devotees, having transcended material, conditioned life, sometimes imitate the unborn Supreme by acting out His pastimes. And sometimes, achieving His personal audience, they remain peaceful and silent.

SB 11.3.33 - Thus learning the science of devotional service and practically engaging in the devotional service of the Lord, the devotee comes to the stage of love of Godhead. And by complete devotion to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Nārāyaṇa, the devotee easily crosses over the illusory energy, māyā, which is extremely difficult to cross.

SB 11.3.34 - King Nimi inquired: Please explain to me the transcendental situation of the Supreme Lord, Nārāyaṇa, who is Himself the Absolute Truth and the Supersoul of everyone. You can explain this to me, because you are all most expert in transcendental knowledge.

SB 11.3.35 - Śrī Pippalāyana said: The Supreme Personality of Godhead is the cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of this universe, yet He has no prior cause. He pervades the various states of wakefulness, dreaming and unconscious deep sleep and also exists beyond them. By entering the body of every living being as the Supersoul, He enlivens the body, senses, life airs and mental activities, and thus all the subtle and gross organs of the body begin their functions. My dear King, know that Personality of Godhead to be the Supreme.

SB 11.3.36 - Neither the mind nor the faculties of speech, sight, intelligence, the life air or any of the senses are capable of penetrating that Supreme Truth, any more than small sparks can affect the original fire from which they are generated. Not even the authoritative language of the Vedas can perfectly describe the Supreme Truth, since the Vedas themselves disclaim the possibility that the Truth can be expressed by words. But through indirect reference the Vedic sound does serve as evidence of the Supreme Truth, since without the existence of that Supreme Truth the various restrictions found in the Vedas would have no ultimate purpose.

SB 11.3.37 - Originally one, the Absolute, Brahman, comes to be known as threefold, manifesting itself as the three modes of material nature-goodness, passion and ignorance. Brahman further expands its potency, and thus the power to act and the power of consciousness become manifest, along with the false ego, which covers the identity of the conditioned living being. Thus, by the expansion of the multipotencies of the Absolute, the demigods, as the embodiment of knowledge, become manifest, along with the material senses, their objects, and the results of material activity, namely happiness and distress. In this way the manifestation of the material world takes place as the subtle cause and as the material effect visible in the appearance of gross material objects. Brahman, which is the source of all subtle and gross manifestations, is simultaneously transcendental to them, being absolute.

SB 11.3.38 - Brahman, the eternal soul, was never born and will never die, nor does it grow or decay. That spiritual soul is actually the knower of the youth, middle age and death of the material body. Thus the soul can be understood to be pure consciousness, existing everywhere at all times and never being destroyed. Just as the life air within the body, although one, becomes manifest as many in contact with the various material senses, the one soul appears to assume various material designations in contact with the material body.

SB 11.3.39 - The spirit soul is born in many different species of life within the material world. Some species are born from eggs, others from embryos, others from the seeds of plants and trees, and others from perspiration. But in all species of life the prāëa, or vital air, remains unchanging and follows the spirit soul from one body to another. Similarly, the spirit soul is eternally the same despite its material condition of life. We have practical experience of this. When we are absorbed in deep sleep without dreaming, the material senses become inactive, and even the mind and false ego are merged into a dormant condition. But although the senses, mind and false ego are inactive, one remembers upon waking that he, the soul, was peacefully sleeping.

SB 11.3.40 - When one seriously engages in the devotional service of the Personality of Godhead, fixing the Lord's lotus feet within one's heart as the only goal of life, one can destroy the innumerable impure desires lodged within the heart as a result of one's previous fruitive work within the three modes of material nature. When the heart is thus purified one can directly perceive both the Supreme Lord and one's self as transcendental entities. Thus one becomes perfect in spiritual understanding through direct experience, just as one can directly experience the sunshine through normal, healthy vision.

SB 11.3.41 - King Nimi said: O great sages, please speak to us about the process of karma-yoga. Purified by this process of dedicating one's practical work to the Supreme, a person can very quickly free himself from all material activities, even in this life, and thus enjoy pure life on the transcendental platform.

SB 11.3.42 - Once in the past, in the presence of my father, Mahārāja Ikāvāku, I placed a similar question before four great sages who were sons of Lord Brahmā. But they did not answer my question. Please explain the reason for this.

SB 11.3.43 - Çré Ävirhotra replied: Prescribed duties, nonperformance of such duties, and forbidden activities are topics one can properly understand through authorized study of the Vedic literature. This difficult subject matter can never be understood by mundane speculation. The authorized Vedic literature is the sound incarnation of the Personality of Godhead Himself, and thus Vedic knowledge is perfect. Even the greatest learned scholars are bewildered in their attempts to understand the science of action if they neglect the authority of Vedic knowledge.

SB 11.3.44 - Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine.

SB 11.3.45 - If an ignorant person who has not conquered the material senses does not adhere to the Vedic injunctions, certainly he will engage in sinful and irreligious activities. Thus his reward will be repeated birth and death.

SB 11.3.46 - By executing without attachment the regulated activities prescribed in the Vedas, offering the results of such work to the Supreme Lord, one attains the perfection of freedom from the bondage of material work. The material fruitive results offered in the revealed scriptures are not the actual goal of Vedic knowledge, but are meant for stimulating the interest of the performer.

SB 11.3.47 - One who desires to quickly cut the knot of false ego, which binds the spirit soul, should worship the Supreme Lord, Keçava, by the regulations found in Vedic literatures such as the tantras.

SB 11.3.48 - Having obtained the mercy of his spiritual master, who reveals to the disciple the injunctions of Vedic scriptures, the devotee should worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead in the particular personal form of the Lord the devotee finds most attractive.

SB 11.3.49 - After cleansing oneself, purifying the body by prāëyāma, bhūta-çuddhi and other processes, and marking the body with sacred tilaka for protection, one should sit in front of the Deity and worship the Supreme

Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.3.50-51 - The devotee should gather whatever ingredients for worshipping the Deity are available, make ready the offerings, the ground, his mind and the Deity, sprinkle his sitting place with water for purification and prepare the bathing water and other paraphernalia. The devotee should then place the Deity in His proper place, both physically and within his own mind, concentrate his attention, and mark the Deity's heart and other parts of the body with tilaka. Then he should offer worship with the appropriate mantra.

SB 11.3.52-53 - One should worship the Deity along with each of the limbs of His transcendental body, His weapons such as the Sudarçana cakra, His other bodily features and His personal associates. One should worship each of these transcendental aspects of the Lord by its own mantra and with offerings of water to wash the feet, scented water, water to wash the mouth, water for bathing, fine clothing and ornaments, fragrant oils, valuable necklaces, unbroken barleycorns, flower garlands, incense and lamps. Having thus completed the worship in all its aspects in accordance with the prescribed regulations, one should then honor the Deity of Lord Hari with prayers and offer obeisances to Him by bowing down.

SB 11.3.54 - The worshiper should become fully absorbed in meditating upon himself as an eternal servant of the Lord and should thus perfectly worship the Deity, remembering that the Deity is also situated within his heart. Then he should take the remnants of the Deity's paraphernalia, such as flower garlands, upon his head and respectfully put the Deity back in His own place, thus concluding the worship.

SB 11.3.55 - Thus the worshiper of the Supreme Lord should recognize that the Personality of Godhead is all-pervading and should worship Him through His presence in fire, the sun, water and other elements, in the heart of the guest one receives in one's home, and also in one's own heart. In this way the worshiper will very soon achieve liberation.

7 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.4.1 - King Nimi said: The Supreme Personality of Godhead descends into the material world by His internal potency and according to His own desire. Therefore, please tell us about the various pastimes Lord Hari has performed in the past, is performing now and will perform in this world in the future in His various incarnations.

SB 11.4.2 - Çré Drumila said: Anyone trying to enumerate or describe fully the unlimited qualities of the unlimited Supreme Lord has the intelligence of a foolish child. Even if a great genius could somehow or other, after a time-consuming endeavor, count all the particles of dust on the surface of the earth, such a genius could never count the attractive qualities of the Personality of Godhead, who is the reservoir of all potencies.

SB 11.4.3 - When the primeval Lord Nārāyaëa created His universal body out of the five elements produced from Himself and then entered within that universal body by His own plenary portion, He thus became known as the Puruṇa.

SB 11.4.4 - Within His body are elaborately arranged the three planetary systems of this universe. His transcendental senses generate the knowledge-acquiring and active senses of all embodied beings. His consciousness generates conditioned knowledge, and His powerful breathing produces the bodily strength, sensory power and conditioned activities of the embodied souls. He is the prime mover, through the agency of the material modes of goodness, passion and ignorance. And thus the universe is created, maintained and annihilated.

SB 11.4.5 - In the beginning, the original Supreme Personality manifested

the form of Brahmā through the material mode of passion in order to create this universe. The Lord manifested His form as Viñëu, the Lord of sacrifice and protector of the twice-born brähmaëas and their religious duties, to maintain the universe. And when the universe is to be annihilated the same Supreme Lord employs the material mode of ignorance and manifests the form of Rudra. The created living beings are thus always subject to the forces of creation, maintenance and destruction.

SB 11.4.6 - Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi, who is perfectly peaceful and is the best of sages, was born as the son of Dharma and his wife Mūrti, the daughter of Dakñia. Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi taught the devotional service of the Lord, by which material work ceases, and He Himself perfectly practiced this knowledge. He is living even today, His lotus feet served by the greatest of saintly persons.

SB 11.4.7 - King Indra became fearful, thinking that Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi would become very powerful by His severe penances and seize Indra's heavenly kingdom. Thus Indra, not knowing the transcendental glories of the incarnation of the Lord, sent Cupid and his associates to the Lord's residence in Badarikāçrama. As the charming breezes of spring created a most sensuous atmosphere, Cupid himself attacked the Lord with arrows in the form of the irresistible glances of beautiful women.

SB 11.4.8 - The primeval Lord, understanding the offense committed by Indra, did not become proud. Instead He spoke laughingly as follows to Cupid and his followers, who were trembling before Him: "Do not fear, O mighty Madana, O wind-god and wives of the demigods. Rather, please accept these gifts I am offering you and kindly sanctify My āçrama by your presence."

SB 11.4.9 - My dear King Nimi, when Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi thus spoke, eradicating the fear of the demigods, they bowed their heads with shame and addressed the Lord as follows, to invoke His compassion: Our dear Lord, You are always transcendental, beyond the reach of illusion, and therefore You are forever changeless. Your causeless compassion toward us, despite our great offense, is not at all unusual in You, since innumerable great sages who are self-satisfied and free from anger and false pride bow down humbly at Your lotus feet.

SB 11.4.10 - The demigods place many obstacles on the path of those who worship You to transcend the temporary abodes of the demigods and reach Your supreme abode. Those who offer the demigods their assigned shares in sacrificial performances encounter no such obstacles. But because You are the direct protector of Your devotee, he is able to step over the head of whatever obstacle the demigods place before him.

SB 11.4.11 - Some men practice severe penances to cross beyond our influence, which is like an immeasurable ocean with endless waves of hunger, thirst, heat, cold and the other conditions brought about by the passing of time, such as the sensuous wind and the urges of the tongue and sex organs. Nevertheless, although crossing this ocean of sense gratification through severe penances, such persons foolishly drown in a cow's hoofprint when conquered by useless anger. Thus they exhaust the benefit of their difficult austerities in vain.

SB 11.4.12 - While the demigods were thus praising the Supreme Lord, the all-powerful Lord suddenly manifested before their eyes many women, who were astonishingly gorgeous, decorated with fine clothes and ornaments, and all faithfully engaging in the Lord's service.

SB 11.4.13 - When the followers of the demigods gazed upon the fascinating mystic beauty of the women created by Nara-Nārāyaṇa Āṇi and smelled the fragrance of their bodies, the minds of these followers became bewildered. Indeed, upon seeing the beauty and magnificence of such women, the representatives of the demigods were completely diminished in their own opulence.

SB 11.4.14 - The Supreme Lord of lords then smiled slightly and told the representatives of heaven, who were bowing down before Him, "Please choose one of these women, whomever you find suitable for you. She will become the ornament of the heavenly planets."

SB 11.4.15 - Vibrating the sacred syllable oṃ, the servants of the demigods selected Urvaçé, the best of the Apsarās. Placing her in front of them out of respect, they returned to the heavenly planets.

SB 11.4.16 - The servants of the demigods reached the assembly of Indra, and thus, while all the residents of the three heavens listened, they explained to Indra the supreme power of Nārāyaṇa. When Indra heard of Nara-Nārāyaṇa Āṇi and became aware of his offense, he was both frightened and astonished.

SB 11.4.17 - The infallible Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viṣṇu, has descended into this world by His various partial incarnations such as Lord Haṇsa [the swan], Dattātreya, the four Kumāras and our own father, the mighty Āṇabhadeva. By such incarnations, the Lord teaches the science of self-realization for the benefit of the whole universe. In His appearance as Hayagrēva He killed the demon Madhu and thus brought the Vedas back from the hellish planet Pātāla.

SB 11.4.18 - In His appearance as a fish, the Lord protected Satyavrata Manu, the earth and her valuable herbs. He protected them from the waters of annihilation. As a boar, the Lord killed Hiraṇyākṣa, the son of Diti, while delivering the earth from the universal waters. And as a tortoise, He lifted Mandara Mountain on His back so that nectar could be churned from the ocean. The Lord saved the surrendered king of the elephants, Gajendra, who was suffering terrible distress from the grips of a crocodile.

SB 11.4.19 - The Lord also delivered the tiny ascetic sages called the Vāḷakhilyas when they fell into the water in a cow's hoofprint and Indra was laughing at them. The Lord then saved Indra when Indra was covered by darkness due to the sinful reaction for killing Vātrāsura. When the wives of the demigods were trapped in the palace of the demons without any shelter, the Lord saved them. In His incarnation as Nāsiñha, the Lord killed Hiraēyakaçipu, the king of demons, to free the saintly devotees from fear.

SB 11.4.20 - The Supreme Lord regularly takes advantage of the wars between the demons and demigods to kill the leaders of the demons. The Lord thus encourages the demigods by protecting the universe through His various incarnations during the reigns of each Manu. The Lord also appeared as Vāmana and took the earth away from Bali Mahārāja on the plea of begging three steps of land. The Lord then returned the entire world to the sons of Aditi.

SB 11.4.21 - Lord Paraçurāma appeared in the family of Bhāgu as a fire that burned to ashes the dynasty of Haihaya. Thus Lord Paraçurāma rid the earth of all kṣātriyas twenty-one times. The same Lord appeared as Rāmacandra, the husband of Sītādevī, and thus He killed the ten-headed Rāvaṇa, along with all the soldiers of Laīkā. May that Çré Rāma, whose glories destroy the contamination of the world, be always victorious.

SB 11.4.22 - To diminish the burden of the earth, the unborn Lord will take birth in the Yadu dynasty and perform feats impossible even for the demigods. Propounding speculative philosophy, the Lord, as Buddha, will bewilder the unworthy performers of Vedic sacrifices. And as Kalki the Lord will kill all the low-class men posing as rulers at the end of the age of Kali.

SB 11.4.23 - O mighty-armed King, there are innumerable appearances and activities of the Supreme Lord of the universe similar to those I have already mentioned. In fact, the glories of the Supreme Lord are unlimited.

8 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.4.1 - King Nimi said: The Supreme Personality of Godhead descends into the material world by His internal potency and according to His own desire. Therefore, please tell us about the various pastimes Lord Hari has performed in the past, is performing now and will perform in this world in the future in His various incarnations.

SB 11.4.2 - Çré Drumila said: Anyone trying to enumerate or describe fully the unlimited qualities of the unlimited Supreme Lord has the intelligence of a foolish child. Even if a great genius could somehow or other, after a time-consuming endeavor, count all the particles of dust on the surface of the earth, such a genius could never count the attractive qualities of the Personality of Godhead, who is the reservoir of all potencies.

SB 11.4.3 - When the primeval Lord Nārāyaëa created His universal body out of the five elements produced from Himself and then entered within that universal body by His own plenary portion, He thus became known as the Puruṇa.

SB 11.4.4 - Within His body are elaborately arranged the three planetary systems of this universe. His transcendental senses generate the knowledge-acquiring and active senses of all embodied beings. His consciousness generates conditioned knowledge, and His powerful breathing produces the bodily strength, sensory power and conditioned activities of the embodied souls. He is the prime mover, through the agency of the material modes of goodness, passion and ignorance. And thus the universe is created, maintained and annihilated.

SB 11.4.5 - In the beginning, the original Supreme Personality manifested the form of Brahmā through the material mode of passion in order to create this universe. The Lord manifested His form as Viñëu, the Lord of sacrifice and protector of the twice-born brāhmaëas and their religious duties, to maintain the universe. And when the universe is to be annihilated the same Supreme Lord employs the material mode of ignorance and manifests the form of Rudra. The created living beings are thus always subject to the forces of creation, maintenance and destruction.

SB 11.4.6 - Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi, who is perfectly peaceful and is the best of sages, was born as the son of Dharma and his wife Mūrti, the daughter of Dakṣa. Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi taught the devotional service of the Lord, by which material work ceases, and He Himself perfectly practiced this knowledge. He is living even today, His lotus feet served by the greatest of saintly persons.

SB 11.4.7 - King Indra became fearful, thinking that Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi would become very powerful by His severe penances and seize Indra's heavenly kingdom. Thus Indra, not knowing the transcendental glories of the incarnation of the Lord, sent Cupid and his associates to the Lord's residence in Badarikāçrama. As the charming breezes of spring created a most sensuous atmosphere, Cupid himself attacked the Lord with arrows in the form of the irresistible glances of beautiful women.

SB 11.4.8 - The primeval Lord, understanding the offense committed by Indra, did not become proud. Instead He spoke laughingly as follows to Cupid and his followers, who were trembling before Him: "Do not fear, O mighty Madana, O wind-god and wives of the demigods. Rather, please accept these gifts I am offering you and kindly sanctify My āçrama by your presence."

SB 11.4.9 - My dear King Nimi, when Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi thus spoke, eradicating the fear of the demigods, they bowed their heads with shame and addressed the Lord as follows, to invoke His compassion: Our dear Lord, You are always transcendental, beyond the reach of illusion, and therefore You are forever changeless. Your causeless compassion toward us, despite our great offense, is not at all unusual in You, since innumerable great sages who are self-satisfied and free from anger and false pride bow down humbly at Your lotus feet.

SB 11.4.10 - The demigods place many obstacles on the path of those who worship You to transcend the temporary abodes of the demigods and reach Your supreme abode. Those who offer the demigods their assigned shares in sacrificial performances encounter no such obstacles. But because You are the direct protector of Your devotee, he is able to step over the head of whatever obstacle the demigods place before him.

SB 11.4.11 - Some men practice severe penances to cross beyond our influence, which is like an immeasurable ocean with endless waves of hunger, thirst, heat, cold and the other conditions brought about by the passing of time, such as the sensuous wind and the urges of the tongue and sex organs. Nevertheless, although crossing this ocean of sense gratification through severe penances, such persons foolishly drown in a cow's hoofprint when conquered by useless anger. Thus they exhaust the benefit of their difficult austerities in vain.

SB 11.4.12 - While the demigods were thus praising the Supreme Lord, the all-powerful Lord suddenly manifested before their eyes many women, who were astonishingly gorgeous, decorated with fine clothes and ornaments, and all faithfully engaging in the Lord's service.

SB 11.4.13 - When the followers of the demigods gazed upon the fascinating mystic beauty of the women created by Nara-Nārāyaṇa Āṇi and smelled the fragrance of their bodies, the minds of these followers became bewildered. Indeed, upon seeing the beauty and magnificence of such women, the representatives of the demigods were completely diminished in their own opulence.

SB 11.4.14 - The Supreme Lord of lords then smiled slightly and told the representatives of heaven, who were bowing down before Him, "Please choose one of these women, whomever you find suitable for you. She will become the ornament of the heavenly planets."

SB 11.4.15 - Vibrating the sacred syllable oṃ, the servants of the demigods selected Urvaçé, the best of the Apsaräs. Placing her in front of them out of respect, they returned to the heavenly planets.

SB 11.4.16 - The servants of the demigods reached the assembly of Indra, and thus, while all the residents of the three heavens listened, they explained to Indra the supreme power of Nārāyaëa. When Indra heard of Nara-Nārāyaëa Āñi and became aware of his offense, he was both frightened and astonished.

SB 11.4.17 - The infallible Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu, has descended into this world by His various partial incarnations such as Lord Haàsa [the swan], Dattätreya, the four Kumāras and our own father, the mighty Āñabhadeva. By such incarnations, the Lord teaches the science of self-realization for the benefit of the whole universe. In His appearance as Hayagrëva He killed the demon Madhu and thus brought the Vedas back from the hellish planet Pätälaloka.

SB 11.4.18 - In His appearance as a fish, the Lord protected Satyavrata Manu, the earth and her valuable herbs. He protected them from the waters of annihilation. As a boar, the Lord killed Hiraëyäkñä, the son of Diti, while delivering the earth from the universal waters. And as a tortoise, He lifted Mandara Mountain on His back so that nectar could be churned from the ocean. The Lord saved the surrendered king of the elephants, Gajendra, who was suffering terrible distress from the grips of a crocodile.

SB 11.4.19 - The Lord also delivered the tiny ascetic sages called the Vālakhilyas when they fell into the water in a cow's hoofprint and Indra was laughing at them. The Lord then saved Indra when Indra was covered by darkness due to the sinful reaction for killing Vātrāsura. When the wives of the demigods were trapped in the palace of the demons without any shelter, the Lord saved them. In His incarnation as Nāsiñha, the Lord killed Hiraëyakaçipu, the king of demons, to free the saintly devotees from fear.

SB 11.4.20 - The Supreme Lord regularly takes advantage of the wars between the demons and demigods to kill the leaders of the demons. The Lord thus encourages the demigods by protecting the universe through His various incarnations during the reigns of each Manu. The Lord also appeared as Vāmana and took the earth away from Bali Mahārāja on the plea of begging three steps of land. The Lord then returned the entire world to the sons of Aditi.

SB 11.4.21 - Lord Paraçurāma appeared in the family of Bhāgu as a fire that burned to ashes the dynasty of Haihaya. Thus Lord Paraçurāma rid the earth of all kñatriyas twenty-one times. The same Lord appeared as Rāmacandra, the husband of Sētādevé, and thus He killed the ten-headed Rāvaëa, along with all the soldiers of Laī kā. May that Çré Rāma, whose glories destroy the contamination of the world, be always victorious.

SB 11.4.22 - To diminish the burden of the earth, the unborn Lord will take birth in the Yadu dynasty and perform feats impossible even for the demigods. Propounding speculative philosophy, the Lord, as Buddha, will bewilder the unworthy performers of Vedic sacrifices. And as Kalki the Lord will kill all the low-class men posing as rulers at the end of the age of Kali.

SB 11.4.23 - O mighty-armed King, there are innumerable appearances and activities of the Supreme Lord of the universe similar to those I have already mentioned. In fact, the glories of the Supreme Lord are unlimited.

9 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.5.1 - King Nimi further inquired: My dear Yogendras, all of you are most perfect in knowledge of the science of the self. Therefore, kindly explain to me the destination of those who for the most part never worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, who are unable to quench their material desires and who are not in control of their own selves.

SB 11.5.2

Çré Camasa said: Each of the four social orders, headed by the brähmaëas, was born through different combinations of the modes of nature, from the face, arms, thighs and feet of the Supreme Lord in His universal form. Thus the four spiritual orders were also generated.

SB 11.5.3 - If any of the members of the four varëas and four äçramas fail to worship or intentionally disrespect the Personality of Godhead, who is the source of their own creation, they will fall down from their position into a hellish state of life.

SB 11.5.4 - There are many persons who have little opportunity to take part in discussions about the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, and thus it is difficult for them to chant His infallible glories. Persons such as women, çüdras and other fallen classes always deserve the mercy of great personalities like yourself.

SB 11.5.5 - On the other hand, brähmaëas, members of the royal order and vaiçyas, even after being allowed to approach the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord, Hari, by receiving the second birth of Vedic initiation, can become bewildered and adopt various materialistic philosophies.

SB 11.5.6 - Ignorant of the art of work, such arrogantly proud fools, enchanted and enlivened by the sweet words of the Vedas, pose as learned authorities and offer flattering entreaties to the demigods.

SB 11.5.7 - Due to the influence of the mode of passion, the materialistic followers of the Vedas become subject to violent desires and are excessively lusty. Their anger is like that of a snake. Deceitful, overly proud, and sinful in their behavior, they mock the devotees who are dear to Lord Acyuta.

SB 11.5.8 - The materialistic followers of Vedic rituals, giving up the worship of the Lord, instead practically worship their wives, and thus their homes become dedicated to sex life. Such materialistic householders encourage one another in such whimsical behavior. Understanding ritualistic sacrifice as a necessary item for bodily maintenance, they perform unauthorized ceremonies in which there is no distribution of foodstuffs or charity to the brāhmaëas and other respectable persons. Instead, they cruelly slaughter animals such as goats without any understanding of the dark consequences of their activities.

SB 11.5.9 - The intelligence of cruel-minded persons is blinded by false pride based on great wealth, opulence, prestigious family connections, education, renunciation, personal beauty, physical strength and successful performance of Vedic rituals. Being intoxicated with this false pride, such cruel persons blaspheme the Supreme Personality of Godhead and His devotees.

SB 11.5.10 - The Personality of Godhead is eternally situated within the heart of every embodied being; still the Lord remains situated apart, just as the sky, which is all-pervading, does not mix with any material object. Thus the Lord is the supreme worshipable object and the absolute controller of everything. He is elaborately glorified in the Vedic literature, but those who are bereft of intelligence do not like to hear about Him. They prefer to waste their time discussing their own mental concoctions, which inevitably deal with gross material sense gratification such as sex life and meat-eating.

SB 11.5.11 - In this material world the conditioned soul is always inclined to sex, meat-eating and intoxication. Therefore religious scriptures never actually encourage such activities. Although the scriptural injunctions provide for sex through sacred marriage, for meat-eating through sacrificial offerings and for intoxication through the acceptance of ritual cups of wine, such ceremonies are meant for the ultimate purpose of renunciation.

SB 11.5.12 - The only proper fruit of acquired wealth is religiosity, on the basis of which one can acquire a philosophical understanding of life that eventually matures into direct perception of the Absolute Truth and thus liberation from all suffering. Materialistic persons, however, utilize their wealth simply for the advancement of their family situation. They fail to see that insurmountable death will soon destroy the frail material body.

SB 11.5.13 - According to the Vedic injunctions, when wine is offered in sacrificial ceremonies it is later to be consumed by smelling, and not by drinking. Similarly, the sacrificial offering of animals is permitted, but there is no provision for wide-scale animal slaughter. Religious sex life is also permitted, but only in marriage for begetting children, and not for sensuous exploitation of the body. Unfortunately, however, the less intelligent materialists cannot understand that their duties in life should be performed purely on the spiritual platform.

SB 11.5.14 - Those sinful persons who are ignorant of actual religious principles, yet consider themselves to be completely pious, without compunction commit violence against innocent animals who are fully trusting in them. In their next lives, such sinful persons will be eaten by the same creatures they have killed in this world.

SB 11.5.15 - The conditioned souls become completely bound in affection to their own corpselike material bodies and their relatives and paraphernalia. In such a proud and foolish condition, the conditioned souls envy other living entities as well as the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, who resides in the heart of all beings. Thus enviously offending others, the conditioned souls gradually fall down into hell.

SB 11.5.16 - Those who have not achieved knowledge of the Absolute Truth, yet who are still beyond the darkness of complete ignorance, generally follow the threefold path of pious material life, namely religiosity, economic development and sense gratification. Not having time to reflect on any higher purpose, they become the killers of their own soul.

SB 11.5.17 - The killers of the soul are never peaceful, because they consider that human intelligence is ultimately meant for expanding material life. Thus neglecting their real, spiritual duties, they are always in distress. They are filled with great hopes and dreams, but unfortunately these are always destroyed by the inevitable march of time.

SB 11.5.18 - Those who have turned away from the Supreme Lord, Vāsudeva, being under the spell of the Lord's illusory energy, are eventually forced to give up their so-called homes, children, friends, wives and lovers, which were all created by the illusory potency of the Supreme Lord, and enter against their will into the darkest regions of the universe.

SB 11.5.19 - King Nimi inquired: In what colors and forms does the Supreme Personality of Godhead appear in each of the different ages, and with what names and by what types of regulative principles is the Lord worshiped in human society?

SB 11.5.20 - Çré Karabhājana replied: In each of the four yugas, or ages-Kāta, Tretā, Dvāpara and Kali-Lord Keçava appears with various complexions, names and forms and is thus worshiped by various processes.

SB 11.5.21 - In Satya-yuga the Lord is white and four-armed, has matted locks and wears a garment of tree bark. He carries a black deerskin, a sacred thread, prayer beads and the rod and waterpot of a brahmacäre.

SB 11.5.22 - People in Satya-yuga are peaceful, nonenvious, friendly to every creature and steady in all situations. They worship the Supreme Personality by austere meditation and by internal and external sense control.

SB 11.5.23 - In Satya-yuga the Lord is glorified by the names Haàsa, Suparëa, Vaikuëöha, Dharma, Yogeçvara, Amala, Éçvara, Puruña, Avyakta and Paramätmä.

SB 11.5.24 - In Tretä-yuga the Lord appears with a red complexion. He has four arms, golden hair, and wears a triple belt representing initiation into each of the three Vedas. Embodying the knowledge of worship by sacrificial performance, which is contained in the Åg, Säma and Yajur Vedas, His symbols are the ladle, spoon and other implements of sacrifice.

SB 11.5.25 - In Tretä-yuga, those members of human society who are fixed in religiosity and are sincerely interested in achieving the Absolute Truth worship Lord Hari, who contains within Himself all the demigods. The Lord is worshiped by the rituals of sacrifice taught in the three Vedas.

SB 11.5.26 - In Tretä-yuga the Lord is glorified by the names Viñëu, Yajñi a, Pāçnigarbha, Sarvadeva, Urukrama, Vāñākapi, Jayanta and Urugäya.

SB 11.5.27 - In Dvāpara-yuga the Supreme Personality of Godhead appears with a dark blue complexion, wearing yellow garments. The Lord's transcendental body is marked in this incarnation with Ćrāvatsa and other distinctive ornaments, and He manifests His personal weapons.

SB 11.5.28 - My dear King, in Dvāpara-yuga men who desire to know the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the supreme enjoyer, worship Him in the mood of honoring a great king, following the prescriptions of both the Vedas and tantras.

SB 11.5.29-30 - "Obeisances to You, O Supreme Lord Vāsudeva, and to Your forms of Saì karīaëa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha. O Supreme Personality of Godhead, all obeisances unto You. O Lord Nārāyaëa Āñi, O creator of the universe, best of personalities, master of this cosmos and original form of the universe, O Supersoul of all created entities, all homage unto You."

SB 11.5.31 - O King, in this way people in Dvāpara-yuga glorified the Lord of the universe. In Kali-yuga also people worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead by following various regulations of the revealed scriptures. Now kindly hear of this from me.

SB 11.5.32 - In the age of Kali, intelligent persons perform congregational chanting to worship the incarnation of Godhead who constantly sings the names of Kāñëa. Although His complexion is not blackish, He is Kāñëa Himself. He is accompanied by His associates, servants, weapons and confidential companions.

SB 11.5.33 - My dear Lord, You are the Mahā-puruña, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and I worship Your lotus feet, which are the only eternal object of meditation. Those feet destroy the embarrassing conditions of material life and freely award the greatest desire of the soul, the attainment of pure love of Godhead. My dear Lord, Your lotus feet are the shelter of all holy places and of all saintly authorities in the line of devotional service and are honored by powerful demigods like Lord Çiva and Lord Brahmä. My Lord, You are so kind that You willingly protect all those who simply bow down to You with respect, and thus You mercifully relieve all the distress of Your servants. In conclusion, my Lord, Your lotus feet are actually the suitable boat for crossing over the ocean of birth and death, and therefore even Lord Brahmä and Lord Çiva seek shelter at Your lotus feet."

SB 11.5.34 - O Mahä-puruña, I worship Your lotus feet. You gave up the association of the goddess of fortune and all her opulence, which is most difficult to renounce and is hankered after by even the great demigods. Being the most faithful follower of the path of religion, You thus left for the forest in obedience to a brähmaëa's curse. Out of sheer mercifulness You chased after the fallen conditioned souls, who are always in pursuit of the false enjoyment of illusion, and at the same time engaged in searching out Your own desired object, Lord Çyāmasundara.

SB 11.5.35 - Thus, O King, the Supreme Lord Hari is the giver of all desirable benefits of life. Intelligent human beings worship the particular forms and names that the Lord manifests in different ages.

SB 11.5.36 - Those who are actually advanced in knowledge are able to appreciate the essential value of this age of Kali. Such enlightened persons worship Kali-yuga because in this fallen age all perfection of life can easily be achieved by the performance of sañ kértana.

SB 11.5.37 - Indeed, there is no higher possible gain for embodied souls forced to wander throughout the material world than the Supreme Lord's sañ kértana movement, by which one can attain the supreme peace and free oneself from the cycle of repeated birth and death.

SB 11.5.38-40 - My dear King, the inhabitants of Satya-yuga and other ages eagerly desire to take birth in this age of Kali, since in this age there will be many devotees of the Supreme Lord, Nārāyaṇa. These devotees will appear in various places but will be especially numerous in South India. O master of men, in the age of Kali those persons who drink the waters of the holy rivers of Dravida-deça, such as the Tāmraparëé, Krtamälä, Payasviné, the extremely pious Käveré and the Pratécé Mahānadé, will almost all be purehearted devotees of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Vāsudeva.

SB 11.5.41 - O King, one who has given up all material duties and has taken full shelter of the lotus feet of Mukunda, who offers shelter to all, is not indebted to the demigods, great sages, ordinary living beings, relatives, friends, mankind or even one's forefathers who have passed away. Since all such classes of living entities are part and parcel of the Supreme Lord, one who has surrendered to the Lord's service has no need to serve such persons separately.

SB 11.5.42 - One who has thus given up all other engagements and has taken full shelter at the lotus feet of Hari, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is very dear to the Lord. Indeed, if such a surrendered soul accidentally commits some sinful activity, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is seated within everyone's heart, immediately takes away the reaction to such sin.

SB 11.5.43 - Nārada Muni said: Having thus heard the science of devotional service, Nimi, the King of Mithilä, felt extremely satisfied and, along with the sacrificial priests, offered respectful worship to the sagacious sons of Jayanté.

SB 11.5.44 - The perfect sages then disappeared before the eyes of everyone present. King Nimi faithfully practiced the principles of spiritual life he had learned from them, and thus he achieved the supreme goal of life.

SB 11.5.45 - O greatly fortunate Vasudeva, simply apply with faith these principles of devotional service which you have heard, and thus, being free from material association, you will attain the Supreme.

SB 11.5.46 - Indeed, the whole world has become filled with the glories of you and your good wife because the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, has taken the position of your son.

SB 11.5.47 - My dear Vasudeva, you and your good wife Devaké have manifested great transcendental love for Kāñëä, accepting Him as your son. Indeed, you are always seeing the Lord, embracing Him, speaking with Him, resting with Him, sitting together with Him and taking your meals with Him. By such affectionate and intimate association with the Lord, undoubtedly both of you have completely purified your hearts. In other words, you are already perfect.

SB 11.5.48 - Inimical kings like Çiçupäla, Pauëöraka and Çälva were always thinking about Lord Kāñëä. Even while they were lying down, sitting or engaging in other activities, they enviously meditated upon the bodily movements of the Lord, His sporting pastimes, His loving glances upon His devotees, and other attractive features displayed by the Lord. Being thus always absorbed in Kāñëä, they achieved spiritual liberation in the Lord's own abode. What then can be said of the benedictions offered to those who constantly fix their minds on Lord Kāñëä in a favorable, loving mood?

SB 11.5.49 - Do not think of Kāñëä as an ordinary child, because He is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, inexhaustible and the Soul of all beings. The Lord has concealed His inconceivable opulences and is thus outwardly appearing to be an ordinary human being.

SB 11.5.50 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead descended to kill the demoniac kings who were the burden of the earth and to protect the saintly devotees. However, both the demons and the devotees are awarded liberation by the Lord's mercy. Thus, His transcendental fame has spread throughout the universe.

SB 11.5.51 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé continued: Having heard this narration, the greatly fortunate Vasudeva was completely struck with wonder. Thus he and his most blessed wife Devaké gave up all illusion and anxiety that had entered their hearts.

SB 11.5.52 - Anyone who meditates on this pious historical narration with fixed attention will purify himself of all contamination in this very life and thus achieve the highest spiritual perfection.

10 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.5.1 - King Nimi further inquired: My dear Yogendras, all of you are most perfect in knowledge of the science of the self. Therefore, kindly explain to me the destination of those who for the most part never worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, who are unable to quench their material desires and who are not in control of their own selves.

SB 11.5.2

Çré Camasa said: Each of the four social orders, headed by the brähmaëas, was born through different combinations of the modes of nature, from the face, arms, thighs and feet of the Supreme Lord in His universal form. Thus the four spiritual orders were also generated.

SB 11.5.3 - If any of the members of the four varëas and four äçramas fail to worship or intentionally disrespect the Personality of Godhead, who is the source of their own creation, they will fall down from their position into a hellish state of life.

SB 11.5.4 - There are many persons who have little opportunity to take part in discussions about the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, and thus it is difficult for them to chant His infallible glories. Persons such as women, çüdras and other fallen classes always deserve the mercy of great personalities like yourself.

SB 11.5.5 - On the other hand, brähmaëas, members of the royal order and vaiçyas, even after being allowed to approach the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord, Hari, by receiving the second birth of Vedic initiation, can become bewildered and adopt various materialistic philosophies.

SB 11.5.6 - Ignorant of the art of work, such arrogantly proud fools, enchanted and enlivened by the sweet words of the Vedas, pose as learned authorities and offer flattering entreaties to the demigods.

SB 11.5.7 - Due to the influence of the mode of passion, the materialistic followers of the Vedas become subject to violent desires and are excessively lusty. Their anger is like that of a snake. Deceitful, overly proud, and sinful in their behavior, they mock the devotees who are dear to Lord Acyuta.

SB 11.5.8 - The materialistic followers of Vedic rituals, giving up the worship of the Lord, instead practically worship their wives, and thus their homes become dedicated to sex life. Such materialistic householders encourage one another in such whimsical behavior. Understanding ritualistic sacrifice as a necessary item for bodily maintenance, they perform unauthorized ceremonies in which there is no distribution of foodstuffs or charity to the brähmaëas and other respectable persons. Instead, they cruelly slaughter animals such as goats without any understanding of the dark consequences of their activities.

SB 11.5.9 - The intelligence of cruel-minded persons is blinded by false pride based on great wealth, opulence, prestigious family connections, education, renunciation, personal beauty, physical strength and successful performance of Vedic rituals. Being intoxicated with this false pride, such cruel persons blaspheme the Supreme Personality of Godhead and His devotees.

SB 11.5.10 - The Personality of Godhead is eternally situated within the heart of every embodied being; still the Lord remains situated apart, just as the sky, which is all-pervading, does not mix with any material object. Thus the Lord is the supreme worshipable object and the absolute controller of everything. He is elaborately glorified in the Vedic literature, but those who are bereft of intelligence do not like to hear about Him. They prefer to waste their time discussing their own mental concoctions, which inevitably deal with gross material sense gratification such as sex life and meat-eating.

SB 11.5.11 - In this material world the conditioned soul is always inclined to sex, meat-eating and intoxication. Therefore religious scriptures never actually encourage such activities. Although the scriptural injunctions provide for sex through sacred marriage, for meat-eating through sacrificial offerings and for intoxication through the acceptance of ritual cups of wine, such ceremonies are meant for the ultimate purpose of renunciation.

SB 11.5.12 - The only proper fruit of acquired wealth is religiosity, on the basis of which one can acquire a philosophical understanding of life that eventually matures into direct perception of the Absolute Truth and thus liberation from all suffering. Materialistic persons, however, utilize their wealth simply for the advancement of their family situation. They fail to see that insurmountable death will soon destroy the frail material body.

SB 11.5.13 - According to the Vedic injunctions, when wine is offered in sacrificial ceremonies it is later to be consumed by smelling, and not by drinking. Similarly, the sacrificial offering of animals is permitted, but there is no provision for wide-scale animal slaughter. Religious sex life is also permitted, but only in marriage for begetting children, and not for sensuous exploitation of the body. Unfortunately, however, the less intelligent materialists cannot understand that their duties in life should be performed purely on the spiritual platform.

SB 11.5.14 - Those sinful persons who are ignorant of actual religious principles, yet consider themselves to be completely pious, without compunction commit violence against innocent animals who are fully trusting in them. In their next lives, such sinful persons will be eaten by the same creatures they have killed in this world.

SB 11.5.15 - The conditioned souls become completely bound in affection to their own corpselike material bodies and their relatives and paraphernalia. In such a proud and foolish condition, the conditioned souls envy other living entities as well as the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, who resides in the heart of all beings. Thus enviously offending others, the conditioned souls gradually fall down into hell.

SB 11.5.16 - Those who have not achieved knowledge of the Absolute Truth, yet who are still beyond the darkness of complete ignorance, generally follow the threefold path of pious material life, namely religiosity, economic development and sense gratification. Not having time to reflect on any higher purpose, they become the killers of their own soul.

SB 11.5.17 - The killers of the soul are never peaceful, because they consider that human intelligence is ultimately meant for expanding material life. Thus neglecting their real, spiritual duties, they are always in distress. They are filled with great hopes and dreams, but unfortunately these are always destroyed by the inevitable march of time.

SB 11.5.18 - Those who have turned away from the Supreme Lord, Vāsudeva, being under the spell of the Lord's illusory energy, are eventually forced to give up their so-called homes, children, friends, wives and lovers, which were all created by the illusory potency of the Supreme Lord, and enter against their will into the darkest regions of the universe.

SB 11.5.19 - King Nimi inquired: In what colors and forms does the Supreme Personality of Godhead appear in each of the different ages, and with what names and by what types of regulative principles is the Lord worshiped in human society?

SB 11.5.20 - Çré Karabhājana replied: In each of the four yugas, or ages-Kāta, Tretā, Dvāpara and Kali-Lord Keçava appears with various complexions, names and forms and is thus worshiped by various processes.

SB 11.5.21 - In Satya-yuga the Lord is white and four-armed, has matted locks and wears a garment of tree bark. He carries a black deerskin, a sacred thread, prayer beads and the rod and waterpot of a brahmacäre.

SB 11.5.22 - People in Satya-yuga are peaceful, nonenvious, friendly to every creature and steady in all situations. They worship the Supreme Personality by austere meditation and by internal and external sense control.

SB 11.5.23 - In Satya-yuga the Lord is glorified by the names Haàsa, Suparëa, Vaikuëöha, Dharma, Yogeçvara, Amala, Éçvara, Puruña, Avyakta and Paramätmä.

SB 11.5.24 - In Tretä-yuga the Lord appears with a red complexion. He has four arms, golden hair, and wears a triple belt representing initiation into each of the three Vedas. Embodying the knowledge of worship by sacrificial performance, which is contained in the Āg, Sāma and Yajur Vedas, His symbols are the ladle, spoon and other implements of sacrifice.

SB 11.5.25 - In Tretā-yuga, those members of human society who are fixed in religiosity and are sincerely interested in achieving the Absolute Truth worship Lord Hari, who contains within Himself all the demigods. The Lord is worshiped by the rituals of sacrifice taught in the three Vedas.

SB 11.5.26 - In Tretā-yuga the Lord is glorified by the names Viññu, Yajñīa, Pāṇigarbha, Sarvadeva, Urukrama, Vāñākapi, Jayanta and Urugāya.

SB 11.5.27 - In Dvāpara-yuga the Supreme Personality of Godhead appears with a dark blue complexion, wearing yellow garments. The Lord's transcendental body is marked in this incarnation with Çrévatsa and other distinctive ornaments, and He manifests His personal weapons.

SB 11.5.28 - My dear King, in Dvāpara-yuga men who desire to know the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the supreme enjoyer, worship Him in the mood of honoring a great king, following the prescriptions of both the Vedas and tantras.

SB 11.5.29-30 - "Obeisances to You, O Supreme Lord Vāsudeva, and to Your forms of Saṁ karṇāḁa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha. O Supreme Personality of Godhead, all obeisances unto You. O Lord Nārāyaḁa Āñi, O creator of the universe, best of personalities, master of this cosmos and original form of the universe, O Supersoul of all created entities, all homage unto You."

SB 11.5.31 - O King, in this way people in Dvāpara-yuga glorified the Lord of the universe. In Kali-yuga also people worship the Supreme Personality of Godhead by following various regulations of the revealed scriptures. Now kindly hear of this from me.

SB 11.5.32 - In the age of Kali, intelligent persons perform congregational chanting to worship the incarnation of Godhead who constantly sings the names of Kāñëa. Although His complexion is not blackish, He is Kāñëa Himself. He is accompanied by His associates, servants, weapons and confidential companions.

SB 11.5.33 - My dear Lord, You are the Mahā-puruña, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and I worship Your lotus feet, which are the only eternal object of meditation. Those feet destroy the embarrassing conditions of material life and freely award the greatest desire of the soul, the attainment of pure love of Godhead. My dear Lord, Your lotus feet are the shelter of all holy places and of all saintly authorities in the line of devotional service and are honored by powerful demigods like Lord Çiva and Lord Brahmā. My Lord, You are so kind that You willingly protect all those who simply bow down to You with respect, and thus You mercifully relieve all the distress of Your servants. In conclusion, my Lord, Your lotus feet are actually the suitable boat for crossing over the ocean of birth and death, and therefore even Lord Brahmā and Lord Çiva seek shelter at Your lotus feet."

SB 11.5.34 - O Mahā-puruña, I worship Your lotus feet. You gave up the association of the goddess of fortune and all her opulence, which is most difficult to renounce and is hankered after by even the great demigods. Being the most faithful follower of the path of religion, You thus left for the forest in obedience to a brāhmaëa's curse. Out of sheer mercifulness You chased after the fallen conditioned souls, who are always in pursuit of the false enjoyment of illusion, and at the same time engaged in searching out Your own desired object, Lord Çyāmasundara.

SB 11.5.35 - Thus, O King, the Supreme Lord Hari is the giver of all desirable benefits of life. Intelligent human beings worship the particular forms and names that the Lord manifests in different ages.

SB 11.5.36 - Those who are actually advanced in knowledge are able to appreciate the essential value of this age of Kali. Such enlightened persons worship Kali-yuga because in this fallen age all perfection of life can easily be achieved by the performance of sañ kértana.

SB 11.5.37 - Indeed, there is no higher possible gain for embodied souls forced to wander throughout the material world than the Supreme Lord's sañ kértana movement, by which one can attain the supreme peace and free oneself from the cycle of repeated birth and death.

SB 11.5.38-40 - My dear King, the inhabitants of Satya-yuga and other ages eagerly desire to take birth in this age of Kali, since in this age there will be many devotees of the Supreme Lord, Nārāyaëa. These devotees will appear in various places but will be especially numerous in South India. O master of men, in the age of Kali those persons who drink the waters of the holy rivers of Draviòa-deça, such as the Tämraparëé, Krtamälä, Payasviné, the extremely pious Käveré and the Pratécé Mahänadé, will almost all be purehearted devotees of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Väsudeva.

SB 11.5.41 - O King, one who has given up all material duties and has taken full shelter of the lotus feet of Mukunda, who offers shelter to all, is not indebted to the demigods, great sages, ordinary living beings, relatives, friends, mankind or even one's forefathers who have passed away. Since all such classes of living entities are part and parcel of the Supreme Lord, one who has surrendered to the Lord's service has no need to serve such persons separately.

SB 11.5.42 - One who has thus given up all other engagements and has taken full shelter at the lotus feet of Hari, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is very dear to the Lord. Indeed, if such a surrendered soul accidentally commits some sinful activity, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is seated within everyone's heart, immediately takes away the reaction to such sin.

SB 11.5.43 - Nārada Muni said: Having thus heard the science of devotional service, Nimi, the King of Mithilā, felt extremely satisfied and, along with the sacrificial priests, offered respectful worship to the sagacious sons of Jayanté.

SB 11.5.44 - The perfect sages then disappeared before the eyes of everyone present. King Nimi faithfully practiced the principles of spiritual life he had learned from them, and thus he achieved the supreme goal of life.

SB 11.5.45 - O greatly fortunate Vasudeva, simply apply with faith these principles of devotional service which you have heard, and thus, being free from material association, you will attain the Supreme.

SB 11.5.46 - Indeed, the whole world has become filled with the glories of you and your good wife because the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, has taken the position of your son.

SB 11.5.47 - My dear Vasudeva, you and your good wife Devaké have manifested great transcendental love for Kāñëa, accepting Him as your son. Indeed, you are always seeing the Lord, embracing Him, speaking with Him, resting with Him, sitting together with Him and taking your meals with Him. By such affectionate and intimate association with the Lord, undoubtedly both of you have completely purified your hearts. In other words, you are already perfect.

SB 11.5.48 - Inimical kings like Çiçupāla, Pauëòraka and Çālva were always thinking about Lord Kāñëa. Even while they were lying down, sitting or engaging in other activities, they enviously meditated upon the bodily movements of the Lord, His sporting pastimes, His loving glances upon His devotees, and other attractive features displayed by the Lord. Being thus always absorbed in Kāñëa, they achieved spiritual liberation in the Lord's own abode. What then can be said of the benedictions offered to those who constantly fix their minds on Lord Kāñëa in a favorable, loving mood?

SB 11.5.49 - Do not think of Kāñëa as an ordinary child, because He is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, inexhaustible and the Soul of all beings. The Lord has concealed His inconceivable opulences and is thus outwardly appearing to be an ordinary human being.

SB 11.5.50 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead descended to kill the demoniac kings who were the burden of the earth and to protect the saintly devotees. However, both the demons and the devotees are awarded liberation by the Lord's mercy. Thus, His transcendental fame has spread throughout the universe.

SB 11.5.51 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé continued: Having heard this narration, the greatly fortunate Vasudeva was completely struck with wonder. Thus he and his most blessed wife Devaké gave up all illusion and anxiety that had entered their hearts.

SB 11.5.52 - Anyone who meditates on this pious historical narration with fixed attention will purify himself of all contamination in this very life and thus achieve the highest spiritual perfection.

11 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.6.1 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Lord Brahmä then set off for Dvarakä, accompanied by his own sons as well as by the demigods and the great Prajāpatis. Lord Çiva, the bestower of auspiciousness to all living beings, also went, surrounded by many ghostly creatures.

SB 11.6.2-4 - The powerful Lord Indra, along with the Maruts, Ādityas, Vasus, Aṣvinés, Ābhus, Aṁ girās, Rudras, Viçvedevas, Sādhyas, Gandharvas, Apsarās, Nāgas, Siddhas, Cāraēas, Guhyakas, the great sages and forefathers and the Vidyādharas and Kinnaras, arrived at the city of Dvārakā, hoping to see Lord Kāñēa. By His transcendental form, Kāñēa, the Supreme Lord, enchanted all human beings and spread His own fame throughout the worlds. The Lord's glories destroy all contamination within the universe.

SB 11.6.5 - In that resplendent city of Dvārakā, rich with all superior opulences, the demigods beheld with unsatiated eyes the wonderful form of Çré Kāñēa.

SB 11.6.6 - The demigods covered the Supreme Lord of the universe with flower garlands brought from the gardens of heaven. Then they praised Him, the best of the Yadu dynasty, with statements containing charming words and ideas.

SB 11.6.7 - The demigods began to speak: Our dear Lord, advanced mystic yogis, striving for liberation from the severe bondage of material work, meditate with great devotion upon Your lotus feet within their hearts. Dedicating our intelligence, senses, vital air, mind and power of speech to Your Lordship, we demigods bow down at Your lotus feet.

SB 11.6.8 - O unconquerable Lord, You engage Your illusory energy, composed of three modes, to unleash, maintain and devastate the inconceivable manifest cosmos, all within Your own self. As the supreme superintendent of māyā, You appear to be situated in the interaction of the modes of nature; however, You are never affected by material activities. In fact, You are directly engaged in Your own eternal, spiritual bliss, and thus

You cannot be accused of any material infection.

SB 11.6.9 - O greatest of all, those whose consciousness is polluted by illusion cannot purify themselves merely by ordinary worship, study of the Vedas, charity, austerity and ritual activities. Our Lord, those pure souls who have developed a powerful transcendental faith in Your glories achieve a purified state of existence that can never be attained by those lacking such faith.

SB 11.6.10 - Great sages, desiring the highest benefit in life, always cherish Your lotus feet within their hearts, which are melted by love for You. Similarly, Your self-controlled devotees, desiring to cross beyond the material kingdom of heaven to achieve opulence equal to Yours, worship Your lotus feet in the morning, at noon and in the evening. Thus, they meditate upon Your Lordship in Your quadruple expansion. Your lotus feet are just like a blazing fire that burns to ashes all the inauspicious desires for material sense gratification.

SB 11.6.11 - Those about to offer oblations into the fire of sacrifice in accordance with the Āg, Yajur and Sāma Vedas meditate on Your lotus feet. Similarly, the practitioners of transcendental yoga meditate upon Your lotus feet, hoping for knowledge about Your divine mystic potency, and the most elevated pure devotees perfectly worship Your lotus feet, desiring to cross beyond Your illusory potency.

SB 11.6.12 - O almighty Lord, You are so kind to Your servants that You have accepted the withered flower garland that we have placed on Your chest. Since the goddess of fortune makes her abode on Your transcendental chest, she will undoubtedly become agitated, like a jealous co-wife, upon seeing our offering also dwelling there. Yet You are so merciful that You neglect Your eternal consort Lakṣmī and accept our offering as most excellent worship. O merciful Lord, may Your lotus feet always act as a blazing fire to consume the inauspicious desires within our hearts.

SB 11.6.13 - O omnipotent Lord, in Your incarnation as Trivikrama, You raised Your leg like a flagpole to break the shell of the universe, allowing the holy Ganges to flow down, like a banner of victory, in three branches throughout the three planetary systems. By three mighty steps of Your lotus feet, Your Lordship captured Bali Mahārāja, along with his universal kingdom. Your lotus feet inspire fear in the demons by driving them down to hell and fearlessness among Your devotees by elevating them to the perfection of heavenly life. We are sincerely trying to worship You, our Lord; therefore may Your lotus feet kindly free us from all of our sinful reactions.

SB 11.6.14 - You are the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the transcendental entity who is superior to both material nature and the enjoyer of nature. May Your lotus feet bestow transcendental pleasure upon us. All of the great demigods, beginning with Brahmā, are embodied living entities. Struggling painfully with one another under the strict control of Your time factor, they are just like bulls dragged by ropes tied through their pierced noses.

SB 11.6.15 - You are the cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of this universe. As time, You regulate the subtle and manifest states of material nature and control every living being. As the threefold wheel of time You diminish all things by Your imperceptible actions, and thus You are the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.6.16 - My dear Lord, the original puruṣa-avatāra, Mahā-Viñēu, acquires His creative potency from You. Thus with infallible energy He impregnates material nature, producing the mahat-tattva. Then the mahat-tattva, the amalgamated material energy, endowed with the potency of the Lord, produces from itself the primeval golden egg of the universe, which is covered by various layers of material elements.

SB 11.6.17 - O Lord, You are the supreme creator of this universe and the ultimate controller of all moving and nonmoving living entities. You are Hãñékeça, the supreme controller of all sensory activity, and thus You never become contaminated or entangled in the course of Your supervision of the infinite sensory activities within the material creation. On the other hand, other living entities, even yogés and philosophers, are disturbed and frightened simply by remembering the material objects that they have supposedly renounced in their pursuit of enlightenment.

SB 11.6.18 - My Lord, You are living with sixteen thousand exquisitely beautiful, aristocratic wives. By their irresistible coy and smiling glances and by their lovely arching eyebrows, they send You messages of eager conjugal love. But they are completely unable to disturb the mind and senses of Your Lordship.

SB 11.6.19 - The nectar-bearing rivers of discussions about You, and also the holy rivers generated from the bathing of Your lotus feet, are able to destroy all contamination within the three worlds. Those who are striving for purification associate with the holy narrations of Your glories by hearing them with their ears, and they associate with the holy rivers flowing from Your lotus feet by physically bathing in them.

SB 11.6.20 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé continued: After Brahmä, along with Lord Çiva and the other demigods, thus offered prayers to the Supreme Lord, Govinda, Lord Brahmä situated himself in the sky and addressed the Lord as follows.

SB 11.6.21 - Lord Brahmä said: My dear Lord, previously we requested You to remove the burden of the earth. O unlimited Personality of Godhead, that request has certainly been fulfilled.

SB 11.6.22 - My Lord, You have reestablished the principles of religion among pious men who are always firmly bound to the truth. You have also distributed Your glories all over the world, and thus the whole world can be purified by hearing about You.

SB 11.6.23 - Descending into the dynasty of King Yadu, You have manifested Your unique transcendental form, and for the benefit of the entire universe You have executed magnanimous transcendental activities.

SB 11.6.24 - My dear Lord, those pious and saintly persons who in the age of Kali hear about Your transcendental activities and also glorify them will easily cross over the darkness of the age.

SB 11.6.25 - O Supreme Personality of Godhead, O my Lord, You have descended into the Yadu dynasty, and thus You have spent one hundred twenty-five autumns with Your devotees.

SB 11.6.26-27 - My dear Lord, there is nothing remaining at this time for Your Lordship to do on behalf of the demigods. You have already withdrawn Your dynasty by the curse of the brāhmaëas. O Lord, You are the basis of everything, and if You so desire, kindly return now to Your own abode in the spiritual world. At the same time, we humbly beg that You always protect us. We are Your humble servants, and on Your behalf we are managing the universal situation. We, along with our planets and followers, require Your constant protection.

SB 11.6.28 - The Supreme Lord said: O lord of the demigods, Brahmā, I understand your prayers and request. Having removed the burden of the earth, I have executed everything that was required on your behalf.

SB 11.6.29 - That very Yādava dynasty in which I appeared became greatly magnified in opulence, especially in their physical strength and courage, to the extent that they threatened to devour the whole world. Therefore I have stopped them, just as the shore holds back the great ocean.

SB 11.6.30 - If I were to leave this world without withdrawing the overly proud members of the Yadu dynasty, the whole world would be destroyed by the deluge of their unlimited expansion.

SB 11.6.31 - Now due to the brāhmaëa's curse, the annihilation of My family has already begun. O sinless Brahmā, when this annihilation is finished and I am enroute to Vaikuëöha, I will pay a small visit to your abode.

SB 11.6.32 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Thus addressed by the Lord of the universe, the self-born Brahmā fell down in obeisances at the lotus feet of the Lord. Surrounded by all the demigods, the great Brahmā then returned to his personal abode.

SB 11.6.33 - Thereafter, the Personality of Godhead observed that tremendous disturbances were taking place in the holy city of Dvārakā. Thus the Lord spoke to the assembled senior members of the Yadu dynasty as follows.

SB 11.6.34 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Our dynasty has been cursed by the brāhmaëas. Such a curse is impossible to counteract, and thus great disturbances are appearing everywhere around us.

SB 11.6.35 - My dear respected elders, we must not remain any longer in this place if we wish to keep our lives intact. Let us go this very day to the most pious place Prabhāsa. We have no time to delay.

SB 11.6.36 - Once, the moon was afflicted with consumption because of the curse of Dakṣiṇa, but just by taking bath at Prabhāsa-kṣētra, the moon was immediately freed from his sinful reaction and again resumed the waxing of his phases.

SB 11.6.37-38 - By bathing at Prabhāsa-kṣētra, by offering sacrifice there to placate the forefathers and demigods, by feeding the worshipable brāhmaṇas with various delicious foodstuffs and by bestowing opulent gifts upon them as the most suitable candidates for charity, we will certainly cross over these terrible dangers through such acts of charity, just as one can cross over a great ocean in a suitable boat.

SB 11.6.39 - Śukadeva Gosvāmī said: O favorite son of the Kurus, thus advised by the Personality of Godhead, the Yādavas made up their minds to go to that holy place, Prabhāsa-kṣētra, and thus yoked their horses to their chariots.

SB 11.6.40-41 - My dear King, Uddhava was a constantly faithful follower of Lord Kāṇḍya. Upon seeing the imminent departure of the Yādavas, hearing from them of the Lord's instructions and taking note of the fearful omens, he approached the Personality of Godhead in a private place. He bowed down with his head at the lotus feet of the supreme controller of the universe and with folded hands addressed Him as follows.

SB 11.6.42 - Śrī Uddhava said: O my Lord, O supreme God among all the demigods, real piety is invoked simply by hearing and chanting Your transcendental glories. My Lord, it appears that You will now withdraw Your dynasty, and thus You Yourself will finally give up Your pastimes within this universe. You are the supreme controller and the master of all mystic power. But although You are fully capable of counteracting the brāhmaṇas' curse against Your dynasty, You are not doing so, and Your disappearance is imminent.

SB 11.6.43 - O Lord Keçava, my dear master, I cannot tolerate giving up Your lotus feet even for a fraction of a moment. I urge You to take me along with You to Your own abode.

SB 11.6.44 - O my dear Kâñëa, Your pastimes are supremely auspicious for mankind and are an intoxicating beverage for the ears. Tasting such pastimes, people forget their desires for other things.

SB 11.6.45 - My dear Lord, You are the Supreme Soul, and thus You are most dear to us. We are Your devotees, and how can we possibly reject You or live without You even for a moment? Whether we are lying down, sitting, walking, standing, bathing, enjoying recreation, eating or doing anything else, we are constantly engaged in Your service.

SB 11.6.46 - Simply by decorating ourselves with the garlands, fragrant oils, clothes and ornaments that You have already enjoyed, and by eating the remnants of Your meals, we, Your servants, will indeed conquer Your illusory energy.

SB 11.6.47 - Naked sages who seriously endeavor in spiritual practice, who have raised their semen upward, who are peaceful and sinless members of the renounced order, attain the spiritual abode called Brahman.

SB 11.6.48-49 - O greatest of mystics, although we are conditioned souls wandering on the path of fruitive work, we will certainly cross beyond the darkness of this material world simply by hearing about Your Lordship in the association of Your devotees. Thus we are always remembering and glorifying the wonderful things You do and the wonderful things You say. We ecstatically recall Your amorous pastimes with Your confidential conjugal devotees and how You boldly smile and move about while engaged in such youthful pastimes. My dear Lord, Your loving pastimes are bewilderingly similar to the activities of ordinary people within this material world.

SB 11.6.50 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: O King Paréküit, thus addressed, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Kåñëa, the son of Devaké, began to reply confidentially to His dear, unalloyed servant Uddhava.

12 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.6.1 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Lord Brahmä then set off for Dvarakä, accompanied by his own sons as well as by the demigods and the great Prajäpatīs. Lord Çiva, the bestower of auspiciousness to all living beings, also went, surrounded by many ghostly creatures.

SB 11.6.2-4 - The powerful Lord Indra, along with the Maruts, Ädityas, Vasus, Açvinés, Åbhus, Aì giräs, Rudras, Viçvedevas, Sädhya, Gandharvas, Apsaräs, Nägas, Siddhas, Cäraëas, Guhyakas, the great sages and forefathers and the Vidyädhara and Kinnaras, arrived at the city of Dvarakä, hoping to see Lord Kåñëa. By His transcendental form, Kåñëa, the Supreme Lord, enchanted all human beings and spread His own fame throughout the worlds. The Lord's glories destroy all contamination within the universe.

SB 11.6.5 - In that resplendent city of Dvarakä, rich with all superior opulences, the demigods beheld with unsatiated eyes the wonderful form of Çré Kåñëa.

SB 11.6.6 - The demigods covered the Supreme Lord of the universe with flower garlands brought from the gardens of heaven. Then they praised Him, the best of the Yadu dynasty, with statements containing charming words and ideas.

SB 11.6.7 - The demigods began to speak: Our dear Lord, advanced mystic yogis, striving for liberation from the severe bondage of material work, meditate with great devotion upon Your lotus feet within their hearts. Dedicating our intelligence, senses, vital air, mind and power of speech to Your Lordship, we demigods bow down at Your lotus feet.

SB 11.6.8 - O unconquerable Lord, You engage Your illusory energy, composed of three modes, to unleash, maintain and devastate the inconceivable manifest cosmos, all within Your own self. As the supreme superintendent of māyā, You appear to be situated in the interaction of the modes of nature; however, You are never affected by material activities. In fact, You are directly engaged in Your own eternal, spiritual bliss, and thus You cannot be accused of any material infection.

SB 11.6.9 - O greatest of all, those whose consciousness is polluted by illusion cannot purify themselves merely by ordinary worship, study of the Vedas, charity, austerity and ritual activities. Our Lord, those pure souls who have developed a powerful transcendental faith in Your glories achieve a purified state of existence that can never be attained by those lacking such faith.

SB 11.6.10 - Great sages, desiring the highest benefit in life, always cherish Your lotus feet within their hearts, which are melted by love for You. Similarly, Your self-controlled devotees, desiring to cross beyond the material kingdom of heaven to achieve opulence equal to Yours, worship Your lotus feet in the morning, at noon and in the evening. Thus, they meditate upon Your Lordship in Your quadruple expansion. Your lotus feet are just like a blazing fire that burns to ashes all the inauspicious desires for material sense gratification.

SB 11.6.11 - Those about to offer oblations into the fire of sacrifice in accordance with the Āg, Yajur and Sāma Vedas meditate on Your lotus feet. Similarly, the practitioners of transcendental yoga meditate upon Your lotus feet, hoping for knowledge about Your divine mystic potency, and the most elevated pure devotees perfectly worship Your lotus feet, desiring to cross beyond Your illusory potency.

SB 11.6.12 - O almighty Lord, You are so kind to Your servants that You have accepted the withered flower garland that we have placed on Your chest. Since the goddess of fortune makes her abode on Your transcendental chest, she will undoubtedly become agitated, like a jealous co-wife, upon seeing our offering also dwelling there. Yet You are so merciful that You neglect Your eternal consort Lakṣmī and accept our offering as most excellent worship. O merciful Lord, may Your lotus feet always act as a blazing fire to consume the inauspicious desires within our hearts.

SB 11.6.13 - O omnipotent Lord, in Your incarnation as Trivikrama, You raised Your leg like a flagpole to break the shell of the universe, allowing the holy Ganges to flow down, like a banner of victory, in three branches throughout the three planetary systems. By three mighty steps of Your lotus feet, Your Lordship captured Bali Mahārāja, along with his universal kingdom. Your lotus feet inspire fear in the demons by driving them down to hell and fearlessness among Your devotees by elevating them to the perfection of heavenly life. We are sincerely trying to worship You, our Lord; therefore may Your lotus feet kindly free us from all of our sinful reactions.

SB 11.6.14 - You are the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the transcendental entity who is superior to both material nature and the enjoyer of nature. May Your lotus feet bestow transcendental pleasure upon us. All of the great demigods, beginning with Brahmā, are embodied living entities. Struggling painfully with one another under the strict control of Your time factor, they are just like bulls dragged by ropes tied through their pierced noses.

SB 11.6.15 - You are the cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of this universe. As time, You regulate the subtle and manifest states of material nature and control every living being. As the threefold wheel of time You diminish all things by Your imperceptible actions, and thus You are the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.6.16 - My dear Lord, the original puruṣa-avatāra, Mahā-Viṣṇu, acquires His creative potency from You. Thus with infallible energy He impregnates material nature, producing the mahat-tattva. Then the mahat-tattva, the amalgamated material energy, endowed with the potency of the Lord, produces from itself the primeval golden egg of the universe, which is covered by various layers of material elements.

SB 11.6.17 - O Lord, You are the supreme creator of this universe and the ultimate controller of all moving and nonmoving living entities. You are Hāṇkeṣa, the supreme controller of all sensory activity, and thus You never become contaminated or entangled in the course of Your supervision of the infinite sensory activities within the material creation. On the other hand, other living entities, even yogīs and philosophers, are disturbed and frightened simply by remembering the material objects that they have supposedly renounced in their pursuit of enlightenment.

SB 11.6.18 - My Lord, You are living with sixteen thousand exquisitely beautiful, aristocratic wives. By their irresistible coy and smiling glances and by their lovely arching eyebrows, they send You messages of eager conjugal love. But they are completely unable to disturb the mind and senses of Your Lordship.

SB 11.6.19 - The nectar-bearing rivers of discussions about You, and also the holy rivers generated from the bathing of Your lotus feet, are able to destroy all contamination within the three worlds. Those who are striving for purification associate with the holy narrations of Your glories by hearing them with their ears, and they associate with the holy rivers flowing from Your lotus feet by physically bathing in them.

SB 11.6.20 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé continued: After Brahmä, along with Lord Çiva and the other demigods, thus offered prayers to the Supreme Lord, Govinda, Lord Brahmä situated himself in the sky and addressed the Lord as follows.

SB 11.6.21 - Lord Brahmä said: My dear Lord, previously we requested You to remove the burden of the earth. O unlimited Personality of Godhead, that request has certainly been fulfilled.

SB 11.6.22 - My Lord, You have reestablished the principles of religion among pious men who are always firmly bound to the truth. You have also distributed Your glories all over the world, and thus the whole world can be purified by hearing about You.

SB 11.6.23 - Descending into the dynasty of King Yadu, You have manifested Your unique transcendental form, and for the benefit of the entire universe You have executed magnanimous transcendental activities.

SB 11.6.24 - My dear Lord, those pious and saintly persons who in the age of Kali hear about Your transcendental activities and also glorify them will easily cross over the darkness of the age.

SB 11.6.25 - O Supreme Personality of Godhead, O my Lord, You have descended into the Yadu dynasty, and thus You have spent one hundred twenty-five autumns with Your devotees.

SB 11.6.26-27 - My dear Lord, there is nothing remaining at this time for

Your Lordship to do on behalf of the demigods. You have already withdrawn Your dynasty by the curse of the brāhmaëas. O Lord, You are the basis of everything, and if You so desire, kindly return now to Your own abode in the spiritual world. At the same time, we humbly beg that You always protect us. We are Your humble servants, and on Your behalf we are managing the universal situation. We, along with our planets and followers, require Your constant protection.

SB 11.6.28 - The Supreme Lord said: O lord of the demigods, Brahmä, I understand your prayers and request. Having removed the burden of the earth, I have executed everything that was required on your behalf.

SB 11.6.29 - That very Yädava dynasty in which I appeared became greatly magnified in opulence, especially in their physical strength and courage, to the extent that they threatened to devour the whole world. Therefore I have stopped them, just as the shore holds back the great ocean.

SB 11.6.30 - If I were to leave this world without withdrawing the overly proud members of the Yadu dynasty, the whole world would be destroyed by the deluge of their unlimited expansion.

SB 11.6.31 - Now due to the brāhmaëa's curse, the annihilation of My family has already begun. O sinless Brahmä, when this annihilation is finished and I am enroute to Vaikuëöha, I will pay a small visit to your abode.

SB 11.6.32 - Çré Çukadeva Gosväme said: Thus addressed by the Lord of the universe, the self-born Brahmä fell down in obeisances at the lotus feet of the Lord. Surrounded by all the demigods, the great Brahmä then returned to his personal abode.

SB 11.6.33 - Thereafter, the Personality of Godhead observed that tremendous disturbances were taking place in the holy city of Dvārakā. Thus the Lord spoke to the assembled senior members of the Yadu dynasty as follows.

SB 11.6.34 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Our dynasty has been cursed by the brāhmaëas. Such a curse is impossible to counteract, and thus great disturbances are appearing everywhere around us.

SB 11.6.35 - My dear respected elders, we must not remain any longer in this place if we wish to keep our lives intact. Let us go this very day to the most pious place Prabhāsa. We have no time to delay.

SB 11.6.36 - Once, the moon was afflicted with consumption because of the curse of Dakṣiṇa, but just by taking bath at Prabhāsa-kṣētra, the moon was immediately freed from his sinful reaction and again resumed the waxing of his phases.

SB 11.6.37-38 - By bathing at Prabhāsa-kṣētra, by offering sacrifice there to placate the forefathers and demigods, by feeding the worshipable brāhmaëas with various delicious foodstuffs and by bestowing opulent gifts upon them as the most suitable candidates for charity, we will certainly cross over these terrible dangers through such acts of charity, just as one can cross over a great ocean in a suitable boat.

SB 11.6.39 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: O favorite son of the Kurus, thus advised by the Personality of Godhead, the Yādavas made up their minds to go to that holy place, Prabhāsa-kṣētra, and thus yoked their horses to their chariots.

SB 11.6.40-41 - My dear King, Uddhava was a constantly faithful follower of Lord Kāñëa. Upon seeing the imminent departure of the Yādavas, hearing from them of the Lord's instructions and taking note of the fearful omens, he approached the Personality of Godhead in a private place. He bowed down with his head at the lotus feet of the supreme controller of the universe and with folded hands addressed Him as follows.

SB 11.6.42 - Çré Uddhava said: O my Lord, O supreme God among all the demigods, real piety is invoked simply by hearing and chanting Your transcendental glories. My Lord, it appears that You will now withdraw Your dynasty, and thus You Yourself will finally give up Your pastimes within this universe. You are the supreme controller and the master of all mystic power. But although You are fully capable of counteracting the brāhmaëas' curse against Your dynasty, You are not doing so, and Your disappearance is imminent.

SB 11.6.43 - O Lord Keçava, my dear master, I cannot tolerate giving up Your lotus feet even for a fraction of a moment. I urge You to take me along with You to Your own abode.

SB 11.6.44 - O my dear Kāñëa, Your pastimes are supremely auspicious for mankind and are an intoxicating beverage for the ears. Tasting such pastimes, people forget their desires for other things.

SB 11.6.45 - My dear Lord, You are the Supreme Soul, and thus You are most dear to us. We are Your devotees, and how can we possibly reject You or live without You even for a moment? Whether we are lying down, sitting, walking, standing, bathing, enjoying recreation, eating or doing anything else, we are constantly engaged in Your service.

SB 11.6.46 - Simply by decorating ourselves with the garlands, fragrant oils, clothes and ornaments that You have already enjoyed, and by eating the remnants of Your meals, we, Your servants, will indeed conquer Your

illusory energy.

SB 11.6.47 - Naked sages who seriously endeavor in spiritual practice, who have raised their semen upward, who are peaceful and sinless members of the renounced order, attain the spiritual abode called Brahman.

SB 11.6.48-49 - O greatest of mystics, although we are conditioned souls wandering on the path of fruitive work, we will certainly cross beyond the darkness of this material world simply by hearing about Your Lordship in the association of Your devotees. Thus we are always remembering and glorifying the wonderful things You do and the wonderful things You say. We ecstatically recall Your amorous pastimes with Your confidential conjugal devotees and how You boldly smile and move about while engaged in such youthful pastimes. My dear Lord, Your loving pastimes are bewilderingly similar to the activities of ordinary people within this material world.

SB 11.6.50 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: O King Parékñit, thus addressed, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Kåñëa, the son of Devaké, began to reply confidentially to His dear, unalloyed servant Uddhava.

13 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.7.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O greatly fortunate Uddhava, you have accurately revealed My desire to withdraw the Yadu dynasty from the earth and return to My own abode in Vaikuëöha. Thus Lord Brahmä, Lord Çiva and all other planetary rulers are now praying for Me to resume My residence in Vaikuëöha.

SB 11.7.2 - Answering the prayer of Lord Brahmä, I descended within this world along with My plenary portion, Lord Baladeva, and performed various activities on behalf of the demigods. I have now completed My mission here.

SB 11.7.3 - Now due to the brāhmaëas' curse the Yadu dynasty will certainly perish by fighting among themselves; and on the seventh day from today the ocean will rise up and inundate this city of Dvārakā.

SB 11.7.4 - O saintly Uddhava, in the near future I will abandon this earth. Then, being overwhelmed by the age of Kali, the earth will be bereft of all piety.

SB 11.7.5 - My dear Uddhava, you should not remain here on the earth once I have abandoned this world. My dear devotee, you are sinless, but in Kali-yuga the people will be addicted to all types of sinful activities; therefore do not stay here.

SB 11.7.6 - Now you should completely give up all attachment to your personal friends and relatives and fix your mind on Me. Thus being always conscious of Me, you should observe all things with equal vision and wander throughout the earth.

SB 11.7.7 - My dear Uddhava, the material universe that you perceive through your mind, speech, eyes, ears and other senses is an illusory creation that one imagines to be real due to the influence of māyā. In fact, you should know that all of the objects of the material senses are temporary.

SB 11.7.8 - One whose consciousness is bewildered by illusion perceives many differences in value and meaning among material objects. Thus one engages constantly on the platform of material good and evil and is bound by such conceptions. Absorbed in material duality, such a person contemplates the performance of compulsory duties, nonperformance of such duties and performance of forbidden activities.

SB 11.7.9 - Therefore, bringing all your senses under control and thus subduing the mind, you should see the entire world as situated within the self, who is expanded everywhere, and you should also see this individual self within Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.7.10 - Being fully endowed with conclusive knowledge of the Vedas and having realized the ultimate purpose of such knowledge in practice, you will be able to perceive the pure self, and thus your mind will be satisfied. At that time you will become dear to all living beings, headed by the demigods, and you will never be hampered by any disturbance in life.

SB 11.7.11 - One who has transcended material good and evil automatically acts in accordance with religious injunctions and avoids forbidden activities. The self-realized person does this spontaneously, like an innocent child, and not because he is thinking in terms of material good and evil.

SB 11.7.12 - One who is the kind well-wisher of all living beings, who is peaceful and firmly fixed in knowledge and realization, sees Me within all things. Such a person never again falls down into the cycle of birth and death.

SB 11.7.13 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmi said: O King, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Kāñëa, thus instructed His pure devotee Uddhava, who was eager to receive knowledge from the Lord. Uddhava then offered obeisances to the Lord and spoke as follows.

SB 11.7.14 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, You alone award the results of yoga practice, and You are so kind that by Your own influence You distribute the perfection of yoga to Your devotee. Thus You are the Supreme Soul who is realized through yoga, and it is You who are the origin of all mystic power. For my supreme benefit You have explained the procedure for giving up the material world through the process of sannyāsa, or renunciation.

SB 11.7.15 - My dear Lord, O Supreme Soul, for those whose minds are attached to sense gratification, and especially for those bereft of devotion unto You, such renunciation of material enjoyment is most difficult to perform. That is my opinion.

SB 11.7.16 - O my Lord, I myself am most foolish because my consciousness is merged in the material body and bodily relations, which are all manufactured by Your illusory energy. Thus I am thinking, "I am this body, and all of these relatives are mine." Therefore, my Lord, please instruct Your poor servant. Please tell me how I can very easily carry out Your instructions.

SB 11.7.17 - My dear Lord, You are the Absolute Truth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and You reveal Yourself to Your devotees. Besides Your Lordship, I do not see anyone who can actually explain perfect knowledge to me. Such a perfect teacher is not to be found even among the demigods in heaven. Indeed, all of the demigods, headed by Lord Brahmā, are bewildered by Your illusory potency. They are conditioned souls who accept their own material bodies and bodily expansions to be the highest truth.

SB 11.7.18 - Therefore, O Lord, feeling weary of material life and tormented by its distresses, I now surrender unto You because You are the perfect master. You are the unlimited, all-knowing Supreme Personality of Godhead, whose spiritual abode in Vaikuṇṭha is free from all disturbances. In fact, You are known as Nārāyaṇa, the true friend of all living beings.

SB 11.7.19 - The Supreme Lord replied: Generally those human beings who can expertly analyze the actual situation of the material world are able to raise themselves beyond the inauspicious life of gross material gratification.

SB 11.7.20 - An intelligent person, expert in perceiving the world around him and in applying sound logic, can achieve real benefit through his own intelligence. Thus sometimes one acts as one's own instructing spiritual master.

SB 11.7.21 - In the human form of life, those who are self-controlled and expert in the spiritual science of Sāṁkhya can directly see Me along with all of My potencies.

SB 11.7.22 - In this world there are many kinds of created bodies-some with one leg, others with two, three, four or more legs, and still others with no legs-but of all these, the human form is actually dear to Me.

SB 11.7.23 - Although I, the Supreme Lord, can never be captured by ordinary sense perception, those situated in human life may use their intelligence and other faculties of perception to directly search for Me through both apparent and indirectly ascertained symptoms.

SB 11.7.24 - In this regard, sages cite a historical narration concerning the conversation between the greatly powerful King Yadu and an avadhūta.

SB 11.7.25 - Mahārāja Yadu once observed a certain brāhmaṇa avadhūta, who appeared to be quite young and learned, wandering about fearlessly. Being himself most learned in spiritual science, the King took the opportunity and inquired from him as follows.

SB 11.7.26 - Çré Yadu said: O brāhmaṇa, I see that you are not engaged in any practical religious activity, and yet you have acquired a most expert understanding of all things and all people within this world. Kindly tell me, sir, how did you acquire this extraordinary intelligence, and why are you traveling freely throughout the world behaving as if you were a child?

SB 11.7.27 - Generally human beings work hard to cultivate religiosity, economic development, sense gratification and also knowledge of the soul, and their usual motive is to increase the duration of their lives, acquire fame and enjoy material opulence.

SB 11.7.28 - You, however, although capable, learned, expert, handsome and most eloquent, are not engaged in doing anything, nor do you desire anything; rather, you appear stupefied and maddened as if you were a ghostly creature.

SB 11.7.29 - Although all people within the material world are burning in the great forest fire of lust and greed, you remain free and are not burned by that fire. You are just like an elephant who takes shelter from a forest fire by standing within the water of the Ganges River,

SB 11.7.30 - O brāhmaëa, we see that you are devoid of any contact with material enjoyment and that you are traveling alone, without any companions or family members. Therefore, because we are sincerely inquiring from you, please tell us the cause of the great ecstasy that you are feeling within yourself.

SB 11.7.31 - Lord Kāñëa continued: The intelligent King Yadu, always respectful to the brāhmaëas, waited with bowed head as the brāhmaëa, pleased with the King's attitude, began to reply.

SB 11.7.32 - The brāhmaëa said: My dear King, with my intelligence I have taken shelter of many spiritual masters. Having gained transcendental understanding from them, I now wander about the earth in a liberated condition. Please listen as I describe them to you.

SB 11.7.33-35 - O King, I have taken shelter of twenty-four gurus, who are the following: the earth, air, sky, water, fire, moon, sun, pigeon and python; the sea, moth, honeybee, elephant and honey thief; the deer, the fish, the prostitute Piṅgalā, the kurara bird and the child; and the young girl, arrow maker, serpent, spider and wasp. My dear King, by studying their activities I have learned the science of the self.

SB 11.7.36 - Please listen, O son of Mahārāja Yayāti, O tiger among men, as I explain to you what I have learned from each of these gurus.

SB 11.7.37 - A sober person, even when harassed by other living beings, should understand that his aggressors are acting helplessly under the control of God, and thus he should never be distracted from progress on his own path. This rule I have learned from the earth.

SB 11.7.38 - A saintly person should learn from the mountain to devote all his efforts to the service of others and to make the welfare of others the sole reason for his existence. Similarly, as the disciple of the tree, he should learn to dedicate himself to others.

SB 11.7.39 - A learned sage should take his satisfaction in the simple maintenance of his existence and should not seek satisfaction through gratifying the material senses. In other words, one should care for the material body in such a way that one's higher knowledge is not destroyed and so that one's speech and mind are not deviated from self-realization.

SB 11.7.40 - Even a transcendentalist is surrounded by innumerable material objects, which possess good and bad qualities. However, one who has transcended material good and evil should not become entangled even when in contact with the material objects; rather, he should act like the wind.

SB 11.7.41 - Although a self-realized soul may live in various material bodies while in this world, experiencing their various qualities and functions, he is never entangled, just as the wind which carries various aromas does not actually mix with them.

SB 11.7.42 - A thoughtful sage, even while living within a material body, should understand himself to be pure spirit soul. Similarly, one should see that the spirit soul enters within all forms of life, both moving and nonmoving, and that the individual souls are thus all-pervading. The sage should further observe that the Supreme Personality of Godhead, as the Supersoul, is simultaneously present within all things. Both the individual soul and the Supersoul can be understood by comparing them to the nature of the sky: although the sky extends everywhere and everything rests within the sky, the sky does not mix with anything, nor can it be divided by anything.

SB 11.7.43 - Although the mighty wind blows clouds and storms across the sky, the sky is never implicated or affected by these activities. Similarly, the spirit soul is not actually changed or affected by contact with the material nature. Although the living entity enters within a body made of earth, water and fire, and although he is impelled by the three modes of nature created by eternal time, his eternal spiritual nature is never actually affected.

SB 11.7.44 - O King, a saintly person is just like water because he is free from all contamination, gentle by nature, and by speaking creates a beautiful vibration like that of flowing water. Just by seeing, touching or hearing such a saintly person, the living entity is purified, just as one is cleansed by contact with pure water. Thus a saintly person, just like a holy place, purifies all those who contact him because he always chants the glories of the Lord.

SB 11.7.45 - Saintly persons become powerful by execution of austerities. Their consciousness is unshakable because they do not try to enjoy anything within the material world. Such naturally liberated sages accept foodstuffs that are offered to them by destiny, and if by chance they happen to eat contaminated food, they are not affected, just like fire, which burns up contaminated substances that are offered to it.

SB 11.7.46 - A saintly person, just like fire, sometimes appears in a concealed form and at other times reveals himself. For the welfare of the conditioned souls who desire real happiness, a saintly person may accept the worshipable position of spiritual master, and thus like fire he burns to ashes all the past and future sinful reactions of his worshipers by mercifully accepting their offerings.

SB 11.7.47 - Just as fire manifests differently in pieces of wood of different sizes and qualities, the omnipotent Supreme Soul, having entered the bodies of higher and lower life forms created by His own potency, appears to assume the identity of each.

SB 11.7.48 - The various phases of one's material life, beginning with birth and culminating in death, are all properties of the body and do not affect the soul, just as the apparent waxing and waning of the moon does not affect the moon itself. Such changes are enforced by the imperceptible movements of time.

SB 11.7.49 - The flames of a fire appear and disappear at every moment, and yet this creation and destruction is not noticed by the ordinary observer. Similarly, the mighty waves of time flow constantly, like the powerful currents of a river, and imperceptibly cause the birth, growth and death of innumerable material bodies. And yet the soul, who is thus constantly forced to change his position, cannot perceive the actions of time.

SB 11.7.50 - Just as the sun evaporates large quantities of water by its potent rays and later returns the water to the earth in the form of rain, similarly, a saintly person accepts all types of material objects with his material senses, and at the appropriate time, when the proper person has approached him to request them, he returns such material objects. Thus, both in accepting and giving up the objects of the senses, he is not entangled.

SB 11.7.51 - Even when reflected in various objects, the sun is never divided, nor does it merge into its reflection. Only those with dull brains would consider the sun in this way. Similarly, although the soul is reflected through different material bodies, the soul remains undivided and nonmaterial.

SB 11.7.52 - One should never indulge in excessive affection or concern for anyone or anything; otherwise one will have to experience great suffering, just like the foolish pigeon.

SB 11.7.53 - There once was a pigeon who lived in the forest along with his wife. He had built a nest within a tree and lived there for several years in her company.

SB 11.7.54 - The two pigeons were very much devoted to their household duties. Their hearts being tied together by sentimental affection, they were each attracted by the other's glances, bodily features and states of mind. Thus, they completely bound each other in affection.

SB 11.7.55 - Naively trusting in the future, they carried out their acts of resting, sitting, walking, standing, conversing, playing, eating and so forth as a loving couple among the trees of the forest.

SB 11.7.56 - Whenever she desired anything, O King, the she-pigeon would flatteringly cajole her husband, and he in turn would gratify her by faithfully doing whatever she wanted, even with great personal difficulty. Thus, he could not control his senses in her association.

SB 11.7.57 - Then the female pigeon experienced her first pregnancy. When the time arrived, the chaste lady delivered a number of eggs within the nest in the presence of her husband.

SB 11.7.58 - When the time was ripe, baby pigeons, with tender limbs and feathers created by the inconceivable potencies of the Lord, were born from those eggs.

SB 11.7.59 - The two pigeons became most affectionate to their children and took great pleasure in listening to their awkward chirping, which sounded very sweet to the parents. Thus with love they began to raise the little birds who were born of them.

SB 11.7.60 - The parent birds became very joyful by observing the soft wings of their children, their chirping, their lovely innocent movements around the nest and their attempts to jump up and fly. Seeing their children happy, the parents were also happy.

SB 11.7.61 - Their hearts bound to each other by affection, the foolish birds, completely bewildered by the illusory energy of Lord Viñëu, continued to take care of the young offspring who had been born to them.

SB 11.7.62 - One day the two heads of the family went out to find food for the children. Being very anxious to feed their offspring properly, they wandered all over the forest for a long time.

SB 11.7.63 - At that time a certain hunter who happened to be wandering through the forest saw the young pigeons moving about near their nest. Spreading out his net he captured them all.

SB 11.7.64 - The pigeon and his wife were always anxious for the maintenance of their children, and they were wandering in the forest for that purpose. Having obtained proper food, they now returned to their nest.

SB 11.7.65 - When the lady pigeon caught sight of her own children trapped within the hunter's net, she was overwhelmed with anguish, and crying out, she rushed toward them as they cried out to her in return.

SB 11.7.66 - The lady pigeon had always allowed herself to be bound by the ropes of intense material affection, and thus her mind was overwhelmed by anguish. Being in the grip of the illusory energy of the Lord, she completely forgot herself, and rushing forward to her helpless children, she was immediately bound in the hunter's net.

SB 11.7.67 - Seeing his own children, who were more dear to him than life itself, fatally bound in the hunter's net along with his dearest wife, whom he considered equal in every way to himself, the poor male pigeon began to lament wretchedly.

SB 11.7.68 - The male pigeon said: Alas, just see how I am now destroyed! I am obviously a great fool, for I did not properly execute pious activities. I could not satisfy myself, nor could I fulfill the purpose of life. My dear family, which was the basis of my religiosity, economic development and sense gratification, is now hopelessly ruined.

SB 11.7.69 - My wife and I were an ideal match. She always faithfully obeyed me and in fact accepted me as her worshipable deity. But now, seeing her children lost and her home empty, she has left me behind and gone to heaven with our saintly children.

SB 11.7.70 - Now I am a wretched person living in an empty home. My wife is dead; my children are dead. Why should I possibly want to live? My heart is so pained by separation from my family that life itself has become simply suffering.

SB 11.7.71 - As the father pigeon wretchedly stared at his poor children trapped in the net and on the verge of death, pathetically struggling to free themselves, his mind went blank, and thus he himself fell into the hunter's net.

SB 11.7.72 - The cruel hunter, having fulfilled his desire by capturing the head pigeon, his wife and all of their children, set off for his own home.

SB 11.7.73 - In this way, one who is too attached to family life becomes disturbed at heart. Like the pigeon, he tries to find pleasure in mundane sex attraction. Busily engaged in maintaining his own family, the miserly person is fated to suffer greatly, along with all his family members.

SB 11.7.74 - The doors of liberation are opened wide to one who has achieved human life. But if a human being simply devotes himself to family life like the foolish bird in this story, then he is to be considered as one who has climbed to a high place only to trip and fall down.

14 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.7.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O greatly fortunate Uddhava, you have accurately revealed My desire to withdraw the Yadu dynasty from the earth and return to My own abode in Vaikuëöha. Thus Lord Brahmä, Lord Çiva and all other planetary rulers are now praying for Me to resume My residence in Vaikuëöha.

SB 11.7.2 - Answering the prayer of Lord Brahmä, I descended within this world along with My plenary portion, Lord Baladeva, and performed various activities on behalf of the demigods. I have now completed My mission here.

SB 11.7.3 - Now due to the brähmaëas' curse the Yadu dynasty will certainly perish by fighting among themselves; and on the seventh day from today the ocean will rise up and inundate this city of Dvārakā.

SB 11.7.4 - O saintly Uddhava, in the near future I will abandon this earth. Then, being overwhelmed by the age of Kali, the earth will be bereft of all piety.

SB 11.7.5 - My dear Uddhava, you should not remain here on the earth once I have abandoned this world. My dear devotee, you are sinless, but in Kali-yuga the people will be addicted to all types of sinful activities; therefore do not stay here.

SB 11.7.6 - Now you should completely give up all attachment to your personal friends and relatives and fix your mind on Me. Thus being always conscious of Me, you should observe all things with equal vision and wander throughout the earth.

SB 11.7.7 - My dear Uddhava, the material universe that you perceive through your mind, speech, eyes, ears and other senses is an illusory creation that one imagines to be real due to the influence of māyā. In fact, you should know that all of the objects of the material senses are temporary.

SB 11.7.8 - One whose consciousness is bewildered by illusion perceives many differences in value and meaning among material objects. Thus one engages constantly on the platform of material good and evil and is bound by such conceptions. Absorbed in material duality, such a person contemplates the performance of compulsory duties, nonperformance of such duties and performance of forbidden activities.

SB 11.7.9 - Therefore, bringing all your senses under control and thus subduing the mind, you should see the entire world as situated within the self, who is expanded everywhere, and you should also see this individual self within Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.7.10 - Being fully endowed with conclusive knowledge of the Vedas and having realized the ultimate purpose of such knowledge in practice, you will be able to perceive the pure self, and thus your mind will be satisfied. At that time you will become dear to all living beings, headed by the demigods, and you will never be hampered by any disturbance in life.

SB 11.7.11 - One who has transcended material good and evil automatically acts in accordance with religious injunctions and avoids forbidden activities. The self-realized person does this spontaneously, like an innocent child, and not because he is thinking in terms of material good and evil.

SB 11.7.12 - One who is the kind well-wisher of all living beings, who is peaceful and firmly fixed in knowledge and realization, sees Me within all things. Such a person never again falls down into the cycle of birth and death.

SB 11.7.13 - Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmi said: O King, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Kāñëa, thus instructed His pure devotee Uddhava, who was eager to receive knowledge from the Lord. Uddhava then offered obeisances to the Lord and spoke as follows.

SB 11.7.14 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, You alone award the results of yoga practice, and You are so kind that by Your own influence You distribute the perfection of yoga to Your devotee. Thus You are the Supreme Soul who is realized through yoga, and it is You who are the origin of all mystic power. For my supreme benefit You have explained the procedure for giving up the material world through the process of sannyāsa, or renunciation.

SB 11.7.15 - My dear Lord, O Supreme Soul, for those whose minds are attached to sense gratification, and especially for those bereft of devotion unto You, such renunciation of material enjoyment is most difficult to perform. That is my opinion.

SB 11.7.16 - O my Lord, I myself am most foolish because my consciousness is merged in the material body and bodily relations, which are all manufactured by Your illusory energy. Thus I am thinking, "I am this body, and all of these relatives are mine." Therefore, my Lord, please instruct Your poor servant. Please tell me how I can very easily carry out Your instructions.

SB 11.7.17 - My dear Lord, You are the Absolute Truth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and You reveal Yourself to Your devotees. Besides Your Lordship, I do not see anyone who can actually explain perfect knowledge to me. Such a perfect teacher is not to be found even among the demigods in heaven. Indeed, all of the demigods, headed by Lord Brahmā, are bewildered by Your illusory potency. They are conditioned souls who accept their own material bodies and bodily expansions to be the highest truth.

SB 11.7.18 - Therefore, O Lord, feeling weary of material life and tormented by its distresses, I now surrender unto You because You are the perfect master. You are the unlimited, all-knowing Supreme Personality of Godhead, whose spiritual abode in Vaikuṇṭha is free from all disturbances. In fact, You are known as Nārāyaṇa, the true friend of all living beings.

SB 11.7.19 - The Supreme Lord replied: Generally those human beings who can expertly analyze the actual situation of the material world are able to raise themselves beyond the inauspicious life of gross material gratification.

SB 11.7.20 - An intelligent person, expert in perceiving the world around him and in applying sound logic, can achieve real benefit through his own intelligence. Thus sometimes one acts as one's own instructing spiritual master.

SB 11.7.21 - In the human form of life, those who are self-controlled and expert in the spiritual science of Sāṁkhya can directly see Me along with all of My potencies.

SB 11.7.22 - In this world there are many kinds of created bodies-some with one leg, others with two, three, four or more legs, and still others with no legs-but of all these, the human form is actually dear to Me.

SB 11.7.23 - Although I, the Supreme Lord, can never be captured by ordinary sense perception, those situated in human life may use their intelligence and other faculties of perception to directly search for Me through both apparent and indirectly ascertained symptoms.

SB 11.7.24 - In this regard, sages cite a historical narration concerning the conversation between the greatly powerful King Yadu and an avadhūta.

SB 11.7.25 - Mahārāja Yadu once observed a certain brāhmaṇa avadhūta, who appeared to be quite young and learned, wandering about fearlessly. Being himself most learned in spiritual science, the King took the opportunity and inquired from him as follows.

SB 11.7.26 - Çré Yadu said: O brāhmaṇa, I see that you are not engaged in any practical religious activity, and yet you have acquired a most expert understanding of all things and all people within this world. Kindly tell me, sir, how did you acquire this extraordinary intelligence, and why are you traveling freely throughout the world behaving as if you were a child?

SB 11.7.27 - Generally human beings work hard to cultivate religiosity, economic development, sense gratification and also knowledge of the soul, and their usual motive is to increase the duration of their lives, acquire fame and enjoy material opulence.

SB 11.7.28 - You, however, although capable, learned, expert, handsome and most eloquent, are not engaged in doing anything, nor do you desire anything; rather, you appear stupefied and maddened as if you were a ghostly creature.

SB 11.7.29 - Although all people within the material world are burning in the great forest fire of lust and greed, you remain free and are not burned by that fire. You are just like an elephant who takes shelter from a forest fire by standing within the water of the Ganges River,

SB 11.7.30 - O brāhmaëa, we see that you are devoid of any contact with material enjoyment and that you are traveling alone, without any companions or family members. Therefore, because we are sincerely inquiring from you, please tell us the cause of the great ecstasy that you are feeling within yourself.

SB 11.7.31 - Lord Kāñëa continued: The intelligent King Yadu, always respectful to the brāhmaëas, waited with bowed head as the brāhmaëa, pleased with the King's attitude, began to reply.

SB 11.7.32 - The brāhmaëa said: My dear King, with my intelligence I have taken shelter of many spiritual masters. Having gained transcendental understanding from them, I now wander about the earth in a liberated condition. Please listen as I describe them to you.

SB 11.7.33-35 - O King, I have taken shelter of twenty-four gurus, who are the following: the earth, air, sky, water, fire, moon, sun, pigeon and python; the sea, moth, honeybee, elephant and honey thief; the deer, the fish, the prostitute Piṅgalā, the kurara bird and the child; and the young girl, arrow maker, serpent, spider and wasp. My dear King, by studying their activities I have learned the science of the self.

SB 11.7.36 - Please listen, O son of Mahārāja Yayāti, O tiger among men, as I explain to you what I have learned from each of these gurus.

SB 11.7.37 - A sober person, even when harassed by other living beings, should understand that his aggressors are acting helplessly under the control of God, and thus he should never be distracted from progress on his own path. This rule I have learned from the earth.

SB 11.7.38 - A saintly person should learn from the mountain to devote all his efforts to the service of others and to make the welfare of others the sole reason for his existence. Similarly, as the disciple of the tree, he should learn to dedicate himself to others.

SB 11.7.39 - A learned sage should take his satisfaction in the simple maintenance of his existence and should not seek satisfaction through gratifying the material senses. In other words, one should care for the material body in such a way that one's higher knowledge is not destroyed and so that one's speech and mind are not deviated from self-realization.

SB 11.7.40 - Even a transcendentalist is surrounded by innumerable material objects, which possess good and bad qualities. However, one who has transcended material good and evil should not become entangled even when in contact with the material objects; rather, he should act like the wind.

SB 11.7.41 - Although a self-realized soul may live in various material bodies while in this world, experiencing their various qualities and functions, he is never entangled, just as the wind which carries various aromas does not actually mix with them.

SB 11.7.42 - A thoughtful sage, even while living within a material body, should understand himself to be pure spirit soul. Similarly, one should see that the spirit soul enters within all forms of life, both moving and nonmoving, and that the individual souls are thus all-pervading. The sage should further observe that the Supreme Personality of Godhead, as the Supersoul, is simultaneously present within all things. Both the individual soul and the Supersoul can be understood by comparing them to the nature of the sky: although the sky extends everywhere and everything rests within the sky, the sky does not mix with anything, nor can it be divided by anything.

SB 11.7.43 - Although the mighty wind blows clouds and storms across the sky, the sky is never implicated or affected by these activities. Similarly, the spirit soul is not actually changed or affected by contact with the material nature. Although the living entity enters within a body made of earth, water and fire, and although he is impelled by the three modes of nature created by eternal time, his eternal spiritual nature is never actually affected.

SB 11.7.44 - O King, a saintly person is just like water because he is free from all contamination, gentle by nature, and by speaking creates a beautiful vibration like that of flowing water. Just by seeing, touching or hearing such a saintly person, the living entity is purified, just as one is cleansed by contact with pure water. Thus a saintly person, just like a holy place, purifies all those who contact him because he always chants the glories of the Lord.

SB 11.7.45 - Saintly persons become powerful by execution of austerities. Their consciousness is unshakable because they do not try to enjoy anything within the material world. Such naturally liberated sages accept foodstuffs that are offered to them by destiny, and if by chance they happen to eat contaminated food, they are not affected, just like fire, which burns up contaminated substances that are offered to it.

SB 11.7.46 - A saintly person, just like fire, sometimes appears in a concealed form and at other times reveals himself. For the welfare of the conditioned souls who desire real happiness, a saintly person may accept the worshipable position of spiritual master, and thus like fire he burns to ashes all the past and future sinful reactions of his worshipers by mercifully accepting their offerings.

SB 11.7.47 - Just as fire manifests differently in pieces of wood of different sizes and qualities, the omnipotent Supreme Soul, having entered the bodies of higher and lower life forms created by His own potency, appears to assume the identity of each.

SB 11.7.48 - The various phases of one's material life, beginning with birth and culminating in death, are all properties of the body and do not affect the soul, just as the apparent waxing and waning of the moon does not affect the moon itself. Such changes are enforced by the imperceptible movements of time.

SB 11.7.49 - The flames of a fire appear and disappear at every moment, and yet this creation and destruction is not noticed by the ordinary observer. Similarly, the mighty waves of time flow constantly, like the powerful currents of a river, and imperceptibly cause the birth, growth and death of innumerable material bodies. And yet the soul, who is thus constantly forced to change his position, cannot perceive the actions of time.

SB 11.7.50 - Just as the sun evaporates large quantities of water by its potent rays and later returns the water to the earth in the form of rain, similarly, a saintly person accepts all types of material objects with his material senses, and at the appropriate time, when the proper person has approached him to request them, he returns such material objects. Thus, both in accepting and giving up the objects of the senses, he is not entangled.

SB 11.7.51 - Even when reflected in various objects, the sun is never divided, nor does it merge into its reflection. Only those with dull brains would consider the sun in this way. Similarly, although the soul is reflected through different material bodies, the soul remains undivided and nonmaterial.

SB 11.7.52 - One should never indulge in excessive affection or concern for anyone or anything; otherwise one will have to experience great suffering, just like the foolish pigeon.

SB 11.7.53 - There once was a pigeon who lived in the forest along with his wife. He had built a nest within a tree and lived there for several years in her company.

SB 11.7.54 - The two pigeons were very much devoted to their household duties. Their hearts being tied together by sentimental affection, they were each attracted by the other's glances, bodily features and states of mind. Thus, they completely bound each other in affection.

SB 11.7.55 - Naively trusting in the future, they carried out their acts of resting, sitting, walking, standing, conversing, playing, eating and so forth as a loving couple among the trees of the forest.

SB 11.7.56 - Whenever she desired anything, O King, the she-pigeon would flatteringly cajole her husband, and he in turn would gratify her by faithfully doing whatever she wanted, even with great personal difficulty. Thus, he could not control his senses in her association.

SB 11.7.57 - Then the female pigeon experienced her first pregnancy. When the time arrived, the chaste lady delivered a number of eggs within the nest in the presence of her husband.

SB 11.7.58 - When the time was ripe, baby pigeons, with tender limbs and feathers created by the inconceivable potencies of the Lord, were born from those eggs.

SB 11.7.59 - The two pigeons became most affectionate to their children and took great pleasure in listening to their awkward chirping, which sounded very sweet to the parents. Thus with love they began to raise the little birds who were born of them.

SB 11.7.60 - The parent birds became very joyful by observing the soft wings of their children, their chirping, their lovely innocent movements around the nest and their attempts to jump up and fly. Seeing their children happy, the parents were also happy.

SB 11.7.61 - Their hearts bound to each other by affection, the foolish birds, completely bewildered by the illusory energy of Lord Viñëu, continued to take care of the young offspring who had been born to them.

SB 11.7.62 - One day the two heads of the family went out to find food for the children. Being very anxious to feed their offspring properly, they wandered all over the forest for a long time.

SB 11.7.63 - At that time a certain hunter who happened to be wandering through the forest saw the young pigeons moving about near their nest. Spreading out his net he captured them all.

SB 11.7.64 - The pigeon and his wife were always anxious for the maintenance of their children, and they were wandering in the forest for that purpose. Having obtained proper food, they now returned to their nest.

SB 11.7.65 - When the lady pigeon caught sight of her own children trapped within the hunter's net, she was overwhelmed with anguish, and crying out, she rushed toward them as they cried out to her in return.

SB 11.7.66 - The lady pigeon had always allowed herself to be bound by the ropes of intense material affection, and thus her mind was overwhelmed by anguish. Being in the grip of the illusory energy of the Lord, she completely forgot herself, and rushing forward to her helpless children, she was immediately bound in the hunter's net.

SB 11.7.67 - Seeing his own children, who were more dear to him than life itself, fatally bound in the hunter's net along with his dearest wife, whom he considered equal in every way to himself, the poor male pigeon began to lament wretchedly.

SB 11.7.68 - The male pigeon said: Alas, just see how I am now destroyed! I am obviously a great fool, for I did not properly execute pious activities. I could not satisfy myself, nor could I fulfill the purpose of life. My dear family, which was the basis of my religiosity, economic development and sense gratification, is now hopelessly ruined.

SB 11.7.69 - My wife and I were an ideal match. She always faithfully obeyed me and in fact accepted me as her worshipable deity. But now, seeing her children lost and her home empty, she has left me behind and gone to heaven with our saintly children.

SB 11.7.70 - Now I am a wretched person living in an empty home. My wife is dead; my children are dead. Why should I possibly want to live? My heart is so pained by separation from my family that life itself has become simply suffering.

SB 11.7.71 - As the father pigeon wretchedly stared at his poor children trapped in the net and on the verge of death, pathetically struggling to free themselves, his mind went blank, and thus he himself fell into the hunter's net.

SB 11.7.72 - The cruel hunter, having fulfilled his desire by capturing the head pigeon, his wife and all of their children, set off for his own home.

SB 11.7.73 - In this way, one who is too attached to family life becomes disturbed at heart. Like the pigeon, he tries to find pleasure in mundane sex attraction. Busily engaged in maintaining his own family, the miserly person is fated to suffer greatly, along with all his family members.

SB 11.7.74 - The doors of liberation are opened wide to one who has achieved human life. But if a human being simply devotes himself to family life like the foolish bird in this story, then he is to be considered as one who has climbed to a high place only to trip and fall down.

15 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.8.1 - The saintly brāhmaëa said: O King, the embodied living entity automatically experiences unhappiness in heaven or hell. Similarly, happiness will also be experienced, even without one's seeking it. Therefore a person of intelligent discrimination does not make any endeavor to obtain such material happiness.

SB 11.8.2 - Following the example of the python, one should give up material endeavors and accept for one's maintenance food that comes of its own accord, whether such food be delicious or tasteless, ample or meager.

SB 11.8.3 - If at any time food does not come, then a saintly person should fast for many days without making endeavor. He should understand that by God's arrangement he must fast. Thus, following the example of the python, he should remain peaceful and patient.

SB 11.8.4 - A saintly person should remain peaceful and materially inactive, maintaining his body without much endeavor. Even though possessed of full sensual, mental and physical strength, a saintly person should not become active for material gain but rather should always remain alert to his actual self-interest.

SB 11.8.5 - A saintly sage is happy and pleasing in his external behavior, whereas internally he is most grave and thoughtful. Because his knowledge is immeasurable and unlimited he is never disturbed, and thus in all respects he is like the tranquil waters of the unfathomable and unsurpassable ocean.

SB 11.8.6 - During the rainy season the swollen rivers rush into the ocean, and during the dry summer the rivers, now shallow, severely reduce their supply of water; yet the ocean does not swell up during the rainy season, nor does it dry up in the hot summer. In the same way, a saintly devotee who has accepted the Supreme Personality of Godhead as the goal of his life sometimes will receive by providence great material opulence, and sometimes he will find himself materially destitute. However, such a devotee of the Lord does not rejoice in a flourishing condition, nor is he morose when poverty-stricken.

SB 11.8.7 - One who has failed to control his senses immediately feels attraction upon seeing a woman's form, which is created by the illusory energy of the Supreme Lord. Indeed, when the woman speaks with enticing words, smiles coquettishly and moves her body sensuously, his mind is immediately captured, and thus he falls blindly into the darkness of material existence, just as the moth maddened by the fire rushes blindly into its flames.

SB 11.8.8 - A foolish person with no intelligent discrimination is immediately aroused at the sight of a lusty woman beautifully decorated with golden ornaments, fine clothing and other cosmetic features. Being eager for sense gratification, such a fool loses all intelligence and is destroyed just like the moth who rushes into the blazing fire.

SB 11.8.9 - A saintly person should accept only enough food to keep his body and soul together. He should go from door to door accepting just a little bit of food from each family. Thus he should practice the occupation of the honeybee.

SB 11.8.10 - Just as the honeybee takes nectar from all flowers, big and small, an intelligent human being should take the essence from all religious scriptures.

SB 11.8.11 - A saintly person should not think, "This food I will keep to eat tonight and this other food I can save for tomorrow." In other words, a saintly person should not store foodstuffs acquired by begging. Rather, he should use his own hands as his plate and eat whatever fits on them. His only storage container should be his belly, and whatever conveniently fits into his belly should be his stock of food. Thus one should not imitate the greedy honeybee who eagerly collects more and more honey.

SB 11.8.12 - A saintly mendicant should not even collect foodstuffs to eat later in the same day or the next day. If he disregards this injunction and like the honeybee collects more and more delicious foodstuffs, that which he has collected will indeed ruin him.

SB 11.8.13 - A saintly person should never touch a young girl. In fact, he should not even let his foot touch a wooden doll in the shape of a woman. By bodily contact with a woman he will surely be captured by illusion, just as the elephant is captured by the she-elephant due to his desire to touch her body.

SB 11.8.14 - A man possessing intelligent discrimination should not under any circumstances try to exploit the beautiful form of a woman for his sense gratification. Just as an elephant trying to enjoy a she-elephant is killed by other bull elephants also enjoying her company, one trying to enjoy a lady's company can at any moment be killed by her other lovers who are stronger than he.

SB 11.8.15 - A greedy person accumulates a large quantity of money with great struggle and pain, but the person who has struggled so much to acquire this wealth is not always allowed to enjoy it himself or give it in charity to others. The greedy man is like the bee who struggles to produce a large quantity of honey, which is then stolen by a man who will enjoy it personally or sell it to others. No matter how carefully one hides his hard-earned wealth or tries to protect it, there are those who are expert in detecting the whereabouts of valuable things, and they will steal it.

SB 11.8.16 - Just as a hunter takes away the honey laboriously produced by the honeybees, similarly, saintly mendicants such as brahmacārēs and sannyāsēs are entitled to enjoy the property painstakingly accumulated by householders dedicated to family enjoyment.

SB 11.8.17 - A saintly person dwelling in the forest in the renounced order of life should never listen to songs or music promoting material enjoyment. Rather, a saintly person should carefully study the example of the deer, who is bewildered by the sweet music of the hunter's horn and is thus captured and killed.

SB 11.8.18 - Becoming attracted to the worldly singing, dancing and musical entertainment of beautiful women, even the great sage Āñyaçâi ga, the son of Mâgé, fell totally under their control, just like a pet animal.

SB 11.8.19 - Just as a fish, incited by the desire to enjoy his tongue, is fatally trapped on the fisherman's hook, similarly, a foolish person is bewildered by the extremely disturbing urges of the tongue and thus is ruined.

SB 11.8.20 - By fasting, learned men quickly bring all of the senses except the tongue under control, because by abstaining from eating such men are afflicted with an increased desire to gratify the sense of taste.

SB 11.8.21 - Although one may conquer all of the other senses, as long as the tongue is not conquered it cannot be said that one has controlled his senses. However, if one is able to control the tongue, then one is understood to be in full control of all the senses.

SB 11.8.22 - O son of kings, previously in the city of Videha there dwelled a prostitute named Piî gală. Now please hear what I have learned from that lady.

SB 11.8.23 - Once that prostitute, desiring to bring a lover into her house, stood outside in the doorway at night showing her beautiful form.

SB 11.8.24 - O best among men, this prostitute was very anxious to get money, and as she stood on the street at night she studied all the men who were passing by, thinking, "Oh, this one surely has money. I know he can pay the price, and I am sure he would enjoy my company very much." Thus she thought about all the men on the street.

SB 11.8.25-26 - As the prostitute Piṇ galā stood in the doorway, many men came and went, walking by her house. Her only means of sustenance was prostitution, and therefore she anxiously thought, "Maybe this one who is coming now is very rich...Oh, he is not stopping, but I am sure someone else will come. Surely this man who is coming now will want to pay me for my love, and he will probably give lots of money." Thus, with vain hope, she remained leaning against the doorway, unable to finish her business and go to sleep. Out of anxiety she would sometimes walk out toward the street, and sometimes she went back into her house. In this way, the midnight hour gradually arrived.

SB 11.8.27 - As the night wore on, the prostitute, who intensely desired money, gradually became morose, and her face dried up. Thus being filled with anxiety for money and most disappointed, she began to feel a great detachment from her situation, and happiness arose in her mind.

SB 11.8.28 - The prostitute felt disgusted with her material situation and thus became indifferent to it. Indeed, detachment acts like a sword, cutting to pieces the binding network of material hopes and desires. Now please hear from me the song sung by the prostitute in that situation.

SB 11.8.29 - O King, just as a human being who is bereft of spiritual knowledge never desires to give up his false sense of proprietorship over many material things, similarly, a person who has not developed detachment never desires to give up the bondage of the material body.

SB 11.8.30 - The prostitute Piṅgalā said: Just see how greatly illusioned I am ! Because I cannot control my mind, just like a fool I desire lusty pleasure from an insignificant man.

SB 11.8.31 - I am such a fool that I have given up the service of that person who, being eternally situated within my heart, is actually most dear to me. That most dear one is the Lord of the universe, who is the bestower of real love and happiness and the source of all prosperity. Although He is in my own heart, I have completely neglected Him. Instead I have ignorantly served insignificant men who can never satisfy my real desires and who have simply brought me unhappiness, fear, anxiety, lamentation and illusion.

SB 11.8.32 - Oh, how I have uselessly tortured my own soul! I have sold my body to lusty, greedy men who are themselves objects of pity. Thus practicing the most abominable profession of a prostitute, I hoped to get money and sex pleasure.

SB 11.8.33 - This material body is like a house in which I, the soul, am living. The bones forming my spine, ribs, arms and legs are like the beams, crossbeams and pillars of the house, and the whole structure, which is full of stool and urine, is covered by skin, hair and nails. The nine doors leading into this body are constantly excreting foul substances. Besides me, what woman could be so foolish as to devote herself to this material body, thinking that she might find pleasure and love in this contraption?

SB 11.8.34 - Certainly in this city of Videha I alone am completely foolish. I neglected the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who awards us everything, even our original spiritual form, and instead I desired to enjoy sense gratification with many men.

SB 11.8.35 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead is absolutely the most dear one for all living beings because He is everyone's well-wisher and Lord.

He is the Supreme Soul situated in everyone's heart. Therefore I will now pay the price of complete surrender, and thus purchasing the Lord I will enjoy with Him just like Lakīmédevé.

SB 11.8.36 - Men provide sense gratification for women, but all these men, and even the demigods in heaven, have a beginning and an end. They are all temporary creations who will be dragged away by time. Therefore how much actual pleasure or happiness could any of them ever give to their wives?

SB 11.8.37 - Although I most stubbornly hoped to enjoy the material world, somehow or other detachment has arisen in my heart, and it is making me very happy. Therefore the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu, must be pleased with me. Without even knowing it, I must have performed some activity satisfying to Him.

SB 11.8.38 - A person who has developed detachment can give up the bondage of material society, friendship and love, and a person who undergoes great suffering gradually becomes, out of hopelessness, detached and indifferent to the material world. Thus, due to my great suffering, such detachment awoke in my heart; yet how could I have undergone such merciful suffering if I were actually unfortunate? Therefore, I am in fact fortunate and have received the mercy of the Lord. He must somehow or other be pleased with me.

SB 11.8.39 - With devotion I accept the great benefit that the Lord has bestowed upon me. Having given up my sinful desires for ordinary sense gratification, I now take shelter of Him, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.8.40 - I am now completely satisfied, and I have full faith in the Lord's mercy. Therefore I will maintain myself with whatever comes of its own accord. I shall enjoy life with only the Lord, because He is the real source of love and happiness.

SB 11.8.41 - The intelligence of the living entity is stolen away by activities of sense gratification, and thus he falls into the dark well of material existence. Within that well he is then seized by the deadly serpent of time. Who else but the Supreme Personality of Godhead could save the poor living entity from such a hopeless condition?

SB 11.8.42 - When the living entity sees that the entire universe has been seized by the serpent of time, he becomes sober and sane and at that time detaches himself from all material sense gratification. In that condition the living entity is qualified to be his own protector.

SB 11.8.43 - The avadhüta said: Thus, her mind completely made up, Piñgalā cut off all her sinful desires to enjoy sex pleasure with lovers, and she became situated in perfect peace. Then she sat down on her bed.

SB 11.8.44 - Material desire is undoubtedly the cause of the greatest unhappiness, and freedom from such desire is the cause of the greatest happiness. Therefore, completely cutting off her desire to enjoy so-called lovers, Piñgalā very happily went to sleep.

16 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.8.1 - The saintly brähmaëa said: O King, the embodied living entity automatically experiences unhappiness in heaven or hell. Similarly, happiness will also be experienced, even without one's seeking it. Therefore a person of intelligent discrimination does not make any endeavor to obtain such material happiness.

SB 11.8.2 - Following the example of the python, one should give up material endeavors and accept for one's maintenance food that comes of its own accord, whether such food be delicious or tasteless, ample or meager.

SB 11.8.3 - If at any time food does not come, then a saintly person should fast for many days without making endeavor. He should understand that by God's arrangement he must fast. Thus, following the example of the python, he should remain peaceful and patient.

SB 11.8.4 - A saintly person should remain peaceful and materially inactive, maintaining his body without much endeavor. Even though possessed of full sensual, mental and physical strength, a saintly person should not become active for material gain but rather should always remain alert to his actual self-interest.

SB 11.8.5 - A saintly sage is happy and pleasing in his external behavior, whereas internally he is most grave and thoughtful. Because his knowledge is immeasurable and unlimited he is never disturbed, and thus in all respects he is like the tranquil waters of the unfathomable and unsurpassable ocean.

SB 11.8.6 - During the rainy season the swollen rivers rush into the ocean, and during the dry summer the rivers, now shallow, severely reduce their supply of water; yet the ocean does not swell up during the rainy season, nor does it dry up in the hot summer. In the same way, a saintly devotee who has accepted the Supreme Personality of Godhead as the goal of his life sometimes will receive by providence great material opulence, and sometimes he will find himself materially destitute. However, such a devotee of the Lord does not rejoice in a flourishing condition, nor is he morose when poverty-stricken.

SB 11.8.7 - One who has failed to control his senses immediately feels attraction upon seeing a woman's form, which is created by the illusory energy of the Supreme Lord. Indeed, when the woman speaks with enticing words, smiles coquettishly and moves her body sensuously, his mind is immediately captured, and thus he falls blindly into the darkness of material existence, just as the moth maddened by the fire rushes blindly into its flames.

SB 11.8.8 - A foolish person with no intelligent discrimination is immediately aroused at the sight of a lusty woman beautifully decorated with golden ornaments, fine clothing and other cosmetic features. Being eager for sense gratification, such a fool loses all intelligence and is destroyed just like the moth who rushes into the blazing fire.

SB 11.8.9 - A saintly person should accept only enough food to keep his body and soul together. He should go from door to door accepting just a little bit of food from each family. Thus he should practice the occupation of the honeybee.

SB 11.8.10 - Just as the honeybee takes nectar from all flowers, big and small, an intelligent human being should take the essence from all religious scriptures.

SB 11.8.11 - A saintly person should not think, "This food I will keep to eat tonight and this other food I can save for tomorrow." In other words, a saintly person should not store foodstuffs acquired by begging. Rather, he should use his own hands as his plate and eat whatever fits on them. His only storage container should be his belly, and whatever conveniently fits into his belly should be his stock of food. Thus one should not imitate the greedy honeybee who eagerly collects more and more honey.

SB 11.8.12 - A saintly mendicant should not even collect foodstuffs to eat later in the same day or the next day. If he disregards this injunction and like the honeybee collects more and more delicious foodstuffs, that which he has collected will indeed ruin him.

SB 11.8.13 - A saintly person should never touch a young girl. In fact, he should not even let his foot touch a wooden doll in the shape of a woman. By bodily contact with a woman he will surely be captured by illusion, just as the elephant is captured by the she-elephant due to his desire to touch her body.

SB 11.8.14 - A man possessing intelligent discrimination should not under any circumstances try to exploit the beautiful form of a woman for his sense gratification. Just as an elephant trying to enjoy a she-elephant is killed by other bull elephants also enjoying her company, one trying to enjoy a lady's company can at any moment be killed by her other lovers who are stronger than he.

SB 11.8.15 - A greedy person accumulates a large quantity of money with great struggle and pain, but the person who has struggled so much to acquire this wealth is not always allowed to enjoy it himself or give it in charity to others. The greedy man is like the bee who struggles to produce a large quantity of honey, which is then stolen by a man who will enjoy it personally or sell it to others. No matter how carefully one hides his hard-earned wealth or tries to protect it, there are those who are expert in detecting the whereabouts of valuable things, and they will steal it.

SB 11.8.16 - Just as a hunter takes away the honey laboriously produced by the honeybees, similarly, saintly mendicants such as brahmacāres and sannyāsés are entitled to enjoy the property painstakingly accumulated by householders dedicated to family enjoyment.

SB 11.8.17 - A saintly person dwelling in the forest in the renounced order of life should never listen to songs or music promoting material enjoyment. Rather, a saintly person should carefully study the example of the deer, who is bewildered by the sweet music of the hunter's horn and is thus captured and killed.

SB 11.8.18 - Becoming attracted to the worldly singing, dancing and musical entertainment of beautiful women, even the great sage Āñyaçāi ga, the son of Mâgé, fell totally under their control, just like a pet animal.

SB 11.8.19 - Just as a fish, incited by the desire to enjoy his tongue, is fatally trapped on the fisherman's hook, similarly, a foolish person is bewildered by the extremely disturbing urges of the tongue and thus is ruined.

SB 11.8.20 - By fasting, learned men quickly bring all of the senses except the tongue under control, because by abstaining from eating such men are afflicted with an increased desire to gratify the sense of taste.

SB 11.8.21 - Although one may conquer all of the other senses, as long as the tongue is not conquered it cannot be said that one has controlled his senses. However, if one is able to control the tongue, then one is understood to be in full control of all the senses.

SB 11.8.22 - O son of kings, previously in the city of Videha there dwelled a prostitute named Piî galä. Now please hear what I have learned from that lady.

SB 11.8.23 - Once that prostitute, desiring to bring a lover into her house, stood outside in the doorway at night showing her beautiful form.

SB 11.8.24 - O best among men, this prostitute was very anxious to get money, and as she stood on the street at night she studied all the men who were passing by, thinking, "Oh, this one surely has money. I know he can pay the price, and I am sure he would enjoy my company very much." Thus she thought about all the men on the street.

SB 11.8.25-26 - As the prostitute Piṇ galā stood in the doorway, many men came and went, walking by her house. Her only means of sustenance was prostitution, and therefore she anxiously thought, "Maybe this one who is coming now is very rich...Oh, he is not stopping, but I am sure someone else will come. Surely this man who is coming now will want to pay me for my love, and he will probably give lots of money." Thus, with vain hope, she remained leaning against the doorway, unable to finish her business and go to sleep. Out of anxiety she would sometimes walk out toward the street, and sometimes she went back into her house. In this way, the midnight hour gradually arrived.

SB 11.8.27 - As the night wore on, the prostitute, who intensely desired money, gradually became morose, and her face dried up. Thus being filled with anxiety for money and most disappointed, she began to feel a great detachment from her situation, and happiness arose in her mind.

SB 11.8.28 - The prostitute felt disgusted with her material situation and thus became indifferent to it. Indeed, detachment acts like a sword, cutting to pieces the binding network of material hopes and desires. Now please hear from me the song sung by the prostitute in that situation.

SB 11.8.29 - O King, just as a human being who is bereft of spiritual knowledge never desires to give up his false sense of proprietorship over many material things, similarly, a person who has not developed detachment never desires to give up the bondage of the material body.

SB 11.8.30 - The prostitute Piṇ galā said: Just see how greatly illusioned I am ! Because I cannot control my mind, just like a fool I desire lusty pleasure from an insignificant man.

SB 11.8.31 - I am such a fool that I have given up the service of that person who, being eternally situated within my heart, is actually most dear to me. That most dear one is the Lord of the universe, who is the bestower of real love and happiness and the source of all prosperity. Although He is in my own heart, I have completely neglected Him. Instead I have ignorantly served insignificant men who can never satisfy my real desires and who have simply brought me unhappiness, fear, anxiety, lamentation and illusion.

SB 11.8.32 - Oh, how I have uselessly tortured my own soul! I have sold my body to lusty, greedy men who are themselves objects of pity. Thus practicing the most abominable profession of a prostitute, I hoped to get money and sex pleasure.

SB 11.8.33 - This material body is like a house in which I, the soul, am living. The bones forming my spine, ribs, arms and legs are like the beams, crossbeams and pillars of the house, and the whole structure, which is full of stool and urine, is covered by skin, hair and nails. The nine doors leading into this body are constantly excreting foul substances. Besides me, what woman could be so foolish as to devote herself to this material body, thinking that she might find pleasure and love in this contraption?

SB 11.8.34 - Certainly in this city of Videha I alone am completely foolish. I neglected the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who awards us everything, even our original spiritual form, and instead I desired to enjoy sense gratification with many men.

SB 11.8.35 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead is absolutely the most dear one for all living beings because He is everyone's well-wisher and Lord. He is the Supreme Soul situated in everyone's heart. Therefore I will now pay the price of complete surrender, and thus purchasing the Lord I will enjoy with Him just like Lakīṁdevé.

SB 11.8.36 - Men provide sense gratification for women, but all these men, and even the demigods in heaven, have a beginning and an end. They are all temporary creations who will be dragged away by time. Therefore how much actual pleasure or happiness could any of them ever give to their wives?

SB 11.8.37 - Although I most stubbornly hoped to enjoy the material world, somehow or other detachment has arisen in my heart, and it is making me very happy. Therefore the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu, must be pleased with me. Without even knowing it, I must have performed some activity satisfying to Him.

SB 11.8.38 - A person who has developed detachment can give up the bondage of material society, friendship and love, and a person who undergoes great suffering gradually becomes, out of hopelessness, detached and indifferent to the material world. Thus, due to my great suffering, such detachment awoke in my heart; yet how could I have undergone such merciful suffering if I were actually unfortunate? Therefore, I am in fact fortunate and have received the mercy of the Lord. He must somehow or other be pleased with me.

SB 11.8.39 - With devotion I accept the great benefit that the Lord has bestowed upon me. Having given up my sinful desires for ordinary sense gratification, I now take shelter of Him, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.8.40 - I am now completely satisfied, and I have full faith in the Lord's mercy. Therefore I will maintain myself with whatever comes of its own accord. I shall enjoy life with only the Lord, because He is the real source of love and happiness.

SB 11.8.41 - The intelligence of the living entity is stolen away by activities of sense gratification, and thus he falls into the dark well of material existence. Within that well he is then seized by the deadly serpent of time. Who else but the Supreme Personality of Godhead could save the poor living entity from such a hopeless condition?

SB 11.8.42 - When the living entity sees that the entire universe has been seized by the serpent of time, he becomes sober and sane and at that time detaches himself from all material sense gratification. In that condition the living entity is qualified to be his own protector.

SB 11.8.43 - The avadhüta said: Thus, her mind completely made up, Piñgalā cut off all her sinful desires to enjoy sex pleasure with lovers, and she became situated in perfect peace. Then she sat down on her bed.

SB 11.8.44 - Material desire is undoubtedly the cause of the greatest unhappiness, and freedom from such desire is the cause of the greatest happiness. Therefore, completely cutting off her desire to enjoy so-called lovers, Piñgalā very happily went to sleep.

17 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.9.1 - The saintly brähmaëa said: Everyone considers certain things within the material world to be most dear to him, and because of attachment to such things one eventually becomes miserable. One who understands this gives up material possessiveness and attachment and thus achieves unlimited happiness.

SB 11.9.2 - Once a group of large hawks who were unable to find any prey attacked another, weaker hawk who was holding some meat. At that time, being in danger of his life, the hawk gave up his meat and experienced actual happiness.

SB 11.9.3 - In family life, the parents are always in anxiety about their home, children and reputation. But I have nothing to do with these things. I do not worry at all about any family, and I do not care about honor and dishonor. I enjoy only the life of the soul, and I find love on the spiritual platform. Thus I wander the earth like a child.

SB 11.9.4 - In this world two types of people are free from all anxiety and merged in great happiness: one who is a retarded and childish fool and one who has approached the Supreme Lord, who is beyond the three modes of material nature.

SB 11.9.5 - Once a marriageable young girl was alone in her house because her parents and relatives had gone that day to another place. At that time a few men arrived at the house, specifically desiring to marry her. She received them with all hospitality.

SB 11.9.6 - The girl went to a private place and began to make preparations so that the unexpected male guests could eat. As she was beating the rice, the conchshell bracelets on her arms were colliding and making a loud noise.

SB 11.9.7 - The young girl feared that the men would consider her family to be poor because their daughter was busily engaged in the menial task of husking rice. Being very intelligent, the shy girl broke the shell bracelets from her arms, leaving just two on each wrist.

SB 11.9.8 - Thereafter, as the young girl continued to husk the rice, the two bracelets on each wrist continued to collide and make noise. Therefore she took one bracelet off each arm, and with only one left on each wrist there was no more noise.

SB 11.9.9 - O subduer of the enemy, I travel throughout the surface of the earth learning constantly about the nature of this world, and thus I personally witnessed the lesson of the young girl.

SB 11.9.10 - When many people live together in one place there will undoubtedly be quarreling. And even if only two people live together there will be frivolous conversation and disagreement. Therefore, to avoid conflict, one should live alone, as we learn from the example of the bracelet of the young girl.

SB 11.9.11 - Having perfected the yoga sitting postures and conquered the breathing process, one should make the mind steady by detachment and the regulated practice of yoga. Thus one should carefully fix the mind on the single goal of yoga practice.

SB 11.9.12 - The mind can be controlled when it is fixed on the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Having achieved a stable situation, the mind becomes free from polluted desires to execute material activities; thus as the mode of goodness increases in strength, one can completely give up the modes of passion and ignorance, and gradually one transcends even the material mode of goodness. When the mind is freed from the fuel of the modes of nature, the fire of material existence is extinguished. Then one achieves the transcendental platform of direct relationship with the object of his meditation, the Supreme Lord.

SB 11.9.13 - Thus, when one's consciousness is completely fixed on the Absolute Truth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, one no longer sees duality, or internal and external reality. The example is given of the arrow maker who was so absorbed in making a straight arrow that he did not even see or notice the king himself, who was passing right next to him.

SB 11.9.14 - A saintly person should remain alone and constantly travel without any fixed residence. Being alert, he should remain secluded and should act in such a way that he is not recognized or noticed by others. Moving without companions, he should not speak more than required.

SB 11.9.15 - When a person living in a temporary material body tries to construct a happy home, the result is fruitless and miserable. The snake, however, enters a home that has been built by others and prospers happily.

SB 11.9.16 - The Lord of the universe, Nārāyaṇa, is the worshipable God of all living entities. Without extraneous assistance, the Lord creates this universe by His own potency, and at the time of annihilation the Lord destroys the universe through His personal expansion of time and withdraws all of the cosmos, including all the conditioned living entities, within Himself. Thus, His unlimited Self is the shelter and reservoir of all potencies. The subtle pradhāna, the basis of all cosmic manifestation, is conserved within the Lord and is in this way not different from Him. In the aftermath of annihilation the Lord stands alone.

SB 11.9.17-18 - When the Supreme Personality of Godhead displays His own potency in the form of time and guides His material potencies, such as the mode of goodness, into a neutral condition of equilibrium, He remains as the supreme controller of that neutral state, called pradhāna, as well as of the living entities. He is also the supreme worshipable object for all beings, including liberated souls, demigods and ordinary conditioned souls. The Lord is eternally free from any material designation, and He constitutes the totality of spiritual bliss, which one experiences by seeing the Lord's spiritual form. The Lord thus exhibits the fullest meaning of the word "liberation."

SB 11.9.19 - O subduer of the enemies, at the time of creation the Personality of Godhead expands His own transcendental potency in the form of time, and agitating His material energy, māyā, composed of the three modes of material nature, He creates the mahat-tattva.

SB 11.9.20 - According to great sages, that which is the basis of the three modes of material nature and which manifests the variegated universe is called the sūtra or mahat-tattva. Indeed, this universe is resting within that mahat-tattva, and due to its potency the living entity undergoes material existence.

SB 11.9.21 - Just as from within himself the spider expands thread through his mouth, plays with it for some time and eventually swallows it, similarly, the Supreme Personality of Godhead expands His personal potency from within Himself. Thus, the Lord displays the network of cosmic manifestation, utilizes it according to His purpose and eventually withdraws it completely within Himself.

SB 11.9.22 - If out of love, hate or fear an embodied soul fixes his mind with intelligence and complete concentration upon a particular bodily form, he will certainly attain the form that he is meditating upon.

SB 11.9.23 - O King, once a wasp forced a weaker insect to enter his hive and kept him trapped there. In great fear the weak insect constantly meditated upon his captor, and without giving up his body, he gradually achieved the same state of existence as the wasp. Thus one achieves a state of existence according to one's constant concentration.

SB 11.9.24 - O King, from all these spiritual masters I have acquired great wisdom. Now please listen as I explain what I learned from my own body.

SB 11.9.25 - The material body is also my spiritual master because it teaches me detachment. Being subject to creation and destruction, it always comes to a painful end. Thus, although using my body to acquire knowledge,

I always remember that it will ultimately be consumed by others, and remaining detached, I move about this world.

SB 11.9.26 - A man attached to the body accumulates money with great struggle to expand and protect the position of his wife, children, property, domestic animals, servants, homes, relatives, friends, and so on. He does all this for the gratification of his own body. As a tree before dying produces the seed of a future tree, the dying body manifests the seed of one's next material body in the form of one's accumulated karma. Thus assuring the continuation of material existence, the material body sinks down and dies.

SB 11.9.27 - A man who has many wives is constantly harassed by them. He is responsible for their maintenance, and thus all the ladies constantly pull him in different directions, each struggling for her self-interest. Similarly, the material senses harass the conditioned soul, pulling him in many different directions at once. On one side the tongue is pulling him to arrange tasty food; then thirst drags him to get a suitable drink. Simultaneously the sex organs clamor for satisfaction, and the sense of touch demands soft, sensuous objects. The belly harasses him until it is filled, the ears demand to hear pleasing sounds, the sense of smell hankers for pleasant aromas, and the fickle eyes clamor for pleasing sights. Thus the senses, organs and limbs, all desiring satisfaction, pull the living entity in many directions.

SB 11.9.28 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, expanding His own potency, māyā-çakti, created innumerable species of life to house the conditioned souls. Yet by creating the forms of trees, reptiles, animals, birds, snakes and so on, the Lord was not satisfied within His heart. Then He created human life, which offers the conditioned soul sufficient intelligence to perceive the Absolute Truth, and became pleased.

SB 11.9.29 - After many, many births and deaths one achieves the rare human form of life, which, although temporary, affords one the opportunity to attain the highest perfection. Thus a sober human being should quickly endeavor for the ultimate perfection of life as long as his body, which is always subject to death, has not fallen down and died. After all, sense gratification is available even in the most abominable species of life, whereas Kāñëa consciousness is possible only for a human being.

SB 11.9.30 - Having learned from my spiritual masters, I remain situated in realization of the Supreme Personality of Godhead and, fully renounced and enlightened by realized spiritual knowledge, wander the earth without attachment or false ego.

SB 11.9.31 - Although the Absolute Truth is one without a second, the sages have described Him in many different ways. Therefore one may not be able to acquire very firm or complete knowledge from one spiritual master.

SB 11.9.32 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having thus spoken to King Yadu, the wise brāhmaëa accepted obeisances and worship from the King and felt pleased within himself. Then bidding farewell, he left exactly as he had come.

SB 11.9.33 - O Uddhava, hearing the words of the avadhüta, the saintly King Yadu, who is the forefather of our own ancestors, became free from all material attachment, and thus his mind was evenly fixed on the spiritual platform.

18 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.9.1 - The saintly brāhmaëa said: Everyone considers certain things within the material world to be most dear to him, and because of attachment to such things one eventually becomes miserable. One who understands this gives up material possessiveness and attachment and thus achieves unlimited happiness.

SB 11.9.2 - Once a group of large hawks who were unable to find any prey attacked another, weaker hawk who was holding some meat. At that time, being in danger of his life, the hawk gave up his meat and experienced actual happiness.

SB 11.9.3 - In family life, the parents are always in anxiety about their home, children and reputation. But I have nothing to do with these things. I do not worry at all about any family, and I do not care about honor and dishonor. I enjoy only the life of the soul, and I find love on the spiritual platform. Thus I wander the earth like a child.

SB 11.9.4 - In this world two types of people are free from all anxiety and merged in great happiness: one who is a retarded and childish fool and one who has approached the Supreme Lord, who is beyond the three modes of material nature.

SB 11.9.5 - Once a marriageable young girl was alone in her house because her parents and relatives had gone that day to another place. At that time a few men arrived at the house, specifically desiring to marry her. She received them with all hospitality.

SB 11.9.6 - The girl went to a private place and began to make preparations so that the unexpected male guests could eat. As she was beating the rice, the conchshell bracelets on her arms were colliding and making a loud noise.

SB 11.9.7 - The young girl feared that the men would consider her family to be poor because their daughter was busily engaged in the menial task of husking rice. Being very intelligent, the shy girl broke the shell bracelets from her arms, leaving just two on each wrist.

SB 11.9.8 - Thereafter, as the young girl continued to husk the rice, the two bracelets on each wrist continued to collide and make noise. Therefore she took one bracelet off each arm, and with only one left on each wrist there was no more noise.

SB 11.9.9 - O subduer of the enemy, I travel throughout the surface of the earth learning constantly about the nature of this world, and thus I personally witnessed the lesson of the young girl.

SB 11.9.10 - When many people live together in one place there will undoubtedly be quarreling. And even if only two people live together there will be frivolous conversation and disagreement. Therefore, to avoid conflict, one should live alone, as we learn from the example of the bracelet of the young girl.

SB 11.9.11 - Having perfected the yoga sitting postures and conquered the breathing process, one should make the mind steady by detachment and the regulated practice of yoga. Thus one should carefully fix the mind on the single goal of yoga practice.

SB 11.9.12 - The mind can be controlled when it is fixed on the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Having achieved a stable situation, the mind becomes free from polluted desires to execute material activities; thus as the mode of goodness increases in strength, one can completely give up the modes of passion and ignorance, and gradually one transcends even the material mode of goodness. When the mind is freed from the fuel of the modes of nature, the fire of material existence is extinguished. Then one achieves the transcendental platform of direct relationship with the object of his meditation, the Supreme Lord.

SB 11.9.13 - Thus, when one's consciousness is completely fixed on the Absolute Truth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, one no longer sees duality, or internal and external reality. The example is given of the arrow maker who was so absorbed in making a straight arrow that he did not even see or notice the king himself, who was passing right next to him.

SB 11.9.14 - A saintly person should remain alone and constantly travel without any fixed residence. Being alert, he should remain secluded and should act in such a way that he is not recognized or noticed by others. Moving without companions, he should not speak more than required.

SB 11.9.15 - When a person living in a temporary material body tries to construct a happy home, the result is fruitless and miserable. The snake, however, enters a home that has been built by others and prospers happily.

SB 11.9.16 - The Lord of the universe, Nārāyaṇa, is the worshipable God of all living entities. Without extraneous assistance, the Lord creates this universe by His own potency, and at the time of annihilation the Lord destroys the universe through His personal expansion of time and withdraws all of the cosmos, including all the conditioned living entities, within Himself. Thus, His unlimited Self is the shelter and reservoir of all potencies. The subtle pradhāna, the basis of all cosmic manifestation, is conserved within the Lord and is in this way not different from Him. In the aftermath of annihilation the Lord stands alone.

SB 11.9.17-18 - When the Supreme Personality of Godhead displays His own potency in the form of time and guides His material potencies, such as the mode of goodness, into a neutral condition of equilibrium, He remains as the supreme controller of that neutral state, called pradhāna, as well as of the living entities. He is also the supreme worshipable object for all beings, including liberated souls, demigods and ordinary conditioned souls. The Lord is eternally free from any material designation, and He constitutes the totality of spiritual bliss, which one experiences by seeing the Lord's spiritual form. The Lord thus exhibits the fullest meaning of the word "liberation."

SB 11.9.19 - O subduer of the enemies, at the time of creation the Personality of Godhead expands His own transcendental potency in the form of time, and agitating His material energy, māyā, composed of the three modes of material nature, He creates the mahat-tattva.

SB 11.9.20 - According to great sages, that which is the basis of the three modes of material nature and which manifests the variegated universe is called the sūtra or mahat-tattva. Indeed, this universe is resting within that mahat-tattva, and due to its potency the living entity undergoes material existence.

SB 11.9.21 - Just as from within himself the spider expands thread through his mouth, plays with it for some time and eventually swallows it, similarly, the Supreme Personality of Godhead expands His personal potency from within Himself. Thus, the Lord displays the network of cosmic manifestation, utilizes it according to His purpose and eventually withdraws it completely within Himself.

SB 11.9.22 - If out of love, hate or fear an embodied soul fixes his mind with intelligence and complete concentration upon a particular bodily form, he will certainly attain the form that he is meditating upon.

SB 11.9.23 - O King, once a wasp forced a weaker insect to enter his hive and kept him trapped there. In great fear the weak insect constantly meditated upon his captor, and without giving up his body, he gradually achieved the same state of existence as the wasp. Thus one achieves a state of existence according to one's constant concentration.

SB 11.9.24 - O King, from all these spiritual masters I have acquired great wisdom. Now please listen as I explain what I learned from my own body.

SB 11.9.25 - The material body is also my spiritual master because it teaches me detachment. Being subject to creation and destruction, it always comes to a painful end. Thus, although using my body to acquire knowledge, I always remember that it will ultimately be consumed by others, and remaining detached, I move about this world.

SB 11.9.26 - A man attached to the body accumulates money with great struggle to expand and protect the position of his wife, children, property, domestic animals, servants, homes, relatives, friends, and so on. He does all this for the gratification of his own body. As a tree before dying produces the seed of a future tree, the dying body manifests the seed of one's next material body in the form of one's accumulated karma. Thus assuring the continuation of material existence, the material body sinks down and dies.

SB 11.9.27 - A man who has many wives is constantly harassed by them. He is responsible for their maintenance, and thus all the ladies constantly pull him in different directions, each struggling for her self-interest. Similarly, the material senses harass the conditioned soul, pulling him in many different directions at once. On one side the tongue is pulling him to arrange tasty food; then thirst drags him to get a suitable drink. Simultaneously the sex organs clamor for satisfaction, and the sense of touch demands soft, sensuous objects. The belly harasses him until it is filled, the ears demand to hear pleasing sounds, the sense of smell hankers for pleasant aromas, and the fickle eyes clamor for pleasing sights. Thus the senses, organs and limbs, all desiring satisfaction, pull the living entity in many directions.

SB 11.9.28 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, expanding His own

potency, māyā-çakti, created innumerable species of life to house the conditioned souls. Yet by creating the forms of trees, reptiles, animals, birds, snakes and so on, the Lord was not satisfied within His heart. Then He created human life, which offers the conditioned soul sufficient intelligence to perceive the Absolute Truth, and became pleased.

SB 11.9.29 - After many, many births and deaths one achieves the rare human form of life, which, although temporary, affords one the opportunity to attain the highest perfection. Thus a sober human being should quickly endeavor for the ultimate perfection of life as long as his body, which is always subject to death, has not fallen down and died. After all, sense gratification is available even in the most abominable species of life, whereas Kāññea consciousness is possible only for a human being.

SB 11.9.30 - Having learned from my spiritual masters, I remain situated in realization of the Supreme Personality of Godhead and, fully renounced and enlightened by realized spiritual knowledge, wander the earth without attachment or false ego.

SB 11.9.31 - Although the Absolute Truth is one without a second, the sages have described Him in many different ways. Therefore one may not be able to acquire very firm or complete knowledge from one spiritual master.

SB 11.9.32 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having thus spoken to King Yadu, the wise brāhmaëa accepted obeisances and worship from the King and felt pleased within himself. Then bidding farewell, he left exactly as he had come.

SB 11.9.33 - O Uddhava, hearing the words of the avadhüta, the saintly King Yadu, who is the forefather of our own ancestors, became free from all material attachment, and thus his mind was evenly fixed on the spiritual platform.

19 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.10.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Taking full shelter in Me, with the mind carefully fixed in the devotional service of the Lord as spoken by Me, one should live without personal desire and practice the social and occupational system called varëäçrama.

SB 11.10.2 - A purified soul should see that because the conditioned souls who are dedicated to sense gratification have falsely accepted the objects of sense pleasure as truth, all of their endeavors are doomed to failure.

SB 11.10.3 - One who is sleeping may see many objects of sense gratification in a dream, but such pleasurable things are merely creations of the mind and are thus ultimately useless. Similarly, the living entity who is asleep to his spiritual identity also sees many sense objects, but these innumerable objects of temporary gratification are creations of the Lord's illusory potency and have no permanent existence. One who meditates upon them, impelled by the senses, uselessly engages his intelligence.

SB 11.10.4 - One who has fixed Me within his mind as the goal of life should give up activities based on sense gratification and should instead execute work governed by the regulative principles for advancement. When, however, one is fully engaged in searching out the ultimate truth of the soul, one should not accept the scriptural injunctions governing fruitive activities.

SB 11.10.5 - One who has accepted Me as the supreme goal of life should strictly observe the scriptural injunctions forbidding sinful activities and, as far as possible, should execute the injunctions prescribing minor regulative duties such as cleanliness. Ultimately, however, one should approach a bona fide spiritual master who is full in knowledge of Me as I am, who is peaceful, and who by spiritual elevation is not different from Me.

SB 11.10.6 - The servant or disciple of the spiritual master should be free from false prestige, never considering himself to be the doer. He should be active and never lazy and should give up all sense of proprietorship over the objects of the senses, including his wife, children, home and society. He should be endowed with feelings of loving friendship toward the spiritual master and should never become deviated or bewildered. The servant or disciple should always desire advancement in spiritual understanding, should not envy anyone and should always avoid useless conversation.

SB 11.10.7 - One should see one's real self-interest in life in all circumstances and should therefore remain detached from wife, children, home, land, relatives, friends, wealth and so on.

SB 11.10.8 - Just as fire, which burns and illuminates, is different from firewood, which is to be burned to give illumination, similarly the seer within the body, the self-enlightened spirit soul, is different from the material body, which is to be illuminated by consciousness. Thus the spirit soul and the body possess different characteristics and are separate entities.

SB 11.10.9 - Just as fire may appear differently as dormant, manifest, weak, brilliant and so on, according to the condition of the fuel, similarly, the spirit soul enters a material body and accepts particular bodily characteristics.

SB 11.10.10 - The subtle and gross material bodies are created by the material modes of nature, which expand from the potency of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Material existence occurs when the living entity falsely accepts the qualities of the gross and subtle bodies as being his own factual nature. This illusory state, however, can be destroyed by real knowledge.

SB 11.10.11 - Therefore, by the cultivation of knowledge one should approach the Supreme Personality of Godhead situated within oneself. By understanding the Lord's pure, transcendental existence, one should gradually give up the false vision of the material world as independent reality.

SB 11.10.12 - The spiritual master can be compared to the lower kindling stick, the disciple to the upper kindling stick, and the instruction given by the guru to the third stick placed in between. The transcendental knowledge communicated from guru to disciple is compared to the fire arising from the contact of these, which burns the darkness of ignorance to ashes, bringing great happiness both to guru and disciple.

SB 11.10.13 - By submissively hearing from an expert spiritual master, the expert disciple develops pure knowledge, which repels the onslaught of material illusion arising from the three modes of material nature. Finally this pure knowledge itself ceases, just as fire ceases when the stock of fuel has been consumed.

SB 11.10.14-16 - My dear Uddhava, I have thus explained to you perfect knowledge. There are philosophers, however, who challenge My conclusion. They state that the natural position of the living entity is to engage in fruitive activities, and they see him as the enjoyer of the happiness and unhappiness that accrue from his own work. According to this materialistic philosophy, the world, time, the revealed scriptures and the self are all variegated and eternal, existing as a perpetual flow of transformations. Knowledge, moreover, cannot be one or eternal, because it arises from the different and changing forms of objects; thus knowledge itself is always subject to change. Even if you accept such a philosophy, My dear Uddhava, there will still be perpetual birth, death, old age and disease, since all living entities must accept a material body subject to the influence of time.

SB 11.10.17 - Although the performer of fruitive activities desires perpetual happiness, it is clearly observed that materialistic workers are often unhappy and only occasionally satisfied, thus proving that they are not independent or in control of their destiny. When a person is always under the superior control of another, how can he expect any valuable results from his own fruitive actions?

SB 11.10.18 - It is observed within the material world that sometimes even an intelligent person is not happy. Similarly, sometimes even a great fool is happy. The concept of becoming happy through expertly performing material activities is simply a useless exhibition of false egotism.

SB 11.10.19 - Even if people know how to achieve happiness and avoid unhappiness, they still do not know the process by which death will not be able to exert its power over them.

SB 11.10.20 - Death is not at all pleasing, and since everyone is exactly like a condemned man being led to the place of execution, what possible happiness can people derive from material objects or the gratification they provide?

SB 11.10.21 - That material happiness of which we hear, such as promotion to heavenly planets for celestial enjoyment, is just like that material happiness we have already experienced. Both are polluted by jealousy, envy, decay and death. Therefore, just as an attempt to raise crops becomes fruitless if there are many problems like crop disease, insect plague or drought, similarly, the attempt to attain material happiness, either on earth or on the heavenly planets, is always fruitless because of innumerable obstacles.

SB 11.10.22 - If one performs Vedic sacrifices and fruitive rituals without any mistake or contamination, one will achieve a heavenly situation in the next life. But even this result, which is only achieved by perfect performance of fruitive rituals, will be vanquished by time. Now hear of this.

SB 11.10.23 - If on earth one performs sacrifices for the satisfaction of the demigods, he goes to the heavenly planets, where, just like a demigod, he enjoys all of the heavenly pleasures he has earned by his performances.

SB 11.10.24 - Having achieved the heavenly planets, the performer of ritualistic sacrifices travels in a glowing airplane, which he obtains as the result of his piety on earth. Being glorified by songs sung by the Gandharvas and dressed in wonderfully charming clothes, he enjoys life surrounded by heavenly goddesses.

SB 11.10.25 - Accompanied by heavenly women, the enjoyer of the fruits of sacrifice goes on pleasure rides in a wonderful airplane, which is decorated with circles of tinkling bells and which flies wherever he desires. Being relaxed, comfortable and happy in the heavenly pleasure gardens, he does not consider that he is exhausting the fruits of his piety and will soon fall down to the mortal world.

SB 11.10.26 - Until his pious results are used up, the performer of sacrifice enjoys life in the heavenly planets. When the pious results are exhausted, however, he falls down from the pleasure gardens of heaven, being moved against his desire by the force of eternal time.

SB 11.10.27-29 - If a human being is engaged in sinful, irreligious activities, either because of bad association or because of his failure to control his senses, then such a person will certainly develop a personality full of material desires. He thus becomes miserly toward others, greedy and always anxious to exploit the bodies of women. When the mind is so polluted one becomes violent and aggressive and without the authority of Vedic injunctions slaughters innocent animals for sense gratification. Worshiping ghosts and spirits, the bewildered person falls fully into the grip of unauthorized activities and thus goes to hell, where he receives a material body infected by the darkest modes of nature. In such a degraded body, he unfortunately continues to perform inauspicious activities that greatly increase his future unhappiness, and therefore he again accepts a similar material body. What possible happiness can there be for one who engages in activities inevitably terminating in death?

SB 11.10.30 - In all the planetary systems, from the heavenly to the hellish, and for all of the great demigods who live for one thousand yuga cycles, there is fear of Me in My form of time. Even Brahmā, who possesses the supreme life span of 311,040,000,000,000 years, is also afraid of Me.

SB 11.10.31 - The material senses create material activities, either pious or sinful, and the modes of nature set the material senses into motion. The living entity, being fully engaged by the material senses and modes of nature, experiences the various results of fruitive work.

SB 11.10.32 - As long as the living entity thinks that the modes of material nature have separate existences, he will be obliged to take birth in many different forms and will experience varieties of material existence. Therefore, the living entity remains completely dependent on fruitive activities under the modes of nature.

SB 11.10.33 - The conditioned soul who remains dependent on fruitive activities under the material modes of nature will continue to fear Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, since I impose the results of one's fruitive activities. Those who accept the material concept of life, taking the variegatedness of the modes of nature to be factual, devote themselves to material enjoyment and are therefore always absorbed in lamentation and grief.

SB 11.10.34 - When there is agitation and interaction of the material modes of nature, the living entities then describe Me in various ways such as all-powerful time, the Self, Vedic knowledge, the universe, one's own nature, religious ceremonies and so on.

SB 11.10.35 - Çré Uddhava said: O my Lord, a living entity situated within the material body is surrounded by the modes of nature and the happiness and distress that are born of activities caused by these modes. How is it possible that he is not bound by this material encirclement? It may also be said that the living entity is ultimately transcendental and has nothing to do with the material world. Then how is he ever bound by material nature?

SB 11.10.36-37 - O my Lord, Acyuta, the same living entity is sometimes described as eternally conditioned and at other times as eternally liberated. I am not able to understand, therefore, the actual situation of the living entity. You, my Lord, are the best of those who are expert in answering philosophical questions. Please explain to me the symptoms by which one can tell the difference between a living entity who is eternally liberated and one who is eternally conditioned. In what various ways would they remain situated, enjoy life, eat, evacuate, lie down, sit or move about?

20 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.10.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Taking full shelter in Me, with the mind carefully fixed in the devotional service of the Lord as spoken by Me, one should live without personal desire and practice the social and occupational system called varëäçrama.

SB 11.10.2 - A purified soul should see that because the conditioned souls who are dedicated to sense gratification have falsely accepted the objects of sense pleasure as truth, all of their endeavors are doomed to failure.

SB 11.10.3 - One who is sleeping may see many objects of sense gratification in a dream, but such pleasurable things are merely creations of the mind and are thus ultimately useless. Similarly, the living entity who is asleep to his spiritual identity also sees many sense objects, but these innumerable objects of temporary gratification are creations of the Lord's illusory potency and have no permanent existence. One who meditates upon them, impelled by the senses, uselessly engages his intelligence.

SB 11.10.4 - One who has fixed Me within his mind as the goal of life should give up activities based on sense gratification and should instead execute work governed by the regulative principles for advancement. When, however, one is fully engaged in searching out the ultimate truth of the soul, one should not accept the scriptural injunctions governing fruitive activities.

SB 11.10.5 - One who has accepted Me as the supreme goal of life should strictly observe the scriptural injunctions forbidding sinful activities and, as far as possible, should execute the injunctions prescribing minor regulative duties such as cleanliness. Ultimately, however, one should approach a bona fide spiritual master who is full in knowledge of Me as I am, who is peaceful, and who by spiritual elevation is not different from Me.

SB 11.10.6 - The servant or disciple of the spiritual master should be free from false prestige, never considering himself to be the doer. He should be active and never lazy and should give up all sense of proprietorship over the objects of the senses, including his wife, children, home and society. He should be endowed with feelings of loving friendship toward the spiritual master and should never become deviated or bewildered. The servant or disciple should always desire advancement in spiritual understanding, should not envy anyone and should always avoid useless conversation.

SB 11.10.7 - One should see one's real self-interest in life in all circumstances and should therefore remain detached from wife, children, home, land, relatives, friends, wealth and so on.

SB 11.10.8 - Just as fire, which burns and illuminates, is different from firewood, which is to be burned to give illumination, similarly the seer within the body, the self-enlightened spirit soul, is different from the material body, which is to be illuminated by consciousness. Thus the spirit soul and the body possess different characteristics and are separate entities.

SB 11.10.9 - Just as fire may appear differently as dormant, manifest, weak, brilliant and so on, according to the condition of the fuel, similarly, the spirit soul enters a material body and accepts particular bodily characteristics.

SB 11.10.10 - The subtle and gross material bodies are created by the material modes of nature, which expand from the potency of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Material existence occurs when the living entity falsely accepts the qualities of the gross and subtle bodies as being his own factual nature. This illusory state, however, can be destroyed by real knowledge.

SB 11.10.11 - Therefore, by the cultivation of knowledge one should approach the Supreme Personality of Godhead situated within oneself. By understanding the Lord's pure, transcendental existence, one should gradually give up the false vision of the material world as independent reality.

SB 11.10.12 - The spiritual master can be compared to the lower kindling stick, the disciple to the upper kindling stick, and the instruction given by the guru to the third stick placed in between. The transcendental knowledge communicated from guru to disciple is compared to the fire arising from the contact of these, which burns the darkness of ignorance to ashes, bringing great happiness both to guru and disciple.

SB 11.10.13 - By submissively hearing from an expert spiritual master, the expert disciple develops pure knowledge, which repels the onslaught of material illusion arising from the three modes of material nature. Finally this pure knowledge itself ceases, just as fire ceases when the stock of fuel has been consumed.

SB 11.10.14-16 - My dear Uddhava, I have thus explained to you perfect knowledge. There are philosophers, however, who challenge My conclusion. They state that the natural position of the living entity is to engage in fruitive activities, and they see him as the enjoyer of the happiness and unhappiness that accrue from his own work. According to this materialistic philosophy, the world, time, the revealed scriptures and the self are all variegated and eternal, existing as a perpetual flow of transformations. Knowledge, moreover, cannot be one or eternal, because it arises from the different and changing forms of objects; thus knowledge itself is always subject to change. Even if you accept such a philosophy, My dear Uddhava, there will still be perpetual birth, death, old age and disease, since all living entities must accept a material body subject to the influence of time.

SB 11.10.17 - Although the performer of fruitive activities desires perpetual happiness, it is clearly observed that materialistic workers are often unhappy and only occasionally satisfied, thus proving that they are not independent or in control of their destiny. When a person is always under the superior control of another, how can he expect any valuable results from his own fruitive actions?

SB 11.10.18 - It is observed within the material world that sometimes even an intelligent person is not happy. Similarly, sometimes even a great fool is happy. The concept of becoming happy through expertly performing material activities is simply a useless exhibition of false egotism.

SB 11.10.19 - Even if people know how to achieve happiness and avoid unhappiness, they still do not know the process by which death will not be able to exert its power over them.

SB 11.10.20 - Death is not at all pleasing, and since everyone is exactly like a condemned man being led to the place of execution, what possible happiness can people derive from material objects or the gratification they provide?

SB 11.10.21 - That material happiness of which we hear, such as promotion to heavenly planets for celestial enjoyment, is just like that material happiness we have already experienced. Both are polluted by jealousy, envy, decay and death. Therefore, just as an attempt to raise crops becomes fruitless if there are many problems like crop disease, insect plague or drought, similarly, the attempt to attain material happiness, either on earth or on the heavenly planets, is always fruitless because of innumerable obstacles.

SB 11.10.22 - If one performs Vedic sacrifices and fruitive rituals without any mistake or contamination, one will achieve a heavenly situation in the next life. But even this result, which is only achieved by perfect performance of fruitive rituals, will be vanquished by time. Now hear of this.

SB 11.10.23 - If on earth one performs sacrifices for the satisfaction of the demigods, he goes to the heavenly planets, where, just like a demigod, he enjoys all of the heavenly pleasures he has earned by his performances.

SB 11.10.24 - Having achieved the heavenly planets, the performer of ritualistic sacrifices travels in a glowing airplane, which he obtains as the result of his piety on earth. Being glorified by songs sung by the Gandharvas and dressed in wonderfully charming clothes, he enjoys life surrounded by heavenly goddesses.

SB 11.10.25 - Accompanied by heavenly women, the enjoyer of the fruits of sacrifice goes on pleasure rides in a wonderful airplane, which is decorated with circles of tinkling bells and which flies wherever he desires. Being relaxed, comfortable and happy in the heavenly pleasure gardens, he does not consider that he is exhausting the fruits of his piety and will soon fall down to the mortal world.

SB 11.10.26 - Until his pious results are used up, the performer of sacrifice enjoys life in the heavenly planets. When the pious results are exhausted, however, he falls down from the pleasure gardens of heaven, being moved against his desire by the force of eternal time.

SB 11.10.27-29 - If a human being is engaged in sinful, irreligious activities, either because of bad association or because of his failure to control his senses, then such a person will certainly develop a personality full of material desires. He thus becomes miserly toward others, greedy and always anxious to exploit the bodies of women. When the mind is so polluted one becomes violent and aggressive and without the authority of Vedic injunctions slaughters innocent animals for sense gratification. Worshiping ghosts and spirits, the bewildered person falls fully into the grip of unauthorized activities and thus goes to hell, where he receives a material body infected by the darkest modes of nature. In such a degraded body, he unfortunately continues to perform inauspicious activities that greatly increase his future unhappiness, and therefore he again accepts a similar material body. What possible happiness can there be for one who engages in activities inevitably terminating in death?

SB 11.10.30 - In all the planetary systems, from the heavenly to the hellish, and for all of the great demigods who live for one thousand yuga cycles, there is fear of Me in My form of time. Even Brahmā, who possesses the supreme life span of 311,040,000,000,000 years, is also afraid of Me.

SB 11.10.31 - The material senses create material activities, either pious or sinful, and the modes of nature set the material senses into motion. The living entity, being fully engaged by the material senses and modes of nature, experiences the various results of fruitive work.

SB 11.10.32 - As long as the living entity thinks that the modes of material nature have separate existences, he will be obliged to take birth in many different forms and will experience varieties of material existence. Therefore, the living entity remains completely dependent on fruitive activities under the modes of nature.

SB 11.10.33 - The conditioned soul who remains dependent on fruitive activities under the material modes of nature will continue to fear Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, since I impose the results of one's fruitive activities. Those who accept the material concept of life, taking the variegatedness of the modes of nature to be factual, devote themselves to material enjoyment and are therefore always absorbed in lamentation and grief.

SB 11.10.34 - When there is agitation and interaction of the material modes of nature, the living entities then describe Me in various ways such as all-powerful time, the Self, Vedic knowledge, the universe, one's own nature, religious ceremonies and so on.

SB 11.10.35 - Çré Uddhava said: O my Lord, a living entity situated within the material body is surrounded by the modes of nature and the happiness and distress that are born of activities caused by these modes. How is it possible that he is not bound by this material encirclement? It may also be said that the living entity is ultimately transcendental and has nothing to do with the material world. Then how is he ever bound by material nature?

SB 11.10.36-37 - O my Lord, Acyuta, the same living entity is sometimes described as eternally conditioned and at other times as eternally liberated. I am not able to understand, therefore, the actual situation of the living entity. You, my Lord, are the best of those who are expert in answering philosophical questions. Please explain to me the symptoms by which one can tell the difference between a living entity who is eternally liberated and one who is eternally conditioned. In what various ways would they remain situated, enjoy life, eat, evacuate, lie down, sit or move about?

21 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.10.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Taking full shelter in Me, with the mind carefully fixed in the devotional service of the Lord as spoken by Me, one should live without personal desire and practice the social and occupational system called varëäçrama.

SB 11.10.2 - A purified soul should see that because the conditioned souls who are dedicated to sense gratification have falsely accepted the objects of sense pleasure as truth, all of their endeavors are doomed to failure.

SB 11.10.3 - One who is sleeping may see many objects of sense gratification in a dream, but such pleasurable things are merely creations of the mind and are thus ultimately useless. Similarly, the living entity who is asleep to his spiritual identity also sees many sense objects, but these innumerable objects of temporary gratification are creations of the Lord's illusory potency and have no permanent existence. One who meditates upon them, impelled by the senses, uselessly engages his intelligence.

SB 11.10.4 - One who has fixed Me within his mind as the goal of life should give up activities based on sense gratification and should instead execute work governed by the regulative principles for advancement. When, however, one is fully engaged in searching out the ultimate truth of the soul, one should not accept the scriptural injunctions governing fruitive activities.

SB 11.10.5 - One who has accepted Me as the supreme goal of life should strictly observe the scriptural injunctions forbidding sinful activities and, as far as possible, should execute the injunctions prescribing minor regulative duties such as cleanliness. Ultimately, however, one should approach a bona fide spiritual master who is full in knowledge of Me as I am, who is peaceful, and who by spiritual elevation is not different from Me.

SB 11.10.6 - The servant or disciple of the spiritual master should be free from false prestige, never considering himself to be the doer. He should be active and never lazy and should give up all sense of proprietorship over the objects of the senses, including his wife, children, home and society. He should be endowed with feelings of loving friendship toward the spiritual master and should never become deviated or bewildered. The servant or disciple should always desire advancement in spiritual understanding, should not envy anyone and should always avoid useless conversation.

SB 11.10.7 - One should see one's real self-interest in life in all circumstances and should therefore remain detached from wife, children, home, land, relatives, friends, wealth and so on.

SB 11.10.8 - Just as fire, which burns and illuminates, is different from firewood, which is to be burned to give illumination, similarly the seer within the body, the self-enlightened spirit soul, is different from the material body, which is to be illuminated by consciousness. Thus the spirit soul and the body possess different characteristics and are separate entities.

SB 11.10.9 - Just as fire may appear differently as dormant, manifest, weak, brilliant and so on, according to the condition of the fuel, similarly, the spirit soul enters a material body and accepts particular bodily characteristics.

SB 11.10.10 - The subtle and gross material bodies are created by the material modes of nature, which expand from the potency of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Material existence occurs when the living entity falsely accepts the qualities of the gross and subtle bodies as being his own factual nature. This illusory state, however, can be destroyed by real knowledge.

SB 11.10.11 - Therefore, by the cultivation of knowledge one should approach the Supreme Personality of Godhead situated within oneself. By understanding the Lord's pure, transcendental existence, one should gradually give up the false vision of the material world as independent reality.

SB 11.10.12 - The spiritual master can be compared to the lower kindling stick, the disciple to the upper kindling stick, and the instruction given by the guru to the third stick placed in between. The transcendental knowledge communicated from guru to disciple is compared to the fire arising from the contact of these, which burns the darkness of ignorance to ashes, bringing great happiness both to guru and disciple.

SB 11.10.13 - By submissively hearing from an expert spiritual master, the expert disciple develops pure knowledge, which repels the onslaught of material illusion arising from the three modes of material nature. Finally this pure knowledge itself ceases, just as fire ceases when the stock of fuel has been consumed.

SB 11.10.14-16 - My dear Uddhava, I have thus explained to you perfect knowledge. There are philosophers, however, who challenge My conclusion. They state that the natural position of the living entity is to engage in fruitive activities, and they see him as the enjoyer of the happiness and unhappiness that accrue from his own work. According to this materialistic philosophy, the world, time, the revealed scriptures and the self are all variegated and eternal, existing as a perpetual flow of transformations. Knowledge, moreover, cannot be one or eternal, because it arises from the different and changing forms of objects; thus knowledge itself is always subject to change. Even if you accept such a philosophy, My dear Uddhava, there will still be perpetual birth, death, old age and disease, since all living entities must accept a material body subject to the influence of time.

SB 11.10.17 - Although the performer of fruitive activities desires perpetual happiness, it is clearly observed that materialistic workers are often unhappy and only occasionally satisfied, thus proving that they are not independent or in control of their destiny. When a person is always under the superior control of another, how can he expect any valuable results from his own fruitive actions?

SB 11.10.18 - It is observed within the material world that sometimes even an intelligent person is not happy. Similarly, sometimes even a great fool is happy. The concept of becoming happy through expertly performing material activities is simply a useless exhibition of false egotism.

SB 11.10.19 - Even if people know how to achieve happiness and avoid unhappiness, they still do not know the process by which death will not be able to exert its power over them.

SB 11.10.20 - Death is not at all pleasing, and since everyone is exactly like a condemned man being led to the place of execution, what possible happiness can people derive from material objects or the gratification they provide?

SB 11.10.21 - That material happiness of which we hear, such as promotion to heavenly planets for celestial enjoyment, is just like that material happiness we have already experienced. Both are polluted by jealousy, envy, decay and death. Therefore, just as an attempt to raise crops becomes fruitless if there are many problems like crop disease, insect plague or drought, similarly, the attempt to attain material happiness, either on earth or on the heavenly planets, is always fruitless because of innumerable obstacles.

SB 11.10.22 - If one performs Vedic sacrifices and fruitive rituals without any mistake or contamination, one will achieve a heavenly situation in the next life. But even this result, which is only achieved by perfect performance of fruitive rituals, will be vanquished by time. Now hear of this.

SB 11.10.23 - If on earth one performs sacrifices for the satisfaction of the demigods, he goes to the heavenly planets, where, just like a demigod, he enjoys all of the heavenly pleasures he has earned by his performances.

SB 11.10.24 - Having achieved the heavenly planets, the performer of ritualistic sacrifices travels in a glowing airplane, which he obtains as the result of his piety on earth. Being glorified by songs sung by the Gandharvas and dressed in wonderfully charming clothes, he enjoys life surrounded by heavenly goddesses.

SB 11.10.25 - Accompanied by heavenly women, the enjoyer of the fruits of sacrifice goes on pleasure rides in a wonderful airplane, which is decorated with circles of tinkling bells and which flies wherever he desires. Being relaxed, comfortable and happy in the heavenly pleasure gardens, he does not consider that he is exhausting the fruits of his piety and will soon fall down to the mortal world.

SB 11.10.26 - Until his pious results are used up, the performer of sacrifice enjoys life in the heavenly planets. When the pious results are exhausted, however, he falls down from the pleasure gardens of heaven, being moved against his desire by the force of eternal time.

SB 11.10.27-29 - If a human being is engaged in sinful, irreligious activities, either because of bad association or because of his failure to control his senses, then such a person will certainly develop a personality full of material desires. He thus becomes miserly toward others, greedy and always anxious to exploit the bodies of women. When the mind is so polluted one becomes violent and aggressive and without the authority of Vedic injunctions slaughters innocent animals for sense gratification. Worshiping ghosts and spirits, the bewildered person falls fully into the grip of unauthorized activities and thus goes to hell, where he receives a material body infected by the darkest modes of nature. In such a degraded body, he unfortunately continues to perform inauspicious activities that greatly increase his future unhappiness, and therefore he again accepts a similar material body. What possible happiness can there be for one who engages in activities inevitably terminating in death?

SB 11.10.30 - In all the planetary systems, from the heavenly to the hellish, and for all of the great demigods who live for one thousand yuga cycles, there is fear of Me in My form of time. Even Brahmā, who possesses the supreme life span of 311,040,000,000,000 years, is also afraid of Me.

SB 11.10.31 - The material senses create material activities, either pious or sinful, and the modes of nature set the material senses into motion. The living entity, being fully engaged by the material senses and modes of nature, experiences the various results of fruitive work.

SB 11.10.32 - As long as the living entity thinks that the modes of material nature have separate existences, he will be obliged to take birth in many different forms and will experience varieties of material existence. Therefore, the living entity remains completely dependent on fruitive activities under the modes of nature.

SB 11.10.33 - The conditioned soul who remains dependent on fruitive activities under the material modes of nature will continue to fear Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, since I impose the results of one's fruitive activities. Those who accept the material concept of life, taking the variegatedness of the modes of nature to be factual, devote themselves to material enjoyment and are therefore always absorbed in lamentation and grief.

SB 11.10.34 - When there is agitation and interaction of the material modes of nature, the living entities then describe Me in various ways such as all-powerful time, the Self, Vedic knowledge, the universe, one's own nature, religious ceremonies and so on.

SB 11.10.35 - Çré Uddhava said: O my Lord, a living entity situated within the material body is surrounded by the modes of nature and the happiness and distress that are born of activities caused by these modes. How is it possible that he is not bound by this material encirclement? It may also be said that the living entity is ultimately transcendental and has nothing to do with the material world. Then how is he ever bound by material nature?

SB 11.10.36-37 - O my Lord, Acyuta, the same living entity is sometimes described as eternally conditioned and at other times as eternally liberated. I am not able to understand, therefore, the actual situation of the living entity. You, my Lord, are the best of those who are expert in answering philosophical questions. Please explain to me the symptoms by which one can tell the difference between a living entity who is eternally liberated and one who is eternally conditioned. In what various ways would they remain situated, enjoy life, eat, evacuate, lie down, sit or move about?

22 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.11.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, due to the influence of the material modes of nature, which are under My control, the living entity is sometimes designated as conditioned and sometimes as liberated. In fact, however, the soul is never really bound up or liberated, and since I am the supreme Lord of māyā, which is the cause of the modes of nature, I also am never to be considered liberated or in bondage.

SB 11.11.2 - Just as a dream is merely a creation of one's intelligence but has no actual substance, similarly, material lamentation, illusion, happiness, distress and the acceptance of the material body under the influence of mayā are all creations of My illusory energy. In other words, material existence has no essential reality.

SB 11.11.3 - O Uddhava, both knowledge and ignorance, being products of māyā, are expansions of My potency. Both knowledge and ignorance are beginningless and perpetually award liberation and bondage to embodied living beings.

SB 11.11.4 - O most intelligent Uddhava, the living entity, called jéva, is part and parcel of Me, but due to ignorance he has been suffering in material bondage since time immemorial. By knowledge, however, he can be liberated.

SB 11.11.5 - Thus, My dear Uddhava, in the same material body we find opposing characteristics, such as great happiness and misery. That is because both the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is eternally liberated, as well as the conditioned soul are within the body. I shall now speak to you about their different characteristics.

SB 11.11.6 - By chance, two birds have made a nest together in the same tree. The two birds are friends and are of a similar nature. One of them, however, is eating the fruits of the tree, whereas the other, who does not eat the fruits, is in a superior position due to His potency.

SB 11.11.7 - The bird who does not eat the fruits of the tree is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who by His omniscience perfectly understands His own position and that of the conditioned living entity, represented by the eating bird. That living entity, on the other hand, does not understand himself or the Lord. He is covered by ignorance and is thus called eternally conditioned, whereas the Personality of Godhead, being full of perfect knowledge, is eternally liberated.

SB 11.11.8 - One who is enlightened in self-realization, although living within the material body, sees himself as transcendental to the body, just as one who has arisen from a dream gives up identification with the dream body. A foolish person, however, although not identical with his material body but transcendental to it, thinks himself to be situated in the body, just as one who is dreaming sees himself as situated in an imaginary body.

SB 11.11.9 - An enlightened person who is free from the contamination of material desire does not consider himself to be the performer of bodily activities; rather, he knows that in all such activities it is only the senses, born of the modes of nature, that are contacting sense objects born of the same modes of nature.

SB 11.11.10 - An unintelligent person situated within the body created by his previous fruitive activities thinks, "I am the performer of action." Bewildered by false ego, such a foolish person is therefore bound up by fruitive activities, which are in fact carried out by the modes of nature.

SB 11.11.11 - An enlightened person fixed in detachment engages his body in lying down, sitting, walking, bathing, seeing, touching, smelling, eating, hearing and so on, but is never entangled by such activities. Indeed, remaining as a witness to all bodily functions, he merely engages his bodily senses with their objects and does not become entangled like an unintelligent person.

SB 11.11.12-13 - Although the sky, or space, is the resting place of everything, the sky does not mix with anything, nor is it entangled. Similarly, the sun is not at all attached to the water in which it is reflected within innumerable reservoirs, and the mighty wind blowing everywhere is not affected by the innumerable aromas and atmospheres through which it passes. In the same way, a self-realized soul is completely detached from the material body and the material world around it. He is like a person who has awakened and arisen from a dream. With expert vision sharpened by detachment, the self-realized soul cuts all doubts to pieces through knowledge of the self and completely withdraws his consciousness from the expansion of material variety.

SB 11.11.14 - A person is considered to be completely liberated from the gross and subtle material bodies when all the functions of his vital energy, senses, mind and intelligence are performed without material desire. Such a person, although situated within the body, is not entangled.

SB 11.11.15 - Sometimes for no apparent reason one's body is attacked by cruel people or violent animals. At other times and in other places, one will suddenly be offered great respect or worship. One who becomes neither angry when attacked nor satisfied when worshiped is actually intelligent.

SB 11.11.16 - A saintly sage sees with equal vision and therefore is not affected by that which is materially good or bad. Indeed, although he observes others performing good and bad work and speaking properly and improperly, the sage does not praise or criticize anyone.

SB 11.11.17 - For the purpose of maintaining his body, a liberated sage should not act, speak or contemplate in terms of material good or bad. Rather, he should be detached in all material circumstances, and taking pleasure in self-realization, he should wander about engaged in this liberated life-style, appearing like a retarded person to outsiders.

SB 11.11.18 - If through meticulous study one becomes expert in reading Vedic literature but makes no endeavor to fix one's mind on the Supreme Personality of Godhead, then one's endeavor is certainly like that of a man who works very hard to take care of a cow that gives no milk. In other words, the fruit of one's laborious study of Vedic knowledge will simply be the labor itself. There will be no other tangible result.

SB 11.11.19 - My dear Uddhava, that man is certainly most miserable who takes care of a cow that gives no milk, an unchaste wife, a body totally dependent on others, useless children or wealth not utilized for the right purpose. Similarly, one who studies Vedic knowledge devoid of My glories is also most miserable.

SB 11.11.20 - My dear Uddhava, an intelligent person should never take to literatures that do not contain descriptions of My activities, which purify the whole universe. Indeed, I create, maintain and annihilate the entire material manifestation. Among all My pastime incarnations, the most beloved are Kāñëa and Balarāma. Any so-called knowledge that does not recognize these activities of Mine is simply barren and is not acceptable to those who are actually intelligent.

SB 11.11.21 - Coming to this conclusion of all knowledge, one should give up the false conception of material variety that one imposes upon the soul and thus cease one's material existence. The mind should be fixed on Me, since I am all-pervading.

SB 11.11.22 - My dear Uddhava, if you are not able to free your mind from all material disturbance and thus absorb it completely on the spiritual platform, then perform all your activities as an offering to Me, without trying to enjoy the fruits.

SB 11.11.23-24 - My dear Uddhava, narrations of My pastimes and qualities are all-auspicious and purify the entire universe. A faithful person who constantly hears, glorifies and remembers such transcendental activities, who through dramatic performances relives My pastimes, beginning with My appearance, and who takes full shelter of Me, dedicating his religious, sensual and occupational activities for My satisfaction, certainly obtains unflinching devotional service to Me, the eternal Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.11.25 - One who has obtained pure devotional service by association with My devotees always engages in worshiping Me. Thus he very easily goes to My abode, which is revealed by My pure devotees.

SB 11.11.26-27 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, O Supreme Personality of Godhead, what type of person do You consider to be a true devotee, and what type of devotional service is approved by great devotees as worthy of being offered to Your Lordship? My dear ruler of the universal controllers, O Lord of Vaikuëha and almighty God of the universe, I am Your devotee, and because I love You I have no other shelter than You. Therefore please explain this to me.

SB 11.11.28 - My dear Lord, as the Absolute Truth You are transcendental to material nature, and like the sky You are never entangled in any way. Still, being controlled by Your devotees' love, You accept many different forms, incarnating according to Your devotees' desires.

SB 11.11.29-32 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O Uddhava, a saintly person is merciful and never injures others. Even if others are aggressive he is tolerant and forgiving toward all living entities. His strength and meaning in life come from the truth itself, he is free from all envy and jealousy, and his mind is equal in material happiness and distress. Thus, he dedicates his time to work for the welfare of all others. His intelligence is never bewildered by material desires, and he has controlled his senses. His behavior is always pleasing, never harsh and always exemplary, and he is free from possessiveness. He never endeavors in ordinary, worldly activities, and he strictly controls his eating. He therefore always remains peaceful and steady. A saintly person is thoughtful and accepts Me as his only shelter. Such a person is very cautious in the execution of his duties and is never subject to superficial transformations, because he is steady and noble, even in a distressing situation. He has conquered over the six material qualities-namely hunger, thirst, lamentation, illusion, old age and death. He is free from all desire for prestige and offers honor to others. He is expert in reviving the Kāññā consciousness of others and therefore never cheats anyone. Rather, he is a well-wishing friend to all, being most merciful. Such a saintly person must be considered the most learned of men. He perfectly understands that the ordinary religious duties prescribed by Me in various Vedic scriptures possess favorable qualities that purify the performer, and he knows that neglect of such duties constitutes a discrepancy in one's life. Having taken complete shelter at My lotus feet, however, a saintly person ultimately renounces such ordinary religious duties and worships Me alone. He is thus considered to be the best among all living entities.

SB 11.11.33 - My devotees may or may not know exactly what I am, who I am and how I exist, but if they worship Me with unalloyed love, then I consider them to be the best of devotees.

SB 11.11.34-41 - My dear Uddhava, one can give up false pride and prestige by engaging in the following devotional activities. One may purify oneself by seeing, touching, worshiping, serving, and offering prayers of glorification and obeisances to My form as the Deity and to My pure devotees. One should also glorify My transcendental qualities and activities, hear with love and faith the narrations of My glories and constantly meditate on Me. One should offer to Me whatever one acquires, and accepting oneself as My eternal servant, one should give oneself completely to Me. One should always discuss My birth and activities and enjoy life by participating in festivals, such as Janmāññāmé, which glorify My pastimes. In My temple, one should also participate in festivals and ceremonies by singing, dancing, playing musical instruments and discussing Me with other Vaiññāvas. One should observe all the regularly celebrated annual festivals by attending ceremonies, pilgrimages and making offerings. One should also observe religious vows such as Ekādaçé and take initiation by the procedures mentioned in the Vedas, Pañcarātra and other, similar literatures. One should faithfully and lovingly support the installation of My Deity, and individually or in cooperation with others one should work for the construction of Kāññā conscious temples and cities as well as flower gardens, fruit gardens and special areas to celebrate My pastimes. One should consider oneself to be My humble servant, without duplicity, and thus should help to clean the temple, which is My home. First one should sweep and dust thoroughly, and then one should further cleanse with water and cow dung. Having dried the temple, one should sprinkle scented water and decorate the temple with mandalas. One should thus act just like My servant. A devotee should never advertise his devotional activities; therefore his service will not be the cause of false pride. One should never use lamps that are offered to Me for other purposes simply because there is need of illumination, and similarly, one should never offer to Me anything that has been offered to or used by others. Whatever is most desired by one within this material world, and whatever is most dear to oneself-one should offer that very thing to Me. Such an offering qualifies one for eternal life.

SB 11.11.42 - O saintly Uddhava, please know that you may worship Me in the sun, fire, brāhmaëas, cows, Vaiñëavas, sky, wind, water, earth, individual soul and all living entities.

SB 11.11.43-45 - My dear Uddhava, one should worship Me within the sun by chanting selected Vedic mantras and by performing worship and offering obeisances. One may worship Me within fire by offering oblations of ghee, and one may worship Me among the brāhmaëas by respectfully receiving them as guests, even when uninvited. I can be worshiped within the cows by offerings of grass and other suitable grains and paraphernalia for the pleasure and health of the cows, and one may worship Me within the Vaiñëavas by offering loving friendship to them and honoring them in all respects. Through steady meditation I am worshiped within the inner space of the heart, and within the air I can be worshiped by knowledge that prāëa, the life air, is the chief among elements. I am worshiped within water by offerings of water itself, along with other elements such as flowers and tulasé leaves, and one may worship Me within the earth by proper application of confidential seed mantras. One may worship Me within the individual living entity by offering food and other enjoyable substances, and one may worship Me within all living entities by seeing the Supersoul within all of them, thus maintaining equal vision.

SB 11.11.46 - Thus, in the previously mentioned places of worship and according to the processes I have described, one should meditate on My peaceful, transcendental form with four arms holding a conchshell, Sudarçana disc, club and lotus flower. In this way, one should worship Me with fixed attention.

SB 11.11.47 - One who has executed sacrificial performances and pious works for My satisfaction, and who thus worships Me with fixed attention, obtains unflinching devotional service unto Me. By the excellent quality of his service such a worshiper obtains realized knowledge of Me.

SB 11.11.48 - My dear Uddhava, I am personally the ultimate shelter and way of life for saintly liberated persons, and thus if one does not engage in My loving devotional service, which is made possible by associating with My devotees, then for all practical purposes, one possesses no effective means for escaping from material existence.

SB 11.11.49 - My dear Uddhava, O beloved of the Yadu dynasty, because you are My servant, well-wisher and friend, I shall now speak to you the most confidential knowledge. Please hear as I explain these great mysteries to you.

23 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.11.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, due to the influence of the material modes of nature, which are under My control, the living entity is sometimes designated as conditioned and sometimes as liberated. In fact, however, the soul is never really bound up or liberated, and since I am the supreme Lord of māyā, which is the cause of the modes of nature, I also am never to be considered liberated or in bondage.

SB 11.11.2 - Just as a dream is merely a creation of one's intelligence but has no actual substance, similarly, material lamentation, illusion, happiness, distress and the acceptance of the material body under the influence of mayä are all creations of My illusory energy. In other words, material existence has no essential reality.

SB 11.11.3 - O Uddhava, both knowledge and ignorance, being products of mayä, are expansions of My potency. Both knowledge and ignorance are beginningless and perpetually award liberation and bondage to embodied living beings.

SB 11.11.4 - O most intelligent Uddhava, the living entity, called jéva, is part and parcel of Me, but due to ignorance he has been suffering in material bondage since time immemorial. By knowledge, however, he can be liberated.

SB 11.11.5 - Thus, My dear Uddhava, in the same material body we find opposing characteristics, such as great happiness and misery. That is because both the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is eternally liberated, as well as the conditioned soul are within the body. I shall now speak to you about their different characteristics.

SB 11.11.6 - By chance, two birds have made a nest together in the same tree. The two birds are friends and are of a similar nature. One of them, however, is eating the fruits of the tree, whereas the other, who does not eat the fruits, is in a superior position due to His potency.

SB 11.11.7 - The bird who does not eat the fruits of the tree is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who by His omniscience perfectly understands His own position and that of the conditioned living entity, represented by the eating bird. That living entity, on the other hand, does not understand himself or the Lord. He is covered by ignorance and is thus called eternally conditioned, whereas the Personality of Godhead, being full of perfect knowledge, is eternally liberated.

SB 11.11.8 - One who is enlightened in self-realization, although living within the material body, sees himself as transcendental to the body, just as one who has arisen from a dream gives up identification with the dream body. A foolish person, however, although not identical with his material body but transcendental to it, thinks himself to be situated in the body, just as one who is dreaming sees himself as situated in an imaginary body.

SB 11.11.9 - An enlightened person who is free from the contamination of material desire does not consider himself to be the performer of bodily activities; rather, he knows that in all such activities it is only the senses, born of the modes of nature, that are contacting sense objects born of the same modes of nature.

SB 11.11.10 - An unintelligent person situated within the body created by his previous fruitive activities thinks, "I am the performer of action." Bewildered by false ego, such a foolish person is therefore bound up by fruitive activities, which are in fact carried out by the modes of nature.

SB 11.11.11 - An enlightened person fixed in detachment engages his body in lying down, sitting, walking, bathing, seeing, touching, smelling, eating, hearing and so on, but is never entangled by such activities. Indeed, remaining as a witness to all bodily functions, he merely engages his bodily senses with their objects and does not become entangled like an unintelligent person.

SB 11.11.12-13 - Although the sky, or space, is the resting place of everything, the sky does not mix with anything, nor is it entangled. Similarly, the sun is not at all attached to the water in which it is reflected within innumerable reservoirs, and the mighty wind blowing everywhere is not affected by the innumerable aromas and atmospheres through which it passes. In the same way, a self-realized soul is completely detached from the material body and the material world around it. He is like a person who has awakened and arisen from a dream. With expert vision sharpened by detachment, the self-realized soul cuts all doubts to pieces through knowledge of the self and completely withdraws his consciousness from the expansion of material variety.

SB 11.11.14 - A person is considered to be completely liberated from the gross and subtle material bodies when all the functions of his vital energy, senses, mind and intelligence are performed without material desire. Such a person, although situated within the body, is not entangled.

SB 11.11.15 - Sometimes for no apparent reason one's body is attacked by cruel people or violent animals. At other times and in other places, one will suddenly be offered great respect or worship. One who becomes neither angry when attacked nor satisfied when worshiped is actually intelligent.

SB 11.11.16 - A saintly sage sees with equal vision and therefore is not affected by that which is materially good or bad. Indeed, although he observes others performing good and bad work and speaking properly and improperly, the sage does not praise or criticize anyone.

SB 11.11.17 - For the purpose of maintaining his body, a liberated sage should not act, speak or contemplate in terms of material good or bad. Rather, he should be detached in all material circumstances, and taking pleasure in self-realization, he should wander about engaged in this liberated life-style, appearing like a retarded person to outsiders.

SB 11.11.18 - If through meticulous study one becomes expert in reading Vedic literature but makes no endeavor to fix one's mind on the Supreme Personality of Godhead, then one's endeavor is certainly like that of a man who works very hard to take care of a cow that gives no milk. In other words, the fruit of one's laborious study of Vedic knowledge will simply be the labor itself. There will be no other tangible result.

SB 11.11.19 - My dear Uddhava, that man is certainly most miserable who takes care of a cow that gives no milk, an unchaste wife, a body totally dependent on others, useless children or wealth not utilized for the right purpose. Similarly, one who studies Vedic knowledge devoid of My glories is also most miserable.

SB 11.11.20 - My dear Uddhava, an intelligent person should never take to literatures that do not contain descriptions of My activities, which purify the whole universe. Indeed, I create, maintain and annihilate the entire material manifestation. Among all My pastime incarnations, the most beloved are Kāñëa and Balarāma. Any so-called knowledge that does not recognize these activities of Mine is simply barren and is not acceptable to those who are actually intelligent.

SB 11.11.21 - Coming to this conclusion of all knowledge, one should give up the false conception of material variety that one imposes upon the soul and thus cease one's material existence. The mind should be fixed on Me, since I am all-pervading.

SB 11.11.22 - My dear Uddhava, if you are not able to free your mind from all material disturbance and thus absorb it completely on the spiritual platform, then perform all your activities as an offering to Me, without trying to enjoy the fruits.

SB 11.11.23-24 - My dear Uddhava, narrations of My pastimes and qualities are all-auspicious and purify the entire universe. A faithful person who constantly hears, glorifies and remembers such transcendental activities, who through dramatic performances relives My pastimes, beginning with My appearance, and who takes full shelter of Me, dedicating his religious, sensual and occupational activities for My satisfaction, certainly obtains unflinching devotional service to Me, the eternal Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.11.25 - One who has obtained pure devotional service by association with My devotees always engages in worshiping Me. Thus he very easily goes to My abode, which is revealed by My pure devotees.

SB 11.11.26-27 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, O Supreme Personality of Godhead, what type of person do You consider to be a true devotee, and what type of devotional service is approved by great devotees as worthy of being offered to Your Lordship? My dear ruler of the universal controllers, O Lord of Vaikuëöha and almighty God of the universe, I am Your devotee, and because I love You I have no other shelter than You. Therefore please explain this to me.

SB 11.11.28 - My dear Lord, as the Absolute Truth You are transcendental to material nature, and like the sky You are never entangled in any way. Still, being controlled by Your devotees' love, You accept many different forms, incarnating according to Your devotees' desires.

SB 11.11.29-32 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O Uddhava, a saintly person is merciful and never injures others. Even if others are aggressive he is tolerant and forgiving toward all living entities. His strength and meaning in life come from the truth itself, he is free from all envy and jealousy, and his mind is equal in material happiness and distress. Thus, he dedicates his time to work for the welfare of all others. His intelligence is never bewildered by material desires, and he has controlled his senses. His behavior is always pleasing, never harsh and always exemplary, and he is free from possessiveness. He never endeavors in ordinary, worldly activities, and he strictly controls his eating. He therefore always remains peaceful and steady. A saintly person is thoughtful and accepts Me as his only shelter. Such a person is very cautious in the execution of his duties and is never subject to superficial transformations, because he is steady and noble, even in a distressing situation. He has conquered over the six material qualities-namely hunger, thirst, lamentation, illusion, old age and death. He is free from all desire for prestige and offers honor to others. He is expert in reviving the Kāññea consciousness of others and therefore never cheats anyone. Rather, he is a well-wishing friend to all, being most merciful. Such a saintly person must be considered the most learned of men. He perfectly understands that the ordinary religious duties prescribed by Me in various Vedic scriptures possess favorable qualities that purify the performer, and he knows that neglect of such duties constitutes a discrepancy in one's life. Having taken complete shelter at My lotus feet, however, a saintly person ultimately renounces such ordinary religious duties and worships Me alone. He is thus considered to be the best among all living entities.

SB 11.11.33 - My devotees may or may not know exactly what I am, who I am and how I exist, but if they worship Me with unalloyed love, then I consider them to be the best of devotees.

SB 11.11.34-41 - My dear Uddhava, one can give up false pride and prestige by engaging in the following devotional activities. One may purify oneself by seeing, touching, worshiping, serving, and offering prayers of glorification and obeisances to My form as the Deity and to My pure devotees. One should also glorify My transcendental qualities and activities, hear with love and faith the narrations of My glories and constantly meditate on Me. One should offer to Me whatever one acquires, and accepting oneself as My eternal servant, one should give oneself completely to Me. One should always discuss My birth and activities and enjoy life by participating in festivals, such as Janmāññamé, which glorify My pastimes. In My temple, one should also participate in festivals and ceremonies by singing, dancing, playing musical instruments and discussing Me with other Vaiññavas. One should observe all the regularly celebrated annual festivals by attending ceremonies, pilgrimages and making offerings. One should also observe religious vows such as Ekādaśī and take initiation by the procedures mentioned in the Vedas, Pāi carātra and other, similar literatures. One should faithfully and lovingly support the installation of My Deity, and individually or in cooperation with others one should work for the construction of Kāññā conscious temples and cities as well as flower gardens, fruit gardens and special areas to celebrate My pastimes. One should consider oneself to be My humble servant, without duplicity, and thus should help to clean the temple, which is My home. First one should sweep and dust thoroughly, and then one should further cleanse with water and cow dung. Having dried the temple, one should sprinkle scented water and decorate the temple with mandalas. One should thus act just like My servant. A devotee should never advertise his devotional activities; therefore his service will not be the cause of false pride. One should never use lamps that are offered to Me for other purposes simply because there is need of illumination, and similarly, one should never offer to Me anything that has been offered to or used by others. Whatever is most desired by one within this material world, and whatever is most dear to oneself-one should offer that very thing to Me. Such an offering qualifies one for eternal life.

SB 11.11.42 - O saintly Uddhava, please know that you may worship Me in the sun, fire, brāhmaëas, cows, Vaiñëavas, sky, wind, water, earth, individual soul and all living entities.

SB 11.11.43-45 - My dear Uddhava, one should worship Me within the sun by chanting selected Vedic mantras and by performing worship and offering obeisances. One may worship Me within fire by offering oblations of ghee, and one may worship Me among the brāhmaëas by respectfully receiving them as guests, even when uninvited. I can be worshiped within the cows by offerings of grass and other suitable grains and paraphernalia for the pleasure and health of the cows, and one may worship Me within the Vaiñëavas by offering loving friendship to them and honoring them in all respects. Through steady meditation I am worshiped within the inner space of the heart, and within the air I can be worshiped by knowledge that prāëa, the life air, is the chief among elements. I am worshiped within water by offerings of water itself, along with other elements such as flowers and tulasé leaves, and one may worship Me within the earth by proper application of confidential seed mantras. One may worship Me within the individual living entity by offering food and other enjoyable substances, and one may worship Me within all living entities by seeing the Supersoul within all of them, thus maintaining equal vision.

SB 11.11.46 - Thus, in the previously mentioned places of worship and according to the processes I have described, one should meditate on My peaceful, transcendental form with four arms holding a conchshell, Sudarçana disc, club and lotus flower. In this way, one should worship Me with fixed attention.

SB 11.11.47 - One who has executed sacrificial performances and pious works for My satisfaction, and who thus worships Me with fixed attention, obtains unflinching devotional service unto Me. By the excellent quality of his service such a worshiper obtains realized knowledge of Me.

SB 11.11.48 - My dear Uddhava, I am personally the ultimate shelter and way of life for saintly liberated persons, and thus if one does not engage in My loving devotional service, which is made possible by associating with My devotees, then for all practical purposes, one possesses no effective means for escaping from material existence.

SB 11.11.49 - My dear Uddhava, O beloved of the Yadu dynasty, because you are My servant, well-wisher and friend, I shall now speak to you the most confidential knowledge. Please hear as I explain these great mysteries to you.

24 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.11.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, due to the influence of the material modes of nature, which are under My control, the living entity is sometimes designated as conditioned and sometimes as liberated. In fact, however, the soul is never really bound up or liberated, and since I am the supreme Lord of māyā, which is the cause of the modes of nature, I also am never to be considered liberated or in bondage.

SB 11.11.2 - Just as a dream is merely a creation of one's intelligence but has no actual substance, similarly, material lamentation, illusion, happiness, distress and the acceptance of the material body under the influence of mayā are all creations of My illusory energy. In other words, material existence has no essential reality.

SB 11.11.3 - O Uddhava, both knowledge and ignorance, being products of māyā, are expansions of My potency. Both knowledge and ignorance are beginningless and perpetually award liberation and bondage to embodied living beings.

SB 11.11.4 - O most intelligent Uddhava, the living entity, called jēva, is part and parcel of Me, but due to ignorance he has been suffering in material bondage since time immemorial. By knowledge, however, he can be liberated.

SB 11.11.5 - Thus, My dear Uddhava, in the same material body we find opposing characteristics, such as great happiness and misery. That is because both the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is eternally liberated, as well as the conditioned soul are within the body. I shall now speak to you about their different characteristics.

SB 11.11.6 - By chance, two birds have made a nest together in the same tree. The two birds are friends and are of a similar nature. One of them, however, is eating the fruits of the tree, whereas the other, who does not eat the fruits, is in a superior position due to His potency.

SB 11.11.7 - The bird who does not eat the fruits of the tree is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who by His omniscience perfectly understands His own position and that of the conditioned living entity, represented by the eating bird. That living entity, on the other hand, does not understand himself or the Lord. He is covered by ignorance and is thus called eternally conditioned, whereas the Personality of Godhead, being full of perfect knowledge, is eternally liberated.

SB 11.11.8 - One who is enlightened in self-realization, although living within the material body, sees himself as transcendental to the body, just as one who has arisen from a dream gives up identification with the dream body. A foolish person, however, although not identical with his material body but transcendental to it, thinks himself to be situated in the body, just as one who is dreaming sees himself as situated in an imaginary body.

SB 11.11.9 - An enlightened person who is free from the contamination of material desire does not consider himself to be the performer of bodily activities; rather, he knows that in all such activities it is only the senses, born of the modes of nature, that are contacting sense objects born of the same modes of nature.

SB 11.11.10 - An unintelligent person situated within the body created by his previous fruitive activities thinks, "I am the performer of action." Bewildered by false ego, such a foolish person is therefore bound up by fruitive activities, which are in fact carried out by the modes of nature.

SB 11.11.11 - An enlightened person fixed in detachment engages his body in lying down, sitting, walking, bathing, seeing, touching, smelling, eating, hearing and so on, but is never entangled by such activities. Indeed, remaining as a witness to all bodily functions, he merely engages his bodily senses with their objects and does not become entangled like an unintelligent person.

SB 11.11.12-13 - Although the sky, or space, is the resting place of everything, the sky does not mix with anything, nor is it entangled. Similarly, the sun is not at all attached to the water in which it is reflected within innumerable reservoirs, and the mighty wind blowing everywhere is not affected by the innumerable aromas and atmospheres through which it passes. In the same way, a self-realized soul is completely detached from the material body and the material world around it. He is like a person who has awakened and arisen from a dream. With expert vision sharpened by detachment, the self-realized soul cuts all doubts to pieces through knowledge of the self and completely withdraws his consciousness from the expansion of material variety.

SB 11.11.14 - A person is considered to be completely liberated from the gross and subtle material bodies when all the functions of his vital energy, senses, mind and intelligence are performed without material desire. Such a person, although situated within the body, is not entangled.

SB 11.11.15 - Sometimes for no apparent reason one's body is attacked by cruel people or violent animals. At other times and in other places, one will suddenly be offered great respect or worship. One who becomes neither angry when attacked nor satisfied when worshiped is actually intelligent.

SB 11.11.16 - A saintly sage sees with equal vision and therefore is not affected by that which is materially good or bad. Indeed, although he observes others performing good and bad work and speaking properly and improperly, the sage does not praise or criticize anyone.

SB 11.11.17 - For the purpose of maintaining his body, a liberated sage should not act, speak or contemplate in terms of material good or bad. Rather, he should be detached in all material circumstances, and taking pleasure in self-realization, he should wander about engaged in this liberated life-style, appearing like a retarded person to outsiders.

SB 11.11.18 - If through meticulous study one becomes expert in reading Vedic literature but makes no endeavor to fix one's mind on the Supreme Personality of Godhead, then one's endeavor is certainly like that of a man who works very hard to take care of a cow that gives no milk. In other words, the fruit of one's laborious study of Vedic knowledge will simply be the labor itself. There will be no other tangible result.

SB 11.11.19 - My dear Uddhava, that man is certainly most miserable who takes care of a cow that gives no milk, an unchaste wife, a body totally dependent on others, useless children or wealth not utilized for the right purpose. Similarly, one who studies Vedic knowledge devoid of My glories is also most miserable.

SB 11.11.20 - My dear Uddhava, an intelligent person should never take to literatures that do not contain descriptions of My activities, which purify the whole universe. Indeed, I create, maintain and annihilate the entire material manifestation. Among all My pastime incarnations, the most beloved are Kāñëa and Balarāma. Any so-called knowledge that does not recognize these activities of Mine is simply barren and is not acceptable to those who are actually intelligent.

SB 11.11.21 - Coming to this conclusion of all knowledge, one should give up the false conception of material variety that one imposes upon the soul and thus cease one's material existence. The mind should be fixed on Me, since I am all-pervading.

SB 11.11.22 - My dear Uddhava, if you are not able to free your mind from all material disturbance and thus absorb it completely on the spiritual platform, then perform all your activities as an offering to Me, without trying to enjoy the fruits.

SB 11.11.23-24 - My dear Uddhava, narrations of My pastimes and qualities are all-auspicious and purify the entire universe. A faithful person who constantly hears, glorifies and remembers such transcendental activities, who through dramatic performances relives My pastimes, beginning with My appearance, and who takes full shelter of Me, dedicating his religious, sensual and occupational activities for My satisfaction, certainly obtains unflinching devotional service to Me, the eternal Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.11.25 - One who has obtained pure devotional service by association with My devotees always engages in worshiping Me. Thus he very easily goes to My abode, which is revealed by My pure devotees.

SB 11.11.26-27 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, O Supreme Personality of Godhead, what type of person do You consider to be a true devotee, and what type of devotional service is approved by great devotees as worthy of being offered to Your Lordship? My dear ruler of the universal controllers, O Lord of Vaikuëöha and almighty God of the universe, I am Your devotee, and because I love You I have no other shelter than You. Therefore please explain this to me.

SB 11.11.28 - My dear Lord, as the Absolute Truth You are transcendental to material nature, and like the sky You are never entangled in any way. Still, being controlled by Your devotees' love, You accept many different forms, incarnating according to Your devotees' desires.

SB 11.11.29-32 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O Uddhava, a saintly person is merciful and never injures others. Even if others are aggressive he is tolerant and forgiving toward all living entities. His strength and meaning in life come from the truth itself, he is free from all envy and jealousy, and his mind is equal in material happiness and distress. Thus, he dedicates his time to work for the welfare of all others. His intelligence is never bewildered by material desires, and he has controlled his senses. His behavior is always pleasing, never harsh and always exemplary, and he is free from possessiveness. He never endeavors in ordinary, worldly activities, and he strictly controls his eating. He therefore always remains peaceful and steady. A saintly person is thoughtful and accepts Me as his only shelter. Such a person is very cautious in the execution of his duties and is never subject to superficial transformations, because he is steady and noble, even in a distressing situation. He has conquered over the six material qualities-namely hunger, thirst, lamentation, illusion, old age and death. He is free from all desire for prestige and offers honor to others. He is expert in reviving the Kāññā consciousness of others and therefore never cheats anyone. Rather, he is a well-wishing friend to all, being most merciful. Such a saintly person must be considered the most learned of men. He perfectly understands that the ordinary religious duties prescribed by Me in various Vedic scriptures possess favorable qualities that purify the performer, and he knows that neglect of such duties constitutes a discrepancy in one's life. Having taken complete shelter at My lotus feet, however, a saintly person ultimately renounces such ordinary religious duties and worships Me alone. He is thus considered to be the best among all living entities.

SB 11.11.33 - My devotees may or may not know exactly what I am, who I am and how I exist, but if they worship Me with unalloyed love, then I consider them to be the best of devotees.

SB 11.11.34-41 - My dear Uddhava, one can give up false pride and prestige by engaging in the following devotional activities. One may purify oneself by seeing, touching, worshiping, serving, and offering prayers of glorification and obeisances to My form as the Deity and to My pure devotees. One should also glorify My transcendental qualities and activities, hear with love and faith the narrations of My glories and constantly meditate on Me. One should offer to Me whatever one acquires, and accepting oneself as My eternal servant, one should give oneself completely to Me. One should always discuss My birth and activities and enjoy life by participating in festivals, such as Janmāññamé, which glorify My pastimes. In My temple, one should also participate in festivals and ceremonies by singing, dancing, playing musical instruments and discussing Me with other Vaiñëavas. One should observe all the regularly celebrated annual festivals by attending ceremonies, pilgrimages and making offerings. One should also observe religious vows such as Ekādaçé and take initiation by the procedures mentioned in the Vedas, Pañcarātra and other, similar literatures. One should faithfully and lovingly support the installation of My Deity, and individually or in cooperation with others one should work for the construction of Kāñëa conscious temples and cities as well as flower gardens, fruit gardens and special areas to celebrate My pastimes. One should consider oneself to be My humble servant, without duplicity, and thus should help to clean the temple, which is My home. First one should sweep and dust thoroughly, and then one should further cleanse with water and cow dung. Having dried the temple, one should sprinkle scented water and decorate the temple with mandalas. One should thus act just like My servant. A devotee should never advertise his devotional activities; therefore his service will not be the cause of false pride. One should never use lamps that are offered to Me for other purposes simply because there is need of illumination, and similarly, one should never offer to Me anything that has been offered to or used by others. Whatever is most desired by one within this material world, and whatever is most dear to oneself-one should offer that very thing to Me. Such an offering qualifies one for eternal life.

SB 11.11.42 - O saintly Uddhava, please know that you may worship Me in the sun, fire, brähmaëas, cows, Vaiñëavas, sky, wind, water, earth, individual soul and all living entities.

SB 11.11.43-45 - My dear Uddhava, one should worship Me within the sun by chanting selected Vedic mantras and by performing worship and offering obeisances. One may worship Me within fire by offering oblations of ghee, and one may worship Me among the brāhmaëas by respectfully receiving them as guests, even when uninvited. I can be worshiped within the cows by offerings of grass and other suitable grains and paraphernalia for the pleasure and health of the cows, and one may worship Me within the Vaiñëavas by offering loving friendship to them and honoring them in all respects.

Through steady meditation I am worshiped within the inner space of the heart, and within the air I can be worshiped by knowledge that prāëa, the life air, is the chief among elements. I am worshiped within water by offerings of water itself, along with other elements such as flowers and tulasé leaves, and one may worship Me within the earth by proper application of confidential seed mantras. One may worship Me within the individual living entity by offering food and other enjoyable substances, and one may worship Me within all living entities by seeing the Supersoul within all of them, thus maintaining equal vision.

SB 11.11.46 - Thus, in the previously mentioned places of worship and according to the processes I have described, one should meditate on My peaceful, transcendental form with four arms holding a conchshell, Sudarçana disc, club and lotus flower. In this way, one should worship Me with fixed attention.

SB 11.11.47 - One who has executed sacrificial performances and pious works for My satisfaction, and who thus worships Me with fixed attention, obtains unflinching devotional service unto Me. By the excellent quality of his service such a worshiper obtains realized knowledge of Me.

SB 11.11.48 - My dear Uddhava, I am personally the ultimate shelter and way of life for saintly liberated persons, and thus if one does not engage in My loving devotional service, which is made possible by associating with My devotees, then for all practical purposes, one possesses no effective means for escaping from material existence.

SB 11.11.49 - My dear Uddhava, O beloved of the Yadu dynasty, because you are My servant, well-wisher and friend, I shall now speak to you the most confidential knowledge. Please hear as I explain these great mysteries to you.

25 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.12.1-2 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, by associating with My pure devotees one can destroy one's attachment for all objects of material sense gratification. Such purifying association brings Me under the control of My devotee. One may perform the añöäì ga-yoga system, engage in philosophical analysis of the elements of material nature, practice nonviolence and other ordinary principles of piety, chant the Vedas, perform penances, take to the renounced order of life, execute sacrificial performances and dig wells, plant trees and perform other public welfare activities, give in charity, carry out severe vows, worship the demigods, chant confidential mantras, visit holy places or accept major and minor disciplinary injunctions, but even by performing such activities one does not bring Me under his control.

SB 11.12.3-6 - In every yuga many living entities entangled in the modes of passion and ignorance gained the association of My devotees. Thus, such living entities as the Daityas, Räkñasas, birds, beasts, Gandharvas, Apsaräs, Nägas, Siddhas, Cäraëas, Guhyakas and Vidyädharas, as well as such lower-class human beings as the vaiçyas, çüdras, women and others, were able to achieve My supreme abode. Våträsura, Prahlāda Mahārāja and others like them also achieved My abode by association with My devotees, as did personalities such as Vāñaparvā, Bali Mahārāja, Bääsura, Maya, Vibhēñaëa, Sugréva, Hanumān, Jāmbavān, Gajendra, Jaöäyu, Tulādhāra, Dharma-vyādha, Kubjā, the gopés in Vāndāvana and the wives of the brähmaëas who were performing sacrifice.

SB 11.12.7 - The persons I have mentioned did not undergo serious studies of the Vedic literature, nor did they worship great saintly persons, nor did they execute severe vows or austerities. Simply by association with Me and My devotees, they achieved Me.

SB 11.12.8 - The inhabitants of Våndāvana, including the gopés, cows, unmoving creatures such as the twin arjuna trees, animals, living entities with stunted consciousness such as bushes and thickets, and snakes such as Kāliya, all achieved the perfection of life by unalloyed love for Me and thus very easily achieved Me.

SB 11.12.9 - Even though one engages with great endeavor in the mystic yoga system, philosophical speculation, charity, vows, penances, ritualistic sacrifices, teaching of Vedic mantras to others, personal study of the Vedas, or the renounced order of life, still one cannot achieve Me.

SB 11.12.10 - The residents of Våndāvana, headed by the gopés, were always completely attached to Me with deepest love. Therefore, when My uncle Akrūra brought My brother Balarāma and Me to the city of Mathurā, the residents of Våndāvana suffered extreme mental distress because of separation from Me and could not find any other source of happiness.

SB 11.12.11 - Dear Uddhava, all of those nights that the gopés spent with Me, their most dearly beloved, in the land of Våndāvana seemed to them to pass in less than a moment. Bereft of My association, however, the gopés felt that those same nights dragged on forever, as if each night were equal to a day of Brahmā.

SB 11.12.12 - My dear Uddhava, just as great sages in yoga trance merge into self-realization, like rivers merging into the ocean, and are thus not aware of material names and forms, similarly, the gopés of Våndāvana were so completely attached to Me within their minds that they could not think of their own bodies, or of this world, or of their future lives. Their entire consciousness was simply bound up in Me.

SB 11.12.13 - All those hundreds of thousands of gopés, understanding Me to be their most charming lover and ardently desiring Me in that way, were unaware of My actual position. Yet by intimately associating with Me, the gopés attained Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth.

SB 11.12.14-15 - Therefore, My dear Uddhava, abandon the Vedic mantras as well as the procedures of supplementary Vedic literatures and their positive and negative injunctions. Disregard that which has been heard and that which is to be heard. Simply take shelter of Me alone, for I am the Supreme Personality of Godhead, situated within the heart of all conditioned souls. Take shelter of Me wholeheartedly, and by My grace be free from fear in all circumstances.

SB 11.12.16 - Çré Uddhava said: O Lord of all masters of mystic power, I have heard Your words, but the doubt in my heart does not go away; thus my mind is bewildered.

SB 11.12.17 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, the Supreme Lord gives life to every living being and is situated within the heart along with the life air and primal sound vibration. The Lord can be perceived in His subtle form within the heart by one's mind, since the Lord controls the minds of everyone, even great demigods like Lord Çiva. The Supreme Lord also assumes a gross form as the various sounds of the Vedas, composed of short and long vowels and consonants of different intonations.

SB 11.12.18 - When sticks of kindling wood are vigorously rubbed together, heat is produced by contact with air, and a spark of fire appears. Once the fire is kindled, ghee is added and the fire blazes. Similarly, I become manifest in the sound vibration of the Vedas.

SB 11.12.19 - The functions of the working senses-the organ of speech, the hands, the legs, the genital and the anus-and the functions of the knowledge-acquiring senses-the nose, tongue, eyes, skin and ears-along with the functions of the subtle senses of mind, intelligence, consciousness and false ego, as well as the function of the subtle pradhāna and the interaction of the three modes of material nature-all these should be understood as My materially manifest form.

SB 11.12.20 - When many seeds are placed in an agricultural field, innumerable manifestations of trees, bushes, vegetables and so on will arise from a single source, the soil. Similarly, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who gives life to all and is eternal, originally exists beyond the scope of the cosmic manifestation. In the course of time, however, the Lord, who is the resting place of the three modes of nature and the source of the universal lotus flower, in which the cosmic manifestation takes place, divides His material potencies and thus appears to be manifest in innumerable forms, although He is one.

SB 11.12.21 - Just as woven cloth rests on the expansion of lengthwise and crosswise threads, similarly the entire universe is expanded on the lengthwise and crosswise potency of the Supreme Personality of Godhead and is situated within Him. The conditioned soul has been accepting material bodies since time immemorial, and these bodies are like great trees sustaining one's material existence. Just as a tree first blossoms and then produces fruit, similarly the tree of material existence, one's material body, produces the various results of material existence.

SB 11.12.22-23 - This tree of material existence has two seeds, hundreds of roots, three lower trunks and five upper trunks. It produces five flavors and has eleven branches and a nest made by two birds. The tree is covered by three types of bark, gives two fruits and extends up to the sun. Those lusty after material enjoyment and dedicated to family life enjoy one of the tree's fruits, and swanlike men in the renounced order of life enjoy the other fruit. One who with the help of the bona fide spiritual masters can understand this tree to be a manifestation of the potency of the one Supreme Truth appearing in many forms actually knows the meaning of the Vedic literature.

SB 11.12.24 - With steady intelligence you should develop unalloyed devotional service by careful worship of the spiritual master, and with the sharpened ax of transcendental knowledge you should cut off the subtle material covering of the soul. Upon realizing the Supreme Personality of Godhead, you should then give up that ax of analytic knowledge.

26 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.12.1-2 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, by associating with My pure devotees one can destroy one's attachment for all objects of material sense gratification. Such purifying association brings Me under the control of My devotee. One may perform the añöäi ga-yoga system, engage in philosophical analysis of the elements of material nature, practice nonviolence and other ordinary principles of piety, chant the Vedas, perform penances, take to the renounced order of life, execute sacrificial performances and dig wells, plant trees and perform other public welfare activities, give in charity, carry out severe vows, worship the demigods, chant confidential mantras, visit holy places or accept major and minor disciplinary injunctions, but even by performing such activities one does not bring Me under his control.

SB 11.12.3-6 - In every yuga many living entities entangled in the modes of passion and ignorance gained the association of My devotees. Thus, such living entities as the Daityas, Räkñasas, birds, beasts, Gandharvas, Apsaräs, Nägas, Siddhas, Cäraëas, Guhyakas and Vidyädharas, as well as such lower-class human beings as the vaiçyas, çüdras, women and others, were able to achieve My supreme abode. Vâträsura, Prahläda Mahäräja and others like them also achieved My abode by association with My devotees, as did personalities such as Vāṇaparvā, Bali Mahārāja, Bāḥāsura, Maya, Vibhīṣaṇa, Sugrēva, Hanumān, Jāmbavān, Gajendra, Jāyāyu, Tulādhāra, Dharma-vyādha, Kujā, the gopīs in Vāṇāvana and the wives of the brāhmaṇas who were performing sacrifice.

SB 11.12.7 - The persons I have mentioned did not undergo serious studies of the Vedic literature, nor did they worship great saintly persons, nor did they execute severe vows or austerities. Simply by association with Me and My devotees, they achieved Me.

SB 11.12.8 - The inhabitants of Vāṇāvana, including the gopīs, cows, unmoving creatures such as the twin arjuna trees, animals, living entities with stunted consciousness such as bushes and thickets, and snakes such as Kālīya, all achieved the perfection of life by unalloyed love for Me and thus very easily achieved Me.

SB 11.12.9 - Even though one engages with great endeavor in the mystic yoga system, philosophical speculation, charity, vows, penances, ritualistic sacrifices, teaching of Vedic mantras to others, personal study of the Vedas, or the renounced order of life, still one cannot achieve Me.

SB 11.12.10 - The residents of Vāṇāvana, headed by the gopīs, were always completely attached to Me with deepest love. Therefore, when My uncle Akrūra brought My brother Balarāma and Me to the city of Mathurā, the residents of Vāṇāvana suffered extreme mental distress because of separation from Me and could not find any other source of happiness.

SB 11.12.11 - Dear Uddhava, all of those nights that the gopīs spent with Me, their most dearly beloved, in the land of Vāṇāvana seemed to them to pass in less than a moment. Bereft of My association, however, the gopīs felt that those same nights dragged on forever, as if each night were equal to a day of Brahmā.

SB 11.12.12 - My dear Uddhava, just as great sages in yoga trance merge into self-realization, like rivers merging into the ocean, and are thus not aware of material names and forms, similarly, the gopés of Vândavana were so completely attached to Me within their minds that they could not think of their own bodies, or of this world, or of their future lives. Their entire consciousness was simply bound up in Me.

SB 11.12.13 - All those hundreds of thousands of gopés, understanding Me to be their most charming lover and ardently desiring Me in that way, were unaware of My actual position. Yet by intimately associating with Me, the gopés attained Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth.

SB 11.12.14-15 - Therefore, My dear Uddhava, abandon the Vedic mantras as well as the procedures of supplementary Vedic literatures and their positive and negative injunctions. Disregard that which has been heard and that which is to be heard. Simply take shelter of Me alone, for I am the Supreme Personality of Godhead, situated within the heart of all conditioned souls. Take shelter of Me wholeheartedly, and by My grace be free from fear in all circumstances.

SB 11.12.16 - Çré Uddhava said: O Lord of all masters of mystic power, I have heard Your words, but the doubt in my heart does not go away; thus my mind is bewildered.

SB 11.12.17 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, the Supreme Lord gives life to every living being and is situated within the heart along with the life air and primal sound vibration. The Lord can be perceived in His subtle form within the heart by one's mind, since the Lord controls the minds of everyone, even great demigods like Lord Çiva. The Supreme Lord also assumes a gross form as the various sounds of the Vedas, composed of short and long vowels and consonants of different intonations.

SB 11.12.18 - When sticks of kindling wood are vigorously rubbed together, heat is produced by contact with air, and a spark of fire appears. Once the fire is kindled, ghee is added and the fire blazes. Similarly, I become manifest in the sound vibration of the Vedas.

SB 11.12.19 - The functions of the working senses-the organ of speech, the hands, the legs, the genital and the anus-and the functions of the knowledge-acquiring senses-the nose, tongue, eyes, skin and ears-along with the functions of the subtle senses of mind, intelligence, consciousness and false ego, as well as the function of the subtle pradhāna and the interaction of the three modes of material nature-all these should be understood as My materially manifest form.

SB 11.12.20 - When many seeds are placed in an agricultural field, innumerable manifestations of trees, bushes, vegetables and so on will arise from a single source, the soil. Similarly, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who gives life to all and is eternal, originally exists beyond the scope of the cosmic manifestation. In the course of time, however, the Lord, who is the resting place of the three modes of nature and the source of the universal lotus flower, in which the cosmic manifestation takes place, divides His material potencies and thus appears to be manifest in innumerable forms, although He is one.

SB 11.12.21 - Just as woven cloth rests on the expansion of lengthwise and crosswise threads, similarly the entire universe is expanded on the lengthwise and crosswise potency of the Supreme Personality of Godhead and is situated within Him. The conditioned soul has been accepting material bodies since time immemorial, and these bodies are like great trees sustaining one's material existence. Just as a tree first blossoms and then produces fruit, similarly the tree of material existence, one's material body, produces the various results of material existence.

SB 11.12.22-23 - This tree of material existence has two seeds, hundreds of roots, three lower trunks and five upper trunks. It produces five flavors and has eleven branches and a nest made by two birds. The tree is covered by three types of bark, gives two fruits and extends up to the sun. Those lusty after material enjoyment and dedicated to family life enjoy one of the tree's fruits, and swanlike men in the renounced order of life enjoy the other fruit. One who with the help of the bona fide spiritual masters can understand this tree to be a manifestation of the potency of the one Supreme Truth appearing in many forms actually knows the meaning of the Vedic literature.

SB 11.12.24 - With steady intelligence you should develop unalloyed devotional service by careful worship of the spiritual master, and with the sharpened ax of transcendental knowledge you should cut off the subtle material covering of the soul. Upon realizing the Supreme Personality of Godhead, you should then give up that ax of analytic knowledge.

27 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.12.1-2 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, by associating with My pure devotees one can destroy one's attachment for all objects of material sense gratification. Such purifying association brings Me under the control of My devotee. One may perform the aññāī ga-yoga system, engage in philosophical analysis of the elements of material nature, practice nonviolence and other ordinary principles of piety, chant the Vedas, perform penances, take to the renounced order of life, execute sacrificial performances and dig wells, plant trees and perform other public welfare activities, give in charity, carry out severe vows, worship the demigods, chant confidential mantras, visit holy places or accept major and minor disciplinary injunctions, but even by performing such activities one does not bring Me under his control.

SB 11.12.3-6 - In every yuga many living entities entangled in the modes of passion and ignorance gained the association of My devotees. Thus, such living entities as the Daityas, Rākāṣasas, birds, beasts, Gandharvas, Apsarās, Nāgas, Siddhas, Cāraēas, Guhyakas and Vidyādhara, as well as such lower-class human beings as the vaiçyas, çūdras, women and others, were able to achieve My supreme abode. Vātrāsura, Prahlāda Mahārāja and others like them also achieved My abode by association with My devotees, as did personalities such as Vāṇaparvā, Bali Mahārāja, Bāḥāsura, Maya, Vibhīṣaṇa, Sugrēva, Hanumān, Jāmbavān, Gajendra, Jāḥṇu, Tulādhara, Dharma-vyādhā, Kubjā, the gopīs in Vāndāvana and the wives of the brāhmaṇas who were performing sacrifice.

SB 11.12.7 - The persons I have mentioned did not undergo serious studies of the Vedic literature, nor did they worship great saintly persons, nor did they execute severe vows or austerities. Simply by association with Me and My devotees, they achieved Me.

SB 11.12.8 - The inhabitants of Vāndāvana, including the gopīs, cows, unmoving creatures such as the twin arjuna trees, animals, living entities with stunted consciousness such as bushes and thickets, and snakes such as Kāliya, all achieved the perfection of life by unalloyed love for Me and thus very easily achieved Me.

SB 11.12.9 - Even though one engages with great endeavor in the mystic yoga system, philosophical speculation, charity, vows, penances, ritualistic sacrifices, teaching of Vedic mantras to others, personal study of the Vedas, or the renounced order of life, still one cannot achieve Me.

SB 11.12.10 - The residents of Vāndāvana, headed by the gopīs, were always completely attached to Me with deepest love. Therefore, when My uncle Akrūra brought My brother Balarāma and Me to the city of Mathurā, the residents of Våndävana suffered extreme mental distress because of separation from Me and could not find any other source of happiness.

SB 11.12.11 - Dear Uddhava, all of those nights that the gopés spent with Me, their most dearly beloved, in the land of Våndävana seemed to them to pass in less than a moment. Bereft of My association, however, the gopés felt that those same nights dragged on forever, as if each night were equal to a day of Brahmä.

SB 11.12.12 - My dear Uddhava, just as great sages in yoga trance merge into self-realization, like rivers merging into the ocean, and are thus not aware of material names and forms, similarly, the gopés of Våndävana were so completely attached to Me within their minds that they could not think of their own bodies, or of this world, or of their future lives. Their entire consciousness was simply bound up in Me.

SB 11.12.13 - All those hundreds of thousands of gopés, understanding Me to be their most charming lover and ardently desiring Me in that way, were unaware of My actual position. Yet by intimately associating with Me, the gopés attained Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth.

SB 11.12.14-15 - Therefore, My dear Uddhava, abandon the Vedic mantras as well as the procedures of supplementary Vedic literatures and their positive and negative injunctions. Disregard that which has been heard and that which is to be heard. Simply take shelter of Me alone, for I am the Supreme Personality of Godhead, situated within the heart of all conditioned souls. Take shelter of Me wholeheartedly, and by My grace be free from fear in all circumstances.

SB 11.12.16 - Çré Uddhava said: O Lord of all masters of mystic power, I have heard Your words, but the doubt in my heart does not go away; thus my mind is bewildered.

SB 11.12.17 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, the Supreme Lord gives life to every living being and is situated within the heart along with the life air and primal sound vibration. The Lord can be perceived in His subtle form within the heart by one's mind, since the Lord controls the minds of everyone, even great demigods like Lord Çiva. The Supreme Lord also assumes a gross form as the various sounds of the Vedas, composed of short and long vowels and consonants of different intonations.

SB 11.12.18 - When sticks of kindling wood are vigorously rubbed together, heat is produced by contact with air, and a spark of fire appears. Once the fire is kindled, ghee is added and the fire blazes. Similarly, I become manifest in the sound vibration of the Vedas.

SB 11.12.19 - The functions of the working senses-the organ of speech, the hands, the legs, the genital and the anus-and the functions of the knowledge-acquiring senses-the nose, tongue, eyes, skin and ears-along with the functions of the subtle senses of mind, intelligence, consciousness and false ego, as well as the function of the subtle pradhāna and the interaction of the three modes of material nature-all these should be understood as My materially manifest form.

SB 11.12.20 - When many seeds are placed in an agricultural field, innumerable manifestations of trees, bushes, vegetables and so on will arise from a single source, the soil. Similarly, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who gives life to all and is eternal, originally exists beyond the scope of the cosmic manifestation. In the course of time, however, the Lord, who is the resting place of the three modes of nature and the source of the universal lotus flower, in which the cosmic manifestation takes place, divides His material potencies and thus appears to be manifest in innumerable forms, although He is one.

SB 11.12.21 - Just as woven cloth rests on the expansion of lengthwise and crosswise threads, similarly the entire universe is expanded on the lengthwise and crosswise potency of the Supreme Personality of Godhead and is situated within Him. The conditioned soul has been accepting material bodies since time immemorial, and these bodies are like great trees sustaining one's material existence. Just as a tree first blossoms and then produces fruit, similarly the tree of material existence, one's material body, produces the various results of material existence.

SB 11.12.22-23 - This tree of material existence has two seeds, hundreds of roots, three lower trunks and five upper trunks. It produces five flavors and has eleven branches and a nest made by two birds. The tree is covered by three types of bark, gives two fruits and extends up to the sun. Those lusty after material enjoyment and dedicated to family life enjoy one of the tree's fruits, and swanlike men in the renounced order of life enjoy the other fruit. One who with the help of the bona fide spiritual masters can understand this tree to be a manifestation of the potency of the one Supreme Truth appearing in many forms actually knows the meaning of the Vedic literature.

SB 11.12.24 - With steady intelligence you should develop unalloyed devotional service by careful worship of the spiritual master, and with the sharpened ax of transcendental knowledge you should cut off the subtle material covering of the soul. Upon realizing the Supreme Personality of Godhead, you should then give up that ax of analytic knowledge.

28 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.13.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: The three modes of material nature, namely goodness, passion and ignorance, pertain to material intelligence and not to the spirit soul. By development of material goodness one can conquer the modes of passion and ignorance, and by cultivation of transcendental goodness one may free oneself even from material goodness.

SB 11.13.2 - When the living entity becomes strongly situated in the mode of goodness, then religious principles, characterized by devotional service to Me, become prominent. One can strengthen the mode of goodness by cultivation of those things that are already situated in goodness, and thus religious principles arise.

SB 11.13.3 - Religious principles, strengthened by the mode of goodness, destroy the influence of passion and ignorance. When passion and ignorance are overcome, their original cause, irreligion, is quickly vanquished.

SB 11.13.4 - According to the quality of religious scriptures, water, one's association with one's children or with people in general, the particular place, the time, activities, birth, meditation, chanting of mantras, and purificatory rituals, the modes of nature become differently prominent.

SB 11.13.5 - Among the ten items I have just mentioned, the great sages who understand Vedic knowledge have praised and recommended those that are in the mode of goodness, criticized and rejected those in the mode of ignorance, and shown indifference to those in the mode of passion.

SB 11.13.6 - Until one revives one's direct knowledge of the spirit soul and drives away the illusory identification with the material body and mind caused by the three modes of nature, one must cultivate those things in the mode of goodness. By increasing the mode of goodness, one automatically can understand and practice religious principles, and by such practice transcendental knowledge is awakened.

SB 11.13.7 - In a bamboo forest the wind sometimes rubs the bamboo stalks together, and such friction generates a blazing fire that consumes the very source of its birth, the bamboo forest. Thus, the fire is automatically calmed by its own action. Similarly, by the competition and interaction of the material modes of nature, the subtle and gross material bodies are generated. If one uses his mind and body to cultivate knowledge, then such enlightenment destroys the influence of the modes of nature that generated one's body. Thus, like the fire, the body and mind are pacified by their own actions in destroying the source of their birth.

SB 11.13.8 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Kāñëa, generally human beings know that material life brings great future unhappiness, and still they try to enjoy material life. My dear Lord, how can one in knowledge act just like a dog, an ass or a goat?

SB 11.13.9-10 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, a person bereft of intelligence first falsely identifies himself with the material body and mind, and when such false knowledge arises within one's consciousness, material passion, the cause of great suffering, pervades the mind, which by nature is situated in goodness. Then the mind, contaminated by passion, becomes absorbed in making and changing many plans for material advancement. Thus, by constantly thinking of the modes of material nature, a foolish person is afflicted with unbearable material desires.

SB 11.13.11 - One who does not control the material senses comes under the control of material desires and is thus bewildered by the strong waves of the mode of passion. Such a person executes material activities, although clearly seeing that the result will be future unhappiness.

SB 11.13.12 - Although the intelligence of a learned person may be bewildered by the modes of passion and ignorance, he should again carefully bring the mind under control. By clearly seeing the contamination of the modes of nature, he does not become attached.

SB 11.13.13 - A person should be attentive and grave and never lazy or morose. Mastering the yoga procedures of breathing and sitting properly, one should practice fixing the mind on Me at dawn, noon and sunset, and thus gradually the mind should be completely absorbed in Me.

SB 11.13.14 - The actual yoga system as taught by My devotees, headed by Sanaka-kumāra, is simply this: Having withdrawn the mind from all other objects, one should directly and appropriately absorb it in Me.

SB 11.13.15 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Keçava, at what time and in what form did You instruct the science of yoga to Sanaka and his brothers? I now desire to know about these things.

SB 11.13.16 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Once, the mental sons of Lord Brahmā, namely, the sages headed by Sanaka, inquired from their father about the difficult subject matter of the supreme goal of yoga.

SB 11.13.17 - The sages headed by Sanaka said: O Lord, people's minds are naturally attracted to material sense objects, and similarly the sense objects in the form of desire enter within the mind. Therefore, how can a person who desires liberation, who desires to cross over activities of sense gratification, destroy this mutual relationship between the sense objects and the mind? Please explain this to us.

SB 11.13.18 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, Brahmā himself, who is born directly from the body of the Lord and who is the creator of all living entities within the material world, being the best of the demigods, seriously contemplated the question of his sons headed by Sanaka. The intelligence of Brahmā, however, was affected by his own activities of creation, and thus he could not discover the essential answer to this question.

SB 11.13.19 - Lord Brahmā desired to attain the answer to the question that was puzzling him, and thus he fixed his mind on Me, the Supreme Lord. At that time, in My form of Haṁsa, I became visible to Lord Brahmā.

SB 11.13.20 - Thus seeing Me, the sages, placing Brahmā in the lead, came forward and worshiped My lotus feet. Then they frankly asked Me, "Who are You?"

SB 11.13.21 - My dear Uddhava, the sages, being eager to understand the ultimate truth of the yoga system, thus inquired from Me. Now please hear as I explain that which I spoke unto the sages.

SB 11.13.22 - My dear brāhmaëas, if, when asking Me who I am, you believe that I am also a jéva soul and that there is no ultimate difference between us-since all souls are ultimately one without individuality-then how is your question possible or appropriate? Ultimately, what is the real situation or resting place both of yourselves and of Me?

SB 11.13.23 - If by asking Me "Who are You?" you were referring to the material body, then I must point out that all material bodies are constituted of five elements, namely earth, water, fire, air and ether. Thus, you should have asked, "Who are you five?" If you consider that all material bodies are ultimately one, being constituted essentially of the same elements, then your question is still meaningless, since there would be no deep purpose in distinguishing one body from another. Thus, it appears that in asking My identity, you are merely speaking words, without any real meaning or purpose.

SB 11.13.24 - Within this world, whatever is perceived by the mind, speech, eyes or other senses is Me alone and nothing besides Me. All of you please understand this by a straightforward analysis of the facts.

SB 11.13.25 - My dear sons, the mind has a natural proclivity to enter into the material sense objects, and similarly the sense objects enter into the mind; but both this material mind and the sense objects are merely designations that cover the spirit soul, who is part and parcel of Me.

SB 11.13.26 - A person who has thus achieved Me by understanding that he is not different from Me realizes that the material mind is lodged within the sense objects because of constant sense gratification, and that the material objects are existing prominently within the material mind. Having understood My transcendental nature, he gives up both the material mind and its objects.

SB 11.13.27 - Waking, sleeping and deep sleep are the three functions of the intelligence and are caused by the modes of material nature. The living entity within the body is ascertained to possess characteristics different from these three states and thus remains as a witness to them.

SB 11.13.28 - The spirit soul is trapped in the bondage of material intelligence, which awards him constant engagement in the illusory modes of nature. But I am the fourth stage of consciousness, beyond wakefulness, dreaming and deep sleep. Becoming situated in Me, the soul should give up the bondage of material consciousness. At that time, the living entity will automatically renounce the material sense objects and the material mind.

SB 11.13.29 - The false ego of the living entity places him in bondage and awards him exactly the opposite of what he really desires. Therefore, an intelligent person should give up his constant anxiety to enjoy material life and remain situated in the Lord, who is beyond the functions of material consciousness.

SB 11.13.30 - According to My instructions, one should fix the mind on Me alone. If, however, one continues to see many different values and goals in life rather than seeing everything within Me, then although apparently awake, one is actually dreaming due to incomplete knowledge, just as one may dream that one has wakened from a dream.

SB 11.13.31 - Those states of existence that are conceived of as separate from the Supreme Personality of Godhead have no actual existence, although they create a sense of separation from the Absolute Truth. Just as the seer of a dream imagines many different activities and rewards, similarly, because of the sense of an existence separate from the Lord's existence, the living entity falsely performs fruitive activities, thinking them to be the cause of future rewards and destinations.

SB 11.13.32 - While awake the living entity enjoys with all of his senses the fleeting characteristics of the material body and mind; while dreaming he enjoys similar experiences within the mind; and in deep dreamless sleep all such experiences merge into ignorance. By remembering and contemplating the succession of wakefulness, dreaming and deep sleep, the living entity can understand that he is one throughout the three stages of consciousness and is transcendental. Thus, he becomes the lord of the senses.

SB 11.13.33 - You should consider how, by the influence of My illusory energy, these three states of the mind, caused by the modes of nature, have been artificially imagined to exist in Me. Having definitely ascertained the truth of the soul, you should utilize the sharpened sword of knowledge, acquired by logical reflection and from the instructions of sages and Vedic literatures, to completely cut off the false ego, which is the breeding ground of all doubts. All of you should then worship Me, who am situated within the heart.

SB 11.13.34 - One should see that the material world is a distinct illusion appearing in the mind, because material objects have an extremely flickering existence and are here today and gone tomorrow. They can be compared to the streaking red line created by whirling a fiery stick. The spirit soul by nature exists in the single state of pure consciousness. However, in this world he appears in many different forms and stages of existence. The modes of nature divide the soul's consciousness into normal wakefulness, dreaming and dreamless sleep. All such varieties of perception, however, are actually māyā and exist only like a dream.

SB 11.13.35 - Having understood the temporary illusory nature of material things, and thus having pulled one's vision away from illusion, one should remain without material desires. By experiencing the happiness of the soul, one should give up material speaking and activities. If sometimes one must observe the material world, one should remember that it is not ultimate reality and therefore one has given it up. By such constant remembrance up till the time of death, one will not again fall into illusion.

SB 11.13.36 - Just as a drunken man does not notice if he is wearing his coat or shirt, similarly, one who is perfect in self-realization and who has thus achieved his eternal identity does not notice whether the temporary body is sitting or standing. Indeed, if by God's will the body is finished or if by God's will he obtains a new body, a self-realized soul does not notice, just as a drunken man does not notice the situation of his outward dress.

SB 11.13.37 - The material body certainly moves under the control of supreme destiny and therefore must continue to live along with the senses and vital air as long as one's karma is in effect. A self-realized soul, however, who is awakened to the absolute reality and who is thus highly situated in the perfect stage of yoga, will never again surrender to the material body and its manifold manifestations, knowing it to be just like a body visualized in a dream.

SB 11.13.38 - My dear brāhmaëas, I have now explained to you the confidential knowledge of Sāñ khyā, by which one philosophically distinguishes matter from spirit, and of aññāñ ga-yoga, by which one links up with the Supreme. Please understand that I am the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viññeu, and that I have appeared before you desiring to explain your actual religious duties.

SB 11.13.39 - O best of the brāhmaëas, please know that I am the supreme shelter of the yoga system, analytic philosophy, virtuous action, truthful religious principles, power, beauty, fame and self-control.

SB 11.13.40 - All superior transcendental qualities, such as being beyond the modes of nature, detached, the well-wisher, the most dear, the Supersoul, equally situated everywhere, and free from material entanglement-all such qualities, free from the transformations of material qualities, find their shelter and worshipable object in Me.

SB 11.13.41 - [Lord Kāññea continued:] My dear Uddhava, thus all of the doubts of the sages headed by Sanaka were destroyed by My words. Fully worshiping Me with transcendental love and devotion, they chanted My glories with excellent hymns.

SB 11.13.42 - The greatest of sages, headed by Sanaka Āññi, thus perfectly worshiped and glorified Me, and as Lord Brahmā looked on, I returned to My own abode.

29 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.13.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: The three modes of material nature, namely goodness, passion and ignorance, pertain to material intelligence and not to the spirit soul. By development of material goodness one can conquer the modes of passion and ignorance, and by cultivation of transcendental goodness one may free oneself even from material goodness.

SB 11.13.2 - When the living entity becomes strongly situated in the mode of goodness, then religious principles, characterized by devotional service to Me, become prominent. One can strengthen the mode of goodness by cultivation of those things that are already situated in goodness, and thus religious principles arise.

SB 11.13.3 - Religious principles, strengthened by the mode of goodness, destroy the influence of passion and ignorance. When passion and ignorance are overcome, their original cause, irreligion, is quickly vanquished.

SB 11.13.4 - According to the quality of religious scriptures, water, one's association with one's children or with people in general, the particular place, the time, activities, birth, meditation, chanting of mantras, and purificatory rituals, the modes of nature become differently prominent.

SB 11.13.5 - Among the ten items I have just mentioned, the great sages who understand Vedic knowledge have praised and recommended those that are in the mode of goodness, criticized and rejected those in the mode of ignorance, and shown indifference to those in the mode of passion.

SB 11.13.6 - Until one revives one's direct knowledge of the spirit soul and drives away the illusory identification with the material body and mind caused by the three modes of nature, one must cultivate those things in the mode of goodness. By increasing the mode of goodness, one automatically can understand and practice religious principles, and by such practice transcendental knowledge is awakened.

SB 11.13.7 - In a bamboo forest the wind sometimes rubs the bamboo stalks together, and such friction generates a blazing fire that consumes the very source of its birth, the bamboo forest. Thus, the fire is automatically calmed by its own action. Similarly, by the competition and interaction of the material modes of nature, the subtle and gross material bodies are generated. If one uses his mind and body to cultivate knowledge, then such enlightenment destroys the influence of the modes of nature that generated one's body. Thus, like the fire, the body and mind are pacified by their own actions in destroying the source of their birth.

SB 11.13.8 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Kâñëa, generally human beings know that material life brings great future unhappiness, and still they try to enjoy material life. My dear Lord, how can one in knowledge act just like a dog, an ass or a goat?

SB 11.13.9-10 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, a person bereft of intelligence first falsely identifies himself with the material body and mind, and when such false knowledge arises within one's consciousness, material passion, the cause of great suffering, pervades the mind, which by nature is situated in goodness. Then the mind, contaminated by passion, becomes absorbed in making and changing many plans for material advancement. Thus, by constantly thinking of the modes of material nature, a foolish person is afflicted with unbearable material desires.

SB 11.13.11 - One who does not control the material senses comes under the control of material desires and is thus bewildered by the strong waves of the mode of passion. Such a person executes material activities, although clearly seeing that the result will be future unhappiness.

SB 11.13.12 - Although the intelligence of a learned person may be bewildered by the modes of passion and ignorance, he should again carefully bring the mind under control. By clearly seeing the contamination of the modes of nature, he does not become attached.

SB 11.13.13 - A person should be attentive and grave and never lazy or morose. Mastering the yoga procedures of breathing and sitting properly, one should practice fixing the mind on Me at dawn, noon and sunset, and thus gradually the mind should be completely absorbed in Me.

SB 11.13.14 - The actual yoga system as taught by My devotees, headed by Sanaka-kumāra, is simply this: Having withdrawn the mind from all other objects, one should directly and appropriately absorb it in Me.

SB 11.13.15 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Keçava, at what time and in what form did You instruct the science of yoga to Sanaka and his brothers? I now desire to know about these things.

SB 11.13.16 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Once, the mental sons of Lord Brahmä, namely, the sages headed by Sanaka, inquired from their father about the difficult subject matter of the supreme goal of yoga.

SB 11.13.17 - The sages headed by Sanaka said: O Lord, people's minds are naturally attracted to material sense objects, and similarly the sense objects in the form of desire enter within the mind. Therefore, how can a person who desires liberation, who desires to cross over activities of sense gratification, destroy this mutual relationship between the sense objects and the mind? Please explain this to us.

SB 11.13.18 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, Brahmä himself, who is born directly from the body of the Lord and who is the creator of all living entities within the material world, being the best of the demigods, seriously contemplated the question of his sons headed by Sanaka. The intelligence of Brahmā, however, was affected by his own activities of creation, and thus he could not discover the essential answer to this question.

SB 11.13.19 - Lord Brahmā desired to attain the answer to the question that was puzzling him, and thus he fixed his mind on Me, the Supreme Lord. At that time, in My form of Haṇsa, I became visible to Lord Brahmā.

SB 11.13.20 - Thus seeing Me, the sages, placing Brahmā in the lead, came forward and worshiped My lotus feet. Then they frankly asked Me, "Who are You?"

SB 11.13.21 - My dear Uddhava, the sages, being eager to understand the ultimate truth of the yoga system, thus inquired from Me. Now please hear as I explain that which I spoke unto the sages.

SB 11.13.22 - My dear brāhmaëas, if, when asking Me who I am, you believe that I am also a jéva soul and that there is no ultimate difference between us-since all souls are ultimately one without individuality-then how is your question possible or appropriate? Ultimately, what is the real situation or resting place both of yourselves and of Me?

SB 11.13.23 - If by asking Me "Who are You?" you were referring to the material body, then I must point out that all material bodies are constituted of five elements, namely earth, water, fire, air and ether. Thus, you should have asked, "Who are you five?" If you consider that all material bodies are ultimately one, being constituted essentially of the same elements, then your question is still meaningless, since there would be no deep purpose in distinguishing one body from another. Thus, it appears that in asking My identity, you are merely speaking words, without any real meaning or purpose.

SB 11.13.24 - Within this world, whatever is perceived by the mind, speech, eyes or other senses is Me alone and nothing besides Me. All of you please understand this by a straightforward analysis of the facts.

SB 11.13.25 - My dear sons, the mind has a natural proclivity to enter into the material sense objects, and similarly the sense objects enter into the mind; but both this material mind and the sense objects are merely designations that cover the spirit soul, who is part and parcel of Me.

SB 11.13.26 - A person who has thus achieved Me by understanding that he is not different from Me realizes that the material mind is lodged within the sense objects because of constant sense gratification, and that the material objects are existing prominently within the material mind. Having understood My transcendental nature, he gives up both the material mind and its objects.

SB 11.13.27 - Waking, sleeping and deep sleep are the three functions of the intelligence and are caused by the modes of material nature. The living entity within the body is ascertained to possess characteristics different from these three states and thus remains as a witness to them.

SB 11.13.28 - The spirit soul is trapped in the bondage of material intelligence, which awards him constant engagement in the illusory modes of nature. But I am the fourth stage of consciousness, beyond wakefulness, dreaming and deep sleep. Becoming situated in Me, the soul should give up the bondage of material consciousness. At that time, the living entity will automatically renounce the material sense objects and the material mind.

SB 11.13.29 - The false ego of the living entity places him in bondage and awards him exactly the opposite of what he really desires. Therefore, an intelligent person should give up his constant anxiety to enjoy material life and remain situated in the Lord, who is beyond the functions of material consciousness.

SB 11.13.30 - According to My instructions, one should fix the mind on Me alone. If, however, one continues to see many different values and goals in life rather than seeing everything within Me, then although apparently awake, one is actually dreaming due to incomplete knowledge, just as one may dream that one has wakened from a dream.

SB 11.13.31 - Those states of existence that are conceived of as separate from the Supreme Personality of Godhead have no actual existence, although they create a sense of separation from the Absolute Truth. Just as the seer of a dream imagines many different activities and rewards, similarly, because of the sense of an existence separate from the Lord's existence, the living entity falsely performs fruitive activities, thinking them to be the cause of future rewards and destinations.

SB 11.13.32 - While awake the living entity enjoys with all of his senses the fleeting characteristics of the material body and mind; while dreaming he enjoys similar experiences within the mind; and in deep dreamless sleep all such experiences merge into ignorance. By remembering and contemplating the succession of wakefulness, dreaming and deep sleep, the living entity can understand that he is one throughout the three stages of consciousness and is transcendental. Thus, he becomes the lord of the senses.

SB 11.13.33 - You should consider how, by the influence of My illusory energy, these three states of the mind, caused by the modes of nature, have been artificially imagined to exist in Me. Having definitely ascertained the truth of the soul, you should utilize the sharpened sword of knowledge, acquired by logical reflection and from the instructions of sages and Vedic literatures, to completely cut off the false ego, which is the breeding ground of all doubts. All of you should then worship Me, who am situated within the heart.

SB 11.13.34 - One should see that the material world is a distinct illusion appearing in the mind, because material objects have an extremely flickering existence and are here today and gone tomorrow. They can be compared to the streaking red line created by whirling a fiery stick. The spirit soul by nature exists in the single state of pure consciousness. However, in this world he appears in many different forms and stages of existence. The modes of nature divide the soul's consciousness into normal wakefulness, dreaming and dreamless sleep. All such varieties of perception, however, are actually māyā and exist only like a dream.

SB 11.13.35 - Having understood the temporary illusory nature of material things, and thus having pulled one's vision away from illusion, one should remain without material desires. By experiencing the happiness of the soul, one should give up material speaking and activities. If sometimes one must observe the material world, one should remember that it is not ultimate reality and therefore one has given it up. By such constant remembrance up till the time of death, one will not again fall into illusion.

SB 11.13.36 - Just as a drunken man does not notice if he is wearing his coat or shirt, similarly, one who is perfect in self-realization and who has thus achieved his eternal identity does not notice whether the temporary body is sitting or standing. Indeed, if by God's will the body is finished or if by God's will he obtains a new body, a self-realized soul does not notice, just as a drunken man does not notice the situation of his outward dress.

SB 11.13.37 - The material body certainly moves under the control of supreme destiny and therefore must continue to live along with the senses and vital air as long as one's karma is in effect. A self-realized soul, however, who is awakened to the absolute reality and who is thus highly situated in the perfect stage of yoga, will never again surrender to the material body and its manifold manifestations, knowing it to be just like a body visualized in a dream.

SB 11.13.38 - My dear brāhmaëas, I have now explained to you the confidential knowledge of Säi khya, by which one philosophically distinguishes matter from spirit, and of añöäi ga-yoga, by which one links up with the Supreme. Please understand that I am the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu, and that I have appeared before you desiring to explain your actual religious duties.

SB 11.13.39 - O best of the brāhmaëas, please know that I am the supreme shelter of the yoga system, analytic philosophy, virtuous action, truthful religious principles, power, beauty, fame and self-control.

SB 11.13.40 - All superior transcendental qualities, such as being beyond the modes of nature, detached, the well-wisher, the most dear, the Supersoul, equally situated everywhere, and free from material entanglement-all such qualities, free from the transformations of material qualities, find their shelter and worshipable object in Me.

SB 11.13.41 - [Lord Kånëa continued:] My dear Uddhava, thus all of the doubts of the sages headed by Sanaka were destroyed by My words. Fully worshiping Me with transcendental love and devotion, they chanted My glories with excellent hymns.

SB 11.13.42 - The greatest of sages, headed by Sanaka Åñi, thus perfectly worshiped and glorified Me, and as Lord Brahmä looked on, I returned to My own abode.

SB 11.13.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: The three modes of material nature, namely goodness, passion and ignorance, pertain to material intelligence and not to the spirit soul. By development of material goodness one can conquer the modes of passion and ignorance, and by cultivation of transcendental goodness one may free oneself even from material goodness.

SB 11.13.2 - When the living entity becomes strongly situated in the mode of goodness, then religious principles, characterized by devotional service to Me, become prominent. One can strengthen the mode of goodness by cultivation of those things that are already situated in goodness, and thus religious principles arise.

SB 11.13.3 - Religious principles, strengthened by the mode of goodness, destroy the influence of passion and ignorance. When passion and ignorance are overcome, their original cause, irreligion, is quickly vanquished.

SB 11.13.4 - According to the quality of religious scriptures, water, one's association with one's children or with people in general, the particular place, the time, activities, birth, meditation, chanting of mantras, and purificatory rituals, the modes of nature become differently prominent.

SB 11.13.5 - Among the ten items I have just mentioned, the great sages who understand Vedic knowledge have praised and recommended those that are in the mode of goodness, criticized and rejected those in the mode of ignorance, and shown indifference to those in the mode of passion.

SB 11.13.6 - Until one revives one's direct knowledge of the spirit soul and drives away the illusory identification with the material body and mind caused by the three modes of nature, one must cultivate those things in the mode of goodness. By increasing the mode of goodness, one automatically can understand and practice religious principles, and by such practice transcendental knowledge is awakened.

SB 11.13.7 - In a bamboo forest the wind sometimes rubs the bamboo stalks together, and such friction generates a blazing fire that consumes the very source of its birth, the bamboo forest. Thus, the fire is automatically calmed by its own action. Similarly, by the competition and interaction of the material modes of nature, the subtle and gross material bodies are generated. If one uses his mind and body to cultivate knowledge, then such enlightenment destroys the influence of the modes of nature that generated one's body. Thus, like the fire, the body and mind are pacified by their own actions in destroying the source of their birth.

SB 11.13.8 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Kāñëa, generally human beings know that material life brings great future unhappiness, and still they try to enjoy material life. My dear Lord, how can one in knowledge act just like a dog, an ass or a goat?

SB 11.13.9-10 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, a person bereft of intelligence first falsely identifies himself with the material body and mind, and when such false knowledge arises within one's consciousness, material passion, the cause of great suffering, pervades the mind, which by nature is situated in goodness. Then the mind, contaminated by passion, becomes absorbed in making and changing many plans for material advancement. Thus, by constantly thinking of the modes of material nature, a foolish person is afflicted with unbearable material desires.

SB 11.13.11 - One who does not control the material senses comes under the control of material desires and is thus bewildered by the strong waves of the mode of passion. Such a person executes material activities, although clearly seeing that the result will be future unhappiness.

SB 11.13.12 - Although the intelligence of a learned person may be bewildered by the modes of passion and ignorance, he should again carefully bring the mind under control. By clearly seeing the contamination of the modes of nature, he does not become attached.

SB 11.13.13 - A person should be attentive and grave and never lazy or morose. Mastering the yoga procedures of breathing and sitting properly, one should practice fixing the mind on Me at dawn, noon and sunset, and thus gradually the mind should be completely absorbed in Me.

SB 11.13.14 - The actual yoga system as taught by My devotees, headed by Sanaka-kumāra, is simply this: Having withdrawn the mind from all other objects, one should directly and appropriately absorb it in Me.

SB 11.13.15 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Keçava, at what time and in what form did You instruct the science of yoga to Sanaka and his brothers? I now desire to know about these things.

SB 11.13.16 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Once, the mental sons of Lord Brahmā, namely, the sages headed by Sanaka, inquired from their father about the difficult subject matter of the supreme goal of yoga.

SB 11.13.17 - The sages headed by Sanaka said: O Lord, people's minds are naturally attracted to material sense objects, and similarly the sense objects in the form of desire enter within the mind. Therefore, how can a person who desires liberation, who desires to cross over activities of sense gratification, destroy this mutual relationship between the sense objects and the mind? Please explain this to us.

SB 11.13.18 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, Brahmā himself, who is born directly from the body of the Lord and who is the creator of all living entities within the material world, being the best of the demigods, seriously contemplated the question of his sons headed by Sanaka. The intelligence of Brahmā, however, was affected by his own activities of creation, and thus he could not discover the essential answer to this question.

SB 11.13.19 - Lord Brahmā desired to attain the answer to the question that was puzzling him, and thus he fixed his mind on Me, the Supreme Lord. At that time, in My form of Haṇsa, I became visible to Lord Brahmā.

SB 11.13.20 - Thus seeing Me, the sages, placing Brahmā in the lead, came forward and worshiped My lotus feet. Then they frankly asked Me, "Who are You?"

SB 11.13.21 - My dear Uddhava, the sages, being eager to understand the ultimate truth of the yoga system, thus inquired from Me. Now please hear as I explain that which I spoke unto the sages.

SB 11.13.22 - My dear brāhmaëas, if, when asking Me who I am, you believe that I am also a jéva soul and that there is no ultimate difference between us-since all souls are ultimately one without individuality-then how is your question possible or appropriate? Ultimately, what is the real situation or resting place both of yourselves and of Me?

SB 11.13.23 - If by asking Me "Who are You?" you were referring to the material body, then I must point out that all material bodies are constituted of five elements, namely earth, water, fire, air and ether. Thus, you should have asked, "Who are you five?" If you consider that all material bodies are ultimately one, being constituted essentially of the same elements, then your question is still meaningless, since there would be no deep purpose in distinguishing one body from another. Thus, it appears that in asking My identity, you are merely speaking words, without any real meaning or purpose.

SB 11.13.24 - Within this world, whatever is perceived by the mind, speech, eyes or other senses is Me alone and nothing besides Me. All of you please understand this by a straightforward analysis of the facts.

SB 11.13.25 - My dear sons, the mind has a natural proclivity to enter into the material sense objects, and similarly the sense objects enter into the mind; but both this material mind and the sense objects are merely designations that cover the spirit soul, who is part and parcel of Me.

SB 11.13.26 - A person who has thus achieved Me by understanding that he is not different from Me realizes that the material mind is lodged within the sense objects because of constant sense gratification, and that the material objects are existing prominently within the material mind. Having understood My transcendental nature, he gives up both the material mind and its objects.

SB 11.13.27 - Waking, sleeping and deep sleep are the three functions of the intelligence and are caused by the modes of material nature. The living entity within the body is ascertained to possess characteristics different from these three states and thus remains as a witness to them.

SB 11.13.28 - The spirit soul is trapped in the bondage of material intelligence, which awards him constant engagement in the illusory modes of nature. But I am the fourth stage of consciousness, beyond wakefulness, dreaming and deep sleep. Becoming situated in Me, the soul should give up the bondage of material consciousness. At that time, the living entity will automatically renounce the material sense objects and the material mind.

SB 11.13.29 - The false ego of the living entity places him in bondage and awards him exactly the opposite of what he really desires. Therefore, an intelligent person should give up his constant anxiety to enjoy material life and remain situated in the Lord, who is beyond the functions of material consciousness.

SB 11.13.30 - According to My instructions, one should fix the mind on Me alone. If, however, one continues to see many different values and goals in life rather than seeing everything within Me, then although apparently awake, one is actually dreaming due to incomplete knowledge, just as one may dream that one has wakened from a dream.

SB 11.13.31 - Those states of existence that are conceived of as separate from the Supreme Personality of Godhead have no actual existence, although they create a sense of separation from the Absolute Truth. Just as the seer of a dream imagines many different activities and rewards, similarly, because of the sense of an existence separate from the Lord's existence, the living entity falsely performs fruitive activities, thinking them to be the cause of future rewards and destinations.

SB 11.13.32 - While awake the living entity enjoys with all of his senses the fleeting characteristics of the material body and mind; while dreaming he enjoys similar experiences within the mind; and in deep dreamless sleep all such experiences merge into ignorance. By remembering and contemplating the succession of wakefulness, dreaming and deep sleep, the living entity can understand that he is one throughout the three stages of consciousness and is transcendental. Thus, he becomes the lord of the senses.

SB 11.13.33 - You should consider how, by the influence of My illusory energy, these three states of the mind, caused by the modes of nature, have been artificially imagined to exist in Me. Having definitely ascertained the truth of the soul, you should utilize the sharpened sword of knowledge, acquired by logical reflection and from the instructions of sages and Vedic literatures, to completely cut off the false ego, which is the breeding ground of all doubts. All of you should then worship Me, who am situated within the heart.

SB 11.13.34 - One should see that the material world is a distinct illusion appearing in the mind, because material objects have an extremely flickering existence and are here today and gone tomorrow. They can be compared to the streaking red line created by whirling a fiery stick. The spirit soul by nature exists in the single state of pure consciousness. However, in this world he appears in many different forms and stages of existence. The modes of nature divide the soul's consciousness into normal wakefulness, dreaming and dreamless sleep. All such varieties of perception, however, are actually māyā and exist only like a dream.

SB 11.13.35 - Having understood the temporary illusory nature of material things, and thus having pulled one's vision away from illusion, one should remain without material desires. By experiencing the happiness of the soul, one should give up material speaking and activities. If sometimes one must observe the material world, one should remember that it is not ultimate reality and therefore one has given it up. By such constant remembrance up till the time of death, one will not again fall into illusion.

SB 11.13.36 - Just as a drunken man does not notice if he is wearing his coat or shirt, similarly, one who is perfect in self-realization and who has thus achieved his eternal identity does not notice whether the temporary body is sitting or standing. Indeed, if by God's will the body is finished or if by God's will he obtains a new body, a self-realized soul does not notice, just as a drunken man does not notice the situation of his outward dress.

SB 11.13.37 - The material body certainly moves under the control of supreme destiny and therefore must continue to live along with the senses and vital air as long as one's karma is in effect. A self-realized soul, however, who is awakened to the absolute reality and who is thus highly situated in the perfect stage of yoga, will never again surrender to the material body and its manifold manifestations, knowing it to be just like a body visualized in a dream.

SB 11.13.38 - My dear brāhmaëas, I have now explained to you the confidential knowledge of Säi khya, by which one philosophically distinguishes matter from spirit, and of añöäi ga-yoga, by which one links up with the Supreme. Please understand that I am the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu, and that I have appeared before you desiring to explain your actual religious duties.

SB 11.13.39 - O best of the brāhmaëas, please know that I am the supreme shelter of the yoga system, analytic philosophy, virtuous action, truthful religious principles, power, beauty, fame and self-control.

SB 11.13.40 - All superior transcendental qualities, such as being beyond the modes of nature, detached, the well-wisher, the most dear, the Supersoul, equally situated everywhere, and free from material entanglement-all such qualities, free from the transformations of material qualities, find their shelter and worshipable object in Me.

SB 11.13.41 - [Lord Kânëa continued:] My dear Uddhava, thus all of the doubts of the sages headed by Sanaka were destroyed by My words. Fully worshiping Me with transcendental love and devotion, they chanted My glories with excellent hymns.

SB 11.13.42 - The greatest of sages, headed by Sanaka Åñi, thus perfectly worshiped and glorified Me, and as Lord Brahmä looked on, I returned to My own abode.

SB 11.14.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Kâñëa, the learned sages who explain Vedic literature recommend various processes for perfecting one's life. Considering these varieties of viewpoint, my Lord, please tell me whether all these processes are equally important, or whether one of them is supreme.

SB 11.14.2 - My dear Lord, You have clearly explained the process of unalloyed devotional service, by which a devotee removes all material association from his life, enabling him to fix his mind on You.

SB 11.14.3 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: By the influence of time, the transcendental sound of Vedic knowledge was lost at the time of annihilation. Therefore, when the subsequent creation took place, I spoke the Vedic knowledge to Brahmä because I Myself am the religious principles enunciated in the Vedas.

SB 11.14.4 - Lord Brahmä spoke this Vedic knowledge to his eldest son, Manu, and the seven great sages headed by Bhägu Muni then accepted the same knowledge from Manu.

SB 11.14.5-7 - From the forefathers headed by Bhägu Muni and other sons of Brahmä appeared many children and descendants, who assumed different forms as demigods, demons, human beings, Guhyakas, Siddhas, Gandharvas, Vidyädharas, Cäraëas, Kindevas, Kinnaras, Nägas, Kimpuruñas, and so on. All of the many universal species, along with their respective leaders, appeared with different natures and desires generated from the three modes of material nature. Therefore, because of the different characteristics of the living entities within the universe, there are a great many Vedic rituals, mantras and rewards.

SB 11.14.8 - Thus, due to the great variety of desires and natures among human beings, there are many different theistic philosophies of life, which are handed down through tradition, custom and disciplic succession. There are other teachers who directly support atheistic viewpoints.

SB 11.14.9 - O best among men, the intelligence of human beings is bewildered by My illusory potency, and thus, according to their own activities and whims, they speak in innumerable ways about what is actually good for people.

SB 11.14.10 - Some say that people will be happy by performing pious religious activities. Others say that happiness is attained through fame, sense gratification, truthfulness, self-control, peace, self-interest, political influence, opulence, renunciation, consumption, sacrifice, penance, charity, vows, regulated duties or strict disciplinary regulation. Each process has its proponents.

SB 11.14.11 - All the persons I have just mentioned obtain temporary fruits from their material work. Indeed, the meager and miserable situations they achieve bring future unhappiness and are based on ignorance. Even while enjoying the fruits of their work, such persons are filled with lamentation.

SB 11.14.12 - O learned Uddhava, those who fix their consciousness on Me, giving up all material desires, share with Me a happiness that cannot possibly be experienced by those engaged in sense gratification.

SB 11.14.13 - One who does not desire anything within this world, who has achieved peace by controlling his senses, whose consciousness is equal in all conditions and whose mind is completely satisfied in Me finds only happiness wherever he goes.

SB 11.14.14 - One who has fixed his consciousness on Me desires neither the position or abode of Lord Brahmā or Lord Indra, nor an empire on the earth, nor sovereignty in the lower planetary systems, nor the eightfold perfection of yoga, nor liberation from birth and death. Such a person desires Me alone.

SB 11.14.15 - My dear Uddhava, neither Lord Brahmā, Lord Çiva, Lord Saṁ karṇāḁā, the goddess of fortune nor indeed My own self are as dear to Me as you are.

SB 11.14.16 - With the dust of My devotees' lotus feet I desire to purify the material worlds, which are situated within Me. Thus, I always follow the footsteps of My pure devotees, who are free from all personal desire, rapt in thought of My pastimes, peaceful, without any feelings of enmity, and of equal disposition everywhere.

SB 11.14.17 - Those who are without any desire for personal gratification, whose minds are always attached to Me, who are peaceful, without false ego and merciful to all living entities, and whose consciousness is never affected by opportunities for sense gratification-such persons enjoy in Me a happiness that cannot be known or achieved by those lacking such detachment from the material world.

SB 11.14.18 - My dear Uddhava, if My devotee has not fully conquered his senses, he may be harassed by material desires, but because of his unflinching devotion for Me, he will not be defeated by sense gratification.

SB 11.14.19 - My dear Uddhava, just as a blazing fire turns firewood into ashes, similarly, devotion unto Me completely burns to ashes sins committed by My devotees.

SB 11.14.20 - My dear Uddhava, the unalloyed devotional service rendered to Me by My devotees brings Me under their control. I cannot be thus controlled by those engaged in mystic yoga, Sāṅkhya philosophy, pious work, Vedic study, austerity or renunciation.

SB 11.14.21 - Only by practicing unalloyed devotional service with full faith in Me can one obtain Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. I am naturally dear to My devotees, who take Me as the only goal of their loving service. By engaging in such pure devotional service, even the dog-eaters can purify themselves from the contamination of their low birth.

SB 11.14.22 - Neither religious activities endowed with honesty and mercy nor knowledge obtained with great penance can completely purify one's consciousness if they are bereft of loving service to Me.

SB 11.14.23 - If one's hairs do not stand on end, how can the heart melt? And if the heart does not melt, how can tears of love flow from the eyes? If one does not cry in spiritual happiness, how can one render loving service to the Lord? And without such service, how can the consciousness be purified?

SB 11.14.24 - A devotee whose speech is sometimes choked up, whose heart melts, who cries continually and sometimes laughs, who feels ashamed and cries out loudly and then dances-a devotee thus fixed in loving service to Me purifies the entire universe.

SB 11.14.25 - Just as gold, when smelted in fire, gives up its impurities and returns to its pure brilliant state, similarly, the spirit soul, absorbed in the fire of bhakti-yoga, is purified of all contamination caused by previous fruitive activities and returns to its original position of serving Me in the spiritual world.

SB 11.14.26 - When a diseased eye is treated with medicinal ointment it gradually recovers its power to see. Similarly, as a conscious living entity cleanses himself of material contamination by hearing and chanting the pious narrations of My glories, he regains his ability to see Me, the Absolute Truth, in My subtle spiritual form.

SB 11.14.27 - The mind of one meditating upon the objects of sense gratification is certainly entangled in such objects, but if one constantly remembers Me, then the mind is absorbed in Me.

SB 11.14.28 - Therefore, one should reject all material processes of elevation, which are like the mental creations of a dream, and should completely absorb one's mind in Me. By constantly thinking of Me, one becomes purified.

SB 11.14.29 - Being conscious of the eternal self, one should give up association with women and those intimately associated with women. Sitting fearlessly in a solitary place, one should concentrate the mind on Me with great attention.

SB 11.14.30 - Of all kinds of suffering and bondage arising from various attachments, none is greater than the suffering and bondage arising from attachment to women and intimate contact with those attached to women.

SB 11.14.31 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear lotus-eyed Kâñëa, by what process should one who desires liberation meditate upon You, of what specific nature should his meditation be, and upon which form should he meditate? Kindly explain to me this topic of meditation.

SB 11.14.32-33 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Sitting on a level seat that is not too high or too low, keeping the body straight and erect yet comfortable, placing the two hands on one's lap and focusing the eyes on the tip of one's nose, one should purify the pathways of breathing by practicing the mechanical exercises of pūraka, kumbhaka and recaka, and then one should reverse the procedure (recaka, kumbhaka, pūraka). Having fully controlled the senses, one may thus practice prāëäyāma step by step.

SB 11.14.34 - Beginning from the mülādhāra-cakra, one should move the life air continuously upward like the fibers in the lotus stalk until one reaches the heart, where the sacred syllable oā is situated like the sound of a bell. One should thus continue raising the sacred syllable upward the distance of twelve aī gulas, and there the oākāra should be joined together with the fifteen vibrations produced with anusvāra.

SB 11.14.35 - Being fixed in the oākāra, one should carefully practice the prāëäyāma system ten times at each sunrise, noon and sunset. Thus, after one month one will have conquered the life air.

SB 11.14.36-42 - Keeping the eyes half closed and fixed on the tip of one's nose, being enlivened and alert, one should meditate on the lotus flower situated within the heart. This lotus has eight petals and is situated on an erect lotus stalk. One should meditate on the sun, moon and fire, placing them one after the other within the whorl of that lotus flower. Placing My transcendental form within the fire, one should meditate upon it as the auspicious goal of all meditation. That form is perfectly proportioned, gentle and cheerful. It possesses four beautiful long arms, a charming, beautiful neck, a handsome forehead, a pure smile and glowing, shark-shaped earrings suspended from two identical ears. That spiritual form is the color of a dark rain cloud and is garbed in golden-yellowish silk. The chest of that form is the abode of Çrévatsa and the goddess of fortune, and that form is also decorated with a conchshell, disc, club, lotus flower and garland of forest flowers. The two brilliant lotus feet are decorated with ankle bells and bracelets, and that form exhibits the Kaustubha gem along with an effulgent crown. The upper hips are beautified by a golden belt, and the arms are decorated with valuable bracelets. All of the limbs of that beautiful form capture the heart, and the face is beautified by merciful glancing. Pulling the senses back from the sense objects, one should be grave and self-controlled and should use the intelligence to strongly fix the mind upon all of the limbs of My transcendental body. Thus one should meditate upon that most delicate transcendental form of Mine.

SB 11.14.43 - One should then pull the consciousness back from all the limbs of that transcendental body. At that time, one should meditate only on the wonderfully smiling face of the Lord.

SB 11.14.44 - Being established in meditation on the Lord's face, one should then withdraw the consciousness and fix it in the sky. Then giving up such meditation, one should become established in Me and give up the process of meditation altogether.

SB 11.14.45 - One who has completely fixed his mind on Me should see Me within his own soul and should see the individual soul within Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Thus, he sees the individual souls united with the Supreme Soul, just as one sees the sun's rays completely united with the sun.

SB 11.14.46 - When the yogé thus controls his mind by intensely concentrated meditation, his illusory identification with material objects, knowledge and activities is very quickly extinguished.

32 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.14.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Kâñëa, the learned sages who explain Vedic literature recommend various processes for perfecting one's life. Considering these varieties of viewpoint, my Lord, please tell me whether all these processes are equally important, or whether one of them is supreme.

SB 11.14.2 - My dear Lord, You have clearly explained the process of unalloyed devotional service, by which a devotee removes all material association from his life, enabling him to fix his mind on You.

SB 11.14.3 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: By the influence of time, the transcendental sound of Vedic knowledge was lost at the time of annihilation. Therefore, when the subsequent creation took place, I spoke the Vedic knowledge to Brahmā because I Myself am the religious principles enunciated in the Vedas.

SB 11.14.4 - Lord Brahmā spoke this Vedic knowledge to his eldest son, Manu, and the seven great sages headed by Bhāgu Muni then accepted the same knowledge from Manu.

SB 11.14.5-7 - From the forefathers headed by Bhāgu Muni and other sons of Brahmā appeared many children and descendants, who assumed different forms as demigods, demons, human beings, Guhyakas, Siddhas, Gandharvas, Vidyādhara, Cāraēas, Kindevas, Kinnaras, Nāgas, Kimpuruṇas, and so on. All of the many universal species, along with their respective leaders, appeared with different natures and desires generated from the three modes of material nature. Therefore, because of the different characteristics of the living entities within the universe, there are a great many Vedic rituals, mantras and rewards.

SB 11.14.8 - Thus, due to the great variety of desires and natures among human beings, there are many different theistic philosophies of life, which are handed down through tradition, custom and disciplic succession. There are other teachers who directly support atheistic viewpoints.

SB 11.14.9 - O best among men, the intelligence of human beings is bewildered by My illusory potency, and thus, according to their own activities and whims, they speak in innumerable ways about what is actually good for people.

SB 11.14.10 - Some say that people will be happy by performing pious religious activities. Others say that happiness is attained through fame, sense gratification, truthfulness, self-control, peace, self-interest, political influence, opulence, renunciation, consumption, sacrifice, penance, charity, vows, regulated duties or strict disciplinary regulation. Each process has its proponents.

SB 11.14.11 - All the persons I have just mentioned obtain temporary fruits from their material work. Indeed, the meager and miserable situations they achieve bring future unhappiness and are based on ignorance. Even while enjoying the fruits of their work, such persons are filled with lamentation.

SB 11.14.12 - O learned Uddhava, those who fix their consciousness on Me, giving up all material desires, share with Me a happiness that cannot possibly be experienced by those engaged in sense gratification.

SB 11.14.13 - One who does not desire anything within this world, who has achieved peace by controlling his senses, whose consciousness is equal in all conditions and whose mind is completely satisfied in Me finds only happiness wherever he goes.

SB 11.14.14 - One who has fixed his consciousness on Me desires neither the position or abode of Lord Brahmā or Lord Indra, nor an empire on the earth, nor sovereignty in the lower planetary systems, nor the eightfold perfection of yoga, nor liberation from birth and death. Such a person desires Me alone.

SB 11.14.15 - My dear Uddhava, neither Lord Brahmā, Lord Çiva, Lord

Saī karṇāëa, the goddess of fortune nor indeed My own self are as dear to Me as you are.

SB 11.14.16 - With the dust of My devotees' lotus feet I desire to purify the material worlds, which are situated within Me. Thus, I always follow the footsteps of My pure devotees, who are free from all personal desire, rapt in thought of My pastimes, peaceful, without any feelings of enmity, and of equal disposition everywhere.

SB 11.14.17 - Those who are without any desire for personal gratification, whose minds are always attached to Me, who are peaceful, without false ego and merciful to all living entities, and whose consciousness is never affected by opportunities for sense gratification-such persons enjoy in Me a happiness that cannot be known or achieved by those lacking such detachment from the material world.

SB 11.14.18 - My dear Uddhava, if My devotee has not fully conquered his senses, he may be harassed by material desires, but because of his unflinching devotion for Me, he will not be defeated by sense gratification.

SB 11.14.19 - My dear Uddhava, just as a blazing fire turns firewood into ashes, similarly, devotion unto Me completely burns to ashes sins committed by My devotees.

SB 11.14.20 - My dear Uddhava, the unalloyed devotional service rendered to Me by My devotees brings Me under their control. I cannot be thus controlled by those engaged in mystic yoga, Sāī khyā philosophy, pious work, Vedic study, austerity or renunciation.

SB 11.14.21 - Only by practicing unalloyed devotional service with full faith in Me can one obtain Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. I am naturally dear to My devotees, who take Me as the only goal of their loving service. By engaging in such pure devotional service, even the dog-eaters can purify themselves from the contamination of their low birth.

SB 11.14.22 - Neither religious activities endowed with honesty and mercy nor knowledge obtained with great penance can completely purify one's consciousness if they are bereft of loving service to Me.

SB 11.14.23 - If one's hairs do not stand on end, how can the heart melt? And if the heart does not melt, how can tears of love flow from the eyes? If one does not cry in spiritual happiness, how can one render loving service to the Lord? And without such service, how can the consciousness be purified?

SB 11.14.24 - A devotee whose speech is sometimes choked up, whose heart melts, who cries continually and sometimes laughs, who feels ashamed and cries out loudly and then dances-a devotee thus fixed in loving service to Me purifies the entire universe.

SB 11.14.25 - Just as gold, when smelted in fire, gives up its impurities and returns to its pure brilliant state, similarly, the spirit soul, absorbed in the fire of bhakti-yoga, is purified of all contamination caused by previous fruitive activities and returns to its original position of serving Me in the spiritual world.

SB 11.14.26 - When a diseased eye is treated with medicinal ointment it gradually recovers its power to see. Similarly, as a conscious living entity cleanses himself of material contamination by hearing and chanting the pious narrations of My glories, he regains his ability to see Me, the Absolute Truth, in My subtle spiritual form.

SB 11.14.27 - The mind of one meditating upon the objects of sense gratification is certainly entangled in such objects, but if one constantly remembers Me, then the mind is absorbed in Me.

SB 11.14.28 - Therefore, one should reject all material processes of elevation, which are like the mental creations of a dream, and should completely absorb one's mind in Me. By constantly thinking of Me, one becomes purified.

SB 11.14.29 - Being conscious of the eternal self, one should give up association with women and those intimately associated with women. Sitting fearlessly in a solitary place, one should concentrate the mind on Me with great attention.

SB 11.14.30 - Of all kinds of suffering and bondage arising from various attachments, none is greater than the suffering and bondage arising from attachment to women and intimate contact with those attached to women.

SB 11.14.31 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear lotus-eyed Kâñëa, by what process should one who desires liberation meditate upon You, of what specific nature should his meditation be, and upon which form should he meditate? Kindly explain to me this topic of meditation.

SB 11.14.32-33 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Sitting on a level seat that is not too high or too low, keeping the body straight and erect yet comfortable, placing the two hands on one's lap and focusing the eyes on the tip of one's nose, one should purify the pathways of breathing by practicing the mechanical exercises of püraka, kumbhaka and recaka, and then one should reverse the procedure (recaka, kumbhaka, püraka). Having fully controlled the senses, one may thus practice präëyâma step by step.

SB 11.14.34 - Beginning from the mülâdhâra-cakra, one should move the life air continuously upward like the fibers in the lotus stalk until one reaches the heart, where the sacred syllable oṃ is situated like the sound of a bell. One should thus continue raising the sacred syllable upward the distance of twelve aṅgulas, and there the oṃkāra should be joined together with the fifteen vibrations produced with anusvāra.

SB 11.14.35 - Being fixed in the oṃkāra, one should carefully practice the prāṇāyāma system ten times at each sunrise, noon and sunset. Thus, after one month one will have conquered the life air.

SB 11.14.36-42 - Keeping the eyes half closed and fixed on the tip of one's nose, being enlivened and alert, one should meditate on the lotus flower situated within the heart. This lotus has eight petals and is situated on an erect lotus stalk. One should meditate on the sun, moon and fire, placing them one after the other within the whorl of that lotus flower. Placing My transcendental form within the fire, one should meditate upon it as the auspicious goal of all meditation. That form is perfectly proportioned, gentle and cheerful. It possesses four beautiful long arms, a charming, beautiful neck, a handsome forehead, a pure smile and glowing, shark-shaped earrings suspended from two identical ears. That spiritual form is the color of a dark rain cloud and is garbed in golden-yellowish silk. The chest of that form is the abode of Çrévatṣa and the goddess of fortune, and that form is also decorated with a conchshell, disc, club, lotus flower and garland of forest flowers. The two brilliant lotus feet are decorated with ankle bells and bracelets, and that form exhibits the Kaustubha gem along with an effulgent crown. The upper hips are beautified by a golden belt, and the arms are decorated with valuable bracelets. All of the limbs of that beautiful form capture the heart, and the face is beautified by merciful glancing. Pulling the senses back from the sense objects, one should be grave and self-controlled and should use the intelligence to strongly fix the mind upon all of the limbs of My transcendental body. Thus one should meditate upon that most delicate transcendental form of Mine.

SB 11.14.43 - One should then pull the consciousness back from all the limbs of that transcendental body. At that time, one should meditate only on the wonderfully smiling face of the Lord.

SB 11.14.44 - Being established in meditation on the Lord's face, one should then withdraw the consciousness and fix it in the sky. Then giving up such meditation, one should become established in Me and give up the process of meditation altogether.

SB 11.14.45 - One who has completely fixed his mind on Me should see Me within his own soul and should see the individual soul within Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Thus, he sees the individual souls united with the Supreme Soul, just as one sees the sun's rays completely united with the sun.

SB 11.14.46 - When the yogé thus controls his mind by intensely concentrated meditation, his illusory identification with material objects, knowledge and activities is very quickly extinguished.

33 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.14.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Kâñëa, the learned sages who explain Vedic literature recommend various processes for perfecting one's life. Considering these varieties of viewpoint, my Lord, please tell me whether all these processes are equally important, or whether one of them is supreme.

SB 11.14.2 - My dear Lord, You have clearly explained the process of unalloyed devotional service, by which a devotee removes all material association from his life, enabling him to fix his mind on You.

SB 11.14.3 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: By the influence of time, the transcendental sound of Vedic knowledge was lost at the time of annihilation. Therefore, when the subsequent creation took place, I spoke the Vedic knowledge to Brahmā because I Myself am the religious principles enunciated in the Vedas.

SB 11.14.4 - Lord Brahmā spoke this Vedic knowledge to his eldest son, Manu, and the seven great sages headed by Bhāgu Muni then accepted the same knowledge from Manu.

SB 11.14.5-7 - From the forefathers headed by Bhāgu Muni and other sons of Brahmā appeared many children and descendants, who assumed different forms as demigods, demons, human beings, Guhyakas, Siddhas, Gandharvas, Vidyādhara, Cāraēas, Kindevas, Kinnaras, Nāgas, Kimpuruṇas, and so on. All of the many universal species, along with their respective leaders, appeared with different natures and desires generated from the three modes of material nature. Therefore, because of the different characteristics of the living entities within the universe, there are a great many Vedic rituals, mantras and rewards.

SB 11.14.8 - Thus, due to the great variety of desires and natures among human beings, there are many different theistic philosophies of life, which are handed down through tradition, custom and disciplic succession. There are other teachers who directly support atheistic viewpoints.

SB 11.14.9 - O best among men, the intelligence of human beings is bewildered by My illusory potency, and thus, according to their own activities and whims, they speak in innumerable ways about what is actually good for people.

SB 11.14.10 - Some say that people will be happy by performing pious religious activities. Others say that happiness is attained through fame, sense gratification, truthfulness, self-control, peace, self-interest, political influence, opulence, renunciation, consumption, sacrifice, penance, charity, vows, regulated duties or strict disciplinary regulation. Each process has its proponents.

SB 11.14.11 - All the persons I have just mentioned obtain temporary fruits from their material work. Indeed, the meager and miserable situations they achieve bring future unhappiness and are based on ignorance. Even while enjoying the fruits of their work, such persons are filled with lamentation.

SB 11.14.12 - O learned Uddhava, those who fix their consciousness on Me, giving up all material desires, share with Me a happiness that cannot possibly be experienced by those engaged in sense gratification.

SB 11.14.13 - One who does not desire anything within this world, who has achieved peace by controlling his senses, whose consciousness is equal in all conditions and whose mind is completely satisfied in Me finds only happiness wherever he goes.

SB 11.14.14 - One who has fixed his consciousness on Me desires neither the position or abode of Lord Brahmā or Lord Indra, nor an empire on the earth, nor sovereignty in the lower planetary systems, nor the eightfold perfection of yoga, nor liberation from birth and death. Such a person desires Me alone.

SB 11.14.15 - My dear Uddhava, neither Lord Brahmā, Lord Çiva, Lord Saī karṇāëa, the goddess of fortune nor indeed My own self are as dear to Me as you are.

SB 11.14.16 - With the dust of My devotees' lotus feet I desire to purify the material worlds, which are situated within Me. Thus, I always follow the footsteps of My pure devotees, who are free from all personal desire, rapt in thought of My pastimes, peaceful, without any feelings of enmity, and of equal disposition everywhere.

SB 11.14.17 - Those who are without any desire for personal gratification, whose minds are always attached to Me, who are peaceful, without false ego and merciful to all living entities, and whose consciousness is never affected by opportunities for sense gratification-such persons enjoy in Me a happiness that cannot be known or achieved by those lacking such detachment from the material world.

SB 11.14.18 - My dear Uddhava, if My devotee has not fully conquered his senses, he may be harassed by material desires, but because of his unflinching devotion for Me, he will not be defeated by sense gratification.

SB 11.14.19 - My dear Uddhava, just as a blazing fire turns firewood into ashes, similarly, devotion unto Me completely burns to ashes sins committed by My devotees.

SB 11.14.20 - My dear Uddhava, the unalloyed devotional service rendered to Me by My devotees brings Me under their control. I cannot be thus controlled by those engaged in mystic yoga, Sāṅkhya philosophy, pious work, Vedic study, austerity or renunciation.

SB 11.14.21 - Only by practicing unalloyed devotional service with full faith in Me can one obtain Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. I am naturally dear to My devotees, who take Me as the only goal of their loving service. By engaging in such pure devotional service, even the dog-eaters can purify themselves from the contamination of their low birth.

SB 11.14.22 - Neither religious activities endowed with honesty and mercy nor knowledge obtained with great penance can completely purify one's consciousness if they are bereft of loving service to Me.

SB 11.14.23 - If one's hairs do not stand on end, how can the heart melt? And if the heart does not melt, how can tears of love flow from the eyes? If one does not cry in spiritual happiness, how can one render loving service to the Lord? And without such service, how can the consciousness be purified?

SB 11.14.24 - A devotee whose speech is sometimes choked up, whose heart melts, who cries continually and sometimes laughs, who feels ashamed and cries out loudly and then dances-a devotee thus fixed in loving service to Me purifies the entire universe.

SB 11.14.25 - Just as gold, when smelted in fire, gives up its impurities and returns to its pure brilliant state, similarly, the spirit soul, absorbed in the fire of bhakti-yoga, is purified of all contamination caused by previous fruitive activities and returns to its original position of serving Me in the spiritual world.

SB 11.14.26 - When a diseased eye is treated with medicinal ointment it gradually recovers its power to see. Similarly, as a conscious living entity cleanses himself of material contamination by hearing and chanting the pious narrations of My glories, he regains his ability to see Me, the Absolute Truth, in My subtle spiritual form.

SB 11.14.27 - The mind of one meditating upon the objects of sense gratification is certainly entangled in such objects, but if one constantly remembers Me, then the mind is absorbed in Me.

SB 11.14.28 - Therefore, one should reject all material processes of elevation, which are like the mental creations of a dream, and should completely absorb one's mind in Me. By constantly thinking of Me, one becomes purified.

SB 11.14.29 - Being conscious of the eternal self, one should give up association with women and those intimately associated with women. Sitting fearlessly in a solitary place, one should concentrate the mind on Me with great attention.

SB 11.14.30 - Of all kinds of suffering and bondage arising from various attachments, none is greater than the suffering and bondage arising from attachment to women and intimate contact with those attached to women.

SB 11.14.31 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear lotus-eyed Kāñëa, by what process should one who desires liberation meditate upon You, of what specific nature should his meditation be, and upon which form should he meditate? Kindly explain to me this topic of meditation.

SB 11.14.32-33 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Sitting on a level seat that is not too high or too low, keeping the body straight and erect yet comfortable, placing the two hands on one's lap and focusing the eyes on the tip of one's nose, one should purify the pathways of breathing by practicing the mechanical exercises of püraka, kumbhaka and recaka, and then one should reverse the procedure (recaka, kumbhaka, püraka). Having fully controlled the senses, one may thus practice präëyāma step by step.

SB 11.14.34 - Beginning from the mülādhāra-cakra, one should move the life air continuously upward like the fibers in the lotus stalk until one reaches the heart, where the sacred syllable oà is situated like the sound of a bell. One should thus continue raising the sacred syllable upward the distance of twelve aì gulas, and there the oàkāra should be joined together with the fifteen vibrations produced with anusvāra.

SB 11.14.35 - Being fixed in the oākāra, one should carefully practice the prāëyāma system ten times at each sunrise, noon and sunset. Thus, after one month one will have conquered the life air.

SB 11.14.36-42 - Keeping the eyes half closed and fixed on the tip of one's nose, being enlivened and alert, one should meditate on the lotus flower situated within the heart. This lotus has eight petals and is situated on an erect lotus stalk. One should meditate on the sun, moon and fire, placing them one after the other within the whorl of that lotus flower. Placing My transcendental form within the fire, one should meditate upon it as the auspicious goal of all meditation. That form is perfectly proportioned, gentle and cheerful. It possesses four beautiful long arms, a charming, beautiful neck, a handsome forehead, a pure smile and glowing, shark-shaped earrings suspended from two identical ears. That spiritual form is the color of a dark rain cloud and is garbed in golden-yellowish silk. The chest of that form is the abode of Çrévatsa and the goddess of fortune, and that form is also decorated with a conchshell, disc, club, lotus flower and garland of forest flowers. The two brilliant lotus feet are decorated with ankle bells and bracelets, and that form exhibits the Kaustubha gem along with an effulgent crown. The upper hips are beautified by a golden belt, and the arms are decorated with valuable bracelets. All of the limbs of that beautiful form capture the heart, and the face is beautified by merciful glancing. Pulling the senses back from the sense objects, one should be grave and self-controlled and should use the intelligence to strongly fix the mind upon all of the limbs of My transcendental body. Thus one should meditate upon that most delicate transcendental form of Mine.

SB 11.14.43 - One should then pull the consciousness back from all the limbs of that transcendental body. At that time, one should meditate only on the wonderfully smiling face of the Lord.

SB 11.14.44 - Being established in meditation on the Lord's face, one should then withdraw the consciousness and fix it in the sky. Then giving up such meditation, one should become established in Me and give up the process of meditation altogether.

SB 11.14.45 - One who has completely fixed his mind on Me should see Me within his own soul and should see the individual soul within Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Thus, he sees the individual souls united with the Supreme Soul, just as one sees the sun's rays completely united with the sun.

SB 11.14.46 - When the yogé thus controls his mind by intensely concentrated meditation, his illusory identification with material objects, knowledge and activities is very quickly extinguished.

34 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.15.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, the mystic perfections of yoga are acquired by a yogé who has conquered his senses, steadied his mind, conquered the breathing process and fixed his mind on Me.

SB 11.15.2 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Acyuta, by what process can mystic perfection be achieved, and what is the nature of such perfection? How many mystic perfections are there? Please explain these things to me. Indeed, You are the bestower of all mystic perfections.

SB 11.15.3 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: The masters of the yoga system have declared that there are eighteen types of mystic perfection and meditation, of which eight are primary, having their shelter in Me, and ten are secondary, appearing from the material mode of goodness.

SB 11.15.4-5 - Among the eight primary mystic perfections, the three by which one transforms one's own body are aëimā, becoming smaller than the smallest; mahimā, becoming greater than the greatest; and laghimā, becoming lighter than the lightest. Through the perfection of prāpti one acquires whatever one desires, and through prākāmya-siddhi one experiences any enjoyable object, either in this world or the next. Through iṣitā-siddhi one can manipulate the subpotencies of māyā, and through the controlling potency called vaṣitā-siddhi one is unimpeded by the three modes of nature. One who has acquired kāmāvasāyitā-siddhi can obtain anything from anywhere, to the highest possible limit. My dear gentle Uddhava, these eight mystic perfections are considered to be naturally existing and unexcelled within this world.

SB 11.15.6-7 - The ten secondary mystic perfections arising from the modes of nature are the powers of freeing oneself from hunger and thirst and other bodily disturbances, hearing and seeing things far away, moving the body at the speed of the mind, assuming any form one desires, entering the bodies of others, dying when one desires, witnessing the pastimes between the demigods and the celestial girls called Apsarās, completely executing one's determination and giving orders whose fulfillment is unimpeded.

SB 11.15.8-9 - The power to know past, present and future; tolerance of heat, cold and other dualities; knowing the minds of others; checking the influence of fire, sun, water, poison, and so on; and remaining unconquered by others-these constitute five perfections of the mystic process of yoga and meditation. I am simply listing these here according to their names and characteristics. Now please learn from Me how specific mystic perfections arise from specific meditations and also of the particular processes involved.

SB 11.15.10 - One who worships Me in My atomic form pervading all subtle elements, fixing his mind on that alone, obtains the mystic perfection called aëimā.

SB 11.15.11 - One who absorbs his mind in the particular form of the mahat-tattva and thus meditates upon Me as the Supreme Soul of the total material existence achieves the mystic perfection called mahimä. By further absorbing the mind in the situation of each individual element such as the sky, air, fire, and so on, one progressively acquires the greatness of each material element.

SB 11.15.12 - I exist within everything, and I am therefore the essence of the atomic constituents of material elements. By attaching his mind to Me in this form, the yogé may achieve the perfection called laghimä, by which he realizes the subtle atomic substance of time.

SB 11.15.13 - Fixing his mind completely in Me within the element of false ego generated from the mode of goodness, the yogé obtains the power of mystic acquisition, by which he becomes the proprietor of the senses of all living entities. He obtains such perfection because his mind is absorbed in Me.

SB 11.15.14 - One who concentrates all mental activities in Me as the Supersoul of that phase of the mahat-tattva which manifests the chain of fruitive activities obtains from Me, whose appearance is beyond material perception, the most excellent mystic perfection called prākāmya.

SB 11.15.15 - One who places his consciousness on Viñëu, the Supersoul, the prime mover and Supreme Lord of the external energy consisting of three modes, obtains the mystic perfection of controlling other conditioned souls, their material bodies and their bodily designations.

SB 11.15.16 - The yogé who places his mind in My form of Nārāyaëa, known as the fourth factor, full of all opulences, becomes endowed with My nature and thus obtains the mystic perfection called vaçitā.

SB 11.15.17 - One who fixes his pure mind on Me in My manifestation as the impersonal Brahman obtains the greatest happiness, wherein all his desires are completely fulfilled.

SB 11.15.18 - A human being who concentrates on Me as the upholder of religious principles, the personification of purity and the Lord of Çvetadvépa obtains the pure existence in which he is freed from the six waves of material disturbance, namely hunger, thirst, decay, death, grief and illusion.

SB 11.15.19 - That purified living entity who fixes his mind on the extraordinary sound vibrations occurring within Me as the personified sky and total life air is then able to perceive within the sky the speaking of all living entities.

SB 11.15.20 - Merging one's sight into the sun planet and then the sun planet into one's eyes, one should meditate on Me as existing within the combination of sun and vision; thus one acquires the power to see any distant thing.

SB 11.15.21 - The yogé who completely absorbs his mind in Me, and who then makes use of the wind that follows the mind to absorb the material body in Me, obtains through the potency of meditation on Me the mystic perfection by which his body immediately follows his mind wherever it goes.

SB 11.15.22 - When the yogé, applying his mind in a certain way, desires to assume a particular form, that very form immediately appears. Such perfection is possible by absorbing the mind in the shelter of My inconceivable mystic potency, by which I assume innumerable forms.

SB 11.15.23 - When a perfect yogé desires to enter another's body, he should meditate upon himself within the other body, and then, giving up his own gross body, he should enter the other's body through the pathways of air, as easily as a bee leaves one flower and flies into another.

SB 11.15.24 - The yogé who has achieved the mystic perfection called svacchanda-mātyu blocks the anus with the heel of the foot and then lifts the soul from the heart to the chest, to the neck and finally to the head. Situated within the brahma-randhra, the yogé then gives up his material body and guides the spirit soul to the selected destination.

SB 11.15.25 - The yogi who desires to enjoy in the pleasure gardens of the demigods should meditate on the purified mode of goodness, which is situated within Me, and then the heavenly women, generated from the mode of goodness, will approach him in airplanes.

SB 11.15.26 - A yogi who has faith in Me, absorbing his mind in Me and knowing that My purpose is always fulfilled, will always achieve his purpose by the very means he has determined to follow.

SB 11.15.27 - A person who perfectly meditates on Me acquires My nature of being the supreme ruler and controller. His order, like Mine, can never be frustrated by any means.

SB 11.15.28 - A yogé who has purified his existence by devotion to Me and who thus expertly knows the process of meditation obtains knowledge of past, present and future. He can therefore see the birth and death of himself and others.

SB 11.15.29 - Just as the bodies of aquatics cannot be injured by water, similarly, the body of a yogi whose consciousness is pacified by devotion to Me and who is fully developed in yoga science cannot be injured by fire, sun, water, poison, and so forth.

SB 11.15.30 - My devotee becomes unconquerable by meditating on My opulent incarnations, which are decorated with Ārāvatsa and various weapons and are endowed with imperial paraphernalia such as flags, ornamental umbrellas and fans.

SB 11.15.31 - A learned devotee who worships Me through yoga meditation certainly obtains in all respects the mystic perfections that I have described.

SB 11.15.32 - For a sage who has conquered his senses, breathing and mind, who is self-controlled and always absorbed in meditation on Me, what mystic perfection could possibly be difficult to achieve?

SB 11.15.33 - Learned experts in devotional service state that the mystic perfections of yoga that I have mentioned are actually impediments and are a waste of time for one who is practicing the supreme yoga, by which one achieves all perfection in life directly from Me.

SB 11.15.34 - Whatever mystic perfections can be achieved by good birth, herbs, austerities and mantras can all be achieved by devotional service to Me; indeed, one cannot achieve the actual perfection of yoga by any other means.

SB 11.15.35 - My dear Uddhava, I am the cause, the protector and the Lord of all mystic perfections, of the yoga system, of analytic knowledge, of pure activity and of the community of learned Vedic teachers.

SB 11.15.36 - Just as the same material elements exist within and outside of all material bodies, similarly, I cannot be covered by anything else. I exist within everything as the Supersoul and outside of everything in My all-pervading feature.

35 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.15.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, the mystic perfections of yoga are acquired by a yogé who has conquered his senses, steadied his mind, conquered the breathing process and fixed his mind on Me.

SB 11.15.2 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Acyuta, by what process can mystic perfection be achieved, and what is the nature of such perfection? How many mystic perfections are there? Please explain these things to me. Indeed, You are the bestower of all mystic perfections.

SB 11.15.3 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: The masters of the yoga system have declared that there are eighteen types of mystic perfection and meditation, of which eight are primary, having their shelter in Me, and ten are secondary, appearing from the material mode of goodness.

SB 11.15.4-5 - Among the eight primary mystic perfections, the three by which one transforms one's own body are aëimä, becoming smaller than the smallest; mahimä, becoming greater than the greatest; and laghimä, becoming lighter than the lightest. Through the perfection of präpti one acquires whatever one desires, and through prakämya-siddhi one experiences any enjoyable object, either in this world or the next. Through iëitä-siddhi one can manipulate the subpotencies of mäyā, and through the controlling potency called vaëitä-siddhi one is unimpeded by the three modes of nature. One who has acquired kämävasäyitā-siddhi can obtain anything from anywhere, to the highest possible limit. My dear gentle Uddhava, these eight mystic perfections are considered to be naturally existing and unexcelled within this world.

SB 11.15.6-7 - The ten secondary mystic perfections arising from the modes of nature are the powers of freeing oneself from hunger and thirst and other bodily disturbances, hearing and seeing things far away, moving the body at the speed of the mind, assuming any form one desires, entering the bodies of others, dying when one desires, witnessing the pastimes between the demigods and the celestial girls called Apsaräs, completely executing one's determination and giving orders whose fulfillment is unimpeded.

SB 11.15.8-9 - The power to know past, present and future; tolerance of heat, cold and other dualities; knowing the minds of others; checking the influence of fire, sun, water, poison, and so on; and remaining unconquered by others-these constitute five perfections of the mystic process of yoga and meditation. I am simply listing these here according to their names and characteristics. Now please learn from Me how specific mystic perfections arise from specific meditations and also of the particular processes involved.

SB 11.15.10 - One who worships Me in My atomic form pervading all subtle elements, fixing his mind on that alone, obtains the mystic perfection called aëimä.

SB 11.15.11 - One who absorbs his mind in the particular form of the mahat-tattva and thus meditates upon Me as the Supreme Soul of the total material existence achieves the mystic perfection called mahimä. By further absorbing the mind in the situation of each individual element such as the sky, air, fire, and so on, one progressively acquires the greatness of each material element.

SB 11.15.12 - I exist within everything, and I am therefore the essence of the atomic constituents of material elements. By attaching his mind to Me in this form, the yogé may achieve the perfection called laghimä, by which he realizes the subtle atomic substance of time.

SB 11.15.13 - Fixing his mind completely in Me within the element of false ego generated from the mode of goodness, the yogé obtains the power of mystic acquisition, by which he becomes the proprietor of the senses of all living entities. He obtains such perfection because his mind is absorbed in Me.

SB 11.15.14 - One who concentrates all mental activities in Me as the Supersoul of that phase of the mahat-tattva which manifests the chain of fruitive activities obtains from Me, whose appearance is beyond material perception, the most excellent mystic perfection called prākāmya.

SB 11.15.15 - One who places his consciousness on Viñëu, the Supersoul, the prime mover and Supreme Lord of the external energy consisting of three modes, obtains the mystic perfection of controlling other conditioned souls, their material bodies and their bodily designations.

SB 11.15.16 - The yogé who places his mind in My form of Nārāyaëa, known as the fourth factor, full of all opulences, becomes endowed with My nature and thus obtains the mystic perfection called vaçitä.

SB 11.15.17 - One who fixes his pure mind on Me in My manifestation as the impersonal Brahman obtains the greatest happiness, wherein all his desires are completely fulfilled.

SB 11.15.18 - A human being who concentrates on Me as the upholder of religious principles, the personification of purity and the Lord of Çvetadvépa obtains the pure existence in which he is freed from the six waves of material disturbance, namely hunger, thirst, decay, death, grief and illusion.

SB 11.15.19 - That purified living entity who fixes his mind on the extraordinary sound vibrations occurring within Me as the personified sky and total life air is then able to perceive within the sky the speaking of all living entities.

SB 11.15.20 - Merging one's sight into the sun planet and then the sun planet into one's eyes, one should meditate on Me as existing within the combination of sun and vision; thus one acquires the power to see any distant thing.

SB 11.15.21 - The yogé who completely absorbs his mind in Me, and who then makes use of the wind that follows the mind to absorb the material body in Me, obtains through the potency of meditation on Me the mystic perfection by which his body immediately follows his mind wherever it goes.

SB 11.15.22 - When the yogé, applying his mind in a certain way, desires to assume a particular form, that very form immediately appears. Such perfection is possible by absorbing the mind in the shelter of My inconceivable mystic potency, by which I assume innumerable forms.

SB 11.15.23 - When a perfect yogé desires to enter another's body, he should meditate upon himself within the other body, and then, giving up his own gross body, he should enter the other's body through the pathways of air, as easily as a bee leaves one flower and flies into another.

SB 11.15.24 - The yogé who has achieved the mystic perfection called svacchanda-mātyu blocks the anus with the heel of the foot and then lifts the soul from the heart to the chest, to the neck and finally to the head. Situated within the brahma-randhra, the yogé then gives up his material body and guides the spirit soul to the selected destination.

SB 11.15.25 - The yogi who desires to enjoy in the pleasure gardens of the demigods should meditate on the purified mode of goodness, which is situated within Me, and then the heavenly women, generated from the mode of goodness, will approach him in airplanes.

SB 11.15.26 - A yogi who has faith in Me, absorbing his mind in Me and knowing that My purpose is always fulfilled, will always achieve his purpose by the very means he has determined to follow.

SB 11.15.27 - A person who perfectly meditates on Me acquires My nature of being the supreme ruler and controller. His order, like Mine, can never be frustrated by any means.

SB 11.15.28 - A yogé who has purified his existence by devotion to Me and who thus expertly knows the process of meditation obtains knowledge of past, present and future. He can therefore see the birth and death of himself and others.

SB 11.15.29 - Just as the bodies of aquatics cannot be injured by water, similarly, the body of a yogi whose consciousness is pacified by devotion to Me and who is fully developed in yoga science cannot be injured by fire, sun, water, poison, and so forth.

SB 11.15.30 - My devotee becomes unconquerable by meditating on My opulent incarnations, which are decorated with Çrévatsa and various weapons and are endowed with imperial paraphernalia such as flags, ornamental umbrellas and fans.

SB 11.15.31 - A learned devotee who worships Me through yoga meditation certainly obtains in all respects the mystic perfections that I have described.

SB 11.15.32 - For a sage who has conquered his senses, breathing and mind, who is self-controlled and always absorbed in meditation on Me, what mystic perfection could possibly be difficult to achieve?

SB 11.15.33 - Learned experts in devotional service state that the mystic perfections of yoga that I have mentioned are actually impediments and are a waste of time for one who is practicing the supreme yoga, by which one achieves all perfection in life directly from Me.

SB 11.15.34 - Whatever mystic perfections can be achieved by good birth, herbs, austerities and mantras can all be achieved by devotional service to Me; indeed, one cannot achieve the actual perfection of yoga by any other means.

SB 11.15.35 - My dear Uddhava, I am the cause, the protector and the Lord of all mystic perfections, of the yoga system, of analytic knowledge, of pure activity and of the community of learned Vedic teachers.

SB 11.15.36 - Just as the same material elements exist within and outside of all material bodies, similarly, I cannot be covered by anything else. I exist within everything as the Supersoul and outside of everything in My all-pervading feature.

36 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.15.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, the mystic perfections of yoga are acquired by a yogé who has conquered his senses, steadied his mind, conquered the breathing process and fixed his mind on Me.

SB 11.15.2 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Acyuta, by what process can mystic perfection be achieved, and what is the nature of such perfection? How many mystic perfections are there? Please explain these things to me. Indeed, You are the bestower of all mystic perfections.

SB 11.15.3 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: The masters of the yoga system have declared that there are eighteen types of mystic perfection and meditation, of which eight are primary, having their shelter in Me, and ten are secondary, appearing from the material mode of goodness.

SB 11.15.4-5 - Among the eight primary mystic perfections, the three by which one transforms one's own body are aëimä, becoming smaller than the smallest; mahimä, becoming greater than the greatest; and laghimä, becoming lighter than the lightest. Through the perfection of präpti one acquires whatever one desires, and through prakämya-siddhi one experiences any enjoyable object, either in this world or the next. Through iëitä-siddhi one can manipulate the subpotencies of mäyä, and through the controlling potency called vaëitä-siddhi one is unimpeded by the three modes of nature. One who has acquired kämävasäyitä-siddhi can obtain anything from anywhere, to the highest possible limit. My dear gentle Uddhava, these eight mystic perfections are considered to be naturally existing and unexcelled within this world.

SB 11.15.6-7 - The ten secondary mystic perfections arising from the modes of nature are the powers of freeing oneself from hunger and thirst and other bodily disturbances, hearing and seeing things far away, moving the body at the speed of the mind, assuming any form one desires, entering the bodies of others, dying when one desires, witnessing the pastimes between the demigods and the celestial girls called Apsaräs, completely executing one's determination and giving orders whose fulfillment is unimpeded.

SB 11.15.8-9 - The power to know past, present and future; tolerance of heat, cold and other dualities; knowing the minds of others; checking the influence of fire, sun, water, poison, and so on; and remaining unconquered by others-these constitute five perfections of the mystic process of yoga and meditation. I am simply listing these here according to their names and characteristics. Now please learn from Me how specific mystic perfections arise from specific meditations and also of the particular processes involved.

SB 11.15.10 - One who worships Me in My atomic form pervading all subtle elements, fixing his mind on that alone, obtains the mystic perfection called aëimä.

SB 11.15.11 - One who absorbs his mind in the particular form of the mahat-tattva and thus meditates upon Me as the Supreme Soul of the total material existence achieves the mystic perfection called mahimä. By further absorbing the mind in the situation of each individual element such as the sky, air, fire, and so on, one progressively acquires the greatness of each material element.

SB 11.15.12 - I exist within everything, and I am therefore the essence of the atomic constituents of material elements. By attaching his mind to Me in this form, the yogé may achieve the perfection called laghimä, by which he realizes the subtle atomic substance of time.

SB 11.15.13 - Fixing his mind completely in Me within the element of false ego generated from the mode of goodness, the yogé obtains the power of mystic acquisition, by which he becomes the proprietor of the senses of all living entities. He obtains such perfection because his mind is absorbed in Me.

SB 11.15.14 - One who concentrates all mental activities in Me as the Supersoul of that phase of the mahat-tattva which manifests the chain of fruitive activities obtains from Me, whose appearance is beyond material perception, the most excellent mystic perfection called prākāmya.

SB 11.15.15 - One who places his consciousness on Viñëu, the Supersoul, the prime mover and Supreme Lord of the external energy consisting of three modes, obtains the mystic perfection of controlling other conditioned souls, their material bodies and their bodily designations.

SB 11.15.16 - The yogé who places his mind in My form of Nārāyaëa, known as the fourth factor, full of all opulences, becomes endowed with My nature and thus obtains the mystic perfection called vaçitā.

SB 11.15.17 - One who fixes his pure mind on Me in My manifestation as the impersonal Brahman obtains the greatest happiness, wherein all his desires are completely fulfilled.

SB 11.15.18 - A human being who concentrates on Me as the upholder of religious principles, the personification of purity and the Lord of Çvetadvépa obtains the pure existence in which he is freed from the six waves of material disturbance, namely hunger, thirst, decay, death, grief and illusion.

SB 11.15.19 - That purified living entity who fixes his mind on the extraordinary sound vibrations occurring within Me as the personified sky and total life air is then able to perceive within the sky the speaking of all living entities.

SB 11.15.20 - Merging one's sight into the sun planet and then the sun planet into one's eyes, one should meditate on Me as existing within the combination of sun and vision; thus one acquires the power to see any distant thing.

SB 11.15.21 - The yogé who completely absorbs his mind in Me, and who then makes use of the wind that follows the mind to absorb the material body in Me, obtains through the potency of meditation on Me the mystic perfection by which his body immediately follows his mind wherever it goes.

SB 11.15.22 - When the yogé, applying his mind in a certain way, desires to assume a particular form, that very form immediately appears. Such perfection is possible by absorbing the mind in the shelter of My inconceivable mystic potency, by which I assume innumerable forms.

SB 11.15.23 - When a perfect yogé desires to enter another's body, he should meditate upon himself within the other body, and then, giving up his own gross body, he should enter the other's body through the pathways of air, as easily as a bee leaves one flower and flies into another.

SB 11.15.24 - The yogé who has achieved the mystic perfection called svacchanda-mātyu blocks the anus with the heel of the foot and then lifts the soul from the heart to the chest, to the neck and finally to the head. Situated within the brahma-randhra, the yogé then gives up his material body and guides the spirit soul to the selected destination.

SB 11.15.25 - The yogi who desires to enjoy in the pleasure gardens of the demigods should meditate on the purified mode of goodness, which is situated within Me, and then the heavenly women, generated from the mode of goodness, will approach him in airplanes.

SB 11.15.26 - A yogi who has faith in Me, absorbing his mind in Me and knowing that My purpose is always fulfilled, will always achieve his purpose by the very means he has determined to follow.

SB 11.15.27 - A person who perfectly meditates on Me acquires My nature of being the supreme ruler and controller. His order, like Mine, can never be frustrated by any means.

SB 11.15.28 - A yogé who has purified his existence by devotion to Me and who thus expertly knows the process of meditation obtains knowledge of past, present and future. He can therefore see the birth and death of himself and others.

SB 11.15.29 - Just as the bodies of aquatics cannot be injured by water, similarly, the body of a yogi whose consciousness is pacified by devotion to Me and who is fully developed in yoga science cannot be injured by fire, sun, water, poison, and so forth.

SB 11.15.30 - My devotee becomes unconquerable by meditating on My opulent incarnations, which are decorated with Çrévatsa and various weapons and are endowed with imperial paraphernalia such as flags, ornamental umbrellas and fans.

SB 11.15.31 - A learned devotee who worships Me through yoga meditation certainly obtains in all respects the mystic perfections that I have described.

SB 11.15.32 - For a sage who has conquered his senses, breathing and mind, who is self-controlled and always absorbed in meditation on Me, what mystic perfection could possibly be difficult to achieve?

SB 11.15.33 - Learned experts in devotional service state that the mystic perfections of yoga that I have mentioned are actually impediments and are a waste of time for one who is practicing the supreme yoga, by which one achieves all perfection in life directly from Me.

SB 11.15.34 - Whatever mystic perfections can be achieved by good birth, herbs, austerities and mantras can all be achieved by devotional service to Me; indeed, one cannot achieve the actual perfection of yoga by any other means.

SB 11.15.35 - My dear Uddhava, I am the cause, the protector and the Lord of all mystic perfections, of the yoga system, of analytic knowledge, of pure activity and of the community of learned Vedic teachers.

SB 11.15.36 - Just as the same material elements exist within and outside of all material bodies, similarly, I cannot be covered by anything else. I exist within everything as the Supersoul and outside of everything in My all-pervading feature.

37 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.16.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, You are beginningless and endless, the Absolute Truth Himself, unlimited by anything else. You are the protector and life-giver, the destruction and creation of all things that exist.

SB 11.16.2 - My dear Lord, although it is difficult for the impious to understand that You are situated in all superior and inferior creations, those brāhmaëas who are actual knowers of the Vedic conclusion worship You in truth.

SB 11.16.3 - Please tell me of the perfections that great sages achieve by worshiping You with devotion. Also, kindly explain which of Your different forms they worship.

SB 11.16.4 - O my Lord, maintainer of all, although You are the Supersoul of the living entities, You remain hidden. Thus being bewildered by You, the living entities cannot see You, although You are seeing them.

SB 11.16.5 - O supremely potent Lord, please explain to me Your innumerable potencies, which You manifest on the earth, in heaven, in hell and indeed in all directions. I offer my humble obeisances at Your lotus feet, which are the shelter of all holy places.

SB 11.16.6 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best of those who know how to inquire, on the Battlefield of Kurukñetra, Arjuna, desiring to fight with his rivals, asked Me the same question that you are now posing.

SB 11.16.7 - On the Battlefield of Kurukñetra Arjuna thought that killing his relatives would be an abominable, irreligious activity, motivated only by his desire to acquire a kingdom. He therefore desisted from the battle, thinking, "I would be the killer of my relatives. They would be destroyed." Thus Arjuna was afflicted with mundane consciousness.

SB 11.16.8 - At that time I enlightened Arjuna, the tiger among men, with logical arguments, and thus in the front of the battle Arjuna addressed Me with questions in the same way that you are now inquiring.

SB 11.16.9 - My dear Uddhava, I am the Supersoul of all living entities, and therefore I am naturally their well-wisher and supreme controller. Being the creator, maintainer and annihilator of all entities, I am not different from them.

SB 11.16.10 - I am the ultimate goal of all those seeking progress, and I am time among those who exert control. I am the equilibrium of the modes of material nature, and I am natural virtue among the pious.

SB 11.16.11 - Among things possessing qualities I am the primary manifestation of nature, and among great things I am the total material creation. Among subtle things I am the spirit soul, and of things that are difficult to conquer I am the mind.

SB 11.16.12 - Among the Vedas I am their original teacher, Lord Brahmā, and of all mantras I am the three-lettered oṃkāra. Among letters I am the first letter, "a," and among sacred meters I am the Gāyatrī mantra.

SB 11.16.13 - Among the demigods I am Indra, and among the Vasus I am Agni, the god of fire. I am Viñëu among the sons of Aditi, and among the Rudras I am Lord Çiva.

SB 11.16.14 - Among saintly brāhmaëas I am Bhāgu Muni, and I am Manu among saintly kings. I am Nārada Muni among saintly demigods, and I am Kāmadhenu among cows.

SB 11.16.15 - I am Lord Kapila among perfected beings and Garuða among birds. I am Dakṣa among the progenitors of mankind, and I am Aryamā among the forefathers.

SB 11.16.16 - My dear Uddhava, among the demoniac sons of Diti know Me to be Prahlāda Mahārāja, the saintly lord of the asuras. Among the stars and herbs I am their lord, Candra (the moon), and among Yakṣas and Rākṣasas I am the lord of wealth, Kuvera.

SB 11.16.17 - I am Airāvata among lordly elephants, and among aquatics I am Varuna, the lord of the seas. Among all things that heat and illuminate I am the sun, and among human beings I am the king.

SB 11.16.18 - Among horses I am Uccaiṣṭravā, and I am gold among metals. I am Yamarāja among those who suppress and punish, and among serpents I am Vāsuki.

SB 11.16.19 - O sinless Uddhava, among the best of snakes I am Anantadeva, and among those animals with sharp horns and teeth I am the lion. Among the social orders I am the fourth, or the renounced order of life, and among the occupational divisions I am the first, the brähmaëas.

SB 11.16.20 - Among sacred and flowing things I am the holy Ganges, and among steady bodies of water I am the ocean. Among weapons I am the bow, and of the wielders of weapons I am Lord Çiva.

SB 11.16.21 - Among residences I am Mount Sumeru, and of impervious places I am the Himalayas. Among trees I am the holy fig tree, and among plants I am those that bear grains.

SB 11.16.22 - Among priests I am Vasiñöha Muni, and among those highly situated in Vedic culture I am Bâhaspati. I am Kârtikeya among great military leaders, and among those advancing in superior ways of life I am the great personality Lord Brahmä.

SB 11.16.23 - Among sacrifices I am study of the Veda, and I am nonviolence among vows. Among all things that purify I am the wind, fire, the sun, water and speech.

SB 11.16.24 - Among the eight progressive states of yoga I am the final stage, samädhî, in which the soul is completely separated from illusion. Among those desiring victory I am prudent political counsel, and among processes of expert discrimination I am the science of the soul, by which one distinguishes spirit from matter. Among all speculative philosophers I am diversity of perception.

SB 11.16.25 - Among ladies I am Çatarüpä, and among male personalities I am her husband, Svâyambhuva Manu. I am Nārāyaëa among the sages and Sanat-kumära among brahmacärës.

SB 11.16.26 - Among religious principles I am renunciation, and of all types of security I am consciousness of the eternal soul within. Of secrets I am pleasant speech and silence, and among sexual pairs I am Brahmä.

SB 11.16.27 - Among the vigilant cycles of time I am the year, and among seasons I am spring. Among months I am Märgaçérña, and among lunar houses I am the auspicious Abhijit.

SB 11.16.28 - Among ages I am the Satya-yuga, the age of truth, and among steady sages I am Devala and Asita. Among those who have divided the Vedas I am Kânëa Dvaipäyana Vedavyäsa, and among learned scholars I am Çukräcärya, the knower of spiritual science.

SB 11.16.29 - Among those entitled to the name Bhagavän I am Väsudeva, and indeed, you, Uddhava, represent Me among the devotees. I am Hanumän among the Kimpuruñas, and among the Vidyädharas I am Sudarçana.

SB 11.16.30 - Among jewels I am the ruby, and among beautiful things I am the lotus cup. Among all types of grass I am the sacred kuça, and of oblations I am ghee and other ingredients obtained from the cow.

SB 11.16.31 - Among the enterprising I am fortune, and among the cheaters I am gambling. I am the forgiveness of the tolerant and the good qualities of those in the mode of goodness.

SB 11.16.32 - Of the powerful I bodily and mental strength, and I am the devotional activities of My devotees. My devotees worship Me in nine different forms, among which I am the original and primary Väsudeva.

SB 11.16.33 - Among the Gandharvas I am Viçvāvasu, and I am Pūrvacitti among the heavenly Apsaras. I am the steadiness of mountains and the fragrant aroma of the earth.

SB 11.16.34 - I am the sweet taste of water, and among brilliant things I am the sun. I am the effulgence of the sun, moon and stars, and I am the transcendental sound that vibrates in the sky.

SB 11.16.35 - Among those dedicated to brahminical culture I am Bali Mahārāja, the son of Virocana, and I am Arjuna among heroes. Indeed, I am the creation, maintenance and annihilation of all living entities.

SB 11.16.36 - I am the functions of the five working senses-the legs, speech, anus, hands and sex organs-as well as those of the five knowledge-acquiring senses-touch, sight, taste, hearing and smell. I am also the potency by which each of the senses experiences its particular sense object.

SB 11.16.37 - I am form, taste, aroma, touch and sound; false ego; the mahat-tattva; earth, water, fire, air and sky; the living entity; material nature; the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance; and the transcendental Lord. All these items, along with knowledge of their individual symptoms and the steady conviction that results from this knowledge, represent Me.

SB 11.16.38 - As the Supreme Lord I am the basis of the living entity, of the modes of nature and of the mahat-tattva. Thus I am everything, and nothing whatsoever can exist without Me.

SB 11.16.39 - Even though over a period of time I might count all the atoms of the universe, I could not count all of My opulences which I manifest within innumerable universes.

SB 11.16.40 - Whatever power, beauty, fame, opulence, humility, renunciation, mental pleasure, fortune, strength, tolerance or spiritual knowledge there may be is simply an expansion of My opulence.

SB 11.16.41 - I have briefly described to you all My spiritual opulences and also the extraordinary material features of My creation, which are perceived by the mind and defined in different ways according to circumstances.

SB 11.16.42 - Therefore, control your speaking, subdue the mind, conquer the life air, regulate the senses and through purified intelligence bring your rational faculties under control. In this way you will never again fall onto the path of material existence.

SB 11.16.43 - A transcendentalist who does not completely control his words and mind by superior intelligence will find that his spiritual vows, austerities and charity flow away just as water flows out of an unbaked clay pot.

SB 11.16.44 - Being surrendered to Me, one should control the speech, mind and life air, and then through loving devotional intelligence one will completely fulfill the mission of life.

38 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.16.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, You are beginningless and endless, the Absolute Truth Himself, unlimited by anything else. You are the protector and life-giver, the destruction and creation of all things that exist.

SB 11.16.2 - My dear Lord, although it is difficult for the impious to understand that You are situated in all superior and inferior creations, those brāhmaēas who are actual knowers of the Vedic conclusion worship You in truth.

SB 11.16.3 - Please tell me of the perfections that great sages achieve by worshipping You with devotion. Also, kindly explain which of Your different forms they worship.

SB 11.16.4 - O my Lord, maintainer of all, although You are the Supersoul of the living entities, You remain hidden. Thus being bewildered by You, the living entities cannot see You, although You are seeing them.

SB 11.16.5 - O supremely potent Lord, please explain to me Your innumerable potencies, which You manifest on the earth, in heaven, in hell and indeed in all directions. I offer my humble obeisances at Your lotus feet, which are the shelter of all holy places.

SB 11.16.6 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best of those who know how to inquire, on the Battlefield of Kurukñetra, Arjuna, desiring to fight with his rivals, asked Me the same question that you are now posing.

SB 11.16.7 - On the Battlefield of Kurukñetra Arjuna thought that killing his relatives would be an abominable, irreligious activity, motivated only by his desire to acquire a kingdom. He therefore desisted from the battle, thinking, "I would be the killer of my relatives. They would be destroyed." Thus Arjuna was afflicted with mundane consciousness.

SB 11.16.8 - At that time I enlightened Arjuna, the tiger among men, with logical arguments, and thus in the front of the battle Arjuna addressed Me with questions in the same way that you are now inquiring.

SB 11.16.9 - My dear Uddhava, I am the Supersoul of all living entities, and therefore I am naturally their well-wisher and supreme controller. Being the creator, maintainer and annihilator of all entities, I am not different from them.

SB 11.16.10 - I am the ultimate goal of all those seeking progress, and I am time among those who exert control. I am the equilibrium of the modes of material nature, and I am natural virtue among the pious.

SB 11.16.11 - Among things possessing qualities I am the primary manifestation of nature, and among great things I am the total material creation. Among subtle things I am the spirit soul, and of things that are difficult to conquer I am the mind.

SB 11.16.12 - Among the Vedas I am their original teacher, Lord Brahmā, and of all mantras I am the three-lettered oṃkāra. Among letters I am the first letter, "a," and among sacred meters I am the Gāyatrī mantra.

SB 11.16.13 - Among the demigods I am Indra, and among the Vasus I am Agni, the god of fire. I am Viñëu among the sons of Aditi, and among the Rudras I am Lord Çiva.

SB 11.16.14 - Among saintly brāhmaëas I am Bhāgu Muni, and I am Manu among saintly kings. I am Nārada Muni among saintly demigods, and I am Kāmadhenu among cows.

SB 11.16.15 - I am Lord Kapila among perfected beings and Garuða among birds. I am Dakṣa among the progenitors of mankind, and I am Aryamā among the forefathers.

SB 11.16.16 - My dear Uddhava, among the demoniac sons of Diti know

Me to be Prahlāda Mahārāja, the saintly lord of the asuras. Among the stars and herbs I am their lord, Candra (the moon), and among Yakñas and Rākñasas I am the lord of wealth, Kuvera.

SB 11.16.17 - I am Airāvata among lordly elephants, and among aquatics I am Varuna, the lord of the seas. Among all things that heat and illuminate I am the sun, and among human beings I am the king.

SB 11.16.18 - Among horses I am Uccaiṣṭravā, and I am gold among metals. I am Yamarāja among those who suppress and punish, and among serpents I am Vāsuki.

SB 11.16.19 - O sinless Uddhava, among the best of snakes I am Anantadeva, and among those animals with sharp horns and teeth I am the lion. Among the social orders I am the fourth, or the renounced order of life, and among the occupational divisions I am the first, the brāhmaëas.

SB 11.16.20 - Among sacred and flowing things I am the holy Ganges, and among steady bodies of water I am the ocean. Among weapons I am the bow, and of the wielders of weapons I am Lord Çiva.

SB 11.16.21 - Among residences I am Mount Sumeru, and of impervious places I am the Himalayas. Among trees I am the holy fig tree, and among plants I am those that bear grains.

SB 11.16.22 - Among priests I am Vasiṣṭha Muni, and among those highly situated in Vedic culture I am Bāhaspati. I am Kārtikeya among great military leaders, and among those advancing in superior ways of life I am the great personality Lord Brahmā.

SB 11.16.23 - Among sacrifices I am study of the Veda, and I am nonviolence among vows. Among all things that purify I am the wind, fire, the sun, water and speech.

SB 11.16.24 - Among the eight progressive states of yoga I am the final stage, samādhi, in which the soul is completely separated from illusion. Among those desiring victory I am prudent political counsel, and among processes of expert discrimination I am the science of the soul, by which one distinguishes spirit from matter. Among all speculative philosophers I am diversity of perception.

SB 11.16.25 - Among ladies I am Çatarüpä, and among male personalities I am her husband, Svâyambhuva Manu. I am Nārāyaëa among the sages and Sanat-kumära among brahmacärës.

SB 11.16.26 - Among religious principles I am renunciation, and of all types of security I am consciousness of the eternal soul within. Of secrets I am pleasant speech and silence, and among sexual pairs I am Brahmä.

SB 11.16.27 - Among the vigilant cycles of time I am the year, and among seasons I am spring. Among months I am Märgaçérña, and among lunar houses I am the auspicious Abhijit.

SB 11.16.28 - Among ages I am the Satya-yuga, the age of truth, and among steady sages I am Devala and Asita. Among those who have divided the Vedas I am Kāñëa Dvaipäyana Vedavyäsa, and among learned scholars I am Çukräcärya, the knower of spiritual science.

SB 11.16.29 - Among those entitled to the name Bhagavän I am Väsudeva, and indeed, you, Uddhava, represent Me among the devotees. I am Hanumän among the Kimpuruñas, and among the Vidyädharas I am Sudarçana.

SB 11.16.30 - Among jewels I am the ruby, and among beautiful things I am the lotus cup. Among all types of grass I am the sacred kuṣa, and of oblations I am ghee and other ingredients obtained from the cow.

SB 11.16.31 - Among the enterprising I am fortune, and among the cheaters I am gambling. I am the forgiveness of the tolerant and the good qualities of those in the mode of goodness.

SB 11.16.32 - Of the powerful I bodily and mental strength, and I am the devotional activities of My devotees. My devotees worship Me in nine different forms, among which I am the original and primary Vāsudeva.

SB 11.16.33 - Among the Gandharvas I am Viṣvāvasu, and I am Pūrvacitti among the heavenly Apsaras. I am the steadiness of mountains and the fragrant aroma of the earth.

SB 11.16.34 - I am the sweet taste of water, and among brilliant things I am the sun. I am the effulgence of the sun, moon and stars, and I am the transcendental sound that vibrates in the sky.

SB 11.16.35 - Among those dedicated to brahminical culture I am Bali Mahārāja, the son of Virocana, and I am Arjuna among heroes. Indeed, I am the creation, maintenance and annihilation of all living entities.

SB 11.16.36 - I am the functions of the five working senses-the legs, speech, anus, hands and sex organs-as well as those of the five knowledge-acquiring senses-touch, sight, taste, hearing and smell. I am also the potency by which each of the senses experiences its particular sense object.

SB 11.16.37 - I am form, taste, aroma, touch and sound; false ego; the mahat-tattva; earth, water, fire, air and sky; the living entity; material nature; the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance; and the transcendental Lord. All these items, along with knowledge of their individual symptoms and the steady conviction that results from this knowledge, represent Me.

SB 11.16.38 - As the Supreme Lord I am the basis of the living entity, of the modes of nature and of the mahat-tattva. Thus I am everything, and nothing whatsoever can exist without Me.

SB 11.16.39 - Even though over a period of time I might count all the atoms of the universe, I could not count all of My opulences which I manifest within innumerable universes.

SB 11.16.40 - Whatever power, beauty, fame, opulence, humility, renunciation, mental pleasure, fortune, strength, tolerance or spiritual knowledge there may be is simply an expansion of My opulence.

SB 11.16.41 - I have briefly described to you all My spiritual opulences and also the extraordinary material features of My creation, which are perceived by the mind and defined in different ways according to circumstances.

SB 11.16.42 - Therefore, control your speaking, subdue the mind, conquer the life air, regulate the senses and through purified intelligence bring your rational faculties under control. In this way you will never again fall onto the path of material existence.

SB 11.16.43 - A transcendentalist who does not completely control his words and mind by superior intelligence will find that his spiritual vows, austerities and charity flow away just as water flows out of an unbaked clay pot.

SB 11.16.44 - Being surrendered to Me, one should control the speech, mind and life air, and then through loving devotional intelligence one will completely fulfill the mission of life.

39 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.16.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, You are beginningless and endless, the Absolute Truth Himself, unlimited by anything else. You are the protector and life-giver, the destruction and creation of all things that exist.

SB 11.16.2 - My dear Lord, although it is difficult for the impious to understand that You are situated in all superior and inferior creations, those brähmaëas who are actual knowers of the Vedic conclusion worship You in truth.

SB 11.16.3 - Please tell me of the perfections that great sages achieve by worshipping You with devotion. Also, kindly explain which of Your different forms they worship.

SB 11.16.4 - O my Lord, maintainer of all, although You are the Supersoul of the living entities, You remain hidden. Thus being bewildered by You, the living entities cannot see You, although You are seeing them.

SB 11.16.5 - O supremely potent Lord, please explain to me Your innumerable potencies, which You manifest on the earth, in heaven, in hell and indeed in all directions. I offer my humble obeisances at Your lotus feet, which are the shelter of all holy places.

SB 11.16.6 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best of those who know how to inquire, on the Battlefield of Kurukñetra, Arjuna, desiring to fight with his rivals, asked Me the same question that you are now posing.

SB 11.16.7 - On the Battlefield of Kurukñetra Arjuna thought that killing his relatives would be an abominable, irreligious activity, motivated only by his desire to acquire a kingdom. He therefore desisted from the battle, thinking, "I would be the killer of my relatives. They would be destroyed." Thus Arjuna was afflicted with mundane consciousness.

SB 11.16.8 - At that time I enlightened Arjuna, the tiger among men, with logical arguments, and thus in the front of the battle Arjuna addressed Me with questions in the same way that you are now inquiring.

SB 11.16.9 - My dear Uddhava, I am the Supersoul of all living entities, and therefore I am naturally their well-wisher and supreme controller. Being the creator, maintainer and annihilator of all entities, I am not different from them.

SB 11.16.10 - I am the ultimate goal of all those seeking progress, and I am time among those who exert control. I am the equilibrium of the modes of material nature, and I am natural virtue among the pious.

SB 11.16.11 - Among things possessing qualities I am the primary manifestation of nature, and among great things I am the total material creation. Among subtle things I am the spirit soul, and of things that are difficult to conquer I am the mind.

SB 11.16.12 - Among the Vedas I am their original teacher, Lord Brahmā, and of all mantras I am the three-lettered oākāra. Among letters I am the first letter, "a," and among sacred meters I am the Gāyatrī mantra.

SB 11.16.13 - Among the demigods I am Indra, and among the Vasus I am Agni, the god of fire. I am Viñëu among the sons of Aditi, and among the Rudras I am Lord Çiva.

SB 11.16.14 - Among saintly brähmaëas I am Bhågu Muni, and I am Manu among saintly kings. I am Närada Muni among saintly demigods, and I am Kämadhenu among cows.

SB 11.16.15 - I am Lord Kapila among perfected beings and Garuòà among birds. I am Dakña among the progenitors of mankind, and I am Aryamä among the forefathers.

SB 11.16.16 - My dear Uddhava, among the demoniac sons of Diti know Me to be Prahläda Mahäräja, the saintly lord of the asuras. Among the stars and herbs I am their lord, Candra (the moon), and among Yakñas and Räkñasas I am the lord of wealth, Kuvera.

SB 11.16.17 - I am Airävata among lordly elephants, and among aquatics I am Varuna, the lord of the seas. Among all things that heat and illuminate I am the sun, and among human beings I am the king.

SB 11.16.18 - Among horses I am Uccaiùçravä, and I am gold among metals. I am Yamaräja among those who suppress and punish, and among serpents I am Väsuki.

SB 11.16.19 - O sinless Uddhava, among the best of snakes I am Anantadeva, and among those animals with sharp horns and teeth I am the lion. Among the social orders I am the fourth, or the renounced order of life, and among the occupational divisions I am the first, the brähmaëas.

SB 11.16.20 - Among sacred and flowing things I am the holy Ganges, and among steady bodies of water I am the ocean. Among weapons I am the bow, and of the wielders of weapons I am Lord Çiva.

SB 11.16.21 - Among residences I am Mount Sumeru, and of impervious places I am the Himalayas. Among trees I am the holy fig tree, and among plants I am those that bear grains.

SB 11.16.22 - Among priests I am Vasiñöha Muni, and among those highly situated in Vedic culture I am Bāhaspati. I am Kārtikeya among great military leaders, and among those advancing in superior ways of life I am the great personality Lord Brahmā.

SB 11.16.23 - Among sacrifices I am study of the Veda, and I am nonviolence among vows. Among all things that purify I am the wind, fire, the sun, water and speech.

SB 11.16.24 - Among the eight progressive states of yoga I am the final stage, samādhi, in which the soul is completely separated from illusion. Among those desiring victory I am prudent political counsel, and among processes of expert discrimination I am the science of the soul, by which one distinguishes spirit from matter. Among all speculative philosophers I am diversity of perception.

SB 11.16.25 - Among ladies I am Çatarüpā, and among male personalities I am her husband, Svāyambhuva Manu. I am Nārāyaëa among the sages and Sanat-kumāra among brahmacārës.

SB 11.16.26 - Among religious principles I am renunciation, and of all types of security I am consciousness of the eternal soul within. Of secrets I am pleasant speech and silence, and among sexual pairs I am Brahmā.

SB 11.16.27 - Among the vigilant cycles of time I am the year, and among seasons I am spring. Among months I am Mārgaçérīa, and among lunar houses I am the auspicious Abhijit.

SB 11.16.28 - Among ages I am the Satya-yuga, the age of truth, and among steady sages I am Devala and Asita. Among those who have divided the Vedas I am Kâñëa Dvaipäyana Vedavyäsa, and among learned scholars I am Çukräcärya, the knower of spiritual science.

SB 11.16.29 - Among those entitled to the name Bhagavän I am Väsudeva, and indeed, you, Uddhava, represent Me among the devotees. I am Hanumän among the Kimpuruñas, and among the Vidyädharas I am Sudarçana.

SB 11.16.30 - Among jewels I am the ruby, and among beautiful things I am the lotus cup. Among all types of grass I am the sacred kuça, and of oblations I am ghee and other ingredients obtained from the cow.

SB 11.16.31 - Among the enterprising I am fortune, and among the cheaters I am gambling. I am the forgiveness of the tolerant and the good qualities of those in the mode of goodness.

SB 11.16.32 - Of the powerful I bodily and mental strength, and I am the devotional activities of My devotees. My devotees worship Me in nine different forms, among which I am the original and primary Väsudeva.

SB 11.16.33 - Among the Gandharvas I am Viçvävasu, and I am Pürvacitti among the heavenly Apsaras. I am the steadiness of mountains and the fragrant aroma of the earth.

SB 11.16.34 - I am the sweet taste of water, and among brilliant things I am the sun. I am the effulgence of the sun, moon and stars, and I am the transcendental sound that vibrates in the sky.

SB 11.16.35 - Among those dedicated to brahminical culture I am Bali Mahārāja, the son of Virocana, and I am Arjuna among heroes. Indeed, I am the creation, maintenance and annihilation of all living entities.

SB 11.16.36 - I am the functions of the five working senses-the legs, speech, anus, hands and sex organs-as well as those of the five knowledge-acquiring senses-touch, sight, taste, hearing and smell. I am also the potency by which each of the senses experiences its particular sense object.

SB 11.16.37 - I am form, taste, aroma, touch and sound; false ego; the mahat-tattva; earth, water, fire, air and sky; the living entity; material nature; the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance; and the transcendental Lord. All these items, along with knowledge of their individual symptoms and the steady conviction that results from this knowledge, represent Me.

SB 11.16.38 - As the Supreme Lord I am the basis of the living entity, of the modes of nature and of the mahat-tattva. Thus I am everything, and nothing whatsoever can exist without Me.

SB 11.16.39 - Even though over a period of time I might count all the atoms of the universe, I could not count all of My opulences which I manifest within innumerable universes.

SB 11.16.40 - Whatever power, beauty, fame, opulence, humility, renunciation, mental pleasure, fortune, strength, tolerance or spiritual knowledge there may be is simply an expansion of My opulence.

SB 11.16.41 - I have briefly described to you all My spiritual opulences and also the extraordinary material features of My creation, which are perceived by the mind and defined in different ways according to circumstances.

SB 11.16.42 - Therefore, control your speaking, subdue the mind, conquer the life air, regulate the senses and through purified intelligence bring your rational faculties under control. In this way you will never again fall onto the path of material existence.

SB 11.16.43 - A transcendentalist who does not completely control his words and mind by superior intelligence will find that his spiritual vows, austerities and charity flow away just as water flows out of an unbaked clay pot.

SB 11.16.44 - Being surrendered to Me, one should control the speech, mind and life air, and then through loving devotional intelligence one will completely fulfill the mission of life.

40 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.17.1-2 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, previously You described the principles of devotional service that are to be practiced by followers of the varëäçrama system and even ordinary, unregulated human beings. My dear lotus-eyed Lord, now please explain to me how all human beings can achieve loving service unto You by the execution of their prescribed duties.

SB 11.17.3-4 - My dear Lord, O mighty-armed one, previously in Your form of Lord Haàsa You spoke to Lord Brahmä those religious principles that bring supreme happiness to the practitioner. My dear Mädhava, now much time has passed, and that which You previously instructed will soon practically cease to exist, O subduer of the enemy.

SB 11.17.5-6 - My dear Lord Acyuta, there is no speaker, creator and protector of supreme religious principles other than Your Lordship, either on the earth or even in the assembly of Lord Brahmā, where the personified Vedas reside. Thus, my dear Lord Madhusūdana, when You, who are the very creator, protector and speaker of spiritual knowledge, abandon the earth, who will again speak this lost knowledge?

SB 11.17.7 - Therefore, my Lord, since You are the knower of all religious principles, please describe to me the human beings who may execute the path of loving service to You and how such service is to be rendered.

SB 11.17.8 - Śrī Çukadeva Gosvāmī said: Śrī Uddhava, the best of devotees, thus inquired from the Lord. Hearing his question, the Personality of Godhead, śrī Kāñēa, was pleased and for the welfare of all conditioned souls spoke those religious principles that are eternal.

SB 11.17.9 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, your question is faithful to religious principles and thus gives rise to the highest perfection in life, pure devotional service, for both ordinary human beings and the followers of the varēāçrama system. Now please learn from Me those supreme religious principles.

SB 11.17.10 - In the beginning, in Satya-yuga, there is only one social class, called haàsa, to which all human beings belong. In that age all people are unalloyed devotees of the Lord from birth, and thus learned scholars call this first age Kāta-yuga, or the age in which all religious duties are perfectly fulfilled.

SB 11.17.11 - In Satya-yuga the undivided Veda is expressed by the syllable oà, and I am the only object of mental activities. I become manifest as the four-legged bull of religion, and thus the inhabitants of Satya-yuga, fixed in austerity and free from all sins, worship Me as Lord Haàsa.

SB 11.17.12 - O greatly fortunate one, at the beginning of Tretā-yuga Vedic knowledge appeared from My heart, which is the abode of the air of life, in three divisions-as Āg, Sāma and Yajur. Then from that knowledge I appeared as threefold sacrifice.

SB 11.17.13 - In Tretā-yuga the four social orders were manifested from the universal form of the Personality of Godhead. The brāhmaëas appeared from the Lord's face, the kñātriyas from the Lord's arms, the vaiçyas from the Lord's thighs and the çüdras from the legs of that mighty form. Each social division was recognized by its particular duties and behavior.

SB 11.17.14 - The married order of life appeared from the loins of My universal form, and the celibate students came from My heart. The forest-dwelling retired order of life appeared from My chest, and the renounced order of life was situated within the head of My universal form.

SB 11.17.15 - The various occupational and social divisions of human society appeared according to inferior and superior natures manifest in the situation of the individual's birth.

SB 11.17.16 - Peacefulness, self-control, austerity, cleanliness, satisfaction, tolerance, simple straightforwardness, devotion to Me, mercy and truthfulness are the natural qualities of the brāhmaëas.

SB 11.17.17 - Dynamic power, bodily strength, determination, heroism, tolerance, generosity, great endeavor, steadiness, devotion to the brāhmaëas and leadership are the natural qualities of the kñātriyas.

SB 11.17.18 - Faith in Vedic civilization, dedication to charity, freedom from hypocrisy, service to the brāhmaëas and perpetually desiring to accumulate more money are the natural qualities of the vaiçyas.

SB 11.17.19 - Service without duplicity to the brähmaëas, cows, demigods and other worshipable personalities, and complete satisfaction with whatever income is obtained in such service, are the natural qualities of çüdras.

SB 11.17.20 - Dirtiness, dishonesty, thievery, faithlessness, useless quarrel, lust, anger and hankering constitute the nature of those in the lowest position outside the varëäçrama system.

SB 11.17.21 - Nonviolence, truthfulness, honesty, desire for the happiness and welfare of all others and freedom from lust, anger and greed constitute duties for all members of society.

SB 11.17.22 - The twice-born member of society achieves second birth through the sequence of purificatory ceremonies culminating in Gäyatrë initiation. Being summoned by the spiritual master, he should reside within the guru's äçrama and with a self-controlled mind carefully study the Vedic literature.

SB 11.17.23 - The brahmacäre should regularly dress with a belt of straw and deerskin garments. He should wear matted hair, carry a rod and waterpot and be decorated with akña beads and a sacred thread. Carrying pure kuça grass in his hand, he should never accept a luxurious or sensuous sitting place. He should not unnecessarily polish his teeth, nor should he bleach and iron his clothes.

SB 11.17.24 - A brahmacäre should always remain silent while bathing, eating, attending sacrificial performances, chanting japa or passing stool and urine. He should not cut his nails and hair, including the armpit and pubic hair.

SB 11.17.25 - One observing the vow of celibate brahmacäre life should never pass semen. If the semen by chance spills out by itself, the brahmacäre should immediately take bath in water, control his breath by präëyāma and chant the Gäyatrē mantra

SB 11.17.26 - Purified and fixed in consciousness, the brahmacäre should worship the fire-god, sun, äcārya, cows, brähmaëas, guru, elderly respectable persons and demigods. He should perform such worship at sunrise and sunset, without speaking but by silently chanting or murmuring the appropriate mantras.

SB 11.17.27 - One should know the äcārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.

SB 11.17.28 - In the morning and evening one should collect foodstuffs and other articles and deliver them to the spiritual master. Then, being self-controlled, one should accept for oneself that which is allotted by the äcārya.

SB 11.17.29 - While engaged in serving the spiritual master one should remain as a humble servant, and thus when the guru is walking the servant should humbly walk behind. When the guru lies down to sleep, the servant should also lie down nearby, and when the guru has awakened, the servant should sit near him, massaging his lotus feet and rendering other, similar services. When the guru is sitting down on his äsana, the servant should stand nearby with folded hands, awaiting the guru's order. In this way one should always worship the spiritual master.

SB 11.17.30 - Until the student has completed his Vedic education he should remain engaged in the äçrama of the spiritual master, should remain completely free of material sense gratification and should not break his vow of celibacy [brahmacarya].

SB 11.17.31 - If the brahmacäre student desires to ascend to the Maharloka or Brahmalo­ka planets, then he should completely surrender his activities to the spiritual master and, observing the powerful vow of perpetual celibacy, dedicate himself to superior Vedic studies.

SB 11.17.32 - Thus enlightened in Vedic knowledge by service to the spiritual master, freed from all sins and duality, one should worship Me as the Supersoul, as I appear within fire, the spiritual master, one's own self and all living entities.

SB 11.17.33 - Those who are not married-sannyäsés, vānaprasthas and brahmacärés-should never associate with women by glancing, touching, conversing, joking or sporting. Neither should they ever associate with any living entity engaged in sexual activities.

SB 11.17.34-35 - My dear Uddhava, general cleanliness, washing the hands, bathing, performing religious services at sunrise, noon and sunset, worshipping Me, visiting holy places, chanting japa, avoiding that which is untouchable, uneatable or not to be discussed, and remembering My existence within all living entities as the Supersoul-these principles should be followed by all members of society through regulation of the mind, words and body.

SB 11.17.36 - A brähmaëa observing the great vow of celibacy becomes brilliant like fire and by serious austerity burns to ashes the propensity to perform material activities. Free from the contamination of material desire, he becomes My devotee.

SB 11.17.37 - A brahmacäre who has completed his Vedic education and desires to enter household life should offer proper remuneration to the spiritual master, bathe, cut his hair, put on proper clothes, and so on. Then, taking permission from the guru, he should go back to his home.

SB 11.17.38 - A brahmacäre desiring to fulfill his material desires should live at home with his family, and a householder who is eager to purify his consciousness should enter the forest, whereas a purified brähmaëa should accept the renounced order of life. One who is not surrendered to Me should move progressively from one āçrama to another, never acting otherwise.

SB 11.17.39 - One who desires to establish family life should marry a wife of his own caste, who is beyond reproach and younger in age. If one desires to accept many wives he must marry them after the first marriage, and each wife should be of a successively lower caste.

SB 11.17.40 - All twice-born men-brähmaëas, kñatriyas and vaiçyas-must perform sacrifice, study the Vedic literature and give charity. Only the brähmaëas, however, accept charity, teach the Vedic knowledge and perform sacrifice on behalf of others.

SB 11.17.41 - A brähmaëa who considers that accepting charity from others will destroy his austerity, spiritual influence and fame should maintain himself by the other two brahminical occupations, namely teaching Vedic knowledge and performing sacrifice. If the brähmaëa considers that those two occupations also compromise his spiritual position, then he should collect rejected grains in agricultural fields and live without any dependence on others.

SB 11.17.42 - The body of a brähmaëa is not intended to enjoy insignificant material sense gratification; rather, by accepting difficult austerities in his life, a brähmaëa will enjoy unlimited happiness after death.

SB 11.17.43 - A brāhmaëa householder should remain satisfied in mind by gleaning rejected grains from agricultural fields and marketplaces. Keeping himself free of personal desire, he should practice magnanimous religious principles, with consciousness absorbed in Me. In this way a brāhmaëa may stay at home as a householder without very much attachment and thus achieve liberation.

SB 11.17.44 - Just as a ship rescues those who have fallen into the ocean, similarly, I very quickly rescue from all calamities those persons who uplift brāhmaëas and devotees suffering in a poverty-stricken condition.

SB 11.17.45 - Just as the chief bull elephant protects all other elephants in his herd and defends himself as well, similarly, a fearless king, just like a father, must save all of the citizens from difficulty and also protect himself.

SB 11.17.46 - An earthly king who protects himself and all citizens by removing all sins from his kingdom will certainly enjoy with Lord Indra in airplanes as brilliant as the sun.

SB 11.17.47 - If a brāhmaëa cannot support himself through his regular duties and is thus suffering, he may adopt the occupation of a merchant and overcome his destitute condition by buying and selling material things. If he continues to suffer extreme poverty even as a merchant, then he may adopt the occupation of a kṣatriya, taking sword in hand. But he cannot in any circumstances become like a dog, accepting an ordinary master.

SB 11.17.48 - A king or other member of the royal order who cannot maintain himself by his normal occupation may act as a vaiçya, may live by hunting or may act as a brāhmaëa by teaching others Vedic knowledge. But he may not under any circumstances adopt the profession of a çūdra.

SB 11.17.49 - A vaiçya, or mercantile man, who cannot maintain himself may adopt the occupation of a çüdra, and a çüdra who cannot find a master can engage in simple activities like making baskets and mats of straw. However, all members of society who have adopted inferior occupations in emergency situations must give up those substitute occupations when the difficulties have passed.

SB 11.17.50 - One in the gâhastha order of life should daily worship the sages by Vedic study, the forefathers by offering the mantra svadhâ, the demigods by chanting svähä, all living entities by offering shares of one's meals, and human beings by offering grains and water. Thus considering the demigods, sages, forefathers, living entities and human beings to be manifestations of My potency, one should daily perform these five sacrifices.

SB 11.17.51 - A householder should comfortably maintain his dependents either with money that comes of its own accord or with that gathered by honest execution of one's duties. According to one's means, one should perform sacrifices and other religious ceremonies.

SB 11.17.52 - A householder taking care of many dependent family members should not become materially attached to them, nor should he become mentally unbalanced, considering himself to be the lord. An intelligent householder should see that all possible future happiness, just like that which he has already experienced, is temporary.

SB 11.17.53 - The association of children, wife, relatives and friends is just like the brief meeting of travelers. With each change of body one is separated from all such associates, just as one loses the objects one possesses in a dream when the dream is over.

SB 11.17.54 - Deeply considering the actual situation, a liberated soul should live at home just like a guest, without any sense of proprietorship or false ego. In this way he will not be bound or entangled by domestic affairs.

SB 11.17.55 - A householder devotee who worships Me by execution of his family duties may remain at home, go to a holy place or, if he has a responsible son, take sannyāsa.

SB 11.17.56 - But a householder whose mind is attached to his home and who is thus disturbed by ardent desires to enjoy his money and children, who is lusty after women, who is possessed of a miserly mentality and who unintelligently thinks, "Everything is mine and I am everything," is certainly bound in illusion.

SB 11.17.57 - "O my poor elderly parents, and my wife with a mere infant in her arms, and my other young children! Without me they have absolutely no one to protect them and will suffer unbearably. How can my poor relatives possibly live without me?"

SB 11.17.58 - Thus, because of his foolish mentality, a householder whose heart is overwhelmed by family attachment is never satisfied. Constantly meditating on his relatives, he dies and enters into the darkness of ignorance.

41 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.17.1-2 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, previously You described the principles of devotional service that are to be practiced by followers of the varëāçrama system and even ordinary, unregulated human beings. My dear lotus-eyed Lord, now please explain to me how all human beings can achieve loving service unto You by the execution of their prescribed duties.

SB 11.17.3-4 - My dear Lord, O mighty-armed one, previously in Your form of Lord Haṁsa You spoke to Lord Brahmā those religious principles that bring supreme happiness to the practitioner. My dear Mādhava, now much time has passed, and that which You previously instructed will soon practically cease to exist, O subduer of the enemy.

SB 11.17.5-6 - My dear Lord Acyuta, there is no speaker, creator and protector of supreme religious principles other than Your Lordship, either on the earth or even in the assembly of Lord Brahmā, where the personified Vedas reside. Thus, my dear Lord Madhusūdāna, when You, who are the very creator, protector and speaker of spiritual knowledge, abandon the earth, who will again speak this lost knowledge?

SB 11.17.7 - Therefore, my Lord, since You are the knower of all religious principles, please describe to me the human beings who may execute the path of loving service to You and how such service is to be rendered.

SB 11.17.8 - Śrī Çukadeva Gosvāmī said: Śrī Uddhava, the best of devotees, thus inquired from the Lord. Hearing his question, the Personality of Godhead, śrī Kāṇēa, was pleased and for the welfare of all conditioned souls spoke those religious principles that are eternal.

SB 11.17.9 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, your question is faithful to religious principles and thus gives rise to the highest perfection in life, pure devotional service, for both ordinary human beings and the followers of the varëāçrama system. Now please learn from Me those supreme religious principles.

SB 11.17.10 - In the beginning, in Satya-yuga, there is only one social class, called haṁsa, to which all human beings belong. In that age all people are unalloyed devotees of the Lord from birth, and thus learned scholars call this first age Kāta-yuga, or the age in which all religious duties are perfectly fulfilled.

SB 11.17.11 - In Satya-yuga the undivided Veda is expressed by the syllable oṃ, and I am the only object of mental activities. I become manifest as the four-legged bull of religion, and thus the inhabitants of Satya-yuga, fixed in austerity and free from all sins, worship Me as Lord Haṁsa.

SB 11.17.12 - O greatly fortunate one, at the beginning of Tretā-yuga Vedic knowledge appeared from My heart, which is the abode of the air of life, in three divisions-as Āg, Sāma and Yajur. Then from that knowledge I appeared as threefold sacrifice.

SB 11.17.13 - In Tretā-yuga the four social orders were manifested from the universal form of the Personality of Godhead. The brāhmaṇas appeared from the Lord's face, the kṣatriyas from the Lord's arms, the vaiśyas from the Lord's thighs and the śūdras from the legs of that mighty form. Each social division was recognized by its particular duties and behavior.

SB 11.17.14 - The married order of life appeared from the loins of My universal form, and the celibate students came from My heart. The forest-dwelling retired order of life appeared from My chest, and the renounced order of life was situated within the head of My universal form.

SB 11.17.15 - The various occupational and social divisions of human society appeared according to inferior and superior natures manifest in the situation of the individual's birth.

SB 11.17.16 - Peacefulness, self-control, austerity, cleanliness, satisfaction, tolerance, simple straightforwardness, devotion to Me, mercy and truthfulness are the natural qualities of the brāhmaṇas.

SB 11.17.17 - Dynamic power, bodily strength, determination, heroism, tolerance, generosity, great endeavor, steadiness, devotion to the brāhmaëas and leadership are the natural qualities of the kñatriyas.

SB 11.17.18 - Faith in Vedic civilization, dedication to charity, freedom from hypocrisy, service to the brāhmaëas and perpetually desiring to accumulate more money are the natural qualities of the vaiçyas.

SB 11.17.19 - Service without duplicity to the brāhmaëas, cows, demigods and other worshipable personalities, and complete satisfaction with whatever income is obtained in such service, are the natural qualities of çüdras.

SB 11.17.20 - Dirtiness, dishonesty, thievery, faithlessness, useless quarrel, lust, anger and hankering constitute the nature of those in the lowest position outside the varëäçrama system.

SB 11.17.21 - Nonviolence, truthfulness, honesty, desire for the happiness and welfare of all others and freedom from lust, anger and greed constitute duties for all members of society.

SB 11.17.22 - The twice-born member of society achieves second birth through the sequence of purificatory ceremonies culminating in Gäyatrë initiation. Being summoned by the spiritual master, he should reside within the guru's äçrama and with a self-controlled mind carefully study the Vedic literature.

SB 11.17.23 - The brahmacäre should regularly dress with a belt of straw and deerskin garments. He should wear matted hair, carry a rod and waterpot and be decorated with akña beads and a sacred thread. Carrying pure kuça grass in his hand, he should never accept a luxurious or sensuous sitting place. He should not unnecessarily polish his teeth, nor should he bleach and iron his clothes.

SB 11.17.24 - A brahmacäre should always remain silent while bathing, eating, attending sacrificial performances, chanting japa or passing stool and urine. He should not cut his nails and hair, including the armpit and pubic hair.

SB 11.17.25 - One observing the vow of celibate brahmacäre life should never pass semen. If the semen by chance spills out by itself, the brahmacäre should immediately take bath in water, control his breath by präëyāma and chant the Gäyatré mantra

SB 11.17.26 - Purified and fixed in consciousness, the brahmacäre should worship the fire-god, sun, äcärya, cows, brähmaëas, guru, elderly respectable persons and demigods. He should perform such worship at sunrise and sunset, without speaking but by silently chanting or murmuring the appropriate mantras.

SB 11.17.27 - One should know the äcärya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.

SB 11.17.28 - In the morning and evening one should collect foodstuffs and other articles and deliver them to the spiritual master. Then, being self-controlled, one should accept for oneself that which is allotted by the äcärya.

SB 11.17.29 - While engaged in serving the spiritual master one should remain as a humble servant, and thus when the guru is walking the servant should humbly walk behind. When the guru lies down to sleep, the servant should also lie down nearby, and when the guru has awakened, the servant should sit near him, massaging his lotus feet and rendering other, similar services. When the guru is sitting down on his äsana, the servant should stand nearby with folded hands, awaiting the guru's order. In this way one should always worship the spiritual master.

SB 11.17.30 - Until the student has completed his Vedic education he should remain engaged in the āçrama of the spiritual master, should remain completely free of material sense gratification and should not break his vow of celibacy [brahmacarya].

SB 11.17.31 - If the brahmacäre student desires to ascend to the Maharloka or Brahmaloça planets, then he should completely surrender his activities to the spiritual master and, observing the powerful vow of perpetual celibacy, dedicate himself to superior Vedic studies.

SB 11.17.32 - Thus enlightened in Vedic knowledge by service to the spiritual master, freed from all sins and duality, one should worship Me as the Supersoul, as I appear within fire, the spiritual master, one's own self and all living entities.

SB 11.17.33 - Those who are not married-sannyäsés, vānaprasthas and brahmacärés-should never associate with women by glancing, touching, conversing, joking or sporting. Neither should they ever associate with any living entity engaged in sexual activities.

SB 11.17.34-35 - My dear Uddhava, general cleanliness, washing the hands, bathing, performing religious services at sunrise, noon and sunset, worshipping Me, visiting holy places, chanting japa, avoiding that which is untouchable, uneatable or not to be discussed, and remembering My existence within all living entities as the Supersoul-these principles should be followed by all members of society through regulation of the mind, words and body.

SB 11.17.36 - A brähmaëa observing the great vow of celibacy becomes brilliant like fire and by serious austerity burns to ashes the propensity to perform material activities. Free from the contamination of material desire, he becomes My devotee.

SB 11.17.37 - A brahmacäre who has completed his Vedic education and desires to enter household life should offer proper remuneration to the spiritual master, bathe, cut his hair, put on proper clothes, and so on. Then, taking permission from the guru, he should go back to his home.

SB 11.17.38 - A brahmacäre desiring to fulfill his material desires should live at home with his family, and a householder who is eager to purify his consciousness should enter the forest, whereas a purified brähmaëa should accept the renounced order of life. One who is not surrendered to Me should move progressively from one āçrama to another, never acting otherwise.

SB 11.17.39 - One who desires to establish family life should marry a wife of his own caste, who is beyond reproach and younger in age. If one desires to accept many wives he must marry them after the first marriage, and each wife should be of a successively lower caste.

SB 11.17.40 - All twice-born men-brähmaëas, kñatriyas and vaiçyas-must perform sacrifice, study the Vedic literature and give charity. Only the brähmaëas, however, accept charity, teach the Vedic knowledge and perform sacrifice on behalf of others.

SB 11.17.41 - A brähmaëa who considers that accepting charity from others will destroy his austerity, spiritual influence and fame should maintain himself by the other two brahminical occupations, namely teaching Vedic knowledge and performing sacrifice. If the brähmaëa considers that those two occupations also compromise his spiritual position, then he should collect rejected grains in agricultural fields and live without any dependence on others.

SB 11.17.42 - The body of a brāhmaëa is not intended to enjoy insignificant material sense gratification; rather, by accepting difficult austerities in his life, a brāhmaëa will enjoy unlimited happiness after death.

SB 11.17.43 - A brāhmaëa householder should remain satisfied in mind by gleaning rejected grains from agricultural fields and marketplaces. Keeping himself free of personal desire, he should practice magnanimous religious principles, with consciousness absorbed in Me. In this way a brāhmaëa may stay at home as a householder without very much attachment and thus achieve liberation.

SB 11.17.44 - Just as a ship rescues those who have fallen into the ocean, similarly, I very quickly rescue from all calamities those persons who uplift brāhmaëas and devotees suffering in a poverty-stricken condition.

SB 11.17.45 - Just as the chief bull elephant protects all other elephants in his herd and defends himself as well, similarly, a fearless king, just like a father, must save all of the citizens from difficulty and also protect himself.

SB 11.17.46 - An earthly king who protects himself and all citizens by removing all sins from his kingdom will certainly enjoy with Lord Indra in airplanes as brilliant as the sun.

SB 11.17.47 - If a brāhmaëa cannot support himself through his regular duties and is thus suffering, he may adopt the occupation of a merchant and overcome his destitute condition by buying and selling material things. If he continues to suffer extreme poverty even as a merchant, then he may adopt the occupation of a kīatriya, taking sword in hand. But he cannot in any circumstances become like a dog, accepting an ordinary master.

SB 11.17.48 - A king or other member of the royal order who cannot maintain himself by his normal occupation may act as a vaiçya, may live by hunting or may act as a brähmaëa by teaching others Vedic knowledge. But he may not under any circumstances adopt the profession of a çüdra.

SB 11.17.49 - A vaiçya, or mercantile man, who cannot maintain himself may adopt the occupation of a çüdra, and a çüdra who cannot find a master can engage in simple activities like making baskets and mats of straw. However, all members of society who have adopted inferior occupations in emergency situations must give up those substitute occupations when the difficulties have passed.

SB 11.17.50 - One in the gâhastha order of life should daily worship the sages by Vedic study, the forefathers by offering the mantra svadhä, the demigods by chanting svähä, all living entities by offering shares of one's meals, and human beings by offering grains and water. Thus considering the demigods, sages, forefathers, living entities and human beings to be manifestations of My potency, one should daily perform these five sacrifices.

SB 11.17.51 - A householder should comfortably maintain his dependents either with money that comes of its own accord or with that gathered by honest execution of one's duties. According to one's means, one should perform sacrifices and other religious ceremonies.

SB 11.17.52 - A householder taking care of many dependent family members should not become materially attached to them, nor should he become mentally unbalanced, considering himself to be the lord. An intelligent householder should see that all possible future happiness, just like that which he has already experienced, is temporary.

SB 11.17.53 - The association of children, wife, relatives and friends is just like the brief meeting of travelers. With each change of body one is separated from all such associates, just as one loses the objects one possesses in a dream when the dream is over.

SB 11.17.54 - Deeply considering the actual situation, a liberated soul should live at home just like a guest, without any sense of proprietorship or false ego. In this way he will not be bound or entangled by domestic affairs.

SB 11.17.55 - A householder devotee who worships Me by execution of his family duties may remain at home, go to a holy place or, if he has a responsible son, take sannyāsa.

SB 11.17.56 - But a householder whose mind is attached to his home and who is thus disturbed by ardent desires to enjoy his money and children, who is lusty after women, who is possessed of a miserly mentality and who unintelligently thinks, "Everything is mine and I am everything," is certainly bound in illusion.

SB 11.17.57 - "O my poor elderly parents, and my wife with a mere infant in her arms, and my other young children! Without me they have absolutely no one to protect them and will suffer unbearably. How can my poor relatives possibly live without me?"

SB 11.17.58 - Thus, because of his foolish mentality, a householder whose heart is overwhelmed by family attachment is never satisfied. Constantly meditating on his relatives, he dies and enters into the darkness of ignorance.

42 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.17.1-2 - Śrī Uddhava said: My dear Lord, previously You described the principles of devotional service that are to be practiced by followers of the varëāçrama system and even ordinary, unregulated human beings. My dear lotus-eyed Lord, now please explain to me how all human beings can achieve loving service unto You by the execution of their prescribed duties.

SB 11.17.3-4 - My dear Lord, O mighty-armed one, previously in Your form of Lord Haṁsa You spoke to Lord Brahmā those religious principles that bring supreme happiness to the practitioner. My dear Mādhava, now much time has passed, and that which You previously instructed will soon practically cease to exist, O subduer of the enemy.

SB 11.17.5-6 - My dear Lord Acyuta, there is no speaker, creator and protector of supreme religious principles other than Your Lordship, either on the earth or even in the assembly of Lord Brahmā, where the personified Vedas reside. Thus, my dear Lord Madhusūdāna, when You, who are the very creator, protector and speaker of spiritual knowledge, abandon the earth, who will again speak this lost knowledge?

SB 11.17.7 - Therefore, my Lord, since You are the knower of all religious principles, please describe to me the human beings who may execute the path of loving service to You and how such service is to be rendered.

SB 11.17.8 - Śrī Çukadeva Gosvāmī said: Śrī Uddhava, the best of devotees, thus inquired from the Lord. Hearing his question, the Personality of Godhead, śrī Kāñēa, was pleased and for the welfare of all conditioned souls spoke those religious principles that are eternal.

SB 11.17.9 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, your question is faithful to religious principles and thus gives rise to the highest perfection in life, pure devotional service, for both ordinary human beings and the followers of the varēāçrama system. Now please learn from Me those supreme religious principles.

SB 11.17.10 - In the beginning, in Satya-yuga, there is only one social class, called haṇsa, to which all human beings belong. In that age all people are unalloyed devotees of the Lord from birth, and thus learned scholars call this first age Kāta-yuga, or the age in which all religious duties are perfectly fulfilled.

SB 11.17.11 - In Satya-yuga the undivided Veda is expressed by the syllable oṇ, and I am the only object of mental activities. I become manifest as the four-legged bull of religion, and thus the inhabitants of Satya-yuga, fixed in austerity and free from all sins, worship Me as Lord Haṇsa.

SB 11.17.12 - O greatly fortunate one, at the beginning of Tretā-yuga Vedic knowledge appeared from My heart, which is the abode of the air of life, in three divisions-as Āg, Sāma and Yajur. Then from that knowledge I appeared as threefold sacrifice.

SB 11.17.13 - In Tretā-yuga the four social orders were manifested from the universal form of the Personality of Godhead. The brāhmaṇas appeared from the Lord's face, the kṇatriyas from the Lord's arms, the vaiṇyas from the Lord's thighs and the ṇḍras from the legs of that mighty form. Each social division was recognized by its particular duties and behavior.

SB 11.17.14 - The married order of life appeared from the loins of My universal form, and the celibate students came from My heart. The forest-dwelling retired order of life appeared from My chest, and the renounced order of life was situated within the head of My universal form.

SB 11.17.15 - The various occupational and social divisions of human society appeared according to inferior and superior natures manifest in the situation of the individual's birth.

SB 11.17.16 - Peacefulness, self-control, austerity, cleanliness, satisfaction, tolerance, simple straightforwardness, devotion to Me, mercy and truthfulness are the natural qualities of the brāhmaëas.

SB 11.17.17 - Dynamic power, bodily strength, determination, heroism, tolerance, generosity, great endeavor, steadiness, devotion to the brāhmaëas and leadership are the natural qualities of the kñatriyas.

SB 11.17.18 - Faith in Vedic civilization, dedication to charity, freedom from hypocrisy, service to the brāhmaëas and perpetually desiring to accumulate more money are the natural qualities of the vaiçyas.

SB 11.17.19 - Service without duplicity to the brāhmaëas, cows, demigods and other worshipable personalities, and complete satisfaction with whatever income is obtained in such service, are the natural qualities of çüdras.

SB 11.17.20 - Dirtiness, dishonesty, thievery, faithlessness, useless quarrel, lust, anger and hankering constitute the nature of those in the lowest position outside the varëäçrama system.

SB 11.17.21 - Nonviolence, truthfulness, honesty, desire for the happiness and welfare of all others and freedom from lust, anger and greed constitute duties for all members of society.

SB 11.17.22 - The twice-born member of society achieves second birth through the sequence of purificatory ceremonies culminating in Gäyatrë initiation. Being summoned by the spiritual master, he should reside within the guru's äçrama and with a self-controlled mind carefully study the Vedic literature.

SB 11.17.23 - The brahmacärë should regularly dress with a belt of straw and deerskin garments. He should wear matted hair, carry a rod and waterpot and be decorated with akña beads and a sacred thread. Carrying pure kuça grass in his hand, he should never accept a luxurious or sensuous sitting place. He should not unnecessarily polish his teeth, nor should he bleach and iron his clothes.

SB 11.17.24 - A brahmacäre should always remain silent while bathing, eating, attending sacrificial performances, chanting japa or passing stool and urine. He should not cut his nails and hair, including the armpit and pubic hair.

SB 11.17.25 - One observing the vow of celibate brahmacäre life should never pass semen. If the semen by chance spills out by itself, the brahmacäre should immediately take bath in water, control his breath by präëyāma and chant the Gäyatrë mantra

SB 11.17.26 - Purified and fixed in consciousness, the brahmacäre should worship the fire-god, sun, äcärya, cows, brähmaëas, guru, elderly respectable persons and demigods. He should perform such worship at sunrise and sunset, without speaking but by silently chanting or murmuring the appropriate mantras.

SB 11.17.27 - One should know the äcärya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.

SB 11.17.28 - In the morning and evening one should collect foodstuffs and other articles and deliver them to the spiritual master. Then, being self-controlled, one should accept for oneself that which is allotted by the äcärya.

SB 11.17.29 - While engaged in serving the spiritual master one should remain as a humble servant, and thus when the guru is walking the servant should humbly walk behind. When the guru lies down to sleep, the servant should also lie down nearby, and when the guru has awakened, the servant should sit near him, massaging his lotus feet and rendering other, similar services. When the guru is sitting down on his āsana, the servant should stand nearby with folded hands, awaiting the guru's order. In this way one should always worship the spiritual master.

SB 11.17.30 - Until the student has completed his Vedic education he should remain engaged in the ācrama of the spiritual master, should remain completely free of material sense gratification and should not break his vow of celibacy [brahmacarya].

SB 11.17.31 - If the brahmacārē student desires to ascend to the Maharloka or Brahmaloḥa planets, then he should completely surrender his activities to the spiritual master and, observing the powerful vow of perpetual celibacy, dedicate himself to superior Vedic studies.

SB 11.17.32 - Thus enlightened in Vedic knowledge by service to the spiritual master, freed from all sins and duality, one should worship Me as the Supersoul, as I appear within fire, the spiritual master, one's own self and all living entities.

SB 11.17.33 - Those who are not married-sannyāsés, vānaprasthas and brahmacārés-should never associate with women by glancing, touching, conversing, joking or sporting. Neither should they ever associate with any living entity engaged in sexual activities.

SB 11.17.34-35 - My dear Uddhava, general cleanliness, washing the hands, bathing, performing religious services at sunrise, noon and sunset, worshipping Me, visiting holy places, chanting japa, avoiding that which is untouchable, uneatable or not to be discussed, and remembering My existence within all living entities as the Supersoul-these principles should be followed by all members of society through regulation of the mind, words and body.

SB 11.17.36 - A brähmaëa observing the great vow of celibacy becomes brilliant like fire and by serious austerity burns to ashes the propensity to perform material activities. Free from the contamination of material desire, he becomes My devotee.

SB 11.17.37 - A brahmacäre who has completed his Vedic education and desires to enter household life should offer proper remuneration to the spiritual master, bathe, cut his hair, put on proper clothes, and so on. Then, taking permission from the guru, he should go back to his home.

SB 11.17.38 - A brahmacäre desiring to fulfill his material desires should live at home with his family, and a householder who is eager to purify his consciousness should enter the forest, whereas a purified brähmaëa should accept the renounced order of life. One who is not surrendered to Me should move progressively from one āçrama to another, never acting otherwise.

SB 11.17.39 - One who desires to establish family life should marry a wife of his own caste, who is beyond reproach and younger in age. If one desires to accept many wives he must marry them after the first marriage, and each wife should be of a successively lower caste.

SB 11.17.40 - All twice-born men-brähmaëas, kñatriyas and vaiçyas-must perform sacrifice, study the Vedic literature and give charity. Only the brähmaëas, however, accept charity, teach the Vedic knowledge and perform sacrifice on behalf of others.

SB 11.17.41 - A brähmaëa who considers that accepting charity from others will destroy his austerity, spiritual influence and fame should maintain himself by the other two brahminical occupations, namely teaching Vedic knowledge and performing sacrifice. If the brāhmaëa considers that those two occupations also compromise his spiritual position, then he should collect rejected grains in agricultural fields and live without any dependence on others.

SB 11.17.42 - The body of a brāhmaëa is not intended to enjoy insignificant material sense gratification; rather, by accepting difficult austerities in his life, a brāhmaëa will enjoy unlimited happiness after death.

SB 11.17.43 - A brāhmaëa householder should remain satisfied in mind by gleaning rejected grains from agricultural fields and marketplaces. Keeping himself free of personal desire, he should practice magnanimous religious principles, with consciousness absorbed in Me. In this way a brāhmaëa may stay at home as a householder without very much attachment and thus achieve liberation.

SB 11.17.44 - Just as a ship rescues those who have fallen into the ocean, similarly, I very quickly rescue from all calamities those persons who uplift brāhmaëas and devotees suffering in a poverty-stricken condition.

SB 11.17.45 - Just as the chief bull elephant protects all other elephants in his herd and defends himself as well, similarly, a fearless king, just like a father, must save all of the citizens from difficulty and also protect himself.

SB 11.17.46 - An earthly king who protects himself and all citizens by removing all sins from his kingdom will certainly enjoy with Lord Indra in airplanes as brilliant as the sun.

SB 11.17.47 - If a brāhmaëa cannot support himself through his regular duties and is thus suffering, he may adopt the occupation of a merchant and overcome his destitute condition by buying and selling material things. If he continues to suffer extreme poverty even as a merchant, then he may adopt the occupation of a kñatriya, taking sword in hand. But he cannot in any circumstances become like a dog, accepting an ordinary master.

SB 11.17.48 - A king or other member of the royal order who cannot maintain himself by his normal occupation may act as a vaiçya, may live by hunting or may act as a brähmaëa by teaching others Vedic knowledge. But he may not under any circumstances adopt the profession of a çüdra.

SB 11.17.49 - A vaiçya, or mercantile man, who cannot maintain himself may adopt the occupation of a çüdra, and a çüdra who cannot find a master can engage in simple activities like making baskets and mats of straw. However, all members of society who have adopted inferior occupations in emergency situations must give up those substitute occupations when the difficulties have passed.

SB 11.17.50 - One in the gāhastha order of life should daily worship the sages by Vedic study, the forefathers by offering the mantra svadhä, the demigods by chanting svähä, all living entities by offering shares of one's meals, and human beings by offering grains and water. Thus considering the demigods, sages, forefathers, living entities and human beings to be manifestations of My potency, one should daily perform these five sacrifices.

SB 11.17.51 - A householder should comfortably maintain his dependents either with money that comes of its own accord or with that gathered by honest execution of one's duties. According to one's means, one should perform sacrifices and other religious ceremonies.

SB 11.17.52 - A householder taking care of many dependent family members should not become materially attached to them, nor should he become mentally unbalanced, considering himself to be the lord. An intelligent householder should see that all possible future happiness, just like that which he has already experienced, is temporary.

SB 11.17.53 - The association of children, wife, relatives and friends is just like the brief meeting of travelers. With each change of body one is separated from all such associates, just as one loses the objects one possesses in a dream when the dream is over.

SB 11.17.54 - Deeply considering the actual situation, a liberated soul should live at home just like a guest, without any sense of proprietorship or false ego. In this way he will not be bound or entangled by domestic affairs.

SB 11.17.55 - A householder devotee who worships Me by execution of his family duties may remain at home, go to a holy place or, if he has a responsible son, take sannyāsa.

SB 11.17.56 - But a householder whose mind is attached to his home and who is thus disturbed by ardent desires to enjoy his money and children, who is lusty after women, who is possessed of a miserly mentality and who unintelligently thinks, "Everything is mine and I am everything," is certainly bound in illusion.

SB 11.17.57 - "O my poor elderly parents, and my wife with a mere infant in her arms, and my other young children! Without me they have absolutely no one to protect them and will suffer unbearably. How can my poor relatives possibly live without me?"

SB 11.17.58 - Thus, because of his foolish mentality, a householder whose heart is overwhelmed by family attachment is never satisfied. Constantly meditating on his relatives, he dies and enters into the darkness of ignorance.

43 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.18.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: One who desires to adopt the third order of life, vānaprastha, should enter the forest with a peaceful mind, leaving his wife with his mature sons, or else taking her along with him.

SB 11.18.2 - Having adopted the vānaprastha order of life, one should arrange one's sustenance by eating uncontaminated bulbs, roots and fruits that grow in the forest. One may dress oneself with tree bark, grass, leaves or animal skins.

SB 11.18.3 - The vānaprastha should not groom the hair on his head, body or face, should not manicure his nails, should not pass stool and urine at irregular times and should not make a special endeavor for dental hygiene. He should be content to take bath in water three times daily and should sleep on the ground.

SB 11.18.4 - Thus engaged as a vānaprastha, one should execute penance during the hottest summer days by subjecting oneself to burning fires on four sides and the blazing sun overhead; during the rainy season one should remain outside, subjecting oneself to torrents of rain; and in the freezing winter one should remain submerged in water up to one's neck.

SB 11.18.5 - One may eat foodstuffs prepared with fire, such as grains, or fruits ripened by time. One may grind one's food with mortar and stone or with one's own teeth.

SB 11.18.6 - The vānaprastha should personally collect whatever he requires for his bodily maintenance, carefully considering the time, place and his own capacity. He should never collect provisions for the future.

SB 11.18.7 - One who has accepted the vānaprastha order of life should perform seasonal sacrifices by offering oblations of caru and sacrificial cakes prepared from rice and other grains found in the forest. The vānaprastha, however, may never offer animal sacrifices to Me, even those sacrifices mentioned in the Vedas.

SB 11.18.8 - The vānaprastha should perform the agnihotra, darṣa and paurāṃśa sacrifices, as he did while in the gāhastha-āçrama. He should also perform the vows and sacrifices of cāturmāsya, since all of these rituals are enjoined for the vānaprastha-āçrama by expert knowers of the Vedas.

SB 11.18.9 - The saintly vānaprastha, practicing severe penances and accepting only the bare necessities of life, becomes so emaciated that he appears to be mere skin and bones. Thus worshiping Me through severe penances, he goes to the Maharloka planet and then directly achieves Me.

SB 11.18.10 - One who with long endeavor executes this painful but exalted penance, which awards ultimate liberation, simply to achieve insignificant sense gratification must be considered the greatest fool.

SB 11.18.11 - If the vānaprastha is overtaken by old age and because of his trembling body is no longer able to execute his prescribed duties, he should place the sacrificial fire within his heart by meditation. Then, fixing his mind on Me, he should enter into the fire and give up his body.

SB 11.18.12 - If the vānaprastha, understanding that even promotion to Brahmaloaka is a miserable situation, develops complete detachment from all possible results of fruitive activities, then he may take the sannyāsa order of life.

SB 11.18.13 - Having worshiped Me according to scriptural injunctions and having given all one's property to the sacrificial priest, one should place the fire sacrifice within oneself. Thus, with the mind completely detached, one should enter the sannyāsa order of life.

SB 11.18.14 - "This man taking sannyāsa is going to surpass us and go back home, back to Godhead." Thus thinking, the demigods create stumbling blocks on the path of the sannyāsé by appearing before him in the shape of his former wife or other women and attractive objects. But the sannyāsé should pay the demigods and their manifestations no heed.

SB 11.18.15 - If the sannyāsé desires to wear something besides a mere kaupéna, he may use another cloth around his waist and hips to cover the kaupéna. Otherwise, if there is no emergency, he should not accept anything besides his daëòa and waterpot.

SB 11.18.16 - A saintly person should step or place his foot on the ground only after verifying with his eyes that there are no living creatures, such as insects, who might be injured by his foot. He should drink water only after filtering it through a portion of his cloth, and he should speak only words that possess the purity of truth. Similarly, he should perform only those activities his mind has carefully ascertained to be pure.

SB 11.18.17 - One who has not accepted the three internal disciplines of avoiding useless speech, avoiding useless activities and controlling the life air can never be considered a sannyāsé merely because of his carrying bamboo rods.

SB 11.18.18 - Rejecting those houses that are polluted and untouchable, one should approach without previous calculation seven houses and be satisfied with that which is obtained there by begging. According to necessity, one may approach each of the four occupational orders of society.

SB 11.18.19 - Taking the food gathered through begging, one should leave the populated areas and go to a reservoir of water in a secluded place. There, having taken a bath and washed one's hands thoroughly, one should distribute portions of the food to others who may request it. One should do this without speaking. Then, having thoroughly cleansed the remnants, one should eat everything on one's plate, leaving nothing for future consumption.

SB 11.18.20 - Without any material attachment, with senses fully controlled, remaining enthusiastic, and satisfied in realization of the Supreme Lord and his own self, the saintly person should travel about the earth alone. Having equal vision everywhere, he should be steady on the spiritual platform.

SB 11.18.21 - Dwelling in a safe and solitary place, his mind purified by constant thought of Me, the sage should concentrate on the soul alone, realizing it to be nondifferent from Me.

SB 11.18.22 - By steady knowledge a sage should clearly ascertain the nature of the soul's bondage and liberation. Bondage occurs when the senses are deviated to sense gratification, and complete control of the senses constitutes liberation.

SB 11.18.23 - Therefore, completely controlling the five senses and the mind by Kāññā consciousness, a sage, having experienced spiritual bliss within the self, should live detached from insignificant material sense gratification.

SB 11.18.24 - The sage should travel in sanctified places, by flowing rivers and within the solitude of mountains and forests. He should enter the cities, towns and pasturing grounds and approach ordinary working men only to beg his bare sustenance.

SB 11.18.25 - One in the vānaprastha order of life should always practice taking charity from others, for one is thereby freed from illusion and quickly becomes perfect in spiritual life. Indeed, one who subsists on food grains obtained in such a humble manner purifies his existence.

SB 11.18.26 - One should never see as ultimate reality those material things which obviously will perish. With consciousness free from material attachment, one should retire from all activities meant for material progress in this life and the next.

SB 11.18.27 - One should logically consider the universe, which is situated within the Lord, and one's own material body, which is composed of mind, speech and life air, to be ultimately products of the Lord's illusory energy. Thus situated in the self, one should give up one's faith in these things and should never again make them the object of one's meditation.

SB 11.18.28 - A learned transcendentalist dedicated to the cultivation of knowledge and thus detached from external objects, or My devotee who is detached even from desire for liberation-both neglect those duties based on external rituals or paraphernalia. Thus their conduct is beyond the range of rules and regulations.

SB 11.18.29 - Although most wise, the paramahansa should enjoy life like a child, oblivious to honor and dishonor; although most expert, he should behave like a stunted, incompetent person; although most learned, he should speak like an insane person; and although a scholar learned in Vedic regulations, he should behave in an unrestricted manner.

SB 11.18.30 - A devotee should never engage in the fruitive rituals mentioned in the karma-käëòà section of the Vedas, nor should he become atheistic, acting or speaking in opposition to Vedic injunctions. Similarly, he should never speak like a mere logician or skeptic or take any side whatsoever in useless arguments.

SB 11.18.31 - A saintly person should never let others frighten or disturb him and, similarly, should never frighten or disturb other people. He should tolerate the insults of others and should never himself belittle anyone. He should never create hostility with anyone for the sake of the material body, for he would thus be no better than an animal.

SB 11.18.32 - The one Supreme Lord is situated within all material bodies and within everyone's soul. Just as the moon is reflected in innumerable reservoirs of water, the Supreme Lord, although one, is present within everyone. Thus every material body is ultimately composed of the energy of the one Supreme Lord.

SB 11.18.33 - If at times one does not obtain proper food one should not be depressed, and when one obtains sumptuous food one should not rejoice. Being fixed in determination, one should understand both situations to be under the control of God.

SB 11.18.34 - If required, one should endeavor to get sufficient foodstuffs, because it is always necessary and proper to maintain one's health. When the senses, mind and life air are fit, one can contemplate spiritual truth, and by understanding the truth one is liberated.

SB 11.18.35 - A sage should accept the food, clothing and bedding-be they of excellent or inferior quality-that come of their own accord.

SB 11.18.36 - Just as I, the Supreme Lord, execute regulative duties by My own free will, similarly, one who has realized knowledge of Me should maintain general cleanliness, purify his hands with water, take bath and execute other regulative duties not by force but by his own free will.

SB 11.18.37 - A realized soul no longer sees anything as separate from Me, for his realized knowledge of Me has destroyed such illusory perception. Since the material body and mind were previously accustomed to this kind of perception, it may sometimes appear to recur; but at the time of death the self-realized soul achieves opulences equal to Mine.

SB 11.18.38 - One who is detached from sense gratification, knowing its result to be miserable, and who desires spiritual perfection, but who has not seriously analyzed the process for obtaining Me, should approach a bona fide and learned spiritual master.

SB 11.18.39 - Until a devotee has clearly realized spiritual knowledge, he should continue with great faith and respect and without envy to render personal service to the guru, who is nondifferent from Me.

SB 11.18.40-41 - One who has not controlled the six forms of illusion [lust, anger, greed, excitement, false pride and intoxication], whose intelligence, the leader of the senses, is extremely attached to material things, who is bereft of knowledge and detachment, who adopts the sannyāsa order of life to make a living, who denies the worshipable demigods, his own self and the Supreme Lord within himself, thus ruining all religious principles, and who is still infected by material contamination, is deviated and lost both in this life and the next.

SB 11.18.42 - The main religious duties of a sannyāsé are equanimity and nonviolence, whereas for the vānaprastha austerity and philosophical understanding of the difference between the body and soul are prominent.

The main duties of a householder are to give shelter to all living entities and perform sacrifices, and the brahmacārē is mainly engaged in serving the spiritual master.

SB 11.18.43 - A householder may approach his wife for sex only at the time prescribed for begetting children. Otherwise, the householder should practice celibacy, austerity, cleanliness of mind and body, satisfaction in his natural position, and friendship toward all living entities. Worship of Me is to be practiced by all human beings, regardless of social or occupational divisions.

SB 11.18.44 - One who worships Me by his prescribed duty, having no other object of worship, and who remains conscious of Me as present in all living entities, achieves unflinching devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.18.45 - My dear Uddhava, I am the Supreme Lord of all worlds, and I create and destroy this universe, being its ultimate cause. I am thus the Absolute Truth, and one who worships Me with unfailing devotional service comes to Me.

SB 11.18.46 - Thus, one who has purified his existence by execution of his prescribed duties, who fully understands My supreme position and who is endowed with scriptural and realized knowledge, very soon achieves Me.

SB 11.18.47 - Those who are followers of this varëāçrama system accept religious principles according to authorized traditions of proper conduct. When such varëāçrama duties are dedicated to Me in loving service, they award the supreme perfection of life.

SB 11.18.48 - My dear saintly Uddhava, I have now described to you, just as you inquired, the means by which My devotee, perfectly engaged in his prescribed duty, can come back to Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

44 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.18.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: One who desires to adopt the third order of life, vānaprastha, should enter the forest with a peaceful mind, leaving his wife with his mature sons, or else taking her along with him.

SB 11.18.2 - Having adopted the vānaprastha order of life, one should arrange one's sustenance by eating uncontaminated bulbs, roots and fruits that grow in the forest. One may dress oneself with tree bark, grass, leaves or animal skins.

SB 11.18.3 - The vānaprastha should not groom the hair on his head, body or face, should not manicure his nails, should not pass stool and urine at irregular times and should not make a special endeavor for dental hygiene. He should be content to take bath in water three times daily and should sleep on the ground.

SB 11.18.4 - Thus engaged as a vānaprastha, one should execute penance during the hottest summer days by subjecting oneself to burning fires on four sides and the blazing sun overhead; during the rainy season one should remain outside, subjecting oneself to torrents of rain; and in the freezing winter one should remain submerged in water up to one's neck.

SB 11.18.5 - One may eat foodstuffs prepared with fire, such as grains, or fruits ripened by time. One may grind one's food with mortar and stone or with one's own teeth.

SB 11.18.6 - The vānaprastha should personally collect whatever he requires for his bodily maintenance, carefully considering the time, place and his own capacity. He should never collect provisions for the future.

SB 11.18.7 - One who has accepted the vānaprastha order of life should perform seasonal sacrifices by offering oblations of caru and sacrificial cakes prepared from rice and other grains found in the forest. The vānaprastha, however, may never offer animal sacrifices to Me, even those sacrifices mentioned in the Vedas.

SB 11.18.8 - The vānaprastha should perform the agnihotra, darṣa and paurāṃśa sacrifices, as he did while in the gāhastha-āçrama. He should also perform the vows and sacrifices of cāturmāsya, since all of these rituals are enjoined for the vānaprastha-āçrama by expert knowers of the Vedas.

SB 11.18.9 - The saintly vānaprastha, practicing severe penances and accepting only the bare necessities of life, becomes so emaciated that he appears to be mere skin and bones. Thus worshiping Me through severe penances, he goes to the Maharloka planet and then directly achieves Me.

SB 11.18.10 - One who with long endeavor executes this painful but exalted penance, which awards ultimate liberation, simply to achieve insignificant sense gratification must be considered the greatest fool.

SB 11.18.11 - If the vānaprastha is overtaken by old age and because of his trembling body is no longer able to execute his prescribed duties, he should place the sacrificial fire within his heart by meditation. Then, fixing his mind on Me, he should enter into the fire and give up his body.

SB 11.18.12 - If the vānaprastha, understanding that even promotion to Brahmaloaka is a miserable situation, develops complete detachment from all possible results of fruitive activities, then he may take the sannyāsa order of life.

SB 11.18.13 - Having worshiped Me according to scriptural injunctions and having given all one's property to the sacrificial priest, one should place the fire sacrifice within oneself. Thus, with the mind completely detached, one should enter the sannyāsa order of life.

SB 11.18.14 - "This man taking sannyāsa is going to surpass us and go back home, back to Godhead." Thus thinking, the demigods create stumbling blocks on the path of the sannyāsé by appearing before him in the shape of his former wife or other women and attractive objects. But the sannyāsé should pay the demigods and their manifestations no heed.

SB 11.18.15 - If the sannyāsé desires to wear something besides a mere kaupéna, he may use another cloth around his waist and hips to cover the kaupéna. Otherwise, if there is no emergency, he should not accept anything besides his daëòa and waterpot.

SB 11.18.16 - A saintly person should step or place his foot on the ground only after verifying with his eyes that there are no living creatures, such as insects, who might be injured by his foot. He should drink water only after filtering it through a portion of his cloth, and he should speak only words that possess the purity of truth. Similarly, he should perform only those activities his mind has carefully ascertained to be pure.

SB 11.18.17 - One who has not accepted the three internal disciplines of avoiding useless speech, avoiding useless activities and controlling the life air can never be considered a sannyāsé merely because of his carrying bamboo rods.

SB 11.18.18 - Rejecting those houses that are polluted and untouchable, one should approach without previous calculation seven houses and be satisfied with that which is obtained there by begging. According to necessity, one may approach each of the four occupational orders of society.

SB 11.18.19 - Taking the food gathered through begging, one should leave the populated areas and go to a reservoir of water in a secluded place. There, having taken a bath and washed one's hands thoroughly, one should distribute portions of the food to others who may request it. One should do this without speaking. Then, having thoroughly cleansed the remnants, one should eat everything on one's plate, leaving nothing for future consumption.

SB 11.18.20 - Without any material attachment, with senses fully controlled, remaining enthusiastic, and satisfied in realization of the Supreme Lord and his own self, the saintly person should travel about the earth alone. Having equal vision everywhere, he should be steady on the spiritual platform.

SB 11.18.21 - Dwelling in a safe and solitary place, his mind purified by constant thought of Me, the sage should concentrate on the soul alone, realizing it to be nondifferent from Me.

SB 11.18.22 - By steady knowledge a sage should clearly ascertain the nature of the soul's bondage and liberation. Bondage occurs when the senses are deviated to sense gratification, and complete control of the senses constitutes liberation.

SB 11.18.23 - Therefore, completely controlling the five senses and the mind by Kāññea consciousness, a sage, having experienced spiritual bliss within the self, should live detached from insignificant material sense gratification.

SB 11.18.24 - The sage should travel in sanctified places, by flowing rivers and within the solitude of mountains and forests. He should enter the cities, towns and pasturing grounds and approach ordinary working men only to beg his bare sustenance.

SB 11.18.25 - One in the vānaprastha order of life should always practice taking charity from others, for one is thereby freed from illusion and quickly becomes perfect in spiritual life. Indeed, one who subsists on food grains obtained in such a humble manner purifies his existence.

SB 11.18.26 - One should never see as ultimate reality those material things which obviously will perish. With consciousness free from material attachment, one should retire from all activities meant for material progress in this life and the next.

SB 11.18.27 - One should logically consider the universe, which is situated within the Lord, and one's own material body, which is composed of mind, speech and life air, to be ultimately products of the Lord's illusory energy. Thus situated in the self, one should give up one's faith in these things and should never again make them the object of one's meditation.

SB 11.18.28 - A learned transcendentalist dedicated to the cultivation of knowledge and thus detached from external objects, or My devotee who is detached even from desire for liberation-both neglect those duties based on external rituals or paraphernalia. Thus their conduct is beyond the range of rules and regulations.

SB 11.18.29 - Although most wise, the paramahansa should enjoy life like a child, oblivious to honor and dishonor; although most expert, he should behave like a stunted, incompetent person; although most learned, he should speak like an insane person; and although a scholar learned in Vedic regulations, he should behave in an unrestricted manner.

SB 11.18.30 - A devotee should never engage in the fruitive rituals mentioned in the karma-käëòà section of the Vedas, nor should he become atheistic, acting or speaking in opposition to Vedic injunctions. Similarly, he should never speak like a mere logician or skeptic or take any side whatsoever in useless arguments.

SB 11.18.31 - A saintly person should never let others frighten or disturb him and, similarly, should never frighten or disturb other people. He should tolerate the insults of others and should never himself belittle anyone. He should never create hostility with anyone for the sake of the material body, for he would thus be no better than an animal.

SB 11.18.32 - The one Supreme Lord is situated within all material bodies and within everyone's soul. Just as the moon is reflected in innumerable reservoirs of water, the Supreme Lord, although one, is present within everyone. Thus every material body is ultimately composed of the energy of the one Supreme Lord.

SB 11.18.33 - If at times one does not obtain proper food one should not be depressed, and when one obtains sumptuous food one should not rejoice. Being fixed in determination, one should understand both situations to be under the control of God.

SB 11.18.34 - If required, one should endeavor to get sufficient foodstuffs, because it is always necessary and proper to maintain one's health. When the senses, mind and life air are fit, one can contemplate spiritual truth, and by understanding the truth one is liberated.

SB 11.18.35 - A sage should accept the food, clothing and bedding-be they of excellent or inferior quality-that come of their own accord.

SB 11.18.36 - Just as I, the Supreme Lord, execute regulative duties by My own free will, similarly, one who has realized knowledge of Me should maintain general cleanliness, purify his hands with water, take bath and execute other regulative duties not by force but by his own free will.

SB 11.18.37 - A realized soul no longer sees anything as separate from Me, for his realized knowledge of Me has destroyed such illusory perception. Since the material body and mind were previously accustomed to this kind of perception, it may sometimes appear to recur; but at the time of death the self-realized soul achieves opulences equal to Mine.

SB 11.18.38 - One who is detached from sense gratification, knowing its result to be miserable, and who desires spiritual perfection, but who has not seriously analyzed the process for obtaining Me, should approach a bona fide and learned spiritual master.

SB 11.18.39 - Until a devotee has clearly realized spiritual knowledge, he should continue with great faith and respect and without envy to render personal service to the guru, who is nondifferent from Me.

SB 11.18.40-41 - One who has not controlled the six forms of illusion [lust, anger, greed, excitement, false pride and intoxication], whose intelligence, the leader of the senses, is extremely attached to material things, who is bereft of knowledge and detachment, who adopts the sannyāsa order of life to make a living, who denies the worshipable demigods, his own self and the Supreme Lord within himself, thus ruining all religious principles, and who is still infected by material contamination, is deviated and lost both in this life and the next.

SB 11.18.42 - The main religious duties of a sannyāsé are equanimity and nonviolence, whereas for the vānaprastha austerity and philosophical understanding of the difference between the body and soul are prominent. The main duties of a householder are to give shelter to all living entities and perform sacrifices, and the brahmacäre is mainly engaged in serving the spiritual master.

SB 11.18.43 - A householder may approach his wife for sex only at the time prescribed for begetting children. Otherwise, the householder should practice celibacy, austerity, cleanliness of mind and body, satisfaction in his natural position, and friendship toward all living entities. Worship of Me is to be practiced by all human beings, regardless of social or occupational divisions.

SB 11.18.44 - One who worships Me by his prescribed duty, having no other object of worship, and who remains conscious of Me as present in all living entities, achieves unflinching devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.18.45 - My dear Uddhava, I am the Supreme Lord of all worlds, and I create and destroy this universe, being its ultimate cause. I am thus the Absolute Truth, and one who worships Me with unfailing devotional service comes to Me.

SB 11.18.46 - Thus, one who has purified his existence by execution of his prescribed duties, who fully understands My supreme position and who is endowed with scriptural and realized knowledge, very soon achieves Me.

SB 11.18.47 - Those who are followers of this varëäçrama system accept religious principles according to authorized traditions of proper conduct. When such varëäçrama duties are dedicated to Me in loving service, they award the supreme perfection of life.

SB 11.18.48 - My dear saintly Uddhava, I have now described to you, just as you inquired, the means by which My devotee, perfectly engaged in his prescribed duty, can come back to Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

45 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.18.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: One who desires to adopt the third order of life, vānaprastha, should enter the forest with a peaceful mind, leaving his wife with his mature sons, or else taking her along with him.

SB 11.18.2 - Having adopted the vānaprastha order of life, one should arrange one's sustenance by eating uncontaminated bulbs, roots and fruits that grow in the forest. One may dress oneself with tree bark, grass, leaves or animal skins.

SB 11.18.3 - The vānaprastha should not groom the hair on his head, body or face, should not manicure his nails, should not pass stool and urine at irregular times and should not make a special endeavor for dental hygiene. He should be content to take bath in water three times daily and should sleep on the ground.

SB 11.18.4 - Thus engaged as a vānaprastha, one should execute penance during the hottest summer days by subjecting oneself to burning fires on four sides and the blazing sun overhead; during the rainy season one should remain outside, subjecting oneself to torrents of rain; and in the freezing winter one should remain submerged in water up to one's neck.

SB 11.18.5 - One may eat foodstuffs prepared with fire, such as grains, or fruits ripened by time. One may grind one's food with mortar and stone or with one's own teeth.

SB 11.18.6 - The vānaprastha should personally collect whatever he requires for his bodily maintenance, carefully considering the time, place and his own capacity. He should never collect provisions for the future.

SB 11.18.7 - One who has accepted the vānaprastha order of life should perform seasonal sacrifices by offering oblations of caru and sacrificial cakes prepared from rice and other grains found in the forest. The vānaprastha, however, may never offer animal sacrifices to Me, even those sacrifices mentioned in the Vedas.

SB 11.18.8 - The vānaprastha should perform the agnihotra, darṣa and paurāṃśa sacrifices, as he did while in the gāhastha-āçrama. He should also perform the vows and sacrifices of cāturmāsya, since all of these rituals are enjoined for the vānaprastha-āçrama by expert knowers of the Vedas.

SB 11.18.9 - The saintly vānaprastha, practicing severe penances and accepting only the bare necessities of life, becomes so emaciated that he appears to be mere skin and bones. Thus worshiping Me through severe penances, he goes to the Maharloka planet and then directly achieves Me.

SB 11.18.10 - One who with long endeavor executes this painful but exalted penance, which awards ultimate liberation, simply to achieve insignificant sense gratification must be considered the greatest fool.

SB 11.18.11 - If the vānaprastha is overtaken by old age and because of his trembling body is no longer able to execute his prescribed duties, he should place the sacrificial fire within his heart by meditation. Then, fixing his mind on Me, he should enter into the fire and give up his body.

SB 11.18.12 - If the vānaprastha, understanding that even promotion to Brahmaloaka is a miserable situation, develops complete detachment from all possible results of fruitive activities, then he may take the sannyāsa order of life.

SB 11.18.13 - Having worshiped Me according to scriptural injunctions and having given all one's property to the sacrificial priest, one should place the fire sacrifice within oneself. Thus, with the mind completely detached, one should enter the sannyāsa order of life.

SB 11.18.14 - "This man taking sannyāsa is going to surpass us and go back home, back to Godhead." Thus thinking, the demigods create stumbling blocks on the path of the sannyāsé by appearing before him in the shape of his former wife or other women and attractive objects. But the sannyāsé should pay the demigods and their manifestations no heed.

SB 11.18.15 - If the sannyāsé desires to wear something besides a mere kaupéna, he may use another cloth around his waist and hips to cover the kaupéna. Otherwise, if there is no emergency, he should not accept anything besides his daëòa and waterpot.

SB 11.18.16 - A saintly person should step or place his foot on the ground only after verifying with his eyes that there are no living creatures, such as insects, who might be injured by his foot. He should drink water only after filtering it through a portion of his cloth, and he should speak only words that possess the purity of truth. Similarly, he should perform only those activities his mind has carefully ascertained to be pure.

SB 11.18.17 - One who has not accepted the three internal disciplines of avoiding useless speech, avoiding useless activities and controlling the life air can never be considered a sannyāsé merely because of his carrying bamboo rods.

SB 11.18.18 - Rejecting those houses that are polluted and untouchable, one should approach without previous calculation seven houses and be satisfied with that which is obtained there by begging. According to necessity, one may approach each of the four occupational orders of society.

SB 11.18.19 - Taking the food gathered through begging, one should leave the populated areas and go to a reservoir of water in a secluded place. There, having taken a bath and washed one's hands thoroughly, one should distribute portions of the food to others who may request it. One should do this without speaking. Then, having thoroughly cleansed the remnants, one should eat everything on one's plate, leaving nothing for future consumption.

SB 11.18.20 - Without any material attachment, with senses fully controlled, remaining enthusiastic, and satisfied in realization of the Supreme Lord and his own self, the saintly person should travel about the earth alone. Having equal vision everywhere, he should be steady on the spiritual platform.

SB 11.18.21 - Dwelling in a safe and solitary place, his mind purified by constant thought of Me, the sage should concentrate on the soul alone, realizing it to be nondifferent from Me.

SB 11.18.22 - By steady knowledge a sage should clearly ascertain the nature of the soul's bondage and liberation. Bondage occurs when the senses are deviated to sense gratification, and complete control of the senses constitutes liberation.

SB 11.18.23 - Therefore, completely controlling the five senses and the mind by Kāññea consciousness, a sage, having experienced spiritual bliss within the self, should live detached from insignificant material sense gratification.

SB 11.18.24 - The sage should travel in sanctified places, by flowing rivers and within the solitude of mountains and forests. He should enter the cities, towns and pasturing grounds and approach ordinary working men only to beg his bare sustenance.

SB 11.18.25 - One in the vānaprastha order of life should always practice taking charity from others, for one is thereby freed from illusion and quickly becomes perfect in spiritual life. Indeed, one who subsists on food grains obtained in such a humble manner purifies his existence.

SB 11.18.26 - One should never see as ultimate reality those material things which obviously will perish. With consciousness free from material attachment, one should retire from all activities meant for material progress in this life and the next.

SB 11.18.27 - One should logically consider the universe, which is situated within the Lord, and one's own material body, which is composed of mind, speech and life air, to be ultimately products of the Lord's illusory energy. Thus situated in the self, one should give up one's faith in these things and should never again make them the object of one's meditation.

SB 11.18.28 - A learned transcendentalist dedicated to the cultivation of knowledge and thus detached from external objects, or My devotee who is detached even from desire for liberation-both neglect those duties based on external rituals or paraphernalia. Thus their conduct is beyond the range of rules and regulations.

SB 11.18.29 - Although most wise, the paramahansa should enjoy life like a child, oblivious to honor and dishonor; although most expert, he should behave like a stunted, incompetent person; although most learned, he should speak like an insane person; and although a scholar learned in Vedic regulations, he should behave in an unrestricted manner.

SB 11.18.30 - A devotee should never engage in the fruitive rituals mentioned in the karma-kāṇḍa section of the Vedas, nor should he become atheistic, acting or speaking in opposition to Vedic injunctions. Similarly, he should never speak like a mere logician or skeptic or take any side whatsoever in useless arguments.

SB 11.18.31 - A saintly person should never let others frighten or disturb him and, similarly, should never frighten or disturb other people. He should tolerate the insults of others and should never himself belittle anyone. He should never create hostility with anyone for the sake of the material body, for he would thus be no better than an animal.

SB 11.18.32 - The one Supreme Lord is situated within all material bodies and within everyone's soul. Just as the moon is reflected in innumerable reservoirs of water, the Supreme Lord, although one, is present within everyone. Thus every material body is ultimately composed of the energy of the one Supreme Lord.

SB 11.18.33 - If at times one does not obtain proper food one should not be depressed, and when one obtains sumptuous food one should not rejoice. Being fixed in determination, one should understand both situations to be under the control of God.

SB 11.18.34 - If required, one should endeavor to get sufficient foodstuffs, because it is always necessary and proper to maintain one's health. When the senses, mind and life air are fit, one can contemplate spiritual truth, and by understanding the truth one is liberated.

SB 11.18.35 - A sage should accept the food, clothing and bedding-be they

of excellent or inferior quality-that come of their own accord.

SB 11.18.36 - Just as I, the Supreme Lord, execute regulative duties by My own free will, similarly, one who has realized knowledge of Me should maintain general cleanliness, purify his hands with water, take bath and execute other regulative duties not by force but by his own free will.

SB 11.18.37 - A realized soul no longer sees anything as separate from Me, for his realized knowledge of Me has destroyed such illusory perception. Since the material body and mind were previously accustomed to this kind of perception, it may sometimes appear to recur; but at the time of death the self-realized soul achieves opulences equal to Mine.

SB 11.18.38 - One who is detached from sense gratification, knowing its result to be miserable, and who desires spiritual perfection, but who has not seriously analyzed the process for obtaining Me, should approach a bona fide and learned spiritual master.

SB 11.18.39 - Until a devotee has clearly realized spiritual knowledge, he should continue with great faith and respect and without envy to render personal service to the guru, who is nondifferent from Me.

SB 11.18.40-41 - One who has not controlled the six forms of illusion [lust, anger, greed, excitement, false pride and intoxication], whose intelligence, the leader of the senses, is extremely attached to material things, who is bereft of knowledge and detachment, who adopts the sannyāsa order of life to make a living, who denies the worshipable demigods, his own self and the Supreme Lord within himself, thus ruining all religious principles, and who is still infected by material contamination, is deviated and lost both in this life and the next.

SB 11.18.42 - The main religious duties of a sannyäse are equanimity and nonviolence, whereas for the vānaprastha austerity and philosophical understanding of the difference between the body and soul are prominent. The main duties of a householder are to give shelter to all living entities and perform sacrifices, and the brahmacäre is mainly engaged in serving the spiritual master.

SB 11.18.43 - A householder may approach his wife for sex only at the time prescribed for begetting children. Otherwise, the householder should practice celibacy, austerity, cleanliness of mind and body, satisfaction in his natural position, and friendship toward all living entities. Worship of Me is to be practiced by all human beings, regardless of social or occupational divisions.

SB 11.18.44 - One who worships Me by his prescribed duty, having no other object of worship, and who remains conscious of Me as present in all living entities, achieves unflinching devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.18.45 - My dear Uddhava, I am the Supreme Lord of all worlds, and I create and destroy this universe, being its ultimate cause. I am thus the Absolute Truth, and one who worships Me with unfailing devotional service comes to Me.

SB 11.18.46 - Thus, one who has purified his existence by execution of his prescribed duties, who fully understands My supreme position and who is endowed with scriptural and realized knowledge, very soon achieves Me.

SB 11.18.47 - Those who are followers of this varëäçrama system accept religious principles according to authorized traditions of proper conduct. When such varëäçrama duties are dedicated to Me in loving service, they award the supreme perfection of life.

SB 11.18.48 - My dear saintly Uddhava, I have now described to you, just as you inquired, the means by which My devotee, perfectly engaged in his prescribed duty, can come back to Me, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

46 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.19.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: A self-realized person who has cultivated scriptural knowledge up to the point of enlightenment and who is free from impersonal speculation, understanding the material universe to be simply illusion, should surrender unto Me both that knowledge and the means by which he achieved it.

SB 11.19.2 - For learned, self-realized philosophers I am the only object of worship, the desired goal of life, the means for achieving that goal, and the settled conclusion of all knowledge. Indeed, because I am the cause of their happiness and their freedom from unhappiness, such learned souls have no effective purpose or dear object in life except Me.

SB 11.19.3 - Those who have achieved complete perfection through philosophical and realized knowledge recognize My lotus feet to be the supreme transcendental object. Thus the learned transcendentalist is most dear to Me, and by his perfect knowledge he maintains Me in happiness.

SB 11.19.4 - That perfection which is produced by a small fraction of spiritual knowledge cannot be duplicated by performing austerities, visiting holy places, chanting silent prayers, giving in charity or engaging in other pious activities.

SB 11.19.5 - Therefore, My dear Uddhava, through knowledge you should understand your actual self. Then, advancing by clear realization of Vedic knowledge, you should worship Me in the mood of loving devotion.

SB 11.19.6 - Formerly, great sages, through the sacrifice of Vedic knowledge and spiritual enlightenment, worshiped Me within themselves, knowing Me to be the Supreme Lord of all sacrifice and the Supersoul in everyone's heart. Thus coming to Me, these sages achieved the supreme perfection.

SB 11.19.7 - My dear Uddhava, the material body and mind, composed of the three modes of material nature, attach themselves to you, but they are actually illusion, since they appear only at the present, having no original or ultimate existence. How is it possible, therefore, that the various stages of the body, namely birth, growth, reproduction, maintenance, dwindling and death, can have any relation to your eternal self? These phases relate only to the material body, which previously did not exist and ultimately will not exist. The body exists merely at the present moment.

SB 11.19.8 - Çré Uddhava said: O Lord of the universe! O form of the universe! Please explain to me that process of knowledge which automatically brings detachment and direct perception of the truth, which is transcendental, and which is traditional among great spiritual philosophers. This knowledge, sought by elevated personalities, describes loving devotional service unto Your Lordship.

SB 11.19.9 - My dear Lord, for one who is being tormented on the terrible path of birth and death and is constantly overwhelmed by the threefold miseries, I do not see any possible shelter other than Your two lotus feet, which are just like a refreshing umbrella that pours down showers of delicious nectar.

SB 11.19.10 - O almighty Lord, please be merciful and uplift this hopeless living entity who has fallen into the dark hole of material existence, where the snake of time has bitten him. In spite of such abominable conditions, this poor living entity has tremendous desire to relish the most insignificant material happiness. Please save me, my Lord, by pouring down the nectar of Your instructions, which awaken one to spiritual freedom.

SB 11.19.11 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, just as you are now inquiring from Me, similarly, in the past King Yudhiñöhira, who considered no one his enemy, inquired from the greatest of the upholders of religious principles, Bhéäma, while all of us were carefully listening.

SB 11.19.12 - When the great Battle of Kurukñetra had ended, King Yudhiñöhira was overwhelmed by the death of many beloved well-wishers, and thus, after listening to instructions about many religious principles, he finally inquired about the path of liberation.

SB 11.19.13 - I will now speak unto you those religious principles of Vedic knowledge, detachment, self-realization, faith and devotional service that were heard directly from the mouth of Bhéämadeva.

SB 11.19.14 - I personally approve of that knowledge by which one sees the combination of nine, eleven, five and three elements in all living entities, and ultimately one element within those twenty-eight.

SB 11.19.15 - When one no longer sees the twenty-eight separated material elements, which arise from a single cause, but rather sees the cause itself, the Personality of Godhead-at that time one's direct experience is called vijñäna, or self-realization.

SB 11.19.16 - Commencement, termination and maintenance are the stages of material causation. That which consistently accompanies all these material phases from one creation to another and remains alone when all material phases are annihilated is the one eternal.

SB 11.19.17 - From the four types of evidence-Vedic knowledge, direct experience, traditional wisdom and logical induction-one can understand the temporary, insubstantial situation of the material world, by which one becomes detached from the duality of this world.

SB 11.19.18 - An intelligent person should see that any material activity is subject to constant transformation and that even on the planet of Lord Brahmā there is thus simply unhappiness. Indeed, a wise man can understand that just as all that he has seen is temporary, similarly, all things within the universe have a beginning and an end.

SB 11.19.19 - O sinless Uddhava, because you love Me, I previously explained to you the process of devotional service. Now I will again explain the supreme process for achieving loving service unto Me.

SB 11.19.20-24 - Firm faith in the blissful narration of My pastimes, constant chanting of My glories, unwavering attachment to ceremonial worship of Me, praising Me through beautiful hymns, great respect for My devotional service, offering obeisances with the entire body, performing first-class worship of My devotees, consciousness of Me in all living entities, offering of ordinary, bodily activities in My devotional service, use of words to describe My qualities, offering the mind to Me, rejection of all material desires, giving up wealth for My devotional service, renouncing material sense gratification and happiness, and performing all desirable activities such as charity, sacrifice, chanting, vows and austerities with the purpose of achieving Me-these constitute actual religious principles, by which those human beings who have actually surrendered themselves to Me automatically develop love for Me. What other purpose or goal could remain for My devotee?

SB 11.19.25 - When one's peaceful consciousness, strengthened by the mode of goodness, is fixed on the Personality of Godhead, one achieves religiosity, knowledge, detachment and opulence.

SB 11.19.26 - When consciousness is fixed on the material body, home and other, similar objects of sense gratification, one spends one's life chasing after material objects with the help of the senses. Consciousness, thus powerfully affected by the mode of passion, becomes dedicated to impermanent things, and in this way irreligion, ignorance, attachment and wretchedness arise.

SB 11.19.27 - Actual religious principles are stated to be those that lead one to My devotional service. Real knowledge is the awareness that reveals My all-pervading presence. Detachment is complete disinterest in the objects of material sense gratification, and opulence is the eight mystic perfection, such as aëimā-siddhi.

SB 11.19.28-32 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Kāñëa, O chastiser of the enemies, please tell me how many types of disciplinary regulations and regular daily duties there are. Also, my Lord, tell me what is mental equilibrium, what is self-control, and what is the actual meaning of tolerance and steadfastness. What are charity, austerity and heroism, and how are reality and truth to be described? What is renunciation, and what is wealth? What is desirable, what is sacrifice, and what is religious remuneration? My dear Keçava, O most fortunate one, how am I to understand the strength, opulence and profit of a particular person? What is the best education, what is actual humility, and what is real beauty? What are happiness and unhappiness? Who is learned, and who is a fool? What are the true and the false paths in life, and what are heaven and hell? Who is indeed a true friend, and what is one's real home? Who is a rich man, and who is a poor man? Who is wretched, and who is an actual controller? O Lord of the devotees, kindly explain these matters to me, along with their opposites.

SB 11.19.33-35 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Nonviolence, truthfulness, not coveting or stealing the property of others, detachment, humility, freedom from possessiveness, trust in the principles of religion, celibacy, silence, steadiness, forgiveness and fearlessness are the twelve primary disciplinary principles. Internal cleanliness, external cleanliness, chanting the holy names of the Lord, austerity, sacrifice, faith, hospitality, worship of Me, visiting holy places, acting and desiring only for the supreme interest, satisfaction, and service to the spiritual master are the twelve elements of regular prescribed duties. These twenty-four elements bestow all desired benedictions upon those persons who devotedly cultivate them.

SB 11.19.36-39 - Absorbing the intelligence in Me constitutes mental equilibrium, and complete discipline of the senses is self-control. Tolerance means patiently enduring unhappiness, and steadfastness occurs when one conquers the tongue and genitals. The greatest charity is to give up all aggression toward others, and renunciation of lust is understood to be real austerity. Real heroism is to conquer one's natural tendency to enjoy material life, and reality is seeing the Supreme Personality of Godhead everywhere. Truthfulness means to speak the truth in a pleasing way, as declared by great sages. Cleanliness is detachment in fruitive activities, whereas renunciation is the sannyāsa order of life. The true desirable wealth for human beings is religiousness, and I, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, am sacrifice. Religious remuneration is devotion to the ācārya with the purpose of acquiring spiritual instruction, and the greatest strength is the prāëyāma system of breath control.

SB 11.19.40-45 - Actual opulence is My own nature as the Personality of Godhead, through which I exhibit the six unlimited opulences. The supreme gain in life is devotional service to Me, and actual education is nullifying the false perception of duality within the soul. Real modesty is to be disgusted with improper activities, and beauty is to possess good qualities such as detachment. Real happiness is to transcend material happiness and unhappiness, and real misery is to be implicated in searching for sex pleasure. A wise man is one who knows the process of freedom from bondage, and a fool is one who identifies with his material body and mind. The real path in life is that which leads to Me, and the wrong path is sense gratification, by which consciousness is bewildered. Actual heaven is the predominance of the mode of goodness, whereas hell is the predominance of ignorance. I am everyone's true friend, acting as the spiritual master of the entire universe, and one's home is the human body. My dear friend Uddhava, one who is enriched with good qualities is actually said to be rich, and one who is unsatisfied in life is actually poor. A wretched person is one who cannot control his senses, whereas one who is not attached to sense gratification is a real controller. One who attaches himself to sense gratification is the opposite, a slave. Thus, Uddhava, I have elucidated all of the matters about which you inquired. There is no need for a more elaborate description of these good and bad qualities, since to constantly see good and bad is itself a bad quality. The best quality is to transcend material good and evil.

47 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.19.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: A self-realized person who has cultivated scriptural knowledge up to the point of enlightenment and who is free from impersonal speculation, understanding the material universe to be simply illusion, should surrender unto Me both that knowledge and the means by which he achieved it.

SB 11.19.2 - For learned, self-realized philosophers I am the only object of worship, the desired goal of life, the means for achieving that goal, and the settled conclusion of all knowledge. Indeed, because I am the cause of their happiness and their freedom from unhappiness, such learned souls have no effective purpose or dear object in life except Me.

SB 11.19.3 - Those who have achieved complete perfection through philosophical and realized knowledge recognize My lotus feet to be the supreme transcendental object. Thus the learned transcendentalist is most dear to Me, and by his perfect knowledge he maintains Me in happiness.

SB 11.19.4 - That perfection which is produced by a small fraction of spiritual knowledge cannot be duplicated by performing austerities, visiting holy places, chanting silent prayers, giving in charity or engaging in other pious activities.

SB 11.19.5 - Therefore, My dear Uddhava, through knowledge you should understand your actual self. Then, advancing by clear realization of Vedic knowledge, you should worship Me in the mood of loving devotion.

SB 11.19.6 - Formerly, great sages, through the sacrifice of Vedic knowledge and spiritual enlightenment, worshiped Me within themselves, knowing Me to be the Supreme Lord of all sacrifice and the Supersoul in everyone's heart. Thus coming to Me, these sages achieved the supreme perfection.

SB 11.19.7 - My dear Uddhava, the material body and mind, composed of the three modes of material nature, attach themselves to you, but they are actually illusion, since they appear only at the present, having no original or ultimate existence. How is it possible, therefore, that the various stages of the body, namely birth, growth, reproduction, maintenance, dwindling and death, can have any relation to your eternal self? These phases relate only to the material body, which previously did not exist and ultimately will not exist. The body exists merely at the present moment.

SB 11.19.8 - Çré Uddhava said: O Lord of the universe! O form of the universe! Please explain to me that process of knowledge which automatically brings detachment and direct perception of the truth, which is transcendental, and which is traditional among great spiritual philosophers. This knowledge, sought by elevated personalities, describes loving devotional service unto Your Lordship.

SB 11.19.9 - My dear Lord, for one who is being tormented on the terrible path of birth and death and is constantly overwhelmed by the threefold miseries, I do not see any possible shelter other than Your two lotus feet, which are just like a refreshing umbrella that pours down showers of delicious nectar.

SB 11.19.10 - O almighty Lord, please be merciful and uplift this hopeless living entity who has fallen into the dark hole of material existence, where the snake of time has bitten him. In spite of such abominable conditions, this poor living entity has tremendous desire to relish the most insignificant material happiness. Please save me, my Lord, by pouring down the nectar of Your instructions, which awaken one to spiritual freedom.

SB 11.19.11 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, just as you are now inquiring from Me, similarly, in the past King Yudhiñöhira, who considered no one his enemy, inquired from the greatest of the upholders of religious principles, Bhāīma, while all of us were carefully listening.

SB 11.19.12 - When the great Battle of Kurukīetra had ended, King Yudhiñöhira was overwhelmed by the death of many beloved well-wishers, and thus, after listening to instructions about many religious principles, he finally inquired about the path of liberation.

SB 11.19.13 - I will now speak unto you those religious principles of Vedic knowledge, detachment, self-realization, faith and devotional service that were heard directly from the mouth of Bhāīmadeva.

SB 11.19.14 - I personally approve of that knowledge by which one sees the combination of nine, eleven, five and three elements in all living entities, and ultimately one element within those twenty-eight.

SB 11.19.15 - When one no longer sees the twenty-eight separated material elements, which arise from a single cause, but rather sees the cause itself, the Personality of Godhead-at that time one's direct experience is called vijī āna, or self-realization.

SB 11.19.16 - Commencement, termination and maintenance are the stages of material causation. That which consistently accompanies all these material phases from one creation to another and remains alone when all material phases are annihilated is the one eternal.

SB 11.19.17 - From the four types of evidence-Vedic knowledge, direct experience, traditional wisdom and logical induction-one can understand the temporary, insubstantial situation of the material world, by which one becomes detached from the duality of this world.

SB 11.19.18 - An intelligent person should see that any material activity is subject to constant transformation and that even on the planet of Lord Brahmā there is thus simply unhappiness. Indeed, a wise man can understand that just as all that he has seen is temporary, similarly, all things within the universe have a beginning and an end.

SB 11.19.19 - O sinless Uddhava, because you love Me, I previously explained to you the process of devotional service. Now I will again explain the supreme process for achieving loving service unto Me.

SB 11.19.20-24 - Firm faith in the blissful narration of My pastimes, constant chanting of My glories, unwavering attachment to ceremonial worship of Me, praising Me through beautiful hymns, great respect for My devotional service, offering obeisances with the entire body, performing first-class worship of My devotees, consciousness of Me in all living entities, offering of ordinary, bodily activities in My devotional service, use of words to describe My qualities, offering the mind to Me, rejection of all material desires, giving up wealth for My devotional service, renouncing material sense gratification and happiness, and performing all desirable activities such as charity, sacrifice, chanting, vows and austerities with the purpose of achieving Me-these constitute actual religious principles, by which those human beings who have actually surrendered themselves to Me automatically develop love for Me. What other purpose or goal could remain for My devotee?

SB 11.19.25 - When one's peaceful consciousness, strengthened by the mode of goodness, is fixed on the Personality of Godhead, one achieves religiosity, knowledge, detachment and opulence.

SB 11.19.26 - When consciousness is fixed on the material body, home and other, similar objects of sense gratification, one spends one's life chasing after material objects with the help of the senses. Consciousness, thus powerfully affected by the mode of passion, becomes dedicated to impermanent things, and in this way irreligion, ignorance, attachment and wretchedness arise.

SB 11.19.27 - Actual religious principles are stated to be those that lead one to My devotional service. Real knowledge is the awareness that reveals My all-pervading presence. Detachment is complete disinterest in the objects of material sense gratification, and opulence is the eight mystic perfection, such as aëimä-siddhi.

SB 11.19.28-32 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Kâñëa, O chastiser of the enemies, please tell me how many types of disciplinary regulations and regular daily duties there are. Also, my Lord, tell me what is mental equilibrium, what is self-control, and what is the actual meaning of tolerance and steadfastness. What are charity, austerity and heroism, and how are reality and truth to be described? What is renunciation, and what is wealth? What is desirable, what is sacrifice, and what is religious remuneration? My dear Keçava, O most fortunate one, how am I to understand the strength, opulence and profit of a particular person? What is the best education, what is actual humility, and what is real beauty? What are happiness and unhappiness? Who is learned, and who is a fool? What are the true and the false paths in life, and what are heaven and hell? Who is indeed a true friend, and what is one's real home? Who is a rich man, and who is a poor man? Who is wretched, and who is an actual controller? O Lord of the devotees, kindly explain these matters to me, along with their opposites.

SB 11.19.33-35 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Nonviolence, truthfulness, not coveting or stealing the property of others, detachment, humility, freedom from possessiveness, trust in the principles of religion, celibacy, silence, steadiness, forgiveness and fearlessness are the twelve primary disciplinary principles. Internal cleanliness, external cleanliness, chanting the holy names of the Lord, austerity, sacrifice, faith, hospitality, worship of Me, visiting holy places, acting and desiring only for the supreme interest, satisfaction, and service to the spiritual master are the twelve elements of regular prescribed duties. These twenty-four elements bestow all desired benedictions upon those persons who devotedly cultivate them.

SB 11.19.36-39 - Absorbing the intelligence in Me constitutes mental equilibrium, and complete discipline of the senses is self-control. Tolerance means patiently enduring unhappiness, and steadfastness occurs when one conquers the tongue and genitals. The greatest charity is to give up all aggression toward others, and renunciation of lust is understood to be real austerity. Real heroism is to conquer one's natural tendency to enjoy material life, and reality is seeing the Supreme Personality of Godhead everywhere. Truthfulness means to speak the truth in a pleasing way, as declared by great sages. Cleanliness is detachment in fruitive activities, whereas renunciation is the sannyāsa order of life. The true desirable wealth for human beings is religiousness, and I, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, am sacrifice.

Religious remuneration is devotion to the ācārya with the purpose of acquiring spiritual instruction, and the greatest strength is the prāëyāma system of breath control.

SB 11.19.40-45 - Actual opulence is My own nature as the Personality of Godhead, through which I exhibit the six unlimited opulences. The supreme gain in life is devotional service to Me, and actual education is nullifying the false perception of duality within the soul. Real modesty is to be disgusted with improper activities, and beauty is to possess good qualities such as detachment. Real happiness is to transcend material happiness and unhappiness, and real misery is to be implicated in searching for sex pleasure. A wise man is one who knows the process of freedom from bondage, and a fool is one who identifies with his material body and mind. The real path in life is that which leads to Me, and the wrong path is sense gratification, by which consciousness is bewildered. Actual heaven is the predominance of the mode of goodness, whereas hell is the predominance of ignorance. I am everyone's true friend, acting as the spiritual master of the entire universe, and one's home is the human body. My dear friend Uddhava, one who is enriched with good qualities is actually said to be rich, and one who is unsatisfied in life is actually poor. A wretched person is one who cannot control his senses, whereas one who is not attached to sense gratification is a real controller. One who attaches himself to sense gratification is the opposite, a slave. Thus, Uddhava, I have elucidated all of the matters about which you inquired. There is no need for a more elaborate description of these good and bad qualities, since to constantly see good and bad is itself a bad quality. The best quality is to transcend material good and evil.

48 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.19.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: A self-realized person who has cultivated scriptural knowledge up to the point of enlightenment and who is free from impersonal speculation, understanding the material universe to be simply illusion, should surrender unto Me both

that knowledge and the means by which he achieved it.

SB 11.19.2 - For learned, self-realized philosophers I am the only object of worship, the desired goal of life, the means for achieving that goal, and the settled conclusion of all knowledge. Indeed, because I am the cause of their happiness and their freedom from unhappiness, such learned souls have no effective purpose or dear object in life except Me.

SB 11.19.3 - Those who have achieved complete perfection through philosophical and realized knowledge recognize My lotus feet to be the supreme transcendental object. Thus the learned transcendentalist is most dear to Me, and by his perfect knowledge he maintains Me in happiness.

SB 11.19.4 - That perfection which is produced by a small fraction of spiritual knowledge cannot be duplicated by performing austerities, visiting holy places, chanting silent prayers, giving in charity or engaging in other pious activities.

SB 11.19.5 - Therefore, My dear Uddhava, through knowledge you should understand your actual self. Then, advancing by clear realization of Vedic knowledge, you should worship Me in the mood of loving devotion.

SB 11.19.6 - Formerly, great sages, through the sacrifice of Vedic knowledge and spiritual enlightenment, worshiped Me within themselves, knowing Me to be the Supreme Lord of all sacrifice and the Supersoul in everyone's heart. Thus coming to Me, these sages achieved the supreme perfection.

SB 11.19.7 - My dear Uddhava, the material body and mind, composed of the three modes of material nature, attach themselves to you, but they are actually illusion, since they appear only at the present, having no original or ultimate existence. How is it possible, therefore, that the various stages of the body, namely birth, growth, reproduction, maintenance, dwindling and death, can have any relation to your eternal self? These phases relate only to the material body, which previously did not exist and ultimately will not exist. The body exists merely at the present moment.

SB 11.19.8 - Çré Uddhava said: O Lord of the universe! O form of the universe! Please explain to me that process of knowledge which automatically brings detachment and direct perception of the truth, which is transcendental, and which is traditional among great spiritual philosophers. This knowledge, sought by elevated personalities, describes loving devotional service unto Your Lordship.

SB 11.19.9 - My dear Lord, for one who is being tormented on the terrible path of birth and death and is constantly overwhelmed by the threefold miseries, I do not see any possible shelter other than Your two lotus feet, which are just like a refreshing umbrella that pours down showers of delicious nectar.

SB 11.19.10 - O almighty Lord, please be merciful and uplift this hopeless living entity who has fallen into the dark hole of material existence, where the snake of time has bitten him. In spite of such abominable conditions, this poor living entity has tremendous desire to relish the most insignificant material happiness. Please save me, my Lord, by pouring down the nectar of Your instructions, which awaken one to spiritual freedom.

SB 11.19.11 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, just as you are now inquiring from Me, similarly, in the past King Yudhiñöhira, who considered no one his enemy, inquired from the greatest of the upholders of religious principles, Bhéëma, while all of us were carefully listening.

SB 11.19.12 - When the great Battle of Kurukṣetra had ended, King Yudhiṣṭhira was overwhelmed by the death of many beloved well-wishers, and thus, after listening to instructions about many religious principles, he finally inquired about the path of liberation.

SB 11.19.13 - I will now speak unto you those religious principles of Vedic knowledge, detachment, self-realization, faith and devotional service that were heard directly from the mouth of Bhṛmādeva.

SB 11.19.14 - I personally approve of that knowledge by which one sees the combination of nine, eleven, five and three elements in all living entities, and ultimately one element within those twenty-eight.

SB 11.19.15 - When one no longer sees the twenty-eight separated material elements, which arise from a single cause, but rather sees the cause itself, the Personality of Godhead-at that time one's direct experience is called vijñāna, or self-realization.

SB 11.19.16 - Commencement, termination and maintenance are the stages of material causation. That which consistently accompanies all these material phases from one creation to another and remains alone when all material phases are annihilated is the one eternal.

SB 11.19.17 - From the four types of evidence-Vedic knowledge, direct experience, traditional wisdom and logical induction-one can understand the temporary, insubstantial situation of the material world, by which one becomes detached from the duality of this world.

SB 11.19.18 - An intelligent person should see that any material activity is subject to constant transformation and that even on the planet of Lord Brahmā there is thus simply unhappiness. Indeed, a wise man can understand that just as all that he has seen is temporary, similarly, all things within the universe have a beginning and an end.

SB 11.19.19 - O sinless Uddhava, because you love Me, I previously explained to you the process of devotional service. Now I will again explain the supreme process for achieving loving service unto Me.

SB 11.19.20-24 - Firm faith in the blissful narration of My pastimes, constant chanting of My glories, unwavering attachment to ceremonial worship of Me, praising Me through beautiful hymns, great respect for My devotional service, offering obeisances with the entire body, performing first-class worship of My devotees, consciousness of Me in all living entities, offering of ordinary, bodily activities in My devotional service, use of words to describe My qualities, offering the mind to Me, rejection of all material desires, giving up wealth for My devotional service, renouncing material sense gratification and happiness, and performing all desirable activities such as charity, sacrifice, chanting, vows and austerities with the purpose of achieving Me-these constitute actual religious principles, by which those human beings who have actually surrendered themselves to Me automatically develop love for Me. What other purpose or goal could remain for My devotee?

SB 11.19.25 - When one's peaceful consciousness, strengthened by the mode of goodness, is fixed on the Personality of Godhead, one achieves religiosity, knowledge, detachment and opulence.

SB 11.19.26 - When consciousness is fixed on the material body, home and other, similar objects of sense gratification, one spends one's life chasing after material objects with the help of the senses. Consciousness, thus powerfully affected by the mode of passion, becomes dedicated to impermanent things, and in this way irreligion, ignorance, attachment and wretchedness arise.

SB 11.19.27 - Actual religious principles are stated to be those that lead one to My devotional service. Real knowledge is the awareness that reveals My all-pervading presence. Detachment is complete disinterest in the objects of material sense gratification, and opulence is the eight mystic perfection, such as aëimä-siddhi.

SB 11.19.28-32 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Kāñëä, O chastiser of the enemies, please tell me how many types of disciplinary regulations and regular daily duties there are. Also, my Lord, tell me what is mental equilibrium, what is self-control, and what is the actual meaning of tolerance and steadfastness. What are charity, austerity and heroism, and how are reality and truth to be described? What is renunciation, and what is wealth? What is desirable, what is sacrifice, and what is religious remuneration? My dear Keçava, O most fortunate one, how am I to understand the strength, opulence and profit of a particular person? What is the best education, what is actual humility, and what is real beauty? What are happiness and unhappiness? Who is learned, and who is a fool? What are the true and the false paths in life, and what are heaven and hell? Who is indeed a true friend, and what is one's real home? Who is a rich man, and who is a poor man? Who is wretched, and who is an actual controller? O Lord of the devotees, kindly explain these matters to me, along with their opposites.

SB 11.19.33-35 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Nonviolence, truthfulness, not coveting or stealing the property of others, detachment, humility, freedom from possessiveness, trust in the principles of religion, celibacy, silence, steadiness, forgiveness and fearlessness are the twelve primary disciplinary principles. Internal cleanliness, external cleanliness, chanting the holy names of the Lord, austerity, sacrifice, faith, hospitality, worship of Me, visiting holy places, acting and desiring only for the supreme interest, satisfaction, and service to the spiritual master are the twelve elements of regular prescribed duties. These twenty-four elements bestow all desired benedictions upon those persons who devotedly cultivate them.

SB 11.19.36-39 - Absorbing the intelligence in Me constitutes mental equilibrium, and complete discipline of the senses is self-control. Tolerance means patiently enduring unhappiness, and steadfastness occurs when one conquers the tongue and genitals. The greatest charity is to give up all aggression toward others, and renunciation of lust is understood to be real austerity. Real heroism is to conquer one's natural tendency to enjoy material life, and reality is seeing the Supreme Personality of Godhead everywhere. Truthfulness means to speak the truth in a pleasing way, as declared by great sages. Cleanliness is detachment in fruitive activities, whereas renunciation is the sannyāsa order of life. The true desirable wealth for human beings is religiousness, and I, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, am sacrifice. Religious remuneration is devotion to the ācārya with the purpose of acquiring spiritual instruction, and the greatest strength is the prāëyāma system of breath control.

SB 11.19.40-45 - Actual opulence is My own nature as the Personality of Godhead, through which I exhibit the six unlimited opulences. The supreme gain in life is devotional service to Me, and actual education is nullifying the false perception of duality within the soul. Real modesty is to be disgusted with improper activities, and beauty is to possess good qualities such as detachment. Real happiness is to transcend material happiness and unhappiness, and real misery is to be implicated in searching for sex pleasure. A wise man is one who knows the process of freedom from bondage, and a fool is one who identifies with his material body and mind. The real path in life is that which leads to Me, and the wrong path is sense gratification, by which consciousness is bewildered. Actual heaven is the predominance of the mode of goodness, whereas hell is the predominance of ignorance. I am everyone's true friend, acting as the spiritual master of the entire universe, and one's home is the human body. My dear friend Uddhava, one who is enriched with good qualities is actually said to be rich, and one who is unsatisfied in life is actually poor. A wretched person is one who cannot control his senses, whereas one who is not attached to sense gratification is a real controller. One who attaches himself to sense gratification is the opposite, a slave. Thus, Uddhava, I have elucidated all of the matters about which you inquired. There is no need for a more elaborate description of these good and bad qualities, since to constantly see good and bad is itself a bad quality. The best quality is to transcend material good and evil.

49 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.20.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear lotus-eyed Kåñëa, You are the Supreme Lord, and thus the Vedic literatures, consisting of positive and negative injunctions, constitute Your order. Such literatures focus upon the good and bad qualities of work.

SB 11.20.2 - According to Vedic literature, the superior and inferior varieties found in the human social system, varëäçrama, are due to pious and sinful modes of family planning. Thus piety and sin are constant points of reference in the Vedic analysis of the components of a given situation-namely the material ingredients, place, age and time. Indeed, the Vedas reveal the existence of material heaven and hell, which are certainly based on piety and sin.

SB 11.20.3 - Without seeing the difference between piety and sin, how can one understand Your own instructions in the form of Vedic literatures, which order one to act piously and forbid one to act sinfully? Furthermore, without such authorized Vedic literatures, which ultimately award liberation, how can human beings achieve the perfection of life?

SB 11.20.4 - My dear Lord, in order to understand those things beyond direct experience-such as spiritual liberation or attainment of heaven and other material enjoyments beyond our present capacity-and in general to understand the means and end of all things, the forefathers, demigods and human beings must consult the Vedic literatures, which are Your own laws, for these constitute the highest evidence and revelation.

SB 11.20.5 - My dear Lord, the distinction observed between piety and sin comes from Your own Vedic knowledge and does not arise by itself. If the same Vedic literature subsequently nullifies such distinction between piety and sin, there will certainly be confusion.

SB 11.20.6 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, because I desire that human beings may achieve perfection, I have presented three paths of advancement-the path of knowledge, the path of work and the path of devotion. Besides these three there is absolutely no other means of elevation.

SB 11.20.7 - Among these three paths, jñāna-yoga, the path of philosophical speculation, is recommended for those who are disgusted with material life and are thus detached from ordinary, fruitive activities. Those who are not disgusted with material life, having many desires yet to fulfill, should seek perfection through the path of karma-yoga.

SB 11.20.8 - If somehow or other by good fortune one develops faith in hearing and chanting My glories, such a person, being neither very disgusted with nor attached to material life, should achieve perfection through the path of loving devotion to Me.

SB 11.20.9 - As long as one is not satiated by fruitive activity and has not awakened his taste for devotional service by śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ viñeoṁ one has to act according to the regulative principles of the Vedic injunctions.

SB 11.20.10 - My dear Uddhava, a person who is situated in his prescribed duty, properly worshiping by Vedic sacrifices but not desiring the fruitive result of such worship, will not go to the heavenly planets; similarly, by not performing forbidden activities he will not go to hell.

SB 11.20.11 - One who is situated in his prescribed duty, free from sinful activities and cleansed of material contamination, in this very life obtains transcendental knowledge or, by fortune, devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.20.12 - The residents of both heaven and hell desire human birth on the earth planet because human life facilitates the achievement of transcendental knowledge and love of Godhead, whereas neither heavenly nor hellish bodies efficiently provide such opportunities.

SB 11.20.13 - A human being who is wise should never desire promotion to heavenly planets or residence in hell. Indeed, a human being should also never desire permanent residence on the earth, for by such absorption in the material body one becomes foolishly negligent of one's actual self-interest.

SB 11.20.14 - A wise person, knowing that although the material body is subject to death it can still award the perfection of one's life, should not foolishly neglect to take advantage of this opportunity before death arrives.

SB 11.20.15 - Without attachment, a bird gives up the tree in which his nest was constructed when that tree is cut down by cruel men who are like death personified, and thus the bird achieves happiness in another place.

SB 11.20.16 - Knowing that one's duration of life is being similarly cut down by the passing of days and nights, one should be shaken by fear. In this way, giving up all material attachment and desire, one understands the Supreme Lord and achieves perfect peace.

SB 11.20.17 - The human body, which can award all benefit in life, is automatically obtained by the laws of nature, although it is a very rare achievement. This human body can be compared to a perfectly constructed boat having the spiritual master as the captain and the instructions of the Personality of Godhead as favorable winds impelling it on its course. Considering all these advantages, a human being who does not utilize his human life to cross the ocean of material existence must be considered the killer of his own soul.

SB 11.20.18 - A transcendentalist, having become disgusted and hopeless in all endeavors for material happiness, completely controls the senses and develops detachment. By spiritual practice he should then fix the mind on the spiritual platform without deviation.

SB 11.20.19 - Whenever the mind, being concentrated on the spiritual platform, is suddenly deviated from its spiritual position, one should carefully bring it under the control of the self by following the prescribed means.

SB 11.20.20 - One should never lose sight of the actual goal of mental activities, but rather, conquering the life air and senses and utilizing intelligence strengthened by the mode of goodness, one should bring the mind under the control of the self.

SB 11.20.21 - An expert horseman, desiring to tame a headstrong horse, first lets the horse have his way for a moment and then, pulling the reins, gradually places the horse on the desired path. Similarly, the supreme yoga process is that by which one carefully observes the movements and desires of the mind and gradually brings them under full control.

SB 11.20.22 - Until one's mind is fixed in spiritual satisfaction, one should analytically study the temporary nature of all material objects, whether cosmic, earthly or atomic. One should constantly observe the process of creation through the natural progressive function and the process of annihilation through the regressive function.

SB 11.20.23 - When a person is disgusted with the temporary, illusory nature of this world and is thus detached from it, his mind, guided by the instructions of his spiritual master, considers again and again the nature of this world and eventually gives up the false identification with matter.

SB 11.20.24 - Through the various disciplinary regulations and the purificatory procedures of the yoga system, through logic and spiritual education or through worship and adoration of Me, one should constantly engage his mind in remembering the Personality of Godhead, the goal of yoga. No other means should be employed for this purpose.

SB 11.20.25 - If, because of momentary inattention, a yogi accidentally commits an abominable activity, then by the very practice of yoga he should burn to ashes the sinful reaction, without at any time employing any other procedure.

SB 11.20.26 - It is firmly declared that the steady adherence of transcendentalists to their respective spiritual positions constitutes real piety and that sin occurs when a transcendentalist neglects his prescribed duty. One who adopts this standard of piety and sin, sincerely desiring to give up all past association with sense gratification, is able to subdue materialistic activities, which are by nature impure.

SB 11.20.27-28 - Having awakened faith in the narrations of My glories, being disgusted with all material activities, knowing that all sense gratification leads to misery, but still being unable to renounce all sense enjoyment, My devotee should remain happy and worship Me with great faith and conviction. Even though he is sometimes engaged in sense enjoyment, My devotee knows that all sense gratification leads to a miserable result, and he sincerely repents such activities.

SB 11.20.29 - When an intelligent person engages constantly in worshipping

Me through loving devotional service as described by Me, his heart becomes firmly situated in Me. Thus all material desires within the heart are destroyed.

SB 11.20.30 - The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.20.31 - Therefore, for a devotee engaged in My loving service, with mind fixed on Me, the cultivation of knowledge and renunciation is generally not the means of achieving the highest perfection within this world.

SB 11.20.32-33 - Everything that can be achieved by fruitive activities, penance, knowledge, detachment, mystic yoga, charity, religious duties and all other means of perfecting life is easily achieved by My devotee through loving service unto Me. If somehow or other My devotee desires promotion to heaven, liberation, or residence in My abode, he easily achieves such benedictions.

SB 11.20.34 - Because My devotees possess saintly behavior and deep intelligence, they completely dedicate themselves to Me and do not desire anything besides Me. Indeed, even if I offer them liberation from birth and death, they do not accept it.

SB 11.20.35 - It is said that complete detachment is the highest stage of freedom. Therefore, one who has no personal desire and does not pursue personal rewards can achieve loving devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.20.36 - Material piety and sin, which arise from the good and evil of this world, cannot exist within My unalloyed devotees, who, being free from material hankering, maintain steady spiritual consciousness in all circumstances. Indeed, such devotees have achieved Me, the Supreme Lord, who am beyond anything that can be conceived by material intelligence.

SB 11.20.37 - Persons who seriously follow these methods of achieving Me, which I have personally taught, attain freedom from illusion, and upon reaching My personal abode they perfectly understand the Absolute Truth.

50 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.20.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear lotus-eyed Kâñëa, You are the Supreme Lord, and thus the Vedic literatures, consisting of positive and negative injunctions, constitute Your order. Such literatures focus upon the good and bad qualities of work.

SB 11.20.2 - According to Vedic literature, the superior and inferior varieties found in the human social system, varëäçrama, are due to pious and sinful modes of family planning. Thus piety and sin are constant points of reference in the Vedic analysis of the components of a given situation-namely the material ingredients, place, age and time. Indeed, the Vedas reveal the existence of material heaven and hell, which are certainly based on piety and sin.

SB 11.20.3 - Without seeing the difference between piety and sin, how can one understand Your own instructions in the form of Vedic literatures, which order one to act piously and forbid one to act sinfully? Furthermore, without such authorized Vedic literatures, which ultimately award liberation, how can human beings achieve the perfection of life?

SB 11.20.4 - My dear Lord, in order to understand those things beyond direct experience-such as spiritual liberation or attainment of heaven and other material enjoyments beyond our present capacity-and in general to understand the means and end of all things, the forefathers, demigods and human beings must consult the Vedic literatures, which are Your own laws, for these constitute the highest evidence and revelation.

SB 11.20.5 - My dear Lord, the distinction observed between piety and sin comes from Your own Vedic knowledge and does not arise by itself. If the same Vedic literature subsequently nullifies such distinction between piety and sin, there will certainly be confusion.

SB 11.20.6 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, because I desire that human beings may achieve perfection, I have presented three paths of advancement-the path of knowledge, the path of work and the path of devotion. Besides these three there is absolutely no other means of elevation.

SB 11.20.7 - Among these three paths, jñāna-yoga, the path of philosophical speculation, is recommended for those who are disgusted with material life and are thus detached from ordinary, fruitive activities. Those who are not disgusted with material life, having many desires yet to fulfill, should seek perfection through the path of karma-yoga.

SB 11.20.8 - If somehow or other by good fortune one develops faith in hearing and chanting My glories, such a person, being neither very disgusted with nor attached to material life, should achieve perfection through the path of loving devotion to Me.

SB 11.20.9 - As long as one is not satiated by fruitive activity and has not awakened his taste for devotional service by śravaṇaḥ kīrtanaḥ viñeoḥ one has to act according to the regulative principles of the Vedic injunctions.

SB 11.20.10 - My dear Uddhava, a person who is situated in his prescribed duty, properly worshiping by Vedic sacrifices but not desiring the fruitive result of such worship, will not go to the heavenly planets; similarly, by not performing forbidden activities he will not go to hell.

SB 11.20.11 - One who is situated in his prescribed duty, free from sinful activities and cleansed of material contamination, in this very life obtains transcendental knowledge or, by fortune, devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.20.12 - The residents of both heaven and hell desire human birth on the earth planet because human life facilitates the achievement of transcendental knowledge and love of Godhead, whereas neither heavenly nor hellish bodies efficiently provide such opportunities.

SB 11.20.13 - A human being who is wise should never desire promotion to heavenly planets or residence in hell. Indeed, a human being should also never desire permanent residence on the earth, for by such absorption in the material body one becomes foolishly negligent of one's actual self-interest.

SB 11.20.14 - A wise person, knowing that although the material body is subject to death it can still award the perfection of one's life, should not foolishly neglect to take advantage of this opportunity before death arrives.

SB 11.20.15 - Without attachment, a bird gives up the tree in which his nest was constructed when that tree is cut down by cruel men who are like death personified, and thus the bird achieves happiness in another place.

SB 11.20.16 - Knowing that one's duration of life is being similarly cut down by the passing of days and nights, one should be shaken by fear. In this way, giving up all material attachment and desire, one understands the Supreme Lord and achieves perfect peace.

SB 11.20.17 - The human body, which can award all benefit in life, is automatically obtained by the laws of nature, although it is a very rare achievement. This human body can be compared to a perfectly constructed boat having the spiritual master as the captain and the instructions of the Personality of Godhead as favorable winds impelling it on its course. Considering all these advantages, a human being who does not utilize his human life to cross the ocean of material existence must be considered the killer of his own soul.

SB 11.20.18 - A transcendentalist, having become disgusted and hopeless in all endeavors for material happiness, completely controls the senses and develops detachment. By spiritual practice he should then fix the mind on the spiritual platform without deviation.

SB 11.20.19 - Whenever the mind, being concentrated on the spiritual platform, is suddenly deviated from its spiritual position, one should carefully bring it under the control of the self by following the prescribed means.

SB 11.20.20 - One should never lose sight of the actual goal of mental activities, but rather, conquering the life air and senses and utilizing intelligence strengthened by the mode of goodness, one should bring the mind under the control of the self.

SB 11.20.21 - An expert horseman, desiring to tame a headstrong horse, first lets the horse have his way for a moment and then, pulling the reins, gradually places the horse on the desired path. Similarly, the supreme yoga process is that by which one carefully observes the movements and desires of the mind and gradually brings them under full control.

SB 11.20.22 - Until one's mind is fixed in spiritual satisfaction, one should analytically study the temporary nature of all material objects, whether cosmic, earthly or atomic. One should constantly observe the process of creation through the natural progressive function and the process of annihilation through the regressive function.

SB 11.20.23 - When a person is disgusted with the temporary, illusory nature of this world and is thus detached from it, his mind, guided by the instructions of his spiritual master, considers again and again the nature of this world and eventually gives up the false identification with matter.

SB 11.20.24 - Through the various disciplinary regulations and the purificatory procedures of the yoga system, through logic and spiritual education or through worship and adoration of Me, one should constantly engage his mind in remembering the Personality of Godhead, the goal of yoga. No other means should be employed for this purpose.

SB 11.20.25 - If, because of momentary inattention, a yogi accidentally commits an abominable activity, then by the very practice of yoga he should burn to ashes the sinful reaction, without at any time employing any other procedure.

SB 11.20.26 - It is firmly declared that the steady adherence of transcendentalists to their respective spiritual positions constitutes real piety and that sin occurs when a transcendentalist neglects his prescribed duty. One who adopts this standard of piety and sin, sincerely desiring to give up all past association with sense gratification, is able to subdue materialistic activities, which are by nature impure.

SB 11.20.27-28 - Having awakened faith in the narrations of My glories, being disgusted with all material activities, knowing that all sense gratification leads to misery, but still being unable to renounce all sense enjoyment, My devotee should remain happy and worship Me with great faith and conviction. Even though he is sometimes engaged in sense enjoyment, My devotee knows that all sense gratification leads to a miserable result, and he sincerely repents such activities.

SB 11.20.29 - When an intelligent person engages constantly in worshipping Me through loving devotional service as described by Me, his heart becomes firmly situated in Me. Thus all material desires within the heart are destroyed.

SB 11.20.30 - The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.20.31 - Therefore, for a devotee engaged in My loving service, with mind fixed on Me, the cultivation of knowledge and renunciation is generally not the means of achieving the highest perfection within this world.

SB 11.20.32-33 - Everything that can be achieved by fruitive activities, penance, knowledge, detachment, mystic yoga, charity, religious duties and all other means of perfecting life is easily achieved by My devotee through loving service unto Me. If somehow or other My devotee desires promotion to heaven, liberation, or residence in My abode, he easily achieves such benedictions.

SB 11.20.34 - Because My devotees possess saintly behavior and deep intelligence, they completely dedicate themselves to Me and do not desire anything besides Me. Indeed, even if I offer them liberation from birth and death, they do not accept it.

SB 11.20.35 - It is said that complete detachment is the highest stage of freedom. Therefore, one who has no personal desire and does not pursue personal rewards can achieve loving devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.20.36 - Material piety and sin, which arise from the good and evil of this world, cannot exist within My unalloyed devotees, who, being free from material hankering, maintain steady spiritual consciousness in all circumstances. Indeed, such devotees have achieved Me, the Supreme Lord, who am beyond anything that can be conceived by material intelligence.

SB 11.20.37 - Persons who seriously follow these methods of achieving Me, which I have personally taught, attain freedom from illusion, and upon reaching My personal abode they perfectly understand the Absolute Truth.

51 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.20.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear lotus-eyed Kâñëa, You are the Supreme Lord, and thus the Vedic literatures, consisting of positive and negative injunctions, constitute Your order. Such literatures focus upon the good and bad qualities of work.

SB 11.20.2 - According to Vedic literature, the superior and inferior varieties found in the human social system, varëäçrama, are due to pious and sinful modes of family planning. Thus piety and sin are constant points of reference in the Vedic analysis of the components of a given situation-namely the material ingredients, place, age and time. Indeed, the Vedas reveal the existence of material heaven and hell, which are certainly based on piety and sin.

SB 11.20.3 - Without seeing the difference between piety and sin, how can one understand Your own instructions in the form of Vedic literatures, which order one to act piously and forbid one to act sinfully? Furthermore, without such authorized Vedic literatures, which ultimately award liberation, how can human beings achieve the perfection of life?

SB 11.20.4 - My dear Lord, in order to understand those things beyond direct experience-such as spiritual liberation or attainment of heaven and other material enjoyments beyond our present capacity-and in general to understand the means and end of all things, the forefathers, demigods and human beings must consult the Vedic literatures, which are Your own laws, for these constitute the highest evidence and revelation.

SB 11.20.5 - My dear Lord, the distinction observed between piety and sin comes from Your own Vedic knowledge and does not arise by itself. If the same Vedic literature subsequently nullifies such distinction between piety and sin, there will certainly be confusion.

SB 11.20.6 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, because I desire that human beings may achieve perfection, I have presented three paths of advancement-the path of knowledge, the path of work and the path of devotion. Besides these three there is absolutely no other means of elevation.

SB 11.20.7 - Among these three paths, jñāna-yoga, the path of philosophical speculation, is recommended for those who are disgusted with material life and are thus detached from ordinary, fruitive activities. Those who are not disgusted with material life, having many desires yet to fulfill, should seek perfection through the path of karma-yoga.

SB 11.20.8 - If somehow or other by good fortune one develops faith in hearing and chanting My glories, such a person, being neither very disgusted with nor attached to material life, should achieve perfection through the path of loving devotion to Me.

SB 11.20.9 - As long as one is not satiated by fruitive activity and has not awakened his taste for devotional service by çravaëà kértanaà viñëòu one has to act according to the regulative principles of the Vedic injunctions.

SB 11.20.10 - My dear Uddhava, a person who is situated in his prescribed duty, properly worshiping by Vedic sacrifices but not desiring the fruitive result of such worship, will not go to the heavenly planets; similarly, by not performing forbidden activities he will not go to hell.

SB 11.20.11 - One who is situated in his prescribed duty, free from sinful activities and cleansed of material contamination, in this very life obtains transcendental knowledge or, by fortune, devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.20.12 - The residents of both heaven and hell desire human birth on the earth planet because human life facilitates the achievement of transcendental knowledge and love of Godhead, whereas neither heavenly nor hellish bodies efficiently provide such opportunities.

SB 11.20.13 - A human being who is wise should never desire promotion to heavenly planets or residence in hell. Indeed, a human being should also never desire permanent residence on the earth, for by such absorption in the material body one becomes foolishly negligent of one's actual self-interest.

SB 11.20.14 - A wise person, knowing that although the material body is subject to death it can still award the perfection of one's life, should not foolishly neglect to take advantage of this opportunity before death arrives.

SB 11.20.15 - Without attachment, a bird gives up the tree in which his nest was constructed when that tree is cut down by cruel men who are like death personified, and thus the bird achieves happiness in another place.

SB 11.20.16 - Knowing that one's duration of life is being similarly cut down by the passing of days and nights, one should be shaken by fear. In this way, giving up all material attachment and desire, one understands the Supreme Lord and achieves perfect peace.

SB 11.20.17 - The human body, which can award all benefit in life, is automatically obtained by the laws of nature, although it is a very rare achievement. This human body can be compared to a perfectly constructed boat having the spiritual master as the captain and the instructions of the Personality of Godhead as favorable winds impelling it on its course. Considering all these advantages, a human being who does not utilize his human life to cross the ocean of material existence must be considered the killer of his own soul.

SB 11.20.18 - A transcendentalist, having become disgusted and hopeless in all endeavors for material happiness, completely controls the senses and develops detachment. By spiritual practice he should then fix the mind on the spiritual platform without deviation.

SB 11.20.19 - Whenever the mind, being concentrated on the spiritual platform, is suddenly deviated from its spiritual position, one should carefully bring it under the control of the self by following the prescribed means.

SB 11.20.20 - One should never lose sight of the actual goal of mental activities, but rather, conquering the life air and senses and utilizing intelligence strengthened by the mode of goodness, one should bring the mind under the control of the self.

SB 11.20.21 - An expert horseman, desiring to tame a headstrong horse, first lets the horse have his way for a moment and then, pulling the reins, gradually places the horse on the desired path. Similarly, the supreme yoga process is that by which one carefully observes the movements and desires of the mind and gradually brings them under full control.

SB 11.20.22 - Until one's mind is fixed in spiritual satisfaction, one should analytically study the temporary nature of all material objects, whether cosmic, earthly or atomic. One should constantly observe the process of creation through the natural progressive function and the process of annihilation through the regressive function.

SB 11.20.23 - When a person is disgusted with the temporary, illusory nature of this world and is thus detached from it, his mind, guided by the instructions of his spiritual master, considers again and again the nature of this world and eventually gives up the false identification with matter.

SB 11.20.24 - Through the various disciplinary regulations and the purificatory procedures of the yoga system, through logic and spiritual education or through worship and adoration of Me, one should constantly engage his mind in remembering the Personality of Godhead, the goal of yoga. No other means should be employed for this purpose.

SB 11.20.25 - If, because of momentary inattention, a yogi accidentally commits an abominable activity, then by the very practice of yoga he should burn to ashes the sinful reaction, without at any time employing any other procedure.

SB 11.20.26 - It is firmly declared that the steady adherence of transcendentalists to their respective spiritual positions constitutes real piety and that sin occurs when a transcendentalist neglects his prescribed duty. One who adopts this standard of piety and sin, sincerely desiring to give up all past association with sense gratification, is able to subdue materialistic activities, which are by nature impure.

SB 11.20.27-28 - Having awakened faith in the narrations of My glories, being disgusted with all material activities, knowing that all sense gratification leads to misery, but still being unable to renounce all sense enjoyment, My devotee should remain happy and worship Me with great faith and conviction. Even though he is sometimes engaged in sense enjoyment, My devotee knows that all sense gratification leads to a miserable result, and he sincerely repents such activities.

SB 11.20.29 - When an intelligent person engages constantly in worshipping Me through loving devotional service as described by Me, his heart becomes firmly situated in Me. Thus all material desires within the heart are destroyed.

SB 11.20.30 - The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.20.31 - Therefore, for a devotee engaged in My loving service, with mind fixed on Me, the cultivation of knowledge and renunciation is generally not the means of achieving the highest perfection within this world.

SB 11.20.32-33 - Everything that can be achieved by fruitive activities, penance, knowledge, detachment, mystic yoga, charity, religious duties and all other means of perfecting life is easily achieved by My devotee through loving service unto Me. If somehow or other My devotee desires promotion to heaven, liberation, or residence in My abode, he easily achieves such benedictions.

SB 11.20.34 - Because My devotees possess saintly behavior and deep intelligence, they completely dedicate themselves to Me and do not desire anything besides Me. Indeed, even if I offer them liberation from birth and death, they do not accept it.

SB 11.20.35 - It is said that complete detachment is the highest stage of freedom. Therefore, one who has no personal desire and does not pursue personal rewards can achieve loving devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.20.36 - Material piety and sin, which arise from the good and evil of this world, cannot exist within My unalloyed devotees, who, being free from material hankering, maintain steady spiritual consciousness in all circumstances. Indeed, such devotees have achieved Me, the Supreme Lord, who am beyond anything that can be conceived by material intelligence.

SB 11.20.37 - Persons who seriously follow these methods of achieving Me, which I have personally taught, attain freedom from illusion, and upon reaching My personal abode they perfectly understand the Absolute Truth.

52 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.21.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Those who give up these methods for achieving Me, which consist of devotional service, analytic philosophy and regulated execution of prescribed duties, and instead, being moved by the material senses, cultivate insignificant sense gratification, certainly undergo the continual cycle of material existence.

SB 11.21.2 - Steadiness in one's own position is declared to be actual piety, whereas deviation from one's position is considered impiety. In this way the two are definitely ascertained.

SB 11.21.3 - O sinless Uddhava, in order to understand what is proper in life one must evaluate a given object within its particular category. Thus, in analyzing religious principles one must consider purity and impurity. Similarly, in one's ordinary dealings one must distinguish between good and bad, and to insure one's physical survival one must recognize that which is auspicious and inauspicious.

SB 11.21.4 - I have revealed this way of life for those bearing the burden of mundane religious principles.

SB 11.21.5 - Earth, water, fire, air and ether are the five basic elements that constitute the bodies of all conditioned souls, from Lord Brahmā himself down to the nonmoving creatures. These elements all emanate from the one Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.21.6 - My dear Uddhava, although all material bodies are composed of the same five elements and are thus equal, the Vedic literatures conceive of different names and forms in relation to such bodies so that the living entities may achieve their goal of life.

SB 11.21.7 - O saintly Uddhava, in order to restrict materialistic activities, I have established that which is proper and improper among all material things, including time, space and all physical objects.

SB 11.21.8 - Among places, those bereft of the spotted antelope, those devoid of devotion to the brāhmaëas, those possessing spotted antelopes but bereft of respectable men, provinces like Kēkaōa and places where cleanliness and purificatory rites are neglected, where meat-eaters are prominent or where the earth is barren, are all considered to be contaminated lands.

SB 11.21.9 - A specific time is considered pure when it is appropriate, either by its own nature or through achievement of suitable paraphernalia, for the performance of one's prescribed duty. That time which impedes the performance of one's duty is considered impure.

SB 11.21.10 - An object's purity or impurity is established by application of another object, by words, by rituals, by the effects of time or according to relative magnitude.

SB 11.21.11 - Impure things may or may not impose sinful reactions upon a person, depending on that person's strength or weakness, intelligence, wealth, location and physical condition.

SB 11.21.12 - Various objects such as grains, wooden utensils, things made of bone, thread, liquids, objects derived from fire, skins and earthy objects are all purified by time, by the wind, by fire, by earth and by water, either separately or in combination.

SB 11.21.13 - A particular purifying agent is considered appropriate when its application removes the bad odor or dirty covering of some contaminated object and makes it resume its original nature.

SB 11.21.14 - The self can be cleansed by bathing, charity, austerity, age, personal strength, purificatory rituals, prescribed duties and, above all, by remembrance of Me. The brāhmaëa and other twice-born men should be duly purified before performing their specific activities.

SB 11.21.15 - A mantra is purified when chanted with proper knowledge, and one's work is purified when offered to Me. Thus by purification of the place, time, substance, doer, mantras and work, one becomes religious, and by negligence of these six items one is considered irreligious.

SB 11.21.16 - Sometimes piety becomes sin, and sometimes what is ordinarily sin becomes piety on the strength of Vedic injunctions. Such special rules in effect eradicate the clear distinction between piety and sin.

SB 11.21.17 - The same activities that would degrade an elevated person do not cause falldown for those who are already fallen. Indeed, one who is lying on the ground cannot possibly fall further. The material association that is dictated by one's own nature is considered a good quality.

SB 11.21.18 - By refraining from a particular sinful or materialistic activity, one becomes freed from its bondage. Such renunciation is the basis of religious and auspicious life for human beings and drives away all suffering, illusion and fear.

SB 11.21.19 - One who accepts material sense objects as desirable certainly becomes attached to them. From such attachment lust arises, and this lust creates quarrel among men.

SB 11.21.20 - From quarrel arises intolerable anger, followed by the darkness of ignorance. This ignorance quickly overtakes a man's broad intelligence.

SB 11.21.21 - O saintly Uddhava, a person bereft of real intelligence is considered to have lost everything. Deviated from the actual purpose of his life, he becomes dull, just like a dead person.

SB 11.21.22 - Because of absorption in sense gratification, one cannot recognize himself or others. Living uselessly in ignorance like a tree, one is merely breathing just like a bellows.

SB 11.21.23 - Those statements of scripture promising fruitive rewards do not prescribe the ultimate good for men but are merely enticements for executing beneficial religious duties, like promises of candy spoken to induce a child to take beneficial medicine.

SB 11.21.24 - Simply by material birth, human beings become attached within their minds to personal sense gratification, long duration of life, sense activities, bodily strength, sexual potency and friends and family. Their minds are thus absorbed in that which defeats their actual self-interest.

SB 11.21.25 - Those ignorant of their real self-interest are wandering on the path of material existence, gradually heading toward darkness. Why would the Vedas further encourage them in sense gratification if they, although foolish, submissively pay heed to Vedic injunctions?

SB 11.21.26 - Persons with perverted intelligence do not understand this actual purpose of Vedic knowledge and instead propagate as the highest Vedic truth the flowery statements of the Vedas that promise material rewards. Those in actual knowledge of the Vedas never speak in that way.

SB 11.21.27 - Those who are full of lust, avarice and greed mistake mere flowers to be the actual fruit of life. Bewildered by the glare of fire and suffocated by its smoke, they cannot recognize their own true identity.

SB 11.21.28 - My dear Uddhava, persons dedicated to sense gratification obtained through honoring the Vedic rituals cannot understand that I am situated in everyone's heart and that the entire universe is nondifferent from Me and emanates from Me. Indeed, they are just like persons whose eyes are covered by fog.

SB 11.21.29-30 - Those who are sworn to sense gratification cannot understand the confidential conclusion of Vedic knowledge as explained by Me. Taking pleasure in violence, they cruelly slaughter innocent animals in sacrifice for their own sense gratification and thus worship demigods, forefathers and leaders among ghostly creatures. Such passion for violence, however, is never encouraged within the process of Vedic sacrifice.

SB 11.21.31 - Just as a foolish businessman gives up his real wealth in useless business speculation, foolish persons give up all that is actually valuable in life and instead pursue promotion to material heaven, which although pleasing to hear about is actually unreal, like a dream. Such bewildered persons imagine within their hearts that they will achieve all material blessings.

SB 11.21.32 - Those established in material passion, goodness and ignorance worship the particular demigods and other deities, headed by Indra, who manifest the same modes of passion, goodness or ignorance. They fail, however, to properly worship Me.

SB 11.21.33-34 - The worshipers of demigods think, "We shall worship the demigods in this life, and by our sacrifices we shall go to heaven and enjoy there. When that enjoyment is finished we shall return to this world and take birth as great householders in aristocratic families." Being excessively proud and greedy, such persons are bewildered by the flowery words of the Vedas. They are not attracted to topics about Me, the Supreme Lord.

SB 11.21.35 - The Vedas, divided into three divisions, ultimately reveal the living entity as pure spirit soul. The Vedic seers and mantras, however, deal in esoteric terms, and I also am pleased by such confidential descriptions.

SB 11.21.36 - The transcendental sound of the Vedas is very difficult to comprehend and manifests on different levels within the prāëa, senses and mind. This Vedic sound is unlimited, very deep and unfathomable, just like the ocean.

SB 11.21.37 - As the unlimited, unchanging and omnipotent Personality of Godhead dwelling within all living beings, I personally establish the Vedic sound vibration in the form of oàkàra within all living entities. It is thus perceived subtly, just like a single strand of fiber on a lotus stalk.

SB 11.21.38-40 - Just as a spider brings forth from its heart its web and emits it through its mouth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead manifests

Himself as the reverberating primeval vital air, comprising all sacred Vedic meters and full of transcendental pleasure. Thus the Lord, from the ethereal sky of His heart, creates the great and limitless Vedic sound by the agency of His mind, which conceives of variegated sounds such as the sparças. The Vedic sound branches out in thousands of directions, adorned with the different letters expanded from the syllable oà: the consonants, vowels, sibilants and semivowels. The Veda is then elaborated by many verbal varieties, expressed in different meters, each having four more syllables than the previous one. Ultimately the Lord again withdraws His manifestation of Vedic sound within Himself.

SB 11.21.41 - The Vedic meters are Gāyatré, Uñëik, Anuñöup, Bâhaté, Paï kti, Triñöup, Jagaté, Aticchanda, Atyañöi, Atijagaté and Ativiräö.

SB 11.21.42 - In the entire world no one but Me actually understands the confidential purpose of Vedic knowledge. Thus people do not know what the Vedas are actually prescribing in the ritualistic injunctions of karma-käëöa, or what object is actually being indicated in the formulas of worship found in the upäsanä-käëöa, or that which is elaborately discussed through various hypotheses in the jï äna-käëöa section of the Vedas.

SB 11.21.43 - I am the ritualistic sacrifice enjoined by the Vedas, and I am the worshipable Deity. It is I who am presented as various philosophical hypotheses, and it is I alone who am then refuted by philosophical analysis. The transcendental sound vibration thus establishes Me as the essential meaning of all Vedic knowledge. The Vedas, elaborately analyzing all material duality as nothing but My illusory potency, ultimately completely negate this duality and achieve their own satisfaction.

53 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.21.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Those who give up these methods for achieving Me, which consist of devotional service, analytic philosophy and regulated execution of prescribed duties, and instead, being moved by the material senses, cultivate insignificant sense gratification, certainly undergo the continual cycle of material existence.

SB 11.21.2 - Steadiness in one's own position is declared to be actual piety, whereas deviation from one's position is considered impiety. In this way the two are definitely ascertained.

SB 11.21.3 - O sinless Uddhava, in order to understand what is proper in life one must evaluate a given object within its particular category. Thus, in analyzing religious principles one must consider purity and impurity. Similarly, in one's ordinary dealings one must distinguish between good and bad, and to insure one's physical survival one must recognize that which is auspicious and inauspicious.

SB 11.21.4 - I have revealed this way of life for those bearing the burden of mundane religious principles.

SB 11.21.5 - Earth, water, fire, air and ether are the five basic elements that constitute the bodies of all conditioned souls, from Lord Brahmā himself down to the nonmoving creatures. These elements all emanate from the one Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.21.6 - My dear Uddhava, although all material bodies are composed of the same five elements and are thus equal, the Vedic literatures conceive of different names and forms in relation to such bodies so that the living entities may achieve their goal of life.

SB 11.21.7 - O saintly Uddhava, in order to restrict materialistic activities, I have established that which is proper and improper among all material things, including time, space and all physical objects.

SB 11.21.8 - Among places, those bereft of the spotted antelope, those devoid of devotion to the brähmaëas, those possessing spotted antelopes but bereft of respectable men, provinces like Kēkaōa and places where cleanliness and purificatory rites are neglected, where meat-eaters are prominent or where the earth is barren, are all considered to be contaminated lands.

SB 11.21.9 - A specific time is considered pure when it is appropriate, either by its own nature or through achievement of suitable paraphernalia, for the performance of one's prescribed duty. That time which impedes the performance of one's duty is considered impure.

SB 11.21.10 - An object's purity or impurity is established by application of another object, by words, by rituals, by the effects of time or according to relative magnitude.

SB 11.21.11 - Impure things may or may not impose sinful reactions upon a person, depending on that person's strength or weakness, intelligence, wealth, location and physical condition.

SB 11.21.12 - Various objects such as grains, wooden utensils, things made of bone, thread, liquids, objects derived from fire, skins and earthy objects are all purified by time, by the wind, by fire, by earth and by water, either separately or in combination.

SB 11.21.13 - A particular purifying agent is considered appropriate when its application removes the bad odor or dirty covering of some contaminated object and makes it resume its original nature.

SB 11.21.14 - The self can be cleansed by bathing, charity, austerity, age, personal strength, purificatory rituals, prescribed duties and, above all, by remembrance of Me. The brāhmaëa and other twice-born men should be duly purified before performing their specific activities.

SB 11.21.15 - A mantra is purified when chanted with proper knowledge, and one's work is purified when offered to Me. Thus by purification of the place, time, substance, doer, mantras and work, one becomes religious, and by negligence of these six items one is considered irreligious.

SB 11.21.16 - Sometimes piety becomes sin, and sometimes what is ordinarily sin becomes piety on the strength of Vedic injunctions. Such special rules in effect eradicate the clear distinction between piety and sin.

SB 11.21.17 - The same activities that would degrade an elevated person do not cause falldown for those who are already fallen. Indeed, one who is lying on the ground cannot possibly fall further. The material association that is dictated by one's own nature is considered a good quality.

SB 11.21.18 - By refraining from a particular sinful or materialistic activity, one becomes freed from its bondage. Such renunciation is the basis of religious and auspicious life for human beings and drives away all suffering, illusion and fear.

SB 11.21.19 - One who accepts material sense objects as desirable certainly becomes attached to them. From such attachment lust arises, and this lust creates quarrel among men.

SB 11.21.20 - From quarrel arises intolerable anger, followed by the darkness of ignorance. This ignorance quickly overtakes a man's broad intelligence.

SB 11.21.21 - O saintly Uddhava, a person bereft of real intelligence is considered to have lost everything. Deviated from the actual purpose of his life, he becomes dull, just like a dead person.

SB 11.21.22 - Because of absorption in sense gratification, one cannot recognize himself or others. Living uselessly in ignorance like a tree, one is merely breathing just like a bellows.

SB 11.21.23 - Those statements of scripture promising fruitive rewards do not prescribe the ultimate good for men but are merely enticements for executing beneficial religious duties, like promises of candy spoken to induce a child to take beneficial medicine.

SB 11.21.24 - Simply by material birth, human beings become attached within their minds to personal sense gratification, long duration of life, sense activities, bodily strength, sexual potency and friends and family. Their minds are thus absorbed in that which defeats their actual self-interest.

SB 11.21.25 - Those ignorant of their real self-interest are wandering on the path of material existence, gradually heading toward darkness. Why would the Vedas further encourage them in sense gratification if they, although foolish, submissively pay heed to Vedic injunctions?

SB 11.21.26 - Persons with perverted intelligence do not understand this actual purpose of Vedic knowledge and instead propagate as the highest Vedic truth the flowery statements of the Vedas that promise material rewards. Those in actual knowledge of the Vedas never speak in that way.

SB 11.21.27 - Those who are full of lust, avarice and greed mistake mere flowers to be the actual fruit of life. Bewildered by the glare of fire and suffocated by its smoke, they cannot recognize their own true identity.

SB 11.21.28 - My dear Uddhava, persons dedicated to sense gratification obtained through honoring the Vedic rituals cannot understand that I am situated in everyone's heart and that the entire universe is nondifferent from Me and emanates from Me. Indeed, they are just like persons whose eyes are covered by fog.

SB 11.21.29-30 - Those who are sworn to sense gratification cannot understand the confidential conclusion of Vedic knowledge as explained by Me. Taking pleasure in violence, they cruelly slaughter innocent animals in sacrifice for their own sense gratification and thus worship demigods, forefathers and leaders among ghostly creatures. Such passion for violence, however, is never encouraged within the process of Vedic sacrifice.

SB 11.21.31 - Just as a foolish businessman gives up his real wealth in useless business speculation, foolish persons give up all that is actually valuable in life and instead pursue promotion to material heaven, which although pleasing to hear about is actually unreal, like a dream. Such bewildered persons imagine within their hearts that they will achieve all material blessings.

SB 11.21.32 - Those established in material passion, goodness and ignorance worship the particular demigods and other deities, headed by Indra, who manifest the same modes of passion, goodness or ignorance. They fail, however, to properly worship Me.

SB 11.21.33-34 - The worshipers of demigods think, "We shall worship the demigods in this life, and by our sacrifices we shall go to heaven and enjoy there. When that enjoyment is finished we shall return to this world and take birth as great householders in aristocratic families." Being excessively proud and greedy, such persons are bewildered by the flowery words of the Vedas. They are not attracted to topics about Me, the Supreme Lord.

SB 11.21.35 - The Vedas, divided into three divisions, ultimately reveal the living entity as pure spirit soul. The Vedic seers and mantras, however, deal in esoteric terms, and I also am pleased by such confidential descriptions.

SB 11.21.36 - The transcendental sound of the Vedas is very difficult to comprehend and manifests on different levels within the prāëa, senses and mind. This Vedic sound is unlimited, very deep and unfathomable, just like the ocean.

SB 11.21.37 - As the unlimited, unchanging and omnipotent Personality of Godhead dwelling within all living beings, I personally establish the Vedic sound vibration in the form of oàkàra within all living entities. It is thus perceived subtly, just like a single strand of fiber on a lotus stalk.

SB 11.21.38-40 - Just as a spider brings forth from its heart its web and emits it through its mouth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead manifests Himself as the reverberating primeval vital air, comprising all sacred Vedic meters and full of transcendental pleasure. Thus the Lord, from the ethereal sky of His heart, creates the great and limitless Vedic sound by the agency of His mind, which conceives of variegated sounds such as the sparças. The Vedic sound branches out in thousands of directions, adorned with the different letters expanded from the syllable oà: the consonants, vowels, sibilants and semivowels. The Veda is then elaborated by many verbal varieties, expressed in different meters, each having four more syllables than the previous one. Ultimately the Lord again withdraws His manifestation of Vedic sound within Himself.

SB 11.21.41 - The Vedic meters are Gāyatré, Uñëik, Anuñöup, Bāhaté, Paì kti, Triñöup, Jagaté, Aticchanda, Atyañöi, Atijagaté and Ativiräö.

SB 11.21.42 - In the entire world no one but Me actually understands the confidential purpose of Vedic knowledge. Thus people do not know what the Vedas are actually prescribing in the ritualistic injunctions of karma-käëòà, or what object is actually being indicated in the formulas of worship found in the upäsanä-käëòà, or that which is elaborately discussed through various hypotheses in the jñäna-käëòà section of the Vedas.

SB 11.21.43 - I am the ritualistic sacrifice enjoined by the Vedas, and I am the worshipable Deity. It is I who am presented as various philosophical hypotheses, and it is I alone who am then refuted by philosophical analysis. The transcendental sound vibration thus establishes Me as the essential meaning of all Vedic knowledge. The Vedas, elaborately analyzing all material duality as nothing but My illusory potency, ultimately completely negate this duality and achieve their own satisfaction.

54 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.21.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Those who give up these methods for achieving Me, which consist of devotional service, analytic philosophy and regulated execution of prescribed duties, and instead, being moved by the material senses, cultivate insignificant sense gratification, certainly undergo the continual cycle of material existence.

SB 11.21.2 - Steadiness in one's own position is declared to be actual piety, whereas deviation from one's position is considered impiety. In this way the two are definitely ascertained.

SB 11.21.3 - O sinless Uddhava, in order to understand what is proper in life one must evaluate a given object within its particular category. Thus, in analyzing religious principles one must consider purity and impurity. Similarly, in one's ordinary dealings one must distinguish between good and bad, and to insure one's physical survival one must recognize that which is auspicious and inauspicious.

SB 11.21.4 - I have revealed this way of life for those bearing the burden of mundane religious principles.

SB 11.21.5 - Earth, water, fire, air and ether are the five basic elements that constitute the bodies of all conditioned souls, from Lord Brahmā himself down to the nonmoving creatures. These elements all emanate from the one Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.21.6 - My dear Uddhava, although all material bodies are composed of the same five elements and are thus equal, the Vedic literatures conceive of different names and forms in relation to such bodies so that the living entities may achieve their goal of life.

SB 11.21.7 - O saintly Uddhava, in order to restrict materialistic activities, I have established that which is proper and improper among all material things, including time, space and all physical objects.

SB 11.21.8 - Among places, those bereft of the spotted antelope, those devoid of devotion to the brāhmaëas, those possessing spotted antelopes but bereft of respectable men, provinces like Kēkaōa and places where cleanliness and purificatory rites are neglected, where meat-eaters are prominent or where the earth is barren, are all considered to be contaminated lands.

SB 11.21.9 - A specific time is considered pure when it is appropriate, either by its own nature or through achievement of suitable paraphernalia, for the performance of one's prescribed duty. That time which impedes the performance of one's duty is considered impure.

SB 11.21.10 - An object's purity or impurity is established by application of another object, by words, by rituals, by the effects of time or according to relative magnitude.

SB 11.21.11 - Impure things may or may not impose sinful reactions upon a person, depending on that person's strength or weakness, intelligence, wealth, location and physical condition.

SB 11.21.12 - Various objects such as grains, wooden utensils, things made of bone, thread, liquids, objects derived from fire, skins and earthy objects are all purified by time, by the wind, by fire, by earth and by water, either separately or in combination.

SB 11.21.13 - A particular purifying agent is considered appropriate when its application removes the bad odor or dirty covering of some contaminated object and makes it resume its original nature.

SB 11.21.14 - The self can be cleansed by bathing, charity, austerity, age, personal strength, purificatory rituals, prescribed duties and, above all, by remembrance of Me. The brāhmaëa and other twice-born men should be duly purified before performing their specific activities.

SB 11.21.15 - A mantra is purified when chanted with proper knowledge, and one's work is purified when offered to Me. Thus by purification of the place, time, substance, doer, mantras and work, one becomes religious, and by negligence of these six items one is considered irreligious.

SB 11.21.16 - Sometimes piety becomes sin, and sometimes what is ordinarily sin becomes piety on the strength of Vedic injunctions. Such special rules in effect eradicate the clear distinction between piety and sin.

SB 11.21.17 - The same activities that would degrade an elevated person do not cause falldown for those who are already fallen. Indeed, one who is lying on the ground cannot possibly fall further. The material association that is dictated by one's own nature is considered a good quality.

SB 11.21.18 - By refraining from a particular sinful or materialistic activity, one becomes freed from its bondage. Such renunciation is the basis of religious and auspicious life for human beings and drives away all suffering, illusion and fear.

SB 11.21.19 - One who accepts material sense objects as desirable certainly becomes attached to them. From such attachment lust arises, and this lust creates quarrel among men.

SB 11.21.20 - From quarrel arises intolerable anger, followed by the darkness of ignorance. This ignorance quickly overtakes a man's broad intelligence.

SB 11.21.21 - O saintly Uddhava, a person bereft of real intelligence is considered to have lost everything. Deviated from the actual purpose of his life, he becomes dull, just like a dead person.

SB 11.21.22 - Because of absorption in sense gratification, one cannot recognize himself or others. Living uselessly in ignorance like a tree, one is merely breathing just like a bellows.

SB 11.21.23 - Those statements of scripture promising fruitive rewards do not prescribe the ultimate good for men but are merely enticements for executing beneficial religious duties, like promises of candy spoken to induce a child to take beneficial medicine.

SB 11.21.24 - Simply by material birth, human beings become attached within their minds to personal sense gratification, long duration of life, sense activities, bodily strength, sexual potency and friends and family. Their minds are thus absorbed in that which defeats their actual self-interest.

SB 11.21.25 - Those ignorant of their real self-interest are wandering on the path of material existence, gradually heading toward darkness. Why would the Vedas further encourage them in sense gratification if they, although foolish, submissively pay heed to Vedic injunctions?

SB 11.21.26 - Persons with perverted intelligence do not understand this actual purpose of Vedic knowledge and instead propagate as the highest Vedic truth the flowery statements of the Vedas that promise material rewards. Those in actual knowledge of the Vedas never speak in that way.

SB 11.21.27 - Those who are full of lust, avarice and greed mistake mere flowers to be the actual fruit of life. Bewildered by the glare of fire and suffocated by its smoke, they cannot recognize their own true identity.

SB 11.21.28 - My dear Uddhava, persons dedicated to sense gratification obtained through honoring the Vedic rituals cannot understand that I am situated in everyone's heart and that the entire universe is nondifferent from Me and emanates from Me. Indeed, they are just like persons whose eyes are covered by fog.

SB 11.21.29-30 - Those who are sworn to sense gratification cannot understand the confidential conclusion of Vedic knowledge as explained by Me. Taking pleasure in violence, they cruelly slaughter innocent animals in sacrifice for their own sense gratification and thus worship demigods, forefathers and leaders among ghostly creatures. Such passion for violence, however, is never encouraged within the process of Vedic sacrifice.

SB 11.21.31 - Just as a foolish businessman gives up his real wealth in useless business speculation, foolish persons give up all that is actually valuable in life and instead pursue promotion to material heaven, which although pleasing to hear about is actually unreal, like a dream. Such bewildered persons imagine within their hearts that they will achieve all material blessings.

SB 11.21.32 - Those established in material passion, goodness and ignorance worship the particular demigods and other deities, headed by Indra, who manifest the same modes of passion, goodness or ignorance. They fail, however, to properly worship Me.

SB 11.21.33-34 - The worshipers of demigods think, "We shall worship the demigods in this life, and by our sacrifices we shall go to heaven and enjoy there. When that enjoyment is finished we shall return to this world and take birth as great householders in aristocratic families." Being excessively proud and greedy, such persons are bewildered by the flowery words of the Vedas. They are not attracted to topics about Me, the Supreme Lord.

SB 11.21.35 - The Vedas, divided into three divisions, ultimately reveal the living entity as pure spirit soul. The Vedic seers and mantras, however, deal in esoteric terms, and I also am pleased by such confidential descriptions.

SB 11.21.36 - The transcendental sound of the Vedas is very difficult to comprehend and manifests on different levels within the prāëa, senses and mind. This Vedic sound is unlimited, very deep and unfathomable, just like the ocean.

SB 11.21.37 - As the unlimited, unchanging and omnipotent Personality of Godhead dwelling within all living beings, I personally establish the Vedic sound vibration in the form of oākāra within all living entities. It is thus perceived subtly, just like a single strand of fiber on a lotus stalk.

SB 11.21.38-40 - Just as a spider brings forth from its heart its web and emits it through its mouth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead manifests Himself as the reverberating primeval vital air, comprising all sacred Vedic meters and full of transcendental pleasure. Thus the Lord, from the ethereal sky of His heart, creates the great and limitless Vedic sound by the agency of His mind, which conceives of variegated sounds such as the sparṇas. The Vedic sound branches out in thousands of directions, adorned with the different letters expanded from the syllable oṃ: the consonants, vowels, sibilants and semivowels. The Veda is then elaborated by many verbal varieties, expressed in different meters, each having four more syllables than the previous one. Ultimately the Lord again withdraws His manifestation of Vedic sound within Himself.

SB 11.21.41 - The Vedic meters are Gāyatrī, Uṣṇik, Anuṣṭup, Bāhatī, Pañkti, Triṣṭup, Jagatī, Aticchanda, Atyañi, Atijagatī and Ativirāḍ.

SB 11.21.42 - In the entire world no one but Me actually understands the confidential purpose of Vedic knowledge. Thus people do not know what the Vedas are actually prescribing in the ritualistic injunctions of karma-kāṇḍa, or what object is actually being indicated in the formulas of worship found in the upāsana-kāṇḍa, or that which is elaborately discussed through various hypotheses in the jīṇa-kāṇḍa section of the Vedas.

SB 11.21.43 - I am the ritualistic sacrifice enjoined by the Vedas, and I am the worshipable Deity. It is I who am presented as various philosophical hypotheses, and it is I alone who am then refuted by philosophical analysis. The transcendental sound vibration thus establishes Me as the essential meaning of all Vedic knowledge. The Vedas, elaborately analyzing all material duality as nothing but My illusory potency, ultimately completely negate this duality and achieve their own satisfaction.

55 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.22.1-3 - Uddhava inquired: My dear Lord, O master of the universe, how many different elements of creation have been enumerated by the great sages? I have heard You personally describe a total of twenty-eight-God, the jéva soul, the mahat-tattva, false ego, the five gross elements, the ten senses, the mind, the five subtle objects of perception and the three modes of nature. But some authorities say that there are twenty-six elements, while others cite twenty-five or else seven, nine, six, four or eleven, and even others say that there are seventeen, sixteen or thirteen. What did each of these sages have in mind when he calculated the creative elements in such different ways? O supreme eternal, kindly explain this to me.

SB 11.22.4 - Lord Kânëa replied: Because all material elements are present everywhere, it is reasonable that different learned brähmaëas have analyzed them in different ways. All such philosophers spoke under the shelter of My mystic potency, and thus they could say anything without contradicting the truth.

SB 11.22.5 - When philosophers argue, "I don't choose to analyze this particular case in the same way that you have," it is simply My own insurmountable energies that are motivating their analytic disagreements.

SB 11.22.6 - By interaction of My energies different opinions arise. But for those who have fixed their intelligence on Me and controlled their senses, differences of perception disappear, and consequently the very cause for argument is removed.

SB 11.22.7 - O best among men, because subtle and gross elements mutually enter into one another, philosophers may calculate the number of basic material elements in different ways, according to their personal desire.

SB 11.22.8 - All subtle material elements are actually present within their gross effects; similarly, all gross elements are present within their subtle causes, since material creation takes place by progressive manifestation of elements from subtle to gross. Thus we can find all material elements within any single element.

SB 11.22.9 - Therefore, no matter which of these thinkers is speaking, and regardless of whether in their calculations they include material elements within their previous subtle causes or else within their subsequent manifest products, I accept their conclusions as authoritative, because a logical explanation can always be given for each of the different theories.

SB 11.22.10 - Because a person who has been covered by ignorance since time immemorial is not capable of effecting his own self-realization, there must be some other personality who is in factual knowledge of the Absolute Truth and can impart this knowledge to him.

SB 11.22.11 - According to knowledge in the material mode of goodness, there is no qualitative difference between the living entity and the supreme controller. The imagination of qualitative difference between them is useless speculation.

SB 11.22.12 - Nature exists originally as the equilibrium of the three material modes, which pertain only to nature, not to the transcendental spirit soul. These modes-goodness, passion and ignorance-are the effective causes of the creation, maintenance and destruction of this universe.

SB 11.22.13 - In this world the mode of goodness is recognized as knowledge, the mode of passion as fruitive work, and the mode of darkness as ignorance. Time is perceived as the agitated interaction of the material modes, and the totality of functional propensity is embodied by the primeval sūtra, or mahat-tattva.

SB 11.22.14 - I have described the nine basic elements as the enjoying soul, nature, nature's primeval manifestation of the mahat-tattva, false ego, ether, air, fire, water and earth.

SB 11.22.15 - Hearing, touch, sight, smell and taste are the five knowledge acquiring senses, My dear Uddhava, and speech, the hands, the genitals, the anus and the legs constitute the five working senses. The mind belongs to both these categories.

SB 11.22.16

Sound, touch, taste, smell and form are the objects of the knowledge-acquiring senses, and movement, speech, excretion and manufacture are functions of the working senses.

SB 11.22.17 - In the beginning of creation nature assumes, by the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance, its form as the embodiment of all subtle causes and gross manifestations within the universe. The Supreme Personality of Godhead does not enter the interaction of material manifestation but merely glances upon nature.

SB 11.22.18 - As the material elements, headed by the mahat-tattva, are transformed, they receive their specific potencies from the glance of the Supreme Lord, and being amalgamated by the power of nature, they create the universal egg.

SB 11.22.19 - According to some philosophers there are seven elements, namely earth, water, fire, air and ether, along with the conscious spirit soul and the Supreme Soul, who is the basis of both the material elements and the ordinary spirit soul. According to this theory, the body, senses, life air and all material phenomena are produced from these seven elements.

SB 11.22.20 - Other philosophers state that there are six elements-the five physical elements (earth, water, fire, air and ether) and the sixth element, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. That Supreme Lord, endowed with the elements that He has brought forth from Himself, creates this universe and then personally enters within it.

SB 11.22.21 - Some philosophers propose the existence of four basic elements, of which three-fire, water and earth-emanate from the fourth, the Self. Once existing, these elements produce the cosmic manifestation, in which all material creation takes place.

SB 11.22.22 - Some calculate the existence of seventeen basic elements, namely the five gross elements, the five objects of perception, the five sensory organs, the mind, and the soul as the seventeenth element.

SB 11.22.23 - According to the calculation of sixteen elements, the only difference from the previous theory is that the soul is identified with the mind. If we think in terms of five physical elements, five senses, the mind, the individual soul and the Supreme Lord, there are thirteen elements.

SB 11.22.24 - Counting eleven, there are the soul, the gross elements and the senses. Eight gross and subtle elements plus the Supreme Lord would make nine.

SB 11.22.25 - Thus great philosophers have analyzed the material elements in many different ways. All of their proposals are reasonable, since they are all presented with ample logic. Indeed, such philosophical brilliance is expected of the truly learned.

SB 11.22.26 - Çré Uddhava inquired: Although nature and the living entity are constitutionally distinct, O Lord Kâñëa, there appears to be no difference between them, because they are found residing within one another. Thus the soul appears to be within nature and nature within the soul.

SB 11.22.27 - O lotus-eyed Kāñëa, O omniscient Lord, kindly cut this great doubt out of my heart with Your own words, which exhibit Your great skill in reasoning.

SB 11.22.28 - From You alone the knowledge of the living beings arises, and by Your potency that knowledge is stolen away. Indeed, no one but Yourself can understand the real nature of Your illusory potency.

SB 11.22.29 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best among men, material nature and its enjoyer are clearly distinct. This manifest creation undergoes constant transformation, being founded upon the agitation of the modes of nature.

SB 11.22.30 - My dear Uddhava, My material energy, comprising three modes and acting through them, manifests the varieties of creation along with varieties of consciousness for perceiving them. The manifest result of material transformation is understood in three aspects: adhyätmic, adhidaivic and adhibhautic.

SB 11.22.31 - Sight, visible form and the reflected image of the sun within the aperture of the eye all work together to reveal one another. But the original sun standing in the sky is self-manifested. Similarly, the Supreme Soul, the original cause of all entities, who is thus separate from all of them, acts by the illumination of His own transcendental experience as the ultimate source of manifestation of all mutually manifesting objects.

SB 11.22.32 - Similarly, the sense organs, namely the skin, ears, eyes, tongue and nose-as well as the functions of the subtle body, namely conditioned consciousness, mind, intelligence and false ego-can all be analyzed in terms of the threefold distinction of sense, object of perception and presiding deity.

SB 11.22.33 - When the three modes of nature are agitated, the resultant transformation appears as the element false ego in three phases-goodness, passion and ignorance. Generated from the mahat-tattva, which is itself produced from the unmanifest pradhāna, this false ego becomes the cause of all material illusion and duality.

SB 11.22.34 - The speculative argument of philosophers-"This world is real," "No, it is not real"-is based upon incomplete knowledge of the Supreme Soul and is simply aimed at understanding material dualities. Although such argument is useless, persons who have turned their attention away from Me, their own true Self, are unable to give it up.

SB 11.22.35-36 - Çré Uddhava said: O supreme master, the intelligence of those dedicated to fruitive activities is certainly deviated from You. Please explain to me how such persons accept superior and inferior bodies by their materialistic activities and then give up such bodies. O Govinda, this topic is very difficult for foolish persons to understand. Being cheated by illusion in this world, they generally do not become aware of these facts.

SB 11.22.37 - Lord Kāñëa said: The material mind of men is shaped by the reactions of fruitive work. Along with the five senses, it travels from one material body to another. The spirit soul, although different from this mind, follows it.

SB 11.22.38 - The mind, bound to the reactions of fruitive work, always meditates on the objects of the senses, both those that are seen in this world and those that are heard about from Vedic authority. Consequently, the mind appears to come into being and to suffer annihilation along with its objects of perception, and thus its ability to distinguish past and future is lost.

SB 11.22.39 - When the living entity passes from the present body to the next body, which is created by his own karma, he becomes absorbed in the pleasurable and painful sensations of the new body and completely forgets the experience of the previous body. This total forgetfulness of one's previous material identity, which comes about for one reason or another, is called death.

SB 11.22.40 - O most charitable Uddhava, what is called birth is simply a person's total identification with a new body. One accepts the new body just as one completely accepts the experience of a dream or a fantasy as reality.

SB 11.22.41 - Just as a person experiencing a dream or daydream does not remember his previous dreams or daydreams, a person situated in his present body, although having existed prior to it, thinks that he has only recently come into being.

SB 11.22.42 - Because the mind, which is the resting place of the senses, has created the identification with a new body, the threefold material variety of high, middle and low class appears as if present within the reality of the soul. Thus the self creates external and internal duality, just as a man might give birth to a bad son.

SB 11.22.43 - My dear Uddhava, material bodies are constantly undergoing creation and destruction by the force of time, whose swiftness is imperceptible. But because of the subtle nature of time, no one sees this.

SB 11.22.44 - The different stages of transformation of all material bodies occur just like those of the flame of a candle, the current of a river, or the fruits of a tree.

SB 11.22.45 - Although the illumination of a lamp consists of innumerable rays of light undergoing constant creation, transformation and destruction, a person with illusory intelligence who sees the light for a moment will speak falsely, saying, "This is the light of the lamp." As one observes a flowing river, ever-new water passes by and goes far away, yet a foolish person, observing one point in the river, falsely states, "This is the water of the river." Similarly, although the material body of a human being is constantly undergoing transformation, those who are simply wasting their lives falsely think and say that each particular stage of the body is the person's real identity

SB 11.22.46 - A person does not actually take birth out of the seed of past activities, nor, being immortal, does he die. By illusion the living being appears to be born and to die, just as fire in connection with firewood appears to begin and then cease to exist.

SB 11.22.47 - Impregnation, gestation, birth, infancy, childhood, youth, middle age, old age and death are the nine ages of the body.

SB 11.22.48 - Although the material body is different from the self, because of the ignorance due to material association one falsely identifies oneself with the superior and inferior bodily conditions. Sometimes a fortunate person is able to give up such mental concoction.

SB 11.22.49 - By the death of one's father or grandfather one can surmise one's own death, and by the birth of one's son one can understand the condition of one's own birth. A person who thus realistically understands the creation and destruction of material bodies is no longer subject to these dualities.

SB 11.22.50 - One who observes the birth of a tree from its seed and the ultimate death of the tree after maturity certainly remains a distinct observer separate from the tree. In the same way, the witness of the birth and death of the material body remains separate from it.

SB 11.22.51 - An unintelligent man, failing to distinguish himself from material nature, thinks nature to be real. By contact with it he becomes completely bewildered and enters into the cycle of material existence.

SB 11.22.52 - Made to wander because of his fruitive work, the conditioned soul, by contact with the mode of goodness, takes birth among the sages or demigods. By contact with the mode of passion he becomes a demon or human being, and by association with the mode of ignorance he takes birth as a ghost or in the animal kingdom.

SB 11.22.53 - Just as one may imitate persons whom one sees dancing and singing, similarly the soul, although never the doer of material activities, becomes captivated by material intelligence and is thus forced to imitate its qualities.

SB 11.22.54-55 - The soul's material life, his experience of sense gratification, is actually false, O descendant of Daçārha, just like trees' appearance of quivering when the trees are reflected in agitated water, or like the earth's appearance of spinning due to one's spinning his eyes around, or like the world of a fantasy or dream.

SB 11.22.56 - For one who is meditating on sense gratification, material life, although lacking factual existence, does not go away, just as the unpleasant experiences of a dream do not.

SB 11.22.57 - Therefore, O Uddhava, do not try to enjoy sense gratification with the material senses. See how illusion based on material dualities prevents one from realizing the self.

SB 11.22.58-59 - Even though neglected, insulted, ridiculed or envied by bad men, or even though repeatedly agitated by being beaten, tied up or deprived of one's occupation, spat upon or polluted with urine by ignorant people, one who desires the highest goal in life should in spite of all these difficulties use his intelligence to keep himself safe on the spiritual platform.

SB 11.22.60 - Çré Uddhava said: O best of all speakers, please explain to me how I may properly understand this.

SB 11.22.61 - O soul of the universe, the conditioning of one's personality in material life is very strong, and therefore it is very difficult even for learned men to tolerate the offenses committed against them by ignorant people. Only Your devotees, who are fixed in Your loving service and who have achieved peace by residing at Your lotus feet, are able to tolerate such offenses.

56 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.22.1-3 - Uddhava inquired: My dear Lord, O master of the universe, how many different elements of creation have been enumerated by the great sages? I have heard You personally describe a total of twenty-eight-God, the jéva soul, the mahat-tattva, false ego, the five gross elements, the ten senses, the mind, the five subtle objects of perception and the three modes of nature. But some authorities say that there are twenty-six elements, while others cite twenty-five or else seven, nine, six, four or eleven, and even others say that there are seventeen, sixteen or thirteen. What did each of these sages have in mind when he calculated the creative elements in such different ways? O supreme eternal, kindly explain this to me.

SB 11.22.4 - Lord Kåñëa replied: Because all material elements are present everywhere, it is reasonable that different learned brāhmaëas have analyzed them in different ways. All such philosophers spoke under the shelter of My mystic potency, and thus they could say anything without contradicting the truth.

SB 11.22.5 - When philosophers argue, "I don't choose to analyze this particular case in the same way that you have," it is simply My own insurmountable energies that are motivating their analytic disagreements.

SB 11.22.6 - By interaction of My energies different opinions arise. But for those who have fixed their intelligence on Me and controlled their senses, differences of perception disappear, and consequently the very cause for argument is removed.

SB 11.22.7 - O best among men, because subtle and gross elements mutually enter into one another, philosophers may calculate the number of basic material elements in different ways, according to their personal desire.

SB 11.22.8 - All subtle material elements are actually present within their gross effects; similarly, all gross elements are present within their subtle causes, since material creation takes place by progressive manifestation of elements from subtle to gross. Thus we can find all material elements within any single element.

SB 11.22.9 - Therefore, no matter which of these thinkers is speaking, and regardless of whether in their calculations they include material elements within their previous subtle causes or else within their subsequent manifest products, I accept their conclusions as authoritative, because a logical explanation can always be given for each of the different theories.

SB 11.22.10 - Because a person who has been covered by ignorance since time immemorial is not capable of effecting his own self-realization, there must be some other personality who is in factual knowledge of the Absolute Truth and can impart this knowledge to him.

SB 11.22.11 - According to knowledge in the material mode of goodness, there is no qualitative difference between the living entity and the supreme controller. The imagination of qualitative difference between them is useless speculation.

SB 11.22.12 - Nature exists originally as the equilibrium of the three material modes, which pertain only to nature, not to the transcendental spirit soul. These modes-goodness, passion and ignorance-are the effective causes of the creation, maintenance and destruction of this universe.

SB 11.22.13 - In this world the mode of goodness is recognized as knowledge, the mode of passion as fruitive work, and the mode of darkness as ignorance. Time is perceived as the agitated interaction of the material modes, and the totality of functional propensity is embodied by the primeval sūtra, or mahat-tattva.

SB 11.22.14 - I have described the nine basic elements as the enjoying soul, nature, nature's primeval manifestation of the mahat-tattva, false ego, ether, air, fire, water and earth.

SB 11.22.15 - Hearing, touch, sight, smell and taste are the five knowledge acquiring senses, My dear Uddhava, and speech, the hands, the genitals, the anus and the legs constitute the five working senses. The mind belongs to both these categories.

SB 11.22.16

Sound, touch, taste, smell and form are the objects of the knowledge-acquiring senses, and movement, speech, excretion and

manufacture are functions of the working senses.

SB 11.22.17 - In the beginning of creation nature assumes, by the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance, its form as the embodiment of all subtle causes and gross manifestations within the universe. The Supreme Personality of Godhead does not enter the interaction of material manifestation but merely glances upon nature.

SB 11.22.18 - As the material elements, headed by the mahat-tattva, are transformed, they receive their specific potencies from the glance of the Supreme Lord, and being amalgamated by the power of nature, they create the universal egg.

SB 11.22.19 - According to some philosophers there are seven elements, namely earth, water, fire, air and ether, along with the conscious spirit soul and the Supreme Soul, who is the basis of both the material elements and the ordinary spirit soul. According to this theory, the body, senses, life air and all material phenomena are produced from these seven elements.

SB 11.22.20 - Other philosophers state that there are six elements-the five physical elements (earth, water, fire, air and ether) and the sixth element, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. That Supreme Lord, endowed with the elements that He has brought forth from Himself, creates this universe and then personally enters within it.

SB 11.22.21 - Some philosophers propose the existence of four basic elements, of which three-fire, water and earth-emanate from the fourth, the Self. Once existing, these elements produce the cosmic manifestation, in which all material creation takes place.

SB 11.22.22 - Some calculate the existence of seventeen basic elements, namely the five gross elements, the five objects of perception, the five sensory organs, the mind, and the soul as the seventeenth element.

SB 11.22.23 - According to the calculation of sixteen elements, the only difference from the previous theory is that the soul is identified with the mind. If we think in terms of five physical elements, five senses, the mind, the individual soul and the Supreme Lord, there are thirteen elements.

SB 11.22.24 - Counting eleven, there are the soul, the gross elements and the senses. Eight gross and subtle elements plus the Supreme Lord would make nine.

SB 11.22.25 - Thus great philosophers have analyzed the material elements in many different ways. All of their proposals are reasonable, since they are all presented with ample logic. Indeed, such philosophical brilliance is expected of the truly learned.

SB 11.22.26 - Çré Uddhava inquired: Although nature and the living entity are constitutionally distinct, O Lord Kāñëa, there appears to be no difference between them, because they are found residing within one another. Thus the soul appears to be within nature and nature within the soul.

SB 11.22.27 - O lotus-eyed Kāñëa, O omniscient Lord, kindly cut this great doubt out of my heart with Your own words, which exhibit Your great skill in reasoning.

SB 11.22.28 - From You alone the knowledge of the living beings arises, and by Your potency that knowledge is stolen away. Indeed, no one but Yourself can understand the real nature of Your illusory potency.

SB 11.22.29 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best among men, material nature and its enjoyer are clearly distinct. This manifest creation undergoes constant transformation, being founded upon the agitation of the modes of nature.

SB 11.22.30 - My dear Uddhava, My material energy, comprising three modes and acting through them, manifests the varieties of creation along with varieties of consciousness for perceiving them. The manifest result of material transformation is understood in three aspects: adhyātmic, adhidaivic and adhibhautic.

SB 11.22.31 - Sight, visible form and the reflected image of the sun within the aperture of the eye all work together to reveal one another. But the original sun standing in the sky is self-manifested. Similarly, the Supreme Soul, the original cause of all entities, who is thus separate from all of them, acts by the illumination of His own transcendental experience as the ultimate source of manifestation of all mutually manifesting objects.

SB 11.22.32 - Similarly, the sense organs, namely the skin, ears, eyes, tongue and nose-as well as the functions of the subtle body, namely conditioned consciousness, mind, intelligence and false ego-can all be analyzed in terms of the threefold distinction of sense, object of perception and presiding deity.

SB 11.22.33 - When the three modes of nature are agitated, the resultant transformation appears as the element false ego in three phases-goodness, passion and ignorance. Generated from the mahat-tattva, which is itself produced from the unmanifest pradhāna, this false ego becomes the cause of all material illusion and duality.

SB 11.22.34 - The speculative argument of philosophers-"This world is real," "No, it is not real"-is based upon incomplete knowledge of the Supreme Soul and is simply aimed at understanding material dualities.

Although such argument is useless, persons who have turned their attention away from Me, their own true Self, are unable to give it up.

SB 11.22.35-36 - Çré Uddhava said: O supreme master, the intelligence of those dedicated to fruitive activities is certainly deviated from You. Please explain to me how such persons accept superior and inferior bodies by their materialistic activities and then give up such bodies. O Govinda, this topic is very difficult for foolish persons to understand. Being cheated by illusion in this world, they generally do not become aware of these facts.

SB 11.22.37 - Lord Kåñëa said: The material mind of men is shaped by the reactions of fruitive work. Along with the five senses, it travels from one material body to another. The spirit soul, although different from this mind, follows it.

SB 11.22.38 - The mind, bound to the reactions of fruitive work, always meditates on the objects of the senses, both those that are seen in this world and those that are heard about from Vedic authority. Consequently, the mind appears to come into being and to suffer annihilation along with its objects of perception, and thus its ability to distinguish past and future is lost.

SB 11.22.39 - When the living entity passes from the present body to the next body, which is created by his own karma, he becomes absorbed in the pleasurable and painful sensations of the new body and completely forgets the experience of the previous body. This total forgetfulness of one's previous material identity, which comes about for one reason or another, is called death.

SB 11.22.40 - O most charitable Uddhava, what is called birth is simply a person's total identification with a new body. One accepts the new body just as one completely accepts the experience of a dream or a fantasy as reality.

SB 11.22.41 - Just as a person experiencing a dream or daydream does not remember his previous dreams or daydreams, a person situated in his present body, although having existed prior to it, thinks that he has only recently come into being.

SB 11.22.42 - Because the mind, which is the resting place of the senses, has created the identification with a new body, the threefold material variety of high, middle and low class appears as if present within the reality of the soul. Thus the self creates external and internal duality, just as a man might give birth to a bad son.

SB 11.22.43 - My dear Uddhava, material bodies are constantly undergoing creation and destruction by the force of time, whose swiftness is imperceptible. But because of the subtle nature of time, no one sees this.

SB 11.22.44 - The different stages of transformation of all material bodies occur just like those of the flame of a candle, the current of a river, or the fruits of a tree.

SB 11.22.45 - Although the illumination of a lamp consists of innumerable rays of light undergoing constant creation, transformation and destruction, a person with illusory intelligence who sees the light for a moment will speak falsely, saying, "This is the light of the lamp." As one observes a flowing river, ever-new water passes by and goes far away, yet a foolish person, observing one point in the river, falsely states, "This is the water of the river." Similarly, although the material body of a human being is constantly undergoing transformation, those who are simply wasting their lives falsely think and say that each particular stage of the body is the person's real identity

SB 11.22.46 - A person does not actually take birth out of the seed of past activities, nor, being immortal, does he die. By illusion the living being appears to be born and to die, just as fire in connection with firewood appears to begin and then cease to exist.

SB 11.22.47 - Impregnation, gestation, birth, infancy, childhood, youth, middle age, old age and death are the nine ages of the body.

SB 11.22.48 - Although the material body is different from the self, because of the ignorance due to material association one falsely identifies oneself with the superior and inferior bodily conditions. Sometimes a fortunate person is able to give up such mental concoction.

SB 11.22.49 - By the death of one's father or grandfather one can surmise one's own death, and by the birth of one's son one can understand the condition of one's own birth. A person who thus realistically understands the creation and destruction of material bodies is no longer subject to these dualities.

SB 11.22.50 - One who observes the birth of a tree from its seed and the ultimate death of the tree after maturity certainly remains a distinct observer separate from the tree. In the same way, the witness of the birth and death of the material body remains separate from it.

SB 11.22.51 - An unintelligent man, failing to distinguish himself from material nature, thinks nature to be real. By contact with it he becomes completely bewildered and enters into the cycle of material existence.

SB 11.22.52 - Made to wander because of his fruitive work, the conditioned soul, by contact with the mode of goodness, takes birth among the sages or demigods. By contact with the mode of passion he becomes a demon or human being, and by association with the mode of ignorance he takes birth as a ghost or in the animal kingdom.

SB 11.22.53 - Just as one may imitate persons whom one sees dancing and singing, similarly the soul, although never the doer of material activities, becomes captivated by material intelligence and is thus forced to imitate its qualities.

SB 11.22.54-55 - The soul's material life, his experience of sense gratification, is actually false, O descendant of Daçärha, just like trees' appearance of quivering when the trees are reflected in agitated water, or like the earth's appearance of spinning due to one's spinning his eyes around, or like the world of a fantasy or dream.

SB 11.22.56 - For one who is meditating on sense gratification, material life, although lacking factual existence, does not go away, just as the unpleasant experiences of a dream do not.

SB 11.22.57 - Therefore, O Uddhava, do not try to enjoy sense gratification with the material senses. See how illusion based on material dualities prevents one from realizing the self.

SB 11.22.58-59 - Even though neglected, insulted, ridiculed or envied by bad men, or even though repeatedly agitated by being beaten, tied up or deprived of one's occupation, spat upon or polluted with urine by ignorant people, one who desires the highest goal in life should in spite of all these difficulties use his intelligence to keep himself safe on the spiritual platform.

SB 11.22.60 - Çré Uddhava said: O best of all speakers, please explain to me how I may properly understand this.

SB 11.22.61 - O soul of the universe, the conditioning of one's personality in material life is very strong, and therefore it is very difficult even for learned men to tolerate the offenses committed against them by ignorant people. Only Your devotees, who are fixed in Your loving service and who have achieved peace by residing at Your lotus feet, are able to tolerate such offenses.

57 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.22.1-3 - Uddhava inquired: My dear Lord, O master of the universe, how many different elements of creation have been enumerated by the great sages? I have heard You personally describe a total of twenty-eight-God, the jéva soul, the mahat-tattva, false ego, the five gross elements, the ten senses, the mind, the five subtle objects of perception and the three modes of nature. But some authorities say that there are twenty-six elements, while others cite twenty-five or else seven, nine, six, four or eleven, and even others say that there are seventeen, sixteen or thirteen. What did each of these sages have in mind when he calculated the creative elements in such different ways? O supreme eternal, kindly explain this to me.

SB 11.22.4 - Lord Kāñëa replied: Because all material elements are present everywhere, it is reasonable that different learned brāhmaëas have analyzed them in different ways. All such philosophers spoke under the shelter of My mystic potency, and thus they could say anything without contradicting the truth.

SB 11.22.5 - When philosophers argue, "I don't choose to analyze this particular case in the same way that you have," it is simply My own insurmountable energies that are motivating their analytic disagreements.

SB 11.22.6 - By interaction of My energies different opinions arise. But for those who have fixed their intelligence on Me and controlled their senses, differences of perception disappear, and consequently the very cause for argument is removed.

SB 11.22.7 - O best among men, because subtle and gross elements mutually enter into one another, philosophers may calculate the number of basic material elements in different ways, according to their personal desire.

SB 11.22.8 - All subtle material elements are actually present within their gross effects; similarly, all gross elements are present within their subtle causes, since material creation takes place by progressive manifestation of elements from subtle to gross. Thus we can find all material elements within any single element.

SB 11.22.9 - Therefore, no matter which of these thinkers is speaking, and regardless of whether in their calculations they include material elements within their previous subtle causes or else within their subsequent manifest products, I accept their conclusions as authoritative, because a logical explanation can always be given for each of the different theories.

SB 11.22.10 - Because a person who has been covered by ignorance since time immemorial is not capable of effecting his own self-realization, there must be some other personality who is in factual knowledge of the Absolute Truth and can impart this knowledge to him.

SB 11.22.11 - According to knowledge in the material mode of goodness, there is no qualitative difference between the living entity and the supreme controller. The imagination of qualitative difference between them is useless speculation.

SB 11.22.12 - Nature exists originally as the equilibrium of the three material modes, which pertain only to nature, not to the transcendental spirit soul. These modes-goodness, passion and ignorance-are the effective causes of the creation, maintenance and destruction of this universe.

SB 11.22.13 - In this world the mode of goodness is recognized as knowledge, the mode of passion as fruitive work, and the mode of darkness as ignorance. Time is perceived as the agitated interaction of the material modes, and the totality of functional propensity is embodied by the primeval sūtra, or mahat-tattva.

SB 11.22.14 - I have described the nine basic elements as the enjoying soul, nature, nature's primeval manifestation of the mahat-tattva, false ego, ether, air, fire, water and earth.

SB 11.22.15 - Hearing, touch, sight, smell and taste are the five knowledge acquiring senses, My dear Uddhava, and speech, the hands, the genitals, the anus and the legs constitute the five working senses. The mind belongs to both these categories.

SB 11.22.16

Sound, touch, taste, smell and form are the objects of the knowledge-acquiring senses, and movement, speech, excretion and manufacture are functions of the working senses.

SB 11.22.17 - In the beginning of creation nature assumes, by the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance, its form as the embodiment of all subtle causes and gross manifestations within the universe. The Supreme Personality of Godhead does not enter the interaction of material manifestation but merely glances upon nature.

SB 11.22.18 - As the material elements, headed by the mahat-tattva, are transformed, they receive their specific potencies from the glance of the Supreme Lord, and being amalgamated by the power of nature, they create the universal egg.

SB 11.22.19 - According to some philosophers there are seven elements, namely earth, water, fire, air and ether, along with the conscious spirit soul and the Supreme Soul, who is the basis of both the material elements and the ordinary spirit soul. According to this theory, the body, senses, life air and all material phenomena are produced from these seven elements.

SB 11.22.20 - Other philosophers state that there are six elements-the five physical elements (earth, water, fire, air and ether) and the sixth element, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. That Supreme Lord, endowed with the elements that He has brought forth from Himself, creates this universe and then personally enters within it.

SB 11.22.21 - Some philosophers propose the existence of four basic elements, of which three-fire, water and earth-emanate from the fourth, the Self. Once existing, these elements produce the cosmic manifestation, in which all material creation takes place.

SB 11.22.22 - Some calculate the existence of seventeen basic elements, namely the five gross elements, the five objects of perception, the five sensory organs, the mind, and the soul as the seventeenth element.

SB 11.22.23 - According to the calculation of sixteen elements, the only difference from the previous theory is that the soul is identified with the mind. If we think in terms of five physical elements, five senses, the mind, the individual soul and the Supreme Lord, there are thirteen elements.

SB 11.22.24 - Counting eleven, there are the soul, the gross elements and the senses. Eight gross and subtle elements plus the Supreme Lord would make nine.

SB 11.22.25 - Thus great philosophers have analyzed the material elements in many different ways. All of their proposals are reasonable, since they are all presented with ample logic. Indeed, such philosophical brilliance is expected of the truly learned.

SB 11.22.26 - Çré Uddhava inquired: Although nature and the living entity are constitutionally distinct, O Lord Kâñëa, there appears to be no difference between them, because they are found residing within one another. Thus the soul appears to be within nature and nature within the soul.

SB 11.22.27 - O lotus-eyed Kâñëa, O omniscient Lord, kindly cut this great doubt out of my heart with Your own words, which exhibit Your great skill in reasoning.

SB 11.22.28 - From You alone the knowledge of the living beings arises, and by Your potency that knowledge is stolen away. Indeed, no one but Yourself can understand the real nature of Your illusory potency.

SB 11.22.29 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best among men, material nature and its enjoyer are clearly distinct. This manifest creation undergoes constant transformation, being founded upon the agitation of the modes of nature.

SB 11.22.30 - My dear Uddhava, My material energy, comprising three modes and acting through them, manifests the varieties of creation along with varieties of consciousness for perceiving them. The manifest result of material transformation is understood in three aspects: adhyätmic, adhidaivic and adhibhautic.

SB 11.22.31 - Sight, visible form and the reflected image of the sun within the aperture of the eye all work together to reveal one another. But the original sun standing in the sky is self-manifested. Similarly, the Supreme Soul, the original cause of all entities, who is thus separate from all of them, acts by the illumination of His own transcendental experience as the ultimate source of manifestation of all mutually manifesting objects.

SB 11.22.32 - Similarly, the sense organs, namely the skin, ears, eyes, tongue and nose-as well as the functions of the subtle body, namely conditioned consciousness, mind, intelligence and false ego-can all be analyzed in terms of the threefold distinction of sense, object of perception and presiding deity.

SB 11.22.33 - When the three modes of nature are agitated, the resultant transformation appears as the element false ego in three phases-goodness, passion and ignorance. Generated from the mahat-tattva, which is itself produced from the unmanifest pradhāna, this false ego becomes the cause of all material illusion and duality.

SB 11.22.34 - The speculative argument of philosophers-"This world is real," "No, it is not real"-is based upon incomplete knowledge of the Supreme Soul and is simply aimed at understanding material dualities. Although such argument is useless, persons who have turned their attention away from Me, their own true Self, are unable to give it up.

SB 11.22.35-36 - Çré Uddhava said: O supreme master, the intelligence of those dedicated to fruitive activities is certainly deviated from You. Please explain to me how such persons accept superior and inferior bodies by their materialistic activities and then give up such bodies. O Govinda, this topic is very difficult for foolish persons to understand. Being cheated by illusion in this world, they generally do not become aware of these facts.

SB 11.22.37 - Lord Kāñëa said: The material mind of men is shaped by the reactions of fruitive work. Along with the five senses, it travels from one material body to another. The spirit soul, although different from this mind, follows it.

SB 11.22.38 - The mind, bound to the reactions of fruitive work, always meditates on the objects of the senses, both those that are seen in this world and those that are heard about from Vedic authority. Consequently, the mind appears to come into being and to suffer annihilation along with its objects of perception, and thus its ability to distinguish past and future is lost.

SB 11.22.39 - When the living entity passes from the present body to the next body, which is created by his own karma, he becomes absorbed in the pleasurable and painful sensations of the new body and completely forgets the experience of the previous body. This total forgetfulness of one's previous material identity, which comes about for one reason or another, is called death.

SB 11.22.40 - O most charitable Uddhava, what is called birth is simply a person's total identification with a new body. One accepts the new body just as one completely accepts the experience of a dream or a fantasy as reality.

SB 11.22.41 - Just as a person experiencing a dream or daydream does not remember his previous dreams or daydreams, a person situated in his present body, although having existed prior to it, thinks that he has only recently come into being.

SB 11.22.42 - Because the mind, which is the resting place of the senses, has created the identification with a new body, the threefold material variety of high, middle and low class appears as if present within the reality of the soul. Thus the self creates external and internal duality, just as a man might give birth to a bad son.

SB 11.22.43 - My dear Uddhava, material bodies are constantly undergoing creation and destruction by the force of time, whose swiftness is imperceptible. But because of the subtle nature of time, no one sees this.

SB 11.22.44 - The different stages of transformation of all material bodies occur just like those of the flame of a candle, the current of a river, or the fruits of a tree.

SB 11.22.45 - Although the illumination of a lamp consists of innumerable rays of light undergoing constant creation, transformation and destruction, a person with illusory intelligence who sees the light for a moment will speak falsely, saying, "This is the light of the lamp." As one observes a flowing river, ever-new water passes by and goes far away, yet a foolish person, observing one point in the river, falsely states, "This is the water of the river." Similarly, although the material body of a human being is constantly undergoing transformation, those who are simply wasting their lives falsely think and say that each particular stage of the body is the person's real identity

SB 11.22.46 - A person does not actually take birth out of the seed of past activities, nor, being immortal, does he die. By illusion the living being appears to be born and to die, just as fire in connection with firewood appears to begin and then cease to exist.

SB 11.22.47 - Impregnation, gestation, birth, infancy, childhood, youth, middle age, old age and death are the nine ages of the body.

SB 11.22.48 - Although the material body is different from the self, because of the ignorance due to material association one falsely identifies oneself with the superior and inferior bodily conditions. Sometimes a fortunate person is able to give up such mental concoction.

SB 11.22.49 - By the death of one's father or grandfather one can surmise one's own death, and by the birth of one's son one can understand the condition of one's own birth. A person who thus realistically understands the creation and destruction of material bodies is no longer subject to these dualities.

SB 11.22.50 - One who observes the birth of a tree from its seed and the ultimate death of the tree after maturity certainly remains a distinct observer separate from the tree. In the same way, the witness of the birth and death of the material body remains separate from it.

SB 11.22.51 - An unintelligent man, failing to distinguish himself from material nature, thinks nature to be real. By contact with it he becomes completely bewildered and enters into the cycle of material existence.

SB 11.22.52 - Made to wander because of his fruitive work, the conditioned soul, by contact with the mode of goodness, takes birth among the sages or demigods. By contact with the mode of passion he becomes a demon or human being, and by association with the mode of ignorance he takes birth as a ghost or in the animal kingdom.

SB 11.22.53 - Just as one may imitate persons whom one sees dancing and singing, similarly the soul, although never the doer of material activities, becomes captivated by material intelligence and is thus forced to imitate its qualities.

SB 11.22.54-55 - The soul's material life, his experience of sense gratification, is actually false, O descendant of Daçārha, just like trees' appearance of quivering when the trees are reflected in agitated water, or like the earth's appearance of spinning due to one's spinning his eyes around, or

like the world of a fantasy or dream.

SB 11.22.56 - For one who is meditating on sense gratification, material life, although lacking factual existence, does not go away, just as the unpleasant experiences of a dream do not.

SB 11.22.57 - Therefore, O Uddhava, do not try to enjoy sense gratification with the material senses. See how illusion based on material dualities prevents one from realizing the self.

SB 11.22.58-59 - Even though neglected, insulted, ridiculed or envied by bad men, or even though repeatedly agitated by being beaten, tied up or deprived of one's occupation, spat upon or polluted with urine by ignorant people, one who desires the highest goal in life should in spite of all these difficulties use his intelligence to keep himself safe on the spiritual platform.

SB 11.22.60 - Çré Uddhava said: O best of all speakers, please explain to me how I may properly understand this.

SB 11.22.61 - O soul of the universe, the conditioning of one's personality in material life is very strong, and therefore it is very difficult even for learned men to tolerate the offenses committed against them by ignorant people. Only Your devotees, who are fixed in Your loving service and who have achieved peace by residing at Your lotus feet, are able to tolerate such offenses.

58 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.23.1 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Lord Mukunda, the chief of the Däçārhas, having thus been respectfully requested by the best of His devotees, Çré Uddhava, first acknowledged the fitness of his servant's statements. Then the Lord, whose glorious exploits are most worthy of being heard, began to reply to him.

SB 11.23.2 - Lord Çré Kâñëa said: O disciple of Bâhaspati, there is virtually no saintly man in this world capable of resettling his own mind after it has been disturbed by the insulting words of uncivilized men.

SB 11.23.3 - Sharp arrows which pierce one's chest and reach the heart do not cause as much suffering as the arrows of harsh, insulting words that become lodged within the heart when spoken by uncivilized men.

SB 11.23.4 - My dear Uddhava, in this regard a most pious story is told, and I shall now describe it to you. Please listen with careful attention.

SB 11.23.5 - Once a certain sannyäse was insulted in many ways by impious men. However, with determination he remembered that he was suffering the fruit of his own previous karma. I will narrate to you his story and that which he spoke.

SB 11.23.6 - In the country of Avanté there once lived a certain brähmaëa who was very rich and gifted with all opulences, and who was engaged in the occupation of commerce. But he was a miserly person-lusty, greedy and very prone to anger.

SB 11.23.7 - In his home, devoid of religiosity and lawful sense gratification, the family members and guests were never properly respected, even with words. He would not even allow sufficient gratification for his own body at the suitable times.

SB 11.23.8 - Since he was so hardhearted and miserly, his sons, in-laws, wife, daughters and servants began to feel inimical toward him. Becoming disgusted, they would never treat him with affection.

SB 11.23.9 - In this way the presiding deities of the five family sacrifices became angry at the bāāhmaëa, who, being niggardly, guarded his wealth like a Yakña, who had no good destination either in this world or the next, and who was totally deprived of religiosity and sense enjoyment.

SB 11.23.10 - O magnanimous Uddhava, by his neglect of these demigods he depleted his stock of piety and all his wealth. The accumulation of his repeated exhaustive endeavors was totally lost.

SB 11.23.11 - Some of the wealth of this so-called brāhmaëa was taken away by his relatives, My dear Uddhava, some by thieves, some by the whims of providence, some by the effects of time, some by ordinary men and some by government authorities.

SB 11.23.12 - Finally, when his property was completely lost, he who never engaged in religiosity or sense enjoyment became ignored by his family members. Thus he began to feel unbearable anxiety.

SB 11.23.13 - Having lost all his wealth, he felt great pain and lamentation. His throat choked up with tears, and he meditated for a long time on his fortune. Then a powerful feeling of renunciation came over him.

SB 11.23.14 - The brāhmaëa spoke as follows: O what great misfortune! I have simply tormented myself uselessly, struggling so hard for money that was not even intended for religiosity or material enjoyment.

SB 11.23.15 - Generally, the wealth of misers never allows them any happiness. In this life it causes their self-torment, and when they die it sends them to hell.

SB 11.23.16 - Whatever pure fame is possessed by the famous and whatever praiseworthy qualities are found in the virtuous are destroyed by even a small amount of greed, just as one's attractive physical beauty is ruined by a trace of white leprosy.

SB 11.23.17 - In the earning, attainment, increase, protection, expense, loss and enjoyment of wealth, all men experience great labor, fear, anxiety and delusion.

SB 11.23.18-19 - Theft, violence, speaking lies, duplicity, lust, anger, perplexity, pride, quarreling, enmity, faithlessness, envy and the dangers caused by women, gambling and intoxication are the fifteen undesirable qualities that contaminate men because of greed for wealth. Although these qualities are undesirable, men falsely ascribe value to them. One desiring to achieve the real benefit of life should therefore remain aloof from undesirable material wealth.

SB 11.23.20 - Even a man's brothers, wife, parents and friends united with him in love will immediately break off their affectionate relationships and become enemies over a single coin.

SB 11.23.21 - For even a small amount of money these relatives and friends become very agitated and their anger is inflamed. Acting as rivals, they quickly give up all sentiments of goodwill and will reject one at a moment's notice, even to the point of committing murder.

SB 11.23.22 - Those who obtain human life, which is prayed for even by the demigods, and in that human birth become situated as first-class brāhmaëas, are extremely fortunate. If they disregard this important opportunity, they are certainly killing their own self-interest and thus achieve a most unfortunate end.

SB 11.23.23 - What mortal man, having achieved this human life, which is the very gateway to both heaven and liberation, would willingly become attached to that abode of worthlessness, material property?

SB 11.23.24 - One who fails to distribute his wealth to the proper shareholders-the demigods, sages, forefathers and ordinary living entities, as well as his immediate relatives, in-laws and own self-is maintaining his wealth simply like a Yakña and will fall down.

SB 11.23.25 - Discriminating persons are able to utilize their money, youth and strength to achieve perfection. But I have feverishly squandered these in the useless endeavor for further wealth. Now that I am an old man, what can I achieve?

SB 11.23.26 - Why must an intelligent man suffer by his constant vain efforts to get wealth? Indeed, this whole world is most bewildered by someone's illusory potency.

SB 11.23.27 - For one who is in the grips of death, what is the use of wealth or those who offer it, sense gratification or those who offer it, or, for that matter, any type of fruitive activity, which simply causes one to again take birth in the material world?

SB 11.23.28 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, who contains within Himself all the demigods, must be satisfied with me. Indeed, He has brought me to this suffering condition and forced me to experience detachment, which is the boat to carry me over this ocean of material life.

SB 11.23.29 - If there is any time remaining in my life, I will perform austerities and force my body to subsist on the bare necessities. Without further confusion I shall pursue that which constitutes my entire self-interest in life, and I shall remain satisfied within the self.

SB 11.23.30 - Thus may the presiding demigods of these three worlds kindly show their mercy upon me. Indeed, Mahārāja Khaövāi ga was able to achieve the spiritual world in a single moment.

SB 11.23.31 - Lord Çré Kāñëa continued: His mind thus determined, that most excellent Avanté brähmaëa was able to untie the knots of desire within his heart. He then assumed the role of a peaceful and silent sannyäse mendicant.

SB 11.23.32 - He wandered about the earth, keeping his intelligence, senses and life air under control. To beg charity he traveled alone to various cities and villages. He did not advertise his advanced spiritual position and thus was not recognized by others.

SB 11.23.33 - O kind Uddhava, seeing him as an old, dirty beggar, rowdy persons would dishonor him with many insults.

SB 11.23.34 - Some of these persons would take away his sannyäse rod, and some the waterpot which he was using as a begging bowl. Some took his deerskin seat, some his chanting beads, and some would steal his torn, ragged clothing. Displaying these things before him, they would pretend to offer them back but would then hide them again.

SB 11.23.35 - When he was sitting on the bank of a river about to partake of the food that he had collected by his begging, such sinful rascals would come and pass urine on it, and they would dare to spit on his head.

SB 11.23.36 - Although he had taken a vow of silence, they would try to make him speak, and if he did not speak they would beat him with sticks. Others would chastise him, saying, "This man is just a thief." And others would bind him up with rope, shouting, "Tie him up! Tie him up!"

SB 11.23.37 - They would criticize and insult him, saying, "This man is just a hypocrite and a cheat. He makes a business of religion simply because he lost all his wealth and his family threw him out."

SB 11.23.38-39 - Some would ridicule him by saying, "Just see this greatly powerful sage! He is as steadfast as the Himalaya Mountains. By practice of silence he strives for his goal with great determination, just like a duck." Other persons would pass foul air upon him, and sometimes others would bind this twice-born brāhmaëa in chains and keep him captive like a pet animal.

SB 11.23.40 - The brāhmaëa understood that all his suffering-from other living beings, from the higher forces of nature and from his own body-was unavoidable, being allotted to him by providence.

SB 11.23.41 - Even while being insulted by these low-class men who were trying to effect his downfall, he remained steady in his spiritual duties. Fixing his resolution in the mode of goodness, he began to chant the following song.

SB 11.23.42 - The brāhmaëa said: These people are not the cause of my happiness and distress. Neither are the demigods, my own body, the planets, my past work, or time. Rather, it is the mind alone that causes happiness and distress and perpetuates the rotation of material life.

SB 11.23.43 - The powerful mind actuates the functions of the material modes, from which evolve the different kinds of material activities in the modes of goodness, ignorance and passion. From the activities in each of these modes develop the corresponding statuses of life.

SB 11.23.44 - Although present along with the struggling mind within the material body, the Supersoul is not endeavoring, because He is already endowed with transcendental enlightenment. Acting as my friend, He simply witnesses from His transcendental position. I, the infinitesimal spirit soul, on the other hand, have embraced this mind, which is the mirror reflecting the image of the material world. Thus I have become engaged in enjoying objects of desire and am entangled due to contact with the modes of nature.

SB 11.23.45 - Charity, prescribed duties, observance of major and minor regulative principles, hearing from scripture, pious works and purifying vows all have as their final aim the subduing of the mind. Indeed, concentration of the mind on the Supreme is the highest yoga.

SB 11.23.46 - If one's mind is perfectly fixed and pacified, then tell me what need does one have to perform ritualistic charity and other pious rituals? And if one's mind remains uncontrolled, lost in ignorance, then of what use are these engagements for him?

SB 11.23.47 - All the senses have been under the control of the mind since time immemorial, and the mind himself never comes under the sway of any other. He is stronger than the strongest, and his godlike power is fearsome. Therefore, anyone who can bring the mind under control becomes the master of all the senses.

SB 11.23.48 - Failing to conquer this irrepressible enemy, the mind, whose urges are intolerable and who torments the heart, many people are completely bewildered and create useless quarrel with others. Thus they conclude that other people are either their friends, their enemies or parties indifferent to them.

SB 11.23.49 - Persons who identify with this body, which is simply the product of the material mind, are blinded in their intelligence, thinking in terms of "I" and "mine." Because of their illusion of "this is I, but that is someone else," they wander in endless darkness.

SB 11.23.50 - If you say that these people are the cause of my happiness and distress, then where is the place of the soul in such a conception? This happiness and distress pertain not to the soul but to the interactions of material bodies. If someone bites his tongue with his own teeth, at whom can he become angry in his suffering?

SB 11.23.51 - If you say that the demigods who rule the bodily senses cause suffering, still, how can such suffering apply to the spirit soul? This acting and being acted upon are merely interactions of the changeable senses and their presiding deities. When one limb of the body attacks another, with whom can the person in that body be angry?

SB 11.23.52 - If the soul himself were the cause of happiness and distress, then we could not blame others, since happiness and distress would be simply the nature of the soul. According to this theory, nothing except the soul actually exists, and if we were to perceive something besides the soul, that would be illusion. Therefore, since happiness and distress do not actually exist in this concept, why become angry at oneself or others?

SB 11.23.53 - And if we examine the hypothesis that the planets are the immediate cause of suffering and happiness, then also where is the relationship with the soul, who is eternal? After all, the effect of the planets applies only to things that have taken birth. Expert astrologers have moreover explained how the planets are only causing pain to each other. Therefore, since the living entity is distinct from these planets and from the material body, against whom should he vent his anger?

SB 11.23.54 - If we assume that fruitive work is the cause of happiness and distress, we still are not dealing with the soul. The idea of material work arises when there is a spiritual actor who is conscious and a material body that undergoes the transformation of happiness and distress as a reaction to such work. Since the body has no life, it cannot be the actual recipient of happiness and distress, nor can the soul, who is ultimately completely spiritual and aloof from the material body. Since karma thus has no ultimate basis in either the body or the soul, at whom can one become angry?

SB 11.23.55 - If we accept time as the cause of happiness and distress, that experience still cannot apply to the spirit soul, since time is a manifestation of the Lord's spiritual potency and the living entities are also expansions of the Lord's spiritual potency manifesting through time. Certainly a fire does not burn its own flames or sparks, nor does the cold harm its own snowflakes or hail. In fact, the spirit soul is transcendental and beyond the experience of material happiness and distress. At whom, therefore, should one become angry?

SB 11.23.56 - The false ego gives shape to illusory material existence and thus experiences material happiness and distress. The spirit soul, however, is transcendental to material nature; he can never actually be affected by material happiness and distress in any place, under any circumstance or by the agency of any person. A person who understands this has nothing whatsoever to fear from the material creation.

SB 11.23.57 - I shall cross over the insurmountable ocean of nescience by being firmly fixed in the service of the lotus feet of Kāñëa. This was approved by the previous äcäryas, who were fixed in firm devotion to the Lord, Paramätmä, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.23.58 - Lord Çré Kâñëa said: Thus becoming detached upon the loss of his property, this sage gave up his moroseness. He left home, taking sannyäsa, and began to travel about the earth. Even when insulted by foolish rascals he remained unswerved from his duty and chanted this song.

SB 11.23.59 - No other force besides his own mental confusion makes the soul experience happiness and distress. His perception of friends, neutral parties and enemies and the whole material life he builds around this perception are simply created out of ignorance.

SB 11.23.60 - My dear Uddhava, fixing your intelligence on Me, you should thus completely control the mind. This is the essence of the science of yoga.

SB 11.23.61 - Anyone who listens to or recites to others this song of the sannyäse, which presents scientific knowledge of the Absolute, and who thus meditates upon it with full attention, will never again be overwhelmed by the dualities of material happiness and distress.

59 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.23.1 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Lord Mukunda, the chief of the Däçarhas, having thus been respectfully requested by the best of His devotees, Çré Uddhava, first acknowledged the fitness of his servant's statements. Then the Lord, whose glorious exploits are most worthy of being heard, began to reply to him.

SB 11.23.2 - Lord Çré Kâñëa said: O disciple of Bâhaspati, there is virtually no saintly man in this world capable of resettling his own mind after it has been disturbed by the insulting words of uncivilized men.

SB 11.23.3 - Sharp arrows which pierce one's chest and reach the heart do not cause as much suffering as the arrows of harsh, insulting words that become lodged within the heart when spoken by uncivilized men.

SB 11.23.4 - My dear Uddhava, in this regard a most pious story is told, and I shall now describe it to you. Please listen with careful attention.

SB 11.23.5 - Once a certain sannyäse was insulted in many ways by impious men. However, with determination he remembered that he was suffering the fruit of his own previous karma. I will narrate to you his story and that which he spoke.

SB 11.23.6 - In the country of Avanté there once lived a certain brähmaëa who was very rich and gifted with all opulences, and who was engaged in the occupation of commerce. But he was a miserly person-lusty, greedy and very prone to anger.

SB 11.23.7 - In his home, devoid of religiosity and lawful sense gratification, the family members and guests were never properly respected, even with words. He would not even allow sufficient gratification for his own body at the suitable times.

SB 11.23.8 - Since he was so hardhearted and miserly, his sons, in-laws, wife, daughters and servants began to feel inimical toward him. Becoming disgusted, they would never treat him with affection.

SB 11.23.9 - In this way the presiding deities of the five family sacrifices became angry at the bäähmaëa, who, being niggardly, guarded his wealth like a Yakña, who had no good destination either in this world or the next, and who was totally deprived of religiosity and sense enjoyment.

SB 11.23.10 - O magnanimous Uddhava, by his neglect of these demigods he depleted his stock of piety and all his wealth. The accumulation of his repeated exhaustive endeavors was totally lost.

SB 11.23.11 - Some of the wealth of this so-called brähmaëa was taken away by his relatives, My dear Uddhava, some by thieves, some by the whims of providence, some by the effects of time, some by ordinary men and some by government authorities.

SB 11.23.12 - Finally, when his property was completely lost, he who never engaged in religiosity or sense enjoyment became ignored by his family members. Thus he began to feel unbearable anxiety.

SB 11.23.13 - Having lost all his wealth, he felt great pain and lamentation. His throat choked up with tears, and he meditated for a long time on his fortune. Then a powerful feeling of renunciation came over him.

SB 11.23.14 - The brähmaëa spoke as follows: O what great misfortune! I have simply tormented myself uselessly, struggling so hard for money that was not even intended for religiosity or material enjoyment.

SB 11.23.15 - Generally, the wealth of misers never allows them any happiness. In this life it causes their self-torment, and when they die it sends them to hell.

SB 11.23.16 - Whatever pure fame is possessed by the famous and whatever praiseworthy qualities are found in the virtuous are destroyed by even a small amount of greed, just as one's attractive physical beauty is ruined by a trace of white leprosy.

SB 11.23.17 - In the earning, attainment, increase, protection, expense, loss and enjoyment of wealth, all men experience great labor, fear, anxiety and delusion.

SB 11.23.18-19 - Theft, violence, speaking lies, duplicity, lust, anger, perplexity, pride, quarreling, enmity, faithlessness, envy and the dangers caused by women, gambling and intoxication are the fifteen undesirable qualities that contaminate men because of greed for wealth. Although these qualities are undesirable, men falsely ascribe value to them. One desiring to achieve the real benefit of life should therefore remain aloof from undesirable material wealth.

SB 11.23.20 - Even a man's brothers, wife, parents and friends united with him in love will immediately break off their affectionate relationships and become enemies over a single coin.

SB 11.23.21 - For even a small amount of money these relatives and friends become very agitated and their anger is inflamed. Acting as rivals, they quickly give up all sentiments of goodwill and will reject one at a moment's notice, even to the point of committing murder.

SB 11.23.22 - Those who obtain human life, which is prayed for even by the demigods, and in that human birth become situated as first-class brähmaëas, are extremely fortunate. If they disregard this important opportunity, they are certainly killing their own self-interest and thus achieve a most unfortunate end.

SB 11.23.23 - What mortal man, having achieved this human life, which is the very gateway to both heaven and liberation, would willingly become attached to that abode of worthlessness, material property?

SB 11.23.24 - One who fails to distribute his wealth to the proper shareholders-the demigods, sages, forefathers and ordinary living entities, as well as his immediate relatives, in-laws and own self-is maintaining his wealth simply like a Yakñā and will fall down.

SB 11.23.25 - Discriminating persons are able to utilize their money, youth and strength to achieve perfection. But I have feverishly squandered these in the useless endeavor for further wealth. Now that I am an old man, what can I achieve?

SB 11.23.26 - Why must an intelligent man suffer by his constant vain efforts to get wealth? Indeed, this whole world is most bewildered by someone's illusory potency.

SB 11.23.27 - For one who is in the grips of death, what is the use of wealth or those who offer it, sense gratification or those who offer it, or, for that matter, any type of fruitive activity, which simply causes one to again take birth in the material world?

SB 11.23.28 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, who contains within Himself all the demigods, must be satisfied with me. Indeed, He has brought me to this suffering condition and forced me to experience detachment, which is the boat to carry me over this ocean of material life.

SB 11.23.29 - If there is any time remaining in my life, I will perform austerities and force my body to subsist on the bare necessities. Without further confusion I shall pursue that which constitutes my entire self-interest in life, and I shall remain satisfied within the self.

SB 11.23.30 - Thus may the presiding demigods of these three worlds kindly show their mercy upon me. Indeed, Mahārāja Khaövāi ga was able to achieve the spiritual world in a single moment.

SB 11.23.31 - Lord Çré Kâñëa continued: His mind thus determined, that most excellent Avanté brähmaëa was able to untie the knots of desire within his heart. He then assumed the role of a peaceful and silent sannyäse mendicant.

SB 11.23.32 - He wandered about the earth, keeping his intelligence, senses and life air under control. To beg charity he traveled alone to various cities and villages. He did not advertise his advanced spiritual position and thus was not recognized by others.

SB 11.23.33 - O kind Uddhava, seeing him as an old, dirty beggar, rowdy persons would dishonor him with many insults.

SB 11.23.34 - Some of these persons would take away his sannyäse rod, and some the waterpot which he was using as a begging bowl. Some took his deerskin seat, some his chanting beads, and some would steal his torn, ragged clothing. Displaying these things before him, they would pretend to offer them back but would then hide them again.

SB 11.23.35 - When he was sitting on the bank of a river about to partake of the food that he had collected by his begging, such sinful rascals would come and pass urine on it, and they would dare to spit on his head.

SB 11.23.36 - Although he had taken a vow of silence, they would try to make him speak, and if he did not speak they would beat him with sticks. Others would chastise him, saying, "This man is just a thief." And others would bind him up with rope, shouting, "Tie him up! Tie him up!"

SB 11.23.37 - They would criticize and insult him, saying, "This man is just a hypocrite and a cheat. He makes a business of religion simply because he lost all his wealth and his family threw him out."

SB 11.23.38-39 - Some would ridicule him by saying, "Just see this greatly powerful sage! He is as steadfast as the Himalaya Mountains. By practice of silence he strives for his goal with great determination, just like a duck." Other persons would pass foul air upon him, and sometimes others would bind this twice-born brāhmaëa in chains and keep him captive like a pet animal.

SB 11.23.40 - The brāhmaëa understood that all his suffering-from other living beings, from the higher forces of nature and from his own body-was unavoidable, being allotted to him by providence.

SB 11.23.41 - Even while being insulted by these low-class men who were trying to effect his downfall, he remained steady in his spiritual duties. Fixing his resolution in the mode of goodness, he began to chant the following song.

SB 11.23.42 - The brāhmaëa said: These people are not the cause of my happiness and distress. Neither are the demigods, my own body, the planets, my past work, or time. Rather, it is the mind alone that causes happiness and distress and perpetuates the rotation of material life.

SB 11.23.43 - The powerful mind actuates the functions of the material modes, from which evolve the different kinds of material activities in the modes of goodness, ignorance and passion. From the activities in each of these modes develop the corresponding statuses of life.

SB 11.23.44 - Although present along with the struggling mind within the material body, the Supersoul is not endeavoring, because He is already endowed with transcendental enlightenment. Acting as my friend, He simply witnesses from His transcendental position. I, the infinitesimal spirit soul, on the other hand, have embraced this mind, which is the mirror reflecting the image of the material world. Thus I have become engaged in enjoying objects of desire and am entangled due to contact with the modes of nature.

SB 11.23.45 - Charity, prescribed duties, observance of major and minor regulative principles, hearing from scripture, pious works and purifying vows all have as their final aim the subduing of the mind. Indeed, concentration of the mind on the Supreme is the highest yoga.

SB 11.23.46 - If one's mind is perfectly fixed and pacified, then tell me what need does one have to perform ritualistic charity and other pious rituals? And if one's mind remains uncontrolled, lost in ignorance, then of what use are these engagements for him?

SB 11.23.47 - All the senses have been under the control of the mind since time immemorial, and the mind himself never comes under the sway of any other. He is stronger than the strongest, and his godlike power is fearsome. Therefore, anyone who can bring the mind under control becomes the master of all the senses.

SB 11.23.48 - Failing to conquer this irrepressible enemy, the mind, whose urges are intolerable and who torments the heart, many people are completely bewildered and create useless quarrel with others. Thus they conclude that other people are either their friends, their enemies or parties indifferent to them.

SB 11.23.49 - Persons who identify with this body, which is simply the product of the material mind, are blinded in their intelligence, thinking in terms of "I" and "mine." Because of their illusion of "this is I, but that is someone else," they wander in endless darkness.

SB 11.23.50 - If you say that these people are the cause of my happiness and distress, then where is the place of the soul in such a conception? This happiness and distress pertain not to the soul but to the interactions of material bodies. If someone bites his tongue with his own teeth, at whom can he become angry in his suffering?

SB 11.23.51 - If you say that the demigods who rule the bodily senses cause suffering, still, how can such suffering apply to the spirit soul? This acting and being acted upon are merely interactions of the changeable senses and their presiding deities. When one limb of the body attacks another, with whom can the person in that body be angry?

SB 11.23.52 - If the soul himself were the cause of happiness and distress, then we could not blame others, since happiness and distress would be simply the nature of the soul. According to this theory, nothing except the soul actually exists, and if we were to perceive something besides the soul, that would be illusion. Therefore, since happiness and distress do not actually exist in this concept, why become angry at oneself or others?

SB 11.23.53 - And if we examine the hypothesis that the planets are the immediate cause of suffering and happiness, then also where is the relationship with the soul, who is eternal? After all, the effect of the planets applies only to things that have taken birth. Expert astrologers have moreover explained how the planets are only causing pain to each other. Therefore, since the living entity is distinct from these planets and from the material body, against whom should he vent his anger?

SB 11.23.54 - If we assume that fruitive work is the cause of happiness and distress, we still are not dealing with the soul. The idea of material work arises when there is a spiritual actor who is conscious and a material body that undergoes the transformation of happiness and distress as a reaction to such work. Since the body has no life, it cannot be the actual recipient of happiness and distress, nor can the soul, who is ultimately completely spiritual and aloof from the material body. Since karma thus has no ultimate basis in either the body or the soul, at whom can one become angry?

SB 11.23.55 - If we accept time as the cause of happiness and distress, that experience still cannot apply to the spirit soul, since time is a manifestation of the Lord's spiritual potency and the living entities are also expansions of the Lord's spiritual potency manifesting through time. Certainly a fire does not burn its own flames or sparks, nor does the cold harm its own snowflakes or hail. In fact, the spirit soul is transcendental and beyond the experience of material happiness and distress. At whom, therefore, should one become angry?

SB 11.23.56 - The false ego gives shape to illusory material existence and thus experiences material happiness and distress. The spirit soul, however, is transcendental to material nature; he can never actually be affected by material happiness and distress in any place, under any circumstance or by the agency of any person. A person who understands this has nothing whatsoever to fear from the material creation.

SB 11.23.57 - I shall cross over the insurmountable ocean of nescience by being firmly fixed in the service of the lotus feet of Kāñëa. This was approved by the previous äcäryas, who were fixed in firm devotion to the Lord, Paramätmä, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.23.58 - Lord Çré Kāñëa said: Thus becoming detached upon the loss of his property, this sage gave up his moroseness. He left home, taking sannyäsa, and began to travel about the earth. Even when insulted by foolish rascals he remained unswerved from his duty and chanted this song.

SB 11.23.59 - No other force besides his own mental confusion makes the soul experience happiness and distress. His perception of friends, neutral parties and enemies and the whole material life he builds around this perception are simply created out of ignorance.

SB 11.23.60 - My dear Uddhava, fixing your intelligence on Me, you should thus completely control the mind. This is the essence of the science of yoga.

SB 11.23.61 - Anyone who listens to or recites to others this song of the sannyāsé, which presents scientific knowledge of the Absolute, and who thus meditates upon it with full attention, will never again be overwhelmed by the dualities of material happiness and distress.

60 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.23.1 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Lord Mukunda, the chief of the Däçarhas, having thus been respectfully requested by the best of His devotees, Çré Uddhava, first acknowledged the fitness of his servant's statements. Then the Lord, whose glorious exploits are most worthy of being heard, began to reply to him.

SB 11.23.2 - Lord Çré Kāñëa said: O disciple of Bâhaspati, there is virtually no saintly man in this world capable of resettling his own mind after it has been disturbed by the insulting words of uncivilized men.

SB 11.23.3 - Sharp arrows which pierce one's chest and reach the heart do not cause as much suffering as the arrows of harsh, insulting words that become lodged within the heart when spoken by uncivilized men.

SB 11.23.4 - My dear Uddhava, in this regard a most pious story is told, and I shall now describe it to you. Please listen with careful attention.

SB 11.23.5 - Once a certain sannyäse was insulted in many ways by impious men. However, with determination he remembered that he was suffering the fruit of his own previous karma. I will narrate to you his story and that which he spoke.

SB 11.23.6 - In the country of Avanté there once lived a certain brähmaëa who was very rich and gifted with all opulences, and who was engaged in the occupation of commerce. But he was a miserly person-lusty, greedy and very prone to anger.

SB 11.23.7 - In his home, devoid of religiosity and lawful sense gratification, the family members and guests were never properly respected, even with words. He would not even allow sufficient gratification for his own body at the suitable times.

SB 11.23.8 - Since he was so hardhearted and miserly, his sons, in-laws, wife, daughters and servants began to feel inimical toward him. Becoming disgusted, they would never treat him with affection.

SB 11.23.9 - In this way the presiding deities of the five family sacrifices became angry at the bäähmaëa, who, being niggardly, guarded his wealth like a Yakña, who had no good destination either in this world or the next, and who was totally deprived of religiosity and sense enjoyment.

SB 11.23.10 - O magnanimous Uddhava, by his neglect of these demigods he depleted his stock of piety and all his wealth. The accumulation of his repeated exhaustive endeavors was totally lost.

SB 11.23.11 - Some of the wealth of this so-called brāhmaëa was taken away by his relatives, My dear Uddhava, some by thieves, some by the whims of providence, some by the effects of time, some by ordinary men and some by government authorities.

SB 11.23.12 - Finally, when his property was completely lost, he who never engaged in religiosity or sense enjoyment became ignored by his family members. Thus he began to feel unbearable anxiety.

SB 11.23.13 - Having lost all his wealth, he felt great pain and lamentation. His throat choked up with tears, and he meditated for a long time on his fortune. Then a powerful feeling of renunciation came over him.

SB 11.23.14 - The brāhmaëa spoke as follows: O what great misfortune! I have simply tormented myself uselessly, struggling so hard for money that was not even intended for religiosity or material enjoyment.

SB 11.23.15 - Generally, the wealth of misers never allows them any happiness. In this life it causes their self-torment, and when they die it sends them to hell.

SB 11.23.16 - Whatever pure fame is possessed by the famous and whatever praiseworthy qualities are found in the virtuous are destroyed by even a small amount of greed, just as one's attractive physical beauty is ruined by a trace of white leprosy.

SB 11.23.17 - In the earning, attainment, increase, protection, expense, loss and enjoyment of wealth, all men experience great labor, fear, anxiety and delusion.

SB 11.23.18-19 - Theft, violence, speaking lies, duplicity, lust, anger, perplexity, pride, quarreling, enmity, faithlessness, envy and the dangers caused by women, gambling and intoxication are the fifteen undesirable qualities that contaminate men because of greed for wealth. Although these qualities are undesirable, men falsely ascribe value to them. One desiring to achieve the real benefit of life should therefore remain aloof from undesirable material wealth.

SB 11.23.20 - Even a man's brothers, wife, parents and friends united with him in love will immediately break off their affectionate relationships and become enemies over a single coin.

SB 11.23.21 - For even a small amount of money these relatives and friends become very agitated and their anger is inflamed. Acting as rivals, they quickly give up all sentiments of goodwill and will reject one at a moment's notice, even to the point of committing murder.

SB 11.23.22 - Those who obtain human life, which is prayed for even by the demigods, and in that human birth become situated as first-class brāhmaëas, are extremely fortunate. If they disregard this important opportunity, they are certainly killing their own self-interest and thus achieve a most unfortunate end.

SB 11.23.23 - What mortal man, having achieved this human life, which is the very gateway to both heaven and liberation, would willingly become attached to that abode of worthlessness, material property?

SB 11.23.24 - One who fails to distribute his wealth to the proper shareholders-the demigods, sages, forefathers and ordinary living entities, as well as his immediate relatives, in-laws and own self-is maintaining his wealth simply like a Yakña and will fall down.

SB 11.23.25 - Discriminating persons are able to utilize their money, youth and strength to achieve perfection. But I have feverishly squandered these in the useless endeavor for further wealth. Now that I am an old man, what can I achieve?

SB 11.23.26 - Why must an intelligent man suffer by his constant vain efforts to get wealth? Indeed, this whole world is most bewildered by someone's illusory potency.

SB 11.23.27 - For one who is in the grips of death, what is the use of wealth or those who offer it, sense gratification or those who offer it, or, for that matter, any type of fruitive activity, which simply causes one to again take birth in the material world?

SB 11.23.28 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, who contains within Himself all the demigods, must be satisfied with me. Indeed, He has brought me to this suffering condition and forced me to experience detachment, which is the boat to carry me over this ocean of material life.

SB 11.23.29 - If there is any time remaining in my life, I will perform austerities and force my body to subsist on the bare necessities. Without further confusion I shall pursue that which constitutes my entire self-interest in life, and I shall remain satisfied within the self.

SB 11.23.30 - Thus may the presiding demigods of these three worlds kindly show their mercy upon me. Indeed, Mahārāja Khaövāi ga was able to achieve the spiritual world in a single moment.

SB 11.23.31 - Lord Çré Kāñëa continued: His mind thus determined, that most excellent Avanté brähmaëa was able to untie the knots of desire within his heart. He then assumed the role of a peaceful and silent sannyäse mendicant.

SB 11.23.32 - He wandered about the earth, keeping his intelligence, senses and life air under control. To beg charity he traveled alone to various cities and villages. He did not advertise his advanced spiritual position and thus was not recognized by others.

SB 11.23.33 - O kind Uddhava, seeing him as an old, dirty beggar, rowdy persons would dishonor him with many insults.

SB 11.23.34 - Some of these persons would take away his sannyäse rod, and some the waterpot which he was using as a begging bowl. Some took his deerskin seat, some his chanting beads, and some would steal his torn, ragged clothing. Displaying these things before him, they would pretend to offer them back but would then hide them again.

SB 11.23.35 - When he was sitting on the bank of a river about to partake of the food that he had collected by his begging, such sinful rascals would come and pass urine on it, and they would dare to spit on his head.

SB 11.23.36 - Although he had taken a vow of silence, they would try to make him speak, and if he did not speak they would beat him with sticks. Others would chastise him, saying, "This man is just a thief." And others would bind him up with rope, shouting, "Tie him up! Tie him up!"

SB 11.23.37 - They would criticize and insult him, saying, "This man is just a hypocrite and a cheat. He makes a business of religion simply because he lost all his wealth and his family threw him out."

SB 11.23.38-39 - Some would ridicule him by saying, "Just see this greatly powerful sage! He is as steadfast as the Himalaya Mountains. By practice of silence he strives for his goal with great determination, just like a duck." Other persons would pass foul air upon him, and sometimes others would bind this twice-born brāhmaëa in chains and keep him captive like a pet animal.

SB 11.23.40 - The brāhmaëa understood that all his suffering-from other living beings, from the higher forces of nature and from his own body-was unavoidable, being allotted to him by providence.

SB 11.23.41 - Even while being insulted by these low-class men who were trying to effect his downfall, he remained steady in his spiritual duties. Fixing his resolution in the mode of goodness, he began to chant the following song.

SB 11.23.42 - The brāhmaëa said: These people are not the cause of my happiness and distress. Neither are the demigods, my own body, the planets, my past work, or time. Rather, it is the mind alone that causes happiness and distress and perpetuates the rotation of material life.

SB 11.23.43 - The powerful mind actuates the functions of the material modes, from which evolve the different kinds of material activities in the modes of goodness, ignorance and passion. From the activities in each of these modes develop the corresponding statuses of life.

SB 11.23.44 - Although present along with the struggling mind within the material body, the Supersoul is not endeavoring, because He is already endowed with transcendental enlightenment. Acting as my friend, He simply witnesses from His transcendental position. I, the infinitesimal spirit soul, on the other hand, have embraced this mind, which is the mirror reflecting the image of the material world. Thus I have become engaged in enjoying objects of desire and am entangled due to contact with the modes of nature.

SB 11.23.45 - Charity, prescribed duties, observance of major and minor regulative principles, hearing from scripture, pious works and purifying vows all have as their final aim the subduing of the mind. Indeed, concentration of the mind on the Supreme is the highest yoga.

SB 11.23.46 - If one's mind is perfectly fixed and pacified, then tell me what need does one have to perform ritualistic charity and other pious rituals? And if one's mind remains uncontrolled, lost in ignorance, then of what use are these engagements for him?

SB 11.23.47 - All the senses have been under the control of the mind since time immemorial, and the mind himself never comes under the sway of any other. He is stronger than the strongest, and his godlike power is fearsome. Therefore, anyone who can bring the mind under control becomes the master of all the senses.

SB 11.23.48 - Failing to conquer this irrepressible enemy, the mind, whose urges are intolerable and who torments the heart, many people are completely bewildered and create useless quarrel with others. Thus they conclude that other people are either their friends, their enemies or parties indifferent to them.

SB 11.23.49 - Persons who identify with this body, which is simply the product of the material mind, are blinded in their intelligence, thinking in terms of "I" and "mine." Because of their illusion of "this is I, but that is someone else," they wander in endless darkness.

SB 11.23.50 - If you say that these people are the cause of my happiness and distress, then where is the place of the soul in such a conception? This happiness and distress pertain not to the soul but to the interactions of material bodies. If someone bites his tongue with his own teeth, at whom can he become angry in his suffering?

SB 11.23.51 - If you say that the demigods who rule the bodily senses cause suffering, still, how can such suffering apply to the spirit soul? This acting and being acted upon are merely interactions of the changeable senses and their presiding deities. When one limb of the body attacks another, with whom can the person in that body be angry?

SB 11.23.52 - If the soul himself were the cause of happiness and distress, then we could not blame others, since happiness and distress would be simply the nature of the soul. According to this theory, nothing except the soul actually exists, and if we were to perceive something besides the soul, that would be illusion. Therefore, since happiness and distress do not actually exist in this concept, why become angry at oneself or others?

SB 11.23.53 - And if we examine the hypothesis that the planets are the immediate cause of suffering and happiness, then also where is the relationship with the soul, who is eternal? After all, the effect of the planets applies only to things that have taken birth. Expert astrologers have moreover explained how the planets are only causing pain to each other. Therefore, since the living entity is distinct from these planets and from the material body, against whom should he vent his anger?

SB 11.23.54 - If we assume that fruitive work is the cause of happiness and distress, we still are not dealing with the soul. The idea of material work arises when there is a spiritual actor who is conscious and a material body that undergoes the transformation of happiness and distress as a reaction to such work. Since the body has no life, it cannot be the actual recipient of happiness and distress, nor can the soul, who is ultimately completely spiritual and aloof from the material body. Since karma thus has no ultimate basis in either the body or the soul, at whom can one become angry?

SB 11.23.55 - If we accept time as the cause of happiness and distress, that experience still cannot apply to the spirit soul, since time is a manifestation of the Lord's spiritual potency and the living entities are also expansions of the Lord's spiritual potency manifesting through time. Certainly a fire does not burn its own flames or sparks, nor does the cold harm its own snowflakes or hail. In fact, the spirit soul is transcendental and beyond the experience of material happiness and distress. At whom, therefore, should one become angry?

SB 11.23.56 - The false ego gives shape to illusory material existence and thus experiences material happiness and distress. The spirit soul, however, is transcendental to material nature; he can never actually be affected by material happiness and distress in any place, under any circumstance or by the agency of any person. A person who understands this has nothing whatsoever to fear from the material creation.

SB 11.23.57 - I shall cross over the insurmountable ocean of nescience by being firmly fixed in the service of the lotus feet of Kāñëa. This was approved by the previous ācāryas, who were fixed in firm devotion to the Lord, Paramātmā, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.23.58 - Lord Çré Kāñëa said: Thus becoming detached upon the loss of his property, this sage gave up his moroseness. He left home, taking sannyāsa, and began to travel about the earth. Even when insulted by foolish rascals he remained unswerved from his duty and chanted this song.

SB 11.23.59 - No other force besides his own mental confusion makes the soul experience happiness and distress. His perception of friends, neutral parties and enemies and the whole material life he builds around this perception are simply created out of ignorance.

SB 11.23.60 - My dear Uddhava, fixing your intelligence on Me, you should thus completely control the mind. This is the essence of the science of yoga.

SB 11.23.61 - Anyone who listens to or recites to others this song of the sannyäse, which presents scientific knowledge of the Absolute, and who thus meditates upon it with full attention, will never again be overwhelmed by the dualities of material happiness and distress.

61 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.24.1 - Lord Çré Kâñëa said: Now I shall describe to you the science of Sâi khya, which has been perfectly established by ancient authorities. By understanding this science a person can immediately give up the illusion of material duality.

SB 11.24.2 - Originally, during the Kâta-yuga, when all men were very expert in spiritual discrimination, and also previous to that, during the period of annihilation, the seer existed alone, nondifferent from the seen object.

SB 11.24.3 - That one Absolute Truth, remaining free from material dualities and inaccessible to ordinary speech and mind, divided Himself into two categories-the material nature and the living entities who are trying to enjoy the manifestations of that nature.

SB 11.24.4 - Of these two categories of manifestation, one is material nature, which embodies both the subtle causes and manifests products of matter. The other is the conscious living entity, designated as the enjoyer.

SB 11.24.5 - When material nature was agitated by My glance, the three material modes-goodness, passion and ignorance-became manifest to fulfill the pending desires of the conditioned souls.

SB 11.24.6 - From these modes arose the primeval sūtra, along with the mahat-tattva. By the transformation of the mahat-tattva was generated the false ego, the cause of the living entities' bewilderment.

SB 11.24.7 - False ego, which is the cause of physical sensation, the senses, and the mind, encompasses both spirit and matter and manifests, in three varieties: in the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance.

SB 11.24.8 - From false ego in the mode of ignorance came the subtle physical perceptions, from which the gross elements were generated. From false ego in the mode of passion came the senses, and from false ego in the mode of goodness arose the eleven demigods.

SB 11.24.9 - Impelled by Me, all these elements combined to function in an orderly fashion and together gave birth to the universal egg, which is My excellent place of residence.

SB 11.24.10 - I Myself appeared within that egg, which was floating on the causal water, and from My navel arose the universal lotus, the birthplace of self-born Brahmā.

SB 11.24.11 - Lord Brahmā, the soul of the universe, being endowed with the mode of passion, performed great austerities by My mercy and thus created the three planetary divisions, called Bhūr, Bhuvar and Svar, along with their presiding deities.

SB 11.24.12 - Heaven was established as the residence of the demigods, Bhuvarloka as that of the ghostly spirits, and the earth system as the place of human beings and other mortal creatures. Those mystics who strive for liberation are promoted beyond these three divisions.

SB 11.24.13 - Lord Brahmā created the region below the earth for the demons and the Nāga snakes. In this way the destinations of the three worlds were arranged as the corresponding reactions for different kinds of work performed within the three modes of nature.

SB 11.24.14 - By mystic yoga, great austerities and the renounced order of life, the pure destinations of Maharloka, Janoloka, Tapoloka and Satyaloka are attained. But by devotional yoga, one achieves My transcendental abode.

SB 11.24.15 - All results of fruitive work have been arranged within this world by Me, the supreme creator acting as the force of time. Thus one sometimes rises up toward the surface of this mighty river of the modes of nature and sometimes again submerges.

SB 11.24.16 - Whatever features visibly exist within this world-small or great, thin or stout-certainly contain both the material nature and its enjoyer, the spirit soul.

SB 11.24.17 - Gold and earth are originally existing as ingredients. From gold one may fashion golden ornaments such as bracelets and earrings, and from earth one may fashion clay pots and saucers. The original ingredients gold and earth exist before the products made from them, and when the products are eventually destroyed, the original ingredients, gold and earth, will remain. Thus, since the ingredients are present in the beginning and at the end, they must also be present in the middle phase, taking the form of a particular product to which we assign for convenience a particular name, such as bracelet, earring, pot or saucer. We can therefore understand that since the ingredient cause exists before the creation of a product and after the product's destruction, the same ingredient cause must be present during the manifest phase, supporting the product as the basis of its reality.

SB 11.24.18 - A material object, itself composed of an essential ingredient, creates another material object through transformation. Thus one created object becomes the cause and basis of another created object. A particular thing may thus be called real in that it possesses the basic nature of another object that constitutes its origin and final state.

SB 11.24.19 - The material universe may be considered real, having nature as its original ingredient and final state. Lord Mahā-Viñëu is the resting place of nature, which becomes manifest by the power of time. Thus nature, the almighty Viñëu and time are not different from Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth.

SB 11.24.20 - As long as the Supreme Personality of Godhead continues to glance upon nature, the material world continues to exist, perpetually manifesting through procreation the great and variegated flow of universal creation.

SB 11.24.21 - I am the basis of the universal form, which displays endless variety through the repeated creation, maintenance and destruction of the planetary systems. Originally containing within itself all planets in their dormant state, My universal form manifests the varieties of created existence by arranging the coordinated combination of the five elements.

SB 11.24.22-27 - At the time of annihilation, the mortal body of the living being becomes merged into food. Food merges into the grains, and the grains merge back into the earth. The earth merges into its subtle sensation, fragrance. Fragrance merges into water, and water further merges into its own quality, taste. That taste merges into fire, which merges into form. Form merges into touch, and touch merges into ether. Ether finally merges into the sensation of sound. The senses all merge into their own origins, the presiding demigods, and they, O gentle Uddhava, merge into the controlling mind, which itself merges into false ego in the mode of goodness. Sound becomes one with false ego in the mode of ignorance, and all-powerful false ego, the first of all the physical elements, merges into the total nature. The total material nature, the primary repository of the three basic modes, dissolves into the modes. These modes of nature then merge into the unmanifest form of nature, and that unmanifest form merges into time. Time merges into the Supreme Lord, present in the form of the omniscient Mahā-puruṣa, the original activator of all living beings. That origin of all life merges into Me, the unborn Supreme Soul, who remains alone, established within Himself. It is from Him that all creation and annihilation are manifested.

SB 11.24.28 - Just as the rising sun removes the darkness of the sky, similarly, this scientific knowledge of cosmic annihilation removes all illusory duality from the mind of a serious student. Even if illusion somehow enters his heart, it cannot remain there.

SB 11.24.29 - Thus I, the perfect seer of everything material and spiritual, have spoken this knowledge of Sāi khyā, which destroys the illusion of doubt by scientific analysis of creation and annihilation.

62 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.24.1 - Lord Çré Kāṇēa said: Now I shall describe to you the science of Sāi khyā, which has been perfectly established by ancient authorities. By understanding this science a person can immediately give up the illusion of material duality.

SB 11.24.2 - Originally, during the Kāta-yuga, when all men were very expert in spiritual discrimination, and also previous to that, during the period of annihilation, the seer existed alone, nondifferent from the seen object.

SB 11.24.3 - That one Absolute Truth, remaining free from material dualities and inaccessible to ordinary speech and mind, divided Himself into two categories-the material nature and the living entities who are trying to enjoy the manifestations of that nature.

SB 11.24.4 - Of these two categories of manifestation, one is material nature, which embodies both the subtle causes and manifests products of matter. The other is the conscious living entity, designated as the enjoyer.

SB 11.24.5 - When material nature was agitated by My glance, the three material modes-goodness, passion and ignorance-became manifest to fulfill the pending desires of the conditioned souls.

SB 11.24.6 - From these modes arose the primeval sūtra, along with the mahat-tattva. By the transformation of the mahat-tattva was generated the false ego, the cause of the living entities' bewilderment.

SB 11.24.7 - False ego, which is the cause of physical sensation, the senses, and the mind, encompasses both spirit and matter and manifests, in three varieties: in the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance.

SB 11.24.8 - From false ego in the mode of ignorance came the subtle physical perceptions, from which the gross elements were generated. From false ego in the mode of passion came the senses, and from false ego in the mode of goodness arose the eleven demigods.

SB 11.24.9 - Impelled by Me, all these elements combined to function in an orderly fashion and together gave birth to the universal egg, which is My excellent place of residence.

SB 11.24.10 - I Myself appeared within that egg, which was floating on the causal water, and from My navel arose the universal lotus, the birthplace of self-born Brahmā.

SB 11.24.11 - Lord Brahmā, the soul of the universe, being endowed with the mode of passion, performed great austerities by My mercy and thus created the three planetary divisions, called Bhūr, Bhuvar and Svar, along with their presiding deities.

SB 11.24.12 - Heaven was established as the residence of the demigods, Bhuvarloka as that of the ghostly spirits, and the earth system as the place of human beings and other mortal creatures. Those mystics who strive for liberation are promoted beyond these three divisions.

SB 11.24.13 - Lord Brahmā created the region below the earth for the demons and the Nāga snakes. In this way the destinations of the three worlds were arranged as the corresponding reactions for different kinds of work performed within the three modes of nature.

SB 11.24.14 - By mystic yoga, great austerities and the renounced order of life, the pure destinations of Maharloka, Janoloka, Tapoloka and Satyaloka are attained. But by devotional yoga, one achieves My transcendental abode.

SB 11.24.15 - All results of fruitive work have been arranged within this world by Me, the supreme creator acting as the force of time. Thus one sometimes rises up toward the surface of this mighty river of the modes of nature and sometimes again submerges.

SB 11.24.16 - Whatever features visibly exist within this world-small or great, thin or stout-certainly contain both the material nature and its enjoyer, the spirit soul.

SB 11.24.17 - Gold and earth are originally existing as ingredients. From gold one may fashion golden ornaments such as bracelets and earrings, and from earth one may fashion clay pots and saucers. The original ingredients gold and earth exist before the products made from them, and when the products are eventually destroyed, the original ingredients, gold and earth, will remain. Thus, since the ingredients are present in the beginning and at the end, they must also be present in the middle phase, taking the form of a particular product to which we assign for convenience a particular name, such as bracelet, earring, pot or saucer. We can therefore understand that since the ingredient cause exists before the creation of a product and after the product's destruction, the same ingredient cause must be present during the manifest phase, supporting the product as the basis of its reality.

SB 11.24.18 - A material object, itself composed of an essential ingredient, creates another material object through transformation. Thus one created object becomes the cause and basis of another created object. A particular thing may thus be called real in that it possesses the basic nature of another object that constitutes its origin and final state.

SB 11.24.19 - The material universe may be considered real, having nature as its original ingredient and final state. Lord Mahā-Viñēu is the resting place of nature, which becomes manifest by the power of time. Thus nature, the almighty Viñēu and time are not different from Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth.

SB 11.24.20 - As long as the Supreme Personality of Godhead continues to glance upon nature, the material world continues to exist, perpetually manifesting through procreation the great and variegated flow of universal creation.

SB 11.24.21 - I am the basis of the universal form, which displays endless variety through the repeated creation, maintenance and destruction of the planetary systems. Originally containing within itself all planets in their dormant state, My universal form manifests the varieties of created existence by arranging the coordinated combination of the five elements.

SB 11.24.22-27 - At the time of annihilation, the mortal body of the living being becomes merged into food. Food merges into the grains, and the grains merge back into the earth. The earth merges into its subtle sensation, fragrance. Fragrance merges into water, and water further merges into its own quality, taste. That taste merges into fire, which merges into form. Form merges into touch, and touch merges into ether. Ether finally merges into the sensation of sound. The senses all merge into their own origins, the presiding demigods, and they, O gentle Uddhava, merge into the controlling mind, which itself merges into false ego in the mode of goodness. Sound becomes one with false ego in the mode of ignorance, and all-powerful false ego, the first of all the physical elements, merges into the total nature. The total material nature, the primary repository of the three basic modes, dissolves into the modes. These modes of nature then merge into the unmanifest form of nature, and that unmanifest form merges into time. Time merges into the Supreme Lord, present in the form of the omniscient Mahā-puruṣa, the original activator of all living beings. That origin of all life merges into Me, the unborn Supreme Soul, who remains alone, established within Himself. It is from Him that all creation and annihilation are manifested.

SB 11.24.28 - Just as the rising sun removes the darkness of the sky, similarly, this scientific knowledge of cosmic annihilation removes all illusory duality from the mind of a serious student. Even if illusion somehow enters his heart, it cannot remain there.

SB 11.24.29 - Thus I, the perfect seer of everything material and spiritual, have spoken this knowledge of Sāṁkhya, which destroys the illusion of doubt by scientific analysis of creation and annihilation.

63 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.24.1 - Lord Çré Kāñëa said: Now I shall describe to you the science of Sāi khya, which has been perfectly established by ancient authorities. By understanding this science a person can immediately give up the illusion of material duality.

SB 11.24.2 - Originally, during the Kāta-yuga, when all men were very expert in spiritual discrimination, and also previous to that, during the period of annihilation, the seer existed alone, nondifferent from the seen object.

SB 11.24.3 - That one Absolute Truth, remaining free from material dualities and inaccessible to ordinary speech and mind, divided Himself into two categories-the material nature and the living entities who are trying to enjoy the manifestations of that nature.

SB 11.24.4 - Of these two categories of manifestation, one is material nature, which embodies both the subtle causes and manifests products of matter. The other is the conscious living entity, designated as the enjoyer.

SB 11.24.5 - When material nature was agitated by My glance, the three material modes-goodness, passion and ignorance-became manifest to fulfill the pending desires of the conditioned souls.

SB 11.24.6 - From these modes arose the primeval sūtra, along with the mahat-tattva. By the transformation of the mahat-tattva was generated the false ego, the cause of the living entities' bewilderment.

SB 11.24.7 - False ego, which is the cause of physical sensation, the senses, and the mind, encompasses both spirit and matter and manifests, in three varieties: in the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance.

SB 11.24.8 - From false ego in the mode of ignorance came the subtle physical perceptions, from which the gross elements were generated. From false ego in the mode of passion came the senses, and from false ego in the mode of goodness arose the eleven demigods.

SB 11.24.9 - Impelled by Me, all these elements combined to function in an orderly fashion and together gave birth to the universal egg, which is My excellent place of residence.

SB 11.24.10 - I Myself appeared within that egg, which was floating on the causal water, and from My navel arose the universal lotus, the birthplace of self-born Brahmä.

SB 11.24.11 - Lord Brahmä, the soul of the universe, being endowed with the mode of passion, performed great austerities by My mercy and thus created the three planetary divisions, called Bhür, Bhuvar and Svar, along with their presiding deities.

SB 11.24.12 - Heaven was established as the residence of the demigods, Bhuvarloka as that of the ghostly spirits, and the earth system as the place of human beings and other mortal creatures. Those mystics who strive for liberation are promoted beyond these three divisions.

SB 11.24.13 - Lord Brahmä created the region below the earth for the demons and the Nāga snakes. In this way the destinations of the three worlds were arranged as the corresponding reactions for different kinds of work performed within the three modes of nature.

SB 11.24.14 - By mystic yoga, great austerities and the renounced order of life, the pure destinations of Maharloka, Janoloka, Tapoloka and Satyaloka are attained. But by devotional yoga, one achieves My transcendental abode.

SB 11.24.15 - All results of fruitive work have been arranged within this world by Me, the supreme creator acting as the force of time. Thus one sometimes rises up toward the surface of this mighty river of the modes of nature and sometimes again submerges.

SB 11.24.16 - Whatever features visibly exist within this world-small or great, thin or stout-certainly contain both the material nature and its enjoyer, the spirit soul.

SB 11.24.17 - Gold and earth are originally existing as ingredients. From gold one may fashion golden ornaments such as bracelets and earrings, and from earth one may fashion clay pots and saucers. The original ingredients gold and earth exist before the products made from them, and when the products are eventually destroyed, the original ingredients, gold and earth, will remain. Thus, since the ingredients are present in the beginning and at the end, they must also be present in the middle phase, taking the form of a particular product to which we assign for convenience a particular name, such as bracelet, earring, pot or saucer. We can therefore understand that since the ingredient cause exists before the creation of a product and after the product's destruction, the same ingredient cause must be present during the manifest phase, supporting the product as the basis of its reality.

SB 11.24.18 - A material object, itself composed of an essential ingredient, creates another material object through transformation. Thus one created object becomes the cause and basis of another created object. A particular thing may thus be called real in that it possesses the basic nature of another object that constitutes its origin and final state.

SB 11.24.19 - The material universe may be considered real, having nature as its original ingredient and final state. Lord Mahā-Viñēu is the resting place of nature, which becomes manifest by the power of time. Thus nature, the almighty Viñēu and time are not different from Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth.

SB 11.24.20 - As long as the Supreme Personality of Godhead continues to glance upon nature, the material world continues to exist, perpetually manifesting through procreation the great and variegated flow of universal creation.

SB 11.24.21 - I am the basis of the universal form, which displays endless variety through the repeated creation, maintenance and destruction of the planetary systems. Originally containing within itself all planets in their dormant state, My universal form manifests the varieties of created existence by arranging the coordinated combination of the five elements.

SB 11.24.22-27 - At the time of annihilation, the mortal body of the living being becomes merged into food. Food merges into the grains, and the grains merge back into the earth. The earth merges into its subtle sensation, fragrance. Fragrance merges into water, and water further merges into its own quality, taste. That taste merges into fire, which merges into form. Form merges into touch, and touch merges into ether. Ether finally merges into the sensation of sound. The senses all merge into their own origins, the presiding demigods, and they, O gentle Uddhava, merge into the controlling mind, which itself merges into false ego in the mode of goodness. Sound becomes one with false ego in the mode of ignorance, and all-powerful false ego, the first of all the physical elements, merges into the total nature. The total material nature, the primary repository of the three basic modes, dissolves into the modes. These modes of nature then merge into the unmanifest form of nature, and that unmanifest form merges into time. Time merges into the Supreme Lord, present in the form of the omniscient Mahā-puruṣa, the original activator of all living beings. That origin of all life merges into Me, the unborn Supreme Soul, who remains alone, established within Himself. It is from Him that all creation and annihilation are manifested.

SB 11.24.28 - Just as the rising sun removes the darkness of the sky, similarly, this scientific knowledge of cosmic annihilation removes all illusory duality from the mind of a serious student. Even if illusion somehow enters his heart, it cannot remain there.

SB 11.24.29 - Thus I, the perfect seer of everything material and spiritual, have spoken this knowledge of Sāi khyā, which destroys the illusion of doubt by scientific analysis of creation and annihilation.

64 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.25.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best among men, please listen as I describe to you how the living entity attains a particular nature by association with individual material modes.

SB 11.25.2-5 - Mind and sense control, tolerance, discrimination, sticking to one's prescribed duty, truthfulness, mercy, careful study of the past and future, satisfaction in any condition, generosity, renunciation of sense gratification, faith in the spiritual master, being embarrassed at improper action, charity, simplicity, humbleness and satisfaction within oneself are qualities of the mode of goodness. Material desire, great endeavor, audacity, dissatisfaction even in gain, false pride, praying for material advancement, considering oneself different and better than others, sense gratification, rash eagerness to fight, a fondness for hearing oneself praised, the tendency to ridicule others, advertising one's own prowess and justifying one's actions by one's strength are qualities of the mode of passion. Intolerant anger, stinginess, speaking without scriptural authority, violent hatred, living as a parasite, hypocrisy, chronic fatigue, quarrel, lamentation, delusion, unhappiness, depression, sleeping too much, false expectations, fear and laziness constitute the major qualities of the mode of ignorance. Now please hear about the combination of these three modes.

SB 11.25.6 - My dear Uddhava, the combination of all three modes is present in the mentality of "I" and "mine." The ordinary transactions of this world, which are carried out through the agency of the mind, the objects of perception, the senses and the vital airs of the physical body, are also based on the combination of the modes.

SB 11.25.7 - When a person devotes himself to religiosity, economic development and sense gratification, the faith, wealth and sensual enjoyment obtained by his endeavors display the interaction of the three modes of nature.

SB 11.25.8 - When a man desires sense gratification, being attached to family life, and when he consequently becomes established in religious and occupational duties, the combination of the modes of nature is manifest.

SB 11.25.9 - A person exhibiting qualities such as self-control is understood to be predominantly in the mode of goodness. Similarly, a passionate person is recognized by his lust, and one in ignorance is recognized by qualities such as anger.

SB 11.25.10 - Any person, whether man or woman, who worships Me with loving devotion, offering his or her prescribed duties unto Me without material attachment, is understood to be situated in goodness.

SB 11.25.11 - When a person worships Me by his prescribed duties with the hope of gaining material benefit, his nature should be understood to be in passion, and one who worships Me with the desire to commit violence against others is in ignorance.

SB 11.25.12 - The three modes of material nature-goodness, passion and ignorance-influence the living entity but not Me. Manifesting within his mind, they induce the living entity to become attached to material bodies and other created objects. In this way the living entity is bound up.

SB 11.25.13 - When the mode of goodness, which is luminous, pure and auspicious, predominates over passion and ignorance, a man becomes endowed with happiness, virtue, knowledge and other good qualities.

SB 11.25.14 - When the mode of passion, which causes attachment, separatism and activity, conquers ignorance and goodness, a man begins to work hard to acquire prestige and fortune. Thus in the mode of passion he experiences anxiety and struggle.

SB 11.25.15 - When the mode of ignorance conquers passion and goodness, it covers one's consciousness and makes one foolish and dull. Falling into lamentation and illusion, a person in the mode of ignorance sleeps excessively, indulges in false hopes, and displays violence toward others.

SB 11.25.16 - When consciousness becomes clear and the senses are detached from matter, one experiences fearlessness within the material body and detachment from the material mind. You should understand this situation to be the predominance of the mode of goodness, in which one has the opportunity to realize Me.

SB 11.25.17 - You should discern the mode of passion by its symptoms-the distortion of the intelligence because of too much activity, the inability of the perceiving senses to disentangle themselves from mundane objects, an unhealthy condition of the working physical organs, and the unsteady perplexity of the mind.

SB 11.25.18 - When one's higher awareness fails and finally disappears and one is thus unable to concentrate his attention, his mind is ruined and manifests ignorance and depression. You should understand this situation to be the predominance of the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.25.19 - With the increase of the mode of goodness, the strength of the demigods similarly increases. When passion increases, the demoniac become strong. And with the rise of ignorance, O Uddhava, the strength of the most wicked increases.

SB 11.25.20 - It should be understood that alert wakefulness comes from the mode of goodness, sleep with dreaming from the mode of passion, and deep, dreamless sleep from the mode of ignorance. The fourth state of consciousness pervades these three and is transcendental.

SB 11.25.21 - Learned persons dedicated to Vedic culture are elevated by the mode of goodness to higher and higher positions. The mode of ignorance, on the other hand, forces one to fall headfirst into lower and lower births. And by the mode of passion one continues transmigrating through human bodies.

SB 11.25.22 - Those who leave this world in the mode of goodness go to the heavenly planets, those who pass away in the mode of passion remain in the world of human beings, and those dying in the mode of ignorance must go to hell. But those who are free from the influence of all modes of nature come to Me.

SB 11.25.23 - Work performed as an offering to Me, without consideration of the fruit, is considered to be in the mode of goodness. Work performed with a desire to enjoy the results is in the mode of passion. And work impelled by violence and envy is in the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.25.24 - Absolute knowledge is in the mode of goodness, knowledge based on duality is in the mode of passion, and foolish, materialistic knowledge is in the mode of ignorance. Knowledge based upon Me, however, is understood to be transcendental.

SB 11.25.25 - Residence in the forest is in the mode of goodness, residence in a town is in the mode of passion, residence in a gambling house displays the quality of ignorance, and residence in a place where I reside is transcendental.

SB 11.25.26 - A worker free of attachment is in the mode of goodness, a worker blinded by personal desire is in the mode of passion, and a worker who has completely forgotten how to tell right from wrong is in the mode of ignorance. But a worker who has taken shelter of Me is understood to be transcendental to the modes of nature.

SB 11.25.27 - Faith directed toward spiritual life is in the mode of goodness, faith rooted in fruitive work is in the mode of passion, faith residing in irreligious activities is in the mode of ignorance, but faith in My devotional service is purely transcendental.

SB 11.25.28 - Food that is wholesome, pure and obtained without difficulty is in the mode of goodness, food that gives immediate pleasure to the senses is in the mode of passion, and food that is unclean and causes distress is in the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.25.29 - Happiness derived from the self is in the mode of goodness, happiness based on sense gratification is in the mode of passion, and happiness based on delusion and degradation is in the mode of ignorance. But that happiness found within Me is transcendental.

SB 11.25.30 - Therefore material substance, place, result of activity, time, knowledge, work, the performer of work, faith, state of consciousness, species of life and destination after death are all based on the three modes of material nature.

SB 11.25.31 - O best of human beings, all states of material being are related to the interaction of the enjoying soul and material nature. Whether seen, heard of or only conceived within the mind, they are without exception constituted of the modes of nature.

SB 11.25.32 - O gentle Uddhava, all these different phases of conditioned life arise from work born of the modes of material nature. The living entity who conquers these modes, manifested from the mind, can dedicate himself to Me by the process of devotional service and thus attain pure love for Me.

SB 11.25.33 - Therefore, having achieved this human form of life, which allows one to develop full knowledge, those who are intelligent should free themselves from all contamination of the modes of nature and engage exclusively in loving service to Me.

SB 11.25.34 - A wise sage, free from all material association and unbewildered, should subdue his senses and worship Me. He should conquer the modes of passion and ignorance by engaging himself only with things in the mode of goodness.

SB 11.25.35 - Then, being fixed in devotional service, the sage should also conquer the material mode of goodness by indifference toward the modes. Thus pacified within his mind, the spirit soul, freed from the modes of nature, gives up the very cause of his conditioned life and attains Me.

SB 11.25.36 - Freed from the subtle conditioning of the mind and from the modes of nature born of material consciousness, the living entity becomes completely satisfied by experiencing My transcendental form. He no longer searches for enjoyment in the external energy, nor does he contemplate or remember such enjoyment within himself.

65 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.25.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best among men, please listen as I describe to you how the living entity attains a particular nature by association with individual material modes.

SB 11.25.2-5 - Mind and sense control, tolerance, discrimination, sticking to one's prescribed duty, truthfulness, mercy, careful study of the past and future, satisfaction in any condition, generosity, renunciation of sense gratification, faith in the spiritual master, being embarrassed at improper action, charity, simplicity, humbleness and satisfaction within oneself are qualities of the mode of goodness. Material desire, great endeavor, audacity, dissatisfaction even in gain, false pride, praying for material advancement, considering oneself different and better than others, sense gratification, rash eagerness to fight, a fondness for hearing oneself praised, the tendency to ridicule others, advertising one's own prowess and justifying one's actions by one's strength are qualities of the mode of passion. Intolerant anger, stinginess, speaking without scriptural authority, violent hatred, living as a parasite, hypocrisy, chronic fatigue, quarrel, lamentation, delusion, unhappiness, depression, sleeping too much, false expectations, fear and laziness constitute the major qualities of the mode of ignorance. Now please hear about the combination of these three modes.

SB 11.25.6 - My dear Uddhava, the combination of all three modes is present in the mentality of "I" and "mine." The ordinary transactions of this world, which are carried out through the agency of the mind, the objects of perception, the senses and the vital airs of the physical body, are also based on the combination of the modes.

SB 11.25.7 - When a person devotes himself to religiosity, economic development and sense gratification, the faith, wealth and sensual enjoyment obtained by his endeavors display the interaction of the three modes of nature.

SB 11.25.8 - When a man desires sense gratification, being attached to family life, and when he consequently becomes established in religious and occupational duties, the combination of the modes of nature is manifest.

SB 11.25.9 - A person exhibiting qualities such as self-control is understood to be predominantly in the mode of goodness. Similarly, a passionate person is recognized by his lust, and one in ignorance is recognized by qualities such as anger.

SB 11.25.10 - Any person, whether man or woman, who worships Me with loving devotion, offering his or her prescribed duties unto Me without material attachment, is understood to be situated in goodness.

SB 11.25.11 - When a person worships Me by his prescribed duties with the hope of gaining material benefit, his nature should be understood to be in passion, and one who worships Me with the desire to commit violence against others is in ignorance.

SB 11.25.12 - The three modes of material nature-goodness, passion and ignorance-influence the living entity but not Me. Manifesting within his mind, they induce the living entity to become attached to material bodies and other created objects. In this way the living entity is bound up.

SB 11.25.13 - When the mode of goodness, which is luminous, pure and auspicious, predominates over passion and ignorance, a man becomes endowed with happiness, virtue, knowledge and other good qualities.

SB 11.25.14 - When the mode of passion, which causes attachment, separatism and activity, conquers ignorance and goodness, a man begins to work hard to acquire prestige and fortune. Thus in the mode of passion he experiences anxiety and struggle.

SB 11.25.15 - When the mode of ignorance conquers passion and goodness, it covers one's consciousness and makes one foolish and dull. Falling into lamentation and illusion, a person in the mode of ignorance sleeps excessively, indulges in false hopes, and displays violence toward others.

SB 11.25.16 - When consciousness becomes clear and the senses are detached from matter, one experiences fearlessness within the material body and detachment from the material mind. You should understand this situation to be the predominance of the mode of goodness, in which one has the opportunity to realize Me.

SB 11.25.17 - You should discern the mode of passion by its symptoms-the distortion of the intelligence because of too much activity, the inability of the perceiving senses to disentangle themselves from mundane objects, an unhealthy condition of the working physical organs, and the unsteady perplexity of the mind.

SB 11.25.18 - When one's higher awareness fails and finally disappears and one is thus unable to concentrate his attention, his mind is ruined and manifests ignorance and depression. You should understand this situation to be the predominance of the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.25.19 - With the increase of the mode of goodness, the strength of the demigods similarly increases. When passion increases, the demoniac become strong. And with the rise of ignorance, O Uddhava, the strength of the most wicked increases.

SB 11.25.20 - It should be understood that alert wakefulness comes from the mode of goodness, sleep with dreaming from the mode of passion, and deep, dreamless sleep from the mode of ignorance. The fourth state of consciousness pervades these three and is transcendental.

SB 11.25.21 - Learned persons dedicated to Vedic culture are elevated by the mode of goodness to higher and higher positions. The mode of ignorance, on the other hand, forces one to fall headfirst into lower and lower births. And by the mode of passion one continues transmigrating through human bodies.

SB 11.25.22 - Those who leave this world in the mode of goodness go to the heavenly planets, those who pass away in the mode of passion remain in the world of human beings, and those dying in the mode of ignorance must go to hell. But those who are free from the influence of all modes of nature come to Me.

SB 11.25.23 - Work performed as an offering to Me, without consideration of the fruit, is considered to be in the mode of goodness. Work performed with a desire to enjoy the results is in the mode of passion. And work impelled by violence and envy is in the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.25.24 - Absolute knowledge is in the mode of goodness, knowledge based on duality is in the mode of passion, and foolish, materialistic knowledge is in the mode of ignorance. Knowledge based upon Me, however, is understood to be transcendental.

SB 11.25.25 - Residence in the forest is in the mode of goodness, residence in a town is in the mode of passion, residence in a gambling house displays the quality of ignorance, and residence in a place where I reside is transcendental.

SB 11.25.26 - A worker free of attachment is in the mode of goodness, a worker blinded by personal desire is in the mode of passion, and a worker who has completely forgotten how to tell right from wrong is in the mode of ignorance. But a worker who has taken shelter of Me is understood to be transcendental to the modes of nature.

SB 11.25.27 - Faith directed toward spiritual life is in the mode of goodness, faith rooted in fruitive work is in the mode of passion, faith residing in irreligious activities is in the mode of ignorance, but faith in My devotional service is purely transcendental.

SB 11.25.28 - Food that is wholesome, pure and obtained without difficulty is in the mode of goodness, food that gives immediate pleasure to the senses is in the mode of passion, and food that is unclean and causes distress is in the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.25.29 - Happiness derived from the self is in the mode of goodness, happiness based on sense gratification is in the mode of passion, and happiness based on delusion and degradation is in the mode of ignorance. But that happiness found within Me is transcendental.

SB 11.25.30 - Therefore material substance, place, result of activity, time, knowledge, work, the performer of work, faith, state of consciousness, species of life and

destination after death are all based on the three modes of material nature.

SB 11.25.31 - O best of human beings, all states of material being are related to the interaction of the enjoying soul and material nature. Whether seen, heard of or only conceived within the mind, they are without exception constituted of the modes of nature.

SB 11.25.32 - O gentle Uddhava, all these different phases of conditioned life arise from work born of the modes of material nature. The living entity who conquers these modes, manifested from the mind, can dedicate himself to Me by the process of devotional service and thus attain pure love for Me.

SB 11.25.33 - Therefore, having achieved this human form of life, which allows one to develop full knowledge, those who are intelligent should free themselves from all contamination of the modes of nature and engage exclusively in loving service to Me.

SB 11.25.34 - A wise sage, free from all material association and unbewildered, should subdue his senses and worship Me. He should conquer the modes of passion and ignorance by engaging himself only with things in the mode of goodness.

SB 11.25.35 - Then, being fixed in devotional service, the sage should also conquer the material mode of goodness by indifference toward the modes. Thus pacified within his mind, the spirit soul, freed from the modes of nature, gives up the very cause of his conditioned life and attains Me.

SB 11.25.36 - Freed from the subtle conditioning of the mind and from the modes of nature born of material consciousness, the living entity becomes completely satisfied by experiencing My transcendental form. He no longer searches for enjoyment in the external energy, nor does he contemplate or remember such enjoyment within himself.

66 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.25.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O best among men, please listen as I describe to you how the living entity attains a particular nature by association with individual material modes.

SB 11.25.2-5 - Mind and sense control, tolerance, discrimination, sticking to one's prescribed duty, truthfulness, mercy, careful study of the past and future, satisfaction in any condition, generosity, renunciation of sense gratification, faith in the spiritual master, being embarrassed at improper action, charity, simplicity, humbleness and satisfaction within oneself are qualities of the mode of goodness. Material desire, great endeavor, audacity, dissatisfaction even in gain, false pride, praying for material advancement, considering oneself different and better than others, sense gratification, rash eagerness to fight, a fondness for hearing oneself praised, the tendency to ridicule others, advertising one's own prowess and justifying one's actions by one's strength are qualities of the mode of passion. Intolerant anger, stinginess, speaking without scriptural authority, violent hatred, living as a parasite, hypocrisy, chronic fatigue, quarrel, lamentation, delusion, unhappiness, depression, sleeping too much, false expectations, fear and laziness constitute the major qualities of the mode of ignorance. Now please hear about the combination of these three modes.

SB 11.25.6 - My dear Uddhava, the combination of all three modes is present in the mentality of "I" and "mine." The ordinary transactions of this world, which are carried out through the agency of the mind, the objects of perception, the senses and the vital airs of the physical body, are also based on the combination of the modes.

SB 11.25.7 - When a person devotes himself to religiosity, economic development and sense gratification, the faith, wealth and sensual enjoyment obtained by his endeavors display the interaction of the three modes of nature.

SB 11.25.8 - When a man desires sense gratification, being attached to family life, and when he consequently becomes established in religious and occupational duties, the combination of the modes of nature is manifest.

SB 11.25.9 - A person exhibiting qualities such as self-control is understood to be predominantly in the mode of goodness. Similarly, a passionate person is recognized by his lust, and one in ignorance is recognized by qualities such as anger.

SB 11.25.10 - Any person, whether man or woman, who worships Me with loving devotion, offering his or her prescribed duties unto Me without material attachment, is understood to be situated in goodness.

SB 11.25.11 - When a person worships Me by his prescribed duties with the hope of gaining material benefit, his nature should be understood to be in passion, and one who worships Me with the desire to commit violence against others is in ignorance.

SB 11.25.12 - The three modes of material nature-goodness, passion and ignorance-influence the living entity but not Me. Manifesting within his mind, they induce the living entity to become attached to material bodies and other created objects. In this way the living entity is bound up.

SB 11.25.13 - When the mode of goodness, which is luminous, pure and auspicious, predominates over passion and ignorance, a man becomes endowed with happiness, virtue, knowledge and other good qualities.

SB 11.25.14 - When the mode of passion, which causes attachment, separatism and activity, conquers ignorance and goodness, a man begins to work hard to acquire prestige and fortune. Thus in the mode of passion he experiences anxiety and struggle.

SB 11.25.15 - When the mode of ignorance conquers passion and goodness, it covers one's consciousness and makes one foolish and dull. Falling into lamentation and illusion, a person in the mode of ignorance sleeps excessively, indulges in false hopes, and displays violence toward others.

SB 11.25.16 - When consciousness becomes clear and the senses are detached from matter, one experiences fearlessness within the material body and detachment from the material mind. You should understand this situation to be the predominance of the mode of goodness, in which one has the opportunity to realize Me.

SB 11.25.17 - You should discern the mode of passion by its symptoms-the distortion of the intelligence because of too much activity, the inability of the perceiving senses to disentangle themselves from mundane objects, an unhealthy condition of the working physical organs, and the unsteady perplexity of the mind.

SB 11.25.18 - When one's higher awareness fails and finally disappears and one is thus unable to concentrate his attention, his mind is ruined and manifests ignorance and depression. You should understand this situation to be the predominance of the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.25.19 - With the increase of the mode of goodness, the strength of the demigods similarly increases. When passion increases, the demoniac become strong. And with the rise of ignorance, O Uddhava, the strength of the most wicked increases.

SB 11.25.20 - It should be understood that alert wakefulness comes from the mode of goodness, sleep with dreaming from the mode of passion, and deep, dreamless sleep from the mode of ignorance. The fourth state of consciousness pervades these three and is transcendental.

SB 11.25.21 - Learned persons dedicated to Vedic culture are elevated by the mode of goodness to higher and higher positions. The mode of ignorance, on the other hand, forces one to fall headfirst into lower and lower births. And by the mode of passion one continues transmigrating through human bodies.

SB 11.25.22 - Those who leave this world in the mode of goodness go to the heavenly planets, those who pass away in the mode of passion remain in the world of human beings, and those dying in the mode of ignorance must go to hell. But those who are free from the influence of all modes of nature come to Me.

SB 11.25.23 - Work performed as an offering to Me, without consideration of the fruit, is considered to be in the mode of goodness. Work performed with a desire to enjoy the results is in the mode of passion. And work impelled by violence and envy is in the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.25.24 - Absolute knowledge is in the mode of goodness, knowledge based on duality is in the mode of passion, and foolish, materialistic knowledge is in the mode of ignorance. Knowledge based upon Me, however, is understood to be transcendental.

SB 11.25.25 - Residence in the forest is in the mode of goodness, residence in a town is in the mode of passion, residence in a gambling house displays the quality of ignorance, and residence in a place where I reside is transcendental.

SB 11.25.26 - A worker free of attachment is in the mode of goodness, a worker blinded by personal desire is in the mode of passion, and a worker who has completely forgotten how to tell right from wrong is in the mode of ignorance. But a worker who has taken shelter of Me is understood to be transcendental to the modes of nature.

SB 11.25.27 - Faith directed toward spiritual life is in the mode of goodness, faith rooted in fruitive work is in the mode of passion, faith residing in irreligious activities is in the mode of ignorance, but faith in My devotional service is purely transcendental.

SB 11.25.28 - Food that is wholesome, pure and obtained without difficulty is in the mode of goodness, food that gives immediate pleasure to the senses is in the mode of passion, and food that is unclean and causes distress is in the mode of ignorance.

SB 11.25.29 - Happiness derived from the self is in the mode of goodness, happiness based on sense gratification is in the mode of passion, and happiness based on delusion and degradation is in the mode of ignorance. But that happiness found within Me is transcendental.

SB 11.25.30 - Therefore material substance, place, result of activity, time, knowledge, work, the performer of work, faith, state of consciousness, species of life and

destination after death are all based on the three modes of material nature.

SB 11.25.31 - O best of human beings, all states of material being are related to the interaction of the enjoying soul and material nature. Whether seen, heard of or only conceived within the mind, they are without exception constituted of the modes of nature.

SB 11.25.32 - O gentle Uddhava, all these different phases of conditioned life arise from work born of the modes of material nature. The living entity who conquers these modes, manifested from the mind, can dedicate himself to Me by the process of devotional service and thus attain pure love for Me.

SB 11.25.33 - Therefore, having achieved this human form of life, which allows one to develop full knowledge, those who are intelligent should free themselves from all contamination of the modes of nature and engage exclusively in loving service to Me.

SB 11.25.34 - A wise sage, free from all material association and unbewildered, should subdue his senses and worship Me. He should conquer the modes of passion and ignorance by engaging himself only with things in the mode of goodness.

SB 11.25.35 - Then, being fixed in devotional service, the sage should also conquer the material mode of goodness by indifference toward the modes. Thus pacified within his mind, the spirit soul, freed from the modes of nature, gives up the very cause of his conditioned life and attains Me.

SB 11.25.36 - Freed from the subtle conditioning of the mind and from the modes of nature born of material consciousness, the living entity becomes completely satisfied by experiencing My transcendental form. He no longer searches for enjoyment in the external energy, nor does he contemplate or remember such enjoyment within himself.

67 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.26.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having achieved this human form of life, which affords one the opportunity to realize Me, and being situated in My devotional service, one can achieve Me, the reservoir of all pleasure and the Supreme Soul of all existence, residing within the heart of every living being.

SB 11.26.2 - A person fixed in transcendental knowledge is freed from conditioned life by giving up his false identification with the products of the material modes of nature. Seeing these products as simply illusion, he avoids entanglement with the modes of nature, although constantly among them. Because the modes of nature and their products are simply not real, he does not accept them.

SB 11.26.3 - One should never associate with materialists, those dedicated to gratifying their genitals and bellies. By following them one falls into the deepest pit of darkness, just like a blind man who follows another blind man.

SB 11.26.4 - The following song was sung by the famous emperor Purüravä. When deprived of his wife, Urvaçé, he was at first bewildered, but by controlling his lamentation he began to feel detachment.

SB 11.26.5 - When she was leaving him, even though he was naked he ran after her just like a madman and called out in great distress, "O my wife, O terrible lady! Please stop!"

SB 11.26.6 - Although for many years Purüravä had enjoyed sex pleasure in the evening hours, still he was not satisfied by such insignificant enjoyment. His mind was so attracted to Urvaçé that he did not notice how the nights were coming and going.

SB 11.26.7 - King Aila said: Alas, just see the extent of my delusion! This goddess was embracing me and held my neck in her grip. My heart was so polluted by lust that I had no idea how my life was passing.

SB 11.26.8 - That lady cheated me so much that I did not even see the rising or setting of the sun. Alas, for so many years I passed my days in vain!

SB 11.26.9 - Alas, although I am supposed to be a mighty emperor, the crown jewel of all kings on this earth, just see how my bewilderment has rendered me a toy animal in the hands of women!

SB 11.26.10 - Although I was a powerful lord with great opulence, that woman gave me up as if I were no more than an insignificant blade of grass. And still, naked and without shame, I followed her, crying out to her like a madman.

SB 11.26.11 - Where are my so-called great influence, power and sovereignty? Just like an ass being kicked in the face by his she-ass, I ran after that woman, who had already given me up.

SB 11.26.12 - What is the use of a big education or the practice of austerities and renunciation, and what is the use of studying religious scriptures, of living in solitude and silence, if, after all that, one's mind is stolen by a woman?

SB 11.26.13 - To hell with me! I am such a fool that I didn't even know what was good for me, although I arrogantly thought I was highly intelligent. Although I achieved the exalted position of a lord, I allowed myself to be conquered by women as if I were a bullock or a jackass.

SB 11.26.14 - Even after I had served the so-called nectar of the lips of Urvaçé for many years, my lusty desires kept rising again and again within my heart and were never satisfied, just like a fire that can never be extinguished by the oblations of ghee poured into its flames.

SB 11.26.15 - Who but the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who lies beyond material perception and is the Lord of self-satisfied sages, can possibly save my consciousness, which has been stolen by a prostitute?

SB 11.26.16 - Because I allowed my intelligence to become dull and because I failed to control my senses, the great confusion in my mind did not go away, even though Urvaçé herself gave me wise counsel with well-spoken words.

SB 11.26.17 - How can I blame her for my trouble when I myself am ignorant of my real, spiritual nature? I did not control my senses, and so I am like a person who mistakenly sees a harmless rope as a snake.

SB 11.26.18 - What is this polluted body anyway-so filthy and full of bad odors? I was attracted by the fragrance and beauty of a woman's body, but what are those so-called attractive features? They are simply a false covering created by illusion.

SB 11.26.19-20 - One can never decide whose property the body actually is. Does it belong to one's parents, who have given birth to it, to one's wife, who gives it pleasure, or to one's employer, who orders the body around? Is it the property of the funeral fire or of the dogs and jackals who may ultimately devour it? Is it the property of the indwelling soul, who partakes in its happiness and distress, or does the body belong to intimate friends who encourage and help it? Although a man never definitely ascertains the proprietor of the body, he becomes most attached to it. The material body is a polluted material form heading toward a lowly destination, yet when a man stares at the face of a woman he thinks, "What a good-looking lady! What a charming nose she's got, and see her beautiful smile!"

SB 11.26.21 - What difference is there between ordinary worms and persons who try to enjoy this material body composed of skin, flesh, blood, muscle, fat, marrow, bone, stool, urine and pus?

SB 11.26.22 - Yet even one who theoretically understands the actual nature of the body should never associate with women or with men attached to women. After all, the contact of the senses with their objects inevitably agitates the mind.

SB 11.26.23 - Because the mind is not disturbed by that which is neither seen nor heard, the mind of a person who restricts the material senses will automatically be checked in its material activities and become pacified.

SB 11.26.24 - Therefore one should never let his senses associate freely with women or with men attached to women. Even those who are highly learned cannot trust the six enemies of the mind; what to speak, then, of foolish persons like me.

SB 11.26.25 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having thus chanted this song, Mahārāja Purūravā, eminent among the demigods and human beings, gave up the position he had achieved in the planet of Urvāṇī. His illusion cleansed away by transcendental knowledge, he understood Me to be the Supreme Soul within his heart and so at last achieved peace.

SB 11.26.26 - An intelligent person should therefore reject all bad association and instead take up the association of saintly devotees, whose words cut off the excessive attachment of one's mind.

SB 11.26.27 - My devotees fix their minds on Me and do not depend upon anything material. They are always peaceful, endowed with equal vision, and free from possessiveness, false ego, duality and greed.

SB 11.26.28 - O greatly fortunate Uddhava, in the association of such saintly devotees there is constant discussion of Me, and those partaking in this chanting and hearing of My glories are certainly purified of all sins.

SB 11.26.29 - Whoever hears, chants and respectfully takes to heart these topics about Me becomes faithfully dedicated to Me and thus achieves My devotional service.

SB 11.26.30 - What more remains to be accomplished for the perfect devotee after achieving devotional service unto Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth, whose qualities are innumerable and who am the embodiment of all ecstatic experience?

SB 11.26.31 - Just as cold, fear and darkness are eradicated for one who has approached the sacrificial fire, so dullness, fear and ignorance are destroyed for one engaged in serving the devotees of the Lord.

SB 11.26.32 - The devotees of the Lord, peacefully fixed in absolute knowledge, are the ultimate shelter for those who are repeatedly rising and falling within the fearful ocean of material life. Such devotees are just like a strong boat that comes to rescue persons who are at the point of drowning.

SB 11.26.33 - Just as food is the life of all creatures, just as I am the ultimate shelter for the distressed, and just as religion is the wealth of those who are passing away from this world, so My devotees are the only refuge of persons fearful of falling into a miserable condition of life.

SB 11.26.34 - My devotees bestow divine eyes, whereas the sun allows only external sight, and that only when it is risen in the sky. My devotees are one's real worshipable deities and real family; they are one's own self, and ultimately they are nondifferent from Me.

SB 11.26.35 - Thus losing his desire to be on the same planet as Urvaçé, Mahārāja Purūravā began to wander the earth free of all material association and completely satisfied within the self.

68 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.26.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having achieved this human form of life, which affords one the opportunity to realize Me, and being situated in My devotional service, one can achieve Me, the reservoir of all pleasure and the Supreme Soul of all existence, residing within the heart of every living being.

SB 11.26.2 - A person fixed in transcendental knowledge is freed from conditioned life by giving up his false identification with the products of the material modes of nature. Seeing these products as simply illusion, he avoids entanglement with the modes of nature, although constantly among them. Because the modes of nature and their products are simply not real, he does not accept them.

SB 11.26.3 - One should never associate with materialists, those dedicated to gratifying their genitals and bellies. By following them one falls into the deepest pit of darkness, just like a blind man who follows another blind man.

SB 11.26.4 - The following song was sung by the famous emperor Purūravā. When deprived of his wife, Urvaçé, he was at first bewildered, but by controlling his lamentation he began to feel detachment.

SB 11.26.5 - When she was leaving him, even though he was naked he ran after her just like a madman and called out in great distress, "O my wife, O terrible lady! Please stop!"

SB 11.26.6 - Although for many years Purūravā had enjoyed sex pleasure in the evening hours, still he was not satisfied by such insignificant enjoyment. His mind was so attracted to Urvaçé that he did not notice how the nights were coming and going.

SB 11.26.7 - King Aila said: Alas, just see the extent of my delusion! This goddess was embracing me and held my neck in her grip. My heart was so polluted by lust that I had no idea how my life was passing.

SB 11.26.8 - That lady cheated me so much that I did not even see the rising or setting of the sun. Alas, for so many years I passed my days in vain!

SB 11.26.9 - Alas, although I am supposed to be a mighty emperor, the crown jewel of all kings on this earth, just see how my bewilderment has rendered me a toy animal in the hands of women!

SB 11.26.10 - Although I was a powerful lord with great opulence, that woman gave me up as if I were no more than an insignificant blade of grass. And still, naked and without shame, I followed her, crying out to her like a madman.

SB 11.26.11 - Where are my so-called great influence, power and sovereignty? Just like an ass being kicked in the face by his she-ass, I ran after that woman, who had already given me up.

SB 11.26.12 - What is the use of a big education or the practice of austerities and renunciation, and what is the use of studying religious scriptures, of living in solitude and silence, if, after all that, one's mind is stolen by a woman?

SB 11.26.13 - To hell with me! I am such a fool that I didn't even know what was good for me, although I arrogantly thought I was highly intelligent.

Although I achieved the exalted position of a lord, I allowed myself to be conquered by women as if I were a bullock or a jackass.

SB 11.26.14 - Even after I had served the so-called nectar of the lips of Urvaṇé for many years, my lusty desires kept rising again and again within my heart and were never satisfied, just like a fire that can never be extinguished by the oblations of ghee poured into its flames.

SB 11.26.15 - Who but the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who lies beyond material perception and is the Lord of self-satisfied sages, can possibly save my consciousness, which has been stolen by a prostitute?

SB 11.26.16 - Because I allowed my intelligence to become dull and because I failed to control my senses, the great confusion in my mind did not go away, even though Urvaṇé herself gave me wise counsel with well-spoken words.

SB 11.26.17 - How can I blame her for my trouble when I myself am ignorant of my real, spiritual nature? I did not control my senses, and so I am like a person who mistakenly sees a harmless rope as a snake.

SB 11.26.18 - What is this polluted body anyway-so filthy and full of bad odors? I was attracted by the fragrance and beauty of a woman's body, but what are those so-called attractive features? They are simply a false covering created by illusion.

SB 11.26.19-20 - One can never decide whose property the body actually is. Does it belong to one's parents, who have given birth to it, to one's wife, who gives it pleasure, or to one's employer, who orders the body around? Is it the property of the funeral fire or of the dogs and jackals who may ultimately devour it? Is it the property of the indwelling soul, who partakes in its happiness and distress, or does the body belong to intimate friends who encourage and help it? Although a man never definitely ascertains the proprietor of the body, he becomes most attached to it. The material body is a polluted material form heading toward a lowly destination, yet when a man stares at the face of a woman he thinks, "What a good-looking lady! What a charming nose she's got, and see her beautiful smile!"

SB 11.26.21 - What difference is there between ordinary worms and persons who try to enjoy this material body composed of skin, flesh, blood, muscle, fat, marrow, bone, stool, urine and pus?

SB 11.26.22 - Yet even one who theoretically understands the actual nature of the body should never associate with women or with men attached to women. After all, the contact of the senses with their objects inevitably agitates the mind.

SB 11.26.23 - Because the mind is not disturbed by that which is neither seen nor heard, the mind of a person who restricts the material senses will automatically be checked in its material activities and become pacified.

SB 11.26.24 - Therefore one should never let his senses associate freely with women or with men attached to women. Even those who are highly learned cannot trust the six enemies of the mind; what to speak, then, of foolish persons like me.

SB 11.26.25 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having thus chanted this song, Mahārāja Purūravā, eminent among the demigods and human beings, gave up the position he had achieved in the planet of Urvaçé. His illusion cleansed away by transcendental knowledge, he understood Me to be the Supreme Soul within his heart and so at last achieved peace.

SB 11.26.26 - An intelligent person should therefore reject all bad association and instead take up the association of saintly devotees, whose words cut off the excessive attachment of one's mind.

SB 11.26.27 - My devotees fix their minds on Me and do not depend upon anything material. They are always peaceful, endowed with equal vision, and free from possessiveness, false ego, duality and greed.

SB 11.26.28 - O greatly fortunate Uddhava, in the association of such saintly devotees there is constant discussion of Me, and those partaking in this chanting and hearing of My glories are certainly purified of all sins.

SB 11.26.29 - Whoever hears, chants and respectfully takes to heart these topics about Me becomes faithfully dedicated to Me and thus achieves My devotional service.

SB 11.26.30 - What more remains to be accomplished for the perfect devotee after achieving devotional service unto Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth, whose qualities are innumerable and who am the embodiment of all ecstatic experience?

SB 11.26.31 - Just as cold, fear and darkness are eradicated for one who has approached the sacrificial fire, so dullness, fear and ignorance are destroyed for one engaged in serving the devotees of the Lord.

SB 11.26.32 - The devotees of the Lord, peacefully fixed in absolute knowledge, are the ultimate shelter for those who are repeatedly rising and falling within the fearful ocean of material life. Such devotees are just like a strong boat that comes to rescue persons who are at the point of drowning.

SB 11.26.33 - Just as food is the life of all creatures, just as I am the ultimate shelter for the distressed, and just as religion is the wealth of those who are passing away from this world, so My devotees are the only refuge of persons fearful of falling into a miserable condition of life.

SB 11.26.34 - My devotees bestow divine eyes, whereas the sun allows only external sight, and that only when it is risen in the sky. My devotees are one's real worshipable deities and real family; they are one's own self, and ultimately they are nondifferent from Me.

SB 11.26.35 - Thus losing his desire to be on the same planet as Urvaçé, Mahārāja Purüravā began to wander the earth free of all material association and completely satisfied within the self.

69 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.26.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having achieved this human form of life, which affords one the opportunity to realize Me, and being situated in My devotional service, one can achieve Me, the reservoir of all pleasure and the Supreme Soul of all existence, residing within the heart of every living being.

SB 11.26.2 - A person fixed in transcendental knowledge is freed from conditioned life by giving up his false identification with the products of the material modes of nature. Seeing these products as simply illusion, he avoids entanglement with the modes of nature, although constantly among them. Because the modes of nature and their products are simply not real, he does not accept them.

SB 11.26.3 - One should never associate with materialists, those dedicated to gratifying their genitals and bellies. By following them one falls into the deepest pit of darkness, just like a blind man who follows another blind man.

SB 11.26.4 - The following song was sung by the famous emperor Purüravä. When deprived of his wife, Urvaçé, he was at first bewildered, but by controlling his lamentation he began to feel detachment.

SB 11.26.5 - When she was leaving him, even though he was naked he ran after her just like a madman and called out in great distress, "O my wife, O terrible lady! Please stop!"

SB 11.26.6 - Although for many years Purüravä had enjoyed sex pleasure in the evening hours, still he was not satisfied by such insignificant enjoyment. His mind was so attracted to Urvaçé that he did not notice how the nights were coming and going.

SB 11.26.7 - King Aila said: Alas, just see the extent of my delusion! This goddess was embracing me and held my neck in her grip. My heart was so polluted by lust that I had no idea how my life was passing.

SB 11.26.8 - That lady cheated me so much that I did not even see the rising or setting of the sun. Alas, for so many years I passed my days in vain!

SB 11.26.9 - Alas, although I am supposed to be a mighty emperor, the crown jewel of all kings on this earth, just see how my bewilderment has rendered me a toy animal in the hands of women!

SB 11.26.10 - Although I was a powerful lord with great opulence, that woman gave me up as if I were no more than an insignificant blade of grass. And still, naked and without shame, I followed her, crying out to her like a madman.

SB 11.26.11 - Where are my so-called great influence, power and sovereignty? Just like an ass being kicked in the face by his she-ass, I ran after that woman, who had already given me up.

SB 11.26.12 - What is the use of a big education or the practice of austerities and renunciation, and what is the use of studying religious scriptures, of living in solitude and silence, if, after all that, one's mind is stolen by a woman?

SB 11.26.13 - To hell with me! I am such a fool that I didn't even know what was good for me, although I arrogantly thought I was highly intelligent. Although I achieved the exalted position of a lord, I allowed myself to be conquered by women as if I were a bullock or a jackass.

SB 11.26.14 - Even after I had served the so-called nectar of the lips of Urvaçé for many years, my lusty desires kept rising again and again within my heart and were never satisfied, just like a fire that can never be extinguished by the oblations of ghee poured into its flames.

SB 11.26.15 - Who but the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who lies beyond material perception and is the Lord of self-satisfied sages, can possibly save my consciousness, which has been stolen by a prostitute?

SB 11.26.16 - Because I allowed my intelligence to become dull and because I failed to control my senses, the great confusion in my mind did not go away, even though Urvaçé herself gave me wise counsel with well-spoken words.

SB 11.26.17 - How can I blame her for my trouble when I myself am ignorant of my real, spiritual nature? I did not control my senses, and so I am like a person who mistakenly sees a harmless rope as a snake.

SB 11.26.18 - What is this polluted body anyway-so filthy and full of bad odors? I was attracted by the fragrance and beauty of a woman's body, but what are those so-called attractive features? They are simply a false covering created by illusion.

SB 11.26.19-20 - One can never decide whose property the body actually is. Does it belong to one's parents, who have given birth to it, to one's wife, who gives it pleasure, or to one's employer, who orders the body around? Is it the property of the funeral fire or of the dogs and jackals who may ultimately devour it? Is it the property of the indwelling soul, who partakes in its happiness and distress, or does the body belong to intimate friends who encourage and help it? Although a man never definitely ascertains the proprietor of the body, he becomes most attached to it. The material body is a polluted material form heading toward a lowly destination, yet when a man stares at the face of a woman he thinks, "What a good-looking lady! What a charming nose she's got, and see her beautiful smile!"

SB 11.26.21 - What difference is there between ordinary worms and persons who try to enjoy this material body composed of skin, flesh, blood, muscle, fat, marrow, bone, stool, urine and pus?

SB 11.26.22 - Yet even one who theoretically understands the actual nature of the body should never associate with women or with men attached to women. After all, the contact of the senses with their objects inevitably agitates the mind.

SB 11.26.23 - Because the mind is not disturbed by that which is neither seen nor heard, the mind of a person who restricts the material senses will automatically be checked in its material activities and become pacified.

SB 11.26.24 - Therefore one should never let his senses associate freely with women or with men attached to women. Even those who are highly learned cannot trust the six enemies of the mind; what to speak, then, of foolish persons like me.

SB 11.26.25 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Having thus chanted this song, Mahārāja Purūravā, eminent among the demigods and human beings, gave up the position he had achieved in the planet of Urvāṇī. His illusion cleansed away by transcendental knowledge, he understood Me to be the Supreme Soul within his heart and so at last achieved peace.

SB 11.26.26 - An intelligent person should therefore reject all bad association and instead take up the association of saintly devotees, whose words cut off the excessive attachment of one's mind.

SB 11.26.27 - My devotees fix their minds on Me and do not depend upon anything material. They are always peaceful, endowed with equal vision, and free from possessiveness, false ego, duality and greed.

SB 11.26.28 - O greatly fortunate Uddhava, in the association of such saintly devotees there is constant discussion of Me, and those partaking in this chanting and hearing of My glories are certainly purified of all sins.

SB 11.26.29 - Whoever hears, chants and respectfully takes to heart these topics about Me becomes faithfully dedicated to Me and thus achieves My devotional service.

SB 11.26.30 - What more remains to be accomplished for the perfect devotee after achieving devotional service unto Me, the Supreme Absolute Truth, whose qualities are innumerable and who am the embodiment of all ecstatic experience?

SB 11.26.31 - Just as cold, fear and darkness are eradicated for one who has approached the sacrificial fire, so dullness, fear and ignorance are destroyed for one engaged in serving the devotees of the Lord.

SB 11.26.32 - The devotees of the Lord, peacefully fixed in absolute knowledge, are the ultimate shelter for those who are repeatedly rising and falling within the fearful ocean of material life. Such devotees are just like a strong boat that comes to rescue persons who are at the point of drowning.

SB 11.26.33 - Just as food is the life of all creatures, just as I am the ultimate shelter for the distressed, and just as religion is the wealth of those who are passing away from this world, so My devotees are the only refuge of persons fearful of falling into a miserable condition of life.

SB 11.26.34 - My devotees bestow divine eyes, whereas the sun allows only external sight, and that only when it is risen in the sky. My devotees are one's real worshipable deities and real family; they are one's own self, and ultimately they are nondifferent from Me.

SB 11.26.35 - Thus losing his desire to be on the same planet as Urvaçé, Mahārāja Purūravā began to wander the earth free of all material association and completely satisfied within the self.

70 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.27.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, O master of the devotees, please explain to me the prescribed method of worshiping You in Your Deity form. What are the qualifications of those devotees who worship the Deity, on what basis is such worship established, and what is the specific method of worship?

SB 11.27.2 - All the great sages repeatedly declare that such worship brings the greatest benefit possible in human life. This is the opinion of Nārada Muni, the great Vyāsadeva and my own spiritual master, Bāhaspati.

SB 11.27.3-4 - O most magnanimous Lord, the instructions on this process of Deity worship first emanated from Your lotus mouth. Then they were spoken by the great Lord Brahmā to his sons, headed by Bhāgu, and by Lord Ćiva to his wife, Pārvaté. This process is accepted by and appropriate for all the occupational and spiritual orders of society. Therefore I consider worship of You in Your Deity form to be the most beneficial of all spiritual practices, even for women and çüdras.

SB 11.27.5 - O lotus-eyed one, O Supreme Lord of all lords of the universe, please explain to Your devoted servant this means of liberation from the bondage of work.

SB 11.27.6 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, there is no end to the innumerable Vedic prescriptions for executing Deity worship; so I shall explain this topic to you briefly, one step at a time.

SB 11.27.7 - One should carefully worship Me by selecting one of the three methods by which I receive sacrifice: Vedic, tantric or mixed.

SB 11.27.8 - Now please listen faithfully as I explain exactly how a person who has achieved twice-born status through the relevant Vedic prescriptions should worship Me with devotion.

SB 11.27.9 - A twice-born person should worship Me, his worshipable Lord, without duplicity, offering appropriate paraphernalia in loving devotion to My Deity form or to a form of Me appearing upon the ground, in fire, in the sun, in water or within the worshiper's own heart.

SB 11.27.10 - One should first purify his body by cleansing his teeth and bathing. Then one should perform a second cleansing by smearing the body with earth and chanting both Vedic and tantric mantras.

SB 11.27.11 - Fixing the mind on Me, one should worship Me by his various prescribed duties, such as chanting the Gāyatrī mantra at the three junctures of the day. Such performances are enjoined by the Vedas and purify the worshiper of reactions to fruitive activities.

SB 11.27.12 - The Deity form of the Lord is said to appear in eight varieties-stone, wood, metal, earth, paint, sand, the mind or jewels.

SB 11.27.13 - The Deity form of the Lord, who is the shelter of all living entities, can be established in two ways: temporarily or permanently. But a permanent Deity, having been called, can never be sent away, My dear Uddhava.

SB 11.27.14 - The Deity that is temporarily established can optionally be called forth and sent away, but these two rituals should always be performed when the Deity is traced upon the ground. Bathing should be done with water except if the Deity is made of clay, paint or wood, in which cases a thorough cleansing without water is enjoined.

SB 11.27.15 - One should worship Me in My Deity forms by offering the most excellent paraphernalia. But a devotee completely freed from material desire may worship Me with whatever he is able to obtain, and may even worship Me within his heart with mental paraphernalia.

SB 11.27.16-17 - In worshiping the temple Deity, my dear Uddhava, bathing and decoration are the most pleasing offerings. For the Deity traced on sacred ground, the process of tattva-vinyāsa is most dear. Oblations of sesame and barley soaked in ghee are the preferred offering to the sacrificial fire, whereas worship consisting of upasthāna and arghya is preferred for the sun. One should worship Me in the form of water by offering water itself. Actually, whatever is offered to Me with faith by My devotee-even if only a little water-is most dear to Me.

SB 11.27.18 - Even very opulent presentations do not satisfy Me if they are offered by nondevotees. But I am pleased by any insignificant offering made by My loving devotees, and I am certainly most pleased when nice presentations of fragrant oil, incense, flowers and palatable foods are offered with love.

SB 11.27.19 - After cleansing himself and collecting all the paraphernalia, the worshiper should arrange his own seat with blades of kuṇḍa grass whose tips point eastward. He should then sit facing either east or north, or else, if the Deity is fixed in one place, he should sit directly facing the Deity.

SB 11.27.20 - The devotee should sanctify the various parts of his body by touching them and chanting mantras. He should do the same for My Deity forms and then with his hands he should clean the Deity of old flowers and the remnants of previous offerings. He should properly prepare the sacred pot and the vessel containing water for sprinkling.

SB 11.27.21 - Then, with the water of that prokīṇāḍḍya vessel he should sprinkle the area where the Deity is being worshiped, the offerings that are going to be presented, and his own body. Next he should decorate with various auspicious substances three vessels filled with water.

SB 11.27.22 - The worshiper should then purify those three vessels. He should sanctify the vessel holding water for washing the Lord's feet by chanting hādayāya namaḥ, the vessel containing water for arghya by chanting çirase svähä, and the vessel containing water for washing the Lord's mouth by chanting çikhäyai vañaö. Also, the Gäyatré mantra should be chanted for all three vessels.

SB 11.27.23 - The worshiper should meditate upon My subtle form-which is situated within the worshiper's own body, now purified by air and fire-as the source of all living entities. This form of the Lord is experienced by self-realized sages in the last part of the vibration of the sacred syllable oà.

SB 11.27.24 - The devotee conceives of the Supersoul, whose presence surcharges the devotee's body, in the form corresponding to his realization. Thus the devotee worships the Lord to his full capacity and becomes fully absorbed in Him. By touching the various limbs of the Deity and chanting appropriate mantras, the devotee should invite the Supersoul to join the Deity's form, and then the devotee should worship Me.

SB 11.27.25-26 - The worshiper should first imagine My seat as decorated with the personified deities of religion, knowledge, renunciation and opulence and with My nine spiritual energies. He should think of the Lord's sitting place as an eight-petaled lotus, effulgent on account of the saffron filaments within its whorl. Then, following the regulations of both the Vedas and the tantras, he should offer Me water for washing the feet, water for washing the mouth, arghya and other items of worship. By this process he achieves both material enjoyment and liberation.

SB 11.27.27 - One should worship, in order, the Lord's Sudarçana disc, His Päi cajanya conchshell, His club, sword, bow, arrows and plow, His muñala weapon, His Kaustubha gem, His flower garland and the Çrévatsa curl of hair on His chest.

SB 11.27.28 - One should worship the Lord's associates Nanda and Sunanda, Garuòà, Pracaëòà and Caëòà, Mahäbala and Bala, and Kumuda and Kumudekñāëa.

SB 11.27.29 - With offerings such as prokñāëa one should worship Durgā, Vināyaka, Vyāsa, Viñvaksena, the spiritual masters and the various demigods. All these personalities should be in their proper places facing the Deity of the Lord.

SB 11.27.30-31 - The worshiper should bathe the Deity every day, as opulently as his assets permit, using waters scented with sandalwood, uçëra root, camphor, kuì kuma and aguru. He should also chant various Vedic hymns, such as the anuvāka known as Svarëa-gharma, the Mahāpuruña-vidyā, the Puruña-sūkta and various songs of the Sāma Veda, such as the Rājana and the Rohiëya.

SB 11.27.32 - My devotee should then lovingly decorate Me with clothing, a brāhmaëa thread, various ornaments, marks of tilaka and garlands, and he should anoint My body with fragrant oils, all in the prescribed manner.

SB 11.27.33 - The worshiper should faithfully present Me with water for washing My feet and mouth, fragrant oils, flowers and unbroken grains, along with incense, lamps and other offerings.

SB 11.27.34 - Within his means, the devotee should arrange to offer Me sugar candy, sweet rice, ghee, çāñkulé [rice-flour cakes], āpūpa [various sweet cakes], modaka [steamed rice-flour dumplings filled with sweet coconut and sugar], saàyāva [wheat cakes made with ghee and milk and covered with sugar and spices], yogurt, vegetable soups and other palatable foods.

SB 11.27.35 - On special occasions, and daily if possible, the Deity should be massaged with ointment, shown a mirror, offered a eucalyptus stick for brushing His teeth, bathed with the five kinds of nectar, offered all kinds of

opulent foods, and entertained with singing and dancing.

SB 11.27.36 - In an arena constructed according to scriptural injunctions, the devotee should perform a fire sacrifice, utilizing the sacred belt, the sacrificial pit and the altar mound. When igniting the sacrificial fire, the devotee should bring it to a blaze with wood piled up by his own hands.

SB 11.27.37 - After spreading kuṣa grass on the ground and sprinkling it with water, one should perform the anvādhāna ritual according to the prescribed rules. Then one should arrange the items to be offered as oblations and should sanctify them with water from the sprinkling vessel. The worshiper should next meditate upon Me within the fire.

SB 11.27.38-41 - The intelligent devotee should meditate upon that form of the Lord whose color is like molten gold, whose four arms are resplendent with the conchshell, disc, club and lotus flower, and who is always peaceful and dressed in a garment colored like the filaments within a lotus flower. His helmet, bracelets, belt and fine arm ornaments shine brilliantly. The symbol of Çrévatsa is on His chest, along with the glowing Kaustubha gem and a garland of forest flowers. The devotee should then worship that Lord by taking pieces of firewood soaked in the sacrificial ghee and throwing them into the fire. He should perform the ritual of āghāra, presenting into the fire the various items of oblation drenched in ghee. He should then offer to sixteen demigods, beginning with Yamarāja, the oblation called sviññi-kāt, reciting the basic mantras of each deity and the sixteen-line Puruṇa-sūkta hymn. Pouring one oblation after each line of the Puruṇa-sūkta, he should utter the particular mantra naming each deity.

SB 11.27.42 - Having thus worshiped the Lord in the sacrificial fire, the devotee should offer his obeisances to the Lord's personal associates by bowing down and should then present offerings to them. He should then chant quietly the mūla-mantra of the Deity of the Lord, remembering the Absolute Truth as the Supreme Personality, Nārāyaṇa.

SB 11.27.43 - Once again he should offer the Deity water for washing His mouth, and he should give the remnants of the Lord's food to Viṇvaksena. Then he should present the Deity with fragrant perfume for the mouth and prepared betel nut.

SB 11.27.44 - Singing along with others, chanting loudly and dancing, acting out My transcendental pastimes, and hearing and telling stories about Me, the devotee should for some time absorb himself in such festivity.

SB 11.27.45 - The devotee should offer homage to the Lord with all kinds of hymns and prayers, both from the Purāṇas and from other ancient scriptures, and also from ordinary traditions. Praying, "O Lord, please be merciful to me! "he should fall down flat like a rod to offer his obeisances.

SB 11.27.46 - Placing his head at the feet of the Deity, he should then stand with folded hands before the Lord and pray, "O my Lord, please protect me, who am surrendered unto You. I am most fearful of this ocean of material existence, standing as I am in the mouth of death."

SB 11.27.47 - Praying in this way, the devotee should respectfully place upon his head the remnants I offer to him. And if the particular Deity is meant to be sent away at the end of the worship, then this should be performed, the devotee once again placing the light of the Deity's presence inside the light of the lotus within his own heart.

SB 11.27.48 - Whenever one develops faith in Me-in My form as the Deity or in other bona fide manifestations-one should worship Me in that form. I certainly exist both within all created beings and also separately in My original form, since I am the Supreme Soul of all.

SB 11.27.49 - By worshiping Me through the various methods prescribed in the Vedas and tantras, one will gain from Me his desired perfection in both this life and the next.

SB 11.27.50 - The devotee should more fully establish My Deity by solidly constructing a temple, along with beautiful gardens. These gardens should be set aside to provide flowers for the regular daily worship, special Deity processions and holiday observances.

SB 11.27.51 - One who offers the Deity gifts of land, markets, cities and villages so that the regular daily worship and special festivals of the Deity may go on continually will achieve opulence equal to My own.

SB 11.27.52 - By installing the Deity of the Lord one becomes king of the entire earth, by building a temple for the Lord one becomes ruler of the three worlds, by worshiping and serving the Deity one goes to the planet of Lord Brahmā, and by performing all three of these activities one achieves a transcendental form like My own.

SB 11.27.53 - But one who simply engages in devotional service with no consideration of fruitive results attains Me. Thus whoever worships Me according to the process I have described will ultimately attain pure devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.27.54 - Anyone who steals the property of the demigods or the brāhmaëas, whether originally given to them by himself or someone else, must live as a worm in stool for one hundred million years.

SB 11.27.55 - Not only the performer of the theft but also anyone who assists him, instigates the crime, or simply approves of it must also share the reaction in the next life. According to their degree of participation, they each must suffer a proportionate consequence.

71 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.27.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, O master of the devotees, please explain to me the prescribed method of worshiping You in Your Deity form. What are the qualifications of those devotees who worship the Deity, on what basis is such worship established, and what is the specific method of worship?

SB 11.27.2 - All the great sages repeatedly declare that such worship brings the greatest benefit possible in human life. This is the opinion of Nārada Muni, the great Vyāsadeva and my own spiritual master, Bāhaspati.

SB 11.27.3-4 - O most magnanimous Lord, the instructions on this process of Deity worship first emanated from Your lotus mouth. Then they were spoken by the great Lord Brahmā to his sons, headed by Bhāgu, and by Lord Çiva to his wife, Pārvaté. This process is accepted by and appropriate for all the occupational and spiritual orders of society. Therefore I consider worship of You in Your Deity form to be the most beneficial of all spiritual practices, even for women and çüdras.

SB 11.27.5 - O lotus-eyed one, O Supreme Lord of all lords of the universe, please explain to Your devoted servant this means of liberation from the bondage of work.

SB 11.27.6 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, there is no end to the innumerable Vedic prescriptions for executing Deity worship; so I shall explain this topic to you briefly, one step at a time.

SB 11.27.7 - One should carefully worship Me by selecting one of the three methods by which I receive sacrifice: Vedic, tantric or mixed.

SB 11.27.8 - Now please listen faithfully as I explain exactly how a person who has achieved twice-born status through the relevant Vedic prescriptions should worship Me with devotion.

SB 11.27.9 - A twice-born person should worship Me, his worshipable Lord, without duplicity, offering appropriate paraphernalia in loving devotion to My Deity form or to a form of Me appearing upon the ground, in fire, in the sun, in water or within the worshiper's own heart.

SB 11.27.10 - One should first purify his body by cleansing his teeth and bathing. Then one should perform a second cleansing by smearing the body with earth and chanting both Vedic and tantric mantras.

SB 11.27.11 - Fixing the mind on Me, one should worship Me by his various prescribed duties, such as chanting the Gāyatrī mantra at the three junctures of the day. Such performances are enjoined by the Vedas and purify the worshiper of reactions to fruitive activities.

SB 11.27.12 - The Deity form of the Lord is said to appear in eight varieties-stone, wood, metal, earth, paint, sand, the mind or jewels.

SB 11.27.13 - The Deity form of the Lord, who is the shelter of all living entities, can be established in two ways: temporarily or permanently. But a permanent Deity, having been called, can never be sent away, My dear Uddhava.

SB 11.27.14 - The Deity that is temporarily established can optionally be called forth and sent away, but these two rituals should always be performed when the Deity is traced upon the ground. Bathing should be done with water except if the Deity is made of clay, paint or wood, in which cases a thorough cleansing without water is enjoined.

SB 11.27.15 - One should worship Me in My Deity forms by offering the most excellent paraphernalia. But a devotee completely freed from material desire may worship Me with whatever he is able to obtain, and may even worship Me within his heart with mental paraphernalia.

SB 11.27.16-17 - In worshipping the temple Deity, my dear Uddhava, bathing and decoration are the most pleasing offerings. For the Deity traced on sacred ground, the process of tattva-vinyāsa is most dear. Oblations of sesame and barley soaked in ghee are the preferred offering to the sacrificial fire, whereas worship consisting of upasthāna and arghya is preferred for the sun. One should worship Me in the form of water by offering water itself. Actually, whatever is offered to Me with faith by My devotee-even if only a little water-is most dear to Me.

SB 11.27.18 - Even very opulent presentations do not satisfy Me if they are offered by nondevotees. But I am pleased by any insignificant offering made by My loving devotees, and I am certainly most pleased when nice presentations of fragrant oil, incense, flowers and palatable foods are offered with love.

SB 11.27.19 - After cleansing himself and collecting all the paraphernalia, the worshiper should arrange his own seat with blades of kuṇḍa grass whose tips point eastward. He should then sit facing either east or north, or else, if the Deity is fixed in one place, he should sit directly facing the Deity.

SB 11.27.20 - The devotee should sanctify the various parts of his body by touching them and chanting mantras. He should do the same for My Deity forms and then with his hands he should clean the Deity of old flowers and the remnants of previous offerings. He should properly prepare the sacred pot and the vessel containing water for sprinkling.

SB 11.27.21 - Then, with the water of that prokñāëya vessel he should sprinkle the area where the Deity is being worshiped, the offerings that are going to be presented, and his own body. Next he should decorate with various auspicious substances three vessels filled with water.

SB 11.27.22 - The worshiper should then purify those three vessels. He should sanctify the vessel holding water for washing the Lord's feet by chanting hādayā namaù, the vessel containing water for arghya by chanting çirase svähä, and the vessel containing water for washing the Lord's mouth by chanting çikhāyai vañaö. Also, the Gäyatrë mantra should be chanted for all three vessels.

SB 11.27.23 - The worshiper should meditate upon My subtle form-which is situated within the worshiper's own body, now purified by air and fire-as the source of all living entities. This form of the Lord is experienced by self-realized sages in the last part of the vibration of the sacred syllable oà.

SB 11.27.24 - The devotee conceives of the Supersoul, whose presence surcharges the devotee's body, in the form corresponding to his realization. Thus the devotee worships the Lord to his full capacity and becomes fully absorbed in Him. By touching the various limbs of the Deity and chanting appropriate mantras, the devotee should invite the Supersoul to join the Deity's form, and then the devotee should worship Me.

SB 11.27.25-26 - The worshiper should first imagine My seat as decorated with the personified deities of religion, knowledge, renunciation and opulence and with My nine spiritual energies. He should think of the Lord's sitting place as an eight-petaled lotus, effulgent on account of the saffron filaments within its whorl. Then, following the regulations of both the Vedas and the tantras, he should offer Me water for washing the feet, water for washing the mouth, arghya and other items of worship. By this process he achieves both material enjoyment and liberation.

SB 11.27.27 - One should worship, in order, the Lord's Sudarçana disc, His Päi cajanya conchshell, His club, sword, bow, arrows and plow, His muñala weapon, His Kaustubha gem, His flower garland and the Çrévatsa curl of hair on His chest.

SB 11.27.28 - One should worship the Lord's associates Nanda and Sunanda, Garuòà, Pracaèòà and Caèòà, Mahäbala and Bala, and Kumuda and Kumudekñäëä.

SB 11.27.29 - With offerings such as prokñäëä one should worship Durgä, Vinäyaka, Vyäsa, Viñvaksena, the spiritual masters and the various demigods. All these personalities should be in their proper places facing the Deity of the Lord.

SB 11.27.30-31 - The worshiper should bathe the Deity every day, as opulently as his assets permit, using waters scented with sandalwood, uçëra root, camphor, kuì kuma and aguru. He should also chant various Vedic hymns, such as the anuväka known as Svarëa-gharma, the Mahäpuruña-vidyä, the Puruña-sükta and various songs of the Säma Veda, such as the Räjana and the Rohiëya.

SB 11.27.32 - My devotee should then lovingly decorate Me with clothing, a brähmaëä thread, various ornaments, marks of tilaka and garlands, and he should anoint My body with fragrant oils, all in the prescribed manner.

SB 11.27.33 - The worshiper should faithfully present Me with water for washing My feet and mouth, fragrant oils, flowers and unbroken grains, along with incense, lamps and other offerings.

SB 11.27.34 - Within his means, the devotee should arrange to offer Me sugar candy, sweet rice, ghee, çaṅkulé [rice-flour cakes], äpüpa [various sweet cakes], modaka [steamed rice-flour dumplings filled with sweet coconut and sugar], saṭyāva [wheat cakes made with ghee and milk and covered with sugar and spices], yogurt, vegetable soups and other palatable foods.

SB 11.27.35 - On special occasions, and daily if possible, the Deity should be massaged with ointment, shown a mirror, offered a eucalyptus stick for brushing His teeth, bathed with the five kinds of nectar, offered all kinds of opulent foods, and entertained with singing and dancing.

SB 11.27.36 - In an arena constructed according to scriptural injunctions, the devotee should perform a fire sacrifice, utilizing the sacred belt, the sacrificial pit and the altar mound. When igniting the sacrificial fire, the devotee should bring it to a blaze with wood piled up by his own hands.

SB 11.27.37 - After spreading kuṣa grass on the ground and sprinkling it with water, one should perform the anvādhāna ritual according to the prescribed rules. Then one should arrange the items to be offered as oblations and should sanctify them with water from the sprinkling vessel. The worshiper should next meditate upon Me within the fire.

SB 11.27.38-41 - The intelligent devotee should meditate upon that form of the Lord whose color is like molten gold, whose four arms are resplendent with the conchshell, disc, club and lotus flower, and who is always peaceful and dressed in a garment colored like the filaments within a lotus flower. His helmet, bracelets, belt and fine arm ornaments shine brilliantly. The symbol of Çrévatṣa is on His chest, along with the glowing Kaustubha gem and a garland of forest flowers. The devotee should then worship that Lord by taking pieces of firewood soaked in the sacrificial ghee and throwing them into the fire. He should perform the ritual of āghāra, presenting into the fire the various items of oblation drenched in ghee. He should then offer to sixteen demigods, beginning with Yamarāja, the oblation called sviññi-kāt, reciting the basic mantras of each deity and the sixteen-line Puruṇa-sūkta hymn. Pouring one oblation after each line of the Puruṇa-sūkta, he should utter the particular mantra naming each deity.

SB 11.27.42 - Having thus worshiped the Lord in the sacrificial fire, the devotee should offer his obeisances to the Lord's personal associates by bowing down and should then present offerings to them. He should then chant quietly the mūla-mantra of the Deity of the Lord, remembering the Absolute Truth as the Supreme Personality, Nārāyaṇa.

SB 11.27.43 - Once again he should offer the Deity water for washing His mouth, and he should give the remnants of the Lord's food to Viṇvaksena. Then he should present the Deity with fragrant perfume for the mouth and prepared betel nut.

SB 11.27.44 - Singing along with others, chanting loudly and dancing, acting out My transcendental pastimes, and hearing and telling stories about Me, the devotee should for some time absorb himself in such festivity.

SB 11.27.45 - The devotee should offer homage to the Lord with all kinds of hymns and prayers, both from the Purāṇas and from other ancient scriptures, and also from ordinary traditions. Praying, "O Lord, please be merciful to me!" he should fall down flat like a rod to offer his obeisances.

SB 11.27.46 - Placing his head at the feet of the Deity, he should then stand with folded hands before the Lord and pray, "O my Lord, please protect me, who am surrendered unto You. I am most fearful of this ocean of material existence, standing as I am in the mouth of death."

SB 11.27.47 - Praying in this way, the devotee should respectfully place upon his head the remnants I offer to him. And if the particular Deity is meant to be sent away at the end of the worship, then this should be performed, the devotee once again placing the light of the Deity's presence inside the light of the lotus within his own heart.

SB 11.27.48 - Whenever one develops faith in Me-in My form as the Deity or in other bona fide manifestations-one should worship Me in that form. I certainly exist both within all created beings and also separately in My original form, since I am the Supreme Soul of all.

SB 11.27.49 - By worshiping Me through the various methods prescribed in the Vedas and tantras, one will gain from Me his desired perfection in both this life and the next.

SB 11.27.50 - The devotee should more fully establish My Deity by solidly constructing a temple, along with beautiful gardens. These gardens should be set aside to provide flowers for the regular daily worship, special Deity processions and holiday observances.

SB 11.27.51 - One who offers the Deity gifts of land, markets, cities and villages so that the regular daily worship and special festivals of the Deity may go on continually will achieve opulence equal to My own.

SB 11.27.52 - By installing the Deity of the Lord one becomes king of the entire earth, by building a temple for the Lord one becomes ruler of the three worlds, by worshiping and serving the Deity one goes to the planet of Lord Brahmā, and by performing all three of these activities one achieves a transcendental form like My own.

SB 11.27.53 - But one who simply engages in devotional service with no consideration of fruitive results attains Me. Thus whoever worships Me according to the process I have described will ultimately attain pure devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.27.54 - Anyone who steals the property of the demigods or the brāhmaṇas, whether originally given to them by himself or someone else, must live as a worm in stool for one hundred million years.

SB 11.27.55 - Not only the performer of the theft but also anyone who assists him, instigates the crime, or simply approves of it must also share the reaction in the next life. According to their degree of participation, they each must suffer a proportionate consequence.

72 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.27.1 - Śrī Uddhava said: My dear Lord, O master of the devotees, please explain to me the prescribed method of worshiping You in Your Deity form. What are the qualifications of those devotees who worship the Deity, on what basis is such worship established, and what is the specific method of worship?

SB 11.27.2 - All the great sages repeatedly declare that such worship brings the greatest benefit possible in human life. This is the opinion of Nārada Muni, the great Vyāsadeva and my own spiritual master, Bāhaspati.

SB 11.27.3-4 - O most magnanimous Lord, the instructions on this process of Deity worship first emanated from Your lotus mouth. Then they were spoken by the great Lord Brahmā to his sons, headed by Bhāgu, and by Lord Śiva to his wife, Pārvatī. This process is accepted by and appropriate for all the occupational and spiritual orders of society. Therefore I consider worship of You in Your Deity form to be the most beneficial of all spiritual practices, even for women and çüdras.

SB 11.27.5 - O lotus-eyed one, O Supreme Lord of all lords of the universe, please explain to Your devoted servant this means of liberation from the bondage of work.

SB 11.27.6 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, there is no end to the innumerable Vedic prescriptions for executing Deity worship; so I shall explain this topic to you briefly, one step at a time.

SB 11.27.7 - One should carefully worship Me by selecting one of the three methods by which I receive sacrifice: Vedic, tantric or mixed.

SB 11.27.8 - Now please listen faithfully as I explain exactly how a person who has achieved twice-born status through the relevant Vedic prescriptions should worship Me with devotion.

SB 11.27.9 - A twice-born person should worship Me, his worshipable Lord, without duplicity, offering appropriate paraphernalia in loving devotion to My Deity form or to a form of Me appearing upon the ground, in fire, in the sun, in water or within the worshiper's own heart.

SB 11.27.10 - One should first purify his body by cleansing his teeth and bathing. Then one should perform a second cleansing by smearing the body with earth and chanting both Vedic and tantric mantras.

SB 11.27.11 - Fixing the mind on Me, one should worship Me by his various prescribed duties, such as chanting the Gäyatré mantra at the three junctures of the day. Such performances are enjoined by the Vedas and purify the worshiper of reactions to fruitive activities.

SB 11.27.12 - The Deity form of the Lord is said to appear in eight varieties-stone, wood, metal, earth, paint, sand, the mind or jewels.

SB 11.27.13 - The Deity form of the Lord, who is the shelter of all living entities, can be established in two ways: temporarily or permanently. But a permanent Deity, having been called, can never be sent away, My dear Uddhava.

SB 11.27.14 - The Deity that is temporarily established can optionally be called forth and sent away, but these two rituals should always be performed when the Deity is traced upon the ground. Bathing should be done with water except if the Deity is made of clay, paint or wood, in which cases a thorough cleansing without water is enjoined.

SB 11.27.15 - One should worship Me in My Deity forms by offering the most excellent paraphernalia. But a devotee completely freed from material desire may worship Me with whatever he is able to obtain, and may even worship Me within his heart with mental paraphernalia.

SB 11.27.16-17 - In worshipping the temple Deity, my dear Uddhava, bathing and decoration are the most pleasing offerings. For the Deity traced on sacred ground, the process of tattva-vinyāsa is most dear. Oblations of sesame and barley soaked in ghee are the preferred offering to the sacrificial fire, whereas worship consisting of upasthāna and arghya is preferred for the sun. One should worship Me in the form of water by offering water itself. Actually, whatever is offered to Me with faith by My devotee-even if only a little water-is most dear to Me.

SB 11.27.18 - Even very opulent presentations do not satisfy Me if they are offered by nondevotees. But I am pleased by any insignificant offering made by My loving devotees, and I am certainly most pleased when nice presentations of fragrant oil, incense, flowers and palatable foods are offered with love.

SB 11.27.19 - After cleansing himself and collecting all the paraphernalia, the worshiper should arrange his own seat with blades of kuça grass whose tips point eastward. He should then sit facing either east or north, or else, if the Deity is fixed in one place, he should sit directly facing the Deity.

SB 11.27.20 - The devotee should sanctify the various parts of his body by touching them and chanting mantras. He should do the same for My Deity forms and then with his hands he should clean the Deity of old flowers and the remnants of previous offerings. He should properly prepare the sacred pot and the vessel containing water for sprinkling.

SB 11.27.21 - Then, with the water of that prokñāëéya vessel he should sprinkle the area where the Deity is being worshiped, the offerings that are going to be presented, and his own body. Next he should decorate with various auspicious substances three vessels filled with water.

SB 11.27.22 - The worshiper should then purify those three vessels. He should sanctify the vessel holding water for washing the Lord's feet by chanting hādayāya namaù, the vessel containing water for arghya by chanting çirase svähä, and the vessel containing water for washing the Lord's mouth by chanting çikhāyai vañaö. Also, the Gäyatrë mantra should be chanted for all three vessels.

SB 11.27.23 - The worshiper should meditate upon My subtle form-which is situated within the worshiper's own body, now purified by air and fire-as the source of all living entities. This form of the Lord is experienced by self-realized sages in the last part of the vibration of the sacred syllable oà.

SB 11.27.24 - The devotee conceives of the Supersoul, whose presence surcharges the devotee's body, in the form corresponding to his realization. Thus the devotee worships the Lord to his full capacity and becomes fully absorbed in Him. By touching the various limbs of the Deity and chanting appropriate mantras, the devotee should invite the Supersoul to join the Deity's form, and then the devotee should worship Me.

SB 11.27.25-26 - The worshiper should first imagine My seat as decorated with the personified deities of religion, knowledge, renunciation and opulence and with My nine spiritual energies. He should think of the Lord's sitting place as an eight-petaled lotus, effulgent on account of the saffron filaments within its whorl. Then, following the regulations of both the Vedas and the tantras, he should offer Me water for washing the feet, water for washing the mouth, arghya and other items of worship. By this process he achieves both material enjoyment and liberation.

SB 11.27.27 - One should worship, in order, the Lord's Sudarçana disc, His Päi cajanya conchshell, His club, sword, bow, arrows and plow, His muñala weapon, His Kaustubha gem, His flower garland and the Çrévatsa curl of hair on His chest.

SB 11.27.28 - One should worship the Lord's associates Nanda and Sunanda, Garuòà, Pracaëòà and Caëòà, Mahäbala and Bala, and Kumuda and Kumudekñäëä.

SB 11.27.29 - With offerings such as prokñäëä one should worship Durgä, Vinäyaka, Vyäsa, Viñvaksena, the spiritual masters and the various demigods. All these personalities should be in their proper places facing the Deity of the Lord.

SB 11.27.30-31 - The worshiper should bathe the Deity every day, as opulently as his assets permit, using waters scented with sandalwood, uçëra

root, camphor, kuṭi kuma and aguru. He should also chant various Vedic hymns, such as the anuvāka known as Svarēa-gharma, the Mahāpuruṣa-vidyā, the Puruṣa-sūkta and various songs of the Sāma Veda, such as the Rājana and the Rohiṇya.

SB 11.27.32 - My devotee should then lovingly decorate Me with clothing, a brāhmaṇa thread, various ornaments, marks of tilaka and garlands, and he should anoint My body with fragrant oils, all in the prescribed manner.

SB 11.27.33 - The worshiper should faithfully present Me with water for washing My feet and mouth, fragrant oils, flowers and unbroken grains, along with incense, lamps and other offerings.

SB 11.27.34 - Within his means, the devotee should arrange to offer Me sugar candy, sweet rice, ghee, ṣaṅkulé [rice-flour cakes], āpūpa [various sweet cakes], modaka [steamed rice-flour dumplings filled with sweet coconut and sugar], saṅyāva [wheat cakes made with ghee and milk and covered with sugar and spices], yogurt, vegetable soups and other palatable foods.

SB 11.27.35 - On special occasions, and daily if possible, the Deity should be massaged with ointment, shown a mirror, offered a eucalyptus stick for brushing His teeth, bathed with the five kinds of nectar, offered all kinds of opulent foods, and entertained with singing and dancing.

SB 11.27.36 - In an arena constructed according to scriptural injunctions, the devotee should perform a fire sacrifice, utilizing the sacred belt, the sacrificial pit and the altar mound. When igniting the sacrificial fire, the devotee should bring it to a blaze with wood piled up by his own hands.

SB 11.27.37 - After spreading kuṣa grass on the ground and sprinkling it with water, one should perform the anvādhāna ritual according to the prescribed rules. Then one should arrange the items to be offered as oblations and should sanctify them with water from the sprinkling vessel. The worshiper should next meditate upon Me within the fire.

SB 11.27.38-41 - The intelligent devotee should meditate upon that form of the Lord whose color is like molten gold, whose four arms are resplendent with the conchshell, disc, club and lotus flower, and who is always peaceful and dressed in a garment colored like the filaments within a lotus flower. His helmet, bracelets, belt and fine arm ornaments shine brilliantly. The symbol of Çrévatsa is on His chest, along with the glowing Kaustubha gem and a garland of forest flowers. The devotee should then worship that Lord by taking pieces of firewood soaked in the sacrificial ghee and throwing them into the fire. He should perform the ritual of āghāra, presenting into the fire the various items of oblation drenched in ghee. He should then offer to sixteen demigods, beginning with Yamarāja, the oblation called sviññi-kāt, reciting the basic mantras of each deity and the sixteen-line Puruṇa-sūkta hymn. Pouring one oblation after each line of the Puruṇa-sūkta, he should utter the particular mantra naming each deity.

SB 11.27.42 - Having thus worshiped the Lord in the sacrificial fire, the devotee should offer his obeisances to the Lord's personal associates by bowing down and should then present offerings to them. He should then chant quietly the mūla-mantra of the Deity of the Lord, remembering the Absolute Truth as the Supreme Personality, Nārāyaṇa.

SB 11.27.43 - Once again he should offer the Deity water for washing His mouth, and he should give the remnants of the Lord's food to Viṇvaksena. Then he should present the Deity with fragrant perfume for the mouth and prepared betel nut.

SB 11.27.44 - Singing along with others, chanting loudly and dancing, acting out My transcendental pastimes, and hearing and telling stories about

Me, the devotee should for some time absorb himself in such festivity.

SB 11.27.45 - The devotee should offer homage to the Lord with all kinds of hymns and prayers, both from the Purāṇas and from other ancient scriptures, and also from ordinary traditions. Praying, "O Lord, please be merciful to me! "he should fall down flat like a rod to offer his obeisances.

SB 11.27.46 - Placing his head at the feet of the Deity, he should then stand with folded hands before the Lord and pray, "O my Lord, please protect me, who am surrendered unto You. I am most fearful of this ocean of material existence, standing as I am in the mouth of death."

SB 11.27.47 - Praying in this way, the devotee should respectfully place upon his head the remnants I offer to him. And if the particular Deity is meant to be sent away at the end of the worship, then this should be performed, the devotee once again placing the light of the Deity's presence inside the light of the lotus within his own heart.

SB 11.27.48 - Whenever one develops faith in Me-in My form as the Deity or in other bona fide manifestations-one should worship Me in that form. I certainly exist both within all created beings and also separately in My original form, since I am the Supreme Soul of all.

SB 11.27.49 - By worshiping Me through the various methods prescribed in the Vedas and tantras, one will gain from Me his desired perfection in both this life and the next.

SB 11.27.50 - The devotee should more fully establish My Deity by solidly constructing a temple, along with beautiful gardens. These gardens should be set aside to provide flowers for the regular daily worship, special Deity processions and holiday observances.

SB 11.27.51 - One who offers the Deity gifts of land, markets, cities and villages so that the regular daily worship and special festivals of the Deity may go on continually will achieve opulence equal to My own.

SB 11.27.52 - By installing the Deity of the Lord one becomes king of the entire earth, by building a temple for the Lord one becomes ruler of the three worlds, by worshiping and serving the Deity one goes to the planet of Lord Brahmā, and by performing all three of these activities one achieves a transcendental form like My own.

SB 11.27.53 - But one who simply engages in devotional service with no consideration of fruitive results attains Me. Thus whoever worships Me according to the process I have described will ultimately attain pure devotional service unto Me.

SB 11.27.54 - Anyone who steals the property of the demigods or the brāhmaëas, whether originally given to them by himself or someone else, must live as a worm in stool for one hundred million years.

SB 11.27.55 - Not only the performer of the theft but also anyone who assists him, instigates the crime, or simply approves of it must also share the reaction in the next life. According to their degree of participation, they each must suffer a proportionate consequence.

73 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.28.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: One should neither praise nor criticize the conditioned nature and activities of other persons. Rather, one should see this world as simply the combination of material nature and the enjoying souls, all based on the one Absolute Truth.

SB 11.28.2 - Whoever indulges in praising or criticizing the qualities and behavior of others will quickly become deviated from his own best interest by his entanglement in illusory dualities.

SB 11.28.3 - Just as the embodied spirit soul loses external consciousness when his senses are overcome by the illusion of dreaming or the deathlike state of deep sleep, so a person experiencing material duality must encounter illusion and death.

SB 11.28.4 - That which is expressed by material words or meditated upon by the material mind is not ultimate truth. What, therefore, is actually good or bad within this insubstantial world of duality, and how can the extent of such good and bad be measured?

SB 11.28.5 - Although shadows, echoes and mirages are only illusory reflections of real things, such reflections do cause a semblance of meaningful or comprehensible perception. In the same way, although the identification of the conditioned soul with the material body, mind and ego is illusory, this identification generates fear within him even up to the moment of death.

SB 11.28.6-7 - The Supersoul alone is the ultimate controller and creator of this world, and thus He alone is also the created. Similarly, the Soul of all existence Himself both maintains and is maintained, withdraws and is withdrawn. No other entity can be properly ascertained as separate from Him, the Supreme Soul, who nonetheless is distinct from everything and everyone else. The appearance of the threefold material nature, which is perceived within Him, has no actual basis. Rather, you should understand that this material nature, composed of the three modes, is simply the product of His illusory potency.

SB 11.28.8 - One who has properly understood the process of becoming firmly fixed in theoretical and realized knowledge, as described herein by Me, does not indulge in material criticism or praise. Like the sun, he wanders freely throughout this world.

SB 11.28.9 - By direct perception, logical deduction, scriptural testimony and personal realization, one should know that this world has a beginning and an end and so is not the ultimate reality. Thus one should live in this world without attachment.

SB 11.28.10 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, it is not possible for this material existence to be the experience of either the soul, who is the seer, or of the body, which is the seen object. On the one hand, the spirit soul is innately endowed with perfect knowledge, and on the other hand, the material body is not a conscious, living entity. To whom, then, does this experience of material existence pertain?

SB 11.28.11 - The spirit soul is inexhaustible, transcendental, pure, self-luminous and never covered by anything material. It is like fire. But the nonliving material body, like firewood, is dull and unaware. So in this world, who is it that actually undergoes the experience of material life?

SB 11.28.12 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: As long as the foolish spirit soul remains attracted to the material body, senses and vital force, his material existence continues to flourish, although it is ultimately meaningless.

SB 11.28.13 - Actually, the living entity is transcendental to material existence. But because of his mentality of lording it over material nature, his material existential condition does not cease, and, just as in a dream, he is affected by all sorts of disadvantages.

SB 11.28.14 - Although while dreaming a person experiences many undesirable things, upon awakening he is no longer confused by the dream experiences.

SB 11.28.15 - Lamentation, elation, fear, anger, greed, confusion and hankering, as well as birth and death, are experiences of the false ego and not of the pure soul.

SB 11.28.16 - The living entity who falsely identifies with his body, senses, life air and mind, and who dwells within these coverings, assumes the form of his own materially conditioned qualities and work. He is designated variously in relation to the total material energy, and thus, under the strict control of supreme time, he is forced to run here and there within material existence.

SB 11.28.17 - Although the false ego has no factual basis, it is perceived in many forms-as the functions of the mind, speech, life air and bodily faculties. But with the sword of transcendental knowledge, sharpened by worship of a bona fide spiritual master, a sober sage will cut off this false identification and live in this world free from all material attachment.

SB 11.28.18 - Real spiritual knowledge is based on the discrimination of spirit from matter, and it is cultivated by scriptural evidence, austerity, direct perception, reception of the Purāṇas' historical narrations, and logical inference. The Absolute Truth, which alone was present before the creation of the universe and which alone will remain after its destruction, is also the time factor and the ultimate cause. Even in the middle stage of this creation's existence, the Absolute Truth alone is the actual reality.

SB 11.28.19 - Gold alone is present before its manufacture into gold products, the gold alone remains after the products' destruction, and the gold alone is the essential reality while it is being utilized under various designations. Similarly, I alone exist before the creation of this universe, after its destruction and during its maintenance.

SB 11.28.20 - The material mind manifests in three phases of consciousness-wakefulness, sleep and deep sleep-which are products of the three modes of nature. The mind further appears in three different roles-the perceiver, the perceived and the regulator of perception. Thus the mind is manifested variously throughout these threefold designations. But it is the fourth factor, existing separately from all this, that alone constitutes the Absolute Truth.

SB 11.28.21 - That which did not exist in the past and will not exist in the future also has no existence of its own for the period of its duration, but is only a superficial designation. In My opinion, whatever is created and revealed by something else is ultimately only that other thing.

SB 11.28.22 - Although thus not existing in reality, this manifestation of transformations created from the mode of passion appears real because the self-manifested, self-luminous Absolute Truth exhibits Himself in the form of the material variety of the senses, the sense objects, the mind and the elements of physical nature.

SB 11.28.23 - Thus clearly understanding by discriminating logic the unique position of the Absolute Truth, one should expertly refute one's misidentification with matter and cut to pieces all doubts about the identity of the self. Becoming satisfied in the soul's natural ecstasy, one should desist from all lusty engagements of the material senses.

SB 11.28.24 - The material body made of earth is not the true self; nor are the senses, their presiding demigods or the air of life; nor is the external air, water or fire or one's mind. All these are simply matter. Similarly, neither one's intelligence, material consciousness nor ego, nor the elements of ether or earth, nor the objects of sense perception, nor even the primeval state of material equilibrium can be considered the actual identity of the soul.

SB 11.28.25 - For one who has properly realized My personal identity as the Supreme Godhead, what credit is there if his senses-mere products of the material modes-are perfectly concentrated in meditation? And on the other hand, what blame is incurred if his senses happen to become agitated? Indeed, what does it mean to the sun if the clouds come and go?

SB 11.28.26 - The sky may display the various qualities of the air, fire, water and earth that pass through it, as well as such qualities as heat and cold, which continually come and go with the seasons. Yet the sky is never entangled with any of these qualities. Similarly, the Supreme Absolute Truth is never entangled with the contaminations of goodness, passion and ignorance, which cause the material transformations of the false ego.

SB 11.28.27 - Nevertheless, until by firmly practicing devotional service to Me one has completely eliminated from his mind all contamination of material passion, one must very carefully avoid associating with the material modes, which are produced by My illusory energy.

SB 11.28.28 - Just as an improperly treated disease recurs and gives repeated distress to the patient, the mind that is not completely purified of its perverted tendencies will remain attached to material things and repeatedly torment the imperfect yogé.

SB 11.28.29 - Sometimes the progress of imperfect transcendentalists is checked by attachment to family members, disciples or others, who are sent by envious demigods for that purpose. But on the strength of their accumulated advancement, such imperfect transcendentalists will resume their practice of yoga in the next life. They will never again be trapped in the network of fruitive work.

SB 11.28.30 - An ordinary living entity performs material work and is transformed by the reaction to such work. Thus he is driven by various desires to continue working fruitively up to the very moment of his death. A wise person, however, having experienced his own constitutional bliss, gives up all material desires and does not engage in fruitive work.

SB 11.28.31 - The wise man, whose consciousness is fixed in the self, does not even notice his own bodily activities. While standing, sitting, walking, lying down, urinating, eating or performing other bodily functions, he understands that the body is acting according to its own nature.

SB 11.28.32 - Although a self-realized soul may sometimes see an impure object or activity, he does not accept it as real. By logically understanding impure sense objects to be based on illusory material duality, the intelligent person sees them to be contrary to and distinct from reality, in the same way that a man awakening from sleep views his fading dream.

SB 11.28.33 - Material nescience, which expands into many varieties by the activities of the modes of nature, is wrongly accepted by the conditioned soul to be identical with the self. But through the cultivation of spiritual knowledge, My dear Uddhava, this same nescience fades away at the time of liberation. The eternal self, on the other hand, is never assumed and never abandoned.

SB 11.28.34 - When the sun rises it destroys the darkness covering men's eyes, but it does not create the objects they then see before them, which in fact were existing all along. Similarly, potent and factual realization of Me will destroy the darkness covering a person's true consciousness.

SB 11.28.35 - The Supreme Lord is self-luminous, unborn and immeasurable. He is pure transcendental consciousness and perceives everything. One without a second, He is realized only after ordinary words cease. By Him the power of speech and the life airs are set into motion.

SB 11.28.36 - Whatever apparent duality is perceived in the self is simply the confusion of the mind. Indeed, such supposed duality has no basis to rest upon apart from one's own soul.

SB 11.28.37 - The duality of the five material elements is perceived only in terms of names and forms. Those who say this duality is real are pseudoscholars vainly proposing fanciful theories without basis in fact.

SB 11.28.38 - The physical body of the endeavoring yogé who is not yet mature in his practice may sometimes be overcome by various disturbances. Therefore the following process is recommended.

SB 11.28.39 - Some of these obstructions may be counteracted by yogic meditation or by sitting postures, practiced together with concentration on controlled breathing, and others may be counteracted by special austerities, mantras or medicinal herbs.

SB 11.28.40 - These inauspicious disturbances can be gradually removed by constant remembrance of Me, by congregational hearing and chanting of My holy names, or by following in the footsteps of the great masters of yoga.

SB 11.28.41 - By various methods, some yogés free the body from disease and old age and keep it perpetually youthful. Thus they engage in yoga for the purpose of achieving material mystic perfections.

SB 11.28.42 - This mystic bodily perfection is not valued very highly by those expert in transcendental knowledge. Indeed, they consider endeavor for such perfection useless, since the soul, like a tree, is permanent, but the body, like a tree's fruit, is subject to destruction.

SB 11.28.43 - Although the physical body may be improved by various processes of yoga, an intelligent person who has dedicated his life to Me does not place his faith in the prospect of perfecting his physical body through yoga, and in fact he gives up such procedures.

SB 11.28.44 - The yogé who has taken shelter of Me remains free from hankering because he experiences the happiness of the soul within. Thus while executing this process of yoga, he is never defeated by obstacles.

74 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.28.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: One should neither praise nor criticize the conditioned nature and activities of other persons. Rather, one should see this world as simply the combination of material nature and the enjoying souls, all based on the one Absolute Truth.

SB 11.28.2 - Whoever indulges in praising or criticizing the qualities and behavior of others will quickly become deviated from his own best interest by his entanglement in illusory dualities.

SB 11.28.3 - Just as the embodied spirit soul loses external consciousness when his senses are overcome by the illusion of dreaming or the deathlike state of deep sleep, so a person experiencing material duality must encounter illusion and death.

SB 11.28.4 - That which is expressed by material words or meditated upon by the material mind is not ultimate truth. What, therefore, is actually good or bad within this insubstantial world of duality, and how can the extent of such good and bad be measured?

SB 11.28.5 - Although shadows, echoes and mirages are only illusory reflections of real things, such reflections do cause a semblance of meaningful or comprehensible perception. In the same way, although the identification of the conditioned soul with the material body, mind and ego is illusory, this identification generates fear within him even up to the moment of death.

SB 11.28.6-7 - The Supersoul alone is the ultimate controller and creator of this world, and thus He alone is also the created. Similarly, the Soul of all existence Himself both maintains and is maintained, withdraws and is withdrawn. No other entity can be properly ascertained as separate from Him, the Supreme Soul, who nonetheless is distinct from everything and everyone else. The appearance of the threefold material nature, which is perceived within Him, has no actual basis. Rather, you should understand that this material nature, composed of the three modes, is simply the product of His illusory potency.

SB 11.28.8 - One who has properly understood the process of becoming firmly fixed in theoretical and realized knowledge, as described herein by Me, does not indulge in material criticism or praise. Like the sun, he wanders freely throughout this world.

SB 11.28.9 - By direct perception, logical deduction, scriptural testimony and personal realization, one should know that this world has a beginning and an end and so is not the ultimate reality. Thus one should live in this world without attachment.

SB 11.28.10 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, it is not possible for this material existence to be the experience of either the soul, who is the seer, or of the body, which is the seen object. On the one hand, the spirit soul is innately endowed with perfect knowledge, and on the other hand, the material body is not a conscious, living entity. To whom, then, does this experience of material existence pertain?

SB 11.28.11 - The spirit soul is inexhaustible, transcendental, pure, self-luminous and never covered by anything material. It is like fire. But the nonliving material body, like firewood, is dull and unaware. So in this world, who is it that actually undergoes the experience of material life?

SB 11.28.12 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: As long as the foolish spirit soul remains attracted to the material body, senses and vital force, his material existence continues to flourish, although it is ultimately meaningless.

SB 11.28.13 - Actually, the living entity is transcendental to material existence. But because of his mentality of lording it over material nature, his material existential condition does not cease, and, just as in a dream, he is affected by all sorts of disadvantages.

SB 11.28.14 - Although while dreaming a person experiences many undesirable things, upon awakening he is no longer confused by the dream experiences.

SB 11.28.15 - Lamentation, elation, fear, anger, greed, confusion and hankering, as well as birth and death, are experiences of the false ego and not of the pure soul.

SB 11.28.16 - The living entity who falsely identifies with his body, senses, life air and mind, and who dwells within these coverings, assumes the form of his own materially conditioned qualities and work. He is designated variously in relation to the total material energy, and thus, under the strict control of supreme time, he is forced to run here and there within material existence.

SB 11.28.17 - Although the false ego has no factual basis, it is perceived in many forms-as the functions of the mind, speech, life air and bodily faculties. But with the sword of transcendental knowledge, sharpened by worship of a bona fide spiritual master, a sober sage will cut off this false identification and live in this world free from all material attachment.

SB 11.28.18 - Real spiritual knowledge is based on the discrimination of spirit from matter, and it is cultivated by scriptural evidence, austerity, direct perception, reception of the Purāṇas' historical narrations, and logical inference. The Absolute Truth, which alone was present before the creation of the universe and which alone will remain after its destruction, is also the time factor and the ultimate cause. Even in the middle stage of this creation's existence, the Absolute Truth alone is the actual reality.

SB 11.28.19 - Gold alone is present before its manufacture into gold products, the gold alone remains after the products' destruction, and the gold alone is the essential reality while it is being utilized under various designations. Similarly, I alone exist before the creation of this universe, after its destruction and during its maintenance.

SB 11.28.20 - The material mind manifests in three phases of consciousness-wakefulness, sleep and deep sleep-which are products of the three modes of nature. The mind further appears in three different roles-the perceiver, the perceived and the regulator of perception. Thus the mind is manifested variously throughout these threefold designations. But it is the fourth factor, existing separately from all this, that alone constitutes the Absolute Truth.

SB 11.28.21 - That which did not exist in the past and will not exist in the future also has no existence of its own for the period of its duration, but is only a superficial designation. In My opinion, whatever is created and revealed by something else is ultimately only that other thing.

SB 11.28.22 - Although thus not existing in reality, this manifestation of transformations created from the mode of passion appears real because the self-manifested, self-luminous Absolute Truth exhibits Himself in the form of the material variety of the senses, the sense objects, the mind and the elements of physical nature.

SB 11.28.23 - Thus clearly understanding by discriminating logic the unique position of the Absolute Truth, one should expertly refute one's misidentification with matter and cut to pieces all doubts about the identity of the self. Becoming satisfied in the soul's natural ecstasy, one should desist from all lusty engagements of the material senses.

SB 11.28.24 - The material body made of earth is not the true self; nor are the senses, their presiding demigods or the air of life; nor is the external air, water or fire or one's mind. All these are simply matter. Similarly, neither one's intelligence, material consciousness nor ego, nor the elements of ether or earth, nor the objects of sense perception, nor even the primeval state of material equilibrium can be considered the actual identity of the soul.

SB 11.28.25 - For one who has properly realized My personal identity as the Supreme Godhead, what credit is there if his senses-mere products of the material modes-are perfectly concentrated in meditation? And on the other hand, what blame is incurred if his senses happen to become agitated? Indeed, what does it mean to the sun if the clouds come and go?

SB 11.28.26 - The sky may display the various qualities of the air, fire, water and earth that pass through it, as well as such qualities as heat and cold, which continually come and go with the seasons. Yet the sky is never entangled with any of these qualities. Similarly, the Supreme Absolute Truth is never entangled with the contaminations of goodness, passion and ignorance, which cause the material transformations of the false ego.

SB 11.28.27 - Nevertheless, until by firmly practicing devotional service to Me one has completely eliminated from his mind all contamination of material passion, one must very carefully avoid associating with the material modes, which are produced by My illusory energy.

SB 11.28.28 - Just as an improperly treated disease recurs and gives repeated distress to the patient, the mind that is not completely purified of its perverted tendencies will remain attached to material things and repeatedly torment the imperfect yogé.

SB 11.28.29 - Sometimes the progress of imperfect transcendentalists is checked by attachment to family members, disciples or others, who are sent by envious demigods for that purpose. But on the strength of their accumulated advancement, such imperfect transcendentalists will resume their practice of yoga in the next life. They will never again be trapped in the network of fruitive work.

SB 11.28.30 - An ordinary living entity performs material work and is transformed by the reaction to such work. Thus he is driven by various desires to continue working fruitively up to the very moment of his death. A wise person, however, having experienced his own constitutional bliss, gives up all material desires and does not engage in fruitive work.

SB 11.28.31 - The wise man, whose consciousness is fixed in the self, does not even notice his own bodily activities. While standing, sitting, walking, lying down, urinating, eating or performing other bodily functions, he understands that the body is acting according to its own nature.

SB 11.28.32 - Although a self-realized soul may sometimes see an impure object or activity, he does not accept it as real. By logically understanding impure sense objects to be based on illusory material duality, the intelligent person sees them to be contrary to and distinct from reality, in the same way that a man awakening from sleep views his fading dream.

SB 11.28.33 - Material nescience, which expands into many varieties by the activities of the modes of nature, is wrongly accepted by the conditioned soul to be identical with the self. But through the cultivation of spiritual knowledge, My dear Uddhava, this same nescience fades away at the time of liberation. The eternal self, on the other hand, is never assumed and never abandoned.

SB 11.28.34 - When the sun rises it destroys the darkness covering men's eyes, but it does not create the objects they then see before them, which in fact were existing all along. Similarly, potent and factual realization of Me will destroy the darkness covering a person's true consciousness.

SB 11.28.35 - The Supreme Lord is self-luminous, unborn and immeasurable. He is pure transcendental consciousness and perceives everything. One without a second, He is realized only after ordinary words cease. By Him the power of speech and the life airs are set into motion.

SB 11.28.36 - Whatever apparent duality is perceived in the self is simply the confusion of the mind. Indeed, such supposed duality has no basis to rest upon apart from one's own soul.

SB 11.28.37 - The duality of the five material elements is perceived only in terms of names and forms. Those who say this duality is real are pseudoscholars vainly proposing fanciful theories without basis in fact.

SB 11.28.38 - The physical body of the endeavoring yogé who is not yet mature in his practice may sometimes be overcome by various disturbances. Therefore the following process is recommended.

SB 11.28.39 - Some of these obstructions may be counteracted by yogic meditation or by sitting postures, practiced together with concentration on controlled breathing, and others may be counteracted by special austerities, mantras or medicinal herbs.

SB 11.28.40 - These inauspicious disturbances can be gradually removed by constant remembrance of Me, by congregational hearing and chanting of My holy names, or by following in the footsteps of the great masters of yoga.

SB 11.28.41 - By various methods, some yogés free the body from disease and old age and keep it perpetually youthful. Thus they engage in yoga for the purpose of achieving material mystic perfections.

SB 11.28.42 - This mystic bodily perfection is not valued very highly by those expert in transcendental knowledge. Indeed, they consider endeavor for such perfection useless, since the soul, like a tree, is permanent, but the body, like a tree's fruit, is subject to destruction.

SB 11.28.43 - Although the physical body may be improved by various processes of yoga, an intelligent person who has dedicated his life to Me does not place his faith in the prospect of perfecting his physical body through yoga, and in fact he gives up such procedures.

SB 11.28.44 - The yogé who has taken shelter of Me remains free from hankering because he experiences the happiness of the soul within. Thus while executing this process of yoga, he is never defeated by obstacles.

75 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.28.1 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: One should neither praise nor criticize the conditioned nature and activities of other persons. Rather, one should see this world as simply the combination of material nature and the enjoying souls, all based on the one Absolute Truth.

SB 11.28.2 - Whoever indulges in praising or criticizing the qualities and behavior of others will quickly become deviated from his own best interest by his entanglement in illusory dualities.

SB 11.28.3 - Just as the embodied spirit soul loses external consciousness when his senses are overcome by the illusion of dreaming or the deathlike state of deep sleep, so a person experiencing material duality must encounter illusion and death.

SB 11.28.4 - That which is expressed by material words or meditated upon by the material mind is not ultimate truth. What, therefore, is actually good or bad within this insubstantial world of duality, and how can the extent of such good and bad be measured?

SB 11.28.5 - Although shadows, echoes and mirages are only illusory reflections of real things, such reflections do cause a semblance of meaningful or comprehensible perception. In the same way, although the identification of the conditioned soul with the material body, mind and ego is illusory, this identification generates fear within him even up to the moment of death.

SB 11.28.6-7 - The Supersoul alone is the ultimate controller and creator of this world, and thus He alone is also the created. Similarly, the Soul of all existence Himself both maintains and is maintained, withdraws and is withdrawn. No other entity can be properly ascertained as separate from Him, the Supreme Soul, who nonetheless is distinct from everything and everyone else. The appearance of the threefold material nature, which is perceived within Him, has no actual basis. Rather, you should understand that this material nature, composed of the three modes, is simply the product of His illusory potency.

SB 11.28.8 - One who has properly understood the process of becoming firmly fixed in theoretical and realized knowledge, as described herein by Me, does not indulge in material criticism or praise. Like the sun, he wanders freely throughout this world.

SB 11.28.9 - By direct perception, logical deduction, scriptural testimony and personal realization, one should know that this world has a beginning and an end and so is not the ultimate reality. Thus one should live in this world without attachment.

SB 11.28.10 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord, it is not possible for this material existence to be the experience of either the soul, who is the seer, or of the body, which is the seen object. On the one hand, the spirit soul is innately endowed with perfect knowledge, and on the other hand, the material body is not a conscious, living entity. To whom, then, does this experience of material existence pertain?

SB 11.28.11 - The spirit soul is inexhaustible, transcendental, pure, self-luminous and never covered by anything material. It is like fire. But the nonliving material body, like firewood, is dull and unaware. So in this world, who is it that actually undergoes the experience of material life?

SB 11.28.12 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: As long as the foolish spirit soul remains attracted to the material body, senses and vital force, his material existence continues to flourish, although it is ultimately meaningless.

SB 11.28.13 - Actually, the living entity is transcendental to material existence. But because of his mentality of lording it over material nature, his material existential condition does not cease, and, just as in a dream, he is affected by all sorts of disadvantages.

SB 11.28.14 - Although while dreaming a person experiences many undesirable things, upon awakening he is no longer confused by the dream experiences.

SB 11.28.15 - Lamentation, elation, fear, anger, greed, confusion and hankering, as well as birth and death, are experiences of the false ego and not of the pure soul.

SB 11.28.16 - The living entity who falsely identifies with his body, senses, life air and mind, and who dwells within these coverings, assumes the form of his own materially conditioned qualities and work. He is designated variously in relation to the total material energy, and thus, under the strict control of supreme time, he is forced to run here and there within material existence.

SB 11.28.17 - Although the false ego has no factual basis, it is perceived in many forms-as the functions of the mind, speech, life air and bodily faculties. But with the sword of transcendental knowledge, sharpened by worship of a bona fide spiritual master, a sober sage will cut off this false identification and live in this world free from all material attachment.

SB 11.28.18 - Real spiritual knowledge is based on the discrimination of spirit from matter, and it is cultivated by scriptural evidence, austerity, direct perception, reception of the Purāṇas' historical narrations, and logical inference. The Absolute Truth, which alone was present before the creation of the universe and which alone will remain after its destruction, is also the time factor and the ultimate cause. Even in the middle stage of this creation's existence, the Absolute Truth alone is the actual reality.

SB 11.28.19 - Gold alone is present before its manufacture into gold products, the gold alone remains after the products' destruction, and the gold alone is the essential reality while it is being utilized under various designations. Similarly, I alone exist before the creation of this universe, after its destruction and during its maintenance.

SB 11.28.20 - The material mind manifests in three phases of consciousness-wakefulness, sleep and deep sleep-which are products of the three modes of nature. The mind further appears in three different roles-the perceiver, the perceived and the regulator of perception. Thus the mind is manifested variously throughout these threefold designations. But it is the fourth factor, existing separately from all this, that alone constitutes the Absolute Truth.

SB 11.28.21 - That which did not exist in the past and will not exist in the future also has no existence of its own for the period of its duration, but is only a superficial designation. In My opinion, whatever is created and revealed by something else is ultimately only that other thing.

SB 11.28.22 - Although thus not existing in reality, this manifestation of transformations created from the mode of passion appears real because the self-manifested, self-luminous Absolute Truth exhibits Himself in the form of the material variety of the senses, the sense objects, the mind and the elements of physical nature.

SB 11.28.23 - Thus clearly understanding by discriminating logic the unique position of the Absolute Truth, one should expertly refute one's misidentification with matter and cut to pieces all doubts about the identity of the self. Becoming satisfied in the soul's natural ecstasy, one should desist from all lusty engagements of the material senses.

SB 11.28.24 - The material body made of earth is not the true self; nor are the senses, their presiding demigods or the air of life; nor is the external air, water or fire or one's mind. All these are simply matter. Similarly, neither one's intelligence, material consciousness nor ego, nor the elements of ether or earth, nor the objects of sense perception, nor even the primeval state of material equilibrium can be considered the actual identity of the soul.

SB 11.28.25 - For one who has properly realized My personal identity as the Supreme Godhead, what credit is there if his senses-mere products of the material modes-are perfectly concentrated in meditation? And on the other hand, what blame is incurred if his senses happen to become agitated? Indeed, what does it mean to the sun if the clouds come and go?

SB 11.28.26 - The sky may display the various qualities of the air, fire, water and earth that pass through it, as well as such qualities as heat and cold, which continually come and go with the seasons. Yet the sky is never entangled with any of these qualities. Similarly, the Supreme Absolute Truth is never entangled with the contaminations of goodness, passion and ignorance, which cause the material transformations of the false ego.

SB 11.28.27 - Nevertheless, until by firmly practicing devotional service to Me one has completely eliminated from his mind all contamination of material passion, one must very carefully avoid associating with the material modes, which are produced by My illusory energy.

SB 11.28.28 - Just as an improperly treated disease recurs and gives repeated distress to the patient, the mind that is not completely purified of its perverted tendencies will remain attached to material things and repeatedly torment the imperfect yogé.

SB 11.28.29 - Sometimes the progress of imperfect transcendentalists is checked by attachment to family members, disciples or others, who are sent by envious demigods for that purpose. But on the strength of their accumulated advancement, such imperfect transcendentalists will resume their practice of yoga in the next life. They will never again be trapped in the network of fruitive work.

SB 11.28.30 - An ordinary living entity performs material work and is transformed by the reaction to such work. Thus he is driven by various desires to continue working fruitively up to the very moment of his death. A wise person, however, having experienced his own constitutional bliss, gives up all material desires and does not engage in fruitive work.

SB 11.28.31 - The wise man, whose consciousness is fixed in the self, does not even notice his own bodily activities. While standing, sitting, walking, lying down, urinating, eating or performing other bodily functions, he understands that the body is acting according to its own nature.

SB 11.28.32 - Although a self-realized soul may sometimes see an impure object or activity, he does not accept it as real. By logically understanding impure sense objects to be based on illusory material duality, the intelligent person sees them to be contrary to and distinct from reality, in the same way that a man awakening from sleep views his fading dream.

SB 11.28.33 - Material nescience, which expands into many varieties by the activities of the modes of nature, is wrongly accepted by the conditioned soul to be identical with the self. But through the cultivation of spiritual knowledge, My dear Uddhava, this same nescience fades away at the time of liberation. The eternal self, on the other hand, is never assumed and never abandoned.

SB 11.28.34 - When the sun rises it destroys the darkness covering men's eyes, but it does not create the objects they then see before them, which in fact were existing all along. Similarly, potent and factual realization of Me will destroy the darkness covering a person's true consciousness.

SB 11.28.35 - The Supreme Lord is self-luminous, unborn and immeasurable. He is pure transcendental consciousness and perceives everything. One without a second, He is realized only after ordinary words cease. By Him the power of speech and the life airs are set into motion.

SB 11.28.36 - Whatever apparent duality is perceived in the self is simply the confusion of the mind. Indeed, such supposed duality has no basis to rest upon apart from one's own soul.

SB 11.28.37 - The duality of the five material elements is perceived only in terms of names and forms. Those who say this duality is real are pseudoscholars vainly proposing fanciful theories without basis in fact.

SB 11.28.38 - The physical body of the endeavoring yogé who is not yet mature in his practice may sometimes be overcome by various disturbances. Therefore the following process is recommended.

SB 11.28.39 - Some of these obstructions may be counteracted by yogic meditation or by sitting postures, practiced together with concentration on controlled breathing, and others may be counteracted by special austerities, mantras or medicinal herbs.

SB 11.28.40 - These inauspicious disturbances can be gradually removed by constant remembrance of Me, by congregational hearing and chanting of My holy names, or by following in the footsteps of the great masters of yoga.

SB 11.28.41 - By various methods, some yogés free the body from disease and old age and keep it perpetually youthful. Thus they engage in yoga for the purpose of achieving material mystic perfections.

SB 11.28.42 - This mystic bodily perfection is not valued very highly by those expert in transcendental knowledge. Indeed, they consider endeavor for such perfection useless, since the soul, like a tree, is permanent, but the body, like a tree's fruit, is subject to destruction.

SB 11.28.43 - Although the physical body may be improved by various processes of yoga, an intelligent person who has dedicated his life to Me does not place his faith in the prospect of perfecting his physical body through yoga, and in fact he gives up such procedures.

SB 11.28.44 - The yogé who has taken shelter of Me remains free from hankering because he experiences the happiness of the soul within. Thus while executing this process of yoga, he is never defeated by obstacles.

76 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.29.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Acyuta, I fear that the method of yoga described by You is very difficult for one who cannot control his mind. Therefore please explain to me in simple terms how someone can more easily execute it.

SB 11.29.2 - O lotus-eyed Lord, generally those yogés who try to steady the mind experience frustration because of their inability to perfect the state of trance. Thus they weary in their attempt to bring the mind under control.

SB 11.29.3 - Therefore, O lotus-eyed Lord of the universe, swanlike men happily take shelter of Your lotus feet, the source of all transcendental ecstasy. But those who take pride in their accomplishments in yoga and karma fail to take shelter of You and are defeated by Your illusory energy.

SB 11.29.4 - My dear infallible Lord, it is not very astonishing that You intimately approach Your servants who have taken exclusive shelter of You. After all, during Your appearance as Lord Rāmacandra, even while great demigods like Brahmā were vying to place the effulgent tips of their helmets upon the cushion where Your lotus feet rested, You displayed special affection for monkeys such as Hanumān because they had taken exclusive shelter of You.

SB 11.29.5 - Who, then, could dare reject You, the very Soul, the most dear object of worship, and the Supreme Lord of all-You who give all possible perfections to the devotees who take shelter of You? Who could be so ungrateful, knowing the benefits You bestow? Who would reject You and accept something for the sake of material enjoyment, which simply leads to forgetfulness of You? And what lack is there for us who are engaged in the service of the dust of Your lotus feet?

SB 11.29.6 - O my Lord! Transcendental poets and experts in spiritual science could not fully express their indebtedness to You, even if they were endowed with the prolonged lifetime of Brahmā, for You appear in two features-externally as the ācārya and internally as the Supersoul-to deliver the embodied living being by directing him how to come to You.

SB 11.29.7 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Thus questioned by the most affectionate Uddhava, Lord Kāñëa, the supreme controller of all controllers, who takes the entire universe as His plaything and assumes the three forms of Brahmā, Viñëu and Çiva, began to reply, lovingly displaying His all-attractive smile.

SB 11.29.8 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Yes, I shall describe to you the principles of devotion to Me, by executing which a mortal human being will conquer unconquerable death.

SB 11.29.9 - Always remembering Me, one should perform all his duties for Me without becoming impetuous. With mind and intelligence offered to Me, one should fix his mind in attraction to My devotional service.

SB 11.29.10 - One should take shelter of holy places where My saintly devotees reside, and one should be guided by the exemplary activities of My devotees, who appear among the demigods, demons and human beings.

SB 11.29.11 - Either alone or in public gatherings, with singing, dancing and other exhibitions of royal opulence, one should arrange to celebrate those holy days, ceremonies and festivals set aside specially for My worship.

SB 11.29.12 - With a pure heart one should see Me, the Supreme Soul within all beings and also within oneself, to be both unblemished by anything material and also present everywhere, both externally and internally, just like the omnipresent sky.

SB 11.29.13-14 - O brilliant Uddhava, one who thus views all living entities with the idea that I am present within each of them, and who by taking shelter of this divine knowledge offers due respect to everyone, is considered actually wise. Such a man sees equally the brähmaëa and the outcaste, the thief and the charitable promoter of brahminical culture, the sun and the tiny sparks of fire, the gentle and the cruel.

SB 11.29.15 - For him who constantly meditates upon My presence within all persons, the bad tendencies of rivalry, envy and abusiveness, along with false ego, are very quickly destroyed.

SB 11.29.16 - Disregarding the ridicule of one's companions, one should give up the bodily conception and its accompanying embarrassment. One should offer obeisances before all-even the dogs, outcastes, cows and asses-falling flat upon the ground like a rod.

SB 11.29.17 - Until one has fully developed the ability to see Me within all living beings, one must continue to worship Me by this process with the activities of his speech, mind and body.

SB 11.29.18 - By such transcendental knowledge of the all-pervading Personality of Godhead, one is able to see the Absolute Truth everywhere. Freed thus from all doubts, one gives up fruitive activities.

SB 11.29.19 - Indeed, I consider this process-using one's mind, words and bodily functions for realizing Me within all living beings-to be the best possible method of spiritual enlightenment.

SB 11.29.20 - My dear Uddhava, because I have personally established it, this process of devotional service unto Me is transcendental and free from any material motivation. Certainly a devotee never suffers even the slightest loss by adopting this process.

SB 11.29.21 - O Uddhava, greatest of saints, in a dangerous situation an ordinary person cries, becomes fearful and laments, although such useless emotions do not change the situation. But activities offered to Me without personal motivation, even if they are externally useless, amount to the actual process of religion.

SB 11.29.22 - This process is the supreme intelligence of the intelligent and the cleverness of the most clever, for by following it one can in this very life make use of the temporary and unreal to achieve Me, the eternal reality.

SB 11.29.23 - Thus have I related to you-both in brief and in detail-a complete survey of the science of the Absolute Truth. Even for the demigods, this science is very difficult to comprehend.

SB 11.29.24 - I have repeatedly spoken this knowledge to you with clear reasoning. Anyone who properly understands it will become free from all doubts and attain liberation.

SB 11.29.25 - Anyone who fixes his attention on these clear answers to your questions will attain to the eternal, confidential goal of the Vedas-the Supreme Absolute Truth.

SB 11.29.26 - One who liberally disseminates this knowledge among My devotees is the bestower of the Absolute Truth, and to him I give My very own self.

SB 11.29.27 - He who loudly recites this supreme knowledge, which is the most lucid and purifying, becomes purified day by day, for he reveals Me to others with the lamp of transcendental knowledge.

SB 11.29.28 - Anyone who regularly listens to this knowledge with faith and attention, all the while engaging in My pure devotional service, will never become bound by the reactions of material work.

SB 11.29.29 - My dear friend Uddhava, have you now completely understood this transcendental knowledge? Are the confusion and lamentation that arose in your mind now dispelled?

SB 11.29.30 - You should not share this instruction with anyone who is hypocritical, atheistic or dishonest, or with anyone who will not listen faithfully, who is not a devotee, or who is simply not humble.

SB 11.29.31 - This knowledge should be taught to one who is free from these bad qualities, who is dedicated to the welfare of the brähmaëas, and who is kindly disposed, saintly and pure. And if common workers and women are found to have devotion for the Supreme Lord, they are also to be accepted as qualified hearers.

SB 11.29.32 - When an inquisitive person comes to understand this knowledge, he has nothing further to know. After all, one who has drunk the most palatable nectar cannot remain thirsty.

SB 11.29.33 - Through analytic knowledge, ritualistic work, mystic yoga, mundane business and political rule, people seek to advance in religiosity, economic development, sense gratification and liberation. But because you are My devotee, whatever men can accomplish in these multifarious ways you will very easily find within Me.

SB 11.29.34 - A person who gives up all fruitive activities and offers himself entirely unto Me, eagerly desiring to render service unto Me, achieves liberation from birth and death and is promoted to the status of sharing My own opulences.

SB 11.29.35 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Hearing these words spoken by Lord Kânëä, and having thus been shown the entire path of yoga, Uddhava folded his hands to offer obeisances. But his throat choked up with love and his eyes overflowed with tears; so he could say nothing.

SB 11.29.36 - Steadying his mind, which had become overwhelmed with love, Uddhava felt extremely grateful to Lord Kânëä, the greatest hero of the Yadu dynasty. My dear King Parékñit, Uddhava bowed down to touch the Lord's lotus feet with his head and then spoke with folded hands.

SB 11.29.37 - Çré Uddhava said: O unborn, primeval Lord, although I had fallen into the great darkness of illusion, my ignorance has now been dispelled by Your merciful association. Indeed, how can cold, darkness and fear exert their power over one who has approached the brilliant sun?

SB 11.29.38 - In return for my insignificant surrender, You have mercifully bestowed upon me, Your servant, the torchlight of transcendental knowledge. Therefore, what devotee of Yours who has any gratitude could ever give up Your lotus feet and take shelter of another master?

SB 11.29.39 - The firmly binding rope of my affection for the families of the Dācārhas, Vāñëis, Andhakas and Sātvatas-a rope You originally cast over me by Your illusory energy for the purpose of developing Your creation-is now cut off by the weapon of transcendental knowledge of the self.

SB 11.29.40 - Obeisances unto You, O greatest of yogés. Please instruct me, who am surrendered unto You, how I may have undeviating attachment to Your lotus feet.

SB 11.29.41-44 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, take My order and go to My ācrama called Badarikā. Purify yourself by both touching and also bathing in the holy waters there, which have emanated from My lotus feet. Rid yourself of all sinful reactions with the sight of the sacred Alakanandā River. Dress yourself in bark and eat whatever is naturally available in the forest. Thus you should remain content and free from desire, tolerant of all dualities, good-natured, self-controlled, peaceful and endowed with transcendental knowledge and realization. With fixed attention, meditate constantly upon these instructions I have imparted to you and assimilate their essence. Fix your words and thoughts upon Me, and always endeavor to increase your realization of My transcendental qualities. In this way you will cross beyond the destinations of the three modes of nature and finally come back to Me.

SB 11.29.45 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Thus addressed by Lord Kāñëa, whose intelligence destroys all the suffering of material life, Çré Uddhava circumambulated the Lord and then fell down, placing his head upon the Lord's feet. Although Uddhava was free from the influence of all material dualities, his heart was breaking, and at this time of departure he drenched the Lord's lotus feet with his tears.

SB 11.29.46 - Greatly fearing separation from Him for whom he felt such indestructible affection, Uddhava was distraught, and he could not give up the Lord's company. Finally, feeling great pain, he bowed down to the Lord again and again, placed the slippers of his master upon his head, and departed.

SB 11.29.47 - Thereupon, placing the Lord deeply within his heart, the great devotee Uddhava went to Badarikāçrama. By engaging there in austerities, he attained to the Lord's personal abode, which had been described to him by the only friend of the universe, Lord Kāñëa Himself.

SB 11.29.48 - Thus Lord Kāñëa, whose lotus feet are served by all great yoga masters, spoke to His devotee this nectarean knowledge, which comprises the entire ocean of spiritual bliss. Anyone within this universe who receives this narration with great faith is assured of liberation.

SB 11.29.49 - I offer my obeisances to that Supreme Personality of Godhead, the original and greatest of all beings, Lord Çré Kāñëa. He is the author of the Vedas, and just to destroy His devotees' fear of material existence, like a bee He has collected this nectarean essence of all knowledge and self-realization. Thus He has awarded to His many devotees this nectar from the ocean of bliss, and by His mercy they have drunk it.

77 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.29.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Acyuta, I fear that the method of yoga described by You is very difficult for one who cannot control his mind. Therefore please explain to me in simple terms how someone can more easily execute it.

SB 11.29.2 - O lotus-eyed Lord, generally those yogés who try to steady the mind experience frustration because of their inability to perfect the state of trance. Thus they weary in their attempt to bring the mind under control.

SB 11.29.3 - Therefore, O lotus-eyed Lord of the universe, swanlike men happily take shelter of Your lotus feet, the source of all transcendental ecstasy. But those who take pride in their accomplishments in yoga and karma fail to take shelter of You and are defeated by Your illusory energy.

SB 11.29.4 - My dear infallible Lord, it is not very astonishing that You intimately approach Your servants who have taken exclusive shelter of You. After all, during Your appearance as Lord Rāmacandra, even while great demigods like Brahmā were vying to place the effulgent tips of their helmets upon the cushion where Your lotus feet rested, You displayed special affection for monkeys such as Hanumān because they had taken exclusive shelter of You.

SB 11.29.5 - Who, then, could dare reject You, the very Soul, the most dear object of worship, and the Supreme Lord of all-You who give all possible perfections to the devotees who take shelter of You? Who could be so ungrateful, knowing the benefits You bestow? Who would reject You and accept something for the sake of material enjoyment, which simply leads to forgetfulness of You? And what lack is there for us who are engaged in the service of the dust of Your lotus feet?

SB 11.29.6 - O my Lord! Transcendental poets and experts in spiritual science could not fully express their indebtedness to You, even if they were endowed with the prolonged lifetime of Brahmā, for You appear in two features-externally as the ācārya and internally as the Supersoul-to deliver the embodied living being by directing him how to come to You.

SB 11.29.7 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Thus questioned by the most affectionate Uddhava, Lord Kāñëä, the supreme controller of all controllers, who takes the entire universe as His plaything and assumes the three forms of Brahmä, Viñëu and Çiva, began to reply, lovingly displaying His all-attractive smile.

SB 11.29.8 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Yes, I shall describe to you the principles of devotion to Me, by executing which a mortal human being will conquer unconquerable death.

SB 11.29.9 - Always remembering Me, one should perform all his duties for Me without becoming impetuous. With mind and intelligence offered to Me, one should fix his mind in attraction to My devotional service.

SB 11.29.10 - One should take shelter of holy places where My saintly devotees reside, and one should be guided by the exemplary activities of My devotees, who appear among the demigods, demons and human beings.

SB 11.29.11 - Either alone or in public gatherings, with singing, dancing and other exhibitions of royal opulence, one should arrange to celebrate those holy days, ceremonies and festivals set aside specially for My worship.

SB 11.29.12 - With a pure heart one should see Me, the Supreme Soul within all beings and also within oneself, to be both unblemished by anything material and also present everywhere, both externally and internally, just like the omnipresent sky.

SB 11.29.13-14 - O brilliant Uddhava, one who thus views all living entities with the idea that I am present within each of them, and who by taking shelter of this divine knowledge offers due respect to everyone, is considered actually wise. Such a man sees equally the brähmaëa and the outcaste, the thief and the charitable promoter of brahminical culture, the sun and the tiny sparks of fire, the gentle and the cruel.

SB 11.29.15 - For him who constantly meditates upon My presence within all persons, the bad tendencies of rivalry, envy and abusiveness, along with false ego, are very quickly destroyed.

SB 11.29.16 - Disregarding the ridicule of one's companions, one should give up the bodily conception and its accompanying embarrassment. One should offer obeisances before all-even the dogs, outcastes, cows and asses-falling flat upon the ground like a rod.

SB 11.29.17 - Until one has fully developed the ability to see Me within all living beings, one must continue to worship Me by this process with the activities of his speech, mind and body.

SB 11.29.18 - By such transcendental knowledge of the all-pervading Personality of Godhead, one is able to see the Absolute Truth everywhere. Freed thus from all doubts, one gives up fruitive activities.

SB 11.29.19 - Indeed, I consider this process-using one's mind, words and bodily functions for realizing Me within all living beings-to be the best possible method of spiritual enlightenment.

SB 11.29.20 - My dear Uddhava, because I have personally established it, this process of devotional service unto Me is transcendental and free from any material motivation. Certainly a devotee never suffers even the slightest loss by adopting this process.

SB 11.29.21 - O Uddhava, greatest of saints, in a dangerous situation an ordinary person cries, becomes fearful and laments, although such useless emotions do not change the situation. But activities offered to Me without personal motivation, even if they are externally useless, amount to the actual process of religion.

SB 11.29.22 - This process is the supreme intelligence of the intelligent and the cleverness of the most clever, for by following it one can in this very life make use of the temporary and unreal to achieve Me, the eternal reality.

SB 11.29.23 - Thus have I related to you-both in brief and in detail-a complete survey of the science of the Absolute Truth. Even for the demigods, this science is very difficult to comprehend.

SB 11.29.24 - I have repeatedly spoken this knowledge to you with clear reasoning. Anyone who properly understands it will become free from all doubts and attain liberation.

SB 11.29.25 - Anyone who fixes his attention on these clear answers to your questions will attain to the eternal, confidential goal of the Vedas-the Supreme Absolute Truth.

SB 11.29.26 - One who liberally disseminates this knowledge among My devotees is the bestower of the Absolute Truth, and to him I give My very own self.

SB 11.29.27 - He who loudly recites this supreme knowledge, which is the most lucid and purifying, becomes purified day by day, for he reveals Me to others with the lamp of transcendental knowledge.

SB 11.29.28 - Anyone who regularly listens to this knowledge with faith and attention, all the while engaging in My pure devotional service, will never become bound by the reactions of material work.

SB 11.29.29 - My dear friend Uddhava, have you now completely understood this transcendental knowledge? Are the confusion and lamentation that arose in your mind now dispelled?

SB 11.29.30 - You should not share this instruction with anyone who is hypocritical, atheistic or dishonest, or with anyone who will not listen faithfully, who is not a devotee, or who is simply not humble.

SB 11.29.31 - This knowledge should be taught to one who is free from these bad qualities, who is dedicated to the welfare of the brāhmaëas, and who is kindly disposed, saintly and pure. And if common workers and women are found to have devotion for the Supreme Lord, they are also to be accepted as qualified hearers.

SB 11.29.32 - When an inquisitive person comes to understand this knowledge, he has nothing further to know. After all, one who has drunk the most palatable nectar cannot remain thirsty.

SB 11.29.33 - Through analytic knowledge, ritualistic work, mystic yoga, mundane business and political rule, people seek to advance in religiosity, economic development, sense gratification and liberation. But because you are My devotee, whatever men can accomplish in these multifarious ways you will very easily find within Me.

SB 11.29.34 - A person who gives up all fruitive activities and offers himself entirely unto Me, eagerly desiring to render service unto Me, achieves liberation from birth and death and is promoted to the status of sharing My own opulences.

SB 11.29.35 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Hearing these words spoken by Lord Kânëä, and having thus been shown the entire path of yoga, Uddhava folded his hands to offer obeisances. But his throat choked up with love and his eyes overflowed with tears; so he could say nothing.

SB 11.29.36 - Steadying his mind, which had become overwhelmed with love, Uddhava felt extremely grateful to Lord Kânëä, the greatest hero of the Yadu dynasty. My dear King Parékñit, Uddhava bowed down to touch the Lord's lotus feet with his head and then spoke with folded hands.

SB 11.29.37 - Çré Uddhava said: O unborn, primeval Lord, although I had fallen into the great darkness of illusion, my ignorance has now been dispelled by Your merciful association. Indeed, how can cold, darkness and fear exert their power over one who has approached the brilliant sun?

SB 11.29.38 - In return for my insignificant surrender, You have mercifully bestowed upon me, Your servant, the torchlight of transcendental knowledge. Therefore, what devotee of Yours who has any gratitude could ever give up Your lotus feet and take shelter of another master?

SB 11.29.39 - The firmly binding rope of my affection for the families of the Däçärhas, Vänëis, Andhakas and Sätvatas-a rope You originally cast over me by Your illusory energy for the purpose of developing Your creation-is now cut off by the weapon of transcendental knowledge of the self.

SB 11.29.40 - Obeisances unto You, O greatest of yogés. Please instruct me, who am surrendered unto You, how I may have undeviating attachment to Your lotus feet.

SB 11.29.41-44 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, take My order and go to My āçrama called Badarikā. Purify yourself by both touching and also bathing in the holy waters there, which have emanated from My lotus feet. Rid yourself of all sinful reactions with the sight of the sacred Alakanandā River. Dress yourself in bark and eat whatever is naturally available in the forest. Thus you should remain content and free from desire, tolerant of all dualities, good-natured, self-controlled, peaceful and endowed with transcendental knowledge and realization. With fixed attention, meditate constantly upon these instructions I have imparted to you and assimilate their essence. Fix your words and thoughts upon Me, and always endeavor to increase your realization of My transcendental qualities. In this way you will cross beyond the destinations of the three modes of nature and finally come back to Me.

SB 11.29.45 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Thus addressed by Lord Kāñëa, whose intelligence destroys all the suffering of material life, Çré Uddhava circumambulated the Lord and then fell down, placing his head upon the Lord's feet. Although Uddhava was free from the influence of all material dualities, his heart was breaking, and at this time of departure he drenched the Lord's lotus feet with his tears.

SB 11.29.46 - Greatly fearing separation from Him for whom he felt such indestructible affection, Uddhava was distraught, and he could not give up the Lord's company. Finally, feeling great pain, he bowed down to the Lord again and again, placed the slippers of his master upon his head, and departed.

SB 11.29.47 - Thereupon, placing the Lord deeply within his heart, the great devotee Uddhava went to Badarikāçrama. By engaging there in austerities, he attained to the Lord's personal abode, which had been described to him by the only friend of the universe, Lord Kāñëa Himself.

SB 11.29.48 - Thus Lord Kāñëa, whose lotus feet are served by all great yoga masters, spoke to His devotee this nectarean knowledge, which comprises the entire ocean of spiritual bliss. Anyone within this universe who receives this narration with great faith is assured of liberation.

SB 11.29.49 - I offer my obeisances to that Supreme Personality of Godhead, the original and greatest of all beings, Lord Çré Kâñëa. He is the author of the Vedas, and just to destroy His devotees' fear of material existence, like a bee He has collected this nectarean essence of all knowledge and self-realization. Thus He has awarded to His many devotees this nectar from the ocean of bliss, and by His mercy they have drunk it.

78 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.29.1 - Çré Uddhava said: My dear Lord Acyuta, I fear that the method of yoga described by You is very difficult for one who cannot control his mind. Therefore please explain to me in simple terms how someone can more easily execute it.

SB 11.29.2 - O lotus-eyed Lord, generally those yogés who try to steady the mind experience frustration because of their inability to perfect the state of trance. Thus they weary in their attempt to bring the mind under control.

SB 11.29.3 - Therefore, O lotus-eyed Lord of the universe, swanlike men happily take shelter of Your lotus feet, the source of all transcendental ecstasy. But those who take pride in their accomplishments in yoga and karma fail to take shelter of You and are defeated by Your illusory energy.

SB 11.29.4 - My dear infallible Lord, it is not very astonishing that You intimately approach Your servants who have taken exclusive shelter of You. After all, during Your appearance as Lord Rāmacandra, even while great demigods like Brahmā were vying to place the effulgent tips of their helmets upon the cushion where Your lotus feet rested, You displayed special affection for monkeys such as Hanumān because they had taken exclusive shelter of You.

SB 11.29.5 - Who, then, could dare reject You, the very Soul, the most dear object of worship, and the Supreme Lord of all-You who give all possible perfections to the devotees who take shelter of You? Who could be so ungrateful, knowing the benefits You bestow? Who would reject You and accept something for the sake of material enjoyment, which simply leads to forgetfulness of You? And what lack is there for us who are engaged in the service of the dust of Your lotus feet?

SB 11.29.6 - O my Lord! Transcendental poets and experts in spiritual science could not fully express their indebtedness to You, even if they were endowed with the prolonged lifetime of Brahmā, for You appear in two features-externally as the ācārya and internally as the Supersoul-to deliver the embodied living being by directing him how to come to You.

SB 11.29.7 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Thus questioned by the most affectionate Uddhava, Lord Kāñëa, the supreme controller of all controllers, who takes the entire universe as His plaything and assumes the three forms of Brahmā, Viñëu and Çiva, began to reply, lovingly displaying His all-attractive smile.

SB 11.29.8 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: Yes, I shall describe to you the principles of devotion to Me, by executing which a mortal human being will conquer unconquerable death.

SB 11.29.9 - Always remembering Me, one should perform all his duties for Me without becoming impetuous. With mind and intelligence offered to Me, one should fix his mind in attraction to My devotional service.

SB 11.29.10 - One should take shelter of holy places where My saintly devotees reside, and one should be guided by the exemplary activities of My devotees, who appear among the demigods, demons and human beings.

SB 11.29.11 - Either alone or in public gatherings, with singing, dancing and other exhibitions of royal opulence, one should arrange to celebrate those holy days, ceremonies and festivals set aside specially for My worship.

SB 11.29.12 - With a pure heart one should see Me, the Supreme Soul within all beings and also within oneself, to be both unblemished by anything material and also present everywhere, both externally and internally, just like the omnipresent sky.

SB 11.29.13-14 - O brilliant Uddhava, one who thus views all living entities with the idea that I am present within each of them, and who by taking shelter of this divine knowledge offers due respect to everyone, is considered actually wise. Such a man sees equally the brähmaëa and the outcaste, the thief and the charitable promoter of brahminical culture, the sun and the tiny sparks of fire, the gentle and the cruel.

SB 11.29.15 - For him who constantly meditates upon My presence within all persons, the bad tendencies of rivalry, envy and abusiveness, along with false ego, are very quickly destroyed.

SB 11.29.16 - Disregarding the ridicule of one's companions, one should give up the bodily conception and its accompanying embarrassment. One should offer obeisances before all-even the dogs, outcastes, cows and asses-falling flat upon the ground like a rod.

SB 11.29.17 - Until one has fully developed the ability to see Me within all living beings, one must continue to worship Me by this process with the activities of his speech, mind and body.

SB 11.29.18 - By such transcendental knowledge of the all-pervading Personality of Godhead, one is able to see the Absolute Truth everywhere. Freed thus from all doubts, one gives up fruitive activities.

SB 11.29.19 - Indeed, I consider this process-using one's mind, words and bodily functions for realizing Me within all living beings-to be the best possible method of spiritual enlightenment.

SB 11.29.20 - My dear Uddhava, because I have personally established it, this process of devotional service unto Me is transcendental and free from any material motivation. Certainly a devotee never suffers even the slightest loss by adopting this process.

SB 11.29.21 - O Uddhava, greatest of saints, in a dangerous situation an ordinary person cries, becomes fearful and laments, although such useless emotions do not change the situation. But activities offered to Me without personal motivation, even if they are externally useless, amount to the actual process of religion.

SB 11.29.22 - This process is the supreme intelligence of the intelligent and the cleverness of the most clever, for by following it one can in this very life make use of the temporary and unreal to achieve Me, the eternal reality.

SB 11.29.23 - Thus have I related to you-both in brief and in detail-a complete survey of the science of the Absolute Truth. Even for the demigods, this science is very difficult to comprehend.

SB 11.29.24 - I have repeatedly spoken this knowledge to you with clear reasoning. Anyone who properly understands it will become free from all doubts and attain liberation.

SB 11.29.25 - Anyone who fixes his attention on these clear answers to your questions will attain to the eternal, confidential goal of the Vedas-the Supreme Absolute Truth.

SB 11.29.26 - One who liberally disseminates this knowledge among My devotees is the bestower of the Absolute Truth, and to him I give My very own self.

SB 11.29.27 - He who loudly recites this supreme knowledge, which is the most lucid and purifying, becomes purified day by day, for he reveals Me to others with the lamp of transcendental knowledge.

SB 11.29.28 - Anyone who regularly listens to this knowledge with faith and attention, all the while engaging in My pure devotional service, will never become bound by the reactions of material work.

SB 11.29.29 - My dear friend Uddhava, have you now completely understood this transcendental knowledge? Are the confusion and lamentation that arose in your mind now dispelled?

SB 11.29.30 - You should not share this instruction with anyone who is hypocritical, atheistic or dishonest, or with anyone who will not listen faithfully, who is not a devotee, or who is simply not humble.

SB 11.29.31 - This knowledge should be taught to one who is free from these bad qualities, who is dedicated to the welfare of the brāhmaëas, and who is kindly disposed, saintly and pure. And if common workers and women are found to have devotion for the Supreme Lord, they are also to be accepted as qualified hearers.

SB 11.29.32 - When an inquisitive person comes to understand this knowledge, he has nothing further to know. After all, one who has drunk the most palatable nectar cannot remain thirsty.

SB 11.29.33 - Through analytic knowledge, ritualistic work, mystic yoga, mundane business and political rule, people seek to advance in religiosity, economic development, sense gratification and liberation. But because you are My devotee, whatever men can accomplish in these multifarious ways you will very easily find within Me.

SB 11.29.34 - A person who gives up all fruitive activities and offers himself entirely unto Me, eagerly desiring to render service unto Me, achieves liberation from birth and death and is promoted to the status of sharing My own opulences.

SB 11.29.35 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Hearing these words spoken by Lord Kåñëä, and having thus been shown the entire path of yoga, Uddhava folded his hands to offer obeisances. But his throat choked up with love and his eyes overflowed with tears; so he could say nothing.

SB 11.29.36 - Steadying his mind, which had become overwhelmed with love, Uddhava felt extremely grateful to Lord Kåñëä, the greatest hero of the Yadu dynasty. My dear King Parékñit, Uddhava bowed down to touch the Lord's lotus feet with his head and then spoke with folded hands.

SB 11.29.37 - Çré Uddhava said: O unborn, primeval Lord, although I had fallen into the great darkness of illusion, my ignorance has now been dispelled by Your merciful association. Indeed, how can cold, darkness and fear exert their power over one who has approached the brilliant sun?

SB 11.29.38 - In return for my insignificant surrender, You have mercifully bestowed upon me, Your servant, the torchlight of transcendental knowledge. Therefore, what devotee of Yours who has any gratitude could ever give up Your lotus feet and take shelter of another master?

SB 11.29.39 - The firmly binding rope of my affection for the families of the Dācārhas, Vāñëis, Andhakas and Sātvatas-a rope You originally cast over me by Your illusory energy for the purpose of developing Your creation-is now cut off by the weapon of transcendental knowledge of the self.

SB 11.29.40 - Obeisances unto You, O greatest of yogés. Please instruct me, who am surrendered unto You, how I may have undeviating attachment to Your lotus feet.

SB 11.29.41-44 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Uddhava, take My order and go to My ācrama called Badarikā. Purify yourself by both touching and also bathing in the holy waters there, which have emanated from My lotus feet. Rid yourself of all sinful reactions with the sight of the sacred Alakanandā River. Dress yourself in bark and eat whatever is naturally available in the forest. Thus you should remain content and free from desire, tolerant of all dualities, good-natured, self-controlled, peaceful and endowed with transcendental knowledge and realization. With fixed attention, meditate constantly upon these instructions I have imparted to you and assimilate their essence. Fix your words and thoughts upon Me, and always endeavor to increase your realization of My transcendental qualities. In this way you will cross beyond the destinations of the three modes of nature and finally come back to Me.

SB 11.29.45 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Thus addressed by Lord Kāñëa, whose intelligence destroys all the suffering of material life, Çré Uddhava circumambulated the Lord and then fell down, placing his head upon the Lord's feet. Although Uddhava was free from the influence of all material dualities, his heart was breaking, and at this time of departure he drenched the Lord's lotus feet with his tears.

SB 11.29.46 - Greatly fearing separation from Him for whom he felt such indestructible affection, Uddhava was distraught, and he could not give up the Lord's company. Finally, feeling great pain, he bowed down to the Lord again and again, placed the slippers of his master upon his head, and departed.

SB 11.29.47 - Thereupon, placing the Lord deeply within his heart, the great devotee Uddhava went to Badarikāçrama. By engaging there in austerities, he attained to the Lord's personal abode, which had been described to him by the only friend of the universe, Lord Kāñëa Himself.

SB 11.29.48 - Thus Lord Kāñëa, whose lotus feet are served by all great yoga masters, spoke to His devotee this nectarean knowledge, which comprises the entire ocean of spiritual bliss. Anyone within this universe who receives this narration with great faith is assured of liberation.

SB 11.29.49 - I offer my obeisances to that Supreme Personality of Godhead, the original and greatest of all beings, Lord Çré Kāñëa. He is the author of the Vedas, and just to destroy His devotees' fear of material existence, like a bee He has collected this nectarean essence of all knowledge and self-realization. Thus He has awarded to His many devotees this nectar from the ocean of bliss, and by His mercy they have drunk it.

79 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.30.1 - King Parékñit said: After the great devotee Uddhava left for the forest, what did the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the protector of all living beings, do in the city of Dvārakā?

SB 11.30.2 - After His own dynasty met destruction from the curse of the brāhmaëas, how could the best of the Yadus give up His body, the dearmost object of all eyes?

SB 11.30.3 - Once their eyes were fixed upon His transcendental form, women were unable to withdraw them, and once that form had entered the ears of the sages and become fixed in their hearts, it would never depart. What to speak of acquiring fame, the great poets who described the beauty of the Lord's form would have their words invested with transcendently pleasing attraction. And by seeing that form on Arjuna's chariot, all the warriors on the battlefield of Kurukñetra attained the liberation of gaining a spiritual body similar to the Lord's.

SB 11.30.4 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Having observed many disturbing signs in the sky, on the earth and in outer space, Lord Kânëa addressed the Yadus assembled in the Sudharmä council hall as follows.

SB 11.30.5 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O leaders of the Yadu dynasty, please note all these terrible omens that have appeared in Dvärakä just like the flags of death. We should not remain here a moment longer.

SB 11.30.6 - The women, children and old men should leave this city and go to Çai khoddhära. We shall go to Prabhäsa-kñetra, where the river Sarasvaté flows toward the west.

SB 11.30.7 - There we should bathe for purification, fast, and fix our minds in meditation. We should then worship the demigods by bathing their images, anointing them with sandalwood pulp, and presenting them various offerings.

SB 11.30.8 - After performing the expiatory rituals with the help of greatly fortunate brāhmaëas, we will worship those brāhmaëas by offering them cows, land, gold, clothing, elephants, horses, chariots and dwelling places.

SB 11.30.9 - This is indeed the appropriate process for counteracting our imminent adversity, and it is sure to bring about the highest good fortune. Such worship of the demigods, brāhmaëas and cows can earn the highest birth for all living entities.

SB 11.30.10 - Having heard these words from Lord Kāṇëa, the enemy of Madhu, the elders of the Yadu dynasty gave their assent, saying, "So be it." After crossing over the ocean in boats, they proceeded on chariots to Prabhāsa.

SB 11.30.11 - There, with great devotion, the Yādavas performed the religious ceremonies according to the instructions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, their personal Lord. They also performed various other auspicious rituals.

SB 11.30.12 - Then, their intelligence covered by Providence, they liberally indulged in drinking the sweet maireya beverage, which can completely intoxicate the mind.

SB 11.30.13 - The heroes of the Yadu dynasty became intoxicated from their extravagant drinking and began to feel arrogant. When they were thus bewildered by the personal potency of Lord Kāṇëa, a terrible quarrel arose among them.

SB 11.30.14 - Infuriated, they seized their bows and arrows, swords, bhallas, clubs, lances and spears and attacked one another on the shore of the ocean.

SB 11.30.15 - Riding on elephants and chariots with flags flying, and also on donkeys, camels, bulls, buffalos, mules and even human beings, the extremely enraged warriors came together and violently attacked one another with arrows, just as elephants in the forest attack one another with their tusks.

SB 11.30.16 - Their mutual enmity aroused, Pradyumna fought fiercely against Sāmba, Akrūra against Kuntibhoja, Aniruddha against Sātyaki, Subhadra against Saṁ grāmajit, Sumitra against Suratha, and the two Gadas against each other.

SB 11.30.17 - Others also, such as Niçāṁha, Ulmuka, Sahasrajit, Çatajit and Bhānu, confronted and killed one another, being blinded by intoxication and thus completely bewildered by Lord Mukunda Himself.

SB 11.30.18 - Completely abandoning their natural friendship, the members of the various Yadu clans-the Dāçārhas, Vāñēis and Andhakas, the Bhojas, Sātvatas, Madhus and Arbudas, the Māthuras, Çūrasenas, Visarjanas, Kukuras and Kuntis-all slaughtered one another.

SB 11.30.19 - Thus bewildered, sons fought with fathers, brothers with brothers, nephews with paternal and maternal uncles, and grandsons with grandfathers. Friends fought with friends, and well-wishers with well-wishers. In this way intimate friends and relatives all killed one another.

SB 11.30.20 - When all their bows had been broken and their arrows and other missiles spent, they seized the tall stalks of cane with their bare hands.

SB 11.30.21 - As soon as they took these cane stalks in their fists, the stalks changed into iron rods as hard as thunderbolts. With these weapons

the warriors began attacking one another again and again, and when Lord Kāñëa tried to stop them they attacked Him as well.

SB 11.30.22 - In their confused state, O King, they also mistook Lord Balaräma for an enemy. Weapons in hand, they ran toward Him with the intention of killing Him.

SB 11.30.23 - O son of the Kurus, Kāñëa and Balaräma then became very angry. Picking up cane stalks, They moved about within the battle and began to kill with these clubs.

SB 11.30.24 - The violent anger of these warriors, who were overcome by the brähmaëas' curse and bewildered by Lord Kāñëa's illusory potency, now led them to their annihilation, just as a fire that starts in a bamboo grove destroys the entire forest.

SB 11.30.25 - When all the members of His own dynasty were thus destroyed, Lord Kāñëa thought to Himself that at last the burden of the earth had been removed.

SB 11.30.26 - Lord Balaräma then sat down on the shore of the ocean and fixed Himself in meditation upon the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Merging Himself within Himself, He gave up this mortal world.

SB 11.30.27 - Lord Kāñëa, the son of Devaké, having seen the departure of Lord Räma, sat down silently on the ground under a nearby pippala tree.

SB 11.30.28-32 - The Lord was exhibiting His brilliantly effulgent four-armed form, the radiance of which, just like a smokeless fire, dissipated the darkness in all directions. His complexion was the color of a dark blue cloud and His effulgence the color of molten gold, and His all-auspicious form bore the mark of Çrévatsa. A beautiful smile graced His lotus face, locks of dark blue hair adorned His head, His lotus eyes were very attractive, and His shark-shaped earrings glittered. He wore a pair of silken garments, an ornamental belt, the sacred thread, bracelets and arm ornaments, along with a helmet, the Kaustubha jewel, necklaces, anklets and other royal emblems. Encircling His body were flower garlands and His personal weapons in their embodied forms. As He sat He held His left foot, with its lotus-red sole, upon His right thigh.

SB 11.30.33 - Just then a hunter named Jarä, who had approached the place, mistook the Lord's foot for a deer's face. Thinking he had found his prey, Jarä pierced the foot with his arrow, which he had fashioned from the remaining iron fragment of Sämba's club.

SB 11.30.34 - Then, seeing that four-armed personality, the hunter became terrified of the offense he had committed, and he fell down, placing his head upon the feet of the enemy of the demons.

SB 11.30.35 - Jarä said: O Lord Madhusüdana, I am a most sinful person. I have committed this act out of ignorance. O purest Lord, O Uttamaùçloka, please forgive this sinner.

SB 11.30.36 - O Lord Viñëu, the learned say that for any man, constant remembrance of You will destroy the darkness of ignorance. O master, I have wronged You!

SB 11.30.37 - Therefore, O Lord of Vaikuëha, please kill this sinful hunter of animals immediately so he may not again commit such offenses against saintly persons.

SB 11.30.38 - Neither Brahmä nor his sons, headed by Rudra, nor any of the great sages who are masters of the Vedic mantras can understand the function of Your mystic power. Because Your illusory potency has covered their sight, they remain ignorant of how Your mystic power works. Therefore, what can I, such a low-born person, possibly say?

SB 11.30.39 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Jarä, do not fear. Please get up. What has been done is actually My own desire. With My permission, go now to the abode of the pious, the spiritual world.

SB 11.30.40 - So instructed by the Supreme Lord Kåñëä, who assumes His transcendental body by His own will, the hunter circumambulated the Lord three times and bowed down to Him. Then the hunter departed in an airplane that had appeared just to carry him to the spiritual sky.

SB 11.30.41 - At that time Däruka was searching for his master, Kåñëä. As he neared the place where the Lord was sitting, he perceived the aroma of tulasé flowers in the breeze and went in its direction.

SB 11.30.42 - Upon seeing Lord Kåñëä resting at the foot of a banyan tree, surrounded by His shining weapons, Däruka could not control the affection he felt in his heart. His eyes filled with tears as he rushed down from the chariot and fell at the Lord's feet.

SB 11.30.43 - Däruka said: Just as on a moonless night people are merged into darkness and cannot find their way, now that I have lost sight of Your lotus feet, my Lord, I have lost my vision and am wandering blindly in darkness. I cannot tell my direction, nor can I find any peace.

SB 11.30.44 - [Çukadeva Gosvämé continued:] O foremost of kings, while the chariot driver was still speaking, before his very eyes the Lord's chariot rose up into the sky along with its horses and its flag, which was marked with the emblem of Garuḍa.

SB 11.30.45 - All the divine weapons of Viṣṇu rose up and followed the chariot. The Lord, Janārdana, then spoke to His chariot driver, who was most astonished to see all this.

SB 11.30.46 - O driver, go to Dvārakā and tell Our family members how their loved ones destroyed one another. Also tell them of the disappearance of Lord Saṁkarṣaṇa and of My present condition.

SB 11.30.47 - You and your relatives should not remain in Dvārakā, the capital of the Yadus, because once I have abandoned that city it will be inundated by the ocean.

SB 11.30.48 - You should all take your own families, together with My parents, and under Arjuna's protection go to Indraprastha.

SB 11.30.49 - You, Dāraka, should be firmly situated in devotion to Me, remaining fixed in spiritual knowledge and unattached to material considerations. Understanding these pastimes to be a display of My illusory potency, you should remain peaceful.

SB 11.30.50 - Thus ordered, Dāraka circumambulated the Lord and offered obeisances to Him again and again. He placed Lord Kṛṣṇa's lotus feet upon his head and then with a sad heart went back to the city.

80 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.30.1 - King Parīkṣit said: After the great devotee Uddhava left for the forest, what did the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the protector of all living beings, do in the city of Dvārakā?

SB 11.30.2 - After His own dynasty met destruction from the curse of the brāhmaëas, how could the best of the Yadus give up His body, the dearmost object of all eyes?

SB 11.30.3 - Once their eyes were fixed upon His transcendental form, women were unable to withdraw them, and once that form had entered the ears of the sages and become fixed in their hearts, it would never depart. What to speak of acquiring fame, the great poets who described the beauty of the Lord's form would have their words invested with transcendently pleasing attraction. And by seeing that form on Arjuna's chariot, all the warriors on the battlefield of Kurukñetra attained the liberation of gaining a spiritual body similar to the Lord's.

SB 11.30.4 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Having observed many disturbing signs in the sky, on the earth and in outer space, Lord Kåñëa addressed the Yadus assembled in the Sudharmä council hall as follows.

SB 11.30.5 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O leaders of the Yadu dynasty, please note all these terrible omens that have appeared in Dvārakä just like the flags of death. We should not remain here a moment longer.

SB 11.30.6 - The women, children and old men should leave this city and go to Çai khoddhāra. We shall go to Prabhāsa-kñetra, where the river Sarasvaté flows toward the west.

SB 11.30.7 - There we should bathe for purification, fast, and fix our minds in meditation. We should then worship the demigods by bathing their images, anointing them with sandalwood pulp, and presenting them various offerings.

SB 11.30.8 - After performing the expiatory rituals with the help of greatly fortunate brāhmaëas, we will worship those brāhmaëas by offering them cows, land, gold, clothing, elephants, horses, chariots and dwelling places.

SB 11.30.9 - This is indeed the appropriate process for counteracting our imminent adversity, and it is sure to bring about the highest good fortune. Such worship of the demigods, brāhmaëas and cows can earn the highest birth for all living entities.

SB 11.30.10 - Having heard these words from Lord Kāṇëa, the enemy of Madhu, the elders of the Yadu dynasty gave their assent, saying, "So be it." After crossing over the ocean in boats, they proceeded on chariots to Prabhäsa.

SB 11.30.11 - There, with great devotion, the Yädavas performed the religious ceremonies according to the instructions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, their personal Lord. They also performed various other auspicious rituals.

SB 11.30.12 - Then, their intelligence covered by Providence, they liberally indulged in drinking the sweet maireya beverage, which can completely intoxicate the mind.

SB 11.30.13 - The heroes of the Yadu dynasty became intoxicated from their extravagant drinking and began to feel arrogant. When they were thus bewildered by the personal potency of Lord Kāṇëa, a terrible quarrel arose among them.

SB 11.30.14 - Infuriated, they seized their bows and arrows, swords, bhallas, clubs, lances and spears and attacked one another on the shore of the ocean.

SB 11.30.15 - Riding on elephants and chariots with flags flying, and also on donkeys, camels, bulls, buffalos, mules and even human beings, the extremely enraged warriors came together and violently attacked one another with arrows, just as elephants in the forest attack one another with their tusks.

SB 11.30.16 - Their mutual enmity aroused, Pradyumna fought fiercely against Sāmba, Akrūra against Kuntibhoja, Aniruddha against Sātyaki, Subhadra against Saṁ grāmajit, Sumitra against Suratha, and the two Gadas against each other.

SB 11.30.17 - Others also, such as Niçāḥa, Ulmuka, Sahasrajit, Çatajit and Bhānu, confronted and killed one another, being blinded by intoxication and thus completely bewildered by Lord Mukunda Himself.

SB 11.30.18 - Completely abandoning their natural friendship, the members of the various Yadu clans-the Dāçārhas, Vāñëis and Andhakas, the Bhojas, Sātvatas, Madhus and Arbudas, the Māthuras, Çürasenas, Visarjanas, Kukuras and Kuntis-all slaughtered one another.

SB 11.30.19 - Thus bewildered, sons fought with fathers, brothers with brothers, nephews with paternal and maternal uncles, and grandsons with grandfathers. Friends fought with friends, and well-wishers with well-wishers. In this way intimate friends and relatives all killed one another.

SB 11.30.20 - When all their bows had been broken and their arrows and other missiles spent, they seized the tall stalks of cane with their bare hands.

SB 11.30.21 - As soon as they took these cane stalks in their fists, the stalks changed into iron rods as hard as thunderbolts. With these weapons the warriors began attacking one another again and again, and when Lord Kāñëa tried to stop them they attacked Him as well.

SB 11.30.22 - In their confused state, O King, they also mistook Lord Balarāma for an enemy. Weapons in hand, they ran toward Him with the intention of killing Him.

SB 11.30.23 - O son of the Kurus, Kāñëa and Balarāma then became very angry. Picking up cane stalks, They moved about within the battle and began to kill with these clubs.

SB 11.30.24 - The violent anger of these warriors, who were overcome by the brāhmaëas' curse and bewildered by Lord Kāñëa's illusory potency, now led them to their annihilation, just as a fire that starts in a bamboo grove destroys the entire forest.

SB 11.30.25 - When all the members of His own dynasty were thus destroyed, Lord Kāñëa thought to Himself that at last the burden of the earth had been removed.

SB 11.30.26 - Lord Balarāma then sat down on the shore of the ocean and fixed Himself in meditation upon the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Merging Himself within Himself, He gave up this mortal world.

SB 11.30.27 - Lord Kāñëa, the son of Devaké, having seen the departure of Lord Rāma, sat down silently on the ground under a nearby pippala tree.

SB 11.30.28-32 - The Lord was exhibiting His brilliantly effulgent four-armed form, the radiance of which, just like a smokeless fire, dissipated

the darkness in all directions. His complexion was the color of a dark blue cloud and His effulgence the color of molten gold, and His all-auspicious form bore the mark of Çrévatsa. A beautiful smile graced His lotus face, locks of dark blue hair adorned His head, His lotus eyes were very attractive, and His shark-shaped earrings glittered. He wore a pair of silken garments, an ornamental belt, the sacred thread, bracelets and arm ornaments, along with a helmet, the Kaustubha jewel, necklaces, anklets and other royal emblems. Encircling His body were flower garlands and His personal weapons in their embodied forms. As He sat He held His left foot, with its lotus-red sole, upon His right thigh.

SB 11.30.33 - Just then a hunter named Jarä, who had approached the place, mistook the Lord's foot for a deer's face. Thinking he had found his prey, Jarä pierced the foot with his arrow, which he had fashioned from the remaining iron fragment of Sämba's club.

SB 11.30.34 - Then, seeing that four-armed personality, the hunter became terrified of the offense he had committed, and he fell down, placing his head upon the feet of the enemy of the demons.

SB 11.30.35 - Jarä said: O Lord Madhusüdana, I am a most sinful person. I have committed this act out of ignorance. O purest Lord, O Uttamaùçloka, please forgive this sinner.

SB 11.30.36 - O Lord Viñëu, the learned say that for any man, constant remembrance of You will destroy the darkness of ignorance. O master, I have wronged You!

SB 11.30.37 - Therefore, O Lord of Vaikuëha, please kill this sinful hunter of animals immediately so he may not again commit such offenses against saintly persons.

SB 11.30.38 - Neither Brahmā nor his sons, headed by Rudra, nor any of the great sages who are masters of the Vedic mantras can understand the function of Your mystic power. Because Your illusory potency has covered their sight, they remain ignorant of how Your mystic power works. Therefore, what can I, such a low-born person, possibly say?

SB 11.30.39 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Jarā, do not fear. Please get up. What has been done is actually My own desire. With My permission, go now to the abode of the pious, the spiritual world.

SB 11.30.40 - So instructed by the Supreme Lord Kāñëa, who assumes His transcendental body by His own will, the hunter circumambulated the Lord three times and bowed down to Him. Then the hunter departed in an airplane that had appeared just to carry him to the spiritual sky.

SB 11.30.41 - At that time Dārūka was searching for his master, Kāñëa. As he neared the place where the Lord was sitting, he perceived the aroma of tulasé flowers in the breeze and went in its direction.

SB 11.30.42 - Upon seeing Lord Kāñëa resting at the foot of a banyan tree, surrounded by His shining weapons, Dārūka could not control the affection he felt in his heart. His eyes filled with tears as he rushed down from the chariot and fell at the Lord's feet.

SB 11.30.43 - Dārūka said: Just as on a moonless night people are merged into darkness and cannot find their way, now that I have lost sight of Your lotus feet, my Lord, I have lost my vision and am wandering blindly in darkness. I cannot tell my direction, nor can I find any peace.

SB 11.30.44 - [Çukadeva Gosvāmë continued:] O foremost of kings, while the chariot driver was still speaking, before his very eyes the Lord's chariot rose up into the sky along with its horses and its flag, which was marked with the emblem of Garuða.

SB 11.30.45 - All the divine weapons of Viñëu rose up and followed the chariot. The Lord, Janārdana, then spoke to His chariot driver, who was most astonished to see all this.

SB 11.30.46 - O driver, go to Dvārakā and tell Our family members how their loved ones destroyed one another. Also tell them of the disappearance of Lord Saì karñaëa and of My present condition.

SB 11.30.47 - You and your relatives should not remain in Dvārakā, the capital of the Yadus, because once I have abandoned that city it will be inundated by the ocean.

SB 11.30.48 - You should all take your own families, together with My parents, and under Arjuna's protection go to Indraprastha.

SB 11.30.49 - You, Dāruka, should be firmly situated in devotion to Me, remaining fixed in spiritual knowledge and unattached to material considerations. Understanding these pastimes to be a display of My illusory potency, you should remain peaceful.

SB 11.30.50 - Thus ordered, Dāruka circumambulated the Lord and offered obeisances to Him again and again. He placed Lord Kāñëa's lotus feet upon his head and then with a sad heart went back to the city.

81 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.30.1 - King Parékñit said: After the great devotee Uddhava left for the forest, what did the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the protector of all living beings, do in the city of Dvārakā?

SB 11.30.2 - After His own dynasty met destruction from the curse of the brāhmaëas, how could the best of the Yadus give up His body, the dearest object of all eyes?

SB 11.30.3 - Once their eyes were fixed upon His transcendental form, women were unable to withdraw them, and once that form had entered the ears of the sages and become fixed in their hearts, it would never depart. What to speak of acquiring fame, the great poets who described the beauty of the Lord's form would have their words invested with transcendently pleasing attraction. And by seeing that form on Arjuna's chariot, all the warriors on the battlefield of Kurukṣetra attained the liberation of gaining a spiritual body similar to the Lord's.

SB 11.30.4 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Having observed many disturbing signs in the sky, on the earth and in outer space, Lord Kāṇëa addressed the Yadus assembled in the Sudharmā council hall as follows.

SB 11.30.5 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: O leaders of the Yadu dynasty, please note all these terrible omens that have appeared in Dvārakā just like the flags of death. We should not remain here a moment longer.

SB 11.30.6 - The women, children and old men should leave this city and go to Çai khoddhāra. We shall go to Prabhāsa-kṣetra, where the river Sarasvaté flows toward the west.

SB 11.30.7 - There we should bathe for purification, fast, and fix our minds in meditation. We should then worship the demigods by bathing their images, anointing them with sandalwood pulp, and presenting them various offerings.

SB 11.30.8 - After performing the expiatory rituals with the help of greatly fortunate brāhmaëas, we will worship those brāhmaëas by offering them cows, land, gold, clothing, elephants, horses, chariots and dwelling places.

SB 11.30.9 - This is indeed the appropriate process for counteracting our imminent adversity, and it is sure to bring about the highest good fortune. Such worship of the demigods, brāhmaëas and cows can earn the highest birth for all living entities.

SB 11.30.10 - Having heard these words from Lord Kâñëa, the enemy of Madhu, the elders of the Yadu dynasty gave their assent, saying, "So be it." After crossing over the ocean in boats, they proceeded on chariots to Prabhäsa.

SB 11.30.11 - There, with great devotion, the Yädavas performed the religious ceremonies according to the instructions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, their personal Lord. They also performed various other auspicious rituals.

SB 11.30.12 - Then, their intelligence covered by Providence, they liberally indulged in drinking the sweet maireya beverage, which can completely intoxicate the mind.

SB 11.30.13 - The heroes of the Yadu dynasty became intoxicated from their extravagant drinking and began to feel arrogant. When they were thus bewildered by the personal potency of Lord Kâñëa, a terrible quarrel arose among them.

SB 11.30.14 - Infuriated, they seized their bows and arrows, swords, bhallas, clubs, lances and spears and attacked one another on the shore of the ocean.

SB 11.30.15 - Riding on elephants and chariots with flags flying, and also on donkeys, camels, bulls, buffalos, mules and even human beings, the extremely enraged warriors came together and violently attacked one another with arrows, just as elephants in the forest attack one another with their tusks.

SB 11.30.16 - Their mutual enmity aroused, Pradyumna fought fiercely against Sāmba, Akrūra against Kuntibhoja, Aniruddha against Sātyaki, Subhadra against Saṁ grāmajit, Sumitra against Suratha, and the two Gadas against each other.

SB 11.30.17 - Others also, such as Niçāōha, Ulmuka, Sahasrajit, Çatajit and Bhānu, confronted and killed one another, being blinded by intoxication and thus completely bewildered by Lord Mukunda Himself.

SB 11.30.18 - Completely abandoning their natural friendship, the members of the various Yadu clans-the Dāçārhas, Vāñēis and Andhakas, the Bhojas, Sātvatas, Madhus and Arbudas, the Māthuras, Çūrasenas, Visarjanas, Kukuras and Kuntis-all slaughtered one another.

SB 11.30.19 - Thus bewildered, sons fought with fathers, brothers with brothers, nephews with paternal and maternal uncles, and grandsons with grandfathers. Friends fought with friends, and well-wishers with well-wishers. In this way intimate friends and relatives all killed one another.

SB 11.30.20 - When all their bows had been broken and their arrows and other missiles spent, they seized the tall stalks of cane with their bare hands.

SB 11.30.21 - As soon as they took these cane stalks in their fists, the stalks changed into iron rods as hard as thunderbolts. With these weapons the warriors began attacking one another again and again, and when Lord Kāñëa tried to stop them they attacked Him as well.

SB 11.30.22 - In their confused state, O King, they also mistook Lord Balaräma for an enemy. Weapons in hand, they ran toward Him with the intention of killing Him.

SB 11.30.23 - O son of the Kurus, Kāñëa and Balaräma then became very angry. Picking up cane stalks, They moved about within the battle and began to kill with these clubs.

SB 11.30.24 - The violent anger of these warriors, who were overcome by the brähmaëas' curse and bewildered by Lord Kāñëa's illusory potency, now led them to their annihilation, just as a fire that starts in a bamboo grove destroys the entire forest.

SB 11.30.25 - When all the members of His own dynasty were thus destroyed, Lord Kāñëa thought to Himself that at last the burden of the earth had been removed.

SB 11.30.26 - Lord Balaräma then sat down on the shore of the ocean and fixed Himself in meditation upon the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Merging Himself within Himself, He gave up this mortal world.

SB 11.30.27 - Lord Kāñëa, the son of Devaké, having seen the departure of Lord Räma, sat down silently on the ground under a nearby pippala tree.

SB 11.30.28-32 - The Lord was exhibiting His brilliantly effulgent four-armed form, the radiance of which, just like a smokeless fire, dissipated the darkness in all directions. His complexion was the color of a dark blue cloud and His effulgence the color of molten gold, and His all-auspicious form bore the mark of Çrévatsa. A beautiful smile graced His lotus face, locks of dark blue hair adorned His head, His lotus eyes were very attractive, and His shark-shaped earrings glittered. He wore a pair of silken garments, an ornamental belt, the sacred thread, bracelets and arm ornaments, along with a helmet, the Kaustubha jewel, necklaces, anklets and other royal emblems. Encircling His body were flower garlands and His personal weapons in their embodied forms. As He sat He held His left foot, with its lotus-red sole, upon His right thigh.

SB 11.30.33 - Just then a hunter named Jarä, who had approached the place, mistook the Lord's foot for a deer's face. Thinking he had found his prey, Jarä pierced the foot with his arrow, which he had fashioned from the remaining iron fragment of Sämba's club.

SB 11.30.34 - Then, seeing that four-armed personality, the hunter became terrified of the offense he had committed, and he fell down, placing his head upon the feet of the enemy of the demons.

SB 11.30.35 - Jarä said: O Lord Madhusüdana, I am a most sinful person. I have committed this act out of ignorance. O purest Lord, O Uttamaùçloka, please forgive this sinner.

SB 11.30.36 - O Lord Viñëu, the learned say that for any man, constant remembrance of You will destroy the darkness of ignorance. O master, I have wronged You!

SB 11.30.37 - Therefore, O Lord of Vaikuëöha, please kill this sinful hunter of animals immediately so he may not again commit such offenses against saintly persons.

SB 11.30.38 - Neither Brahmā nor his sons, headed by Rudra, nor any of the great sages who are masters of the Vedic mantras can understand the function of Your mystic power. Because Your illusory potency has covered their sight, they remain ignorant of how Your mystic power works. Therefore, what can I, such a low-born person, possibly say?

SB 11.30.39 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Jarä, do not fear. Please get up. What has been done is actually My own desire. With My permission, go now to the abode of the pious, the spiritual world.

SB 11.30.40 - So instructed by the Supreme Lord Kāñëa, who assumes His transcendental body by His own will, the hunter circumambulated the Lord three times and bowed down to Him. Then the hunter departed in an airplane that had appeared just to carry him to the spiritual sky.

SB 11.30.41 - At that time Däruka was searching for his master, Kāñëa. As he neared the place where the Lord was sitting, he perceived the aroma of tulasé flowers in the breeze and went in its direction.

SB 11.30.42 - Upon seeing Lord Kāñëa resting at the foot of a banyan tree, surrounded by His shining weapons, Däruka could not control the affection he felt in his heart. His eyes filled with tears as he rushed down from the chariot and fell at the Lord's feet.

SB 11.30.43 - Däruka said: Just as on a moonless night people are merged into darkness and cannot find their way, now that I have lost sight of Your lotus feet, my Lord, I have lost my vision and am wandering blindly in darkness. I cannot tell my direction, nor can I find any peace.

SB 11.30.44 - [Çukadeva Gosvämé continued:] O foremost of kings, while the chariot driver was still speaking, before his very eyes the Lord's chariot rose up into the sky along with its horses and its flag, which was marked with the emblem of Garuòa.

SB 11.30.45 - All the divine weapons of Viñëu rose up and followed the chariot. The Lord, Janärdana, then spoke to His chariot driver, who was most astonished to see all this.

SB 11.30.46 - O driver, go to Dvärakä and tell Our family members how their loved ones destroyed one another. Also tell them of the disappearance of Lord Saì karñaëa and of My present condition.

SB 11.30.47 - You and your relatives should not remain in Dvärakä, the capital of the Yadus, because once I have abandoned that city it will be inundated by the ocean.

SB 11.30.48 - You should all take your own families, together with My parents, and under Arjuna's protection go to Indraprastha.

SB 11.30.49 - You, Däruka, should be firmly situated in devotion to Me, remaining fixed in spiritual knowledge and unattached to material considerations. Understanding these pastimes to be a display of My illusory potency, you should remain peaceful.

SB 11.30.50 - Thus ordered, Däruka circumambulated the Lord and offered obeisances to Him again and again. He placed Lord Kâñëa's lotus feet upon his head and then with a sad heart went back to the city.

SB 11.31.1 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Then Lord Brahmā arrived at Prabhāsa along with Lord Çiva and his consort, the sages, the Prajāpatis and all the demigods, headed by Indra.

SB 11.31.2-3 - The forefathers, Siddhas, Gandharvas, Vidyādhara and great serpents also came, along with the Cāraēas, Yakñas, Rākñasas, Kinnaras, Apsarās and relatives of Garuḍa, greatly eager to witness the departure of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. As they were coming, all these personalities variously chanted and glorified the birth and activities of Lord Çauri [Kāñēa].

SB 11.31.4 - O King, crowding the sky with their many airplanes, they showered down flowers with great devotion.

SB 11.31.5 - Seeing before Him Brahmā, the grandfather of the universe, along with the other demigods, who are all His personal and powerful expansions, the Almighty Lord closed His lotus eyes, fixing His mind within Himself, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.31.6 - Without employing the mystic āgneyé meditation to burn up His transcendental body, which is the all-attractive resting place of all the worlds and the object of all contemplation and meditation, Lord Kāñēa entered into His own abode.

SB 11.31.7 - As soon as Lord Çré Kāñēa left the earth, Truth, Religion, Faithfulness, Glory and Beauty immediately followed Him. Kettledrums resounded in the heavens and flowers showered from the sky.

SB 11.31.8 - Most of the demigods and other higher beings led by Brahmā could not see Lord Kāñēa as He was entering His own abode, since He did not reveal His movements. But some of them did catch sight of Him, and they were extremely amazed.

SB 11.31.9 - Just as ordinary men cannot ascertain the path of a lightning bolt as it leaves a cloud, the demigods could not trace out the movements of Lord Kāñëa as He returned to His abode.

SB 11.31.10 - A few of the demigods, however-notably Lord Brahmä and Lord Çiva-could ascertain how the Lord's mystic power was working, and thus they became astonished. All the demigods praised the Lord's mystic power and then returned to their own planets.

SB 11.31.11 - My dear King, you should understand that the Supreme Lord's appearance and disappearance, which resemble those of embodied conditioned souls, are actually a show enacted by His illusory energy, just like the performance of an actor. After creating this universe He enters into it, plays within it for some time, and at last winds it up. Then the Lord remains situated in His own transcendental glory, having ceased from the functions of cosmic manifestation.

SB 11.31.12 - Lord Kāñëa brought the son of His guru back from the planet of the lord of death in the boy's selfsame body, and as the ultimate giver of protection He saved you also when you were burned by the brahmästra of Açvatthämä. He conquered in battle even Lord Çiva, who deals death to the agents of death, and He sent the hunter Jarä directly to Vaikuëöha in his human body. How could such a personality be unable to protect His own Self?

SB 11.31.13 - Although Lord Kāñëa, being the possessor of infinite powers, is the only cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of innumerable living beings, He simply did not desire to keep His body in this world any longer. Thus He revealed the destination of those fixed in the self and demonstrated that this mortal world is of no intrinsic value.

SB 11.31.14 - Anyone who regularly rises early in the morning and carefully chants with devotion the glories of Lord Çré Kâñëa's transcendental disappearance and His return to His own abode will certainly achieve that same supreme destination.

SB 11.31.15 - As soon as Däruka reached Dvärakä, he threw himself at the feet of Vasudeva and Ugrasena and drenched their feet with his tears, lamenting the loss of Lord Kâñëa.

SB 11.31.16-17 - Däruka delivered the account of the total destruction of the Vâñëis, and upon hearing this, O Parëkñit, the people became deeply distraught in their hearts and stunned with sorrow. Feeling the overwhelming pain of separation from Kâñëa, they struck their own faces while hurrying to the place where their relatives lay dead.

SB 11.31.18 - When Devaké, Rohiëé and Vasudeva could not find their sons, Kâñëa and Râma, they lost consciousness out of anguish.

SB 11.31.19 - Tormented by separation from the Lord, His parents gave up their lives at that very spot. My dear Parëkñit, the wives of the Yädavas then climbed onto the funeral pyres, embracing their dead husbands.

SB 11.31.20 - The wives of Lord Balaräma also entered the fire and embraced His body, and Vasudeva's wives entered his fire and embraced his body. The daughters-in-law of Lord Hari entered the funeral fires of their respective husbands, headed by Pradyumna. And Rukmiëé and the other wives of Lord Kâñëa-whose hearts were completely absorbed in Him-entered His fire.

SB 11.31.21 - Arjuna felt great distress over separation from Lord Kâñëa, his dearest friend. But he consoled himself by remembering the transcendental words the Lord had sung to him.

SB 11.31.22 - Arjuna then saw to it that the funeral rites were properly carried out for the dead, who had no remaining male family members. He executed the required ceremonies for each of the Yadus, one after another.

SB 11.31.23 - As soon as Dvārakā was abandoned by the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the ocean flooded it on all sides, O King, sparing only His palace.

SB 11.31.24 - Lord Madhusūdana, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is eternally present in Dvārakā. It is the most auspicious of all auspicious places, and merely remembering it destroys all contamination.

SB 11.31.25 - Arjuna took the survivors of the Yadu dynasty-the women, children and old men-to Indraprastha, where he installed Vajra as ruler of the Yadus.

SB 11.31.26 - Hearing from Arjuna of the death of their friend, my dear King, your grandfathers established you as the maintainer of the dynasty and left to prepare for their departure from this world.

SB 11.31.27 - A person who with faith engages in chanting the glories of these various pastimes and incarnations of Viñëu, the Lord of lords, will gain liberation from all sins.

SB 11.31.28 - The all-auspicious exploits of the all-attractive incarnations of Lord Çré Kāñëa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and also the pastimes He performed as a child, are described in this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam and in other scriptures. Anyone who clearly chants these descriptions of His pastimes will attain transcendental loving service unto Lord Kāṇḍea, who is the goal of all perfect sages.

83 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.31.1 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Then Lord Brahmā arrived at Prabhāsa along with Lord Çiva and his consort, the sages, the Prajāpatis and all the demigods, headed by Indra.

SB 11.31.2-3 - The forefathers, Siddhas, Gandharvas, Vidyādharas and great serpents also came, along with the Cāraëas, Yakñas, Rākñasas, Kinnaras, Apsarās and relatives of Garuḍa, greatly eager to witness the departure of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. As they were coming, all these personalities variously chanted and glorified the birth and activities of Lord Çauri [Kāṇḍea].

SB 11.31.4 - O King, crowding the sky with their many airplanes, they showered down flowers with great devotion.

SB 11.31.5 - Seeing before Him Brahmā, the grandfather of the universe, along with the other demigods, who are all His personal and powerful expansions, the Almighty Lord closed His lotus eyes, fixing His mind within Himself, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.31.6 - Without employing the mystic āgneyé meditation to burn up His transcendental body, which is the all-attractive resting place of all the worlds and the object of all contemplation and meditation, Lord Kāṇḍea entered into His own abode.

SB 11.31.7 - As soon as Lord Çré Kāṇḍea left the earth, Truth, Religion, Faithfulness, Glory and Beauty immediately followed Him. Kettledrums resounded in the heavens and flowers showered from the sky.

SB 11.31.8 - Most of the demigods and other higher beings led by Brahmā could not see Lord Kāñëa as He was entering His own abode, since He did not reveal His movements. But some of them did catch sight of Him, and they were extremely amazed.

SB 11.31.9 - Just as ordinary men cannot ascertain the path of a lightning bolt as it leaves a cloud, the demigods could not trace out the movements of Lord Kāñëa as He returned to His abode.

SB 11.31.10 - A few of the demigods, however-notably Lord Brahmā and Lord Çiva-could ascertain how the Lord's mystic power was working, and thus they became astonished. All the demigods praised the Lord's mystic power and then returned to their own planets.

SB 11.31.11 - My dear King, you should understand that the Supreme Lord's appearance and disappearance, which resemble those of embodied conditioned souls, are actually a show enacted by His illusory energy, just like the performance of an actor. After creating this universe He enters into it, plays within it for some time, and at last winds it up. Then the Lord remains situated in His own transcendental glory, having ceased from the functions of cosmic manifestation.

SB 11.31.12 - Lord Kāñëa brought the son of His guru back from the planet of the lord of death in the boy's selfsame body, and as the ultimate giver of protection He saved you also when you were burned by the brahmāstra of Açvatthāmā. He conquered in battle even Lord Çiva, who deals death to the agents of death, and He sent the hunter Jarā directly to Vaikuëha in his human body. How could such a personality be unable to protect His own Self?

SB 11.31.13 - Although Lord Kāñëa, being the possessor of infinite powers, is the only cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of innumerable living beings, He simply did not desire to keep His body in this world any longer. Thus He revealed the destination of those fixed in the self and demonstrated that this mortal world is of no intrinsic value.

SB 11.31.14 - Anyone who regularly rises early in the morning and carefully chants with devotion the glories of Lord Çré Kāñëa's transcendental disappearance and His return to His own abode will certainly achieve that same supreme destination.

SB 11.31.15 - As soon as Däruka reached Dväarakä, he threw himself at the feet of Vasudeva and Ugrasena and drenched their feet with his tears, lamenting the loss of Lord Kāñëa.

SB 11.31.16-17 - Däruka delivered the account of the total destruction of the Vāñëis, and upon hearing this, O Parékñit, the people became deeply distraught in their hearts and stunned with sorrow. Feeling the overwhelming pain of separation from Kāñëa, they struck their own faces while hurrying to the place where their relatives lay dead.

SB 11.31.18 - When Devaké, Rohiëé and Vasudeva could not find their sons, Kāñëa and Rāma, they lost consciousness out of anguish.

SB 11.31.19 - Tormented by separation from the Lord, His parents gave up their lives at that very spot. My dear Parékñit, the wives of the Yädavas then climbed onto the funeral pyres, embracing their dead husbands.

SB 11.31.20 - The wives of Lord Balarāma also entered the fire and embraced His body, and Vasudeva's wives entered his fire and embraced his body. The daughters-in-law of Lord Hari entered the funeral fires of their respective husbands, headed by Pradyumna. And Rukmiëë and the other wives of Lord Kâñëa-whose hearts were completely absorbed in Him-entered His fire.

SB 11.31.21 - Arjuna felt great distress over separation from Lord Kâñëa, his dearmost friend. But he consoled himself by remembering the transcendental words the Lord had sung to him.

SB 11.31.22 - Arjuna then saw to it that the funeral rites were properly carried out for the dead, who had no remaining male family members. He executed the required ceremonies for each of the Yadus, one after another.

SB 11.31.23 - As soon as Dvarakä was abandoned by the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the ocean flooded it on all sides, O King, sparing only His palace.

SB 11.31.24 - Lord Madhusüdana, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is eternally present in Dvarakä. It is the most auspicious of all auspicious places, and merely remembering it destroys all contamination.

SB 11.31.25 - Arjuna took the survivors of the Yadu dynasty-the women, children and old men-to Indraprastha, where he installed Vajra as ruler of the Yadus.

SB 11.31.26 - Hearing from Arjuna of the death of their friend, my dear King, your grandfathers established you as the maintainer of the dynasty and left to prepare for their departure from this world.

SB 11.31.27 - A person who with faith engages in chanting the glories of these various pastimes and incarnations of Viñëu, the Lord of lords, will gain liberation from all sins.

SB 11.31.28 - The all-auspicious exploits of the all-attractive incarnations of Lord Çré Kāñëa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and also the pastimes He performed as a child, are described in this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam and in other scriptures. Anyone who clearly chants these descriptions of His pastimes will attain transcendental loving service unto Lord Kāñëa, who is the goal of all perfect sages.

84 (Popup - Popup)

SB 11.31.1 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Then Lord Brahmā arrived at Prabhāsa along with Lord Çiva and his consort, the sages, the Prajāpatis and all the demigods, headed by Indra.

SB 11.31.2-3 - The forefathers, Siddhas, Gandharvas, Vidyādharas and great serpents also came, along with the Cāraëas, Yakñas, Rākñasas, Kinnaras, Apsarās and relatives of Garuðā, greatly eager to witness the departure of the Supreme Personality of Godhead. As they were coming, all these personalities variously chanted and glorified the birth and activities of Lord Çauri [Kāñëa].

SB 11.31.4 - O King, crowding the sky with their many airplanes, they showered down flowers with great devotion.

SB 11.31.5 - Seeing before Him Brahmā, the grandfather of the universe, along with the other demigods, who are all His personal and powerful expansions, the Almighty Lord closed His lotus eyes, fixing His mind within Himself, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 11.31.6 - Without employing the mystic āgneyé meditation to burn up

His transcendental body, which is the all-attractive resting place of all the worlds and the object of all contemplation and meditation, Lord Kāñëa entered into His own abode.

SB 11.31.7 - As soon as Lord Çré Kāñëa left the earth, Truth, Religion, Faithfulness, Glory and Beauty immediately followed Him. Kettledrums resounded in the heavens and flowers showered from the sky.

SB 11.31.8 - Most of the demigods and other higher beings led by Brahmä could not see Lord Kāñëa as He was entering His own abode, since He did not reveal His movements. But some of them did catch sight of Him, and they were extremely amazed.

SB 11.31.9 - Just as ordinary men cannot ascertain the path of a lightning bolt as it leaves a cloud, the demigods could not trace out the movements of Lord Kāñëa as He returned to His abode.

SB 11.31.10 - A few of the demigods, however-notably Lord Brahmä and Lord Çiva-could ascertain how the Lord's mystic power was working, and thus they became astonished. All the demigods praised the Lord's mystic power and then returned to their own planets.

SB 11.31.11 - My dear King, you should understand that the Supreme Lord's appearance and disappearance, which resemble those of embodied conditioned souls, are actually a show enacted by His illusory energy, just like the performance of an actor. After creating this universe He enters into it, plays within it for some time, and at last winds it up. Then the Lord remains situated in His own transcendental glory, having ceased from the functions of cosmic manifestation.

SB 11.31.12 - Lord Kāñëa brought the son of His guru back from the planet of the lord of death in the boy's selfsame body, and as the ultimate giver of protection He saved you also when you were burned by the brahmāstra of Aṣvatthāmā. He conquered in battle even Lord Ṣiva, who deals death to the agents of death, and He sent the hunter Jarā directly to Vaikuṇṭha in his human body. How could such a personality be unable to protect His own Self?

SB 11.31.13 - Although Lord Kāṇḍa, being the possessor of infinite powers, is the only cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of innumerable living beings, He simply did not desire to keep His body in this world any longer. Thus He revealed the destination of those fixed in the self and demonstrated that this mortal world is of no intrinsic value.

SB 11.31.14 - Anyone who regularly rises early in the morning and carefully chants with devotion the glories of Lord Ṣré Kāṇḍa's transcendental disappearance and His return to His own abode will certainly achieve that same supreme destination.

SB 11.31.15 - As soon as Dāraka reached Dvārakā, he threw himself at the feet of Vasudeva and Ugrasena and drenched their feet with his tears, lamenting the loss of Lord Kāṇḍa.

SB 11.31.16-17 - Dāraka delivered the account of the total destruction of the Vāṇīs, and upon hearing this, O Parākṛit, the people became deeply distraught in their hearts and stunned with sorrow. Feeling the overwhelming pain of separation from Kāṇḍa, they struck their own faces while hurrying to the place where their relatives lay dead.

SB 11.31.18 - When Devaké, Rohiṇī and Vasudeva could not find their sons, Kāṇḍa and Rāma, they lost consciousness out of anguish.

SB 11.31.19 - Tormented by separation from the Lord, His parents gave up their lives at that very spot. My dear Parékñit, the wives of the Yādavas then climbed onto the funeral pyres, embracing their dead husbands.

SB 11.31.20 - The wives of Lord Balarāma also entered the fire and embraced His body, and Vasudeva's wives entered his fire and embraced his body. The daughters-in-law of Lord Hari entered the funeral fires of their respective husbands, headed by Pradyumna. And Rukmiëë and the other wives of Lord Kāñëa-whose hearts were completely absorbed in Him-entered His fire.

SB 11.31.21 - Arjuna felt great distress over separation from Lord Kāñëa, his dearest friend. But he consoled himself by remembering the transcendental words the Lord had sung to him.

SB 11.31.22 - Arjuna then saw to it that the funeral rites were properly carried out for the dead, who had no remaining male family members. He executed the required ceremonies for each of the Yadus, one after another.

SB 11.31.23 - As soon as Dvārakā was abandoned by the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the ocean flooded it on all sides, O King, sparing only His palace.

SB 11.31.24 - Lord Madhusūdana, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is eternally present in Dvārakā. It is the most auspicious of all auspicious places, and merely remembering it destroys all contamination.

SB 11.31.25 - Arjuna took the survivors of the Yadu dynasty-the women, children and old men-to Indraprastha, where he installed Vajra as ruler of the Yadus.

SB 11.31.26 - Hearing from Arjuna of the death of their friend, my dear King, your grandfathers established you as the maintainer of the dynasty and left to prepare for their departure from this world.

SB 11.31.27 - A person who with faith engages in chanting the glories of these various pastimes and incarnations of Viñëu, the Lord of lords, will gain liberation from all sins.

SB 11.31.28 - The all-auspicious exploits of the all-attractive incarnations of Lord Çré Kâñëa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and also the pastimes He performed as a child, are described in this Çrëmad-Bhägavatam and in other scriptures. Anyone who clearly chants these descriptions of His pastimes will attain transcendental loving service unto Lord Kâñëa, who is the goal of all perfect sages.

85 (Popup - Popup)

adveñöä sarva-bhütänäà, maitraù karuëa eva ca, nirmamo nirahaì käraù, sama-duùkha-sukhaù kñamé, santuñöaù satataà yogé, yatätmä dâöha-niçcayaù, mayy arpita-mano-buddhir, yo mad-bhaktaù sa me priyaù

Bg 12.13-14 - One who is not envious but is a kind friend to all living entities, who does not think himself a proprietor and is free from false ego, who is equal in both happiness and distress, who is tolerant, always satisfied, self-controlled, and engaged in devotional service with determination, his mind and intelligence fixed on Me-such a devotee of Mine is very dear to Me.

yasmän nodvijate loko, lokän nodvijate ca yaù harñämarña-bhayodvegair, mukto yaù sa ca me priyaù

Bg 12.15 - He for whom no one is put into difficulty and who is not disturbed by anyone, who is equipoised in happiness and distress, fear and anxiety, is very dear to Me.

anapekñāu çucir dakñā, udāsēno gata-vyathau sarvārambha-parityāgé, yo mad-bhaktau sa me priyau

Bg 12.16 - My devotee who is not dependent on the ordinary course of activities, who is pure, expert, without cares, free from all pains, and not striving for some result, is very dear to Me.

yo na hāñyati na dveñōi, na çocati na kài kñati çubhāçubha-parityāgé, bhaktimān yaù sa me priyau

Bg 12.17 - One who neither rejoices nor grieves, who neither laments nor desires, and who renounces both auspicious and inauspicious things-such a devotee is very dear to Me.

samaù çatrau ca mitre ca, tathā mănāpamānayoù, çetoñēa-sukha-duùkheñu, samaù saì ga-vivarjitaù, tulya-nindā-stutir mauné, santuñño yena kenacit, aniketaù sthira-matir, bhaktimān me priyo naraù

Bg 12.18-19 - One who is equal to friends and enemies, who is equipoised in honor and dishonor, heat and cold, happiness and distress, fame and infamy, who is always free from contaminating association, always silent and satisfied with anything, who doesn't care for any residence, who is fixed in knowledge and who is engaged in devotional service-such a person is very dear to Me.

ye tu dharmāmātam idaà, yathoktaà paryupāsate çraddadhānā mat-paramā, bhaktās te 'tēva me priyau

Bg 12.20 - Those who follow this imperishable path of devotional service and who completely engage themselves with faith, making Me the supreme goal, are very, very dear to Me.

86 (Popup - Popup)

*çruti-smāti-purāēādipai carātra-vidhià vinā
aikāntiké harer bhaktir*

utpätäyaiva kalpate

"Devotional service of the Lord that ignores the authorized Vedic literatures like the Upaniñads, Puräëas and Närada-pai' carätra is simply an unnecessary disturbance in society." Bhakti-rasämäta-sindhu 1.2.101

87 (Popup - Popup)

*ataù çré-kâñëa-nämädi
na bhaved grähyam indriyaiù sevonmukhe hi jihvädau
svayam eva sphuraty adaù*

"No one can understand the transcendental nature of the name, form, quality and pastimes of Çré Kâñëa through his materially contaminated senses. Only when one becomes spiritually saturated by transcendental service to the Lord are the transcendental name, form, quality and pastimes of the Lord revealed to him." (Bhakti-rasämäta-sindhu 1.2.234)

88 (Popup - Svarupa-siddhi)

Svarüpa-siddhi-the perfection of one's eternal relationship with the Supreme Lord.

89 (Popup - acintya-bhedabheda-tattva)

This philosophy is propounded by Lord Caitanya as acintya-bhedäbheda-tattva. Everything is simultaneously one with and different from everything else. The cosmic manifestation created by the Supreme Lord by His material energy is also simultaneously different and nondifferent from Him. The material energy is nondifferent from the Supreme Lord, but at the same time, because that energy is acting in a different way, it is different from Him. Similarly, the individual living entity is one with and different from the Supreme Lord. This "simultaneously one and different" philosophy is the perfect conclusion of the Bhägavata school, as confirmed here by Kapiladeva. [SB 3.28.41 Purport]

90 (Popup - Popup)

çruti-smäti-puräëädi-pai' carätra-vidhià vinä

*aikāntiké harer bhaktir
utpätäyaiva kalpate*

"Devotional service of the Lord that ignores the authorized Vedic literatures like the Upaniñads, Puräëas and Nārada-pai' carātra is simply an unnecessary disturbance in society." Bhakti-rasāmāta-sindhu 1.2.101

91 (Popup - aham brahmasmi)

Simply to understand that one is not matter but spirit soul (ahaà brahmäsmi: "I am by nature Brahman") is not sufficient knowledge for understanding the self and his activities. One must be situated in the activities of Brahman. Knowledge of those activities is explained by the Supreme Personality of Godhead Himself. Such transcendental knowledge can be appreciated in human society but not in animal society, as clearly indicated here by the word nãëäm, "for the human beings." Human beings are meant for regulated life. By nature, there is regulation in animal life also, but that is not like the regulative life as described in the scriptures or by the authorities. Human life is regulated life, not animal life. In regulated life only can one understand transcendental knowledge. [SB 3.25.1 Purport]

92 (Popup - Popup)

*anyābhilāñitā-çünyaà
ji' äna-karmädy-anävâtam änukülyena kãñëänu-
çêlanaà bhaktir uttamä*

"One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kãñëa favorably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service." Bhakti-rasāmāta-sindhu 1.1.11

93 (Popup - acintya-bhedabheda-tattva)

This philosophy is propounded by Lord Caitanya as acintya-bhedābheda-tattva. Everything is simultaneously one with and different from everything else. The cosmic manifestation created by the Supreme Lord by His material energy is also simultaneously different and nondifferent from Him. The material energy is nondifferent from the Supreme Lord, but at the same time, because that energy is acting in a different way, it is different from Him. Similarly, the individual living entity is one with and different from the Supreme Lord. This "simultaneously one and different" philosophy is the perfect conclusion of the Bhāgavata school, as confirmed here by Kapiladeva. [SB 3.28.41 Purport]

94 (Popup - Popup)

*yasya deve parā bhaktir
yathā deve tathā gurau
tasyaite kathitā hy arthāu
prakāṣante mahātmanaù*

"Unto those great souls who have implicit faith in both the Lord and the spiritual master, all the imports of Vedic knowledge are automatically revealed." (Çvetāçvatara Upaniṣad 6.23)

*ataù çré-kāñēa-nāmādi
na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiù sevonmukhe hi jihvādau
svayam eva sphuraty adaù*

"No one can understand Kāñēa as He is by the blunt material senses. But He reveals Himself to the devotees, being pleased with them for their transcendental loving service unto Him." (Bhakti-rasāmāta-sindhu 1.2.234)

bhaktyā mām abhijānāti yāvān yaç cāsmi tattvataù tato mää tattvato jī' ätvä viçate tad-anantaram

"One can understand the Supreme Personality as He is only by devotional service. And when one is in full consciousness of the Supreme Lord by such devotion, he can enter into the kingdom of God."

These are Vedic instructions. One must have full faith in the words of the spiritual master and similar faith in the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Then the real knowledge of ātmā and Paramātmā and the distinction between matter and spirit will be automatically revealed. This ātma-tattva, or spiritual knowledge, will be revealed within the core of a devotee's heart because of his having taken shelter of the lotus feet of a mahājana such as Prahlāda Mahārāja.

95 (Popup - aham brahmasmi)

Simply to understand that one is not matter but spirit soul (ahaṁ brahmāsmi: "I am by nature Brahman") is not sufficient knowledge for understanding the self and his activities. One must be situated in the activities of Brahman. Knowledge of those activities is explained by the Supreme Personality of Godhead Himself. Such transcendental knowledge can be appreciated in human society but not in animal society, as clearly indicated here by the word nāëām, "for the human beings." Human beings are meant for regulated life. By nature, there is regulation in animal life also, but that is not like the regulative life as described in the scriptures or by the authorities. Human life is regulated life, not animal life. In regulated life only can one understand transcendental knowledge. [SB 3.25.1 Purport]

96 (Popup - acintya-bhedabheda-tattva)

This philosophy is propounded by Lord Caitanya as acintya-bhedābheda-tattva. Everything is simultaneously one with and different from everything else. The cosmic manifestation created by the Supreme Lord by His material energy is also simultaneously different and nondifferent from Him. The material energy is nondifferent from the Supreme Lord, but at the same time, because that energy is acting in a different way, it is different from Him. Similarly, the individual living entity is one with and different from the Supreme Lord. This "simultaneously one and different" philosophy is the perfect conclusion of the Bhāgavata school, as confirmed here by Kapiladeva. [SB 3.28.41 Purport]

97 (Popup - aham brahmasmi)

Simply to understand that one is not matter but spirit soul (ahaṁ brahmāsmi: "I am by nature Brahman") is not sufficient knowledge for understanding the self and his activities. One must be situated in the activities of Brahman. Knowledge of those activities is explained by the Supreme Personality of Godhead Himself. Such transcendental knowledge can be appreciated in human society but not in animal society, as clearly indicated here by the word nâëäm, "for the human beings." Human beings are meant for regulated life. By nature, there is regulation in animal life also, but that is not like the regulative life as described in the scriptures or by the authorities. Human life is regulated life, not animal life. In regulated life only can one understand transcendental knowledge. [SB 3.25.1 Purport]

98 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.1.1-2 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: The last king mentioned in our previous enumeration of the future rulers of the Mägadha dynasty was Puräi'jaya, who will take birth as the descendant of Bâhadratha. Puräi'jaya's minister Çunaka will assassinate the king and install his own son, Pradyota, on the throne. The son of Pradyota will be Pälaka, his son will be Viçäkhayüpa, and his son will be Räjaka.

SB 12.1.3 - The son of Räjaka will be Nandivardhana, and thus in the Pradyotana dynasty there will be five kings, who will enjoy the earth for 138 years.

SB 12.1.4 - Nandivardhana will have a son named Çiçunäga, and his son will be known as Käkavarëa. The son of Käkavarëa will be Kñemadharmä, and the son of Kñemadharmä will be Kñetrajī a.

SB 12.1.5 - The son of Kñetrajī a will be Vidhisära, and his son will be Ajätaçatru. Ajätaçatru will have a son named Darbhaka, and his son will be Ajaya.

SB 12.1.6-8 - Ajaya will father a second Nandivardhana, whose son will be Mahänandi. O best of the Kurus, these ten kings of the Çiçunäga dynasty will rule the earth for a total of 360 years during the age of Kali. My dear Parékñit, King Mahänandi will father a very powerful son in the womb of a çüdra woman. He will be known as Nanda and will be the master of millions of soldiers and fabulous wealth. He will wreak havoc among the kñatriyas, and from that time onward virtually all kings will be irreligious çüdras.

SB 12.1.9 - That lord of Mahāpadma, King Nanda, will rule over the entire earth just like a second Paraçurāma, and no one will challenge his authority.

SB 12.1.10 - He will have eight sons, headed by Sumālya, who will control the earth as powerful kings for one hundred years.

SB 12.1.11 - A certain brāhmaëa [Cäëakya] will betray the trust of King Nanda and his eight sons and will destroy their dynasty. In their absence the Mauryas will rule the world as the age of Kali continues.

SB 12.1.12 - This brāhmaëa will enthrone Candragupta, whose son will be named Vārisāra. The son of Vārisāra will be Açokavardhana.

SB 12.1.13 - Açokavardhana will be followed by Suyaçä, whose son will be Saì gata. His son will be Çäliçüka, Çäliçüka's son will be Somaçarmä, and Somaçarmä's son will be Çatadhanvä. His son will be known as Brhadratha.

SB 12.1.14 - O best of the Kurus, these ten Maurya kings will rule the earth for 137 years of the Kali-yuga.

SB 12.1.15-17 - My dear King Parékñit, Agnimitra will follow as king, and then Sujyeñöha. Sujyeñöha will be followed by Vasumitra, Bhadraka, and the son of Bhadraka, Pulinda. Then the son of Pulinda, named Ghoña, will rule, followed by Vajramitra, Bhāgavata and Devabhūti. In this way, O most eminent of the Kuru heroes, ten Çuì ga kings will rule over the earth for more than one hundred years. Then the earth will come under the subjugation of the kings of the Kāëva dynasty, who will manifest very few good qualities.

SB 12.1.18 - Vasudeva, an intelligent minister coming from the Kāëva family, will kill the last of the Çuī ga kings, a lusty debauchee named Devabhūti, and assume rulership himself.

SB 12.1.19 - The son of Vasudeva will be Bhūmitra, and his son will be Nārāyaëa. These kings of the Kāëva dynasty will rule the earth for 345 more years of the Kali-yuga.

SB 12.1.20 - The last of the Kāëvas, Suçarmā, will be murdered by his own servant, Balé a low-class çüdra of the Andhra race. This most degraded Mahārāja Balé will have control over the earth for some time.

SB 12.1.21-26 - The brother of Balé, named Kāñëa, will become the next ruler of the earth. His son will be Çāntakarëa, and his son will be Paurëamāsa. The son of Paurëamāsa will be Lambodara, who will father Mahārāja Cibilaka. From Cibilaka will come Meghasvāti, whose son will be Aōamāna. The son of Aōamāna will be Aninōakarmā. His son will be Hāleya, and his son will be Talaka. The son of Talaka will be Purëñabhëru, and following him Sunandana will become king. Sunandana will be followed by Cakora and the eight Bahuṣ, among whom Çivasvāti will be a great subduer of enemies. The son of Çivasvāti will be Gomaté. His son will be Purémän, whose son will be Medaçirä. His son will be Çivaskanda, and his son will be Yajī açré. The son of Yajī açré will be Vijaya, who will have two sons, Candravijī a and Lomadhi. These thirty kings will enjoy sovereignty over the earth for a total of 456 years, O favorite son of the Kurus.

SB 12.1.27 - Then will follow seven kings of the Äbhëra race from the ciq of Avabhāti, and then ten Gardabhés. After them, sixteen kings of the Kaī kas will rule and will be known for their excessive greed.

SB 12.1.28 - Eight Yavanas will then take power, followed by fourteen Turuṅkas, ten Guruëòas and eleven kings of the Maula dynasty.

SB 12.1.29-31 - These Äbhéras, Gardabhés and Kaï kas will enjoy the earth for 1,099 years, and the Maulas will rule for 300 years. When all of them have died off there will appear in the city of Kilakilä a dynasty of kings consisting of Bhütananda, Vaï giri, Çiçunandi, Çiçunandi's brother Yaçonandi, and Pravéraka. These kings of Kilakilä will hold sway for a total of 106 years.

SB 12.1.32-33 - The Kilakiläs will be followed by their thirteen sons, the Bählikas, and after them King Puñpamitra, his son Durmitra, seven Andhras, seven Kauçalas and also kings of the Vidüra and Niñadha provinces will separately rule in different parts of the world.

SB 12.1.34 - There will then appear a king of the Mägadhas named Viçvasphürji, who will be like another Puraijaya. He will turn all the civilized classes into low-class, uncivilized men in the same category as the Pulindas, Yadus and Madrakas.

SB 12.1.35 - Foolish King Viçvasphürji will maintain all the citizens in ungodliness and will use his power to completely disrupt the kñatriya order. From his capital of Padmavaté he will rule that part of the earth extending from the source of the Gaï gä to Prayäga.

SB 12.1.36 - At that time the brähmaëas of such provinces as Çauräñöra, Avanté, Äbhéra, Çüra, Arbuda and Mälava will forget all their regulative principles, and the members of the royal order in these places will become no better than çüdras.

SB 12.1.37 - The land along the Sindhu River, as well as the districts of Candrabhägä, Kaunté and Käçméra, will be ruled by çüdras, fallen brähmaëas and meat-eaters. Having given up the path of Vedic civilization, they will have lost all spiritual strength.

SB 12.1.38 - There will be many such uncivilized kings ruling at the same time, O King Parékñit, and they will all be uncharitable, possessed of fierce tempers, and great devotees of irreligion and falsity.

SB 12.1.39-40 - These barbarians in the guise of kings will devour the citizenry, murdering innocent women, children, cows and brähmaëas and coveting the wives and property of other men. They will be erratic in their moods, have little strength of character and be very short-lived. Indeed, not purified by any Vedic rituals and lacking in the practice of regulative principles, they will be completely covered by the modes of passion and ignorance.

SB 12.1.41 - The citizens governed by these low-class kings will imitate the character, behavior and speech of their rulers. Harassed by their leaders and by each other, they will all suffer ruination.

99 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.1.1-2 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: The last king mentioned in our previous enumeration of the future rulers of the Mägadha dynasty was Puraijaya, who will take birth as the descendant of Bâhadratha. Puraijaya's minister Çunaka will assassinate the king and install his own son, Pradyota, on the throne. The son of Pradyota will be Pälaka, his son will be Viçäkhayüpa, and his son will be Räjaka.

SB 12.1.3 - The son of Räjaka will be Nandivardhana, and thus in the Pradyotana dynasty there will be five kings, who will enjoy the earth for 138 years.

SB 12.1.4 - Nandivardhana will have a son named Çiçunäga, and his son will be known as Käkavarëa. The son of Käkavarëa will be Kñemadharmä, and the son of Kñemadharmä will be Kñetrajī a.

SB 12.1.5 - The son of Kñetrajī a will be Vidhisära, and his son will be Ajätaçatru. Ajätaçatru will have a son named Darbhaka, and his son will be Ajaya.

SB 12.1.6-8 - Ajaya will father a second Nandivardhana, whose son will be Mahänandi. O best of the Kurus, these ten kings of the Çiçunäga dynasty will rule the earth for a total of 360 years during the age of Kali. My dear Parëkñit, King Mahänandi will father a very powerful son in the womb of a çüdra woman. He will be known as Nanda and will be the master of millions of soldiers and fabulous wealth. He will wreak havoc among the kñatriyas, and from that time onward virtually all kings will be irreligious çüdras.

SB 12.1.9 - That lord of Mahäpadma, King Nanda, will rule over the entire earth just like a second Paraçuräma, and no one will challenge his authority.

SB 12.1.10 - He will have eight sons, headed by Sumälya, who will control the earth as powerful kings for one hundred years.

SB 12.1.11 - A certain brähmaëa [Cäëakya] will betray the trust of King Nanda and his eight sons and will destroy their dynasty. In their absence the Mauryas will rule the world as the age of Kali continues.

SB 12.1.12 - This brähmaëa will enthrone Candragupta, whose son will be named Värisära. The son of Värisära will be Açokavardhana.

SB 12.1.13 - Açokavardhana will be followed by Suyaçä, whose son will be Saī gata. His son will be Çäliçüka, Çäliçüka's son will be Somaçarmä, and Somaçarmä's son will be Çatadhanvä. His son will be known as Brhadratha.

SB 12.1.14 - O best of the Kurus, these ten Maurya kings will rule the earth for 137 years of the Kali-yuga.

SB 12.1.15-17 - My dear King Parékñit, Agnimitra will follow as king, and then Sujyeñöha. Sujyeñöha will be followed by Vasumitra, Bhadraka, and the son of Bhadraka, Pulinda. Then the son of Pulinda, named Ghoña, will rule, followed by Vajramitra, Bhägavata and Devabhüti. In this way, O most eminent of the Kuru heroes, ten Çuì ga kings will rule over the earth for more than one hundred years. Then the earth will come under the subjugation of the kings of the Kääva dynasty, who will manifest very few good qualities.

SB 12.1.18 - Vasudeva, an intelligent minister coming from the Kääva family, will kill the last of the Çuì ga kings, a lusty debauchee named Devabhüti, and assume rulership himself.

SB 12.1.19 - The son of Vasudeva will be Bhümitra, and his son will be Näräyaëa. These kings of the Kääva dynasty will rule the earth for 345 more years of the Kali-yuga.

SB 12.1.20 - The last of the Käävas, Suçarmä, will be murdered by his own servant, Balé a low-class çüdra of the Andhra race. This most degraded Mahäräja Balé will have control over the earth for some time.

SB 12.1.21-26 - The brother of Balé, named Kåñëa, will become the next ruler of the earth. His son will be Çantakarëa, and his son will be Paurëamäsa. The son of Paurëamäsa will be Lambodara, who will father Mahäräja Cibilaka. From Cibilaka will come Meghasväti, whose son will be Aöamäna. The son of Aöamäna will be Aniñöakarmä. His son will be Häleya, and his son will be Talaka. The son of Talaka will be Puréñabhéru, and following him Sunandana will become king. Sunandana will be followed by Cakora and the eight Bahuṣ, among whom Çivasvāti will be a great subduer of enemies. The son of Çivasvāti will be Gomaté. His son will be Purémän, whose son will be Medaçirä. His son will be Çivaskanda, and his son will be Yajñi açré. The son of Yajñi açré will be Vijaya, who will have two sons, Candravijñi and Lomadhi. These thirty kings will enjoy sovereignty over the earth for a total of 456 years, O favorite son of the Kurus.

SB 12.1.27 - Then will follow seven kings of the Äbhéra race from the city of Avabhāti, and then ten Gardabhés. After them, sixteen kings of the Kañkas will rule and will be known for their excessive greed.

SB 12.1.28 - Eight Yavanas will then take power, followed by fourteen Turuñkas, ten Guruëðas and eleven kings of the Maula dynasty.

SB 12.1.29-31 - These Äbhéras, Gardabhés and Kañkas will enjoy the earth for 1,099 years, and the Maulas will rule for 300 years. When all of them have died off there will appear in the city of Kilakilä a dynasty of kings consisting of Bhütananda, Vañgiri, Çiçunandi, Çiçunandi's brother Yaçonandi, and Pravéraka. These kings of Kilakilä will hold sway for a total of 106 years.

SB 12.1.32-33 - The Kilakiläs will be followed by their thirteen sons, the Bählikas, and after them King Puñpamitra, his son Durmitra, seven Andhras, seven Kauçalas and also kings of the Vidüra and Niñadha provinces will separately rule in different parts of the world.

SB 12.1.34 - There will then appear a king of the Mägadhas named Viçvasphürji, who will be like another Purañjaya. He will turn all the civilized classes into low-class, uncivilized men in the same category as the Pulindas, Yadus and Madrakas.

SB 12.1.35 - Foolish King Viçvasphürji will maintain all the citizens in ungodliness and will use his power to completely disrupt the kñatriya order. From his capital of Padmavaté he will rule that part of the earth extending from the source of the Gaî gā to Prayāga.

SB 12.1.36 - At that time the brähmaëas of such provinces as Çaurāñöra, Avanté, Äbhéra, Çüra, Arbuda and Mälava will forget all their regulative principles, and the members of the royal order in these places will become no better than çüdras.

SB 12.1.37 - The land along the Sindhu River, as well as the districts of Candrabhägā, Kaunté and Kächméra, will be ruled by çüdras, fallen brähmaëas and meat-eaters. Having given up the path of Vedic civilization, they will have lost all spiritual strength.

SB 12.1.38 - There will be many such uncivilized kings ruling at the same time, O King Parékñit, and they will all be uncharitable, possessed of fierce tempers, and great devotees of irreligion and falsity.

SB 12.1.39-40 - These barbarians in the guise of kings will devour the citizenry, murdering innocent women, children, cows and brähmaëas and coveting the wives and property of other men. They will be erratic in their moods, have little strength of character and be very short-lived. Indeed, not purified by any Vedic rituals and lacking in the practice of regulative principles, they will be completely covered by the modes of passion and ignorance.

SB 12.1.41 - The citizens governed by these low-class kings will imitate the character, behavior and speech of their rulers. Harassed by their leaders and by each other, they will all suffer ruination.

100 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.2.1 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: Then, O King, religion, truthfulness, cleanliness, tolerance, mercy, duration of life, physical strength and memory will all diminish day by day because of the powerful influence of the age of Kali.

SB 12.2.2 - In Kali-yuga, wealth alone will be considered the sign of a man's good birth, proper behavior and fine qualities. And law and justice will be applied only on the basis of one's power.

SB 12.2.3 - Men and women will live together merely because of superficial attraction, and success in business will depend on deceit. Womanliness and manliness will be judged according to one's expertise in sex, and a man will be known as a brähmaëa just by his wearing a thread.

SB 12.2.4 - A person's spiritual position will be ascertained merely according to external symbols, and on that same basis people will change from one spiritual order to the next. A person's propriety will be seriously questioned if he does not earn a good living. And one who is very clever at juggling words will be considered a learned scholar.

SB 12.2.5 - A person will be judged unholy if he does not have money, and hypocrisy will be accepted as virtue. Marriage will be arranged simply by verbal agreement, and a person will think he is fit to appear in public if he has merely taken a bath.

SB 12.2.6 - A sacred place will be taken to consist of no more than a reservoir of water located at a distance, and beauty will be thought to depend on one's hairstyle. Filling the belly will become the goal of life, and one who is audacious will be accepted as truthful. He who can maintain a family will be regarded as an expert man, and the principles of religion will be observed only for the sake of reputation.

SB 12.2.7 - As the earth thus becomes crowded with a corrupt population, whoever among any of the social classes shows himself to be the strongest will gain political power.

SB 12.2.8 - Losing their wives and properties to such avaricious and merciless rulers, who will behave no better than ordinary thieves, the citizens will flee to the mountains and forests.

SB 12.2.9 - Harassed by famine and excessive taxes, people will resort to eating leaves, roots, flesh, wild honey, fruits, flowers and seeds. Struck by drought, they will become completely ruined.

SB 12.2.10 - The citizens will suffer greatly from cold, wind, heat, rain and snow. They will be further tormented by quarrels, hunger, thirst, disease and severe anxiety.

SB 12.2.11 - The maximum duration of life for human beings in Kali-yuga will become fifty years.

SB 12.2.12-16 - By the time the age of Kali ends, the bodies of all creatures will be greatly reduced in size, and the religious principles of followers of varëāçrama will be ruined. The path of the Vedas will be completely forgotten in human society, and so-called religion will be mostly atheistic. The kings will mostly be thieves, the occupations of men will be stealing, lying and needless violence, and all the social classes will be reduced to the lowest level of çüdras. Cows will be like goats, spiritual hermitages will be no different from mundane houses, and family ties will extend no further than the immediate bonds of marriage. Most plants and herbs will be tiny, and all trees will appear like dwarf çamé trees. Clouds will be full of lightning, homes will be devoid of piety, and all human beings will have become like asses. At that time, the Supreme Personality of Godhead will appear on the earth. Acting with the power of pure spiritual goodness, He will rescue eternal religion.

SB 12.2.17 - Lord Viñëu-the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the spiritual master of all moving and nonmoving living beings, and the Supreme Soul of all-takes birth to protect the principles of religion and to relieve His saintly devotees from the reactions of material work.

SB 12.2.18 - Lord Kalki will appear in the home of the most eminent brähmaëa of Çambhala village, the great soul Viñëuyaçä.

SB 12.2.19-20 - Lord Kalki, the Lord of the universe, will mount His swift horse Devadatta and, sword in hand, travel over the earth exhibiting His eight mystic opulences and eight special qualities of Godhead. Displaying His unequaled effulgence and riding with great speed, He will kill by the millions those thieves who have dared dress as kings.

SB 12.2.21 - After all the impostor kings have been killed, the residents of the cities and towns will feel the breezes carrying the most sacred fragrance of the sandalwood paste and other decorations of Lord Väsudeva, and their minds will thereby become transcendently pure.

SB 12.2.22 - When Lord Väsudeva, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, appears in their hearts in His transcendental form of goodness, the remaining citizens will abundantly repopulate the earth.

SB 12.2.23 - When the Supreme Lord has appeared on earth as Kalki, the maintainer of religion, Satya-yuga will begin, and human society will bring forth progeny in the mode of goodness.

SB 12.2.24 - When the moon, the sun and Bâhaspaté are together in the constellation Karkaôa, and all three enter simultaneously into the lunar mansion Puñyâ-at that exact moment the age of Satya, or Kâta, will begin.

SB 12.2.25 - Thus I have described all the kings-past, present and future-who belong to the dynasties of the sun and the moon.

SB 12.2.26 - From your birth up to the coronation of King Nanda, 1,150 years will pass.

SB 12.2.27-28 - Of the seven stars forming the constellation of the seven sages, Pulaha and Kratu are the first to rise in the night sky. If a line running north and south were drawn through their midpoint, whichever of the lunar mansions this line passes through is said to be the ruling asterism of the constellation for that time. The Seven Sages will remain connected with that particular lunar mansion for one hundred human years. Currently, during your lifetime, they are situated in the nakñatra called Maghâ.

SB 12.2.29 - The Supreme Lord, Viñëu, is brilliant like the sun and is known as Kâñëa. When He returned to the spiritual sky, Kali entered this world, and people then began to take pleasure in sinful activities.

SB 12.2.30 - As long as Lord Çré Kâñëa, the husband of the goddess of fortune, touched the earth with His lotus feet, Kali was powerless to subdue this planet.

SB 12.2.31 - When the constellation of the seven sages is passing through the lunar mansion Maghâ, the age of Kali begins. It comprises twelve hundred years of the demigods.

SB 12.2.32 - When the great sages of the Saptarñi constellation pass from Maghā to Pūrvāsāḥā, Kali will have his full strength, beginning from King Nanda and his dynasty.

SB 12.2.33 - Those who scientifically understand the past declare that on the very day that Lord Çré Kāñēa departed for the spiritual world, the influence of the age of Kali began.

SB 12.2.34 - After the one thousand celestial years of Kali-yuga, the Satya-yuga will manifest again. At that time the minds of all men will become self-effulgent.

SB 12.2.35 - Thus I have described the royal dynasty of Manu, as it is known on this earth. One can similarly study the history of the vaiçyas, çūdras and brāhmaēas living in the various ages.

SB 12.2.36 - These personalities, who were great souls, are now known only by their names. They exist only in accounts from the past, and only their fame remains on the earth.

SB 12.2.37 - Devāpi, the brother of Mahārāja Čāntanu, and Maru, the descendant of Ikāvāku, both possess great mystic strength and are living even now in the village of Kalāpa.

SB 12.2.38 - At the end of the age of Kali, these two kings, having received instruction directly from the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Vāsudeva, will return to human society and reestablish the eternal religion of man, characterized by the divisions of varēa and āçrama, just as it was before.

SB 12.2.39 - The cycle of four ages-Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara and Kali-continues perpetually among living beings on this earth, repeating the same general sequence of events.

SB 12.2.40 - My dear King Parékñit, all these kings I have described, as well as all other human beings, come to this earth and stake their claims, but ultimately they all must give up this world and meet their destruction.

SB 12.2.41 - Even though a person's body may now have the designation "king," in the end its name will be "worms," "stool" or "ashes." What can a person who injures other living beings for the sake of his body know about his own self-interest, since his activities are simply leading him to hell?

SB 12.2.42 - [The materialistic king thinks:] "This unbounded earth was held by my predecessors and is now under my sovereignty. How can I arrange for it to remain in the hands of my sons, grandsons and other descendants?"

SB 12.2.43 - Although the foolish accept the body made of earth, water and fire as "me" and this earth as "mine," in every case they have ultimately abandoned both their body and the earth and passed away into oblivion.

SB 12.2.44 - My dear King Parékñit, all these kings who tried to enjoy the earth by their strength were reduced by the force of time to nothing more than historical accounts.

101 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.2.1 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Then, O King, religion, truthfulness, cleanliness, tolerance, mercy, duration of life, physical strength and memory will all diminish day by day because of the powerful influence of the age of Kali.

SB 12.2.2 - In Kali-yuga, wealth alone will be considered the sign of a man's good birth, proper behavior and fine qualities. And law and justice will be applied only on the basis of one's power.

SB 12.2.3 - Men and women will live together merely because of superficial attraction, and success in business will depend on deceit. Womanliness and manliness will be judged according to one's expertise in sex, and a man will be known as a brāhmaëa just by his wearing a thread.

SB 12.2.4 - A person's spiritual position will be ascertained merely according to external symbols, and on that same basis people will change from one spiritual order to the next. A person's propriety will be seriously questioned if he does not earn a good living. And one who is very clever at juggling words will be considered a learned scholar.

SB 12.2.5 - A person will be judged unholy if he does not have money, and hypocrisy will be accepted as virtue. Marriage will be arranged simply by verbal agreement, and a person will think he is fit to appear in public if he has merely taken a bath.

SB 12.2.6 - A sacred place will be taken to consist of no more than a reservoir of water located at a distance, and beauty will be thought to depend on one's hairstyle. Filling the belly will become the goal of life, and one who is audacious will be accepted as truthful. He who can maintain a family will be regarded as an expert man, and the principles of religion will be observed only for the sake of reputation.

SB 12.2.7 - As the earth thus becomes crowded with a corrupt population, whoever among any of the social classes shows himself to be the strongest will gain political power.

SB 12.2.8 - Losing their wives and properties to such avaricious and merciless rulers, who will behave no better than ordinary thieves, the citizens will flee to the mountains and forests.

SB 12.2.9 - Harassed by famine and excessive taxes, people will resort to eating leaves, roots, flesh, wild honey, fruits, flowers and seeds. Struck by drought, they will become completely ruined.

SB 12.2.10 - The citizens will suffer greatly from cold, wind, heat, rain and snow. They will be further tormented by quarrels, hunger, thirst, disease and severe anxiety.

SB 12.2.11 - The maximum duration of life for human beings in Kali-yuga will become fifty years.

SB 12.2.12-16 - By the time the age of Kali ends, the bodies of all creatures will be greatly reduced in size, and the religious principles of followers of varëāçrama will be ruined. The path of the Vedas will be completely forgotten in human society, and so-called religion will be mostly atheistic. The kings will mostly be thieves, the occupations of men will be stealing, lying and needless violence, and all the social classes will be reduced to the lowest level of çüdras. Cows will be like goats, spiritual hermitages will be no different from mundane houses, and family ties will extend no further than the immediate bonds of marriage. Most plants and herbs will be tiny, and all trees will appear like dwarf çamé trees. Clouds will be full of lightning, homes will be devoid of piety, and all human beings will have become like asses. At that time, the Supreme Personality of Godhead will appear on the earth. Acting with the power of pure spiritual goodness, He will rescue eternal religion.

SB 12.2.17 - Lord Viñëu-the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the spiritual master of all moving and nonmoving living beings, and the Supreme Soul of all-takes birth to protect the principles of religion and to relieve His saintly devotees from the reactions of material work.

SB 12.2.18 - Lord Kalki will appear in the home of the most eminent brähmaëa of Çambhala village, the great soul Viñëuyaçä.

SB 12.2.19-20 - Lord Kalki, the Lord of the universe, will mount His swift horse Devadatta and, sword in hand, travel over the earth exhibiting His eight mystic opulences and eight special qualities of Godhead. Displaying His unequaled effulgence and riding with great speed, He will kill by the millions those thieves who have dared dress as kings.

SB 12.2.21 - After all the impostor kings have been killed, the residents of the cities and towns will feel the breezes carrying the most sacred fragrance of the sandalwood paste and other decorations of Lord Väsudeva, and their minds will thereby become transcendently pure.

SB 12.2.22 - When Lord Väsudeva, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, appears in their hearts in His transcendental form of goodness, the remaining citizens will abundantly repopulate the earth.

SB 12.2.23 - When the Supreme Lord has appeared on earth as Kalki, the maintainer of religion, Satya-yuga will begin, and human society will bring forth progeny in the mode of goodness.

SB 12.2.24 - When the moon, the sun and Bâhaspaté are together in the constellation Karkaöa, and all three enter simultaneously into the lunar mansion Puñyâ-at that exact moment the age of Satya, or Kâta, will begin.

SB 12.2.25 - Thus I have described all the kings-past, present and future-who belong to the dynasties of the sun and the moon.

SB 12.2.26 - From your birth up to the coronation of King Nanda, 1,150 years will pass.

SB 12.2.27-28 - Of the seven stars forming the constellation of the seven sages, Pulaha and Kratu are the first to rise in the night sky. If a line running north and south were drawn through their midpoint, whichever of the lunar mansions this line passes through is said to be the ruling asterism of the constellation for that time. The Seven Sages will remain connected with that particular lunar mansion for one hundred human years. Currently, during your lifetime, they are situated in the nakṣatra called Maghā.

SB 12.2.29 - The Supreme Lord, Viñëu, is brilliant like the sun and is known as Kāñëa. When He returned to the spiritual sky, Kali entered this world, and people then began to take pleasure in sinful activities.

SB 12.2.30 - As long as Lord Çré Kāñëa, the husband of the goddess of fortune, touched the earth with His lotus feet, Kali was powerless to subdue this planet.

SB 12.2.31 - When the constellation of the seven sages is passing through the lunar mansion Maghā, the age of Kali begins. It comprises twelve hundred years of the demigods.

SB 12.2.32 - When the great sages of the Saptarñi constellation pass from Maghā to Pürväsāöhä, Kali will have his full strength, beginning from King Nanda and his dynasty.

SB 12.2.33 - Those who scientifically understand the past declare that on the very day that Lord Çré Kâñëa departed for the spiritual world, the influence of the age of Kali began.

SB 12.2.34 - After the one thousand celestial years of Kali-yuga, the Satya-yuga will manifest again. At that time the minds of all men will become self-effulgent.

SB 12.2.35 - Thus I have described the royal dynasty of Manu, as it is known on this earth. One can similarly study the history of the vaiçyas, çüdras and brähmaëas living in the various ages.

SB 12.2.36 - These personalities, who were great souls, are now known only by their names. They exist only in accounts from the past, and only their fame remains on the earth.

SB 12.2.37 - Deväpi, the brother of Mahäräja Çäntanu, and Maru, the descendant of Ikäiväku, both possess great mystic strength and are living even now in the village of Kaläpa.

SB 12.2.38 - At the end of the age of Kali, these two kings, having received instruction directly from the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Väsudeva, will return to human society and reestablish the eternal religion of man, characterized by the divisions of varëa and äçrama, just as it was before.

SB 12.2.39 - The cycle of four ages-Satya, Tretä, Dväpara and Kali-continues perpetually among living beings on this earth, repeating the same general sequence of events.

SB 12.2.40 - My dear King Parékñit, all these kings I have described, as well as all other human beings, come to this earth and stake their claims, but ultimately they all must give up this world and meet their destruction.

SB 12.2.41 - Even though a person's body may now have the designation "king," in the end its name will be "worms," "stool" or "ashes." What can a person who injures other living beings for the sake of his body know about his own self-interest, since his activities are simply leading him to hell?

SB 12.2.42 - [The materialistic king thinks:] "This unbounded earth was held by my predecessors and is now under my sovereignty. How can I arrange for it to remain in the hands of my sons, grandsons and other descendants?"

SB 12.2.43 - Although the foolish accept the body made of earth, water and fire as "me" and this earth as "mine," in every case they have ultimately abandoned both their body and the earth and passed away into oblivion.

SB 12.2.44 - My dear King Parékñit, all these kings who tried to enjoy the earth by their strength were reduced by the force of time to nothing more than historical accounts.

102 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.3.1 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: Seeing the kings of this earth busy trying to conquer her, the earth herself laughed. She said: "Just see how these kings, who are actually playthings in the hands of death, are desiring to conquer me.

SB 12.3.2 - "Great rulers of men, even those who are learned, meet frustration and failure because of material lust. Driven by lust, these kings place great hope and faith in the dead lump of flesh called the body, even though the material frame is as fleeting

as bubbles of foam on water.

SB 12.3.3-4 - "Kings and politicians imagine: 'First I will conquer my senses and mind; then I will subdue my chief ministers and rid myself of the thorn-pricks of my advisors, citizens, friends and relatives, as well as the keepers of my elephants. In this way I will gradually conquer the entire earth.' Because the hearts of these leaders are bound by great expectations, they fail to see death waiting nearby.

SB 12.3.5 - "After conquering all the land on my surface, these proud kings forcibly enter the ocean to conquer the sea itself. What is the use of their self-control, which is aimed at political exploitation? The actual goal of self-control is spiritual liberation."

SB 12.3.6 - O best of the Kurus, the earth continued as follows:
"Although in the past great men and their descendants have left me, departing from this world in the same helpless way they came into it, even today foolish men are trying to conquer me.

SB 12.3.7 - "For the sake of conquering me, materialistic persons fight one another. Fathers oppose their sons, and brothers fight one another, because their hearts are bound to possessing political power.

SB 12.3.8 - "Political leaders challenge one another: 'All this land is mine! It's not yours, you fool!' Thus they attack one another and die.

SB 12.3.9-13 - "Such kings as Pāthu, Purūravā, Gādhi, Nahuña, Bharata, Kārtavērya Arjuna, Māndhātā, Sagara, Rāma, Khaövāi ga, Dhundhuhā, Raghu, Tāëabindu, Yayāti, Çaryāti, Çantanu, Gaya, Bhagératha, Kuvalayāçva, Kakutstha, Naiñadha, Nāga, Hiraëyakaçipu, Vātra, Rāvaëa, who made the whole world lament, Namuci, Çambara, Bhauma, Hiraëyākñā and Tāraka, as well as many other demons and kings who possessed great powers of control over others, were all full of knowledge, heroic, all-conquering and unconquerable. Nevertheless, O almighty Lord, although they lived their lives intensely trying to possess me, these kings were subject to the passage of time, which reduced them all to mere historical accounts. None of them could permanently establish their rule."

SB 12.3.14 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: O mighty Parékñit, I have related to you the narrations of all these great kings, who spread their fame throughout the world and then departed. My real purpose was to teach transcendental knowledge and renunciation. Stories of kings lend power and opulence to these narrations but do not in themselves constitute the ultimate aspect of knowledge.

SB 12.3.15 - The person who desires pure devotional service to Lord Kāñëa should hear the narrations of Lord Uttamaùçloka's glorious qualities, the constant chanting of which destroys everything inauspicious. The devotee should engage in such listening in regular daily assemblies and should also continue his hearing throughout the day.

SB 12.3.16 - King Parékñit said: My lord, how can persons living in the age of Kali rid themselves of the cumulative contamination of this age? O great sages please explain this to me.

SB 12.3.17 - Please explain the different ages of universal history, the special qualities of each age, the duration of cosmic maintenance and destruction, and the movement of time, which is the direct representation of the Supreme Soul, the Personality of Godhead, Lord Viñëu.

SB 12.3.18 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: My dear King, in the beginning, during Satya-yuga, the age of truth, religion is present with all four of its legs intact and is carefully maintained by the people of that age. These four legs of powerful religion are truthfulness, mercy, austerity and charity.

SB 12.3.19 - The people of Satya-yuga are for the most part self-satisfied, merciful, friendly to all, peaceful, sober and tolerant. They take their pleasure from within, see all things equally and always endeavor diligently for spiritual perfection.

SB 12.3.20 - In Tretā-yuga each leg of religion is gradually reduced by one quarter by the influence of the four pillars of irreligion-lying, violence, dissatisfaction and quarrel.

SB 12.3.21 - In the Tretā age people are devoted to ritual performances and severe austerities. They are not excessively violent or very lusty after sensual pleasure. Their interest lies primarily in religiosity, economic development and regulated sense gratification, and they achieve prosperity by following the prescriptions of the three Vedas. Although in this age society evolves into four separate classes, O King, most people are brāhmaëas.

SB 12.3.22 - In Dvāpara-yuga the religious qualities of austerity, truth, mercy and charity are reduced to one half by their irreligious counterparts-dissatisfaction, untruth, violence and enmity.

SB 12.3.23 - In the Dvāpara age people are interested in glory and are very noble. They devote themselves to the study of the Vedas, possess great opulence, support large families and enjoy life with vigor. Of the four classes, the kñatriyas and brāhmaëas are most numerous.

SB 12.3.24 - In the age of Kali only one fourth of the religious principles remains. That last remnant will continuously be decreased by the ever-increasing principles of irreligion and will finally be destroyed.

SB 12.3.25 - In the Kali age people tend to be greedy, ill-behaved and merciless, and they fight one another without good reason. Unfortunate and obsessed with material desires, the people of Kali-yuga are almost all çüdras and barbarians.

SB 12.3.26 - The material modes-goodness, passion and ignorance-whose permutations are observed within a person's mind, are set into motion by the power of time.

SB 12.3.27 - When the mind, intelligence and senses are solidly fixed in the mode of goodness, that time should be understood as Satya-yuga, the age of truth. People then take pleasure in knowledge and austerity.

SB 12.3.28 - O most intelligent one, when the conditioned souls are devoted to their duties but have ulterior motives and seek personal prestige, you should understand such a situation to be the age of Tretä, in which the functions of passion are prominent.

SB 12.3.29 - When greed, dissatisfaction, false pride, hypocrisy and envy become prominent, along with attraction for selfish activities, such a time is the age of Dväpara, dominated by the mixed modes of passion and ignorance.

SB 12.3.30 - When there is a predominance of cheating, lying, sloth, sleepiness, violence, depression, lamentation, bewilderment, fear and poverty, that age is Kali, the age of the mode of ignorance.

SB 12.3.31 - Because of the bad qualities of the age of Kali, human beings will become shortsighted, unfortunate, gluttonous, lustful and poverty-stricken. The women, becoming unchaste, will freely wander from one man to the next.

SB 12.3.32 - Cities will be dominated by thieves, the Vedas will be contaminated by speculative interpretations of atheists, political leaders will virtually consume the citizens, and the so-called priests and intellectuals will be devotees of their bellies and genitals.

SB 12.3.33 - The brahmacārés will fail to execute their vows and become generally unclean, the householders will become beggars, the vānaprasthas will live in the villages, and the sannyāsés will become greedy for wealth.

SB 12.3.34 - Women will become much smaller in size, and they will eat too much, have more children than they can properly take care of, and lose all shyness. They will always speak harshly and will exhibit qualities of thievery, deceit and unrestrained audacity.

SB 12.3.35 - Businessmen will engage in petty commerce and earn their money by cheating. Even when there is no emergency, people will consider any degraded occupation quite acceptable.

SB 12.3.36 - Servants will abandon a master who has lost his wealth, even if that master is a saintly person of exemplary character. Masters will abandon an incapacitated servant, even if that servant has been in the family for generations. Cows will be abandoned or killed when they stop giving milk.

SB 12.3.37 - In Kali-yuga men will be wretched and controlled by women. They will reject their fathers, brothers, other relatives and friends and will instead associate with the sisters and brothers of their wives. Thus their conception of friendship will be based exclusively on sexual ties.

SB 12.3.38 - Uncultured men will accept charity on behalf of the Lord and will earn their livelihood by making a show of austerity and wearing a mendicant's dress. Those who know nothing about religion will mount a high seat and presume to speak on religious principles.

SB 12.3.39-40 - In the age of Kali, people's minds will always be agitated. They will become emaciated by famine and taxation, my dear King, and will always be disturbed by fear of drought. They will lack adequate clothing, food and drink, will be unable to properly rest, have sex or bathe themselves, and will have no ornaments to decorate their bodies. In fact, the people of Kali-yuga will gradually come to appear like ghostly, haunted creatures.

SB 12.3.41 - In Kali-yuga men will develop hatred for each other even over a few coins. Giving up all friendly relations, they will be ready to lose their own lives and kill even their own relatives.

SB 12.3.42 - Men will no longer protect their elderly parents, their children or their respectable wives. Thoroughly degraded, they will care only to satisfy their own bellies and genitals.

SB 12.3.43 - O King, in the age of Kali people's intelligence will be diverted by atheism, and they will almost never offer sacrifice to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the supreme spiritual master of the universe. Although the great personalities who control the three worlds all bow down to the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord, the petty and miserable human beings of this age will not do so.

SB 12.3.44 - Terrified, about to die, a man collapses on his bed. Although his voice is faltering and he is hardly conscious of what he is saying, if he utters the holy name of the Supreme Lord he can be freed from the reaction of his fruitive work and achieve the supreme destination. But still people in the age of Kali will not worship the Supreme Lord.

SB 12.3.45 - In the Kali-yuga, objects, places and even individual personalities are all polluted. The almighty Personality of Godhead, however, can remove all such contamination from the life of one who fixes the Lord within his mind.

SB 12.3.46 - If a person hears about, glorifies, meditates upon, worships or simply offers great respect to the Supreme Lord, who is situated within the heart, the Lord will remove from his mind the contamination accumulated during many thousands of lifetimes.

SB 12.3.47 - Just as fire applied to gold removes any discoloration caused by traces of other metals, Lord Viñëu within the heart purifies the minds of the yogés.

SB 12.3.48 - By one's engaging in the processes of demigod worship, austerities, breath control, compassion, bathing in holy places, strict vows, charity and chanting of various mantras, one's mind cannot attain the same absolute purification as that achieved when the unlimited Personality of Godhead appears within one's heart.

SB 12.3.49 - Therefore, O King, endeavor with all your might to fix the Supreme Lord Keçava within your heart. Maintain this concentration upon the Lord, and at the time of death you will certainly attain the supreme destination.

SB 12.3.50 - My dear King, the Personality of Godhead is the ultimate controller. He is the Supreme Soul and the supreme shelter of all beings. When meditated upon by those about to die, He reveals to them their own eternal spiritual identity.

SB 12.3.51 - My dear King, although Kali-yuga is an ocean of faults, there is still one good quality about this age: Simply by chanting the Hare Kâñëa mahā-mantra, one can become free from material bondage and be promoted to the transcendental kingdom.

SB 12.3.52 - Whatever result was obtained in Satya-yuga by meditating on Viñëu, in Tretā-yuga by performing sacrifices, and in Dvāpara-yuga by serving the Lord's lotus feet can be obtained in Kali-yuga simply by chanting the Hare Kāñëa mahā-mantra.

103 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.3.1 - Çukadeva Gosvāmë said: Seeing the kings of this earth busy trying to conquer her, the earth herself laughed. She said: "Just see how these kings, who are actually playthings in the hands of death, are desiring to conquer me.

SB 12.3.2 - "Great rulers of men, even those who are learned, meet frustration and failure because of material lust. Driven by lust, these kings place great hope and faith in the dead lump of flesh called the body, even though the material frame is as fleeting

as bubbles of foam on water.

SB 12.3.3-4 - "Kings and politicians imagine: 'First I will conquer my senses and mind; then I will subdue my chief ministers and rid myself of the thorn-pricks of my advisors, citizens, friends and relatives, as well as the keepers of my elephants. In this way I will gradually conquer the entire earth.' Because the hearts of these leaders are bound by great expectations, they fail to see death waiting nearby.

SB 12.3.5 - "After conquering all the land on my surface, these proud kings forcibly enter the ocean to conquer the sea itself. What is the use of their self-control, which is aimed at political exploitation? The actual goal of self-control is spiritual liberation."

SB 12.3.6 - O best of the Kurus, the earth continued as follows:
"Although in the past great men and their descendants have left me, departing from this world in the same helpless way they came into it, even today foolish men are trying to conquer me.

SB 12.3.7 - "For the sake of conquering me, materialistic persons fight one another. Fathers oppose their sons, and brothers fight one another, because their hearts are bound to possessing political power.

SB 12.3.8 - "Political leaders challenge one another: 'All this land is mine!
It's not yours, you fool!' Thus they attack one another and die.

SB 12.3.9-13 - "Such kings as Pâthu, Purüravä, Gädhi, Nahuña, Bharata, Kärtavérya Arjuna, Mändhätä, Sagara, Räma, Khaöväi ga, Dhundhuhä, Raghu, Tääabindu, Yayäti, Çaryäti, Çantanu, Gaya, Bhagératha, Kuvalayäçva, Kakutstha, Naiñadha, Nâga, Hiraëyakaçipu, Vâtra, Rävaëa, who made the whole world lament, Namuci, Çambara, Bhauma, Hiraëyäkñä and Täraka, as well as many other demons and kings who possessed great powers of control over others, were all full of knowledge, heroic, all-conquering and unconquerable. Nevertheless, O almighty Lord, although they lived their lives intensely trying to possess me, these kings were subject to the passage of time, which reduced them all to mere historical accounts. None of them could permanently establish their rule."

SB 12.3.14 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: O mighty Parékñit, I have related to you the narrations of all these great kings, who spread their fame throughout the world and then departed. My real purpose was to teach transcendental knowledge and renunciation. Stories of kings lend power and opulence to these narrations but do not in themselves constitute the ultimate aspect of knowledge.

SB 12.3.15 - The person who desires pure devotional service to Lord Kāñëa should hear the narrations of Lord Uttamaùçloka's glorious qualities, the constant chanting of which destroys everything inauspicious. The devotee should engage in such listening in regular daily assemblies and should also continue his hearing throughout the day.

SB 12.3.16 - King Parékñit said: My lord, how can persons living in the age of Kali rid themselves of the cumulative contamination of this age? O great sages please explain this to me.

SB 12.3.17 - Please explain the different ages of universal history, the special qualities of each age, the duration of cosmic maintenance and destruction, and the movement of time, which is the direct representation of the Supreme Soul, the Personality of Godhead, Lord Viñëu.

SB 12.3.18 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: My dear King, in the beginning, during Satya-yuga, the age of truth, religion is present with all four of its legs intact and is carefully maintained by the people of that age. These four legs of powerful religion are truthfulness, mercy, austerity and charity.

SB 12.3.19 - The people of Satya-yuga are for the most part self-satisfied, merciful, friendly to all, peaceful, sober and tolerant. They take their pleasure from within, see all things equally and always endeavor diligently for spiritual perfection.

SB 12.3.20 - In Tretä-yuga each leg of religion is gradually reduced by one quarter by the influence of the four pillars of irreligion-lying, violence, dissatisfaction and quarrel.

SB 12.3.21 - In the Tretä age people are devoted to ritual performances and severe austerities. They are not excessively violent or very lusty after sensual pleasure. Their interest lies primarily in religiosity, economic development and regulated sense gratification, and they achieve prosperity by following the prescriptions of the three Vedas. Although in this age society evolves into four separate classes, O King, most people are brāhmaëas.

SB 12.3.22 - In Dvāpara-yuga the religious qualities of austerity, truth, mercy and charity are reduced to one half by their irreligious counterparts-dissatisfaction, untruth, violence and enmity.

SB 12.3.23 - In the Dvāpara age people are interested in glory and are very noble. They devote themselves to the study of the Vedas, possess great opulence, support large families and enjoy life with vigor. Of the four classes, the kñātriyas and brāhmaëas are most numerous.

SB 12.3.24 - In the age of Kali only one fourth of the religious principles remains. That last remnant will continuously be decreased by the ever-increasing principles of irreligion and will finally be destroyed.

SB 12.3.25 - In the Kali age people tend to be greedy, ill-behaved and merciless, and they fight one another without good reason. Unfortunate and obsessed with material desires, the people of Kali-yuga are almost all çüdras and barbarians.

SB 12.3.26 - The material modes-goodness, passion and ignorance-whose permutations are observed within a person's mind, are set into motion by the power of time.

SB 12.3.27 - When the mind, intelligence and senses are solidly fixed in the mode of goodness, that time should be understood as Satya-yuga, the age of truth. People then take pleasure in knowledge and austerity.

SB 12.3.28 - O most intelligent one, when the conditioned souls are devoted to their duties but have ulterior motives and seek personal prestige, you should understand such a situation to be the age of Tretā, in which the functions of passion are prominent.

SB 12.3.29 - When greed, dissatisfaction, false pride, hypocrisy and envy become prominent, along with attraction for selfish activities, such a time is the age of Dvāpara, dominated by the mixed modes of passion and ignorance.

SB 12.3.30 - When there is a predominance of cheating, lying, sloth, sleepiness, violence, depression, lamentation, bewilderment, fear and poverty, that age is Kali, the age of the mode of ignorance.

SB 12.3.31 - Because of the bad qualities of the age of Kali, human beings will become shortsighted, unfortunate, gluttonous, lustful and poverty-stricken. The women, becoming unchaste, will freely wander from one man to the next.

SB 12.3.32 - Cities will be dominated by thieves, the Vedas will be contaminated by speculative interpretations of atheists, political leaders will virtually consume the citizens, and the so-called priests and intellectuals will be devotees of their bellies and genitals.

SB 12.3.33 - The brahmacārīs will fail to execute their vows and become generally unclean, the householders will become beggars, the vānaprasthas will live in the villages, and the sannyāsīs will become greedy for wealth.

SB 12.3.34 - Women will become much smaller in size, and they will eat too much, have more children than they can properly take care of, and lose all shyness. They will always speak harshly and will exhibit qualities of thievery, deceit and unrestrained audacity.

SB 12.3.35 - Businessmen will engage in petty commerce and earn their money by cheating. Even when there is no emergency, people will consider any degraded occupation quite acceptable.

SB 12.3.36 - Servants will abandon a master who has lost his wealth, even if that master is a saintly person of exemplary character. Masters will abandon an incapacitated servant, even if that servant has been in the family for generations. Cows will be abandoned or killed when they stop giving milk.

SB 12.3.37 - In Kali-yuga men will be wretched and controlled by women. They will reject their fathers, brothers, other relatives and friends and will instead associate with the sisters and brothers of their wives. Thus their conception of friendship will be based exclusively on sexual ties.

SB 12.3.38 - Uncultured men will accept charity on behalf of the Lord and will earn their livelihood by making a show of austerity and wearing a mendicant's dress. Those who know nothing about religion will mount a high seat and presume to speak on religious principles.

SB 12.3.39-40 - In the age of Kali, people's minds will always be agitated. They will become emaciated by famine and taxation, my dear King, and will always be disturbed by fear of drought. They will lack adequate clothing, food and drink, will be unable to properly rest, have sex or bathe themselves, and will have no ornaments to decorate their bodies. In fact, the people of Kali-yuga will gradually come to appear like ghostly, haunted creatures.

SB 12.3.41 - In Kali-yuga men will develop hatred for each other even over a few coins. Giving up all friendly relations, they will be ready to lose their own lives and kill even their own relatives.

SB 12.3.42 - Men will no longer protect their elderly parents, their children or their respectable wives. Thoroughly degraded, they will care only to satisfy their own bellies and genitals.

SB 12.3.43 - O King, in the age of Kali people's intelligence will be diverted by atheism, and they will almost never offer sacrifice to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the supreme spiritual master of the universe. Although the great personalities who control the three worlds all bow down to the lotus feet of the Supreme Lord, the petty and miserable human beings of this age will not do so.

SB 12.3.44 - Terrified, about to die, a man collapses on his bed. Although his voice is faltering and he is hardly conscious of what he is saying, if he utters the holy name of the Supreme Lord he can be freed from the reaction of his fruitive work and achieve the supreme destination. But still people in the age of Kali will not worship the Supreme Lord.

SB 12.3.45 - In the Kali-yuga, objects, places and even individual personalities are all polluted. The almighty Personality of Godhead, however, can remove all such contamination from the life of one who fixes the Lord within his mind.

SB 12.3.46 - If a person hears about, glorifies, meditates upon, worships or simply offers great respect to the Supreme Lord, who is situated within the heart, the Lord will remove from his mind the contamination accumulated during many thousands of lifetimes.

SB 12.3.47 - Just as fire applied to gold removes any discoloration caused by traces of other metals, Lord Viñëu within the heart purifies the minds of the yogés.

SB 12.3.48 - By one's engaging in the processes of demigod worship, austerities, breath control, compassion, bathing in holy places, strict vows, charity and chanting of various mantras, one's mind cannot attain the same absolute purification as that achieved when the unlimited Personality of Godhead appears within one's heart.

SB 12.3.49 - Therefore, O King, endeavor with all your might to fix the Supreme Lord Keçava within your heart. Maintain this concentration upon the Lord, and at the time of death you will certainly attain the supreme destination.

SB 12.3.50 - My dear King, the Personality of Godhead is the ultimate controller. He is the Supreme Soul and the supreme shelter of all beings. When meditated upon by those about to die, He reveals to them their own eternal spiritual identity.

SB 12.3.51 - My dear King, although Kali-yuga is an ocean of faults, there is still one good quality about this age: Simply by chanting the Hare Kâñëa mahä-mantra, one can become free from material bondage and be promoted to the transcendental kingdom.

SB 12.3.52 - Whatever result was obtained in Satya-yuga by meditating on Viñëu, in Tretä-yuga by performing sacrifices, and in Dvāpara-yuga by serving the Lord's lotus feet can be obtained in Kali-yuga simply by chanting the Hare Kâñëa mahä-mantra.

104 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.4.1 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: My dear King, I have already described to you the measurements of time, beginning from the smallest fraction measured by the movement of a single atom up to the total life span of Lord Brahmā. I have also discussed the measurement of the different millennia of universal history. Now hear about the time of Brahmā's day and the process of annihilation.

SB 12.4.2 - One thousand cycles of four ages constitute a single day of Brahmā, known as a kalpa. In that period, O King, fourteen Manus come and go.

SB 12.4.3 - After one day of Brahmā, annihilation occurs during his night, which is of the same duration. At that time all the three planetary systems are subject to destruction.

SB 12.4.4 - This is called the naimittika, or occasional, annihilation, during which the original creator, Lord Nārāyaṇa, lies down upon the bed of Ananta Śeṣa and absorbs the entire universe within Himself while Lord Brahmā sleeps.

SB 12.4.5 - When the two halves of the lifetime of Lord Brahmā, the most elevated created being, are complete, the seven basic elements of creation are annihilated.

SB 12.4.6 - O King, upon the annihilation of the material elements, the universal egg, comprising the elemental amalgamation of creation, is confronted with destruction.

SB 12.4.7 - As annihilation approaches, O King, there will be no rain upon the earth for one hundred years. Drought will lead to famine, and the starving populace will literally consume one another. The inhabitants of the earth, bewildered by the force of time, will gradually be destroyed.

SB 12.4.8 - The sun in its annihilating form will drink up with its terrible rays all the water of the ocean, of living bodies and of the earth itself. But the devastating sun will not give any rain in return.

SB 12.4.9 - Next the great fire of annihilation will flare up from the mouth of Lord Saī karṇāëa. Carried by the mighty force of the wind, this fire will burn throughout the universe, scorching the lifeless cosmic shell.

SB 12.4.10 - Burned from all sides-from above by the blazing sun and from below by the fire of Lord Saī karṇāëa-the universal sphere will glow like a burning ball of cow dung.

SB 12.4.11 - A great and terrible wind of destruction will begin to blow for more than one hundred years, and the sky, covered with dust, will turn gray.

SB 12.4.12 - After that, O King, groups of multicolored clouds will gather, roaring terribly with thunder, and will pour down floods of rain for one hundred years.

SB 12.4.13 - At that time, the shell of the universe will fill up with water, forming a single cosmic ocean.

SB 12.4.14 - As the entire universe is flooded, the water will rob the earth of its unique quality of fragrance, and the element earth, deprived of its distinguishing quality, will be dissolved.

SB 12.4.15-19 - The element fire then seizes the taste from the element water, which, deprived of its unique quality, taste, merges into fire. Air seizes the form inherent in fire, and then fire, deprived of form, merges into air. The element ether seizes the quality of air, namely touch, and that air enters into ether. Then, O King, false ego in ignorance seizes sound, the quality of ether, after which ether merges into false ego. False ego in the mode of passion takes hold of the senses, and false ego in the mode of goodness absorbs the demigods. Then the total mahat-tattva seizes false ego along with its various functions, and that mahat is seized by the three basic modes of nature-goodness, passion and ignorance. My dear King Parékñit, these modes are further overtaken by the original unmanifest form of nature, impelled by time. That unmanifest nature is not subject to the six kinds of transformation caused by the influence of time. Rather, it has no beginning and no end. It is the unmanifest, eternal and infallible cause of creation.

SB 12.4.20-21 - In the unmanifest stage of material nature, called pradhāna, there is no expression of words, no mind and no manifestation of the subtle elements beginning from the mahat, nor are there the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance. There is no life air or intelligence, nor any senses or demigods. There is no definite arrangement of planetary systems, nor are there present the different stages of consciousness-sleep, wakefulness and deep sleep. There is no ether, water, earth, air, fire or sun. The situation is just like that of complete sleep, or of voidness. Indeed, it is indescribable. Authorities in spiritual science explain, however, that since pradhāna is the original substance, it is the actual basis of material creation.

SB 12.4.22 - This is the annihilation called prākātika, during which the energies belonging to the Supreme Person and His unmanifest material nature, disassembled by the force of time, are deprived of their potencies and merge together totally.

SB 12.4.23 - It is the Absolute Truth alone who manifests in the forms of intelligence, the senses and the objects of sense perception, and who is their ultimate basis. Whatever has a beginning and an end is insubstantial because of being an object perceived by limited senses and because of being nondifferent from its own cause.

SB 12.4.24 - A lamp, the eye that views by the light of that lamp, and the visible form that is viewed are all basically nondifferent from the element fire. In the same way, intelligence, the senses and sense perceptions have no existence separate from the supreme reality, although that Absolute Truth remains totally distinct from them.

SB 12.4.25 - The three states of intelligence are called waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep. But, my dear King, the variegated experiences created for the pure living entity by these different states are nothing more than illusion.

SB 12.4.26 - Just as clouds in the sky come into being and are then dispersed by the amalgamation and dissolution of their constituent elements, this material universe is created and destroyed within the Absolute Truth by the amalgamation and dissolution of its elemental, constituent parts.

SB 12.4.27 - My dear King, it is stated [in the Vedānta-sūtra] that the ingredient cause that constitutes any manifested product in this universe can be perceived as a separate reality, just as the threads that make up a cloth can be perceived separately from their product.

SB 12.4.28 - Anything experienced in terms of general cause and specific effect must be an illusion, because such causes and effects exist only relative to each other. Indeed, whatever has a beginning and an end is unreal.

SB 12.4.29 - Although perceived, the transformation of even a single atom of material nature has no ultimate definition without reference to the Supreme Soul. To be accepted as factually existing, something must possess the same quality as pure spirit-eternal, unchanging existence.

SB 12.4.30 - There is no material duality in the Absolute Truth. The duality perceived by an ignorant person is like the difference between the sky contained in an empty pot and the sky outside the pot, or the difference between the reflection of the sun in water and the sun itself in the sky, or the difference between the vital air within one living body and that within another body.

SB 12.4.31 - According to their different purposes, men utilize gold in various ways, and gold is therefore perceived in various forms. In the same way, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is inaccessible to material senses, is described in various terms, both ordinary and Vedic, by different types of men.

SB 12.4.32 - Although a cloud is a product of the sun and is also made visible by the sun, it nevertheless creates darkness for the viewing eye, which is another partial expansion of the sun. Similarly, material false ego, a particular product of the Absolute Truth made visible by the Absolute Truth, obstructs the individual soul, another partial expansion of the Absolute Truth, from realizing the Absolute Truth.

SB 12.4.33 - When the cloud originally produced from the sun is torn apart, the eye can see the actual form of the sun. Similarly, when the spirit soul destroys his material covering of false ego by inquiring into the transcendental science, he regains his original spiritual awareness.

SB 12.4.34 - My dear Paréṁit, when the illusory false ego that binds the soul has been cut off with the sword of discriminating knowledge and one has developed realization of Lord Acyuta, the Supreme Soul, this is called the ätyantika, or ultimate, annihilation of material existence.

SB 12.4.35 - Experts in the subtle workings of nature, O subduer of the enemy, have declared that there are continuous processes of creation and annihilation that all created beings, beginning with Brahmä, constantly undergo.

SB 12.4.36 - All material entities undergo transformation and are constantly and swiftly eroded by the mighty currents of time. The various stages of existence that material things exhibit are the perpetual causes of their generation and annihilation.

SB 12.4.37 - These stages of existence created by beginningless and endless time, the impersonal representative of the Supreme Lord, are not visible, just as the infinitesimal momentary changes of position of the planets in the sky cannot be directly seen.

SB 12.4.38 - In this way the progress of time is described in terms of the four kinds of annihilation-continuous, occasional, elemental and final.

SB 12.4.39 - O best of the Kurus, I have related to you these narrations of the pastimes of Lord Nārāyaṇa, the creator of this world and the ultimate reservoir of all existence, presenting them to you only in brief summary. Even Lord Brahmā himself would be incapable of describing them entirely.

SB 12.4.40 - For a person who is suffering in the fire of countless miseries and who desires to cross the insurmountable ocean of material existence, there is no suitable boat except that of cultivating devotion to the transcendental taste for the narrations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead's pastimes.

SB 12.4.41 - Long ago this essential anthology of all the Purāṇas was spoken by the infallible Lord Nara-Nārāyaṇa Āṇi to Nārada, who then repeated it to Kāṇḍa Dvaipāyana Vedavyāsa.

SB 12.4.42 - My dear Mahārāja Parīkṣit, that great personality Ṣṛṇa

Vyāsadeva taught me this same scripture, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, which is equal in stature to the four Vedas.

SB 12.4.43 - O best of the Kurus, the same Sūta Gosvāmé who is sitting before us will speak this Bhāgavatam to the sages assembled in the great sacrifice at Naimiñāraëya. This he will do when questioned by the members of the assembly, headed by Çaunaka.

105 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.4.1 - Çukadeva Gosvāmé said: My dear King, I have already described to you the measurements of time, beginning from the smallest fraction measured by the movement of a single atom up to the total life span of Lord Brahmā. I have also discussed the measurement of the different millennia of universal history. Now hear about the time of Brahmā's day and the process of annihilation.

SB 12.4.2 - One thousand cycles of four ages constitute a single day of Brahmā, known as a kalpa. In that period, O King, fourteen Manus come and go.

SB 12.4.3 - After one day of Brahmā, annihilation occurs during his night, which is of the same duration. At that time all the three planetary systems are subject to destruction.

SB 12.4.4 - This is called the naimittika, or occasional, annihilation, during which the original creator, Lord Nārāyaëa, lies down upon the bed of Ananta Çeña and absorbs the entire universe within Himself while Lord Brahmā sleeps.

SB 12.4.5 - When the two halves of the lifetime of Lord Brahmā, the most elevated created being, are complete, the seven basic elements of creation are annihilated.

SB 12.4.6 - O King, upon the annihilation of the material elements, the universal egg, comprising the elemental amalgamation of creation, is confronted with destruction.

SB 12.4.7 - As annihilation approaches, O King, there will be no rain upon the earth for one hundred years. Drought will lead to famine, and the starving populace will literally consume one another. The inhabitants of the earth, bewildered by the force of time, will gradually be destroyed.

SB 12.4.8 - The sun in its annihilating form will drink up with its terrible rays all the water of the ocean, of living bodies and of the earth itself. But the devastating sun will not give any rain in return.

SB 12.4.9 - Next the great fire of annihilation will flare up from the mouth of Lord Saṁ karṇāḍa. Carried by the mighty force of the wind, this fire will burn throughout the universe, scorching the lifeless cosmic shell.

SB 12.4.10 - Burned from all sides-from above by the blazing sun and from below by the fire of Lord Saṁ karṇāḍa-the universal sphere will glow like a burning ball of cow dung.

SB 12.4.11 - A great and terrible wind of destruction will begin to blow for more than one hundred years, and the sky, covered with dust, will turn gray.

SB 12.4.12 - After that, O King, groups of multicolored clouds will gather, roaring terribly with thunder, and will pour down floods of rain for one hundred years.

SB 12.4.13 - At that time, the shell of the universe will fill up with water, forming a single cosmic ocean.

SB 12.4.14 - As the entire universe is flooded, the water will rob the earth of its unique quality of fragrance, and the element earth, deprived of its distinguishing quality, will be dissolved.

SB 12.4.15-19 - The element fire then seizes the taste from the element water, which, deprived of its unique quality, taste, merges into fire. Air seizes the form inherent in fire, and then fire, deprived of form, merges into air. The element ether seizes the quality of air, namely touch, and that air enters into ether. Then, O King, false ego in ignorance seizes sound, the quality of ether, after which ether merges into false ego. False ego in the mode of passion takes hold of the senses, and false ego in the mode of goodness absorbs the demigods. Then the total mahat-tattva seizes false ego along with its various functions, and that mahat is seized by the three basic modes of nature-goodness, passion and ignorance. My dear King Parékñit, these modes are further overtaken by the original unmanifest form of nature, impelled by time. That unmanifest nature is not subject to the six kinds of transformation caused by the influence of time. Rather, it has no beginning and no end. It is the unmanifest, eternal and infallible cause of creation.

SB 12.4.20-21 - In the unmanifest stage of material nature, called pradhāna, there is no expression of words, no mind and no manifestation of the subtle elements beginning from the mahat, nor are there the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance. There is no life air or intelligence, nor any senses or demigods. There is no definite arrangement of planetary systems, nor are there present the different stages of consciousness-sleep, wakefulness and deep sleep. There is no ether, water, earth, air, fire or sun. The situation is just like that of complete sleep, or of voidness. Indeed, it is indescribable. Authorities in spiritual science explain, however, that since pradhāna is the original substance, it is the actual basis of material creation.

SB 12.4.22 - This is the annihilation called prākātika, during which the energies belonging to the Supreme Person and His unmanifest material nature, disassembled by the force of time, are deprived of their potencies and merge together totally.

SB 12.4.23 - It is the Absolute Truth alone who manifests in the forms of intelligence, the senses and the objects of sense perception, and who is their ultimate basis. Whatever has a beginning and an end is insubstantial because of being an object perceived by limited senses and because of being nondifferent from its own cause.

SB 12.4.24 - A lamp, the eye that views by the light of that lamp, and the visible form that is viewed are all basically nondifferent from the element fire. In the same way, intelligence, the senses and sense perceptions have no existence separate from the supreme reality, although that Absolute Truth remains totally distinct from them.

SB 12.4.25 - The three states of intelligence are called waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep. But, my dear King, the variegated experiences created for the pure living entity by these different states are nothing more than illusion.

SB 12.4.26 - Just as clouds in the sky come into being and are then dispersed by the amalgamation and dissolution of their constituent elements, this material universe is created and destroyed within the Absolute Truth by the amalgamation and dissolution of its elemental, constituent parts.

SB 12.4.27 - My dear King, it is stated [in the Vedānta-sūtra] that the ingredient cause that constitutes any manifested product in this universe can be perceived as a separate reality, just as the threads that make up a cloth can be perceived separately from their product.

SB 12.4.28 - Anything experienced in terms of general cause and specific effect must be an illusion, because such causes and effects exist only relative to each other. Indeed, whatever has a beginning and an end is unreal.

SB 12.4.29 - Although perceived, the transformation of even a single atom of material nature has no ultimate definition without reference to the Supreme Soul. To be accepted as factually existing, something must possess the same quality as pure spirit-eternal, unchanging existence.

SB 12.4.30 - There is no material duality in the Absolute Truth. The duality perceived by an ignorant person is like the difference between the sky contained in an empty pot and the sky outside the pot, or the difference between the reflection of the sun in water and the sun itself in the sky, or the difference between the vital air within one living body and that within another body.

SB 12.4.31 - According to their different purposes, men utilize gold in various ways, and gold is therefore perceived in various forms. In the same way, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is inaccessible to material senses, is described in various terms, both ordinary and Vedic, by different types of men.

SB 12.4.32 - Although a cloud is a product of the sun and is also made visible by the sun, it nevertheless creates darkness for the viewing eye, which is another partial expansion of the sun. Similarly, material false ego, a particular product of the Absolute Truth made visible by the Absolute Truth, obstructs the individual soul, another partial expansion of the Absolute Truth, from realizing the Absolute Truth.

SB 12.4.33 - When the cloud originally produced from the sun is torn apart, the eye can see the actual form of the sun. Similarly, when the spirit soul destroys his material covering of false ego by inquiring into the transcendental science, he regains his original spiritual awareness.

SB 12.4.34 - My dear Parékīit, when the illusory false ego that binds the soul has been cut off with the sword of discriminating knowledge and one has developed realization of Lord Acyuta, the Supreme Soul, this is called the ätyantika, or ultimate, annihilation of material existence.

SB 12.4.35 - Experts in the subtle workings of nature, O subduer of the enemy, have declared that there are continuous processes of creation and annihilation that all created beings, beginning with Brahmä, constantly undergo.

SB 12.4.36 - All material entities undergo transformation and are constantly and swiftly eroded by the mighty currents of time. The various stages of existence that material things exhibit are the perpetual causes of their generation and annihilation.

SB 12.4.37 - These stages of existence created by beginningless and endless time, the impersonal representative of the Supreme Lord, are not visible, just as the infinitesimal momentary changes of position of the planets in the sky cannot be directly seen.

SB 12.4.38 - In this way the progress of time is described in terms of the four kinds of annihilation-continuous, occasional, elemental and final.

SB 12.4.39 - O best of the Kurus, I have related to you these narrations of the pastimes of Lord Näräyaëa, the creator of this world and the ultimate reservoir of all existence, presenting them to you only in brief summary. Even Lord Brahmā himself would be incapable of describing them entirely.

SB 12.4.40 - For a person who is suffering in the fire of countless miseries and who desires to cross the insurmountable ocean of material existence, there is no suitable boat except that of cultivating devotion to the transcendental taste for the narrations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead's pastimes.

SB 12.4.41 - Long ago this essential anthology of all the Purāṇas was spoken by the infallible Lord Nara-Nārāyaṇa Āṇi to Nārada, who then repeated it to Kāṇḍa Dvaipāyana Vedavyāsa.

SB 12.4.42 - My dear Mahārāja Parīkṣit, that great personality Śrīla Vyāsadeva taught me this same scripture, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, which is equal in stature to the four Vedas.

SB 12.4.43 - O best of the Kurus, the same Sūta Gosvāmī who is sitting before us will speak this Bhāgavatam to the sages assembled in the great sacrifice at Naimiṣāraṇya. This he will do when questioned by the members of the assembly, headed by Śaunaka.

106 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.5.1 - Śukadeva Gosvāmī said: This Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has elaborately described in various narrations the Supreme Soul of all that be-the Personality of Godhead, Hari-from whose satisfaction Brahmā is born and from whose anger Rudra takes birth.

SB 12.5.2 - O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking, "I am going to die." Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed.

SB 12.5.3 - You will not take birth again in the form of your sons and grandsons, like a sprout taking birth from a seed and then generating a new seed. Rather, you are entirely distinct from the material body and its paraphernalia, in the same way that fire is distinct from its fuel.

SB 12.5.4 - In a dream one can see his own head being cut off and thus understand that his actual self is standing apart from the dream experience. Similarly, while awake one can see that his body is a product of the five material elements. Therefore it is to be understood that the actual self, the soul, is distinct from the body it observes and is unborn and immortal.

SB 12.5.5 - When a pot is broken, the portion of sky within the pot remains as the element sky, just as before. In the same way, when the gross and subtle bodies die, the living entity within resumes his spiritual identity.

SB 12.5.6 - The material bodies, qualities and activities of the spirit soul are created by the material mind. That mind is itself created by the illusory potency of the Supreme Lord, and thus the soul assumes material existence.

SB 12.5.7 - A lamp functions as such only by the combination of its fuel, vessel, wick and fire. Similarly, material life, based on the soul's identification with the body, is developed and destroyed by the workings of material goodness, passion and ignorance, which are the constituent elements of the body.

SB 12.5.8 - The soul within the body is self-luminous and is separate from the visible gross body and invisible subtle body. It remains as the fixed basis of changing bodily existence, just as the ethereal sky is the unchanging background of material transformation. Therefore the soul is endless and without material comparison.

SB 12.5.9 - My dear King, by constantly meditating upon the Supreme Lord, Vāsudeva, and by applying clear and logical intelligence, you should carefully consider your true self and how it is situated within the material body.

SB 12.5.10 - The snake-bird Takṇaka, sent by the curse of the brāhmaëa, will not burn your true self. The agents of death will never burn such a master of the self as you, for you have already conquered all dangers on your path back to Godhead.

SB 12.5.11-12 - You should consider, "I am nondifferent from the Absolute Truth, the supreme abode, and that Absolute Truth, the supreme destination, is nondifferent from me." Thus resigning yourself to the Supreme Soul, who is free from all material misidentifications, you will not even notice the snake-bird Takṇaka when he approaches with his poison-filled fangs and bites your foot. Nor will you see your dying body or the material world around you, because you will have realized yourself to be separate from them.

SB 12.5.13 - Beloved King Parékṇit, I have narrated to you the topics you originally inquired about-the pastimes of Lord Hari, the Supreme Soul of the universe. Now, what more do you wish to hear?

107 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.5.1 - Çukadeva Gosvämé said: This Çrémad-Bhāgavatam has elaborately described in various narrations the Supreme Soul of all that be-the Personality of Godhead, Hari-from whose satisfaction Brahmä is born and from whose anger Rudra takes birth.

SB 12.5.2 - O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking, "I am going to die." Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed.

SB 12.5.3 - You will not take birth again in the form of your sons and grandsons, like a sprout taking birth from a seed and then generating a new seed. Rather, you are entirely distinct from the material body and its paraphernalia, in the same way that fire is distinct from its fuel.

SB 12.5.4 - In a dream one can see his own head being cut off and thus understand that his actual self is standing apart from the dream experience. Similarly, while awake one can see that his body is a product of the five material elements. Therefore it is to be understood that the actual self, the soul, is distinct from the body it observes and is unborn and immortal.

SB 12.5.5 - When a pot is broken, the portion of sky within the pot remains as the element sky, just as before. In the same way, when the gross and subtle bodies die, the living entity within resumes his spiritual identity.

SB 12.5.6 - The material bodies, qualities and activities of the spirit soul are created by the material mind. That mind is itself created by the illusory potency of the Supreme Lord, and thus the soul assumes material existence.

SB 12.5.7 - A lamp functions as such only by the combination of its fuel, vessel, wick and fire. Similarly, material life, based on the soul's identification with the body, is developed and destroyed by the workings of material goodness, passion and ignorance, which are the constituent elements of the body.

SB 12.5.8 - The soul within the body is self-luminous and is separate from the visible gross body and invisible subtle body. It remains as the fixed basis of changing bodily existence, just as the ethereal sky is the unchanging background of material transformation. Therefore the soul is endless and without material comparison.

SB 12.5.9 - My dear King, by constantly meditating upon the Supreme Lord, Vāsudeva, and by applying clear and logical intelligence, you should carefully consider your true self and how it is situated within the material body.

SB 12.5.10 - The snake-bird Takṇaka, sent by the curse of the brāhmaëa, will not burn your true self. The agents of death will never burn such a master of the self as you, for you have already conquered all dangers on your path back to Godhead.

SB 12.5.11-12 - You should consider, "I am nondifferent from the Absolute Truth, the supreme abode, and that Absolute Truth, the supreme destination, is nondifferent from me." Thus resigning yourself to the Supreme Soul, who is free from all material misidentifications, you will not even notice the snake-bird Takṇaka when he approaches with his poison-filled fangs and bites your foot. Nor will you see your dying body or the material world around you, because you will have realized yourself to be separate from them.

SB 12.5.13 - Beloved King Parékṇit, I have narrated to you the topics you originally inquired about-the pastimes of Lord Hari, the Supreme Soul of the universe. Now, what more do you wish to hear?

108 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.6.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: After hearing all that was narrated to him by the self-realized and equipoised Çukadeva, the son of Vyāsadeva, Mahārāja Parékñit humbly approached his lotus feet. Bowing his head down upon the sage's feet, the King, who had lived his entire life under the protection of Lord Viñëu, folded his hands in supplication and spoke as follows.

SB 12.6.2 - Mahārāja Parékñit said: I have now achieved the purpose of my life, because a great and merciful soul like you has shown such kindness to me. You have personally spoken to me this narration of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, who is without beginning or end.

SB 12.6.3 - I do not consider it at all amazing that great souls such as yourself, whose minds are always absorbed in the infallible Personality of Godhead, show mercy to the foolish conditioned souls, tormented as we are by the problems of material life.

SB 12.6.4 - I have heard from you this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, which is the perfect summary of all the Purāëas and which perfectly describes the Supreme Lord, Uttamaùçloka.

SB 12.6.5 - My lord, I now have no fear of Takñaka or any other living being, or even of repeated deaths, because I have absorbed myself in that purely spiritual Absolute Truth, which you have revealed and which destroys all fear.

SB 12.6.6 - O brāhmaëa, please give me permission to resign my speech and the functions of all my senses unto Lord Adhokñaja. Allow me to absorb my mind, purified of lusty desires, within Him and to thus give up my life.

SB 12.6.7 - You have revealed to me that which is most auspicious, the supreme personal feature of the Lord. I am now fixed in knowledge and self-realization, and my ignorance has been eradicated.

SB 12.6.8 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Thus requested, the saintly son of Çréla Vyāsadeva gave his permission to King Parékñit. Then, after being worshiped by the King and all the sages present, Çukadeva departed from that place.

SB 12.6.9-10 - Mahārāja Parékñit then sat down on the bank of the Ganges, upon a seat made of darbha grass with the tips of its stalks facing east, and turned himself toward the north. Having attained the perfection of yoga, he experienced full self-realization and was free of material attachment and doubt. The saintly King settled his mind within his spiritual self by pure intelligence and proceeded to meditate upon the Supreme Absolute Truth. His life air ceased to move, and he became as stationary as a tree.

SB 12.6.11 - O learned brāhmaëas, the snake-bird Takñaka, who had been sent by the angry son of a brāhmaëa, was going toward the King to kill him when he saw Kaçyapa Muni on the path.

SB 12.6.12 - Takñaka flattered Kaçyapa by presenting him with valuable offerings and thereby stopped the sage, who was expert in counteracting poison, from protecting Mahārāja Parékñit. Then the snakebird, who could assume any form he wished, disguised himself as a brāhmaëa, approached the King and bit him.

SB 12.6.13 - While living beings all over the universe looked on, the body of the great self-realized saint among kings was immediately burned to ashes by the fire of the snake's poison.

SB 12.6.14 - There arose a terrible cry of lamentation in all directions on the earth and in the heavens, and all the demigods, demons, human beings and other creatures were astonished.

SB 12.6.15 - Kettledrums sounded in the regions of the demigods, and the celestial Gandharvas and Apsarās sang. The demigods showered flowers and spoke words of praise.

SB 12.6.16 - Hearing that his father had been fatally bitten by the snakebird, Mahārāja Janamejaya became extremely angry and had brāhmaëas perform a mighty sacrifice in which he offered all the snakes in the world into the sacrificial fire.

SB 12.6.17 - When Takṇaka saw even the most powerful serpents being burned in the blazing fire of that snake sacrifice, he was overwhelmed with fear and approached Lord Indra for shelter.

SB 12.6.18 - When King Janamejaya did not see Takṇaka entering his sacrificial fire, he said to the brāhmaëas: Why is not Takṇaka, the lowest of all serpents, burning in this fire?

SB 12.6.19 - The brāhmaëas replied: O best of kings, the snake Takṇaka has not fallen into the fire because he is being protected by Indra, whom he has approached for shelter. Indra is holding him back from the fire.

SB 12.6.20 - The intelligent King Janamejaya, hearing these words, replied to the priests: Then, my dear brāhmaëas, why not make Takṇaka fall into the fire, along with his protector, Indra?

SB 12.6.21 - Hearing this, the priests then chanted this mantra for offering Takṇaka together with Indra as an oblation into the sacrificial fire: O Takṇaka, fall immediately into this fire, together with Indra and his entire host of demigods!

SB 12.6.22 - When Lord Indra, along with his airplane and Takṇaka, was suddenly thrown from his position by these insulting words of the brāhmaëas, he became very disturbed.

SB 12.6.23 - Bāhaspati, the son of Aṁ girā Muni, seeing Indra falling from the sky in his airplane along with Takṇaka, approached King Janamejaya and spoke to him as follows.

SB 12.6.24 - O King among men, it is not fitting that this king of snakes meet death at your hands, for he has drunk the nectar of the immortal demigods. Consequently he is not subject to the ordinary symptoms of old age and death.

SB 12.6.25 - The life and death of an embodied soul and his destination in the next life are all caused by himself through his own activity. Therefore, O King, no other agent is actually responsible for creating one's happiness and distress.

SB 12.6.26 - When a conditioned soul is killed by snakes, thieves, fire, lightning, hunger, disease or anything else, he is experiencing the reaction to his own past work.

SB 12.6.27 - Therefore, my dear King, please stop this sacrificial performance, which was initiated with the intent of doing harm to others. Many innocent snakes have already been burned to death. Indeed, all persons must suffer the unforeseen consequences of their past activities.

SB 12.6.28 - Sūta Gosvāmé continued: Advised in this manner, Mahārāja Janamejaya replied, "So be it." Honoring the words of the great sage, he desisted from performing the snake sacrifice and worshiped Bāhaspati, the most eloquent of sages.

SB 12.6.29 - This is indeed the Supreme Lord Viñëu's illusory energy, which is unstoppable and difficult to perceive. Although the individual spirit souls are part and parcel of the Lord, through the influence of this illusory energy they are bewildered by their identification with various material bodies.

SB 12.6.30-31 - But there exists a supreme reality, in which the illusory energy cannot fearlessly dominate, thinking, "I can control this person because he is deceitful." In that highest reality there are no illusory argumentative philosophies. Rather, there the true students of spiritual science constantly engage in authorized spiritual investigation. In that supreme reality there is no manifestation of the material mind, which functions in terms of alternating decision and doubt. Created material products, their subtle causes and the goals of enjoyment attained by their utilization do not exist there. Furthermore, in that supreme reality there is no conditioned spirit, covered by false ego and the three modes of nature. That reality excludes everything limited or limiting. One who is wise should therefore stop the waves of material life and enjoy within that Supreme Truth.

SB 12.6.32 - Those who desire to give up all that is not essentially real move systematically, by negative discrimination of the extraneous, to the supreme position of Lord Viñëu. Giving up petty materialism, they offer their love exclusively to the Absolute Truth within their hearts and embrace that highest truth in fixed meditation.

SB 12.6.33 - Such devotees come to understand the supreme transcendental situation of the Personality of Godhead, Lord Viñëu, because they are no longer polluted by the concepts of "I" and "my," which are based on body and home.

SB 12.6.34 - One should tolerate all insults and never fail to show proper respect to any person. Avoiding identification with the material body, one should not create enmity with anyone.

SB 12.6.35 - I offer my obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the invincible Lord Çré Kâñëa. Simply by meditating upon His lotus feet I have been able to study and appreciate this great literature.

SB 12.6.36 - Çaunaka Āñi said: O gentle Sūta, please narrate to us how Paila and the other greatly intelligent disciples of Çréla Vyāsadeva, who are known as the standard authorities of Vedic wisdom, spoke and edited the Vedas.

SB 12.6.37 - Sūta Gosvämé said: O brähmaëa, first the subtle vibration of transcendental sound appeared from the sky of the heart of the most elevated Lord Brahmä, whose mind was perfectly fixed in spiritual realization. One can perceive this subtle vibration when one stops all external hearing.

SB 12.6.38 - By worship of this subtle form of the Vedas, O brähmaëa, mystic sages cleanse their hearts of all contamination caused by impurity of substance, activity and doer, and thus they attain freedom from repeated birth and death.

SB 12.6.39 - From that transcendental subtle vibration arose the oàkära composed of three sounds. The oàkära has unseen potencies and manifests automatically within a purified heart. It is the representation of the Absolute Truth in all three of His phases-the Supreme Personality, the Supreme Soul and the supreme impersonal truth.

SB 12.6.40-41 - This oàkära, ultimately nonmaterial and imperceptible, is heard by the Supersoul without His possessing material ears or any other material senses. The entire expanse of Vedic sound is elaborated from oàkàra, which appears from the soul, within the sky of the heart. It is the direct designation of the self-originating Absolute Truth, the Supersoul, and is the secret essence and eternal seed of all Vedic hymns.

SB 12.6.42 - Oàkàra exhibited the three original sounds of the alphabet-A, U and M. These three, O most eminent descendant of Bhàgu, sustain all the different threefold aspects of material existence, including the three modes of nature, the names of the Āg, Yajur and Sāma Vedas, the goals known as the Bhūr, Bhuvar and Svar planetary systems, and the three functional platforms called waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep.

SB 12.6.43 - From that oàkàra Lord Brahmā created all the sounds of the alphabet-the vowels, consonants, semivowels, sibilants and others-distinguished by such features as long and short measure.

SB 12.6.44 - All-powerful Brahmā made use of this collection of sounds to produce from his four faces the four Vedas, which appeared together with the sacred oàkàra and the seven vyāhāti invocations. His intention was to propagate the process of Vedic sacrifice according to the different functions performed by the priests of each of the four Vedas.

SB 12.6.45 - Brahmā taught these Vedas to his sons, who were great sages among the brāhmaëas and experts in the art of Vedic recitation. They in turn took the role of ācāryas and imparted the Vedas to their own sons.

SB 12.6.46 - In this way, throughout the cycles of four ages, generation after generation of disciples-all firmly fixed in their spiritual vows-have received these Vedas by disciplic succession. At the end of each Dvāpara-yuga the Vedas are edited into separate divisions by eminent sages.

SB 12.6.47 - Observing that people in general were diminished in their life span, strength and intelligence by the influence of time, great sages took inspiration from the Personality of Godhead sitting within their hearts and systematically divided the Vedas.

SB 12.6.48-49 - O brāhmaëa, in the present age of Vaivasvata Manu, the leaders of the universe, led by Brahmā and Çiva, requested the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the protector of all the worlds, to save the principles of religion. O most fortunate Çaunaka, the almighty Lord, exhibiting a divine spark of a portion of His plenary portion, then appeared in the womb of Satyavaté as the son of Parāçara. In this form, named Kāñëa Dvaipāyana Vyāsa, he divided the one Veda into four.

SB 12.6.50 - Çréla Vyāsadeva separated the mantras of the Āg, Atharva, Yajur and Sāma Vedas into four divisions, just as one sorts out a mixed collection of jewels into piles. Thus he composed four distinct Vedic literatures.

SB 12.6.51 - The most powerful and intelligent Vyāsadeva called four of his disciples, O brāhmaëa, and entrusted to each of them one of these four saèhitās.

SB 12.6.52-53 - Çréla Vyāsadeva taught the first saèhitā, the Āg Veda, to Paila and gave this collection the name Bahvāca. To the sage Vaiçampāyana he spoke the collection of Yajur mantras named Nigada. He taught the Sāma Veda mantras, designated as the Chandoga-saèhitā, to Jaimini, and he spoke the Atharva Veda to his dear disciple Sumantu.

SB 12.6.54-56 - After dividing his saèhitā into two parts, the wise Paila spoke it to Indrapramiti and Bāṅkala. Bāṅkala further divided his collection into four parts, O Bhārgava, and instructed them to his disciples Bodhya, Yājiṁ avalkya, Parāçara and Agnimitra. Indrapramiti, the self-controlled sage, taught his saṅhitā to the learned mystic Māēōūkeya, whose disciple Devamitra later passed down the divisions of the Åg Veda to Saubhari and others.

SB 12.6.57 - The son of Māēōūkeya, named Çākalya, divided his own collection into five, entrusting one subdivision each to Vātsya, Mudgala, Çäléya, Gokhalya and Çiçira.

SB 12.6.58 - The sage Jätükarēya was also a disciple of Çākalya, and after dividing the saṅhitā he received from Çākalya into three parts, he added a fourth section, a Vedic glossary. He taught one of these parts to each of four disciples-Balāka, the second Paila, Jābāla and Viraja.

SB 12.6.59 - Bāñkali assembled the Vā lakhilya-saṅhitā, a collection from all the branches of the Åg Veda. This collection was received by Vāläyani, Bhajya and Kāçāra.

SB 12.6.60 - Thus these various saṅhitās of the Åg Veda were maintained through disciplic succession by these saintly brāhmaēas. Simply by hearing of this distribution of the Vedic hymns, one will be freed from all sins.

SB 12.6.61 - The disciples of Vaiçampāyana became authorities in the Atharva Veda. They were known as the Carakas because they executed strict vows to free their guru from his sin of killing a brāhmaēa.

SB 12.6.62 - Once Yājiṁ avalkya, one of the disciples of Vaiçampāyana, said: O master, how much benefit will be derived from the feeble endeavors of these weak disciples of yours? I will personally perform some outstanding penance.

SB 12.6.63 - Addressed thus, the spiritual master Vaiṣampāyana became angry and said: Go away from here! Enough of you, O disciple who insults brāhmaëas! Furthermore, you must immediately give back everything I have taught you.

SB 12.6.64-65 - Yājñi avalkya, the son of Devarāta, then vomited the mantras of the Yajur Veda and went away from there. The assembled disciples, looking greedily upon these yajur hymns, assumed the form of partridges and picked them all up. These divisions of the Yajur Veda therefore became known as the most beautiful Taittiréya-saàhitā, the hymns collected by partridges [tittiräù].

SB 12.6.66 - My dear brāhmaëa Çaunaka, Yājñi avalkya then desired to find out new yajur-mantras unknown to even his spiritual master. With this in mind he offered attentive worship to the powerful lord of the sun.

SB 12.6.67 - Çré Yājñi avalkya said: I offer my respectful obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead appearing as the sun. You are present as the controller of the four kinds of living entities, beginning from Brahmā and extending down to the blades of grass. Just as the sky is present both inside and outside every living being, you exist both within the hearts of all as the Supersoul and externally in the form of time. Just as the sky cannot be covered by the clouds present within it, you are never covered by any false material designation. By the flow of years, which are made up of the tiny fragments of time called kñāëas, lavas and nimeñas, you alone maintain this world, drying up the waters and giving them back as rain.

SB 12.6.68 - O glowing one, O powerful lord of the sun, you are the chief of all the demigods. I meditate with careful attention on your fiery globe, because for those who offer prayers to you three times daily according to the Vedic method passed down through authorized disciplic succession, you burn away all sinful activities, all consequent suffering and even the original seed of desire.

SB 12.6.69 - You are personally present as the indwelling lord in the hearts of all moving and nonmoving beings, who depend completely on your shelter. Indeed, you animate their material minds, senses and vital airs to act.

SB 12.6.70 - The world has been seized and swallowed by the python of darkness in its horrible mouth and has become unconscious, as if dead. But mercifully glancing upon the sleeping people of the world, you raise them up with the gift of sight. Thus you are most magnanimous. At the three sacred junctures of each day, you engage the pious in the path of ultimate good, inducing them to perform religious duties that situate them in their spiritual position.

SB 12.6.71 - Just like an earthly king, you travel about everywhere spreading fear among the unholy as the powerful deities of the directions offer you in their folded palms lotus flowers and other respectful presentations.

SB 12.6.72 - Therefore, my lord, I am prayerfully approaching your lotus feet, which are honored by the spiritual masters of the three worlds, because I hope to receive from you mantras of the Yajur Veda unknown to anyone else.

SB 12.6.73 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Satisfied by such glorification, the powerful sun-god assumed the form of a horse and presented to the sage Yājiñvalkyā yajur-mantras previously unknown in human society.

SB 12.6.74 - From these countless hundreds of mantras of the Yajur Veda, the powerful sage compiled fifteen new branches of Vedic literature. These became known as the Vājasaneyi-saṅhitā because they were produced from the hairs of the horse's mane, and they were accepted in disciplic succession by the followers of Kāēva, Mādhyandina and other āñis.

SB 12.6.75 - Jaimini Āñi, the authority of the Sāma Veda, had a son named Sumantu, and the son of Sumantu was Sutvān. The sage Jaimini spoke to each of them a different part of the Sāma-veda-saṅhitā.

SB 12.6.76-77 - Sukarmā, another disciple of Jaimini, was a great scholar. He divided the mighty tree of the Sāma Veda into one thousand saṅhitās. Then, O brāhmaēa, three disciples of Sukarmā-Hiraēyanābha, the son of Kuçāla; Pausyaī ji; and Āvantya, who was very advanced in spiritual realization-took charge of the sāma-mantras.

SB 12.6.78 - The five hundred disciples of Pauñyaī ji and Āvantya became known as the northern singers of the Sāma Veda, and in later times some of them also became known as eastern singers.

SB 12.6.79 - Five other disciples of Pauñyaī ji, namely Laugākñi, Māi gali, Kulya, Kuçēda and Kukñi, each received one hundred saṅhitās.

SB 12.6.80 - Kāta, the disciple of Hiraēyanābha, spoke twenty four saṅhitās to his own disciples, and the remaining collections were passed down by the self-realized sage Āvantya.

109 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.6.1 - Sūta Gosvāmē said: After hearing all that was narrated to him by the self-realized and equipoised Çukadeva, the son of Vyāsadeva, Mahārāja Parékñit humbly approached his lotus feet. Bowing his head down upon the sage's feet, the King, who had lived his entire life under the protection of Lord Viñēu, folded his hands in supplication and spoke as follows.

SB 12.6.2 - Mahārāja Parékñit said: I have now achieved the purpose of my life, because a great and merciful soul like you has shown such kindness to me. You have personally spoken to me this narration of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Hari, who is without beginning or end.

SB 12.6.3 - I do not consider it at all amazing that great souls such as yourself, whose minds are always absorbed in the infallible Personality of Godhead, show mercy to the foolish conditioned souls, tormented as we are by the problems of material life.

SB 12.6.4 - I have heard from you this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, which is the perfect summary of all the Purāëas and which perfectly describes the Supreme Lord, Uttamaùçloka.

SB 12.6.5 - My lord, I now have no fear of Takñaka or any other living being, or even of repeated deaths, because I have absorbed myself in that purely spiritual Absolute Truth, which you have revealed and which destroys all fear.

SB 12.6.6 - O brāhmaëa, please give me permission to resign my speech and the functions of all my senses unto Lord Adhokñaja. Allow me to absorb my mind, purified of lusty desires, within Him and to thus give up my life.

SB 12.6.7 - You have revealed to me that which is most auspicious, the supreme personal feature of the Lord. I am now fixed in knowledge and self-realization, and my ignorance has been eradicated.

SB 12.6.8 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Thus requested, the saintly son of Çréla Vyāsadeva gave his permission to King Parékñit. Then, after being worshiped by the King and all the sages present, Çukadeva departed from that place.

SB 12.6.9-10 - Mahārāja Parékñit then sat down on the bank of the Ganges, upon a seat made of darbha grass with the tips of its stalks facing east, and turned himself toward the north. Having attained the perfection of yoga, he experienced full self-realization and was free of material attachment and doubt. The saintly King settled his mind within his spiritual self by pure intelligence and proceeded to meditate upon the Supreme Absolute Truth. His life air ceased to move, and he became as stationary as a tree.

SB 12.6.11 - O learned brāhmaëas, the snake-bird Takñaka, who had been sent by the angry son of a brāhmaëa, was going toward the King to kill him when he saw Kaçyapa Muni on the path.

SB 12.6.12 - Takñaka flattered Kaçyapa by presenting him with valuable offerings and thereby stopped the sage, who was expert in counteracting poison, from protecting Mahārāja Parékñit. Then the snakebird, who could assume any form he wished, disguised himself as a brāhmaëa, approached the King and bit him.

SB 12.6.13 - While living beings all over the universe looked on, the body of the great self-realized saint among kings was immediately burned to ashes by the fire of the snake's poison.

SB 12.6.14 - There arose a terrible cry of lamentation in all directions on the earth and in the heavens, and all the demigods, demons, human beings and other creatures were astonished.

SB 12.6.15 - Kettledrums sounded in the regions of the demigods, and the celestial Gandharvas and Apsaräs sang. The demigods showered flowers and spoke words of praise.

SB 12.6.16 - Hearing that his father had been fatally bitten by the snakebird, Mahārāja Janamejaya became extremely angry and had brāhmaëas perform a mighty sacrifice in which he offered all the snakes in the world into the sacrificial fire.

SB 12.6.17 - When Takṇaka saw even the most powerful serpents being burned in the blazing fire of that snake sacrifice, he was overwhelmed with fear and approached Lord Indra for shelter.

SB 12.6.18 - When King Janamejaya did not see Takṇaka entering his sacrificial fire, he said to the brāhmaëas: Why is not Takṇaka, the lowest of all serpents, burning in this fire?

SB 12.6.19 - The brāhmaëas replied: O best of kings, the snake Takṇaka has not fallen into the fire because he is being protected by Indra, whom he has approached for shelter. Indra is holding him back from the fire.

SB 12.6.20 - The intelligent King Janamejaya, hearing these words, replied to the priests: Then, my dear brāhmaëas, why not make Takṇaka fall into the fire, along with his protector, Indra?

SB 12.6.21 - Hearing this, the priests then chanted this mantra for offering Takṇaka together with Indra as an oblation into the sacrificial fire: O Takṇaka, fall immediately into this fire, together with Indra and his entire host of demigods!

SB 12.6.22 - When Lord Indra, along with his airplane and Takṇaka, was suddenly thrown from his position by these insulting words of the brāhmaëas, he became very disturbed.

SB 12.6.23 - Bāhaspati, the son of Aṅgirā Muni, seeing Indra falling from the sky in his airplane along with Takṇaka, approached King Janamejaya and spoke to him as follows.

SB 12.6.24 - O King among men, it is not fitting that this king of snakes meet death at your hands, for he has drunk the nectar of the immortal demigods. Consequently he is not subject to the ordinary symptoms of old age and death.

SB 12.6.25 - The life and death of an embodied soul and his destination in the next life are all caused by himself through his own activity. Therefore, O King, no other agent is actually responsible for creating one's happiness and distress.

SB 12.6.26 - When a conditioned soul is killed by snakes, thieves, fire, lightning, hunger, disease or anything else, he is experiencing the reaction to his own past work.

SB 12.6.27 - Therefore, my dear King, please stop this sacrificial performance, which was initiated with the intent of doing harm to others. Many innocent snakes have already been burned to death. Indeed, all persons must suffer the unforeseen consequences of their past activities.

SB 12.6.28 - Sūta Gosvāmé continued: Advised in this manner, Mahārāja Janamejaya replied, "So be it." Honoring the words of the great sage, he desisted from performing the snake sacrifice and worshiped Bāhaspati, the most eloquent of sages.

SB 12.6.29 - This is indeed the Supreme Lord Viñëu's illusory energy, which is unstoppable and difficult to perceive. Although the individual spirit souls are part and parcel of the Lord, through the influence of this illusory energy they are bewildered by their identification with various material bodies.

SB 12.6.30-31 - But there exists a supreme reality, in which the illusory energy cannot fearlessly dominate, thinking, "I can control this person because he is deceitful." In that highest reality there are no illusory argumentative philosophies. Rather, there the true students of spiritual science constantly engage in authorized spiritual investigation. In that supreme reality there is no manifestation of the material mind, which functions in terms of alternating decision and doubt. Created material products, their subtle causes and the goals of enjoyment attained by their utilization do not exist there. Furthermore, in that supreme reality there is no conditioned spirit, covered by false ego and the three modes of nature. That reality excludes everything limited or limiting. One who is wise should therefore stop the waves of material life and enjoy within that Supreme Truth.

SB 12.6.32 - Those who desire to give up all that is not essentially real move systematically, by negative discrimination of the extraneous, to the supreme position of Lord Viñëu. Giving up petty materialism, they offer their love exclusively to the Absolute Truth within their hearts and embrace that highest truth in fixed meditation.

SB 12.6.33 - Such devotees come to understand the supreme transcendental situation of the Personality of Godhead, Lord Viñëu, because they are no longer polluted by the concepts of "I" and "my," which are based on body and home.

SB 12.6.34 - One should tolerate all insults and never fail to show proper respect to any person. Avoiding identification with the material body, one should not create enmity with anyone.

SB 12.6.35 - I offer my obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the invincible Lord Çré Kâñëa. Simply by meditating upon His lotus feet I have been able to study and appreciate this great literature.

SB 12.6.36 - Çaunaka Āñi said: O gentle Sūta, please narrate to us how Paila and the other greatly intelligent disciples of Çréla Vyāsadeva, who are known as the standard authorities of Vedic wisdom, spoke and edited the Vedas.

SB 12.6.37 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: O brāhmaëa, first the subtle vibration of transcendental sound appeared from the sky of the heart of the most elevated Lord Brahmā, whose mind was perfectly fixed in spiritual realization. One can perceive this subtle vibration when one stops all external hearing.

SB 12.6.38 - By worship of this subtle form of the Vedas, O brāhmaëa, mystic sages cleanse their hearts of all contamination caused by impurity of substance, activity and doer, and thus they attain freedom from repeated birth and death.

SB 12.6.39 - From that transcendental subtle vibration arose the oākāra composed of three sounds. The oākāra has unseen potencies and manifests automatically within a purified heart. It is the representation of the Absolute Truth in all three of His phases-the Supreme Personality, the Supreme Soul and the supreme impersonal truth.

SB 12.6.40-41 - This oākāra, ultimately nonmaterial and imperceptible, is heard by the Supersoul without His possessing material ears or any other material senses. The entire expanse of Vedic sound is elaborated from oākāra, which appears from the soul, within the sky of the heart. It is the direct designation of the self-originating Absolute Truth, the Supersoul, and is the secret essence and eternal seed of all Vedic hymns.

SB 12.6.42 - Oàkàra exhibited the three original sounds of the alphabet-A, U and M. These three, O most eminent descendant of Bhàgu, sustain all the different threefold aspects of material existence, including the three modes of nature, the names of the Åg, Yajur and Sàma Vedas, the goals known as the Bhür, Bhuvar and Svar planetary systems, and the three functional platforms called waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep.

SB 12.6.43 - From that oàkàra Lord Brahmä created all the sounds of the alphabet-the vowels, consonants, semivowels, sibilants and others-distinguished by such features as long and short measure.

SB 12.6.44 - All-powerful Brahmä made use of this collection of sounds to produce from his four faces the four Vedas, which appeared together with the sacred oàkàra and the seven vyähâti invocations. His intention was to propagate the process of Vedic sacrifice according to the different functions performed by the priests of each of the four Vedas.

SB 12.6.45 - Brahmä taught these Vedas to his sons, who were great sages among the brähmaëas and experts in the art of Vedic recitation. They in turn took the role of äcäryas and imparted the Vedas to their own sons.

SB 12.6.46 - In this way, throughout the cycles of four ages, generation after generation of disciples-all firmly fixed in their spiritual vows-have received these Vedas by disciplic succession. At the end of each Dvāpara-yuga the Vedas are edited into separate divisions by eminent sages.

SB 12.6.47 - Observing that people in general were diminished in their life span, strength and intelligence by the influence of time, great sages took inspiration from the Personality of Godhead sitting within their hearts and systematically divided the Vedas.

SB 12.6.48-49 - O brähmaëa, in the present age of Vaivasvata Manu, the leaders of the universe, led by Brahmä and Çiva, requested the Supreme Personality of Godhead, the protector of all the worlds, to save the principles of religion. O most fortunate Çaunaka, the almighty Lord, exhibiting a divine spark of a portion of His plenary portion, then appeared in the womb of Satyavaté as the son of Parāçara. In this form, named Kânëa Dvaipäyana Vyäsa, he divided the one Veda into four.

SB 12.6.50 - Çréla Vyäsadeva separated the mantras of the Åg, Atharva, Yajur and Sāma Vedas into four divisions, just as one sorts out a mixed collection of jewels into piles. Thus he composed four distinct Vedic literatures.

SB 12.6.51 - The most powerful and intelligent Vyäsadeva called four of his disciples, O brähmaëa, and entrusted to each of them one of these four saèhitäs.

SB 12.6.52-53 - Çréla Vyäsadeva taught the first saèhitä, the Åg Veda, to Paila and gave this collection the name Bahvāca. To the sage Vaiçampäyana he spoke the collection of Yajur mantras named Nigada. He taught the Sāma Veda mantras, designated as the Chandoga-saèhitä, to Jaimini, and he spoke the Atharva Veda to his dear disciple Sumantu.

SB 12.6.54-56 - After dividing his saèhitä into two parts, the wise Paila spoke it to Indrapramiti and Bāṅkala. Bāṅkala further divided his collection into four parts, O Bhārgava, and instructed them to his disciples Bodhya, Yājñavalkya, Parāçara and Agnimitra. Indrapramiti, the self-controlled sage, taught his saèhitä to the learned mystic Mäëöükeya, whose disciple Devamitra later passed down the divisions of the Åg Veda to Saubhari and others.

SB 12.6.57 - The son of Mäëöükeya, named Çäkalya, divided his own collection into five, entrusting one subdivision each to Vātsya, Mudgala, Çäléya, Gokhalya and Çiçira.

SB 12.6.58 - The sage Jätükarëya was also a disciple of Çäkalya, and after dividing the saèhitä he received from Çäkalya into three parts, he added a fourth section, a Vedic glossary. He taught one of these parts to each of four disciples-Baläka, the second Paila, Jäbäla and Viraja.

SB 12.6.59 - Bänkali assembled the Välakhilya-saèhitä, a collection from all the branches of the Åg Veda. This collection was received by Väläyani, Bhajya and Käçära.

SB 12.6.60 - Thus these various saèhitäs of the Åg Veda were maintained through disciplic succession by these saintly brähmaëas. Simply by hearing of this distribution of the Vedic hymns, one will be freed from all sins.

SB 12.6.61 - The disciples of Vaiçampäyana became authorities in the Atharva Veda. They were known as the Carakas because they executed strict vows to free their guru from his sin of killing a brähmaëa.

SB 12.6.62 - Once Yäji'aval'kya, one of the disciples of Vaiçampäyana, said: O master, how much benefit will be derived from the feeble endeavors of these weak disciples of yours? I will personally perform some outstanding penance.

SB 12.6.63 - Addressed thus, the spiritual master Vaiçampäyana became angry and said: Go away from here! Enough of you, O disciple who insults brähmaëas! Furthermore, you must immediately give back everything I have taught you.

SB 12.6.64-65 - Yäji'aval'kya, the son of Devaräta, then vomited the mantras of the Yajur Veda and went away from there. The assembled disciples, looking greedily upon these yajur hymns, assumed the form of partridges and picked them all up. These divisions of the Yajur Veda therefore became known as the most beautiful Taittiréya-saàhitä, the hymns collected by partridges [tittiräù].

SB 12.6.66 - My dear brähmaëa Çaunaka, Yäji avalkya then desired to find out new yajur-mantras unknown to even his spiritual master. With this in mind he offered attentive worship to the powerful lord of the sun.

SB 12.6.67 - Çré Yäji avalkya said: I offer my respectful obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead appearing as the sun. You are present as the controller of the four kinds of living entities, beginning from Brahmä and extending down to the blades of grass. Just as the sky is present both inside and outside every living being, you exist both within the hearts of all as the Supersoul and externally in the form of time. Just as the sky cannot be covered by the clouds present within it, you are never covered by any false material designation. By the flow of years, which are made up of the tiny fragments of time called kñäëas, lavas and nimeñas, you alone maintain this world, drying up the waters and giving them back as rain.

SB 12.6.68 - O glowing one, O powerful lord of the sun, you are the chief of all the demigods. I meditate with careful attention on your fiery globe, because for those who offer prayers to you three times daily according to the Vedic method passed down through authorized disciplic succession, you burn away all sinful activities, all consequent suffering and even the original seed of desire.

SB 12.6.69 - You are personally present as the indwelling lord in the hearts of all moving and nonmoving beings, who depend completely on your shelter. Indeed, you animate their material minds, senses and vital airs to act.

SB 12.6.70 - The world has been seized and swallowed by the python of darkness in its horrible mouth and has become unconscious, as if dead. But mercifully glancing upon the sleeping people of the world, you raise them up with the gift of sight. Thus you are most magnanimous. At the three sacred junctures of each day, you engage the pious in the path of ultimate good, inducing them to perform religious duties that situate them in their spiritual position.

SB 12.6.71 - Just like an earthly king, you travel about everywhere spreading fear among the unholy as the powerful deities of the directions offer you in their folded palms lotus flowers and other respectful presentations.

SB 12.6.72 - Therefore, my lord, I am prayerfully approaching your lotus feet, which are honored by the spiritual masters of the three worlds, because I hope to receive from you mantras of the Yajur Veda unknown to anyone else.

SB 12.6.73 - Sūta Gosvāmē said: Satisfied by such glorification, the powerful sun-god assumed the form of a horse and presented to the sage Yājñavalkya yajur-mantras previously unknown in human society.

SB 12.6.74 - From these countless hundreds of mantras of the Yajur Veda, the powerful sage compiled fifteen new branches of Vedic literature. These became known as the Vājasaneyi-saṅhitā because they were produced from the hairs of the horse's mane, and they were accepted in disciplic succession by the followers of Kāśha, Mādhyandina and other āchāryas.

SB 12.6.75 - Jaimini Āchārya, the authority of the Sāma Veda, had a son named Sumantu, and the son of Sumantu was Sutvān. The sage Jaimini spoke to each of them a different part of the Sāma-veda-saṅhitā.

SB 12.6.76-77 - Sukarmä, another disciple of Jaimini, was a great scholar. He divided the mighty tree of the Säma Veda into one thousand saàhitäs. Then, O brähmaëa, three disciples of Sukarmä-Hiraëyanäbha, the son of Kuçala; Pausyaï ji; and Ävantya, who was very advanced in spiritual realization-took charge of the säma-mantras.

SB 12.6.78 - The five hundred disciples of Pauñyaï ji and Ävantya became known as the northern singers of the Säma Veda, and in later times some of them also became known as eastern singers.

SB 12.6.79 - Five other disciples of Pauñyaï ji, namely Laugäkñi, Mäi gali, Kulya, Kuçäda and Kukñi, each received one hundred saàhitäs.

SB 12.6.80 - Kâta, the disciple of Hiraëyanäbha, spoke twenty four saàhitäs to his own disciples, and the remaining collections were passed down by the self-realized sage Ävantya.

110 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.7.1 - Sûta Gosvämé said: Sumantu Äñi, the authority on the Atharva Veda, taught his saàhitä to his disciple Kabandha, who in turn spoke it to Pathya and Vedadarça.

SB 12.7.2 - Çaukläyani, Brahmabali, Modoña and Pippaläyani were disciples of Vedadarça. Hear from me also the names of the disciples of Pathya. My dear brähmaëa, they are Kumuda, Çunaka and Jäjali, all of whom knew the Atharva Veda very well.

SB 12.7.3 - Babhru and Saindhaväyana, disciples of Çunaka, studied the two divisions of their spiritual master's compilation of the Atharva Veda.

Saindhavāyana's disciple Sāvarēa and disciples of other great sages also studied this edition of the Atharva Veda.

SB 12.7.4 - Nakātrakalpa, Čāntikalpa, Kaçyapa, Āṇ girasa and others were also among the ācāryas of the Atharva Veda. Now, O sage, listen as I name the authorities on Purāëic literature.

SB 12.7.5 - Trayyāruëi, Kaçyapa, Sāvarëi, Akātavrana, Vaiçampāyana and Hārëta are the six masters of the Purāëas.

SB 12.7.6 - Each of them studied one of the six anthologies of the Purāëas from my father, Romahārṇaëa, who was a disciple of Çréla Vyāsadeva. I became the disciple of these six authorities and thoroughly learned all their presentations of Puranic wisdom.

SB 12.7.7 - Romahārṇaëa, a disciple of Vedavyāsa, divided the Purāëas into four basic compilations. The sage Kaçyapa and I, along with Sāvarëi and Akātavraëa, a disciple of Rāma, learned these four divisions.

SB 12.7.8 - O Çaunaka, please hear with attention the characteristics of a Purāëa, which have been defined by the most eminent learned brāhmaëas in accordance with Vedic literature.

SB 12.7.9-10 - O brāhmaëa, authorities on the matter understand a Purāëa to contain ten characteristic topics: the creation of this universe, the subsequent creation of worlds and beings, the maintenance of all living beings, their sustenance, the rule of various Manus, the dynasties of great kings, the activities of such kings, annihilation, motivation and the supreme shelter. Other scholars state that the great Purāëas deal with these ten topics, while lesser Purāëas may deal with five.

SB 12.7.11 - From the agitation of the original modes within the unmanifest material nature, the mahat-tattva arises. From the mahat-tattva comes the element false ego, which divides into three aspects. This threefold false ego further manifests as the subtle forms of perception, as the senses and as the gross sense objects. The generation of all these is called creation.

SB 12.7.12 - The secondary creation, which exists by the mercy of the Lord, is the manifest amalgamation of the desires of the living entities. Just as a seed produces additional seeds, activities that promote material desires in the performer produce moving and nonmoving life forms.

SB 12.7.13 - Vātti means the process of sustenance, by which the moving beings live upon the nonmoving. For a human, vātti specifically means acting for one's livelihood in a manner suited to his personal nature. Such action may be carried out either in pursuit of selfish desire or in accordance with the law of God.

SB 12.7.14 - In each age, the infallible Lord appears in this world among the animals, human beings, sages and demigods. By His activities in these incarnations He protects the universe and kills the enemies of Vedic culture.

SB 12.7.15 - In each reign of Manu, six types of personalities appear as manifestations of Lord Hari: the ruling Manu, the chief demigods, the sons of Manu, Indra, the great sages and the partial incarnations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.7.16 - Dynasties are lines of kings originating with Lord Brahmā and extending continuously through past, present and future. The accounts of such dynasties, especially of their most prominent members, constitute the subject of dynastic history.

SB 12.7.17 - There are four types of cosmic annihilation-occasional, elemental, continuous and ultimate-all of which are effected by the inherent potency of the Supreme Lord. Learned scholars have designated this topic dissolution.

SB 12.7.18 - Out of ignorance the living being performs material activities and thereby becomes in one sense the cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of the universe. Some authorities call the living being the personality underlying the material creation, while others say he is the unmanifest self.

SB 12.7.19 - The Supreme Absolute Truth is present throughout all the stages of awareness-waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep-throughout all the phenomena manifested by the illusory energy, and within the functions of all living entities, and He also exists separate from all these. Thus situated in His own transcendence, He is the ultimate and unique shelter.

SB 12.7.20 - Although a material object may assume various forms and names, its essential ingredient is always present as the basis of its existence. Similarly, both conjointly and separately, the Supreme Absolute Truth is always present with the created material body throughout its phases of existence, beginning with conception and ending with death.

SB 12.7.21 - Either automatically or because of one's regulated spiritual practice, one's mind may stop functioning on the material platform of waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep. Then one understands the Supreme Soul and withdraws from material endeavor.

SB 12.7.22 - Sages expert in ancient histories have declared that the Purāṇas, according to their various characteristics, can be divided into eighteen major Purāṇas and eighteen secondary Purāṇas.

SB 12.7.23-24 - The eighteen major Purāëas are the Brahmä, Padma, Viñëu, Çiva, Liṅga, Garuða, Nārada, Bhāgavata, Agni, Skanda, Bhaviṇya, Brahma-vaivarta, Märkaëðeya, Vāmana, Varāha, Matsya, Kürma and Brahmäëða Purāëas.

SB 12.7.25 - I have thoroughly described to you, O brāhmaëa, the expansion of the branches of the Vedas by the great sage Vyāsadeva, his disciples and the disciples of his disciples. One who listens to this narration will increase in spiritual strength.

111 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.7.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Sumantu Āñi, the authority on the Atharva Veda, taught his sañhitä to his disciple Kabandha, who in turn spoke it to Pathya and Vedadarça.

SB 12.7.2 - Çaukläyani, Brahmabali, Modoña and Pippaläyani were disciples of Vedadarça. Hear from me also the names of the disciples of Pathya. My dear brāhmaëa, they are Kumuda, Çunaka and Jäjali, all of whom knew the Atharva Veda very well.

SB 12.7.3 - Babhru and Saindhaväyana, disciples of Çunaka, studied the two divisions of their spiritual master's compilation of the Atharva Veda. Saindhaväyana's disciple Sävarëa and disciples of other great sages also studied this edition of the Atharva Veda.

SB 12.7.4 - Nakīatrakalpa, Çāntikalpa, Kaçyapa, Äṅgira and others were also among the ācāryas of the Atharva Veda. Now, O sage, listen as I name the authorities on Purāëic literature.

SB 12.7.5 - Trayyāruëi, Kaçyapa, Sävarëi, Akātavrana, Vaiçampäyana and Hārēta are the six masters of the Purāēas.

SB 12.7.6 - Each of them studied one of the six anthologies of the Purāēas from my father, Romahārṇāēa, who was a disciple of Ṣrēla Vyāsadeva. I became the disciple of these six authorities and thoroughly learned all their presentations of Puranic wisdom.

SB 12.7.7 - Romahārṇāēa, a disciple of Vedavyāsa, divided the Purāēas into four basic compilations. The sage Kaṣyapa and I, along with Sāvarēi and Akātavraēa, a disciple of Rāma, learned these four divisions.

SB 12.7.8 - O Ṣaunaka, please hear with attention the characteristics of a Purāēa, which have been defined by the most eminent learned brāhmaēas in accordance with Vedic literature.

SB 12.7.9-10 - O brāhmaēa, authorities on the matter understand a Purāēa to contain ten characteristic topics: the creation of this universe, the subsequent creation of worlds and beings, the maintenance of all living beings, their sustenance, the rule of various Manus, the dynasties of great kings, the activities of such kings, annihilation, motivation and the supreme shelter. Other scholars state that the great Purāēas deal with these ten topics, while lesser Purāēas may deal with five.

SB 12.7.11 - From the agitation of the original modes within the unmanifest material nature, the mahat-tattva arises. From the mahat-tattva comes the element false ego, which divides into three aspects. This threefold false ego further manifests as the subtle forms of perception, as the senses and as the gross sense objects. The generation of all these is called creation.

SB 12.7.12 - The secondary creation, which exists by the mercy of the Lord, is the manifest amalgamation of the desires of the living entities. Just as a seed produces additional seeds, activities that promote material desires in the performer produce moving and nonmoving life forms.

SB 12.7.13 - Vātti means the process of sustenance, by which the moving beings live upon the nonmoving. For a human, vātti specifically means acting for one's livelihood in a manner suited to his personal nature. Such action may be carried out either in pursuit of selfish desire or in accordance with the law of God.

SB 12.7.14 - In each age, the infallible Lord appears in this world among the animals, human beings, sages and demigods. By His activities in these incarnations He protects the universe and kills the enemies of Vedic culture.

SB 12.7.15 - In each reign of Manu, six types of personalities appear as manifestations of Lord Hari: the ruling Manu, the chief demigods, the sons of Manu, Indra, the great sages and the partial incarnations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.7.16 - Dynasties are lines of kings originating with Lord Brahmā and extending continuously through past, present and future. The accounts of such dynasties, especially of their most prominent members, constitute the subject of dynastic history.

SB 12.7.17 - There are four types of cosmic annihilation-occasional, elemental, continuous and ultimate-all of which are effected by the inherent potency of the Supreme Lord. Learned scholars have designated this topic dissolution.

SB 12.7.18 - Out of ignorance the living being performs material activities and thereby becomes in one sense the cause of the creation, maintenance and destruction of the universe. Some authorities call the living being the personality underlying the material creation, while others say he is the unmanifest self.

SB 12.7.19 - The Supreme Absolute Truth is present throughout all the stages of awareness-waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep-throughout all the phenomena manifested by the illusory energy, and within the functions of all living entities, and He also exists separate from all these. Thus situated in His own transcendence, He is the ultimate and unique shelter.

SB 12.7.20 - Although a material object may assume various forms and names, its essential ingredient is always present as the basis of its existence. Similarly, both conjointly and separately, the Supreme Absolute Truth is always present with the created material body throughout its phases of existence, beginning with conception and ending with death.

SB 12.7.21 - Either automatically or because of one's regulated spiritual practice, one's mind may stop functioning on the material platform of waking consciousness, sleep and deep sleep. Then one understands the Supreme Soul and withdraws from material endeavor.

SB 12.7.22 - Sages expert in ancient histories have declared that the Purāëas, according to their various characteristics, can be divided into eighteen major Purāëas and eighteen secondary Purāëas.

SB 12.7.23-24 - The eighteen major Purāëas are the Brahmā, Padma, Viñëu, Çiva, Liṅga, Garuða, Nārada, Bhāgavata, Agni, Skanda, Bhaviṇya, Brahma-vaivarta, Märkaëðeya, Vāmana, Varāha, Matsya, Kūrma and Brahmäëða Purāëas.

SB 12.7.25 - I have thoroughly described to you, O brāhmaëa, the expansion of the branches of the Vedas by the great sage Vyāsadeva, his disciples and the disciples of his disciples. One who listens to this narration will increase in spiritual strength.

112 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.8.1 - Çré Çaunaka said: O Sūta, may you live a long life! O saintly one, best of speakers, please continue speaking to us. Indeed, only you can show men the path out of the ignorance in which they are wandering.

SB 12.8.2-5 - Authorities say that Mārkaëðeya Āñi, the son of Mākaëðu. was an exceptionally long-lived sage who was the only survivor at the end of Brahmā's day, when the entire universe was merged in the flood of annihilation. But this same Mārkaëðeya Āñi, the foremost descendant of Bhāgu, took birth in my own family during the current day of Brahmā, and we have not yet seen any total annihilation in this day of Brahmā. Also, it is well known that Mārkaëðeya while wandering helplessly in the great ocean of annihilation, saw in those fearful waters a wonderful personality-an infant boy lying alone within the fold of a banyan leaf. O Sūta, I am most bewildered and curious about this great sage, Mārkaëðeya Āñi. O great yogé, you are universally accepted as the authority on all the Puräëas. Therefore kindly dispel my confusion.

SB 12.8.6 - Sūta Gosvämé said: O great sage Çaunaka, your very question will help remove everyone's illusion, for it leads to the topics of Lord Nāräyaëa, which cleanse away the contamination of this Kali age.

SB 12.8.7-11 - After being purified by his father's performance of the prescribed rituals leading to Mārkaëðeya's brahminical initiation, Mārkaëðeya studied the Vedic hymns and strictly observed the regulative principles. He became advanced in austerity and Vedic knowledge and remained a lifelong celibate. Appearing most peaceful with his matted hair and his clothing made of bark, he furthered his spiritual progress by carrying the mendicant's waterpot, staff, sacred thread, brahmacäre belt, black deerskin, lotus-seed prayer beads and bundles of kuça grass. At the sacred junctures of the day he regularly worshiped the Supreme Personality of Godhead in five forms-the sacrificial fire, the sun, his spiritual master, the brähmaëas and the Supersoul within his heart. Morning and evening he would go out begging, and upon returning he would present all the food he had collected to his spiritual master. Only when his spiritual master invited him would he silently take his one meal of the day; otherwise he would fast. Thus devoted to austerity and Vedic study, Märkaëöeya Āñi worshiped the supreme master of the senses, the Personality of Godhead, for countless millions of years, and in this way he conquered unconquerable death.

SB 12.8.12 - Lord Brahmä, Bhägu Muni, Lord Çiva, Prajapati Dakña, the great sons of Brahmä, and many others among the human beings, demigods, forefathers and ghostly spirits-all were astonished by the achievement of Märkaëöeya Āñi.

SB 12.8.13 - In this way the devotional mystic Märkaëöeya maintained rigid celibacy through penance, study of the Vedas and self-discipline. With his mind thus free of all disturbances, he turned it inward and meditated on the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who lies beyond the material senses.

SB 12.8.14 - While the mystic sage thus concentrated his mind by powerful yoga practice, the tremendous period of six lifetimes of Manu passed by.

SB 12.8.15 - O brähmaëa, during the seventh reign of Manu, the current age, Lord Indra came to know of Märkaëöeya's austerities and became fearful of his growing mystic potency. Thus he tried to impede the sage's penance.

SB 12.8.16 - To ruin the sage's spiritual practice, Lord Indra sent Cupid, beautiful celestial singers, dancing girls, the season of spring and the sandalwood-scented breeze from the Malaya Hills, along with greed and intoxication personified.

SB 12.8.17 - O most powerful Çaunaka, they went to Märkaëðeya's hermitage, on the northern side of the Himälaya Mountains where the Puñpabhadrä River passes by the famous peak Citrä.

SB 12.8.18-20 - Groves of pious trees decorated the holy āçrama of Märkaëðeya Āñi, and many saintly brähmaëas lived there, enjoying the abundant pure, sacred ponds. The āçrama resounded with the buzzing of intoxicated bees and the cooing of excited cuckoos, while jubilant peacocks danced about. Indeed, many families of maddened birds crowded that hermitage. The springtime breeze sent by Lord Indra entered there, carrying cooling drops of spray from nearby waterfalls. Fragrant from the embrace of forest flowers, that breeze entered the hermitage and began evoking the lusty spirit of Cupid.

SB 12.8.21 - Springtime then appeared in Märkaëðeya's āçrama. Indeed, the evening sky, glowing with the light of the rising moon, became the very face of spring, and sprouts and fresh blossoms virtually covered the multitude of trees and creepers.

SB 12.8.22 - Cupid, the master of many heavenly women, then came there holding his bow and arrows. He was followed by groups of Gandharvas playing musical instruments and singing.

SB 12.8.23 - These servants of Indra found the sage sitting in meditation, having just offered his prescribed oblations into the sacrificial fire. His eyes closed in trance, he seemed invincible, like fire personified.

SB 12.8.24 - The women danced before the sage, and the celestial singers sang to the charming accompaniment of drums, cymbals and véeäs.

SB 12.8.25 - While the son of passion [greed personified], spring and the other servants of Indra all tried to agitate Märkaëðeya's mind, Cupid drew his five-headed arrow and fixed it upon his bow.

SB 12.8.26-27 - The Apsarä Pui jikasthalé made a show of playing with a number of toy balls. Her waist seemed weighed down by her heavy breasts, and the wreath of flowers in her hair became disheveled. As she ran about after the balls, glancing here and there, the belt of her thin garment loosened, and suddenly the wind blew her clothes away.

SB 12.8.28 - Cupid, thinking he had conquered the sage, then shot his arrow. But all these attempts to seduce Märkaëðeya proved futile, just like the useless endeavors of an atheist.

SB 12.8.29 - O learned Çaunaka, while Cupid and his followers tried to harm the sage, they felt themselves being burned alive by his potency. Thus they stopped their mischief, just like children who have aroused a sleeping snake.

SB 12.8.30 - O brähmaëa, the followers of Lord Indra had impudently attacked the saintly Märkaëðeya, yet he did not succumb to any influence of false ego. For great souls such tolerance is not at all surprising.

SB 12.8.31 - The mighty King Indra was most astonished when he heard of the mystic prowess of the exalted sage Märkaëðeya and saw how Cupid and his associates had become powerless in his presence.

SB 12.8.32 - Desiring to bestow His mercy upon the saintly Märkaëðeya, who had perfectly fixed his mind in self-realization through penance, Vedic study and observance of regulative principles, the Supreme Personality of Godhead personally appeared before the sage in the forms of Nara and Nārāyaṇa.

SB 12.8.33-34 - One of Them was of a whitish complexion, the other blackish, and They both had four arms. Their eyes resembled the petals of blooming lotuses, and They wore garments of black deerskin and bark, along with the three-stranded sacred thread. In Their hands, which were most purifying, They carried the mendicant's waterpot, straight bamboo staff and lotus-seed prayer beads, as well as the all-purifying Vedas in the symbolic form of bundles of darbha grass. Their bearing was tall and Their yellow effulgence the color of radiant lightning. Appearing as austerity personified, They were being worshiped by the foremost demigods.

SB 12.8.35 - These two sages, Nara and Nārāyaṇa, were the direct personal forms of the Supreme Lord. When Mārkaṇḍeya Āṇi saw Them, he immediately stood up and then with great respect offered Them obeisances by falling down flat on the ground like a stick.

SB 12.8.36 - The ecstasy of seeing Them completely satisfied Mārkaṇḍeya's body, mind and senses and caused the hairs on his body to stand on end and his eyes to fill with tears. Overwhelmed, Mārkaṇḍeya found it difficult to look at Them.

SB 12.8.37 - Standing with his hands folded in supplication and his head bowed in humility, Mārkaṇḍeya felt such eagerness that he imagined he was embracing the two Lords. In a voice choked with ecstasy, he repeatedly said, "I offer You my humble obeisances."

SB 12.8.38 - He gave Them sitting places and washed Their feet, and then he worshiped Them with presentations of arghya, sandalwood pulp, fragrant oils, incense and flower garlands.

SB 12.8.39 - Märkaëòeya Āñi once again bowed down at the lotus feet of those two most worshipable sages, who were sitting at ease, ready to bestow all mercy upon him. He when addressed Them as follows.

SB 12.8.40 - Çré Märkaëòeya said: O Almighty Lord, how can I possibly describe You? You awaken the vital air, which then impels the mind, senses and power of speech to act. This is true for all ordinary conditioned souls and even for great demigods like Brahmā and Çiva. So it is certainly true for me. Nevertheless, You become the intimate friend of those who worship You.

SB 12.8.41 - O Supreme Personality of Godhead, these two personal forms of Yours have appeared to bestow the ultimate benefit for the three worlds-the cessation of material misery and the conquest of death. My Lord, although You create this universe and then assume many transcendental forms to protect it, You also swallow it up, just like a spider who spins and later withdraws its web.

SB 12.8.42 - Because You are the protector and the supreme controller of all moving and nonmoving beings, anyone who takes shelter of Your lotus feet can never be touched by the contamination of material work, material qualities or time. Great sages who have assimilated the essential meaning of the Vedañ offer their prayers to You. To gain Your association, they bow down to You at every opportunity and constantly worship You and meditate upon You.

SB 12.8.43 - My dear Lord, even Lord Brahmā, who enjoys his exalted position for the entire duration of the universe, fears the passage of time. Then what to speak of those whom Brahmā creates, the conditioned souls. They encounter fearful dangers at every step of their lives. I do not know of any relief from this fear except shelter at Your lotus feet, which are the very form of liberation.

SB 12.8.44 - Therefore I worship Your lotus feet, having renounced my identification with the material body and everything else that covers my true self. These useless, insubstantial and temporary coverings are merely presumed to be separate from You, whose intelligence encompasses all truth. By attaining You-the Supreme Godhead and the master of the soul-one attains everything desirable.

SB 12.8.45 - O my Lord, O supreme friend of the conditioned soul, although for the creation, maintenance and annihilation of this world You accept the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance, which constitute Your illusory potency, You specifically employ the mode of goodness to liberate the conditioned souls. The other two modes simply bring them suffering, illusion and fear.

SB 12.8.46 - O Lord, because fearlessness, spiritual happiness and the kingdom of God are all achieved through the mode of pure goodness, Your devotees consider this mode, but never passion and ignorance, to be a direct manifestation of You, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Intelligent persons thus worship Your beloved transcendental form, composed of pure goodness, along with the spiritual forms of Your pure devotees.

SB 12.8.47 - I offer my humble obeisances to Him, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. He is the all-pervading and all-inclusive form of the universe, as well as its spiritual master. I bow down to Lord Nārāyaṇa, the supremely worshipable Deity appearing as a sage, and also to the saintly Nara, the best of human beings, who is fixed in perfect goodness, fully in control of his speech, and the propagator of the Vedic literatures.

SB 12.8.48 - A materialist, his intelligence perverted by the action of his deceptive senses, cannot recognize You at all, although You are always present within his own senses and heart and also among the objects of his perception. Yet even though one's understanding has been covered by Your illusory potency, if one obtains Vedic knowledge from You, the supreme spiritual master of all, he can directly understand You.

SB 12.8.49 - My dear Lord, the Vedic literatures alone reveal confidential knowledge of Your supreme personality, and thus even such great scholars as Lord Brahmā himself are bewildered in their attempt to understand You through empirical methods. Each philosopher understands You according to his particular speculative conclusions. I worship that Supreme Person, knowledge of whom is hidden by the bodily designations covering the conditioned soul's spiritual identity.

113 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.8.1 - Çré Çaunaka said: O Sūta, may you live a long life! O saintly one, best of speakers, please continue speaking to us. Indeed, only you can show men the path out of the ignorance in which they are wandering.

SB 12.8.2-5 - Authorities say that Märkaëdeya Āñi, the son of Mākaëòu, was an exceptionally long-lived sage who was the only survivor at the end of Brahmā's day, when the entire universe was merged in the flood of annihilation. But this same Märkaëdeya Āñi, the foremost descendant of Bhāgu, took birth in my own family during the current day of Brahmā, and we have not yet seen any total annihilation in this day of Brahmā. Also, it is well known that Märkaëdeya while wandering helplessly in the great ocean of annihilation, saw in those fearful waters a wonderful personality-an infant boy lying alone within the fold of a banyan leaf. O Sūta, I am most bewildered and curious about this great sage, Märkaëdeya Āñi. O great yogé, you are universally accepted as the authority on all the Puräëas. Therefore kindly dispel my confusion.

SB 12.8.6 - Sūta Gosvämé said: O great sage Çaunaka, your very question will help remove everyone's illusion, for it leads to the topics of Lord Nārāyaṇa, which cleanse away the contamination of this Kali age.

SB 12.8.7-11 - After being purified by his father's performance of the prescribed rituals leading to Mārkaṇḍeya's brahminical initiation, Mārkaṇḍeya studied the Vedic hymns and strictly observed the regulative principles. He became advanced in austerity and Vedic knowledge and remained a lifelong celibate. Appearing most peaceful with his matted hair and his clothing made of bark, he furthered his spiritual progress by carrying the mendicant's waterpot, staff, sacred thread, brahmachāra belt, black deerskin, lotus-seed prayer beads and bundles of kuṣa grass. At the sacred junctures of the day he regularly worshiped the Supreme Personality of Godhead in five forms-the sacrificial fire, the sun, his spiritual master, the brāhmaṇas and the Supersoul within his heart. Morning and evening he would go out begging, and upon returning he would present all the food he had collected to his spiritual master. Only when his spiritual master invited him would he silently take his one meal of the day; otherwise he would fast. Thus devoted to austerity and Vedic study, Mārkaṇḍeya Ārjuna worshiped the supreme master of the senses, the Personality of Godhead, for countless millions of years, and in this way he conquered unconquerable death.

SB 12.8.12 - Lord Brahmā, Bhāgu Muni, Lord Śiva, Prajāpati Dakṣa, the great sons of Brahmā, and many others among the human beings, demigods, forefathers and ghostly spirits-all were astonished by the achievement of Mārkaṇḍeya Ārjuna.

SB 12.8.13 - In this way the devotional mystic Mārkaṇḍeya maintained rigid celibacy through penance, study of the Vedas and self-discipline. With his mind thus free of all disturbances, he turned it inward and meditated on the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who lies beyond the material senses.

SB 12.8.14 - While the mystic sage thus concentrated his mind by powerful yoga practice, the tremendous period of six lifetimes of Manu passed by.

SB 12.8.15 - O brähmaëa, during the seventh reign of Manu, the current age, Lord Indra came to know of Märkaëðeya's austerities and became fearful of his growing mystic potency. Thus he tried to impede the sage's penance.

SB 12.8.16 - To ruin the sage's spiritual practice, Lord Indra sent Cupid, beautiful celestial singers, dancing girls, the season of spring and the sandalwood-scented breeze from the Malaya Hills, along with greed and intoxication personified.

SB 12.8.17 - O most powerful Çaunaka, they went to Märkaëðeya's hermitage, on the northern side of the Himälaya Mountains where the Puñpabhadrä River passes by the famous peak Citrä.

SB 12.8.18-20 - Groves of pious trees decorated the holy āçrama of Märkaëðeya Āñi, and many saintly brähmaëas lived there, enjoying the abundant pure, sacred ponds. The āçrama resounded with the buzzing of intoxicated bees and the cooing of excited cuckoos, while jubilant peacocks danced about. Indeed, many families of maddened birds crowded that hermitage. The springtime breeze sent by Lord Indra entered there, carrying cooling drops of spray from nearby waterfalls. Fragrant from the embrace of forest flowers, that breeze entered the hermitage and began evoking the lusty spirit of Cupid.

SB 12.8.21 - Springtime then appeared in Märkaëðeya's āçrama. Indeed, the evening sky, glowing with the light of the rising moon, became the very face of spring, and sprouts and fresh blossoms virtually covered the multitude of trees and creepers.

SB 12.8.22 - Cupid, the master of many heavenly women, then came there holding his bow and arrows. He was followed by groups of Gandharvas playing musical instruments and singing.

SB 12.8.23 - These servants of Indra found the sage sitting in meditation, having just offered his prescribed oblations into the sacrificial fire. His eyes closed in trance, he seemed invincible, like fire personified.

SB 12.8.24 - The women danced before the sage, and the celestial singers sang to the charming accompaniment of drums, cymbals and véeäs.

SB 12.8.25 - While the son of passion [greed personified], spring and the other servants of Indra all tried to agitate Märkaëðeya's mind, Cupid drew his five-headed arrow and fixed it upon his bow.

SB 12.8.26-27 - The Apsarä Puī jikasthalé made a show of playing with a number of toy balls. Her waist seemed weighed down by her heavy breasts, and the wreath of flowers in her hair became disheveled. As she ran about after the balls, glancing here and there, the belt of her thin garment loosened, and suddenly the wind blew her clothes away.

SB 12.8.28 - Cupid, thinking he had conquered the sage, then shot his arrow. But all these attempts to seduce Märkaëðeya proved futile, just like the useless endeavors of an atheist.

SB 12.8.29 - O learned Çaunaka, while Cupid and his followers tried to harm the sage, they felt themselves being burned alive by his potency. Thus they stopped their mischief, just like children who have aroused a sleeping snake.

SB 12.8.30 - O brähmaëa, the followers of Lord Indra had impudently attacked the saintly Märkaëöeya, yet he did not succumb to any influence of false ego. For great souls such tolerance is not at all surprising.

SB 12.8.31 - The mighty King Indra was most astonished when he heard of the mystic prowess of the exalted sage Märkaëöeya and saw how Cupid and his associates had become powerless in his presence.

SB 12.8.32 - Desiring to bestow His mercy upon the saintly Märkaëöeya, who had perfectly fixed his mind in self-realization through penance, Vedic study and observance of regulative principles, the Supreme Personality of Godhead personally appeared before the sage in the forms of Nara and Näräyaëa.

SB 12.8.33-34 - One of Them was of a whitish complexion, the other blackish, and They both had four arms. Their eyes resembled the petals of blooming lotuses, and They wore garments of black deerskin and bark, along with the three-stranded sacred thread. In Their hands, which were most purifying, They carried the mendicant's waterpot, straight bamboo staff and lotus-seed prayer beads, as well as the all-purifying Vedas in the symbolic form of bundles of darbha grass. Their bearing was tall and Their yellow effulgence the color of radiant lightning. Appearing as austerity personified, They were being worshiped by the foremost demigods.

SB 12.8.35 - These two sages, Nara and Näräyaëa, were the direct personal forms of the Supreme Lord. When Märkaëöeya Āñi saw Them, he immediately stood up and then with great respect offered Them obeisances by falling down flat on the ground like a stick.

SB 12.8.36 - The ecstasy of seeing Them completely satisfied Märkaëöeya's body, mind and senses and caused the hairs on his body to stand on end and his eyes to fill with tears. Overwhelmed, Märkaëöeya found it difficult to look at Them.

SB 12.8.37 - Standing with his hands folded in supplication and his head bowed in humility, Märkaëðeya felt such eagerness that he imagined he was embracing the two Lords. In a voice choked with ecstasy, he repeatedly said, "I offer You my humble obeisances."

SB 12.8.38 - He gave Them sitting places and washed Their feet, and then he worshiped Them with presentations of arghya, sandalwood pulp, fragrant oils, incense and flower garlands.

SB 12.8.39 - Märkaëðeya Āñi once again bowed down at the lotus feet of those two most worshipable sages, who were sitting at ease, ready to bestow all mercy upon him. He then addressed Them as follows.

SB 12.8.40 - Çré Märkaëðeya said: O Almighty Lord, how can I possibly describe You? You awaken the vital air, which then impels the mind, senses and power of speech to act. This is true for all ordinary conditioned souls and even for great demigods like Brahmā and Çiva. So it is certainly true for me. Nevertheless, You become the intimate friend of those who worship You.

SB 12.8.41 - O Supreme Personality of Godhead, these two personal forms of Yours have appeared to bestow the ultimate benefit for the three worlds-the cessation of material misery and the conquest of death. My Lord, although You create this universe and then assume many transcendental forms to protect it, You also swallow it up, just like a spider who spins and later withdraws its web.

SB 12.8.42 - Because You are the protector and the supreme controller of all moving and nonmoving beings, anyone who takes shelter of Your lotus feet can never be touched by the contamination of material work, material qualities or time. Great sages who have assimilated the essential meaning of the Vedañ offer their prayers to You. To gain Your association, they bow down to You at every opportunity and constantly worship You and meditate upon You.

SB 12.8.43 - My dear Lord, even Lord Brahmä, who enjoys his exalted position for the entire duration of the universe, fears the passage of time. Then what to speak of those whom Brahmä creates, the conditioned souls. They encounter fearful dangers at every step of their lives. I do not know of any relief from this fear except shelter at Your lotus feet, which are the very form of liberation.

SB 12.8.44 - Therefore I worship Your lotus feet, having renounced my identification with the material body and everything else that covers my true self. These useless, insubstantial and temporary coverings are merely presumed to be separate from You, whose intelligence encompasses all truth. By attaining You-the Supreme Godhead and the master of the soul-one attains everything desirable.

SB 12.8.45 - O my Lord, O supreme friend of the conditioned soul, although for the creation, maintenance and annihilation of this world You accept the modes of goodness, passion and ignorance, which constitute Your illusory potency, You specifically employ the mode of goodness to liberate the conditioned souls. The other two modes simply bring them suffering, illusion and fear.

SB 12.8.46 - O Lord, because fearlessness, spiritual happiness and the kingdom of God are all achieved through the mode of pure goodness, Your devotees consider this mode, but never passion and ignorance, to be a direct manifestation of You, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. Intelligent persons thus worship Your beloved transcendental form, composed of pure goodness, along with the spiritual forms of Your pure devotees.

SB 12.8.47 - I offer my humble obeisances to Him, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. He is the all-pervading and all-inclusive form of the universe, as well as its spiritual master. I bow down to Lord Nārāyaëa, the supremely worshipable Deity appearing as a sage, and also to the saintly Nara, the best of human beings, who is fixed in perfect goodness, fully in control of his speech, and the propagator of the Vedic literatures.

SB 12.8.48 - A materialist, his intelligence perverted by the action of his deceptive senses, cannot recognize You at all, although You are always present within his own senses and heart and also among the objects of his perception. Yet even though one's understanding has been covered by Your illusory potency, if one obtains Vedic knowledge from You, the supreme spiritual master of all, he can directly understand You.

SB 12.8.49 - My dear Lord, the Vedic literatures alone reveal confidential knowledge of Your supreme personality, and thus even such great scholars as Lord Brahmä himself are bewildered in their attempt to understand You through empirical methods. Each philosopher understands You according to his particular speculative conclusions. I worship that Supreme Person, knowledge of whom is hidden by the bodily designations covering the conditioned soul's spiritual identity.

114 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.9.1 - Sūta Gosvämé said: The Supreme Lord Nārāyaëa, the friend of Nara, was satisfied by the proper glorification offered by the intelligent sage Märkaëöeya. Thus the Lord addressed that excellent descendant of Bhāgu.

SB 12.9.2 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Märkaëöeya, you are indeed the best of all learned brähmaëas. You have perfected your life by practicing fixed meditation upon the Supreme Soul, as well as by focusing upon Me your undeviating devotional service, your austerities, your study of the Vedas and your strict adherence to regulative principles.

SB 12.9.3 - We are perfectly satisfied with your practice of lifelong celibacy. Please choose whatever benediction you desire, since I can grant your wish. May you enjoy all good fortune.

SB 12.9.4 - The sage said: O Lord of lords, all glories to You! O Lord Acyuta, You remove all distress for the devotees who surrender unto You. That you have allowed me to see You is all the benediction I want.

SB 12.9.5 - Such demigods as Lord Brahmā achieved their exalted positions simply by seeing Your beautiful lotus feet after their minds had become mature in yoga practice. And now, my Lord, You have personally appeared before me.

SB 12.9.6 - O lotus-eyed Lord, O crest jewel of renowned personalities, although I am satisfied simply by seeing You, I do wish to see Your illusory potency, by whose influence the entire world, together with its ruling demigods, considers reality to be materially variegated.

SB 12.9.7 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: O wise Çaunaka, thus satisfied by Mārkaëðeya's praise and worship, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, smiling, replied, "So be it," and then departed for His hermitage at Badarikāçrama.

SB 12.9.8-9 - Thinking always of his desire to see the Lord's illusory energy, the sage remained in his āçrama, meditating constantly upon the Lord within fire, the sun, the moon, water, the earth, air, lightning and his own heart and worshipping Him with paraphernalia conceived in his mind. But sometimes, overwhelmed by waves of love for the Lord, Mārkaëðeya would forget to perform his regular worship.

SB 12.9.10 - O brähmaëa Çaunaka, best of the Bhågus, one day while Märkaëðeya was performing his evening worship on the bank of the Puñpabhadrä, a great wind suddenly arose.

SB 12.9.11 - That wind created a terrible sound and brought in its wake fearsome clouds that were accompanied by lightning and roaring thunder and that poured down on all sides torrents of rain as heavy as wagon wheels.

SB 12.9.12 - Then the four great oceans appeared on all sides, swallowing up the surface of the earth with their wind-tossed waves. In these oceans were terrible sea monsters, fearful whirlpools and ominous rumblings.

SB 12.9.13 - The sage saw all the inhabitants of the universe, including himself, tormented within and without by the harsh winds, the bolts of lightning, and the great waves rising beyond the sky. As the whole earth flooded, he grew perplexed and fearful.

SB 12.9.14 - Even as Märkaëðeya looked on, the rain pouring down from the clouds filled the ocean more and more until that great sea, its waters violently whipped into terrifying waves by hurricanes, covered up all the earth's islands, mountains and continents.

SB 12.9.15 - The water inundated the earth, outer space, heaven and the celestial region. Indeed, the entire expanse of the universe was flooded in all directions, and out of all its inhabitants only Märkaëðeya remained. His matted hair scattered, the great sage wandered about alone in the water as if dumb and blind.

SB 12.9.16 - Tormented by hunger and thirst, attacked by monstrous makaras and timiṁ gila fish and battered by the wind and waves, he moved aimlessly through the infinite darkness into which he had fallen. As he grew increasingly exhausted, he lost all sense of direction and could not tell the sky from the earth.

SB 12.9.17-18 - At times he was engulfed by the great whirlpools, sometimes he was beaten by the mighty waves, and at other times the aquatic monsters threatened to devour him as they attacked one another. Sometimes he felt lamentation, bewilderment, misery, happiness or fear, and at other times he experienced such terrible illness and pain that he felt himself dying.

SB 12.9.19 - Countless millions of years passed as Märkaëðeya wandered about in that deluge, his mind bewildered by the illusory energy of Lord Viñëu, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.9.20 - Once, while wandering in the water, the brähmaëa Märkaëðeya discovered a small island, upon which stood a young banyan tree bearing blossoms and fruits.

SB 12.9.21 - Upon a branch of the northeast portion of that tree he saw an infant boy lying within a leaf. The child's effulgence was swallowing up the darkness.

SB 12.9.22-25 - The infant's dark-blue complexion was the color of a flawless emerald, His lotus face shone with a wealth of beauty, and His throat bore marks like the lines on a conchshell. He had a broad chest, a finely shaped nose, beautiful eyebrows, and lovely ears that resembled pomegranate flowers and that had inner folds like a conchshell's spirals. The corners of His eyes were reddish like the whorl of a lotus, and the effulgence of His coral-like lips slightly reddened the nectarean, enchanting smile on His face. As He breathed, His splendid hair trembled and His deep navel became distorted by the moving folds of skin on His abdomen, which resembled a banyan leaf. The exalted brāhmaëa watched with amazement as the infant took hold of one of His lotus feet with His graceful fingers, placed a toe within His mouth and began to suck.

SB 12.9.26 - As Märkaëöeya beheld the child, all his weariness vanished. Indeed, so great was his pleasure that the lotus of his heart, along with his lotus eyes, fully blossomed and the hairs on his body stood on end. Confused as to the identity of the wonderful infant, the sage approached Him.

SB 12.9.27 - Just then the child inhaled, drawing Märkaëöeya within His body like a mosquito. There the sage found the entire universe arrayed as it had been before its dissolution. Seeing this, Märkaëöeya was most astonished and perplexed.

SB 12.9.28-29 - The sage saw the entire universe: the sky, heavens and earth, the stars, mountains, oceans, great islands and continents, the expanses in every direction, the saintly and demoniac living beings, the forests, countries, rivers, cities and mines, the agricultural villages and cow pastures, and the occupational and spiritual activities of the various social divisions. He also saw the basic elements of creation along with all their by-products, as well as time itself, which regulates the progression of countless ages within the days of Brahmā. In addition, he saw everything else created for use in material life. All this he saw manifested before him as if it were real.

SB 12.9.30 - He saw before him the Himālaya Mountains, the Puñpabhadra River, and his own hermitage, where he had had the audience of the sages Nara-Nārāyaëa. Then, as Märkaëöeya beheld the entire universe, the infant exhaled, expelling the sage from His body and casting him back into the ocean of dissolution.

SB 12.9.31-32 - In that vast sea he again saw the banyan tree growing on the tiny island and the infant boy lying within the leaf. The child glanced at him from the corner of His eyes with a smile imbued with the nectar of love, and Märkaëðeya took Him into his heart through his eyes. Greatly agitated, the sage ran to embrace the transcendental Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.9.33 - At that moment the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the original master of all mysticism and who is hidden within everyone's heart, became invisible to the sage, just as the achievements of an incompetent person can suddenly vanish.

SB 12.9.34 - After the Lord disappeared, O brähmaëa, the banyan tree, the great water and the dissolution of the universe all vanished as well, and in an instant Märkaëðeya found himself back in his own hermitage, just as before.

115 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.9.1 - Sūta Gosvämé said: The Supreme Lord Näräyaëa, the friend of Nara, was satisfied by the proper glorification offered by the intelligent sage Märkaëðeya. Thus the Lord addressed that excellent descendant of Bhāgu.

SB 12.9.2 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead said: My dear Märkaëðeya, you are indeed the best of all learned brähmaëas. You have perfected your life by practicing fixed meditation upon the Supreme Soul, as well as by focusing upon Me your undeviating devotional service, your austerities, your study of the Vedas and your strict adherence to regulative principles.

SB 12.9.3 - We are perfectly satisfied with your practice of lifelong celibacy. Please choose whatever benediction you desire, since I can grant your wish. May you enjoy all good fortune.

SB 12.9.4 - The sage said: O Lord of lords, all glories to You! O Lord Acyuta, You remove all distress for the devotees who surrender unto You.

That you have allowed me to see You is all the benediction I want.

SB 12.9.5 - Such demigods as Lord Brahmā achieved their exalted positions simply by seeing Your beautiful lotus feet after their minds had become mature in yoga practice. And now, my Lord, You have personally appeared before me.

SB 12.9.6 - O lotus-eyed Lord, O crest jewel of renowned personalities, although I am satisfied simply by seeing You, I do wish to see Your illusory potency, by whose influence the entire world, together with its ruling demigods, considers reality to be materially variegated.

SB 12.9.7 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: O wise Çaunaka, thus satisfied by Mārkaëðeya's praise and worship, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, smiling, replied, "So be it," and then departed for His hermitage at Badarikāçrama.

SB 12.9.8-9 - Thinking always of his desire to see the Lord's illusory energy, the sage remained in his āçrama, meditating constantly upon the Lord within fire, the sun, the moon, water, the earth, air, lightning and his own heart and worshiping Him with paraphernalia conceived in his mind. But sometimes, overwhelmed by waves of love for the Lord, Mārkaëðeya would forget to perform his regular worship.

SB 12.9.10 - O brähmaëa Çaunaka, best of the Bhāgus, one day while Mārkaëðeya was performing his evening worship on the bank of the Puñpabhadrä, a great wind suddenly arose.

SB 12.9.11 - That wind created a terrible sound and brought in its wake fearsome clouds that were accompanied by lightning and roaring thunder and that poured down on all sides torrents of rain as heavy as wagon wheels.

SB 12.9.12 - Then the four great oceans appeared on all sides, swallowing up the surface of the earth with their wind-tossed waves. In these oceans were terrible sea monsters, fearful whirlpools and ominous rumblings.

SB 12.9.13 - The sage saw all the inhabitants of the universe, including himself, tormented within and without by the harsh winds, the bolts of lightning, and the great waves rising beyond the sky. As the whole earth flooded, he grew perplexed and fearful.

SB 12.9.14 - Even as Märkaëðeya looked on, the rain pouring down from the clouds filled the ocean more and more until that great sea, its waters violently whipped into terrifying waves by hurricanes, covered up all the earth's islands, mountains and continents.

SB 12.9.15 - The water inundated the earth, outer space, heaven and the celestial region. Indeed, the entire expanse of the universe was flooded in all directions, and out of all its inhabitants only Märkaëðeya remained. His matted hair scattered, the great sage wandered about alone in the water as if dumb and blind.

SB 12.9.16 - Tormented by hunger and thirst, attacked by monstrous makaras and timiṃ gila fish and battered by the wind and waves, he moved aimlessly through the infinite darkness into which he had fallen. As he grew increasingly exhausted, he lost all sense of direction and could not tell the sky from the earth.

SB 12.9.17-18 - At times he was engulfed by the great whirlpools, sometimes he was beaten by the mighty waves, and at other times the aquatic monsters threatened to devour him as they attacked one another. Sometimes he felt lamentation, bewilderment, misery, happiness or fear, and at other times he experienced such terrible illness and pain that he felt himself dying.

SB 12.9.19 - Countless millions of years passed as Märkaëöeya wandered about in that deluge, his mind bewildered by the illusory energy of Lord Viñëu, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.9.20 - Once, while wandering in the water, the brähmaëa Märkaëöeya discovered a small island, upon which stood a young banyan tree bearing blossoms and fruits.

SB 12.9.21 - Upon a branch of the northeast portion of that tree he saw an infant boy lying within a leaf. The child's effulgence was swallowing up the darkness.

SB 12.9.22-25 - The infant's dark-blue complexion was the color of a flawless emerald, His lotus face shone with a wealth of beauty, and His throat bore marks like the lines on a conchshell. He had a broad chest, a finely shaped nose, beautiful eyebrows, and lovely ears that resembled pomegranate flowers and that had inner folds like a conchshell's spirals. The corners of His eyes were reddish like the whorl of a lotus, and the effulgence of His coral-like lips slightly reddened the nectarean, enchanting smile on His face. As He breathed, His splendid hair trembled and His deep navel became distorted by the moving folds of skin on His abdomen, which resembled a banyan leaf. The exalted brähmaëa watched with amazement as the infant took hold of one of His lotus feet with His graceful fingers, placed a toe within His mouth and began to suck.

SB 12.9.26 - As Märkaëöeya beheld the child, all his weariness vanished. Indeed, so great was his pleasure that the lotus of his heart, along with his lotus eyes, fully blossomed and the hairs on his body stood on end. Confused as to the identity of the wonderful infant, the sage approached Him.

SB 12.9.27 - Just then the child inhaled, drawing Märkaëöeya within His body like a mosquito. There the sage found the entire universe arrayed as it had been before its dissolution. Seeing this, Märkaëöeya was most astonished and perplexed.

SB 12.9.28-29 - The sage saw the entire universe: the sky, heavens and earth, the stars, mountains, oceans, great islands and continents, the expanses in every direction, the saintly and demoniac living beings, the forests, countries, rivers, cities and mines, the agricultural villages and cow pastures, and the occupational and spiritual activities of the various social divisions. He also saw the basic elements of creation along with all their by-products, as well as time itself, which regulates the progression of countless ages within the days of Brahmä. In addition, he saw everything else created for use in material life. All this he saw manifested before him as if it were real.

SB 12.9.30 - He saw before him the Himälaya Mountains, the Puñpabhadrä River, and his own hermitage, where he had had the audience of the sages Nara-Näräyaëa. Then, as Märkaëöeya beheld the entire universe, the infant exhaled, expelling the sage from His body and casting him back into the ocean of dissolution.

SB 12.9.31-32 - In that vast sea he again saw the banyan tree growing on the tiny island and the infant boy lying within the leaf. The child glanced at him from the corner of His eyes with a smile imbued with the nectar of love, and Märkaëöeya took Him into his heart through his eyes. Greatly agitated, the sage ran to embrace the transcendental Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.9.33 - At that moment the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the original master of all mysticism and who is hidden within everyone's heart, became invisible to the sage, just as the achievements of an incompetent person can suddenly vanish.

SB 12.9.34 - After the Lord disappeared, O brähmaëa, the banyan tree, the great water and the dissolution of the universe all vanished as well, and in an instant Märkaëöeya found himself back in his own hermitage, just as before.

116 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.10.1 - Sūta Gosvämé said: The Supreme Lord Nārāyaëa had arranged this opulent display of His bewildering potency. Märkaëöeya Āñi, having experienced it, took shelter of the Lord.

SB 12.10.2 - Çré Märkaëöeya said: O Lord Hari, I take shelter of the soles of Your lotus feet, which bestow fearlessness upon all who surrender to them. Even the great demigods are bewildered by Your illusory energy, which appears to them in the guise of knowledge.

SB 12.10.3 - Sūta Gosvämé said: Lord Rudra, traveling in the sky on his bull and accompanied by his consort, Rudrääé, as well as his personal associates, observed Märkaëöeya in trance.

SB 12.10.4 - Goddess Umä, seeing the sage, addressed Lord Giriça: My lord, just see this learned brähmaëa, his body, mind and senses motionless in trance.

SB 12.10.5 - He is as calm as the waters of the ocean when the wind has ceased and the fish remain still. Therefore, my lord, since you bestow perfection on the performers of austerity, please award this sage the perfection that is obviously due him.

SB 12.10.6 - Lord Çiva replied: Surely this saintly brähmaëa does not desire any benediction, not even liberation itself, for he has attained pure devotional service unto the inexhaustible Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.10.7 - Still, my dear Bhavānē, let us talk with this saintly personality. After all, association with saintly devotees is man's highest achievement.

SB 12.10.8 - Sūta Gosvāmē said: Having spoken thus, Lord Çaṁkara-the shelter of pure souls, master of all spiritual sciences and controller of all embodied living beings-approached the sage.

SB 12.10.9 - Because Mārkaṇḍeya's material mind had stopped functioning, the sage failed to notice that Lord Çiva and his wife, the controllers of the universe, had personally come to see him. Mārkaṇḍeya was so absorbed in meditation that he was unaware of either himself or the external world.

SB 12.10.10 - Understanding the situation very well, the powerful Lord Çiva employed his mystic power to enter within the sky of Mārkaṇḍeya's heart, just as the wind passes through an opening.

SB 12.10.11-13 - Çré Mārkaṇḍeya saw Lord Çiva suddenly appear within his heart. Lord Çiva's golden hair resembled lightning, and he had three eyes, ten arms and a tall body that shone like the rising sun. He wore a tiger skin, and he carried a trident, a bow, arrows, a sword and a shield, along with prayer beads, a ḍamaru drum, a skull and an ax. Astonished, the sage came out of his trance and thought, "Who is this, and where has he come from?"

SB 12.10.14 - Opening his eyes, the sage saw Lord Rudra, the spiritual master of the three worlds, together with Umā and Rudra's followers. Mārkaṇḍeya then offered his respectful obeisances by bowing his head.

SB 12.10.15 - Mārkaṇḍeya worshiped Lord Çiva, along with Umā and Çiva's associates, by offering them words of welcome, sitting places, water for washing their feet, scented drinking water, fragrant oils, flower garlands and ārati lamps.

SB 12.10.16 - Mārkaëðeya said: O mighty lord, what can I possibly do for you, who are fully satisfied by your own ecstasy? Indeed, by your mercy you satisfy this entire world.

SB 12.10.17 - Again and again I offer my obeisances unto you, O all-auspicious transcendental personality. As the lord of goodness you give pleasure, in contact with the mode of passion you appear most fearful, and you also associate with the mode of ignorance.

SB 12.10.18 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Lord Çiva, the foremost demigod and the shelter of the saintly devotees, was satisfied by Mārkaëðeya's praise. Pleased, he smiled and addressed the sage.

SB 12.10.19 - Lord Çiva said: Please ask me for some benediction, since among all givers of benedictions, we three-Brahmā, Viñëu and I-are the best. Seeing us never goes in vain, because simply by seeing us a mortal achieves immortality.

SB 12.10.20-21 - The inhabitants and ruling demigods of all planets, along with Lord Brahmā, the Supreme Lord Hari and I, glorify, worship and assist those brähmaëas who are saintly, always peaceful, free of material attachment, compassionate to all living beings, purely devoted to us, devoid of hatred and endowed with equal vision.

SB 12.10.22 - These devotees do not differentiate between Lord Viñëu, Lord Brahmā and me, nor do they differentiate between themselves and other living beings. Therefore, because you are this kind of saintly devotee, we worship you.

SB 12.10.23 - Mere bodies of water do not constitute holy places, nor are lifeless statues of the demigods actual worshipable deities. Because external vision fails to appreciate the higher essence of the holy rivers and the demigods, these purify only after a considerable time. But devotees like you purify immediately, just by being seen.

SB 12.10.24 - By meditating upon the Supreme Soul, performing austerities, engaging in Vedic study and following regulative principles, the brāhmaëas sustain within themselves the three Vedas, which are nondifferent from Lord Viñëu, Lord Brahmä and me. Therefore I offer my obeisances unto the brāhmaëas.

SB 12.10.25 - Even the worst sinners and social outcastes are purified just by hearing about or seeing personalities like you. Imagine, then, how purified they become by directly speaking with you.

SB 12.10.26 - Sūta Gosvämé said: Drinking with his ears Lord Çiva's nectarean words, full of the confidential essence of religion, Märkaëöeya Āñi could not be satiated.

SB 12.10.27 - Märkaëöeya, having been forced by Lord Viñëu's illusory energy to wander about for a long time in the water of dissolution, had become extremely exhausted. But Lord Çiva's words of nectar vanquished his accumulated suffering. Thus he addressed Lord Çiva.

SB 12.10.28 - Çré Märkaëöeya said: It is indeed most difficult for embodied souls to understand the pastimes of the universal controllers, for such lords bow down to and offer praise to the very living beings they rule.

SB 12.10.29 - Generally it is to induce embodied souls to accept religious principles that the authorized teachers of religion exhibit ideal behavior while encouraging and praising the proper behavior of others.

SB 12.10.30 - This apparent humility is simply a show of mercy. Such behavior of the Supreme Lord and His personal associates, which the Lord effects by His own bewildering potency, does not spoil His power any more than a magician's powers are diminished by his exhibition of tricks.

SB 12.10.31-32 - I offer my obeisances to that Supreme Personality of Godhead, who has created this entire universe simply by His desire and then entered into it as the Supersoul. By making the modes of nature act, He seems to be the direct creator of this world, just as a dreamer seems to be acting within his dream. He is the owner and ultimate controller of the three modes of nature, yet He remains alone and pure, without any equal. He is the supreme spiritual master of all, the original personal form of the Absolute Truth.

SB 12.10.33 - O all-pervading lord, since I have received the benediction of seeing you, what other benediction can I ask for? Simply by seeing you, a person fulfills all his desires and can achieve anything imaginable.

SB 12.10.34 - But I do request one benediction from you, who are full of all perfection and able to shower down the fulfillment of all desires. I ask to have unfailing devotion for the Supreme Personality of Godhead and for His dedicated devotees, especially you.

SB 12.10.35 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Thus worshiped and glorified by the eloquent statements of the sage Mārkaṇḍeya, Lord Çarva [Çiva], encouraged by his consort, replied to him as follows.

SB 12.10.36 - O great sage, because you are devoted to Lord Adhokñaja, all your desires will be fulfilled. Until the very end of this creation cycle, you will enjoy pious fame and freedom from old age and death.

SB 12.10.37 - O brähmaëa, may you have perfect knowledge of past, present and future, along with transcendental realization of the Supreme, enriched by renunciation. You have the brilliance of an ideal brähmaëa, and thus may you achieve the post of spiritual master of the Puräëas.

SB 12.10.38 - Sūta Gosvämé said: Having thus granted Märkaëöeya Āñi benedictions, Lord Çiva went on his way, continuing to describe to goddess Devé the accomplishments of the sage and the direct exhibition of the Lord's illusory power that he had experienced.

SB 12.10.39 - Märkaëöeya Āñi, the best of the descendants of Bhāgu, is glorious because of his achievement of perfection in mystic yoga. Even today he travels about this world, fully absorbed in unalloyed devotion for the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.10.40 - I have thus narrated to you the activities of the highly intelligent sage Märkaëöeya, especially how he experienced the amazing power of the Supreme Lord's illusory energy.

SB 12.10.41 - Although this event was unique and unprecedented, some unintelligent persons compare it to the cycle of illusory material existence the Supreme Lord has created for the conditioned souls-an endless cycle that has been continuing since time immemorial.

SB 12.10.42 - O best of the Bhāgus, this account concerning Märkaëöeya Āñi conveys the transcendental potency of the Supreme Lord. Anyone who properly narrates or hears it will never again undergo material existence, which is based on the desire to perform fruitive activities.

117 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.10.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: The Supreme Lord Nārāyaëa had arranged this opulent display of His bewildering potency. Märkaëöeya Āñi, having experienced it, took shelter of the Lord.

SB 12.10.2 - Çré Märkaëöeya said: O Lord Hari, I take shelter of the soles of Your lotus feet, which bestow fearlessness upon all who surrender to them. Even the great demigods are bewildered by Your illusory energy, which appears to them in the guise of knowledge.

SB 12.10.3 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Lord Rudra, traveling in the sky on his bull and accompanied by his consort, Rudrääé, as well as his personal associates, observed Märkaëöeya in trance.

SB 12.10.4 - Goddess Umä, seeing the sage, addressed Lord Giriça: My lord, just see this learned brähmaëa, his body, mind and senses motionless in trance.

SB 12.10.5 - He is as calm as the waters of the ocean when the wind has ceased and the fish remain still. Therefore, my lord, since you bestow perfection on the performers of austerity, please award this sage the perfection that is obviously due him.

SB 12.10.6 - Lord Çiva replied: Surely this saintly brähmaëa does not desire any benediction, not even liberation itself, for he has attained pure devotional service unto the inexhaustible Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.10.7 - Still, my dear Bhaväné, let us talk with this saintly personality. After all, association with saintly devotees is man's highest achievement.

SB 12.10.8 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Having spoken thus, Lord Çai kara-the shelter of pure souls, master of all spiritual sciences and controller of all embodied living beings-approached the sage.

SB 12.10.9 - Because Märkaëðeya's material mind had stopped functioning, the sage failed to notice that Lord Çiva and his wife, the controllers of the universe, had personally come to see him. Märkaëðeya was so absorbed in meditation that he was unaware of either himself or the external world.

SB 12.10.10 - Understanding the situation very well, the powerful Lord Çiva employed his mystic power to enter within the sky of Märkaëðeya's heart, just as the wind passes through an opening.

SB 12.10.11-13 - Çré Märkaëðeya saw Lord Çiva suddenly appear within his heart. Lord Çiva's golden hair resembled lightning, and he had three eyes, ten arms and a tall body that shone like the rising sun. He wore a tiger skin, and he carried a trident, a bow, arrows, a sword and a shield, along with prayer beads, a òamaru drum, a skull and an ax. Astonished, the sage came out of his trance and thought, "Who is this, and where has he come from?"

SB 12.10.14 - Opening his eyes, the sage saw Lord Rudra, the spiritual master of the three worlds, together with Umä and Rudra's followers. Märkaëðeya then offered his respectful obeisances by bowing his head.

SB 12.10.15 - Märkaëðeya worshiped Lord Çiva, along with Umä and Çiva's associates, by offering them words of welcome, sitting places, water for washing their feet, scented drinking water, fragrant oils, flower garlands and ära^{ti} lamps.

SB 12.10.16 - Mārkaëðeya said: O mighty lord, what can I possibly do for you, who are fully satisfied by your own ecstasy? Indeed, by your mercy you satisfy this entire world.

SB 12.10.17 - Again and again I offer my obeisances unto you, O all-auspicious transcendental personality. As the lord of goodness you give pleasure, in contact with the mode of passion you appear most fearful, and you also associate with the mode of ignorance.

SB 12.10.18 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Lord Çiva, the foremost demigod and the shelter of the saintly devotees, was satisfied by Mārkaëðeya's praise. Pleased, he smiled and addressed the sage.

SB 12.10.19 - Lord Çiva said: Please ask me for some benediction, since among all givers of benedictions, we three-Brahmā, Viññeu and I-are the best. Seeing us never goes in vain, because simply by seeing us a mortal achieves immortality.

SB 12.10.20-21 - The inhabitants and ruling demigods of all planets, along with Lord Brahmā, the Supreme Lord Hari and I, glorify, worship and assist those brāhmaëas who are saintly, always peaceful, free of material attachment, compassionate to all living beings, purely devoted to us, devoid of hatred and endowed with equal vision.

SB 12.10.22 - These devotees do not differentiate between Lord Viññeu, Lord Brahmā and me, nor do they differentiate between themselves and other living beings. Therefore, because you are this kind of saintly devotee, we worship you.

SB 12.10.23 - Mere bodies of water do not constitute holy places, nor are lifeless statues of the demigods actual worshipable deities. Because external vision fails to appreciate the higher essence of the holy rivers and the demigods, these purify only after a considerable time. But devotees like you purify immediately, just by being seen.

SB 12.10.24 - By meditating upon the Supreme Soul, performing austerities, engaging in Vedic study and following regulative principles, the brähmaëas sustain within themselves the three Vedas, which are nondifferent from Lord Viñëu, Lord Brahmä and me. Therefore I offer my obeisances unto the brähmaëas.

SB 12.10.25 - Even the worst sinners and social outcastes are purified just by hearing about or seeing personalities like you. Imagine, then, how purified they become by directly speaking with you.

SB 12.10.26 - Sūta Gosvämé said: Drinking with his ears Lord Çiva's nectarean words, full of the confidential essence of religion, Märkaëöeya Āñi could not be satiated.

SB 12.10.27 - Märkaëöeya, having been forced by Lord Viñëu's illusory energy to wander about for a long time in the water of dissolution, had become extremely exhausted. But Lord Çiva's words of nectar vanquished his accumulated suffering. Thus he addressed Lord Çiva.

SB 12.10.28 - Çré Märkaëöeya said: It is indeed most difficult for embodied souls to understand the pastimes of the universal controllers, for such lords bow down to and offer praise to the very living beings they rule.

SB 12.10.29 - Generally it is to induce embodied souls to accept religious principles that the authorized teachers of religion exhibit ideal behavior while encouraging and praising the proper behavior of others.

SB 12.10.30 - This apparent humility is simply a show of mercy. Such behavior of the Supreme Lord and His personal associates, which the Lord effects by His own bewildering potency, does not spoil His power any more than a magician's powers are diminished by his exhibition of tricks.

SB 12.10.31-32 - I offer my obeisances to that Supreme Personality of Godhead, who has created this entire universe simply by His desire and then entered into it as the Supersoul. By making the modes of nature act, He seems to be the direct creator of this world, just as a dreamer seems to be acting within his dream. He is the owner and ultimate controller of the three modes of nature, yet He remains alone and pure, without any equal. He is the supreme spiritual master of all, the original personal form of the Absolute Truth.

SB 12.10.33 - O all-pervading lord, since I have received the benediction of seeing you, what other benediction can I ask for? Simply by seeing you, a person fulfills all his desires and can achieve anything imaginable.

SB 12.10.34 - But I do request one benediction from you, who are full of all perfection and able to shower down the fulfillment of all desires. I ask to have unfailing devotion for the Supreme Personality of Godhead and for His dedicated devotees, especially you.

SB 12.10.35 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Thus worshiped and glorified by the eloquent statements of the sage Mārkaṇḍeya, Lord Çarva [Çiva], encouraged by his consort, replied to him as follows.

SB 12.10.36 - O great sage, because you are devoted to Lord Adhokṣaja, all your desires will be fulfilled. Until the very end of this creation cycle, you will enjoy pious fame and freedom from old age and death.

SB 12.10.37 - O brāhmaëa, may you have perfect knowledge of past, present and future, along with transcendental realization of the Supreme, enriched by renunciation. You have the brilliance of an ideal brāhmaëa, and thus may you achieve the post of spiritual master of the Purāëas.

SB 12.10.38 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Having thus granted Märkaëöeya Āñi benedictions, Lord Çiva went on his way, continuing to describe to goddess Devé the accomplishments of the sage and the direct exhibition of the Lord's illusory power that he had experienced.

SB 12.10.39 - Märkaëöeya Āñi, the best of the descendants of Bhāgu, is glorious because of his achievement of perfection in mystic yoga. Even today he travels about this world, fully absorbed in unalloyed devotion for the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.10.40 - I have thus narrated to you the activities of the highly intelligent sage Märkaëöeya, especially how he experienced the amazing power of the Supreme Lord's illusory energy.

SB 12.10.41 - Although this event was unique and unprecedented, some unintelligent persons compare it to the cycle of illusory material existence the Supreme Lord has created for the conditioned souls-an endless cycle that has been continuing since time immemorial.

SB 12.10.42 - O best of the Bhāgus, this account concerning Märkaëöeya Āñi conveys the transcendental potency of the Supreme Lord. Anyone who properly narrates or hears it will never again undergo material existence, which is based on the desire to perform fruitive activities.

SB 12.10.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: The Supreme Lord Nārāyaëa had arranged this opulent display of His bewildering potency. Märkaëöeya Āñi, having experienced it, took shelter of the Lord.

SB 12.10.2 - Çré Märkaëöeya said: O Lord Hari, I take shelter of the soles of Your lotus feet, which bestow fearlessness upon all who surrender to them. Even the great demigods are bewildered by Your illusory energy, which appears to them in the guise of knowledge.

SB 12.10.3 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Lord Rudra, traveling in the sky on his bull and accompanied by his consort, Rudrääé, as well as his personal associates, observed Märkaëöeya in trance.

SB 12.10.4 - Goddess Umä, seeing the sage, addressed Lord Giriça: My lord, just see this learned brähmaëa, his body, mind and senses motionless in trance.

SB 12.10.5 - He is as calm as the waters of the ocean when the wind has ceased and the fish remain still. Therefore, my lord, since you bestow perfection on the performers of austerity, please award this sage the perfection that is obviously due him.

SB 12.10.6 - Lord Çiva replied: Surely this saintly brähmaëa does not desire any benediction, not even liberation itself, for he has attained pure devotional service unto the inexhaustible Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.10.7 - Still, my dear Bhaväné, let us talk with this saintly personality. After all, association with saintly devotees is man's highest achievement.

SB 12.10.8 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Having spoken thus, Lord Çai kara-the shelter of pure souls, master of all spiritual sciences and controller of all embodied living beings-approached the sage.

SB 12.10.9 - Because Märkaëðeya's material mind had stopped functioning, the sage failed to notice that Lord Çiva and his wife, the controllers of the universe, had personally come to see him. Märkaëðeya was so absorbed in meditation that he was unaware of either himself or the external world.

SB 12.10.10 - Understanding the situation very well, the powerful Lord Çiva employed his mystic power to enter within the sky of Märkaëðeya's heart, just as the wind passes through an opening.

SB 12.10.11-13 - Çré Märkaëðeya saw Lord Çiva suddenly appear within his heart. Lord Çiva's golden hair resembled lightning, and he had three eyes, ten arms and a tall body that shone like the rising sun. He wore a tiger skin, and he carried a trident, a bow, arrows, a sword and a shield, along with prayer beads, a òamaru drum, a skull and an ax. Astonished, the sage came out of his trance and thought, "Who is this, and where has he come from?"

SB 12.10.14 - Opening his eyes, the sage saw Lord Rudra, the spiritual master of the three worlds, together with Umä and Rudra's followers. Märkaëðeya then offered his respectful obeisances by bowing his head.

SB 12.10.15 - Märkaëðeya worshiped Lord Çiva, along with Umä and Çiva's associates, by offering them words of welcome, sitting places, water for washing their feet, scented drinking water, fragrant oils, flower garlands and äratl lamps.

SB 12.10.16 - Märkaëðeya said: O mighty lord, what can I possibly do for you, who are fully satisfied by your own ecstasy? Indeed, by your mercy you satisfy this entire world.

SB 12.10.17 - Again and again I offer my obeisances unto you, O all-auspicious transcendental personality. As the lord of goodness you give pleasure, in contact with the mode of passion you appear most fearful, and you also associate with the mode of ignorance.

SB 12.10.18 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Lord Çiva, the foremost demigod and the shelter of the saintly devotees, was satisfied by Märkaëðeya's praise. Pleased, he smiled and addressed the sage.

SB 12.10.19 - Lord Çiva said: Please ask me for some benediction, since among all givers of benedictions, we three-Brahmä, Viñëu and I-are the best. Seeing us never goes in vain, because simply by seeing us a mortal achieves immortality.

SB 12.10.20-21 - The inhabitants and ruling demigods of all planets, along with Lord Brahmä, the Supreme Lord Hari and I, glorify, worship and assist those brähmaëas who are saintly, always peaceful, free of material attachment, compassionate to all living beings, purely devoted to us, devoid of hatred and endowed with equal vision.

SB 12.10.22 - These devotees do not differentiate between Lord Viñëu, Lord Brahmä and me, nor do they differentiate between themselves and other living beings. Therefore, because you are this kind of saintly devotee, we worship you.

SB 12.10.23 - Mere bodies of water do not constitute holy places, nor are lifeless statues of the demigods actual worshipable deities. Because external vision fails to appreciate the higher essence of the holy rivers and the demigods, these purify only after a considerable time. But devotees like you purify immediately, just by being seen.

SB 12.10.24 - By meditating upon the Supreme Soul, performing austerities, engaging in Vedic study and following regulative principles, the brähmaëas sustain within themselves the three Vedas, which are nondifferent from Lord Viñëu, Lord Brahmä and me. Therefore I offer my obeisances unto the brähmaëas.

SB 12.10.25 - Even the worst sinners and social outcastes are purified just by hearing about or seeing personalities like you. Imagine, then, how purified they become by directly speaking with you.

SB 12.10.26 - Sūta Gosvämé said: Drinking with his ears Lord Çiva's nectarean words, full of the confidential essence of religion, Märkaëöeya Āñi could not be satiated.

SB 12.10.27 - Märkaëöeya, having been forced by Lord Viñëu's illusory energy to wander about for a long time in the water of dissolution, had become extremely exhausted. But Lord Çiva's words of nectar vanquished his accumulated suffering. Thus he addressed Lord Çiva.

SB 12.10.28 - Çré Märkaëöeya said: It is indeed most difficult for embodied souls to understand the pastimes of the universal controllers, for such lords bow down to and offer praise to the very living beings they rule.

SB 12.10.29 - Generally it is to induce embodied souls to accept religious principles that the authorized teachers of religion exhibit ideal behavior while encouraging and praising the proper behavior of others.

SB 12.10.30 - This apparent humility is simply a show of mercy. Such behavior of the Supreme Lord and His personal associates, which the Lord effects by His own bewildering potency, does not spoil His power any more than a magician's powers are diminished by his exhibition of tricks.

SB 12.10.31-32 - I offer my obeisances to that Supreme Personality of Godhead, who has created this entire universe simply by His desire and then entered into it as the Supersoul. By making the modes of nature act, He seems to be the direct creator of this world, just as a dreamer seems to be acting within his dream. He is the owner and ultimate controller of the three modes of nature, yet He remains alone and pure, without any equal. He is the supreme spiritual master of all, the original personal form of the Absolute Truth.

SB 12.10.33 - O all-pervading lord, since I have received the benediction of seeing you, what other benediction can I ask for? Simply by seeing you, a person fulfills all his desires and can achieve anything imaginable.

SB 12.10.34 - But I do request one benediction from you, who are full of all perfection and able to shower down the fulfillment of all desires. I ask to have unfailing devotion for the Supreme Personality of Godhead and for His dedicated devotees, especially you.

SB 12.10.35 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Thus worshiped and glorified by the eloquent statements of the sage Mārkaṇḍeya, Lord Ćarva [Ćiva], encouraged by his consort, replied to him as follows.

SB 12.10.36 - O great sage, because you are devoted to Lord Adhokṣaja, all your desires will be fulfilled. Until the very end of this creation cycle, you will enjoy pious fame and freedom from old age and death.

SB 12.10.37 - O brāhmaëa, may you have perfect knowledge of past, present and future, along with transcendental realization of the Supreme, enriched by renunciation. You have the brilliance of an ideal brähmaëa, and thus may you achieve the post of spiritual master of the Puräëas.

SB 12.10.38 - Sūta Gosvämé said: Having thus granted Märkaëðeya Åñi benedictions, Lord Çiva went on his way, continuing to describe to goddess Devé the accomplishments of the sage and the direct exhibition of the Lord's illusory power that he had experienced.

SB 12.10.39 - Märkaëðeya Åñi, the best of the descendants of Bhågu, is glorious because of his achievement of perfection in mystic yoga. Even today he travels about this world, fully absorbed in unalloyed devotion for the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.10.40 - I have thus narrated to you the activities of the highly intelligent sage Märkaëðeya, especially how he experienced the amazing power of the Supreme Lord's illusory energy.

SB 12.10.41 - Although this event was unique and unprecedented, some unintelligent persons compare it to the cycle of illusory material existence the Supreme Lord has created for the conditioned souls-an endless cycle that has been continuing since time immemorial.

SB 12.10.42 - O best of the Bhågus, this account concerning Märkaëðeya Åñi conveys the transcendental potency of the Supreme Lord. Anyone who properly narrates or hears it will never again undergo material existence, which is based on the desire to perform fruitive activities.

119 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.11.1 - Çré Çaunaka said: O Sūta, you are the best of learned men and a great devotee of the Supreme Lord. Therefore we now inquire from you about the definitive conclusion of all tantra scriptures.

SB 12.11.2-3 - All good fortune to you! Please explain to us, who are very eager to learn, the process of kriyā-yoga practiced through regulated worship of the transcendental Lord, the husband of the goddess of fortune. Please also explain how the Lord's devotees conceive of His limbs, associates, weapons and ornaments in terms of particular material representations. By expertly worshiping the Supreme Lord, a mortal can attain immortality.

SB 12.11.4 - Sūta Gosvāmī said: Offering obeisances to my spiritual masters, I shall repeat to you the description of the opulences of Lord Viñēu given in the Vedas and tantras by great authorities, beginning from lotus-born Brahmā.

SB 12.11.5 - The universal form [virāṭ] of the Personality of Godhead includes the nine basic elements of creation, starting with the unmanifest nature, and their subsequent transformations. Once this universal form is instilled with consciousness, the three planetary systems become visible within it.

SB 12.11.6-8 - This is the representation of the Supreme Lord as the universal person, in which the earth is His feet, the sky His navel, the sun His eyes, the wind His nostrils, the demigod of procreation His genitals, death His anus and the moon His mind. The heavenly planets are His head, the directions His ears, and the demigods protecting the various planets His many arms. The god of death is His eyebrows, shame His lower lip, greed His upper lip, delusion His smile, and moonshine His teeth, while the trees are the almighty Puruṇa's bodily hairs, and the clouds the hair on His head.

SB 12.11.9 - Just as one can determine the dimensions of an ordinary person of this world by measuring his various limbs, one can determine the dimensions of the Mahāpuruṇa by measuring the arrangement of the planetary systems within His universal form.

SB 12.11.10 - Upon His chest the almighty, unborn Personality of Godhead bears the Kaustubha gem, which represents the pure spirit soul, along with the Çrévatsa mark, which is the direct manifestation of this gem's expansive effulgence.

SB 12.11.11-12 - His flower garland is His material energy, comprising various combinations of the modes of nature. His yellow garment is the Vedic meters, and His sacred thread the syllable oà composed of three sounds. In the form of His two shark-shaped earrings, the Lord carries the processes of Sâi khya and yoga, and His crown, bestowing fearlessness on the inhabitants of all the worlds, is the supreme position of Brahmaloka.

SB 12.11.13 - Ananta, the Lord's sitting place, is the unmanifest phase of material nature, and the Lord's lotus throne is the mode of goodness, endowed with religion and knowledge.

SB 12.11.14-15 - The club the Lord carries is the chief element, prâëa, incorporating the potencies of sensory, mental and physical strength. His excellent conchshell is the element water, His Sudarçana disc the element fire, and His sword, pure as the sky, the element ether. His shield embodies the mode of ignorance, His bow, named Çärì ga, time, and His arrow-filled quiver the working sensory organs.

SB 12.11.16 - His arrows are said to be the senses, and His chariot is the active, forceful mind. His external appearance is the subtle objects of perception, and the gestures of His hands are the essence of all purposeful activity.

SB 12.11.17 - The sun globe is the place where the Supreme Lord is worshiped, spiritual initiation is the means of purification for the spirit soul, and rendering devotional service to the Personality of Godhead is the process for eradicating all one's sinful reactions.

SB 12.11.18 - Playfully carrying a lotus, which represents the various opulences designated by the word bhaga, the Supreme Lord accepts service from a pair of cāmara fans, which are religion and fame.

SB 12.11.19 - O brāhmaëas, the Lord's umbrella is His spiritual abode, Vaikuëöha, where there is no fear, and Garuöa, who carries the Lord of sacrifice, is the threefold Veda.

SB 12.11.20 - The goddess of fortune, Çré, who never leaves the Lord's side, appears with Him in this world as the representation of His internal potency. Viñvaksena, the chief among His personal associates, is known to be the personification of the Pañcarätra and other tantras. And the Lord's eight doorkeepers, headed by Nanda, are His mystic perfections, beginning with aëimä.

SB 12.11.21 - Väsudeva, Sañ karñäëa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha are the names of the direct personal expansions of the Supreme Godhead, O brāhmaëa Çaunaka.

SB 12.11.22 - One can conceive of the Supreme Personality of Godhead in terms of awakened consciousness, sleep and deep sleep-which function respectively through external objects, the mind and material intelligence-and also in terms of the fourth, transcendental level of consciousness, which is characterized by pure knowledge.

SB 12.11.23 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, thus appears in four personal expansions, each exhibiting major limbs, minor limbs, weapons and ornaments. Through these distinct features, the Lord maintains the four phases of existence.

SB 12.11.24 - O best of brāhmaëas, He alone is the self-luminous, original source of the Vedas, perfect and complete in His own glory. By His material energy He creates, destroys and maintains this entire universe. Because He is the performer of various material functions, He is sometimes described as materially divided, yet He always remains transcendently situated in pure knowledge. Those who are dedicated to Him in devotion can realize Him to be their true Soul.

SB 12.11.25 - O Kāñëa, O friend of Arjuna, O chief among the descendants of Vāñëi, You are the destroyer of those political parties that are disturbing elements on this earth. Your prowess never deteriorates. You are the proprietor of the transcendental abode, and Your most sacred glories, which are sung by Vāñdāvana's cowherd men and women and their servants, bestow all auspiciousness just by being heard. O Lord, please protect Your devotees.

SB 12.11.26 - Anyone who rises early in the morning and, with a purified mind fixed upon the Mahāpuruña, quietly chants this description of His characteristics will realize Him as the Supreme Absolute Truth residing within the heart.

SB 12.11.27-28 - Çré Çaunaka said: Please describe to us, who have great faith in your words, the different sets of seven personal features and associates the sun-god exhibits during each month, along with their names and activities. The associates of the sun-god, who serve their lord, are personal expansions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari in His feature as the presiding deity of the sun.

SB 12.11.29 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: The sun travels among all the planets and thus regulates their movements. It has been created by Lord Viñëu, the Supreme Soul of all embodied beings, through His beginningless material energy.

SB 12.11.30 - The sun-god, being nondifferent from Lord Hari, is the one soul of all the worlds and their original creator. He is the source of all the ritualistic activities prescribed in the Vedas and has been given many names by the Vedic sages.

SB 12.11.31 - Being the source of the material energy, the Personality of Godhead Lord Hari in His expansion as the sun-god is described in nine aspects, O Çaunaka: the time, the place, the endeavor, the performer, the instrument, the specific ritual, the scripture, the paraphernalia of worship and the result to be achieved.

SB 12.11.32 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, manifesting His potency of time as the sun-god, travels about in each of the twelve months, beginning with Madhu, to regulate planetary motion within the universe. Traveling with the sun-god in each of the twelve months is a different set of six associates.

SB 12.11.33 - My dear sage, Dhätä as the sun-god, Kätasthalé as the Apsarä, Heti as the Räkñasa, Väsuki as the Näga, Rathakät as the Yakña, Pulastya as the sage and Tumburu as the Gandharva rule the month of Madhu.

SB 12.11.34 - Aryamä as the sun-god, Pulaha as the sage, Athaujä as the Yakña, Praheti as the Räkñasa, Puñjikasthalé as the Apsarä, Närada as the Gandharva and Kacchanéra as the Näga rule the month of Mädhava.

SB 12.11.35 - Mitra as the sun-god, Atri as the sage, Pauruñeya as the Räkñasa, Takñaka as the Näga, Menakä as the Apsarä, Hähä as the Gandharva and Rathasvana as the Yakña rule the month of Çukra.

SB 12.11.36 - Vasiñöha as the sage, Varuëa as the sun-god, Rambhä as the Apsarä, Sahajanya as the Räkñasa, Hühü as the Gandharva, Çukra as the Näga and Citrasvana as the Yakña rule the month of Çuci.

SB 12.11.37 - Indra as the sun-god, Viçvävasu as the Gandharva, Çrotä as the Yakña, Eläpatra as the Näga, Aì girä as the sage, Pramlocä as the Apsarä and Varya as the Räkñasa rule the month of Nabhas.

SB 12.11.38 - Vivasvän as the sun-god, Ugrasena as the Gandharva, Vyäghra as the Räkñasa, Äsäraëa as the Yakña, Bhägu as the sage, Anumlocä as the Apsarä and Çai khapäla as the Näga rule the month of Nabhasya.

SB 12.11.39 - Püñä as the sun-god, Dhanai jaya as the Näga, Väta as the Räkñasa, Suñeëa as the Gandharva, Suruci as the Yakña, Ghätacé as the Apsarä and Gautama as the sage rule the month of Tapas.

SB 12.11.40 - Ätu as the Yakña, Varcä as the Räkñasa, Bharadväja as the sage, Parjanya as the sun-god, Senajit as the Apsarä, Viçva as the Gandharva and Airävata as the Näga rule the month known as Tapasya.

SB 12.11.41 - Aàçu as the sun-god, Kaçyapa as the sage, Tärkñya as the Yakña, Ätasena as the Gandharva, Urvaçé as the Apsarä, Vidyucchatru as the Räkñasa and Mahäçaì kha as the Näga rule the month of Sahas.

SB 12.11.42 - Bhaga as the sun-god, Sphürja as the Räkñasa, Ariñöanemi as the Gandharva, Ürëa as the Yakña, Äyur as the sage, Karkoöaka as the Näga and Pürvacitti as the Apsarä rule the month of Puñya.

SB 12.11.43 - Tvañöä as the sun-god; Jamadagni, the son of Äcéka, as the sage; Kambaläçva as the Näga; Tilottamä as the Apsarä; Brahmäpeta as the Räkñasa; Çatajit as the Yakña; and Dhataräñöra as the Gandharva maintain the month of Iñā.

SB 12.11.44 - Viñëu as the sun-god, Açvatara as the Nāga, Rambhā as the Apsarā, Sūryavarcā as the Gandharva, Satyajit as the Yakña, Viçvāmitra as the sage and Makhāpeta as the Rākñasa rule the month of Ürja.

SB 12.11.45 - All these personalities are the opulent expansions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu, in the form of the sun-god. These deities take away all the sinful reactions of those who remember them each day at dawn and sunset.

SB 12.11.46 - Thus, throughout the twelve months, the lord of the sun travels in all directions with his six types of associates, disseminating among the inhabitants of this universe purity of consciousness for both this life and the next.

SB 12.11.47-48 - While the sages glorify the sun-god with the hymns of the Sāma, Åg and Yajur Vedas, which reveal his identity, the Gandharvas also sing his praises and the Apsarās dance before his chariot. The Nāgas arrange the chariot ropes and the Yakñas harness the horses to the chariot, while the powerful Rākñasas push from behind.

SB 12.11.49 - Facing the chariot, the sixty thousand brāhmaëa sages known as Vālakhilyas travel in front and offer prayers to the almighty sun-god with Vedic mantras.

SB 12.11.50 - For the protection of all the worlds, the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari, who is unborn and without beginning or end, thus expands Himself during each day of Brahmā into these specific categories of His personal representations.

120 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.11.1 - Çré Çaunaka said: O Sūta, you are the best of learned men and a great devotee of the Supreme Lord. Therefore we now inquire from you about the definitive conclusion of all tantra scriptures.

SB 12.11.2-3 - All good fortune to you! Please explain to us, who are very eager to learn, the process of kriyā-yoga practiced through regulated worship of the transcendental Lord, the husband of the goddess of fortune. Please also explain how the Lord's devotees conceive of His limbs, associates, weapons and ornaments in terms of particular material representations. By expertly worshipping the Supreme Lord, a mortal can attain immortality.

SB 12.11.4 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Offering obeisances to my spiritual masters, I shall repeat to you the description of the opulences of Lord Viñëu given in the Vedas and tantras by great authorities, beginning from lotus-born Brahmā.

SB 12.11.5 - The universal form [viräo] of the Personality of Godhead includes the nine basic elements of creation, starting with the unmanifest nature, and their subsequent transformations. Once this universal form is instilled with consciousness, the three planetary systems become visible within it.

SB 12.11.6-8 - This is the representation of the Supreme Lord as the universal person, in which the earth is His feet, the sky His navel, the sun His eyes, the wind His nostrils, the demigod of procreation His genitals, death His anus and the moon His mind. The heavenly planets are His head, the directions His ears, and the demigods protecting the various planets His many arms. The god of death is His eyebrows, shame His lower lip, greed His upper lip, delusion His smile, and moonshine His teeth, while the trees are the almighty Puruṇa's bodily hairs, and the clouds the hair on His head.

SB 12.11.9 - Just as one can determine the dimensions of an ordinary person of this world by measuring his various limbs, one can determine the dimensions of the Mahāpuruṣa by measuring the arrangement of the planetary systems within His universal form.

SB 12.11.10 - Upon His chest the almighty, unborn Personality of Godhead bears the Kaustubha gem, which represents the pure spirit soul, along with the Çrévatsa mark, which is the direct manifestation of this gem's expansive effulgence.

SB 12.11.11-12 - His flower garland is His material energy, comprising various combinations of the modes of nature. His yellow garment is the Vedic meters, and His sacred thread the syllable oṃ composed of three sounds. In the form of His two shark-shaped earrings, the Lord carries the processes of Sāi khyā and yoga, and His crown, bestowing fearlessness on the inhabitants of all the worlds, is the supreme position of Brahmaloka.

SB 12.11.13 - Ananta, the Lord's sitting place, is the unmanifest phase of material nature, and the Lord's lotus throne is the mode of goodness, endowed with religion and knowledge.

SB 12.11.14-15 - The club the Lord carries is the chief element, prāëa, incorporating the potencies of sensory, mental and physical strength. His excellent conchshell is the element water, His Sudarçana disc the element fire, and His sword, pure as the sky, the element ether. His shield embodies the mode of ignorance, His bow, named Çārì ga, time, and His arrow-filled quiver the working sensory organs.

SB 12.11.16 - His arrows are said to be the senses, and His chariot is the active, forceful mind. His external appearance is the subtle objects of perception, and the gestures of His hands are the essence of all purposeful activity.

SB 12.11.17 - The sun globe is the place where the Supreme Lord is worshiped, spiritual initiation is the means of purification for the spirit soul, and rendering devotional service to the Personality of Godhead is the process for eradicating all one's sinful reactions.

SB 12.11.18 - Playfully carrying a lotus, which represents the various opulences designated by the word bhaga, the Supreme Lord accepts service from a pair of cāmara fans, which are religion and fame.

SB 12.11.19 - O brāhmaëas, the Lord's umbrella is His spiritual abode, Vaikuëṭṭha, where there is no fear, and Garuḍa, who carries the Lord of sacrifice, is the threefold Veda.

SB 12.11.20 - The goddess of fortune, Çré, who never leaves the Lord's side, appears with Him in this world as the representation of His internal potency. Viñvaksena, the chief among His personal associates, is known to be the personification of the Pañcarātra and other tantras. And the Lord's eight doorkeepers, headed by Nanda, are His mystic perfections, beginning with aëimä.

SB 12.11.21 - Väsudeva, Sañ karñäëa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha are the names of the direct personal expansions of the Supreme Godhead, O brāhmaëa Çaunaka.

SB 12.11.22 - One can conceive of the Supreme Personality of Godhead in terms of awakened consciousness, sleep and deep sleep-which function respectively through external objects, the mind and material intelligence-and also in terms of the fourth, transcendental level of consciousness, which is characterized by pure knowledge.

SB 12.11.23 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, thus appears in four personal expansions, each exhibiting major limbs, minor limbs, weapons and ornaments. Through these distinct features, the Lord maintains the four phases of existence.

SB 12.11.24 - O best of brähmaëas, He alone is the self-luminous, original source of the Vedas, perfect and complete in His own glory. By His material energy He creates, destroys and maintains this entire universe. Because He is the performer of various material functions, He is sometimes described as materially divided, yet He always remains transcendently situated in pure knowledge. Those who are dedicated to Him in devotion can realize Him to be their true Soul.

SB 12.11.25 - O Kâñëa, O friend of Arjuna, O chief among the descendants of Vâñëi, You are the destroyer of those political parties that are disturbing elements on this earth. Your prowess never deteriorates. You are the proprietor of the transcendental abode, and Your most sacred glories, which are sung by Vândävana's cowherd men and women and their servants, bestow all auspiciousness just by being heard. O Lord, please protect Your devotees.

SB 12.11.26 - Anyone who rises early in the morning and, with a purified mind fixed upon the Mahäpuruña, quietly chants this description of His characteristics will realize Him as the Supreme Absolute Truth residing within the heart.

SB 12.11.27-28 - Çré Çaunaka said: Please describe to us, who have great faith in your words, the different sets of seven personal features and associates the sun-god exhibits during each month, along with their names and activities. The associates of the sun-god, who serve their lord, are personal expansions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari in His feature as the presiding deity of the sun.

SB 12.11.29 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: The sun travels among all the planets and thus regulates their movements. It has been created by Lord Viñëu, the Supreme Soul of all embodied beings, through His beginningless material energy.

SB 12.11.30 - The sun-god, being nondifferent from Lord Hari, is the one soul of all the worlds and their original creator. He is the source of all the ritualistic activities prescribed in the Vedas and has been given many names by the Vedic sages.

SB 12.11.31 - Being the source of the material energy, the Personality of Godhead Lord Hari in His expansion as the sun-god is described in nine aspects, O Çaunaka: the time, the place, the endeavor, the performer, the instrument, the specific ritual, the scripture, the paraphernalia of worship and the result to be achieved.

SB 12.11.32 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, manifesting His potency of time as the sun-god, travels about in each of the twelve months, beginning with Madhu, to regulate planetary motion within the universe. Traveling with the sun-god in each of the twelve months is a different set of six associates.

SB 12.11.33 - My dear sage, Dhätä as the sun-god, Kätasthalé as the Apsarä, Heti as the Räkñasa, Väsuki as the Näga, Rathakât as the Yakña, Pulastya as the sage and Tumburu as the Gandharva rule the month of Madhu.

SB 12.11.34 - Aryamä as the sun-god, Pulaha as the sage, Athaujä as the Yakña, Praheti as the Räkñasa, Puñjikasthalé as the Apsarä, Närada as the Gandharva and Kacchanéra as the Näga rule the month of Mädhava.

SB 12.11.35 - Mitra as the sun-god, Atri as the sage, Pauruṇeya as the Rākāsa, Takāka as the Nāga, Menakā as the Apsarā, Hāhā as the Gandharva and Rathasvana as the Yakā rule the month of Çukra.

SB 12.11.36 - Vasiṇha as the sage, Varuēa as the sun-god, Rambhā as the Apsarā, Sahajanya as the Rākāsa, Hühü as the Gandharva, Çukra as the Nāga and Citrasvana as the Yakā rule the month of Çuci.

SB 12.11.37 - Indra as the sun-god, Viçvāvasu as the Gandharva, Çrotā as the Yakā, Elāpatra as the Nāga, Aī girā as the sage, Pramlocā as the Apsarā and Varya as the Rākāsa rule the month of Nabhas.

SB 12.11.38 - Vivasvān as the sun-god, Ugrasena as the Gandharva, Vyāghra as the Rākāsa, Āsāraēa as the Yakā, Bhāgu as the sage, Anumlocā as the Apsarā and Çai khapāla as the Nāga rule the month of Nabhasya.

SB 12.11.39 - Pūnā as the sun-god, Dhanai jaya as the Nāga, Vāta as the Rākāsa, Suṇēa as the Gandharva, Suruci as the Yakā, Ghātācé as the Apsarā and Gautama as the sage rule the month of Tapas.

SB 12.11.40 - Ātu as the Yakā, Varcā as the Rākāsa, Bharadvāja as the sage, Parjanya as the sun-god, Senajit as the Apsarā, Viçva as the Gandharva and Airāvata as the Nāga rule the month known as Tapasya.

SB 12.11.41 - Aàçu as the sun-god, Kaçyapa as the sage, Tārkiya as the Yakā, Ātasena as the Gandharva, Urvaçé as the Apsarā, Vidyucchatru as the Rākāsa and Mahāçai kha as the Nāga rule the month of Sahas.

SB 12.11.42 - Bhaga as the sun-god, Sphūrja as the Rākāsa, Ariṇānemi as the Gandharva, Ürēa as the Yakā, Āyur as the sage, Karkoōaka as the Nāga and Pürvacitti as the Apsarä rule the month of Puñya.

SB 12.11.43 - Tvañöä as the sun-god; Jamadagni, the son of Ācéka, as the sage; Kambaläçva as the Näga; Tilottamä as the Apsarä; Brahmäpeta as the Räkñasa; Çatajit as the Yakña; and Dhâtaräñöra as the Gandharva maintain the month of Iñä.

SB 12.11.44 - Viñëu as the sun-god, Açvatara as the Näga, Rambhä as the Apsarä, Süryavarcä as the Gandharva, Satyajit as the Yakña, Viçvämitra as the sage and Makhäpeta as the Räkñasa rule the month of Ürja.

SB 12.11.45 - All these personalities are the opulent expansions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu, in the form of the sun-god. These deities take away all the sinful reactions of those who remember them each day at dawn and sunset.

SB 12.11.46 - Thus, throughout the twelve months, the lord of the sun travels in all directions with his six types of associates, disseminating among the inhabitants of this universe purity of consciousness for both this life and the next.

SB 12.11.47-48 - While the sages glorify the sun-god with the hymns of the Säma, Āg and Yajur Vedas, which reveal his identity, the Gandharvas also sing his praises and the Apsaräs dance before his chariot. The Nägas arrange the chariot ropes and the Yakñas harness the horses to the chariot, while the powerful Räkñasas push from behind.

SB 12.11.49 - Facing the chariot, the sixty thousand brähmaëa sages known as Välakhilyas travel in front and offer prayers to the almighty sun-god with Vedic mantras.

SB 12.11.50 - For the protection of all the worlds, the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari, who is unborn and without beginning or end, thus expands Himself during each day of Brahmā into these specific categories of His personal representations.

121 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.11.1 - Çré Çaunaka said: O Sūta, you are the best of learned men and a great devotee of the Supreme Lord. Therefore we now inquire from you about the definitive conclusion of all tantra scriptures.

SB 12.11.2-3 - All good fortune to you! Please explain to us, who are very eager to learn, the process of kriyā-yoga practiced through regulated worship of the transcendental Lord, the husband of the goddess of fortune. Please also explain how the Lord's devotees conceive of His limbs, associates, weapons and ornaments in terms of particular material representations. By expertly worshipping the Supreme Lord, a mortal can attain immortality.

SB 12.11.4 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Offering obeisances to my spiritual masters, I shall repeat to you the description of the opulences of Lord Viñëu given in the Vedas and tantras by great authorities, beginning from lotus-born Brahmā.

SB 12.11.5 - The universal form [virāö] of the Personality of Godhead includes the nine basic elements of creation, starting with the unmanifest nature, and their subsequent transformations. Once this universal form is instilled with consciousness, the three planetary systems become visible within it.

SB 12.11.6-8 - This is the representation of the Supreme Lord as the universal person, in which the earth is His feet, the sky His navel, the sun His eyes, the wind His nostrils, the demigod of procreation His genitals, death His anus and the moon His mind. The heavenly planets are His head, the directions His ears, and the demigods protecting the various planets His many arms. The god of death is His eyebrows, shame His lower lip, greed His upper lip, delusion His smile, and moonshine His teeth, while the trees are the almighty Puruṇa's bodily hairs, and the clouds the hair on His head.

SB 12.11.9 - Just as one can determine the dimensions of an ordinary person of this world by measuring his various limbs, one can determine the dimensions of the Mahāpuruṇa by measuring the arrangement of the planetary systems within His universal form.

SB 12.11.10 - Upon His chest the almighty, unborn Personality of Godhead bears the Kaustubha gem, which represents the pure spirit soul, along with the Çrévatsa mark, which is the direct manifestation of this gem's expansive effulgence.

SB 12.11.11-12 - His flower garland is His material energy, comprising various combinations of the modes of nature. His yellow garment is the Vedic meters, and His sacred thread the syllable oṃ composed of three sounds. In the form of His two shark-shaped earrings, the Lord carries the processes of Sāi khyā and yoga, and His crown, bestowing fearlessness on the inhabitants of all the worlds, is the supreme position of Brahmaloka.

SB 12.11.13 - Ananta, the Lord's sitting place, is the unmanifest phase of material nature, and the Lord's lotus throne is the mode of goodness, endowed with religion and knowledge.

SB 12.11.14-15 - The club the Lord carries is the chief element, prāëa, incorporating the potencies of sensory, mental and physical strength. His excellent conchshell is the element water, His Sudarçana disc the element fire, and His sword, pure as the sky, the element ether. His shield embodies the mode of ignorance, His bow, named Çārī ga, time, and His arrow-filled quiver the working sensory organs.

SB 12.11.16 - His arrows are said to be the senses, and His chariot is the active, forceful mind. His external appearance is the subtle objects of perception, and the gestures of His hands are the essence of all purposeful activity.

SB 12.11.17 - The sun globe is the place where the Supreme Lord is worshiped, spiritual initiation is the means of purification for the spirit soul, and rendering devotional service to the Personality of Godhead is the process for eradicating all one's sinful reactions.

SB 12.11.18 - Playfully carrying a lotus, which represents the various opulences designated by the word bhaga, the Supreme Lord accepts service from a pair of cāmara fans, which are religion and fame.

SB 12.11.19 - O brāhmaëas, the Lord's umbrella is His spiritual abode, Vaikuëha, where there is no fear, and Garuða, who carries the Lord of sacrifice, is the threefold Veda.

SB 12.11.20 - The goddess of fortune, Çré, who never leaves the Lord's side, appears with Him in this world as the representation of His internal potency. Viñvaksena, the chief among His personal associates, is known to be the personification of the Pañcarātra and other tantras. And the Lord's eight doorkeepers, headed by Nanda, are His mystic perfections, beginning with aëimä.

SB 12.11.21 - Väsudeva, Sañ karñäëa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha are the names of the direct personal expansions of the Supreme Godhead, O brāhmaëa Çaunaka.

SB 12.11.22 - One can conceive of the Supreme Personality of Godhead in terms of awakened consciousness, sleep and deep sleep-which function respectively through external objects, the mind and material intelligence-and also in terms of the fourth, transcendental level of consciousness, which is characterized by pure knowledge.

SB 12.11.23 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Hari, thus appears in four personal expansions, each exhibiting major limbs, minor limbs, weapons and ornaments. Through these distinct features, the Lord maintains the four phases of existence.

SB 12.11.24 - O best of brāhmaëas, He alone is the self-luminous, original source of the Vedas, perfect and complete in His own glory. By His material energy He creates, destroys and maintains this entire universe. Because He is the performer of various material functions, He is sometimes described as materially divided, yet He always remains transcendently situated in pure knowledge. Those who are dedicated to Him in devotion can realize Him to be their true Soul.

SB 12.11.25 - O Kāñëa, O friend of Arjuna, O chief among the descendants of Vāñëi, You are the destroyer of those political parties that are disturbing elements on this earth. Your prowess never deteriorates. You are the proprietor of the transcendental abode, and Your most sacred glories, which are sung by Vāñdāvana's cowherd men and women and their servants, bestow all auspiciousness just by being heard. O Lord, please protect Your devotees.

SB 12.11.26 - Anyone who rises early in the morning and, with a purified mind fixed upon the Mahāpuruña, quietly chants this description of His characteristics will realize Him as the Supreme Absolute Truth residing within the heart.

SB 12.11.27-28 - Çré Çaunaka said: Please describe to us, who have great faith in your words, the different sets of seven personal features and associates the sun-god exhibits during each month, along with their names and activities. The associates of the sun-god, who serve their lord, are personal expansions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari in His feature as the presiding deity of the sun.

SB 12.11.29 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: The sun travels among all the planets and thus regulates their movements. It has been created by Lord Viñëu, the Supreme Soul of all embodied beings, through His beginningless material energy.

SB 12.11.30 - The sun-god, being nondifferent from Lord Hari, is the one soul of all the worlds and their original creator. He is the source of all the ritualistic activities prescribed in the Vedas and has been given many names by the Vedic sages.

SB 12.11.31 - Being the source of the material energy, the Personality of Godhead Lord Hari in His expansion as the sun-god is described in nine aspects, O Çaunaka: the time, the place, the endeavor, the performer, the instrument, the specific ritual, the scripture, the paraphernalia of worship and the result to be achieved.

SB 12.11.32 - The Supreme Personality of Godhead, manifesting His potency of time as the sun-god, travels about in each of the twelve months, beginning with Madhu, to regulate planetary motion within the universe. Traveling with the sun-god in each of the twelve months is a different set of six associates.

SB 12.11.33 - My dear sage, Dhätä as the sun-god, Kâsthalé as the Apsarä, Heti as the Räkñasa, Väsuki as the Näga, Rathakât as the Yakña, Pulastya as the sage and Tumburu as the Gandharva rule the month of Madhu.

SB 12.11.34 - Aryamä as the sun-god, Pulaha as the sage, Athaujä as the Yakña, Praheti as the Räkñasa, Puṛijikasthalé as the Apsarä, Nārada as the Gandharva and Kacchanéra as the Nāga rule the month of Mādhava.

SB 12.11.35 - Mitra as the sun-god, Atri as the sage, Pauruñeya as the Räkñasa, Takñaka as the Nāga, Menakä as the Apsarä, Hähä as the Gandharva and Rathasvana as the Yakña rule the month of Çukra.

SB 12.11.36 - Vasiñöha as the sage, Varuëa as the sun-god, Rambhä as the Apsarä, Sahajanya as the Räkñasa, Hühü as the Gandharva, Çukra as the Nāga and Citrasvana as the Yakña rule the month of Çuci.

SB 12.11.37 - Indra as the sun-god, Viçvävasu as the Gandharva, Çrotä as the Yakña, Eläpatra as the Nāga, Aṭ girä as the sage, Pramlocä as the Apsarä and Varya as the Räkñasa rule the month of Nabhas.

SB 12.11.38 - Vivasvän as the sun-god, Ugrasena as the Gandharva, Vyäghra as the Räkñasa, Äsäraëa as the Yakña, Bhägu as the sage, Anumlocä as the Apsarä and Çai khapäla as the Nāga rule the month of Nabhasya.

SB 12.11.39 - Püñä as the sun-god, Dhanai jaya as the Nāga, Väta as the Räkñasa, Suñeëa as the Gandharva, Suruci as the Yakña, Ghätäcé as the Apsarä and Gautama as the sage rule the month of Tapas.

SB 12.11.40 - Ätu as the Yakña, Varcä as the Räkñasa, Bharadväja as the sage, Parjanya as the sun-god, Senajit as the Apsarä, Viçva as the Gandharva and Airävata as the Nāga rule the month known as Tapasya.

SB 12.11.41 - Aèçu as the sun-god, Kaçyapa as the sage, Tärkñya as the Yakña, Ātasena as the Gandharva, Urvaçé as the Apsarä, Vidyucchatru as the Räkñasa and Mahäçaï kha as the Näga rule the month of Sahas.

SB 12.11.42 - Bhaga as the sun-god, Sphürja as the Räkñasa, Ariñöanemi as the Gandharva, Ürëa as the Yakña, Äyur as the sage, Karkoöaka as the Näga and Pürvacitti as the Apsarä rule the month of Puñya.

SB 12.11.43 - Tvañöä as the sun-god; Jamadagni, the son of Ācéka, as the sage; Kambaläçva as the Näga; Tilottamä as the Apsarä; Brahmäpeta as the Räkñasa; Çatajit as the Yakña; and Dhätaräñöra as the Gandharva maintain the month of Iña.

SB 12.11.44 - Viñëu as the sun-god, Açvatara as the Näga, Rambhä as the Apsarä, Süryavarcä as the Gandharva, Satyajit as the Yakña, Viçvämitra as the sage and Makhäpeta as the Räkñasa rule the month of Ürja.

SB 12.11.45 - All these personalities are the opulent expansions of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Viñëu, in the form of the sun-god. These deities take away all the sinful reactions of those who remember them each day at dawn and sunset.

SB 12.11.46 - Thus, throughout the twelve months, the lord of the sun travels in all directions with his six types of associates, disseminating among the inhabitants of this universe purity of consciousness for both this life and the next.

SB 12.11.47-48 - While the sages glorify the sun-god with the hymns of the Sāma, Āg and Yajur Vedas, which reveal his identity, the Gandharvas also sing his praises and the Apsaräs dance before his chariot. The Nāgas arrange the chariot ropes and the Yakñas harness the horses to the chariot, while the powerful Räkñasas push from behind.

SB 12.11.49 - Facing the chariot, the sixty thousand brāhmaëa sages known as Vālahkilyas travel in front and offer prayers to the almighty sun-god with Vedic mantras.

SB 12.11.50 - For the protection of all the worlds, the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari, who is unborn and without beginning or end, thus expands Himself during each day of Brahmā into these specific categories of His personal representations.

122 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.12.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Offering my obeisances to the supreme religious principle, devotional service; to Lord Kāñëä, the supreme creator; and to all the brāhmaëas, I shall now describe the eternal principles of religion.

SB 12.12.2 - O great sages, I have narrated to you the wonderful pastimes of Lord Viñëu, as you inquired about them from me. Hearing such narrations is the suitable engagement for a person who is actually a human being.

SB 12.12.3 - This literature fully glorifies the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari, who removes all His devotees' sinful reactions. The Lord is glorified as Nārāyaëa, Hāñëkeça and the Lord of the Sātvatas.

SB 12.12.4 - This literature describes the mystery of the Supreme Absolute Truth, the source of the creation and annihilation of this universe. Also presented are divine knowledge of Him together with the process of its cultivation, and the transcendental realization one achieves.

SB 12.12.5 - The following topics are also narrated: the process of devotional service together with its subsidiary feature of renunciation, and the histories of Mahārāja Parékñit and the sage Nārada.

SB 12.12.6 - Also described are saintly King Parékñit's sitting down to fast until death in response to the curse of a brähmaëa's son, and the conversations between Parékñit and Çukadeva Gosvämé, who is the best of all brähmaëas.

SB 12.12.7 - The Bhāgavatam explains how one can attain liberation at the time of death by practicing fixed meditation in yoga. It also contains a discussion between Nārada and Brahmä, an enumeration of the incarnations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and a description of how the universe was created in progressive sequence, beginning from the unmanifest stage of material nature.

SB 12.12.8 - This scripture also relates the discussions Vidura had with Uddhava and with Maitreya, inquiries about the subject matter of this Puräëa, and the winding up of creation within the body of the Supreme Lord at the time of annihilation.

SB 12.12.9 - The creation effected by the agitation of the modes of material nature, the seven stages of evolution by elemental transformation, and the construction of the universal egg, from which arises the universal form of the Supreme Lord-all these are thoroughly described.

SB 12.12.10 - Other topics include the subtle and gross movements of time, the generation of the lotus from the navel of Garbhodakaçäyë Viñëu, and the killing of the demon Hiraëyäkñä when the earth was delivered from the Garbhodaka Ocean.

SB 12.12.11 - The Bhāgavatam also describes the creation of demigods, animals and demoniac species of life; the birth of Lord Rudra; and the appearance of Svâyambhuva Manu from the half-man, half-woman Ēcvara.

SB 12.12.12 - Also related are the appearance of the first woman, Çatarüpä, who was the excellent consort of Manu, and the offspring of the pious wives of Prajâpati Kardama.

SB 12.12.13 - The Bhâgavatam describes the incarnation of the Supreme Personality of Godhead as the exalted sage Kapila and records the conversation between that greatly learned soul and His mother, Devahüti.

SB 12.12.14-15 - Also described are the progeny of the nine great brâhmaëas, the destruction of Dakña's sacrifice, and the history of Dhruva Mahârâja, followed by the histories of King Pâthu and King Prâcénabarhi, the discussion between Prâcénabarhi and Nârada, and the life of Mahârâja Priyavrata. Then, O brâhmaëas, the Bhâgavatam tells of the character and activities of King Nâbhi, Lord Âñabha and King Bharata.

SB 12.12.16 - The Bhâgavatam gives an elaborate description of the earth's continents, regions, oceans, mountains and rivers. Also described are the arrangement of the celestial sphere and the conditions found in the subterranean regions and in hell.

SB 12.12.17 - The rebirth of Prajâpati Dakña as the son of the Pracetäs, and the progeny of Dakña's daughters, who initiated the races of demigods, demons, human beings, animals, serpents, birds and so on-all this is described.

SB 12.12.18 - O brâhmaëas, also recounted are the births and deaths of Vâträsura and of Diti's sons Hiraëyâkña and Hiraëyakaçipu, as well as the history of the greatest of Diti's descendants, the exalted soul Prahläda.

SB 12.12.19 - The reign of each Manu, the liberation of Gajendra, and the special incarnations of Lord Viñëu in each manv-antara, such as Lord Hayaçérñä, are described as well.

SB 12.12.20 - The Bhägavatam also tells of the appearances of the Lord of the universe as Kürma, Matsya, Narasiñha and Vāmana, and of the demigods' churning of the milk ocean to obtain nectar.

SB 12.12.21 - An account of the great battle fought between the demigods and the demons, a systematic description of the dynasties of various kings, and narrations concerning Ikāvāku's birth, his dynasty and the dynasty of the pious Sudyumna-all are presented within this literature.

SB 12.12.22 - Also related are the histories of Ilä and Tärä, and the description of the descendants of the sun-god, including such kings as Çaçäda and Nāga.

SB 12.12.23 - The histories of Sukanyä, Çaryäti, the intelligent Kakutstha, Khaöväi ga, Mändhätä, Saubhari and Sagara are narrated.

SB 12.12.24 - The Bhägavatam narrates the sanctifying pastimes of Lord Rāmacandra, the King of Kosala, and also explains how King Nimi abandoned his material body. The appearance of the descendants of King Janaka is also mentioned.

SB 12.12.25-26 - The Çrémad-Bhägavatam describes how Lord Paraçuräma, the greatest descendant of Bhāgu, annihilated all the kñatriyas on the face of the earth. It further recounts the lives of glorious kings who appeared in the dynasty of the moon-god-kings such as Aila, Yayäti, Nahuña, Duñmanta's son Bharata, Çäntanu and Çäntanu's son Bhäma. Also described is the great dynasty founded by King Yadu, the eldest son of Yayäti.

SB 12.12.27 - How Çré Kâñëa, the Supreme personality of Godhead and Lord of the universe, descended into this Yadu dynasty, how He took birth in the home of Vasudeva, and how He then grew up in Gokula-all this is described in detail.

SB 12.12.28-29 - Also glorified are the innumerable pastimes of Çré Kâñëa, the enemy of the demons, including His childhood pastimes of sucking out Pütanä's life air along with her breast-milk, breaking the cart, trampling down Täävarta, killing Bakäsura, Vatsäsura and Aghäsura, and the pastimes He enacted when Lord Brahmä hid His calves and cowherd boyfriends in a cave.

SB 12.12.30 - The Çrémad-Bhägavatam tells how Lord Kâñëa and Lord Balaräma killed the demon Dhenukäsura and his companions, how Lord Balaräma destroyed Pralambäsura, and also how Kâñëa saved the cowherd boys from a raging forest fire that had encircled them.

SB 12.12.31-33 - The chastisement of the serpent Kāliya; the rescue of Nanda Mahārāja from a great snake; the severe vows performed by the young gopés, who thus satisfied Lord Kāñëa; the mercy He showed the wives of the Vedic brāhmaëas, who felt remorse; the lifting of Govardhana Hill followed by the worship and bathing ceremony performed by Indra and the Surabhi cow; Lord Kāñëa's nocturnal pastimes with the cowherd girls; and the killing of the foolish demons Çai khacüòà, Ariñòà and Keçé-all these pastimes are elaborately recounted.

SB 12.12.34 - The Bhägavatam describes the arrival of Akrüra, the subsequent departure of Kāñëa and Balaräma, the lamentation of the gopés and the touring of Mathurä.

SB 12.12.35 - Also narrated are how Kāñëa and Balaräma killed the elephant Kuvalayäpéòà, the wrestlers Muñöika and Cäëüra, and Kaàsa and other demons, as well as how Kânëa brought back the dead son of His spiritual master, Sändépani Muni.

SB 12.12.36 - Then, O brähmaëas, this scripture recounts how Lord Hari, while residing in Mathurä in the company of Uddhava and Balaräma, performed pastimes for the satisfaction of the Yadu dynasty.

SB 12.12.37 - Also described are the annihilation of each of the many armies brought by Jaräsandha, the killing of the barbarian king Kälayavana and the establishment of Dvärakä City.

SB 12.12.38 - This work also describes how Lord Kânëa brought from heaven the pärijäta tree and the Sudharmä assembly hall, and how He kidnapped Rukmiëé by defeating all His rivals in battle.

SB 12.12.39 - Also narrated are how Lord Kânëa, in the battle with Bäëäsura, defeated Lord Çiva by making him yawn, how the Lord cut off Bäëäsura's arms, and how He killed the master of Präggyotiñapura and then rescued the young princesses held captive in that city.

SB 12.12.40-41 - There are descriptions of the powers and the deaths of the King of Cedi, Pauëòraka, Çälva, the foolish Dantavakra, Çambara, Dvidida, Pëha, Mura, Päi cajana and other demons, along with a description of how Väräëasé was burned to the ground. The Bhägavatam also recounts how Lord Kânëa relieved the earth's burden by engaging the Päëòavas in the Battle of Kurukñetra.

SB 12.12.42-43 - How the Lord withdrew His own dynasty on the pretext of the brähmaëas' curse; Vasudeva's conversation with Närada; the extraordinary conversation between Uddhava and Kânëa, which reveals the science of the self in complete detail and elucidates the religious principles of human society; and then how Lord Kāñëa gave up this mortal world by His own mystic power-the Bhāgavatam narrates all these events.

SB 12.12.44 - This work also describes people's characteristics and behavior in the different ages, the chaos men experience in the age of Kali, the four kinds of annihilation and the three kinds of creation.

SB 12.12.45 - There are also an account of the passing away of the wise and saintly King Viñëurāta [Parëkñit], an explanation of how Çrëla Vyāsadeva disseminated the branches of the Vedas, a pious narration concerning Märkaëòeya Āñi, and a description of the detailed arrangement of the Lord's universal form and His form as the sun, the soul of the universe.

SB 12.12.46 - Thus, O best of the brāhmaëas, I have explained herein what you have inquired from me. This literature has glorified in full detail the activities of the Lord's pastime incarnations.

SB 12.12.47 - If when falling, slipping, feeling pain or sneezing one involuntarily cries out in a loud voice, "Obeisances to Lord Hari!" one will be automatically freed from all his sinful reactions.

SB 12.12.48 - When people properly glorify the Supreme Personality of Godhead or simply hear about His power, the Lord personally enters their hearts and cleanses away every trace of misfortune, just as the sun removes the darkness or as a powerful wind drives away the clouds.

SB 12.12.49 - Words that do not describe the transcendental Personality of Godhead but instead deal with temporary matters are simply false and useless. Only those words that manifest the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Lord are actually truthful, auspicious and pious.

SB 12.12.50 - Those words describing the glories of the all-famous Personality of Godhead are attractive, relishable and ever fresh. Indeed, such words are a perpetual festival for the mind, and they dry up the ocean of misery.

SB 12.12.51 - Those words that do not describe the glories of the Lord, who alone can sanctify the atmosphere of the whole universe, are considered to be like unto a place of pilgrimage for crows, and are never resorted to by those situated in transcendental knowledge. The pure and saintly devotees take interest only in topics glorifying the infallible Supreme Lord.

SB 12.12.52 - On the other hand, that literature which is full of descriptions of the transcendental glories of the name, fame, forms, pastimes and so on of the unlimited Supreme Lord is a different creation, full of transcendental words directed toward bringing about a revolution in the impious lives of this world's misdirected civilization. Such transcendental literatures, even though imperfectly composed, are heard, sung and accepted by purified men who are thoroughly honest.

SB 12.12.53 - Knowledge of self-realization, even though free from all material affinity, does not look well if devoid of a conception of the Infallible [God]. What, then, is the use of even the most properly performed fruitive activities, which are naturally painful from the very beginning and transient by nature, if they are not utilized for the devotional service of the Lord?

SB 12.12.54 - The great endeavor one undergoes in executing the ordinary social and religious duties of the varëāçrama system, in performing austerities, and in hearing from the Vedas culminates only in the achievement of mundane fame and opulence. But by respecting and attentively hearing the recitation of the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Lord, the husband of the goddess of fortune, one can remember His lotus feet.

SB 12.12.55 - Remembrance of Lord Kāñëa's lotus feet destroys everything inauspicious and awards the greatest good fortune. It purifies the heart and bestows devotion for the Supreme Soul, along with knowledge enriched with realization and renunciation.

SB 12.12.56 - O most eminent of brāhmaëas, you are all indeed extremely fortunate, since you have already placed within your hearts Lord Çré Nārāyaëa-the Personality of Godhead, the supreme controller and the ultimate Soul of all existence-beyond whom there is no other god. You have undeviating love for Him, and thus I request you to worship Him.

SB 12.12.57 - I also have now been fully reminded of the science of God, which I previously heard from the mouth of the great sage Çukadeva Gosvāmé. I was present in the assembly of great sages who heard him speak to King Parékñit as the monarch sat fasting until death.

SB 12.12.58 - O brāhmaëas, I have thus described to you the glories of the Supreme Lord Vāsudeva, whose extraordinary activities are most worthy of glorification. This narration destroys all that is inauspicious.

SB 12.12.59 - One who with undeviating attention constantly recites this literature at every moment of every hour, as well as one who faithfully hears even one verse or half a verse or a single line or even half a line, certainly purifies his very self.

SB 12.12.60 - One who hears this Bhāgavatam on the Ekādaçé or Dvādaçé day is assured of long life, and one who recites it with careful attention while fasting is purified of all sinful reactions.

SB 12.12.61 - One who controls his mind, fasts at the holy places Puñkara, Mathurā or Dvārakā, and studies this scripture will be freed from all fear.

SB 12.12.62 - Upon the person who glorifies this Purāṇa by chanting or hearing it, the demigods, sages, Siddhas, Pitās, Manus and kings of the earth bestow all desirable things.

SB 12.12.63 - By studying this Bhāgavatam, a brāhmaṇa can enjoy the same rivers of honey, ghee and milk he enjoys by studying the hymns of the Āg, Yajur and Sāma Vedas.

SB 12.12.64 - A brāhmaṇa who diligently reads this essential compilation of all the Purāṇas will go to the supreme destination, which the Supreme Lord Himself has herein described.

SB 12.12.65 - A brāhmaṇa who studies the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam achieves firm intelligence in devotional service, a king who studies it gains sovereignty over the earth, a vaiṣya acquires great treasure and a śūdra is freed from sinful reactions.

SB 12.12.66 - Lord Hari, the supreme controller of all beings, annihilates the accumulated sins of the Kali age, yet other literatures do not constantly glorify Him. But that Supreme Personality of Godhead, appearing in His innumerable personal expansions, is abundantly and constantly described throughout the various narrations of this Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

SB 12.12.67 - I bow down to that unborn and infinite Supreme Soul, whose personal energies effect the creation, maintenance and destruction of the material universe. Even Brahmā, Indra, Īśānā and the other lords of the heavenly planets cannot fathom the glories of that infallible Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.12.68 - I offer my obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the eternal Lord and the leader of all other deities, who by evolving His nine material energies has arranged within Himself the abode of all moving and nonmoving creatures, and who is always situated in pure, transcendental consciousness.

SB 12.12.69 - Let me offer my respectful obeisances unto my spiritual master, the son of Vyāsadeva, Çukadeva Gosvāmé. It is he who defeats all inauspicious things within this universe. Although in the beginning he was absorbed in the happiness of Brahman realization and was living in a secluded place, giving up all other types of consciousness, he became attracted by the pleasing, most melodious pastimes of Lord Çré Kāñëa. He therefore mercifully spoke this supreme Puräëa, Çrémad-Bhägavatam, which is the bright light of the Absolute Truth and which describes the activities of the Lord.

123 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.12.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Offering my obeisances to the supreme religious principle, devotional service; to Lord Kāñëa, the supreme creator; and to all the brāhmaëas, I shall now describe the eternal principles of religion.

SB 12.12.2 - O great sages, I have narrated to you the wonderful pastimes of Lord Viñëu, as you inquired about them from me. Hearing such narrations is the suitable engagement for a person who is actually a human being.

SB 12.12.3 - This literature fully glorifies the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari, who removes all His devotees' sinful reactions. The Lord is glorified as Nārāyaëa, Hāñëkeça and the Lord of the Sātvatas.

SB 12.12.4 - This literature describes the mystery of the Supreme Absolute Truth, the source of the creation and annihilation of this universe. Also presented are divine knowledge of Him together with the process of its cultivation, and the transcendental realization one achieves.

SB 12.12.5 - The following topics are also narrated: the process of devotional service together with its subsidiary feature of renunciation, and the histories of Mahārāja Parékñit and the sage Nārada.

SB 12.12.6 - Also described are saintly King Parékñit's sitting down to fast until death in response to the curse of a brähmaëa's son, and the conversations between Parékñit and Çukadeva Gosvämé, who is the best of all brähmaëas.

SB 12.12.7 - The Bhāgavatam explains how one can attain liberation at the time of death by practicing fixed meditation in yoga. It also contains a discussion between Nārada and Brahmä, an enumeration of the incarnations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and a description of how the universe was created in progressive sequence, beginning from the unmanifest stage of material nature.

SB 12.12.8 - This scripture also relates the discussions Vidura had with Uddhava and with Maitreya, inquiries about the subject matter of this Puräëa, and the winding up of creation within the body of the Supreme Lord at the time of annihilation.

SB 12.12.9 - The creation effected by the agitation of the modes of material nature, the seven stages of evolution by elemental transformation, and the construction of the universal egg, from which arises the universal form of the Supreme Lord-all these are thoroughly described.

SB 12.12.10 - Other topics include the subtle and gross movements of time, the generation of the lotus from the navel of Garbhodakaçäyë Viñëu, and the killing of the demon Hiraëyäkñä when the earth was delivered from the Garbhodaka Ocean.

SB 12.12.11 - The Bhägavatam also describes the creation of demigods, animals and demoniac species of life; the birth of Lord Rudra; and the appearance of Svâyambhuva Manu from the half-man, half-woman Êçvara.

SB 12.12.12 - Also related are the appearance of the first woman, Çatarüpä, who was the excellent consort of Manu, and the offspring of the pious wives of Prajâpati Kardama.

SB 12.12.13 - The Bhägavatam describes the incarnation of the Supreme Personality of Godhead as the exalted sage Kapila and records the conversation between that greatly learned soul and His mother, Devahüti.

SB 12.12.14-15 - Also described are the progeny of the nine great brähmaëas, the destruction of Dakñä's sacrifice, and the history of Dhruva Mahäräja, followed by the histories of King Pâthu and King Prâcënarhi, the discussion between Prâcënarhi and Närada, and the life of Mahäräja Priyavrata. Then, O brähmaëas, the Bhägavatam tells of the character and activities of King Nâbhi, Lord Āñabha and King Bharata.

SB 12.12.16 - The Bhägavatam gives an elaborate description of the earth's continents, regions, oceans, mountains and rivers. Also described are the arrangement of the celestial sphere and the conditions found in the subterranean regions and in hell.

SB 12.12.17 - The rebirth of Prajâpati Dakñä as the son of the Pracetäs, and the progeny of Dakñä's daughters, who initiated the races of demigods, demons, human beings, animals, serpents, birds and so on-all this is described.

SB 12.12.18 - O brähmaëas, also recounted are the births and deaths of Vâtrâsura and of Diti's sons Hiraëyäkñä and Hiraëyakaçipu, as well as the history of the greatest of Diti's descendants, the exalted soul Prahlâda.

SB 12.12.19 - The reign of each Manu, the liberation of Gajendra, and the special incarnations of Lord Viñëu in each manv-antara, such as Lord Hayaçérñä, are described as well.

SB 12.12.20 - The Bhägavatam also tells of the appearances of the Lord of the universe as Kürma, Matsya, Narasiñha and Vâmana, and of the demigods' churning of the milk ocean to obtain nectar.

SB 12.12.21 - An account of the great battle fought between the demigods and the demons, a systematic description of the dynasties of various kings, and narrations concerning Ikāvâku's birth, his dynasty and the dynasty of the pious Sudyumna-all are presented within this literature.

SB 12.12.22 - Also related are the histories of Ilä and Tärä, and the description of the descendants of the sun-god, including such kings as Çaçäda and Nâga.

SB 12.12.23 - The histories of Sukanyä, Çaryäti, the intelligent Kakutstha, Khaöväiga, Mändhätä, Saubhari and Sagara are narrated.

SB 12.12.24 - The Bhägavatam narrates the sanctifying pastimes of Lord Râmacandra, the King of Kosala, and also explains how King Nimi abandoned his material body. The appearance of the descendants of King Janaka is also mentioned.

SB 12.12.25-26 - The Çrémad-Bhāgavatam describes how Lord Paraçurāma, the greatest descendant of Bhāgu, annihilated all the kñātriyas on the face of the earth. It further recounts the lives of glorious kings who appeared in the dynasty of the moon-god-kings such as Aila, Yayāti, Nahuña, Duñimanta's son Bharata, Çāntanu and Çāntanu's son Bhāima. Also described is the great dynasty founded by King Yadu, the eldest son of Yayāti.

SB 12.12.27 - How Çré Kāñëa, the Supreme personality of Godhead and Lord of the universe, descended into this Yadu dynasty, how He took birth in the home of Vasudeva, and how He then grew up in Gokula-all this is described in detail.

SB 12.12.28-29 - Also glorified are the innumerable pastimes of Çré Kāñëa, the enemy of the demons, including His childhood pastimes of sucking out Pūtanā's life air along with her breast-milk, breaking the cart, trampling down Tāëāvarta, killing Bakāsura, Vatsāsura and Aghāsura, and the pastimes He enacted when Lord Brahmā hid His calves and cowherd boyfriends in a cave.

SB 12.12.30 - The Çrémad-Bhāgavatam tells how Lord Kāñëa and Lord Balarāma killed the demon Dhenukāsura and his companions, how Lord Balarāma destroyed Pralambāsura, and also how Kāñëa saved the cowherd boys from a raging forest fire that had encircled them.

SB 12.12.31-33 - The chastisement of the serpent Kāliya; the rescue of Nanda Mahārāja from a great snake; the severe vows performed by the young gopés, who thus satisfied Lord Kāñëa; the mercy He showed the wives of the Vedic brāhmaëas, who felt remorse; the lifting of Govardhana Hill followed by the worship and bathing ceremony performed by Indra and the Surabhi cow; Lord Kāñëa's nocturnal pastimes with the cowherd girls; and the killing of the foolish demons Çai khacüòà, Ariñòà and Keçé-all these pastimes are elaborately recounted.

SB 12.12.34 - The Bhāgavatam describes the arrival of Akrūra, the subsequent departure of Kāṇḍa and Balarāma, the lamentation of the gopas and the touring of Mathurā.

SB 12.12.35 - Also narrated are how Kāṇḍa and Balarāma killed the elephant Kuvalayāpēṇa, the wrestlers Muñḍika and Cāḍūra, and Kaṇḍa and other demons, as well as how Kāṇḍa brought back the dead son of His spiritual master, Sāndēpani Muni.

SB 12.12.36 - Then, O brāhmaṇas, this scripture recounts how Lord Hari, while residing in Mathurā in the company of Uddhava and Balarāma, performed pastimes for the satisfaction of the Yadu dynasty.

SB 12.12.37 - Also described are the annihilation of each of the many armies brought by Jarāsandha, the killing of the barbarian king Kālayavana and the establishment of Dvārakā City.

SB 12.12.38 - This work also describes how Lord Kāṇḍa brought from heaven the pārijāta tree and the Sudharmā assembly hall, and how He kidnapped Rukmiṇī by defeating all His rivals in battle.

SB 12.12.39 - Also narrated are how Lord Kāṇḍa, in the battle with Bāḍāsura, defeated Lord Śiva by making him yawn, how the Lord cut off Bāḍāsura's arms, and how He killed the master of Prāgjyotiṇapura and then rescued the young princesses held captive in that city.

SB 12.12.40-41 - There are descriptions of the powers and the deaths of the King of Cedi, Pauṇḍraka, Śālva, the foolish Dantavakra, Śambhara, Dvidida, Pēṇa, Mura, Paṇḍajana and other demons, along with a description of how Vārāëasé was burned to the ground. The Bhāgavatam also recounts how Lord Kāñëa relieved the earth's burden by engaging the Pāëòavas in the Battle of Kurukñetra.

SB 12.12.42-43 - How the Lord withdrew His own dynasty on the pretext of the brāhmaëas' curse; Vasudeva's conversation with Nārada; the extraordinary conversation between Uddhava and Kāñëa, which reveals the science of the self in complete detail and elucidates the religious principles of human society; and then how Lord Kāñëa gave up this mortal world by His own mystic power-the Bhāgavatam narrates all these events.

SB 12.12.44 - This work also describes people's characteristics and behavior in the different ages, the chaos men experience in the age of Kali, the four kinds of annihilation and the three kinds of creation.

SB 12.12.45 - There are also an account of the passing away of the wise and saintly King Viñëurāta [Parékñit], an explanation of how Çrëa Vyāsadeva disseminated the branches of the Vedas, a pious narration concerning Märkaëòeya Āñi, and a description of the detailed arrangement of the Lord's universal form and His form as the sun, the soul of the universe.

SB 12.12.46 - Thus, O best of the brāhmaëas, I have explained herein what you have inquired from me. This literature has glorified in full detail the activities of the Lord's pastime incarnations.

SB 12.12.47 - If when falling, slipping, feeling pain or sneezing one involuntarily cries out in a loud voice, "Obeisances to Lord Hari!" one will be automatically freed from all his sinful reactions.

SB 12.12.48 - When people properly glorify the Supreme Personality of Godhead or simply hear about His power, the Lord personally enters their hearts and cleanses away every trace of misfortune, just as the sun removes the darkness or as a powerful wind drives away the clouds.

SB 12.12.49 - Words that do not describe the transcendental Personality of Godhead but instead deal with temporary matters are simply false and useless. Only those words that manifest the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Lord are actually truthful, auspicious and pious.

SB 12.12.50 - Those words describing the glories of the all-famous Personality of Godhead are attractive, relishable and ever fresh. Indeed, such words are a perpetual festival for the mind, and they dry up the ocean of misery.

SB 12.12.51 - Those words that do not describe the glories of the Lord, who alone can sanctify the atmosphere of the whole universe, are considered to be like unto a place of pilgrimage for crows, and are never resorted to by those situated in transcendental knowledge. The pure and saintly devotees take interest only in topics glorifying the infallible Supreme Lord.

SB 12.12.52 - On the other hand, that literature which is full of descriptions of the transcendental glories of the name, fame, forms, pastimes and so on of the unlimited Supreme Lord is a different creation, full of transcendental words directed toward bringing about a revolution in the impious lives of this world's misdirected civilization. Such transcendental literatures, even though imperfectly composed, are heard, sung and accepted by purified men who are thoroughly honest.

SB 12.12.53 - Knowledge of self-realization, even though free from all material affinity, does not look well if devoid of a conception of the Infallible [God]. What, then, is the use of even the most properly performed fruitive activities, which are naturally painful from the very beginning and transient by nature, if they are not utilized for the devotional service of the Lord?

SB 12.12.54 - The great endeavor one undergoes in executing the ordinary social and religious duties of the varëāçrama system, in performing austerities, and in hearing from the Vedas culminates only in the achievement of mundane fame and opulence. But by respecting and attentively hearing the recitation of the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Lord, the husband of the goddess of fortune, one can remember His lotus feet.

SB 12.12.55 - Remembrance of Lord Kāñëa's lotus feet destroys everything inauspicious and awards the greatest good fortune. It purifies the heart and bestows devotion for the Supreme Soul, along with knowledge enriched with realization and renunciation.

SB 12.12.56 - O most eminent of brāhmaëas, you are all indeed extremely fortunate, since you have already placed within your hearts Lord Çré Nārāyaëa-the Personality of Godhead, the supreme controller and the ultimate Soul of all existence-beyond whom there is no other god. You have undeviating love for Him, and thus I request you to worship Him.

SB 12.12.57 - I also have now been fully reminded of the science of God, which I previously heard from the mouth of the great sage Çukadeva Gosvämé. I was present in the assembly of great sages who heard him speak to King Parékñit as the monarch sat fasting until death.

SB 12.12.58 - O brāhmaëas, I have thus described to you the glories of the Supreme Lord Väsudeva, whose extraordinary activities are most worthy of glorification. This narration destroys all that is inauspicious.

SB 12.12.59 - One who with undeviating attention constantly recites this literature at every moment of every hour, as well as one who faithfully hears even one verse or half a verse or a single line or even half a line, certainly purifies his very self.

SB 12.12.60 - One who hears this Bhāgavatam on the Ekādaśī or Dvādaśī day is assured of long life, and one who recites it with careful attention while fasting is purified of all sinful reactions.

SB 12.12.61 - One who controls his mind, fasts at the holy places Puṅkara, Mathurā or Dvārakā, and studies this scripture will be freed from all fear.

SB 12.12.62 - Upon the person who glorifies this Purāṇa by chanting or hearing it, the demigods, sages, Siddhas, Pitās, Manus and kings of the earth bestow all desirable things.

SB 12.12.63 - By studying this Bhāgavatam, a brāhmaṇa can enjoy the same rivers of honey, ghee and milk he enjoys by studying the hymns of the Ṛg, Yajur and Sāma Vedas.

SB 12.12.64 - A brāhmaṇa who diligently reads this essential compilation of all the Purāṇas will go to the supreme destination, which the Supreme Lord Himself has herein described.

SB 12.12.65 - A brāhmaṇa who studies the Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam achieves firm intelligence in devotional service, a king who studies it gains sovereignty over the earth, a vaiçya acquires great treasure and a çūdra is freed from sinful reactions.

SB 12.12.66 - Lord Hari, the supreme controller of all beings, annihilates the accumulated sins of the Kali age, yet other literatures do not constantly glorify Him. But that Supreme Personality of Godhead, appearing in His innumerable personal expansions, is abundantly and constantly described throughout the various narrations of this Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam.

SB 12.12.67 - I bow down to that unborn and infinite Supreme Soul, whose personal energies effect the creation, maintenance and destruction of the material universe. Even Brahmā, Indra, Ćaī kara and the other lords of the heavenly planets cannot fathom the glories of that infallible Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.12.68 - I offer my obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the eternal Lord and the leader of all other deities, who by evolving His nine material energies has arranged within Himself the abode of all moving and nonmoving creatures, and who is always situated in pure, transcendental consciousness.

SB 12.12.69 - Let me offer my respectful obeisances unto my spiritual master, the son of Vyāsadeva, Ćukadeva Gosvāmé. It is he who defeats all inauspicious things within this universe. Although in the beginning he was absorbed in the happiness of Brahman realization and was living in a secluded place, giving up all other types of consciousness, he became attracted by the pleasing, most melodious pastimes of Lord Ćré Kāñëa. He therefore mercifully spoke this supreme Puräëa, Ćrémad-Bhāgavatam, which is the bright light of the Absolute Truth and which describes the activities of the Lord.

124 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.12.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Offering my obeisances to the supreme religious principle, devotional service; to Lord Kāñëa, the supreme creator; and to all the brāhmaëas, I shall now describe the eternal principles of religion.

SB 12.12.2 - O great sages, I have narrated to you the wonderful pastimes of Lord Viñëu, as you inquired about them from me. Hearing such narrations is the suitable engagement for a person who is actually a human being.

SB 12.12.3 - This literature fully glorifies the Supreme Personality of Godhead Hari, who removes all His devotees' sinful reactions. The Lord is glorified as Nārāyaṇa, Hāṇkeṇa and the Lord of the Sātvatas.

SB 12.12.4 - This literature describes the mystery of the Supreme Absolute Truth, the source of the creation and annihilation of this universe. Also presented are divine knowledge of Him together with the process of its cultivation, and the transcendental realization one achieves.

SB 12.12.5 - The following topics are also narrated: the process of devotional service together with its subsidiary feature of renunciation, and the histories of Mahārāja Parīkṣit and the sage Nārada.

SB 12.12.6 - Also described are saintly King Parīkṣit's sitting down to fast until death in response to the curse of a brāhmaṇa's son, and the conversations between Parīkṣit and Śukadeva Gosvāmī, who is the best of all brāhmaṇas.

SB 12.12.7 - The Bhāgavatam explains how one can attain liberation at the time of death by practicing fixed meditation in yoga. It also contains a discussion between Nārada and Brahmā, an enumeration of the incarnations of the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and a description of how the universe was created in progressive sequence, beginning from the unmanifest stage of material nature.

SB 12.12.8 - This scripture also relates the discussions Vidura had with Uddhava and with Maitreya, inquiries about the subject matter of this Purāṇa, and the winding up of creation within the body of the Supreme Lord at the time of annihilation.

SB 12.12.9 - The creation effected by the agitation of the modes of material nature, the seven stages of evolution by elemental transformation, and the construction of the universal egg, from which arises the universal form of the Supreme Lord-all these are thoroughly described.

SB 12.12.10 - Other topics include the subtle and gross movements of time, the generation of the lotus from the navel of Garbhodakaçäyë Viñëu, and the killing of the demon Hiraëyäkñä when the earth was delivered from the Garbhodaka Ocean.

SB 12.12.11 - The Bhāgavatam also describes the creation of demigods, animals and demoniac species of life; the birth of Lord Rudra; and the appearance of Svāyambhuva Manu from the half-man, half-woman Ēçvara.

SB 12.12.12 - Also related are the appearance of the first woman, Çatarüpä, who was the excellent consort of Manu, and the offspring of the pious wives of Prajāpati Kardama.

SB 12.12.13 - The Bhāgavatam describes the incarnation of the Supreme Personality of Godhead as the exalted sage Kapila and records the conversation between that greatly learned soul and His mother, Devahüti.

SB 12.12.14-15 - Also described are the progeny of the nine great brāhmaëas, the destruction of Dakñä's sacrifice, and the history of Dhruva Mahārāja, followed by the histories of King Pāthu and King Prācēnabarhi, the discussion between Prācēnabarhi and Nārada, and the life of Mahārāja Priyavrata. Then, O brāhmaëas, the Bhāgavatam tells of the character and activities of King Nābhi, Lord Āñabha and King Bharata.

SB 12.12.16 - The Bhāgavatam gives an elaborate description of the earth's continents, regions, oceans, mountains and rivers. Also described are the arrangement of the celestial sphere and the conditions found in the subterranean regions and in hell.

SB 12.12.17 - The rebirth of Prajāpati Dakṣa as the son of the Pracetas, and the progeny of Dakṣa's daughters, who initiated the races of demigods, demons, human beings, animals, serpents, birds and so on-all this is described.

SB 12.12.18 - O brāhmaṇas, also recounted are the births and deaths of Vātrāsura and of Diti's sons Hiraṇyākṣa and Hiraṇyakaśipu, as well as the history of the greatest of Diti's descendants, the exalted soul Prahlāda.

SB 12.12.19 - The reign of each Manu, the liberation of Gajendra, and the special incarnations of Lord Viṣṇu in each manv-antara, such as Lord Hayaśrī, are described as well.

SB 12.12.20 - The Bhāgavatam also tells of the appearances of the Lord of the universe as Kūrma, Matsya, Narasiṃha and Vāmana, and of the demigods' churning of the milk ocean to obtain nectar.

SB 12.12.21 - An account of the great battle fought between the demigods and the demons, a systematic description of the dynasties of various kings, and narrations concerning Ikṣvāku's birth, his dynasty and the dynasty of the pious Sudyumna-all are presented within this literature.

SB 12.12.22 - Also related are the histories of Ilā and Tārā, and the description of the descendants of the sun-god, including such kings as Çāçāda and Nāga.

SB 12.12.23 - The histories of Sukanyā, Çaryāti, the intelligent Kakutstha, Khaṇḍavāga, Māndhātā, Saubhari and Sagara are narrated.

SB 12.12.24 - The Bhāgavatam narrates the sanctifying pastimes of Lord Rāmacandra, the King of Kosala, and also explains how King Nimi abandoned his material body. The appearance of the descendants of King Janaka is also mentioned.

SB 12.12.25-26 - The Çrémad-Bhāgavatam describes how Lord Paraçurāma, the greatest descendant of Bhāgu, annihilated all the kñatriyas on the face of the earth. It further recounts the lives of glorious kings who appeared in the dynasty of the moon-god-kings such as Aila, Yayāti, Nahuña, Duīmanta's son Bharata, Çāntanu and Çāntanu's son Bhāima. Also described is the great dynasty founded by King Yadu, the eldest son of Yayāti.

SB 12.12.27 - How Çré Kāñëa, the Supreme personality of Godhead and Lord of the universe, descended into this Yadu dynasty, how He took birth in the home of Vasudeva, and how He then grew up in Gokula-all this is described in detail.

SB 12.12.28-29 - Also glorified are the innumerable pastimes of Çré Kāñëa, the enemy of the demons, including His childhood pastimes of sucking out Pūtanā's life air along with her breast-milk, breaking the cart, trampling down Tāëāvarta, killing Bakāsura, Vatsāsura and Aghāsura, and the pastimes He enacted when Lord Brahmā hid His calves and cowherd boyfriends in a cave.

SB 12.12.30 - The Çrémad-Bhāgavatam tells how Lord Kāñëa and Lord Balarāma killed the demon Dhenukāsura and his companions, how Lord Balarāma destroyed Pralambāsura, and also how Kāñëa saved the cowherd boys from a raging forest fire that had encircled them.

SB 12.12.31-33 - The chastisement of the serpent Kāliya; the rescue of Nanda Mahārāja from a great snake; the severe vows performed by the young

gopés, who thus satisfied Lord Kâñëa; the mercy He showed the wives of the Vedic brähmaëas, who felt remorse; the lifting of Govardhana Hill followed by the worship and bathing ceremony performed by Indra and the Surabhi cow; Lord Kâñëa's nocturnal pastimes with the cowherd girls; and the killing of the foolish demons Çai khacüòà, Ariñòa and Keçé-all these pastimes are elaborately recounted.

SB 12.12.34 - The Bhägavatam describes the arrival of Akrüra, the subsequent departure of Kâñëa and Balaräma, the lamentation of the gopés and the touring of Mathurä.

SB 12.12.35 - Also narrated are how Kâñëa and Balaräma killed the elephant Kuvalayäpèòà, the wrestlers Muñöika and Cäëüra, and Kaàsa and other demons, as well as how Kâñëa brought back the dead son of His spiritual master, Sändépani Muni.

SB 12.12.36 - Then, O brähmaëas, this scripture recounts how Lord Hari, while residing in Mathurä in the company of Uddhava and Balaräma, performed pastimes for the satisfaction of the Yadu dynasty.

SB 12.12.37 - Also described are the annihilation of each of the many armies brought by Jaräsandha, the killing of the barbarian king Kälaväna and the establishment of Dvärakä City.

SB 12.12.38 - This work also describes how Lord Kâñëa brought from heaven the pärijäta tree and the Sudharmä assembly hall, and how He kidnapped Rukmiëé by defeating all His rivals in battle.

SB 12.12.39 - Also narrated are how Lord Kâñëa, in the battle with Bäëäsura, defeated Lord Çiva by making him yawn, how the Lord cut off Bäëäsura's arms, and how He killed the master of Prägjyotiñapura and then rescued the young princesses held captive in that city.

SB 12.12.40-41 - There are descriptions of the powers and the deaths of the King of Cedi, Pauëòraka, Çälva, the foolish Dantavakra, Çambara, Dvividā, Pëøha, Mura, Paï cajana and other demons, along with a description of how Vārëäsé was burned to the ground. The Bhāgavatam also recounts how Lord Kāñëa relieved the earth's burden by engaging the Päëòavas in the Battle of Kurukñetra.

SB 12.12.42-43 - How the Lord withdrew His own dynasty on the pretext of the brāhmaëas' curse; Vasudeva's conversation with Nārada; the extraordinary conversation between Uddhava and Kāñëa, which reveals the science of the self in complete detail and elucidates the religious principles of human society; and then how Lord Kāñëa gave up this mortal world by His own mystic power-the Bhāgavatam narrates all these events.

SB 12.12.44 - This work also describes people's characteristics and behavior in the different ages, the chaos men experience in the age of Kali, the four kinds of annihilation and the three kinds of creation.

SB 12.12.45 - There are also an account of the passing away of the wise and saintly King Viñëurāta [Parékñit], an explanation of how Çrëla Vyāsadeva disseminated the branches of the Vedas, a pious narration concerning Märkaëøeya Āñi, and a description of the detailed arrangement of the Lord's universal form and His form as the sun, the soul of the universe.

SB 12.12.46 - Thus, O best of the brāhmaëas, I have explained herein what you have inquired from me. This literature has glorified in full detail the activities of the Lord's pastime incarnations.

SB 12.12.47 - If when falling, slipping, feeling pain or sneezing one involuntarily cries out in a loud voice, "Obeisances to Lord Hari!" one will be automatically freed from all his sinful reactions.

SB 12.12.48 - When people properly glorify the Supreme Personality of Godhead or simply hear about His power, the Lord personally enters their hearts and cleanses away every trace of misfortune, just as the sun removes the darkness or as a powerful wind drives away the clouds.

SB 12.12.49 - Words that do not describe the transcendental Personality of Godhead but instead deal with temporary matters are simply false and useless. Only those words that manifest the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Lord are actually truthful, auspicious and pious.

SB 12.12.50 - Those words describing the glories of the all-famous Personality of Godhead are attractive, relishable and ever fresh. Indeed, such words are a perpetual festival for the mind, and they dry up the ocean of misery.

SB 12.12.51 - Those words that do not describe the glories of the Lord, who alone can sanctify the atmosphere of the whole universe, are considered to be like unto a place of pilgrimage for crows, and are never resorted to by those situated in transcendental knowledge. The pure and saintly devotees take interest only in topics glorifying the infallible Supreme Lord.

SB 12.12.52 - On the other hand, that literature which is full of descriptions of the transcendental glories of the name, fame, forms, pastimes and so on of the unlimited Supreme Lord is a different creation, full of transcendental words directed toward bringing about a revolution in the impious lives of this world's misdirected civilization. Such transcendental literatures, even though imperfectly composed, are heard, sung and accepted by purified men who are thoroughly honest.

SB 12.12.53 - Knowledge of self-realization, even though free from all material affinity, does not look well if devoid of a conception of the Infallible [God]. What, then, is the use of even the most properly performed fruitive activities, which are naturally painful from the very beginning and transient by nature, if they are not utilized for the devotional service of the Lord?

SB 12.12.54 - The great endeavor one undergoes in executing the ordinary social and religious duties of the varëāçrama system, in performing austerities, and in hearing from the Vedas culminates only in the achievement of mundane fame and opulence. But by respecting and attentively hearing the recitation of the transcendental qualities of the Supreme Lord, the husband of the goddess of fortune, one can remember His lotus feet.

SB 12.12.55 - Remembrance of Lord Kāñëa's lotus feet destroys everything inauspicious and awards the greatest good fortune. It purifies the heart and bestows devotion for the Supreme Soul, along with knowledge enriched with realization and renunciation.

SB 12.12.56 - O most eminent of brähmaëas, you are all indeed extremely fortunate, since you have already placed within your hearts Lord Çré Nārāyaëa-the Personality of Godhead, the supreme controller and the ultimate Soul of all existence-beyond whom there is no other god. You have undeviating love for Him, and thus I request you to worship Him.

SB 12.12.57 - I also have now been fully reminded of the science of God, which I previously heard from the mouth of the great sage Çukadeva Gosvämé. I was present in the assembly of great sages who heard him speak to King Parékñit as the monarch sat fasting until death.

SB 12.12.58 - O brähmaëas, I have thus described to you the glories of the Supreme Lord Vāsudeva, whose extraordinary activities are most worthy of glorification. This narration destroys all that is inauspicious.

SB 12.12.59 - One who with undeviating attention constantly recites this literature at every moment of every hour, as well as one who faithfully hears even one verse or half a verse or a single line or even half a line, certainly purifies his very self.

SB 12.12.60 - One who hears this Bhāgavatam on the Ekādaśī or Dvādaśī day is assured of long life, and one who recites it with careful attention while fasting is purified of all sinful reactions.

SB 12.12.61 - One who controls his mind, fasts at the holy places Puṅkara, Mathurā or Dvārakā, and studies this scripture will be freed from all fear.

SB 12.12.62 - Upon the person who glorifies this Purāṇa by chanting or hearing it, the demigods, sages, Siddhas, Pitās, Manus and kings of the earth bestow all desirable things.

SB 12.12.63 - By studying this Bhāgavatam, a brāhmaṇa can enjoy the same rivers of honey, ghee and milk he enjoys by studying the hymns of the Ṛg, Yajur and Sāma Vedas.

SB 12.12.64 - A brāhmaṇa who diligently reads this essential compilation of all the Purāṇas will go to the supreme destination, which the Supreme Lord Himself has herein described.

SB 12.12.65 - A brāhmaṇa who studies the Çrēmad-Bhāgavatam achieves firm intelligence in devotional service, a king who studies it gains sovereignty over the earth, a vaiçya acquires great treasure and a çūdra is freed from sinful reactions.

SB 12.12.66 - Lord Hari, the supreme controller of all beings, annihilates the accumulated sins of the Kali age, yet other literatures do not constantly glorify Him. But that Supreme Personality of Godhead, appearing in His innumerable personal expansions, is abundantly and constantly described throughout the various narrations of this Çrémad-Bhāgavatam.

SB 12.12.67 - I bow down to that unborn and infinite Supreme Soul, whose personal energies effect the creation, maintenance and destruction of the material universe. Even Brahmā, Indra, Çai kara and the other lords of the heavenly planets cannot fathom the glories of that infallible Personality of Godhead.

SB 12.12.68 - I offer my obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is the eternal Lord and the leader of all other deities, who by evolving His nine material energies has arranged within Himself the abode of all moving and nonmoving creatures, and who is always situated in pure, transcendental consciousness.

SB 12.12.69 - Let me offer my respectful obeisances unto my spiritual master, the son of Vyāsadeva, Çukadeva Gosvāmé. It is he who defeats all inauspicious things within this universe. Although in the beginning he was absorbed in the happiness of Brahman realization and was living in a secluded place, giving up all other types of consciousness, he became attracted by the pleasing, most melodious pastimes of Lord Çré Kāñëa. He therefore mercifully spoke this supreme Purāëa, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, which is the bright light of the Absolute Truth and which describes the activities of the Lord.

125 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.13.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Unto that personality whom Brahmā, Varuëa, Indra, Rudra and the Maruts praise by chanting transcendental hymns and reciting the Vedas with all their corollaries, pada-kramas and Upaniṣads, to whom the chanters of the Sāma Veda always sing, whom the perfected yogés see within their minds after fixing themselves in trance and absorbing themselves within Him, and whose limit can never be found by any demigod or demon-onto that Supreme Personality of Godhead I offer my humble obeisances.

SB 12.13.2 - When the Supreme Personality of Godhead appeared as Lord Kūrma, a tortoise, His back was scratched by the sharp-edged stones lying on massive, whirling Mount Mandara, and this scratching made the Lord sleepy. May you all be protected by the winds caused by the Lord's breathing in this sleepy condition. Ever since that time, even up to the present day, the ocean tides have imitated the Lord's inhalation and exhalation by piously coming in and going out.

SB 12.13.3 - Now please hear a summation of the verse length of each of the Purāṇas. Then hear of the prime subject and purpose of this Bhāgavata Purāṇa, the proper method of giving it as a gift, the glories of such gift-giving, and finally the glories of hearing and chanting this literature.

SB 12.13.4-9 - The Brahmā Purāṇa consists of ten thousand verses, the Padma Purāṇa of fifty-five thousand, Śrī Viṇēu Purāṇa of twenty-three thousand, the Śiva Purāṇa of twenty-four thousand and Śrēmad-Bhāgavatam of eighteen thousand. The Nārada Purāṇa has twenty-five thousand verses, the Mārkaṇḍeya Purāṇa nine thousand, the Agni Purāṇa fifteen thousand four hundred, the Bhaviṇya Purāṇa fourteen thousand five hundred, the Brahma-vaivarta Purāṇa eighteen thousand and the Liṅga Purāṇa eleven thousand. The Varāha Purāṇa contains twenty-four thousand verses, the Skanda Purāṇa eighty-one thousand one hundred, the Vāmana Purāṇa ten thousand, the Kūrma Purāṇa seventeen thousand, the Matsya Purāṇa fourteen thousand, the Garuḍa Purāṇa nineteen thousand and the Brahmāṇḍa Purāṇa twelve thousand. Thus the total number of verses in all the Purāṇas is four hundred thousand. Eighteen thousand of these, once again, belong to the beautiful Bhāgavatam.

SB 12.13.10 - It was to Lord Brahmā that the Supreme Personality of Godhead first revealed the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam in full. At the time, Brahmā, frightened by material existence, was sitting on the lotus flower that had grown from the Lord's navel.

SB 12.13.11-12 - From beginning to end, the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is full of narrations that encourage renunciation of material life, as well as nectarean accounts of Lord Hari's transcendental pastimes, which give ecstasy to the saintly devotees and demigods. This Bhāgavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while nondifferent from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth.

SB 12.13.13 - If on the full moon day of the month of Bhādra one places Çrémad-Bhāgavatam on a golden throne and gives it as a gift, he will attain the supreme transcendental destination.

SB 12.13.14 - All other Puranic scriptures shine forth in the assembly of saintly devotees only as long as that great ocean of nectar, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, is not heard.

SB 12.13.15 - Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is declared to be the essence of all Vedānta philosophy. One who has felt satisfaction from its nectarean mellow will never be attracted to any other literature.

SB 12.13.16 - Just as the Gaṇḡā is the greatest of all rivers, Lord Acyuta the supreme among deities and Lord Çambhu [Çiva] the greatest of Vaiñēavas, so Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is the greatest of all Purāēas.

SB 12.13.17 - O brähmaëas, in the same way that the city of Kâçé is unexcelled among holy places, Çrémad-Bhägavatam is supreme among all the Puräëas.

SB 12.13.18 - Çrémad-Bhägavatam is the spotless Puräëa. It is most dear to the Vaiñëavas because it describes the pure and supreme knowledge of the paramahaàsas. This Bhägavatam reveals the means for becoming free from all material work, together with the processes of transcendental knowledge, renunciation and devotion. Anyone who seriously tries to understand Çrémad-Bhägavatam, who properly hears and chants it with devotion, becomes completely liberated.

SB 12.13.19 - I meditate upon that pure and spotless Supreme Absolute Truth, who is free from suffering and death and who in the beginning personally revealed this incomparable torchlight of knowledge to Brahmä. Brahmä then spoke it to the sage Närada, who narrated it to Kânëa-dvaipäyana Vyäsa. Çréla Vyäsa revealed this Bhägavatam to the greatest of sages, Çukadeva Gosvämé, and Çukadeva mercifully spoke it to Mahäräja Parékñit.

SB 12.13.20 - We offer our obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Väsudeva, the all-pervading witness, who mercifully explained this science to Brahmä when he anxiously desired salvation.

SB 12.13.21 - I offer my humble obeisances to Çré Çukadeva Gosvämé, the best of mystic sages and a personal manifestation of the Absolute Truth. He saved Mahäräja Parékñit, who was bitten by the snake of material existence.

SB 12.13.22 - O Lord of lords, O master, please grant us pure devotional service at Your lotus feet, life after life.

SB 12.13.23 - I offer my respectful obeisances unto the Supreme Lord, Hari, the congregational chanting of whose holy names destroys all sinful reactions, and the offering of obeisances unto whom relieves all material suffering.

126 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.13.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Unto that personality whom Brahmā, Varuëa, Indra, Rudra and the Maruts praise by chanting transcendental hymns and reciting the Vedas with all their corollaries, pada-kramas and Upaniñads, to whom the chanters of the Sāma Veda always sing, whom the perfected yogés see within their minds after fixing themselves in trance and absorbing themselves within Him, and whose limit can never be found by any demigod or demon-unto that Supreme Personality of Godhead I offer my humble obeisances.

SB 12.13.2 - When the Supreme Personality of Godhead appeared as Lord Kūrma, a tortoise, His back was scratched by the sharp-edged stones lying on massive, whirling Mount Mandara, and this scratching made the Lord sleepy. May you all be protected by the winds caused by the Lord's breathing in this sleepy condition. Ever since that time, even up to the present day, the ocean tides have imitated the Lord's inhalation and exhalation by piously coming in and going out.

SB 12.13.3 - Now please hear a summation of the verse length of each of the Puräëas. Then hear of the prime subject and purpose of this Bhāgavata Puräëa, the proper method of giving it as a gift, the glories of such gift-giving, and finally the glories of hearing and chanting this literature.

SB 12.13.4-9 - The Brahmā Puräëa consists of ten thousand verses, the Padma Puräëa of fifty-five thousand, Çré Viñëu Puräëa of twenty-three thousand, the Çiva Puräëa of twenty-four thousand and Çrémad-Bhägavatam of eighteen thousand. The Nārada Puräëa has twenty-five thousand verses, the Märkaëöeya Puräëa nine thousand, the Agni Puräëa fifteen thousand four hundred, the Bhaviṇya Puräëa fourteen thousand five hundred, the Brahma-vaivarta Puräëa eighteen thousand and the Liṅga Puräëa eleven thousand. The Varāha Puräëa contains twenty-four thousand verses, the Skanda Puräëa eighty-one thousand one hundred, the Vāmana Puräëa ten thousand, the Kürma Puräëa seventeen thousand, the Matsya Puräëa fourteen thousand, the Garuḍa Puräëa nineteen thousand and the Brahmäëḍa Puräëa twelve thousand. Thus the total number of verses in all the Puräëas is four hundred thousand. Eighteen thousand of these, once again, belong to the beautiful Bhägavatam.

SB 12.13.10 - It was to Lord Brahmä that the Supreme Personality of Godhead first revealed the Çrémad-Bhägavatam in full. At the time, Brahmä, frightened by material existence, was sitting on the lotus flower that had grown from the Lord's navel.

SB 12.13.11-12 - From beginning to end, the Çrémad-Bhägavatam is full of narrations that encourage renunciation of material life, as well as nectarean accounts of Lord Hari's transcendental pastimes, which give ecstasy to the saintly devotees and demigods. This Bhägavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while nondifferent from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth.

SB 12.13.13 - If on the full moon day of the month of Bhādra one places Çrémad-Bhägavatam on a golden throne and gives it as a gift, he will attain the supreme transcendental destination.

SB 12.13.14 - All other Puranic scriptures shine forth in the assembly of saintly devotees only as long as that great ocean of nectar, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, is not heard.

SB 12.13.15 - Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is declared to be the essence of all Vedānta philosophy. One who has felt satisfaction from its nectarean mellow will never be attracted to any other literature.

SB 12.13.16 - Just as the Gaṇḍā is the greatest of all rivers, Lord Acyuta
the supreme among deities and Lord Çambhu [Çiva] the greatest of Vaiñēavas, so Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is the greatest of all Purāṇas.

SB 12.13.17 - O brāhmaṇas, in the same way that the city of Kāçī is unexcelled among holy places, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is supreme among all the Purāṇas.

SB 12.13.18 - Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is the spotless Purāṇa. It is most dear to the Vaiñēavas because it describes the pure and supreme knowledge of the paramahāṇsas. This Bhāgavatam reveals the means for becoming free from all material work, together with the processes of transcendental knowledge, renunciation and devotion. Anyone who seriously tries to understand Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, who properly hears and chants it with devotion, becomes completely liberated.

SB 12.13.19 - I meditate upon that pure and spotless Supreme Absolute Truth, who is free from suffering and death and who in the beginning personally revealed this incomparable torchlight of knowledge to Brahmā.
Brahmā then spoke it to the sage Nārada, who narrated it to Kāñēa-dvaipāyana Vyāsa. Çréla Vyāsa revealed this Bhāgavatam to the greatest of sages, Çukadeva Gosvāmī, and Çukadeva mercifully spoke it to Mahārāja Parīkṣit.

SB 12.13.20 - We offer our obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Vāsudeva, the all-pervading witness, who mercifully explained this science to Brahmā when he anxiously desired salvation.

SB 12.13.21 - I offer my humble obeisances to Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmé, the best of mystic sages and a personal manifestation of the Absolute Truth. He saved Mahārāja Parékñit, who was bitten by the snake of material existence.

SB 12.13.22 - O Lord of lords, O master, please grant us pure devotional service at Your lotus feet, life after life.

SB 12.13.23 - I offer my respectful obeisances unto the Supreme Lord, Hari, the congregational chanting of whose holy names destroys all sinful reactions, and the offering of obeisances unto whom relieves all material suffering.

127 (Popup - Popup)

SB 12.13.1 - Sūta Gosvāmé said: Unto that personality whom Brahmā, Varuëa, Indra, Rudra and the Maruts praise by chanting transcendental hymns and reciting the Vedas with all their corollaries, pada-kramas and Upaniñads, to whom the chanters of the Sāma Veda always sing, whom the perfected yogés see within their minds after fixing themselves in trance and absorbing themselves within Him, and whose limit can never be found by any demigod or demon-unto that Supreme Personality of Godhead I offer my humble obeisances.

SB 12.13.2 - When the Supreme Personality of Godhead appeared as Lord Kūrma, a tortoise, His back was scratched by the sharp-edged stones lying on massive, whirling Mount Mandara, and this scratching made the Lord sleepy. May you all be protected by the winds caused by the Lord's breathing in this sleepy condition. Ever since that time, even up to the present day, the ocean tides have imitated the Lord's inhalation and exhalation by piously coming in and going out.

SB 12.13.3 - Now please hear a summation of the verse length of each of the Purāëas. Then hear of the prime subject and purpose of this Bhāgavata Purāëa, the proper method of giving it as a gift, the glories of such gift-giving, and finally the glories of hearing and chanting this literature.

SB 12.13.4-9 - The Brahmā Purāëa consists of ten thousand verses, the Padma Purāëa of fifty-five thousand, Çré Viñëu Purāëa of twenty-three thousand, the Çiva Purāëa of twenty-four thousand and Çrémad-Bhāgavatam of eighteen thousand. The Nārada Purāëa has twenty-five thousand verses, the Märkaëöeya Purāëa nine thousand, the Agni Purāëa fifteen thousand four hundred, the Bhaviñya Purāëa fourteen thousand five hundred, the Brahma-vaivarta Purāëa eighteen thousand and the Liî ga Purāëa eleven thousand. The Varāha Purāëa contains twenty-four thousand verses, the Skanda Purāëa eighty-one thousand one hundred, the Vāmana Purāëa ten thousand, the Kürma Purāëa seventeen thousand, the Matsya Purāëa fourteen thousand, the Garuòä Purāëa nineteen thousand and the Brahmäëòä Purāëa twelve thousand. Thus the total number of verses in all the Purāëas is four hundred thousand. Eighteen thousand of these, once again, belong to the beautiful Bhāgavatam.

SB 12.13.10 - It was to Lord Brahmā that the Supreme Personality of Godhead first revealed the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam in full. At the time, Brahmā, frightened by material existence, was sitting on the lotus flower that had grown from the Lord's navel.

SB 12.13.11-12 - From beginning to end, the Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is full of narrations that encourage renunciation of material life, as well as nectarean accounts of Lord Hari's transcendental pastimes, which give ecstasy to the saintly devotees and demigods. This Bhāgavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while nondifferent from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth.

SB 12.13.13 - If on the full moon day of the month of Bhādra one places Çrémad-Bhāgavatam on a golden throne and gives it as a gift, he will attain the supreme transcendental destination.

SB 12.13.14 - All other Puranic scriptures shine forth in the assembly of saintly devotees only as long as that great ocean of nectar, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, is not heard.

SB 12.13.15 - Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is declared to be the essence of all Vedānta philosophy. One who has felt satisfaction from its nectarean mellow will never be attracted to any other literature.

SB 12.13.16 - Just as the Gaṇḍā is the greatest of all rivers, Lord Acyuta the supreme among deities and Lord Çambhu [Çiva] the greatest of Vaiñēavas, so Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is the greatest of all Purāṇas.

SB 12.13.17 - O brāhmaṇas, in the same way that the city of Kāçī is unexcelled among holy places, Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is supreme among all the Purāṇas.

SB 12.13.18 - Çrémad-Bhāgavatam is the spotless Purāṇa. It is most dear to the Vaiñēavas because it describes the pure and supreme knowledge of the paramahaṇsas. This Bhāgavatam reveals the means for becoming free from all material work, together with the processes of transcendental knowledge, renunciation and devotion. Anyone who seriously tries to understand Çrémad-Bhāgavatam, who properly hears and chants it with devotion, becomes completely liberated.

SB 12.13.19 - I meditate upon that pure and spotless Supreme Absolute Truth, who is free from suffering and death and who in the beginning personally revealed this incomparable torchlight of knowledge to Brahmā. Brahmā then spoke it to the sage Nārada, who narrated it to Kāñēa-dvaipāyana Vyāsa. Çrēla Vyāsa revealed this Bhāgavatam to the greatest of sages, Çukadeva Gosvāmē, and Çukadeva mercifully spoke it to Mahārāja Parékñit.

SB 12.13.20 - We offer our obeisances to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Vāsudeva, the all-pervading witness, who mercifully explained this science to Brahmā when he anxiously desired salvation.

SB 12.13.21 - I offer my humble obeisances to Çré Çukadeva Gosvāmē, the best of mystic sages and a personal manifestation of the Absolute Truth. He saved Mahārāja Parékñit, who was bitten by the snake of material existence.

SB 12.13.22 - O Lord of lords, O master, please grant us pure devotional service at Your lotus feet, life after life.

SB 12.13.23 - I offer my respectful obeisances unto the Supreme Lord, Hari, the congregational chanting of whose holy names destroys all sinful reactions, and the offering of obeisances unto whom relieves all material suffering.